Fatality Due To Truck-Auto Crash

A spectacular truck-auto wreck about 6:30 Monday morning 12 miles east of Ozona on I-10 killed a California man, injured two others and spilled 78 head of cattle over the highway.

A Volkswagen, driven by Monica Terrenal, 28, of San Jose, Calif. was traveling west when an 18-wheel cattle truck hit it from the rear, completely demolishing the vehicle and overturning the truck tractor and trailer. A passenger in the auto, Glynn Duane Maddox, 36, apparently died of his injuries on the way to the hospital. Mrs. Terrenal was in fair condition in Crockett County Hospital Tuesday. Driver of the truck, Kenneth Brandon of Iola, was treated for head injuries and released at Crockett County Hospital.

The truck, owned by Tommy Parker Cattle Co., had passed another vehicle and prepared to pull in on the westbound lane when the collision occurred. The Volkswagen overturned twice as the truck turned over on the side spilling the cattle.

Trooper Joe Miles DPS, investigating officer, and several area men spent most of the day rounding up cattle. There were still 30 head unaccounted for at day's end. One head of livestock was crippled in the crash and had to be destroyed. Before the roadway could be cleared of livestock, a car, 1977 Chrysler, hit and killed another cow. Damage to the new auto was heavy.

Wildcat Slated For County

John L. Cox, Midland, will drill the No. 1 University, an 11,000 foot wildcat in Crockett County, 3/4 mile north-northeast of the Bouscaren (Strawn) field and eight miles north of Iraan.

Location is 1,650 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the east lines of 8-13-University. Ground elevation is 2,928 feet.

AREA COWBOYS AND COWGIRLS spend several hours Monday in an attempt to round up 78 head of cattle spilled when this truck overturned after running over a Volkswagen 12 miles west of Ozona on I-10 early Monday morning. One occupant of the vehicle was fatally injured, while the driver was hospitalized and the driver of the truck received emergency treatment. Early Tuesday morning 30 head of livestock was still unaccounted for in spite of the all-day round up.

Health Dept. To Advise On Sanitary Fill

R.C. Harrison and Stanley W. Thompson, representing the State Department of Health, met with the Crockett County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon to act in an advisory capacity in the county's plans to adopt a sanitary fill program at the present dump ground five miles east of Ozona.

The Texas Legislature passed a solid waste disposal law in 1969. The law regulates the disposal of solid waste and provides for the sanitary land fill as the approved method. In certain conditions, burnable portions of the waste may be burned and it is thought Crockett County will qualify for this privilege.

Mr. Thompson said that he had been contacted by County Judge Troy Williams and Water District Manager Bill Cooper about the law and the county's plans for compliance. He explained the delay in his giving attention to the local problem as resulting from the pressing needs of many communities where initial plans for disposal were being considered. Since Ozona had a facility in use, its problem was not acute.

Mr. Thompson urged that careful use of the land involved in the fill area be made. Land for such use is hard to come by, he said, and the most careful and proficient use of the area should be practiced. He said that state authorities were rushing municipalities and counties to complete their sanitary fill projects before the federal government takes a hand in issuing regulations.

In Civil Suit-

Commissioners Refuse To Accept Plaintiffs' Terms

Crockett County Commissioners Monday refused to agree to the terms of a judgment prepared by attorneys for the plaintiffs in the suit brought by a group of local Mexican-Americans against the county, contesting the election of 1976 wherein Jess Marley, incumbent, defeated contender Sostenes DeHoyos for the Precinct 1 commission spot.

A three-judge federal court recently held in effect that the redistricting by the county in 1975 was not approved by the justice department as required by the Voters Rights Act, which the Supreme Court had held applied to the state of Texas, and that the lines were discriminatory against the Mexican-American voters. The court instructed attorneys in the case, for the plaintiffs and defendants, to meet and submit to the court a form of final judgment in the suit for the court's consideration.

Such a proposed judgment was prepared by Attorneys Luis Segura and Jesse Botello for the plaintiffs in the suit, Hector DeHoyos, Jesse Fierro, Robert Flores and Armando Reina, deceased. The proposed judgment for submission to the federal court, was submitted to the attorney for Crockett County, Lucius Bunton of Odessa.

Mr. Bunton read the proposed judgment which states the uncontested provisions that the court has jurisdiction, that the Voters Rights Act does indeed apply to Texas and under it that any redistricting or changes in voting patterns must be submitted for approval of the Justice Department or to the District Court of the District of Columbia.

The proposed judgment would declare the results of the 1976 general election void and declare the offices of Commissioners in Precinct 1 and 3 vacant and order a new election. The election under the proposal would be held simultaneously with an election in Texas set for Nov. 8, 1977, to decide a group of proposed constitutional amendments. Absentee voting would close Nov. 4 and election returns were to be canvassed by Nov. 10 and results certified.

