No Injuries In Saturday Night Wreck

There were no injuries Saturday night when a passenger car collided with a DPS Unit, but the driver of the passenger car got the ticket. The accident occurred on Texas 163, 145 feet south of Hwy 290.

Trooper Joe Miles was southbound on 163 after receiving word of attempted armed robbery in Sheffield, without stop lights or siren, attempting to pass when Charles Boykin, in a 1972 Ford, failed to signal a left turn into a private drive and collided with the DPS car on the right side of the vehicle. Boykin was cited for turning when unsafe.

Cattlemen Reminded To Vote On Referendum Before 15th

The Crockett County ASCS reminds all registered beef producers of their right to vote on the Beef Research and Information Order July 5 thru 15. Producers can vote at the County ASCS Office in person or by mail.

Registration figures in the nation's first Beef Referendum are in and it appears that over 42,000 cattlemen registered in Texas. In the U.S., over 295,000 producers have registered. These figures were released today by the Texas Beef Development Taskforce.

"We're extremely pleased with the interest and turnout," says J.D. Sartwelle, a rancher from Sealy and chairman of the Texas BDT. "More than 1,000 cattlemen on the Texas BDT have worked to inform cattlemen about the merits of the program and pushed for a high registration," says the rancher. "This dedicated work and widespread news coverage by the Texas media are responsible for the large registration turnout," he adds.

Only cattlemen who registered during the June 6-17 sign-up at their local ASCS office are qualified to vote July 5-15.

"With the passage of the Beef Referendum, the cattle industry will have means of stabilizing our industry and increasing profits for cattlemen," Sartwelle says. He points out that the Beef Referendum, if approved by two-thirds of the producers voting next month, would raise an estimated $30 million to $40 million annually. This money would be used for beef research, education,

Teacher Takes ASU Post

Mrs. Gloria Ann Valverde has been named instructor in English at Angelo State University for the 1977-78 academic year. Her appointment is subject to approval by the Board of Regents, Texas State University System.

Mrs. Valverde has taught high school in Ozona since 1972.

She holds a B.A. from Southwest Texas State University in Spanish, conferred in 1972, and a master of arts in teaching in English from Angelo State, conferred in 1976.

She is a member of the Texas State Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

A native of Fort McVett, she is married to Alex Valverde.

promotion and foreign market development.

Cattle producers would assess themselves 3/10 of 1% (30c per $100 value) for each animal they sell. The money would be "passed through" at the point of each sale, but money would be remitted only at the time the animal is slaughtered. The funds would be sent to a national Beef Board, administered by 68 cattle producers from the major cattle producing states.

"The 68 producers will be nominated by cattle organizations in each state. The nominees will be selected from these associations either by a membership election or through appointment by the directors of each group," Sartwelle points out. The Secretary of Agriculture will confirm the appointees and assure that the funds are properly invested in accordance with the law, he adds.

"In order for the Referendum to be valid at least 50% of those who registered must return to their ASCS office and vote. Then, at least two-thirds of those voting must vote 'Yes' before the program will be put into effect," the BDT chairman says.

"This may be the last opportunity that producers have to vote on a self-help program," concludes Sartwelle. "So we urge every producer who registered to return and vote 'Yes' for a more profitable beef industry."

Summer hours for the Adult Library will be Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m., according to Librarian Earline Jones.

The summer hours went into effect this week. Mrs. Jones reminded those who have overdue books to get them in during these hours. She also said she has received many new books for summer reading and had been in the process of unpacking them and getting them on the shelves.

Rain Showers Break Ozona Heat Wave

A break in the heat came to Ozona last week in the form of rain showers and thunderstorms. A front moved into the area at midweek and by Friday the intermittent rain showers had added a total of .86 of an inch of rainfall to the yearly record.

However, readings in the mid and upper 90's were common throughout the weekend and the mercury barely missed hitting the 100-mark Monday.

Dist. Judge's Resignation Prompts Speculation Here

Judge Charles Sherrill's unexpected resignation as judge of the 112th District last week prompted a good deal of speculation in the district. The 112th District includes Pecos, Upton, Sutton and Crockett counties. Judge Sherrill resigned effective July 1.

Judge Sherrill's successor will be picked by Governor Dolph Briscoe, who is presently in Europe and not due back in the States until July 5. According to a news report, Judge Sherrill said he would not become involved in picking his successor, because he might be a candidate for the position at some time in the future.

Crockett County Judge Troy Williams has expressed an interest in the position, along with two Fort Stockton men. When Gov. Briscoe accepts the resignation he will appoint the successor, and this could possibly take some weeks after the governor returns to Austin.

However, should Judge Williams be appointed and accept the position, the Crockett County Commissioners Court would have the task of appointing a county judge. Should they appoint one of their own members, they would then have to fill the vacancy in the commissioners' ranks. This is where much of the speculation has centered in the immediate vicinity.

Both offices, that of county judge and that of district judge are up for re-election next year. In the past appointees have usually run for the office to which they were appointed and in almost every instance been elected.

In a news release to the Stockman late Tuesday, Judge Sherrill said:

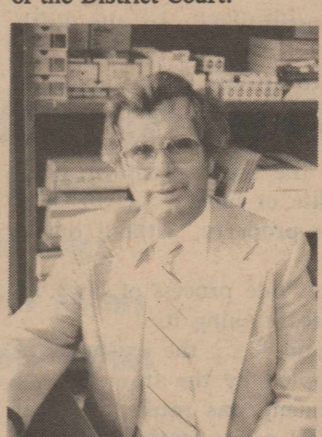

"Effective July 1, 1977, I have resigned as Judge of the 112th Judicial District Court. As I have immensely enjoyed my service as your judge the past fourteen years, it was a most difficult decision.

"However, I find that the economic pressures of the Judgeship dictate that I step down, at least for a period. Also, I feel that many of my personal programs and objectives for fair and impartial justice and treatment under the law have been accomplished--at least as well under way.

