WHEAT ACREAGE MEASUREMENTS PROGRESSING IN FLOYD COUNTY

The measurement of the wheat acres will be completed in several districts this week. In one or two districts it will be impossible to complete the measurements before harvest. In the case that a man harvests his wheat before it has been measured he should be certain that he does not harvest more than the maximum amount allowed under his contract. The farmers who have endeavored to carry out the terms of their contract will have no difficulty whatsoever in obtaining the future payments. The few farmers, however, who have wilfully violated their contract by planting to much wheat or by not taking out of production sufficient acreage must destroy the excess wheat or plow up more crop land in order to comply with the terms of their contract. If they do not comply with their contract, no more payments will be made and the payments already made by the government will have to be paid back. The government has a first lien on the land and on all future crops until the money is paid back.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Salisbury and family returned home Thursday afternoon from Fort Worth where they had been for Miss Wilmina Salisbury, who finished her junior year at Texas Women's College. Miss Salisbury will spend the summer visiting here.

Marking the beginning of another harvest of wheat in Floyd County, the first load of 1934 wheat was sold Friday afternoon. C. N. Batty, who farms four miles southeast of Floydada, sold the wheat to Boothe Mill and Elevator.

The first load tested 60 and the yield per acre where this wheat was cut is 17 bushels per acre. A total of 84 cents per bushel was paid for the wheat, including a six cent premium paid by the mill as the market was 78 cents on Friday.

A total of 50 bushels and 25 pounds was in the first load and a total of $42.34 was paid for the load. There is a total of 319 acres in the field where the first load was cut. Mr. Batty began the first of this week to continue cutting the remainder of his wheat crop.

The date of the marketing of the first load of new wheat was earlier this year than in several. Last year the first load was marketed by John Bell, of Carr's Chapel, on Monday, June 5. On that date the market was 58 cents and a five cent premium was paid. This first load was also bought by Boothe Mill and Elevator.

In 1932 the first load of wheat was marketed by Martin and Zimmerman on Saturday, June 11. The market on that day was 30 cents and a ten cent premium was paid on the first load.

Mr. Batty brought in the first load at 4 o'clock Friday and a short while later hot biscuits were enjoyed by the Boothe Mill and Elevator fore. They milled the wheat into flour as soon as possible and made biscuits from it.

All Harvesting Earlier According to reports as to maturity of wheat all over the county the harvest this year is much earlier than in the past several. Harvest is expected to be in full sway the first of next week, if favorable weather conditions are had.

Yield is expected to be much better all over the county than it was last year. Last year's crop was short due to drought conditions. The 1932 crop was badly damaged by a hail in many parts.

Will Not Hold Public Presentation of Perfect Attendance Certificates

County Superintendent Price Scott announced Saturday that a public presentation of perfect attendance certificates, to rural school students, would not be held this year.

"Due to the fact that the company, from which the certificates were ordered, did not have this particular form in stock and due to the lateness in schools closing we will not be able to hold a public presentation this year," Mr. Scott explained.

A number of the teachers have already returned to their homes or have gone to schools and this also is a disadvantage. As soon as the certificates arrive they will be sent direct to the students by mail.

THE GOAT COLUMN

THE NEWSPAPER TREND

For the benefit of calamity howlers who still believe the country is going to be given back to the Indians at any minute, here is one more index of retaining good times in the Panhandle-Plains.

Weekly newspapers are "going daily."

We are accustomed to look to building permits, postal receipts, bank deposits, railroad carloadings and retail sales figures for our indices of business conditions.

But the condition, in general, of newspapers is perhaps as true an indication of all business as is obtainable. Newspapers get little revenue when merchants sell little merchandise. The size and frequency of publication of newspapers is determined entirely by the amount of advertising sold to merchants. Weekly newspapers, as a rule, are published once a week because they cannot obtain enough advertising to justify more frequent publication. Daily newspapers, naturally, must carry several times as much advertising as will sustain a struggling weekly.

Weekly papers at Memphis, Shreveport and Littlefield are getting into the daily field.

There's only one conclusion to be drawn: business is better.—Amarillo Daily News.

Of course it is natural for everyone to want more business, and to grab at every "straw" which looks like business, but we are afraid the "beautiful lake of business" these esteemed editors are seeing in their respective fields as they are prompted to go daily, will turn out to be an expensive mirage. Of course they hope to come in for a large share of foreign advertising when they go daily. After a few months operation, they will be able to see how small they are compared with the metropolitan paper and how unlikely their chances of securing enough of the foreign advertising to meet the added payroll and other expense of operating seven days a week as against one.

Over a period of some thirty-odd years as a journeyman printer we have seen few fields of the population within the range of our neighbor publishers' which would consistently support a daily newspaper—Not even the "Jew" daily type. We wish our neighbors well in their striving efforts to secure more business, and hope that they succeed, but quiver with fear of their outcome from a financial standpoint.

