FLOYD COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD WILL MEET SATURDAY

The Floyd County School Board, composed of L. B. Maxey, chairman; G. L. Snodgrass, J. F. Dollar, J. H. Upton and Olin Miller, met in the office of the county school superintendent, E. C. Nelson, Tuesday afternoon.

A petition was presented to them for a portion of the Roseland school district to be consolidated with the Sterley school district.

They will meet again Saturday afternoon at the court house, and act definitely on the petition.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Anderson Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Anderson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday at their home on South Main Street.

A delicious dinner was served at noon. In the afternoon pictures were made of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Children present were: Mrs. Ernest Williamson of this city, Mrs. Roy Favver and daughter, Evelyn, of Hillcrest; Mrs. Lovell Jones and daughter, Leverne, and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Anderson and family of the Lakeview community.

MILK AND HEGARI SEED TO BE PLANTED TO PREVENT SOIL EROSION

The following statement, which is explanatory, was received this week from H. H. Fennell, director of soil conservation service at Dalhart, Texas:

"Seed of milo and hegari are expected to be available through the county agriculture agent for late cover crop planting. The soil conservation service of the U. S. D. A. is supplying this seed to farmers who will use it to plant on land where the crop has failed or was not planted.

"It is not intended for production purposes but to help fill the gap in erosion resisting vegetation caused by failure of crops and neglect of land.

"For example, land now being summer fallowed for wheat with no returns of straw and stubble this year will enter the winter solely dependent on the fall sown wheat for protection. Both soil and wheat can be made safer if a wide row or strip planting of sorghum is made soon.

"The agreement necessary to get this seed is a simple and honest promise to leave an effective cover the land through the winter. The seed, which goes into the winter without straw, stubble of stalks will continue to blow away and damage nearby crops as long as it remains in an exposed condition.

"The more bare fields can be got under cover before fall the safer the condition will be generally for the next blow season. Therefore, every one who does not now have a crop on the ground capable of leaving an effective residue behind is urged to obtain seed and plant the first seasonable opportunity."

County Agent Glen A. Lindsey received notice this week that 3,300 pounds of hegari seed were being shipped to Floyd County immediately.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT PLAINS-PANHANDLE SINGING CONVENTION

Approximately 8,000 people were in attendance at the Plains-Panhandle Singing Convention at the third annual meeting in Lockney Saturday and Sunday at the City Auditorium Park in that city.

S. B. Summers, of Plainview, was elected president of the convention. He replaces Odus L. Echols of Lubbock.

Earl Raper of Plainview, was named vice-president, Joe McCollum of Lockney, secretary treasurer and Rev. E. O. Dean of Hale Center, chaplain.

Singers attended from Arkansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas.

An amateur quartette contest was won by the Meadow sisters of Portales, New Mexico. Second prize was won by the Melody girls of Cone, Crosby county, and third prize by the Tullia quartette.

Lubbock, Plainview and Floydada invited the singers for the 1936 convention. Choice will be made later at a called meeting it was announced.

Wild Horse Races Will Be Feature of Cowboy Reunion At Stamford

Stamford, Texas—Horses known for their aerial gymnastics rather than fleetness will be selected for the wild-horse race, which will be a new feature of the rodeo at the sixth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held here July 2, 3 and 4.

The race will be included in the program of each afternoon and night rodeo performance but not at the morning matinees. Four wild horses will be placed in the bucking chutes barebacked, but with a rope. At the starting signal, the horses will be released from the chutes and each contestant and his helper must saddle his wild bronc and ride the length of the arena and return. The one crossing the finishing line first wins the race. As the horses are calculated to do more bucking than running, the outcome of the race will be difficult to predict. Only four contestants will be allowed to enter at each performance.

Will Attend National Educational Convention In Denver, Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Giles of Allen, Texas, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Looney in Floydada this week. Mrs. Giles is a sister of Mr. Looney's.

BUSINESS GOOD IN MEXICO CITY, SAYS J. C. WESTER

"Business is good in Mexico City," says J. C. Wester who is attending the Rotary International convention this week. "I gave a five dollar bill for fifteen dollars in Mexican money," Mr. Wester writes to friends here. (He didn't say what he spent the fifteen dollars for.)

