

Dr. Sainburg, Freeman Pleas Denied

In quick succession this morning, Judge Charlie Sullivan denied applications of Dr. E. (Bernie) Freeman, former tax official convicted of fraud, and Dr. Frank Sainburg, who is charged in New York with kidnaping.

Freeman had requested probation of a two-year penitentiary sentence assessed by a jury last December.

Dr. Sainburg had applied for a writ of habeas corpus in his fight to avoid extradition to New York, where he is charged with kidnaping his son, Philip Sainburg II.

No testimony was offered in either of the cases. Attorney George Thomas, who represented both applicants, objected to Sainburg's extradition on grounds that documents sent here from New York were not properly certified.

In the Freeman case, Thomas said his client is prepared to make reparation of $9,852.52, which an audit showed to be the amount of shortage during the time Freeman was in office.

He also called attention to the good reputation of Freeman and the fact that he never before had been convicted of a felony.

Both Freeman and Sainburg posted new bonds following the hearing. Freeman's bond is $2,500 and Sainburg's is $5,000.

Sureties on the Freeman bond are M. N. Thorp and Thomas. C. O. Nalley and Leon Rednor signed Dr. Sainburg's bond.

In the Freeman case, District Attorney Guilford Jones produced a document in which he said the 12 jurors who served at Freeman's trial stated their opposition to probation of the penitentiary sentence. He said his statements to the jury during the trial reflected his position following the hearing.

Judge Sullivan said he received 25 or 30 letters, many phone calls, and several personal contacts on the streets and in stores in connection with the hearing.

The judge said he was not offering any criticism, but he added it was the first time during his tenure as district judge that anyone had ever contacted him before a decision was to be made.

Thomas announced immediately after the refusal that he would renew the appeal of the case.

Judge Sullivan opened his statement by saying the jury had

Coast Guard Seeks Witness In Tanker Fire

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Coast Guard examiners began looking today for a "bald headed guy from Boston" who knew about a leak in the cargo oil tank of the Salem Maritime the night it exploded and killed 18 persons.

He is believed among the 17 survivors still to be questioned by the Coast Guard board looking into the Tuesday night blast.

Officers questioned seven other survivors and the marine superintendent of Cities Service Oil Co., which owned the tanker.

The witnesses testified, in general, there was very little unusual about the Salem Maritime in Calcasieu River before the explosion. None would guess at the cause of the blast.

But three, including Marine Supt. William Sharples, reported hearing of the leak from a bald crewman. Another witness recounted a rumor that the Salem Maritime's cargo feeding line was too hot that day as the tanker took on a full load of gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil.

Of the 41-man crew, 14 are missing and presumed dead, the bodies of two others have been found and one man is missing but may still be alive.

Near-Smash Of Airliners Under Probe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Reports of a near collision between two airliners over Cleveland Hopkins Airport were under investigation today by airline and Civil Aeronautics Administration officials.

A spokesman for Delta last night was a United Air Lines DC8 coming in from New York and bound for Los Angeles and a Capital Airlines Viscount bound here from Washington.

The DC8, carrying 54 passengers was piloted by Capt. A. R. Kidder of Chicago. Capt. C. S. Babylon was pilot of the Viscount, which had 18 passengers.

A CAA spokesman who declined to be quoted by name said both planes were waiting to land when the pilot of one of the planes apparently thought he was too close to the other and made a sudden drop to avoid a collision. In so doing his plane came close to the other plane, it was reported. Both planes later landed safely.

The spokesman pointed out that lights sometimes play tricks when snow is falling. Both planes were using beacons, navigation lights and collision lights. Visibility at the time was three miles and the ceiling was 600 feet.

Instruments on the Viscount failed after the aerial scare and the plane had to land blind after 35 minutes in the air, the CAA spokesman said.

A spokesman for Capital said he had no comment on the reported failure. He added that he did not think there had been danger of a collision.

Shoemaker Remains In Critical Condition

WACO (AP)—A. B. Shoemaker, 60, insurance executive who tried to commit suicide by shooting himself through the head Jan. 7, remained in critical condition today.

The president of the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co., has opened his eyes and can move his limbs but apparently has never regained full consciousness.

Tax Reallocation Vote Is Saturday

Reallocation of tax rates to keep the county's general fund out of "the red" will be up to Howard County voters Saturday.

All 16 of the county's voting boxes will be open at 8 a.m. for the election. Only property-owning taxpayers can vote. Last year's poll tax receipts and exemption certificates will be honored.

Only one proposition is listed on the ballot. Voters may express themselves as for or against authorizing commissioners to reallocate the county's constitutional rates.

Commissioners propose to take eight cents from the jury fund, four cents from the road and bridge fund and three cents from the permanent improvement fund, and place the total of 15 cents in the general fund.

That would increase the general fund tax levy from 25 cents to 40 cents per $100 of property valuations. At the same time, it would reduce the jury fund levy from 15 cents to seven cents, the road

Insurance Chief Charges Commission 'Derelect'

Says Legislature, Industry Due Blame

IN YEAR'S FIRST FATAL TRAFFIC CRASH Bobby Joe Johnston, 23, Big Spring killed in wreck

U.S. Charges Breach Of Housing Pact

GALVESTON (AP)—The federal Public Housing Authority charged yesterday that the Galveston Housing Authority (GHA) has committed 36 breaches of a contract between the two agencies and demanded they turn over six housing projects built there in part with federal aid.

Marshall PMA, director of the Fort Worth PHA office, said the PHA uncovered contract irregularities in administration of projects jointly financed by the GHA and PHA.

Amis said the PHA's only recourse would be to file suit for recovery of the property if the Galveston agency fails to comply with the request.

He wrote a letter to the commissioners at a called meeting yesterday.

It stated that among the claimed breaches of contract was a withdrawal of $820 from a fund which included federal grants. The withdrawal, the letter said, was "for Mayor Cartwright's election expenses."

H. V. Cartwright Jr. was defeated for reelection last spring by Mayor George Roy Clough.

Crash Fatal To Bobby Johnston

Bobby Joe Johnston of Big Spring died this morning of injuries when his new automobile overturned "10 or 15 times."

Johnston, 23, was injured about 12:45 a.m. about five miles west of Big Spring on U.S. 80. He died in a hospital shortly before noon without regaining consciousness.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Young Johnston's car turned over as he attempted to pass a truck on the right side of the road, sheriff's officers said. The car flipped over when wheels struck soft earth.

Gene Coyle, Dallas, driver of the van-type truck, told Deputy Sheriff Rufus Davidson that the auto rolled over 10 to 15 times. Johnston was thrown from the vehicle. He was alone in the car.

The highway death was the first in Howard County this year.

Johnston, of 402 Dallas, was born Oct. 19, 1932, in Menard County. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elzie Johnston of Big Spring; his father, W. B. Johnston of Abilene; a brother, Ronald Johnston of Evanston, Ill.; and his grandmothers, Mrs. Johnston of Medina and Mrs. Frizzell of Amarillo.

AUSTIN (AP)—The Insurance Commission has been "derelect in enforcement," Chairman Byron Saunders told House investigators today, later qualifying the testimony by telling reporters he did not refer to the present commission.

Saunders testified the troubles in the insurance business in Texas must be shared also by the Legislature and the industry itself.

The Legislature up until the last session had not given the commission adequate laws and personnel. The industry itself had not been sufficiently alert to its own problems, the chairman said.

Then, he testified:

"By the same token, I think the commission was derelect in its enforcement, but now we have the law, the personnel, and I hope that the commission—I believe I speak the sentiments of the present board—will once and for all try to clean this thing up."

Questioned by reporters after the hearing as to which commission period he was referring to in his statement about derelection, Saunders replied:

"I did not have in mind any particular company, any particular period, any particular commission or commissioner, nor any particular action upon the part of either of the three groups mentioned."

"I merely was attempting to give the committee my interpretation of the historical development of what I considered to be the present insurance situation as it has existed and to some degree still exists in the industry."

Asked whether his derelection reference applied to any members of the present commission, Saunders answered:

"There was not so intended."

Saunders said he does not believe there will ever be another company operated in Texas the way defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty was run.

"There will not be if the commission can prevent it," he said. He suggested that the next Legislature could help by pinpointing more specifically offenses such as perjury that might be committed in insurance firm dealings with the commission in an effort to "find the crooks" in the business.