"The support and encouragement of the public that I have enjoyed as your Judge was most helpful and greatly appreciated. It has been my fortune to have the finest members of the bar regularly appearing in the 112th District Court.

"Also, I have enjoyed the outstanding aid and efficient support from your Court Clerks, District Attorneys, and other of your Public Officials. Crockett County, as well as the other counties comprising the 112th Judicial District, undoubtedly have the best officials working with and under the directions of the District Court.

JUDGE SHERRILL

"My plans are to remain a resident of the 112th District Court and practice law in the West Texas Area, with C. Adam Morriss, III, under the firm name of Morriss & Sherrill, in Sonora, Texas. It may well be in the future my name will again appear as a candidate for public office.

"Once more, I do thank you for the privilege of being your District Judge."

Rep. Krueger To Visit Ozona Friday

Congressman Robert (Bob) Krueger will arrive in Ozona by plane Friday, July 1, at 4:30 p.m. and go directly to the Civic Center, where he will meet with his Crockett County constituents.

He is expected to informally announce his candidacy for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Senator John Tower. The formal announcement will be made by the Democratic congressman of the 21st District at a barbecue at his home in New Braunfels on the Fourth of July.

The public is invited to be at the Civic Center when Congressman Krueger arrives and free to discuss any problems they might have about the district. Rep. Krueger will be available to answer any questions the public would care to ask.

Sherrill was appointed to the bench August 1, 1963 by then Gov. John Connally, to take over the duties of Steve Presler who had been appointed to the Court of Appeals in El Paso. Sherrill has been re-elected each successive term, most of the time without opposition.

Judge Williams and District Attorney Dixon Mahon were in Fort Stockton Monday afternoon to attend a reception for Judge Sherrill.

Judge Sherrill was in Ozona Tuesday afternoon.

DPS Warns Of July 4 Accidents

The Texas Department of Public Safety today warned that an unusually high number of traffic accidents and fatalities are likely to occur during the July 4th holiday weekend.

The head of the DPS, Colonel Wilson E. Speir, estimated that 51 persons would lose their lives in Texas traffic from 6 p.m. Friday, July 1, to midnight Monday, July 4.

"Based on past holiday experience, we believe many of the traffic accidents during the holiday period will involve either speeding or drinking. Also, it is likely that a high percentage will occur late at night or within a few hours after midnight," Speir said.

"Hopefully, motorists will drive defensively and be thoughtful while behind the wheel. I sincerely believe that if they would keep the principle of courtesy and concern utmost in their minds that it would make for a safe holiday," the DPS director added.

To deal with the problem of reckless drivers, the DPS will be utilizing all its manpower in a strong enforcement program. In addition, Department of Public Safety Troopers will be working with local enforcement agencies throughout the state, as well as the news media, trying to keep the public safety conscious.

During the July 4th weekend last year, 55 persons were killed in Texas accidents. Department of Public Safety records indicate the deaths were almost evenly divided between city streets and rural highways.

The most prevalent type of collision last July 4th involved only one vehicle.

OZONA NATIVE CLEOPHAS [Bob] COOKE is commended for his work on the Outer Continental Shelf Lease Sale by Edward J. Hoffmann, manager of the Alaska OCA Office, during ceremonies in June in Anchorage. Cooke was one of 51 members of government employees who aided the Bureau of Land Management in carrying out an outstanding job in the marine minerals area. Cooke, who is with the Department of the Interior, has been in Alaska a year and a half. He will be moving to Atlanta, Ga. next month where he will have a position in the Fish and Wildlife Service, [also with the Department of Interior].

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Capital punishment is constitutional. In the Fifth Amendment we read:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury. . . ; Nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb . . . Nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law. . ."

We have ample meticulous "due process of law. . ." and no one is advocating discontinuing it.

The Supreme Court has said ". . . the existence of capital punishment was accepted by the framers." At the time the Eighth Amendment was ratified, capital punishment was practiced in every state. The first Congress of the United States enacted legislation providing death as the penalty for specified crimes.

Capital punishment is constitutional, legal, and is upheld by a majority of the American people. In 1976 a Gallup poll found 65 percent of those replying favoring capital punishment.

Capital punishment is not for the sake of vengeance against the murderer, but to protect more innocent people from suffering a similar fate at his hands. The usual alternative to capital punishment is life imprisonment, with eligibility for parole in a few years. The median time served in prison for homicide in Massachusetts is less than 2 1/2 years. The murderer is then free to commit—and does commit—other homicides.

In a Florida case, J. Edgar Hoover once cited a prisoner who was committed for two murders, received clemency for each, and later committed a double murder. M. Stanton Evans cites this case in Human Events for February 12, 1977. He also cites five cases in California where murderers released on parole committed five additional homicides. Five paroled murderers in Pennsylvania between 1946 and 1956 also committed additional homicides.

It cannot too often be repeated that the purpose of capital punishment is to protect the lives of other innocent victims. It remains a mystery why so many American people are more protective of criminals than of their victims.

We are told that capital punishment is racially unjust because about half of those condemned for homicide are black. But since blacks enjoy all the privileges of citizenship, they must also assume its responsibilities.

Eleven percent of our population is black, but according to the FBI report of 1975, 47 percent of our homicide victims are black. Since the percentage of black victims just about equals the percentage of black murderers, it would seem that no race problem is involved.

Furthermore, it should be remembered that many criminals serving prison sentences for murder have escaped to commit other murders, have killed one another while in prison, and frequently murder innocent prison officials.

When one deliberately murders another human being, he has forfeited the right to live in society. Capital punishment is the only means of defense against this monstrous crime. Moreover, it is not only the innocent victims whose lives are cut short, but their families who must suffer throughout the remainder of their lives. Another smaller point: is that innocent people must pay $10 to $15 a day to maintain these criminals who are serving life sentences. Why should already overburdened taxpayers have this extra load placed upon them?

