COUNTY TAX PROBLEM

General Fund Can't Meet Demand On It

(This is the second of series analyzing the proposal for reallocation of county tax funds, to be voted on Saturday).

While the big demand for county expenditures is made against the general fund, that fund is limited. As a consequence, it shows a continual deficit.

It is limited because, under the terms of the state constitution, only 25 cents per hundred dollar valuation of the overall tax rate can go into it. That was set up back in 1876.

Howard County is now asking the voters in a special election Saturday to approve authorization to change the tax allotments, so that 40 cents of the tax assessment can go into the general fund. The 15 cents would come out of other allocations—road and bridge, permanent improvement and jury. Authorization of the reallocation does not mean any tax increase. It is just a shifting of funds that are coming in now.

A lot of county services have had to be heaped upon the general fund since the founding fathers of Texas set that 25 cent maximum.

Consider a few of the services in Howard County that have to be paid from the general fund:

- AGRICULTURAL SERVICES—These include salaries of the county farm agent, home demonstration agent, their assistants, their travel and office supplies; salary of the trapper; expense of the migrant labor camp. Last year these items cost Howard County $14,006.04.
- CHARITIES—Including medical, burial expense, food, shelter and sometimes transportation for indigents, and the county's share of the health unit. This bill last year was $25,247.17, and it grows every year.

JUVENILE OFFICER—Including salary, travel, expenses of office. The total was $4,139.56 last year.

LAW ENFORCEMENT—This is a special allocation to the district attorney's office. It ran last year to $3,992.97.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE—Added by law in recent years, must be financed from the general fund. The bill for 1955 was $8,169.89.

MISCELLANEOUS—Includes many items, including participation in the police radio network. This total was $14,401.65 for last year.

The record shows that Howard's general fund expenditure total last year was $101,067.91. This represents an O.D. of $9,270.99. A year ago, the deficit was $5,519.95. So the situation is getting worse.

It is not that Howard County is not sound financially. It is. Other funds have surpluses, and the overall picture is good. The catch is that only a limited amount can be allotted to the general fund—and it must have more. Good economic practice for the county calls for authority to make the shift in tax funds.

Rival Pastors Hold Separate Services

NEW YORK (AP)—A long-standing church feud brought two clergymen into open competition yesterday before the altar of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity in Brooklyn.

One of the clergymen was the Rev. William Howard Melish, acting rector of the church for seven years and recently removed from that job by a vote of the vestry.

Disregarding advice from his bishop and the vestry's efforts to lock him out of the church, the Rev. Mr. Melish was determined to conduct Sunday services as usual.

His rival at the altar was the Rev. Robert Thomas, appointed by the bishop of Long Island to conduct services at the church until a newly nominated rector has been installed.

Melish.

Confusion threatened when the two ministers announced different psalms to be read alternately by clergymen and congregation.

At this point the Rev. Mr. Thomas announced, "I refuse to make a mockery of this church and religion in general," and strode down the aisle. About 50 persons from the congregation of approximately 250 followed him out of the church.

The controversy over the Rev. Mr. Melish began in 1949 when his alleged left-wing activities caused the removal of his father, the Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish, as rector of Holy Trinity. The son was serving as his father's assistant at the time and had been named chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

Efforts of a pro-Melish vestry to have the son named later as his father's successor were blocked by the Rt. Rev. James P. DeWolfe, bishop of Long Island.

The bishop refused to approve the vestry's proposal, and the vestry refused to name anyone else. Under this stalemate the Rev. Mr. Melish remained acting rector of the church until last week when four members of the seven-man vestry voted to end his employment and nominated a new rector.

Flood Threat Looms In California

By The Associated Press

Clearing skies signaled the end of northern California's big rain-storm but flood-swollen rivers today threatened Yuba City for the second time in less than a month.

Elsewhere in the nation, cold arctic air slammed into the mid-continent, spelling the end of a week's pleasant weather.

Florida warmed up a bit but still remained well below normal as chilly weather prevailed throughout most of the South.

The Mid-Atlantic states and Northwest experienced moderate cold while a belt of light snow drifted through portions of the Midwest.

Coastal areas from central California northward reported rainfalls of nearly an inch with Watson and Oregon receiving the heaviest deluge.

In northern California, only a hastily erected and not too substantial levee stood as an obstacle to raging floodwaters of the Feather and Yuba rivers. The two waterways converge at Yuba City, still flood-sodden from the Christmas holiday floods.

The arctic air spread across the plains states and drifted southward into Oklahoma before turning eastward. It reached across Missouri and Iowa into central Illinois.

North of this area, temperatures ranged from 1 at Des Moines to 32 at Milwaukee.

Solons See Teeth For Surety Laws

AUSTIN (AP)—Two state representatives today predicted passage of stronger lobby-control and anti-influence-peddling legislation next year.

Reps. J. O. Gillham of Brownfield and Tom Joseph of Waco said they think such legislation is urgently needed to restore the confidence of the people in their state government.

The two discussed their proposals with reporters as Senate Insurance probers prepared to huddle informally on the eve of their full-day open session tomorrow. Insurance Commission Chairman J. Byron Saunders will be the first witness.

The senators, taking up the inquiry where it left off after a blow-up over secret meetings last week, are expected to ask Saunders what can be done now to prevent more collapses like the sensational U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. affair.

Joseph, author of a bill which sought to bring companies like U.S. Trust under strict banking commission regulation, said he will renew that effort at the next legislative session. Gillham, who co-sponsored Joseph's bill, promised his renewed support.

Bascom Giles Surrenders At State Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Bascom Giles, former head of the State Veterans Land Board, entered the penitentiary today to begin serving 6 years for his part in the veterans land scandals.

Giles appeared alone at the main prison building shortly after 6 a.m. this morning and voluntarily surrendered to begin serving the time assessed him for 12 convictions alleged fraud in connection with his administration of the land program.

"He had very little to say," said Richard C. Jones, executive assistant manager of the prison system. "He just said he wanted to be treated like the other prisoners and that he did not want to talk to newspaper reporters."

Jones said Giles had called the prison yesterday from Austin and said he might enter some time today. "We did not know for sure he would be here until he just appeared," Jones said.

First news of the surrender came from Giles' attorney, Clint Small Sr., who announced in Austin that Giles was in prison.

Jones said Giles was placed in the reception ward and would remain there for a period of a week to maybe three weeks.

"They have a couple of medical exams, a fine medical examination, blood test, all the necessary educational and occupational, some orientation lectures and interviews by sociologists," Jones said.

In announcing Giles' imprisonment Small said Giles authorized this statement:

"I have to the best of my ability made amends to the state in a material way. I want to state so far as I am aware, no other state official or employee was involved in any of the transactions for which I was convicted. I wish to thank from the bottom of my heart those friends who have been kind and sympathetic with my family and me during the past troubled year. I deeply regret the embarrassment and heartache caused my friends and co-workers."

Giles, the highest-placed man in Texas public life ever to be given a penitentiary sentence in connection with a public office, made the drive from Austin to Huntsville alone before dawn today.

Small said he left at 2:30 a.m. and was checked in at the penitentiary about 9:30 a.m.

Dist. Judge Ross Doughty at Crystal City signed an order today withdrawing Giles' appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals from his conviction on a charge of agreeing to accept a bribe.

Small said appeals in nine Travis County convictions would be dismissed today and that two appeals with appeal in the hands of the Court of Criminal Appeals will be dismissed Wednesday.

