NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A former mental patient who blurted out "murdered that guy in Texas" will be flown back to that state tomorrow.

Texas Ranger J. J. Klevenhagen and Sheriff A. S. Fletcher of Hempstead, Tex., will pick up 22-year-old Ronald Edward Menter Sr., of Newark, N.H., who waived extradition in the slaying of a 20-year-old Texas A&M student on a country road near Hempstead last weekend.

He said he shot Jan David Broderick, a student from the Panama Canal Zone, during a drunken brawl. The two had a falling out on a trip to Houston from El Paso, where they had struck up a conversation in a bar, Menter said.

Menter was picked up at a Newark junk dealer's shop after he had sold a car radio for $10. He was tripped up when a motor vehicle inspection officer asked for his driver's license.

Menter flashed Broderick's license but was unable to give the officer the correct birth date listed on the license.

Newark police said he was driving Broderick's blood-stained 1955 model green-and-white automobile, which had been the object of a widespread search in South Texas.

With him as he was arrested were two women he said he picked up in Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Shirley Stone, 22, of Key West, Fla., and Mrs. Elsie Smith, 24, of Narvon, Pa. The two women were held as material witnesses.

Menter, held on a charge of murder for Texas authorities, also is charged with possession of dangerous weapons.

In the automobile, police found a .25 caliber gun, a bag with 28 shells, a blood-crusted ring with "1955" engraved on it, and Broderick's blood-stained shoes and trousers.

Police said Menter had suffered a nervous breakdown while a student in a New Hampshire industrial school. He later married and had a child, but said he does not know where his wife and child are.

He signed a statement with police saying he and Broderick left El Paso for Houston, taking along a bottle of whisky. Late Friday they pulled off the main highway near Hempstead to sleep for the rest of the night.

An argument ensued over whether to go for beer and Menter quoted Broderick as saying, "I ought to shoot you." Menter said there were loaded guns in the car, but that Broderick made no move for any of them.

He said at that point he picked up a .38 caliber revolver and shot the A&M student in the head.

2 Youths Face Murder Charge In Knife Death

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two youths faced murder charges today in the knife slaying of a 19-year-old Western Maryland College honor student who planned to become a Methodist minister.

The two, Richard P. Westcott, 16, and Charles Orem, 17, a store clerk, were scheduled to be arraigned today.

Both affect the extreme style of dress and long hair worn by youths who call themselves "rapes."

The victim was Gaither Lee Fischbach Jr., a college freshman home for the holidays. He was attending Western Maryland on a scholarship.

The youth was stabbed to death early Sunday near his home. He had been attending a family New Year's Eve party at the home of Lemuel S. Eichner.

Eichner, who drove Fischbach home and let him off about 200 feet from his house, told police he saw three boys on the corner who appeared to go in different directions as the youth got out of the car.

The boy's mother Mrs. Rhea Fischbach heard her son calling after he stumbled inside the house. She found him bleeding from a deep chest wound. He died shortly afterward.

"A boy stabbed me," he told his mother before he lost consciousness.

"Why did they do it?" asked his father, who said he did not want his son's killer to hang.

"I don't believe in capital punishment," he said.

Hereford Breeders Ready For Auction

Area Hereford breeders today were setting the stage for the 12th annual auction of the Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association sale.

Annual meeting of the organization at the Settles Ballroom tonight will precede the big auction.

This year's show and sale is due to be a record-breaker for the organization. Forty-seven animals, 37 bulls and 10 cows, have been consigned. Catalogues have gone to points throughout the Southwest and as far into the Midwest as Minnesota.

Judging of the animals will start at 9 a. m. Wednesday in the Howard County Fair Association buildings on the rodeo grounds. The sale will start at 1 p. m., in the same location.

Bill Reed, Sterling City, will judge the entries. Auctioneer again will be Walter Britten of College Station.

Delbert Downing, Midland Chamber of Commerce manager, will be the speaker at the banquet this evening. Following his address, the association will conduct its business session.

Election of officers will highlight the business part of the program. J. H. Greene, local Chamber manager, is to serve as master of ceremonies. The banquet starts at 7 p. m.

Five trophies will be presented owners of the top bulls and females in the judging tomorrow. A "floating" award, presented by the Chamber of Commerce, will go for the grand champion bull.

In addition, the First National Bank will present a permanent trophy to the champion bull, while the State National will award a trophy to the reserve bull. Elmo Wasson is to give the champion female award, while the reserve cow will receive a trophy from Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach.

Budget, Message Work Completed

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—President Eisenhower today completed work on two major tasks — his State of the Union Message and his budget message reportedly calling for spending about $3 billion dollars in the year starting July.

The State of the Union document will be sent to Congress Thursday. And the President's vacation headquarters here announced today the budget message will go to the lawmakers Jan. 16.

Eisenhower completed the State of the Union Message at a brief session with staff members this morning, then met with Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes.

Afterwards Hughes reiterated to newsmen he still is hopeful the federal budget for both the current fiscal year, ending June 30, and for next year can be balanced.

The conference with Hughes presumably touched on a big question of this political year — whether the administration will be able to recommend a tax cut in the fiscal year starting July 1. A final decision on that, however, probably will be delayed several months.

Hughes was accompanied on his flight here by Eisenhower's economic adviser, Dr. Gabriel Hague.

The budget conference came as the second session of the Democratic-controlled 84th Congress was about to convene in the capital.

Both Hughes and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey have said they hope taxes can be reduced.

But they have declared too that a decision must await determination whether the budget for the new fiscal year can be balanced.

After a conference with Eisenhower in November, Hughes reported that the new budget was shaping up "in the same general area" as the expected spending figure for the current year ending June 30 — around $3 billion dollars.

Mixing business with relaxation yesterday, Eisenhower spent 2 1/2 hours working on his budget message, which will go to Congress about the middle of this month. His State of the Union message — outlining his 1956 legislative program in general terms — will be read to the Senate and House Thursday by clerks.

Yesterday President Eisenhower practiced golf shots and during the afternoon listened to the radio broadcast of the Orange Bowl game at Miami, in which Oklahoma beat Maryland, 20-6.

Pickets In San Angelo

Striking members of CWA-CIO picketed the telephone plant in San Angelo in a five-state strike against the General Telephone Company. About 2,300 workers went on strike after the contract expired and negotiations were stalled by two major issues and a dozen minor ones.

Settlement Nears In Telephone Strike

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Both union and company representatives expressed optimism over reaching an agreement in the strike against the General Telephone Co. of the Southwest.

Negotiations were suspended yesterday as both sides worked on various phases of the dispute. There were no formal sessions but it was reported that company and union officials conferred frequently by telephone.

"It looks pretty good," F. W. Hamper, industrial relations director for the company, said.

"I definitely think some progress is being made," R. W. Staley of Dallas, international representative of the Communications Workers of America, said.

At midnight Saturday employees walked off their jobs in Texas and four other states with the expiration of the contract.

The strike director, Jack Limmroth, said the strike was 95 per cent effective, although there were some isolated spots in all five states where union members stayed on the job.

The union claims 2,300 members. The company said that it made payroll deductions for union dues for only 1,700.

The company said it was maintaining service at all points. Company supervisory personnel were flown from San Angelo to points where they were needed to man exchanges in Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

An "area wage differential" which the union wants eliminated has been the basic point of disagreement. The hourly wages for switchboard operators ranged from 77 cents an hour in small towns to $1.39 in San Angelo and Texas.

Basic wage increase, full pay for the job injuries, company-paid health insurance, and a modified no-strike clause are other issues.

Pickets At Lamesa Still Walking Posts

LAMESA—Employees of the General Telephone Company of the Southwest were still picketing the local exchange of the company today while contract negotiations continued.

Robert Saunders, local manager, said he had no direct word from headquarters in San Angelo but that he understood that prospects for a speedy settlement of the strike were encouraging.

Winnie Reed, in charge of the local union group, was out of town and Lora Brown, second in charge, would not be reached for a statement on union procedures. The employees went out on strike at 12:01 a. m. Sunday.

Slaying Suspect Is Still Sought

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Police are on the lookout for a man dressed like a truck driver who they believe was the last person to see a woman hitchhiker from Silsbee, Tex., alive.

The murder victim is Mrs. Mildred Holden, who was seen in a highway cafe with a man wearing a truck driver's uniform the night before her body was found. She was shot to death and her body left in a ditch near Gurdon, Ark., last week.

Two women who said they saw Mrs. Holden in the cafe described the missing man as about 6-1, weighing 150 to 175 pounds, and between 30 and 40 years old.

Mrs. Holden was recently released from a state mental hospital. Police said she was prevented from jumping off a bridge a few months ago.

Texas Strangling Victim Identified As Minnesota Man

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The body of a man found strangled near a rock quarry was identified by the FBI today as Joseph Stanislaus Kustelski, 42, a native of Minnesota.

In a telegram to Sheriff Tom Guley, the FBI in Washington said the fingerprints of the dead man matched those of Kustelski who was born Jan. 25, 1913, at Winona, Minn. The FBI said Kustelski was fingerprinted by the Army in 1942.

The identity of the victim, whose clothing had been stripped of labels, had remained a mystery since the body was discovered Wednesday southwest of Little Rock. The coroner said the man had been strangled, and Guley said he thought the man had been murdered. A belt was found around the dead man's neck.

Kustelski was the second of three persons found murdered in Arkansas during a 3-day period. The crimes all remain unsolved.

Guley said $16.27 was found on the man and that he wore a wrist watch, indicating robbery was not a motive for his death.

Lava Flows Down Volcano's Side

STROMBOLI, Italy (AP)—Fiery lava flowed down the sides of barren Stromboli volcano today and plunged into the Mediterranean where it hissed and exploded.

Observers said the eruption was not dangerous for the fishing people of the island, who have been long accustomed to Stromboli's activity. Nonetheless, the people of the main hamlets were ready, should it worsen, to put out to sea in fishing boats.

Stromboli erupted once last year and three times in 1954, without causing serious damage.

