HEREFORD SHOW

Odom Again Wins Champion's Trophy

R. H. Odom Jr., Snyder, took the second leg on the big floating trophy Wednesday when he repeated with the grandchampion bull of the 12th annual Howard County South Plains Hereford Show. His OHR Prince Larry 39th was singled out by Bill Reed, Sterling City, judge of the show, as the top bull of the current show. Last year Odom's OHR Prince Larry 21st had won the title, edging out Winston Brothers' Larry Prince.

Reserve champion bull of this year's show was HR Royal Mixer 68th, consigned by Hugh Campbell & Son of Ballinger. The champion had won the senior bull class and the reserve was first place winner in the summer yearling class.

Odom continued his double sweep of the show, again exhibiting the grand champion female in OHR Lady Stoney, also the best of the senior heifer class. Reserve champion, which had topped the yearling heifer class, was Miss Elite CC 9th, bred by Charlie Creighton, Big Spring.

Sale for the annual event, which had attracted what many observers believed was the best class of breeding cattle yet, was to start at 1 p. m. in the Fair Barns with Walter Britten, College Station, doing the auctioneering. The champion was to be first up, followed by the annual dinner Tuesday evening in the Settlers' Club, formerly secretary, was elected president of the Howard County-South Plains Hereford Breeders Association, succeeding Charlie Creighton, Big Spring.

Other officers elected were Alton Youngblood, Lamesa, vice president; Creighton, second vice president; Jack Buchanan, Big Spring, secretary-treasurer; J. C. McNeill, Crosbyton, assistant secretary-treasurer. Others on the board will be Sam E. Hanna, Big Spring, R. H. Odom Jr., Snyder,

Slain Airman's Girl Is Sought

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Authorities searched today for the 16-year-old girl friend of a young airman found shot in the head in "lover's lane" west of here. She was feared kidnapped by the killer. The body of A-2C Lloyd Duane Bogle, 18, of Waco, Tex., was found face down beside his car. Pat Kalitzke was missing. Her mother said the 5-foot-8, 112-pound girl and Bogle left the Kalitzke home Monday evening. She was last reported seen with the airman by drive-in restaurant attendants about 9 p. m. Monday. They told police the two were alone in Bogle's car.

Officers discounted robbery as a motive. Five dollars were found in the airman's wallet. The ignition switch, radio and headlights of the car were on.

There was no evidence of a struggle, investigators said. They theorized the airman was killed by someone known to him and of whom he had no fear. His hands were tied behind his back, apparently with his own belt.

Bogle had been assigned to near-by Malmstrom Air Force Base since April 16, 1955.

Crackdown On Traffic Saved 15 Texas Lives

AUSTIN (AP)—The New Year's weekend crackdown on traffic violations saved at least 15 lives in Texas, Homer Garrison Jr., public safety director said today. Garrison issued a recap of violent deaths for the 11-day period of the Christmas-New Year's holiday showing 185 deaths, of which 99 resulted from traffic accidents. He said this would be the final special report but the totals may increase because persons injured during the period may die later.

"Probably the most amazing facet of this year's Christmas-New Year's operation death watch is the fact that not one single traffic fatality has been recorded in Texas for Friday Dec. 30," Garrison said. "That was the date that our rigid enforcement policy went into effect."

Highway patrolmen were told then to quit giving warning tickets and to make an arrest on every moving traffic violation.

Other violent deaths during the period included 50 homicides and suicides. Statistical expert N. K. Woerner had predicted 112 traffic deaths, and Garrison said that the final count may be close to this estimate. Deaths from other accidental causes during the holiday period exclusive of traffic, stood at 39.

Ex-Corl Sought In Woman's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A former convict from San Antonio was sought today in the murder of a woman Monday night. The body of Helen Becker, 31, was found, beaten to death under a trailer near a park. A police bulletin was issued for John Balley, 40, a welder seen with Mrs. Becker shortly before she was killed.

Chief of Police Ed Houk of Tulare said the woman's bloodstained car was found abandoned in his city, 69 miles north of Los Angeles.

Police Sgt. Herman Zander said the woman's skull was crushed with a piece of iron found near the body. She was believed to have been raped.

Farm Problem To Get Priority In Ike Message

IN VIRGINIA Other Issues Snag School Race Fight

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The fate of Virginia's carefully planned initial step toward avoiding compulsory integration in its public schools appeared today to turn on questions overshadowing, in many minds, those of race. The proposed step is removal of a constitutional barrier to the use of public funds for a child's private schooling—a key recommendation of the Governor's Commission on Public Education. In a statewide referendum next Monday, Virginians will decide whether a limited convention should be held to amend the state constitution for this purpose. Should the amendment be made parents who choose not to send their children to integrated schools would become eligible for state aid in financing the education of the children in private, nonsectarian schools.

Opposition to the amendment has developed on many fronts, including some labor, civic, ministerial and church groups. The opponents, largely ignoring the racial issue in private, nonsectarian schools, have argued that the amendment would threaten the state's public school system. Spearheading the campaign against the amendment is a group organized as the Virginia Society

Five Million Due Pay Hikes In '56

WASHINGTON (AP)—About five million workers, perhaps several million more, will get automatic pay hikes during 1956. These raises will boost the annual wage bill of American industry by a billion dollars or more. The pay increases either have been negotiated by labor unions or will come through a jump in the federal minimum wage March 1 from the present 75 cents an hour to a dollar.

Martin Jury Indicts Five

STANTON, (SC)—Six indictments against five individuals were returned this morning by the Martin County Grand Jury. Four forgery indictments, one alleging burglary and another charging theft were reported. The grand jury also recommended that a man charged on another forgery count be committed to a state mental hospital, Sheriff Dan Saunders said.

18 San Angelo Youths Arrested

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Police arrested last night 18 teen-agers, some from prominent families and said the youths had admitted parts in three nights of vandalism. Officers said they would question 23 other youths implicated by those in custody. Dist. Atty. Aubrey Stokes said that the cases may be referred to the grand jury.

Damage estimated at more than $2,000 was done by vandals who shot firearms at homes, businesses, and cars and threw firecrackers into mail boxes. No one was injured but a bullet narrowly missed a woman. Officers said the investigation resulted in a San Angelo man being charged with procuring a woman for immoral purposes for a high school student.

Federal Grant Will Be Used For Classrooms

School trustees last night voted to use a $144,500 federal grant to construct 12 elementary classrooms which they hope will help relieve the overcrowding at junior high school. If plans are approved and the federal aid is received, the money will be used for six-room additions at the East Ward and College Heights schools. Board members then plan to abolish the Central Ward elementary district, dividing its pupils between East Ward and College Heights. The nine-room Central Ward building will be used to handle some of the junior high overflow.

The architectural firm of Atchison, Atkinson & Fox, Lubbock, will be retained to prepare preliminary plans for the proposed additions. The school district has 45 days from last Dec. 30 in which to submit application, preliminary plans and other details of the proposed project to the federal agency. Plans must be approved by a branch of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, as well as by the Texas Education Agency.

The $144,500 in federal aid has been "reserved tentatively" for the Big Spring district under a section of Public Law 815 which provides for assistance in the education of government-connected children, in this case the children of Air Force personnel and civilian workers at Webb AFB. Trustees said the additions at College Heights and East Ward, with subsequent conversion of Central Ward to junior high use, will fit in with their long-range plan which hinges around expansion of the seriously-crowded junior high plant.

The six-room additions are expected to accommodate the 250 Central pupils, since another six-room addition already is nearing completion at East Ward School. The East Ward project, and a six-classroom addition now under way at Washington Place are expected to be completed by Feb. 15, Business Manager Pat Murphy reported. The current six-room addition at Airport School is due to take more time, due to a delay in acquisition of materials.

Four change-orders on work at the three schools were approved last night. Installation of tackboard above chalkboards was approved for all 18 rooms at an additional cost of $386.40. Changes in the routing of two gas lines at East Ward will add $229 and $95 to the cost of that project. Installation of a larger sewer line at Washington Place will boost cost of that project by $40.

Approval for the district's textbook committee were Mrs. Allene Hamilton, chairman, Mrs. H. L. Derrick, Valera D. West, Rita Weeg, Dell McCombs, Harold Bentley, R. M. Williams, Robert H. Dyer, John P. Johnson, Jack Everett, L. B. Brackeen and Mrs. Nancy Annen. Supt. W. C. Blankenship will serve as ex officio chairman of the group.

Congress To Hear Proposals Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to send Congress a special message Monday dealing with the farm problem, assigned a top priority by the administration this election year. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said at the President's vacation headquarters in Key West, Fla., today the message will go to the lawmakers then "under present plans." He added that arrangements had not been completed as to timing, but said delivery Monday is most likely.

Reports of an administration effort to get the jump on Democrats with a farm plan had circulated here earlier. With Congress awaiting Eisenhower's State of the Union message tomorrow, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said he has been advised work on the administration's farm proposals will be completed this weekend. Both houses are in recess today after routine opening ceremonies of the election-year session yesterday.

3 Airmen Die In Crash At Amarillo AFB

AMARILLO (AP)—Three airmen were killed near here yesterday in an apparent practice instrument landing of a B47 jet bomber. The Air Force launched an investigation to discover the cause. The medium jet bomber from Altus Air Force Base, Okla., crashed and exploded about two miles southwest of Amarillo AFB. The crewmen were Capt. Rex Witzel, 35, Oklahoma City, pilot; Capt. Edward Sten, 33, Raymond Center, Wis., co-pilot; and A. C. Stratford, 20, Livonia, Mich. A team of flying safety officers from the Strategic Air Command arrived soon after the crash to check.

An airman said the huge plane approached the Amarillo field in a normal glide path with its landing gear down, apparently without difficulty. "Suddenly he looked like he flew right into the ground... the plane became a bog of flames," the airman said. The bomber clipped off a telephone pole and lost a wing before the impact. Flames engulfed the plane, trapping two of the men inside.

The third was thrown free of the plane as it hit but died a few minutes later. The control tower said the plane has been given clearance for an instrument landing, but gave no indication it was in trouble.

Just Wait Awhile

Texas weather during 1956 is consistent. It has been warm, fair and dry all week and the Weather Bureau says no change is in view. Skies were clear over the state early Wednesday with temperatures ranging from 22 at Salt Flat to 59 at Brownsville. The closest thing to a rain was a light sprinkle at Del Rio Tuesday morning.

Commissioners Map '56 Paving Program

A 22-mile paving program for 1956 was mapped Tuesday by county commissioners. It will involve about $140,000. The count voted to contract the construction of 10 miles of the permanent roads. Another 12 miles—and possibly more—will be constructed by county crews, according to the program. In addition, the county will complete about a mile of paving in the city of Coahoma. That project was part of the 1955 program, but has not been undertaken. Commissioners agreed that the various roads will be constructed only if owners of adjoining land give right-of-way for the improvements.

