VALUES THAT MONEY CANNOT BUY

Sometimes we wonder what would be the effect if things should go on about as they are now indefinitely. How much worse off would we be as a people if the present standards of income should prove permanent?

It all depends, it seems to us, on where you stand when you look at the world. If you're standing on a dollar-mark things are pretty bad right now. But there are other points of view. Why do we want prosperity to return? So we can all have more money. But if we had more money, what would we do with it?

It seems to us that during those boom years when money, for a lot of people, was easy to get, it proved to be pretty hard to hold. And from what we saw and heard and read about what people did with their money, especially people who had never had any experience with money before, it didn't do many of them much good. On the contrary, it was a genuinely bad influence. And is there any reason to believe that people, speaking generally, would get any more lasting value out of easy money if boom times came back? We think not.

Of course, we want everybody to have a job. We not only hope that but we expect that conditions will change so that there will be no unemployment to the extent of widespread distress and privation. And we realize that there will always be some people who will have more money than they know what to do with, and who will continue to spend it foolishly. But it does seem to us that in the effort to make everybody rich our system has not succeeded in making anybody very happy; and we wonder whether we have not somehow, as a people, lost our grip on the more enduring things of life in the struggle for the mighty dollar.

There are spiritual values which are immensely more important than riches, which are not at all dependent upon wealth, which, in fact, are likely to be destroyed by the possession of more money than is needed to keep the body warm and fed. Perhaps these lean years may prove to have had a disciplinary value in turning people's thoughts away from mere pleasure to the soberer but more important things of life.

GOODYEAR INTRODUCES NEW ALL-WEATHER TIRE

Introduction of a new Silent All-Weather Tread on Goodyear tires has been called, by a leading automobile engineer, the first scientific approach to silence in tires.

The manner in which silent operation of the tire is accomplished is explained by H. O. Cline, Goodyear dealer at 130 West Missouri Street. Mr. Cline says that the hum or noise in most tires is produced by the rhythmic effect of regularly spaced blocks in the tread design coming in contact with the hard surfaced road.

Goodyear engineers have eliminated this rhythmic effect by introducing a variation in the size of the sharp diamond shaped blocks of the tread. Patents have been applied for covering this method of eliminating tire noise.

The effect of breaking up the regularity of tread design might be made clearer if you think for instance of the effect of soldiers in rank marching across a bridge in regular step. If they keep step, their rhythmic footfalls would set up a vibration so severe that the bridge would crash if not a strong structure. So soldiers break step when they cross bridges.

Unless you examine the tread very closely, you can't tell that there is any variation in the size of the blocks in this silent all-weather design, yet in that tread is the application of a principle that eliminates objectionable hum.

A SAFE PLACE FOR MONEY

We like the plan, fathered by Col. Frank Knox of the Chicago Daily News, for an issue of "baby" Government bonds to be offered to everybody in the effort to induce people to take their money out of hiding and put it where it will earn something and be useful.

These bonds, we understand, are to be issued in denominations as low as fifty dollars, and will pay interest at about 3 percent. If they are not safe, then nothing is. For these bonds to become worthless would mean that the government of the United States had collapsed, and there is no fear of that even among the most timid. We hope that some scheme will be worked out whereby they can be offered at every Post Office.

We still think the best place to put money is in a sound bank, but we can't criticize very severely the people who say they do not know how to tell whether a bank is sound or not. We are hopeful that the financial measures adopted at Washington will put an end to bank failures, but in the long run the whole banking structure will have to be revised.

The great majority of the banks which have failed in the past three years should never have been permitted to start business. Many of them were established over the protests of responsible financiers, whose objections were overridden by the political pull of the bank organizers. There should be no connection whatever between banks and politics, and no politician should ever be permitted to have a traceable interest in any bank. Politics is an industry whose operations are in the nature of favors; banking is a sacred trusteeship of other people's money and no honest banker can have a single favorite.

WHEN BABIES FRET THERE

are times when a baby is too fussy or frowny to be soothed by any means. There are some who say a mother cannot get away. But here's quick comfort in Castoria!

For diarrhea, and other infantile ailments, give this pure vegetable preparation. Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness. Castoria has a good taste; children love to take it. Buy the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.

SOAP MAKING RECIPES RECOMMENDED BY EXTENSION DEPARTMENT AGENTS

Variations—Either sassafras or oil of lavender, will make a pleasant addition to this soap. Perfume or extra cleansing material may be added during the saponifying before the molding consistency is reached. A sandstone or scouring umie may be made by adding two pounds of powdered umie to the above recipe or a very good hand spolia may be made by adding to the same recipe eight ounces of either cornmeal or ground oatmeal.