Saunders also said that the commission, operating under the new reform laws, is "getting around to the predators" as quickly as possible, that the new laws should result in weeding out the undesirable and firming up public confidence in the industry.

Earlier Saunders had said he thought the commission had taken every "reasonably prudent" step it could to regulate the affairs of U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. of Waco.

The committee hearing recessed until 1:30 p.m.

The chairman repeated a statement he read earlier this week before a Senate Investigating Committee, adding that he had never heard any suggestion from the attorney general or auditor that "we had done anything wrong in our surveillance of U.S. Trust."

The Insurance Commission has been sharply criticized for having permitted U.S. Trust to continue operations after an original finding of insolvency last June (now called an "allegation" of insolvency by Saunders) up to late December. This included sales of five per cent drafts until a stop order was issued by the commission under a new law in mid-December.

Saunders, telling House investigators he felt much of the criticism was not justified, said the commission had nothing to hide in any of its actions and that they are all a matter of public record.

He said the root of the difficulty was that the five A. B. Shoemaker concern was a combination of business and insurance, all of which the commission could not legally supervise until new laws went into effect Sept. 6.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A jury resumed deliberations today on whether Burton Abbott kidnaped and murdered Stephanie Bryan.

Jurors got the case yesterday and were locked up for the night after 5 hours and 35 minutes of discussion.

Abbott, 27-year-old University of California student of accounting, is charged with abducting, molesting and killing the 14-year-old junior high school girl.

He played cards in the Alameda County Jail while awaiting the decision.

Georgia, Abbott's red-haired wife waited in a courthouse corridor all afternoon. Once she almost bumped into J. Frank Coakley, the district attorney who demanded the death penalty.

Coakley told her: "I sympathize with you. I'm sorry."

Asked by newsmen whether Coakley had been friendly, Mrs. Abbott snapped:

"How can a rattlesnake be friendly?"

Stephanie, pretty dark-haired daughter of a radiologist, disappeared April 28 while walking home from school in Berkeley.

Her purse and other effects were found on June 15 in the basement of Abbott's home at nearby Alameda and five days later her body was dug from a wilderness grave near Abbott's cabin 250 miles north of Berkeley.

Jury Mulls Verdict In Slaying Of Girl

CHICAGO (AP)—A 5-year-old girl was found slashed with a razor, bitten on her right arm, and bruised on her back yesterday in the home of a 32-year-old neighbor woman.

Held by police for questioning was Mrs. Rose Swanson, who police said was an unemployed barmaid.

The child, Sandra Torres, was found in the Swanson West Side apartment by her mother, Mrs. Mary Stewart, a divorcee, who called police. The girl, slashed eight times on her face and head, was taken to Garfield Park Hospital where 35 stitches were necessary to close the wounds. Doctors said they believed she would recover.

Detectives said Mrs. Swanson told them she had been drinking and did not remember what happened after she invited the child to her apartment for candy. The detectives said a blood-covered razor blade was found in the apartment.

Scattered Rain Seen For Texas

By The Associated Press

Scattered rain through Saturday is predicted for all of Texas in the wake of this week's fast-thawing snow cover.

Rising temperatures Friday sped the thawing of snow but it still was slow enough for good absorption by thirsty cropland. More thawing weather was predicted for Saturday.

Sleet fell early Friday at Wichita Falls and Dallas. The long-range weather forecast held out some hope of rain in East and Central Texas Tuesday.

Travel still was hazardous in North Texas, where bridges and hills had been spread with sand to give vehicles more traction. Early Friday hundreds of vehicles were stalled between Gainesville and Ardmore, Okla., on Highway 77A and also in the Denison-Sherman area.

The Highway Department in Austin said all traffic was going through. The ice cover was rapidly melting.

The light sleet came from a narrow ribbon of clouds stretching from El Paso across the state, the Weather Bureau said. The band varied from 50 to 75 miles and was moving eastward. Except for cloudiness around Alice, the state was reported clear.

A forecast of possible snow in the Panhandle faded after a front from the mountain states moved east.

A bright sun Thursday gnawed away at the heavy blanket of snow that in places measured up to 6 inches in North and West Texas. Re-frozen slush made highway travel hazardous in many sectors Thursday night and early Friday.

The worst traffic jams occurred near the Red River. Highway Patrolmen said at one time 500 to 600 vehicles were halted by ice-slicked Highway 77A between Gainesville and Ardmore, Okla. Late Thursday night it was estimated that several hundred vehicles were halted north and south of Denison and 100 were jammed up on both the Oklahoma and Texas sides of the Red River bridge on Highways 75 and 69. Patrolmen said the jams had been untangled before dawn Friday.

The Rio Grande Valley escaped a freeze but across the Rio Grande, vegetable growers in the El Monte area of Mexico estimated damage from the cold wave at $1,600,000.

The storm brought badly needed moisture for parched Texas farms and ranges. More moisture was needed to break the long drought. Temperatures Friday are expected to rise.

A hard freeze extended south to San Antonio early Friday. Temperatures ranged from 14 at Dalt to 47 at El Paso.

Ship Hits Radar Station In Ocean

BOSTON (AP)—A ship crashed into the Texas Tower, radar station, 100 miles off Cape Cod, today, and was seriously damaged. The tall tripod structure was unscathed.

There were no casualties.

The ship was the Military Sea Transport Service's Sagitta which had gone out to the tower with fresh water and other supplies.

She is a 269-foot, 5,202-ton vessel. While servicing the tower, her starboard side crashed the structure, tearing a hole in tanks in the Sagitta's No. 2 hold, admitting water which quickly covered such a severe list that members of her crew stood by lifeboats.

Pumps soon controlled the water and the Sagitta proceeded for Boston under her own power.

Capt. John J. Albers, said the weather was "not bad, the best in months."

He said the tower reported a 12-knot northeasterly wind and 4-foot swells — a moderate sea.

As for damage to the sturdy steel structure, Capt. Albers said "apparently a little paint was scraped off."

The 10 million dollar radar structure was given the Texas name because of its resemblance to off-shore oil-drilling rigs used in the Gulf of Mexico. It is one of a chain to be set off the Atlantic Coast to give the armed forces warning time of the approach of enemy aircraft.

The tower is a 6,000-ton triangular steel platform set on three huge legs that go 56 feet below the ocean surface. The legs extend 48 feet more into the earth.

The tower has accommodations for 75 Air Force men. It is a self-contained military installation with crew's quarters, deckhouse and full maintenance equipment.

The Coast Guard dispatched a seaplane from its Salem base to investigate and also ordered two cutters, the Evergreen and Spar to the scene.

ESCAPES JAIL

'Mad Dog' Killer Hunted In 3 States

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Police in three states searched grimly today for Leslie Irvin, described as a "mad dog" killer who escaped from jail while under sentence of death for one murder and indictment for five others.

The hunt was concentrated in the Evansville area and in nearby sections of Kentucky and Illinois. Illinois state police put out a state wide alert for Irvin last night after authorities at Watseka, Ill., said they had reports he had been seen in a Watseka tavern.

Meanwhile, law officers and witnesses in Irvin's murder trial were given police guards as they hunted the 31-year-old former Evansville pipefitter.

Irvin, convicted of killing an Evansville man and also charged with killing two Indiana women and three members of a Kentucky family, had been scheduled for transfer Monday to the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City to await execution in the electric chair June 12.

Irvin, held in jail at nearby Princeton during the appeal period which followed his conviction and sentencing in Gibson Circuit Court, was missing at breakfast time yesterday.

Four jail doors had been either unlocked or locks picked. Sheriff Earl Hollen said, "There had to be some outside help," adding one man could not have opened the doors himself from the inside. The heaviest snowfall of the winter quickly covered his tracks.

Only Irvin's cellmate Lawrence Bryant, 37, Palestine, Ill., awaiting trial for a triple killing, saw him escape.

Husband, Son See Execution Of Negro In Woman's Death

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The husband and 14-year-old son of a Negro woman beaten to death by a Negro looked on impassively today as the 32-year-old killer went to his death in South Carolina's electric chair.

Scar-faced Henry Lee Boone died insisting he was innocent of the August, 1954, tire iron slaying of Mrs. Agnes Webb, Cherokee County white woman who was the mother of seven.

"I think that he was guilty, and that he got just what was coming to him," said the husband, Grover C. Webb.

"It doesn't bother me at all," said the son, Johnny Webb. "I didn't mind it (the execution) at all."

