Don't Neglect Them!

Lights of New York By L. L. STEVENSON

There's an organization known as "I Drove With Ben Smith Once" club. The large membership consists of those who have been given thrills by Ben Smith, who before he became a big Wall Street operator, was a racing driver. He has never quite overcome the habit. Hence a spin with him is fast, furious and exciting. He's skilful and accurate, however, and thus, his record is clean. But memories linger on

When Tom Bragg and he were h partnership they were not only business but playtime associates as well. Naturally, they were companions in various automobile adventures some of which had a humorous aspect-and give an amusing picture of two big brokers in their play moments.

There was that day when Mr. Smith, with Mr. Bragg as usual his companion, decided to try out a new light car on the rolling acres of farm near Bedford Village, N. Y. In the back of a car were some of emergency. The first use ocurred when they reached a small ook. The boards were laid across stream and the car rolled over othly. Shortly after that, they me to a mbderately high stone strolled away.

Speaking of driving, I'm wondering what next I'll see on the streets of New York. In old days, concrete misers were stationary or were towed in the backs of trucks. Nowadays they travel under their own power and travel fast too, presumably chewing up sand and concrete as they plow through traffic. A concrete mixer moving at high the other day, on Eighth avenue, I saw what would be called a steam shovel, if it were not gasoline operated, bowling along merrily. It had an escort-a dozen or more taxicabs with drivers muttering because they were unable to pass.

Ciro Terranova, for a number of vears known as the "artichoke king," had given up his Pelham Manor mansion because he'd not only been deposed but had gone broke, brings to mind the story of a young advertising man and a prohibition era New Year's eve. His wife and he were invited to a party and the wife went on ahead. The husband, somewhat fuzzy, forgot where the party was and went out looking for it. Seeing a big house all lighted up, he rang the bell, was admitted and found himself a guest of Terranova. And in his embarrassment, several times he referred to the "pineapple king." But he had a pleasant evening.

WEST POINT CAMPUS GETS FACE-LIFTING

Changes Physical Appearance of Institution.

West Point, N. Y .- The United States Military academy is undergoing a "face - lifting" operation, completion of which will change the entire physical appearance of the famous institution.

A new cadet barracks, a new aca demic building, an addition to the gymnasium, a cadet armory, ordnance and engineering laboratories and junior officers' quarters are being erected in a $5,000,000 construction project. The buildings will be completed by the end of 1938. Five hundred cadets will be ac commodated in the new barracks, which will form a right angle with its south wing running parallel to the south wing of north cadet barracks and its north wing running parallel to the gymnasium. Each wing will consist of a basement and seven floors. Estimated cost of erection is $1,089,400.

The exterior of the building will be faced with granite rubble masonry with limestone trim, and its Gothic architecture will coincide with that of the north barracks.

New Academic Building.

The new academic building will be erected between the east academic building and the library, on a site formerly occupied by tennis

The structure will form an angle one leg of which will be the east wing, six floors high, and the other a one-floor parallel to the east academic building.

Also of Gothic architecture, the exterior will be faced with cut stone ashlar trimmed with limestone.

A modern natural and experimental philosophy laboratory will be established in the west wing, which will be isolated from the east wing to eliminate vibration.

Estimated cost of the building is $741,600. The new gymnasium addition will form a letter T, with a west wing directly in the rear of the present structure. The cost has been estimated at $980,000. The building will be framed with structural steel and fireproofed with concrete. Sixty families will be accommodated in junior officers' quarters being erected in the north end of the Twenty Double Quarters.

There will be twenty sets of double quarters, five three - family houses and five five-family houses, all two stories high. Each of the quarters will have a basement, storage space, combination living and dining rooms, kitchen, front hall, three bedrooms, two baths and a maid's room. Sun porches will be built on each of the double-quarters.

The houses will be of brick supported with structural cinder blocks and arranged so that families will have private entrances. They are expected to be finished by Novem-

A cold storage plant has been completed, and additional water distribution facilities consisting of two 5,000,000-gallon steel water tanks with electrically driven centrifugal pumps were completed January 18,

Plans and specifications for the ordinance and engineering laboratories, which will cost $203,000, have not been completed. A new target range, a quartermaster garage and a freight receiving warehouse are also near completion.

British School Presents Students Some Teasers

London .- "Write the letter which comes after P in the alphabet unless today is Wednesday, in which case write 'no'."

This is part of an examination which schoolchildren at Barnsley had to pass to get a secondary school scholarship. Another "poser" put to the Yorkshire pupils was:

"If Tuesday comes before Friday write 'yes,' unless seven is greater than two, in which case write 'and'.'

An authority on intelligence tests said that "this particular test may sound odd, but people will admit that they need their wits about them to write down the correct answer."

Mexico.

Mexico should know, said McClure National Automobile Road Scou and authorized investigator for the Mexican Automobile Association as well as the national tourist depart ment.

According to McClure, Mexico has performed miracles in carrying out her tremendous program of highway construction. The first completed link in her network, and the first division of the proposed Pan-American highway to the Panama Canal, is the excellent road between Laredo Texas, and Mexico City, D. F., the nation's capital.

Mexican engineers have spanned the desert barrier just south of the Rio Grande, pierced the jungle lowlands of the "tierra caliente," and crossed the lofty peaks of the Sierra Occidente onto the high plateau where lies Mexico City. Excepting short stretch now being paved, the McClures report, this entire route may be traveled in comfort and safe. ty-the section under construction

For the first time, the American notorist may drive his own car from any part of temperate America directly into the tropics, if he continues south from Mexico City 300 miles, over good, safe roads, to Acaoulco, a city set in tropic surroundngs which might have been lifted odily from some South Seas para-

"Picking orchids in the morning and having a snowball battle in the afternoon," stated McClure, "are comparisons which show the nature of the country through which we traveled, but they also testify to the diversified conditions under which our Chevrolet was operated.

"From sea level to volcano summit; from the extreme heat and humidity of the lowlands to the cold rarefied atmosphere of mountain top, without earbureator adjustment, our car made an excellent showing, with. out noticeable depreciation in power or performance."

Obviously looking for the most adverse traveling conditions, the Mc-Clures drove over burro trails that never had felt the imprint of auto tires; on crude roads built for primitive native vehicles; through swampland and mountain passe never before undertaken by auto.

The honeymooning couple, who drove a standard half-ton panel Chevrolet truck, reported a mileage record of 18.3 miles per gallon and economical oil consumption. This showing was made in spite of the fact that the engine was turned but once on the entire juant, and in spite of the fact it was necessary to omi changing oil in one period when they covered 8,000 miles of rugged travel.

"One five-week trip of ours can best be visualized by thinking of a continuous-and mighty bad-detour from Seattle to San Diego," said McClure, "and I mean a detour that would have been called bad 50 years ago!"

The McClure itinerary took in the four principal roads of Mexico as well as the uncharted by-paths These main highways are from La redo to Mexico City, Mexico City. Acapulco, Mexico City-Vera Cruz and Mexico City-Guadalajara. Those roads were logged mile for mile by the American map-maker, and thoroughly photographed. The work of the McClures has been lauded by the Mexican government, while their maps have been certified as officia by all interested government depart ments. "It is safe to say," McClure serted, "that in our travels from se level in the tropics to an elevation of 15,000 feet, we encountered every conceivable type of road and operating condition under which a car could perform. And we have nothing but prraise for the performance of
