In addition to the loan program, Secretary Wallace will move to bolster the market through the new government crop insurance program. Already a campaign is under way to "sign-up" farmers for wheat insurance.

The insurance program is expected to remove about 50,000,000 bushels of wheat from the market through farmer payments of premiums on 1939 wheat insurance. The government will store this wheat in elevators for future indemnity payments to insured farmers.

Crop Report Birthday

ON THE day it issued its May crop report, the Department of Agriculture celebrated the seventyfifth anniversary of the government crop reporting service. The names of the oldest living crop reporters were inscribed on a roll of honor, and the ceremonies were witnessed by a group of veterans of the service who were invited to Washington by Secretary Wallace.

The crop reporting service was started in May, 1863, by Isaac Newton, first commissioner of agriculture, appointed by President Lincoln in 1862. The first report was prepared on the basis of reports from 2,000 farmers in 21 states. Today reports are based on returns from 200,000 voluntary reporters.

TELLO EVERYBODY:

There's an old saying that a man who is born to be hanged will never be drowned, and Pete Lovett of Brooklyn, N. Y., has a hunch that something of the sort is true in his own case. Pete doesn't know what sort of an end the Fates have in store for him, but he's darned certain that no bullet will ever put an end to his career.

Pete went through two years of the World war without getting killed, but that only helped make him all the more sure that he was bullet proof. The thing that convinced him of it in the first place happened before the war even started-back in the summer of 1912, when Pete was a kid, Pete was brought up over in Brooklyn, and as a kid he spent most of his time playing around the waterfront.

A regular dock rat, Pete was in those days-a youngster who loved to be in, or on, or anywhere near the water.

He and a couple of other lads used to go down to the docks together, and one of those boys had a brother-in-law who was captain of a lighterage barge tied up at the foot of Columbia street in the Red Hook section.

The Captain Was Drinking Whisky.

It was a day in August, and the three kids went down to the barge, at the captain's invitation, to spend the day aboard it. The captain and his wife had quarters aboard the boat, but the three youngsters no sooner arrived than the captain's wife left to pay a visit to a friend.

That left the three kids alone with the captain. He was a heavy drinker. Pete says, and this day was no exception. But he started in to show the kids a good time by taking them out in his rowboat to hunt crabs in

They did pretty well hunting crabs. One after another they scooped in with a net, until they had a peach basket full of them. They went back to the barge, cooked the crabs, and sat down to a meal of crabs, boiled

Only the captain didn't drink any tea. He had a bottle of whisky alongside of him and he took frequent nips out of that.

The captain's wife hadn't returned, and the bottle was almost empty. He asked the boys if they would go out and get him some beer, and two of them went, but Pete stayed behind. Pete says the Captain was acting normally, and he didn't notice anything strange about him. If he had, he might have expected what came later. But the captain, as a matter of fact, didn't look as if he had taken so much as a single drop of liquor, though he had been pouring it down all afternoon.

He Began Shooting at Pete.

After the other two boys had gone he told Pete his wife would be back shortly and he thought he'd start getting supper ready. He asked Pete if he'd go down the aft hatch where he stored his potatoes, and bring some back to him. Pete walked aft and started down the hatch.

"In the meantime," says Pete, "he must have gone stark mad. Most barge captains keep pistols aboard for protection against harbor thieves, and he had two loaded ones somewhere about the beat. I was down below, standing just to one side of the hatchway, when all of a sudden he appeared overhead and began blazing

I. was dark down there in the hold of the barge, and Pete was thankful for that. The captain couldn't see him and he was standing to one side, out of range of the fire. "At the sound of the first shot," says Pete, "I went stiff with fright. I never prayed so long or so hard in my life. I have faced machine gun fire and hand grenades in France, but nothing ever scared me as I was scared that day.

"The captain emptied one revolver down the hatch before he stopped rules committee from consideration firing. Then he slammed the hatch cover down on me and locked it so I couldn't get out while he went back, apparently to get his other gun. doses of sodium iodide dissolved I could hear him screeching and yelling up above—yelling that I was a in drinking water at given periods it became virtually river pirate and he was going to kill me if he had to come down the hatch

"Now I heard him open the hatch cover and descend two or three of 2,000 pupils, only 5 developed steps down the ladder. I began creeping slowly away from the hatch. thyroid enlargement. Of the same I moved along on a string piece barely wide enough to walk on. The number not treated, 500 showed barge had four feet of water in its hold for ballast, and if I slipped and enlargement. fell into that, the captain would surely kill me."

