Ozona High School class reunions, golf, bridge and fireworks sort of livened up an otherwise quiet Fourth of July holiday weekend, which got underway Friday afternoon with visits from a couple of politicians.

Bob Krueger, present U.S. Congressman from our district, flew in to tell us he plans to run for the U.S. Senate next year, and at the same time Nelson Wolf came by to let us know he is in the running for the seat Krueger will vacate. We will probably have a lot of politicking between now and next year's elections, so we might as well get set for it.

OHS graduates from miles around came back home Saturday to reunite with their classmates and the town was full of ex-students from the classes of 1964 through 1968. A great success from all we hear.

Golf and bridge occupied country clubbers the entire three-day weekend.

The traditional July Fourth fireworks fortunately created only two small fires. Heaven only knows why we were spared having the town burn down, as a result of all the firecrackers and bottle rockets that went off here.

Every year hundreds of children are maimed or injured by fireworks and hundreds of residential and business firm fires are caused by fireworks. Loss from fire is staggering in the United States, yet every year it continues.

Whatever happened to that federal law to ban fireworks in the U.S.? It's somewhere back in my memory; I just can't come up with it.

Monday holidays are murder when your newspaper deadline is Tuesday noon. How we have come to dread them. When the bureaucrats changed every holiday to Monday with the exception of Christmas, Thanksgiving and Fourth of July, we moaned with despair. This year fate joined them and put July Fourth on Monday.

We are pleased that there will be no more sales tax on newspapers and magazines in Texas. It was such a trifle and created more bookwork than it was worth, even to the state I guess. However, our second class postage rate went up July 1, and we are anything but happy about that. The National Newspaper Association has suggested that newspaper publishers find an alternate to mail delivery as a means of getting their product to their subscribers. They say within a very few years, the cost of mailing newspapers through the Postal Service will be financially impossible both to the newspaper and the sub-

BLAZING AUTO GOT THE FOURTH off to a blazing start for Ozona firemen. This car caught fire about 4 miles east of Ozona Friday afternoon, and it was late Monday night before the last of five fire alarms, allowed the weary firemen to take to their beds hoping for rain and cooler weather. The car caught fire from a backfire and was heavily damaged by the time the firemen arrived upon the scene.

Gary Warren To Receive Scholarship

Tarleton State University athletic director Buddy Fornes has announced the signing of three more freshmen football players including a halfback selected to play on the North squad in the Texas coaches all-star game this summer.

Gary Wayne Warren, 6-0, 165 halfback from Ozona, will be playing in the all-star game after being selected all-district on offense and defense as a senior. He was also named to the All-West Texas super team on offense.

Joining Warren in signing letters of intent with the Texans are Mark Wilson of Fort Worth Western Hills and Rickey Williams of Good High School.

Warren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde D. Warren of Ozona.

Wolf Asks To Represent 21st Dist.

Nelson Wolf of San Antonio, visited Ozona Friday while touring the 21st Congressional District asking for support in his bid for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. House of Representatives, the seat presently held by Bob Krueger.

Wolf was narrowly defeated by Krueger in a runoff election in 1974, for the post held for so many years by O.C. Fisher.

Crockett County Second In State In Sheep Production

Crockett County ranchers place second in the state in sheep and lamb production, with recently released statistics showing some 189,000 head on hand countywide, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Producers in Crockett County also place in the top ten in the total number of Angora goats, some 44,000 head as of the first of the year.

"County production contributes to maintaining Texas' position as the leading sheep and wool producing state as well as virtually the only producer of mohair in the nation," Commissioner Brown commented, "despite production problems which have forced a steady decline in numbers for some years now."

Anderson Pet. To Drill In County

Anderson Petroleum, Inc., Ozona, will drill the No. 1-2 Millspaugh as a 1/4-mile north-east outpost to Canyon sand gas production in the Ozona multipay field of Crockett County, 26 miles southwest of Ozona.

Location is 1,900 feet from the south and 1,200 feet from the east lines of 2-2-John H. Gibson. Contract depth is 7,200 feet.

Reasons cited for the decrease in numbers include increased production costs and taxes, higher grazing fees, competition from synthetic fibers, predator losses, and poisonous plants.

While the number of sheep and goats in Texas has been dropping, value per head has pushed ahead. An average value of $37.00 per head for some 2,520,000 animals statewide means a total 1977 pricetag of more than $93

Only Eight Worm Cases In June

The screwworm outlook in Texas as July began has been equalled only one other time (1971) in history, says Dr. James E. Novy, assistant veterinarian in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Eradication Program.

As June ended Texas had gone one full week without lab identification of a screwworm sample. The last known case, from Val Verde County, was identified June 23. That reached the lab after 13 screwworm free days.

Only eight Texas screwworm cases were recorded during June...best record ever for the month. They brought the year's total to 30, compared to 2,306 in June of last year and a total of 4,274 by June 30.

New Mexico tallied one June case for a year's total of four; Arizona's 29 June cases brought a 37 case total; and California counted its only two 1977 cases in June.