If no majority prevailed at the election, a second or run-off election would be held on Dec. 3. The election would fill the unexpired terms of the present Commissioners of Prec. 1, Jesse Marley, and Prec. 3, Jack Williams. Both precincts were affected by the redistricting. The judgment would provide that the Precinct lines as of 1972 would be used in the election.

Mr. Bunton, acting as attorney for the defendants, County Judge Troy Williams, Commissioners Jesse Marley, Bill Black, Jack Williams and Jesus Castro, County Clerk Leta Powell, and Democratic chairman Johnny Hunnicutt, told the court it had a number of options.

Auto-Bike Wreck Hurts Two Boys

An auto-bicycle wreck late Monday injured two Ozona boys, both 8 years of age, and sent them to Shannon Hospital for observation.

A bicycle driven by David Gonzales and Jesse Deleon was in collision with a car driven by Isabel Lopez at the intersection of Santa Rosa and Monterrey Streets around 8 p.m. Monday. The boys were taken to Carlisle Clinic where they were treated and then by ambulance to the San Angelo facility, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Carlisle. The accident was investigated by Trooper Manuel Hartnett, DPS.

The extent of their injuries were not known at press time.

adjust differences and to continue to press the Justice Department for approval of the redistricting plan of 1975.

Mr. Bunton pointed out that there has yet been no final judgment in the case. He traced the activities leading up to the redistricting and subsequent activities. He recalled the meeting of the court and a group of Mexican-American citizens in which it was agreed that the precinct lines were drawn fairly. He said that the changes were submitted to the justice department in plenty of time for that agency to have acted, and that numerous letters of inquiry were submitted and he himself made a trip to Washington in an effort to resolve the matter.

A census of the county was taken recently and the results of that census were indeterminate but believed now to have been approved. Mr. Bunton said that he would like to present the new census figures to the court and to point out the problems that would arise if a new election were to be called.

Attorney Bunton's final option was put in the form of a motion which was approved by the Commissioners Court by a vote of 3 to 0. The motion was to instruct Mr. Bunton to prepare a form of judgment different from that being considered but along lines which he considers might meet the court's approval and would be more nearly in line with the thinking of the court. Such action, attorneys speculated, would result in the court's calling a public hearing in Dallas when further arguments might be submitted.

The judgment proposed by the plaintiff's attorney called for a payment by the county of $16,000 as attorneys fees for the plaintiffs. That item would be one of those to be contested in the final judgment.

Court Gives Relief To Fire Department

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday in regular meeting with a full agenda. Reports were accepted and announcements made, while volunteer firemen were given some assistance with equipment which has been sorely tried during this hot, dry summer.

The highly efficient Ozona Volunteer Fire Department had only to ask and they received prompt emergency relief for a shortage of equipment for fighting grass fires. Three members of the volunteer group appeared before the Commissioners Court Monday morning to call attention to the problems being faced this summer. Careful use of equipment has resulted in an unusually long life for the fire trucks in use by the department. But at least one of the trucks has just about "had it," in the words of the firemen.

Fire Chief Dorris Haire and firemen Steve Kenley

and Bob Falkner met with the court to call attention to their needs. This summer's extreme heat and drought have resulted in unusual demands on the department in fighting area grass fires. Already the department has made 84 grass fire runs this year, the same as for the entire year of 1976, Chief Haire said.

In an aside County Judge Troy Williams told the visitors of a conversation he had with some firemen from Big Lake at the Junior Rodeo. The Big Lakers were highly complimentary of the Ozona department, calling them "professionals."

"Would you speak into the microphone," Steve Kenley requested, pointing to a radio man's recorder on the table. But it scarcely needed broadcasting so well known is the proficiency of the department.

Progress In Rhodesia

For nearly a century, the black people of Rhodesia have made enormous advance. There were 400,000 of them at that time, and now there are more than ten times that number. Moreover, they have learned many agricultural and industrial skills. Their housing has been upgraded more than in any other African country except South Africa. Their jobs are better, their pay is better, their education and medical care are far better than they ever have been, and they have a substantial voice in the government.

With a little education, even a low paying job or a few hundred dollars worth of property, they are permitted to vote, and more of them are voting every year. In time, under the present arrangement, they would come into control of their country.

There is no job, political or otherwise, in Rhodesia that a black man cannot hold if he meets these minimum requirements for participation in government or is able to achieve success in a profession or business. Many of them have done so. Some are millionaires.

All this is to be wiped out for the sake of some theoretical majority rule, which really means dictatorship after the order of Uganda, Mozambique, Angola or Zaire.

We are really sitting back and aiding the Communists to take over the second largest and probably the richest continent on the face of the earth.

