U. S. PLANS TO CUT FARM FIRE LOSSES

Toll Last Year 3,500 Lives and $100,000,000 Loss.

Washington. — Due to enormous fire losses on farms, the Department of Agriculture has instituted a program designed to reduce the deaths and damage from fires in agricultural areas. Here the greater part of the country's loss occurs because of the absence of fire protection comparable to city control.

The expert in charge of the work for the department is Dr. David J. Price who is directing research work on farm fire prevention in the chemical engineering division of the bureau of chemistry and soils.

"The loss from fires on farms and in the rural sections of the United States," said Dr. Price, "is more than 60 per cent of the total national fire loss; and in 1936 placed a $16 'fire tax' on every farm in the country."

More than 3,500 lives were lost in farm fires last year, while property damage has been approximately fixed at $100,000,000 by Department of Agriculture experts. The Structural Clay Products Institute, spokesman for the brick and building tile industry with headquarters in Washington, is co-operating with department engineers in advocating fire-proof construction on farms.

"It is highly important that farm buildings be of fire-proof materials," said J. J. Cermak, secretary of the institute. "Usually, a fire on a farm means total destruction because of the remoteness of fire-fighting agencies. The great loss of property and even of life in farm fires last year demands that prompt steps be taken to curb the wasteful practice of exposing isolated farm structures to the hazards of uncontrollable fire. The best way to do this is to build with fire-proof material. Fire-proof construction makes unnecessary the wide separation of farm buildings to prevent the spread of flames, thus making for more compact and efficient farm operation and less loss of land to cultivation."

The institute reports that brick and building tile are coming into increasing use for barns and silos, as well as hog, sheep houses and other farm buildings.

Tarantula Bite Holds No Fear for Zoologist

Minneapolis—John A. Cederstrom, zoology instructor at the University of Minnesota, is the university's unofficial tarantula keeper.

Excited grocers who have found a tarantula spider in a stalk of bananas are referred to Cederstrom. "They keep coming in, five or six every year," Cederstrom said. "Every one who finds a tarantula seems to think he has to turn it over to the university."

The instructor explained that either he is immune to the bite of the big spider or its sting is not as poisonous as is popularly supposed. He has been bitten three or four times with no more ill effects than that of a mosquito bite.

Cederstrom permits tarantulas to crawl contentedly on his white laboratory jacket.

"I just put them in jars and watch them," Cederstrom said. He explained that they escape occasionally by pushing off their jar covers and he has to turn his office upside down to recapture them.

The instructor believes the tarantulas in laboratory jars become homesick for their banana stalks. Many starve themselves to death, he said. Some specimens eat nothing for months, but drink water.

Their favorite food is grasshoppers, with cockroaches second choice.

'Rustlers' Using Trucks Increase Raids in West

Oklahoma City.—Cattle rustling in Oklahoma has been increasing with the more up-to-date method of using trucks to haul the cattle away instead of a horse to drive them.

Col. Charles W. Daley, chief of the state crime bureau, said rustlers using trucks had stolen 1,000 head of cattle in the state during the last six months.

He explained that modern rustlers work at night in the thinly settled sections of the state. They concentrate on cattle found wandering along the highways.

"In some ways the problem is greater than in the old days," Daley said. "Then the rustlers drove off the cattle in big numbers. Vigilantes could follow their tracks and sometimes catch up with them."

"But now the trucks enable the rustlers to whisk their loot to market before the ranch owner discovers his herd has been reduced."

Hobos Now Pass Up City With Woodpile

Springfield, Ill.—A huge pile of wood is now used to lessen the stream of transient hobos into this city.

Any itinerant who is given a night's lodging is required to chop wood at the city woodpile, which stands in the Salvation Army's yard.

Before the advent of the woodpile an average of 100 hobos daily were bedded at the cost of the city. Now there are about a dozen each night.

DOAN'S PILLS

TO OPEN FREE FARM FOR DRUG ADDICTS

U. S. Institution in Texas to Be Ready in 1938.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Sometime in 1938, the first patient will enter the new United States $4,500,000 settlement designed to cure narcotic addicts.

The buildings are expected to be under construction by the end of 1937. When completed, there will be room for 1,200 persons addicted to drugs to take treatments and work at the same time. Quarters will be provided for 250 doctors, nurses and other attendants.

