Heir Prepares Fight Against Moody Will

GALVESTON (AP)—A son who received only $1 in the will of the late W. L. Moody Jr., one of the nation's wealthiest men, took the first step today toward challenging the validity of the will.

W. L. Moody III, San Antonio oilman and rancher, filed a county court petition seeking authority to take oral depositions for use as testimony in the trial of a suit he proposes to file contesting the will of the 89-year-old Galveston financier.

A similar district court petition also seeks authority for depositions for use in the trial of a proposed suit against the executors of the estate of the mother, the late Libbie Shearn Moody. The petition said the proposed suit will demand an accounting and distribution of the mother's estate.

Fred Parks, Houston attorney, filed the petitions, which also listed three other attorneys, P. H. Swearingen and Carl Wright Johnson of San Antonio and Russel H. Markwell of Galveston.

"I intend to thoroughly and completely develop by oral deposition testimony the facts incident to both petitions," Parks told reporters.

Today's petition said the suit the son anticipates filing would allege the father's will was not prepared in accordance with law and that the elder Moody lacked legal capacity to make a will or was induced to make the will by the exercise of undue influence "by one or more persons."

The elder Moody died of pneumonia July 21, 1954. Unofficial estimates of the estate have ranged as high as $60 million dollars. An inventory filed Jan. 15, 1955, appraised the estate at $55,300,000.

Moody controlled some 50 corporations engaged in insurance, banking, cotton, newspapers, hotels and ranches. Included was the American National Insurance Co., which has over 2.5 billion dollars in insurance in force and offices in 47 states. Also included was the National Hotels Co., which operates in a number of major cities across the country.

The bulk of the estate was left to the Moody Foundation for use in charities. A daughter, Mrs. Mary Moody Northern, received $250,000 in cash and two homes. She also was designated president of all Moody enterprises "so long as she is able."

Another daughter, Mrs. Libby Moody Thompson, wife of Rep. Clark W. Thompson Jr. (D-Tex.) received $200,000.

Other special bequests approximated one million dollars.

Of the only surviving son, the will said:

"Because of the attitude toward me of my son, William Lewis Moody III, which has developed and intensified and for other reasons good and sufficient unto myself, I do hereby will and give to the said son the sum of $1 only."

The son formerly was associated with his father's enterprises. Such connections were terminated several years prior to the father's death and the son became successful in oil and ranching. In April, 1955, the son was active in a group of investors who won a proxy battle for control of the Niles Bement-Pond Co., Bridgeport, Conn., one of the world's largest tool manufacturing firms.

The father's will was dated Feb. 24, 1954, and was filed for probate Aug. 10, 1954.

The son asked the court to authorize depositions to perpetuate the testimony of 18 witnesses "whose testimony will be material and probably indispensable in the anticipated suit" against the father's will.

They are David C. Bintliff, Houston financier and oilman; Sol Bromberg, Galveston; Jason Dean; Mrs. Jason Dean; Sealy Deans; Mrs. Davis McMurray; John B. Mills; Mrs. Northern; A. D. Simpson, Houston banker; Miss Louise Stejevec, former secretary to the elder Moody; Thompson; Mrs. Thompson; Clark W. Thompson III, Houston; O. C. Trout, Galveston; Mrs. Bessie Bell Wall; Mrs. James W. Wayman, and Bernie Werkentin.

The petition said:

"Many of the above listed witnesses are of such age and in such health, or their residence is of such a transitory nature that their testimony might later be unavailable if the taking of their depositions is delayed."

Mrs. Moody died March 24, 1943. Her will was admitted to probate May 15, 1943. Today's petition states the son was "a named beneficiary in the will and thus is entitled to a portion of the estate."

Mrs. Moody named her husband and the Moody National Bank of Galveston as co-executors. Since the husband's death, the bank has continued as sole executor.

This petition seeks authority to take depositions from I. M. Herz, Mrs. Northern, Fred Holland, and all officers, directors and employees of Moody National Bank charged with receiving and disbursing assets of the mother's estate.

Both petitions were filed under Rule 187 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

Parks explained the rule specifies any person anticipating the filing of a suit and who may desire to perpetuate the testimony of a witness may file a written statement in the proper court seeking authority for the depositions.

"The rule specifies that such testimony may be used in any suit which may be later filed in the same manner as if the depositions had been taken after filing the suit," he said.

The rule also requires that all persons interested adversely to the petitioner must receive copies of the statements seeking authority for the depositions. The petition pertaining to the father's will listed 28 such parties, including the United States of America. The document pertaining to the mother's will listed 11 parties.

Moody left Lake Surprise, a 714-acre game refuge near Anahuac in Chambers County, to the federal government for establishment and maintenance as a wildlife preserve.

PUBLIC FUNDS

Virginians Vote On School Issue

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginians voted today on a proposal which would clear the way for granting public funds to send children to private schools.

The proposal is designed as an avenue of escape from the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

The voters marked their ballots "for" or "against" a convention which would amend the state's constitution to make such tuition grants possible.

Amendment of the constitution was one of the key recommendations of Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's Commission on Public Education, which for almost a year studied ways the state might avoid enforced integration.

Under the commission's suggested program, tuition grants would be made available to children who live in areas where public schools may be abandoned, or whose parents decline to send them to integrated schools.

The other principal recommendation of the commission, composed of 32 state legislators, will come before the State Legislature when it convenes Wednesday. It calls for an "assignment plan" under which local school authorities would be empowered to assign pupils to schools on various grounds other than race.

Estimates of the vote ranged upward from 400,000 to more than 500,000. There are approximately 850,000 registered voters, of which roughly 72,000 are Negroes.

Both those favoring the amendment and those against it said a "for" majority was probable.

Ranged in favor of the plan were a formidable majority of state legislators, both Democratic and Republican, including U.S. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), Gov. Stanley and three former governors—John S. Battle, Colgate Darden Jr. and Rep. Tuck (D-Va.).

Those against the amendment included some legislators, labor groups and women's organizations—and a brand new factor in Virginia politics, many ministerial and church organizations.

During the 36 days since a special session of the Legislature approved the amendment, some bitter words have been exchanged. Advocates have declared that a vote for it would be a vote for continuing the state's historic policy of segregation; a vote against it, a vote for integration.

Most argument, however, centered on whether tuition grants would undermine the state's public school system. Opponents said they would.

Proponents described the plan as the only way to save the public schools, foreseeing abandonment of schools in many Virginia counties should no alternative to compulsory integration be provided.

Negro Leader Lauds Texans In Race Fight

DALLAS (AP)—A Negro leader told a non-segregated audience last night that there is little tendency in Texas to fight desegregation by applying economic pressure.

Wilkins of New York, the new executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, addressed a Civil Rights rally.

"Texans have not subverted Americanism by forcing Negro citizens to choose between their rights and their bread and butter," he said.

"Texans may and do disagree with the NAACP and with the Supreme Court decision (banning segregation in public schools); they may fight it in various ways. . . . But generally speaking, Texans don't fight dirty."

Wilkins, who succeeded the late Walter White in the NAACP office, said some other Southern states have fought "dirty" by economic pressure against both Negroes and whites.

He also said the NAACP will definitely be a factor in the 1956 presidential race.

"No candidate, no party, no convention will be allowed to duck and dodge the issue of whether a man is going to be shot down because he wants to vote," said the speaker.

University of Minnesota graduate.

"I expect the Democratic Party, which controls the government of Mississippi, to do something about what is happening in Mississippi, and when the Republicans control the White House and the Justice Department, I expect the Republican Party to do something about Mississippi."

Citizens Councils organized by whites opposing integration "disclaim violence, but they have created the atmosphere in which violence is rampant," said Wilkins.

"They boast of their economic pressure program by which Negroes who sign petitions are fired forthwith from their jobs."

He said integration of schools has been progressing fairly well in Texas and named Austin, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, El Paso, Big Spring, San Angelo and Odessa as cities which "have shown the way."

Adlai Sees U. S. Relations As 'Never More Perilous'

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says the nation's relationships with other countries "never have been more perilous than now" and that he can't understand why President Eisenhower pictured them otherwise.

Stevenson tossed new criticism at the President's State of the Union message in a television interview on CBS Face the Nation yesterday.

He called the report to Congress "less a State of the Union message than a state of the Republican party message." He said the message "politics in tone."

He said the President's claim that the United States maintains its lead in international affairs was "a curious statement. . . . It was not accurate."

Stevenson, who lost the 1952 election to Eisenhower and now is seeking the 1956 Democratic nomination for president, said it "appears to be the case" that the United States has lost its military lead to Soviet Russia.

He said Eisenhower's description of conditions abroad and American defenses in his message Thursday to Congress pictured them "in a happy state."

Stevenson said this "seemed to me very misleading."

"From Iceland to Japan, we have never been in more peril," he said.

He urged greater economic aid to underdeveloped countries and less "threat and bluff" in foreign policy.

He said the Eisenhower administration has made many mistakes in carrying out foreign policy—among them Secretary of State Dulles' "unfortunate reference to Goa in India."

Dulles irked Indians by calling Goa a "province" of Portugal in a joint statement with the Portuguese foreign minister. The Indians consider it a colony that should be part of their country.

'Address'

President Eisenhower looks intently into the field on the baseball diamond at Key West as he gets ready to address the ball with a nine iron in a chipping practice session.

Ike Settles Down To Full Load Of Duties

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower settles down today to "the full duties of the presidency" after assuring his supporters that he has made no final decision on whether to retire a year from now.

Before flying back to Washington yesterday Eisenhower told a Florida news conference in discussing a second term:

"My mind at this moment is not fixed. If it were, I would say no right here this second. But my mind is not fixed to such an extent that it can't be changed."

That remark that his mind still can be changed seemed to indicate pretty clearly that Eisenhower has reached a tentative decision whether to run in the light of his Sept. 24 heart attack.

He was careful not to say so specifically, but most Washington reporters at the conference in Key West got the impression he had decided tentatively against running. An informal poll showed them feeling 11-3 that he will not.

But the other side of the picture—the thing that makes Republican backers of Eisenhower something to cheer about—was his implication

Ike Asks Congress For Soil Bank Plan

Program Urged As Surplus Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to vote a soil bank plan to help use up the present towering surplus of farm products as part of a five-point program to ease the plight of farmers.

In a special message to Congress, Eisenhower called for urgent attention to the "paradox facing our farm families." He said:

"Although agriculture is our basic industry, we find their prices and income depressed amid the nation's greatest prosperity. For five years, their economy has declined. Unless corrected these economic reversals are a direct threat to the well being of all of our people."

Eisenhower's outline suggested additions to existing controversial programs which agricultural officials said would put more than an extra billion dollars into farmers' pockets from government resources.

Farm income declined slightly more than a billion dollars last year.

The recommendations would be aimed, Eisenhower said, at using present price-depressing crop surpluses to reduce output. Farmers who helped cut back production would be offered government surpluses as compensation.

The program lays much of its immediate emphasis on the soil bank or "acreage reserve" plan under which farmers would be encouraged—but not compelled—to reduce plantings until surpluses are trimmed and markets grow enough to buy agriculture's productive capacity.

Encouragement for idling crop land would be offered in the form of cash payments as well as surplus stocks of such crops as cotton, wheat and possibly corn, rice and peanuts.

If the program were authorized by Congress and Congress took full advantage, the payments and the value of the surplus crops that would total about one billion dollars. This is at least three-quarters of a million more than they got in direct payments from the government in 1955.

In addition to the soil bank plan, Eisenhower proposed:

1. New steps to move stocks from the present seven-billion-dollar surplus holdings into foreign and domestic use.

2. Easing of production controls on some major crops.

3. That Congress consider placing a dollar limit on the amount of price support aid that could be given to a single farm.

4. A speed-up of the rural development program for low-income farmers first suggested by the administration last year.

5. Greater aid to stabilize farming in the drought-plagued Great Plains.

6. A 25 per cent increase in federal appropriations for research aimed at finding new uses, new markets and new crops for agriculture.

