Poll Taxpayers Stay Away In Drove

You might expect a long line down at the county tax collectors office Tuesday with the vote registration deadline little more than 12 hours away. But instead, voters were staying away in droves. Prospects were that Howard County will end up with 1,000 to 1,500 less voters than it had in the last presidential election year in 1952, unless there is a last-minute revival of democratic consciousness on the part of adults. This photo shows how few voters were bothering Tuesday morning to attend to this most important citizenship chore.

FEE TO SENATOR BARED

Insurance Scandals Break Into Top News Once Again

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

The resignation of an embattled insurance commissioner member, the disclosure of another fee paid a senator for legal work by U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co., and a court battle in the firm's receivership case highlighted the insurance scandals today.

Garland Smith, once a dance-band manager and small-town editor who climbed the political ladder to the chairmanship of the Insurance Commission, resigned under heavy fire, citing ill health.

Smith's step-out drew laudatory and caustic comments. Gov. Shivers, a longtime close personal and political friend, said Smith had done a fine job.

Sen. William Fly of Victoria, chairman of the Senate committee investigating the insurance scandals, said:

"It is best that Smith has resigned. His resignation will help clear the air."

The two remaining insurance commissioners, the new chairman, Byron Saunders, and Mark Wentz, said they thought Smith had done well in urging insurance reform laws adopted by the last Legislature.

Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, a candidate for governor, said in Austin his firm was paid $150 by U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. for helping represent a defendant who had an insurance policy with that company in an auto damage suit.

Phillips said he did not know that the bill for legal work was paid by U.S. Trust and Guaranty until he re-examined the case file in connection with another bill. He said he had been retained as local counsel in the case by Don Carroll of Houston.

"I was not hired by U.S. Trust and Guaranty, I have never met A. B. Shoemaker (president of the firm) and I have never had any direct contact with him or any official of his company," Phillips asserted.

He joined the growing list of legislators and former legislators who had done legal work for the big defunct Waco combination

Judge Releases Personal Assets Of Surety Officials

AUSTIN — Judge Charles Betts released from court restraint today the personal assets of six directors of U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. of Waco.

Betts warned the directors this does not free them from any personal liability that might be proven in connection with the failure of the banking and insurance firm.

Given the use of personal funds which had been frozen by court order since Dec. 15 were Mrs. V. E. Ridling, Sam Deely, Robert Abernathy, Joseph Trautshold, Irwin Wilhelm and James Hay. Betts, who drew admissions from Hay and Mrs. Ridling that they knew certain records of U.S. Trust to be untrue, ordered the trial to continue on the question of whether the company should be put in permanent receivership.

The Waco banking - insurance firm, U.S. Automotive Service, and Texas operations of Arkansas Fire and Marine Insurance Co., were placed under court restraint Dec. 15. Assets of U.S. Trust and U.S. Automotive, and of their officers and directors were frozen.

Smith's resignation came from a hospital where he is suffering from a stomach ailment.

He wrote Shivers he had hesitated to take his doctor's orders calling for a long rest to regain his health because he knew he would be accused of "quitting under fire." He asserted he has been made the "whipping boy" in the insurance scandals. Smith charged that Shivers' political enemies were slapping at the governor through him.

Smith's removal had been urged by legislators and others critical of Insurance Commission administration. One phase under fire was the June-to-December delay in cracking down publicly on U.S. Trust and Guaranty, and the delay in making the firm quit selling interest-bearing securities after such sales by it had become illegal in September.

Smith was the highest appointive official to resign under fire in recent state history.

He was the second high state official to quit office in the heat of separate and unrelated investigations in a little more than a year.

The first to step out was Bascom Giles. Giles on Jan. 1, 1955, refused to take the oath of office as land commissioner after re-election. Charges in the veterans' land program investigation—which had no bearing on insurance troubles—led ultimately to a penitentiary sentence for Giles.

Shivers accepted Smith's resignation "with regret." He praised Smith's administration and said that the "campaign to clean up weak and unsound insurance companies started while Garland Smith was chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners."

Smith had written the governor that if he made any mistakes that were errors in judgment and that his conscience "was clear of any sense of wrongdoing."