Homicide has become the number one cause of death among Negro males between the ages of 18 and 35. The Negroes have more at stake in curbing major criminals than the whites. The records show that capital punishment does deter crime. Many criminals have so stated, and many more have said that they commit their crimes while unarmed so as to avoid the possibility of capital punishment.

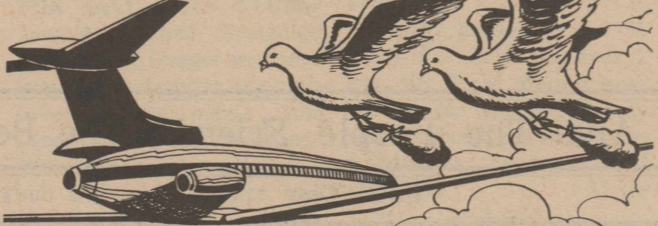

All in all, capital punishment seems to be fair to victims and criminals alike; to be approved by nearly two-thirds of our people, to have been practiced by the founders of our country, and to be plainly sanctioned in the Constitution.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Rep. Frank Hartung, backed by House Speaker Bill Clayton, has made a bid to have his state money management bill revived on the agenda for the forthcoming special legislative session.

The Houston Republican told a news conference this week he and Clayton have both written Gov. Dolph Briscoe asking that HB 1984 be included on the agenda of the session now scheduled to begin July 11.

HB 1984, which died in a Senate committee during the last days of the regular session, requires the State Treasury and Depository Board to invest more of the state's money in interest-paying time deposits.

It would also grant the state agency new power to invest in savings and loan accounts, as well as government securities, authority the Treasury doesn't have under present law.

Hartung said the state is currently losing $2 million monthly on money deposited in non-interest paying checking accounts scattered in more than 1,300 banks state-wide.

He said it was appropriate his bill should be included in the special session called to pass a public school finance bill for the next two years.

The approximately $42 million lost every two years because of poor money management could be used to help finance public schools in Texas, he said.

Hartung admitted he hasn't had any indication from the governor that his bill is being considered as a special session agenda item.

Also bidding for a spot in the session are bills to repeal the state sales tax on utilities and to reform the state property tax code.

So far, however, Briscoe had indicated only public school finance will be on the agenda and all other matters are merely under consideration.

Water Agencies
The Texas Water Development Board began last Monday the work of reorganizing the present three state water agencies into one entity to be known as the Texas Water Resources Board.

The WDB is responsible for carrying out the reorganization under a new law passed by the 65th Legislature and effective Sept. 1. The Texas Water Quality Board, Water Development Board and Water Rights Commission are to be combined.

All three of the current executive directors are vying openly for the job as head of the super agency including Hugh C. Yantis (WQB), Gen. James M. Rose (WDB) and Robert Schnieder (WRC). However, WDB Chairman

Courts Speak
Fear of nuclear accident can be considered by juries in land condemnation cases involving nuclear power plants, the Supreme Court has held.

In another case, the court set a July 13 hearing on a $500,000 judgment against General Motors and in favor of a Houston man who was blinded when a window of his car shattered in an accident.

A lower court jury had awarded Curtis Lee Simmons $1 million but a Court of Civil Appeals reduced it to half that amount. GM appealed the case to the high court saying the lower court ruling would set a precedent that probably would be used against auto manufacturers in every accident case involving pre-1972 cars and injuries from flying glass.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals last week reversed the murder conviction against Kenneth Dee Stogsdill, a death row inmate, on the grounds there was insufficient evidence to prove he killed Billy Ed Price of Wichita County in 1975.

Congress of the United States

House of Representatives
BOB KRUEGER
21st DISTRICT, TEXAS

The hardest task facing a congressman is keeping abreast of the constantly changing issues that confront him daily. But one issue that remains constant, that we know demands almost day-to-day study, is that of military affairs.

The size of our military, its makeup, the type and number of weapons necessary and, most difficult of all, the philosophy of where and how a military machine functions in a nation at peace, are questions demanding much time and study.

I, along with a substantial majority of the House, have just voted for allocation of $2.82 billion for military construction throughout the world in the next fiscal year. The ways in which those funds will be spent are indicative of the complexity of our military machine.

For example, although we allocated substantial funds to support our troops in Europe, we were able to trim $103.3 million from that amount because a study—a study which also required funding and analysis—showed that our troops could, in some cases, take advantage of existing NATO facilities rather than the U.S. having to build construction of new facilities.

The bill, H.R. 7589, also funded projects as far-ranging as construction of access roads to facilities of the Trident submarine to new housing for military families.

In terms of philosophy, members of the armed forces, as well as those of us in civilian life, have seen and experienced many changes in the military in the past decade. We have to assume, for instance, that maintaining a volunteer army is always going to be far more expensive than having a system where almost all young men are drafted into military service at low salary and few fringe benefits.

Today, the military must compete with industry for the best people and it must offer them, not only attractive career opportunities, but additional personal and family benefits that are a commonplace part of corporate life.

I have had called to my attention, and seen firsthand, both assets and liabilities of the all-volunteer program and, in voting for this year's military machine of our nation, we have to be alert for the more subtle dangers that could weaken our national defense, not from enemy attack, but from a failure to keep abreast and respond affirmatively when legislative action is necessary.

GROWING BUSINESS—Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors have their hands full keeping up with the booming plant business. Plants are inspected to insure consumers are getting insect-free foliage for their homes and gardens.

Your Favorite Houseplant Part Of a Fast Growing Ag. Industry

AUSTIN—If you haven't been talking to your geranium very much lately, maybe you should tell her she's part of one of the fastest growing agricultural industries in the state.

Potted flowers, foliage plants, flowering and vegetable bedding plants became increasingly important in 1976, adding $19,107,000 to the state's coffers, making Texas the ninth ranked producing state in the nation, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"I guess you could say the nursery industry in Texas is 'growing like a weed,'" commented Reagan V. Brown, Texas Agriculture Commissioner.