The 1956 program includes seven projects included are: From a point on the old San Angelo a mile south of Wason corner, west five miles. From the Moore School road—U. S. 87 intersection three miles north of Big Spring, also west five miles. From Forsan to U. S. 87, three miles. From Big Spring east to the Moss Creek Lake Road, two and a half miles along Lover's Lane. From the Gall Highway eastward

Phone Strike Talks Resume

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Union and company officials, optimistic after a night session, meet again today in an effort to settle the strike against the General Telephone Co. of the Southwest. The company and Communications Workers of America men said last night "Progress was being made toward a satisfactory settlement."

Woman Reported Held As Hostage

TEMPLE (AP)—Police Sgt. Clyde Dillon said about 20 officers had surrounded a home in the north part of Temple where a woman was being held hostage by a relative. Dillon said the relative was armed with a gun. "We're standing by until a tear gas gun comes over from Waco," Dillon said. The sergeant said police had no details of the incident. He said they were notified by another relative in Temple and had received a second call from a relative in Dallas.

Copyreader Called In Red Press Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee called a New York copyreader today as it resumed its hunt for traces of Communist infiltration of the press, radio and television.

Starting three days of public hearings, the subcommittee said several witnesses had been subpoenaed but named only James Glaser, subcommittee source said he was expected to be a cooperative witness.

Glaser was identified by the subcommittee as a former managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker. That reportedly was in the mid-1930s. He once was a copyreader for the New York Times and now holds a similar job with the New York Post.

A number of past or present employees of the Times reportedly have been called to testify in the subcommittee inquiry. The Senate group held closed hearings in New York a month ago, but has not identified witnesses it questioned at that time.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) told newsmen in advance of the new hearings:

"We are investigating communism. The investigation is not aimed at any one newspaper or at newspapers, but is aimed at communism."

He said the current hearings are part of a series "designed to follow up information developed last summer during the examination of Winston Burdett and other former members of a Communist cell in the Brooklyn Eagle."

Burdett, a CBS newsmen, testified last June that in 1937 he had joined a Communist unit at the now-closed Eagle. He named a dozen former employees of the newspaper whom he said he had known then as fellow Communists. He also named 10 other persons he said he had known or believed to be Communists in 1937-40. He said he broke with the Communists before joining the CBS staff.

Moviemaker's Ex Sues For Alimony, Aid

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The former wife of movie producer Howard Hawks, 58, has filed suit for unpaid alimony and child support payments. Mrs. Nancy Gross Hayward, 38, now the wife of Broadway theatrical producer Leland Hayward, stated in the suit filed yesterday that Hawks did not live up to a 1948 divorce agreement. She said he owes $50,000 in installments and $500 a month support of their child Kitty, 9.

State Board Studies School Property Use

AUSTIN (AP)—A committee of the State Board of Education met today to look into "more effective and extensive use of school properties," including a 12-month school program.

Several months ago, the board set up the committee and authorized an advisory committee to study "effective use of school properties and instructional personnel."

Included among topics today were uses of the schools by other community agencies, use of the schools during school hours and problems involved in a 12-month school program.

Other subjects were possible reassignment of functions of teachers and a sharing of services of personnel, transportation and maintenance specialists.

The board heard reports yesterday from its chairman, Thomas Ramey of Tyler, and a member, Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, on the White House Conference on Education last month.

Metcalfe said some type of federal control over public schools is inevitable unless local and state school boards solve their problems.

Texas' delegation opposed federal aid and federal control over the public schools and Ramey pointed out what he thought was the basic reason:

"Texas' unanimity at the conference was because the state had faced up to the problem of supporting the schools and had gone a long way to providing the legal groundwork for the school system to operate."

Icy Air Chills Midwest Areas

Fresh blasts of icy air sent temperatures tumbling to subzero levels in northern Midwest areas today.

The cold air extended over most of the north central region and was accompanied by snow in some sections. It was below zero in northern Minnesota. More than an inch of snow fell in Upper Michigan during the night.

Snowfall, however, was much heavier in the northeast section of the country. The fall at Utica, N.Y., measured 7 inches and was 6 inches at Albany. There was some warming and above freezing readings turned the snow into slush.

Snow continued in sections of New York and New England, with falls around an inch in most areas in the early morning. Falls yesterday extended from central New York to southern Maine. Rain and fog also hit the Northeast region and curtailed air and highway travel.

Suspected Killer Arraigned On Fugitive, Weapon Charge

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A former mental patient, who admitted killing a Texas A&M student, was arraigned today as a fugitive from Texas and for possessing a deadly weapon.

Two Texas officials arrived last night with a murder warrant and questioned Ronald Menter Sr., 22, who waived extradition.

The warrant brought by Ranger John Kleveland and Sheriff Albert Fletcher of Waller County seeks Menter's return to Texas in the slaying of Jan David Broderick.

Broderick, 20, of the Canal Zone, was shot to death Friday. His body was found in a ditch near Hempstead the following day.

A motor vehicle inspector in Newark arrested Menter Sunday when he became suspicious of the youth who sold a car radio to a junk dealer for $10.

Menter, taken to headquarters for questioning and shown a bag of bullets found in the car he was driving, suddenly surprised detectives by saying he killed "that guy in Texas."

Police also found a .25 caliber gun in the car. Authorities said the car belonged to Broderick.

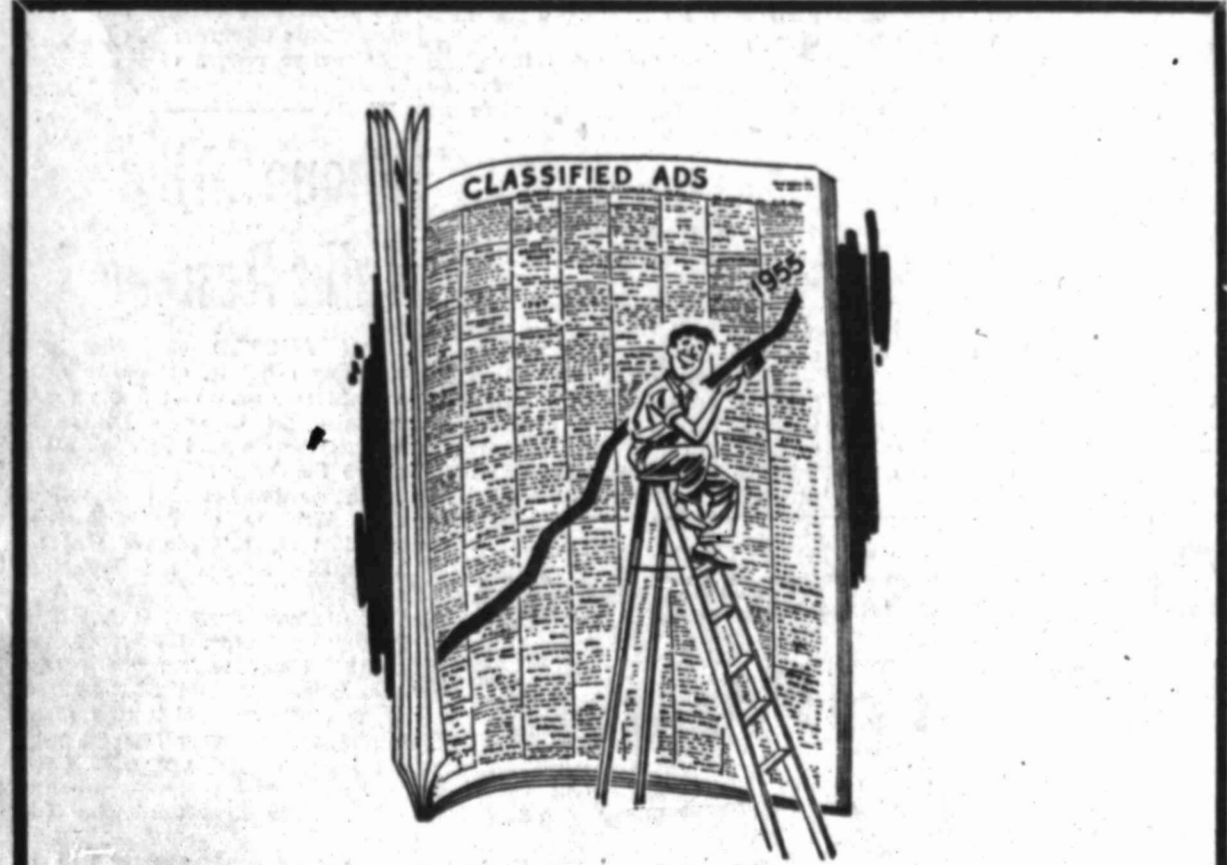

Menter signed a statement, police said, in which he told of meeting Broderick in a tavern and driving with him towards Houston. After some drinking, the two argued and the shooting followed.

Police quoted Menter as saying he was reared as a state ward in New Hampshire and that he spent four months in a mental hospital after a nervous breakdown.

HEADQUARTERS OF J. Y. ROBB SPREAD
Cluster of buildings looks like small village

First Part Of Robb Farm Was Acquired From T&P In 1920

The identification of the J. Y. Robb Farm last week was a push-over for Herald readers, as dozens of people have been to the big farm's ranch headquarters just northwest of Lomax.

The land was originally a virgin tract belonging to the T. & P. Railroad. Back in 1920 when the company was selling land to farmers, Robb and his father bought their first 640 acres. It was in pasture then, and in the years following they bought more land, always choosing tracts that would keep the expanding farm in a compact shape.

At present the place contains 3,310 acres. The north boundary starts in at the railroad and runs south several miles. At present 1,500 acres are in cultivation and the rest is short-grass rangeland.

The pasture land is rather scenic and contains some of the wet-weather lakes that run like a string of beads through the place. The largest lake, just south of the railroad, holds water almost the year around. A few summers ago it went dry and hundreds of small fish died. During the last few years the banks along the water have grown up in salt cedar to give the lake the appearance of having a humid climate.

As long as the lake holds water, getting livestock water is no problem. At one time L. H. Batton, the farm manager, was interested in breaking out a small field just southeast of the lake and irrigating it. However, a land survey showed the soil to be fairly shallow, and the uncertainty of having enough water in the lake when it was needed for crops finally decided him against the venture.

The cropland has produced about the same as other land around Lomax. Some years were good and some bad, but yields were fairly high until the last long drought set in. Cotton growing has not been stressed so much as on some of the smaller farms. The pasture was always stocked with cattle, and grain and cultivated pastures could always be utilized for livestock.

Batton served as farm manager for about 10 years and was always interested in trying new crops for this area. About every kind of legume grown in West Texas was given a trial on the Robb farm. Some of them paid off in increased soil fertility, while others withered from the dry soil and hot winds. One new crop that did fit into their livestock farming was abuzzi rye. It was sown on a large field every autumn and except for extremely dry winters always furnished good grazing for the cattle. Batton observed several times that abuzzi rye was more productive on sandy land than either wheat or oats.

