Poll Tax Score

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes Poll tax receipts, Exempt receipts, Total this date, Total this date, 1952.

Taxable Income Is Key To Return

By FRANK O'BRIEN
 Reporting your income for income tax is basically the simple process of reducing your total income to your taxable income.

The tax law gives you three main ways of whittling your total income down to the amount that is taxable. These are — exemptions, deductions and exclusions. Exemptions, discussed in the second article of this series, gives you a tax-free living allowance of $600 for each person dependent on your income.

Deductions and exclusions are both deductions, but with a difference. You get deductions, discussed in the third article of this series, according to the way you spend your income — you don't have to pay tax on income, for instance, that you spend in paying interest.

Exclusions (which in company with a discussion of who must make estimated tax payments, is the subject of this article) depend not on how you spend your income, but on how you receive it. That is, some of your income is not subject to tax because of its origin. Consequently, exclusions are dealt with separately and differently from deductions.

Many of your exclusions never show up in your tax return. This is because they are exempt income — income that need not be reported at all. Other exclusions are only partial. In such cases, you show the income in your return, then deduct part of it. The instructions booklet that comes with your tax return does not (as it does for deductions) discuss exclusions in one easily distinguishable section. So here is an extensive outline of excludable income.

First the exempt income, that need not be reported:

Gifts (this must be money or something else of value for which you performed no service whatever) — inheritances — death benefits of life insurance policies — amounts up to $5,000 given by an employer to the family of a deceased employee (if more than one employer donates, the total tax-free is still $5,000) — federal and state social security benefits and railroad retirement act benefits — workmen's compensation benefits — interest on state and municipal bonds — all government payments and benefits to veterans (except retirement pay not connected with a disability, and interest on terminal leave bonds) — armed forces pay due to active service in a combat zone from June 24, 1950 to Feb. 1, 1955 (officers can exclude up to $200 a month only) — benefits from accident and health insurance policies (where financed by an employer, only the amounts for medical care, or to compensate for injury, can be excluded) — income earned abroad, under certain conditions — rental value of a parsonage lived in by minister, priest or rabbi — subsistence pay to policemen, when provided by law, up to $5 a day — subsistence and rental allowances to members of the armed forces (such pay is usually excluded for you by not being included on the withholding form issued by the armed services).

The exclusion for pay you receive from your employer while you are absent from work due to sickness or injury — discussed in Article No. 3 — is an example of a partial exclusion. The law limits the exclusion to a rate of $100 a week, where the employer has not contributed to his sick pay plan. An exclusion may also be partial only in the case of a parsonage, if a cash rental allowance, instead of parsonage, is provided. The cash allowance may be excluded from taxable income only to the extent it is used to pay rent pay, to be dealt with in a special article, may also be partly excluded from your taxable income.

If your employer transfers you, the expense money he gives you for the move may be excluded up to the amount actually spent in moving.

Employees need not report as income the value of meals they receive from the employer when the meals are taken at the place of business and for the employer's convenience. Lodging received from your employer need not be reported, if the lodging is at the place of business, the employee lives in for the convenience of the employer, and if living in is a condition of the job.

Whether the meals and lodging exclusions apply to domestics is still mulling over. There is a good chance the Service will rule that in the case of domestics the "place of business" is the employer's home, and that the exclusions therefore do apply.

Prizes and awards are tax exempt only if you do nothing to get the prize (you must not even enter a contest), and you are not required as a condition of the prize to perform any "substantial future service." These provisions make radio and TV giveaway prizes, in most cases, taxable.

Most scholarships and fellowship grants are tax exempt, but subject to a number of restrictions. The grantor is usually well informed on the tax treatment of his grant, and it is best to get advice from him.

Who must file an estimated tax form, and make estimated tax payments? The withholding rates on wages are not sufficient to keep some taxpayers fully paid up. Consequently some taxpayers are required to file (by April 15, except in the case of farmers, who get until Jan. 15, 1957) a Declaration of Estimated Tax and make quarterly payments. You do this on special Form 1040-ES. This is mailed to most taxpayers who have been estimating. You can get the form from any Revenue office, and from banks, postoffices and other public places.

Those who must estimate fall into two classes. The first class is taxpayers whose total income can reasonably be expected to consist of wages subject to withholding and not more than $100 of other income, and to exceed:

1. $10,000 in the case of a taxpayer in the special head of household class, or a widow or widower entitled to special tax rates.
 2. $5,000 for a married individual entitled to file a joint return, where the combined income of husband and wife will exceed $10,000, taxpayers whose total income can reasonably be expected to include more than $100 not subject to withholding, and to exceed the sum of the following:

1. $600 for each of the taxpayer's exemptions.
 2. Plus $400.

Penalties for under-estimating are mandatory. They are described on page 13 of the instructions booklet. But — you cannot be penalized if you estimate your 1956 income to be the same as your 1955 income, and if you compute the tax on the tax rates in effect when you file your declaration for 1956.

Alchemists Prepared Way For Chemistry

By RAMON COFFMAN
 Many of the ideas of the alchemists seem rather silly to us. Take, for example, the belief that a dragon must be slain before the magical object known as the "philosopher's stone" could be obtained. The stone (when found) was expected to turn base metals into gold and silver and, perhaps more important, to permit people to have the gift of everlasting life.

Old picture showing an alchemist fighting a dragon.

One old picture shows an alchemist using a sword to fight against that dragon. No record tells how the fight came out, but we may guess that the dragon won, since the magical stone was never obtained.

Q. What was the origin of the "alchemist?"
 A. The complete answer to that question is in doubt, but "al" is Arabic for "the" and this leaves us with "the chemist."

The word "chemist" has been traced back to the Latin and Greek languages, and seems to relate to the mixing of juices of plants, or to mixed liquids in general. During the Middle Ages, the liquid metal known as mercury was important in the tests of alchemists. Some other metals (as iron and lead) were turned into liquids by being heated.

Q. Was the work of alchemists a complete waste of time?
 A. No. They had some foolish ideas, but they slowly learned about metals and other elements.

Step by step, they built the groundwork for the modern science of chemistry.

Q. Have modern scientists been able to do what the alchemists tried to do?

A. To some extent, but not entirely. Cyclotrons and other machines have been employed to change one element into another. Several new elements have been made during atomic tests.

Q. What about everlasting life on earth?

A. No one has found the key to that. The average length of human life has about doubled in leading countries of the world during the past 200 years. Further progress may be expected, but few persons expect "everlasting life on earth."

April Delivery Due On B52 Bombers

WASHINGTON (U) — The Air Force said today it will start in April delivering B52 all-jet bombers to heavy bomb wings now equipped with B36 bombers. It estimated the job of replacing the B36s will take several years.

The 42nd Wing, based at Loring Air Force Base in Maine, is the first of the group scheduled to get B52 Stratofortresses.

One wing, formerly using B47 medium jet bombers, already is equipped with B52s. It is stationed at Castle AFB in California.

The Air Force now has more than 300 B36s, the world's first intercontinental bombers. They are allocated to 10 wings.

Recreation Unit's Report Is Adopted By CRMWD Board

Rafts currently come under the same regulations as boats at Lake J. B. Thomas, and directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District have called for enforcement of regulations.

E. V. Spence, general manager, said that there had been complaints on four rafts left out in the lake overnight. Regulations say that rafts (or boats) must be lighted and occupied, else be towed back to shore.

Spence said that he would renew notice for compliance and if ignored, the rafts would be impounded by the District and appropriate legal action taken.

A report of the Recreation Committee was adopted by the board and listed 16 items for which the committee said its investigations indicated a firm public demand. Among them were:

Addition of a concession building with boat docking on the west end of the south side of Lake J. B. Thomas, similar facilities on the north side, adequate sanitary facilities, 24-hour concession service at least on a standby basis, adequate boat rental facilities with ample personnel, orderly parking arrangements, general premises cleanup, water-edge fuel service, etc. These were to be relayed to Ned Sanders, concessionaire, who has the option of furnishing the services or relinquishing exclusive features of the franchise, officials said.

The board also approved furnishing suitable site to Scurry County for possible development as a county park. This action would be applicable to Borden, Howard or Ector counties if and when any of them desired to take such action, the board announced.

1,500 Flee As Heavy Rains Hit California

LOS ANGELES (U)—One of the heaviest rains in Southern California history — more than 7½ inches here — forced about 1,500 persons from their homes, closed schools and disrupted traffic and business. One youngster was reported missing.

At 4 a.m. the Weather Bureau reported the weather front had passed through and the heavy rain is "over for the Los Angeles area."

Most of those persons who had to leave their homes lived in communities just south of the city although many were in Venice, within the Los Angeles limits to the southwest.

No drownings had been reported but a 7-year-old boy was reported missing. Sheriff's deputies searched for the youngster, Roger Weingartner of nearby San Gabriel. He was last seen by his sister peering into the raging waters of Rubio Wash.

The Los Angeles County Flood Control District reassured jittery citizens who recalled the recent deaths and destruction in northern California floods. District spokesmen said that debris basins were equipped to handle most runoff from the mountains.