"This industry has grown from a $3 1/2 million crop in 1973," he said, "and with Texas producers expected to add over 800,000 square feet of growing area this year, we can expect to see even more dramatic economic increases ahead."

While most of the increased area is in greenhouses, the figure includes 8.4 acres of vegetable transplants grown out of doors in the state.

Patio or indoor foliage plants provided the bulk of sales, with a wholesale value of almost $10 million in the state last year. This was an increase of over $3 million from the previous year, a survey of the industry by the U.S. Department of Agriculture has shown.

"With home gardening interest at a peak now, consumers are buying more and more vegetable bedding plants," Brown said, pointing out that the wholesale value of this portion of the industry was estimated at $146,000 last year and producers were expected to increase production by 295 percent this year.

Major production areas include: Chrysanthemums, $4,610,000 sales at the wholesale level; poinsettias, $1,583,000; geraniums, $1,640,000; lilies, $408,000; hydrangeas, $618,000; flowering bedding plants, $1,109,000; and vegetable bedding plants, $503,000.

Tips For Gardeners
From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

The refreshing June showers of last week always pep up our city folk as well as the ranchers. Good green vegetation all summer really makes it cooler, cleaner, and a more beautiful country-side to enjoy. We are hoping for more showers in July.

If your spring-flowering bulbs haven't been dug and divided in the past three to five years, and clumps are thick and crowded, they will benefit from dividing, now that the foliage is brown and dry. Dig the clumps of bulbs and set them in a shady, dry spot. Leave soil on the clumps. Fill in the holes with good soil. The bulbs may be too tightly joined to divide easily, but after the bulbs and soil have dried out thoroughly, they will separate easily without tearing the roots. Store bulbs in a cool dry place until planting time. Three tips to help you get the most from your geraniums: The foremost requirement for profusely flowing geraniums in full sunshine. Second they bloom better if kept somewhat on the dry side, over-watering causes dark spots on the foliage. Third, geraniums grow reasonably well in almost any good soil that is low in nitrogen. An excess of nitrogen in the soil causes rank foliage growth rather than developing flowers.

Keep faded verbenas blooms clipped to lengthen their blooming season. Artemisia (Dusty Miller) is an old fashioned plant grown for its silvery-gray foliage. A dwarf variety gives a quick edging to flower beds and borders, and is an ideal contrast plant where brilliant colored flowers bloom. It should not be watered too liberally, and it likes a spot in the sun. Our hillsides are presenting an attractive display of the native variety along the highways and native landscapes.

Debra Says

Buying in quantity is one way consumers can acquire produce for preserving. A few simple guidelines make savings even greater. Purchase what your family can use in a year. After long storage, processed foods begin to lose flavor, nutritive value, and eye appeal. Purchase foods your family will eat. There is no bargain if produce stays on the shelf or in the freezer. Purchase from a dealer who carries fresh produce and gives you your money's worth. If possible, pick your own produce-it is the best assurance of garden-fresh produce. Select produce at farmers' markets and roadside stands very carefully-for freshness. Check stem ends, firmness of the flesh, odor, and appearance. When in doubt, don't buy.

In general, before preserving, consider the cost carefully. The cost of canning a quart of tomatoes can be as little as 4 1/2 cents if jars are on hand and the tomatoes free-or up to 51 cents if both jars and tomatoes are purchased. Researchers estimate that the freezing cost of tomatoes is over 32 cents per pound.

Home canning and freezing are excellent means of preserving fruits and vegetables for later use, and it can be economical with a careful look at costs and quality.

SOUTH TEXAS LUMBER CO.

"You have another chance," whispers the spirit of America.

Our nation was founded by colonists who shook free from the oppression of the Old World and created a new future. Unparalleled growth and development came through the shattering of old traditions and through courageous change and creativity. Today's social and economic problems will yield to the same trust in new possibilities.

A gracious, open future is promised in God's Word. The basis of hope is the revelation of an all-powerful God who guides history and fulfills our individual destiny. The miracle of rebirth and forgiveness is rooted in His divine love.

How better might you celebrate Independence Day than to support the Church and nourish the spirit which whispers:

"You have another chance!"

MR. AND MRS. HILLERY PHILLIPS
...celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. Phillips Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Hillery Marshall Phillips celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Wednesday, June 29, 1977. Hosts for a dinner and a wedding cake were their children, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt and Mr. and Mrs. H.M. Phillips, Jr. Their grandchildren, Rick and Gail Hunnicutt and Hope and Hill Phillips were on hand to help celebrate the occasion. Gifts were presented to the honored couple by their children.

June 29, 1927, Miss Charlotte Rawls of Fort Worth was married to Hillery Phillips in Handley. A Rev. Hereford performed the ceremony. Honor attendants were Mrs. Myrtle Ostine and Mrs. D.K. Durham. The couple returned to San Angelo by train and went on to the ranch in Sutton County for their honeymoon.

They lived on the ranch until time for their children, Bennie Gail and Buddy, to start to school. Then they moved to Ozona and built the home at 1201 Ave. E where they still reside.

Some Pesticides To Be Restricted

Livestock producers, farmers and home gardeners who have anything to do with pesticides have probably already been warned that the federal Environmental Protection Agency will publish a list by this fall of various pesticides that will be restricted in use.

Many of the present and hopefully, future users of such chemicals have taken steps to assure themselves of the opportunity to use these products, but things have not been going so well. The Texas Department of Agriculture, which is saddled with the task of approving individual Texas pesticide users, is currently about two months behind in processing applications.

TDA spokesmen, however, say that things are beginning to straighten out, and they soon hope to bring the program up to the point of a one-month lag. While this may be good news for those who have fulfilled certification requirements within the past few months, it may taste like sour grapes to those undergoing testing shortly prior to the Oct. 21 restriction implementation date.

There is apparently no one to blame for the delay. David Ivie, TDA spokesman, says applicant numbers were simply much greater than anticipated. "Response to the program has been very good," he says.