Under the Ian Smith government, it would be only a few years, possibly 10 or 15, until the blacks controlled Rhodesia. Under the proposed form of black majority rule, it will almost certainly be a black dictatorship and a black communist party rule which is only another form of totalitarianism.

The blacks of Rhodesia enjoy better jobs, better housing, better schools, better medical care, better wages and far more freedom than the blacks of any of the black-governed countries of Africa. They know this and are grateful for it.

Guerrilla warfare in and around Rhodesia does not come from Rhodesian blacks. It is financed by Communist countries (and has had much help from the World Council of Churches) and it is carried on by guerrillas from the surrounding black countries.

The blacks of Rhodesia outnumber the whites 20 to 1. They make up most of the armed forces and most of the local police force. They could crush the whites any time they choose, but they know the whites are indispensable to their continuing progress.

History, reason and conscience call loudly for the end of interference from without in Rhodesian affairs. If the U.S., the U.N., the World Council of Churches, and all people and institutions outside of Rhodesia would withdraw from all interference with that country, the problem could be settled amicably, without bloodshed between the white and native black Rhodesians.

New Muscle for Inflation

The steelworkers have gained a wage increase of 30.8 percent over the next three years. This will, of course, become a pattern for other industries. Other workers will claim they are entitled to as much as the steelworkers. Not all of them will get it, but that will become an average pattern.

If wages are to go up ten percent a year, prices of goods and services will continue to advance in about the same proportion. Prices may lag somewhat if industry has sufficient capital to keep on improving its equipment so that more can be produced in the same amount of time. This might account for two or three percent a year. If it does, a ten percent advance in wages would result in a seven or eight percent advance in prices.

It is doubtful, however, if this ratio can be maintained, for capital is becoming scarce.

Our industries used to be financed by about two-thirds of common stock, and one-third of bonds, notes, or bank loans. As capital has grown scarce and more difficult to obtain, the tendency has been to increase the bonds and bank loans and decrease the amount of common stock. The ratio is now about one-third of the latter to about two-thirds of bonds or loans. This in itself is a dangerous situation. It increases the interest load our industries must carry and makes them more vulnerable to any reverses or slowdowns.

But going back to bedrock principles, why should we think we are improving our situation by increased wages, paralleled by rising prices? If we would forego the wage increases, price increases likewise would cease, and all of us would be able to maintain current living standards. It would not mean sacrifice for any.

But if we continue to force wage advances, followed by comparable price increases, thereby making necessary deficit spending and further increases in the quantity of money, we shall eventually drive the purchasing power of the dollar down to zero.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—A quarter-billion-dollar state highway system repair, rebuilding and rehabilitation program received approval of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission last week.

Projects spanning 6,900 miles of highways were made possible by additional funds appropriated for road purposes by the legislature this year.

Bulk of the work on 1,075 projects in 223 counties will be financed from general revenue funds earmarked for the purpose. The remainder will be paid for with state highway funds.

Extensive damage to the existing system due to severe weather conditions and a shortage of money in recent years made the rehabilitation necessary, SHPTC said.

Cost of the work is about $222.5 million. An additional $4.3 million is set aside for later assignment.

Approximately 68 per cent of the program will be on state and U.S. highways, another 30 per cent on farm to market roads, and the rest (two per cent) is reserved for future assignment.

The program is the first phase of a long-range program to restore the highway system to top standards. It is based on recommendations of several district engineers and was selected following a statewide assessment of needs.

All projects are expected to be underway within a year and a half, SHPTC said.

Small Hike Proposed

A State Insurance Board consultant has recommended that automobile insurance rates be raised only 1.8 per cent statewide, as opposed to 10.1 per cent earlier projected by board staffers.

Charles Edwards of Dallas offered his suggestions at a board rate hearing last week.

The industry is seeking a 17.4 per cent average boost in rates.

The board delayed a decision for two weeks to make a careful study of the actuary's proposals.

Edwards noted that current rate formulas allow insurance companies 20 cents on each premium dollar for agents' commission and other production costs, but actual cost is only about 16.7 cents. Edwards was instrumental last year in holding down the increase by selling the board on automatic deductibles of $200 for collision coverage and $50 on comprehensive coverage.

A city can adopt water control run-off regulations in parts of an aquifer re-charge zone within its limits and extra-territorial jurisdiction, Atty. Gen. John Hill held. In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A transaction is generally valid in which a county hospital sells to a state or federal bank accounts receivable from its patients at a discounted rate and with partial recourse on the hospital for uncollectable accounts.

Courts Speak

A U.S. district judge in Houston has ruled there was no racial discrimination involved in the forced resignation of a former Texas Rehabilitation Commission counselor.

The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court reversed a ruling permitting a Dallas television cameraman to film executions at the state prison. The court said government is not required to give the press special access to information not shared by members of the public generally.

