The Gypsies opened the convention with a bang early the first day of the convention and played their last number at the close of the convention Saturday morning, having played almost continuously throughout the convention. This colorful group held the center of the stage at all times and added much to the color and entertainment of the convention. West Texas should be, and is, very proud of this wonderful organization which is directed by Jimmie Thornhill, a native West Texan.

Mrs. E. C. Thomas' Music Pupils To Present "A Musical May Day"

ABOUT MAY DAY

All races and nations have, more or less, celebrated the breaking up of winter and the coming of spring. May Day was celebrated in Ancient Rome, and even in Egypt and India. The Romans had flower games that lasted for several days.

But the May Day that we celebrate has come to us more directly from Merrie England. During Shakespeare's time, May Day was a holiday that lasted for days.

The Players and Program: Players: Mary, the leader, a student of Miss Morris'; Helen, her friend, a visitor; boys and girls, also members of Miss Morris' class.

The program includes a number of musical numbers in keeping with the spring theme choruses, a maypole dance and other numbers.

M. L. Probasco and Roe McClesky, of Floydada, visited near Clovis, New Mexico, on business Friday of the past week.

AFTER THE DEPRESSION
—WHAT?

We'll find the world a kinder place,
With less of pride and greed, A warmer understanding, learned From your own want and need.
A finer sense of right and wrong,
The bond between us new and strong.

We'll find old customs stale and dull, Old-fashioned creeds out-worn, Out of the crucible of woe Shall hope and faith be born.
With kinder thoughts for other folk, The grace to share our neighbor's yoke.

From fears that compass us about,
From sinking shadows grow We shall come forth with thankful hearts,
To greet this newer day.
The night is gone—oh heart arise—
The Dawn is shining in our eyes.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE

Prices have begun to rise. That is the best news the country has had in three years. The price has started where it ought to start, with the basic products of agriculture. Wheat, corn, hogs, tobacco, rice, dairy products, have all started upward. Some are rising faster than others, but all are showing an upward tendency.

We do not think that this is merely another "false alarm". We believe that factors have been brought into play which will put prices up still higher, until we reach somewhere near the level of 1926. That is what those in charge of the nation's destinies are aiming at we are told. That would mean that the average of commodity prices would be more than double present prices, in some instances, half to two-thirds higher in others.

LIMITED PRODUCTION
AND PROCESS TAX THE KEY TO FAIR EXCHANGE

By Frank Parker Stockbridge

Written specially for The Floyd County Plainsman.

Washington, May 20.—The Senate passed the Farm Relief bill on a Friday. I telephoned at once to the Department of Agriculture, to see if I could get Secretary Wallace to tell me just how the new law will be administered and how it will affect the average farmer.

"I'm sorry, but I won't have a minute until Sunday morning," said the Secretary. "Can you come in then?"

"At your house?"

"No; I'll be at the office."

They are working long hours in Washington, at least the members of the President's Cabinet are. Working fast, too. Sunday morning carpenters were already at work in the Agriculture Administration building, converting a long, wide corridor into a series of offices for the use of the men and women, still unappointed, who will administer the Farm Aid law! The bill hadn't been approved by the House yet, but everybody knew it would be and nobody was wasting any time.

Secretary Knows Farming

"It looks complicated on paper, but it will not be so complicated as it seems, in operation," said young Mr.
Wallace. A straightforward, direct-speaking man, this Secretary of Agriculture, whose father held the job in the Harding administration and whose grandfather was the founder of one of the greatest agricultural journals. He knows farming, too, both in the United States and Europe. He understands foreign trade and the effect of low export price on the American farmers' exportable surplus.

"What this new law is intended to do, and will do," he said, "is to restore the fair exchange value of farm products when measured against the things farmers buy." That isn't a matter of a fixed price per bushel or pound, he went on to explain.

"The Department for years has been keeping records of farm prices and of prices the farmer has to pay for what he buys—food, clothing, machinery, fertilizer and the rest. Just now the index price of what the farmer buys is about where it was just before the war, while the price of what he sells is about half of that. So that at present the 'fair exchange' value of wheat would be about 90 cents a bushel, cotton, 13 cents a pound, hogs about $7.30 a hundredweight. But if commodity prices continue to rise in the things farmers buy, the fair exchange value of what he sells must go up in proportion."

Into Details of Plan

"How are you going to do that?"
I asked.

"We are going to try to do it, first, by limiting the production of the basic agricultural products to what the domestic market will normally absorb," said Mr. Wallace. "In the law those basic products are named wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, hogs, rice, and dairy products. But the law also permits the Department to make marketing agreements with processors, associations of producers and others engaged in handling any agricultural commodity. That may prove the simplest and most practical way of restoring the fair exchange value of the basic products as well as of others.

"For example, in the case of cotton I am asking the planters, ginners, handlers of raw cotton and the spinners to form a committee representative of the entire cotton group and work out an agreement which will be fair to everybody concerned. It will involve reduction of the cotton acreage, of course, for we are producing now much more cotton than the market will take. How are the planters who cut down their acreage to be compensated? The Government has the alternative of leasing the idle acreage at a price that will be satisfactory, or of compensating them for the ungrown crop by benefit payments.