And we do not put ourselves in the class of a "calamity howler", when we say so. You tell the truth when you say it costs more money to publish a daily, and here is where we fear they have missed their estimate when they bid on a daily instead of the good weekly papers they have been giving their readers.

Of course we have no intentions of doing so, nor do we approve of such actions, but if circumstances ever lead us to become a bank robber and a machine-gun desperado, and the law of the land should lay a trap in an effort to capture or murder us, we hope that they pick as beautiful wooded place as was the case in the Clyde Barrow-Bonnie Parker instance. Trees, big ones and little ones, in a dense growth everywhere, with the fragrant odor of wild flowers upon the air, punctuated with the sweet magnolia blossom and near the banks of a babbling spring brook where the birds, above in the trees, and fish, below in the stream, work and play in unison, and where the air is so full of fresh moisture that all the world will be at unison and in peace, when my captors' machine guns cease their rat, tat, tat, tat, tat.

Light for the Kitchen

By Helen G. Toland

ing, equipped with a 100-watt inside-frosted or a 150-watt daylight lamp bulb in an enclosing globe of diffusing glass.

Science bids you buy your lamp bulbs with care, for only thus can you be assured that they will be honest servants, giving you full value in light for current received. And remember that bulb finish means something, too. The blue daylight lamp bulbs provide a pure, clear quality of light, but they must be used consistently—everywhere in the kitchen or else not at all. They must also be used the next size larger than the clear or inside-frosted lamps recommended for the same place.

In itself, a lamp bulb cannot provide good light for any seeing task. So, as the lamp shades are important for lighting fixtures elsewhere in the house, the enclosing glass globe is important in the kitchen. Through this, the light is sifted and softened, so that our eyes can assimilate and use it for seeing.

Keep Fixtures Clean
Science advises us further that the unit should be washed often, because if dust is allowed to accumulate on it as well as on the ceiling, you may lose as much as 40% of the light for which you are paying—in two ways. Your pocketbook is paying for current which goes into light that is absorbed by dirt, and so never reaches your eyes. Your poor cheated eyes are paying too, with energy stolen from funds intended for useful work.

To speed the tasks of mixing, baking and washing up afterward, there should be additional light provided at sink, range and cabinet. At each of these places, the unit close to the ceiling, carrying a 100-watt lamp bulb (150-watt daylight) in an enclosed globe is considered most desirable, because it is overhead and out of the way.

If this additional ceiling light is not practical, a wall bracket placed above the sink, about five feet from the floor, will prove a likely substitute. The placing of this bracket—five feet from the floor—is somewhat lower than usual, but it will be found a source of never-ending comfort. It is annoying to have to look into a bright electric light all the time you are cooking or washing dishes. Hence the wall bracket should be placed below (or else way above) eye-level. It should carry a 60-watt inside frost (100-watt daylight) lamp bulb, with the light directed down onto the work in hand by an eggshell or bell-shaped shade, made of glass, and as easily cleaned as a china cup.

“Such lighting is bound to make one’s stay in the kitchen brighter—and shorter,” say scientists.

“Right light will make your stay in the kitchen brighter—and shorter,” say scientists who recommend an enclosing glass globe with a 100-watt inside-frosted lamp for the center fixture, with additional lights provided at sink, range and cabinet.

NO matter whether she is her own cook and bottle-washer or not, every woman who manages a home knows that someone must spend several hours of every day in the kitchen. When she knows that good lighting might cut those hours almost in half, she will never be satisfied until she has adequate lighting in her own kitchen.

Light Speeds Work
To prove to her the relation of light to work, science might tell her about the laboratory experiment in which the lighting was doubled and then doubled again, with the result that the rate of working increased 40% for slow workers, 25% for fast workers. So, if Minnie is very slow, good lighting may enable her to do in a couple of hours what she used to take a whole morning to do.

Being eminently practical, science can tell you exactly what you must put into your lighting, to get so much out of it. First comes a center fixture placed close to the ceiling, equipped with a 100-watt inside-frosted or a 150-watt daylight lamp bulb in an enclosing globe of diffusing glass.

Tuesday, May 29th, Evening
Rotarians vs Firemen
After having been in dormant since last Tuesday for Casey’s Trial, the firemen were well on their way to a victory before the Rotarians could revive to check them in the 4th. Guthrie’s all star game the night before had him out of condition until the 4th after which he allowed only one hit. Williams robbed D. Hill of a perfect day by making a shoe string catch in the 7th for the last out. Medlen made his first error of the season while Cloud pulled down Glovers foul with one hand for the outstanding play. Snodgrass got by with out an error which was also unusual. Shorty Price hit for the circuit with one on in the first.

Home S. Hammond returned Friday from Sulphur Springs, Texas, where he had been for a week visiting with his parents. He accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chapman and family who were returning from a visit to points in east Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wester, and family, left Monday morning for a two weeks vacation at Sulphur Springs, where they will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Y. C. Wester and Mt. Vernon, where they will visit with her relatives.

Miss Honora Childers and Robert Ashley Childers, of California, arrived Sunday night for a visit in Floydada with friends.