The headquarters of the place could be mistaken for a small village if a near-sighted motorist came upon it suddenly. Besides the main house, there are smaller houses for the Latin-American workers, implement and livestock

All Is Woe In Herring Roe

TOKYO (AP)—All is woe in herring roe.

Grocers' shelves are piled high with dried roe cakes, traditional New Year's Day fare in Japan. The delicacy is called "kazunoko" (little children) and is thought to promote fertility.

Lately the herring have deserted Japanese fishing grounds for more northern waters, near Soviet territory.

The catch of herring roe has fallen off—a third of the 1954 catch and a 33rd of the bumper harvests of the 1920s.

The demand was considered so strong and the supply so short that prices spiraled. Thousands of Japanese went without this New Year's.

Their boycott brought the price down from the level of caviar to fish meal. The nation's leading economic paper said Tokyo grocers alone are stuck with 83,000 pounds, enough to furnish about half the tables in the metropolis.

"New Year's is over; we don't need it," one housewife said.

Said another, "I never liked the taste anyway."

EL PASO (AP)—An investigation into the shooting of an Illinois airman continued today after police released one of the victim's close friends after questioning.

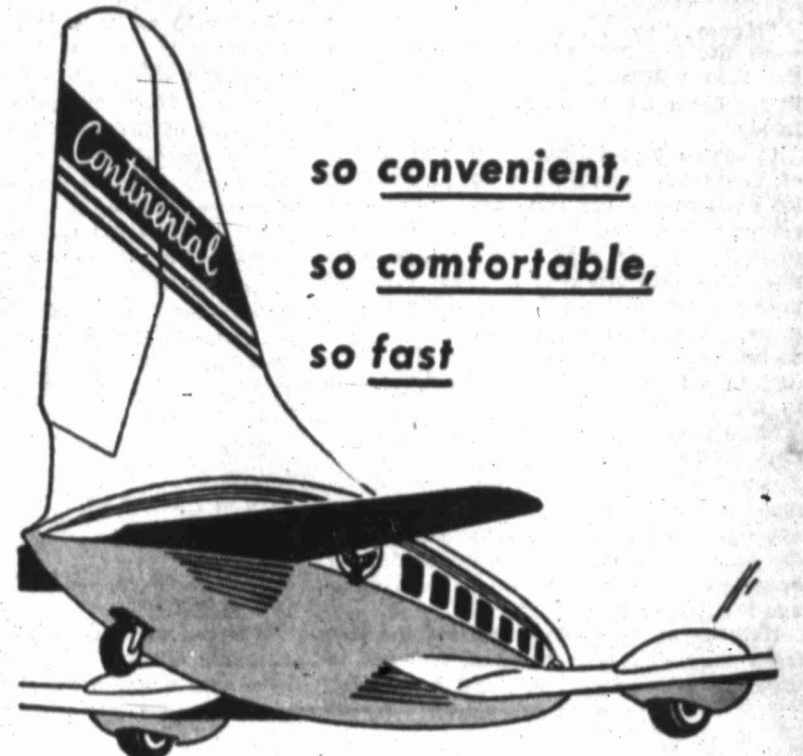

Sgt. Walker Burnett of Champaign, Ill., was shot dead Monday night in a Biggs Air Force Base housing project. He was believed to have been searching the neighborhood for his family.

Authorities released Sgt. Edwin Benveniste, who said he thought Burnett was a prowler.

'GOVERN OR QUIT'

Conservative Press Lashes Eden 'Lack' Of Leadership

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's waning prestige with the Conservative press hit a new low today when the Daily Sketch advised him either to supply the "guts of leadership" or quit.

The tabloid strongly supported Eden and his Conservative party in the national election only eight months ago. Today, in a front-page editorial, it accused him of "feebleness and fumbling" toward foreign policy problems and Britain's worsening inflation.

"If he does not tackle inflation, his days in Downing Street (the official residence of the Prime Minister) are numbered," the Sketch declared.

The editorial said members of Eden's own party are saying, "If he cannot make up his mind to govern, let him make up his mind to go."

In later editions the Sketch toned its editorial down considerably but still said the Prime Minister's critics complain that he "will do nothing until he is shoved into it, that he drifts rather than makes decisions."

The blast in the Sketch climaxed a week of severe criticism during which even the staunchly Conservative Daily Telegraph and Daily Mail turned on Eden, once their fair-haired boy.

The Telegraph said yesterday his government "has lost both decisiveness and prestige."

The Mail said the government's good name abroad had suffered seriously because of the recent disclosure that surplus British tanks and other weapons had been going to Egypt via Belgium in a series of under-the-counter deals.

Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition Labor party, has demanded the recall of Parliament from its holiday recess so the arms disclosures could be debated before Eden and Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd went to Washington at the end of the month.

Eden turned that demand down but said the government would publish a white paper giving the facts. Earlier this week the government announced such surplus was material could be sold to foreign countries only if they guaranteed that it would not be used for military purposes.

The Laborite Daily Herald said Eden's refusal to permit a quick debate "tends fresh color to the fear that the government has been concealing facts known to it and has deliberately misled Parliament and the people."

Faure Pushes Cabinet Reform

PARIS (AP)—Facing a new National Assembly even more divided than the last, Premier Edgar Faure today pushed a renewed drive for a system to extend the life span of France's Cabinets.

Monday's vote badly weakened the moderate center parties which in various coalitions had supported Faure and France's other premiers since 1947.

The big gainers were the Communists—with whom all other factions so far have refused to work—and a new party of small shopkeepers elected on a promise to "throw the rascals out."

Its leader, Pierre Poujade, hinted yesterday he might be ready to support Faure, but it was too early for that move to show any results. Poujade made plain, however, that he wants nothing to do with the Premier's rival for leadership of the Assembly's divided moderate majority—Pierre Mendes-France.

Faure said in a radio broadcast that the hostility to Parliament—he probably had Poujade in mind—was the result of France's frequent Cabinet changes.

"That is why," he added, "the results of the elections absolutely confirm my view that we must get a very rapid reform for our institutions."

Faure has proposed that if the Assembly votes out a Cabinet within two years, it must go back to the voters for a new mandate. Whether a majority can be found in the new Assembly to change the constitution is another question.

Mendes-France and his chief allies, the Socialists, had nothing to say on the subject at this stage.

Squeezed between the Communists and Poujadists, the middle of the road groups are under pressure to make up their differences for the sake of survival. Whether they can forget all the bitter things said in the campaign may only become apparent after Jan. 19, when the new Assembly meets and starts to organize.

A Bible Thought For Today

And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The Kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our LORD, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever. (Rev. 11:5)

Editorial

The Double Saving Of Prevention

"Money, time . . . and some politics." were the factors involved in running up the $150 million property damage done in Northern California from last month's floods.

It seems that California is way ahead of Texas in making plans for harnessing its streams for the combined purpose of controlling floods, irrigating crops and providing water supplies for municipalities. The California plan calls for 270 major dams costing $10 to $15 billion over a period of years. (The floods of last month sent an estimated 34 million acres of water tearing a destructive path to the sea.)

More than four years ago the California Legislature authorized the $1.5 billion Feather River Dam, but last year it refused because of "politics" to make an appropriation. Had that dam been ready, the small town of Yuba City would have been spared the $38 million in flood damage it suffered in December.

Had the lost 84 million acre feet of water from the rains been trapped and put to use, the experts say, it could have been sold for $3 an acre foot for irrigation or $25 an acre foot for city use. Instead, it became a $150 million destroyer.

It has been estimated that about 80 per cent of the water that falls on West Texas during years of normal rainfall eventually finds its way to the Gulf. Quite often it does a lot of damage on its journey, as happened with two branches of the Brazos in West Texas last summer.

There is only one answer to destructive floods: manmade controls. These consist of many things besides dams. Soil conservation practices play no inconsiderable role. Reforestation and prevention of forest fires also are important.

That $150 million lost from floods in California last month would have taken care of a lot of long-term money for dam construction. The billion dollars lost in New England last year would have financed a lot of preventive works over a period of years.

Water development and highway construction are our two big problems. In the long haul water development stands first.

Farm Issue Shapes As The Hottest

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, whose rate of progress from last July's heart attack will permit him to continue as Senate majority leader, teed off on Secretary of Agriculture Benson on the eve of the new session of Congress when he called the low level farm income "the No. 1 trouble spot" before the 1956 session.

It is generally admitted—even by some Republican leaders—that their program has been a failure and has got to be reworked. . . something has to be done early in the session. The Texas floods of last month sent an estimated 34 million acres of water tearing a destructive path to the sea.

He said the Senate will be asked to act early on a cure for "three years of Bensonizing the farmers."

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), a member of the Agriculture Committee, predicted the farm program to be submitted by the administration "will cause the hottest battle in the Senate this session." He opposes the flexible price support system backed by President Eisenhower and Secretary Benson.

Thirteen Democratic senators issued a joint statement over the weekend urging government action to prop up livestock prices, saying the administration has not kept its 1952 pledge to give "equal treatment" to raisers of perishable commodities.

Republican leaders, as Senator Johnson said, do indeed recognize the farm problem as being full of political dynamite, though not necessarily blaming it all on the administration's program.

Doing something about it is a political must, though just what can be done or will be done is anybody's guess. If farm prices, of their own accord, would start to rise soon and continue to rise through the summer, it would be the biggest break any Republican administration ever got.

New View On Children-Consumer Goods

At a holiday gathering, two women, gray-haired and fitful, were in a get-acquainted conversation. "Do you have any children?" one asked. A moment later, two younger women, about 30, were also getting acquainted. Came a variant of the same question: "How many children do you have?"

Two decades make the difference. The middle-aged women were part of the era of the 'twenties and 'thirties, the era of childless marriages and small families. Their conversation didn't take children for granted.

Squinted-together living in crowded cities didn't encourage child-rearing as did rambling farm houses and outdoor chores of earlier decades. Nor did the Great Depression. Unemployment, wage cuts, and falling stock prices made planned parenthood an economic necessity.

The present generation of suburban parents, nurtured by prosperity and easy credit, have no such inhibitions.

So, writes Ronald Freedman, professor at the University of Michigan and one of the country's imaginative demographers: "Voluntary childlessness seems to be disappearing. . . (There is) a reduction in the number of one-child families and an increase in two- and three-child families."

Freedman likens modern day children to "consumer goods" — TV sets, automobiles, vacations in Europe.

In Adam Smith's day, a widow with many children was highly prized in marriage—because her children, grown up, would support their mother and stepfather. They were old-age security. Also, in a country dominantly agricultural, children were farm labor. Economics encouraged large families. Then, urbanization and depression altered the large-family pattern. Now prosperity and suburbanization have brought the big family back.

