Floydada, Floyd County, Texas, Thursday, November 2, 1939

Number 49

November 15th Set As Floyd County Day; Land Use Planning and Herd Committees Cooperating

The Floyd County Dairy Herd Improvement Committee composed of D. F. Bredthauer, county agricultural agent, Miss Edith Lois Wilson, county home demonstration agent, Harry Morckel, Bill McNeil, D. S. Saiter, J. C. Henderson, E. L. Angus, and W. H. Nelson, in cooperation with the Floyd County Land Use Planning Committee has been holding meetings for the purpose of analyzing the present dairy situation in Floyd County. The objectives of this committee are to thoroughly study the dairy situation and to make recommendations to the Land Use Planning Committee in regard to the further development of this industry within the county. This industry has been sadly neglected and overlooked from many standpoints and the alarming factor is that the 1935 agricultural census showed 11,193 dairy cattle in milk production while the present land use survey shows only 6,720 head of dairy cattle in production in Floyd County. It is not the thought of the committee to expand dairy production until there is an over production in this industry in the county, but a part of the committee that a steady increase should be expected in the county as it is situated in a progressive dairy program.

As a step towards success in the program, the committee has set its record for a Floyd County Dairy Day. With the cooperation of the business men of Floydada the committee will roster a 4-H and F. F. A. show for boys who are enrolled under dairy calf projects. The show will last for one day and each boy is requested to have his calf on the grounds by 9:00 a. m. A committee composed of County Agricultural Agent, D. F. Bredthauer, and H. G. Barber, Floydada vocational agriculture teacher, will have charge of the show and select a suitable site for the exhibitions.

Prizes will be awarded as follows: $7.50 for first place; $5.00 for second place; $4.00 for third place, and $3.00 each to the remainder of the boys who have calves entered. It is hoped that some 20 to 30 calves will be on exhibition. The above prizes will be awarded on the basis of 100 points for dairy conformation, 100 points for showmanship and 100 points on each boy giving a three minute summary of his dairy calf project.

The Armour Creameries, E. L. Angus, manager, will donate sandwiches and refreshments for all boys during the noon hour.

Starting promptly at 1:00 there will be a general meeting of all 4-H and F. F. A. boys and dads together with all people interested in dairying. At this time the outstanding 4-H and F. F. A. boys will receive citations on their past year's performance.

A prominent dairy speaker will be invited to make a talk at this general meeting. Immediately after this meeting there will be an entertainment program for the boys. The show will be over at 4:00 at which time each boy will be allowed to remove his calf from exhibition.

Members of the finance committee are W. H. Nelson, E. L. Angus, and Harry Morckel.

Dallas Office of Marine Corps Need More Men

Again Marine Corps Headquarters at Washington, D. C., has allotted the Dallas Marine Corps Recruiting office an unlimited quota of new marines for the month of November from the State of Texas, thus confirming the fact that the yhave been well satisfied with the high type of young men from the Lone Star State, according to information received by the postmaster in Floydada today.

Vacancies now exist for "Leathernecks" aboard battleships, cruisers, aircraft carriers, and at home navy yards and in aviation. Obviously, when few vacancies exist in any profession, trade or craft, the requirements for induction into that profession or trade are much higher than when excessive vacancies exist, the postmaster stated. The above also applies with equal force to the military profession.

Entertain With Hallowe'en Party

Phyllis Jean and Geraldine Simon, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simon, Mississippi Street, entertained a group of their friends at a Hallowe'en party at their home Tuesday night.

The guests arrived at 6:30, arrayed in colorful hallowe'en costumes. At 7:30 they braved the spooky darkness and attended the Palaco Theatre to see the show Blondie Takes a Vacation. After the show they returned to the Simon home and were entertained with various games and spook hunting.

Hallowe'en color scheme was carried out in refreshments that were served to the following guests: Norma Jean Moore, Jo Ann Daily, Beth Hinson, Bonnie Nell Fuqua, Hazel Patton, Mary Helen Lewis, Maxine Griffith, Joy McIntosh, Joyce Williams, Ora Wilson, Venita McCleskey, Nelda Chapman, Vencil Redd, Lovine Jones, Joyce Stanley, Marjorie Oden and the hostesses Phyllis Jean and Geraldine Simon.