"Farmers who make this kind of a contract will receive, when they market their produce, the going market rate at the gin, elevator or other market. They will also receive a benefit certificate which can be cashied. The sum of the two should amount to the fair exchange value of the same commodity in the pre-war period.

"Farmers who do not agree to limit acreage will not get any benefit payment and will have to take their chances on the market."

"Where is the money coming from for these benefits?" I ask.

"From a processing tax to be collected from millers, spinners and processors," replied Mr. Wallace. "The tax will be fixed, at first, at a rate which is calculated to bring about the fair exchange value of which we are talking. Maybe that will be difficult, perhaps impossible in some cases. If the market will not absorb the commodity and pay the full processing tax which would be required under the fair exchange test, the law provides for a lower tax. But even the farmer who has reduced his acreage and has qualified for benefit payments will fare better than otherwise."

Limited Production

"Who is to decide how many acres should be planted to a given crop?"
"The Department will make the final decision, but we will be guided as far as possible by the counsel of the people chiefly interested."

"How are you going to enforce this reduction of acreage? For that matter, how are you going to get this plan accepted by individual farmers? Won't that take an enormous staff?"

"I do not believe the average farmer will find it difficult to decide whether to come in or stay out," Mr.
Wallace answered. "They will make their contracts with local committees.
We shall use agencies already in the field, as far as possible, including the thousands of County Agents of the Extension Service. Farmers will be dealing with men they know, and will not be made to feel that they are being policed."

"The complicated part of the work will be in Washington, where we shall have to weigh the experiment step by step, and change our program over night, if we find any part of it isn't working. For, after all, this is an experiment, but one which, in my opinion, holds more promise for the welfare of most farmers than anything else that has been proposed or tried."

Miss Oma LaJuana Beavers, secretary in the Floydada Texas Utilities Company office, left Saturday for Fort Worth where she will visit Mrs. Dan Blair and for Dallas where she will visit Mrs. Dick Wilson. Miss Beavers will return the latter part of this week.

May 9, 1933

A great thing has occurred amongst us. We have made a complete turn-around, and at last America's face is toward the future.

Three years---1929 to 1932---we Americans looked backward. All our old financial and political machinery was geared to pull us out of the depression by the same door through which we entered. We thought it simply a case of going back the way we came. It failed.
We now realize that the way out is forward---through it.

Thanks for that belongs to President Roosevelt. Inauguration Day he turned the Ship of State around. Having observed the failure of sincere efforts to haul us back the way we came, he designed a new method---new political and financial machinery---to pull us out the way we are going---forward. He is clearing international obstacles out of the way; he does not stand in awe of tariffs. The people begin to feel that he does not take advice from the "interests"; that he has courage and loyalty to work for one supreme interest only---the welfare of the American people. That is a big achievement for two months in office.

And now we all look to what is coming; we grow less and less concerned with what is behind. We are looking for a hand-hold on the haul rope. Every man wants to do what he can, and all he can.

The best thing I can do for the Country is to create industry by building good motor cars. If I knew anything better to do, I would do it. Industry must be my contribution. Motor cars must face ahead to the future, like everything else. They are so much a part of the Nation's daily life that if they lag behind they hold the Country back.

AFTER 40 bowel trouble

Constipation may very easily become chronic after forty. And any continued constipation at that time of life may bring attacks of piles and a host of other unpleasant disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. Whenever they need any help, remember a doctor should know what is best for them.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin" is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, or when your tongue is coated; whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Magnolia "Summer-ize" Service is in Greater Demand Than Ever Before

Dallas, Texas, May 15.—Anticipating the early arrival of hot weather, twelve thousand service stations and dealers of the Magnolia Petroleum Company are inaugurating "Summer-ize" service for motorists. E. P. Angus, vice president and manager of sales, revealed today "Summer-ize", a coined word originated by Magnolia, describes a unique service designed to prepare automobiles for economical and care-free operation under the higher temperatures of summer.

"Motor vehicle manufacturers have long realized the need for a "spring house-cleaning" for the car and a change in the grade of lubricants with each change in the season," Mr. Angus said. "But it remained for Magnolia to systematize this essential service and to popularize it under the name of 'Summer-ize'. This spring Magnolia 'Summer-ize' service is in greater demand than ever before as increasing numbers of car owners learn that it is cheaper to protect their autos against hot weather trouble than to pay expensive repair bills later.

"Seven vital points are covered in the Magnolia 'Summer-ize' operation which is performed by trained men who work from charts showing the correct grade of Mobiloil or Mobil-grease for each part of each make and model of passenger car, and the correct grade for the climatic conditions under which the car is to be operated," Mr. Angus said. "This combined service also provides a complete check-up of such important units as the radiator, battery, tires, steering gear and other safety elements."

Denzil Probasco, student in Texas Tech College at Lubbock, was a guest over the week end of his parents in the Sandhill community.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

The word has gone out that all of the Roosevelt program is to be rushed through Congress before the date of the World Economic Conference, which is to meet in London on June 14. A good many Senators and Representatives will want to go to London at that time, whether they are delegates to the Conference or not; and Mr. Roosevelt will, naturally, want to have some of his close advisers over there, but as long as Congress is in session he needs them here. So the big rush will be to get through and adjourn early in June, leaving less pressing matters to lie over until the regular session next December.