Giles was the chief administrative officer of the 100 million dollar veterans land program—a GI aid plan for veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict which he originally urged in the Legislature.

Giles, 55, had been re-elected commissioner of the Texas Land Office but refused to qualify and take office in January 1955. He had served 16 years prior to that time.

He has already made restitution to the state of more than $80,000. Giles was prominent in church and fraternal affairs and had built a fortune in Austin real estate operations. At one time he was considered a prospective candidate for governor.

He is a member of an old and well-to-do Texas family. He first went to work in the state land office in 1919 as a draftsman.

With maximum credit for good behavior as a trusty, Giles can become eligible for release in a minimum of one year, two months and 12 days under the Texas parole system.

Cold Weather Drops Mercury

By The Associated Press

Temperatures Monday morning dropped to freezing or below over the northern half of Texas.

The Weather Bureau says a gradual warm up should begin around the middle of the week following a cold front that reached the Gulf Sunday night.

Brisk winds accompanied the cold front and the Weather Bureau said there is a possibility of blowing dust in the bone-dry area of West Texas.

Winds up to 30-35 miles an hour in gusts were forecast across Texas by Monday night.

High level clouds stretched across most of the state Monday and Brownsville reported some ground fog before daylight. Monday morning temperatures ranged from 15 degrees at Dalhart and Amarillo to 54 at Brownsville. Other low temperatures included Childress 18, Wichita Falls and Lubbock 21, Abilene 24, Sherman 25, Dallas 26, Texarkana 27, Big Spring, Odessa and Fort Worth 28, Wink 29, Presidio, Lubkin and Waco 32, Galveston and Corpus Christi 48.

Balanced Budget Goes To Congress

Tax Cut To Wait; Debt Cut Planned

Scores A First

Saul Pett, left, staff writer for The Associated Press with the U. S. Antarctic Operation Deepfreeze, became the first newsmen to fly over the South Pole. He was among 10 persons—nine base fliers and Pett—aboard a plane piloted by Marine Lt. Col. Hal R. Kolp, right, of Akron, Ohio.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent to Congress today balanced budgets for this year and next while urging higher federal spending he said would total almost 66 billion dollars in the coming fiscal year.

He said the government could stay in the black in the next 18 months by "slim" margins only if Congress gives him "the utmost cooperation" in holding down spending and awaiting a prudent time for tax cuts.

As long as booming prosperity continues, Eisenhower said, Congress should put at least some reduction of the national debt ahead of tax-slashing.

His new spending blueprint allowed for some debt reduction, but not for tax cuts. He reiterated that Congress should act to keep corporation and excise taxes at their present levels, rather than allow them to drop as scheduled on April 1 to the levels in effect before the Korean War.

For fiscal 1957, which begins next July 1, Eisenhower proposed that Uncle Sam spend $65,865,000,000. He estimated that federal income in that 12-month period would be $66,300,000,000. If both predictions are achieved, the government will wind up the fiscal year with a surplus of 435 million.

In other main facets of his budget message Eisenhower:

1. Estimated that spending this year will total $64,270,000,000, and that outlays in the next bookkeeping year will top that by $1,583,000,000. It was the first time Eisenhower had pointed spending upward.

2. Predicted that revenues next year will be $1,800,000,000 higher than this year's, resulting in a federal surplus this year of 230 million.

3. Proposed to cut the federal debt by 74 million by June 30 to $274,300,000,000 and by the following June 30 to $273,800,000,000.

4. Called for new appropriations of $62,231,000,000—some $20 million higher than projected spending and 4 1/4 billion higher than appropriations in the current year. This indicated that federal spending may be trending upward for several years.

While he cautioned against any quick tax cut, Eisenhower's budget seemed to leave a loophole which might justify one under his guidelines. The budget appeared to have underestimated revenues for the second successive year. A year ago Eisenhower forecast revenues of 60 billion dollars for this year—some 4 1/4 billions less than his new revised estimate. His estimate for the coming fiscal year forecast an increase of about 1 1/2 billion dollars in individual tax returns. But his estimate for corporation tax returns was unchanged.

Corporation profits have been climbing rapidly. This appeared to leave considerable room for improvement of revenue estimates. Eisenhower earmarked 903 million dollars, or almost two-thirds of the increased spending he proposed, for national security programs.

He said most of this increase would be used for the latest weapons, including guided missiles, which could be brought to bear on an enemy.

He laid new stress on continental defense through a radar fence to catch any attack on the wing, provided for a nuclear-powered Navy cruiser and a sixth giant Forrestal class aircraft carrier.

He spotlighted the administration's soil bank plan for cutting down surplus agricultural production, getting rid of present surplus crops owned by the government and abetting conservation as a major home front program.

He said the soil bank plan would cost 400 million dollars the first year. But he forecast a drop of 12 million dollars in over-all agriculture spending, due to a decline of 485 million dollars in crop price support costs. In part, this was attributable to a forecast that the government would realize much more from disposal of its surpluses.

Eisenhower proposed to spend 150 million dollars next year to help the states build new schools. He called for a quick start on his 10-year program to build 40,000 miles of highways, but assigned only a 54-million-dollar increase to highway building. That seemed to suggest a slow start.

GUIDED MISSILES

Military Spending Takes Bulk Of Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—A military budget of more than 35 1/2 billion dollars was presented to Congress today with President Eisenhower's assurance that "there is no magic number of dollars or of military units and weapons that would solve all our national defense problems and guarantee our national security."

Eisenhower said the $35,547,000,000 proposed for the bookkeeping year beginning next July 1 would be about 972 million dollars more than expected spending for the current year.

Spending for guided missiles, he said, "will be the highest in our history" at more than 1 1/4 billion dollars, up one third over the present year. This does not include atomic weapons. For security reasons, budgets never spell out nuclear weapons spending.

However, an index in a table on financing needs showed an estimate of $282,470,000 for nuclear weapons in the next fiscal year, compared with $267,139,000 this year and $238,184,541 last year.

This money, earmarked for procurement of weapons only, does not include the billions of dollars invested in raw materials plants. The $35,547,000,000 is proposed for the armed forces alone.

What Eisenhower termed "expenditures for protection," including foreign military aid, stockpiling of critical materials and the Atomic Energy Commission, is $42,400,000,000. This represents 64 per cent of the entire national budget.

"Defense needs are still overriding and must continue to be met in full measure," Eisenhower said.

He said it is essential to have a stable, long-range program which avoids "fluctuations in response to transitory measures" and cautioned that "there is no magic number of dollars or of military units and weapons that would solve all our national defense problems and guarantee our national security."

He said the budget emphasizes "air-atomic power, guided missiles, research and development, continental defense, and the reequipping of our forces with new types of weapons." He also said outlays for "conventional weapons" would be decreased.

A study of the budget and of supplemental material showed this: Guided missiles—Expenditures next year, $1,276,000,000 compared with $917,000,000 this year. The Air Force will spend $790,000,000, the Army $300,000,000, the Navy $177,000,000.

Aircraft procurement—$6,751,000,000 next year, compared with $6,880,000,000 this year. The Air Force will spend $5,041,000,000, the Navy $1,610,000, the Army the remainder. The Air Force will order slightly under 2,000 new aircraft, of which 75 per cent will be combat types having a total value of about $6,278,000,000.

Navy shipbuilding—About $1,001,000,000 will be spent, compared with $905,000,000 this year. The new ships will include a sixth Forrestal-class carrier, more nuclear-engineered submarines and an atomic powered cruiser.