Balance In Farm Supply, Demand Seen By 1962

DALLAS (AP)—The president of the National Reclamation Assn. said yesterday farm acreage is dwindling and the nation faces "a complete balance" of agricultural supply and demand by 1962.

Movements are on, he said, to place ownership and control of such waters with the federal government. Jackson estimated a national population of 225 million people by 1975.

"We are facing a complete balance of (farm) supply and demand by 1962 and all of this in face of the fact that the number of crop acres per person has been reduced from 3.9 acres to 2.5 acres" since 1920, he said.

He said industrial and domestic need for water will increase by 145 billion gallons a day within 20 years, in addition to increased needs for farm water. The Texas representative, Col. John Ledbetter of Austin, called for an agreement between four states for dividing Red River water.

Israel Under Stern Notice Not To Continue Her Border Attacks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Israel was under stern notice today that the U. N. Security Council may use its powers of punishment against her if the Israelis continue attacks across their Arab neighbors' frontiers.

The resolution condemned the Israeli attack Dec. 11 on Syrian outposts northeast of the Sea of Galilee as a "flagrant violation" of the Palestine armistice and Israel's U. N. Charter obligations.

The charter empowers the council to punish an aggressor with a diplomatic boycott, economic blockade or even military action, and to call for expulsion from the U. N. of any country that consistently violates the charter.

Israel Delegate Abba Eban told the council he feared the resolution would be interpreted as endorsement of Arab belligerency toward Israel.

The resolution noted Syrian "interference" with the Israeli activity on the lake but said "this interference in no way justifies the Israeli action."

It was the fourth council censure of a big Israeli border raid, but the first to warn of possible future penalties. The U. N. body has never censured an Arab country for frontier military actions, although Israel has complained of hundreds of Arab border violations.

against the Israelis and expulsion of Israel from the U. N. The Soviet delegate championed another Syrian demand that Israel pay damages for the dead and property damage, but finally dropped this to make the vote unanimous.

The council resolution also called on both Israel and Syria to arrange an "immediate exchange of all military prisoners" with Canadian Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, the U. N. Palestine truce chief. Israel holds 36 Syrians, Syria five Israelis.

It asked Burns to "pursue his suggestions for improving the situation" in the Galilee area. He has recommended a "gentleman's agreement" under which Israel would keep its boats away from the vicinity of the Syrian shore posts and Syria would let its inhabitants take out Israeli permits to fish in the sea.

Israel has rejected such an agreement as interference with her sovereignty over the Sea of Galilee.

LONG ORDEAL

Bad Luck Plagues Battered Driver

DENVER (AP)—You're a truck driver by profession, married and the father of five children—three girls and two boys. Fires have burned you out of your home three times in a 17-month period, and not one was covered by insurance. You've spent 31 months of the past five years in hospitals. You've had 13 operations—the most recent, ironically, on Friday, Jan. 13. Your left foot is paralyzed; a nerve was pinched in one of three auto accidents in which you've been battered. You have no job. You walk painfully, and with crutches. Money is running low. What do you do? "You pray," says George C. Thomas. He knows. All this happened to him. And the ordeal still is not over. Thomas' first hint of what was to come was in 1950, when he awakened in the night, ill, and called his wife. He was bleeding from stomach ulcers. After recovering from emergency surgery, in the following years he has: Again had a ruptured ulcer, slipped six discs in his spine when a stairway collapsed, had a bone graft operation to repair the spine damage, suffered severe burns on his left arm when he ignited fuel-soaked papers in an incinerator, dislocated his neck twice in auto accidents, broken a bone in his knee in a fall and, in still a third auto mishap, suffered a fractured hip, two fractures of the knee, broken ribs and a splintered shin bone. Thomas, a Navy veteran, complains only of the pinched nerve in his left foot. The doctors say it will be three or four months at the earliest before he can return to work.

Decision Due On Illness Crises Of Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several senators agreed with President Eisenhower today that Congress should look into the question of who is to decide whether a president is unable to perform his duties. Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said the Constitution and the laws contain a gap which "might sometime rise up to cause confusion and uncertainty," and he added: "The best time to act is when we do not have that kind of situation before us, and I favor Congress working out some kind of satisfactory solution." Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said in a separate interview he considers it "desirable to see if we can't find a satisfactory solution," and Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) agreed "it's a question that ought to be studied."

At his news conference yesterday, Eisenhower was asked if he had given any thought to the Constitution's silence on the question of who should declare a president unable to perform his duties. He said the subject should be carefully studied by Congress and the attorney general, adding it would be good for the country to work out the matter so that doubts would be resolved. Legislation to this end has been introduced in the Senate and the House, but no hearings have been held.

Sen. Payne (R-Maine) has offered a bill under which a president if he felt physically unable to discharge his duties properly, would notify Congress. The vice president then would assume the presidency's powers and duties—but not the title—until the President notified Congress he was able to assume them again. If a president were unconscious or paralyzed and therefore unable to notify Congress of his disability, Payne's bill provides that the vice president shall advise the chief justice. Then the chief justice would be required to appoint a panel of three to five doctors, each of whom would examine the President and submit a report. If they all concluded the President was unable to perform his duties, the chief justice would notify Congress and the vice president would take over. In the House Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.) has proposed a constitutional amendment setting up procedures for the vice president to take over the President's duties.

Death Toll Exceeds 40 As India Violence Continues In Bombay

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Sporadic violence flared early today across southern Bombay state for the fifth consecutive day. Official figures put the death toll at more than 40 since the riots erupted Monday in opposition to a government plan to make the city of Bombay a separate state under a realignment of state boundaries. There was no estimate of the total number of persons injured or arrested. Property damage from wrecking, burning and looting was widespread. (An official report from the Bombay government received in New Delhi said the riot situation is "fast improving and definitely under control.") It said leftist groups had urged all workers to return to work today in Bombay. Authorities were besieged in dozens of towns by demonstrators who demanded the officials resign. At Poona all 50 city councilmen quit after a stone-throwing mob stormed the municipal corporation building. Other violence centers included Ghatkopar, Kolhapur, Nipani and Ghodapde. In this city one of the most severe threats came at midnight last night, when the main police armory at Nigaum was attacked by a mob seeking arms and ammunition. Police gunfire turned it back. A government announcement said nine persons were killed in Bombay city in yesterday's fighting. It said 65 persons were injured, including 30 policemen, and 85 more rioters were arrested. Police fired into a mob of 30,000 at Kolhapur, 250 miles south of Bombay. There was no report on casualties. The outbreak this week was the second in two months against the plan by Prime Minister Nehru's government to revise state lines on a language basis. The program calls for the division of Bombay state, with one new state taking in the Gujarti-speaking peoples of the north and another comprising the Marathi-speaking south. Bilingual Bombay is inside the area designated for the Marathi state.

Eisenhower Begins 4th Year In Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower starts his fourth year in office today still facing the big decision on whether to seek re-election. He addresses "Salute to Eisenhower" dinners tonight in his first appearance before a Republican party group since September. His remarks, to be piped by closed circuit television to an estimated 60,000 persons at fund-raising dinners in 53 cities, are not expected to shed any definite light on whether he will run again. At least one national radio network, ABC, will broadcast the event "live" to the public. The broadcast is scheduled about 10:20 p.m. EST. The Republican National Committee forecast a turnout of 2,000 here to hear talks by Eisenhower, Cabinet members and others. Sen. Goldwater of Arizona, who heads the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said he thinks national Republican organizations will net about 2½ million dollars from the $100-a-plate dinners. State and local organizations would get the same amount. Sen. Knowland of California is listed as the speaker for a dinner at Palm Beach, Fla. Vice President Nixon will speak in Chicago, Secretary of Defense Wilson in Los Angeles, Secretary of the Treasury

Humphrey in New York, Secretary of Agriculture Benson in Houston, Tex., and Postmaster General Summerfield in Portland, Ore. Eisenhower's second-term decision, he promised yesterday, will be announced "as soon as it is firmly fixed in my mind." He indicated at his news conference that the chief factor is the degree of recovery he makes from a Sept. 24 heart attack. "It would be idle," the 65-year-old President said, "to pretend that my health can be wholly restored to the excellent state in which the doctors believed it to be in mid-September." Adding that his doctors report his progress is normal and satisfactory, Eisenhower said, "My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

Ridgway Speaks His Piece

At his first press conference after the first installment of General Ridgway's fortnight series on defense matters appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, Defense Secretary Wilson acknowledged that Ridgway was indeed opposing Army cuts at the very time President Eisenhower had said the Joint Chiefs of Staff had "unanimously recommended" the administration's cutback program.