Congress Meets In Second Session

Farm, Tax, Aid Issues Due Airing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 84th Congress today convened its second session which will draw the issues—and perhaps make or break hopes of potential candidates—in the 1956 presidential election year.

The lawmakers gathered in an atmosphere of post-holiday joviality, but they were already jockeying over such vote-important questions as a farm program—tabbed No. 1 by both parties—tax reduction, foreign aid and highway building.

And the Democrats, in control of the congressional machinery, were talking anew about investigations, commonly an enthusiastic pastime of election years.

House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass.) said he thought his party should center its investigations on "control of government by big business."

"This administration is dominated by big business," McCormack told reporters, "and I think the public should know the extent to which big business has taken over."

Traditionally, the Congress conducts no legislative business until it receives the President's annual State of the Union message.

President Eisenhower, recuperating at Key West, Fla., from his Sept. 24 heart attack, will send the message to the Capitol on Thursday. It will be read by clerks.

Eisenhower will return to Washington next weekend. At present, he has scheduled no personal appearances before the legislators.

Vice President Nixon rapped his gavel and put the Senate in session promptly at noon.

All senators were in Washington for the start of the session except for Sens. Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Smathers (D-Fla.), Kefauver, bidding for the Democratic presidential nomination, was in Jacksonville, Fla., where he announced he would enter that state's preferential primary.

Across the Capitol, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) simultaneously introduced the House to order.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) announced jointly as the Senate session opened that it would be brief and purely routine.

They said the Senate would recess until Thursday to receive the President's State of the Union Message. No legislative business is scheduled until next week.

Once again, the session will put to a test the question of how well a Republican administration and a Democratic-controlled Congress can work together.

The Democrats outnumber the Republicans 49-47 in the Senate and 236-203 in the House. Two House seats are vacant. They were held by Democrats.

The Republicans, behind the banner of President Eisenhower, swept into power in the 1952 elections, but two years later they lost control of Congress to the Democrats.

The present session both parties will be trying to win a record that will win votes in November. All House members and one third of the senators will be up for election. Control of the White House is also at stake.

The biggest unanswered question of the moment is whether Eisenhower, stricken by a heart attack last Sept. 24, will run for a second term. He has given no hint and is not expected to do so before mid-February.

Eisenhower, getting some sun and exercise in Key West, Fla., will outline the administration program in his annual State of the Union message Thursday. He will send it to Congress to be read by clerks.

A series of messages on specific subjects will follow later, as will the annual budget and a report on the nation's economy.

At conferences with congressional leaders in mid-December, Eisenhower urged legislation to step up construction of highways, to help overcome a shortage of 200,000 school classrooms, and to improve the social security system.

The White House announced also that an agreement was reached to give "top priority" to legislation to aid farmers, beset by declining prices and rising costs. Just a couple of days ago, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called the drop in farm income "the No. 1 trouble spot in the country."

Also discussed at the White House conferences were measures to revise the immigration laws, encourage development of water resources, give a boost to housing construction and increase postal rates, as well as legislation in the field of labor, civil rights and statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

In broad outline, the administration's legislative goals generally parallel those advanced by Democratic leaders, but so far they are

Dethroned

The reign of Miss France, 18-year-old Marjorie Fabre, was ended today when she was chosen for the title by judges of the beauty contest at Nice, despite outraged howls of the audience. She was dethroned 45 minutes after her selection, but no reason was given for the audience's refusal to accept her as queen.

Among factors working against an early tax cut are administration plans to increase defense spending by a billion dollars to about 35 1/2 billion, step up foreign aid outlays by about 200 million, and the prospect that Congress will vote more money for farmers, schools, highways and various health programs.

DISRUPTION

France Votes Self Into Political Crisis

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—France voted herself into a political crisis today when she rejected the moderate voices in the Assembly will go on doing what they have before — that is to form cabinets which are able to compromise on one subject at a time. In the past they have managed that way to get some decisions taken, but almost always too late, and almost always too inconclusively.

The fact still remains that even the Mende-France group and the Socialist don't have a prospect of forming a government unless they can persuade France and Pinay or the left-center Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP) to soften their opposition. In terms of policy, the logical tieup would link the MRP with the Socialists and Mende-France, but various bitter personal feuds may prevent it in the near future, if not for good.

If such a compromise doesn't happen, American eyes from across the Atlantic might be treated to the shaking sight of a popular front government in which the Communist party would constitute a majority.

California Flood Toll Stands At 59

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The finding of two more bodies yesterday raised California's flood death toll to 59. And the Red Cross reported that food and medicine are being parachuted daily to six families still isolated 12 days after all bridges in their area were swept away.

Texas Traffic Toll Passes 100 Mark

By The Associated Press

The Texas traffic toll for the Christmas-New Year's holidays passed the 100 mark Tuesday but remained below the forecast of 112 traffic deaths for the 11-day period. Last year a total of 108 died in traffic mishaps.

The total violent deaths, including traffic fatalities and deaths from other forms of violence, also was slightly lower than the prediction made by the State Department of Public Safety.

The latest reported deaths raised the traffic toll to 103 with 84 dead from other causes, making a total of 187. The DPS had predicted a total of 204 violent deaths.

Judge Dismisses Charges Against Five Hunters

JASPER, Tex. (AP)—An "order of dismissal" on assault to murder charges against five Southeast Texas hunters was signed today by Dist. Judge E. A. Lindsey.

This apparently closed the books on a sensational shooting case on Christmas Day, 1954, in which a Beaumont hunter was killed, and another hunter and two rancher-brothers wounded.

Killed was Roy Muench, 51, of Beaumont. The five surviving hunters were found innocent by a District Court jury last July 11th.

Officers said the incident, in which about 40 shots were exchanged, grew out of the killing of a hunting dog on the property of ranchers Sterling Garlington and Daitlin Garlington near here.

Travis Ellis, of the Jasper area, was wounded in the face. Other hunters charged and then cleared in the shooting were Charlie Ellis, Gerald Sanford and Richard Morris, all of this area, and Clarence Williamson of Beaumont.

The Garlington brothers were seriously wounded.

Judge Lindsey ordered the case dismissed on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Police Meet Opposition In Eviction Fight

ILFORD, England (AP)—Jeering householders turned hose on police and bailiffs today, bombarded them with flour bombs and doused them with buckets of hot water in a furious battle to halt the eviction of three families from their homes. Windows and doors were shattered as the bailiffs' men brought out crowsbars as improvised battering rams to force their way into the barricaded state-owned homes.

Crowds packing the streets outside taunted the bailiffs by singing "Land of Hope and Glory" and cheered when the defenders scored direct hits with flour bombs.

The three families, totaling 17 persons, were ordered out of their homes for refusing to pay increased rents. They were among 250 householders in this East London district who balked at paying more.

After three short engagements, the defenders were escorted into the streets and their furniture loaded into vans and taken off to storage.

The evicted families were members of the Confederation of Ilford Council Tenants. The houses are supported partly by government grants, paying "subsidized economic" rents. Under revised rent structure, some rents were hiked by 12 shillings and sixpence — $1.75 a week.

Houston Medics Stranded By Fog

HOUSTON (AP)—Two Houston physicians were rescued today after fog forced them to spend the night on Lake Houston.

State and county officers, fishermen and the Baytown emergency corps had begun an early morning search for the party, the sheriff's office reported the outbound motor on a boat occupied by Dr. H. T. Pennell and Dr. H. S. Veeters sheared a pin, forcing the doctors to wait out the fog.

Steady Stream Of Arms Enters Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A high French military source said today a steady stream of arms is reaching rebel forces in Algeria from across the Libyan border.

Teen-Age Gang Fight Is Fatal

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Tony Tello, 17-year-old grocery clerk, was fatally stabbed last night in a teen-agers' gang fight that started because he refused another youth's request for a cigarette.

The gang battle occurred outside a tavern. Detectives Steve Salas and John Patino said Tello and four or five companions were drinking and playing pool at the tavern. A member of another group of teen-agers asked Tello for a cigarette but the request was refused.

The officers said the refusal led to an argument which erupted into the fight outside the tavern. Some eight or 10 youths were involved, using rocks, knives and pool cues as weapons in the melee that eventually spread over approximately a square block.

Members of the second group fled after wounding Tello and beating Julian Quesada, 16. Although severely beaten, Quesada managed to get Tello into a car and drove him to the hospital where he died.

State To Keep Mild Weather

Mild weather that came to Texas with the New Year was expected to remain for the next several days.

The Weather Bureau forecast very little change in temperatures for the remainder of the week.

Some fog and drizzle was reported along the coast Tuesday morning. Visibility dropped to 1-16 of a mile at Beaumont and Lufkin. Other points reporting fog were Brownsville, Palacios, Victoria, Houston and Corpus Christi.

Freezing temperatures prevailed in the Panhandle early Tuesday. Dalhart had 21 degrees and Amarillo 25.

Other low temperatures included Wichita Falls 34, Texarkana 39, Dallas 40, Lufkin and Austin 46, Laredo 45, Houston 57, Brownsville 59 and Corpus Christi 63.

Rebel forces captured a 13-man French garrison and killed six only 20 miles outside Algiers before dawn yesterday. The remaining seven men were still reported missing.

The daring attack came several hours after a French armored patrol killed 16 rebels in an assault near Meskian, about 50 miles from the Tunisian border.

Moody Heads S.A. College

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Dr. Wayland P. Moody yesterday was elevated from dean of San Antonio College to president, succeeding J. O. Loftin, who along with his wife, was killed in an auto accident near Kerrville Saturday.

Moody had been dean and administration assistant to Dr. Loftin for nine years. Trustees set his salary at $12,000 a year, an increase from $9,700.

Funeral services for Dr. Loftin, 68, and Mrs. Mattilda Loftin, 53, were held yesterday afternoon at First Baptist Church.

Moody, born in 1902 in Limestone County, obtained a bachelor of arts degree in social sciences from the University of Texas in June, 1923, and began teaching. He was married to Miss Lillian Pierce of Cooper in 1925.

He taught at Westminster College at Tehuacana five years, was principal at Ferris High School from 1928 to 1930 and dean at Westminster from 1930 to 1935. He received his master of arts degree in educational administration from Southern Methodist University in 1930.