November 30, December 1, Dates Set for REA Users Demonstration Near Lubbock Experiment Station

Hundreds of ways of putting electricity to productive work on the farm will be demonstrated at the big REA farm equipment tour four miles east of the Lubbock Experiment Station at Canyon School Site Thursday and Friday, November 30 and December 1.

This traveling exhibit sets up its demonstration with a huge tent, electrical lunch stand, demonstration equipment, and trailer and stationary exhibits. It is brought here through the cooperation of the local project, the State Extension Service, the neighboring cooperatives in Lamb, Lubbock and Lynn Counties, and the Rural Electrification. The program will start Thursday evening at 7:30 with talks and demonstrations in the big tent. Demonstrations of feed grinders, milking machines, ensilage cutters, cream separators, cream coolers, water systems, household refrigerators, ranges and small home appliances, will be held the next day and evening.

J. R. Cobb and Miss Kathryn Harris, will share the program with State Extension Service representatives, who will present much educational material at these meetings on costs of electric power and its use in farm operations.

Until rural electric lines were constructed through the enterprise of the members of the Floyd County Rural Cooperative, work-saving electric dairy equipment and household refrigerators could not be utilized by local farm people. Now they may effectively modernize their homes and farms. REA is bringing whole truck loads of equipment to show just what can be done on the farm with low cost electric power.

More stringent regulations governing the distribution of fluid milk, and more strict requirements of dairy produce processors, compell improvement in the farm dairy. In any case, cleanliness in the dairy brings a bigger cream check. Small sterilizers such as will be shown in the demonstration provide a quick, easy way to sterilize utensils and at the same time supply hot water for washing up.

The old hand-turned cream separator is no longer a slave driver when electricity takes over the job. Also, you get more cream and a higher test, because the separator works better with a constant speed motor.

If you get less for sour cream than for sweet cream, a cream cooler will add money to your cream checks. Coolers varying in capacity from five gallons up to four cans will be demonstrated at the show. The small five gallon cooler can be used in conjunction with cream storage in a household refrigerator.

Electric milking machines, more than anything else, help to keep sons and daughters at home on the farm. The single or double units for milking take the cramp out of the hands at a power cost of about one cent per ten cows. Other dairy and household equipment will be demonstrated doing the job with REA power.

Miss Kathryn Harris, REA home economist, will show in her demonstrations how the household refrigerator has become a year-round necessity. The demonstrations will include points on the care and operation of the refrigerator, how to select a refrigerator, and its use directly in meal preparation. With the refrigerator it is possible to take advantage of bargains and stock up on food supplies at reduced prices.

An all-electric lunch stand, equipped with small household appliances such as coffee makers, hot plates, and electric roasters, will be set up under the direction of Miss Edith Wilson, home demonstration agent, so that hot meals will be available to the crowd from morning till night. During the two days' show, kitchen and bathroom planning, electric cookery, lighting, and home laundry problems will be extensively studied.

County Judge and Others Attend Meeting of Highway Commission In Dallas Early This Week at Baker Hotel

County Judge G. C. Tubbs with a Floyd County delegation left Sunday morning to attend a hearing of the Texas Highway Commission at Dallas. The y returned Monday night with the report that nothing definite was given them concerning future road improvement in this territory.

The hearing was held at the Baker Hotel in Dallas with about forty-nine delegates from various districts of Texas attending, and asking for road improvements.

The Floyd County delegation went in conjunction with Armstrong, Briscoe, Crosby, and Garza Counties in asking that the road be improved from Post to Rails and that the hard surfacing of the Silverton Highway be extended from eleven miles north of Floydada to Silverton, also that the state survey a possible route from Silverton to Claude in trying to provide a cut off from these counties to the north plains oil fields from which a large part of oil in this territory is hauled, and over which much traffic would be directed upon completion of such road.

In the last twelve months Floyd County dealers made 3,430 round trips to that field for oil and gas, it has been ascertained by road enthusiasts. That would mean a saving for that number of trips of approximately 340,000 miles besides relieving a lot of congestion in already highly congested areas such as Plainview and Amarillo.

