FIFTH TEXAS LEGION DIVISION DEMAND VET. HOSPITAL AT MEET

At the annual convention of the Fifth Texas Division of the American Legion, held at Amarillo on Saturday and Sunday the delegates went on record as demanding the establishment of a veterans' hospital in West Texas. The division leaders are to ask Congress to pass a resolution for the hospital to be located in West Texas. They charged that disabled war veterans of this section were being forced to travel great distances and were handicapped seriously thereby in their fight for health.

Officers Elected

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Floyd L. Sloan, Adjutant of Hanson Post No. 54 Amarillo was named division commander and Hub Mason, of Lockney, who was also in the race for the commanders position, was elected division delegate to the national convention in St. Louis this fall. William Perl of Odessa, was elected alternate delegate. National Commander Frank N. Belgrano's address was the high point of the convention. The bonus question was the topic of the commanders address. He declared that the payment of the bonus would be the greatest single recovery measure that the federal government could take.

One of the resolutions adopted at the Sunday session asked that Congress adopt laws to prevent aliens that have been convicted of felony, citizenship in the United States and that they, along with their undesirable aliens, be deported from the United States.

Cecil Harberson, Oklahoma department commander, of Bartlesville, Oklahoma, made an address on Legion Activities Sunday Morning.

"With the exception of payment of the bonus, the removal of 3 1/2 million aliens from the relief rolls would be the greatest recovery measure that could be adopted," Harberson said.

Dewey Richberg, of Pecos, presided at the meeting with George E. Broome National Executive Committeeman. Richberg was division commander during the past year.

Local legionnaires who attended the convention were: Jim Willson, Walter Collins, commander of McDermott Post; Tom Gosley and Mr. Hess.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Quartette, composed of Woodie Guthrie, Garlan Glover, Claud Hammond and Roy Holmes, also attended the convention from Floydada. The quartette furnished entertainment at the convention.

AND IT'S TIME FOR ANOTHER SANE AND SOBER 4th OF JULY

Austin, Texas.—It would be a glorious Fourth of July if no accidents occurred to mar the joy of celebrating our one hundred and fifty-ninth anniversary of independence, declared Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. It is most unfortunate that a day of joy and celebration leaves in its wake one of sadness and sorrow in many homes.