Levy denied he had bribed anyone when he appeared last June before the subcommittee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark).

In a report to the Senate, the subcommittee said its 17 days of public hearings disclosed "fraud, bribery and perjury" by Levy and other persons it said he paid off or who helped him to make payoffs.

Among them it named pretty Mrs. Mella Hort of Westfield, N.J., a former administrator of military uniform contracts who, the report said, received money and gifts from Levy, then "attempted to blackmail" him.

The report said the subcommittee believed the testimony of Leon

Foreign Policy Fight May Force Dulles To Take Campaign Stump

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign policy appeared today to be assuming such proportions as a political issue that Secretary of State Dulles may be induced to take to the campaign stump.

He has said he has no present intentions of making presidential campaign speeches, but he may change his mind in the light of a furor over his latest defense of the administration's handling of foreign affairs.

A Life magazine article last week quoted him as having said the nation has looked war in the face in Asia three times and avoided it.

Dulles was roundly criticized by a number of Democrats and by some British newspapers for his quoted statement that "the ability to get to the verge without getting into war is the necessary art."

Vice President Nixon, Adlai E. Stevenson and Harold E. Stassen joined over the weekend in the debate swirling around Dulles' words. Stevenson accused Dulles of being "willing to play Russian roulette with the life of our nation."

"Deliberate distortion," replied Stassen. Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament problems, Accusing Stevenson of having "partisan political ends," Stassen said in a statement that "the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy cannot fairly be labeled by any thoughtful and responsible American as recklessly playing Russian roulette, and to so label it is harmful to the United States."

Nixon termed criticism of Dulles' remarks a "tempest in a teapot," and told reporters that avoidance of war in critical times "is to the eternal credit of the President and the secretary of state."

The magazine article said Dulles maintains that by making known to the Communists a U. S. readiness to fight, the administration averted renewed conflict in Korea and involvement in war in Indochina and the Formosa area.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), in an NBC radio-television debate with Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), said "We don't want to have a policy that is always going to let us be on the brink of war—some of these days they might fail to get us back."

Bridges replied that if "by the delicate handling of our policy we avoided a great crisis and a war, we should be commended for rather than be condemned." Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said on another NBC-TV program it is Dulles' job to keep the country out of war and "that he had done."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said Dulles wasn't advocating risking war as a policy but merely was recounting that the miscalculations of other nations had brought the United States close to combat.

Thirteen persons were hospitalized. None were reported in serious condition.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined. Fire Department officials estimated real estate damage at $75,000.

The passengers continued to their destinations on another flight.

Russians Emphasize Production Of Steel

MOSCOW (AP) — Again emphasizing heavy industry, the Soviet Union's sixth five-year plan calls for production of 68,300,000 metric tons of steel in 1960.

That would be about two-thirds of what the United States is expected to produce that year. Last year the Soviet Union produced 45 million metric tons of steel, while the United States turned out 106 million.

The Soviets' 1956-60 program set a goal of a 70 per cent increase in heavy industrial production by 1960. It said industrial production climbed 85 per cent during the past five years.

The government directive announcing the plan declared: "The conditions for overtaking the most developed capitalist countries as regards per capita production have been created."

A "number of basic shortcomings" were noted in various economic enterprises, but the announcement said the Soviet Union "now possesses a powerfully developed economy, disposing of greater material resources and more skilled personnel than ever before."

It added that Russia intends to "strive for an expansion of trade with other countries on a mutually beneficial basis. The fulfillment of the plan will be a tremendous stride toward strengthening the might of socialism in the world and insuring peaceful coexistence among nations."

The economic plan calls for a 60 per cent increase in consumer goods and improvements in many phases of Soviet life, such as housing. It said 55 million people would be working in industry by the end of 1960 at wages 30 per cent higher than in 1955.

In the agricultural field, the Soviets admitted the last five-year plan had not been fulfilled. The Communist party newspaper Pravda said this "delayed development in the spheres of food and light industries and the output of consumer goods." The newspaper said livestock and agricultural production increased, however, during the 1950-55 period.

RIVAL SHOT

Attempted Murder Charged To Nurse

MORRIS, Ill. (AP) — A 50-year-old nurse has been charged with attempted murder for emptying a pistol at a woman she considered her rival for the affections of S. J. (Jim) Holderman, chairman of the State Industrial Commission.

The other woman, Miss Elsa Kussler, 53, Holderman's secretary remains in critical condition at Morris Hospital from three bullet wounds suffered in the shooting Saturday.

Mrs. Ruth Olson, Grundy County public health nurse, is held on $25,000 bond. Arraignment is scheduled today.

Holderman said he dated Mrs. Olson occasionally but that Mrs.

Olson had never been more to him than a casual social companion. Mrs. Olson in a statement admitting the shooting described the romance as a torrid one and said that she and Holderman had been intimate on a number of occasions.

Holderman, 54, a widower, is also Grundy County chairman of the Republican party.

The shooting occurred in the women's lounge of the Morris Building, where Holderman maintains law offices. Only Mrs. Olson and Miss Kussler were present.

Mrs. Olson said Holderman stopped taking her out and began dating Miss Kussler about six months ago.

Florida Cold Wave Subsiding

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A sustained cold wave which brought south Florida an unwelcome week of frost and ice that wiped out crops and chilled tourists was expected to begin loosening its grip today.

The amount of damage it caused is not yet determined. Vegetable crops were hardest hit. The state's citrus crop, which grows further north, was largely undamaged.

In one last slap, the cold wave brought heavy frost yesterday morning to south Dade County (Miami) and the lush vegetable fields near Lake Okechobee. These areas generally were bypassed by earlier frosts.

Damage in Dade County alone was estimated at thirty million dollars.

Railmen Throw Party For Child

HOBBS, N. M. (AP) — When the mellow tones of the air horn on a diesel engine sounded before the Texas-New Mexico Railway freight train reached a small house four miles south of Hobbs, it was the beginning of a thrilling experience for a lonely little girl.

The horn was a familiar signal for her to run to the door and wave at the crew. The tiny, frail 4-year-old girl with the blonde hair stepped out on the front porch and waved as the train approached.

This time, instead of rumbling right on through, the train slowed up. Then when the engine drew even with her house, the brakes went on with a squeal.

It was wonderful but somewhat frightening to Michalee Winkle. The little girl lives in one of the few houses near the tracks in the 18-mile stretch between Hobbs and Eunice. She has been waving at the train crews for more than a year now and trainmen have grown to watch for her and wave back.

The engineers blow the whistle as the trains approach. She's there in the southbound train passes in the middle of the day. The northbound comes by at night, but time makes no difference—she's always there, with the porch light turned on.

When the southbound stopped the other day, the conductor, the engineer, the fireman and two brakemen climbed down and walked to where she stood. "Come here, honey," said L. C.

Assault Victim On Honeymoon

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A beauty queen and her bridegroom, who last week captured a man charged with twice raping her, were honeymooning today after eloping to Las Vegas, Nev.

Blonde Mrs. Lloyd Brett, Miss California in last year's Miss Universe contest, and her husband, both of nearby Garden Grove, obtained the license last Thursday night. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brett, disclosed Saturday that the couple was married Thursday and returned Saturday to Anaheim. The bride is 19, and the bridegroom 24. They have remained in seclusion since.