The local rotarians who are attending the convention arrived in Mexico City Thursday, June 13th, at 8:30 p. m. and according to reports are having "the time of their lives." They are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wester, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Hale, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Glad Snodgrass and Jim Willson.

Survey Work to Start On Floydada-Silverton Highway Monday

The survey work on the Floydada-Silverton highway, No. 207, is scheduled to start Monday of next week under the supervision of Geo. A. Linder, Floyd County engineer.

District Highway Engineer G. M. Garrett of Lubbock, Floyd County Commissioner E. R. Harris, A. S. Cummings, Walter Wood, H. D. Bloodworth, and County Engineer Geo. A. Linder, looked over the highway location Monday afternoon.

Mr. Linder is compiling some preliminary office work this week to be submitted to Mr. Garrett in a conference which is to be held the latter part of this week.

After Mr. Linder has completed the location survey, he will prepare a route sketch map and submit it to Mr. Garrett. A field route inspection will then be made by the district highway engineer before being definitely approved by the State Highway Department.

Publicity Committee Of Floyd County League Are Against Whiskey

Proposal to repeal Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas which makes it unlawful in this state to manufacture, sell, transport or possess intoxicating liquors and to delegate the power to the legislature of this state now prohibited by the constitution.

Not long ago the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution was repealed. National prohibition had been charged in nation-wide propaganda put out by the liquor interests with responsibility for every calamity that had befallen the country from an epidemic of kidnaping to a world economic depression. In order to swing votes for the return of legal liquor, the American people were promised that a political millennium would be ushered in if they would repeal national prohibition.

Those promises as is now well known have every one failed and the same crowd come along and are now ready to make a new list of promises if we will repeal our own State Constitution which is the only barrier between them and their ability to sell legal booze to our people in Texas.

We predicted at that time that this would be their next objective but many of them said they only wanted the States to have their rights which we presume will now be the right to sell liquor which is by chemical analysis a poison.

We will discuss their proposal at more length at another time but permit us to say now that they have the avowed purpose to deceive the people by the same claim that they made when they wanted to repeal the eighteenth amendment that they were violently opposed to the open saloon it is a well known fact that the states that have repealed their own state laws now have open saloons without number. Many of them have made some slight changes in the dispensing of their liquors by allowing it to be sold in eating places and drug stores where the drinkers are seated at tables and served by young ladies when the old method was by putting the foot on the brass rail and blowing off the foam or taking the stronger variety which was of course served by the old time bar tender with the white apron, where the surroundings made no appeal to the women and young people who were prohibited by law from drinking in such places.

They are apparently seeking more customers and have devised a better method of securing them but their claim to have abolished the saloon is proven untrue and in fact was known by them to be untrue when they made such promises.

Notwithstanding, they are carrying out their well planned program they did fool many well meaning people by their claims and promises but such as were fooled then may well stop now and consider if they will be a party to the further deception of believing that this crowd are opposed to the open saloon in Texas which they will claim in this campaign seeking to substitute for the saloon the same method that has been used all over the country as before described which is immeasurably worse than the saloon.

This word is passed out to the friends of prohibition of the liquor traffic in Texas, it is well that you bestir yourself as the people interested in the sale of liquor will spend a lot of money in this campaign exactly as they always have in such campaigns and depend upon getting it back from the poor dupes who buy their product, and if you are a friend of temperance make it known by your voice and support our cause with some of your money as we will need to circulate literature to expose the claims of the wets.

Publicity Committee.

FREAKS IN ANIMALS

Poached-Egg Tree, Sausage Tree Oddities.

Washington.—Add another plant to the already large collection of botanical freaks. A Princeton professor recently found among his experimental plants a new variety of evening primrose. Its claim to distinction lies in the fact that its buds develop to full size but never open.

"Most interesting among peculiar plants are those which bear uncanny resemblance to something else," says the National Geographic society. "Lady-slippers, sunflowers, and Jack-in-the-pulpits are obvious examples to most nature lovers. Dosses of other resemblances are not so well known.