The hospital was the answer to a continuous plea from doctors, welfare workers, police departments and citizens. The first such farm was built at Lexington, Ky., to care for federal prisoners addicted to narcotics. The new one, a few miles southeast of Fort Worth, is almost a duplicate of the Louisville plant in plan, but its operation will be considerably different.

"Voluntary" Patients.

Patients accepted here will be
"voluntary" and many are expected to pay their expenses. Most undoubtedly will be from the list of persons convicted of selling or possessing narcotics. The paying patients will contribute $1 a day to their upkeep and help reduce the government's loss in curing them by tending animals on the farm and making their own clothes in farm shops.

Those accepted must sign a pledge to follow the prescribed treatment and to remain at the hospital until the cure is complete.

Regulations provide that those who are able must pay $1 a day for their upkeep. Narcotic law enforcers, however, believe few addicts will be found with the funds to pay their own way.

The system of cure devised for the Louisville farm by Dr. Lawrence Kolb probably will be followed. The Kolb treatment includes a complete mental and physical examination for each new patient.
Many of them have diseases, such as tuberculosis, which must be cured before they are taken off the drug habit.

Two Procedures Followed.

One familiar treatment for those using drugs involves the simple reduction system—giving the addict less and less of the drug he craves until the habit is overcome. Dr.
Kolb, however, is one who prefers the "cold turkey" system—a abrupt end to the narcotic supply.
"Drastic methods give the best results," Dr. Kolb said. "By this system a patient is suddenly and completely deprived of drugs. He becomes irritable and restless. He cannot sleep. . . he sneezes and sweats. . . and he may collapse
. . . but he usually shows improvement in a few days."

During the treatments the patient usually is given a nonopiate sedative to quiet his nerves, soothing baths and electric ray treatments.
Within two weeks a responsive patient is "off the habit." Two months is the most required for even a refractory addict, according to Dr.
Kolb.

Remainder of the treatment consists mainly of routine designed to keep former addicts from using drugs. The Fort Worth farm will have cattle and chickens for them to tend; workshops for the men and sewing rooms for the women.

Through these methods the Louisville unit cured 1,048 cases of 1,864
admitted during the first two years.

Lift in Palace Chief Delight of Princess, 6

London.—Flaxen haired, blue eyed, six-year-old Princess Margaret Rose, daughter of the king and queen, has discovered the delights of running the elevator at Buckingham palace.

The quarters of Princess Elizabeth, ten, and Margaret Rose are on the second floor of the palace. Their nurses use the self-working electric elevator when they take the children to see their parents on the ground floor.

The first time they used the elevator Margaret Rose gazed silently at the row of buttons. She watched her nurse push one and felt the elevator descending. It was a new and delightful sensation.

When the elevator stopped at the ground floor Margaret Rose refused to leave it. She wanted to push buttons, too. "Let me do it. Let me do it," she clamored.

Finally her nurse gave way and lifted the baby princess in her arms.
But Margaret Rose pushed the wrong button and the elevator rushed to the basement. Margaret Rose was delighted.

Now, however, she has learned that the white button is "down" and the black button "up." And it is her daily treat—if she has been good—when she and her sister join the king and queen for afternoon tea, to stand on the seat and work the elevator.

Chinchilla Goes A-Begging

London.—A full-length chinchilla coat, said to be one of less than a dozen of its kind in the world, was offered for auction here recently, but there was no sale. The reserve price was $10,000, and the auctioneer suggested $3,000 as a starting bid, but nobody was willing to offer even that.

Another part of the 'habit' is that we always buy from Joe Mills, owner of the Mills Chevrolet Company, our Chevrolet dealer in Colorado, Texas. As the big spaces of Texas test both cars and friendships, I think our long-time loyalty says much for the dependability of both the Chevrolet car and our local Chevrolet dealer. While we can get values like these, nothing but Chevrolet will satisfy us."

AIR SERVICE OVER ATLANTIC PLANNED

Britain Gathers Data to Plot Flying Charts.

London, England.—At Foynes, on the River Shannon in Ireland, imaginary flights are made daily over the Atlantic, in preparation for regular air service to America, the air ministry has revealed.

Meteorological experts of the air ministry and Imperial Airways plot a "flight" in accord with reports of wind strength and direction and other weather information received by radio from ships and transferred immediately to "synoptic" charts that give a general picture of the weather over the 2,000 miles between Ireland and Newfoundland.

The experiments were begun in London, but when they reached an advanced stage they were transferred to Foynes, near which are the land and sea bases from which the Imperial and Pan-American planes will operate across the Atlantic.