"We thought we'd get about 500 applications a week, and we actually got over 1500 a week for a while. We just got them faster than we thought."

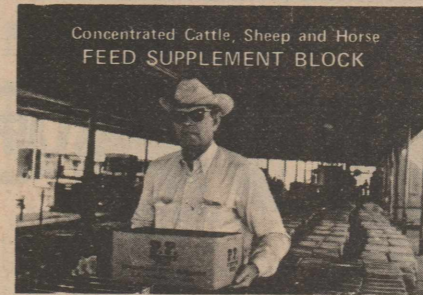

The change in leadership at TDA didn't help much, either. Ivie explains that the pesticide application certificates must bear the name of the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture in order to comply with legal requirements. When former Texas Ag Commissioner John White left his post to help run the federal agriculture program he left behind a large number of White-stamped, but undelivered certificates.

The appointment of Reagan V. Brown to the Ag Commissioner post, explains Ivie, necessitated reprinting of all but about 6000-7000 of the certificates already completed at the time. The uncorrected items were only those that had already been mailed. Unofficial estimates have placed the reprinting "down time" at about three weeks.

The EPA has yet to release the list of pesticides to be restricted and chances are the list will not be generally available until its prohibitions become official in October. Ivie says it is likely that even then, many pesticides up for review will still be in the study phase. The chemicals, he explains, are being investigated in order of their toxicity levels, so the less poisonous compounds, though still subject to restriction, may be available for some time after the October deadline.

In view of the uncertainty surrounding the restricted list, it is imperative that producers currently using almost any form of pesticide make arrangements to have themselves accepted as certified applicators, the sooner the better. A test taken in September that nets a certification in November will be of little good to a producer who needs to buy a restricted chemical on October 22.

WESTERMAN DRUG

1000 Ave.

Ph. 392-2608

New Treatment Gives Years Of Life To Cancer Victim

When 12-year-old Gloria Belsha was diagnosed with osteosarcoma in 1962, that type of bone cancer was usually fatal.

Her left leg was amputated above the knee to stop the cancer's spread, but by the time Gloria came to The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute for treatment, the lungs were extensively involved and physicians had little hope for her survival.

As a new approach they decided to try a relatively untried method of treatment—anti-cancer drugs—to reduce the massive lesions which had spread to her lungs and threatened her life.

Gloria was one of the first Anderson patients to be treated with Phenylalanine mustard (PAM), an anti-cancer drug which is now used commonly to control several types of cancer. Chemotherapy, now the standard treatment for osteosarcoma, saved her life.

Recently, Gloria talked about her battle with cancer 15 years ago.

"Thinking back it all seems like a dream," she says. "They told my parents I'd just have a short time to live."

"It was in the summer and my leg was swollen above the knee. My parents just thought I had bruised it. In just a matter of days after I first went to the doctor, I had my amputation at a children's hospital. They told my parents it might have gotten into the blood stream."

What her physicians feared most happened. At Christmas Gloria woke up in the middle of the night and found it painful to breathe. She was taken to M.D. Anderson where cannon-ball size lesions were found in both her lungs.

"First they tried several drugs that didn't have any effect," Gloria remembers. "They told my parents that they could use PAM but that they didn't think it had been used for this tumor before. The tumors started receding."

One of the strange things was that other kids lost all their hair and a lot of weight. But I didn't lose any hair or more weight than I had already lost and it didn't seem to have any other side effects."

The Anderson physician who was in charge of Gloria's treatment remembers the battle to save her life. "Several drugs were used to treat Gloria with no results and the tumors continued to progress. So we went to PAM which was a relatively new drug. She reacted severely with a low white count. We had quite a time controlling infections so she went into isolation. When she finally overcame the toxicity to the drug we noticed she was responding. "At that time we had no assurance that any drug would help. Back then there was no effective treatment for osteosarcoma and the tumor was not sensitive to radiation," he says.

Gloria's doctors watched her lung x-rays to monitor the tumors as the treatment continued. Because her white count was frequently low she was kept in isolation at intervals to keep from catching deadly infections.

Eventually her physicians decided thoracic surgery was required to remove the small lesion that remained in each of Gloria's lungs after the chemotherapy. Two small nodules were removed during the operations. No malignant cells were found in one tumor but there were some malignant cells in the other.

"During that time I lived with my mother, stepfather, stepsister, and stepbrother and they treated me just the same as the others. I look back now and appreciate what my family was going through. Now I can see how you would want to protect and coddle a child with cancer. You have to push them out into the world around them or otherwise they won't be able to cope," Gloria says.

Since Gloria's last lung operation in March, 1966, she has been tumor-free, her doctor says. She returns once a year for a checkup by her original physician in Anderson's pediatric clinic, but she does not mind being seen in the children's area.

"If I had to change doctors I wouldn't know how to act," she says. "I guess there's kind of a bond that develops."

Gloria married her boyfriend from Smiley High School, Robert Robertson, in 1968 and now works as a Houston housewife caring for her son, Scott, 4.

Using new combination chemotherapy regimens developed since Gloria was treated, Anderson physicians have demonstrated a 55 percent disease-free success rate for osteosarcoma with a suggested improvement to 65 percent over a two-year period. Most physicians feel that osteosarcoma patients who are free of recurrent disease for two years have excellent prospects for being considered cured.

The increase in survival for osteosarcoma patients is among the most drastic of all types of cancer in the last 15 years. With this statistic in mind, more osteosarcoma patients should be able -- as Gloria did -- to remember their battle with cancer 15 years later.

A PRIZE WINNER—This exotic dish from South of the Border, Chicken Yucatan, was the first place winner in the recent Texas Chicken Cooking Contest sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Texas Broiler Council. Another exciting use for versatile Texas chicken, it's sure to be a winner with your family.