"Central Africa boasts among its many unusual sights a sausage-tree, from whose wide-spreading crown hang what appear to be bologna sausages. A good accompaniment to it would be the African 'poached-egg tree,' so-called because of its huge white flowers with golden centers. Australia presents as rivals a tree whose thick-based trunk tapers upward like a soda bottle; and the blackboy tree, which thrusts a spear-like shaft six feet above its shaggy crown of leaves. From a distance, a group of these might be savages on the warpath.

Sinister Lilies.

"In South Africa, one may shrink from what seem to be huge red spiders lying on the ground. They turn out to be lilies. Equally sinister-looking are that region's blood-lilies, whose intense red blossoms and stalks are thrust up like the heads of dangerous snakes. Similarly, in hot desert canyons of the United States, wanderers have quickened their pace toward the curling smoke of a friendly campfire only to discover it the deceptive bluish-green branches of a smokebush. In New Zealand, some of the barren mountain sides appear dotted with sheep. Closer examination proves the large rounded gray masses to be Haastia plants, or 'vegetable sheep.'

"New Zealand claims possession of many remarkable plants, such as buttercups three inches across. Large as they are, they shrink into insignificance before the rafflesia. There is little to this East Indian parasite plant except its flowers. But it is the largest single flower in the plant kingdom. It sometimes reaches three feet in diameter and weighs as much as 15 pounds.

"An equally weird plant is the welwitschia, from Africa. Aside from its cotyledons, or seed leaves. It develops only two leaves. But these continue to grow for dozens of years, stretching out on each side of the trunk like green ribbons several inches wide and over six feet long.

Tree That Catches Birds.

"Those who have had experience with poison-ivy do not need to be reminded of the venom lurking unsuspected in innocent-looking plants. From the strophanthus vine of the Tropics comes strophanthin, one of the most powerful poisons known. Natives of West Africa use it to tip their deadly arrows. Juice from oleander shrubs is so poisonous that even eating the harmless-looking pink or white blossoms may kill a person. In the western United States grow powerful herbs, loco-weeds, which have a weird effect on animals. Cattle, sheep, and horses that eat them soon lose their muscular co-ordination. They stagger drunkenly around and may eventually die. They lose all sense of proportion and act as if crazy, rearing up to jump over small sticks as if they were log barriers.

"A tree which grows in Sumatra has an effect on birds equally disastrous. Not poison, but a glue-like gum covering its fruits, is the cause. When small birds alight near the fruits, their wings become so glued together that they cannot fly and fall to the ground.

"There are many odd plants among those that man eats with impunity. In some sections of Ceylon, the large ivory-white blossoms of the agati tree are eaten as vegetables. Aristocrat among the plant products used in modern western cooking is vanilla, derived from an orchid. One of the strangest fruits encountered is the so-called miraculous fruit. After eating one, everything, even a lemon, tastes sweet. It causes this effect by temporarily paralyzing some of the papillae of the tongue."

Porcupine Choice Viand

in Some Bay State Homes
Concord, N. H.—Fried porcupine is being boomed as a rival of chicken with depression-harassed epicureans.
Up to now a porcupine has been considered worth only 15 cents. But one Jobless New Hampshire man, at least, has been earning money selling porcupine meat.
Railway officials at Milford report that a resident of that town has been making shipments of porcupine meat to Massachusetts points. The man, unnamed by the officials, has also been collecting the customary bounty of 15 cents for each porcupine nose sent in to the state fish and game department.

IF YOU KNOW A COP WHO COMPLAINS

of Tired, Aching, Burning Feet

—tell him to shake Zeeta, the antiseptic deodorant powder into his shoes and rub it on his feet.

In 3 minutes his misery is over—excessive, offensive perspiration disappears, the burning sensation vanishes, cracked itching toes heal—he will shout for joy and bless you for telling him about Zeeta.

But be sure he asks for and gets Zeeta—there's nothing else that works so sure, so fast.

Doctors, chiropodists, athletic trainers recommend Zeeta for aching feet, water blisters, also for chafing and sunburn.

Your druggist or department store guarantees Zeeta to relieve you in 3 minutes or your money back.