Accepted Theories Erroneous.

The work has shown that generally accepted beliefs about Atlantic weather must be radically revised. Prevalent, for example, is the theory of a constant west to east wind, making all flights from Europe to America difficult and dangerous. This is generally true, but the weather men have discovered that there are many days when conditions favor rather than hamper the westward flight.

On a day in last December, for example, the wind was blowing so strongly from the east all the way across the ocean that a flight to America could have been made in record time.

In addition to constant weather information received from transatlantic steamers the Foynes station has a weather expert journeying back and forth constantly across the north Atlantic on board the steamer Manchester Port. His duty is to discover all he can about prevailing air currents and conditions in the upper air. His work will be continued for a year.

Looses Small Balloons.

He releases small colored balloons of hydrogen, which rise at the rate of 500 feet a minute to the limit of visibility, which is about 10,000 feet. Variations of their course show the direction and strength of winds affecting them. After lightning calculations and comparisons with weather reports received by radio from other ships this data is flashed to Foynes. Upper air temperatures also are taken to combat the problem of ice formation on the planes.

The work has thrown into prominence the need for a meteorological station between the British isles and Greenland, to cover a zone which few ships visit and where no trustworthy source of information exists.

The goal of these efforts is the establishment of an organization capable of handling the commander of a transatlantic air liner, before he takes off, a complete, dependable analysis of weather then prevailing and likely to prevail for the duration of his flight across the ocean.

Experimental flights by special transoceanic land planes, sea planes and the Mayo "composite," or "piggy-back," ships will be carried out during the next few months. Informed British aviation opinion, however, believes that regular air-mail flights will not be begun until some time in 1938 and that passenger schedules will not be possible before 1939 or 1940.

Auto Mechanic Awarded Title of Baron by Court

San Jose, Calif.—Ernest Siber, twenty-four-year-old auto mechanic has demonstrated that while the Constitution prevents any foreign country from conferring a title of nobility on an American citizen, there is nothing to prevent an American court from doing so.

As a consequence, Siber is now Baron Ernest H. Von Schanenflugel. Siber explained his desire and predicament to the Superior court about the title as follows:

His father, Harold Siber, is chief engineer at the San Jose hospital. His grandfather, however, who died in Germany a number of years ago, was authentically Baron von Schanenflugel.

However, as the latter name was entirely too much for the average American to pronounce, his father had his name changed to "Siber."

The son, however, desirous of preserving his grandfather's name and the title, asked the court to restore him the family title, name and all, regardless of the difficulties of pronunciation, and the court complied.

Old Settlers Remember How Two Men Won Strike

Rapid City, S. D.—An outmoded street car, exhibited in a park here, calls to mind among old settlers one of the most unusual strikes in the state's history. The old street car company here owned one car, a horse drawn vehicle. It was operated by two men. They formed a union. The management objected. And so the men struck. They demanded union recognition and no reduction in salary. Their salary was 75 cents a day. The strikers won.

MINING OF METALS IN MONTANA BOOMS

World Rearmament Opens Up Steady Market.

Butte, Mont.—Montana mining of numerous metals is enjoying a heartening boom engendered by high gold prices, industrial recovery, and demand for raw materials to supply world armament needs.

A record of 35 per cent increased production in 1936 over 1935 was attained and even greater increase is considered by mining experts to be in the making for 1937.

Pay rolls are near World war and predepression highs. In tiny, remote mining camps high in the mountains, as well as in the famed super-diggings here on "the richest hill on earth," the boom is on. The new-found prosperity has brought a resurgent optimism and capital is finding its way into the development of new workings and in increased operation of established properties.

Change in the law which enable the lone miner or prospector to sell in small quantities to the mints without employment of a middleman have led many veterans and novices of the pan and pick into the hills and along the streams in quest of gold and silver. A gold price of approximately $35 an ounce makes small operations profitable.

According to the United States bureau of mines, Montana in 1936 produced $41,857,000 worth of gold, silver, lead, copper and zinc. The 1935 values were $30,918,000. Last year's gold production was $6,265,000, about 179,000 ounces. The 1935 values were $5,258,081—about 151,000 ounces. Nearly all of the increase was believed to have come from two huge placer properties, the Porter at Helena and the Humphrey at old Virginia City, of pioneer vigilante fame. The Humphrey concern, operating the world's largest dry land tractor gold recovery dredge, originally was financed at Virginia City by a New Deal industrial loan.