Trapped Down the Dark Hatch.

Pete was right alongside of the hatch stairway now. The captain's legs were within a few inches of his hands. In a sudden desperation he made a grab for those legs. He thought if he threw the captain into the water he'd be able to escape. But in the gloom of the hold, he missed his grab. He caught the cuff of the captain's trousers, and pulled with all his might, but he miscalculated his strength. He couldn't budge the captain. Listead, the captain brought his gun down across Pete's wrist, paralyzing his arm.

Pete let go his hold. In the darkness, he began creeping along the stringpiece toward the back of the dark hole he was trapped in. Then, again, came the sound of shots. Bullets splashed in the water alongside of him and thudded into the wooden side of the barge. Again the captain emptied his gun, and and then he went back on deck, closing and locking the hatch after him.

He was up in the cabin, reloading his pistols when Pete's two young friends came back with the beer they had been sent for. They got the guns away from him and ran out on the dock. Another bargeman came running to the rescue The police were called. They came and took the now thoroughly crazed captain away in a straitjacket.

"All the time," says Pete, "I was pounding on the hatch cover and calling for help. Altogether I was down there about an hour before they came and let me out, but in that hour I passed through a century of horror. Now, all fear of bullets has been erased from my mind. After that experience, I don't think I'll ever be killed by one. Copyright .- WNU Service

Charivaris Date Far Back

The origin of charivaris stretches back to the early Fourteenth century, so historians say. In those far distant days, a charivari was carried out in precisely the same way, except that it was meant to express disapproval rather than the approval that it carries today. Charivarists went masked in those days, and harassed people whose marriages didn't quite meet the laws of custom. Second marriages and marriages of people whose ages were far apart were the particular butts of charivarist.

Shows Birds Have Dialects

At an assembly of bird fanciers in London phonograph records were played by Ludwig Koch of the songs of birds common to Britain and the Continent. He had made the surprising discovery that the Continental birds, differing in no physical respect from the British, sing differently. No one at the gathering with an ear for music could fail to detect that the magical descending cadence of the English nightingale was never used by other nightingales. It was argued that birds, like human beings, have dialects peculiar to certain ar.as.

NEED FOR IODINE

How to Avoid Iodine Starvation

THE discovery of our vital need for iodine is one of the I most thrilling chapters in the long history of scientific iodine hunger, but special credit is due to Dr. David Marine and his co-workers; and to

Clinics at Rochester, Minn. Today we know that although it constitutes only about one part in three million parts of the body weight, iodine is so essential that its absence from the diet may have the gravest conse-

Thyroid—The Gland of Glands Iodine is necessary for the normal functioning of the thyroid gland, situated in the front part of the neck. The thyroid is so important that it is often regarded as the throttle which governs the human locomotive, and when it fails to function normally, the body machinery may be thrown out of balance. Thyroid disturbance during childhood may affect mental and physical development, and many children have been accused of thyroid deficiency. Thyroid disorder may be a complicating factor in obesity, and specialists have many stubborn skin diseases. It is also claimed that iodine starvation influences mental make-up and emotional tendencies.

Disfiguring Goiter

Simple goiter is a common disorder of the thyroid gland. At one time the very mention of this disease terrified girls and women, who feared the unsightly lump in the neck which disfigures the victim. Now, thanks to dramatic experiments, we know that simple goiter is an iodine deficiency dis-

Animal Experiments Point the Way

In 1916, it was estimated that a million young pigs died annually in Wisconsin. Investigation disclosed that their thyroid glands were abnormally large and abnormally low in iodine. When iodine was administered to the mothers, the young pigs were born normal.

Scientists reasoned that if goiter could be prevented in animals, it could be prevented in humans, and undertook the now famous census in Akron, Ohio. A study was made of the thyroid glands of all school girls from the fifth to the twelfth grades. Almost 50 per cent were found to have enlarged thyroid glands.

The girls were given small over 21/2 years. At the end of that time, investigators found that

It is also essential to provide sufficient iodine for growing children, as the incidence of the disease increases steadily up to the eighteenth year in girls; in boys it reaches its peak at twelve.

Some investigators also claim that one way to enhance the action of the glands after middle life, lieved that there was and so prolong youth, is to include tion between goiter and in the daily diet some foods with a water, and recent evide nigh iodine content.

Nature's Storehouse of Iodine It is the duty of every homemaker to learn where the necessary iodine can be obtained and to include iodine-rich foods in the laziness who are suffering from daily diet, but it is especially important for those living in "the goiter belt." SEEN around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field

Washington .- Perhaps the most important effect that the Progressive conference in Madison, Wis., will have on President Roosevelt's star is that it will start a lot of admirers of the La Follette brothers wondering if Roosevelt is really sound in his New Dealism and in his economics.