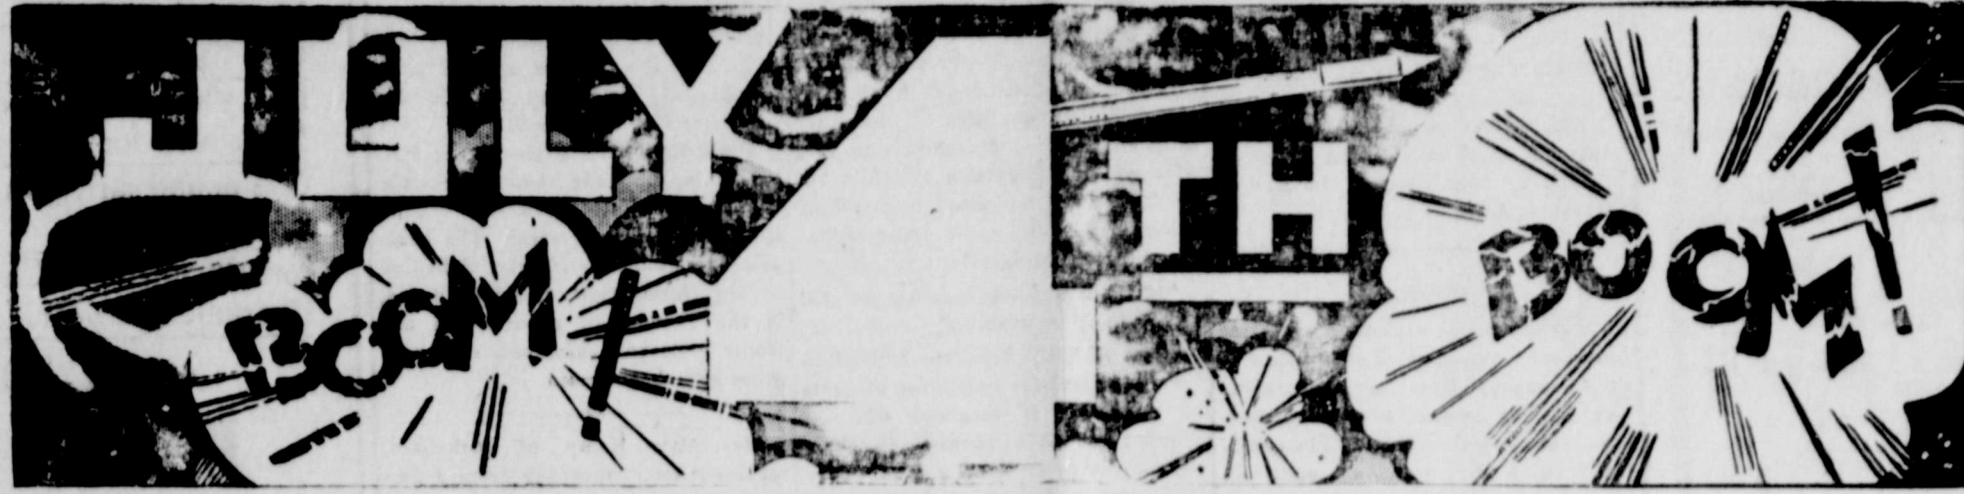

It is not alone the wounds received from explosives that increase our death toll. Injuries from automobile accidents, splinters, nails, and other penetrating wounds in which dirt may be carried into the skin, heighten the hazard of tetanus, or lockjaw as the disease is commonly called.

Tetanus is fatal in a large proportion of cases. Fortunately we have tetanus antitoxin as a means of preventing the disease. Antitoxin must be administered promptly following the accident. Treatment after the disease develops is rarely successful. Preventative measures include: The avoidance of such wounds and proper medical treatment.

A few don't for the 4th of July celebration would not be amiss.

1. Don't be careless in the handling of explosives.
2. Don't look into firecrackers which have failed to explode.
3. Don't drive recklessly and at excess speeds.
4. Don't overdo in swimming, especially in water of unknown depth.
5. Last and most important: Don't fail to get prompt medical attention if a wound is suffered.

Dudley Hill, A. G. Barker and Miss Addie Barker spent the week end in Portales, New Mexico, visiting with Miss Ada Mae Hart.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

On July 4th, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was adopted and the United States of America asserted its rights to be numbered among the sovereign nations of the world. . . . That was 159 years ago. . . . Since then the nation has developed in power and achievement far beyond the dreams of its founders. . . . It has enjoyed eras of development, growth and prosperity. . . . It has surmounted lean years and eras of hard times. . . . Today it has proved itself better able to meet the problems of world-wide economic adjustment and maintain its leadership than any of the other nations of the world. . . . We shall owe tribute to our forefathers however, who gave us the sound foundation of independence upon which to build.

Cotton Certificate Checks to be Delivered July 5 and 6 Here

The county agents office has received 2,552 checks totaling $34,374.32 and arrangements have been made to deliver these checks Friday and Saturday, July 5 and 6. All the producers are strongly urged to secure the checks on these dates. Sixty eight percent of the total cotton pooled was sold. The producers have previously received payment on fifty per cent of the amount pooled and will now receive payment on the remaining eighteen per cent less the cost of operating the pool. The cost has been twenty cents per bale for the number of bales sold.

The producer has two ways of handling the 32 per cent that was not sold. He may have these certificates returned to him for use in 1935 or he may place them in a special pool.

The special pool has been developed for the purpose of making the certificates available to such regions as the lower Rio Grande valley where the cotton harvest is very good and cotton is produced in excess of the allotment. The sale price of certificates placed in this pool will be five cents per pound. The producers who wish to take advantage of this pool will have to make their wishes known at the time they receive their checks Friday or Saturday. It is necessary to notify the Washington office of the desire to place the certificates in the pool by July 15th or the certificates will be returned to the owner for use in 1935.

SHARING THE WEALTH

We are hearing and expect to hear a great deal of discussion about the President's proposal to levy inheritance taxes in addition to the present estate taxes, and to increase the percentage of taxation on very large incomes. There is, of course, a tremendous popular appeal to the man in the street, in this plan to redistribute wealth. We doubt, however, that even if such taxation extended to the point of complete confiscation, it would make very much material difference to the average citizen, we hear so much about here of late, just as we doubt that the imposing of these proposed new and higher taxes would have the dire results that some people are loudly predicting.

It is, of course, true, though most folks do not realize it, that no man has a right to say what shall be done with his wealth after he is dead. A dead man can own nothing. The passing on of his property by will is a privilege granted by statute, and not a fundamental right. The State, which has granted the privilege of leaving wealth to one's descendants, has a perfect right to revoke that right at any time. There is, therefore, no question of elemental rights involved in any proposal to tax inheritances up to as high as 100 percent. The only question of consequence is one of public policy.

Since practically nobody who has any material amount of wealth keeps any large part of it in cash, the payment of death duties and inheritance taxes often, if not generally, involves the forced selling of property, which usually results in realizing much less than its real value. That is why many states, and the Federal Government, allow long terms of years for the payment of estate taxes, to give the executors of large estates ample time in which to raise the necessary cash for tax payments without sacrificing values.