Smith had been named as receiving a vacation trip to Hawaii, with expenses paid by an insurance company executive, and as having borrowed on real estate from the same company. In the instance of the Hawaii trip, Smith said there was nothing wrong in it, that the families were friends, and that the company was treated as all others. Mrs. Smith replied to the second charge, also saying it was a normal home loan and that in effect it was on the level.

Smith, 44, went to the commission in April, 1952. He had had no previous insurance business experience, but had been in politics since young manhood.

His first taste of statewide politics was in managing Jesse James' first successful campaign for state treasurer. Smith came to Austin as chief clerk for the treasurer, served in the Navy as an enlisted man in 1944 and 1945, then ran Shivers' successful race for lieutenant governor after the war. He was made secretary to the Senate, then administrative aide to Shivers when Gov. Beauford Jester died and Shivers moved into the governorship.

On Oct. 6, 1953 Smith became life insurance commissioner and chairman of the commission. He stepped out of this post, but remained as life commissioner, early this month.

Howard County 'Way Behind In Poll Tax Paying

Nothing but a miraculous snow-balling of late registration will save Howard County from falling far under its record 1952 vote registration when deadline comes at midnight today.

The number of qualified voters was crawling upward Tuesday but the time margin was disappearing faster.

Typical of a general apathy which has taken hold of a substantial segment of the electorate in this presidential year was the mere handful of applicants in the tax office Tuesday morning.

Through noon today, the total poll tax figure for the county stood at 9,117 registered, with 1,500 of those being exempted persons.

The total figure in 1952 — the last presidential election year — was 11,315 or over 2,000 more than this year at noon today.

The tax office in the court house will remain open until the deadline tonight to give the county's voters every chance to register — either for an exemption or to pay the tax. A booth is also set up in the lobby of the Settles Hotel for those who cannot or do not come by the tax office.

The Settles booth will close today at approximately 4:30 p.m. though. That booth is sponsored by the Jaycees.

Persons who might be mailing their poll tax request to the tax office will have that request accepted if the letter is postmarked prior to midnight but not after.

Martin Tally Goes Steadily Upward

STANTON — Poll tax payments climbed upward here Tuesday at a satisfying pace, and at noon there had been 1,298 receipts issued. Sheriff Dan Saunders said there has been perhaps two dozen exemptions issued. There are not required in Stanton or Martin County so there is hardly any reason for a sizeable exemption total.

The office will remain open until 8 p.m. and thereafter if late registrants wish to pay their poll tax, they may call Sheriff Saunders until midnight.

Glasscock Payments Running Normally

GARDEN CITY — Voters were showing up in normal numbers here Tuesday on the final day of registration. At mid-morning there had been 413 poll tax receipts issued, and a few exemption certificates. Exemptions are not required in Glasscock County. The sheriff's office will be open until 7 or 8 p.m. and any applying later than that can get in touch with Sheriff Buster Cox prior to midnight.

Dawson County Is Under Poll Tax Peak

LAMESA — Around 400 people qualified Monday as voters, boosting Dawson County's registration to 4,390. This was considerably under the peak when there were 5,700 registered voters in the county. The poll tax total Tuesday morning stood at 3,600 and the exemptions at 700. Louie White, tax assessor-collector, said the office would be open until 11 p.m. tonight and he would be available at his home until midnight.

Triangle Told In Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES — A mother testified in divorce court that she fell in love with her 14-year-old daughter's school teacher when she attempted to discourage the teenager's infatuation for him.

Mrs. Patsy Glassman, 35, added, however, that her "fondness" for the teacher, Leroy Byers, 32, did not develop until her love for her husband, accountant Samuel Glassman, had ended.

Mrs. Glassman's testimony yesterday was in her contested suit for divorce and $1,065 monthly alimony. She contends her husband makes $20,000 a year. The couple was married in 1940, divorced in 1948 and remarried in 1949. They have three children and Mrs. Glassman wants their custody. She charges cruelty.

Mrs. Glassman testified she had visited Byers in his apartment and kissed him.

Glassman, contesting her divorce with a cross complaint also alleging cruelty, said his wife's romance with the teacher began when Jill, the daughter, came home with Byers' service dogtag around her neck.

FEDERAL AID

Trustees Approve Classrooms Plan

School trustees last night approved preliminary plans for 12 classrooms to be constructed if a federal grant of $144,500 comes through.