Vast areas of Los Angeles County were covered with water during the height of the storm, and the runoff, racing to the sea, posed a serious threat to Long Beach, 25 miles south of here, for several hours.

Shortly before midnight, Sam Vickers, Long Beach city manager, announced he had canceled an alert after engineers told him they had strengthened a flood control channel which passes ultimately through the heart of that city of 300,000.

Floodwaters moved at speeds estimated up to 25 m.p.h. and in depths of more than three feet in many places. Even after the storm slackened last night, flood channels ran brimful and in a few areas evacuated residents were urged not to return home until the rain stopped.

Trucks and boats had been used to take women and children from flooded homes. Police said a resumption of heavy rainfall would renew the danger in such areas as Long Beach, Venice, Torrance, Lennox, Firestone, Norwalk, Artesia and Lawndale — all contiguous to Los Angeles.

Between 3 p.m. Wednesday and 3 p.m. yesterday the rainfall was 6.95 inches, third heaviest in southern California history. The heaviest was 7.36 during a one-day period from Dec. 31, 1933, to Jan. 1, 1934, and the second was March 1-2, 1938.

By last midnight the storm total was 7.29 inches. Before this storm the total rainfall for the season, which started last July 1, was only 2.61 compared with a normal of 6.83.

While householders counted their losses, County Agricultural Commissioner Harold J. Ryan said the rain will do more good than harm for crops.

Traffic moved at a crawl all yesterday. Landslides blocked sections of Pacific Coast Highway northwest of Santa Monica.

Benson Demands Free Radio Time

WASHINGTON (U)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson, contending a CBS television broadcast gave a "distorted impression" of the farm picture, says he wants free time to reply fully.

Benson said he would present his demand today to the Columbia Broadcasting System, which telecast last night Edward R. Murrow's See It Now program entitled "The Farm Problem: A Crisis in Abundance."

In New York, a CBS spokesman said the network had no immediate comment.

Benson, appearing briefly near the end of the hour-long documentary program, said he feared the program might give the idea that the small American farmer is on his way out. Any such contention, he said, is "demagoguery at its worst."

Murrow put together a series of films to portray the farm situation. Government-held surpluses were shown in Liberty ships, warehouses and tents. Farmers argued over the job Benson has done. One accused him of doing a "rotten job," while another called him a capable man beset by tough problems and pressure from politicians.

The program opened with a farm auction sale near Corning, Iowa, where the farmer said he was being forced out of business by low prices. Murrow commented that many small farmers were being driven off the land, and said the Corning auction scene might be called "the death of a small

Nude Sleepwalker Sues For Divorce

ENID, Okla. (U)—Mrs. Ione Weir, who gained headlines four years ago as a tree-climbing nude sleepwalker, filed suit for divorce yesterday.

She charged her husband, Wesley, with incurable insanity and asked for support of their three children. The blonde, attractive housewife attracted attention when she was found atop a tree in her yard without even a nightgown. She said she was afflicted with sleep walking, mostly when the moon was full.

Family Forced Out

Mrs. Edith P. Taylor and her daughter, Edith Jane, have agreed with Municipal Judge Ben Koenig that they should vacate the home they have been living in for 18 years in Los Angeles. When they built the home it was 70 feet back from the edge of the cliff at Pacific Palisades but today it protrudes 18 feet over the top of the canyon.

MEDICAL REPORTS

Cure In Works For Artery Hardening

CARMEL, Calif. (U)—Two research reports made here today put medical science on a promising new hunt for the cause of—and possibly an effective new treatment for—hardening of the arteries.

One report shows that the feeding of commonly used vegetable fats and the exclusion of animal fats in the diet can actually reduce the excess of fatty compounds in the blood streams of people who have artery disease or who may be heading toward it.

Some of these fatty compounds are prime suspects in the cause of artery hardening but there is as yet no air-tight proof of their guilt. A continuation of this research may clinch the evidence against them. Artery hardening is one of the top causes of death.

The other report disclosed by experiments on rats that the retention of a high level of the fatty compounds in the circulation is caused by a shortage of albumin in the blood, and that the excess of these compounds in the veins and arteries can be kept down by artificially increasing their albumin content.

The vegetable fat experiment was reported by Dr. Laurance Kinell and associates of the Institute for Metabolic Research at Highland Hospital, Oakland. The albumin findings came from Dr. Ray H. Rosenman, Dr. Meyer Friedman and Dr. Sanford Byers of the Harold Brunn Institute at San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital. Both reports were made to the Western Society for Clinical Research.

Wide Areas Get Moisture

By The Associated Press
A violent rainstorm which lashed areas in southern California, routing hundreds from their homes, closing schools and disrupting business and industry, appeared moderating today.

Broad areas of Los Angeles were covered with water during the height of the storm, which dumped more than 7 inches of rain.

Precipita in was reported over wide areas in other parts of the country today, but there were no severe storms.

The wet belt extended along the entire West Coast, with snow along the coasts of Washington and northern Oregon.

Snow also fell in the northern Rockies, the Northern Plateau region and parts of the Great Basin.

Another snow belt extended from southern Missouri and eastern Nebraska northward while snow flurries flecked sections of New England.

Light rain or drizzle sprinkled areas from the Gulf Coast northward to Eastern Oklahoma and northern Arkansas.

There was a slight warming trend in many parts of the country. Exceptions were along the West Coast, Florida and parts of South Dakota.

14 Burn To Death

Throngs Mark Mozart Birth In Salzburg Fete

SALZBURG, Austria (U)—Music lovers from over the world thronged this city of Mozart's birth today to pay homage on the 200th anniversary of the great composer.

The red and white flag of Austria fluttered from nearly every Salzburg house while shop windows bulged with portraits and relics of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, born here Jan. 27, 1756.

It was only one climax of a marathon celebration of Mozart's bicentennial being observed throughout the year on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Within its inner Baroque city, ancient Salzburg led the tribute to the man who was hailed as a genius during his brief career, but was buried at the age of 35 in a pauper's grave.

Salzburg, which has been staging its famed summer festivals devoted mainly to Mozart since 1925, began a 10-day winter season Jan. 21 with four orchestras and leading soloists.

Thousands of music lovers gathered around Salzburg's Mozart monument last night while a boy's choir sang a chorale on the floodlit square before the presidential palace.

On the eve of the anniversary, the International Mozart Foundation announced that the composer's long-lost violin had been discovered and brought back to Salzburg.

Grace May End Movie Career

HOLLYWOOD (U)—If Prince Holly of Monaco has his way, Grace Kelly will live the life of a princess after their marriage and make no more movies.

"I think it would be better if she did not attempt to continue in films," the prince said. "I have to live there (in Monaco) and she would live here. That wouldn't work out."

"She thinks that I am right and that she should end her film career," the prince is here visiting his fiancée, who is busy on a picture at MGM studios. The blonde actress still has a four-year contract with the studio.

The prince expects the wedding ceremony to be performed during April by the bishop of Monaco in the tiny principality on the French Riviera.

Miss Kelly is an excellent cook, the prince revealed, and she may do the cooking on the planned honeymoon cruise in the Mediterranean.

After the honeymoon, he said, they will live for a time in his apartment in Paris, in his villa at Nice and:

"Oh yes, and in the palace."

West Ships $22 Million In Arms To Mid-East Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U)—The U. N. today published a survey reporting that 10 Western nations have shipped 22 million dollars worth of arms to Israel and her Arab enemies since 1951.

This survey, published in the U. N. periodical Commodity Trade Statistics, said Israel got $8,986,000 of the arms and the five Arab states of Egypt, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Syria got $13,029,000 worth.

The figures, however, did not include (1) aircraft shipments, (2) Britain's 23-million-dollar annual subsidy to Jordan's Arab Legion and (3) any arms from France.

The survey, ending with mid-1955 also made no mention of Communist Czechoslovakia's agreement to sell Egypt 80 million dollars worth of arms.

The survey said the nations had reported only "ordnance" shipments—"firearms of war, tanks, self-propelled guns, revolvers, pistols, projectiles and ammunition."

U. S. shipments to Israel and the five Arab nations were reported at only $359,000 for the 4½-year period—$13,000 to Israel, $249,000 to Lebanon, $86,000 to Iraq, $11,000 to Saudi Arabia and nothing to Egypt or Syria.

Britain said she sent $1,750,000 worth to Israel and $6,313,000 to the Arabs—$3,451,000 to Iraq, $1,406,000 to Egypt, $730,000 to Syria, $728,000 to Lebanon and nothing to Saudi Arabia.

The balance covered in the report came from eight other nations: Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and Sweden. They reported $7,223,000 worth of arms exported to Israel and $6,370,000 to the five Arab states.

The survey, ending with mid-1955 also made no mention of Communist Czechoslovakia's agreement to sell Egypt 80 million dollars worth of arms.

The survey said the nations had reported only "ordnance" shipments—"firearms of war, tanks, self-propelled guns, revolvers, pistols, projectiles and ammunition."

U. S. shipments to Israel and the five Arab nations were reported at only $359,000 for the 4½-year period—$13,000 to Israel, $249,000 to Lebanon, $86,000 to Iraq, $11,000 to Saudi Arabia and nothing to Egypt or Syria.