A new tool has been added to the "Mission '77: Stamp Out Screwworms" campaign with installation of a toll free 1-800-292-5816 telephone line. This will make it easier for producers to call program headquarters about incoming samples, and to discuss eradication procedures, says Novy.

The two four-man "task forces" appointed to search for a suspected leak of fertile flies from the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) insectary did find, and close, several places where fertile flies were escaping.

"These holes can be attributed, primarily, to age of the facility," says Novy. "The fact no more screwworm cases have been found near the insectary is good proof the problem is solved," comments Novy.

million for sheep and lambs, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The value of all Texas goats, which are primarily Angora, increased more than $5 a head between 1976 and 1977. A $25 per head average for some 1,300,000 head currently gives the goat industry in Texas a $32,500,000 value.

Gas Discovery In S'east County Field

Jake L. Hamon, Dallas, and Claud B. Hamill, Houston, were calculating absolute open flow after taking four-point tests at their No. 1 Chris Carmen Sutton, in 2-FFF-GC&SF, Crockett County Pennsylvania gas discovery, one mile southeast of Devonian production in the Ingham (Canyon and Devonian gas) field, two miles southeast of Strawn gas production in the Lancaster Hill multipay field, but separated by a depleted Strawn producer and 23 miles west of Ozona.

Several Members Of School Faculty Give Resignations

Several Ozona School Faculty members have resigned this summer, Superintendent Foy Moody said Tuesday.

Mrs. Tony Allen, who taught high school English, and Mrs. Dwight Childress, high school biology teacher, resigned at the end of school and purchased Mac-Lu's dress shop, now known as The Teacher Store.

Charlotte Laughlin, junior high girls' coach and English teacher resigned. Richard Rodriguez, sixth grade teacher, resigned to return for more schooling.

A replacement has been hired for the elementary Spanish class in the Intermediate School. She is Ms. Manuela Rodriguez, a graduate of Angelo State University and a native of Kerrville. Mrs. Bernice Phillips resigned the position at mid-term last year.

In Primary school, Bernice Jones resigned from her kindergarten class, and Mrs. Chester Wilson retired from first grade after thirty years of teaching.

Bob Krueger Visits Ozona Friday

Congressman Bob Krueger, U.S. Representative, 21st District, visited Ozona Friday afternoon during a whirlwind tour of his district, to ask for support in his upcoming race for U.S. Senator against incumbent Senator John Tower. Krueger announced his candidacy formally Monday at a political rally near his home in New Braunfels.

About 20 persons were on hand to greet Congressman Krueger when he arrived at the Civic Center. After some handshaking and visiting, County Judge Troy Williams introduced Krueger who made his announcement.

Krueger gave a brief resume of his past and made his announcement, asking for support from citizens of the 21st District. Krueger, a democrat, was elected to the House of Representatives in 1974. He won the Democratic nomination in a runoff with Nelson Wolf of San Antonio, and went on to win in the general election over Doug Harlan, the Republican nominee.

Calling for "a voice, not just a vote for Texas in Washington," he asked for active support from constituents in the district.

grade teacher, resigned to take a position in the Kermit school system, where her husband, Wayne, will also teach. Lupe Rodriguez, special reading teacher, also resigned at Ozona Primary.

Moody said summer maintenance work was in full swing at all schools and noted some progress on the school improvement program. He said the school board hoped to employ a general contractor for the entire building program. Specifications are now being prepared by the architect and will be available for bidders soon.

Aldridge Gets Academic Scholarship

Vaden Aldridge, Ozona High School graduate, is one of four incoming freshmen to be awarded an academic scholarship by the Range Animal Science Department at Sul Ross State University.

Aldridge was all-district, all-West Texas and super-West Texas in football and was named to the all-district basketball team. His scholarship is for both the fall and spring semesters.

The new day and night scoreboard for the football field, a part of the improvement program, will be installed before football season begins in the fall. The school board has also purchased 22 new IBM Selectric typewriters to be delivered before the fall school term begins. All typing classes in the future will use electric typewriters.

Fires Mar Holiday Weekend In Ozona

Ozona firemen were kept busy answering alarms over the holiday weekend. Sunday was the only alarm free day for them.

Early Friday morning firemen were called to douse flames in the trash truck in the alley behind the Foodway Store. The fire was caused by smoldering trash loaded into the truck. Damage was light, but firemen were out 35 minutes and used 100 gallons of water.

A car fire at mid-afternoon Friday heavily damaged a 1975 Chevrolet belonging to Jeff Williams of San Angelo. The car backfired, setting the engine on fire about 4 miles east of Ozona on Hwy 290. Ozona firemen took 30 minutes to extinguish the blaze.

Saturday night a small grass fire behind a barn belonging to R.J. Everett at First and Ave J, was believed caused by fireworks. There was no damage.

Three fires Monday, all after 5 p.m., gave the Department a blazing July 4. The first alarm came in at 5:20 p.m. from Sutton County where firemen went to assist in a large grass fire. The fire was located 22 miles east of Sonora on the Jamie Parker and Emmitt Pfluger ranches. Fire departments from Junction and Eldorado also assisted. Ozona firemen were out over three hours on the fire.