From the TAP Kitchen

Texas Department of Agriculture—Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner

CHICKEN YUCATAN

- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 cup dry sherry wine
- 2 Tbsp. minced parsley
- 1 tsp. flavor enhancer
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup golden raisins
- 1/2 cup corn oil
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, halved and boned

In a bowl, mix together orange juice, wine, parsley, flavor enhancer and salt. Add chicken and raisins. Marinate 2 hours. Heat corn oil in frypan over medium heat. Add almonds and saute over low heat until lightly browned. Remove with slotted spoon. Dry chicken on paper towels. Increase heat to moderate and add chicken. Brown all sides, adding garlic last few minutes. Add raisins and all but 1/2 cup of marinade; simmer 10 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Mix corn starch with reserved marinade. Remove chicken to serving dish. Pour the corn starch mixture into the liquid, stirring constantly, cooking until liquid is thickened. Simmer about 2 minutes. Spoon liquid over chicken and raisins; sprinkle almonds on top. Serve with rice. Makes 4 servings.

Consumers To Get Freezers At Bottom

Victory for consumers demanding "freezers-at-their-feet" is on the appliance-market horizon, a Texas home economist reports.

Refrigerators with a bottom-mounted freezer compartment are making a comeback—after a 10-year absence from the market, and consumer demand is responsible, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, says.

"Industry had thought the side-by-side refrigerator-freezer would be a better design than bottom-mounted freezers, which they phased out in the late 1960's."

"However, recent market research shows that nearly 50 per cent of bottom-mount owners want to replace old units with the same style," she explains.

Looking at reasons for the returning design's popularity, she said a bottom-mount freezer puts all other refrigerator contents at an easy-to-reach level—without the need for bending, and many consumers like that, since most use the refrigerator compartment five times more often than the freezer section.

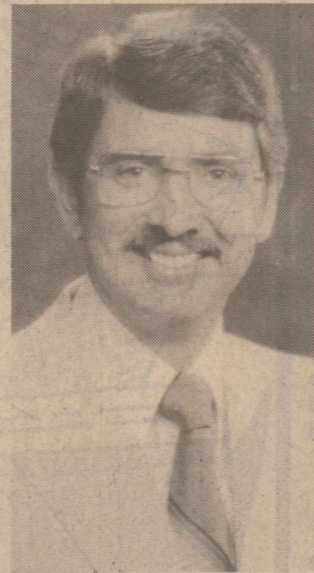

Still, family lifestyle and budget and space limits should be the major factors in shopping for refrigerators, the specialist advises.

Cranberries will keep for 4 to 8 weeks in your refrigerator. Or you can freeze them with no preparation.

For The Record

Tips On Choosing And Using Your Record Player

To be eligible for warranty service you are sometimes required to fill out and mail a warranty card that is packaged with the equipment. It's a good idea to do this as soon as you unpack the unit. Also, file the sale slip away should proof of the purchase date be required later, say the experts at the Electronic Industries Association.

If there's no power coming in to your stereo unit, before you call the repairman, check to see if your unit is plugged in. If it is, check the fuses in the rear of your receiver. If one has burnt out, it is very inexpensive to replace.

Much of the poor performance in audio equipment is the result of not properly installing and operating the equipment. Before you buy, ask a salesman to familiarize you with the installation requirements and operating instructions. Follow the directions carefully and be sure to save all manuals and operating instructions in case you have a question later on.

Get Jump On Season With Recipes

Texas "pickle-and-relish" makers can get a jump on the pickling season this year with a free government publication, "Pickles and Relishes."

Tested recipes are a must in pickling and relish making—and that's what the publication has, according to Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist.

"Pickles and Relishes" B-188 is available from county Extension agents throughout Texas—usually listed under County Government offices in the telephone directory.

Among recipes in the publication are Tomato-Apple Chutney, Sweet Nine-Day Pickles, Dilled Okra and Watermelon Rind Pickles.

It also includes Green Tomato Mince-meat, Chow-Chow Relish and Chile Sauce recipes—to brighten family meals long into cold winter days, the specialist says.

Crunchy novelty "pickles," Dilled Green Beans, also appear in the publication.

- Dilled Green Beans
- 3 pounds green beans (about 3 qts.)
- 6 cups of vinegar
- 2 cups water
- 1 cup salt

6 bunches dill
6 small cloves of garlic
6 very small, hot red peppers

Wash beans and remove stem end. Heat vinegar, water, and salt to boiling. Place a piece of dill, pod of pepper, and clove of garlic in each jar. Pack beans in jars to within 1 inch of top. Pour boiling liquid over the beans. Close. Process in boiling water bath 20 minutes. Start to count processing time as soon as hot jars are placed into the actively boiling water. Store at least 3 weeks before using.

Asparagus and onions are both members of the lily family.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO HOMEMAKERS-----

Rainbow

traps dust and dirt in its swirling water bath . . . Nature's Way.

Power is constant — cleaning efficiency is always at its peak — because there are no pores in water to leak dust or clog up. It's a well-known fact that WET DUST CANNOT FLY.

This means easier cleaning, faster cleaning and more thorough DEEP cleaning.

The Rainbow cleans clean . . . refreshingly water washed clean!

Once in a while something really great comes along that is so far advanced in its field that it revolutionizes the industry. It usually involves a simple idea that works fantastically well. RAINBOW is one of these.

Did you ever notice how clean and fresh the air is right after a rainshower? It's because the air has been washed with water, nature's way. Rainbow washes the air in your home as it cleans thoroughly and deeply, trapping the dirt and dust in its swirling water bath. Vacuum cleaner bags have tiny porous holes that leak dust back into the air, causing excessive house dust problems. These holes also clog up very easily and we lose our cleaning power. Rainbow's cleaning power is constant and efficient because it uses no bags or filters, only water.

Rainbow is recommended by many allergy specialists because it eliminates 80 to 90 percent of the house dust in your home. It's many uses include washing air, SUPER cleaning, vaporizing, humidifying, deodorizing, defrosting, picking up liquids, unplugging drains, grooming pets, cleaning plants, etc.