J. P. Morgan has lately been selling pictures from the art collection founded by his father, and disposing of considerable real estate holdings for cash. Mr. Morgan is approaching seventy, and seems to be attempting to provide sufficient cash to pay the death duties after he passes on. This, however, is only another wild guess.

We think it is probably right to tax the man with a ten-million-dollar-a-year income—if there is any such man in these days—at a higher percentage than the man with only a million-dollar income. But when we get up into those high income figures we touch a very few fortunes, perhaps not as many as a hundred.

Speaking of taxes and incomes and of economics generally, in spite of the fact that state and national governments are seeking every available means of finding an economical medium, the colored girls of the universe are spending dollars upon dollars annually trying to take the curl out of their hair, and our lovely little white creatures are handing out larger sums to have a curl put in theirs. Still we have to eat in spite of it all. That is, if there is anything left after the curl has been taken care of.

Over in Motley county business is on a stir simply because the commissioners court and their county judge have worked in co-operation to secure state highway work for the county. Just why Floyd County has set on the back of their necks and let this opportunity for good roads and business slip away is more than a good tax-payer can understand.

At this distance it looks like the Goat Column is going to have lots of work to do another season.

..Independence Day..

It is just 159 years since that lit- and independent nation. They could not win that independence except by acting in common; but on that Fourth of July, 1776, it is doubtful whether any of them looked forward to anything more than a temporary alliance for war. The idea of a united group of nations as a permanent institution had hardly been born at that time.

From that little gathering in Philadelphia, however, has arisen the richest and most powerful nation the world has ever seen. The basic principle of human liberty, embodied in The Declaration of Independence, is the foundation upon which our whole national existence and progress have been based.

They literally took their lives in their hands, these rebellious subjects of the King of England who, as Woodrow Wilson phrased it, "felt themselves to be free men of England, and as free Englishmen could not tolerate the tyranny and oppression of the English King."

They had no distinct idea of founding a new nation, these signers of The Declaration of Independence. They were the representatives of thirteen colonies, each of which had suffered grievances which its people could no longer bear, and each of which asserted its rights as a free and independent nation. They could not win that independence except by acting in common; but on that Fourth of July, 1776, it is doubtful whether any of them looked forward to anything more than a temporary alliance for war. The idea of a united group of nations as a permanent institution had hardly been born at that time.

From that little gathering in Philadelphia, however, has arisen the richest and most powerful nation the world has ever seen. The basic principle of human liberty, embodied in The Declaration of Independence, is the foundation upon which our whole national existence and progress have been based.

Mrs. Cora Kemp, of Jacksboro, returned home Saturday from a two weeks visit with her daughter, Mrs. Truit McClung. She was accompanied to Jacksboro by Mrs. S. G. McRoberts who will visit relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Trotman made a trip to Iowa Park Saturday. Their daughter, Josephine, who has been visiting relatives there returned to Floydada with them.

The Fullest Benefits From Electric Service Depend on You

Did you ever stop to realize how important you are? Have you ever considered the fact that the largest benefit from the use of electric service is the increased use of it? Convince yourself that the mere flick of a switch puts at your immediate disposal a supply of dependable energy that means more convenience, more comfort, and more happiness. This depends on you.

This company has the responsibility for furnishing electric service at rates which are reasonable. As consumer needs for added service justified, rate reductions have always been made. One of the most advantageous steps in this direction was made very recently by this company. The introduction of an "ultimate" rate for residential service is of very direct benefit to you in that at no increase in cost a much larger use of electric service is possible. This depends on you.

During this week we commemorate the 159th year of independence in this country. We find ourselves thinking and saying how hard life must have been in 1776. But some day your grandchild will say: "How hard life must have been in 1935 without the full use of electric service then available!" Pass on to heritage that you were independent of so many tasks by the ease with which electric service could be applied.

THE SAME COUNTRY

By ROBERT V. FLEMING
Vice President, American Bankers Association

There is a growing appreciation, both on the part of the people and the Government, of the earnest and sincere efforts being made by bankers to aid in recovery. It is desirable that we miss no opportunity to foster public understanding of the bankers' problems. We are living in an age of complex and upset economic conditions. Our affairs are closely inter-related not only within the confines of our own borders but extend to other countries throughout the world.

The Greatest Difficulty I think the greatest difficulty we have to overcome in America today is due to our impatience with the progress we are making towards recovery. We must realize that while the Government can help by directing some measures for relief and recovery, we must help ourselves by doing our share to give impetus to the Government's efforts. We have the same country and basically the same businesses, factories and people we had prior to the depression, and business initiative must step forward if real recovery is to be achieved.

The theory we often hear expressed that banks create business activity is wrong. Banking can only make a supplementary contribution to business activity. Bankers have the facilities and the desire to extend credit, but business must initiate activity by seeking the credit which is readily available to all worthy borrowers.