7. Assurance that the federal government will always supply adequate credit to meet farmers' needs.

8. That the federal government make refunds to farmers of gasoline taxes collected on motor fuel used for nonhighway purposes. It was estimated this would save farmers $60,000,000 a year.

In his 8,000-word message to the lawmakers Eisenhower summed up the farm problem in these words:

"In short, we have an over-supply of commodities which drives down prices as mounting costs force us from below. Thus is generated a severe price-cost squeeze from which our farm people, with the help of government, must be relieved."

As he has before Eisenhower blamed continuation of "wartime production incentives" too far into the postwar period as the major factor in the problem of surpluses and declining prices. He said:

"The attack on the surplus must go forward in full recognition of the fact that farm products are not actually marketed when delivered to and held by the government. A government warehouse stable commodities cannot be added forever to government granaries, nor can they be indefinitely held. Ultimately the stockpiles must be used."

Eisenhower said it is unthinkable to destroy food. Hence, he said, it is necessary that means be found to move the commodities into use at home and abroad.

In outlining his recommendation for a soil bank, Eisenhower said the most pressing need today is to "work off our surpluses so that we can gear production to prospective markets at fair prices."

The 1954 program featured flexible price supports.

Under the soil bank, Eisenhower suggested what he called a three-pronged attack.

The first phase would be de-farmers would be encouraged to need to reduce the crops in greater supply" by an acreage reserve program. Under this program farmers would be encouraged to plant less than their regular acreage allotments through the offer of government surplus stocks as an incentive payment.

A Buss For 'Mr. Sam'

Apparently in an effort to show that all is harmonious—at least in the Democratic camp—between the two houses of Congress, Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), right, solidly buses fellow Texan Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House, as they strike a pose at Rayburn's 74th birthday celebration. "Mr. Sam," as Rayburn is known to many, appears enthusiastic as he goes along with the gag at the Democratic Women's Club party.

ATOM AIRCRAFT

Convair Describes Reactor Research

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Experiments with an atomic reactor in a huge B36 as part of a program to develop atomic-powered aircraft were announced yesterday by the Air Force and Convair aircraft.

"Among other things the reactor is used to investigate problems of shielding against radiation to study effects of radiation on aircraft, materials and systems to develop airborne nuclear instruments," the joint announcement said.

All safety precautions have been taken and "the public can be assured that there is no danger of a nuclear explosion resulting from an accident to the aircraft," it said.

The announcement continued: "The reactor is a small, self-contained unit which is operated during takeoffs and landings. It is operated only when the aircraft is flying over a pre-designated area where maximum public safety is attainable."

Precautions taken also include informing local police officials throughout the Southwest concerning public safety measures to be taken in the unlikely event of an accident.

"In past months the aircraft has made numerous successful flights during which the reactor was operated. The aircraft is presently on the ground at the Convair plant undergoing preparations for further test flights."

The announcement follows a Fort Worth Star-Telegram report Saturday that police agencies in this area had been alerted on how to handle crowds if the bomber should crash.

The Dallas News quoted what it termed a reliable source who asked that his name be withheld as follows:

The B36 flights in this area began about Dec. 1 and the Civil Aeronautics Administration asked the "flying public" in a bulletin to avoid the plane which carries a brightly colored coat of paint.

The crew doesn't turn on the atomic reactor until the bomber has reached the test area near Hobbs, N.M.

"When it starts back to Texas, the atomic reactor is turned off. The bomber is escorted by a C97 carrying paratroopers. The C97 waves off any other approaching aircraft and would drop the paratroopers to seal off the area in case the B36 crashes."

AUSTIN (AP)—Members of the State Insurance Commission and Gov. Allan Shivers have replied sharply to Ralph Yarborough's demands for wholesale resignations of the board.

Chairman J. Byron Saunders, and board members Garland A. (Chick) Smith and Mark Wentz indicated they have no intentions of resigning, and Shivers said Yarborough's motive was "political."

Yarborough—two time loser to Shivers in gubernatorial races—spoke at a meeting of creditors of the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. at Houston Saturday night, calling for a complete turnover in the board "for the good of Texas and the insurance industry."

The Houston meeting also passed a resolution objecting to acceptance of trips or favors by members of the insurance commission from insurance companies, and objecting to acceptance of employment from insurance companies by legislators.

Shivers declined to comment on a story first published last week by the Houston Post saying that Smith and his wife had been guests of an insurance company president and his wife on an airplane trip to Hawaii last spring.

Smith is a Shivers appointee to the board, and a former administrative aide to the governor.

The newspaper quoted Smith as saying he took the trip as a friend of the insurance executive, that the company has never asked for any favors, and is treated like all others.

The insurance man was named as Charles A. McCormick of Austin, president of International Life Insurance Co. in whose building the commission has offices. McCormick told newsmen his wife and Smith's wife are close friends and that he saw nothing wrong with the affair.

"I have no intention of resigning and we will continue to rigidly enforce the existing laws with reference to administration of the insurance code," Saunders said when asked for comment on Yarborough's speech.

Sainburg Posts $5,000 Bond

Dr. Frank Sainburg posted $5,000 bond Monday morning pending hearing on Jan. 20 of his petition for writ of habeas corpus.

Sainburg appeared in 118th District Court when a warrant for his extradition to New York on charges he kidnapped his son, Phillip II, was executed here. The warrant originally had been made returnable to Longview, after Gov. Allen Shivers held that all papers were in order and honored Dr. Sainburg's extradition. However, the warrant was sent to Big Spring instead since Sainburg had returned to his post as a surgeon on the VA Hospital Staff.

Judge Charles Sullivan heard the plea presented by George T. Thomas, Sainburg's attorney, shortly after 8:30 a.m. and promptly fixed the bond and set the hearing date. Sainburg sat silently through the proceedings. Later, when he had returned the bond with Dr. R. B. G. Cowper and Leon Rednar as sureties, he returned to his duties.

In the petition filed in 118th District Court, Sainburg contended the "warrant and such extradition proceedings are invalid and constitute no legal basis for the arrest and extradition of your petitioner."

He asked for a "writ of habeas corpus to have the petitioner brought before your Honor to the end that he may be discharged from such illegal confinement and restraint."

Difficulties began back in December when Sainburg allegedly took his son by a former wife from a nursery school in Ithaca, N.Y. Previously, he had been awarded custody of the child by a trial court but an appellate court reversed the decision. While the child's mother was wearing out a kidnapping complaint, a District Court in Longview ordered Sainburg to surrender his son.

Instead, he left with his and a stepdaughter, and was the object of a search for days while the present Mrs. Sainburg who had gone to Longview to get her other child, was held by authorities. Ultimately Sainburg was picked up in Yuma, Ariz., sent the children back and himself went to Longview to serve a contempt sentence issued by the court. Afterwards, reunited with Mrs. Sainburg, he returned to Big Spring. After that, the extradition request from New York was honored.

Legal Battle Expected In Burglary Case

PAULS VALLEY, Okla. (AP)—Legal maneuvering was expected today in a two-county struggle over custody of Ardmore City Commissioner Joe Taylor, accused of burglary in Oklahoma and Texas.

Two State Bureau of Investigation agents, Hubert Bartlett and Golden Kennedy, whisked Taylor out of Dist. Judge John C. Caldwell's court in Ardmore Saturday and took him to the Garvin County jail here.

Garvin County Atty. Raymond Burger declared today he will not return Taylor to Caldwell's court for a continuation of his hearing even though the judge has threatened contempt of court citations.

Taylor posted bond on four of six charges of burglary pending against him Saturday, but before he could be released, Texas Rangers served 17 burglary warrants from Wichita County, Tex. Taylor could not post bond on the second group of charges before the court-house closed for the weekend.

Caldwell said he was considering citing the two state agents for contempt for their action in dragging Taylor from his court while a deputy sheriff, Robert Holt, held off a gathering crowd with a loaded shotgun.

"We were still in court," Caldwell said, "We were still negotiating."

"He nearly negotiated me out of my prisoner although my county had six burglary charges against him," retorted Burger. Burger said Caldwell already had continued the writ of habeas corpus hearing until 9 a. m. Monday when the arrest was made.

The hearing was to determine whether Taylor should be allowed to remain free under the $4,000 bond posted at Ardmore or be turned over to Garvin County authorities.

"I expect a lot of legal maneuvers when a fugitive warrant is filed in an effort to return Taylor to Texas to answer charges," Burger said, "However, we intend to follow the law in Garvin County."

Taylor, who operates a grocery in Ardmore, is charged with taking part in six burglaries at Stratford, Okla., Nov. 27, 1935. The Texas charges allege he participated in burglaries in the Wichita Falls, Electra and Randall areas.

Taylor has indicated he will fight extradition to Texas. Police charge Ardmore has been the collecting point for goods stolen in more than 200 Texas burglaries.

Kermit Rites Set For C-City Infant

COLORADO CITY—Marilyn Lynette Flowers, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Flowers, Colorado City, died Saturday night after a long illness. Flowers is a Sun Oil Company employe, and had lived in Colorado City since Sept. 1, 1935.

Funeral services will be held in Kermit and burial is to be in the Kermit Cemetery. The day has not been announced.

In addition to her parents, the child is survived by a brother, Gary Dean.

Chamber To Meet

The 14 holdover directors of the Chamber of Commerce were to have met at noon today to select the names for the 45-name ballot which will be distributed to the Chamber membership for voting. Fifteen new members of the Board of Directors will be elected. The 30-member board will then select ten more members at large.

Only One Accident Here Over Weekend

One accident was reported here over the weekend. It occurred Sunday afternoon on the south side of the viaduct. Drivers of three cars involved in the mishap were Donald Lee Grantham, Big Spring, Rupert Wayne Jennings, 1008 Bluebonnet, and James Paul Anderson, 510 NW 6th. No injuries were reported and damage was not large.

Driver Fined In Auto Accident

A $25 fine and court costs for speeding were assessed Travis Mays, Loraine, who was the driver of an auto which overturned 9 miles north of here Saturday night. The case was filed in Precinct 1, Place 1.

Mays was driving a 1931 Ford which turned over three times after leaving the Snyder Highway. The car was completely demolished, highway patrolmen investigating the incident reported.

The lone occupant was taken to a local hospital but was released. The accident occurred about 11:45 p. m. Saturday.

Baker Services Slated For Today

Funeral for Joe J. Baker, 71, was to be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the River Funeral Chapel, and burial was to follow in the City Cemetery at Snyder.

Mr. Baker, a resident of Glasscock County for 50 years, was found dead in the yard of his home west of Lee's store Saturday evening. Apparently he had dropped dead of heart attack Friday afternoon.

Mr. Baker leaves one sister, Mrs. Alva Johnson, Snyder, Lyle Price, minister of the Church of Christ at 14th and Main, was to officiate here, and Ted Norton, Snyder, Church of Christ minister was to preside at the graveside rites.

Pallbearers were to be nephews and included L. B. Baker, Tony Baker, A. D. Baker, George Baker and Roy Baker.

4 Big Springers Place In Band Meet

Four out of seven Big Spring band members trying out for places in the all state band won places Saturday.

Tryouts took place at Odessa for this region. Big Spring placed two of four clarinet players allotted the region, the sole cornetist and the only percussion player.

Chosen were Billy Evans and Julius Glickman, clarinets; Derrell Sanders, cornet; and Billy Gage, percussion.

They will go to Dallas Feb. 8-11 for the annual meeting of the Texas Educators Association and there will play in the all state band.

Attempted Station Burglary Is Failure

An attempted burglary Saturday night at the Human Service Station, 200 W. 3rd, was unsuccessful. Police said a tire tool was used to pry the rear door of the building but it was not opened.

The burglars would have been unsuccessful even if they got the door open. Police said the door led into the Twin's Cafe rather than the auto store.