To help the demographer, the population expert, cope with such unpredictable shifts Freedman suggests:

"We can gain another kind of perspective on the problem of predicting births, if we think of new children as 'consumer goods.' This may be a calloused view, but realistically many families are choosing a standard of living which involves a certain kind of car, a TV set, certain standards of housing, and a certain number of children. In a sense, all of these are to be enjoyed (and thereby consumed)."

"Children are desired for their own sake or for the satisfactions derived from family life. (Yet) there is little reason to believe that the satisfactions of family life require a continuing increase in family size. Such an increase would decrease other consumer satisfactions such as leisure and travel."

So, you have it. The future growth of the country depends on family aspirations—what husbands and wives want, what social set most of us are gravitating toward. To keep up with the Joneses or the Murgatroids, do we have to have three children, five, or eight? And do we space them at one, two, four, or six-year intervals? Or do we prefer two-car garages with cars in them?

These are problems for urban planners and market researchers to ponder along with demographers. We must make projections of the model family—six, ten, and 20 years hence in order to estimate the need for schools, the markets for baby foods, pre-teens clothes, and the number of beds in lying-in hospitals.

This image of the child as a source of parental pleasure may be useful to a demographer in his extrapolations, but it won't abate a mother in discipline. Now, she doesn't say to her darling daughter, "After all I've done for you, you can't even take the trouble to put your dirty towel in the hamper." For daughter will reply:

"But think of the pleasure I give you!" Freedman, you've gone too far! Stick to demography! Flee the Gesell and Spock meadows!

Hollywood Review

Success Hasn't Spoiled Ernie

HOLLYWOOD — One evening last week Ernest Borgnine answered the telephone at his Van Nuys home.

"Congratulations," said the voice at the other end. "You have just been voted the best actor of the year by the New York movie critics."

"That's nice," said Ernie.

Later he and his wife were sitting before the television set, as is their nightly custom. "Do you realize what happened?" she asked.

"Yeah," he replied, "and it scares me."

You can understand why he was flabbergasted. Two years ago, he was just another struggling actor having fair success at earning a living. Then came Fatso in "From Here to Eternity." That turned him into one of Hollywood's busiest character actors.

"Marty" changed his life again. This time he emerged as a star. The New York critics' prize is one of many honors that come to him and the picture.

had some time to recover. "It's more amazing when you consider that I was up against some really top actors like Alec Guinness, James Cagney, Frank Sinatra and James Dean.

"The Academy? I can't even think of it. I've already had the frosting on my cake."

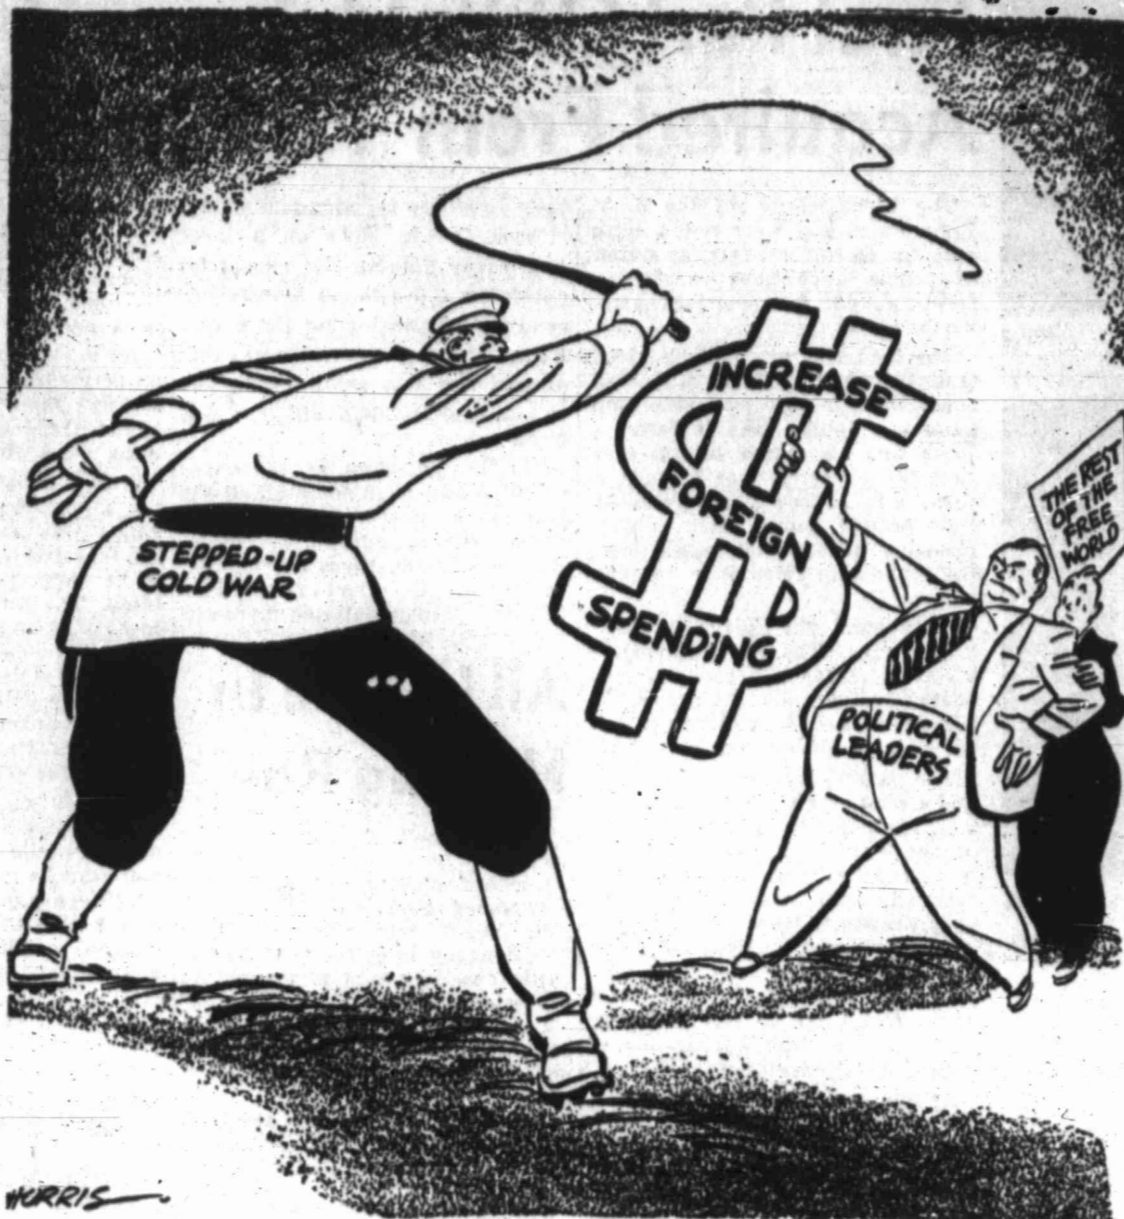

Ernie has that rare quality in Hollywood: genuine humility. It's not the phony kind of modesty you generally find here. He never ceases to be grateful for the help he has been given or to be amazed at the success he has made.

There is no evidence that success has spoiled him. He still lives quietly with his wife and their daughter, 3½, in his seven-room valley home. He paid $23,500 for it, he reports.

One of his wires of congratulation said: "Better tear out the rose garden and put in a swimming pool." But Ernie rebels at that symbol of Hollywood success.

"I've got air conditioning," he said. "That should keep us cool in the summer."

First Thought In A Crisis

James Marlow

Ike's Shadow Falls Over Congress

WASHINGTON — The shadow of President Eisenhower fell across the opening of Congress just as vividly as if he had been there instead of in Florida recuperating from a heart attack.

Until he says whether he'll run again, the Republicans in Congress will be confused. They'll probably be more confused if he says he won't run. They have no other leader and none is in sight.

The Democrats are in a strange position too. Eisenhower's answer on running may determine the spirit with which they fight in 1956. Their best chance of winning the presidency is if he doesn't run.

So, in Congress, they cannot escape some uncertainty about themselves, their tactics and their hopes until Eisenhower makes his plans known.

They have a program for themselves, and the best they can do, whether or not Eisenhower tries again, is push for that and then go before the voters with the usual election year cry of "what good little boys are we."

They'll get shot at the party and the Eisenhower administration. But they're pretty tongue-tied on the subject of Eisenhower himself and probably will continue to be. He's an immensely popular president. Assaulting him might get a sour response.

And whether or not he runs they'll have to be careful about gunning for a man recovering from a heart attack, although they'll probably find ways of suggesting, if he does run, that a second term for him would be a national risk.

When Eisenhower sends Congress his State of the Union message tomorrow—outlining his and the party's program for 1956—he'll give his fellow Republicans a sense of direction for the rest of the year.

Pushing for his program—if he runs—is the best thing they can do for themselves because then they can hope to ride into office on his coattails.

If he doesn't run? The Republicans shudder to think of it. But strangely enough the two parties are so close in their thinking that any program coming out of Congress this year will be a combination of both parties' doing.

This is going to make it tough on the voters when the politicians of both parties, once the campaign begins, start making claims about their achievements in Congress in 1956.

(Leap) Year Of Compromise

NEW YORK — Curbstone comments by a pavement Plato: Leap Year in 1956 finds America's lovelorn ladies in a terrible pickle.

There never really are enough good men go around. This year there aren't enough men of any kind.

An expert has estimated there are now 20 million women eligible for marriage in the United States, but only 17 million men.

What do these figures mean? Let's face it, ladies. They add up to a disheartening fact—demand exceeds supply. Competition will be keener than ever. It is, for once, truly a man's world—at least for single men. The rascals have a real edge. To win them you will have to woo them harder than ever.

To catch a man this Leap Year a girl may have to do more than leap. She may also have to hop, skip, gallop, go at a dead run, throw a lasso—or even learn to use an insect net to imprison the butterfly male of her choice.

This brings up the primary problem. Who will be the man of her choice? Many a big game hunter who goes out after bear returns home with a rabbit and, if he is a philosopher, tries to be contented. After all, he has had the thrill of the chase—and he did bag something.

A common-sense girl will seek to follow this same philosophy. When it comes to husband hunting in 1956, this must be the year of "the great feminine compromise."

The crop of potential husbands is not only small in quantity. It also leaves much to be asked for in terms of quality.

The depressing truth is that the present lot of bachelors is about the most worthless, self-centered bunch of responsibility dodgers in history. All they do is eat off their married friends, refuse to help with the dishes, and then go home and watch television.

(Editor's note: The real truth is that Boyle is envious of all bachelors.)

(Boyle's note: And so are you!) Naturally every average girl dreams of marrying a tall, dark, and handsome millionaire. But in the matrimonial sweepstakes this kind of target is a rarity.