Shortly after ten o'clock Monday night, another grass fire in the alley behind 312 Ave. I, also caused by fireworks, was extinguished.

Another car fire was the final alarm Monday night shortly before midnight. A car belonging to Howard James caught fire under the hood near the post office. Sheriff's Department units managed to contain the fire with a dry powder extinguisher until the fire department arrived. It took 15 minutes and 20 gallons of water to douse it.

HEADING BACK HOME after a tour of the vast 21st U.S. Congressional District, Nelson Wolf and his son, Kevin, rest a moment in Ozona Friday before the trek to San Antonio. Wolf is seeking the seat soon to be vacated by Congressman Bob Krueger.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: A barking dog is threatening my sanity! The family living behind me has a dog capable of continuous barking - all day, all night. I've called and written letters, and he still barks! Must I listen to this dog the rest of my life?

A: A barking dog is not only a nuisance mentally and emotionally, but may be a nuisance legally. If the canine cocophony is so frequent that the normal person's health and enjoyment of his property is affected, it might be possible for you to establish that the barking constitutes a common law nuisance and obtain an injunction. This would make the dog's owners liable for contempt of court if the barking continued. It might force them to move the dog.

Q: I am a divorcee who just remarried. I had one child by my first marriage. Is it possible to have his name changed to that of my new husband without adoption? What are the procedures and costs of these actions?

A: The child's name can be changed to your husband's without being adopted. You should contact a lawyer to help you with this. The lawyer will file the necessary papers with the court and set a hearing. Now, about the costs. This should be the first item discussed when you sit down in your lawyer's office. The lawyer will base the fee on the estimated amount of work involved. There will also be some court costs which your lawyer will be able to detail.

Q: I'm considering buying a new automobile and the dealer is offering a rebate from the automobile manufacturer. Do I have to pay the motor vehicle sales tax based on the sticker price of the car before the rebate is deducted?

A: No. The rebate amount must be deducted from the sticker price and the tax applied to the net cost of the automobile. The same situation applies when you trade your auto to buy a new one: the sales tax should be levied against the net cost to the buyer, after the value of the trade-in has been deducted. Anyone who was charged more sales tax than the law allows can obtain a refund by contacting the office of the State Comptroller.

Q: Problems keep building up, and I'm thinking about moving out and getting a divorce. If I do it, I want to get it over with as quickly as possible. How long does it take to get a divorce in Texas?

A: After the divorce petition is filed, the law requires a mandatory sixty-day waiting period. You could get back together during that time and drop the proceedings. After this 60 days, the final hearing on the divorce can be scheduled. This will be subject to the caseload of the district court and any complications or problems in your case. Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Speech, hearing

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Speech and hearing disorders are the most frequent handicapping conditions among children, says a University of Texas audiology specialist who advises early treatment for such disorders.

Dr. Frederick Martin says hearing loss has to be looked upon as a language disorder because it affects the development of normal speech and language patterns. Speech patterns of a child with impaired hearing are developed late and poorly, he says. Children often are diagnosed as being emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded when actually they have language disorders that stem from hearing loss.

Soviet oil, gas

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — While many eyes are on the oil of the Middle East, the eyes of two Texas scholars are on the oil and natural gas potential of the Soviet Union.

An economist, Edward Hewett, and a geographer, George Hoffman, of the University of Texas have begun a research project to assess the role of the Soviet Union in the future of world oil and gas markets.

Dr. Hewett will develop an econometric model to predict Soviet exports in oil and gas in the next decade. Dr. Hoffman will explore the impact of Soviet exports on Western Europe and the probable competition from future North Sea exports.

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe returns from a European vacation this week and preparations for the special session of the Legislature are expected to speed up.

Briscoe has already indicated he will issue the formal call proclamation by Friday, July 8, with the session due to start at 10 a.m. the following Monday.

The governor's desk is probably pretty well cluttered up with letters from legislators and their constituents asking him to expand the session beyond adoption of a public school finance bill for the next two years.

Although Briscoe has indicated thus far he has given priority only to school finance, he is known to be considering several other legislative matters which died during the regular session.

Among the bills he is being asked to consider reviving for the special session are:

(1) Reduction of the state sales tax on utility bills which Briscoe says he would like considered if enough money is available and there are indications the money is there.

(2) A state "money management" bill requiring the Treasury to invest more of Texas' idle funds in interest-paying accounts which its author, Rep. Frank Hartung, says will earn the state about $42 million every two years.

(3) Legislation to prevent abuse of nursing home patients.

(4) A general property tax law revision on the order of one Rep. Wayne Peveto of Orange pushed in the regular session only to see it die in the Senate.

(5) A constitutional amendment to let all farm, ranch and timber land be taxed according to productive rather than market value.

(6) A bill allowing independent school districts state-wide to elect trustees from single member districts.