Truck Driver Cited For His Heroic Act

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas truck driver who was so modest his heroic act in saving the life of a small boy almost went unnoticed, got a special honor Sunday.

M. W. Denney, city driver for Merchants Fast Motor Lines, was named "Trucker of the Year" by the Hobbs Trailer Co., in cooperation with the Department of Public Safety and the Texas Safety Assn.

Denney, a big, red-haired man with a ready grin, will be honored Feb. 7 at a dinner in Austin. He was chosen from 99 truck drivers cited as Hobbs Knights of the Road for their acts of highway courtesy last year.

Denney rescued Johnny Murray, 6, from a vicious dog Aug. 18. Denney was making delivery when he saw a 40-pound red chow lunge at the boy, knock him down and begin biting him on his arms and back.

Denney leaped from his cab and kicked and choked the dog away from the child.

The boy was taken to a hospital, and it wasn't until later that Mr. Denney learned of the boy's escape.

Men's Bible Class Installation Set

All members and former members of the Men's Bible Class, which meets each Sunday morning at the Settles, are invited to take part in an installation dinner Wednesday at 7 p. m.

The dinner is to be held at the Wagon Wheel Cafe and is a ladies night, said A. M. Ripps, president. Reservations should be made with Frank Hardesty (Phone 4-7822) in order that the cafe can be notified approximately of the number of plates to prepare. A guest of honor will be Rupert Ricker, founder of the class and its lecturer, Charles Butts is to be installed as new president of the class.

County School Census Under Way

County schools are now in the process of taking the annual census with the reports to be turned in to the county superintendent by Feb. 1.

Taking the reports are Doyle Fenn at Gay Hill, M. G. Kolgore at Center Point, M. B. McFall at Midway, Mrs. Emma Seal at Elbow, and Mrs. Carl McKee at Vealmore, said County Superintendent Walker Bailey.

Reports which are due at the superintendent's office by Feb. 1, must then be tabulated and forwarded to Austin by March 1.

Conviction In Airliner Bombing Won't Be Easy

Suspect Held In Death Of Abilene Man

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Willie J. McCartney, 27, was in Taylor County jail today charged with murder in the death of E. G. Morris, 77, who died of a heart attack after apparently being beaten yesterday.

Morris was found lying in the driveway of his service station at 2 1/2 miles west of Abilene, with his face bruised and cut and his arms and legs scratched.

Oil cans had been thrown through the windows of the service station and barrels and oil cans were strewn over the driveway. Eight dollars was left untouched in the cash register.

Dr. Jerrett E. Williams, who performed an autopsy, said Morris died of a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bryant, Odessa, who were visiting nearby, told police they heard Morris tell a motorist to get out and leave him alone. They heard the crash of broken glass.

Sheriff Ed Powell and Texas Ranger Jim Pauk arrested McCartney at his home near Merkel.

FOR EMPLOYEES County Considers Group Insurance

County commissioners today heard an insurance company's plan for group employe insurance, and salary and additional help requests.

Requesting a salary raise was Odell Buchanan, constable at Coahoma. He told the commissioners that he felt the position rated more salary and more travel expense. He cited an instance of as many as 100 miles traveling on one case.

Buchanan said he had not approached the city of Coahoma for a salary from them within the past year.

Travelers' Insurance Co. presented the county with a plan of insuring the county employes with life, hospitalization, and accident insurance at a blanket rate of $4.74 per employe, which could at the employe's expense include the families.

Representatives of the company told the commissioners that the policy would give $1,000 death insurance and cover the employe if he were injured on or off the job. Hospitalization up to certain amounts would be a part of the group policy. The life insurance would be of the double indemnity type.

If the employe wished to carry the policy for his family, the total amount would be approximately $7.12 or $2.39 at the employe's expense. The insurance people said that if at the end of each year the amount paid by the county were widely separated, the com-

Prosecutors Must Prove 'Confession'

By FRANK PITMAN
 DENVER (AP)—Prosecutors of John Gilbert Graham, accused of causing an airliner crash which killed 44 persons, face formidable obstacles in their announced attempt to send him to Colorado's gas chamber.

To execute Graham, the prosecution must prove he signed voluntarily a statement that he placed a dynamite bomb in the luggage of his mother, Mrs. Daisie King, 55, before she boarded a United Air Lines plane last Nov. 1.

Graham, charged with murdering his mother, contends he was forced to make the statement.

If the state cannot prove to the judge and jury that the statement was voluntary, then the most severe penalty Graham could receive would be life imprisonment. Colorado law prohibits the death penalty unless there is a voluntary confession or an eyewitness to murder.

Also complicating the prosecution's task is a Colorado law which says that if a person is insane when he commits a crime he does not have to face trial for the crime.

The determination of Graham's sanity — at every stage of his case — will be made by a jury, acting on testimony of psychiatrists, psychologists, medical doctors and others.

Graham, 23, and father of two small children, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity at his arraignment Dec. 9. At that time, the court sent him to Colorado Psychopathic Hospital in Denver for 30 days observation. The first report from the state doctors who observed his mental condition is due to be presented in court Monday.

Registration will be conducted Jan. 28 at Howard County Junior College.

The University of Texas will give credit for the course, which will count toward State certification of school librarians and toward the 12-semester-hour prerequisite requirement for admission to graduate courses at the University. The credit may be transferred to any college.

The course also is recommended as a "refresher" for librarians who completed their formal education several years ago.

Further information concerning the Big Spring course may be obtained by writing Director, Graduate School of Library Science, University of Texas, Austin 12.

Auto Victim's Services Today

1930 Hyperions Hear Address By Spence

Following a theme of "Conservation of Natural Resources," the program was given for the 1930 Hyperion Club Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, Mrs. Roy Sloan was co-hostess.

E. V. Spence was the guest speaker and he told of the development of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, beginning with the first arrangements made.

Members were told that the cooperation of the towns in the district is known as the ideal way of carrying on a business. The project has been placed third in the scale of wonders of the state in a vote taken by the American Society of Engineers, the speaker said.

Mr. Spence stressed how water can help a town economically and in beautification. The talk was highlighted by the display of a model, which was explained by Mr. Spence. He held a question and answer period.

In the custom of the club this anniversary year, Mrs. J. Y. Robb gave a resume of "Through The Years." Her subject was "Water," and she told of the development of Big Spring's water supply in the early days of the town.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Maurice Koger gave a report on her inspection of the Westside Recreation Center. They are in need, she told the group, of repairs on a record player, records, and subscriptions to magazines for children. The Center is one of the club's projects.

Mrs. Cowper, as Federation Secretary, reported on an article in the "Texas Clubwoman" on the aid of the Federation in having Driver Education introduced into the schools.

Mrs. E. V. Spence, vice president, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. H. C. Stipp. Refreshments were served to about 18.

Favorite Spring Outfit Is All-Purpose Dress

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK — The favorite spring outfit of the American woman in 1956 is an all-purpose costume which adapts itself to the mood of the moment and the etiquette of the hour by adding or subtracting a jacket or coat.

Some 200 fashion editors representing newspapers throughout the United States and a number of foreign countries assembled in New York today for a preview of spring styles which will show up in shops across the country in time for Easter shopping.

It is apparent that the silhouette for spring is slimmer and straighter than ever, that fabrics are lighter in weight and more varied in texture, and that the multipurpose costume is the all-time favorite.

Spring suits become afternoon or cocktail dresses merely by the removal of a jacket. Slim sheath dresses become festive enough for after dark by the addition of a colorful obi sash or an apron overskirt, plus discreet changes of jewelry.

A new note in the suit lineup is the "peel bolero"—you peel it off and have a soignée dress or dressy bolero blouse and high-riding skirt beneath. These double boleros suits illustrate the newest lines of the season.

Skirts are strictly straight and narrow, and come to just below the bust, fitting the midriff smoothly and (it is earnestly hoped) revealing no bulges. Often these high-minded skirts are attached to a bodice. A matching brief bolero curves over the bustline, and when it is removed, reveals a second bolero blouse, often in white linen or a contrasting print, making a dressy costume of the suit.

Sometimes the costume consists of sheath dress and bolero, the dress likely to have short sleeves and low décolletage, no give it party manners when worn without the jacket.

Although the daytime line is uncompromisingly slim, designers have found ways to add softness and movement to the silhouette through use of floating panels, low-placed back flares and drapery that dramatize the figure but do not interfere with the sheath line.

There is much back talk in the spring collections, with back belts that may be anywhere from the shoulder blades to the hips, back-buttoned suits, necklines tilting backward, sometimes with floating back bows or drapery.

For after-five wear, there are more full skirts shown, and even some petticoats for those women who love the frothy bouffant look in party clothes. There also are more full-length evening gowns than formerly, in keeping with the new trend toward formality and elegance.

With the narrow line of daytime fashions, hats again are important with the bulkier silhouette firmly entrenched. Big picture hats will be seen all over the place next summer. It appears from advance showings, and accessories also acquire more importance in the head-to-toe picture. Big handbags, dramatic jewelry, small contoured furs hugging the shoulders, bold bracelets, carefully coordinated gloves—all these are important in the spring picture.

Fabrics are more beautiful and more varied than ever, with the accent on lightweight costumes that can do duty in warm weather. There are many blends of silk and wool, silk and cotton, silk and linen, cotton and nylon or dacron. Dark tones still are favored for the town wear, with brown running close race with navy for the popularity prize. But for afternoon and evening wear, color runs rampant, and the well-dressed Jill may be as vivid as she likes.

Two Simple Exercises
Kay Thompson shares her two favorite exercises — for the waist and abdomen — with Lydia Lane in today's Hollywood Beauty column. The popular night club entertainer interrupts her act at Ciro's to demonstrate the routine.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Kay Has Two Exercises That Keep Her In Trim

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — While Kay Thompson is best known as one of the nation's top entertainers, her talents are not limited to that field alone. Those who have followed her career know her as choreographer, composer, designer and recently as author of "Eloise," an amusing book for adults about a six-year-old.

"What is the secret of your versatility?" I asked Kay between shows at Ciro's during her recent run there.

"I feel that expressing yourself, having an outlet for your energies, is a health secret. Frustration can have only a negative and destructive influence."

When Kay left MGM after many years to be a night club entertainer, she made fashion history by performing in a night club in tight-fitting pants.

"They suited my long legs and gave me freedom to dance," she explained. "I think pants can be feminine when they conform to the body line. Mine don't have creases but are rounded to fit the legs. After the show so many of my friends came backstage to find out where they could get pants like mine that I started designing them and now," Kay smiled, "you see them everywhere but they are called Capri pants."

"I love fashion," she continued, "but I feel it is important to keep my identity. This thing called individuality takes time. It comes only after many mistakes but we do get better and finally find the mold that says 'me' on it."

I asked Kay how she kept her sleek figure.

"I only eat when I'm hungry. It's the food you don't need that gets you into trouble," she announced.

"But surely you must exercise to keep such a flat tummy and tiny waist," I insisted.

"Of course you must use your body," she agreed. "In addition to dancing, I have two exercises which I do every day. One is to firm the abdominal muscles and the other is for the waistline. They're very easy."

"I lie on the floor on my back, raise my legs to form a right angle to my body, then slowly lower them to about three inches from the floor, spread them apart, close them and without touching the floor come up again. I do this ten times but I would advise a beginner to start out more slowly."

"For the waist I stand erect, twist to one side from the waist up, leading with my elbows which are shoulder high."

Kay stood up to illustrate and I noticed her fingertips were almost touching.

"The trick is to keep the hips still and feet planted firmly down in order to get a good pull. Alternate this five times in each direction," she concluded, "and watch those inches disappear."

AAUW Group Has Insurance Program

The entire program of life insurance, stocks and bonds was explained to the 34 members present at the American Association of University meeting Saturday. The group met for a luncheon at the Wagon Wheel.