The Fifth Court ordered a hearing in a state suit to force the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to reimburse the Texas Department of Public Welfare for $92 million in social services to help the blind, disabled and parents of dependent children find employment.

Offshore Energy Development

WASHINGTON—Senate action on legislation to amend leasing procedures on the Outer Continental Shelf has dealt a severe setback to this Nation's efforts to become energy self-sufficient.

If signed into law by the President, the legislation could well be a death blow.

At issue in the recent Senate vote were amendments to the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of 1953, the law which established the leasing structure for the development of oil and gas in federal offshore regions. This law provides the basic framework and authority to lease and develop federal offshore fields, and the record of exploration and production under the Act is impressive.

Not only was the 1953 law a flexible document, with adaptations to reflect changes in technology and the times, but it permitted adequate environmental safeguards and allowed states to become equal partners in decisions affecting their coastlines and economies.

In short, the 1953 law worked well because it was both simple and comprehensive, balancing legitimate state interests with the national need to develop publicly owned resources.

The Senate action removed most of that flexibility, replacing it with rigid new federal regulations that promise only to complicate leasing procedures and to create countless opportunities for obstructionist lawsuits. Red tape inevitably will result and precious time will be lost in bringing in new wells that already require as much as eight years lead time.

At a time when every effort should be made to increase production of our own resources, further regulation of the industry only assures our continued dependence on foreign energy sources.

More alarming, however, than the increased regulation of the oil industry, is the degree to which the Federal government with this legislation has deepened its involvement in the energy business.

One amendment the Senate adopted directs the President to conduct a continuing investigation to determine the availability of all oil and gas produced or located in the United States. Clearly, the Federal government would have vast and unprecedented powers to make assessments of energy availability anywhere in the country—on Federal lands, state-owned lands, and private lands, both onshore and offshore.

Under this provision, the government could, if it deemed such action necessary, enter upon privately owned property, and then drill exploratory wells to determine the existence and extent of oil and gas reserves.

This and other amendments to the 1953 law raise not only the specter but the near reality of a Federal government agency which could conduct all oil and gas exploration and production in the United States.

An enormous Federal program of this nature would provide little new information on national energy reserves, despite its sponsors' claims, but would bring us much closer to the time when the Federal government will attempt to take over all private energy development in this country. The cost of such a Federal endeavor to the American taxpayer would be untold billions.

In few instances has Congress demonstrated more clearly its misunderstanding of this country's energy dilemma. Government's long history of intervention into the energy business has been a principal contributor to our growing dependence on foreign sources. We cannot expect to lessen that dependence with measures making a bad situation worse.

ed in my favor. Could I save money by paying the lawyer on an hourly rate instead of this kind of contingent fee arrangement?

A: Ask your lawyer to give you an estimate of the number of hours he expects to spend on the case and whatever expenses would be involved. Most law suits for damages are handled on a contingent fee basis for two major reasons: most clients prefer to have the option of paying the lawyer nothing if the law suit is not successful and many clients do not have the financial resources to initiate a law suit. Explore these options fully with your lawyer before making a decision.

Q: I have been told by some of my friends that a girl 17 years old or more can leave home without parental consent and no action can be taken against her. Is that true?

A: A person who is at least 17 could leave home without the consent of her parents or guardian and not face detention by a juvenile court. However, should an individual leave without consent for a substantial length of time or without intent to return prior to turning 17 and it doesn't come to light until after his or her birthday, that person would still be subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court under the Family Code.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Q: My common-law husband and I live in the home he owned before we met. He has children by a previous marriage. We have no children. He has a will leaving the house to his mother and sisters living in another state. What chances would I have to continue living in the house in the event of his death?

A: The surviving widow has a right to remain in possession of the homestead during her life. This right would not be affected by the fact that the title to the homestead may be passed to some person other than the widow by the terms of the will.

Q: My husband was married once before. His former wife asked that their only child be made beneficiary of his life insurance until the child reaches 18 years. I would like to know if I would receive any benefits from the policy should something happen to him.

A: It all depends on how he set it up. When he named beneficiaries at the time the policy was written, he could have designated most anyone or the estate in general. It's true he could make such an agreement which would benefit his child and not you as his wife. He could also change beneficiaries if he wants to.

Q: In filing a suit for damages resulting from an auto accident, my attorney said his fee would be one-third of any court judgment award-

Tips
For Gardeners
From the Ozona Garden Club
by
Mrs. Bailey Post

Though August is one of our hottest months usually, you may take advantage of this, for many shrubs and ornamental trees will grow very rapidly, if given adequate water. It seems that the task of watering during the hot dry weather is the most constant chore.

Water requirements of plants vary, so a list of a few may be helpful for the summer. The soil around shallow-rooted plants such as fern, dogwood, hydrangea, camellia, azaleas etc. should not be allowed to dry out even once.