From 1935 to 1940, Moody was dean and business manager of Lon Morris College at Jacksonville, Texas. He studied for his doctor's two years at the University of Texas and then was commissioned a lieutenant in the Army Air Force and assigned to the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center. He was discharged as a major in 1945.

Dawson Water Well Drilling On Increase

LAMESA — After an early winter's lull, the drilling of irrigation wells in Dawson County is again picking up. With more than 400 wells already in production, another 100 is expected by plating time next May.

Several really big wells have been brought in lately, according to Bob Palmer, an official of a local irrigation company. A 1,200-gallon well was recently drilled on the Dupree farm near Welch, and another one almost as large was brought in a few miles west of Lamesa.

"There is no one section of the county where you can pinpoint the drilling activity," Palmer said. "Wherever there is underground water, farmers are thinking about drilling wells."

Most of the drilling, however, is in communities where good underground water has already been found. Practically all the wells in the central or western part of the county are using sprinkler systems. Except for a few areas east of Lamesa, the soils range from moderate to deep sandy loam. Such land takes up water too readily for irrigation down the row.

Also, the loose, sandy soil makes poor ditch material, and requires constant labor to keep the ditches from breaking or filling up with sand. Many farmers who irrigated down the row a few years ago are now using steel or concrete pipe and sprinkler systems.

Palmer said a few little wells had been drilled, but the smallest he had seen was pumping 350 gallons per minute. The new ones range from this figure up to 1,000 and more.

Most of the water will be applied to cotton land, though small fields of grain sorghums and other crops may be irrigated. This last year farmers made a very small profit on maize and hegar, and not many will waste water on feed crops. Instead they plan to concentrate more water and fertilizer on cotton land, in hopes of raising yields enough to offset acreage losses from 1956 allotments.

Former Premier Votes

Pierre Mendès-France, former French Premier, casts his vote at a polling place in Louviers, near Paris, in the French national election. Voters turned out in large numbers to cast ballots for France's third Assembly since World War II.

RIVALRY WIN

Shaky Government Is French Outlook

PARIS (AP)—France today looked forward to more years of shaky coalition governments as the rival moderate factions of Premier Edgar Faure and ex-Premier Pierre Mendès-France split the majority of returns from the National Assembly elections.

The Communists and Pierre Poujade's tax rebels piled up unexpected gains. The Reds actually were running slightly behind their 1951 popular vote, but the moderate split—breaking up anti-Red alliances successful in 1951—gave the Communists more seats.

With returns in for 500 of the 544 seats filled in European France, these were the major Assembly standings from the voting yesterday:

Faure's right-center coalition—170 seats, less than expected due partly to inroads of the Poujadists.

Mendès-France's leftist "Republican Front"—140, including 81 for the Socialists.

Communists—135, already 36 more than the 99 they held in the last Assembly.

Poujadists—46, a lot more than the 4 to 8 observers had conceded them before the voting. They had jumped to prominence only last year with their leader's campaign against paying taxes.

An estimated 25 million voters turned out, a record for France.

Faure at once called for a reunion of his forces with those of Mendès-France to rebuild the moderate coalition which has governed France since 1947. But there was no immediate echo from Mendès-France, a close associate of Faure until they split last year.

"The first results of the vote," Mendès-France said in a statement, "confirm the discredit into which the outgoing majority has fallen."

With no faction anywhere near a majority of the Assembly membership, three possibilities of a coalition seemed likely:

1. Faure or one of his friends—perhaps Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay—might lure enough Mendès-

France supporters to make up a Cabinet team.

2. Mendès-France might work the same maneuver on the Faure-Pinay forces.

3. Mendès-France might yield to Communist pressure and take them into a "popular front" Cabinet. He has said he would not seek Red support, but some of his friends thought this might become inevitable.

Underlining the situation is another way out would be for the Assembly to pass a new election law more likely to produce a clear majority and hold new elections in the near future.

Much appeared to depend on events in North Africa, one of the main issues in the short but hard-fought campaign. If the revolt in Algeria gets worse, the deputies might call on Mendès-France, as they did to end the Indochinese war.

Underlining the situation facing the new Assembly, Nationalist rebels captured a 13-man garrison within 20 miles of Algiers itself yesterday and killed six of the troops. A few hours earlier a French armored patrol killed 16 rebels about 50 miles from the Tunisian border.

During the campaign Mendès-France promised to hold free Algerian elections in six months to get things going better there. But he got no clear mandate from the voters to try.

The new Assembly will total 596 members temporarily, including 50 chosen yesterday in overseas areas and two being picked later this month in the South Pacific islands. Elections for Algeria's 30 members were postponed indefinitely because of the terrorism there, and the seat for the former French holdings in India has not been re-assigned.

The new Assembly will have most of the old faces, though some will be missing.

Faure, Pinay, Mendès-France, former Premier Paul Reynaud, Edouard Daladier, Georges Bidault, Robert Schuman and the top Communist leaders all were elected easily.

Former Socialist Paul Ramadier returns to the Assembly after nearly five years' absence.

Among the casualties were Pierre Billotte, defense minister in the Faure government, and Dismède Castroux, a member of Mendès-France's Cabinet.

The Poujadist faction of small businessmen, making its first race on a "throw the rascals out" slogan, elected such new faces as two cafe proprietors, an upholsterer, a butcher and a traveling salesman.

Poujade, a 35-year-old bookstore owner, was not a candidate himself. He stumped the country on behalf of candidates who espoused his call for tax relief for small merchants.

Blasted Box

Mrs. J. P. Hestand, Route 1, Colorado City, examines her wrecked mailbox, damaged by vandals Saturday night. Firecrackers were tossed into mailboxes, said S. A. Palmer, postmaster, and several of the boxes were completely ruined and blown from the box stands. The string of damaged boxes ranged from a mile to four miles northeast of Colorado City. Sheriff Dick Gregory said Monday night that he was working on the case and that the postoffice inspection service at Abilene had been notified and will join him in the investigation. Gregory said he understood that boxes in other parts of the county had suffered damage.

WESTINGHOUSE

1 Man Dead, 7 Hurt In Violent Flareup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—At least seven persons were hurt and one man died, possibly of a heart attack, in a flareup of violence this morning at the struck Westinghouse plant here. Police and sheriff's deputies estimated they arrested 70 persons taking part in a mass demonstration at the plant's five gates on the city's far west side. Automobiles were overturned at each of the gates. Deputies said the trouble started as they sought to break up the mass picketing at the gates. Officers said striking members of Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers, threw stones and damaged squad cars. Windshields of a number of other cars also were reported broken. Among those in the county jail are union members from Cincinnati, Mansfield and other Ohio cities, officers said. Police quoted some of those arrested as saying they came here for business meetings. Jailers said "billy clubs" and stones were found on some of those arrested. The man who died was identified as Troy Tadlock, 34, of nearby Grove City. He was picked up unconscious at Gate No. 1 of the plant. He was dead on arrival at Mt. Carmel Hospital, and authorities said they had been informed the man may have died of a heart attack. By 9 a. m., authorities said things had quieted down at the plant and that no more serious trouble was expected. An estimated 100 city police and sheriff's deputies were at the plant at the start of the demonstration.

Officials of striking Local 746, had given authorities advance notice of the mass meeting, called, they said, to protest the company's "back-to-work" movement which had been under way several weeks. Charles Clark, president of the local, had said last night the union had voted the demonstration to protest the back-to-work movement. He said he had informed Sheriff Ralph J. Paul, and Police Chief George W. Scholer, and Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner. "Our notification of these authorities carries out the pledge we made to them in conferences two weeks ago, when we were hopeful that Westinghouse would bow to public sentiment, and end their concerted attempts to provoke a back-to-work movement," Clark said.

Mother Seeks 3 Children Who Escaped Slaying

DALLAS (AP)—Custody of three children of the Dallas man who murdered his wife and three other children before killing himself here on Dec. 13 was asked yesterday by a former wife of the killer. The woman, now the wife of a 33-year-old Fort Worth truck driver, is Mrs. Frank Tension. She said she wants the children "so we can take up our lives again." She said the three children, who escaped the Dallas massacre, were born to her during her nine-year marriage to Buford Calhoun. Calhoun turned his gun on himself after he was trapped in a drug-store telephone booth by police. A few hours earlier he killed his estranged wife and three children after she refused his pleas to return to him. Mrs. Tension said she let Calhoun have custody of the children shortly after her divorce from him in 1952 because she felt she could not support them. The children now are being kept in a Dallas children's home as county charges. They are Buford Ray, 9; Margaret Ann, 7; and Linda Kay, 5.

Disalle Enters Ohio Primary

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Democrat Michael V. Disalle former federal price stabilization director, today entered the race for Ohio governor with a platform pledging continuation of Gov. Frank J. Lausche's policies. The Toledo attorney is the second Democrat to announce for the gubernatorial post. Disalle said he would not seek a sixth term. Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher, also has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in primaries next May. Lausche, serving an unprecedented fifth term, has announced he will run for U. S. senator.

Must Have Been A Hard Tackle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An earthquake, strong enough to do a little damage, shook the Los Angeles area yesterday about the time the Rose Bowl game, in nearby Pasadena, was nearing an end. People in an area extending about 50 miles to the east and south reported feeling the tremor. Sheriff's officers in Riverside and Santa Ana said plaster was cracked in some houses. A plate glass window was broken in a Pasadena supermarket. Dr. Charles Richter, seismologist at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, rated the magnitude at 4.5 on a scale which rates the strongest recorded at 8.6. He said the shock was centered about 40 miles away in an undetermined direction. The San Bernardino sheriff's office said the jail on the top floor of the four-story county courthouse building "shook like the devil."