Mrs. Ruth Burnam introduced the program and the participants. "A Background of Investments" was given by Neil Brown.

Centering her talk on stocks and bonds, Miss Brown said that an investment is made for a security with a purpose to bring a return and help take care of emergencies. Then she defined the types of stocks and bonds that are available.

Mrs. Maurice Koger told about "Your Policy and Its Provisions." She took each part of the insurance policy and explained its meaning.

"Read the fine print on your policy," Mrs. Bill Griese told the group. She also said to know why you are buying insurance and what you can afford. She reported that the women own over one-fifth of the insurance in the United States.

Mrs. Burnam concluded the program by giving some Do's and Don'ts about purchasing insurance. During the business session at which Mrs. William Boyd presided, committee reports were given by Miss Brown, Mrs. Griese and Mrs. Gilbert Gibbs.

The group planned a bingo party for 48 patients at the State Hospital on Jan. 30 at 7:30 p.m. AAUW will provide prizes and refreshments and also act as hostesses during the evening.

The luncheon tables were decorated with styrofoam snowmen, white candles, greenery and red ribbon in a styrofoam base. Place cards were insurance posters cut in puzzle fashion. Each member was given half of the card when she entered the room and she had to match it with a card at a place setting.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bernice Slater, Mrs. C. E. Thiele, Mrs. Bill Walker, Elizabeth Daniel, Ina Mae McCollum and Edith Mitchell.

The next meeting will be Feb. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W. L. Gage, 1515 Tucson.

Mrs. Williams Hosts Vealmoor HD Club

Roll call was answered with a "Household Hint" when the members of the Vealmoor Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Dwayne Williams.

The devotion was given by the hostess. New officers were installed and the year books were filled out. Plans for the new year were formulated. Leaders and demonstrators were appointed.

During the recreation period each member told what they liked best in the past year's work. Quarterly reports were filled out. Seven members were present. The next meeting will be on Jan. 20 in the home of Mrs. W. O. Cox.

A training program will be held this week at the Main Street Church of Christ, Lyle Price, minister, announced. The courses begin at 7:30 tonight and will be held at that time each evening through Jan. 12.

Outstanding teachers will be in charge of the lessons. Reuel Lemmons of Austin, editor of "Firm Foundation," and Henry E. Speck Jr., educational director of the Broadway Congregational Church in Lubbock will be the main teachers. They will be assisted by Mrs. H. E. Speck Jr., Mrs. Jack Price and Mrs. Paul Sherrod, all of Lubbock.

"The training program is for the members of the church to learn better teaching methods and etc.," Mr. Price said.

Star's Romance Was Love At 'Second Sight'

CHICAGO (AP)—Grace Kelly says her romance with Prince Rainier III was love at second sight.

Smiling happily, the honey-blond actress told some 70 reporters and photographers yesterday how she met and was courted by the handsome monarch of tiny Monaco, whom she intends to marry after Easter.

"I've been in love before—but never in love like this," she said. She met the prince at his palace in Monte Carlo last May, she said, but didn't date him and didn't feel all romantic about him.

It was a different story Christmas Day at the home of her wealthy parents in Philadelphia.

Prince Rainier had Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Austin of Margate, N.J., Miss Kelly's aunt and uncle. After dinner the Austins brought him calling at the Kelly home.

"Then it apparently was love at first sight, or rather second sight," Miss Kelly said, smiling.

"Rainier proposed sometime during Christmas week after asking my father's permission."

She held up her hand, showing the engagement ring of rubies and diamonds, and another gift from Rainier—a bracelet of heavy gold links with a pendant Monaco gold coin.

The prince, 32, and Miss Kelly, 26, parted Saturday for the first time since their engagement. She is en route to Hollywood to complete a motion picture commitment. He is driving to Florida for deep sea fishing.

Miss Kelly said Rainier will decide where the wedding will be held, soon after April 1.

"After we're married, my emphasis is going to be on our marriage," she said when asked about future movie-making plans.

"Certainly, Rainier will be the head of the family. Shouldn't a husband always be the head?"

"No, I don't think European men are more romantic than American men."

She said an incident at the Monte Carlo ball in New York Friday night upset her but did not cause a quarrel. A dark-haired woman rushed up to the prince at the party and kissed him on the cheek.

In New York yesterday, Senora Graciela Levi Castillo of Ecuador identified herself as the woman who did the kissing. She said the kiss was meant as a token of good wishes and that she had known the prince several years.

"Yes, I was upset," Miss Kelly said. "... And I don't think that Rainier liked it either. Rainier said that he did not know the lady who did the kissing."

Drizzle, Fog Plague Coast

By The Associated Press

Rain, drizzle and fog plagued the New England coast today as the remainder of the nation enjoyed fair, but rather cold, weather.

Warm air along the coast held rainfall to a quarter of an inch generally, although Worcester, Mass., reported 3/8 of an inch and Hartford, Conn., 1/2 in a six-hour period.

Freezing rain drove inland into New Jersey, eastern and central New York and eastern Pennsylvania. Warm moist air moved westward over this region to spread light precipitation as far west as Ohio and West Virginia.

The temperature throughout most of the country, with the exception of the New England coast and the Gulf region, was about 32. It included most of the mid-continent and spread westward to the Rockies.

The Great Lakes was a bit colder, where temperatures were 15 or less.

FANTASTIC REWARDS Man Is Beginning His Grandest Adventure—Leap Into Space

NEW YORK (AP)—Man is beginning his grandest adventure—his leap into space.

From this new frontier come perhaps the most fantastic discoveries and rewards of any human exploration.

First there will be baby-made moons, whirling high around the earth, seeing and feeling the mysteries of the cold black ocean of space where no human has ever been and calling back by radio to report its discoveries.

You will see these moons, bright pinpoints flashing through the sky. You could call them your own, for they will be paid for by tax dollars.

They will be man's first step toward shedding the shackles that bind him to earth toward trips for a year, or perhaps forever, and elsewhere. New knowledge of earth, sun and universe could also improve life on earth.

How and when will the earth satellites come, what will they be like, what will they learn? Is there a timetable for them, or for trips by the first human astronauts into space?

Here are some answers, from Dr. Homer E. Newell Jr., Dr. Joseph Kaplan and Hugh Odishaw, members of the technical panel for the earth satellite program.

The United States will build and launch 10 or more of the baby moons. It is not expected that all will be successful.

The size, weight and shape of the satellites are still being decided. Probably they will weigh from 25 to 50 pounds. They likely will be mostly spherical, about basketball size.

Inside will be packed the delicate eyes, ears and hands of electronic equipment and devices to test and sense and measure the challenging events of space.

A combination of three separate rockets will carry each satellite into its merry-go-round path.

A 40-foot-long Viking-type rocket, pointed up at a slight angle, will give the baby moon its first thrust, carrying it 100 miles or higher. When spent, this rocket will fall away, parachuting to earth.

A 26-foot Aerobee-type rocket will take over, shooting the satellite still higher, at an even sharper angle, to heights of 200 miles or more.

As this second rocket is automatically detached, a third rocket, carrying the baby moon in its nose, will fire off. It will kick the satellite sidewise into an orbit around the earth.

This last rocket must fling the satellite away at a speed of about five miles per second, or 18,000 m.p.h. at different heights and different orbits, for different kinds of scientific explorations and sensings of space.

Some probably will be set swinging at a 200-mile height, others perhaps higher.

At 200 miles, in a circular orbit, the little moon would make a complete journey around our globe every 90 minutes. It would stay up for two weeks, perhaps a month, before the drag from the incredibly thin upper atmosphere brought it wheeling down in flaming death into our lower, denser air. It would finally burn like a brilliant shooting star, leaving probably, only a handful of dust that will fall harmlessly to earth.

If started off at 300 mile height, the satellite might swing round us for a year, or perhaps forever, and elsewhere. New knowledge of earth, sun and universe could also improve life on earth.

Some paths may be circular, always at the same height. More likely are elliptical orbits, with the satellite coming on one swing within 200 miles of earth and racing 800 miles into space at its outer turn.

When nearest the earth, it will travel faster, pulled by gravity into a tighter turn around the earth. Farther out, it will travel slower, with a weaker pull of gravity counteracting its speed to make it complete the outer turn of its racetrack course.

You will probably be able to see one or more of the little moons to your naked eye—if you have advance notice of where and when to look. They will be most visible low against a dark sky in the evening or shortly after sunrise. Seemingly like a faint star, the satellite would pass from sight in a few minutes.

Their orbits will be calculated so that the satellites will pass over existing observatories in this or other countries, or over special stations, to which the moons will report from space.

Choice of the launching sites—at White Sands, N.M., the Banana River range in Florida, or elsewhere—will depend upon the orbits to be taken, and the type of studies each satellite will make.

They will rise to challenge space during the International Geophysical Year, from mid-1957 to January 1958. A guess is the first firing will come in the latter half of 1957.

The earth satellite program is just one phase of the IGY, in which scientists from 40 nations will cooperate in multitudinous studies to learn more about the earth and its atmosphere.

The satellite program will be a purely American affair, although information about the satellite will be made available to other nations so that it can be observed throughout its path around the world. The National Academy of Sciences is in overall charge of the program.

The Department of Defense too will play a vital role, supplying material, scientists and rocket sites. This phase of the program will be managed by the Navy under Project Vanguard.

Why is it worth doing? The baby moons can learn things man has no other way of learning. For they will rise above, or nearly above, the protecting sea of air in which we earthlings live. This sea of atmosphere filters out many rays of the sun, stops some cosmic rays and meteorites, distorts our view of what outer space is really like.

What is sunlight like out in space? How intense is the sun's ultraviolet radiation, or its X-rays? What kinds of particles come streaming from the sun, or from other regions of the universe? These radiations set up chemical and electrical reactions in the air that affect our weather and climate. Better knowledge of them might improve weather forecasting or even bring control over weather.

How crowded is outer space with meteorites? How much of a hazard might they be to space ships carrying humans?

The baby moons could provide some of the answers. Some meteorites are only the size of dust particles, and it's estimated that 1,000 tons of this meteoritic dust falls upon our earth every day. The baby moon can carry equipment to count such tiny, and harmless hits. Other meteorites go up to the size of peas, or even bigger, traveling 15 to 90,000 m.p.h. A hit from one of them could wreck the baby moon—or, if it were a billionth as dense as our air at sea level. The slowdown drag on the baby moon from even terribly thin air can be fairly accurately measured to tell how thin that atmosphere is.

The baby moon—with its speed and orbits accurately calculated by electronic brains—can be used to determine just how much the earth really bulges at the Equator, what differences there are in the mass of the earth's crust under different parts of the earth. They may tell us more about the earth's magnetism, gravity, the Aurora Borealis.

Each satellite could be designed for one to a handful of different experiments. They will carry electronic equipment, Geiger counters and photo cells, engineered down to the last gram's weight to save space and weight.

'Peter Pan' Termed Best Entertainment

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Let's go to a run-through of "Peter Pan," starring Mary Martin and Cyril Richard, which returns to NBC-TV Monday evening.

When Mary Martin brought her Broadway musical hit to television last March, even the most critical of critics raved. Now, thanks to the benevolence, intelligence of NBC, it's coming back again. It still is probably the most enchanting entertainment ever to appear on your TV screen.

Mary Martin believes in meticulous preparation for her television appearances. She also loves children generally—besides specifically her daughter, Heller Halliday, 14, who appears in the play and, like her mother, flies through the air with the greatest of ease on a complete journey around our globe every 90 minutes.

Chinese Student On His Way Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Chinese graduate student who denied Communist charges that he was held in the United States against his will is on his way home today.

Liu Yung-ming, 36, sailed aboard the liner President Wilson yesterday for Hong Kong. He has a wife and 7-year-old daughter in Red China.

Liu was released last week from a mental hospital at Farmington, Mo., where he was sent in 1949.