Plants with moderate water requirements should be next on the list which includes juniper, nandina, pyracantha and hollies. Among the drought-resistant plants are lantana, pampas grass, yucca, vitex and oleander. They are able to go without water for longer periods of time without adverse effects.

Perhaps you have noticed how the crepe myrtle likes summer heat. As the temperature increases, many garden plants lose a good bit of their enthusiasm, but not crepe myrtle. Heat seems only to stimulate this plant to better flower production. They are easy to grow and have few insects and disease problems. Give them sun, good drainage, moderate water and reasonably good soil and they present a colorful spot. Heavy pruning in Jan. or Feb. while dormant will result in large flower clusters, but fewer in number. Plan to put one or a group in your landscapes for next year.

Someone asked what caused the lower leaves of their jade plant to wilt and then fall off. You may be giving it either too much or too little water. Treat the plant like a cactus, give it plenty of drainage, but only enough water to prevent wilting. Frequency of watering will depend upon its size and condition of the plant, the container, humidity and temperature of the plants surroundings.

Another choice plant or vine is the clematis, a Japanese variety that blooms in great white clusters in August and September. It is a rampant climber reaching up to 30 feet. In maturity it carries an abundance of fragrant, pure white, 1 1/2 inch flowers in great clusters. The sprays may be beautifully used at this time of the year in mass arrangements for tea tables, wedding and other parties. Once established, they demand very little attention, if given a desirable place to climb.

The clematis genus of plants is of the buttercup family and available to you today in many spectacular varieties. Among them are kinds blooming in almost every month of spring and summer. Their only requirement is a cool root-run and an opportunity to reach up into sunlight. To plant them, dig a big hole, large enough to support a vine that might travel 30 ft. high. To the soil mix, add leaf mold and sand. The growing medium should be rich, moist, and well drained. To keep the roots of the plants cool add a three-inch mulch of compost mixed with manure or set two or three stones over the area to keep temperatures cool. I planted the one (white cluster) I had on the east side of a cedar tree for it to run up on and afternoon shade for roots.

MRS. RICKY WEBSTER
...nee Miss Darolynn Wilson

Miss Wilson And Mr. Webster
Are Wed In Sat. Ceremony

First Baptist Church of Ozona was the setting Saturday, August 6, at 7:30 p.m. for the wedding ceremony of Miss Darolynn Wilson and Mr. Ricky Webster. Rev. Max Brown of Brownwood, assisted by Rev. Nelson Lanham, pastor, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Webster.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sleeveless gown of white satin, designed and made by her mother. The gown and chapel-length train was overlaid with silk organza. The bodice was adorned with lace and seed pearls surrounded the scoop neckline. The hemline of the dress and train were enhanced with lace. A Juliet cap held her chapel length veil which was detailed with Chantilly lace.

A silk and dried floral arrangement surrounded a miniature golf bag. Fairways were made of green felt. Misses Wende Wampler of Denver City, Charlotte Talley of Odessa, and Anne Hoover passed out rice bags. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Webster hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Circle Bar Restaurant.

The couple are both 1973 graduates of Ozona High School. The bride is a graduate of Angelo State University with a degree in Elementary Education. She will teach in Ozona Primary School this fall. Proper care of meat assures wholesomeness and good taste of this important and costly grocery item.

Appearance is the best guide when buying fresh meats. The lean should be bright in color and the fat firm. Type of packaging, processing methods and temperature determine freshness.

Keeping meat cold is the most important way to keep meat fresh. This means both before and after purchase. Select meats last at the supermarket, take home immediately and refrigerate or freeze as soon as possible.

Normal temperature range for most home refrigerators, 32-40 degrees F., holds meat fresh well. Temperature in the refrigerator may need to be set colder during hot summer months when the refrigerator is likely to be filled to capacity. A 10-degree rise in temperatures during storage can cut storage life in half.

Prepackaged fresh meats can be refrigerated unopened in the original wrapping for use within two days. Modern packaging materials are designed to protect the meat by controlling the amount of moisture and air in the package to improve keeping quality.

Meats can be frozen in these original wrappings for one to two weeks. But for longer storage, the original wrapping should be over-wrapped with moisture-vapor-proof freezer materials. Fresh meats which are not prepackaged should be wrapped loosely in waxed paper or aluminum foil, refrigerated and used within two days.

Grinding meat multiplies the surfaces where bacteria can grow. For this reason, ground meat should be cooked within 24 hours or frozen. Ground meat should always be cooked thoroughly.

Cook meat immediately after removal from the refrigerator. Bacteria can grow and cause spoilage when meat is allowed to come to room temperature, and it is easy to forget just how long the meat has been sitting out. Thaw frozen meats in the refrigerator.