Eden Cabinet Sets Mid-East Discussion

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden called his Cabinet today to discuss the growing crisis in the Middle East and to consider Laborite demands for parliamentary debate on the government's policy of selling arms to Arabs and Israelis. Eden assembled his ministers after meeting Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell and turning down a Socialist request that he invite the Kremlin to help maintain peace in the explosive Middle East. The Cabinet meeting preceded an emergency conference tomorrow between Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and British ambassadors to eight Middle East countries who were suddenly ordered back to London. Accompanying the flurry of diplomatic activity was a warning by Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion that Israel must be ready for imminent war with her Arab neighbors. Ben-Gurion told his Parliament, however, that was not "unavoidable." Britain's press kept up a barrage of criticism against the Eden government over revelations that old British tanks and other surplus World War II goods had trickled through Belgium to the Middle East. The government issued a statement pledging anew to do all in its power to prevent a Middle East arms race. At the same time, it partially lifted its recent embargo on war surplus goods. It said such goods could be shipped abroad if governments of the countries concerned could guarantee the material would not be reconditioned and resold for military purposes. In response to Gaitskell's request for a "new approach" to Russia on Middle East issues, Eden said he already had made futile overtures to the Russians, who are busy wooing the Arab world and channeling arms to Egypt. The Soviet answer, he said, "was not in the Geneva spirit." He said he doubted a new approach could gain anything "unless there was a change in the Russian attitude." He said he undoubtedly would discuss the Middle East situation when he meets President Eisenhower in Washington later this month.

Ackerly Agriculture Boys Give Tree Pruning Service

ACKERLY, (SC)—The trees around Ackerly are starting the new year off with a sleek, well-trimmed look. Residents who want their trees pruned have been getting an expert job from the high school agriculture boys, and it's all a free service. Professor A. H. Smith's FFA classes have been spending their spare time the last few days pruning trees at the churches and homes. "It is one of our class projects," Smith said, "and teaches the boys a few things about trees that might be useful some day." In addition to the tree-pruning, the FFA members have been busy with their livestock projects. This is also a type of experience that may be worth something after the boys leave school. It is designed more for this purpose than for winning prizes at livestock shows. In fact, Smith says the only shows they enter are the ones at La Mesa and Lubbock. The livestock projects this year are predominantly pigs. The boys have 65 pigs on feed now, as compared to four or five steers and two lambs. Since there are several hog breeders in the area, the projects are in keeping with the type of livestock grown in the community. Several breeds of swine are being fed by members, but Poland-Chinas, Durocs, Hampshires and crossbreeds are the main ones. The president of the local FFA chapter is Don Shortes, a senior in high school.

Hotel's Casino Still Padlocked

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A skeleton crew kept doors padlocked on the gambling casino and show room of the lavish Royal Nevada Hotel today. Only guest rooms remained open. Officials said there was sufficient food and liquor on hand for the registered guests but none for those persons who might drop in casually. The casino was stopped Saturday night. A hotel spokesman said the step was taken after employees, fearing the hotel was closing, started helping themselves to cash and chips. "Future of the 250-room hotel, which has been beset with financial difficulties, remained in doubt. Bill Miller, general manager whose resignation was supposed to have been effective Dec. 28, was reported still occupying his office.

Tubman Takes Over Again In Liberia

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP)—William Tubman was installed for his third term as president of Liberia yesterday. William Tolbert took office as vice president. Thirty-six nations sent special representatives to the ceremonies. A five-man delegation from the United States arrived on a U. S. Air Force plane. In his inaugural address President Tubman said Liberia will start negotiations soon for ships to form the nucleus of a Liberian navy to guard its 350-mile coastline. He said national revenues must be increased by 20 per cent and he will set up a council to step up production of rice, cocoa, palm oil and forest resources by 100 per cent in the next four years.

Officials Lay Plans For Texas Insurance Probe

AUSTIN (AP)—State officials met today to plan an immediate, thorough inquiry into charges that four insurance department employees joined a huge conspiracy to "defraud the public." The Insurance Commission and members of the staff of the attorney general met behind closed doors to map procedure for the probe. Commission member J. Byron Saunders said a news conference would be held this afternoon to report progress. A civil recovery suit for $6,640,000 filed in District Court here last week named Chief Examiner Larry W. Blanchard, asst. chief examiner Robert Butler and examiners William J. Noad and Lee J. Pfefferkorn as having had a part in an alleged conspiracy to defraud the public in connection with the affairs of the defunct General American Casualty Co. of San Antonio. The commission suspended the four employees and announced it would hold its own inquiry this week. Blanchard and Butler have maintained they are innocent of any wrongdoing, and have said they welcomed an investigation. Saunders said the commission owed it to the public, its employees and their families to clear the matter up immediately. The attorney general was called in to aid in the inquiry. The commission's own study is the first of three scheduled this month into Texas' resurging insurance troubles. The Senate's general investigating committee meets here Jan. 11 to continue an inquiry interrupted by the Christmas holidays.

Lowering Farm Income Noted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The farmer's decreasing share of the housewife's food dollar was spotlighted last night by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The secretary released a report by department experts that in 1955 farmers received 41 per cent of the consumer's retail food dollar, down from a record high of 53 per cent in 1945. Rising costs of handling and processing food all along the line from farm to market were held responsible.

The report said wage rates were up nearly 100 per cent over 1945 while freight charges and other costs increased by about two thirds. Benson had announced a request for the study last month, saying he and President Eisenhower had discussed the problem and agreed the department should determine whether retail food costs "contain improper or excessive, marketing charges and profits."

Fire Breaks Out Atop Eiffel Tower

PARIS (AP)—Fire broke out atop the steel-skeletoned Eiffel Tower early today. It was brought under control by firemen who panted all the way to the top of the 984-foot structure on foot. One eager fire fighter was cut above the wrists as he yanked at fire extinguishers in the fight to save Paris' most obvious landmark. He was the only casualty reported.

Memoirs Of A Modest Man

Newweek magazine announced last week that General George C. Marshall has consented at long last to write his memoirs. Until recently he had steadfastly refused to do so, and it took a lot of persuasion to win him over finally.

However, he has stipulated that none of the profit from the venture will accrue to him or Mrs. Marshall. Instead, whatever money is derived from the venture will go into a foundation which, like the general's vast accumulation of papers and documents, will go at his death to his Alma Mater, the Virginia Military Institute. Another stipulation is that nothing reflecting on any living person will be printed in the memoirs.

General Marshall celebrated his 75th birthday quietly at his Virginia home Saturday. There were telegrams of esteem and good wishes from President Eisenhower and former President Harry S. Truman, among many others.

The man's modesty is proverbial, his reticence and aplomb pronounced. He has kept his own counsel since retiring as secretary of state, and not even the vicious attacks made on him by Senators McCarthy and Jenner seemed to bother him in the least.

Newweek relates a story to point up the Marshall modesty. When ordered to Moscow for a conference in the dead of winter by President Truman, the General decided to stock up on long-handled underwear. In the department store one woman after another insisted on waiting on him, and he would buy one small item after another rather than reveal his main objective. Finally giving up, the General made a hasty retreat and sent his aide to buy long-handled underwear.

That may sound unreasonably finicky in an age when there is practically no reticence whatever, but it undoubtedly is a holdover from the more charming ways of a human society populated by ladies and gentlemen to whom courtesy and consideration were the grace notes of civilization.

Did You Eat Your Blackeyed Peas?

We trust our friends did not forget to eat some blackeyed peas on New Year's Day. That is an old East Texas custom that has spread to all parts of the state and most of the country in recent years. It's supposed to bring good luck, or something. In Houston a French restaurant offered this special delicacy on New Year's under the name of "Pois au yeux noirs."

For our money fresh succulent young blackeyed peas fresh from the garden, snapped and cooked with hog jowl, is the best eating that comes from anybody's garden. Ordinary dried blackeyes can't pass muster with the true believer; to attain the very acme of perfection they must be fresh-snapped from the garden. Since few places in Texas can produce fresh blackeyed peas on January 1, most people eat the canned variety. In recent years, however, fresh frozen ones improve the flavor if not the luck.

One of the saddest experiences of our life was being served blackeyed pea soup.

There was no seasoning; just dried peas cooked in a lot of water. It was then we realized why so many Northerners fail to appreciate the blackeye in all its glory; they seldom get any fresh from the garden and properly seasoned.

The older you get the more you hate to be disturbed in the established routine of existence. That, we suppose, is why so many of our senior citizens hate to forget to eat blackeyed peas on New Year's Day. Not that they fear any ill luck will spring from the oversight, but that they forget to carry out a rite as time-honored as this old custom.

This observance of routine extends to almost every facet of our daily living. Most of us have our favorite chair, our favorite table in the restaurant, our favorite pew in church. With men especially this love of routine explains why husbands will cling to cherished old coats, shoes, neckties or whatnot long after the good wife has issued a proscription against them.

Russia's Rough Talk—And South Asia

The speeches made last week in Moscow by the Soviet leaders are indeed very different in tone from their speeches six months ago. The difference is not mainly in the Soviet position on the biggest issues. Nothing happened at Geneva six months ago to justify anyone in thinking that the Soviets were getting ready to yield anything substantial for the sake of an agreement. Moscow was as uncompromising in July as it is today.

The difference between the speeches then and now lies elsewhere. It lies in their confidence, which is new and recent, that the Soviets are winning the cold war in Asia and Africa, and that they have us, so to say, over a barrel. Bulganin and Khrushchev have come back from India, Burma and Afghanistan with an exuberantly happy conviction that in the contest for influence and power, they have won, that they have come successfully to terms with the native feelings and the national sentiment of the key countries of South Asia. It is because they feel so strong on this account, that they can afford to talk so roughly to us. In fact, they are acting now as if they were convinced that the more roughly they talk to us, the more they will be applauded in South Asia. They must have been mightily pleased not only with the big crowds but with what the leading personalities in the region said to them privately.

It would be complacency indeed to shrug this all off as nothing more than Khrushchev's usual bad manners. His talk is not mere talk. Something serious and real has happened, and the Western allies have in fact suffered an important setback. The Soviet diplomacy has achieved a notable success. We can deceive only ourselves if we deny or ignore it.

In the broadest and simplest terms what has happened is this. Between Morocco on the Atlantic Ocean and Indonesia in the South Pacific, across North Africa to Egypt to the Middle East to South Asia to Southeast Asia, there live a great mass of human beings who during the past four centuries were under the imperial rule of the great powers of Western Europe. Many of these peoples have, all of them will soon have, achieved their independence.