Sheriff's deputies said that Jack J. Walker, 25, a married upholsterer whose wife is expecting a second child, admitted raping the beauty, the former Donna Schurr, last March and again last Tuesday. To newsmen he repudiated the admission.

Walker was captured by Brett after a high-speed auto chase.

A Bible Thought For Today

And Jacob vowed a vow, saying, if God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on. So that I come again to my father's house in peace; then shall the LORD be my God. (Genesis 28:20-21)

People Are Entitled To Know All

For the good of all and for the economic good health of Texas, which is closely allied with various phases of the insurance business, a competent and reliable investigation committee of the Texas Legislature should get on with a thorough investigation of how the insurance situation got into the mess it's in.

The Senate committee probe came to an abrupt temporary end last Wednesday pending grand jury action. It had been expected that this committee would proceed at once with a vigorous investigation of the mess, taking off with a report from the state auditor revealing payments for legal services and public relations to legislators and former state officials.

The committee wanted to receive this report in secret, but its chairman, Senator Searcy Bracewell of Houston, took the attitude that the public should know what was going on. Upshot was that Bracewell angrily resigned as chairman and walked out of the meeting.

His action was widely hailed by the press, which knows only too well how hard it is to get information that some committee, commission, bureau or other public body is determined to conceal from the public.

Bracewell's walk-out dramatized a situation that very much needs clarifying. Nevertheless, it is regrettable that the courage and ability of this respected legislator will no longer be available for this particular chore. However, unless his fellow committeemen were willing to go along with him to the limit, he had no recourse.

We do not as a rule like to see parallel investigations by House and Senate, such as have been seen in the past, as a waste of time, money and energy; but if the Senate committee does not push the affair with becoming vigor, let the chips fall where they may, some way should be found to place the matter in the hands of an appropriate House committee with a greater sense of responsibility to the people.

There is no excuse for feet-dragging in this matter. The overwhelming majority of Texas insurance companies are responsible and respectable. They, as well as the people, are entitled to quick and thorough action.

Responsible Rule Is To Rule

If somebody hasn't said it before, it's time to say it now: the way to rule is to rule.

Against our will, and certainly without seeking it, and altogether with reluctance and misgivings, the United States of America has had the leadership of the free world thrust upon it. It is a dangerous and onerous burden, but we either exercise our leadership or lose it — and if we lose it, the loss will be total, and the winner will be the Soviet Union.

Great Britain held that leadership for a hundred years, until finally whittled down. There were no "world wars," though plenty of local conflicts, in that century. Britain ruled largely by the simple process of "showing the flag" — a willingness to face vigorously up to any situation.

It seems to us something like this was what Secretary of State Dulles was trying to express in an article in this week's Life magazine.

We quote him: "You have to take chances for peace. . . . The ability to get to the verge without getting into war is the necessary art. If you cannot master it, you inevitably get into war. If you try to run away from it, you are lost. . . . We've had to look it square in the face. . . . We walked to the brink and we looked it in the face. We took strong action."

He was speaking with reference to what he called the "policy of deterrence." He applied it, without too happy results, to Korea, Indo-China and Formosa.

The "policy of deterrence" was expressed by Theodore Roosevelt in other words: "Speak softly, and carry a big stick."

"With the world in the state it's in now, Teddy might be revised in the direction of clarity: Speak firmly, and carry the big stick plainly in the sight of men."

We may be getting more candor now about being at the brink than when we were there.

Nixon Might Not Be Ike's Running Mate

WASHINGTON — Now that Vice President Richard M. Nixon has passed his 43rd birthday looking almost as bright and as youthful as when he started his meteoric career less than 10 years ago, his future is as much a matter of speculation as that of President Eisenhower.

If the President does not run for reelection, Nixon is the odds on favorite to be the Republican nominee. But if the President does decide to seek a second term, then there is a growing likelihood that the young man from California will not be on the ticket. The latter is the view of some of the President's closest associates who are championing what is becoming known as the "two Presidents" proposal.

Coming from those determinedly hopeful that the President can be persuaded to run, the idea is to name a vice presidential candidate of wide experience and long-standing national reputation. The voters would be encouraged to believe that they were selecting not one but two Presidents, with the second choice as capable of directing affairs of state as Mr. Eisenhower.

The problem obviously is to find a Vice Presidential candidate more mature and less controversial both within and without the Republican party than Nixon. Several names have been considered. The name most frequently mentioned is that of former Governor of New York, Thomas E. Dewey.

But Dewey is not close to President Eisenhower, their relationship being on an official basis. For the two Presidents to work in real harmony, mutual trust and friendship between them would be important. Moreover, Dewey has many enemies in the party who would charge that he was being given an entry into the White House by the back door when he had twice failed to gain entrance by the front door.

Other names are being canvassed by Eisenhower friends and advisers who believe the "two Presidents" theory will first of all overcome Ike's own objections to running again and, second, overcome any public doubts about a candidate for the presidency who has suffered a heart attack. These men themselves have no animus against Nixon.

But they realize that he is distrusted and disliked by a wide segment that takes in not alone Democrats but many voters who call themselves independents. It is his famous television appearance in the 1952 campaign, when he denied that he had been influenced by wealthy Californians who contributed to a fund for him, stirred the deepest feelings. While there was a great response in wires and letters backing the vice presidential candidate, others accused him of a resort to demagoguery compounded with high-pressure advertising techniques.

But in the final analysis the commitment to a vice presidential candidate is no stronger than the preference of the man who must run in the top spot. If Mr. Eisenhower were to be persuaded on the "two Presidents" theory — two men both able to carry the burdens of the office and both in a sense above the partisan political battle — he might conceivably ask Nixon to step aside.

This is a fairly remote contingency and it would risk offending the Vice President's strong Republican partisans. But one thing is sure. It would certainly not mean the end of Richard Nixon's political career.

If a growing precedent means anything, he could well be around Washington at twice his present age. Senator Theodore F. Green (D., R. I.) who was re-elected last fall, is 88. A number of members of both Senate and House are past 70 and an increasing number are over 75. The tendency is not only to live longer but to stay in politics longer.

Keeping Up With The Jet Age

Dulles Looks Back With Pride

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles, who seems to have a sunny nature, is able to look back upon his part in events with pride and contentment although the same events may have left others shaken and gloomy.

It may come as a surprise to the Communists that Dulles, recalling his role in the Indochina war, seems to think he scared the daylight out of them although they were half of Viet Nam.

Life magazine, in an interview with Dulles, quotes him as saying — and he says the quotes are substantially correct — the United States has been brought to the brink of war three times in eight months, once in Indochina.

Dulles seems to think that getting up to the edge, and teetering on it, is artistic. He said, "The ability to get to the verge without getting into the war is the necessary art."

How he came to think this way needs a little explaining: After World War II the French, who had held Indochina almost 100 years and exploited it, still refused the people their independence. The revolt which broke out came under the control of the Indochinese Reds.

The rebels were only guerrillas, but in a war which lasted from 1946 to 1954, the French couldn't rally the rest of the Vietnamese. They saw little sense in fighting to perpetuate French colonialism. While this war was staggering along, the Eisenhower administration in the fall of 1953 announced its "new look" for the military forces: less money for better protection, the administration said. Dulles on Jan. 12, 1954, attempted to explain the "new look." It was designed, he said, to depend "primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate massively."

This may have scared the Reds — although they kept right on fighting the Indochina war. It certainly scared American allies, who had visions of themselves being led into war by this country.