Tax Exemptions
State Comptroller Bob Bullock has called attention to two new laws passed by the legislature and designed to broaden the definitions of groups eligible for exemption from the sales and use tax.

HB2080, effective August 29, provides any group qualifying for exemption from federal income tax under Internal Code Section 501(c) (3) may also qualify for exemption from state sales and use tax as well.

HB190, already in effect, exempts the sales or rental of motor vehicles to churches or religious societies if the vehicles are designed to carry more than six people and are used primarily for transportation to and from church or religious services or meetings.

Bar Mum

Officials of the State Bar of Texas are withholding comment until further study can be made of the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling that lawyers cannot be prohibited from advertising the fees they charge clients for routine legal services.

State Bar Pres. Travis Shelton said comment would be inappropriate until the organization has had a chance to study the court's decision in an Arizona case.

Hearings Scheduled

The House Committee on Public Education will conduct hearings on the proposed public school finance legislation on Thursday and Friday, July 7 and 8, starting at 9 a.m. each day.

Chairman Rep. Tom Massey of San Angelo called for testimony this week from all interested groups and individuals to help legislators in the decision making process to follow in the special session.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill has issued an opinion that in effect says counties are responsible for maintaining and constructing virtually all roads in unincorporated areas and long-established traffic arteries linking various communities in the county.

The only way the county can work on residential streets or property of another county entity is if the entity is willing to pay the county for the work, Hill held.

The attorney general also held last week that minors between 14 and 17 years of age charged with driving while intoxicated may be jailed if they are unable to make bond.

Even though they may be jailed for failure to make bond, Hill said they must be held in separate facilities from adult detainees.

Court Speaks

Because it made stoves in the 1960s that could ignite accidentally, Magic Chef Inc., must pay $230,000 to a teen-age girl whose chest was burned 10 years ago, the Texas Supreme Court ruled last week.

The San Angelo girl, Sandra Jo Shifflett, was five years old when she stood on a chair and tried to reach some fudge that was cooling on the back burner of a Magic Chef range.

A front burner ignited when she rubbed against a control knob, catching her blouse on fire.

The court also upheld once again the state's Sunday closing law and ruled it was not applied in a discriminatory manner against S. S. Kresge Co. of Dallas.

Congress of the United States House of Representatives

BOB KRUEGER
21ST DISTRICT, TEXAS

An American newspaperman recently was forced to confront, firsthand, what can happen in a nation where individual freedom is not held dear.

Los Angeles Times Reporter Robert Toth, who for three years has been living in and writing about the Soviet Union, was snatched from a street corner, placed under what amounted to arrest and accused of illegal activity by police, with the strong implication that he was possibly a spy.

What had he done? Simply associated with some scientists, and I'm sure people from other professions, whom the Russian government labels as dissidents, an association which in a Democratic nation would have been an assumed Constitutional right. What else? He had been handed a scientific paper on parapsychology, a subject hardly likely to be part of a subversive plot but, nevertheless, it contained information the Soviets considered secret, therefore Toth found himself in trouble.

The specifics of the Toth case are well known to most of us now, but the reasons he was detained and questioned remain puzzling.

Were the Soviets genuinely concerned that Toth was a spy? The evidence, including the fact that he was released after interrogation, indicates not.

It is more likely that the Soviets wanted to make an example of someone, partly because of aroused sentiment by journalists and others in support of this nation's pledge to fight for recognition of human rights.

It is also possible that what happened to Robert Toth happens often in the Soviet Union, but seldom to American reporters.

The prospect of a similar event taking place in America is outrageous to most thinking people, although we can cite examples of over zealous persons in authority occasionally intimidating persons suspected of wrongdoing, including members of the press. Unfortunately, we had to confront that at my own party's national convention in 1968.

But this nation, because of the unique structure of our Constitution, is quick to correct abuses of power and those who overstep Constitutional boundaries often pay dearly for those violations.

The Robert Toth case is behind us now, although accounts of it need to remain fresh in our minds, for if we forget how tenuous and precious freedom is, we run the risk of it gradually slipping away and it is a privilege on which all our Democratic systems are based. A very precious privilege.

WHEAT HARVEST—Against a backdrop of a clear, summer sky, this combine makes its way through one of Texas wheat fields. The Texas Department of Agriculture estimates this year's crop at some 110 million bushels - 6.6 million more than harvested last year.

'77 Wheat Crop Is Predicted To Exceed Last Year's Total

AUSTIN—Increased yields per acre boosted this year's Texas wheat crop over totals for last year, even though some 300,000 fewer acres were in production, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

Total production this year is expected to yield 110 million bushels, according to Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service statistics, Brown said. This is 6.6 million more bushels than harvested in 1976 due to the yield increase of three bushels per acre.

Total acreage this year is 4,400,000.

Tips
For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by
Mrs. Bailey Post

July is one of the best months to gather plant material for future use in dried or permanent arrangements. If you are going on a trip, or from your own garden, be on the lookout for the many materials you might require.