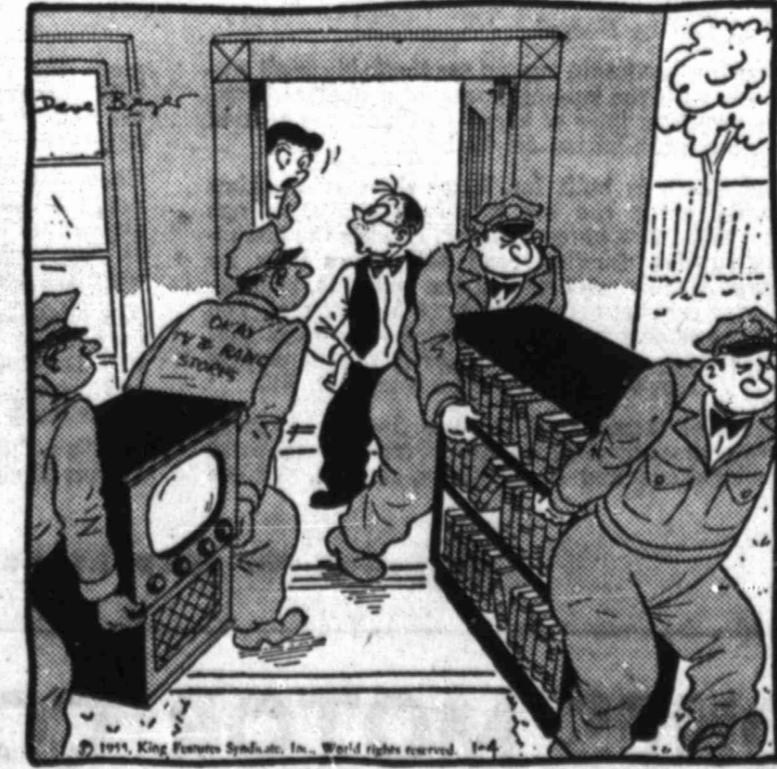

For one thing, few millionaires are tall, dark and handsome. For another thing, most millionaires are already married—or already paying alimony to two ex-wives and unwilling to grubstake a third. And finally, the last person the average millionaire wants to marry is an average girl. (If he marries an average girl, he does it before he is a millionaire.)

Is there no hope for the average girl, then? Of course, there is. Her natural target is the average guy. How can she find him? Very simple.

She should walk up to the first single man she can discover, and listen closely. Is he breathing? Good. He has passed the first test with flying colors.

(Tomorrow: How a maid can best land a man.)

Mr. Breger

"But, honey — we're not gonna need it any more . . . !"

Around The Rim

Phonics Sometimes Confusing

Every family has its store of stories of how some member of the circle came up with a humorous twist to some name or phrase by misunderstanding the phonetics.

I recall that on one occasion, when a kid, I stood my father down that Columbus' given name was not Christopher, as some historians were wont to claim, but Jim. When pinned down, I pulled my ace out of the hole: "Why it's in the song, 'Columbia, Gem of the Ocean.'"

Dr. B. Gage Lloyd, the Presbyterian pastor, tells of the youngster who insisted that the Saviour's name was John. No amount of Biblical evidence supporting the accepted name of Jesus Christ would suffice, for this child also has heard a song at Christmas time: "Round John Virgin, Mother and Child, etc. . . ."

In the same category, I recall the story of the child who, in response to a query about what she had learned at Sunday School, volunteered that her class had studied about the cross-eyed bear, which was the pet of the Lord. It developed that the class had been singing: "Gladly, His Cross I'd Bear."

Then you doubtless have heard of the child, when offering the blessing or saying nightly prayers, always addressed them to

Harold. Even if this could have been God's given name, the parents thought it a little on the familiar side. The youngster was firm, however, for that's the way he had been taught how the Master prayed: "Our Father, which art in Heaven, Harold be thy name . . ."

Thirty years after she had heard it sung incessantly, my sister-in-law asked my wife to sing a certain number again. When the line "First you put your two knees" turned up, she clapped her hand over her mouth and a great light broke over her face. "Oh my goodness, I always thought that was Tunice, and I didn't know what Tunice was."

I was grown before I made a great discovery. One day I read of farmers feeding pig melons (those abominable solid green trawsties of the watermelon family) to livestock. I had always regarded them as pine melons.

Sometimes mis-pronouncement may become so widely established that you had best leave it alone. I learned this when I looked up the correct spelling on algebraic berry that tart morsel which grows on the holly-like native of this area. When I wrote about agaria, nobody knew what it was. I capitulated, especially when I found we had an Algerita Street.

On The Liberation Of Eastern Europe

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is "one up" on Khrushchev in the latest exchange of comments. For it is significant that the American point of view about the liberation of the peoples of Eastern Europe is at last penetrating the Iron Curtain. It is apparent also that the Kremlin is more sensitive on this particular situation than has been realized heretofore.

For many months now the President and Secretary of State Dulles have been hammering away at the idea of "liberation" of the captive peoples. When it was first mentioned in the presidential campaign of 1952, political opponents, motivated by blind partisanship, disparaged the proposal and immediately charged that the Eisenhower administration would try to impose the "liberation" policy by force. Certain sections of the British Western European press accepted that interpretation and have ever since been misrepresenting the American position by attempting to pin a war label on American foreign policy. This has given Communist radio commentators plenty of ammunition.

But there has never been any deviation from the original position, which is that the United States intends to use moral force only — not military force — to help attain the objective of liberation of the captive peoples.

Moral force means constant discussion in the court of world opinion. It means adherence to principle and to ideals of freedom. It means renewed emphasis on the slavery imposed in the Soviet satellite states, and it means encouragement and stimulus to the peoples there, so that some day they will rise up against their tyrannical masters and achieve their freedom.

In the world-wide debate naive individuals like Nehru of India will no doubt continue to close their eyes to the slavery under "Russian colonialism." Even some American members of Congress, anxious to make political capital, talk glibly about the need for ridding Asia of "Western colonialism," but they do not point up the real crime of the century — the enslavement of the peoples of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Rumania, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and Red China as well as Soviet Russia.

For history reveals that never at any time, under the most extreme cases of colonial rule by western powers, has any such interference with human liberty been practiced as is the case today behind the Iron Curtain.

The peoples enslaved by the Communists are living in hope today that the peoples of Western countries will give them moral help. So it has been a cardinal principle in America's psychological-warfare program to keep that subject alive. It has been difficult to do so in the face of some of the partisan criticism from Democrats who profess to be interested in winning friends in Asia but who have, curiously enough, overlooked the importance of winning friends for democracy in Eastern Europe. Mr. Eisenhower delivered a master stroke in the public statement issued last Friday when he said:

"The peaceful liberation of the captive peoples has been, is, and, until success is achieved, will continue to be a major goal of United States foreign policy."

This same thought was expressed by the President at the Geneva "summit conference" last July as follows:

"There is the problem of respecting the right of peoples to choose the form of government under which they live, and of restoring sovereign rights and self-government to those who have been deprived of them. The American people feel strongly that certain peoples of Eastern Europe, many with a long and proud record of national existence, have not yet been given the benefit of this pledge of our United Nations wartime declaration, reinforced by other wartime agreements."

The President's new statement declares that "it was made abundantly clear at Geneva to the Soviet rulers that the 'spirit of Geneva' could not and did not involve any relaxing of the peaceful purpose of the United States to achieve liberty and justice for the oppressed peoples of the world."

So, when Khrushchev denounces, as "a violation of the Geneva spirit," the President's comment in this Christmas Day message, it is evident that the Communist leader has conveniently ignored what was said to him face-to-face by the President of the United States. In this exchange Soviet Russia comes out on the losing end. For all the world has a record of what was said at Geneva. The Russian ruler, by his criticism, has played into the hands of America's psychological-warfare strategists — a significant victory for the United States on a moral issue.

Television And Radio

One Kind Of Courage

LARCHMONT, N. Y. — There are all kinds of courage. Here is one kind.

Take a 38-year-old man in a gray flannel suit who lives in a comfortable home in the suburbs with his wife and five children, ranging from 1 to 13 years old. Send him down to the station five mornings a week to catch a New York-bound train to a well-paying advertising agency job which he thoroughly detests.

Let his feet drag more loathfully each morning. Let his distaste for the things he does at his job each day increase steadily. But let him never forget that he loves his wife and children and wants to provide for them. Finally let him be physically nauseated one morning at the prospect of his job.

Then he and his wife sit down and agree that the only thing for him to do is to quit his job and be a freelance television writer.

Today, nearly a year later, Phil Reisman Jr. is one of the rising new generation of television script writers. It's true that he owns neither a yacht nor a country house—but then he never wanted them. The point is that the kids are eating regularly and the bills are paid on time. Most important, Phil Reisman is a happy man.

Reisman has just turned in his most recent script to David Susskind, executive producer of Armstrong Circle Theater—who names him among the most promising writers "discoveries" of the past year. "It's a factual account of eight hours on the women's ward of St. Luke's Hospital in New York, the fifth script he's sold in nine months.

Before somebody who has a yen to be a TV writer and hates his job decides to emulate Reisman and become a free-lance, he should be reminded that Reisman has been a professional writer for many years.

After graduating from Brown University in 1930, he spent a dozen years as a writer for Pathe minus a three-year hitch in the Marines during World War II. He wrote several movies before the advertising agency swallowed him.

"And now," he says, "it's good to be free. I try to turn my own personal interests into producible writing. So sometimes I'm in danger of having unproductive ideas, of course."

IN POLITICS

Nehru's Daughter Makes Life Of Own

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, is rapidly moving from a life as her father's official hostess to a political life of her own. Mrs. Gandhi, 35, takes after her father in many ways—in facial appearance, in sophisticated mental makeup, in sudden bursts of temper, in her manner before large, adoring crowds. As a Nehru, she draws these crowds wherever she goes. The Nehru family long has been identified with the Indian independence movement, and with the Congress party which led the fight. Mrs. Gandhi's initiation to public life was in this movement. Her interest in independence never subsided as she traveled from Indian schools to Swiss academies and then to Britain's Oxford, where she studied history. Back in India in 1942 she married a young lawyer, Feroz Gandhi. He is no relation to the late leader of the Indian independence movement, Mohandas K. Gandhi. Mrs. Gandhi—with her two sons, Rajiv, now 11, and Sanjay, now 9—moved in to become her widowed father's official hostess when he became prime minister in 1947. Her husband, a newspaper executive and member of Parliament, remained close but appeared to take a back seat.

Early this year she stepped fully on the political stage. She was selected to the 21-member Congress Working Committee, the high command of the Congress, India's biggest party. Her political emergence was confirmed by two later developments: She received more votes than any other candidate elected to the Congress party's 11-member Central Elections Committee, which will pick candidates and plan strategy for the 1957 elections. She acted as chairman for a special government committee which arranged the reception for Soviet Russia's two visiting leaders, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev. There is talk her father is grooming her to be his chief aide. There is talk she perhaps holds ideas to the left of her father's. Many observers disagree with these viewpoints, but all concede she is becoming a political force in India.