One indication of what may happen to Roosevelt, due to the La Follette defection, has already happened. Had it not been for the five La Follette Progressives in the house who so unexpectedly voted against the reorganization bill that measure would have become law. So that the Progressives have already prevented the President from having a good deal more powerpower which might have been extremely effective, from time to time, during the next two years.

But the disturbing phase of the La Follette movement to the New Deal lies in the fact that on so many counts the La Follettes agree, not with the extremists who want to go a lot further than Roosevelt, but with the conservatives who think some of his economic theories and practices unsound.

This is notably true so far as the doctrine of scarcity is concerned. For a long time, for example, Sen. William E. Borah has been almost a lone voice crying in the wilderness in attacking the idea of curtailing production when so many people are in need of more-more food, more shelter, more clothing, more everything.

"During the six years of the Roosevelt administration," said Gov. Philip F. La Follette, "we have transferred red ink from the books of private enterprise to the bookkeeping of our local, state and federal governments.

"We have tried to give the farmers high prices by restricting agricultural production. We have tried to give industry high prices by restricting the production of the factory and the shop. We have tried to give labor high wages by restricting the output of the worker.

Hits at Roosevelt "On top of all this, we have even kept millions of able-bodied men by relief and various forms of made work. A little simple arithmetic gives the answer: Less from agriculture, less from industry and business, and less from labor can only to eliminate the possibility of forcfor all." The sentences just quoted might reasonably have been expected in the monthly letter of the National City bank. They would have surprised no one in particular if they had been uttered by Alf M. Landon. Or printed in an editorial in the New York Times or the Baltimore | were too high, or if there were any

All of which is not taken to mean that the La Follettes may be found backing a regular Republican in the next election. Nor that they would support the kind of Democratic candidate who might be approved editorially in the pre-convention factories down before agreeing to campaign by the New York Times or the Baltimore Sun.

But they do hit Mr. Roosevelt in a very vulnerable spot, a spot made sore by much pounding from elements as far removed from the La Follettes as the Liberty league!

It makes it much more difficult for Roosevelt to assume his favorite strategic position-in the middle between two extremes-where he can say to both sides: "Look what those other fellows would do if it were not for me.'

"Baked Potato Story"

The "baked potato story" is still bothering Sen. Vic Donahey of Ohio. Since the Ohio senator was named chairman of the congressional committee which will investigate the Tennessee Valley Authority, the story has been brought up again.

Briefly, the story goes like this. Vic Donahey was state auditor of Ohio while James M. Cox was governor, and incidentally while Cox was a candidate for President on the Democratic ticket in 1920. Donahey attracted a lot of attention to his auditing. On one occasion he forced a state judge to itemize a bill for a dinner, and then disallowed a 35-cent charge for potatoes. "Not while the farmers of Ohio are getting only 65 cents a bushel," he told the newspaper men. Which was promptly printed all over Ohio.

The story was printed recently, by this writer, with an addition to which Senator Donahey takes exception. The addition incorrectly stated that later on, with no publicity, this item was allowed. "I want you to know," the senator writes. "that I did not pass the controversial voucher for payment, and it for legislation intended, through the was not approved until a succeeding | imposition of the power of the govauditor issued a voucher in payment of this account. I do not think you meant to be unfair, but I do believe you were misinformed, and this erroneous statement to the pub-Lic should be cerrected."

As a matter of fact, the true part of the story-that the 35-cent potato item was disallowed by Mr. Donahey-made a great hit at the time in Ohio. So did other actions of the auditor. He was elected governor in 1922-a Republican had been elected in the Harding landslide of 1920and then came up for re-election

Ohio Liked Donahey

It has often been stated that the voters of Ohio had come to regard Vie Donahey very much as they did Calvin Coolidge, being enthusiastic about Coolidge's New England thrift when applied to spending the people's money.

At any rate, Donahey was running on the Democratic ticket, and Coolidge was running on the Republican ticket, that November day in 1924, and the Ohio voters gave Donahey a majority of 176,842 and Coolidge a majority of 698,242 which means that Donahey ran no less than 875,084 ahead of his ticket!

Most New Yorkers, and most people outside of Ohio for that matter, will tell you that the most spectacular run any candidate ever made ahead of his ticket was made by Al Smith, running for governor of New York in 1920, when he ran slightly more than a million votes ahead of

But if the fact that there were slightly less than half as many voters in Ohio as there were in New York is taken into consideration, the Donahey run is obviously far more spectacular.