Dulles tried some more explaining. So did other members of the administration. There was a lot of confusion for some weeks. Vice President Nixon said U. S. troops might have to be used in Indochina.

But President Eisenhower said it would be tragic for American forces to become involved there. Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said he could give "categorical assurance" there was no intention of sending American troops to Indochina.

At a foreign ministers meeting in Berlin on Feb. 18, 1954, the French pressured Dulles into agreeing to meet with the British, French, Russians and Red Chinese in Geneva on April 26 to discuss Southeast Asian problems.

At this point, the Indochinese Reds opened an attack on the French at Dien Bien Phu. By "Whatever we do, we shall be submerged in the end," one Algerian-born Frenchman said despairingly. Another joked bitterly, "What we really need here is a good old-fashioned plague."

Both Catholic and Moslem teaching firmly oppose any form of birth control. Some Algerians believe their problem would be solved if the French would leave. The French sent in more troops, and the army competes with civilians for food. Prices rise steadily.

Algeria's main need now, the French say, is foreign capital for big development schemes. "Whatever we do, we shall be submerged in the end," one Algerian-born Frenchman said despairingly. Another joked bitterly, "What we really need here is a good old-fashioned plague."

The irony of J. Edgar Hoover's campaign is that his own splendid career has done much to add a new luster of affectionate respect to that down-to-earth word cop. He might as well face the fact now that if he ever steps down from his present high post, newspapers will bloom with 1,000 editorials headed: "An honest cop retires."

Mr. Breger

"Okay, here's the ad I want run: 'Cat for sale, very gentle and affectionate, wonderful pet...'"

Around The Rim Of Litterbugs And Women Poker Players

Musings: If you gather statistics, you may be pleased to know that sheep are mentioned more often in the Bible than any other animal — something like 350 times.

Know how natives of North Carolina came by their nicknames "tarheels?" Legend has it that British generals noticed barefoot natives with tar on their heels and first applied the nickname.

Going on the theory that the American people really like to see politicians hang themselves before they vote them out, I think the GOP's will win the presidential campaign again in 1956.

As a poker player, I'm not much. That fact comes into sharper focus, however, if I sit down to a game in which a woman has a hand.

Even if they've never before played the game and have to be explained each and every rule, they invariably wind up raking in all the chips.

You're lucky, though, if you get in a poker game with women and don't wind up playing every card wild but the nine of hearts. The regular game seems to bore them to tears.

Perhaps everything overseas doesn't come wrapped in cellophane but I venture to say many of the cities of the world are cleaner than ours in America.

There's a little bit of the litterbug in every individual but some are more afflicted with it than others.

In Holland, a man can be fined if he tosses a cigarette butt onto the street. Street cleaners in some American cities go over the same areas anywhere from six to eight times a day. They fight a hopeless battle.

Perhaps the problem could be corrected in time by teaching corrective methods in the schoolroom.

If you suffer from a pain in the neck, according to a Kentucky doctor, Arthur Kasey, chances are its cause is psychosomatic.

The well-known pain can occur, he says, through an intense dislike for your job, a dislike for the boss or by "getting mad" at the wife.

Learn to vent the unexpressed emotions causing it, if you want to cure yourself of same, he advises. And he doesn't mean to shoot your boss or beat your wife.

David Lawrence World Crisis And Continuity In Office

WASHINGTON — What do members of the Cabinet think about the chances of an announcement being made by President Eisenhower that he will accept nomination for a second term?

Most of them who talk about it at all do so privately to their friends and associates, and the preponderant opinion is that the President will take what is often called in military terms a "calculated risk" and will be willing to serve if the people wish him to do so.

Since the transcript of the President's conference with the press at Key West was published, it develops that there are really two main groups in Washington, irrespective of party, who comment on it.

The first assumes that a personal decision is to be made, and many individuals, whether Republican or Democratic, say the same thing — that in their own cases and faced with the same circumstances, they wouldn't risk a second term or any other heavy duties in business or the professions.

The second assumes that, while there is a personal risk, a soldier is inclined to look at the national interest above self-interest and that, when all the facts and arguments are marshalled, Mr. Eisenhower, impelled by a sense of duty, will decide to serve on if re-elected.

But it is surprising that those who commented overlook one aspect of what would be involved in the President's reference to the "unexpected." He said in his press conference:

"It is a very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time when the people are so accustomed to themselves, and so do foreign governments, to changing our government every four years but always something happens that is untoward when a government is changed at other times. It is a rather startling thing."

But, it may be asked, just what is going to happen in this country and in the world if the President announces that he isn't going to run? Whenever he says he doesn't intend to run again, the news will come as a shock to the people not only of this country but of the other countries of the free world.

The "unexpected" will then develop with intensity. American leadership will suddenly become uncertain and perhaps frustrated. If the President announces a negative decision at the end of February, for example, a period of uncertainty lasting through several months will inevitably follow.

The other governments of the free world, knowing that Mr. Eisenhower will not be at the helm after next January, will not feel inclined to initiate new policies with Mrs. Dulles, for he, too, would not assuredly be secretary of state after the present administration came to an end.

As for the Communist governments, they might feel this period of uncertainty gave them a chance to do the "unexpected," too, and a flare-up in Formosan waters might be the result, with grave risks of war.

It has not been the custom of the American people to "change horses in mid-stream." There was, for example, considerable opposition to the third-term idea prior to May 10, 1940, when Hitler made it a "total war" by invading Holland and Belgium and driving toward France. The moment the international situation changed, Roosevelt inside America changed, and Mr. Roosevelt made up his mind to ignore the third-term tradition.

The same situation prevailed in November 1944, when the American people, at the height of World War II, chose not to upset the continuity of administration and not to allow a critical period of uncertainty in leadership to develop.

All the precedents argue in favor of continuity of party or administration in the White House when an international crisis occurs. It could have an important bearing on Mr. Eisenhower's decision, too.

J. A. Livingston There's An Explanation For Wall Street

Wall Street has started the New Year ungraciously. As soon as the optimistic prophecies for 1956 got into print, the stock market started to discount them.

The first day the market dropped 2 1/2 points; the next day, 2 points; the third day, it managed to come off even. The next day, a rally of 1 1/2 points. Then 5 points down, then 3 1/2 points down.

It seemed as if Wall Street wanted no part of President Eisenhower's State-of-the-Union confidence; no truck with Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks' forecast that in spite of "soft spots" the first six months of '56 would be good.

But then, the market had other reasons, too — reasons not on the surface. Here they are, as I see them:

First, 1955 was a good year. Corporations paid big dividends. Most persons, except farmers, had high incomes. And investors and speculators, who weren't outright bears, couldn't help but save stock market profits — either realized or unrealized. If they sold, and took profits in December, there'd be that much more tax to pay.

Therefore, investors and speculators reasoned: "Better hold off sales until 1956." By deferring sales of securities until the new year, corporations and individuals would have the use of the tax money — the money that would otherwise have to be paid to the Bureau of Internal Revenue on April 15 — for another year. Conclusion: Some of the January selling was a carry-over from '55.

Second, the opening of Congress reminded Wall Streeters that this is a "political year." Republicans and Democrats would be "having at one another" in the Senate and House. And the decision — who'd be in the White House in '57 — was coming closer, only ten months away.

Underlying question: Would Eisenhower run? After the first shock in October, investors and speculators decided that dividends would be forthcoming regardless of who's in the White House. Business has been good under both parties. Indeed, Democrats are much more aggressive when it comes to pump-priming and assuring full employment.