Liu had a mental breakdown shortly after obtaining a master's degree from the University of Missouri. He is well enough now to travel alone, the hospital said.

Liu denied the Communist allegation, saying he "stayed in the United States for the treatment, 'I am well now.'" complete and they'll have to use their imaginations a bit. The lights dim—and away we go.

When Richard strides on stage as Papa Darling there is wild applause. They laugh delightedly at the antics of Nana, the beloved dog. To their riders on stage and in the balcony they impart a warm glow of understanding. Even those children who never have seen the play respond to the magic of James M. Barrie's creation as interpreted by those on stage.

When the golden and beautiful Miss Martin, as Peter Pan, swoops in through the air there are yells and screams of delight. Then a loud shushing. Soon when Peter Pan begins teaching the Darling children how to fly, the excitement in the audience is uncontrollable.

Now we're flying through space to Never Never Land and the children throw themselves about in ecstasy. Miss Martin, flying as gracefully as an angel on the invisible wires, swoops back and forth from one wing to another of the stage.

Three hundred young heads sway with her. "Look out!" screams a little boy.

Now it's the wonderful Never Never Land, and in come the pirates bearing Richard as Captain Hook. He's greeted with hisses this time. Soon come the Indians, creeping in with a "shhh!" The audience is still. A very small boy closes his eyes and shrinks out of sight in his seat.

When it appears that Wendy has been killed, a little girl starts to cry. She stops when it's discovered that Wendy is very much alive. As Miss Martin begins to sing "Let's Be Quiet as a mouse," everybody is quiet, but it's such a relief of tension that nearly everybody stands up.

So it goes for two hours. Two hours! Impossible.

A man who considers himself an adult looks at his watch disbelievingly and realizes he's sat right through a four o'clock appointment elsewhere.

Then he thinks that if you have to be a child to love "Peter Pan," it's much better to be a child.

complete and they'll have to use their imaginations a bit. The lights dim—and away we go.

When Richard strides on stage as Papa Darling there is wild applause. They laugh delightedly at the antics of Nana, the beloved dog. To their riders on stage and in the balcony they impart a warm glow of understanding. Even those children who never have seen the play respond to the magic of James M. Barrie's creation as interpreted by those on stage.

When the golden and beautiful Miss Martin, as Peter Pan, swoops in through the air there are yells and screams of delight. Then a loud shushing. Soon when Peter Pan begins teaching the Darling children how to fly, the excitement in the audience is uncontrollable.

Now we're flying through space to Never Never Land and the children throw themselves about in ecstasy. Miss Martin, flying as gracefully as an angel on the invisible wires, swoops back and forth from one wing to another of the stage.

Three hundred young heads sway with her. "Look out!" screams a little boy.

Now it's the wonderful Never Never Land, and in come the pirates bearing Richard as Captain Hook. He's greeted with hisses this time. Soon come the Indians, creeping in with a "shhh!" The audience is still. A very small boy closes his eyes and shrinks out of sight in his seat.

When it appears that Wendy has been killed, a little girl starts to cry. She stops when it's discovered that Wendy is very much alive. As Miss Martin begins to sing "Let's Be Quiet as a mouse," everybody is quiet, but it's such a relief of tension that nearly everybody stands up.

So it goes for two hours. Two hours! Impossible.

A man who considers himself an adult looks at his watch disbelievingly and realizes he's sat right through a four o'clock appointment elsewhere.

Then he thinks that if you have to be a child to love "Peter Pan," it's much better to be a child.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Those who sat in on the Cotton Bowl game and kept an attentive eye on his play said Big Spring's Dick Laswell of TCU played one of the finest games in the line on either team that day.

Ole Miss often had two and three players on the 230-pound senior but that didn't stop Laswell. He kept punishing those who played in front of him, with his bull-like rushes.

Look for Big Spring's Dickie Milam to transfer to McMurry from Texas A&M at midterm.

Dickie, who was transferred from guard to center by the Aggie coaches last fall, is experiencing a few headaches in his books at College Station.

He was lauded for his aggressive play with the Aggie Fish by coaching aide Tom Toppie, among others.

Both Herman Morgan of SMU and Rice Institute's Red Bales visited here in recent weeks, scouting football prospects in this area.

SMU recruited no centers for its freshman team last year, had to convert several players to that position, for that reason.

Did you know that SMU's Kyle Rote is the only Southwest Conference player to rate the All-Time West squad in the Shrine Game at San Francisco.

Rote played in the contest in 1951, after he had rated All-American honors in '50.

Other backs so honored included Eddie LeBaron of COP, Bob Waterfield of UCLA and St. Mary's Herman Wedemeyer.

Charles Sken, one of the more promising football players to come along at Forsan High School in recent years, is a straight A student.

Two of the best known schoolboy footballers of the past season, Charley Miltstead of Tyler and Garland's Bobby Boyd, are also basketball stickouts.

Miltstead, they say, boasts a game average of 20 points.

Spring football probably will not be conducted at the local high school until the track and field campaign has been concluded.

Three places in the 1956 All-America football backfield have practically been nailed now, already.

Jim Swink, TCU; Paul Hornung, Notre Dame; and Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma, all great players this year, will be back to harass opponents again next fall.

Good as Oklahoma was the past season, the Orange Bowl people probably will never get to see their all-time greatest team.

Eighteen of the first 22 players off this year's club will be back but the Sooners, even if they go unbeaten, will not be eligible to play in Miami next Jan. 1, due to conference rules.

The Sooners quite probably will go through unbeaten if they can get by Notre Dame Oct. 27.

Wayne Stell, star of the ABB reserve basketball team that plays HCJC in Abilene Jan. 17, was New Mexico high jumping champion last year.

Sul Ross Tries SF Austin Five

By The Associated Press
The big games in the Lone Star Conference came up Friday and Saturday when Sul Ross puts its perfect season record up against Stephen F. Austin.

Sul Ross leads the loop with a 10-0 record while Stephen F. Austin is right behind with a 10-1 mark.

This week Lamar Tech plays McNeese State and Texas A&M meets Louisiana Tech Monday. Tuesday Southwest Texas plays Stephen F. Austin and East Texas goes against Louisiana Tech.

Wednesday Lamar Tech takes on Sam Houston. Friday East Texas plays Texas A&I and Stephen F. Austin tangles with Sul Ross. Saturday East Texas tries A&I again, Sam Houston tries Southwest Texas and Stephen F. Austin plays Sul Ross again.

Tittle Guides All-Stars To Win Over Collegians

HONOLULU — The pros say they had fun and the college boys say they got some schooling—and the final score of yesterday's 10th annual Hula Bowl football game bears them out.

The 11 pros, playing for the Hawaii All-Stars, swamped a College All-Star squad 51-20 before 24,000 in Honolulu Stadium.

San Francisco 49er quarterback Y. A. Tittle, who had as good a time as anyone tossing six touchdown passes, summed up for the pros: "It was lots of fun. But it's not this easy at Kezar Stadium."

Stamford, Breck Each Place Two On All-AA

McClellan Is Only Junior

By The Associated Press

Champion Stamford, runner-up Hillsboro and rugged Breckenridge each placed two players on the Class AA all-state schoolboy football team with Merlin Priddy, Hillsboro's great back, the nearest to unanimous selection.

Priddy, 190-pound senior, who led the Eagles to the finals, received 96 points from the selection committee of the Texas Sports Writers Assn. That was only four points under the possible maximum.

James Shillingburg, Kermitt Hill guard, was next in the voting with 89 points.

Stamford's all-stars were Joe Wash, brilliant tackle, and Mike McClellan, hard-running back. McClellan was the only junior to make the team.

Hillsboro placed Priddy and center Robert Himmel.

Breckenridge contributed Bennett Watts, quarterback, and Jerry Payne, end.

Don Meredith, Mt. Pleasant back who made the team in 1954, played six brilliant games before suffering a broken collar bone last season. He was given honorable mention.

The first team: Ends: Larry Ward, Nederland, and Jerry Payne, Breckenridge. Tackles: Joe Wash, Stamford, and Merlin Priddy, Hillsboro. Guards: James Shillingburg, Kermitt Hill, and Duane Day, Graham.

Backs: Mike McClellan, Stamford; Bobby Lackey, Weslaco; Bennett Watts, Breckenridge; and Merlin Priddy, Hillsboro. The second team: Ends: Robert Himmel, Hillsboro, and Merle Littlefield, New London. Guards: James Shillingburg, Kermitt Hill, and Duane Day, Graham.

Center: Billy Jack Reeves, Gladewater. Backs: Jack Webb, Phillips; Jacky Sledge, New London; Billy Buck, Schulenburg; and Burroughs, Houston. Honorable mention: Ends: Walter Winchel, DeKalb; Joe Allen, Crane; and Jimmie Lee, Terrell. Tackle: Jimmy Lockhart, Jimmie Oliners, Edman, Monahan; Edwin Young, Seminole; James Burkes, Balmora; Ed Carlson, Refugio; Danny Ellison, Hereford. Quarterback: James Lee, Llanito. Linebackers: Gale Oliver, Refugio; Ramon Armstrong, Emmis; Jimmy Norris, Andrews; Wayne Harris, Lavaca; Noel Barfield, Monahan; Edwin Young, Seminole; James Burkes, Balmora; Ed Carlson, Refugio; Danny Ellison, Hereford. PONIES MEET AGGIES, RICE TO PLAY TWICE

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press
The SMU Mustangs, currently leading the Southwest Conference basketball race with a 2-0 record, will play their perfect mark on the line only once this week, playing Texas A&M at Dallas.

Rice, second behind SMU in the season standings and holding a 1-1 conference record, hosts TCU at Houston Tuesday, then goes to Fayetteville to take on Arkansas Friday. The Owls entered the week's play boasting the top season scorer and the top conference scorer—Temple Tucker in both cases. Tucker boasted 325 season points and 51 in loop play.

Arkansas and TCU stood tied for second place in conference standings with one victory and no losses each. Rice and Texas A&M held 1-1 marks while Baylor and Texas each lost 2.

The week's schedule opens with Texas playing Arkansas at Austin Monday.

Tuesday SMU, with a 12-2 mark for the season, gets Texas A&M at Dallas and TCU goes to Houston to play Rice.

Friday Rice tries Arkansas and Texas goes to College Station to meet Texas A&M.

Saturday Baylor tackles TCU at Fort Worth.

Tucker was followed in the season scoring by Dick O'Neal of TCU with 313 points and Ray Downs, Texas, with 293. Next was Jim Krebs, SMU, with 251.

George Meahaffey of Texas A&M got hot last week to roll up 44 points for second place in conference scoring. Ken Hutto of A&M and Larry Showalter of SMU were just behind with 38.

The game will serve as a final warmup for the Hawks' conference opener with Amarillo College here Friday night.

The HCJC gang returned with plenty of loot from Temple. In addition to a 20-inch trophy, which will go into the Hawk trophy case at the HCJC Gym, Jimmy Robinson was named to the all-tournament honor.

Others so honored were Charles Martin, San Angelo College; Don Barras, Temple; LeRoy Weidner, San Maricon; and Roger Samuels.

McALESTER, Okla. — The Class D Sooner State Baseball League held its annual winter meeting here yesterday, and approved a schedule of 133 playing days, to open April 24.

The eight-team league will close the 1956 season on Labor Day, Sept. 3. The schedule will include seven doubleheaders, three of them to come on holidays—Memorial Day, July 4 and Labor Day.

Representatives of all eight teams reported they would be ready to field teams at the opening of the season and that they had working agreements with major league clubs. Members of the Sooner State League are Shawnee, Ponca City, Ardmore and Seminole Okla., and Paris, Tex.

Ortiz can fight only eight rounds because of his age under New York rules. While 12 straight victories, nine by knockouts, he will be favored over Portilla.

Du Mont will telecast.