Another reason for the desire for an early adjournment is to give business and industry a chance to get used to the changes in conditions brought about by the new sort of laws which will all have been put in force by early June. So much of the legislation which has been adopted so far gives the President broad discretionary powers that many business leaders and industrialists are waiting to see how the President intends to use these powers before going ahead too fast with their own plans.

A Heavy Program

With the Farm Relief bill out of the way, and its attached amendments giving the President full control over currency inflation, the Muscle Shoals bill, the railroad reorganization bill, the banking reform bill including some sort of insurance to depositors, the public works bill to provide more employment, the measure for direct financial gifts to states and municipalities for unemployment relief, the measure to prevent the sale of worthless securities and the bill giving the President great authority over private industry, including the power to advance Government funds in some cases, ought to provide both houses plenty of work to do in a month or so of time. On top of these it is expected that the President will ask — and receive—broad and final authority to adjust tariffs, negotiate trade treaties and make binding settlements in the matter of the war debts.

There is little doubt that Congress will continue to give Mr. Roosevelt everything he wants. There is no possible doubt that he has fired the imagination of the mass of the American people as no other President has done since the famous "Teddy," and Congress knows that there are many men in bot' houses, of both parties, who do not at all approve all of the projects which the President has put up to them, and who see great danger in giving the Executive so much more power than the Constitution contemplated, but they do not express their opposition publicly, because they are aware that the bulk of their constituents are with the President.

Glass and Borah

Only one outstanding Democrat has had the temerity to voice his opposition to any of Mr. Roosevelt's major policies. That is Senator Carter Glass of Virginia. Mr. Glass was greatly decided by Mr. Roosevelt as Secretary of the Treasury. He declined, for reasons not clearly stated at the time, mainly, it was said, because of his advanced age and poor health. But there was no sign of age or illness when this little giant rose in the Senate to denounce the proposal to permit the President to reduce the amount of gold in the United States dollar. Mr. Glass said that he did not object so much to the currency inflation proposals, but he regarded as a dishonorable evasion of our obligations even to consider the project of paying gold debts in depreciated gold dollars.

Regardless of the firm belief of Mr. Roosevelt's friends that he will never use that power, that he only wants it for trading purposes in negotiating monetary questions with Europe, Mr. Glass was as vigorous as any man has been in Congress at any time in his opposition to the measure. He failed to carry the Senate with him, and his friends are suggesting that his defeat may impair his influence.

Another note of opposition to the Administration was sounded by Senator Borah, who challenged the right of the Government to demand the return of gold to the Treasury. "If I had five thousand dollars in gold I would refuse to give it up and there is no legal power to make me give up what is my own," Senator Borah said, in effect. But that, again, was one man's expression, against an overwhelming majority which will do the President's bidding whatever he asks of them.

Where We Are Heading

The general policy of the Administration is beginning to take shape. As disclosed in talks by members of the Cabinet and others it appears to contemplate the general control of all business by the Government. The anti-trust laws are on the shelf, or soon will be.

KISSING IRKS WILL ROGERS

Humorist Is Ticked With Kissless "Too Busy To Work"

The first question asked by Will Rogers when it was announced that "Too Busy To Work," his latest Fox picture, was about to go into production was "Do I have to kiss anybody?"

Rogers sidesteps kissing whenever possible. It required some coaxing to induce him to kiss Irene Rich in a picture and he balked, point blank, when the script in "They Had To See Paris" and "Down To Earth" demanded that he be kissed on each cheek by Theodore Lodi. But he finally capitulated and the face he made on each occasion was too genuine to be part of his acting.

In "Too Busy To Work," much to Rogers' relief, he is not compelled to indulge in any osculatory action. Even if he does find his long lost daughter, he is no more than a tramp and he refuses to ruin her happiness by revealing himself to her.

"Too Busy To Work," coming soon to the Palace Theatre, boasts a supporting cast that includes Marian Nixon, Dick Powell, Douglas Cosgrove, Constantine Romanoff and Louise Beavers.

Miss Nixon scored successfully in "Rebecca Of Sunnybrook Farm," "Amateur Daddy" and "Winner Take All." Powell, who shares the love interest with her, has appeared in but one picture, "Blessed Event" in which he gave a performance that set critics agog.

"Too Busy To Work" is based on Ben Ames Williams' widely read story, "Jubilo," and was prepared for the screen by Philip Klein and Barry Connors. John G. Blystone directed the production.

HOW SHE LOST 20 POUNDS IN THREE MONTHS

"I am using your Kruschen Salts to reduce and I've used a bottle and I hif and dieted some and lost 29 pounds in 3 months. I feel so much better and intend to keep on taking the Salts as I was almost 50 pounds overweight." Mrs. Thelma Gra Roseville, Calif. (Jan. 11, 1933.)

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back is dissatisfied after the first jar.—Adv.