Proportionate increases were registered in silver, lead and zinc.

Road Study Casts Light on Auto Tire Punctures

London.—An exhaustive inquiry into the causes and cures of automobile tire punctures has just been concluded in Great Britain by 1,000 roads patrols.

The investigation, confined largely to the main roads of the country, was organized by the Automobile association after it had received many complaints that modern methods of road surfacing, combined with the higher braking power and quicker acceleration possessed by cars, shorten the life of the best tires by several thousand miles.

An analysis of the return shows that three-quarters of the punctures that came under the notice of the observers were in the rear tires, and that of the number two-thirds were in tires on the near side rear wheel.

The explanation was simple. Any loose material on a roadway is scattered by passing cars to the edge of the highway, and the small flints and stone dressing lie there ready to embed themselves in the tires of the cars that follow.

The rear tires, being on the driving wheels, are more prone to suffer first; and the near side tires are those which come into contact with the most generous share of sharp points. The remedy suggested by an A. A. official is more careful road surfacing and systematic road cleansing, with more attention to the sides.

Robert Lincoln's Life Saved by Edwin Booth

Washington.—A story that the life of Abraham Lincoln's late son, Robert Todd Lincoln, was saved by Edwin Booth, actor and brother of John Wilkes Booth, was told here by persons close to the Lincoln family who asked that their identity not be disclosed.

Robert Lincoln, who was president of the Pullman company, told an intimate associate that as he was boarding a Washington-bound train at Jersey City his foot slipped and he feared that he would slide under the wheels.

Suddenly a firm hand grasped his shoulder and pulled him out. He not only thanked Edwin Booth for the rescue, but remembered the incident until the last days of his life.

Urges Husbands to Sing in the Bath

Cincinnati, O.—What this country needs, said Dr. Thomas James Kelly, is "not more professional vocalists but a whole army of bathroom singers."

Widely known as a musical authority, Dr. Kelly spoke before the closing session of a regional conference on adult education.

America's bathing tenors need not press the issue too hard in order to indulge their artistry, he suggested, "admitting" the possibility that too often any suppression was due to "their wives and families."

"Wives should not only encourage their husbands to sing in the bathtub," declared Dr. Kelly, "but they should even bring them out into the living room singing."

New Administration-Library Building - University of Texas

With only a few minor details yet to be attended to, the new unit of the Administration-Library Building of The University of Texas, located in the center of the main campus at Austin, is ready for occupancy. The cost of the two units comprising the imposing structure, including fixtures and furniture, totaled approximately three million dollars. Not a penny of this sum came from the taxpayers.

From an architectural standpoint, the tower, 308 feet high, with its 28 book-stack stories, is its outstanding feature. Its higher elevation causes it to rise several feet above the Capitol dome. In addition to book stacks, its space will be devoted to offices for a number of members of the faculty.

The new unit of the building contains the offices of the president, registrar, auditor, comptroller, librarian, and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Among the many attractive features are two reading rooms, exposed on three sides, and entirely glass-enclosed, for pleasure reading.

Students who attend the 1937 summer session will be the first to have opportunity to use the building in its completed form.

PUBLIC COOPERATING WITH CITY MARSHAL TO ENFORCE TRAFFIC PARKING

City Marshal Morgan Wright wishes to express his gratitude to the general public in cooperating with him and his assistants in enforcing the new traffic law that was put into effect last week.

Mr. Wright and the City officials in passing and enforcing this traffic order are merely trying to provide for public safety and convenience, and it depends largely on the cooperation of the general public as to how soon the traffic will be under control.

Judging from the remarkable change in traffic the past week Mr. Wright believes that in two more weeks he will have the traffic under control.

Stamford Cowboy Reunion Will Be Held On July 1, 2, and 3

Stamford, Texas.—Rapid progress is being made on the construction of the new buildings and other betterments in the $10,000 improvement program at the Texas Cowboy Reunion grounds. The work will be completed well in advance of the eighth annual reunion which will be held on July 1, 2 and 3.

Work is well advanced on the $5,000 pavillion and exhibit building, a two story structure 60x100 feet. First floor of this building will be used for ticket offices and commercial exhibits, while the second floor will be used for sponsors' dances and other gatherings. Two modern rest rooms are included in the building.

Another important improvement still to be completed is a new lighting system for the rodeo arena, designed to make it the best lighted outdoor rodeo arena in Texas and remove the handicap under which night rodeo contestants have labored in the past.