Britain said she sent $1,750,000 worth to Israel and $6,313,000 to the Arabs—$3,451,000 to Iraq, $1,406,000 to Egypt, $730,000 to Syria, $728,000 to Lebanon and nothing to Saudi Arabia.

The balance covered in the report came from eight other nations: Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and Sweden. They reported $7,223,000 worth of arms exported to Israel and $6,370,000 to the five Arab states.

Editorial

Interesting But Improbable

The strategy of "interposition" proposed by a group of Southern governors to test the constitutionality of the Supreme Court's school desegregation order is straight and clear. The interposition of state sovereignty between the people and the federal government, as conceived by the governors, is the first step toward a constitutional amendment. The next step will be to persuade state legislatures to adopt resolutions calling for submission of an amendment specifically declaring that the Supreme Court has the right to outlaw segregation. It would be up to Congress to set up the machinery for adoption of such an amendment, which must be by ratification of three-fourths of the states. Thus the four governors who set their signatures to the agreement for joint state action at Richmond this week followed historic and legitimate lines, whatever their motivation might have been. This form of "interposition," three of the four were careful to point out, does not mean "nullification." Followed to its logical conclusion — that is, submission of an amendment granting the Supreme Court specific authority to abolish segregation, which Southern leaders deny it now has — the end result itself might constitute nullification, but by constitutional and outright means. For the Southern leaders believe that if such an amendment is submitted to the 48 states, it will lack the necessary three-fourths majority required for ratification. In short, having thus been specifically denied authority to impose desegregation, the Supreme Court would presumably reverse its decree, and the issue be returned to state determination. If adopted by the necessary 36 states, however, there would be no shadow of a question as to the high court's authority. Well, it is an interesting and intriguing line of action thus proposed, but in all conscience its success at this juncture seems highly improbable, to say the least.

Jury Duty And Poll Tax 'Strike'

At least some Texas women who only recently won the right to serve on juries do not relish the idea of being called for that service. They are falling or refusing to pay their poll tax in the belief that their names will never get into a jury wheel. Reports from various parts of the state indicate a poll tax-paying "strike" by many women who are reluctant to be caught for jury duty. This is because some counties use only the list of qualified voters in compiling names for inclusion in the jury wheels, from which potential jurors are drawn. By disqualifying themselves as voters (that is, by not paying their poll tax) the reluctant ones hope to escape jury service. However, many counties — including Taylor — use both the voter list and the names of property holders in filling jury wheels, so there is no escape. In Jefferson County (Beaumont) scores of women have called the tax collector's office to ask if they had to do jury duty if they did not pay their poll tax, and the answer had to be "no," for that county uses only the voter list in compiling names. In Tarrant County, where women have been dodging the payment of the poll tax in hopes of evading jury duty, they are due for disappointment, for both lists are used. While women made no organized resistance against adoption of the constitutional amendment for compulsory jury duty — a great many of the gender sex disliked the idea and voted against it. As a result of the poll tax "strike" we can visualize a future campaign for women's rights advocates to carry on. This would be a move on county courthouses throughout the state where the names to go into jury wheels are drawn solely from the poll tax list, in behalf of the double-check system. Incidentally, only three more days are left in which to pay your poll tax and become a qualified voter, jury service or no jury service.

U.N. Censure Of Israel Not Consistent

WASHINGTON — Why does the United Nations jump all over a little country like Israel and refrain from condemning the big fellows — Red China and Soviet Russia? This is likely to be the most penetrating question that the principal governments of the world will have to answer if the United Nations is not to impair its effectiveness as a mediator in the days to come. Israel probably suffered extreme provocations which led to the border raids for which a vote of censure now has been recorded by the United Nations. But there are numerous instances of even more flagrant sins by the Red Chinese in Korea. Here there is a solemn agreement to which the United Nations itself is a party. It specifies exactly what can and cannot be done under the terms of the armistice signed at Panmunjom. Yet American military men report that the Red Chinese have built up air fields and brought jet planes to North Korea in disregard of the prohibitions in the armistice agreement. The United Nations, which has membership on a supervisory commission in Korea and is supposed to see that the armistice terms are honored, finds itself frustrated again and again as the commission isn't even allowed freedom to inspect in North Korea. Not a word of censure, however, comes from the United Nations itself on these points. The U. N. evidently feels courageous enough to pick on a struggling nation like Israel, which is surrounded on all sides by hostile neighbors, but loses courage when it comes to condemning the Red Chinese government. The Soviet Union, moreover, enthusiastically joins in the voting to censure Israel, but the United Nations chooses to forget that the Moscow government confessed early in 1953 at a General Assembly meeting that it had been supplying arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese and North Korean armies. No cognizance was taken of this disgraceful action by a member of the U. N., the charter of which pledges all members to give faithful adherence to the resolutions of the organization. The U. N. in 1950 formally called on all members to refrain from supplying arms to the forces opposing the U. N. soldiers in Korea. These transgressions by Soviet Russia and Red China are conspicuous on the records of the last few years. Notwithstanding this, there has recently been a surprising amount of talk in and around the U. N. headquarters in New York about voting Red China into the Security Council. Maybe the government of Israel will begin to think it should have taken a sympathetic position toward Soviet Russia and played ball with the Communists instead of with the West. It might have averted a resolution of condemnation. For Soviet Russia sees to it that nobody on her side in the cold war gets spanked by the U. N. or anybody else. Unlike Egypt, the government of Israel has not hesitated to show itself on the side of the West and seeks only the opportunity to develop its resources and build a strong government able to protect itself against Communist machinations in the Middle East which are aimed at building up the Arab states at the expense of Israel. Actually, the Communists have no fondness for any of the Middle East countries — either the Arab or non-Arab states — but see an excellent opportunity to fish in troubled waters. If a commission had been appointed to make a report placing the blame on those responsible for the border raids, this would have been sufficient. At Geneva today there's a conference wherein the Red Chinese are trying to blackmail the United States and the U. N., too. This, for some strange reason, doesn't become the subject of any censure resolutions in the U. N. It's a strange inconsistency.

No Backward Rolling Yet

NEW YORK — President Eisenhower indicates that business may be in for another of its "rolling adjustments." This phrase means that while some industries have spurred to the summit and are now rolling back for a breather, others will continue to roll forward to new peaks. Many businessmen are out this week with predictions that their firms are still in the rolling forward stage. And others are saying if they are due for a rolling adjustment backward, that time is still some months away. Steel mills have been setting new records for output so far this month, apparently unaffected by the cutback in auto production. Republic Steel predicts it will continue on a capacity production schedule for at least six months more. Pittsburgh Steel says its capacity schedule should continue for at least nine months. Copper fabricators note a pickup in new orders recently, after a lull. Demand has returned to the high level of last September and October. The National Machine Tool Builders Assn. reports in Cleveland that shipments of its members are expected to rise for the next few months. It says they now have unfilled orders which assure 7 1/2 months of production at current schedules. This is the highest backlog in two years. For the utilities the outlook, both short-term and long-term, still is very bright. Industrial activity through the cold months seems sure to be high enough to boost electric power consumption. Credit demands are holding high, and showing no signs of abating. So the nation's banks, except in the farming area, look for higher earnings, at least in the first half of the year. Trade with the rest of world is also expected to rise to new record levels this year. Two of the rolling adjustments the President mentioned are the slowdown in auto sales and home building. Some builders have predicted as much as a 10 per cent drop in new home starts. But Washington looks for a mild dip. In the auto industry cutbacks of 12 to 15 per cent have been forecast. But the head of one of the smaller companies — James J. Nance, president of Studebaker-Packard Corp. — says auto output still could equal 1955's record. And General Motors has just closed its Motorama here after selling $1,300,000 worth of cars, a gain of $100,000 over last year. If there's to be a rolling adjustment, it may not be too painful. —SAM DAWSON

Court Stands By Witnesses

WASHINGTON — Congressional committees which try to force witnesses into exposing ex-Communists—simply for the purpose of exposing them—got a stiff jolt yesterday from the U. S. Court of Appeals. This is what the court said in effect: It's all right for a committee to expose ex-Communists if it's done in connection with lawmaking; but it has no right to ask a witness about ex-Communists if the only purpose is exposing them. The court threw out a contempt of Congress conviction against John T. Watkins, a Rock Island, Ill., labor union official who balked at certain questions of the House Committee on Un-American Activities in 1954. He told the committee he had cooperated with Communists in the 1940s but had never been one himself; he agreed to name people he knew to be Communists now. They may be a little more careful about their tactics if the decision stands. The ruling will strengthen the position of witnesses against answering questions similar to those asked Watkins if they think the question is for exposure alone and not for legislation. But by the same token—since the Court of Appeals has taken this stand—Congress may hesitate before citing for contempt a man who took the same stand as Watkins and for the same reason. This Court of Appeals ruling is a brake on congressional committees. As of now, it is the guiding law in the District of Columbia, where most such committee hearings are held. A court of appeals in another circuit, presented with the same issues, might rule differently. If the Justice Department, which prosecuted Watkins for contempt, now appeals to the Supreme Court, any answer there will be final. But at least yesterday's ruling plainly tells Congress there are limits on what it can ask people.