Cooked meats need refrigeration within two hours after cooking to prevent growth of harmful bacterial. Cover leftovers to prevent drying and store in refrigerator for up to two days. Cooked meats can be frozen for three-six months if properly packaged.

Reddy's helpful tips for your HOME LAUNDRY

Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying. Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

Too much detergent can clog machine and drains... always measure, don't guess! Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for your type equipment. Mixing brands of detergents can cause graying of clothes.

Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!

One Great Certainty

We go back to the old homestead, the old home town. Perhaps we have long anticipated that visit, but now we find that the changes are so disillusioning that we don't care whether we ever return. We meet a friend of years gone by and hardly recognize him. He too has changed. We compare the face reflected from our mirror with old photographs and realize that, without knowing it, we have changed. We try to use a map of yester-year only to discover that it is out of date.

We shudder a little as we wonder if there is anything that remains the same.

The Church tells us that there is. Through the centuries it is the one institution which points to the unchanging God, "the same yesterday, today, and forever." Worship customs may differ, but every Christian congregation seeks to lead men to the one great Certainty, which is God. That is why you will want to attend church regularly. Here is peace. Here is assurance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Residents of Crockett County and Editor of Ozona Stockman,

In the past, as in the present, Ozona has prided itself in being a community that is able to handle its own problems. Recent actions, however, on the part of the commissioners disproves such contention.

For the past two to three years, the precinct line changes enacted by the court has been an issue that has disturbed and confused residents of Ozona to the point that few know their legal precincts. Moreover, the consequences of such short-sighted changes on the part of the court have reached court action that has dragged on for three years and may very well continue, considering the mentality that has dominated the actions of the commissioners court.

All the commotion may be dismissed by many as being the fault of some radical trouble-making Mexican Americans who many residents of Ozona consider to be the root of the problem. The so-called trouble makers, it might be reminded, are simply making an effort to make their voice heard at the county's political level, but in reply to all their actions the best answer that can be rendered them is that residents in the past (the old residents it should be remembered) never had raised any objections to whatever actions the commissioners court took.

The failure and stubbornness of the commissioners court to reach a compromise, to come to some agreement beneficial to all residents of Ozona, has cost and will continue to cost the residents, the taxpayers, a tremendous amount of money that could otherwise be used to improve the county's streets, sanitation facilities south of town, and some badly needed recreational facilities that would benefit all residents of Crockett County. For example, Frio County experienced a similar case, and they, likewise, took the matter to court, a venture which burdened the taxpayers with approximately $80,000 to $90,000. Feeling that they could still by pass the decision of the federal judges, they appealed their case to the Supreme Court, a move that added in the long run more than $100,000 to the taxpaying citizens of that county. Consequently, since the editor of the Stockman has continually kept abreast all actions taken by the commissioners court, would it not interest her as well as all residents of this county how much money, at the taxpayers' expense, has been spent by the commissioners court, in view of what Frio County spent?

This information has been presented so that concerned citizens of this county might perhaps start taking notice of the actions and decisions that their most duty-minded commissioners are inacting in the name of righteousness.

Sincerely yours,
Hector DeHoyos

Dear Editor:
Last week's vote by the U.S. House of Representatives against the deregulation of natural gas prices was a vote against the American consumer and against jobs for Texans. Because of the great amount of confusion and misinformation surrounding last week's vote and the entire issue of the deregulation of natural gas prices, I felt that it was important that an attempt be made to set the record straight.

The nation and Texas both lost in the vote against deregulation of natural gas prices. It was a vote to give the power to federal bureaucrats not just to set prices for energy but to allocate energy supplies and jobs to other states.

In the winters ahead, as the dwindling supply of natural gas fails to meet our nation's needs, as Texas loses jobs and economic growth, I hope we will remember the circumstances that caused opponents of deregulation to reach the conclusion reflected in today's vote.

Our loss might very well have been prevented, I believe, if two things had happened:

--if the Administration had offered a better, more realistic gas pricing policy; and
--if the issue had remained non-partisan, as it ought to have.

Instead, people put obligation to party ahead of obligation to country.

For weeks, I had sought a method of compromise in implementing a plan that would hold true to two essential principles:

--eventual removal of federal price controls, or deregulation, and
--the denial of federal authority over our state's intrastate gas supplies.

Both those principles were served in my deregulation bill in 1976, which lost only 205-201. At that time, many Democrats, including myself, worked with a Republican President to fashion non-partisan energy policy. Today, partisanship on both sides prevailed and the loss was substantial.

After the initial Krueger bill to deregulate natural gas won in subcommittee, by a vote of 12-10, I knew that it would be harder to win in full committee. I felt that by phasing out price controls, over several years, however, we could win deregulation in full committee.