But he could not recall ever having put pressure on Ridgway to stop fighting the cutback, as Ridgway charges in his Post article.

Ridgway, retired Army chief of staff, has been "cordially invited" by the chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee, Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.), to appear before that group for further elucidation of his views. Sikes "commended strongly" Ridgway's "courageous expression of your views."

Obviously congressional concern with this topmost-level squabble is in order, regardless of any political implications it may have in a partisan sense.

We have a history of too-rapid disarmament after every conflict. There is good reason to believe that the heavy cutbacks in the second Truman administration encouraged the Reds to walk in on South Korea. Any backward step in our general defense arrangements will always encourage Communist aggression, as it has since Korea.

We felt that the reduced military program, especially the Army cutbacks which Gen. Ridgway publicly objected to at the time, was a grave blunder motivated by ideas of false economy. We believe we paid too dear a price in power and prestige, and in the end it cost us more in actual money to rebuild the military potential so recklessly thrown away. In the face of the threat to our institutions and our existence as a free people posed by militant communism, we cannot afford to trifle with national defense.

Your Vote For Sensible Business

On the theory that repetition is one of the keys to emphasis — and thus promotes understanding — we want to remind you for the last time about the important election Saturday.

No life and death matter is at stake in the proposal to reallocate the amount of tax that may be levied in any of the constitutional funds of the county. But the matter of good business and of adequately providing for the general fund is at stake.

Most agencies operate with two key funds — the general fund and the interest and sinking fund. The latter is explicitly for handling the bonded obligations; the former is for handling all other activities.

This is not the case with the county, for the state constitution, drawn up more than four score years ago, sets up a jury fund, a road and bridge fund, a general fund, a permanent improvement fund in addition to the interest and sinking fund. It also fixed the maximum levies in each fund.

Over the years every additional service that has come along has been put in the general fund; but no corresponding increase in rate was provided. Hence, the general fund has been overloaded and left to run habitually in the red while other funds created surpluses.

Saturday's election simply involves — if you approve — slicing some off the rates of the other funds and adding it to the general fund. The total levy will not be increased, for it already is at the constitutional maximum. You will, by voting for reallocation of taxes, simply give permission to put the money where it is needed. The important thing is for you to vote.

The New Irish Actress Remains Irish

Whatever effect Siobhan McKenna, the Irish actress, may eventually have on the American stage, the American stage so far has had absolutely no outward effect on Miss McKenna. She is still the Celtic bluestocking of purest indigo, scornful of lipstick and powder off stage, whom I first met in London when she was the undisputed toast of that capital as the Saint Joan of G. B. Shaw's play.

Six months in the U.S.A. first rehearsing and now starring in the Broadway hit, "The Chalk Garden," have not induced her to take the shine off her nose or the high off her brow. I discovered this the other day when I went by the theatre to pass the time of day with her.

In her bare face and serviceable tweeds, she would still pass for an absent-minded schoolmarm. Yet, she is delighted that a few persons are beginning to recognize her on the street and ask for an autograph despite her aversion to theatrical glamor.

"And quite a few Americans have written to me in Gaelic," said the woman whose voice is so lilting and musical it must be the despair of the American actresses who come to see her perform. Miss McKenna is a master of that difficult language and since last I saw her she has finished translating "Peter Pan" into Gaelic, as she has several other plays in the past.

Except for central heating — "I am either broiling or freezing all the time" — Miss McKenna has enjoyed the United States on her first visit here.

"I love the taxi drivers everywhere. Such intellectuals!" she marvelled. "They all write plays. Whenever I get into a taxi and tell them to take me to the theatre, they immediately tell me about the dramas they've written. One has even written thirty plays. Imagine!

"I love American audiences. They are very warm. I had been warned before I came that they would have a 'show me' attitude, but that's not true at all."

"And the efficiency of the telephone system in Eire, it takes an hour to get a call through, once you get the girls to quit gossiping long enough to take the number. Indeed, one of the lovely things about America is the genuine wish to please on the part of people everywhere, in stores and trains and hotels."

"I find New York overworking, especially Broadway. It is a great experience for me to go to a party and find so many really great persons assembled in one city in one room at one time."

"As for the American theatre, the rehearsal hours are much longer here. We never chop, change and rewrite a play in England or Europe during rehearsal as you do here. It requires terrific concentration and hard work."

Both Miss McKenna's husband, Dennis O'Dea, a star of Dublin's famed Abbey Theatre, and her small son, Donnacha, are in New York, too.

There has been only one major American crisis since the family's arrival. Miss McKenna was alarmed when she found her small son, just like American kids, "screaming with joy at cowboys killing each other on the television."

"There is now no teevee in the McKenna apartment."

Many Issues Affect U.S. Education Aid

WASHINGTON — While the race issue in Federal aid to education, raised to fever heat by the Supreme Court decision, is the biggest obstacle in Congressional legislation, it is only one of many. In seven months — the session must end before the national conventions in mid-August — the aid-to-education bill must move over a formidable course if it is to be signed by the President.

Because the American educational system is not producing enough scientists and technicians, the United States is rapidly being overtaken by the Soviet Union in scientific-technical leadership. That has been the warning of leaders in many fields and it is one spur to aid to education by the Federal government.

The base must be expanded by grants to build more classrooms if the system is to produce young people properly trained for advanced study. But the deeper controversies of American political life threatened to make it impossible to agree on any form of Federal aid. The danger of Federal control over the schools and the issue of poor states versus rich states will be warmly debated in coming months.

Congressman Augustine B. Kelley, as chairman of a subcommittee on education and labor, directed extensive hearings last year that resulted in agreement on a measure simple in form and objective. It provides $400,000,000 a year in Federal funds for four years to go to the states on a showing of need for school construction, with the states to match the Federal money on a 50-50 basis. He is critical of the complicated matching formula called for in the Eisenhower message on education. This provides that poorer states get more Federal help than richer states.

If the administration tries to force that into an aid-to-education bill then, says Kelley, there will be no bill at all. Such wealthy states as New Jersey, New York, Illinois and Pennsylvania object to having their Federal taxes distributed in proportionately larger amounts to poor states such as Mississippi and Arkansas.

Another controversy that may or may not arise is over aid to parochial as well as public schools. This touches the question of separation of church and state on which feelings on both sides run almost as deeply as on the matter of race. Last November the Roman Catholic Bishops of the United States declared that students of private and church schools "have the right to benefit from such measures, grants, or aids which are manifestly designed for the health, safety and welfare of American youth, irrespective of the school attended." The Lutherans and other religious bodies as well as the Roman Catholics maintain privately supported religious schools.

In the Senate as in the House extensive hearings were held last year on aid to education but a bill was never reported to the Senate floor. There, too, the issue of Federal funds for school construction going to states seeking to get around the Supreme Court order to end segregation in the public schools was a factor. Republican Senators suggested the need for such a rider on any school-aid bill.

When it first became known that the administration was going out for Federal aid — a total of $2,170,000,000 under every heading in the President's message — members of the public-school lobby were greatly heartened. But now that they have taken a second look they are fearful. The old controversies with new bitterness injected seem to add up to stalemate.

Plain Notice On Ike Health

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has given the country plain notice he will never again be quite the man he was before, physically, and that henceforth he must avoid undue fatigue.

Although he says he still hasn't made up his mind on running again this concern about his health has run through everything Eisenhower has told newsmen, even as long ago as last August, before his heart attack.

He said yesterday: "It would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored... My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

While he has decided to let his name stay in any state presidential primary where it may be entered, he has practically invited all Republicans would-be presidents to get into the state primaries, too, to give voters a wide choice.

He no doubt meant this as encouragement to all of his party's presidential hopefuls to get active but it may have had the effect of chilling their blood. In almost any state primary against Eisenhower they'd almost certainly lose.

Newsmen who went to his news conference yesterday were not surprised when he left them still guessing on whether he'll run again. He said he hasn't decided and won't for a while.

It was last summer—weeks before his heart attack—Sept. 24—that Eisenhower began raising questions about his health when he asked about seeking a second term.

In August he spoke about the eroding effect of the presidency on the man in the White House and said, when he had no reason to expect a heart attack, that the state of his health would be a major factor in his decision on running.

That concern about his health appeared in statements he has made since then. He has noted that no man has reached 70 in the presidency. He'd be 70 three months before the end of a second term.