But until now the issue of their independence has been one between them and the old empires, Russia, which has long tried to have a hand in this area, was successfully excluded throughout the nineteenth century and, in fact, until this past year. The Russians have now broken through, more accurately they have jumped over, the barriers which excluded them. For the first time they have become a principal power in the Middle East and in South Asia. This is the achievement about which Bulganin and Khrushchev are so exuberantly pleased with themselves. They feel as Mr. Dulles might feel if he had suddenly come back from a triumphant tour of Prague, Warsaw, and Peiping.

To my mind a most significant thing about these speeches is that they say so little about economic matters and so much about political matters. The Soviets are not offering to out-bid the West in the field of economic aid, that is to say of capital export. They are for a little aid, not very much, one might say just enough to establish the fact that the West is not the sole supplier of economic aid.

Their heavy cards are political, and what they are doing is to exploit the reaction to our policy of military alliances. As we have backed Pakistan, they have backed India and Afghanistan. As we back Thailand, they back Burma. As we back the so-called northern tier with Iraq and Iran, they back the southern tier with Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia. By making discriminated in favor of certain countries, supposedly countries on "our side," we have opened the door for the Russians into the countries which are supposedly not on our side.

We are stymied by our own policy. Having discriminated in favor of certain countries by giving them arms, we cannot talk back to the Russians if they discriminate in favor of the other countries.

There is no reason, it seems to me, to hope that the rapid deterioration of the Western position can be arrested as long as there is a contest in which we back Turkey, they back the stronger tier with Egypt, Afghanistan, India and Burma. They will almost surely win that contest. For with the exception only of Turkey, they are backing the stronger combinations.

If there is a way out, it would seem to lie in taking a new stand which is opposed to special military alliances in South Asia, and in the field of economic aid favors regional rather than country by country projects of development.

Fraser Heston Has Retired

HOLLYWOOD — Despite a budding career on the screen and TV, Fraser Heston has retired. What's more, he's going to spend as much time as possible in the woods of Michigan, away from the bright lights of Hollywood and New York.

No sense in kidding you — Fraser is 9 months old. He's the first-born of Lydia and Charlton Heston, and he has a resolute father.

"No more acting for my son" is the Heston edict. But, being a proud papa, he couldn't refrain from giving the lad's credits:

Portrayal of the infant Moses in the bullrush scene for "The 10 Commandments," playing himself, on the Ed Murrow Person to Person show.

"But that's all there will be for now," assured the elder Heston. "I certainly don't want him to be a child actor. If he wants to be an actor when he grows up, that's up to him."

Heston added that he wants his son to spend much of his childhood in the woods of Michigan. The Hestons have a thousand-acre place near St. Helen, Mich., 200 miles north of Detroit. That's where Charlton grew up.

"I think it's much less healthy for a boy to grow up in a city atmosphere," he observed. "You have to instruct him in so many things. Like 'Don't accept rides from strangers' and 'Play only in front of our house.' In the woods, you don't have to develop such inhibitions. Kids grow up much freer. Boys especially; I don't think there is so much difference with girls."

"Also, it's a much healthier life in the woods. The air is clean and fresh, and a boy is outside and active most of the time. We have no TV and no radio."

Russians Not Always So Smart

WASHINGTON — The Russians are doing the wrong things if they want the American government to reduce its spending, particularly military spending, in the belief this will bring on a depression here.

They're reported to be thinking that way but—

They won't agree on disarmament and they talk of developing an intercontinental guided missile. So the United States will step up defenses. The Russians promise economic aid to Asia. The United States will boost its foreign aid.

$4,200,000,000 this year to $4,400,000,000 next year.

This news broke at a time when many members of Congress wanted spending reduced. This is an election year and if they could economize they might be able to put through a tax cut. But they have read about the Russians' plans.

They come back to work today, no doubt, with some change of mind. Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, No. 1 Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said over the weekend:

The Bulganin-Khrushchev performance will spur a strengthening of "our overall military-diplomatic position... I do believe there is no reason whatsoever for diminishing our vigilance or preparedness."

We're All Angels Down Here

NEW YORK — If the world should end this very day, it could not find America better prepared.

If the universe suddenly exploded, practically every one in the land would be blown straight up into Heaven. The rush of rarefied souls would wear out the turnstiles at St. Peter's Pearly Gates.

For America today is an earthly paradise inhabited not by ordinary people but by 160-odd million purposeful angels.

An aura of unaccustomed saintliness rises over the nation like clean fog above a dismal swamp. Look around you. Isn't everybody wearing a shiny new halo?

There is a reason, of course. It is the season of the New Year's resolution, when all look within themselves and take an interior vow to lead a finer, nobler life.

The bad resolve to be good, the good resolve to be better. The old reckless, sinful past seems unutterably repugnant. One looks back at the mire-speckled creature he was only a week ago and mumbles wholeheartedly, "How could I ever have been like that? Never again!"

Sweetness and light brighten the very air. Everyone has decided to be more trustworthy, loyal, helpful, thrifty, courteous, kind, brave, clean and reverent — plus a lot of other things.

Nowhere is a frown in sight. Wherever you glance, all you see are rows of teeth determinedly fixed in a smile, smile, smile.

There is a determined fix to the haloes, too, as if this time the wearers really meant to keep them clamped on their nogginns forever.

The wife has vowed to spend less time playing bridge and spend more time playing with her children.

The husband has vowed to spend more time at home, too, and also take his wife out often.

The stenographer has vowed to quit primping at her office desk. The bus driver has vowed that, even if the paying customers don't move to the back of the bus in 1956, he won't let it ruin his temper.

The truck driver has vowed to quit letting out loud vowels whenever he gets caught in a traffic jam.

The factory hand has vowed to do less shirking on the job.

The boss has vowed not to bust a vocal chord every time he sees a minor company rule flouted.

The bank robber has vowed to give up his uncertain craft and go into some more honest form of labor, such as maybe press agency.

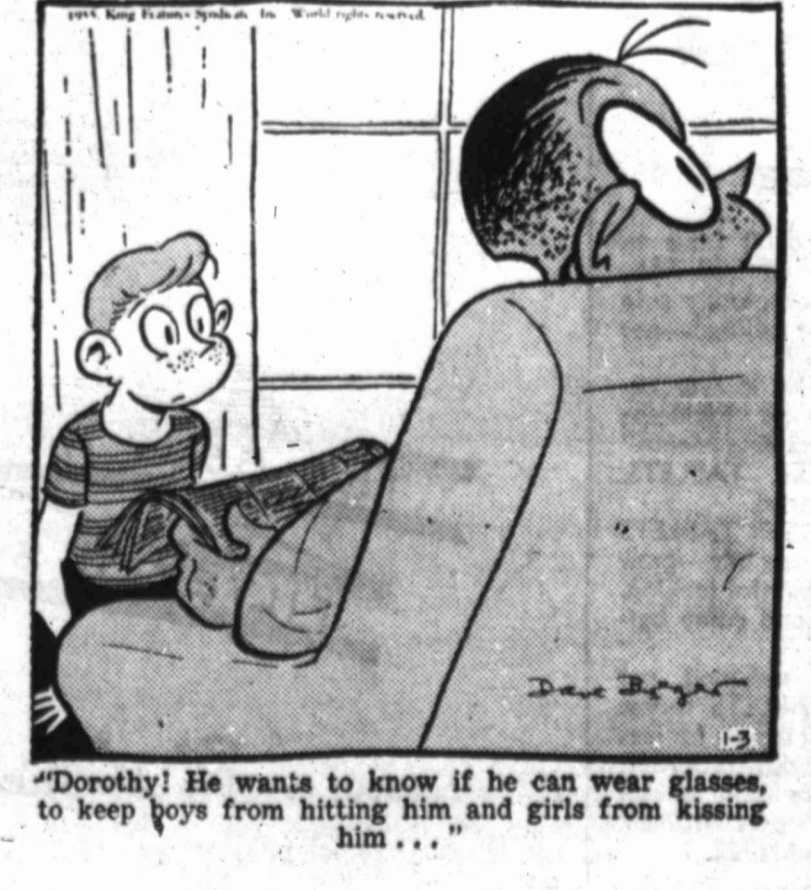

The professional boxer has vowed that the next time out he will really put up a good stiff fight — if he can find an opponent in the same mood.

Yes, whoever has a bad habit of any kind, has silently vowed to rid himself of it — whether it's beating his wife in private or using a toothpick in public. An atmosphere of personal sanctity wraps the country from coast to coast.

Ah, perhaps it would be better if the world did end this very day, and waited all us suddenly pompous puritans to the Heaven we now aspire to create on earth. For New Year's resolutions have a traditional brief life.

Certainly if a cataclysm destroyed the universe even as late as next week, half of us, our vows already forsaken, would find ourselves blown not toward Heaven but in exactly the opposite direction.

Year Had Its Oddities

Apparently 1955 was not without its oddities. People went right on being people in spite of themselves.

For instance, in Crestview, Fla., a 107-year-old man attributed his long life to the fact that he only drank "store-bought liquor" and he "strayed away from doctors."

A Memphis policeman claimed that his two-year-old son had learned to read by watching television commercials. A professor at the University of Illinois reported that most people gain their knowledge of grammar before they reach their third birthday.

Speaking of vocabulary, a scientist at the American Museum of Natural History reports that the American frog utters only five different, but distinct, calls: mating call, warning chirp, warning vibration, fright scream, and a rain song.

A four-eyed fish has been reported by the Pan American Union. It was discovered in Central American waters. The PAU said this is probably the only creature on earth that can simultaneously see where it has been and where it is going.

A man in New Jersey claims he had to make 66 consecutive trips through the "Tunnel of Love" with his wife before he could talk her into giving him a divorce.

A barber in Colorado claims that it takes five times as long to give a man a haircut as it does to shear a sheep. A barber in Missouri was arrested for barbering without a license, although he had operated a successful barber college for 17 years.