But the Republican leadership insisted instead upon holding to the official Republican policy of immediate deregulation of new natural gas, coupled with windfall profits taxes. That strategy lost by a vote of 23-20.

I then negotiated with Republicans and Democrats, seeking to offer phased out price controls before the full House of Representatives. That seemed to me the only strategy capable of victory.

Unfortunately, in the Rules Committee the Republican leadership combined with Democratic supporters of the Administration's policy to deny me the opportunity to offer the only amendment that would have won. In my judgment, the Republican leadership consciously offered a losing strategy so that they could blame President Carter for the defeat of deregulation.

In so doing, they allowed partisanship to overrule wise policy. The House became polarized on a highly complex issue and people tended to take the easy way of voting a party line as Republicans versus Democrats instead of working together as public officials to fashion non-partisan energy policy, as I had hoped we might. Thus, we are all losers and we must hope that the Senate will not act in partisan fashion, that it can repair the divisions created in the House, which have cost all Americans their hopes of our best possible energy policy.

Since Texas is by far the largest consumer of natural gas-consuming more than all of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, California, Oregon and Washington combined--if we have a very cold winter this year, Texas stands to lose thousands of jobs if natural gas is allocated, as allowed by this bill, to other states. If that happens, the Texas consumer and wage earner will be the ones to suffer.

Sincerely,
Bob Krueger
U.S. Congressman

Baptists To Hold Special Services Sun.

There are two special events planned for Sunday evening, August 14 at the First Baptist Church. The young people from the North Side Baptist Church in Ft. Stockton will present a program of music and drama during the evening worship service.

The program will be followed by the showing of the motion picture "Barabbas" in the church's fellowship hall. The film, which stars Anthony Quinn as Barabbas tells what might have happened in the life of the man for whom Christ died nearly 2000 years ago.

The public is cordially invited to attend both the worship service presented by the Ft. Stockton group and the showing of the motion picture.

County In Line For Road Work

Work in Crockett County is included in the 1978 Special Rehabilitation and State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program approved by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

District Engineer D.R. Watson of San Angelo said the work includes seal coat on U.S. 290 from the east edge of Ozona east a distance of 5.4 miles, at an estimated cost of $38,100.

State 137 from State Highway 163 northwest a distance of 6.1 miles, reconstruct base and resurface at an estimated cost of $266,500

Statewide, the quarter-billion-dollar program, largest in the 60-year history of the department, provides for the improvement of some 6,900 miles of highways at an estimated construction cost of approximately $222,560,000, with an additional $3.1 million set aside for later assignment.

Some 1,075 projects in 223 counties are included in the program. District Engineer Watson noted that a large part of the program will be financed with General Revenue funds appropriated by the 65th Legislature for maintenance and construction. The remainder of the projects will be financed with state highway funds.

Approximately 69 per cent of the overall program will be on State and U.S. Highways, another 30 per cent on Farm to Market Roads, and the remaining 1 per cent reserved for future assignment.

"The program is the first phase of a long-range program to restore the highway system to the standards Texans have come to expect," Watson said. It is based on recommendations submitted by several district engineers and selected following a statewide assessment of highway needs.

Bedroom Arrangements For Elderly

In bedroom arrangements for the elderly, convenience and comfort are the rule, says Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

It is essential that large, easy-to-open windows offer pleasant views from chair and bed and that good, no-glare lighting is available. Light switches within reach of the bedside, and outlets at least two feet off the floor, save exertion and stooping.

For privacy, separate the bed from the living and cooking quarters and a partitioned-off bed could go unmade at the convenience of the resident.

In addition to bed and chair, a nightstand is essential. The stand, or table, on lockable casters, would provide additional space for personal belongings such as medicines.

Watching TV Good And Bad For Children

Watching television for children and sometimes not, says Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Children's programs are good when they aid in cultural, emotional or intellectual development, and only parents can decide which program is good for their family viewing.

Since children learn from play and TV is a form of passive play, it teaches—but it enriches only when program goals are the same ones found in other forms of instructive play, she says.

TV offers some of the values that play offers, and TV can add to a child's development—physical, therapeutic, educational and creative. TV also provides self-insight and social and moral development, the specialist explains.

Wise parents select programs that offer these values—and meet family goals and standards, Miss Taylor adds.

Also, she advises parents to select TV programs and timetables that do not replace family time, exercise, outdoor play or friendships with other children.

"In addition to stimulation and amusement, children can be encouraged to emulate the 'good guys' they meet on TV. It is easy to identify with the moral characters who catch the thief, help the loser, rescue Lassie or, by whatever means, save the day," she says.

"Also, with early and frequent exposure to lessons in art, music, drama and science, young viewers benefit as they could never have before TV. Programs offer trash and treasure, but supervised, limited viewing provides children with learning experiences that broaden their worlds," she contends.