He has said the presidency is more wearing than any military assignment he ever had. He told newsmen Jan. 9 he would have to be careful to avoid fatigue. He has emphasized his decision would be based on what is good for the country.

Along that line he has said it is a "very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time that it is unexpected," a statement which could only mean it is critical if a president dies in office or, for health reasons, can't carry on with his job.

Guinness Modest Over Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Alec Guinness, hand to mouth, from instinct to instinct. Guinness also dislikes formulas in plays or films.

"Why should they always have to deliver a message, or try to make some final comment on life?" he asked. "Isn't it enough if an evening in the theatre merely provides one with entertainment and something to talk about?"

"I don't know of any major problem in living that can be settled in two hours. Do you?"

Few actors have had a harder struggle reaching the top.

At 31 he decided on a career in acting but was told by his teacher he lacked ability. The first time he tried out for a film role the producer told him he would never make the grade.

For years he subsisted in London in an apartment the size of a piano box on one meal a day and sandwiches brought him by friends.

Bit by bit, role by role, he worked his way to the top in both the theater and films. Now Alec, who leads a simple, placid life off stage, modestly wonders how long his present fame will endure.

regarded by many as one of the finest actors alive, regards his success with restrained enthusiasm.

"It's practically all due to lack of food and plenty of disappointments," he said wryly. "Believe me, they can be real incentives."

Critics praise Guinness for his chameleon-like ability to play any role. Perhaps no actor since the late Lon Chaney has used so many disguises.

Alec's roles have ranged from the third murderer in "Macbeth" to Hamlet. In "Kind Hearts and Coronets" he played eight different characters. In his latest film, "The Prisoner," he portrays a cardinal, who fights the brain-washing of a totalitarian government.

"I like variety in life as well as in the theater," he said. "I hate to be typed. If I see any danger of that, I make a dash in the opposite direction."

"Some people like to stick to a success formula and find it. I don't have a formula. I live from

Around The Rim

Ready For Flying Auto

That's for us!

There's a fella who's just invented an "Alrphibian," combination automobile-airplane, and plans to open up a market for them. Sounds good. The inventor says it takes just five minutes after landing to remove the prop and disengage the fuselage and wing. The same engine powers the craft at 50 m.p.h. from the ground or 110 m.p.h. in the air, with an aerial range of nearly 400 miles.

This auto-plane combination has been a dream of inventors ever since the first auto got buzzed by a low-flying aircraft, and there have been many inventions in this line, none of which panned out. We don't have a crystal ball to judge the Alrphibian's chances of acceptance, but we believe the basic idea is the coming thing. We hereby place our name at the top of the list if and when an actual (not a hybrid) auto-plane hits the market.

There are definite advantages in this thing. No more risky trips on the highway. An auto-plane would be convenient for town, and speedy for long trips. For example, it's just now worth a trip to Austin or Dallas on a short weekend by highway. But with an auto-plane, all you have to do is drive out to the airport, get your aerial equipment out of storage, clip it on, and away you go. Arriving at your destination before you have a chance to even get hungry, you store your aerial gear, and drive about the big city to your home's content.

Of course, there's always the risk of getting grounded on the return trip by bad weather, but you can always use the highways. Probably wouldn't take long to drive out from under the overcast. And if you fly into bad weather, there's always a road or two within easy range.

There are disadvantages, too. Think what a mess it would be with practically all our highway traffic sprouting wings. However, the risk of air travel is an old wive's tale. When you consider the ratios, air travel is safer than the highways. Then you or your wife might leave you in the air with her phobias against flying, or with her demands for a bigger, richer-looking model.

But there is one factor that has us sold. As long as the CAA retains its present tight controls on pilots licenses, there's little danger of highway-type accidents. Let the nuts laughter each other on the highways and leave saner citizens alone with the clouds.

Ridgway's Protests Should Have Come Sooner

WASHINGTON—General Matthew Ridgway is a fine officer and a man of courage, but there is something wrong with a system that only now—after his retirement—permits him to reveal to the American people his dissent from the decisions of the administration as to the size of the Army.

Wouldn't it have been better for the General to have told a committee of Congress his views and to have insisted that they be made public, or else resigned? Why should his important points on military policy be published in January 1956 in the Saturday Evening Post, when the Congress and the people were really entitled to these views two years ago?

Why does the General disclose now that he was "shocked" two years ago when the President's message referred to the recommendations of the Joint Chiefs as "unanimous?" Why wasn't General Ridgway able to reveal publicly then his sense of shock, especially if somewhere between the Defense Department and the White House staff a clumsy liaison led to a misunderstanding of the difference between "concurrence" on a substantial number of provisions of a "military program" and "unanimity" on every detail of the recommendations?

General Ridgway, in his article in the Saturday Evening Post, says that he was asked to subordinate his views on the size of the Army to considerations of economy, as this is a "business man's administration." The connotation is unfortunate, for the implication is that business men aren't as interested in military security as are the generals. In this case, the Secretary of Defense, a business man, relied on the military advice of General Eisenhower, a military man of distinction, who overruled General Ridgway.

If anybody is interested in the tendency in Washington to weigh military appropriations in the light of "calculated risks," on the one hand, and the necessity, on the other hand, of not spending beyond what the nation can afford, the published record of the Truman administration is revealing.

General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, said on May 16, 1952:

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff are not unaware of the economic implications of the defense program. We realize that a strong economy and progressive and growing production capacity is the backbone of long-range defense. But we ourselves do not have the training, nor do we have the economic or industrial advisers to decide the limits of our national bankroll or productive capacity."

In another speech, on October 12, 1949, General Bradley said:

"We must continue to provide even these new requirements out of a limited arms budget, while our economy continues to strengthen. For a strong economy is our best resource against the onslaught of the poison of Communism."

What General Ridgway discloses now on the conflict between the military and the budget bureau isn't new, but the fact that he didn't feel he should issue a public protest two years ago, because of the risk of being removed, sheds new light on the operations of the military man versus the civilian in the national government today.

Television And Radio

Hopfuls Pour Into Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—Every day trains, planes and buses bring many youthful hopes to this city.

As the young were drawn to Hollywood in the youth of the movie industry, so the young today are drawn to television in its youth. They feed on the legendary successes of many who preceded them. The fact that the failures far exceed the successes makes no difference.

For there is no more irresistible force than the brass at ABC that here was the irresistible magnet of New York...

Sandra Wirth didn't come here from her home in Miami, Fla., blindly seeking employment. She was spoken for—by ABC-TV. A network photographer who saw her in the Miss America Contest at Atlantic City, where she was among the 10 finalists as Miss Florida expended about 100 bucks worth of film taking pictures of her.

Investigation of this extraordinary investment in photographic film convinced the brass at ABC that here was the girl to twirl her baton and otherwise grace the weekly festivities on "Super Circus..." Sunday ABC-TV show that attracts the young of all ages. And so she is.

And there's an unnamed young fellow at the University of Miami who might be interested in knowing that Sandra doesn't have dates in New York. She believes that a career is compatible with marriage—if the guy is willing. But then this fellow knows about that too.

Sandra presently is living in a residential hotel for women. But before long she and two other American beauties plan to take an apartment to themselves. Her roommate will be the most recent Miss Utah, Suzanne Poulton, and Miss Montana, Berta Hubel. They, like Sandra, are studying and working in New York.