None the less, Wall Street is essentially Republican-minded. Though many bankers and business men are Democrats — just look at the list of backers of Adlai Stevenson for President — many more are Republicans. Most investors would feel more comfortable with a Republican in the White House.

The first reports on business in 1956 were unencouraging: Scattered layoffs at Ford and General Motors; high automobile inventories; the prediction by Harlow H. Curtice, president of G. M., that passenger car production would drop about 12 per cent.

Fourth, the stock market, like Kansas City in the musical comedy "Oklahoma!" "has gone just about as far as it can go." All of which reasoning may be utterly wrong, but, for the time being, it makes for uneasy, erratic trading.

Ambassador With A Horn

HOLLYWOOD — Louis Armstrong, America's ambassador without portfolio but with horn, is willing to continue making friends for this country wherever he's sent — even behind the Iron Curtain.

"Russia! That's okay with me," he says. "They say the Russians don't like music, but that couldn't be true. Some of the best music in the world has come out of Russia. 'Porgy and Bess' opened up there and it was a big smash. If they want me to go, I'll go."

"I'll go wherever they send me. It's just like when I was delivering coal. If the company sent me, I'd bring a load to your house. If you'd pay me an extra 30 cents, I'd even stash it in your basement."

"Me, I just like to play this horn. If I can make friends for us with it, that's fine. And music seems to do that. A note is a note in any language, and those foreign audiences are really hep. In some of those countries, it's just like going down to New Orleans and playing for all the cats I used to know."

Louis Daniel Armstrong, who still blows the best horn in the business at 55, is taking a rest from his globe trotting to make a movie. It's the "Philadelphia Story" moved to the Newport, R. I., jazz festival and retitled "High Society." Among the high socialites: Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, Frank Sinatra.

Afterward, Armstrong sat down to talk about his tours. He has been to Europe five times, playing from Spain to Sweden, and has ventured as far as Australia and Japan.

"The cats are wild wherever I go," he said. "After we play 'Back Home in Indiana,' They're with us all the way. It brings the joint down. But then I'll play a quiet number like 'Tenderly' and you won't be able to hear a sound in the auditorium."

"Everywhere you go, they're friendly. They come up and give you little cards for membership in their jazz clubs. The club in Zurich didn't have much money, but they chipped in and bought me this watch. Ain't it a beauty?"

"They got all my records. Some even have two copies of each, in case they break 'em."

Home Rites Are Read By Uncle Of Bride

Wedding vows for Patricia Shepherd and Bobby Bradford were read Saturday evening by the Rev. B. N. Shepherd, uncle of the bride. He is pastor of the Harvey Baptist Church in Stephenville.

Taking place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shepherd, Vincent, the ceremony was double ring and informal.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bradford, Rt. 2, Lamesa.

The couple stood before an improvised white arch of candelabras and baskets of white gladioli. Palm leaves formed the background of the archway.

Janice Ernst, pianist, played "Because," "I Love You Truly," and the wedding marches.

Mr. Shepherd gave his daughter in marriage. The bride was attired in a white satin and silver lace dress, made ballerina length. The v-neck went into a high collar and her sleeves were long.

An elbow length veil was of white tulle. Her flowers were white roses with feathered carnations.

Mrs. Joe Wirsching of Midland attended her sister as matron of honor. Her frock was of beige pol-

Cleansing Counts

"The whole secret of a good skin is your cleansing method," Rosemarie Bowe tells Lydia Lane. The popular actress also talks about fashion.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Get The Right Method For Skin-Cleansing

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Rosemarie Bowe likes to combine the newest cosmetic finds with the old-fashioned and time-tested beauty aids. She has a very lovely skin and wears little make-up but she is meticulous about her cleansing routine.

"I think the whole secret of good skin is your cleansing method. These days we use different types of cosmetics for different occasions and what removes one kind thoroughly may not do as well for another. After experimenting, I've found that a cleansing cream is best for removing make-up with a creamy base while soap and water does the best job for cake make-up," Rosemarie explained.

"No matter which method I use, I always open my pores with steaming hot towels to force out the impurities, then close them with an ice water rinse.

"Several times a week I like to put yogurt on my face. It smooths on like cream and is wonderful for clearing the skin," she added.

"How long do you leave this on?" I asked.

"Until it dries," Rosemarie explained. "Then I rinse it off with warm water. I use yogurt on my hands, too. It belongs to the buttermilk family and buttermilk is a beauty secret from as far back as the pioneer days," she said. "The women used to wash their faces in freshly churned buttermilk."

Rosemarie came to Hollywood via the same route which so many of the stars have travelled. She began her career as a fashion model and her picture on the cover of a national magazine attracted the attention of a studio scout and she was offered a Hollywood contract by 20th Century-Fox.

"It was inevitable that I would wind up in some phase of fashion," she told me. "I've always been interested in clothes. I began making dresses for my dolls while I was a toddler and started designing my own clothes when I was very young. "I'm always alert for what is new in fashion," she confessed, "but I don't always rush out and buy it. I avoid anything like the flat look Dior tried to promote or those belts that come way below the natural waistline.

Gay Hill Group Forms Drama Club

A Drama Club was organized to work with the P-TA when the Gay Hill P-TA met recently at the school. Approximately 60 were present.

The purpose of the club will be to improve the dramatic ability among parents and teachers as well as function as a community service by presenting entertainment.

Mrs. J. H. Wilson, program chairman, opened the meeting with the devotion. The speaker for the evening was George Archer who spoke on "Family Living."

"Sharing is of the utmost importance to good living," Mr. Archer told the group. He also said that cooperation results in happiness in the home and better adjusted children in school.

Reports from the state P-TA meeting in Fort Worth in November were given by Mrs. Hollis Puckett and Mrs. Ralph Proctor. The yearbook committee reported that the books would soon be ready for distribution.

In the financial report, the treasurer said that the P-TA made $298.49 on the recent basketball tournament, and the cash balance now on hand is $417.53.

Wanted To Prove He Wasn't Afraid

PRICE, Utah (AP)—Joseph C. Clarus, 16, wanted to prove he wasn't afraid. Sheriff Albert Passic says three friends of Clarus told him the youth suggested a game of Russian roulette yesterday. He took his empty, 22-caliber revolver and showed them how to play. They showed he wasn't afraid, he put a single bullet in the gun's cylinder, pointed the weapon at his head and pulled the trigger. Nothing happened. He did it again. Again nothing happened. Next time, however, the gun fired, sending a bullet into his brain. He died three hours later in a hospital.

Frightened Trail

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Police believe something or other frightened the burglars who broke into Andrew Ernest's cafe. When Ernest opened the cafe yesterday, he found a trail of coins from a smashed juke box to a rear window. The thieves got away with $40, however.

U. S. Anti-Wetback Drive Puts Damper On River Crossings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Uncle Sam's stake-out against "wetbacks"—aliens crossing the Mexican border into this country illegally—apparently is curtailing the influx. President Eisenhower's budget for fiscal 1957, sent to Congress today, reported "strengthened control of the southern border."

Congress was told of an expected decrease in arrests and was asked to provide additional funds to insure increased effectiveness of the program. Elsewhere in the budget was a request for $1,888,000 to carry on the Mexican farm labor program, under which an estimated 350,000 Mexican nationals will be admitted legally during the year starting July 1 to work on farms and ranches in this country.

