OLD SETTLERS PLAN BIGGEST REUNION AT HANK SMITH PARK

According to advance announcements the 10th annual West Texas Old Settlers Reunion to be held at the Hank Smith Memorial Park on August 15 and 16, promises the largest attendance of any previous reunion held, according to Bob Smith who is in charge of arrangements for the annual celebration.

There is more preparation being made this year than there has ever been prior to the other reunions held, and advance information cause us to believe that the reunion will draw the largest crowd that has ever been in attendance. Approximately 15 to 20 thousand people have attended other annual reunions. Added Attraction This Year There will be a number of added attractions this year that have not been on the progarm in former years. The rodeo feature, with two performances daily, has a number of new attractions. Wild buffalo chariot races, cow pony horse races, and the rodeo queen's parade, are among the new things that will be seen at the reunion this year. Tom Howard, well known rodeo expert, will have this feature in charge. Frank Norfleet, well known criminal sleuth and a South Plains rancher will be one of the judges of the rodeo program.

Ladies Pioneer Dress Parade Another part of the program this year and which promises to be one of the main attractions, will be the Ladies Pioneer Dress Parade, which will take place on the first day of the reunion, August 15, and is schedaled at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. J. J. Spikes and Mrs. Viols Brown will have charge of this feaure. Ten dollars in prizes is offered. The registration booth will be n charge of Mrs. J. J. Spikes and Mrs. Evelyn Lowrie.

SEES INFLATION A SLOW PROCESS

A Real Danger for the Future, Col. Ayres Tells Banking Groups.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.-Presnt prospects do not indicate that nflation severe enough to cause furher dollar devaluation will come soon in this country, but as an ultimate development it seems to be a very real danger, Leonard P. Ayres, address before the Graduate School of Banking. He believed this statement to be true "unless the governor bank officers. "We have so enormously in reased the capacity of our banking system for credit expansion that it s difficult to see how we could have vigorous business revival without having it develop into a credit inflation," Colonel Ayres declared.

Inflation a Slow Process

If inflation does come it will be a slow process, he said, pointing out that in Germany, France, Belgium and Italy it took about five years to develop from the time when the governments entered upon policies of financing large peace-time deficits by bank credit up to the time when the public generally began to spend money rapidly because of fear that it would still further depreciate

"If we are to go through such a period here it would seem likely that it might last rather longer than the corresponding periods did abroad," he said. "Its beginning would date from the spring of 1933 when we left the old gold basis for our money and entered upon the policy of financing large governmental deficits by the sale of Federal securities mainly to banks rather than to private investors.

"The method that we are following is the one that proved disastrous in Europe for in all those countries including Germany, the increasing issues of money that caused the inflations were not mere printing press issues of flat currency, but were secured by government bonds and notes discounted at the banks." Among the clearest lessons taught by the European experience, Colonel Ayres asserted, is that there are

'no good bedges against inflation."

Did Not Lighten Debt Burdens 'One of the strange facts about hese inflations is that while they ghtening the debt burdens of either "Inflation destroys the value of bonds and mortgages and so confiscates the property of these holders of obligations and hands it over to the shareholders and the equity owners. However, it introduces so many new economic difficulties that these share and equity holders are at once forced to incur new indebtedness so that when stabilization comes the problems of debt are about as troublesome as they were before, or even more so."

The five requisites of inflation were listed by Colonel Ayres as first, a period of sustained active business; second, a rising stock market; third, real credit expansion; fourth, greater out-flow of gold "than we can tolerate which would force us to cut our currency entirely free from gold"; and fifth, continued large budget deficits in covernment operation.

TWO QUESTIONS ANSWERED

00 bushels of corn to the acre, and the other one, on the other side of the fence, raises 25 bushels to the acre? Why is it that one farmer produces 100 pounds of pork on five pushels of corn, and another uses 25 bushels? Not until power mahinery, scientific principles of soil ertilization and restoration, rotation of crops, diversification of crops and economical feeding are applied to the farm, will the farmers' probem be solved, says an authority.

Significant economic developments to be expected in the next decade are listed by a prominent business writer as follows: (1) Higher standard of living. (2) Continued advances in technical processes of production. (3) Factory built houses. better and cheaper than hand made houses (4) Somewhat cheaper money. (5) Faster travel. (6) News printed by radio. (7) Mechanical cotton picker, revolutionizing the South. (8) Cheaper electric power (9) Better distribution of goods more chain stores. (10) Another depression five or six years hence, preceded by an inflationary boom.