MOVES EAST

Heavy Snowstorm Covers Midwest

The season's heaviest snowstorm in the eastern half of the nation draped a welcome blanket of white across the parched farm lands of the Southern Plains and Midwest, then moved into the Atlantic Coast today. Snow fell during the night and morning from the lower Great Lakes region eastward to the Mid-Atlantic states southward as far as West Virginia and Maryland. Early reports indicated fairly heavy falls, with 4 inches reported at Baltimore and 3 inches at Philadelphia. The storm headed into New York and the New England region. Snow measured up to 10 inches in some areas hit by the mid-January storm yesterday. The storm center, weakening as it moved from the Gulf northeastward along the western slopes of the Appalachians, dumped snow over most of the Ohio Valley and the Mid-Atlantic states. There was rain, sleet or freezing rain in the Carolinas and Virginia. Traffic was disrupted in many cities and driving conditions were hazardous on the snow-slickened highways. But to farmers in areas where there has been little precipitation this winter the snow was hailed as welcome relief to dry farm lands. In Texas a state official described the snow as worth "millions and millions" to farmers suffering from winter drought. In St. Louis, where there had not been measurable precipitation in 47 days, the longest drought in the area's history, snow measured more than 2 inches. Four deaths were attributed to the storm in Missouri. In nearby southern Illinois, where lands also were in need of moisture, the fall was to a depth of 8 inches in some places. The heaviest snowfall in several years—around 10 inches—hit Cincinnati yesterday. Some schools closed, the city airport was shut down and traffic was snarled. Seven inches of snow fell in sections of Pennsylvania. Falls in most other areas ranged up to 3 or 4 inches. Snow diminished over most of the mid-continent during the night with only flurries reported this morning across the upper Great Lakes, parts of the Ohio Valley and the Northern Plains. A belt of rain and snow extended from the Central Plateau region to the west slopes of the Rockies. Light rain fell in the Pacific Northwest. Colder air spread south and eastward yesterday in the wake of the storm and temperatures dropped 10 to 20 degrees, into the 30s and 40s, in the Southeast. At Charlotte, N. C., the drop was from 61 to 38. Meanwhile, readings moderated in Texas and the Western Plains. It was generally cold east of the Rockies today except in Florida and Southeastern states and southern parts of the Gulf states. Coldest region again today was the Northern Plains with more below zero readings. It was -19 at Minot, N. D.

Jenner Attacks 'Soft Policy' Toward Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's expression of complete faith in Secretary of State Dulles brought new calls today from two Democratic senators for a complete "re-examination" of American foreign policy. While most Senate Republicans rallied to the support of Dulles in the controversy over his "brink of war" interview, one, Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), attacked him for what Jenner called a "soft policy" toward Russian expansion. Jenner did not refer, however, to the source of the most recent controversy about the secretary of state—a Life magazine interview in which Dulles was quoted as saying administration policy prevented war in Asia three times and that "the ability to get to the verge without getting into the war is he necessary art." Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) suggested that Eisenhower "read the Life magazine interview"—something the President told his news conference yesterday he hadn't done. And Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said he is taking the floor of the Senate today to call in a speech for "a review of our entire foreign policy." Sparkman said, "It is most unfortunate for our foreign policy and for the peace of the world that Secretary Dulles let himself be quoted and pictured as he was in this article. In many respects it was a weird treatment of the matter and doesn't jibe with the facts." Dulles, he said, "is sincere, and works hard, and this article was most unfortunate." Congress, he said, "is going to re-examine all the facts." Meanwhile, Dulles had a new champion in Sen. Langer (R-ND), who frequently votes against administration foreign policy proposals. Langer arose in the Senate yesterday to champion Dulles after Jenner said in a lengthy speech that although this is an election year, "I recognize no slightest obligation to support a catastrophic foreign policy because my party is in power." Jenner contended this party has let the anti-Communist nations down, and agreed at Geneva to an atomic cease-fire which he said "told Soviet leaders that they could subvert or attack small nations with impunity."

Alabama Utters Cry Of Defiance Against Supreme Court Ruling

By The Associated Press On a long-embattled front, Southern legislators strengthened their picket lines today in their fight to maintain segregation. The loudest Rebel cry from Virginia to Mississippi came in a defiant resolution from Alabama. The Legislature there declared yesterday that Alabama is not bound by the racial rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court, and it pressed hard upon other Southern states to subscribe to the doctrine of interposition. The Alabama Senate approved the resolution in a resounding vote by voice. In the House, only four members dissented when the measure passed Tuesday. In Mississippi, the House Judiciary Committee approved a bill which would create a new anti-integration weapon for use against federal officials. The purpose of the bill is to keep federal officials from interfering with the rights of Mississippians as guaranteed by their constitution—particularly by investigating their voting habits. The maximum penalty for violation would be a $3,000 fine and five years in prison and it would allow a damage suit by the injured party. Two other segregation measures were also approved by the Mississippi House yesterday. One would extend the laws of criminal libel to cover libel or slander of state and other seeks to prevent the filing of lawsuits dealing with integration. The Virginia Senate continued its combative disapproval of the Supreme Court's authority on school segregation. A carefully worded resolution which offered a compromise plan of interposition was introduced to the Virginia lawmakers yesterday. Like the earlier resolution it replaced, it still challenged the high court's authority but departed from the earlier draft by not calling for noncompliance with the court's order banning school segregation. The doctrine of interposition, the conception of which was inspired by the South, is seldom used. Interpositionists hold that states are sovereigns which merely abdicated a limited number of powers to the federal government and that when the federal government exceeds these limitations, a state can interpose its paramount authority and nullify the excess. The Alabama Legislature in its action yesterday became the first to invoke the process of interposition in the current battle against enforced integration. Similar proposals are pending in Georgia and Mississippi, besides the compromise plan in Virginia. The Alabama resolution holds that the high court's anti-segregation rulings are "null, void and of no effect" and asserts that Alabama has never given up what it calls its right to maintain separate public institutions for white persons and Negroes. The resolution now goes to Gov. James E. Folsom, who is expected to sign it despite his coolness toward it. In Georgia, the first organized legislative opposition to Gov. Marvin Griffin's segregation bills was voiced yesterday when eight House members signed a declaration of policy which lashed at proposals to close any public school forced to integrate and authorizing a system of private schools. The governor's bills won unanimous approval in the Senate earlier this week.

2 Youths Admit Beating Teacher

CHICAGO (AP)—Two 17-year-old youths have admitted, police said, slugging a teacher unconscious when he sought to eject them from a near North Side grade school. Winford G. Mines, a former pupil at the school, and Obie Randall were held without charge for further questioning. Detective John Coughlin said the boys admitted beating Anthony Grott, 32, when he tried to eject the boys because they were bothering girl pupils. Grott suffered a head wound that required 14 stitches.

Czech Airliner Crash Kills 22

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The official Czechoslovak news agency announced today that a Czech Airlines plane had crashed in the Tatra Mountains near the Czech-Polish border, killing 22 persons and injuring four others. The plane crashed Wednesday in the wild mountainous area. It was reported on route from Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, to Kosice.

Wilson Says Ridgway Once Agreed To Manpower Cuts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Defense Secretary Wilson said today that he and Adm. Arthur W. Radford thought Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway agreed to cuts in Army manpower as shown in the 1954 State of the Union message, but evidently Ridgway's opinions changed later. President Eisenhower had stated in that message that the Joint Chiefs of Staff unanimously approved proposed reductions in Army strength in 1954-55. Ridgway then was Army chief of staff. He retired last June. Writing in the Saturday Evening Post, Ridgway said he had "most emphatically not concurred" in the program to cut Army manpower. He also said he had been pressured to fit his views into what he called "a preconceived politico-military party line." Wilson got into the controversy Tuesday when he told a Washington news conference he thought Ridgway's statement about opposing Army cuts was "correct," and that the former Army chief

Atom Tests Create No Health Hazard

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission Willard F. Libby said last night that high-energy nuclear tests have not yet produced any significant world-wide health hazard. He said that on the basis of computations and actual tests "it is possible to say unequivocally that nuclear weapons tests as carried out at the present do not constitute a health hazard to the human population—in so far as radioactivity is concerned." He told a Northwestern University audience that radioactivity near the test site, however, is a "very real" danger, to which the AEC is paying "great attention to protect against misadventure."

Uncle Ray: Myth Grew About Houdini's Tricks

By RAMON COFFMAN Many facts about the history of magic remain to be told, after our articles on magicians of ancient and modern times. A few points will be taken up today. Q. Was there a magician named Harry Thurston, as well as Howard Thurston? A. Yes. They were brothers. For a long time each had his own show, but they combined forces shortly before the death of Howard Thurston. Q. Was Houdini equal as a magician to Howard Thurston? Those two men lived during the same period, but it is hard to describe one as more skillful than the other. Thurston was a master of illusion, and his illusions puzzled hundreds of thousands of people. Houdini, on the other hand, was an escape artist, and in this field was the leading magician. Q. Did Houdini carry all his escape secrets to the grave? A. That was a myth which was spread widely at the time of Houdini's death. Actually his secrets are known, to a large extent, by various present-day magicians. Q. What are some of the other forms of magic? A. The word is employed for many things, sometimes for juggling. A juggler performs tricks in a sense of the word, but they differ widely from card tricks, or pulling rabbits out of hats. Now and then picture is a bit "tricky," but it hardly deserves to rank as magic. Nevertheless ma-

Silhouette Important In Hairdos

By VIVIAN BROWN
When in doubt about a hairstyle choose a Grecian silhouette. It isn't necessary to have long hair to achieve the backswep, chignon hairdo. The effect may be achieved with long or short hair. It isn't the length but the line you achieve with your hair that counts, she says.