Kim's Not Spoiled Yet

NEW YORK — Will success spoil Kim Novak? The 22-year-old blonde landed in Hollywood two years ago and has become virtually unknown except to her family and a few close friends. Since then she has been in six films. The Hollywood drumbeaters have given her one of the most massive build-ups since Marilyn Monroe tipped-off a calendar to fame. But even her old Sunday school teacher could hardly complain that Kim—who combines the flawless beauty of Grace Kelly with the sultry charm of Monroe—has let her quick stardom go to her head. Miss Novak still talks with the down-to-earth commonsense of the proverbial "girl next door." She looks pretty much like the girl next door, too—that is, if the girl next door rinsed her hair in a lavender tint and felt a bit crowded in a 37 1/2-size sweater. One way Kim has kept her feet on the ground is by walking. "I love walking," she said, during a visit here to attend the premiere of her latest opus, "Picnic," which is based on the Broadway play of the same name. "I live only three blocks from the studio, so I walk to work. I stay in a home with 97 other girls (it's an affiliate of the YWCA) who are trying to get a break in Hollywood. "My parents wanted me to stay there. They felt I'd be safer. "I pay $19.50 a week for a room and two meals a day, and the room is about the size of the bathroom in the hotel suite the studio has put me up in here." Kim started modeling at 12 and along the way also worked in a Christmas card factory and a dime store, ran an elevator, groomed horses, and served as a dental assistant. Kim was averaging $200 a week as a model, but quit it to start her film career at $100 because "I was tired of just posing and smiling." Today her weekly income is in four figures—somewhere between $1,000 and $9,999. Her studio "loaned" her services to make a single film for an independent producer for $100,000.

Around The Rim

Percentages—And Lady Luck

Those of you who have noticed that practically every newspaper in the area running crossword puzzle contests has paid off, needn't worry about deep dark plots. It's just the law of averages at work in that peculiar way that all old poker players know too well. Of course, there is always the possibility that the man who makes up those puzzles, knowing the ways of the law of averages, just decided to cooperate with Mother Nature and designed his puzzles so contestants hadn't a Chinaman's chance of winning—not, that is, until the final puzzle came up, in which case that puzzle could have been made a bit easier, thus increasing chances for a winner. But such a "plot" would have been unnecessary according to the law of averages. It is well known among statisticians that, with small numbers, the law of averages doesn't always work so well, but the bigger the number, the more exact are their calculations. It is generally conceded that numbers of 5,000 or more are sufficient for most purposes. Physicists dealing with electrons or bursting atoms deal in numbers so big it would take an entire line of this column to list the zeros. With such huge numbers, their results are accurate to the nth degree, and the most delicate instruments can't tell the difference. If you're puzzled by the time you read this far, a deck of cards might help. (This is an old trick used by some mathematicians to illustrate the law of averages.) Take a deck, shuffle very thoroughly, then lay the cards out on a table in several rows. Now, note the order in which the face cards turn up. Many people, not understanding the law of averages, would expect the face cards to be more or less evenly distributed throughout the deck. They would seem to be if the deck contained several million cards, and you were viewing them all with a telescope from some height (like the physicist and his electrons). However, that's not the way it happens with an ordinary deck of 52 cards. You'll note the face cards generally turn up in packs, with considerable space between them. Perhaps you'll remember at this point how your luck also seems to run the same way. Ever find yourself saying "this must be one of my bad days?" It's the same way with the cashword puzzles, so recently ended. The good luck of a number of people just happened to turn up at the same time, like the face cards. —BOB SMITH

Fracture Treatment Has Helped The Osages

TULSA, Okla. — Happy days are here again for the Osages. Plenty wampum is once more flowing from the tribal oil lands that once made the Osages the richest people per capita in the whole, wide world. Thirty years ago, when I first came here as a cub reporter for the Tulsa World, black gold from such lands as the Osages had managed to hang onto despite hell, high water and the white man, poured as much as $40,000 per annum into the pockets of any Osage entitled to a full headright. In 1907, when Uncle Sam enrolled the Osages with a view toward protecting them and their mineral rights, each of the 2,229 Osages on the rolls was entitled to a headright. Since that day almost 50 years ago, sale of the oil from their lands has always been shacked up on the basis of these original headrights. One of the things that made the roaring 'twenties roar in Tulsa was the easy-como, easy-go Osage money. All the fantastic tales told about the Texas big rich today are familiar to me because they are a re-creation of the stories told about the rich Osages when their oil and their money seemed endless. Whether they actually threw their convertible away when the windshields got dirty and bought new ones is open to question at this late date, but there is no doubt that many bought hearses as family cars because they were the biggest autos available. I saw 'em. And the sequins on their blankets were real diamonds. The great depression inducted the Osages into the lodge of Lo, the poor Indian. In a decade the annual oil income for a headright dwindled from $40,000-plus to $288! But life is looking rosy for the Osages again. Paul Pitts, the principal chief of the Osages, estimates a headright will amount to $8,000 when the final accounting is made for 1955. He believes the value will climb at least to $9,000 in 1956. Just how rosy is the Osage outlook can be measured by the fact that the 1955 payment will be more than seven times what it was just four to five years ago. Mr. Pitts said. And it also can be gauged by the fact that the biggest sale of Osage oil leases in 23 years was held last week, for a grand total of $3,179,400. According to the tribal census of 1952, there are now 5,500 enrolled Osages in 48 states, Mr. Pitts said. Some of the 5,500 enrolled Osages through inheritance now own six or seven headrights. Others, through inheritance, own only a fraction of a headright. The estimated $8,000 headright payment in '55 ain't a patch on the $40,000-plus of the roaring 'twenties. But it's more wampum than a lot of tribesmen have seen in years. They owe their increased income to American ingenuity and free enterprise which has recently perfected something called the "fracture" treatment for producing oil in low sand. Sure fractures the Osages, too.

60,000 People To Lose Homes To Egypt Dam

CAIRO — The homes of 60,000 Egyptians and Sudanese will be flooded out in creating the latest man-made lake in the world, behind the proposed Aswan Dam. The first person to benefit from the new dam will be those whose homes will be covered. All will be compensated and get new homes. In most cases they will be far better off in their new location. The bulk of these people live in the Nubia region overlapping Southern Egypt and northern Sudan. Their mud-brick villages are so bare that it is hard to understand how they manage to live at all. These villages are perched on the edge of a plateau; inhabitants live from scanty farming on the edge of the river. When the river floods, in late summer, the farmland is covered with water. After the river recedes late in the fall, Nubians plant their crops and manage to grow enough food for a bare subsistence. Each family will receive from the government a house, work animal, and enough land to support itself. In the irrigated area, they will be able to grow three to four crops a year, in comparison with the one meager crop they get at present.

GOP Given Edge On Prosperity Issue

PRINCETON, N. J.—Important indications that America's voters are beginning to link the symbol of prosperity more with the Republican party than with the Democratic party are revealed in a survey of national sentiment just completed by the American Institute of Public Opinion. For the first time in a decade, more people say that good times in the immediate years ahead are more likely under the Republicans than under the Democrats. The Institute put the following question to a cross-section of voters throughout the country: "Looking ahead for the next few years, which political party—the Republican or Democratic—do you think will do the best job of keeping the country prosperous?" The vote: WHAT PARTY CAN BEST KEEP AMERICA PROSPEROUS? Percent Republican ..... 38 Democratic ..... 34 No difference ..... 10 No opinion ..... 18 Although the GOP advantage is a small one, the fact remains that in breaking through the "prosperity barrier," the Republican party has gained a foothold in an area that has been the almost exclusive claim of the Democrats. It is interesting to compare today's survey figures with identical studies conducted by the Institute last November and also in November, 1951.

NOVEMBER, 1955
Republican	38
Democratic	34
No difference	10
No opinion	18

NOVEMBER, 1951
Republican	29
Democratic	37
No difference	19
No opinion	15

Replies to the question, of course, vary sharply according to the political party preference of the individual. The important political fact, however, is that more independent voters—the "in-betweeners" in U.S. politics—have come to believe that the Republican party can best keep the country prosperous than think the Democrats can, as follows: INDEPENDENT VOTERS Percent Republican ..... 35 Democratic ..... 22 No difference ..... 22 No opinion ..... 21 Two other interesting patterns emerge from an analysis of the survey figures: 1. So far as occupational groups are concerned, there is considerable disagreement over which party can do the best job of keeping the country prosperous. On the one hand, professional and business people and white-collar workers lean substantially toward the Republican party. Skilled workers are about evenly divided, while unskilled manual workers and farmers, on the other hand, lean toward the Democratic party. Union members, by a vote of 4-to-3, have more faith in the Democrats. 2. By sections of the country, the industrial East is considerably more inclined to believe that the Republicans can do a better job than the Democrats of keeping the country prosperous, while the South is most convinced that the Democrats can. Sentiment in the Midwest and Far West is about evenly divided.