Injured was Jimmy Don Clanton, 2, who suffered a blow on the head. Dickie Gregory, 14, also received bruises but was not hospitalized. Involved in the collision were a driver training car from Big Spring Junior High School, driven by Charles Eagle, also 14, and an auto driven by Mrs. Helen McKee Clanton, Sterling City, Mo. Sheriff's Deputy Tommy Cole said the collision occurred as the two vehicles met at the top of a steep hill. The front of Mrs. Clanton's car and left side of the driver training vehicle were damaged. Jimmy Clanton and his four-year-old brother, Kenny Clanton, were riding with their mother, Gregory, Preston and Eston Hollis and instructor John Moreland were riding with Eagle. Front of Walker's car and side of Mrs. Simpson's machine were damaged in the crash at the FM 700-U. S. 80 intersection west of Big Spring. Mrs. Simpson was attempting to cross Highway 80 at the time, Cole said.

C-C Directors Back Interstate Roads Program

Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday evening gave their blessing to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce proposal for an expanded national highway program. The local chamber concurred on a program of stepping up interstate and other essential highway construction. There was some division of opinion on whether to support U. S. bonds for the program, but even if this were necessary a majority of the board favored the step. The Chamber also went on record supporting the county tax reallocation program. R. H. Weaver, county judge, explained that the proposal did not involve any additional tax, merely a reshuffling of the present levies to put more in the general fund where the greatest demands are. Under the present arrangement, the county ended the fiscal year with the general fund in the red while having $200,000 balance in other funds. Holdover directors will meet Monday noon to return 45 nominations for directors. From these, members will choose 15 directors to serve two-year terms. The board then will select 10 others for one year. The directors also voted to sponsor, together with Howard County Junior College, a course on fundamentals of supervision. The course will be offered at HCJC to operators and supervisors of local businesses. It will be a 15-hour course lasting one week.

ASC Now Taking Applications For Conservation Aid

The Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office has announced it is now prepared to take applications for conservation practices to be performed by farmers and ranchers of the county this year. The handbooks distributed by the ASC list the practices which farmers can perform and receive government aid in financing. But before the farm and ranch operators can receive the aid, they must file their applications. Although financial aid will not be given until completion of the practice, the application must be filed with the ASC office prior to initiating the project. If the projects are contract jobs, Gabe Hammack, director of the ASC here, said the government aid usually is given shortly after completion of the project, but the practice of the project, and the farm, all operators are paid at the same time of the year.

Harriman Hands Program To New York Legislature

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, his eyes on the White House, placed before the Legislature today a program calling for widespread social welfare benefits, a "substantial" income-tax cut and pay boosts for state workers and teachers. He told the Senate and Assembly in his second annual message opening the 1956 session of the Legislature that he expected state revenue to reach an all-time high in the new year. In the same breath he said expenditures also would rise. He did not spell out how much of a reduction in state personal income taxes he would seek. This he left to his budget message to be submitted Feb. 1. Neither was he specific on how much he wanted to increase teachers' salaries and other forms of state aid to education. But he detailed to a considerable extent the social welfare phases of his legislative program. The governor, who formerly worked for Presidents Roosevelt and Truman and who is an avowed but not an "active" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, urged: 1. Liberalization of workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance and sickness disability benefits. 2. Higher minimum wages. 3. A concerted assault on poverty. 4. Tightening of the antidiscrimination law with respect to housing. 5. Improved housing and health facilities for migrant workers. 6. Steps to protect small and medium-size businesses from being squeezed to death by big business.

Airliner Fire Bomb Is Found

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An Army bomb disposal expert said today that a small metal object found aboard a TWA airliner carrying 32 persons at Columbus, Ohio, was "some sort of incendiary device" and that it was "loaded."

Capt. G. A. Sather of the 14th Bomb Disposal Detachment said the object was similar to a shotgun shell in that it had to be set off. He said that no firing device was found in the instrument.

The object was discovered yesterday afternoon in an aisle of the plane by the pilot, Tyle Ryan. He kept it with him until he reached Wheeling, W. Va., when he gave it to an airport official. It was turned over to police, who called in the FBI. Sather was called in by the FBI.

Sather said he had requested TWA officials in Chicago to check the plane there for any further clues. The plane made a round trip from Chicago via Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, and Wheeling, W. Va., to Washington.

Sather said he had not been able to determine where the object was made nor the chemical content of the powder found in it. He said his preliminary tests showed the powder "burned with a high flame."

Uncle Ray: Sheep Seek High Places For Sleep

By RAMON COFFMAN

"Millions of sheep browse in the pastures of the world—and many of them are allowed to roam where they will. For months at a stretch, they may live and rest far from any barn or shed.

Q. Where do sheep spend the night?

A. "When sheep have their own way, they tend to seek high ground at night. If the pasture affords only a small hill, they go to the top—or near to the top, to take their rest. On the side of a mountain, they go far upward and stay until morning.

Q. Why this instinct?

A. This instinct doubtless comes from the wild ancestors of sheep, which are believed to have done some good thing long ago. We can gain a good idea of what the ancestors of domestic sheep were like by observing wild sheep which live today.

Q. What is unusual about Barbary sheep?

A. In northern Africa are the wild Barbary sheep. They live in the Atlas Mountains and other

Rotary Hears Veterinarian On Profession

Dr. Alvin Simpson, local veterinarian, discussed his profession in a talk at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday.

He outlined various phases of the field of veterinary medicine, including disease eradication and control, public health, and the treatment of injured or diseased animals.

Veterinary medicine involves the application of the same sciences that the medical doctor applies in treatment of human patients, Dr. Simpson said. Although the profession is in many centuries old, it has been only in comparatively recent history that its present high standards of proficiency were adopted.

The first school of veterinary medicine was established in this country in 1870. It was at Iowa State College. Even then the course of training was completed in one year, the speaker said.

At present, in Texas, a six-year course of approved training is required of an applicant for a veterinarian's license. There is only one veterinarian's school in Texas—Texas A&M College—although a number of other colleges offer the prescribed courses in Pre-veterinary medicine, Dr. Simpson said.

Rotarians voted in the selection of three electors to represent the club in the election of a new district governor. There are two candidates for the post, Morris Higley of Childress and Rex Webster of Lubbock. Rigdon Edwards of Sweetwater is the present district governor.

A. On our own continent we have wild sheep, the big horns. These live on western mountains. From British Columbia down to Mexico are many areas in which big horns are found. Thanks to public laws which protect them, their race has been kept alive. Without such laws, hunters might have killed the last of them. A big horn ram may weigh 300 pounds, and may be three and a half feet tall at the shoulders.

Budgett Quads Due Birthday On Friday

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff

The Budgett quads—their four very pretty young ladies now—look forward to a different kind of birthday Feb. 1.

Their 17th birthday at their two-story Galvestone home may be the same sort of quiet affair as yours or mine.

No TV newsreel cameramen aiming their machines as gifts are unwrapped, no living room interviews with reporters, no strangers. At least that's the outlook right now. It could change, and if it does Joan, Joyce, Geraldine and Jeannette will understand. They'll smile and talk about their ambitions, boy friends, and how they're different from each other. That's been their life and they accept it.

But a quiet birthday at home with the family, and maybe some boys, would be fun. "We don't plan a party," says their mother, Mrs. W. Ellis Budgett, in what you could call a hopeful tone.

In a way, it marks the "growing up" of the four polished and friendly girls whose birth in 1939 surprised everyone, including Mom and Pop. The big party a year ago—with about 75 guests crowding a hired hall—was the official send-off. The 17th birthday is a sort of confirmation, along with no parental fussing about lipstick and late dates.

The quads will be graduated this year from Hall High School in Galvestone. They sometimes go to school in a group, but more often they go singly or two at a time. Their dates are principally school pals. Only Joyce has a "steady." He is Ronnie Bailey, also about to get out of high school.

Any danger of the foursome being broken up by marriage? "Well, no," says Mrs. Budgett with a smile. "I don't think any of them is thinking of getting married, right now."

The girls still do some pranks, romping in the one large bedroom with its two big beds. The pillow fights and horseplay of recent years are not so frequent. Dignity comes with years.

When the Budgett family refers to "the little girls" they mean Joyce, Geraldine and Jeannette. Joan, the first-born, has always been taller. The other three are what doctors would call "identical triplets."

"Joan probably will be the most successful if she goes into business," thinks Mrs. Budgett. Joan is a little more aggressive, more inclined to think things out.

"But Joyce is the best cook," although all take turns at cooking and household chores such as washing dishes and making beds. Geraldine is the smartest dresser. Jeannette is the winsome sort, the quiet "ypse who may wind up with the handsomest man.

All of them expect to go to Baylor. Pat Neff, president of Baylor when the quads were born, gave them scholarships. Anyway, the Budgetts are Baptists. The girls are about as faithful in church attendance as you'll find among the high-tees.

The 16th birthday party was an affair because Mom and Pop had announced long before that the quads wouldn't be permitted to date until they were 18.

"But these teen-age girls, you know, they have to date," Mrs. Budgett recalls. "They had already had some dates. They get their way. They beg so."

Ike Agriculture Plan Described

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that President Eisenhower will send to Congress Monday a new plan designed to cut by as much as 20 per cent the big surplus-producing crops of corn, wheat, cotton and rice.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said the plan would work this way:

A farmer who voluntarily cooperated with the government by cutting his allotted acres would be given two choices. He could take a government certificate which he could turn into cash. Or he could receive from the government's surplus stocks a quantity of the kind of crop he grew and dispose of it as he saw fit.

The plan thus could reduce future plantings and help eliminate existing surplus stocks, the story said.

Saying the idea will be an emergency part of an over-all "soil bank" provision in the administration's projected farm legislation, the Times also reports:

The second section of the "soil bank" will be geared to long-range conservation. Payments also would be made to farmers, for acres removed from production and planted to soil-building grasses and trees.

Truck Driver Claims Woman Used His Pistol In Suicide

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A truck driver was quoted by Arkansas State Police today as saying a Texas woman used his pistol to shoot herself to death after hitching a ride on a truck.

Templeton said David Geiger, 42, of Mayo, Fla., was being held at Somerville, S.C., where he was arrested yesterday. Somerville is headquarters for the Altem Truck Line, which employs Geiger.

Geiger was picked up for questioning in the death of Mrs. Mildred Holden, 30, of Silsbee. Mrs. Holden's body was found Thursday a mile north of Gordon.

Dr. Anderson Nettleship said she was killed by a bullet fired at close range from a small caliber gun. The bullet pierced her skull.

Templeton said he was told by Sheriff Herbert Jensen of Somerville that Geiger said Mrs. Holden grabbed the pistol he carried in the truck's cab and shot herself.