Daniel Drummond was convicted of drunk driving in Oklahoma and a salt company in Ireland produces a brand of salt called "Lot's Wife."

A woman in Memphis, who wanted a basement, tunneled it out herself in 20 years of sparetime work. A resident of England, after delivering his wife's child, was fined for practicing midwifery without a license.

An officer at the United States Army research center estimates that a trip to the moon could be arranged for two persons at a cost of seven billion dollars.

A town in Kentucky required that all candidates for public office sign a pledge that they would not buy a single vote. At Marshall, a candidate for constable admitted he set fire to his car so that the voters would feel sorry for him. A candidate for coroner in New Jersey pledged that he would attempt to have the job abolished if he won it.

A prison warden in Montevideo was arrested for counterfeiting coins, a skill he learned from one of his wards. Inmates of a prison in Alabama were caught counterfeiting five dollar bills in the prison print shop.

This shows what can be done, and is thus a guide for the future.

For instance, Shasta Dam helped to regulate flood waters of the Sacramento River in California's Central Valley and to prevent a flood stage which the Bureau said, would otherwise have reached that of 1940 — before Shasta Dam was built — when 635,000 acres were inundated.

Sometimes we do, if we act quickly while the mood of repentance is still upon us. And there is, it seems, always a next time.

Again it has come. In recent days we have been reading about it in our newspapers, who actually were not in the path of the wild waters. First there were the floods in New England which wreaked such great destruction and now, the flooded rivers in Oregon and California have taken their grim toll of homes and lives.

An examination of the record after the fact shows again, as always before, that pigeonholes here in the Capitol contain proposed bills to appropriate money for dams, some already authorized by Congress, which would have prevented or lessened the damage from these catastrophes. That is found to be true now in the case of California, as it was previously in New England.

In California, for example, there is the long-planned Oroville Dam across the Feather River above Marysville and Yuba City, which is to be the biggest concrete dam in the world. Had it been built, Marysville and Yuba would have been spared, according to Harvey O. Butler, acting state engineer of California. Both had to be evacuated with loss of life.

Mr. Banks expressed the hope that the Federal government would contribute to the Feather River Project, which is predominantly a state enterprise, as has been the policy in dealing with other similar projects which have flood control aspects.

As if in echo, Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) has announced he would seek $100,000,000 from Congress for this purpose.

Another example is the Kaweah River in the San Joaquin Valley which dealt heavy damage to Visalia and other towns. A dam there was authorized by Congress over 10 years ago, in 1944, but no money ever was appropriated.

A bright spot in the California story has to do with those people who escaped because rivers in their areas are controlled by dams built by the U. S. Reclamation Bureau which pointed out that happy circumstance in a statement issued here.

Time For Action On Flood Control

By THOMAS L. STOKES (Substituting for Marquis Childs)

WASHINGTON — Periodically we suffer, in some part of our country, predictable and preventable natural disasters. Then after we have cleared away the debris, cared for the injured and buried the dead, we solemnly pledge to take the necessary steps so it won't happen again.

Sometimes we do, if we act quickly while the mood of repentance is still upon us. And there is, it seems, always a next time.

Again it has come. In recent days we have been reading about it in our newspapers, who actually were not in the path of the wild waters. First there were the floods in New England which wreaked such great destruction and now, the flooded rivers in Oregon and California have taken their grim toll of homes and lives.

Business Mirror

A Few Sober Thoughts

NEW YORK — Seldom have Americans shaped up to a new year with more confidence. But here and there a businessman is having some sober thoughts.

Times look good in general for the next six months — but that means good on average, and not for every individual, every company, every industry. There are predictions of a slideback from the peak for some kinds of business.

Scattered warnings are at hand for dealers in such things as cars, new houses, home furnishings, apparel, electrical appliances, tires, lumber and even for the makers of steel.

In most cases it would be only a moderate backing away from heady heights. Autos and housing have led the parade in 1955, with steel and metal products pressing close.

Now the building industry predicts a drop of 100,000 to 200,000 in new homes built this year — although still counting on more than one million, and larger and more expensive ones to boot.

The auto industry already is trimming back output. Although long its most optimistic spokesman, Harlow H. Curtice, General Motors president, says production next year may drop 12 per cent — this would still send more than seven million new cars off the assembly lines.

Dealers in used cars report a sales slump now, with prices off in the last six months.

Another generally expected soft spot is agriculture. Some observers think prices of farm products may slide in the second half of next year. Coupled with possible acreage cuts, this could pull net farm income down by 5 per cent from this year.

Electric appliance dealers are worried about a price tug-of-war among competing manufacturers, in some cases involving paring of merchants' profit margins.

Steelmen mostly predict their business will go full blast till summer. A few outsiders see a chance of a drop to 85 per cent of capacity in the closing months of the year.

Some in the textile industry — which enjoy a comeback in 1955 — fear a tapering off in the last half of 1956.

Miss Hayworth Bride Of Airman In Stanton

A New Year's Day bride is Mrs. Ronald Hassler, who was married Sunday afternoon to A. C. Hassler in the Stanton home of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Reid. The bride is the former LaRue Hayworth.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hayworth, 1209 W. 6th, and Mrs. Gladys Hassler of Indianapolis, Ind.

The informal single ceremony was held by the Rev. E. B. Coon, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Stanton. A background was formed before the fireplace with baskets of pink gladioli. Pink candles on the mantel were combined with pink angel's hair, gold leaves and tiny pink angels.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Gene Estes of Midland, sang "Because" accompanied by Sue Zollinger, pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath of white brocade with a bolero. Her small white hat had a tiny veil and her accessories were navy.

White carnations made her corsage, and she carried a white Bible as something old. Her dress was new; she had borrowed a hat from her cousin, Mrs. Marvin Hayworth, and her accessories filled the requirement for something blue. She had a penny in her shoe.

Miss Zollinger served as bridesmaid. She chose a frock of pale blue lace, fashioned along princess lines, with a full skirt. Her accessories were white.

A. C. Bob Wall of Webb Air Force Base was best man.

At the reception which followed the wedding, a tiered cake was served by Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Estes. A lace cloth covered the refreshment table and silver appointments were used.

The couple will make a home in Big Spring while the bridegroom is stationed at WAFB. He received his schooling in Indianapolis. The bride is a student in Big Spring High School.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Christenson and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Rowland, all of Big Spring and Mr. Estes, Shansage, and Steve, Sherry and Robin of Midland.

Miss America 1956

Artist Ed Gunder's conception of the girl currently most popular is made up of the features of four Hollywood favorites: Liz Taylor's hair, Audrey Hepburn's eyes, Grace Kelly's nose and Ava Gardner's mouth. Like her?

All-American Girl Is Tops In Beauty, Oomph

By VIVIAN BROWN

In 1955 American man showed that he appreciated beauty. Bubble dancer stock went down and the real-American look paid big dividends.

What is the American girl's look? It is more than two-faced — it has four or five faces.

It is the pixie beauty of Audrey Hepburn.

The sexy glamor of Ava Gardner.

Regal beauty like Grace Kelly's.

And just plain beauty like Liz Taylor's.

One quality all these popular '55 types had in common was ladylike charm. None depended on artificiality to boost her stock.

Poise was another quality that distinguished these girls from other females. As one connoisseur of beauty put it:

"I'm not supposed to be partial, but I'd say Ava Gardner is the sexiest type in Hollywood today. But it doesn't hit you with the thud brass types exuded a few seasons ago. She's soft and kittenish but has a good deal of oomph at the same time."

The quiet reserve that Grace Kelly displays doesn't make her a cold type, according to another gentleman. He described her beauty by saying, "Man, she's cool!" — which is about the warmest compliment a man can pay a girl these days.

Pixie-faced Audrey Hepburn has "understanding eyes" that appeal to one admirer. He says: "Hepburn's eyes make her different from other women. I'm a fellow that is for the eyes-are-

Leap Year, Girls! Try Husband Test On Him

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (U.S.)—So this is Leap Year's Eve, and there are six million more marriageable maids than bachelors.

But are the girls going to chase the guys? They can't be enthusiastic? There are indications otherwise, within limits of course. It appears that those with brains are going to demand more than just the tall, dark and handsome type. If he's good looking, fine. But he must be gifted too.

When that little white garden gate on the honeymoon cottage begins to squeak, he should know what an oil can is for. Today's husband must meet the handyman shortage. He must be a plumber, carpenter, electrician, painter and wallpaperer, at least of sorts.

Girls today are smart, and they reason that if they have to qualify as cooks, seamstresses and high financiers—mothers-in-law keep reminding them they have to be budget keepers — why shouldn't they knight in a shiny sports

About 70 guests attended the tea.

Jones Motor Co. Sells Plymouth, Dodge Products

Chrysler Corporation is one of the biggest automobile manufacturers in the nation, turning out four types of cars and one truck. And of the five models, Jones Motor Co. here is Big Spring's dealer for three.

Jones Motor, located at the corner of Gregg and First streets, is the exclusive Big Spring dealer for Plymouth and Dodge cars and "Job-Rated" trucks.

Fifteen years of service and Dodge-Plymouth sales stand behind Jones Motor, and they have been in their present building for almost nine years.

And with 15 years of selling Dodges and Plymouths, they are the type of people anyone can trade with. Just one stop by their show windows will be enough to persuade you to buy a new car — and from Jones Motor Co.

The new 1956 Plymouths and Dodges are equipped with Chrysler's new push-button gifts for easy driving. Just press the button and off you go, no fussing with a sticky or stiff gear or bothering with a clutch.

With the new push-button styling, these worries are over. The new shift is just one of the many new trends in automobile styling that Dodge and Plymouth have developed. And for colors and color combinations, these new models can't be topped.

If you are looking for a vehicle that will pull tremendous loads and yet will be easy on the gas bill, try a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck. These trucks live up to their name of being job rated. No load is too heavy, no hill is too steep, and no job is too demanding for a Dodge vehicle.

And here again, Dodge is out front in the styling trend in addition to being serviceable.