Repair Formula

HARTFORD, Conn. — Walter Grubemann, an industrial engineer, says he tried repeatedly to repair the heater in his automobile, but had no success until this happened. While parked in a restricted area, he saw a policeman approaching. Assuming correctly that he wouldn't be bothered if he pretended to be making repairs, Grubemann lifted the hood of his car, unloosened a screw and tightened it after the policeman had passed. The heater has been working fine ever since.

Mrs. Ervin Daniels relaxes as she crochets on her ninth bedspread. January 21-28 is National Crochet Week.

Local Lady Observes Crochet Week Daily

By JOYCE CONNAWAY
This is National Crochet Week. But Mrs. Ervin Daniels, 705 E. 15th, does not limit her needlework ability to just one week. Every day she manages to pick up the crochet hook and thread and make a few stitches.
Mrs. Daniels crochets because she likes the hobby and it is a means of relaxation to her.
"I can never sit and hold my hands; I must be busy," Mrs. Daniels explained. "When I am nervous or worried, I can just pick up my crochet work and in less than an hour, I will be relaxed."
A national survey points out that women like to crochet or knit because it is a means of creative self-expression and is an inexpensive art. Also, needlework can be a pleasant diversion for a few quiet moments snatched from a busy day and it requires no "get ready" process.
Mrs. Daniels learned to crochet when she was eight years old. Her mother was her teacher, and the first thing the little girl learned was to make edging for pillowslips. Ever since then she has enjoyed crocheting.
"I make all my clothes and also sew for my two daughters," said Mrs. Daniels. "but I get tired and nervous at the sewing machine. Many times, I have left the machine and picked up my crochet so I could rest."
Can you imagine working two years on one bedspread? Well, Mrs. Daniels did. She gave the completed masterpiece to her daughter for a wedding present.
Mrs. Daniels has made eight bedspreads, three tablecloths and hundreds of dollies, baby sets and etc. She recalls making a jacket and hat set for her daughters when they were younger that received many compliments.
She has always lived in a city, so she has never had an opportunity to display her work at fairs or in exhibits.
When asked about the cost, Mrs. Daniels explained that thread for a bedspread or a tablecloth will run from $12 to $20, depending upon the pattern. She allows herself a year to make a bedspread or tablecloth.
The lady has become so skilled with the hook, that she crochets as she watches television or chats with the neighbors. She feels the stitches with her fingers, and does not have to watch the process at all.
As for patterns, they are no problem for Mrs. Daniels. She can copy a crocheted pattern by just looking; in fact, she said, better than if she followed directions.
Mrs. Daniels is a member of the City Home Demonstration Club. Her husband is a rural mail carrier for Route One.
"I crochet because I enjoy it, and no other reason. I never have sold any of my work, but have given much of it away. When I complete a bedspread or tablecloth in a year, I feel that I have something to show for my leisure time," Mrs. Daniels said.

'History Of Jazz' Given For Altrusans

Orland Johnson, one of the music instructors at Howard County Junior College, gave a "History of Jazz" for the Altrusa Club Thursday at a luncheon. The group met at the Settles Hotel.
Johnson was introduced by Mrs. Loyd Wooten. He spoke of his hobby, jazz music, as being a "husman's holiday" and described the music as highly controversial.
Having its beginnings in the red-light district of New Orleans, jazz shows the influence of the French, Spanish, Negro and Anglo-Saxon. The origin of the term is lost, members were told.
True jazz is different each time it is played, since it depends on the musician's mood, the speaker said, and he compared modern improvisations to those of old masters, such as Bach and Mozart.
"Jam sessions" were described for the group as the time when the players really show what they can do with their chosen instruments. Johnson played examples of 1929 jazz recordings and those of a more modern day, telling of an idea now being used of several keys in combination.
The club voted to contribute $10 to the March of Dimes. Mrs. Bill Grisee gave a report on the HCCJ student who has the scholarship from the organization.

Take Time Out From Laundering For A Quiz

One of the greatest changes in the American home during recent years has been in the laundry equipment and cleaning products available to the average homemaker. The washboard and tub, the harsh soap, and to a certain extent, the clothesline (the use of which is pretty much dependent on the whim of the weather) are no longer necessarily part of the back-breaking routine of "wash day."
In their place, gleaming washers, dryers and ironers, coupled with the most advanced discoveries in the soap and detergent fields, have turned once dreaded chores into a comparative pleasure. Although great improvements have been made in equipment, some homemakers still cling to outmoded laundry habits.
Test yourself with the questions below to establish your laundry knowledge and washday efficiency:
1. Do you wash clothes more than once a week?
2. Do you use a detergent or soap especially designed for doing the laundry?
3. Do you purchase your laundry detergent in a large package?
4. Do you carefully read the instructions on a box of detergent before using?
5. Do you measure your detergent as recommended by the manufacturer?
6. Do you know that with slightly or moderately hard water, detergents usually make a water softener unnecessary?
7. Do you do your mending before washing to avoid musing freshly ironed clothes and to escape possible greater damage in your washing machine?
8. When planning to do several machine loads in a day, do you launder the pieces to be ironed first, so you can be ironing while the "rough dries" wash?
9. Do you have a table or counter of the proper height in your laundryroom for sorting, stacking ironed clothes, removing stubborn stains, etc?
10. Is your laundry room also well-planned as a family room so that it may be used for other purposes during the week — as well as tempting members of the household to keep you company as you work?

In the living room, the birthday table was laid with a green cloth. The centerpiece was a clown cookie jar filled with 50 balloons on sticks. Each guest was given a balloon. The gifts were also displayed on the table.
The guests marched around the table and sang "Happy Birthday." The honoree blew out the three candles that were topped on a merry-go-round cake. Stick candy made the poles that were joined to animal crackers all around the cake. Each cookie had a name of a guest on it, and the guest was served that piece of cake.
Nine parents were also present.

Jap Music Lovers Defend Orchestra

TOKYO (AP)—Music lovers in Japan are up in arms. They feel their beloved "Orchestra of the Aunts" has been maligned.

The editor of the Ogden (Utah) Standard-Examiner, in an editorial, cast doubt on the ability of the housewives orchestra of Misono village to negotiate the Haydn "Surprise Symphony."

The editor said he suspected the housewives play only a simplified version of the first movement.

"They play it all," said the local correspondent of the newspaper Asahi, reached by telephone. "It is a simplified version, and we don't claim it sounds like the Vienna Philharmonic, but they make it all the way through.

"Some of them even finish up together, although a couple usually get through by themselves."

The correspondent says there are times during the performance when the orchestra sounds like a back yard cat fight.

"But the important thing is they are trying to play good music for the people of this area," he says.

The "Orchestra of the Aunts" was formed five years ago.

Housewives of the village, irritated that local youths were heading to nearby Ise City to hunt the juke joints, decided to form the group. A village music teacher trained them.

Why Do Horses Chew On Wood? Prof Doesn't Know

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—Prof. Carroll E. Howell has been watching horses for 20 years, wondering why they chew wood from fence posts and barn doors.

Do they do it because of a dietary lack?

Do their teeth hurt?

Do they need the roughage?

Does the weather cause it?

Or is wood chewing only a habit?

Howell, an animal husbandry professor on the Davis Campus of the University of California, told a farm and home conference sponsored by the county.

"We don't know exactly, yet," he said. "A horse will chew up as much as a tenth of a pound of wood a day. He showed conference various samples of gnawed fence posts, saying, 'They just love redwood.'

Howell said some experts think "the animals just get bored standing around with nothing to do" and that chewing wood is "a way of expending some sort of nervous energy."

About the most definite thing he has learned is that horses won't chew wood which is treated with creosote about three times a year. The older he gets Howell says, the less he is sure of any of his horse research. But he submitted these fragmentary findings:

Diets containing varying amounts of calcium, phosphorus, copper and plain baking soda seem to have no effect on wood chewing.

Horses of all ages chew on wood, leading him to believe they don't do it because of their teeth.

Horses in large fields full of succulent alfalfa will still chew on fence posts.

Young stallions will cut down on wood chewing in breeding season. Mares with colts chew less than those without them.

Decision Reversed By Appeals Court

A Howard County Court verdict has been reversed and dismissed by the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

Agnes Womack was found guilty of driving while intoxicated last October during the jury session of County Court. The decision was then appealed to the Criminal Appeals Court by the defendant's attorney, George Thomas.

Thomas based his appeal on the report that the complaint, signed by M. L. Kirby, was not signed in the presence of the county attorney and was therefore invalid. And on those grounds, the verdict was reversed this week.

The defendant had been arrested for the alleged offense Feb. 12 and the complaint had been filed Feb. 14. At the time the complaint was filed, the county attorney was in Dallas.

Death Takes Newsmen

Robert Decker was a happy little boy as he turned out copy for the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital paper, the "Boston Rocket," from his bed there seven weeks ago. He wrote: "Only 17 more days to Christmas—Santa will be here soon." It was his last Christmas. He died Jan. 24 in his Jamaica Plains home, a victim of cirrhosis of the liver. Bobby, whose heroes were American generals and newspapermen, received "30," the sign-off signifying the end, at the age of nine.