The budget asked that the Immigration and Naturalization Service receive $14,316,300 in fiscal 1957. "Modernized methods and improved organization have strengthened control of the southern border," the President said. "This is reflected in broadened enforcement activities which cause a decline in apprehensions as possibilities of illegal entry are lessened."

starting July 1 for its Border Patrol operations to prevent illegal entries, as compared with $12,342,500 in the current fiscal year.

"The increase is to provide enforcement fences at selected points along the border," the budget reported, "maintain employment and meet increased travel costs."

There was no indication where the proposed fences would be built, nor any breakdown as to how much of the requested money would be spent on the Mexican border and how much on the Canadian border. Presumably, however, the bulk would be spent along the Mexican border as in the past.

The budget report said 140,000 persons are expected to be arrested during the year ending June 30 for illegal entry, and estimated a drop to 85,000 apprehensions in fiscal 1957.

"Modernized methods and improved organization have strengthened control of the southern border," the President said. "This is reflected in broadened enforcement activities which cause a decline in apprehensions as possibilities of illegal entry are lessened."

The report shows that in the current fiscal year the number of persons to be questioned by Border Patrol officers is 8,560,000, and should total 8,902,000 in the next. The work of admitting the legal "bracero" Mexican nationals under the labor import program is carried on by the labor department. The budget recommendation of $1,888,000 for this work compares with $1,785,000 provided in the current year.

The budget estimated that during the past year it cost on the average of $10.18 for supplying each Mexican national under the program. The cost is rising to an average of $12.01 because workers are coming from farther down in Mexico.

Cowboys Greet Stars In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Hollywood celebrities were greeted by cowboys, horses, old-time automobiles and a hillbilly band yesterday when they arrived for the new Statler Hilton Hotel opening. Conrad N. Hilton, the man responsible for the hotel, Lisa Kirk, Piper Laurie, Gene Nelson, Hedda Hopper and Earl Wilson were among the arrivals.

The ancient autos, surreys and buggies were used to carry the celebrities from the airplanes across the runway.

46-Day Strike Shutdown Of Detroit Newspapers Ends

DETROIT (AP)—A 46-day strike... shutdown of Detroit's three metropolitan daily newspapers ended today.

It was one of the longest shutdowns in a competitive newspaper in the last 10 years, and was set off Dec. 1 by a walkout of stereotypers.

Only contract ratification by truck drivers (teamsters) at the afternoon Times and morning Free Press remained today between full settlement with eight unions. Drivers at the afternoon News approved a new pact unanimously yesterday and teamster leaders said ratification by the other two units was "a foregone conclusion."

All three newspapers, whose combined employment totals 4,600 and whose daily circulation totals more than 1,300,000, called back workers yesterday to begin reading the News and Times for publication today and the Free Press to roll tomorrow morning.

Kefauver Winds Up New Hampshire Tour

LACONIA, N. H. (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) today wound up a 400-mile New Hampshire campaign swing with a confident prediction that he again will win the first-in-the-nation presidential primary here March 13.

The senator, who visited 15 communities during his three-day automobile tour, planned to board a plane for Washington.

His optimism was not confined to New Hampshire, where he upset President Harry S. Truman in the 1952 primary. Later he lost his first bid for the Democratic presidential nomination at the party's national convention.

"This time things are going to be different," he declared. "What's developed in four years to convince you that they won't pull the rug out from under you again?" a newsmen asked the senator at a press conference.

"I have been assured by several influential Democratic leaders that they will not place any hurdles in my way at the convention this year."

Asked if the "influential Democrats" include Truman, the senator said "Yes" and added with a grin, "My relationship with Mr. Truman is much more pleasant today than four years ago."

Kefauver said Truman has not endorsed his candidacy. Describing Adlai Stevenson as "an able man," Kefauver indirectly challenged the party's 1952 presidential nominee to enter the New Hampshire race.

"It would be in the best interest of the Democratic party for all the Democratic candidates to come into New Hampshire," he said.

In his last formal speech here, the Tennessee senator demanded last night that the Justice Department crack down on violators of the antitrust laws.

He told an overflow audience of 400 at the annual banquet of the New Hampshire Gasoline Dealers Assn. that a steady trend toward business mergers is "building up ever larger and more powerful monopolistic combines, destroying more and more of the smaller and independent businesses."

Broadcasts cause removal of Polish Police officials

MUNICH—A series of broadcasts by Radio Free Europe have caused great upheaval and embarrassment in Poland.

They were based on highly inflammatory information about corrupt Polish police operations obtained from Josef Swiatlo, Polish Security Ministry official who had defected to the West.

As a result of the broadcasts, the Reds were forced to dismiss four of Swiatlo's former chiefs and reorganize the ministry.

This is just a single example of the influence of Radio Free Europe's words of truth. Up to 20 hours of truth a day are broadcast to five key satellite countries—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. And this truth is getting through, despite costly Red jamming attempts. Millions take the risk daily to listen. Millions more hear the truth from Radio Free Europe as it is passed cautiously from mouth to mouth.

Truth builds hope and continued resistance. Each dollar sponsors a minute of truth. Send your truth dollars to: CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM, c/o Local Postmaster.

Two-million dollar giant telescope at Lick Observatory, atop Mt. Hamilton, Calif., will open up new vistas to star-gazing astronomers.

It takes a GIANT to open up
new worlds

New markets can be new worlds to advertisers. But advertisers need the powerful services of a giant to open up their new worlds. This giant is the newspaper—a giant who lives in every town.

When sales-wise advertisers set their sights on a market, they use the newspaper to pin-point that market for them much the same way a telescope pin-points stars in the heavens.

Over 55,000,000 newspapers are bought daily by people in all walks of life who yearn to know everything that goes on—around the world and particularly around the corner.

Newspaper advertising is a straight line to sales for retailers, wholesalers and distributors. It moves the merchandise they sell—fast.

In today's competitive market every selling job is a giant selling job. Use a giant to do that job. Use the newspaper.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

KBST-TV Makes 'Smooth' Debut

KBST-Television went on the air here Sunday in what observers said was one of the smoothest "opening day" operations they had witnessed.

No "air time" was lost because of equipment troubles, and General Electric technicians said the first day's program was staged with fewer difficulties than any they've attended.

KBST-TV personnel, many of them keyed up for their first television experience also were praised for smooth handling of cameras, mike and controls.

The new station was dedicated during a 30-minute opening program as further evidence of the growth of the Big Spring area.

Deputy Sheriff Shorty Hancock said that two unidentified men reported the mishap. He investigated and said that Maybee, going east, lost control of his car. The machine veered to the shoulder and then back to the road and overturned.

With very little time to work with the new equipment, and in many cases with no previous television experience, our staff did what I consider a magnificent job," Lindley said this morning.

Three were charged with DWI with bonds being set in each instance. Baxter McLendon Beber had been charged with the violation last Saturday. His bond was set at $500.

Jerome Gammon was charged with DWI and his bond was set at $500. Sheriff's deputies fined the complaint, alleging the DWI this morning.

Also pleading not guilty to DWI was Weldon Stark. Stark's bond was set at $500 after he submitted the not guilty plea.

One Guilty Plea Results In Fine

Only one case of six tried in County Court today resulted in a guilty plea, as five defendants charged with driving while intoxicated, theft, and aggravated assault pleaded or were found not guilty.