The Rainbow is not actually new as the Rexair Corporation has been manufacturing them since 1936. They are not sold through stores and may be purchased only from independent dealers. Until recently, the closest dealer has been in Lubbock so it is quite possible that you are not familiar with the Rainbow. My wife and I have had a Rainbow in our home since 1968 and have thoroughly enjoyed it. It is precision built to give many, many years of virtually maintenance free operation.

I have now acquired the Rainbow Dealership for the Ozona area and will be pleased to serve you in any way I can.

Jottings From Jan

I read THE AGONY AND THE ECSTASY one year. I guess it was my freshman year in high school. How well I remember that book. It made such an impression on me.

It was the story of Michaelangelo, the famous painter and sculptor. The book dealt with his entire life and career, including his apprenticeship--aah, his apprenticeship!

I remember thinking how lucky Michaelangelo was to have the opportunity to apprentice in a real live shop of interest. He had it all. I yearned to be as lucky. I would have given my right arm to work and follow my interest--the newspaper.

And here I am. I like to think of myself as an apprentice of sorts. I am learning the things I always wanted to know. They are teaching me things that make me feel involved. I am enjoying learning and seeing the finished product.

It seems funny that all the work and the heat can seem glamorous to me, but it does. It is the most exciting thing I've done, despite the fact that I am not yet the best in the business. (I'm not even in the top percentile--yet).

I am having trouble adjusting to the fact that I'm finally learning this business after wanting to for so long. If I never write an article on the Sistine Chapel or sculpt a story about a famous man that is remembered from now into eternity, I will nonetheless be proud that I have learned. I have done something.

Teachers, had they been available in my high school years, might have taught me much, but I doubt that any teacher in this world could have topped the teacher known as Experience. None of them could have done a better teaching job than the actual work experience provided me by Kitty Montgomery at the Stockman.

I have far to go before I know completely what I am doing, and what I have to do. I am sure that I am not a great help to the staff here, but I am learning, and may one day be able to produce like a real journalist.

That is my dream.

SSSS
I'll grant you, we need to know what is happening in this world. We need to know about what is happening in Washington, and we need to know about all the major earthquakes. But we don't need a national news magazine printed right here in Ozona. It would be useless, and I don't believe it would even sell enough copies to keep going for two months. It would, in short, be a flop.

Thus we run a weekly newspaper. We tell our readers about the Country Club dance, the football game that won our high school the District championship, the weddings that have taken place in the last week, and the bee farm Mr. Whoever has decided to invest in. Silly as some of our stories may seem to an outsider, they are important to our townspeople because they are us--they are life as we know it. They are life as we have chosen to live it.

If the people in small towns wanted to live in big towns, they wouldn't live the way they do. The pacifists among them would move to bigger towns. The fighters would change the way they live. But we don't want to live differently. We have chosen to live this way because our people lived this way. Why leave the home our parents and grandparents made for us? Why change it?

If we want to know about national and international news, we'll buy Time and Newsweek. If we want to know about big town news, we'll take the Standard and the Odessa American. If we want to change, we'll change. But we simply don't want to. That is why our town is so good--that is why it is the Biggest Little Town in The World.

Only Children Are Found To Have Many Advantages

Today's "only child" has many advantages—contrary to popular belief that he will grow up spoiled, says Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist.

Indications are that these children simply reap the benefits of their parents' love and attention, she adds.

"Many traits which 'only children' have in common are very positive and correspond to those of first-born children:

Only children tend to be more independent and self-sufficient—also they score higher on standard measures of intelligence and tests of verbal skills than children who have siblings.

Only children are also more likely to pursue professional careers, such as law, medicine, engineering, and science—and to hold leadership positions, both in school and out.

In every phase of their life, only children tend to be more achievement oriented.

Today's parents seem to be more aware of these advantages—and are rebelling against the stereotypes of having only one child, the specialist said.

"In spite of constant criticism, many couples today are choosing to have one child.

"Approximately 10 per cent of all married women today expect to have only one child. This is a four per cent increase from the projected figure in 1960," she added.

There are several reasons for this, Miss Johnson said.

"Many are concerned about the population growth today. Others find it financially impossible to have more than one child.

"Some find that their careers and time schedules only allow for one child—this choice, they feel, enables them to maintain their jobs while still enjoying parenthood.

"Some couples who marry later in life can only plan to have one child for health reasons.

"Unfortunately, some parents have only one child due to difficulty conceiving or in carrying a pregnancy full term. One child is all they can ever reasonably expect to have."

A major concern of most parents who choose to have only one child is that of responsible parenthood, Miss Johnson said.

"They feel they can devote more time and energy to one child and develop a healthier relationship than if they had a large family and energies were dissipated.

"Of course, parents of only children are constantly plagued by fear of tragedy or death. However, many of them feel that it is not right to have a second child simply as an insurance policy against loss," she noted.

"This brings up an interesting point. Usually the decision to have the first child was an intimate one with the child's interest in mind. Decisions to have subsequent children should meet the same criteria. Children deserve the right to be planned and wanted," the specialist said.

OHS Rifle Spinners Win Trophy

Ozona Lion Band Rifle Spinners returned from rifle spinner's camp with the top trophy for the event. The camp was held on the campus of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth and the trophy was for Grand Champion Rifle Team of Majorettes of America.

The winning Ozona team consisted of Sheri Webster, Michelle Jones, Toi Babbitt, Sheri Moody and Tilly Kramer. Besides the top trophy, the girls won three spirit batons, three honorable mention ribbons and medals for winning the grand champion trophy.

Those Are The Brakes

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS

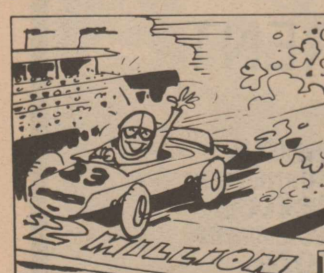

One lucky "brake" for Americans is that there have been many improvements in braking systems since Robert Wagner of Ward, Mass. got out the first patent for his self-regulating wagon brake in 1828.