ANOTHER BOOK

Coming Criticism Pleases Mencken

BALTIMORE (AP)—H. L. Mencken is going to publish another book and he says he is looking forward with pleasure to "being denounced again."

The book, to be called "Minority Report," was put together before a cerebral hemorrhage laid the 75-year-old "Rage of Baltimore" low and limited his powers of communications.

He says it is a collection of essays. He put it together in 1948, then "forgot" it. It was rescued several weeks ago when his secretary found it among a pile of dusty papers headed for the Enoch Pratt Library for inclusion in the Mencken Room.

Among the barbs in the manuscript is this one: "No one blames a man for believing that his wife is beautiful, but it is impossible to avoid disgust in the presence of one who believes that he has an immortal soul of some vaguely gaseous nature and that it will continue to exist four hundred million years after he has been shoveled away."

Or this one: "Philosophy consists very largely of one philosopher arguing that all others are jackasses. He usually proves it, and I should add that he also usually proves that he is one himself."

Red Letter Suggests Treaty Of Friendship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The heart of Soviet Premier Bulganin's letter to President Eisenhower is reported to be a proposal for a treaty of friendship between Russia and the United States, coupled with the suggestion that this would promote world peace.

United States officials are studying this latest Soviet move seriously but skeptically. They feel it is almost certainly a propaganda maneuver.

Bulganin is understood to have proposed a pact pledging the United States and the Soviet Union to settle differences within the framework of the United Nations Charter and to avoid interference in each other's internal affairs.

This latest Moscow initiative is puzzling to diplomats. Just last year Russia canceled somewhat similar treaties with Great Britain and France in angry protest over formation of the Western European Union. The WEU is part of the arrangement under which West Germany is being rearmed as a member both of WEU and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Bulganin's letter was delivered to Eisenhower Wednesday. Its contents have been closely guarded, although publication is expected eventually, perhaps after Eisenhower has prepared and dispatched a reply.

It seems unlikely that will be done before his talks here next week with the British Prime Minister, Sir Anthony Eden.

The White House had no comment on the authoritative report that a proposed friendship treaty is the main point of the communication, which it described Wednesday as a "friendly letter."

The proposition appeared to confront Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles with problems of both policy and propaganda. They want to take advantage of every Soviet move which offers a hope of making some real improvement in relations between East and West.

At the same time, they oppose participating in any kind of agreement which would simply raise surface hopes about peace and create an illusion of greater security.

Should they decide to rebuff Bulganin's move on such grounds, they would face the ticklish question of how to give it with out the impression that the country is not interested in friendship with the Soviet Union.

As diplomatic experts here view the reported treaty proposal, it would not materially alter the present basis of relations between the United Nations since that organization was formed in 1945. Furthermore, the doctrine of noninterference in internal affairs was mutually agreed to at the time the United States recognized Soviet Russia.

George Sees No War In Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he is convinced Russia is not preparing for "a shooting war" and that he sees no prospect of armed conflict with the U.S.S.R. "in the immediate future."

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he thinks the Soviets have not changed a basic objective of world conquest, but "their tactics have shifted to the economic front."

Big Crowd Offers Tribute To 'Y' Leader, G. C. Good

Tributes to Grover C. Good knollled last night to the extent that nearly twice the number expected showed up at a banquet honoring the retired general secretary of the YMCA.

"Tonight we honor a good name—one synonymous with love, integrity and faith," said Dr. Willis Tate, president of Southern Methodist University, in tribute to Good who devoted a lifetime to YMCA work.

"A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," Dr. Tate reminded. "This is why I consider Grover Good the wealthiest man I know."

Others paying their respects to the veteran YMCA worker and his wife were Herb Willborn, vice president of the national council of YMCA; Grady Spruce, Dallas 'Y' leader; Dan Pitt, Plainview, area youth activities director; Kendal McGibbon and Bennie Compton, speaking for local YMCA youth organizations.

Willborn also read congratulations of YMCA officials with whom Good has been associated during more than three decades of service.

Clyde McMahon, Big Spring YMCA president, presented Good with a plaque in appreciation of his work as a Y secretary from 1919 through 1955. McMahon also presented a notebook of "letters of appreciation" from all sections of the nation and announced that a television receiver and record player are to be delivered to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Good as a gesture of appreciation.

The annual YMCA banquet, this year honoring the former general secretary who retired Jan. 1, was held at the Cosden Country Club. Accommodations had been provided for more than 200 guests. Nearly twice that number attended.

In response to the tributes, Good urged the crowd to "back up Bobo like you have me." Bobo Hardy is the new general secretary.

"I've never called on anyone in Big Spring without getting a favorable response," Good declared.

Dr. Tate, formerly one of Good's "boys" in the YMCA movement, listed characteristics which he said made the secretary "a great man."

He has faith... faith in men and boys, faith in God. To him religion is a very potent power and this gave him power to do much," the SMU president said. "He has a great capacity for love. He is a great because he has ridden a great horse — the YMCA.

"He's great because of his integrity. Integrity is synonymous with Grover," Dr. Tate declared. "Integrity means uprightness and honesty, soundness, sincerity and wholeness. All are synonymous with Grover."

Speaking for today's youth, Miss McGibbon told Good, "we know we will be better people because

French Cabinet Shaping Begins

PARIS (AP)—Premier-designate Guy Mollet and his ally Pierre Mendes-France sought today to shape up the French Cabinet of the Socialist party, which will be appointed to the National Assembly approval next week.

Mollet, head of the Socialist party, and Mendes-France, who leads the moderate Radicals, formed an alliance called the "Republican Front" that won them some 160 Assembly seats in the recent election.

Although far short of a majority in the 506-member Assembly, they claimed the right to head up a new government. Other parties disputed them only briefly and apparently are prepared to let him try to form a cabinet.

Justices Organize, Plan For Expansion

Justices of the peace from 23 communities in West Texas met here Thursday and set up a West Texas organization and made plans to expand to take in 113 counties.

The organization was set up with the election of a Lamesa Justice, James R. Edwards, as president, and the group picked Amarillo as the site of the next meeting.

Edwards presided over the day-long meeting, as the justices discussed their common problems, ranging from small claims cases to standardizing speeding fines.

Other officers elected in addition to the chairman were Mrs. Bonita Potter of Amarillo, vice president; J. B. Hoiberg of San Angelo, secretary; and Leonard S. Teston, Sweetwater, treasurer.

The justices voted to collect $2.50 dues per year from members. The organization also voted to enlarge to encompass 113 counties of south-west Texas and the Panhandle.

The boundary will roughly extend south from Wichita County through San Saba and as far south as Uvalde and Val Verde and include all counties westward.

Particular emphasis was given to stricter enforcement of speeding violations and the assessment of stiffer fines for the violations.

The justices agreed that of light fines—speaking generally of the minimum $1 charge—seemed to sanction instead of discourage further speeding offenses.

Attending the initial meeting of the West Texas Justice of the Peace Association were Walter Grice and A. M. Sullivan of Big Spring; Earl Treadwell Haskell; S. S. Tingle, Plains; R. P. Kelly, Terminal; C. A. Clem, Tahoka; L. A. Rhyme, Brownfield; L. C. Schreier, Olton; and D. C. Roberts, Post.

Also, B. D. Cooksey, Seagraves; O. G. Weatherly, Andrews; Martin Gibson, Stanton; George McClesky, Lubbock; L. H. Randolph, Earth; G. C. Lemons, Colorado City; J. E. Berry, Spur; W. J. Lewis, Plainview; W. C. Underwood, Garden City; Ira Ratliff, Sterling City, and the officers.

Demo Highway Proposal Awaits Decision On Taxes For Financing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Democratic proposal for a $1 1/2-billion highway construction program awaited today a decision on taxes to finance it.

Federal outlay for the 13-year program would total about $7 1/2 billion dollars. The states would contribute about 14 billions.

The bill introduced in the House yesterday carried no financing provisions.

However, the House Ways and Means Committee is working on this problem. Tax increases it has under consideration are reported to be designed to raise about 14 to 17 billion dollars.

Recommendations last year to finance a highway construction bill include a raise from 2 to 3 cents a gallon in the federal gasoline tax and higher levies on tires, tubes, trucks and buses.

The financing provisions caused major troubles last year. The House rejected the Democrats' plan for increased taxes and also an administration plan for issuing bonds.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said last year—and has repeated this year—that a highway construction bill must be on a pay-as-you-go basis.

President Eisenhower recommended this year only that the bill have "an adequate financing plan." He included no additional funds for highways in his budget recommendations.

The new Democratic bill was introduced by Rep. Fallon (D-Md), chairman of the Roads subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee.

The biggest chunk of money in the measure is 25 billion dollars from 1957 through 1969 for a national interstate and defense highway system totaling about 40,000 miles. The states would be asked to add about 2 1/2 billion dollars as their share in this program.

In addition, the measure would increase the amounts in the regular federal highway aid program under which the states now match federal funds 50-50.

Lions Told Of YMCA Program

Information about the YMCA, reports from the mid-winter conference for presidents and secretaries, and word about the impending ministry were crowded into the Wednesday program of the Lions Club.