Wolfpack Loses Place As One Of Top Teams

By BEN CLAN
The Associated Press

San Francisco and Dayton, the mighty and the high among the nation's college basketball teams, should have little trouble extending their unbeaten streaks this week.

But don't bet on it. Particularly after the hectic action over the weekend, when four of the top 10 teams — including second-ranked North Carolina State — were beaten. The Wolfpack, after 23 straight successes, dropped a 68-58 decision to Duke.

If top-rated San Francisco wins both its games this week it will equal the collegiate record for consecutive victories — 39.

The Dons play Santa Clara tomorrow and Fresno State Friday. Neither is expected to spring the big surprise, but Santa Clara has shown improvement in winning its last three games.

Dayton's tall flyers, led by seven-foot center Bill Uhl, were easy winners over Iona Saturday 83-64. They'll take their 11-0 slate into Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium Saturday night against Canisius.

The standings of the Big Ten are likely to be scrambled tonight. Purdue and Indiana head the pack with 2-0 records but each is down to play away from home—Purdue at Michigan and Indiana at Minnesota, Ohio State and Illinois, both 1-0, also will see action, the Buckeyes against defending champion Wisconsin and the Illini against Wisconsin.

In other games Vanderbilt, ranked fourth in the latest Associated Press poll, goes against Georgia Tech in a Southeastern Conference encounter. Maryland is at South Carolina, Alabama at Mississippi State, Auburn at Mississippi State and Virginia Tech and Kansas at Missouri.

Kansas is deadlocked with Kansas State and Colorado for the Big Seven lead. Eighth-ranked Iowa State dropped a 68-64 decision to Kansas State Saturday night.

The North Carolina State setback coupled with fifth-ranked North Carolina's defeat by Wake Forest scrambled the Atlantic Coast Conference race. Maryland leads with 4-1 followed by N.C. State, North Carolina and Duke at 3-1.

George Washington, No. 7, was the only top 10 team upset. The Colonials lost to unpredictable Richmond 78-67.

Hawks To Meet Wayland Quint

The Howard County Junior College's Jayhawks' won-lost record, after their successful defense of the title in the Temple Tournament last weekend, is now 8-8 and Coach Harold Davis says the boys are determined to stay on the right side of the ledger.

The Hawks swing into action here again Tuesday night, tangling with the Wayland College freshman unit.

The game will serve as a final warmup for the Hawks' conference opener with Amarillo College here Friday night.

St. Nick's Hopes For Official OK

By The Associated Press
The Monday night fights still come out of New York's St. Nicholas Arena for at least this Monday night with a match between 19-year-old Carlos Ortiz of Puerto Rico, unbeaten in 12 bouts, and Ray Portilla of New York.

The St. Nick's promoters, anxious to continue promoting here after their Baltimore fiasco, have a Jan. 16 match up for approval with the New York State Athletic Commission but it hasn't been given the official okay yet. The match would pit John L. Sullivan of England against Tony Johnson of New York.

Promoter Tex Sullivan hopes to straighten it all out in a conference with Commissioner Julius Helfand today.

Tatum Departs Maryland To Take Tarheel Post

By BEN CLAN
The Associated Press

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Jim Tatum, like an old Br'er Rabbit going back to the rabbit patch, has quit the job that earned him a reputation as one of football's master tacticians to become head coach at the University of North Carolina.

He announced his resignation yesterday as football coach and athletic director at the University of Maryland to take a job that will pay less, but lighten the load of his responsibilities.

Terms of Tatum's contract with UNC were not announced. But Jake Wade, North Carolina's athletic publicity director, said the salary will not exceed the $15,000 limit placed on the position by the State Legislature.

"The job as football coach and athletic director at Maryland," he said, "is not going down there as athletic director and coach, only as coach. You ought to get some idea from that, that Carolina can't afford to pay me as much as Maryland," he said. "I felt I was spreading myself too thin."

"I just didn't have the time any more to run both jobs right. I lost touch more and more with my team, especially with my quarterback Frank Tamburello, and it was hurting them and their performance."

"And with all due respect to my other coaches, when Warren Giese left for South Carolina (Giese resigned last week to become head coach at South Carolina), I lost someone who has taken a great deal of the load off my shoulders. His loss really hurt."

Tatum also said, "Now my family and I will be right in the heart of our home country and this may be the last chance to return here. I had the opportunity once before and turned it down. Sometimes I regretted it."

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A University of Texas 440-yard relay time was recognized yesterday by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. as a new national collegiate record.

The 40.2-second performance was recognized last week as a world record by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

The quarter-mile relay was run by Dean Smith, Alvin Frieden, Jerry Prewitt and Jim Whilden at the Modesto, Calif., Relays May 21, 1955. The old record of 40.5 was set by Southern California May 14, 1955, and equaled by Texas May 22, 1954.

Helfand's Hand Is Raised In Victory Over Guild

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—His back broken, his morale shattered, the once-defiant New York Boxing Managers Guild was ready today to surrender unconditionally to the State Athletic Commission.

The guild's board of governors conceded a meeting late today, and one informant told the Associated Press the organization would be voted out of existence.

Just four days ago the guild voted 66-0 to defy Julius Helfand, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, who ordered the guild to dissolve by Jan. 16 because he alleged some of the plots were consorting with criminals.

But the swift-moving developments that followed the guild's vote led to an abrupt turnaround. They included:

1. The International Boxing Club headed by Jim Norris, the biggest promoter in the country, aligning itself behind Helfand.

2. The refusal of the Maryland State Commission to sanction bouts by the London Sporting Club, which has been operating at St. Nicholas Arena here.

3. The resignation of Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, from the guild.

Said one guild member: "Most of us were badly advised when we were told to refuse to testify at the recent hearings Helfand conducted. Everyone knows that the International Boxing Guild

3 OUT OF 5
Heart Specialists Give Okay To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Among 246 heart specialists giving definite answers in a poll on President Eisenhower's health, three out of five say he is physically fit to seek a second term. The others say he is not.

Results of the poll were published today under copyright by U.S. News and World Report, a news magazine. The poll was conducted for the magazine by the research organization of Benson-Benson, Inc., Princeton, N. J. The American Medical Assn. had questioned the propriety of the poll and urged doctors not to answer.

Questionnaires were sent to the 444 doctors certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine as heart specialists. Of this number, 275 or about 62 per cent replied. Twenty-nine of these did not give direct answers.

The two questions asked and the replies, as given by the magazine: "Based on what you have read about the nature of the President's illness, and assuming a normal convalescence in the next few months, do you think Mr. Eisenhower can be regarded as physically able to serve a second term? Yes: 141, or 60.3 per cent; No: 83, or 39.7 per cent.

"Do you think a man who has suffered a heart attack can be regarded as physically able to serve a term as president? Yes: 152, or 64.4 per cent; No: 84, or 35.6 per cent.

No names of physicians were used by the magazine, nor did the research organization ask that replies be signed.

The Journal of the AMA, in an editorial published last Friday, said the questionnaires "should be tossed into the wastebasket." It said among other things that "the questions are very definitely slanted politically," and that "consultation without examination is absurd."

Presumably most if not all of the replies received were in the mail before the AMA Journal appeared.

The magazine said it published the results of the poll, along with the comments of all the physicians who responded, as a public service. In defense of the basis for the survey, it noted there had been widespread publication of technical data on the President's Sept. 24 heart attack, including the extent of damage, blood pressure, pulse rate and electrocardiograph readings.

British, U. S. Specialists Set Mid-East Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top British and American specialists on the Middle East will meet here this week to seek a formula for saving that rich and strategic region from the twin threats of war and Communist subversion.

The two-power talks, expected to begin Wednesday, will be aimed directly at producing plans for consideration and approval by Prime Minister Eden and President Eisenhower. Eden is coming to Washington for a round of conferences beginning Jan. 30.

So far no bold new and dramatic ideas for action in the Middle East seem to have been shaped up by either side.

Both want peace between Israel and the Arab states. For eight years, they have tried various devices unsuccessfully to achieve it. The British reportedly would like to see the United States take a tougher line with Israel; United States officials with Britain or someone could get the Arabs into active negotiations.

Both sides seem to want a "regional approach" to the development of Middle East economic programs for bulwarking the region against Soviet economic enticement and other pressures. U. S. officials seem to be deeply skeptical about attaining this, however.

Western economic help and the achievement of peace between the Arab states and Israel, U. S. and British officials feel, would go a long way toward saving the Middle East from communism. But they believe this must be accomplished in the next six or eight months or conditions will make the situation more difficult.

Uncle Ray: Ancient Egyptians Had Magic Tricks

By RAMON COFFMAN

No one can say when the first magic trick was performed, but we know that the event took place long ago. Pictures which date back to ancient times in Egypt show jugglers keeping several balls in the air at the same time, just as modern jugglers do.

In another form of magic, Egyptian priests took visitors to dimly-lighted rooms, and showed them burning incense. Then, in the midst of the incense smoke, images of a god or goddess appeared. One image would vanish, and another would take its place. Sometimes two or three images were seen together.

Those tricks are explained by the use of mirrors. Certain oddly-shaped mirrors, especially those which are concave, can fool a person in regard to the exact position of an object. The Egyptians knew nothing about looking-glasses, but they had mirrors made of polished copper and polished bronze.

In the Bible we read about Egyptian magicians, also about Aaron, the older brother of Moses. Here is one passage:

"And the Lord spoke unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying: 'When Pharaoh shall speak unto you . . . thou shalt say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and cast it before Pharaoh and it shall become a serpent.'

"Moses and Aaron went unto Pharaoh, and did as the Lord commanded. Aaron cast down his rod, and it became a serpent.

"Then Pharaoh called the magicians of Egypt, and they did in like manner. . . they cast down every man his rod and the rods became serpents; but Aaron's rod swallowed up their rods."

Those words suggest that it was common magic in Egypt to turn, or seem to turn, a rod into a snake. Many Jews lived in Egypt at the time, and some of them learned Egyptian secrets.

Ruined Peach Orchard

This was once a peach orchard in the heart of the rich Sutter County farmland, near Yuba City, Calif., but the flooding Feather River left it like a bottomlands bramble. Mrs. Earl Switzer, who with her husband, owned the orchard a half mile from the levee break which inundated Yuba City, stands on a dune of silt with disconsolation reflected on her face, surveying the devastation.

Adm. Byrd Flies Over Heartland Of Antarctica

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd has made his first flight over the current antarctic expedition over the South Pole and the unexplored heartland area of the Antarctic Circle.

It was the veteran explorer's third flight over the geographic pole. But previous approaches have been from coasts of Antarctica closest to it, rather than over the less accessible approximate center of the continent.

The flight yesterday capped a busy six days for the air arm of Operation Deepfreeze. In all, its Navy fliers have flown over the geographic pole twice and once over the magnetic pole.

In the antarctic quadrant facing Australia they have seen about a million square miles—some 750,000 of them never before seen by man, according to an estimate by Cmdr. Gordon Ebbe, air operations director. They have discovered two mountain ranges and plateaus as high as 13,000 feet.

They twice have flown over areas earmarked for the Russians under the International Geophysical Year program but have not seen the Soviet party. Moscow radio said Saturday a Russian team had landed on the antarctic ice cap and had sent out exploratory ski groups.

While all this is in the name of science, observers point out the flights can also be of great significance when and if the United States lays claims to antarctic territory. Thus far it has made no claims and recognizes none.

Yesterday's flight took 11 hours, the round trip covering about 2,200 miles. The 67-year-old admiral said the trip was a "little tiring" but that he felt fine.

Actress Wants To Be Voluptuous And Mean

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Film actress Betsy Blair is home from film work in Europe and she says that from now on she wants to be voluptuous and mean in pictures.

Miss Blair arrived at International Airport last night from Paris and was met by her husband, dancer Gene Kelly, and their daughter, Kerrie.

"American producers want me to continue playing a wallflower," Miss Blair said. "From now on I want to be mean and sexy in the movies."