Former Floydada Resident Died Friday

Adam Henry Johnson, son of A. E. Johnson, former resident of Floydada, died at his home in Vernon, Texas, Friday, October 27 at 11:30. Edell Dubois of the Fairview community, a cousin of Mr. Johnson, and W. P. Daily, a friend of the Johnson family, were notified of Mr. Johnson's serious illness and were at the bedside when death came. Mr. Johnson had been in ill health for some time suffering from a lung ailment and other complications.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Vernon. Mr. Johnson is survived by his wife and one child of his immediate family.

The A. E. Johnson family made their home in Floydada for a number of years, moving to Vernon in 1922, where they have made their home since. While here A. E. Johnson was associated in the lumber business and the family have many friends throughout the county.

Attend Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Berry and family of this city last Sunday attended the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers at Tulla. A big dinner was given at the community building with elk meat from a recent trip in the north being served to all. About 200 people were present for this dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers. A pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Lights of New York
By L. L. STEVENSON

The war in Europe may be more than 3,000 miles away. Yet it is close to New York. In the city's population are about 800,000 who were born in countries directly affected. Many dwell in communities which are little cities within the great city. Yorkville, for instance, New York has about 335,000 Germans and Austrians. Yorkville is the representative German community. There are German signs over doors. In windows are bicycles, furniture and many other articles made in Germany with German price tags, but with amounts in American dollars. German is the language heard on the streets. German music is played in beer gardens where waiters wear German costumes and dancers dance German dances. So Germany in New York in the Eighties east of Lexington avenue. Not all residents of Yorkville were born in Germany. But thoughts of even the American-born turn to the homeland of their parents. And many have relatives there. So war news is of primary interest.

A short distance down from Yorkville, in the Seventies between First and Second avenues, is Little Bohemia. It is separated from Yorkville by a strip almost solidly Hungarian. In bakeries, kolaches are displayed, with hoskas on Saturdays. There are Czech names on windows. Many of the wares displayed were made in Czechoslovakia before the flag of that country came down. Bohemian is the language talked. Pilsener is on draft in all the beer halls. The restaurants are really Czech clubs. Many dwellers in Little Bohemia are citizens. Many were born here. But there war news is of first interest. It is of all the greater interest because many residents believe that this struggle may bring the homeland back into existence.

The 200,000 English and French who live in New York, so far as I have been able to discover, are not settled in definite neighborhoods. There are little groups of course but not enough to be distinctive. Yet among them there is the greatest interest as to what is occurring across the Atlantic. In various restaurants, in clubs and elsewhere, the war is the general topic of conversation.

New York is the home of about 245,000 men, women and children who first saw the light of day in Poland. The biggest Polish settlement is down on the East Side, largely in the vicinity of Tenth street. There Polish music is to be heard and on occasions Polish costumes may be seen. The restaurants serve Polish food and even among those born here there is still intense feeling for Poland—and interest in what is happening 3,000 miles away.

There is Little Italy, of course, since New York is the home of about 150,000 of those who were born in that country. In Little Italy, pictures of Mussolini are displayed in shop windows. There are also pictures of Dante. As for Italian food, naturally that is served in Little Italy. But as a matter of fact it is served all over town and Little Italy is by no means the only Italian settlement in the city. But it is the most colorful—and the most suggestive of the land across the sea.

Of those who were born in Russia, New York has possibly 60,000—all figures are indefinite because the last census was in 1920. The heaviest Russian population is on the lower East Side. Then, too, there are many other nationalities and descendants of those who were born in the belligerent countries. Thus, as war 3,000 miles away is close to the city of the 1,000,000. But there is also this: I asked a Czech youth what he thought of the war. His reply came in Bohemian. "He's telling you," said a volunteer interpreter, "that what he thinks means nothing because now he is an American."

Trigger Speed Lives
CAMPTONVILLE, CALIF.—The days of the "quick-on-the-trigger" west have not ceased entirely. When Eddie Espinosa, Pike City stage driver, saw a hawk carrying a squirrel in its talons, he whipped out his six-shooter and shot the hawk dead.

Roll-Your-Own Boys
Must Pay $25 License
BOSTON.—Smokers who "roll their own" or use a machine for making cigarettes for home consumption must take out a $25 license under the new Massachusetts cigarette tax law, Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long said. Long said the man who "rolls his own" is evading the tax in the same manner as those who made home brew during prohibition. He said the law did not empower him to prevent sale of the machines, but added he would bring a test case in the courts on the use of them.