Templeton said an attempt would be made to return the truck driver to Arkansas. He said the sheriff found the gun in Geiger's truck, and dug a bullet from the top of the cab. He said Jensen told him blood stains were found in the truck.

A search for a truck driver was started after state police established that Mrs. Holden was seen in a truck at San Augustine, Tex. She and a man wearing a truck driver's uniform later were seen in a cafe at Prescott, 16 miles south of the spot where her body was found, said Templeton.

Mrs. Holden hitchhiked last Wednesday out of Silsbee, where she had lived with her mother, Mrs. Jewell Blankenship. Mrs. Blankenship said her daughter didn't say where she was going.

Officers have failed to uncover a motive for murder. An autopsy showed no attempt was made to attack her sexually.

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A glass jug of apple cider left over from Gov. G. Mennen Williams' Christmas office party exploded while stenographers were working in the office reception room yesterday. The explosion shot the neck of the jug 30 feet across the room and showered frightened employees with glass and cider.

'Miss Universe' May Become U. S. Citizen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Miss Hillevi Romblin of Sweden, "Miss Universe of 1956," says she may become a citizen of the United States. The blue-eyed blonde registered yesterday as an alien, as required by law. Her plans, she said, include making application for U. S. citizenship provided her movie career works out.

New Westinghouse Conference Called

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Top-level disputants in the violence-ridden Westinghouse strike meet in this City of Brotherly Love today in hopes of settling a 12-week walk-out.

James Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, yesterday asked two company and two union officials to meet with him here. He gave no reason for shifting the scene of negotiations from Pittsburgh, where Westinghouse headquarters are located.

The union representatives were James B. Carey, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, and Al Hartnett, union secretary-treasurer.

Both sides gave up in despair in negotiations yesterday after club-swinging disorder broke out at a plant in Columbus, Ohio. It was the most serious of a series of picket-line disputes.

A 34-year-old picket died of a heart attack in the clash, according to the coroner, and 8 persons were hospitalized and 88 persons, including 12 women, were injured.

The union called the death of picket Troy Tadlock "murder on the picket line" and said he was beaten. County authorities said there were no marks of violence on his body.

Carroll Execut Slaying

Carroll Farrar Executed For Slaying Of Cop

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Carroll Farrar, who said "it's better to die all at once than a little at a time," was executed early today for slaying Houston policeman Fred Maddox.

Puffing away at a cigarette as guards strapped him into the electric chair, Farrar had no death chamber statement. A guard removed the cigarette, the death mask was slipped over his face, and the first current applied at 12:04 a.m. He was dead at 12:06.

Farrar appeared cheerful as he talked after his last meal of fried scallops, fried shrimp, French fried potatoes and onions, chowder, lobster salad and strawberry shortcake.

"This is the way I want it," he said. "I'm perfectly satisfied and have no malice toward anyone."

His divorced wife visited him during the day. He pointed to a lipstick smear on his collar and said, "I'm proud of that." His wife and children live in Houston.

Farrar, a quiet man of 36, said he had a burial policy with a Houston funeral home and that he had made arrangements for the firm to pick up his body after the execution.

Farrar was convicted of killing Maddox in a gun battle Feb. 24, 1954, when officers tried to arrest him for questioning about a liquor store holdup. He was on parole then from a previous prison sentence.

Teen-Agers Called Bad Drivers After Dark

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teen-agers should be prevented from driving after dark, says Dr. Elmer Hess, president of the American Medical Assn. Dr. Hess, of Erie, Pa., said in an address here. "In my part of the country most of the 'near-dark accidents involve teen-agers.' He also blamed elderly people who poke along the highways as a major cause of accidents.

Texas Accountants Enlisted To Weed Out Insurance Firms

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas' 2,500 certified public accountants have been enlisted by the state insurance commission to weed out with-in a year insurance companies "which are unsound and unsafe and unworthy of the public confidence."

The vast audit was projected by the commission yesterday as a state judge called for a new Travis County (Austin) grand jury to investigate diligently what he called the "recent insurance debacle."

The audits will be aimed only at the approximately 1,400 firms chartered and headquartered in Texas. The companies will have to bear the expense of examination. The board promised prompt ac-

Race Issue Looms Large In Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.) said today "we've got the votes" to write racial segregation restrictions into a federal school aid bill due for early House action.

Several other House members said an amendment to deny federal construction aid to areas with separate white and Negro schools could mean the end of school assistance hopes for the rest of this Congress.

Speaker Rayburn of Texas told newsmen yesterday he expects to get before the House within a week or 10 days a bill to make federal construction funds available to states and local school districts.

Powell, a Negro, told a reporter he intends to force the segregation issue on the House floor and that he expects his amendment to win with the help of considerable Republican support.

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, assistant Republican House leader, said of the Powell amendment, "I would say at this time it would be voted in," and he added: "If that happens, the bill probably will go through the House. But I have doubts that it would pass the Senate. They would probably kill it over there."

President Eisenhower is expected to mention the administration's school aid proposals in his State of the Union message to Congress tomorrow, perhaps delaying details for a later special message.

Last year he proposed a three-year program of 200 million dollars in grants to the states, plus su-tion against any company that refuses to make its records available for CPA examination.

"It will be our policy to suspend that company's license to sell insurance immediately and send our regular examiners into the firm within 48 hours to make a thorough audit," Commission Chairman Garland Smith said.

The commission said it hopes by use of the CPAs to complete in one year "the process of weeding those evils out of Texas insurance which might continue for several years" if the commission used only its "normal procedures and normal staff."

The mid-December seven-million-dollar collapse of U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. of Waco, Tex., and the state receiver's $6,640,000 damage suit last week in connection with the 1954 demise of General American Casualty Co. of San Antonio, Tex., set the stage for yesterday's drastic commission action.

The receiver's petition in the General American case named Chief Insurance Examiner Larry W. Blanchard, Asst. Chief Examiner Robert Butler and Examiners William J. Noad and Lee J. Pfeferkorn as having had a part in an alleged conspiracy to defraud the public in that firm's operations.

The four examiners have been suspended without pay pending a commission inquiry into the charges against them.

The House Education Committee near the close of the last session recommended a bill raising the administration's grant-in-aid proposal from 200 million dollars to $1,600,000,000 over a four-year period, and included the bond purchase provision.

Some committee members said they expected Eisenhower this year to suggest a five-year program calling for 250 million dollars a year, or a total of 1 1/2 billions.

Cuban Robbery Indictment Ousted

FORT WORTH (AP)—The state dismissed yesterday its last indictment resulting from the $248,000 holdup of two Cubans at Western Hills Hotel Oct. 3, 1952.

The indictment was against Sam Cross, a former used car dealer here and last reported at Midland, who was accused of being an accomplice.

Charged as gunmen in the holdup were two ex-convicts, Gene Norris and Floyd Hill. Norris was acquitted, Hill pleaded guilty and got 20 years.

Victims of the holdup were Manuel Madariaga and Cadido de la Torre, who told police they were here to buy arms for a revolution in Cuba. Police dug up $128,000 near Azle. Hill admitted the money came from the robbery.

Girl, 17, Seeks 'Freedom' From Her 'Cruel' Father

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jane Turner, 17, wants to be "emancipated" from her father. She says he's "cruel and abusive."

Miss Turner, who came to live with her father four months ago, asked yesterday in Superior Court for $500 a month support.

The father, cafe owner Joseph Norman Turner, 47, denied he mistreated her or asked her to leave his Sierra Madre home.

Both Turner and his daughter said he gave her a $100-a-month allowance. She said a great deal of it went back to her father in

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Harold Wiener of Chicago, after her parents were divorced in 1938. Wiener died last May and her mother Mrs. Clarice Cavanaugh, 43, of Culver City, urged her to visit her father.

GORGEOUS PACE

-and a figure you'll love

This new Buick SPECIAL 2-Door 6-Passenger Sedan delivers locally for less than some models of the well-known smaller cars. Come in and check!

If you think you can't afford a big-bodied, big-powered, big-muscled Buick like the one shown here—we'd like to set the matter straight.

If you can afford any new car, you can afford this strapping and stunning Buick SPECIAL Sedan—and no kidding.

For this Buick is tagged within a few dollars of the well-known smaller cars—and actually costs less than some models of those very same cars. The price we show here proves it.

So maybe you can understand why Buick—for two years running now—has outsold every other car in the land, except two of those well-known smaller cars.

But low-price is just part of the picture. Big reason for Buick's soaring sales sweep is that folks are finding here a lot more automobile for the money—more style boldness, more power thrill, more ride stability and more solid structure than the same dollars buy elsewhere.

*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Any state and local taxes, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. A wide variety of extra-cost equipment and accessories available at your option.

Just ask yourself: wouldn't you rather go traveling with the lift and life and pace and poise of a stunning new Buick—when it's all yours at just about the price of a smaller car?

If your answer is yes, then the time is now—right now.

Drop in on us this very week—tomorrow would be fine—and we'll seat you at the wheel of the biggest and most beautiful bundle of high-powered Buick ever offered in America's low-price field.

Devil Ship Has Spark Of Life Even In 'Death'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Some of her former crewmen called her a devil ship because disaster seemed to follow in her wake. Yet the spark of life was tenacious in the old Menestheus, despite her many mishaps.

Eight times fire has scourged her. But neither fire nor man has been able to destroy her iron skeleton completely. A fragment of her is left even today, after the last fire.

The 480-foot freighter, of 7,700 tons, was built 27 years ago. An unglamorous sea drudge, she sailed in the India trade for the Oceanic Steamship Co., Liverpool.

In 1948 she caught fire the first time, just outside Los Angeles harbor. Two men were overcome before the flames were subdued.

Two years later she burst into blaze again, in the Caribbean. This time the fire was suppressed before it caused much damage.

Then, on April 16, 1953, an explosion amidships ripped her open and cloaked her in flames. Two passengers and the crew of 78 were forced to abandon ship.

For five days she wallowed and burned. Then a Navy tug got her into Wilmington.

In her charred cargo of coal, rice and autos, searchers found the ship's cat, which had lived through the holocaust. Except for scrap the Menestheus was worthless now.

She was towed to a Terminal Island salvage yard. But the sparks were still alive: five times more she caught fire during the dismantling.

Little was left of her yesterday—just her keel, part of the engine room and a few plates clinging to the hull frames. Yet the Menestheus burned again last night. And it took two fire companies and two fire boats to quell the flames.

An acetylene torch probably touched off some oily rags, they said. This time several rats scurried away from the smoking bulk.

Judge Lectures School Board On 'Spoiling' Children

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Federal Judge Edgar Vaughn lectured the Oklahoma City School Board yesterday on the modern practice of "spoiling our children in the public schools."

The judge, 81, administered the oath of office to three school board members, then told them school children are not being taught the fundamentals they need.