On the other hand, too much television—and unmonitored television—can be a form of destructive play, Miss Taylor cautions.

"If children are allowed to watch all kinds of programs, they see great amounts of the negative—at a time of major moral development in their lives.

"They may be exposed to an over-emphasis on crime, terror and the abnormal," the specialist says.

Prolong Life For Cut Flowers

Beautiful arrangements of flowers from your summer garden require the same basic treatment they would receive in any florist's shop. "Some simple tips will keep the fresh and natural look in your flowers and make your patient efforts at gardening a reward for you and a delight for others," says Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist.

Begin your garden arrangement, use buds or newly opened blossoms, never old flowers. Cut wilting or damaged flowers away while leaving mature flowers for outdoor beauty. After removing any dirt and the lower one-third of foliage from the flowers, store them in a cooler or refrigerator or use immediately.

The container for your arrangement should be properly cleaned before use. Finished bouquets should be placed away from direct sun or drafts. Changing the water daily and recutting the stems will add to the flowers' life. Use warm but not hot water.

"A few extra days of beauty can be added with a weak solution of lemonade, not with aspirin or copper pennies as previously believed," adds Welch.

need of the department, the court authorized the purchase of a chassis for the ailing Dodge truck and promised a new fire truck in next year's county budget.

County Judge Troy Williams reported that Crockett County Attorney Karl Lovelady has suffered a stroke and is in a hospital at Muleshoe. The court discussed the problem created by the inactive officeholder.

Rosaria Tambunga was employed as a deputy in the tax assessor's office at a salary of $475 a month. Ms. Tambunga's services are sometimes in demand in the case of women prisoners to be searched and interviewed.

The report of the Crockett County Hospital Board meeting was submitted to the Commissioners Court Monday. The report shows a $70,000 transfer of county funds into the hospital operating fund.

County Judge Troy Williams reported that the x-ray developing trays at the hospital were leaking and that a $6,400 price had been obtained for a dry plate developing system. But it was found that the leaking trays could be repaired for less than $1,000 and that was the course to be taken.

Judge Williams reported that the hospital manager, Keith Peters, had told him of an opportunity to hire a new Registered Nurse, the wife of a man who is to teach in the local schools.

"Keith was highly enthusiastic at the prospect of hiring a new R.N.," the judge said. "I asked him why he wanted to hire a nurse when he didn't have any patients in the hospital. He said he had one patient at that time."

36th Div. To Reunion In Dallas

Labor Day Weekend will bring 600 veterans of the famous Texas' own 36th Division Association for their 52nd annual reunion.

Royal Coach Motor Inn in Dallas is headquarters for the men who wore the "T-Patch" during WWII, the first American troops to invade Hitler's Europe at Salerno, Sept. 9, 1943.

The 36th Division, made up of men of the Texas National Guard were mobilized in Nov. 1940 at Camp Bowie, Brownwood, Texas, with 10,000 men. The Division strength of 18,000 was made up of draftees from Texas. Replacements were made from men of every state in the union.

Registration for the reunion starts Fri., Sept. 2, with a hospitality party that night, general assembly at 1:00 p.m. Saturday, with General Paul Adams as guest speaker, and dinner dance at 7:00 p.m. Memorial services will be held on Sunday, Sept. 4 at 10:00 a.m.

The 36th Division served in 5 major campaigns in Europe, had 15 Congressional Medal of Honor winners, and were credited with the capture of Hermann Goering and Field Marshall Von Rundstedt.

Drouth And Heat Plague County Road Personnel

Drouth and blistering heat that have plagued Crockett county throughout this summer have taken their toll in many ways, for individuals, for business people and for the county.

Crockett County's road maintenance department has accumulated some almost insoluble problems as a result of the prolonged dry weather.

Jack Bailey, with the Indian Wells gas plant, presented the Commissioners Court with one of these problems at its meeting Monday morning. The problem is a 10-mile stretch of road in southwest Crockett county that is used by at least three oil and drilling companies in drilling wells in the area. The unpaved road has become almost impassable to any sort of vehicle and particularly to heavy oil field equipment trucks.

Levon Parker, county road engineer, said that his department had not done any work on the road in four months, trying to meet the widespread demands of road users in other parts of the county. The pounding of heavy trucks has so demolished the road that a car can not negotiate it over 20 miles per hour and a truck not over 15, and, even so, much damage is being done to trucks and other vehicles on the rough road, Bailey told the court.

Since water trucks would be a necessity in any repair work undertaken, the court agreed that the road department would send one water truck and a grader, if the affected oil companies could provide two other water trucks for use in the work.

With limited manpower and equipment and 3,000 square miles of area to cover, Mr. Parker said his department is facing increasing problems in keeping roads in shape in the face of unfavorable weather.