H. W. Tyler, charged with aggravated assault on K. C. Webb last Friday, was found not guilty by the court after hearing both persons this morning.

Thelma F. Bull was fined $100 after pleading guilty to a liquor violation. The incident occurred this morning, the complaint alleged.

Bonds of $1,000 each were set for Albena Ortega and Eloy Hernandez, charged with theft of a motor from C. C. Reese. They pleaded not guilty to the theft last Tuesday, and the court set their bond.

Western Livestock Champion Will Be Selected Today

DENVER (AP)—Judging began today to name the grand champion steer in Denver's 50th annual National Western Stock Show.

One of the largest crowds in the show's history jammed Stockyards Stadium yesterday as Billy Joyce Medlin, Tatum, N.M., showed the grand champion fleece among junior contestants with Mary Ann McKnight, Capita, N.M., taking the reserve title.

Twelve yearlings shown by the C. K. Ranch of Brookville, Tex., were declared the grand champion carload of Hereford bulls. The C. K. group won out over the top senior bull calves, entered by the Bridwell Hereford Ranch of Wichita Falls, Tex.

Two Injured In Dawson When Auto Overturns

LAMESA.—Two men were injured, but not seriously, when the car in which they were riding overturned two miles east of here on FM 826 at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Frank Maybee, 23, Brownfield, driver of the car, was found in the car unconscious. With Louis Ramirez, 19, his passenger, he was rushed to the Lamesa General Hospital for treatment.

Deputy Sheriff Shorty Hancock said that two unidentified men reported the mishap. He investigated and said that Maybee, going east, lost control of his car. The machine veered to the shoulder and then back to the road and overturned.

With very little time to work with the new equipment, and in many cases with no previous television experience, our staff did what I consider a magnificent job," Lindley said this morning.

Serviceman Says Tuning Device Cures TV Troubles

Tommy Malone, radio and television serviceman, says he has found an economical means of converting KBST-TV to Channel 4.

Malone said he has had success with attaching a "shorting stub" to television receiver antenna leads. Installation of the stub, which costs 55 cents, amounts to "tuning the circuit" between a set's antenna post and coil, he said.

Most of the difficulty resulting from the KBST-TV signal "spilling over" on other channels is caused by poor antennae, Malone said. He said he installed 18 of the "shorting stubs" Sunday and eliminated the cross-channel reception in 17 instances.

To completely eliminate the reception of KBST-TV on other channels, some set owners may have to install new antennae, Malone said. Antennae with a "low gain" from the rear are recommended by the repairman.

As such, Oakes will be furnished with complete information concerning the show to be held in the Bexar County Coliseum on Feb. 10-19. Five new divisions have been added to the San Antonio show this year, including those for Charbaray and Charolaise cattle, Cheviot and Montadale sheep, and Dellaine sheep in the junior division.

A new $9,400 square foot sheep and goat barn is to be ready by time of the show. Everett Colburn will produce the rodeo during the stock show.

Official's Ruling Could Have Cost West Victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sixth annual Pro Bowl football game goes into the books as a thrilling 30-29 victory for the East. But arguments continued to rage today in the wake of an official's decision which may have cost the West two winning points.

The West trailing 31-30, tried a 50-yard field goal by Bert Rechichar of the Baltimore Colts. It was obviously short of its goal and Joe (Scott) Scudder of the Washington Redskins took the catch.

Billy Graham Leaves For India

Before leaving New York he said he had been invited by leaders of Christian churches in India, and added:

"I am not going to proselytize any Hindus. I will talk to the Christian people in India, of which there are eight or nine million.

"I am not going for any political reasons or to get involved in politics. I will simply talk about the love of God."

Ike May Have Word On Name In Primary

By The Associated Press

The White House may have some word today on President Eisenhower's reaction to the entry of his name in New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary.

The New England state will hold the nation's first presidential primary March 13. The first primary—one not involving presidential candidates—will be in Louisiana tomorrow.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty has said Eisenhower likely would have something to say about the New Hampshire situation after being formally notified that his name has been proposed there.

Official notification was dispatched to him Saturday that "petitions which appear to qualify your name as a candidate" had been filed.

No action by Eisenhower is necessary, but his name goes on the ballot unless he objects within 10 days.

The only Democrat so far entered in New Hampshire, Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, was on the last lap of a three-day handshaking swing through that state.

Kefauver told a Manchester audience last night that "I want to be president of the United States because I have great ambitions for our country." If he is elected, he said, "the farmer and the small businessman will get an even break."

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), who has been mentioned as a possible entrant in the New Hampshire balloting, said yesterday he'll wait "patiently" until Feb. 15 before saying anything about his 1956 plans. The New Hampshire filing deadline is Feb. 11.

Asked in a radio-TV interview what he would do if Eisenhower doesn't announce his intentions by Feb. 15, the Senate Republican leader said, "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

4 Arizonians Die In Crash

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Sunday afternoon pleasure flight ended in death for four people when their plane stalled while coming in for a landing, crashed and burst into flames.

Witnesses said the Beechcraft Bonanza's pilot, Earl E. Comer, 64, of Tucson, a one-legged World War I flier, veered sharply at treetop level to avoid another plane.

Two of the dead were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. Horace Moore of Tucson. Mrs. Moore's mother Mrs. Alcee Stewart, about 65, was thrown from the plane and killed.

U. S. To Pay Off Texas City Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is getting ready to pay off successful claims by victims, or survivors of victims, of the 1947 ship explosion disaster at Texas City, Tex.

President Eisenhower's budget submitted to Congress to meet recommendations that to meet such claims 28 million dollars should be appropriated during the year ending June 30, and 35 million in fiscal 1957, starting July 1.

There was no other reference to the Texas City case, except a statement that suits against the government must be filed by midnight Feb. 8. They may be filed under the foreign aid program.

General claims division in either Galveston, Tex., or Baltimore, Md., Congress last year passed legislation authorizing the suits.

They grew out of the damage caused by explosions that followed outbreak of fire aboard a French vessel loaded with nitrate fertilizer for shipment from Texas City under the foreign aid program. More than 500 persons were killed and 3,000 were injured.

The act limits awards to a total of 25,000 for any one individual.

Uncle Ray: Automotons Amused Crowds In England

By RAMON COFFMAN

During the second half of the past century, a clever magician amused crowds in England. He was J. N. Maskelyne.

During his early manhood, Maskelyne earned his living as a watchmaker. He might have stayed in that field except for a night when he joined others in watching a "spirit" performance.

"This is nothing but trickery!" shouted the watchmaker.

"Prove it!" was the reply.

Maskelyne said that he would produce the proof, and set to work to give the same type of public show. With the help of a friend, George Cooke, he made a success of this, and was asked to repeat the show. That spelled the start of his life as a public performer. He and Cooke spent several years touring with their show before they decided to make London their last headquarters.

In a handbill the two men said they would expose spiritualism with a "light and dark seance, including the appearance of the spirit form of John King."

It was promised further that

Cooke would be seen "floating . . . from the stage to the ceiling in the center of the hall."

Maskelyne became known for the automotons, or moving images, which he built and displayed. His work in watchmaking helped him to make the wheels and springs which were employed to make the images move.

One automaton was given the name of Psycho (SY-ko). This one played cards. Its arms would move, and cards were picked up carefully. The figure of Psycho was too small to hold even a dwarf.

Another automaton made by Maskelyne was called Zoe. This one drew pictures which were fairly good. A third was musical, and played pieces for the audience.