Let it be said for business, however, that business men are as eager as bankers to contribute towards recovery. I think some of the trouble lies in the fact that too many legislative measures have been proposed for reform which leave an uncertainty in the minds of business leaders as to their eventual outcome and effect. Consequently, they hesitate to expand until the probable effects of such legislation are known.

MAKING IT HARDER FOR BANK ROBBERS

Mechanical Devices That Impede the Work of Bandits Described by Bankers Association Official

The impediments which the hard working bank robber now meets in plying his trade among small as well as large banks are described by James E. Baum, Deputy Manager American Bankers Association in charge of its Protective Department, in an article in "Banking" published by his organization. "Protective equipment will minimize if not prevent loss," Mr. Baum says, "such as the silent automatic-type of alarm, approved tear gas systems, several styles of bandit resisting enclosures and timelocks, or safes equipped with timelocks, which can be set for intervals of a few minutes. "The silent automatic alarms operate in the beginning of a holdup and through action carried out by the bank employees in obedience to the bandits' commands. They are adaptable to the smaller banks which continue to be easiest targets for bank robbery.

Tear Gas Systems

"Tear gas systems have their advantages as self-contained protective units where outside aid is inconvenient or too remote from the bank to be effective. One objection to the use of tear gas in preventing holdup is the need of pressing a lever or button to discharge it. Although this necessary action seems too much to expect of the victims in a crisis where their lives are in jeopardy, the fact remains that tear gas systems have defeated bank robbery. Its deterrent value is also important.

"Different styles of bandit resisting enclosures are available. The lock manufacturers also produce timelocks which can be set to open at intervals of five minutes or longer. These locks are especially adapted for attachment to small safes or chests for safeguarding surplus funds while the bank is open for business."

Agriculture and Industry

Returns for the first quarter of 1935 for industrial corporations publishing quarterly reports show net profits 21 per cent more than for the same in 1934. The total farm value of all important crops, exclusive of livestock, rose in 1934 to $4,782,423,000, as compared with $4,114,265,000 in the previous year and $2,882,195,000 in 1932.

The newest central bank is that of Canada, which opened after an exhaustive study had been made of the experience of all nations with the result that the stock of the Bank of Canada is privately owned.

Reasons Why Texas Should Not Change Her Constitution August 24, and Make It Legal to Sell Intoxicating Liquors.

Only a few can be mentioned in one short article.

(1) The responsibility of the voter. Such liquors are made for the purpose of producing intoxicating. They are sold knowing that they will do so. They cannot be legally sold without the vote of this state. The voter who makes such a law legal is as much responsible for the consequence as the man who sells it. Are you willing to become responsible for the acts of drunk men and women by making it legal for them to buy it?

(2) It will quadruple the sale of hard liquors and increase crime and misery in a corresponding ratio. The wets know this statement is true. When they advocated beer they claimed they were opposed to the sale of whiskey and deceived some people with that argument. How soon have they changed.

(3) The distillers and prospective sellers who are expecting to make millions of money by supplying the demand for whiskey that would follow the repeal of our present liquor laws have never been known in this country as patriots seeking to make Texas a better place in which to live and build clean good homes but some of them have even violated the laws of this state against the sale of intoxicants.

(4) The interests of the youth of Texas demand that liquor shall not be sold legally in this state. If this business is established in Texas by the votes of the people they should certainly be willing to furnish it their boys and girls as it must have them. The old time saloon which seems to have lost so many of its friends, is to be substituted by places with the daughters of Texas as bartenders, with tables seats and sandwiches for everybody. The business is to be popularized in order to draw business from the best homes.

(5) The drys of Texas sought to have the legislature if they must submit this question to the people bind themselves to the proposition of state sale where all the profits from the business would go directly to the state and no private profit could accrue, but they refused to adopt such a plan but made it possible after the people vote on the question if the wets carry the election, then the legislature themselves shall have power to say how liquors will be sold in this state.

Do you want to surrender your rights in this matter to the legislature which would not favor the state getting all the revenue from the sale of intoxicants?

(6) Money put into the channels of the liquor business will be taken out of the needful avenues of trade and will hurt the business of every legitimate business man no matter what he sells from the boot black to the banker, and will return worse than nothing to spender of the money.

(7) The use of the automobile alone on the highways of Texas is sufficient reason in its self to vote against the legal sale of intoxicants. Only recently in Texas a man was convicted of driving while intoxicated and he swore that he had only drunk two bottles of legal beer, but death to innocent people was the result and he must serve a term in prison, so what can be expected when liquors made purposely for intoxication are sold legally in Texas by your vote?

We could use the entire page of this newspaper giving one good reason after another why the prohibition laws of Texas shall not be repealed and will give more at another time.