Of course, you should stop where the material is plentiful and well off the highway. Be on the alert if your husband is driving, for the place will be miles behind before you can convince him you really saw something worthwhile stopping for. Another way to hunt the treasures of the whole outdoors is to have an invitation to a friend's ranch or the family kinfolk.

It is important to have a special place to hang materials for drying and later to store where mice cannot get in, if grasses or grain are gathered.

There are several methods to use when drying plants. Upside down drying is the easiest if material is still green or in bloom. Gather flowers or spray material at the peak of perfection, tie in small bunches and hang upside down in the attic or a dark closet until dry. Some of the larger blooms, such as roses, peonies, marigolds and zinnias, should be hung separately. A coat hanger and clothes pins are handy for this. Cut material during the hottest part of the day, when it has the lowest moisture content. A drought year is an ideal time to dry plant material.

Some flowers will hardly change color if gathered in the proper stage of development. Celosia, goldenrod, liatris, bachelor's buttons, thistle, strawflowers and black-eyed susan are most satisfactory. The native Artemesia (dusty miller) dries beautifully for spray material when mature a little later, if hung upside down and not too compact, as it will break when separated.

Fern and canna leaves dry beautifully in different shapes or flat between newspaper and placed under a rug for several weeks. Change the paper after a few days so the moisture will not cause mold.

Pampas grass, thistle, cat-tails and other material that shatters should be cut when less than half matured.

Glycerine curing gives a deep gleaming mahogany here and remains pliable indefinitely. Use freshly cut stem ends and place in solution before they dry out. Magnolia, cherry laurel, elaeagnus, ligustrum, holly, photenia, loquat, nandina and pampas grass and other grasses are especially attractive. Stand material upright in a jar of well mixed solution which reaches 3 to 5 inches up the stem. Use one part of glycerine and two parts warm water. You may have lighter and darker shades or mottled effects of part green and part brown if removed at different stages of curing. Watch the solution, since the mixture should not fall below the crushed portion of the stem until all the glycerine has been taken up. Water may be added until the oily scum disappears. It will take two or three weeks for most plant materials.

Summertime "kitchen escape" tactics are easy and still allow for nutritious menus.

Following is a 10-point "kitchen escape" plan:

Prepare gelatin desserts—they're easy to prepare and to eat.

Use the outdoor grill for the entire meal including vegetables and breads.

Serve one-dish meals such as casseroles—and round out the menu with a cool salad and packaged bread.

Plan menus that cook in the oven at one temperature—this eliminates the extra heat of surface burners.

If you have a microwave oven—use it!

Prepare your main dish in a slow cooker. Serve vegetables and salads that don't require cooking and last minute preparations.

Serve cold meat salads as a main dish for a change.

Do baking in the early part of the day while temperatures are still relatively cool.

Serve fresh fruits in season for dessert.

Eat out—you deserve a break!

Apricot or Peach Ice Cream

Pare, slice, and mash: 4 pounds ripe peaches or apricots

Stir in: ½-¾ cup sugar and 1/8 teaspoon salt.

Cover the peaches or apricots closely and permit them to stand in the refrigerator until the sugar is dissolved.

Combine: 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup sugar, 2 cups cream, and 2 cups whipping cream.

Partly churn-freeze these ingredients. When they are half-frozen, add the fruit mixture and finish freezing.

Lemon Ice

Grate: 2 teaspoons lemon rind

Mix rind and 2 cups sugar. Add, stir over heat until sugar is dissolved, then boil for 5 minutes: 4 cups water or tea and ¼ teaspoon salt.

Chill. Add: ¼ cup lemon juice.

Freeze in hand or electric ice cream freezer.

The Sun Shines Bright

But wherever it shines . . . there are shadows. Wherever there are golden opportunities there are also sombre tragedies. Some fail to grasp their blessings.

Ours is a nation which guarantees to every child the opportunity for religious training. Yet ours is a nation which smarts under the scourge of a moral disease — juvenile delinquency.

In blessing you with a son or daughter, God has entrusted to you a precious soul. You are required by law to give your child a secular education. But, despite the scourge of delinquency, a free nation must leave to your conscience the question of your child's moral and religious education.

God has blessed America. With a nearby Church ready and eager to provide Christian training for your child, and religious foundation for your family's life—the Sun shines bright. But there are shadows. You must decide!

Jottings' From Jan

By: Jan Naron
They're driving around town in that brown car again. I've seen them on every corner and every side street around.

The good old days. It wasn't very long ago that I was driving around in a car similar to that one in a situation not far removed from this one.

It is fun being in Driver's Ed. It is fun if you can ignore the man sitting next to you with his foot perched on the extra brake, ready to slam down on it if you stop a little too late at a stop sign. It is fun if you can avoid meeting up with the same old timer who has driven the same streets for 60 years. (By golly, they're the same streets now as they were then—I'll drive them the same!) who believes everyone will watch out for him. (By now, the drivers all know about him, and they will not, under any circumstances, take the right of way when he is around.)