All of which is also interesting in that Donahev was appointed to this committee by Vice President Garner because he is an auditor. "So few senators are apt to understand the figures." Garner commented afterwards to a friend who inquired why such an independent senator, a man who had refused to make a seconding speech for Roosevelt at the Philadelphia convention, should have been appointed.

F. D. R. Likes This One

One of the two points made by the 16 big financial leaders in pledging co-operation between business and government really appeals strongly to President Roosevelt, if it can be arranged according to his own formula. The other is absolutely at variance with his philosophy, and has no chance of adoption.

The point he approves is, in effect, a short-circuit of the anti-trust laws. It would permit the interests engaged in a particular line of business to agree on production schedules, even prices, and other details calculated to prevent the humps and valleys of normal business curvesif-government experts, representing the people, sat in on the conferences and had the veto power on any important decisions.

Applying the principle, if Henry and women from productive tasks Ford would agree to sit down with General Motors, Chrysler, and the other motor makers, and agree on how many cars each would produce, what the prices would be, and equal less for all, instead of more | ing sales so hard this year that next year the result would be lay-offs of workers, the President would think that was getting somewhere. But he would want to have his own appointees refereeing the decisions. with the right to say "no," effectually, at any stage. As, for instance, if he thought the prices agreed on attempt to squeeze the small pro-

> This is a particularly good illustration of the theory because no one believes it is possible. Everyone who knows anything about Henry Ford thinks he would close his anything so violently in conflict with his whole concept of what is good for the automobile industry in particular, and the country in general. General Motors and Chrysler would like the theory very much, providing that part about the government expert having the veto power could be stricken out, or at least made

Please Other Lines

There are other lines of business which would welcome the idea. It is essentially what was proposed in the original recovery program, under NRA. Also, it is essentially what was in the understandings between the oil operators which so recently resulted in their being convicted in an anti-trust suit.

It is positively not the idea of Sen. William E. Borah, nor of Robert H. Jackson, nor of Thurman W. Arnold

The other obvious proposal of the 'Big Sixteen' is simply absurd, from the White House standpoint. The idea of President Roosevelt giving up his economic and social objectives is so fanciful that it is sincerely doubted by some friends of several individuals on the "Big Sixteen" whether they did not have their tongues in their cheeks when they signed the document.

The President had just reiterated his insistence that a bill providing for federal regulation of wages and hours must be passed before congress adjourns. He was in the midst of the preparation of his anti-trust message. He had on his desk the speech to be delivered by Trustbuster Arnold. But more than that, every friend he has knows that he has a whole truckful of new ideas ernment on business, to better the lot of the downtrodden.

But meanwhile he would like the approval of business for his spend-

Browns Household Supply Scientifically Air Conditioned

Brown's Household Supply is the first business house in Floydada to be completely scientifically air-conditioned. Installation of a Desert-Air Conditioner was completed last

As distributors of Desert Air- Conditioners, Brown's Household Supply intends to install a number of air conditioning units in Floyd County.

The Desert Air-Conditioner washes and filters every particle of air entering a room or building. Dust, pollen and insects are removed from the air, thus making it pure for breathing. Hay fever sufferers, especially, are said to be beenfitted by Desert Air-Conditioners.

Heretofore the excessive cost of officient air-conditioning units have prevented their common use.

Desert Air-Conditioners, however, are manufactured in several size units to be used in every type of ome or office building.

LUKE WARM POLITICS

It is about time the political situation started warming up. It should not be long until the candidates start warming it over with platforms and promises which can not possibly be fulfilled. Most of us expect too much of the candidates and they, in order to come up to our expectations, swear to accomplish a large assortment of good acts that are impossible.

The day of the 'view with alarm' and 'Point with pride' politicians has almost passed. Politics now days is carried on in a different manner. Silent politicians, who work unobtrusively to gain and hold votes, now predominate the scene.

FIRST AID WEEK

This week is National First Aid Week. Trends of thought will be turned toward prevention of accidents by such organizations as the National Safety Council. In case of accidents the treatment and care of the injured will be explained in pamphlets to be obtained from 'Cinchy', 'tight-wad' and numerous any one of several national organizations on safety and first aid.

In connection with National First Aid Week it would be well to take into consideration safety in driving. Last year's accident death toll from automobile accidents exceeded 35,000 in the United States. Let's remember to drive carefully and think safety.