White Floating Soap

This soap can be used for any kind of washing.

1.2 pound lye, 1 gallon water, 2 quarts strained fat.
Dissolve the lye in one quart of water. Put one gallon of water into an old porcelain or enameled boiler, add the fat, and then the lye. The soap is ready to skim out when it becomes flaky, and the liquid looks clear. Test the soap. If it sticks on the hand when squeezed and has a greasy appearance, the soap would be improved with a little more lye; if too flaky, more fat is needed. Line a wooden box with a piece of wet muslin. Skim out the soap and place it in the lined box to drain over night (from ten to twelve hours). Next morning cut into bars, dry, pack and store. The liquid left can be used for scrubbing.

Another soap recipe which has given splendid satisfaction follows:
Soap Recipe Number Three
Prepare a soda solution by dissolving eight ounces (chemically pure) caustic soda in five cupsful of water. Canned lye is not of such pure quality, but good results may have been obtained by combining one can of lye with one quart of water.

Render the fat and clarify it by boiling with slices of raw potatoes until the fat ceases to crackle. Strain while still warm through a clean muslin cloth. A whiter fat and whiter soap can be had if the fat is strained through fine charcoal or clay.

Combine two pounds of clean, warm fat with one and three quarter pounds soda or lye solution and stir until it is the consistency of honey, when it is ready to mold. Pour mixture into agate pans which have first been wet, or into wooden molds lined with paraffin paper, and allow to stand until cool. Before it dries, remove the paper and stack log-cabin fashion for quick drying. Wrap and store in boxes. Soap should be kept until it is sufficiently dry not to become soft as soon as wet.

Perfume or extra cleansing material may be added during the saponifying before the molding consistency is reached. To this recipe one and one half tablespoons of borax, one half cupful of ammonia may be added.

Toilet Soap

For a good toilet soap use two pounds olive oil, cottonseed oil, or coconut oil, three quarters of a quarter of white lard, one and one quarter cupfuls (chemically pure) caustic soda, one quart of water, and six drops of oil of lavender and oil of geranium. If desired, the soap may be tinted with vegetable coloring matter. Follow directions for making, given in recipe above.

Crackling Soap

A very satisfactory soap for dish washing or laundry purposes may be other fats unsatisfactory for lard made from cracklings. Gut fat or may also be used for this purpose.

Mixing—One box (pound) of lye and 3 gallons of water should be added to each 5 pounds of cracklings. Boiling—The lye should be dissolved in the water, and as soon as the solutions boils the cracklings should be stirred in and the mass milled to the consistency of honey.

Testing—When nearly done, a small portion should be placed in a saucer and if it solidifies the mass should be removed from the stove. Keeping—After removing from the stove, the mass should be poured into molds to harden and set away in a dry, cool place until ready for use.

Fifty and Fit

A MAN is as old—or as young—as his organs.
At fifty, you can be in your prime.
Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?
There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.
This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh berries, active senna, and honey pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness and headache of a bilious spell, and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a tonic for tired bowels, and unlike habit-forming laxatives you can take it freely or give it to any child. And it isn't expensive.
Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All druggists keep this preparation.

GENERAL FACTS COMPILER CONCERNING GOVERNMENT DROUTH RELIEF FOR 1932

The government loans to farmers for 1932, under the plans of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will be handled in a manner very similar to the 1931 plan. The main difference in the 1932 plan is that there will be a divisional supervisor who will have the final word in approving the applications which have been received and approved by the central committees of each county. In 1931 the central committees had the final word in application approvals. Approvals of 1932 applications by this supervisor will be necessary before the department will consider making the loan.

The central committee for Floyd county, located at Floydada, through which office all Floyd county applications must come, is composed of W. Edd Brown, chairman, S. W. Ross, W. R. Dooley. The Floydada committee will have offices in the Chamber of Commerce building on West California street.

The sub-central committee for Floyd county, located at Loekney, through which office all applications for the north half of Floyd county must be made, is composed of Harry Adams, chairman, Frank Perkins and Arthur Barker.

The community committees for Floyd county are composed of school trustees of each school district in the county. An applicant for a loan will be required to secure his blank application papers from one of the central committees at Floydada or Loekney and have his application approved by his community committee before it will be given attention by the central committee. This procedure is exactly the same as last year. School trustees of the county are to accept the appointments as community committees, exactly as in 1931, and, as far as possible, advise their respective committees of their acceptance. Central committees will be glad to furnish any information at hand to these school trustees who are to serve as committees for the county.