It is fun reading that little book and answering all those marvelous questions, like "Which way should you turn your wheels when you are sliding into a Mac truck?" and "How many feet will it take you to stop if you are going 78 mph on a slippery highway and you have a blow-out?" Marvelous questions like that are very important to a 15 year old student. They teach one much about driving. They really do.

It's loads of fun. After all, what else does a Soph. in high school have to do in the summer? Go swimming? Play football with friends? Take a nap? There's simply no possibilities—there's nothing to do but take Driver's Ed.

But the kids have it easy. The instructor is the one to have compassion for. How would you like to sit in a car with four giggly girls who have their minds on nothing to do with driving. Do you think it would be fun to spend your afternoons slamming your foot into the floorboard and being jostled around the seat like a pillow with arms and legs?

Those poor Driver's Ed teachers are the underdogs in this deal. They're the ones who have to listen to stories of how these "experienced drivers" have saved lives while driving a car. While listening to these stories, they're the ones who are holding the dash with one hand, trying to stick the cigarette lighter that someone broke off back into its socket with the other hand, and trying to maintain a calm voice while saying "Don't you think you should have stopped at that red light, considering it's the intersection of Highway 290 and Highway 163, and since that man in that black and white car with the red lights on is a policeman who doesn't like things like that?"

The funniest thing about it isn't all the hassle one goes through—student or instructor. The funniest thing isn't even watching them drive around the park thirty times consecutively. The very funniest thing about all this Driver's Ed stuff is that those kids have been driving around in their parents Cutlass Supremes and their own Volkswagons since they were 13.

That is the funniest thing!

Get Help From Social Security

People can get help, free of charge, in getting information from their social security records, according to Franklin Upp, social security district manager in San Angelo, Texas.

"Some private organizations are charging fees to help people get information from Government records," Upp said. "But you don't have to pay anyone to help you get information from your social security record. Any social security office will be glad to help you without charge."

Under the law, people generally can get information that's under their name and social security number in records kept by the Social Security Administration.

"You must specify which system of records the information is in," Upp said. "But people at any social security office will help you determine where the record you want is located. They'll also tell you how to ask for the information you want."

Copies of information that can be photo copied from social security records are free up to $25 worth—generally 250 pages, according to Upp. "Over that amount," he said, "photo copies cost 10 cents a page. Copies of information that can't be photo-copied are furnished at cost."

PHONE NEWS TO THE STOCKMAN.

Greenhouse Vegetable Growers To Parley

Greenhouse vegetable growers throughout Texas will want to make plans to attend a top-notch educational program at Texas A&M University July 17-19.

The 14th Annual Texas Greenhouse Vegetable Conference will provide growers with the latest in production techniques and ideas and will also offer special information on energy conservation as well as help growers to apply for a private pesticide applicator's license.

According to Dr. John E. Larsen, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the first day of the conference will be devoted to registration, with the program officially getting under way on July 18 at 8:30 a.m. at the Ramada Inn.

The first day's program will follow a short course format and will deal with such topics as financing, environmental controls, pollination, nutrient solution, soil, sand, gravel, haydite and vertical tube culture, rice hulls and other organic media, nutrient flow technique, intercropping tomatoes with flowers and foliage, pest control, sales and marketing, cucumbers, and plant production, transplanting and harvesting.

A membership meeting of the Texas Greenhouse Growers Council will follow the short course.

A banquet that evening will be highlighted by a talk on "Fantastic Horticulture" by Dr. J.C. Raulston, professor of horticulture at North Carolina State University. Use of some of the ideas that will be presented in this discussion could have far-reaching effects in boosting the financial situation of many greenhouse operations, contends Larsen.

The Tuesday, July 19, program dwells on energy facts and proposals toward energy self-sufficiency. Topics of discussion will include solar collectors and storage, combination solar and wood for heating, geothermal water for heating, coal-lignite mine air for heating, wind generators and turbine towers, wind power for direct drive of fans, water turbines, energy independence, wind-water generated electricity, windmill water lift, thermal lining of the greenhouse at night, and energy loan programs.

As fossil fuels become more expensive, alternate sources of energy become more realistic, points out Larsen. These discussions will provide an opportunity for greenhouse growers to obtain sufficient information to explore the possibilities of using different energy sources in their operations.

Speakers for the two-day program will include greenhouse vegetable growers from Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana as well as Extension Service specialists from Texas and Louisiana.

Cattlemen Meeting In Austin

Members of the Independent Cattlemen's Association will be in Austin July 7 and 8 to attend public hearings at the State Capitol on the public school finance bill.

T.A. Cunningham, president of the association, stressed to association members this week that any citizen who is tired of escalating property taxes should attend these hearings.

During the special session, which begins July 11, legislators will pass a compromise public school finance bill. House members during the regular session included property tax relief in their version of the bill but the Senate version called for higher taxes. The conference committee compromise provided for agricultural use values based on figures from the Governor's office.

"Ag use values must be maintained in public school financing," Cunningham said.

New Law For Sales Tax Exemp.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday that a new law passed by the Legislature will broaden the definition of groups eligible for exemptions from the sales and use tax.