She completed "Return To Paris" and plans to leave soon for Spain and work in another film.

Quake At Acapulco Leaves 106 Injured

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—Mexico's leading Pacific Coast resort, its swank hotels packed with North American visitors, today counted 106 injured and heavy damage in the wake of six Sunday earthquakes.

There were no dead, and no U.S. citizens were reported among those injured in the holiday center jammed with 35,000 inhabitants and thousands of tourists.

Fearful of further quakes, hundreds spent last night on the wide curving beaches, on the streets and in cars.

The earth shocks began at 1:12 a.m. and continued until mid-afternoon with varying intensity.

Night police officer Juan Altamirano said there were 106 injured in all.

Heaviest damage was to the Colonia Progreso alum area. The most spectacular single case of damage was the collapse of a four-story apartment building under construction near the beach-front Hotel Papagayo.

One witness said the building collapsed "like a punctured balloon."

The shocks, first major Mexican quakes in two years, were felt over a wide area of southern Mexico. In Mexico City, the capital 195 miles north of Acapulco, skyscrapers swayed.

Arica, north Chilean port 2,300 miles south of Acapulco, also was hit by two major quakes yesterday afternoon. No serious injuries or deaths were reported.

Acapulco's first shock awakened virtually the entire city, and people poured into the streets and onto the beaches.

When two quakes followed within five minutes, the population panicked. It was during this period that the majority were injured by flying glass, falling beams, tumbling walls and collapsing roofs. Several fires started.

Some tourists departed but hotel men said comparatively few actually left because of the quakes.

Pedestrian Killed

WACO (AP)—Cleve Dean, 64, Mart, Tex., was killed today when struck by an auto while walking along the highway just outside the Waco city limits.

'Hellzapoppin' Takes Time Off

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The musical revue, "Hellzapoppin'" takes a brief time off this week following the accidental injury of comedian Chick Johnson during Saturday night's performance.

While offstage at the Music Box

Theater, Johnson accidentally shot himself in the left leg. He was treated for powder burns and skin lacerations and taken home.

Sen. Daniel Blames Large Part Of U. S. Crime On Dope

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.) said today drug addiction is responsible for nearly 50 per cent of all crimes in major cities, and for 25 per cent of all those reported in the nation.

Reporting that the traffic in illicit drugs has "trebled" in this country since the end of World War II, he asked legislation under which the death penalty could be applied to smugglers and peddlers of heroin in extreme cases.

Daniel headed a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which investigated the illegal narcotics traffic during 37 days of hearings in 11 cities. The subcommittee, in a preliminary report to the Senate, also recommended:

1. Legislation to permit federal narcotics agents to tap telephones under "sealed court orders" and to use such evidence in courts, so they can get at the "big operators" who work behind the scenes.

2. Negotiation of a treaty with Mexico for a mutual fight against the drug traffic across the border. Daniel said 90 per cent of the overland smuggling of heroin and marijuana is across the Mexican border "into Texas, California and Arizona."

3. Complete outlawing of the sale of heroin, which he said is used by 80 per cent of the addicts in this country.

Daniel said legislation now being drafted by his subcommittee would make both the smuggling of heroin into this country and its sale here punishable by penalties ranging from five-year prison sentences to death when a jury recommends the extreme penalty.

The death penalty, Daniel said, would be available in extreme cases "such as the man who started 40 high school students on heroin in San Antonio, Tex."

What's all this loose talk about top trade-in deals?

Regardless of deals Ford gives you more for the money!

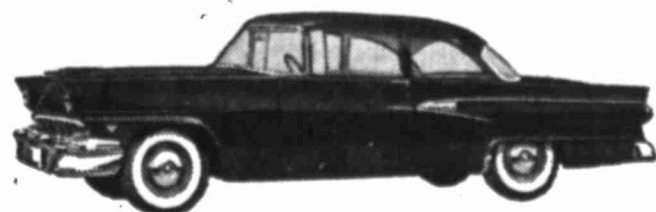

The truth is:

The deal we will give you is as good as, or better than, you can get anywhere. But, is the deal your only measure of value? We suspect not. We feel certain that you want a car that stands above the crowd in looks. And our '56 Fords fill that bill—with their Thunderbird-inspired elegance.

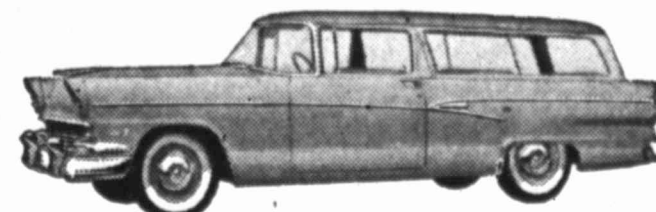

We figure you want a car with a full measure of spirit, like the lively Thunderbird Y-8 engine. This is the standard eight for Fairlane and Station Wagon models, at no extra cost.

Not least, we'll bet you want all the safety that can be built into a car. You'll feel better, knowing your family has the added protection of Ford's Lifeguard Design with its deep-center steering wheel, double-grip door locks, shatter-resistant rear-view mirror, optional padding and seat belts.

And think of this angle, too: the '56 Ford you buy today will look like a smart buy to someone else when you get ready to sell. Yes, Ford is worth more when you sell it, too.

COMPLETE THE BLANK — GET ENTRY TO HERALD BY 8 A.M. THURSDAY
READ THESE RULES

(1) Contest open to all bona fide residents (including military families residing therein) of Borden, Davess, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, and Mitchell Counties, Texas, and only to residents of these counties. Employees of the Big Spring Herald and members of their families are not eligible.

(2) Entries must be made in crossword puzzle form. They can be on the blank printed here for your convenience, or on a separate sheet. However, machine duplicated puzzles will not be accepted. Puzzles must be of your own handwriting, and must be same size of puzzle printed here.

(3) Each individual is limited to TEN (10) entries. All members of a family may submit up to 10 entries each.

(4) Contest restricted in area. Entries will be accepted in this contest only from bona fide residents (including military personnel stationed therein, and members of their families) from the following Texas Counties: Borden, Davess, Glasscock, Howard, Martin and Mitchell.

(5) A cash prize of $25 will be paid for the correct solution. If more than one correct solution is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the base prize will be increased by $25 each week until there is a winner. In addition, The Herald will pay an additional award of $50 if the winner is a regular subscriber to the Big Spring Herald, either by home delivery or through the mail. Another $2.50 will be paid the winner whose mail entry is submitted by postcard and not by envelope.

(6) IMPORTANT: There is only ONE correct solution and only a correct solution can win.

There is only one answer that in the decision of the judges is the BEST word filling the definition of each clue. The decisions of the judges shall be final and all contestants taking part agree to accept these decisions as a condition of entry.

(7) After you have completed the puzzle, clip it neatly and mail or deliver to the Big Spring Herald—do to any participating merchant who offers a bonus to winners. Mail entries MUST BE POSTMARKED BY MIDNIGHT WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11. Entries delivered to special subscribers must be deposited by 3 A.M. Thursday, January 12. Any entries received after this deadline will be declared null and void.

(8) Winners and the correct solution will be announced in The Herald, Friday, January 13.

A Bible Thought For Today

And Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel, saying, If ye do return unto the LORD with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods and Ashtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the LORD, and serve him only; and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines. (1 Samuel 7:3)

How Long Do We Have To Endure?

While a member of the Legislature talked of impeachment proceedings against "any or all" members of the State Insurance Commission, Governor Allan Shivers announced there was no need of a special legislative session and "warmly praised" members of the commission, to use an AP phrase.

The governor thinks the commission will be able to straighten everything out in time. He said it would finish the job of eliminating "bad actors" from a generally stable industry, and added there was no need for creditors of defunct companies to organize.

That, of course, remains to be seen. Meantime, creditors and policyholders of companies involved or under suspicion are understandably deeply disturbed, and we doubt if the governor's reassurance of prompt and effective action will prove much of a deterrent to their search for self-protection.

Perhaps no special legislative session is necessary, but that is something no man can say with any assurance at this early stage of the investigation. It would depend on how vigorously, fearlessly and disinterestedly the commission pushes its handling of the unhappy situation.

It seems to us a scandal of this kind could have developed only in an unhealthy atmosphere. While the Legislature did not pass all the laws requested of it, and failed to provide money for adequate inspection and enforcement of existing laws, a situation of this kind could not have developed had all branches of the government been on its toes.

The presence of legislative names on company payrolls or expense accounts is a shocking case in point. There is a constitutional provision forbidding legislators to vote on issues in which they have a personal interest.

Every effort to curb and control lobbyists has been beaten down. There is no comfort or pride for Texas citizens that their voice in the statehouse is of far less importance and influence than the voices of lobbyists. How long, O Lord, how long!

The Not So Pure Air

The Dallas Heart Association has given $17,000 to the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School for research to help solve a scientific mystery: cholesterol, suspected as a major villain in heart disease.

Perhaps this and other answers may eventually be found in the air we breathe, just as cigarette smoke and the traffic fumes of cities have been suspected of causing lung cancer.

The smoke control engineer of Chicago reported one day this week that Chicagoans breathe air in which 71.6 tons of dust is contained in each square mile. "Even if there weren't a single pound of coal burned in the city, we'd still be getting 27 tons of dirty stuff in every square mile," the engineer said.

A dust bowl on top of a downtown building was analyzed and found to contain the following substances: Sand, minute pieces of rubber presumably from auto tires, products of corrosions such as rust, and also lint, paper shreds, a rat hair and dust from Kansas, Arkansas and Texas—to quote the Chicago Daily News.

But the fumes from heavy downtown traffic in our major cities could not be so easily analyzed, though there must be plenty of deleterious and harmful substances in them.

Here in West Texas our people breathe more than their share of wind-borne dust, and respiratory ailments and discomforts which have a high incidence in this part of the country probably stem from that fact. Most of our "colds" are allergies of one sort or another, or simple irritations.

We could stand a little research in that health problem, which may become more and more aggravated as the long drought continues. In time, we may get smart enough to put on suitable masks to avoid these frequent "colds."

It's Time To Outlaw The Cocktail Party

Of recent date, I offered—sight unseen—to sell my vote in the '36 election to the first of the two major political parties that would come out four-square against a tax cut until we make a least a down payment on the national debt.

Well, sir, I am now revising that offer upward, and guarantee to vote twice for whichever political party comes out fearless and unafraid against the man-eating cocktail party.

The cocktail party is not so much a form of entertainment as a form of reprisal. It is a barbican on the face of civilization and must go.

I realize that cynics in the audience will advise me to save my breath to cool my nonalcoholic porridge. They will insist that the cocktail party is entrenched and cannot be excoriated. But I would remain these unbelievers of Cato, the Elder, who kept crying, "Carthage delenda est!" And look what happened to Carthage!

The cocktail party first flowered in the age of prohibition when, apparently, the victims believed they had to lap up every liquid in sight on the theory that by the morning, the revenuers might have busted up all the bottles.

It—the cocktail party—should have exited along with bathtub gin. Not only is it a hangover from the Noble Experiment, but it has been compounded in the years since by a sinister folly known as c&napes or hors d'oeuvres.

man's colitis. For years I have been a lonely figure, without honor in my own country, as I cried aloud, "Caveat canapes!" ("Let the eater beware!")

But I am not alone any longer. I am in distinguished company. Dr. Leon A. Greenberg of the Yale University Center of Alcohol Studies says that the victim of canapes who does not touch a drop of the grape or the corn can come up with a hangover as authentic and painful as any induced by liquor.

"The consumption of garbage will make anyone feel awful, with or without liquor," says the good doctor. That's my boy! Cocktail parties delenda est!

Women who used to clean out the icebox and discard the moldy tidbits now spread 'em on crackers and give a cocktail party, instead. And such honest food, as oysters, is being smoked and served as "snacks." The oyster of itself is a lovable thing, but smoked it takes on the consistency and flavor of gutta serena and lies like lead in the duodenum.