Blanks of all kinds are expected to be in the hands of the two central committees of Floyd county by the middle of this week as it is hoped that applications may be ready to mail out to the Dallas office before the last of the week. It should not require more than two or three days to get returns on applications after they are mailed from Floydada.

Mr. F. H. Simpson of Dawson, Texas, has been appointed supervisor of Floyd, Bailey, Hale, Lamb, Swisher and Briscoe counties with headquarters at Plainview, Texas. He plans to cover this territory once each week. By this arrangement final approval of loan applications for the territory named will be made once each week. If occasion demands it may be that approvals can be made more often. At a later date specific dates will be given showing the days Mr. Simpson will visit the central committees of the six counties named.

This year instead of mailing out checks for full amount of loans was the case last year, checks will likely be mailed out in four installments as the farm work progresses. These checks will come to the divisional supervisor to be distributed at his discretion to the various borrowers. If farm work and planting by the borrower progresses in keeping with the agreement made in the applicant's application no checks will be withheld by the supervisor. On the other hand, if the borrower fails to properly prepare his land and keep up the necessary crop program for planting, etc., his check will be held up accordingly.

Last year checks, with few exceptions, were mailed out for the full amount of the loans. This plan has not been entirely satisfactory to the department and for this reason the change is made to installment payments.

If an applicant for 1932 has not satisfied his 1931 loan note he is likely to encounter trouble in securing a loan for this year. In fact, he may not be able to secure a loan this year at all.

W. EDD BROWN, Chairman of Central Committee.

C. J. McCOLLUM ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY JUDGE

We have been authorized to announce the name of C. J. (Joe) McCollum for the office of County Judge of Floyd County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary on July 23rd, 1932.

Joe states that he will be favorable to all tax reductions in the county that are possible, and that he will also favor the reduction of official salaries and the doing away with any and all unnecessary offices that might be on the county pay roll. He further states "That with the elected commissioners being willing, he will be in favor of calling a meeting of a committee, selected by the people, to go over the county finances and ascertain just where the expenses of the county can be reduced, so that the business of the county can properly function at the lowest possible expense to the tax payers."

He states "That he is in favor of lowering the tax in every way possible, and a drastic reduction in the valuation of property in Floyd county, so that the amount of taxes now paid to the state government may be reduced in proportion to Central, East and South Texas counties, and so that the people of Floyd county will only pay their just part of the taxes that go over the upkeep of the state government."

Joe is a product of Floyd county, having come here in the year of 1900, and at the age of 7 years, therefore, he is well and favorably known to most of the people of the county. He asks the sincere consideration of the voters of Floyd county in his campaign for Judge, and will appreciate the support of all those who are favorable to a more economic government of the county affairs.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

This is to let you know that I am a candidate for the office of Tax Collector of Floyd County, Texas, subject to the Democratic Primaries in July.

I have been reared in Floyd County and for the past 20 years have been working before the public. During which time I worked for Brown Brothers seven years, for Tom W. Deen as Deputy County and District Clerk one year, and 10 years for the First National Bank of Floydada, and I gladly refer you to any of my former employers for any information or reference regarding myself.

I have had many years experience in both bookkeeping and clerical work and due to this fact I feel that I am thoroughly qualified to fill the office for which I am asking to be elected your servant to the entire satisfaction of the voters of Floyd County.

I need the office and if elected promise to give my undivided attention to the office and will discharge the duties of same to the best of my ability.

Trusting that I may see each and every voter of the County before election,

I am, yours truly,
FRANK L. MOORE.

THE VERY LATEST BY MARY MARSHALL

Here is a new way to arrange a scarf and it is such a simple trick that we wonder why no one ever thought of it before. It has appeared on a number of new dresses and is likely to appear on a good many more before many weeks have passed. But it is not necessary for you to buy a dress with this scarf arrangement when it is such a simple thing to add a scarf in this way to a dress that you already possess and that stands in need of a new touch or trimming.

The scarf does not have to become a permanent part of the dress, either, because it is attached merely by means of buttonhole in the scarf and buttons on the dress.

You will need a piece of silk about a yard and a half long and nine inches wide to make the scarf, but you may piece it in the center if you do not want to buy a piece as long as this. Simply make a narrow machine stitched hem along the sides and one end of the scarf or finish with a hand rolled hem. Finish the unhemmed end with a facing an inch or more in width so as to provide a substantial place for your buttons. And then along the side of the dress where the scarf is attached make the necessary number of buttonholes.