Bullock said new groups that could qualify for exemptions include those that are scientific or literary or are organized to conduct public safety tests or to prevent cruelty to children or animals.

In addition, Bullock reminded church and religious groups that another new law already in effect exempts their purchases or rentals of buses from the motor vehicle sales tax.

H.B. 2080, effective August 29 this year, provides that any group qualifying for exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code Section 501 (c) (3) may also qualify for exemption from the Texas sales and use tax, Bullock explained.

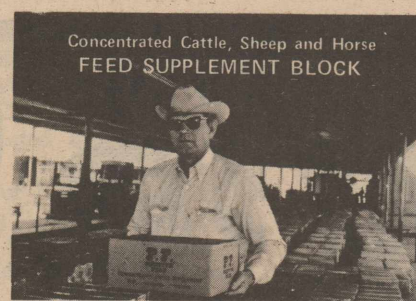

The Comptroller added, however, that the new law stipulates that every item purchased by such a group under that exemption must be related to the group's purpose and that no item purchased can be used for the personal benefit of any individual.

Bullock said Texas sales tax law already provides for exemptions for organizations created for religious, educational, charitable or eleemosynary purposes.

He urged organizations that qualify for federal income tax exemptions but have not yet qualified for Texas sales tax exemptions to apply to his Sales Tax Division by sending in a copy of their exemption under Section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Any groups not certain about whether it qualifies should contact the Sales Tax Division either in writing or by calling the toll-free WATS line number, 1-800-252-5555.

The Comptroller said that H.B. 190, effective June 10, exempts the sale or rental of a motor vehicle to a church or religious society if the vehicle is designed to carry more than six people and if it is to be used primarily for transportation to and from church or religious services or meetings.

State Securities Board Cautions Loan Officers

The Houston Branch Office of the State Securities Board today issued a caution to investment officers of savings and loan associations and credit unions located in Texas.

Gerald S. Siegmyer, Attorney-in-charge of the Houston Office, stated that some securities dealers are offering bonds to financial institutions under circumstances that pose substantial financial risks which some purchasers may not fully understand.

The securities involved are most often municipal or other government bonds. Rather than purchasing with an intent to hold the securities, as is usually the case, the savings and loan association, credit union or other purchaser agrees to purchase bonds on a short-term basis. At the time of purchase, the buyer pledges the bonds as collateral for a loan to fund substantially all of the purchase price.

Typically, the dealer loans from 90% to 98% of the purchase price of the bonds. The purchaser pays the balance of the purchase price to the dealer. The loan to the purchaser is obtained from the dealer selling the bonds who may himself fund the loan through a third party lender. The securities remain in the custody of the seller, but are the property of the purchaser who is entitled to the coupon interest earned on the bonds during a pre-set holding period.

Neither party contemplates that the purchaser will take delivery. Rather, the purchaser expects the dealer to repurchase the securities at the end of the agreed-upon holding period, return the margin money, and pay the profit. However, by written agreement with the dealer, the purchaser obligates itself to pay the full purchase price for the securities at the end of the holding period. The usual holding period for such transactions is from 2 to 30 days.

A savings and loan association, credit union or other purchaser can profit in two ways in such a transaction. First, and the primary selling point, is the profit represented by the difference between the coupon interest rate of the bonds and the lower interest rate paid by the purchaser for the funds loaned by the dealer to pay for the securities.

The second possible profit would be the difference between the purchase price and any increase in the market price of the bonds during the holding period. Market prices on most government securities generally do not fluctuate rapidly or to a significant degree during a holding period. However, the possibility always exists that there will be a substantial change in market price.

The risk assumed by the purchaser is the possibility of a decline in the market price of the bonds. Many investment officers do not take this risk into account, and it is not stressed by some dealers.

A decline in the market price of the bonds may offset gains realized from the interest differential. A significant decline can have a substantial impact on the purchaser, as the loss may be greater than the small "margin" deposit.

For example, a credit union which purchased $1 Million in bonds on a 30-day, 2% margin basis would expect to "invest" only $20,000, the "margin" required. If the bonds carried an 8% coupon and the dealer loaned the balance at 6%, the credit union could realize a better than 8% profit, in the 30 days it would expect to own the bonds, if the market price of the bonds fell 10 points, the credit union could suffer a $100,000 loss.

If the credit union decided to ride out the loss and hope for the market price to rise, it would have to pay the entire $1 Million purchase price and hold the bonds. The market price might rise, fall further, or remain the same.

Some purchasers have walked away from unprofitable transactions, hoping to limit their loss to the margin money. However, many of those purchasers are sued for the balance of the purchase price by the selling dealer or the third party lender.

Savings and loan associations, credit unions and other institutional purchasers should exercise caution when engaging in securities transactions they do not fully understand, and when the dealer soliciting the transaction is not known to them. The purchaser, especially when dealing with an unknown or unfamiliar dealer, should also check to be sure the quoted price for the bonds is reasonable, as abnormally high mark-ups on bonds offered in such transactions are not uncommon.