Arctic People Use Cathedral

Worship in Small Edifice Constructed by Native Labor at Aklavik.

AKLAVIK, NORTH WEST TERRITORY.—Far up beyond the Arctic circle, on the barren shores of the Arctic sea, stands the most northerly cathedral in the British empire, recently dedicated by the Most Reverend D. T. Owen, primate of all Canada.

Situated at the mouth of the vast Mackenzie river, waterway to the north, the little cathedral is in some ways reminiscent of the days when such towering piles as Cologne, Strasbourg and other famed cathedrals were built.

For Aklavik cathedral, perhaps no monumental edifice such as the cathedrals of the Old World, was in truth built with love by the hands of those who worship in it, Eskimos and Indians. With a white carpenter supervising, all work was done by the natives, who crowd into it each Sunday for the three services.

Furs Their Only Wealth.
At the dedication the natives brought with them the only wealth they know—furs. As they trooped into the cathedral, clad in tribal regalia, the head of each native family came forward and placed on a pile near the door a fresh muskrat skin as an offering.

The pile of skins, symbolic of the faith of the natives, was blessed by the Rt. Rev. A. L. Fleming, Anglican bishop of the Arctic. Two natives, Fred Lester, an Eskimo, and Jim Edwards, an Indian, also participated in the services. Both are studying for the ministry and are lay readers.

Services at the cathedral are held in three languages—English, the Tuktukh tongue of the Loucheux Indians and Eskimo. Each Sunday for miles around the flat, barren country surrounding the cathedral is heard the muffled tolling of the quarter-ton bell in the tower. A strange sound to be heard in the silent northland, it brings the Sabbath and the passing of time to a land that only a short time ago knew neither God nor the meaning of the word time.

To the Eskimos and the Indians it is something new. To the furred Royal Canadian Mounted police on duty in the post, to the white doctors, trappers, traders, and other emissaries of empire it brings a touch of home, perhaps a little French-Canadian village or a small town on the vast prairies. Or to some, perhaps, the sound of a similar church bell tolling in a little far-away English country village.

Native Children in Choir.
The cathedral choir is faithful in service, attending practices as well as the thrice repeated Sunday services. Composed entirely of native children, it is directed by a few white teachers.

Hanging inside is a large painting delivered at the dedication services by Miss Violet Teague of Melbourne, Australia. It depicts in terms of the savage northland the birth of the Christ-child and the presentation of gifts by the Three Wise Men. Bundled in furs, the Mother and Child are shown receiving the gifts of pelts from the wise men. The "Epiphany of the Snows." Two reindeer stand in the background, while a "Mountie" watches, holding a pair of Eskimo dogs in leash.

Kipling wrote 45 years ago that "There's never a law of God nor man north of 52." Aklavik cathedral has changed this. The scarlet clad mounted police have long since brought the law of the British empire to Aklavik. Now the law of God is there.

Foreign Paintings Kept In United States by War

NEW YORK.—Because of the international situation foreign museums which have loaned paintings to the Masterpieces of Art exhibition at the World's fair have asked exhibit directors to keep the paintings until further instructions are sent.

Cabled requests to that effect have been received from directors of the Louvre, the National Gallery of London and the Rijksmuseum of Amsterdam.

Paintures in the art exhibit from these three museums represent $2,000,000 worth of art.

Ferry T. Radburn, director of the exhibit, has informed other lenders that no shipments will be made either now or at the close of the fair, without specific directions.

"We have no objections to retaining custody of the foreign paintings as long as the owners may wish," he said.

Historical Tidbits Are Found in Records Survey

BOSTON.—Factual tidbits uncovered by research workers for the federal historical records survey of the WPA.

Galloping a horse on the streets of Boston 275 years ago was unlawful, punishable by a fine of three shillings, sources here. It was felt that "violent riding" would endanger the lives of children.

A license to practice medicine, issued by Ferdinand and Isabella to Diego Vazquez in Laca, Spain, in 1507, is one of the prized possessions in the private collection of Lee W. Friedman, Boston attorney.