Another plea comes from Miss Pennington, "Penny." adoring governess of the girl, saying she is unhappy and misunderstood. At a family dinner party, Sally Ann first hears of Keaton Dana's ultra-modern wife, Ardine, who runs a roadhouse called the Stewed Prune, and is trying to wangle a flight with Gunnar Thorwald, Norwegian ace, famous for his refusal to fy women through their was wald, Norwegian ace, famous for his refusal to fy women, through their mutual friend, Jim Allison. Gunnar Thorwald arrives with Jim Allison, and Sarah Lynn is attracted to him. Duncan invites her to the Stewed Prune. Sarah Lynn refuses to drink anything but ginger ale. Cousin Mary Dana Webster tells Sarah she suspects Ardine and her friends of framing on Gunnar, and Sarah Lynn, in an increasing stupor. Sarah Lynn, in an increasing stupor, decides to warn him. When Gunnar arrives, angry at Jim Allison for missing connections, he hears Sarah Lynn cry, "Go away! Don't come in! Lady-bug, fly away home," and sees her car-ried out to the ladies' room, unconscious. ried out to the ladies' room, unconscious, Gunnar arrives at the airport. Sarah Lynn, partly out of her stupor, imagines the sensations of flying, with Gunnar at the controls. Gunnar, flying to Los Angeles, senses someone standing behind him. When he realizes it is Sarah Lynn, he shouts, "Keep away from me, drunken fool," will listen to no explanation, and detours to Fresno. Thrown out at Fresno "like a sack of mail." Sarah Lynn is greeted by a group headed by a bride and groom, who recognize Gunnar. While the "bride" drives Sarah Lynn to the hotel to await her father, one of the party phones the story to the newspapers, identifying the two fliers, and the "bride" as Kitty Medill, wild

Cap-and-Gown Days

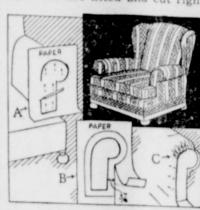

On commencement day graduating seniors will file past their college presidents to receive the "sheepskin" that marks a close to college days. It also marks "finis" to campus friendships, or the end of a schoolday romance. Other young men and women graduates will march direct to the altar, to start a new career under auspices of Professor Dan Cupid himself.

As the 1938 crop of college graduates faces its new life, America hopes the going may be smooth, and that each may find his niche in the world of business.

Impossible Conditions

What would happen if an irresistible force hit an immovable object? The only answer to this old question is that it presupposes impossible conditions, the two terms being mutually exclusive. You cannot conceive of a force that is irresistible being stopped by any object, nor can an immovable object be moved by any force. As the existence of the two conditions at the same time is impossible, it is also impossible to say what would happen if they did

Have You Entered This Cake Recipe Contest? IT'S EASY TO WIN A CASH PRIZE

Nothing to buy . . . No Letter to write

Have you submitted a recipe in the big Cake Recipe Contest now being conducted through this newspaper by C. Houston Goudiss, author of our "WHAT TO EAT AND WHY" series? If not, take time today to write out your favorite cake recipe, and send it to him, attaching the coupon below.

What Is Your Specialty?

There are no restrictions as to the type of recipe that may be submitted. A simple loaf cake has an equal chance with an elaborate layer cake, provided it's good! So send along the recipe for that cake which never fails to delight your family. Enter that special cake you reserve for parties and church suppers. Or the one your children say is the best cake in town.

No Letter to Write. You'll agree that this is one of the easiest contests you ever entered, because there is nothing to buy, no letter to write. And it won't take more than a few minutes to write out your recipe and fill in the coupon. Contest Closes May 31st.

You won't have long to wait either, to know the out-come of the contest. For all recipes must be postmarked not later than May 31, 1938, and prize winners will be announced as soon as possible thereafter. Prize winning recipes, together with those receiving honorable mention from the judges, will be printed in a booklet to be distributed nationally.

16 Cash Prizes.

The winning cakes will be selected by experienced home economists on the staff of the Experimental Kitchen Laboratory maintained by C. Houston Goudiss in New York City. The recipe adjudged the best will win $25 for the lucky homemaker who submits it; there will be five second prizes of $10 each and ten third prizes of $5 each.

Third Prizes

 Enter your recipe in this contest today. Mail recipe and coupon, properly filled out with your full name, ad-dress, town, state, and the trade name of the shortening, baking powder and flour used in your recipe, to C. powder and flour used in your recipe, to C. Goudiss, 6 East 39th Street, New York City.