Two variations of the same hairdo are suggested by Caesar sweep. One is a smooth chignon that is swept into place without the aid of barrette or comb.

The tiny hats worn at the back of the head are ideally suited to the chignon or you might prefer a rhinestone ribbon, or rhinestone butterflies fastened to the back of the chignon for special clearance.

There is no doubt that hairdos will be ladylike this season whether you choose an Oriental or Grecian style. The idea to avoid apparently is the careless, fuzzy, stringy-haired effect that is no complement to the season's fashions.

Businessmen Address 1948 Hyperion Group

Three local businessmen spoke to the members of the 1948 Hyperion Club when they met at the home of Mrs. R. W. Whipkey Thursday night. The speakers were Dan Krausse, Roy Worley and Herbert Whitney.

Mrs. Hayes Strippling presented the theme of the program of "Community Survey of Needs and How They Can Be Helped." She said that economic stability, good schools and good government were the three basic needs of a good community. She then introduced the men.

Mrs. Krausse had the subject of "Economic Stability." He said that Big Spring had the most diversified economy of any city in Texas.

"Women can help in the economy of a community by strengthening the home with courage and understanding and taking part in civic opportunities," Mr. Krausse told the club.

On the subject of "Schools," Mr. Worley pointed out that education neither begins nor ends in the school room.

"Pay your poll taxes so you can vote for the school trustees who are the strength of a school. Also make the teachers feel a part of your community. Know your child's teacher and never criticize the teacher in front of the child," said Mr. Worley.

Listing the things you should expect of a teacher, Mr. Worley said that he should be qualified, a Christian, a capable leader interested in youth and welfare, and able to make a living in another profession other than teaching.

In contrast, he listed the duties of the parents as interested in school and community life, be able to see both sides of any question, and to live a life that will reflect integrity and confidence for the child.

"Duties overlap in school and government," Mr. Whitney said. He emphasized that the responsibility of citizenship meant you should study the candidates and see if you think they are capable of running your business.

"Good government begins in the home," he concluded.

During the business session, plans were made for the March of Dimes coffee that was held this morning at the Cosden Country Club. Two new members, Mrs. Byron Lillie and Mrs. C. M. Adams, were introduced.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Whipkey and the cohostess, Mrs. Allen Hamilton, to 19.

Faith Outbound

This is a scene you see every Sunday . . . hundreds of men and women pouring out of our churches. What effect does it have on the life of our community?

There was more happiness in our streets this week . . . more sympathy and understanding . . . more kindness and helpfulness . . . more determination to attain the highest moral and spiritual ideals.

We won't see Utopia next week. Human nature is still human. Perfection is God's alone.

But crowded churches change many lives. Worship and prayer strengthen souls. The seed God plants never dies, if we are determined to cultivate it.

Come to Church next Sunday. And when you leave, you and our community will be richer because you were there.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Service With A Smile

Employees of the Grady Harland Magnolia Service Station (above), located at 1000 Lamesa Highway in Big Spring, offer the best in service and they do it with a smile. The concern sells Magnolia's premium gasolines and motor oils.

Ross Barbecue, With Special Sauce, Has Distinctive Flavor

Barbeque with an added taste and flavor is the product at Ross' Barbeque Stand, 904 E. 3rd. Owned and operated by L. M. Ross, the stand is well-known in Big Spring for real barbeque, not meat with a barbeque sauce. Ross barbeques his beef right there in his kitchen where you can see it. And he also barbeques for the public.

To give the barbeque just the right taste, Ross prepares a special sauce that really adds something to the meal. It gives the barbeque that tangy taste that you expect from the best barbeque.

Sandwiches and plates of barbeque are served at the Ross stand. For only 25 cents, you can get one of the delicious barbeque sandwiches and a heaping plateful is only 60 cents.

If you prefer to take your barbeque home, phone ahead and tell him you are coming. Ross will have your order prepared and ready to go when you get there. He sells the barbeque by the pound.

Or maybe you have a choice cut of meat or chicken you would like to have barbequed. Ross will do that for you at an economical price. The friendly and courteous service of the Ross Barbeque Stand is another added feature. The pleasure of eating is even more enjoyable in the homelike atmosphere of Ross.

Service is fast, too. As Ross keeps his barbeque always ready to be served, your order is filled immediately after you order it and served with your drink.

Ross serves coffee at only a nickel. Milk and soft drinks are served also.

French fries, the shoestring kind, are available to give your meal a special flavor. The potatoes are excellent with the barbeque. Ross also had a selection of packaged chips.

Fresh pastries are delivered each day to round out the meal. Parking space is no problem at Ross Barbeque Stand. There is plenty of space so you will not have to wait to have your meal. The next time you plan to eat out, try the Ross barbeque.

Modern Marvel

That's the Necchi sewing machine, shown at the Gilliland Sewing Machine Exchange, 120 E. 2nd. Posing with the machine, above, are Mrs. Buice Jenkins, seated, and Mrs. Alice Riggs. Mrs. Riggs and Mrs. Ben Hogue perform alterations at the sewing machine center. Mrs. Jenkins is a former employe. The Necchi performs a multitude of sewing tasks automatically—without the necessity of troublesome attachments.

Gilliland Provides Sewing Machine Sales, Service; Performs Alterations

Big Spring's sewing machine "center" — from every standpoint — is the Gilliland Sewing Machine Exchange, 120 E. 2nd.

Not only is A. F. Gilliland distributor for the revolutionary new automatic Necchi and Elna sewing machines, but he operates a complete service and repair department.

Gilliland is skilled in the repair of machines of all makes. His knowledge also extends to virtually all models of the various makes. And he backs up his technical ability with replacement parts for practically all sewing machines. Gilliland has probably the most complete stock of parts in town.

Gilliland Sewing Machine Exchange has a good supply of the famous Necchi Supernova sewing machines — the instruments that perform all sewing operations automatically and without all the fuss and bother over troublesome attachments.

On the Necchi, you simply slip in one of the discs which are designed for the various stitches and other operations. Then you "tune in" the stitch you want performed, and turn the machine on. About all that is required of the operator is that he sit back and wait for the operation to be completed, and turn off the machine.

The Elna, a portable machine, also operates automatically and performs a multitude of tasks.

The Necchi, manufactured in Italy by a world-famous firm that has revolutionized the sewing machine industry since World War II, makes buttonholes, darts and blind-stitches, as well as performs all conventional stitches. It also monograms, and can make around 300 distinct designs.

Gilliland also operates a shop for alterations, custom sewing, monogramming and similar work. Several used sewing machines are currently being offered for sale, also.

Royal Truck Tires Feature 'Safety Shield'

The world's safest, toughest truck tire — the U. S. Royal with the exclusive Safety Steel Shield — is being offered for sale by the Phillips Tire Company, Fourth and Johnson Streets in Big Spring.

For every trucker in America, a whole new concept of tire construction makes possible this entirely new kind of truck tire.

This new concept, incorporating the exclusive Safety Steel Shield, brings the user the strength of steel, combined with full flexibility, light weight and soft ride — without increased inflation.

As a result, the new U. S. Royal Truck tires are invulnerable to highway hazards in the vital tread area. In millions of test miles, they had no ruptures, no blowouts, no groove cracks nor tread separations.

They delivered increases both in original tread mileage and in re-cap mileage.

The new Safety Steel Shield offered in the revolutionary new tire consists of 40,000 threads of fine, flexible steel, cushioned in rubber between the tread and multiple plies of Super Royalon Cord.

The new casing, of course, means new safety for drivers, who travel with new confidence, free from the apprehension that makes for driving fatigue.

It means new safety for loads. They are protected from breakage due to accidents, from spoilage due to road ruts. It also guarantees fewer interrupted schedules, more on-time trips and a greater service dependability that keeps present customers and makes new customers.

Continued Oil Development Cited At Odessa C-C Meet

ODESSA—The praises of Odessa as center of the vast Permian Basin natural-resources production were sung in loud refrain Thursday evening, as 400 persons gathered for the city's annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The Odessans were celebrating recent announcement of the location of a butadiene and rubber plant, by General Tire & Rubber Company. The great industry, which may employ upwards of 500 people, came as the fruition of a long community campaign, and those responsible for the work were lauded by the C-C speakers.