In addition to handling new cars, Jones Motor has a staff of mechanics who cannot be bettered. Jones' mechanics are school trained in the techniques of handling auto troubles. The staff recently completed a four-year graduate course of mechanics which qualifies them to work on your car and easily solve even the most difficult problems.

Carrying a complete line of Dodge and Plymouth parts and accessories they can fix your car in the minimum of time.

So if you are interested in a new car or truck or are interested in keeping the old one in good operating condition, the place to go for either is Jones Motor Co., corner of Gregg and First.

Williams Sheet Metal Firm Ready With Heating Units

If your heating system isn't getting the job done this winter, the thing to do is consult W. C. Williams at the Williams Sheet Metal Works, 201 Benton.

His firm can eliminate that only-half-warm atmosphere that permeates many homes leaving grownups and children alike with almost continuous colds. The concern has a big supply of residential and commercial heating equipment that will make any home or businessplace comfortable to live or work in.

Located at Second and Benton, Williams Sheet Metal Works is equipped and staffed to perform any type of heating, air conditioning or other sheet metal project.

The weather isn't exactly conducive to air conditioning discussions, but Williams has the combination heating-cooling equipment that can provide year-around comfort in any home or business. And for those who are thinking about the installation of a central air conditioning unit later, Williams suggests that the job be performed now — in conjunction with the installation of central heating.

The two units can be installed in conjunction, utilizing a common duct system that will afford a considerable saving over separate installations where provisions aren't made for both cooling and heating.

Or, if the householder prefers, Williams can install the heating equipment now, with allowances for the subsequent addition of air conditioning. The ductwork that distributes the warmed air to all parts of the house this winter can be used next summer to cool the premises if such arrangements are worked into the current project.

Williams, of course, will provide free estimates of the cost of such a project, or on the expense of only a heating system. He also can provide guidance in securing the low-cost FHA home improvement loans, which require little down payment and may be retired over periods of up to 36 months.

Williams Sheet Metal Works is distributor here for Utility forced air heating units, which are available in sizes for every type of home or commercial building, and which are easily adaptable to joint installation with central air conditioners.

Duct systems are manufactured in Williams' own shop, and they're tailored to fit the house to be served, eliminating guesswork or the necessity of adapting prefabricated systems to a house of different size or shape from that it was designed for.

Israel Issues Warning To Arabs Not To Start War

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel's two top leaders have placed the Arab states on notice that the Jewish nation will beat off any attacks from her neighbors.

But they told Parliament yesterday Israel does not want to start another Holy Land war. They cautioned against the belief that war is unavoidable.

The stern statements came from Premier David Ben-Gurion, advocate of Israel's "activist" policy, and Foreign Minister Moshe Sharet, who has urged a course of restraint.

Declaring that all the Middle East countries but Israel and Turkey are a "whirlpool of disturbances," Ben-Gurion urged Israel to be ready for the danger of imminent war.

"We shall be gravely at fault," he said, "if we do not see with open eyes the imminent danger of attack by Egypt—and perhaps not only by that country."

"In this confused, crazy, electrified atmosphere," he continued,

2 Airmen Live Through Storm After Crash

KEMMERER, Wyo. (AP)—Two airmen today told how they survived two days in a blizzard raging over the rugged mountains of western Wyoming where they crash-landed their light plane.

"All I can say is that we were awfully lucky. We're both alive and I guess that's what counts," said the pilot, A. C. Kenneth Kiefer, 27, of Fort Collins, Colo. His passenger was A. C. Delbert Fluty, 22, of Evanston, Ind.

Kiefer said he and Fluty huddled in a snow shelter they built and later located a deserted summer ranch cabin.

They stayed there two days, eating a hardback made of flour, sugar, salt and oatmeal, and a rabbit Fluty caught with his hands. They doused a haystack with kerosene and lit a signal fire, but it was not seen.

Finally, after the storm abated yesterday, they set out with a sled made from one of the plane's wings and heard a dog barking in the distance. They headed that way and met a rancher who drove them here. Neither was injured.

They had taken off in Kiefer's two-place Aeronca Chief from Rock Springs, Wyo., Saturday morning. They were headed to Travis Air Force Base in California after visiting Kiefer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Kiefer, in Fort Collins, Colo.

Giraffes Can Go Weeks Without Drink

By RAMON COFFMAN

There is a story that someone asked Abraham Lincoln the length of his legs.

"They are just long enough to reach the ground," replied Lincoln.

Q. How long are the legs of a full grown giraffe?

A. A large giraffe has legs from six to eight feet long. These keep it on the ground well enough, but it has trouble reaching the ground with its head. It must spread its front legs when it goes to a water hole to drink, and then it is able to go weeks without drinking again.

Q. How does a giraffe obtain water between visits to water holes?

A. Leaves provide the giraffe with much of its food. Thanks to its long neck and long legs, it can reach branches which are far above the ground. There is moisture in the leaves, and sometimes they are covered with dew. This partly explains the fact that these animals can live without drinking for a long period.

Q. Will lions attack giraffes?

A. Yes, lions are among the enemies of the giraffe tribe. If a lion can slip up close enough, and make a good spring, it is likely that the giraffe will be killed.

One day a train came to a halt while running through a section of Africa between Mombasa and Nairobi. A mother giraffe was seen nearby with a young one. Bounding toward the mother giraffe came several lions, and she prepared to defend herself and her child, as far as her poor power went, by kicking with her front legs. At an American photographer saw the approaching lions, and jumped off the train to get a picture. Others shouted warnings to him, but he went forward, boldly and foolishly, as it seemed. Fortune was with him, however—the lions saw

Ex-U. S. Treasurer Abducted To Bank, Then Is Robbed

RICHLAND, Kan. (AP)—Three men forced Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark Gray, former treasurer of the United States, to open the vault of the Richland State Bank last night and then fled with an estimated $2,000.

Sheriff's officers said Mrs. Gray and her husband, Andrew, were accosted by the armed men at their home. Gray was bound and gagged and Mrs. Gray forced to accompany the men to the bank.

She is president of the bank and also owner of a grocery and dry-goods store housed in the same building. The state patrol said that after the men obtained an estimated $1,200 from the bank and $700 from store funds, they released Mrs. Gray unharmed.

The three fled in the Grays' station wagon, which later was found abandoned west of Richland. Mrs. Gray was U. S. treasurer during the Truman administration. Richland is a town of 250 population in eastern Kansas about 70 miles southwest of Kansas City.

Monroney Slaps Interests Fighting Natural Gas Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) took 10 swings today at city officials and eastern utilities who are fighting a bill to exempt independent natural gas producers from federal regulation.

The Oklahoma senator said in a statement these groups are "attempting to divert public attention from their own responsibility for high consumer gas prices by attacks on natural gas producers in the Southwest."

The gas bill, passed by the House last year, promises to stir up a bitter Senate floor battle cutting across party lines. Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has said he plans to push for early action.

Monroney said eastern gas distributing companies "have seized upon this bill as an opportunity to proclaim a devotion to the interests of the consumer which their prior actions have not shown."

He said the gas producer gets only a small part of the consumer's dollar, amounting to about 10 cents on a national average. City and state taxes often are larger than the producer's share of a consumer's gas bill, he added.

German Soldiers In U. S. For Training

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandon

Turning 'Em Away

"It's unfair. How's a boy going to know where he stands when a girl won't tell him the truth? It's not fair to lead a boy on when you have no intention of dating him—and that's what giving false excuses amounts to." These were the words of one boy interviewed in one of my recent polls.

The discussion concerned whether or not a girl should politely sound her busy signal when a Square Bear phones or bluntly give him the "Drop Dead; I'm not interested" treatment.

The boys were evenly divided, some preferring the truth so they would waste no further time on the girl and others preferring the tactful untruths that would "save face" and let them down easy.

Girls agreed that the truth was difficult to dish out, but that there definitely is a time and place for it in declining some dates.

When a girl isn't interested in dating a boy, she shouldn't offer an elaborate excuse or overdo how sorry she is she can't make it. This is misleading.

A simple, "It was thoughtful of you to think of me, but I'm afraid I can't make it"—or "I've got plans for that night," is sufficient.

The assumption is that after trying about three times and receiving the same polite but not "too sorry" answer the average boy will realize he's wailing up the wrong telephone.

The time to "let him have it" the girls agreed is when a boy is really too objectionable to date and furthermore makes a pest of himself by calling repeatedly, not taking no for an answer but insisting on a date, and generally putting the girl on the spot with such questions as "Why won't you go out with me?" or "What are you doing Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, etc. or "What night are you free?"

Such a boy is too coarse to sense he is not wanted and therefore needs a jolt. The girl might explain that it is nice of him to phone but she really feels they have too little in common to date each other.

This should suffice, but if it doesn't then she should further explain the problem. Perhaps he would be more dateable if he'd make a date more frequently with a bar of soap. Perhaps she is uncomfortable around him because he is a show-off or insolent.

Since he is asking—yes begging for it—tell him his trouble. How else can he improve?

(You may write Miss Brandon in care of The Herald. For personal answers, send a 3 cent stamp.)

Holiday Deaths At Record High

The nation's traffic deaths threatened to a record high for a three-day New Year's holiday over the long weekend.

It was the second consecutive holiday weekend the traffic toll hit a new record. The toll over the New Year weekend, however, was far below the record-breaking 609 for the Christmas holiday a week ago. It also was under the predicted 420.

An Associated Press survey showed that in the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday, 245 persons were killed in traffic accidents. The 69 killed in fires and 71 in miscellaneous accidents brought the over-all total to 485.

The previous high for traffic deaths in a three-day New Year period was 317 in 1953-54. The highest previous over-all mark was 433 in the same year.

The National Safety Council had estimated last week that 420 persons would be killed in motor mishaps during the New Year weekend. But with the death rate running below the estimate yesterday the council said a projection indicated the toll would be around 360.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said that although the traffic toll was below the council's holiday estimate, "it was far from low enough."

"It certainly is discouraging that here is another record broken in the wrong direction," he said. The traffic toll of 609 during the Christmas holiday, a record for any holiday period, prompted law enforcement officials to take steps to curb the highway toll during the New Year weekend.