Persons having questions concerning suspected questionable securities transactions are invited to direct those questions to the Houston Office of the State Securities Board at 3100 West Alabama, Suite 114, Houston, Texas 77098, A/C 713-528-6128.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell McCaleb are on a vacation trip to California. Mrs. Willie Maness is in charge at the fire station while they are gone.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

June 28, 1977

Dear Editor:

The Neurosensory Center of Houston will soon be open. A multidisciplinary project of Baylor College of Medicine and The Methodist Hospital, the Center is a first - for Houston and the world. It is dedicated to conquering the more than 200 neurosensory disorders through an imaginative program of patient care, education and research.

Among the diseases which will be treated in the Center are blindness, deafness, stroke, muscular dystrophy, glaucoma, speech, voice and language problems, epilepsy, migraine, cataracts and many others. While many of them are not fatal, these diseases usually have serious consequences for the patient. They rob him of his ability to see, to hear and to function normally in the world.

In early May, we began the process of moving into the Neurosensory Center. During June and the coming months, a small army of personnel will tackle the immense task of moving into this magnificent facility.

From installing laboratories full of electron microscopy equipment to transferring the first patients into their new rooms, the Neurosensory Center move-in will be on a colossal scale.

The move-in will culminate in the grand opening of the Neurosensory Center during the weekend of September 24-25. We hope you will be able to join us for the dedication ceremony at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, September 24. A speaker of national prominence will be featured at the Saturday ceremony. On Sunday, September 25, there will be a public open house from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Further details of these events will be sent to you at a later date.

In the meantime, we welcome you to join us behind the scenes as we prepare for this historic occasion. The Center's physicians and staff would enjoy an opportunity to share with you their enthusiasm for this unique health care facility. Please call me at 790-3263 if I may be of further assistance.

Yours truly,
Sara McDaniel

Dear Kitty:

Thank you so much for your cooperation in printing my monthly column during the regular session of the 65th Legislature.

I am very grateful for your support, and I hope you won't hesitate to call on me any time I can be of any help whatsoever to you.

Sincerely,
Susan Gurley McBea

THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF CROCKETT

Notice is hereby given that a Public Hearing will be held on the proposed Crockett County Federal Revenue Sharing Budget for the year of 1978, at 2:00 P.M., July 11, 1977, in the Crockett County Courthouse, District Court Room, at which time all interested citizens of Crockett County have the right to participate in said hearing.

Friends:
I am writing to once again ask for your help, support and good will. Last Monday, July 4, at my New Braunfels home on the Guadalupe River, I announced my intention to seek to represent the people of Texas as your U.S. Senator. That office is one of high responsibility, and the decision to seek it was not made lightly. But I believe that position will allow me an even fuller chance for service to this area and the entire state. In my travels across Texas I have found that most people want the strength and vigor of our state to be represented by strong and effective leadership. They want more than just a vote in the U.S. Senate; they want a voice—one that can provide new direction for our state and nation.

In 1973, when I first sought to represent you and the people of the 21st District in the U.S. Congress, no one knew Bob Krueger, nor did we have the backing of any "political machine." We had something far more important. We had people. People who are willing to work for no other reason than that they were committed to open, honest government. I could never feel any closer to any area than to the one that gave me the chance to fulfill my most cherished goal—representing the people of the land that I come from. The new responsibility that I seek will not lessen this representation; it will strengthen it.

In our statewide effort we will face many obstacles. But I am convinced that with your help and the support of people like you all across this state, we can once again succeed. Thank you for your continued confidence. I shall never forget it.

Warmest personal regards, Bob Krueger

The Krueger Senate Campaign is forming a "Committee of 21" in each county in the 21st District. The "Committee of 21" will be made up of 21 or more people who are willing to work to elect Bob Krueger to the U.S. Senate. Please help. Send to: KRUEGER OF TEXAS/P.O. BOX 911/NEW BRAUNFELS, TEXAS 78130

I want to be a working member of the "Committee of 21."
 I want to make a contribution (make check payable to Friends of Bob Krueger).
 I want a bumper sticker.

Charcoaled Meats Are Unbeatable

Charcoal grilled meats are unbeatable--especially when outdoor chefs know the basic "how-to's."

Cooking is ready to begin once the fire is a bed of rosy coals covered with grey ash, says Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist.

Place meats on the hot grill, allow them to sear on one side, baste with sauce or butter, cook half of total cooking time--and then turn them over once. Turning meat only once retains more moisture.

In turning meats, always use tongs--as forks leave holes that allow tasty juices to escape, the specialist says.

If fire flames up as fat drips on the coals, sprinkle flames lightly with water or a little baking soda.

To slow down cooking, remove a few coals--or raise the rack. To speed cooking, add coals along the fire edge and transfer to the center once grey ash covers them.

Pack ground beef patties very firmly so they will hold together during cooking. Cook hamburgers one-half to three-fourths inch thick for five to ten minutes on each side about three inches from the fire.