Two new horse barns have been finished with some 44 individual stalls which will be rented to cow-guy sponsors or to cowboys who want special quarters for their horses. New pens for the sponsors' horses also have been built.

In the vicinity of the new barns, a dam has been built to form a small lake, holding some 10 1/2 feet of water when filled. This is in addition to the beautiful lake near the center of the grounds.

To speed up the show at the arena, a tunnel has been constructed at the opposite end from the chutes, through which stock will be removed after being used in the rodeo. This will avoid herding the stock back through the arena between events.

After passing through the tunnel, the stock will be driven through a lane back of the grandstands to the corrals.

To assure seats for all comers at the reunion this year, 1,000 additional seats are being provided. This gives a total seating capacity of 11,000, of which 8,000 are grand stand seats under roof.

Floyd County AAA Payments Expected to Reach $300,000

Under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program there will be close to $300,000.00 received by farmers in this county. Farmers received this payment in the county for diverting their cotton and general bases to approved soil conserving crops. These diverted acres were handled as follows:

18,700 acres were planted to legumes; 46,992 acres aggregated the amount of green manure which was turned under by the farmers in this county and which counted as their diverted acres. For this practice farmers were paid $1.00 per acre and at present it is very gratifying to visit farms which plowed up green wheat in the spring and summer of last year. These fields on which this practice was performed are producing one-third more grain than adjoining acres which were not handled in this manner. The 1936 program brought out several established facts and the farmers in the North East section of the county were greatly pleased as to how the alternate rows of sorghum and fallow prevented wind erosion in the Spring of 1937.

These farmers were permitted to head the sorghum but the stalks were left standing for a protection against wind erosion which worked very satisfactorily in the county where wheat is the predominating crop. Under the 1936 program farmers plowed up green manure such as green wheat, sudan and grain sorghum and immediately followed this practice by seeding these acreages to winter wheat. This gave a cover crop on the land throughout the wind erosion period and it is believed that this practice greatly reduced the wind erosion in 1937 in this area irrespective of the fact that some of the lakey places continued to blow and ruin neighbors crops and it is expected in time to come producers will profit by the agricultural program still more and learn how the different types of land can be treated so as to still further reduce this hazardous situation of wind erosion.

19,698 acres were contoured; 5107 acres were terraced. The entire acreages which were contoured or terraced were either done by some one from the county agricultural agent's office or by an approved surveyor.

634 Floyd County farmers received $149,000.00 under the AAA Wheat Program for reducing their wheat acreage 5%. Under the two 1936 programs Floyd County has received $428,878.92.

To-date Floyd County has submitted 1153 work sheets to the State office and was this week listed as one of the nineteen (19) counties of the entire state having completed all of their work sheets for 1937 by May 20. In making preliminary check of the 1937 work sheets it has been found that 25,000 more acres are listed on applications this year than last year.

Twenty-three ranch program applications have been executed by ranchers of Floyd County, aggregating 91,000 acres. These applications show that the ranch men of this county are whole heartedly interested in the deferred grazing practice which has been more or less a common practice among the ranchers of this area and the exterminating of prairie dogs, grubbing of prickley pears, and mosquitoes, have been listed on 75% of these applications their intentions to build reservoir; and tontour furrowing of pasture land has also been listed by a number of ranches. For 1937 the county agricultural agent has received definite information that this county will receive an aerial map and it is hoped that this map will be made in time so that an accurate check of acreage involved under the agricultural conservation program can be checked.

Under the 1937 program it is surprising to note the number of acres which have been either contoured or terraced by the county agricultural agent with the assistance of the N. Y. A.

To-day 5718 acres have been terraced and 15,111 acres have been contoured. Reports show that 163 farmers have taken advantage of the five terrace levels which are kept in the county agricultural agent's office. These men have run their own contour and terrace lines.

In driving over the county it is difficult to find fields which are devoted to row crops which do not have either contours or terraces upon the farm.

In a few days this office is going to start to checking compliance for 1937. It is their idea to first start with the wheat farmer who planted nothing but wheat. It is expected that the two hundred (200) applications on file which do not have anything but wheat planted will be checked and mapped by the producer before the 1st of July. This is being done so as to spread the compliance work over a period of time and so the measurements can be thororoughly checked and not have the entire block of the work at the last date. It is also the idea of this office to complete the work as rapidly and efficiently as possible so as not to have to penalize the producers in receiving their payments so late in the season.

D. F. Bredthauer, County Agent.