"It seems that all this effort by news media and law enforcement people has at least saved a sizable number of lives," Dearborn said.

The traffic toll since the end of World War II has been smaller during the New Year's period than at Christmas.

In a survey over a nonholiday period of 78 hours, The Associated Press counted 364 traffic deaths. The survey was made for comparative purposes and covered a 78-hour period the weekend of Dec. 9-12.

The Christmas traffic deaths averaged nearly 8 per hour. In the New Year period the average was around 4 1/2 per hour.

1955 Was Market's Greatest Boom Year

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market raced through the greatest boom in its history this year. Nothing seemed to stand in its path. The old bug-a-boo about 1929 high prices was swept aside with little concern. One record after another fell. The market met and passed its most severe test since the panic days of 1929.

Profits made during the year were an estimated 35 to 38 billion dollars. Those were on an extent on paper, of course, but dollar bills also are printed on paper.

Looking into the future, there was little the experts could see to cause concern.

Wall Street readily acknowledged booms don't last forever. A bust was expected as a shaking climax to the boom, however.

The year started with a rush of trading that hadn't been matched for more than two decades.

The first dip came after Jan. 1 as margins were boosted to 60 per cent from 50. The setback lasted a matter of days, and the market started upward again. On the way it broke through a barrier that had stood for more than 25 years—the old historic peak of 1929 from which the stock market began its chilling plunge that ended in a numb depression.

On Sept. 3, 1929, The Associated Press average touched $137.70. On Feb. 9, 1955, the average surged ahead $2.30 to $158.10 and established a new high mark.

The rise continued on into March. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) then began an investigation of the stock market. Prices tumbled more than at any time since Germany invaded France in 1940. When the hearings ended, prices went up again to new record highs.

April brought the first of four increases in the discount rate, the amount the Federal Reserve charges for lending money to its commercial bank members. Harder money tend to choke off inflation. Margins again were raised, to 70 per cent.

It was then that the market ran into its third reaction of the year. A big boost was given to the decline by Washington moves to confer with Red China. That dip didn't last long, either, and the market started on its way again.

On Friday, Sept. 23, the AP average stood at $181.50, its highest level. Then came the confidence-shaking news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The market dropped like a plummet Monday. The fall that day was exceeded only by the very worst day suffered in the crash of 1929. The question was what would happen to the nation and to business without Eisenhower.

The whole thing was over in two and a half weeks and the reaction hit bottom. The recovery paced that of the President, and by Dec. 5, the AP average was back up again to $181.50.

NEW YORK (U)—Basel O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, says enough Salk vaccine may be available this year to inoculate all children up to age 14.

Mild Weather Prevails In U.S.

By The Associated Press

Generally clear and mild winter weather prevailed in most of the country today.

Temperatures were above normal in all sections except the northern New England states, which reported readings as low as 6 below zero in Caribou, Maine.

Other parts of New England and the Mid-Atlantic states hit by cold weather yesterday, with below zero in some areas, reported a warming trend. Readings were in the 20s and low 30s this morning.

It also was below freezing in sections from the upper Great Lakes region westward through the Dakotas, the central and northern Rockies and into western Oregon and Washington.

Light snow and rain fell during the night from the upper Great Lakes region eastward through Michigan and into New York and Pennsylvania. Falls measured up to an inch in parts of western New York.

Florida Clergymen Lower Racial Bars

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (U)—White and Negro clergymen associations merged yesterday to form the Ministerial Assn. of the Halifax Area, one of the first integrated community ministerial groups in the Southern States. Members of the old Daytona Beach Ministerial Assn., a white group, and the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, a Negro organization, make up the new body.

Grain Supplies, Political Commotion Piled Up In 1955

CHICAGO (U)—Grain supplies piled up during 1955 and so did the political commotion they created.

We have wheat. We have corn. We have oats. And if we could ask for anything more, it would be for some way to get rid of them—without instigating international ill will.

With a presidential election year coming, the political commotion inspired by the farm problem promises to become more intense. New farm programs will pop out when Congress reconvenes.

Acresage allotments were in effect in 1955 for some grains. These restrictions cut down production but not enough. The country produced more than it could either eat or export.

Wheat production totaled 916 million bushels, down 6 per cent from 1954 and off 21 per cent from the 1944-53 average. Carryover from previous crops totaled 1,021 million bushels.

As the Agriculture Department sees it, the supply of wheat at the end of the current marketing year (June 30, 1956) will set a new record.

In corn, many farmers overplanted their acreage allotments. A crop of 3,183 million bushels was produced despite a summer drought in the Midwest. Total supply—which includes corn from previous crops—set a record Oct. 1 of 4,208 million bushels.

Oats production set a record. As land was taken out of cotton and wheat by acreage allotments, farmers put it in other cereals. One result was an enormous grain sorghum crop. Feed grains and concentrates are at record levels.

With the flexible price support program in operation for the first year, the support on wheat was dropped to 82 per cent of parity and on corn to 87 per cent of parity. Prices in the free market fell far below the support level and the government accumulated huge supplies.

Speculative activity in grain futures was at a low ebb.

In the cash market at Chicago, all grains made their highs in January—$2.39 1/2 for wheat, $1.59 1/2 for corn and 88 1/2 cents for oats. Wheat was at a low of $1.91 1/2 in August; corn $1.11 1/2 in November and oats 57 cents in August.

Frank Hague Lies In State

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Scores of former followers will pay final respects to Frank Hague, onetime political overlord, as his body goes on public view today.

Uruguayan Chief May Fight Duel

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Arbiters will decide whether chief of state Luis Battle Berres must fight a duel with a newspaper editor.

The editor of the weekly La Nacional, Washington Guadalupe, had accused Battle Berres of protecting private interests and serving as a financial agent for Fernando Farina, managing editor of the chief of state's daily newspaper Accion.

Accion replied editorially that "apparently we are in the presence of low-minded people; only those who have dirty souls can write such things."

Guadalupe then challenged Battle Berres to a duel, but the latter refused to retract his editorial. Each named seconds to discuss the "matter of honor."

Uruguay's laws permit dueling, but only after an honor tribunal decides there is no other course possible. Seconds for both men select an arbiter who makes the decision himself or calls in other judges to help.

Battle Berres is recuperating from gastric disorders with which he collapsed during his visit to the United States last month.

Gas, Alcohol Mix In New Experiment

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—New fuel for the slogan that gasoline and alcohol don't mix will be sought in an all-out experiment next month.

Ten motorists will get their alcohol free. The experiment will be the climax of a seminar on "alcohol and road traffic" Feb. 13-24 at the Southern Police Institute here. It will be held Feb. 23.

Plans are to have 20 volunteer motorists. Eight will get about half a pint of 100-proof bourbon each, two will get around eight bottles of beer apiece and ten will drive cold sober.

They will submit to six laboratory tests and six driving tests. The laboratory tests will consist of a flicker of light, to a jet of air against the eye (to measure pain sensitivity), ability to stand steady, to touch the tips of the forefingers together, to do simple mathematical problems and to cross out certain letters in a printed page.

On the driving course, the guinea pigs will drive in and out of a simulated garage, attempt to hit small wooden blocks with the car wheels, try to back onto planks, turn around in a narrow road, drive in and out of loose sand and park in a tight space.

Directing the experiment, as well as the seminar, will be Lt. Robert F. Borkenslein, director of the Indiana state police laboratory and inventor of the breathalyzer, a device to test the amount of alcohol in a motorist's bloodstream.

A dozen physicians, laboratory technicians and chemists will participate.

Marlowe Grave Due Opening In Shakespeare Research

LONDON (AP)—The Church of England has given permission to open a tomb in a Kent County church in an effort to determine if Christopher Marlowe wrote the plays attributed to William Shakespeare.

Partisans of Marlowe hope to find inside papers that will bear out this theory: Marlowe, a rising dramatist and poet, fell under suspicion of treason and Queen Elizabeth's privy council ordered his arrest. To save his protegee, Walsingham arranged a tavern stabbing and had a farmer's body identified as Marlowe's.

Then he secluded the poet at one of his estates, where Marlowe turned out "Hamlet," "King Lear" and the rest of the dramas. To get the plays produced, Walsingham hired a dull poacher recently come to London, William Shakespeare of Avon, to give them his name.

The pro-Marlowe scholars figure Walsingham would not have died without leaving some evidence of his great secret. They reckon his tomb was the logical hiding place.

Calvin Hoffman, a New York writer, has been one of the most energetic of those seeking to have the tomb opened, but he was not mentioned in the hearing at Chislehurst.

The lord of the manor said he has set no date to commence operations.

Red German Chief Celebrates Birthday

BERLIN (AP)—Wilhelm Pieck, former carpenter and underground revolutionary, celebrated his 80th birthday today as president of Communist East Germany.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer passes the same milestone Thursday.

Leading guests at the big celebration for Pieck were Marshal Klementi Y. Voroshilov, president of the Soviet Union, and Marshal Chu Teh, deputy president of Red China. The presidents of six other Communist bloc countries were also on hand for ceremonies, which included a garden serenade by a Communist youth choir, a review of an honor guard and a handshake with a chimney-sweep, a good luck symbol in Germany.

U. S. Doubts Big 4 Parley Now Would Be 'Fruitful'

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials do not share the view expressed by Premier Bulganin of Russia that early new Big Four talks at the summit might be "fruitful."

They do not believe that Bulganin was seriously suggesting such a conference when he said, in response to questions published Saturday, that good results might ensue if "all the participants approach the urgent international questions with due consideration of the interests of all parties concerned."

Informed officials who reported this appraisal last night said the consensus here is that Bulganin was speaking for the record in a noncommittal way—not wanting to discount the value of negotiations but also not actively recommending them.

The generally known view here is that the Russians have proved by their actions since the Geneva meeting of Bulganin, President Eisenhower and the British and French Premiers that they do not approach world problems with "due consideration of the interests of all . . . concerned."

They do not believe that Bulganin was seriously suggesting such a conference when he said, in response to questions published Saturday, that good results might ensue if "all the participants approach the urgent international questions with due consideration of the interests of all parties concerned."