Now is the time to find out how Presidential candidates stand on the vital issue of cocktails and canapes. No candidate full of one or the other or both can straddle the fence or keep to the middle of the road for long! Now, indeed, is the time for all good candidates to come to the aid of the cocktail party and its victims by abolishing both.

Ike Statement Not Surprising

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's statement that he hasn't made up his mind about running again wasn't surprising. It would have been surprising if he had said he has already decided to seek re-election.

His doctors say they won't know until mid-February whether he can stand another four White House years. They may find that he can't. For him to say now, before the medical verdict is in, would be poor judgment, at the least.

Because of what he has said already it would not have been surprising if he had told his news conference yesterday this term is his last. Based on what he said yesterday and previously, a good case can be made out that he will not run.

Eisenhower clearly felt, even before his heart attack last Sept. 24, the heavy burden of the presidency on a man now 65 years old. And he still feels it.

Last Aug. 4 he told an Ohio Republican delegation that eroding effect the presidency has on a man might be the deciding factor in his decision on seeking a second term.

He pointed out then that no man had reached 70 while president. Eisenhower would be 66 by the time he began a second term in 1957 and 70 years and 3 months old by the time he finished it in 1961, if he lived that long.

Yesterday he told his news conference that — looking back on all the jobs of his life, including his military responsibility in World War II — the presidency is "the most wearing . . . although not necessarily the most tiring."

He said yesterday he would be happy to take on the full duties of the presidency. But he also said, "I have done many things in the past because I didn't have that sense of fatigue. . . and I have to be careful of myself."

Last Aug. 4, almost two months before his heart attack, he told a news conference the state of his health in 1956 would be an important factor in his decision about running again. He was reminded of this yesterday. He said it was correct.

Then he said the following, which could be interpreted as meaning he is concerned about his chance of surviving another four years in the White House — concerned for the sake of the country:

"It is a very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time that it is unexpected. . . . It is a rather startling thing."

Fugitive Finds New Life

NEW YORK — Leon Jolson is a refugee who became a millionaire by convincing even policemen that he could do home sewing.

His success is one of the most spectacular of any achieved by the hundreds of thousands of fugitives from totalitarian terror who have found a new life in America.

Jolson and his wife, Ann, came here in 1947. They were stateless, penniless and childless. On Jolson's left arm he bore the blue tattooed numerals symbolizing the three years he was imprisoned in Nazi concentration camps before he escaped and joined the Polish underground movement.

Today at 42 Jolson is an American citizen, has two children, and heads the $60,000,000-a-year Neechi and Elna sewing machine corporations.

But for a short time after his arrival he and his wife had to exist on a $90-a-month check from a private relief organization while Jolson learned the English language.

What could he do to earn his way in this strange land? Jolson had been a sewing machine company representative in Poland. He was amazed to find how few American women did home sewing. He decided there was a big market here, and that he would go back into the only business he knew.

"There is already too much competition in it," they told him. "Besides American housewives are different from European housewives. They aren't interested in acquiring the technical skill to do home sewing."

Jolson thought they were wrong. He felt that by importing an Italian model sewing machine that required less operating skill he could make a go of it. In 1948 he started his own business on $2,000 borrowed capital.

"I was scared stiff," he recalled. "But his business mushroomed to $2,000,000 in sales by the end of the first year. By 1953 they had reached $45,000,000. His firms now account for about a tenth of the $600,000,000 American sewing machine industry."

"The do-it-yourself movement was a great factor," Jolson said. "Home sewing used to be limited largely to homes in the lower economic classes. Now it's gone into high society."

"Many men have taken up sewing. We even have policemen who sew clothing for their children." Jolson now imports only about 25 per cent of his sewing machine parts. The rest are manufactured in this country. The machines are assembled in plants here and in Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Begging Turns A Good Profit

DALLAS — (By Shaw) glamorous television actress of WFAA-TV, Dallas, used makeup and expert costuming to transform herself into a greying, penniless woman.

Then she got a metal pan and began begging on a busy downtown corner. A hidden TV camera watched while Miss Shaw tried to determine whether men or women are more responsive to a woman beggar.

Eleven men and two women contributed $2 which Miss Shaw turned over to charity. "Two dollars every 20 minutes would be $48 for an eight-hour day," Miss Shaw said. "I think begging might pay better than television!"

He will have to use a cane until a cast is removed from his right leg in about six weeks.

'NATURAL' METHOD Pope Pius Okays Painless Childbirth

VATICAN CITY (U)—Pope Pius XII has approved a drugless method of reducing the pains of childbirth. The head of the Roman Catholic Church said in an address yesterday the method, commonly known as "childbirth without fear," violates neither Holy Scripture nor morals. He described it as a "psycho-prophylactic" method in which the mother's natural forces alone are called into action. The pontiff told a congress of more than 1,000 gynecologists that he had received information on the subject and had been asked to pass judgment on it from the religious and moral viewpoint. The method approved by the Pope calls for intensive instruction of the expectant mother in the processes of childbirth. Repeated appeals are made to her emotions not to permit feelings of fear, and during labor specially trained personnel assist and remind her of what she has learned. The pontiff said the method already is used extensively in Russia and China and is finding favor in Western countries, particularly in the United States and France. He explained that the "new method opposes itself" to the fact accepted by men that women must give birth in pain. Advocates of the new method, he continued, assert that normal functions of the human organism when accomplished properly are not accompanied by any painful sensation, and normal childbirth, being a natural function, therefore should be without pain. Outlining the aim and task of painless obstetrics, the Pope said: "By applying scientifically acquired knowledge, it must first dissociate the associations already existing between the normal sensations of contractions of the uterus, and the pain reactions of the cerebral cortex. In this way, negative conditioned reflexes are suppressed. At the same time, new positive reflexes must be created to replace the negative reflexes."

Hope Reported For Organ Transplanting

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Reporter BAH HARBOR, Maine (U)—A step toward giving humans new glands, kidneys or hearts to replace their own sick or worn ones was announced today. It may lead to smashing nature's roadblock against transplanting living tissues from one person to another. Healthy skin, glands or organs taken from persons who had just died then could be given as spare parts to people who needed them. It is discovery of a chemical that broke this roadblock in transplanting living cells between mice. This is a natural chemical nicknamed ES, meaning "enhancing substance." The research was done by scientists of the Roscoe J. Jackson Memorial Laboratory here, and announced by the American Cancer Society, supporting the work. The findings may be important in cancer control. Dr. George D. Snell directed the research, with collaboration in various phases with Doctors Nathan Kaliss, Avron Mithelson, Andrew Kandutsch, Sally Allen and Sheila Counce. The great significance is this: Your body sets up antibodies to destroy any "foreign" materials entering your system. It creates antibodies against germs, for example, and that is very helpful. But you also create antibodies against living tissues borrowed from someone else. Snell and his associates discovered that living cells from one mouse could be transplanted successfully into another mouse, if that mouse was first given injections of ES. The ES was extracted from cells of the type that were being transplanted. The scientists find that ES occurs in red blood cells in the spleen and other normal tissues, and in tumors. It is manufactured under control of certain genes, or controllers of heredity. Apparently every individual produces a different kind of ES. This raises the possibility that ES from one person could be given to another to suppress an antibody reaction that would destroy a gland, kidney or skin transplanted a bit later from the first person to the second. Right now, skin or an entire kidney can be transplanted successfully only between identical twins, who have identical heredity and makeup. Skin borrowed from someone else soon dies. It can serve as a temporary covering over a burn until the person can have some of his own skin transplanted from another part of his body to the burned area. His own skin will "take" and grow.

From High Palace, Grace Can Survey Tiny, Bustling Realm

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—The palace of Prince Rainier III stands on a high rock facing the Mediterranean.

There the handsome 32-year-old Prince and his heart's choice, the glamorous Grace Kelly, can survey a tiny Riviera realm with a legendary past built around spinning roulette wheels, but looking forward to a future built on more secure business foundations.

The country offers relative freedom from taxation and cares in a balmy, romantic atmosphere. A postwar influx of corporations has created a housing shortage.

Prince Rainier, a modern ruler with a penchant for sport cars and yachting, is No. 30 in the line of the Grimaldi family that has ruled Monaco's 370 acres about 700 years. The family's origins were in Genoa. Miss Kelly is marrying the last of the absolute monarchs in Europe. Through the 26-year-old accretion the Monacans fervently hope the dynasty will be perpetuated with a male heir.

Her palace home-to-be was started as a fortress in 1215. Its four big towers are a reminder of its historic purpose. They contrast with the peppermint stick red and white striped awnings on the palace windows. Red and white are Monaco's national colors.

Successive princes down through the centuries have transformed, beautified and modernized the palace. It was pillaged during the French Revolution, but completely restored later.

But, to most people it is the gambling casino and not the palace that they think of when they hear the word Monte Carlo.

For this development they can thank a forebear of Rainier—Prince Charles III. He was a man who loved to travel. During his journeys he visited Baden-Baden and Hamburg, Germany, where gambling was a big attraction.

Prince Charles was also a man who could figure. He calculated the income that the local rulers must be taking from the casinos, and asked himself: "Why not for Monaco?"

Charles found it wasn't easy to establish a casino on a profit-taking basis. His went broke three times before it could get under way. But once it got rolling, breaking the bank at Monte Carlo was only a wishful song.

The warm Mediterranean sunshine, the flower-covered countryside and the urge to gamble on the part of the wandering high society of the day did the rest.

Profits poured into the treasury of Monaco at such a rate that Prince Charles abolished all direct taxes in 1869.

In 1871 the casino counted 150,000 visitors and by 1910 it was crawling with a half million.

Europe's glittering society converged on Monte Carlo in the winter season. Royalty rubbed shoulders with famous theatrical figures and just the ordinary wealthy at the gaming tables.

Back in the roaring twenties Monaco could count on casino profits covering most of the local budget.

Today it only takes care of a bare 10 per cent of the billion franc ($2,857,140) budget.

There are still no direct taxes on anyone who has lived and worked here for five years, and this is a great attraction.

Administrative offices of many corporations are being set up in Monaco. Since the war some 200 new ones have been registered. Office and housing space are at a premium.

The Prince hopes that the advantages offered by Monaco will attract more business—and make the country prosper. Tourist attractions are also being pushed.

Citizens of Monaco are not liable to military service. But fewer than 4,000 out of the 20,000 population are subjects of Prince Rainier. The rest are Frenchmen and other nationalities.

The only way to acquire citizenship is to be born in Monaco and have two ancestors in direct line who have been born in Monaco, or be nationalized by decree of the Prince.

But as Her Serene Highness, Princess of Monaco, Miss Kelly will remain an American citizen unless she chooses to give up her citizenship. Any children she bears will be entitled to American citizenship under American laws.

So all the Monacans are hoping for an early marriage—and a big family as soon as possible.

Clement Forces Scrap Kefauver

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Forces of Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement will challenge supporters of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) to a "showdown" fight for control of the 32-vote Tennessee delegation to the Democratic National Convention, the Commercial Appeal reported today.

In a dispatch from its Washington Bureau, signed by Morris Cunningham, the paper added: "The politically explosive development came as Tennessee political leaders by-passed Sen Kefauver and endorsed the eloquent 35-year-old governor as a 'favorite son' candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination."

"The action abruptly squelched Sen. Kefauver's claims of an 'understanding' with Gov. Clement and set the stage for an all-out battle for Tennessee political superiority."

Kefauver is an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Clement has been mentioned prominently for the vice presidential nomination but has made no formal announcement.

Atlanta Terminal Is Desegregating

ATLANTA (AP)—Atlanta's terminal station for rail passengers has begun to desegregate.

A Negro sailor took a seat in the white waiting room yesterday and stayed there a long time.

A number of other Negroes passed through the white waiting room instead of using their usual entrance.