Bobo Hardy, general secretary of the Y, explained the objectives of the Y organization as all around development with Christian emphasis. The local association, he said, was autonomous but did cooperate with area and national Y purposes. Nita Beth Farquhar told what the YMCA program had meant to her, and Walter Dickerson, Johnny Janak and Ronnie King, accompanied by Julie Rainwater, sang.

Cliff Fisher, ticket chairman, urged prompt action toward pre-sale for the Feb. 16-17 presentation of the annual Lions Club Minstrel. Orland Johnson is general chairman of the committee and said plans were proceeding on schedule.

Fred Stitzell, secretary, reported on the mid-winter conference and said Big Spring ranked fourth in District 2-T-2, but that this club was sadly off the pace in attendance.

God's Concern for Sinners (Temperance)
HE SENT HIS SON TO COME TO SAVE THE LOST

Scripture—Luke 15:1-32.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

MANY publicans and sinners gathered around Jesus to hear Him preach. The Pharisees and scribes criticized Him because, they said, "This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them"—something the orthodox Jew never would do.

Jesus, reading their thoughts, said: "What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost until he find it?"

Then he would call his friends and ask them to rejoice with him, for he had found the lost one.

"I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance."

Another parable Jesus told along the same lines was about a woman who lost a piece of silver of the 10 she possessed. She would sweep her house diligently, said the Lord, until she found the lost coin, then call her friends to be glad with her over its recovery.

The third parable Jesus told even suffering. Then, realizing the peril from his way of life, he has turned from his fault and become again a fine citizen, making his home life happy and secure once more. What rejoicing must there be in such a household!

If we, so full of faults for which we must ask forgiveness, can learn to forgive others as God forgives us, and as Jesus, in His sojourn on earth, forgave sinners and tried to turn them to the paths of righteousness, surely there will be rejoicing in heaven for us as well as for them, too.

know of a family one of whose members has gone astray and been received at home again with rejoicing.

Older ones may recall a family whose husband and father had been a drunkard or a gambler for years, to their great sorrow and even suffering. Then, realizing the peril from his way of life, he has turned from his fault and become again a fine citizen, making his home life happy and secure once more. What rejoicing must there be in such a household!

If we, so full of faults for which we must ask forgiveness, can learn to forgive others as God forgives us, and as Jesus, in His sojourn on earth, forgave sinners and tried to turn them to the paths of righteousness, surely there will be rejoicing in heaven for us as well as for them, too.

ANNIVERSARY REVIVAL TRINITY BAPTIST

810 11th Place
Jan. 29 - Feb. 5th

LESTER ROLOFF

On February 5th we will be celebrating the 4th anniversary of the pastor L. J. (Jack) Powell. And for this preceding week we have planned evangelistic services.

Evangelist Lester Roloff of Corpus Christi, Texas has kindly consented to come and conduct this week of services. January 30th through February 4th.

Even though this will be a one church campaign, as always we want to reach all the people we can for Christ. We invite all the friends of Evangelist Roloff in this area to attend the meeting. We wish that all our preacher brethren could pay us a visit during this time, it does mark the completion of our fourth year in the city.

Knowing the evangelist he will be on fire for souls, and we need not say that his speaking will be dynamic, plain, Christ centered, Bible, sin blistering and to the point. So bring your unsaved friends.

HIS FIRST TOPIC FOR MONDAY EVENING WILL BE:

"What Makes A Preacher Controversial?"

ONLY A GAME

This little girl is playing only a game... a childish little game called blind man's buff. Any time she wants to, she can whip off that blindfold in the twinkling of an eye.

But... suppose she couldn't? What if she were forced to keep her blindfold on forever?

There are many places in the world today where people are blindfolded, mentally and spiritually, and w they are denied one of the greatest of all freedoms... the freedom to worship as they will. We, who have that freedom, should guard and cherish it. For ours is the right to be enlightened.

If we don't go to Church, if we refuse to remove our own spiritual blindfolds, we have no one but ourselves to blame. Put on a blindfold, and see how it feels. Imagine what it would be like to wear it forever, over our eyes, our minds, our souls. Then, next Sunday, go to church—and find out what it really means to see!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jayhawks Smash Odessa JC Wranglers By 99-75 Tab

Jim Robinson Is Red-Hot

Reason To Grin

ODESSA (SC) — Howard County Junior College shocked the Odessa JC Wranglers by racing to a 99-75 West Zone basketball victory here Thursday night.

Odessa carried the better record into the game and had been slightly favored to win but the Hawks, playing far and away their finest game of the season, couldn't miss.

They raced to an 8-0 lead in the first few moments of play and ran up 19 points before missing the basket.

They ran up 99 points on the Wranglers despite the fact that Ertis Davis fouled out with 16 minutes to play, Wiley Brown was banished after having committed the maximum number of fouls with nine minutes to go and Charles Clark exited with eight minutes to go.

Jimmy Robinson, who played a sensational game for the Hawks, hit two jump shots early in the game and Davis followed with a long shot and a drive-in to give the Big Springers an 8-0 advantage.

With five minutes gone, the score favored HCJC, 25-5. The Hawks hit their first eight shots from the field and in the first half made 15 of 28. In the final 20 minutes, they connected on 13 of 23.

Robinson wound up as the game's leading scorer with 23 points. Five other Jayhawks hit the double figures, however.

Milton Gillespie paced Odessa with 20 points. James Dobbins was the only Odessan lost on fouls. He departed with six minutes to go.

HCJC now has won eight straight games and boasts a 12-8 record for the season.

The Jayhawks next play Frank Phillips of Borger in a real thriller in Borger Monday night. Phillips, too, boasts a 2-0 Zone record.

There May Be Trouble Ahead For Cage Elite

By BEN OLAN
By The Associated Press

St. Francis of Brooklyn and Temple of Philadelphia, two of the nation's surprise basketball teams, remained in the unbeaten ranks today along with San Francisco and Dayton. But there may be trouble ahead for all four.

The Terriers from Brooklyn had a real scare last night. After trailing 61-50 with 15 minutes to play, they caught fire and defeated Seton Hall 81-78 for their 12th straight success.

Temple also made it 12 in a row, handily whipping Delaware 108-81. Hal Lear pumped in 32 points.

Top-ranked San Francisco and Dayton, No. 2, were idle. Each has a tough assignment on tap tomorrow night, however.

The Dons will be shooting for the college record of 40 consecutive victories against California. Dayton, 14-0, will try to get past Louisville, which is 15-1 for the season.

Seton Hall gave St. Francis fits during most of their game. The Terriers were behind by one point with 2 1/2 minutes to go. Then George Fox scored from under the hoop to give St. Francis the lead for good.

The 15th-ranked Terriers have three games in the next eight days. They play Ithaca tomorrow night.

Temple had difficulty with Delaware's Jack Waddington, who scored 30 points. But Lear's output coupled with Guy Rodgers' 26 points brought the Owls home.

Temple, rated sixth in the latest Associated Press poll, next faces Navy at Annapolis, Md., Saturday.

Finland And Germany Win Gold Medals In Olympics

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Finland and Germany each grabbed a first place gold medal today and Italy's two daredevil drivers took a commanding lead at the halfway mark of the two-man bobsled championships as the Winter Olympics opened today.

Snow fell, too, to make this a joyous occasion in this snow-starved resort center but there was only gloom in the American camp. The two U.S. bobsled teams were virtually out of their competition. Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence finished in a tie for fourth.

Velkko Hakulinen, 31, Finnish lumberman, captured the 30-kilometer title four years ago, was timed in one hour, 44 minutes and six seconds for the 30 kilometers (18 miles, 1,128 yards) grind, a new event on the Olympic program.

Sweden's Sixten Jernberg was second in 1:44:30 with Russia's Pavel Koltchin third in 1:45:45.

This marked Russia's debut in the Winter Olympics and Koltchin became the powerful Soviet squad's first medal winner. He received a bronze trophy for third place. Behind him came three more Russians, then two Swedes and another Finn. America's two entries, Lynn Levy of New Orleans and Andy Miller, McCall, Idaho, were far out of the race.

As today's first full-sized competition began, fresh snow began to fall over this snow-starved resort center.

There was a slight overnight snowfall to salt the courses but then as the first full-sized program of the games got under way, the precious white stuff that everyone here has been yearning for, began to fall.

Snow clouds hung low over the whole valley. Lack of snow had made the ski runs dangerous and caused a rash of pre-Olympic accidents including eight broken limbs.

Dalla Costa, a jet pilot at the wheel of Italy's No. 1 sled, zoomed down the chute in 1:22 and 1:22.45 for a total time of 2:44.45. The course record for the distance of a mile and 109 yards is 1:21.98.

Monti, a pint-sized former Italian ski champion, was clocked in 1:22.73 and 1:22.53, for a total of 2:45.26.

The No. 1 U.S. sled, piloted by Washburn, and braked by Pat Biesadecki, Ware, Mass., was clocked in 1:24.82.

Several Calls For Salk Shots

Salk polio vaccine shots were to have been given this afternoon to indigent persons at the city-county health unit, and the unit reported "several" calls for the vaccine this morning.

