Collateral Assignments May be Made one Way

College Station, March 27 .- Collateral assignments of wheat crop insurance contracts may be made for any one of three purposes-and for no other.

Under the regulations, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation will recognize assignments made as security of a cash loan, for the amount of the current year's rental due under a leasing agreement, or as the current annual installment due under a purchase, mortgage or trust agreement with respect to the farm, the state Agricultural Conservation Association committee pointed out in its meeting in College Station.

Since these regulations are in force, the committee said, the corporation cannot recognize collateral assignments on insurance contracts to secure amounts owed on the purchase of or to cover advances of, materials or supplies.

"If the corporation were to recognize such assignments," the committee's statement read, "it might easily have the effect of limiting sources of credit to the insured for other needs that may arise in carrying on operations. Such limitation very probably would result since the corporation can recognize only one collateral assignment with respect to an insurance contract."

The committee added that most farmers try to obtain credit from one source to cover their entire year's farming operations and, generally, a commitment is obtained for the total amount with the credit agency advancing in successive installments money required.

In addition, recognition of collateral assignments as security on rental or on payments on farm purchases in_ stallment enables many farmers to remain on their farms who otherwise might be forced to leave, the committee said.

Watson Jones, of Stephensville, spent the Easter holidays visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Jones. Watson is a student in John Tarleton Agricultural College.