Principal speaker was Paul Kayser, president of the El Paso Natural Gas Company and one of the recognized national leaders in industry. He cited the amazing growth of Odessa, and said the future holds even more growth.

Kayser stressed the importance of oil and gas as the country's prime source of energy, and said that future demands point to a shortage of such energy, which will in turn have to prompt a more aggressive search for new production. He felt that oil and gas will continue to be the prime energy sources for some years, believing that practical development of

Union Chief Accuses NAM Of Attempts To Destroy Labor

NEW YORK (AP)—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, accuses the National Assn. of Manufacturers of a campaign to destroy labor unions.

Cola G. Parker, NAM president, replied in a telegram last night: "I regret that Mr. Meany has chosen to make an ill-tempered attack on the NAM as a contribution to the labor-management peace and understanding we seek."

Meany spoke last night at a dinner of the National Industrial Conference Board, a business and industrial fact-finding organization.

He said he was rebuffed last month when he appeared before an NAM meeting here and "pressed strongly for labor-management cooperation without laying down any prior conditions by labor."

He said his olive-branch offer met with a "tirade against the trade union movement" by Charles R. Sligh Jr., chairman of the NAM Executive Committee.

From 1903 to the present, he said the NAM has vigorously fought legislation to protect the rights and welfare of workers.

Another speaker at the dinner was Herman W. Steinkraus, president of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Brass Co.

Steinkraus told the meeting that "unions are here to stay" and expressed belief that strong unions with responsible leadership cause less trouble than weak unions.

SA Annual Budget Approved By Board

Salvation Army advisory board members Thursday approved a revision in the annual budget and talked about needed improvements to both the youth hall and transient lodge facilities.

The gift of a $1,400 station wagon to the Salvation Army work in Big Spring was announced from G. H. Hayward, and Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of the board, expressed deep gratitude.

Over-all total of $31,324 was not changed in the budget. The amount of anticipated donations was reduced from $2,500 to $1,700; the amount of estimated business connections was upped from $2,300 to $5,324, and the Christmas effort was boosted from $1,500 to $2,300 (actual collections were $2,358). This gave an adjusted total of general income in the amount of $19,074, as compared with $15,750. On the other hand the $15,574 sought from the United Fund was reduced to conform to the actual grant of $12,250.

There was a slight reduction in the appropriation for officer salary (from $2,607 to $2,470); a reduction in the automobile operation

Official Clarifies Exemption Rule On Poll Taxes

Under no circumstances do persons over 61 living outside of the city limits have to pick up an exemption receipt to vote, Mrs. E. A. Robinson, tax assessor-collector, said.

Mrs. Robinson noted that many persons have come in asking for an exemption or even to pay a poll tax to be able to vote.

The person may vote in Big Spring or outside of the city and not hold an exempt receipt if he is living outside of the city limits and is over the prescribed age—61.

Cliff Epps, district commissioner, will make assignments of specific units to the Neighborhood commissioners and outline the year's program.

Thieves Take $280,000 Gold

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Police searched through Switzerland and France today for daring thieves who made off with a truck carrying $280,000 worth of gold bars. The truck was found empty in a lane outside Geneva, a mile from the French border.

The bullion, owned by a private Swiss firm, was stolen last night after it had arrived by plane from Paris.

Authorities said the 551-pound shipment was loaded on a truck at the Geneva airport and the driver went to his company's headquarters. He left the truck for a few minutes and when he returned it had disappeared.

No guards had been provided for the consignment since it was regarded as a routine shipment in this international gold center.

Police refused to identify the driver of the truck or the firm to which the gold had been consigned.

Party Manners

"The only place to hold a party for teen-agers is in an empty barn," a mother recently remarked as she beheld the shambles of what was a gayly decorated house only a few hours before.

The furniture was sticky with the feel of candy; cookie crumbs and bits of popcorn littered the floor; a clock lay broken as the result of a curious boy. Everywhere were dozens of reasons for not giving a party, or rather not using the same guest list.

If you want to go to more than one party, you must realize before it's too late that good manners represent the only door by which you can enter into popularity. The teen years, particularly for boys, have been described as "that awkward age." This needn't be so. It is true that you are suddenly shooting tall and finding yourself with long arms and legs that sometimes pose a problem. It is also true that you have abundant new energy that is sometimes hard to contain. When you can't control it and it overflows, broken vases and overturned tables are apt to be the result.

I would call it the fidgety age. Hands and feet seem compelled always to be doing something—taking something apart or balancing a chair or table. Yet, like any nervous habits, if you are fully conscious of them, you can control them by sheer force of will. In attending any party here is a word of advice worth remembering if you hope to come again. Keep your hands to yourself. Don't finger everything. You might break something, fingerprint it, or at best merely set your hostesses' nerves on edge.

Keep your feet upon the floor. Don't hoist them atop furniture nor balance furniture with them. Be neat. Avoid dropping food all over the floor. Don't wander over the house, unless you are invited to do so.

Once you get the hang of it, it will be second nature to be a perfect guest. Yes, and you can still have fun. ("Ready to Steady?" is a free booklet you may obtain by writing Miss Brandow in care of The Herald and enclosing a 3 cent stamp.)

Cotton Growers To Study Organization In Lubbock Tuesday

Possible organization of a South Plains cotton growers association is the outlook for a meeting of county agents, farmers, and agricultural men called in Lubbock next Tuesday.

The meeting will be held in the Fair Park Coliseum, and according to information sent to the county agent's office here this week, the purpose is to "look after the cotton interest in the South Plains. All cotton growers are urged to attend the meeting. Jimmy Taylor, county agent, reported he planned to attend.

Dallas Minister To Speak At Banquet

Dr. John Franklin Anderson Jr. will be guest speaker at the annual membership banquet of the Chamber of Commerce Feb. 14. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Dallas, a position he has held since 1952.

The C-C banquet will be held in the Settles Hotel at 7 p.m. Price for members will be three dollars and is buffet style. New officers and directors for the year will be officially installed.

Anderson was born in Dallas in 1920 and attended schools there. He graduated from Highland Park High School in 1937. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Austin College in 1941. He preached at the Southern Presbyterian Church in Gainesville during his senior year. He was also editor of Chromascope.

His Bachelor of Divinity degree was conferred by the Union Presbyterian Theological Seminary in 1944. He was president of the Seminary Student Body, 1943-44, and received the Moses D. Hoge Scholarship award for graduate study.

The Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary conferred his Master of Theology degree in 1953. He received the Doctor of Divinity from Austin College also in 1953. He married the former Nancy Lee Love in August, 1943. He entered the Chaplain Corps, USNR, in July, 1944, and was assigned to the Second Marine Division. He was in the Saipan and Okinawa campaigns. He served at Kyushu, Japan, from Nov., 1944, to April, 1946.

After discharge, he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Tyler from August, 1946, until November, 1951, when he left to join the Dallas church as associate pastor. He became pastor in August, 1952.

Ammunition Was Costly

LAKEWOOD, Calif. (P)—Youngsters told officers the little pellets made great ammunition for bean shooters.

Then the officers told the youngsters they had been shooting real pearls.

Jeweler Charles Uel White, 56, had reported $1,000 worth of the gems taken from his home, a converted bus parked in front of his son's house.

Reports of flying pearls yesterday led sheriff's deputies to a pair of 13-year-old boys firing them through their bean shooters. They were down to their last $300 worth. Pearls worth $150 were recovered from a juvenile battlefield.

Deputies said the boys probably will be turned over to their parents. Search for pearls continued.

'Shuttled' Baby Ruled Dead Of Natural Causes

CHICAGO (P)—An infant boy, who was shuttled from a medical center to two hospitals for diagnosis before he died Wednesday, died of natural causes, a coroner's jury decided yesterday.

Daniel To Tell Governor Plans

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Price Daniel says he will answer questions "concerning his possible race for governor" while in Austin tomorrow to address two conventions.

He indicated he will not say his intentions at that time. Daniel will address conventions of the Texas Medical Assn. and the Texas Press Assn. He will hold a news conference as requested by the TPA.

The conference "will give Daniel an opportunity to answer questions concerning his possible race for governor," his office said. Saturday will be the fourth anniversary of the date on which Daniel announced for the Senate.

"However, on account of the important legislation pending here Daniel has indicated on several occasions that he would not be in a position to make a final decision this early," the statement said.