Miss Jewel Barton, health unit nurse, was not in the office this morning to give the shots, but persons called for the vaccine are sent back this afternoon for the third and final shot of the three-shot series.

The health unit has the polio vaccine for the medically indigent only and the shots are given exclusively on Fridays. Persons able to pay for the vaccine are sent to their doctors, but those unable to pay will be given the shots at the health unit.

The serum now being given is for most of the persons the third and final one of the series. The first two were given in May and July.

Persons coming for the shots are asked to come on Fridays rather than wait until the exact day specified on their shot records.

Other cases set for the week include perjury charges against Katherine Nelson, theft charges against Beale Adams Guy (Madam Fatima), second offense DWI charges against Robert Lee Holloway, Odell Allen, and Mack Raymond Newton, and possession of marijuana charges against Tiburcio (Chongo) Nunez, Frank Garza and Albert Martinez.

After holding court here next week, Judge Charlie Sullivan will go to Garden City Feb. 6 to open the January term of court for the county. The Glasscock grand jury is to be impaneled Feb. 6. Civil cases are set tentatively for the week of Feb. 6, with criminal trials to be held the following week.

Pearson Is Accused Of 'Scurrilous Lie'

WASHINGTON (AP)—James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, today accused columnist Drew Pearson of telling "a scurrilous lie" in writing that President Eisenhower asked Secretary of the Interior McKay to see what could be done about selling the Al Serena section of the Rogue River National Forest to private interests.

Referring to the Pearson column which appeared in subscriber newspapers yesterday, Hagerty volunteered this statement at a news conference:

"The story is a complete falsehood and in my opinion a scurrilous lie."

Pearson was not immediately reachable for comment today.

In the column Pearson wrote about sale of "part of the Rogue River National Forest for only $5 an acre," and added:

"McKay, though nicknamed 'Generous Doug,' is not usually quite that generous. In this case, however, he had an interesting little note direct from the President."

"Buried in the Senate Interior Committee files is an interesting letter, which was picked up when the Senate subpoenaed the records of Secretary McKay."

"It's a letter from a friend of President Eisenhower's, addressed to him, asking that the Al Serena section of the Rogue River National Forest be released to the McDonald family."

"Across the letter in his own handwriting President Eisenhower had scribbled 'Dear Doug.' Then followed a personal request from Ike to Doug to see what he could do about selling the Rogue River request."

Hagerty said "there is no such letter in existence." He added that Senate Interior Committee staff members had testified to that effect yesterday under questioning by Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

Hagerty said he was making his statement so that news media and the public generally would have the information.

He requested that newspapers which published the Pearson column "use my statement" denying what Pearson wrote.

Shivers Seeks Data On 'Interposition'

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Shivers sent a letter today to Gov. Thomas Stanley of Virginia requesting full information on "interposition," an old doctrine being revived out in the South as a weapon in the fight against school desegregation.

Four Southern governors called for the use of interposition by their legislatures at a conference Tuesday.

"Interposition" is a legal stand in which a state rejects a federal court order because it feels it violates rights reserved for the states.

In the eyes of governments of some Southern states, it means that the Supreme Court exceeded its authority and in effect legislated by judicial decree in its May 1954 decision outlawing segregation.

Therefore, advocates of interposition contend, the states have the right to "interpose" their sovereignty and seek to upset the decree by having the issue settled by an amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The theory is that if the constitutional issue ultimately goes to the states for ratification, 13 states could block ratification since ratification requires three-fourths of the states to approve.

Shivers wrote he had "noted with great interest the action taken by you and the governors of three other Southern states concerning the idea of 'interposition.'"

The governor said he would appreciate hearing from Stanley or "your special counsel" and would also like "to have a copy of any proposed resolution of interposition to be considered by your Legislature."

Shivers said he felt the information would be of importance to the 13-member committee he had appointed to study the integration issue.

Atty. Gen. Shepperd said earlier the idea of interposition in upholding segregation in the schools in Texas "is out," but added interposition might be used to protect its regulation of natural resources.

Hoolch Problem Worries Officer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Traffic education officer Charles Ruble has a problem: How to get the drivers to buy him a fifth of whiskey.

Ruble, among other duties, must lecture and demonstrate the drunkometer to fellow policemen, truck fleet operators, military drivers and to driver training classes.

Afraid of the questionable contents of confiscated whiskey, Ruble purchases his own.

"Why doesn't the city furnish it? Because every time I mention it, the brass comes near having a fit of apoplexy," he says. "They always question City Hall reaction to a police requisition slip for a fifth of hooch."

Brevity Brings Embarrassment

TORONTO (AP)—Toronto police recently placed a recruiting poster for policemen on a sidewalk bulletin board at headquarters.

It listed 13 duties expected of the lady cops. The 11th duty read: "prostitution."

Officials today explained they meant investigation and policing of prostitution.

CRMWD To Plan Changes In Water Rates For Member Cities

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District have tackled the problem of changing water rate structures to members in 1957.

The City of Odessa, which is contemplating construction of a filtration plant next year, had asked for the earliest quotation of a probable rate from the district. Under terms of the trust indenture, the rating system of the district is to change Jan. 1, 1957 from a fixed charge plus flat rate basis for all cities to one based upon pro rata share of operating expenses, and pro rata share of debt requirements based upon consumption and distance from source.

Robert T. Piner, president, named J. L. Rhoades, Odessa, Lyle Deffenbach, Snyder, and Willard Sullivan, as members of the committee to study the rating system and make recommendations to the board.

Maintenance work in connection with the post-construction settling of the earthen dam across the Colorado River to impound Lake J. B. Thomas was discussed by S. C. Freese, Fort Worth, consulting engineer. Freese said that the rapid filling of the lake last autumn had accelerated normal settling. Softening of the natural soil on the upstream side of the clay core of the dam, plus the added weight of the volume of water had resulted in some cracks horizontal to the dam. These penetrated only to shallow depths and are being grouted now, he said. Two small transverse cracks near the north end of the dam went down only to eight feet and also were grouted. A small seep on the north end appeared to be coming through natural soil around the north flank and was stabilized and inconsequential, he said.

Core holes had been drilled in the dam and showed solid compaction of the structure and no moisture penetration beyond 20 feet into the structure. As a precautionary measure against possible internal settlement, due to brittleness of the clay core, he said that grout holes were being drilled into the dam and efforts made to force in grout under pressure. So far comparatively little had been taken, indicating little or no internal settlement. In all probability, such cracks, should they appear, would seal themselves naturally, he said. However, because of the importance of the water reserve to the area, the maintenance steps were being taken as a precaution.

Freese said that it was difficult to determine what cost would be involved, but at the outside it would not exceed $100,000, and that funds would be available out of construction, maintenance and contingency funds.

Of the net revenue fund's $520,599.90 not required for $152,404.10 interest and sinking fund and sinking fund and $257,736.85 reserves, the remaining $110,458.65 was authorized for transfer to specific special funds. The contingency fund would get $10,000 the improvement and extension fund $5,000 and the retirement fund $95,458.65.

Piner said that $92,000 of 1951 maturities of the district's bonds already had been purchased out of this $90,000. They were bid in at 93 1/2%.

So far the district has accumulated $833,781 in its reserve fund and this year should hit the $1,000,000 mark required under terms of indenture.

Directors approved appropriation of $1,000 toward a statewide evaporation control study. The funds will be paid to the State Board of Water Engineers and the work will be done by Southwest Research Engineers over a two-year period.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Second Choice?

When the date you've counted on slips through your fingers at the last minute, or when you're huffed up because you never even got that close, it is all right to go with a zero hour second choice date?

This is a question that is frequently argued. All too frequently the main purpose in choosing another date arises out of the envy, regret and malice. Pervading the date bid is the atmosphere of "I'll show him (or her). This will be an eye-opener. Let's see if you can be made jealous."

Jealousy sometimes is just the ingredient you need to add in small doses to perk up a disinterested boy or girl friend, but these "I'll show him (or her)" make for a very pleasant or flattering evening for your second choice.

After your first choice date has pulled the floor out from under you and left you in a mighty heap on confusion and disappointment, it is all right to resolve to be above defeat and calmly pick up the pieces, making new arrangements and going ahead as nearly as possible with your original plans. Sometimes this will mean getting a new date.

If you do decide on the latter course, you owe your new date your personality at its best. She's (or he's) not at fault you know. Be yourself and above all, don't put on an act. If you meet the one who jilted you, be friendly, of course, and show by your happy, smiling face that you are having a marvelous time. When you let go with some catty remark, it is proof positive that your "goat has been got." A lovey-dovey, hand-holding session with your second choice will not impress anyone of your popularity. More likely it will show that you are putting on an act or else have lowered your standards.

Cheapering yourself won't make anyone jealous, but being an attentive date to the one you are with and concentrating on seeing that both of you have a good time will reap wonders.

Most important, never mention to anyone that your date was a second choice. He or she may not be your big moment, but you do owe that person some loyalty. They are helping you out so why not keep quiet and let them have some self-respect too? No one likes it whispered around that they are stand-ins.