Not only brakes but brake fluid has been improved, and there is one whose performance is so effective that all the race drivers who completed in the Indianapolis 500 used it this year.

Among the championship drivers who depend on Wagner Lockheed Brake Fluid is A.J. Foyt, whose 1975 earning of more than $355,000 made him the first driver in United States Auto Club history to go over the $2 million career mark!

Champion auto racers like A.J. Foyt are not the only drivers who recognize the advantages of this quality brake fluid. Car owners around the world have helped make it the largest selling brake fluid in the world.

CHAMPIONSHIP RACING DRIVER A.J. Foyt is the first driver in USAC history to go over the $2 million career mark.

Oilers Still Hold Little League Lead

First half champions Moore Oilers remained in the lead in the second half of play during the past week in Little League and with the season due to end next week, it looks like they are a cinch to win the title outright.

Ozona National downed Ozona Electric 16-1 in the first game last Tuesday night. Winning pitcher was Eligio Martinez and loser was Salvador Mata. In the second game Moore Oil overpowered Ozona Shell 10-3. Winning pitcher was Robert Massey and losing pitcher was Shannon Southern.

Thursday night Ozona National zipped Crockett Automotive 11-0. Eligio Martinez was again the winning pitcher. Ernie Vargas took the loss. Ozona Oil downed Ozona Electric 8-1 in the second game, with Willie Payne taking the win and Gino Tambunga, the loss.

Monday night Ozona National beat Ozona Shell in a game forfeited by Ozona Shell. The score was 9-0 when they called it quits. The second game saw the powerful Moore Oilers downed 7-6 by Ozona Electric. Winning pitcher was Craig Chapman. Brett Simpson took the loss.

Due to a change in schedule, the Ozona All Stars will play in San Angelo for all star play in a tournament where all area teams will compete July 18 through 22. The Ozona All Stars first game will be July 19, a Tuesday, at 8:00 p.m.

All Stars will be announced and further information given on the all star tournament in next week's paper.

Production Extended In County Field

Devonian gas production was extended one mile southeast in the Ingraham (Devonian and Canyon Gas) field of Crockett County with completion of Jake L. Hamon of Dallas, and Claud B. Hamill, Houston, No. 1 Chris Carmen Sutton, 23 miles west of Ozona, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.5 million cubic feet of gas daily.

Production was through perforations at 8,160-90 feet, which has been acidized with 5,000 gallons and fractured with 27,175 gallons and 35,225 pounds of sand.

Operator reported the following tops on ground elevation of 2,680 feet; Pennsylvanian, 8,086 feet and Devonian, 8,216 feet.

Slated as a 9,000-foot wildcat, it was drilled with 4 1/2-inch casing set at 8,351 feet.

Location is 1,320 feet from the north and west lines of a 2— FFF—FC&SF, Abst. 4814.

The field, which has one Canyon well, now has 11 Devonian wells.

How-To For Charcoal Cooking

Charcoal fire is ready for outdoor cooking once it is a rosy bed of coals covered with grey ash—but if flames are still visible, the fire is not ready.

Achieving a good bed of coals for meal preparation depends on several basic steps, says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Start the fire 30-60 minutes ahead of time so flames can die down and the coals turn gray.

To begin, stack briquettes in a pyramid, soak lightly with charcoal lighter fluid, let stand one minute, and then light. Never use fuel oil, kerosene or gasoline to start a fire—as they are highly flammable, and the smoke leaves an oily taste on the food.

Hickory chips add a distinctive flavor to charcoaled meats, so if they are in the outdoor cooking plan, prepare them early by overnight soaking in water.

After the fire is lit, drain the chips and place a small mound of them in the fire center—a handful is sufficient.

Long-term cooking of larger meat cuts may require additional chips later.

To keep the fire burning, protect it from drafts that might cause overheating and "hot spots."

If more charcoal is needed, place new pieces at the fire edge and move them into the center once grey ash covers them. For quick extra heat, simply knock the accumulation of ash from the burning charcoal.

To control flames produced by fat dripping onto hot coals, keep a spray bottle of water handy—or a bit of baking soda.

Consumer Food News For Week

Canned fruits and vegetables--and fresh cantaloupe--have attractive prices in many Texas grocery markets. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist reports.

Grocery Market Aisles--In addition to canned produce "specials," consumers can find low prices on pasta, grapefruit juice and sandwich buns.

In freezer chests, economical prices appear on meat pies, orange juice, potatoes and fish, although some fish prices are "inching upward."

Fresh Fruits--Cantaloupes quality is excellent at attractive prices and plentiful watermelons have moderate prices. Texas honeydew melons reflect lower prices, but apricots, nectarines and plums are still relatively high priced. Varying prices appear on bananas, cherries, oranges, peaches and pineapples, so choose according to budget limitations.

Fresh Vegetables--Local truck farms producing top quality, low-price produce make these items worth considering: yellow and zucchini squash, corn, cooking greens, purple hull peas, green beans, radishes and green onions.

Also look for economy buys on cabbage, carrots, cucumbers and green peppers.

Poultry--Fryer chicken are a bit lower, and special prices appear on fryer parts.

Medium and large-size eggs have reasonable prices, but jumbo and extra large are bringing "premium prices," since quantities are limited.

Pork--Look for specials on smoked picnics and sliced bacon. Frankfurter and pork liver prices are down. Good buys include rib and loin pork chops, semi-boneless and canned hams.

Beef--Look for reasonable prices on rib, sirloin and round steaks--and features on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and beef liver.

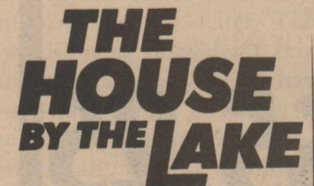

FOR GOOD HEALTH--Smokers should increase their daily intake of vitamin C to maintain blood levels.