Vaughn pointed up the poor penmanship of his own portrait. He said papers are filed in court "by lawyers who can't sign their name."

The judge said he blames parents more than he does the teachers. "The great trouble with us today, we should teach children to be helpers and doers and not just sitting on the receiving end of the line," he said.

"I'm afraid we are developing in the minds of the young people the idea that the world owes them a living."

Ex-Houston Symphony Director Dies In Crash

HOUSTON (AP)—Ernst Hoffmann, long-time former director of the Houston Symphony Orchestra who died in a Mississippi auto accident yesterday, will be buried in Houston at a date to be set later.

His wife, also killed when the Hoffmann car collided with a pickup truck, will be buried with him.

Hoffmann directed Houston's Symphony 11 years. He took over the organization when it was a semi-professional group, and left it an outstanding ensemble.

Global War 'Ruled Out'

HONG KONG (AP)—U.S. Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles said today that global war could be ruled out "for the predictable future."

The secretary, on a Far Eastern tour, told a news conference he was confident the Communists would not start a war unless they could make it a global one. The price they would have to pay for that is too great, he added, and they realize it.

Quarles declared the United States was re-examining the Formosa situation in this light. Quarles was also asked to comment on reports that a third of the Chinese Communist air force has been massed facing Formosa.

He replied that he expected the Peiping government to deploy its strength as it saw fit. The Communists might score temporary local gains in an attack on Formosa, but such an assault could never succeed, he added.

Earlier, one of Quarles' aides, Gen. Andrew J. Kinney, told a newsman that atomic developments had revolutionized the whole concept of war in Asia.

Gen. Kinney asserted that an atomic weapon exploded at 30,000 or 40,000 feet over the jungle would make impossible guerrilla warfare like that waged by the Communist Vietminh in Indochina.

Texas Solons Work On Farm, Guard Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm legislation and pay for Texas National Guard units held the attention of Texas congressmen today.

Only Rep. Martin Dies of Lufkin missed the opening of Congress. Waco's vice-chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, Rep. W. R. Poage, predicted President Eisenhower will sign whatever type of farm parity price support is sent to him.

The House passed a 90 per cent parity price support bill last year and sent it to the Senate. Poage said that in compensating farmers for taking lands out of production care should be taken in conversion of acreage to grass lands.

The state adjutant general, K. L. Berry, wrote congressmen that the Budget Bureau is holding back 30 million dollars Congress has appropriated for Army National Guard units.

Berry said the funds are mainly for salaries of full-time Army technicians. He said the action would forestall proposed salary increases for the Guard and hamper its program.

Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock, chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee, said "I'm certainly going to ask for an explanation."

Delegates were in almost unanimous agreement that partisan speechmaking and sniping would roll into high gear during the session. Party conventions are on this summer.

Little America No. 5 Dedicated On Cold, Icy Desert In Antarctica

LITTLE AMERICA V, Antarctica—Little America No. 5 was formally dedicated today on a gently rolling desert of endless snow, four miles south of Kainan Bay and some 30 miles east of Adm. Richard E. Byrd's four previous antarctic camps.

For the brief commissioning ceremony, only three tents and assorted orange-colored tractor vehicles were on the scene.

But within two months Seabees will have completed a small modern village of 17 buildings, spread over five acres, which for the next three years will be the main base for Operation Deepfreeze. Here scientists during the 1957-58 International Geophysical Year will probe the mysterious phenomena of antarctic skies, winds, ice and waters.

All you can see from the base site to the east, south and west is the snow-covered Ross Sea ice shelf, a bigger area than California.

To the north on a clear day can be seen Kainan Bay, which is one reason the site was chosen. The view of something more than snow is expected to have a helpful psychological effect on the 76 Seabees who have volunteered to spend the winter here.

The view won't make any difference after April, when the sun goes down and the party is enveloped in total darkness for six months. Before long the entire base likely will be covered with snow. The men will have to travel between the buildings in tunnels.

But they will have comfortable quarters with carpeted floors, movies, radio, high-fidelity phonographs, a well-stocked library and just about everything experts can devise.

At the commissioning ceremony, Byrd, director of the U. S. antarctic program, and Rear Adm.

George Dufek, commanding officer of the Navy task force, briefly congratulated the Seabees on laying the trail from the expedition's ships to the site and wished them well for the winter.

"Little America No. 5 is now in commission," said Cmdr. Herbert Whitney of Arlington, Mass., who will command the winter base. Then the flag was raised and the main base was in business.

PLEADS GUILTY GI Gets 199 Years For Rape-Slaying

CHICAGO (AP)—A young Army private who admitted he raped and strangled a girl he met at an anti-aircraft unit party in a South Side park was sentenced to 199 years in prison yesterday.

Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski of Criminal Court sentenced Henry Matthews, 18-year-old Detroit Negro, after his plea of guilty to a murder charge.

Matthews related he slapped and strangled Joanne Pushis, 17, a white girl, in the park Aug. 6. He pushed her into a clump of bushes, where her body was found four days later.

Matthews said he had drunk 14 or 15 cans of beer at the party, held in the mess hall of Battery A, 74th Anti-aircraft Artillery Battalion, in Calumet Park on the shore of Lake Michigan.

His statement led to an order prohibiting sale of liquor at Army posts in city parks.

Judge Kluczynski said the killing was "a case of strangulation—a horrible death . . . a case of rape at any cost."

"If this had been a contested case before the court with the same evidence, the court would not have hesitated in inflicting the punishment of the electric chair," he said.

He said that he was willing to take the state's recommendation of imprisonment because Matthews "has thrown himself on the mercy of the court and made it easier for the state to introduce its evidence."

The 199-year sentence will keep Matthews from getting parole until he has served 66 1-3 years.

Matthews did not testify but two statements he made to police were introduced. He said he first met the girl at the dance, and that later made advances and she fought him and threatened to tell her father and his commanding officer. This angered him, he said, and he slapped and struck her, and placed his hands around her neck when she tried to escape.

His mother, Lula May Matthews of Detroit testified he had been a good boy "before he joined the Army" and never drank before.

Civil Defense Revamp Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Development of new weapons of mass destruction has prompted a decision to consider reorganizing the nation's civil defense program.

Three top federal officials said yesterday the starting point for a possible revamping would be recommendations of a special 13-member committee which surveyed the field.

The officials made public the committee's report, which urged White House action to coordinate more closely the civil defense program and give the Federal Civil Defense Administration added stature.

Announcing plans for a reappraisal of the program were Secretary of Defense Wilson, FCDA chief Val Peterson and Arthur S. Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

They said their agencies would consider first a committee recommendation that federal, state and local authorities cooperate in organizing civil defense measures around "metropolitan target zones."

The committee said nuclear weapons and the threat of widespread radioactive "fall-out" have rendered obsolete "the old concept of self-help on a town or city basis."

It urged that "metropolitan target zones" be set up initially in 14 areas having populations of a million or more.

Tongay Fails In Escape Try

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Russell Tongay, 37-year-old Miamian serving a 10-year sentence in the diving death of his daughter, jumped from a passenger trap pulling out of the station last night. He was recaptured 45 minutes later.

He had escaped in New Orleans last November by mixing with customers in a restaurant while a guard was paying a check. He later surrendered in Los Angeles, Calif.

He was being returned to Florida from Los Angeles when he broke from guards on the Louisville & Nashville train and led officers through a downtown chase.

They put him in solitary confinement until his trip back to the Florida State Prison at Raiford is resumed tonight. He had been sent from Raiford to New Orleans for treatment of a lung ailment.

His daughter Kath died of injuries received in a 23-foot dive while training under her father for an Aquatone show.

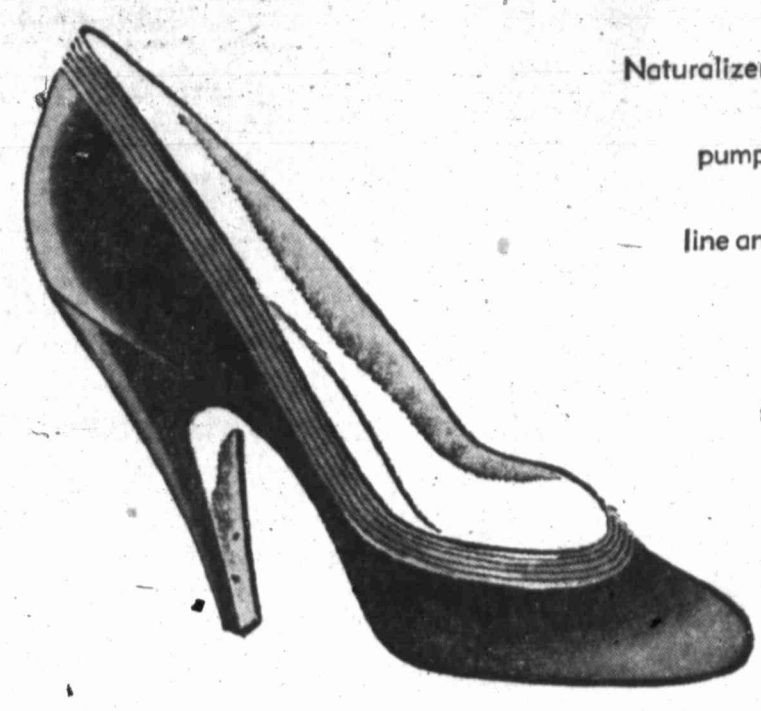

Foot Convoy Aids Flood Victims

RIO DELL, Calif. (AP)—Civil defense volunteers are daily packing food and medicines on foot across three slippery miles of a mud slide for between 250 and 300 marooned residents of Bull Creek.

The convoy moves by jeep to the slide, which wrecked the highway west from U.S. Highway 101 to Bull Creek in northern California. There it becomes a pack job.

Miss Lillian West, Red Cross nurse from Riverside, Calif., made the trip yesterday with six men. She said Bull Creek was as badly smashed as any flood area she had seen.

Bellhop Sought In Shooting Of Former Wife In Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Police today were trying to find a 50-year-old Los Angeles bellhop to question him about the fatal shooting of Mrs. Carmen Pedrin, his former wife and mother-in-law of tennis star Pancho Gonzales.

Mrs. Pedrin, about 47, a jewelry shop clerk here, was found dead in her apartment yesterday. She had two bullet wounds in the head. Police said they found no gun in the room and figured she had been murdered.

In Los Angeles, Homicide Sgt. S. R. Lopez said Joseph Henry

Addington, Mrs. Pedrin's former husband, got several days off from his job as a bellhop and told his bellhop captain he was going to Phoenix Sunday to visit friends.

He had not been heard from since, Lopez said, and is being sought in Los Angeles and here.

Mrs. Pedrin's landlady, Mrs. Alta Rose Maris, said she smelled gas, entered the room and found the body on a bed. The room was filled with gas from a leaking heater, she said.