The plans will accompany the school district's final application for the federal funds. School officials also will enclose a statement to the effect that the district is prepared to meet all costs of the construction above the $144,500.

Jimmy Fox, of the architectural firm of Atcheson, Atkinson and Fox of Lubbock, estimated the 12 classrooms can be constructed for around $155,000.

Trustees propose to construct a new six-room wing at the East Ward School and another at the College Heights School. When these projects are completed, the Central Ward district will be eliminated with pupils from that area being divided between the other two schools. The Central elementary building then would be converted to junior high school use.

The federal funds have been reserved for the district as a result of the large number of children of Air Force and other government personnel in the local school system.

Architects proposed two changes in design of the two proposed wings. One would be a lower wall on the window sides of the building, and the other would be about two changes in floor levels to fit the buildings to the ground on which they will be constructed. Fox said the changes in elevation could be accommodated by ramps in the walkway onto which the classrooms open.

The architect also said the adjustment of elevations and lowering of walls should provide a saving in construction costs.

Fox said his estimates on cost of the structures included furnishings for the two wings. Pat Murphy, school business manager, said utilization of furniture the district already owns would cut the cost by $3,000 or more.

Trustees last night also gave Supt. W. C. Blankenship authority to employ an extra teacher for the Lakeview Elementary School. Some classes in the school have as many as 40 pupils, the superintendent reported. He said the $530 per year being paid the district on eight students transferred into the district would cover the additional expense.

Trustees declined to name the men still in the running, explaining that all are under contract elsewhere and that publicity here might affect their present positions.

Trustees said they expect to make a selection "in the very near future," possibly by the end of February.

There were 34 applicants for the position, said Clyde Angel, school board chairman. Trustees have interviewed 26 of these and eliminated all but five, he explained.

Two of the five were "invited" to submit applications. The others made the initial contacts with the board, Angel said.

Critical Asia Questions Due For Discussion

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles resumed Western strategy talks today with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd as the top-level Anglo-American conference moved into its second day.

Critical Far Eastern questions seemed likely to come up for the first time at the high-level review. One of Britain's top Asiatic experts, Sir Hubert Graves, accompanied Lloyd into the conference room.

Relations with Communist China including Britain's reported desire to ease existing Western trade controls, figured prominently among the key topics to be tackled in a review of policy in the Far East.

Middle East problems, twice discussed at yesterday's opening session, promised to serve as another discussion base during the day, either at the department or at the White House.

Winthrop Aldrich, U. S. Ambassador to Britain, joined in the talks as did Livingston Merchant, asst. secretary of state for Europe, and Douglas MacArthur II, department counselor.

This conference was a preliminary to another meeting of President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden over the White House luncheon table.

Eisenhower and Eden got off to a seemingly good start yesterday on three days of talks on how to deal with the Russians in the Middle East and elsewhere.

They agreed in assessing recent Soviet maneuvering on the diplomatic, economic and political front. And Eden pledged Britain's full support to Eisenhower's insistence on "deeds, not words," as evidence of Russian willingness to ease tensions.

But the first day also turned up a divergence of views on the Middle East. Some diplomatic officials said, however, that these differences are minor and should be narrowed even further at today's session.

Eisenhower took part in two of the three U. S.-British conferences yesterday. On doctor's orders he is passing up the night gatherings.

Eisenhower and Eden are expected to switch attention to the Far East once they go as far as they can in fashioning a common policy toward the Middle East.

The British are said to be more reluctant than they have been about backing unyielding U. S. opposition to seating Red China in the United Nations. Eisenhower will try to nail down British support on that issue.

For their part, the British would like to ease the West's embargo against shipping nonwar goods to Red China. They argue, in the face of strong opposition from segments of Congress, that such goods are being shipped now to Russia but are banned in the China trade. They point out that the Korean fighting, which led to the embargo, has been over for three years. Britain recognizes Red China while the United States does not.

State Board To Hear Girlstown Appeal

AUSTIN — An advisory board of five will be named soon to study an appeal from Girlstown USA, after the state Public Welfare Department revoked its license yesterday.

Director John Winters said the license was revoked but enforcement of the order is being held up pending a study of an appeal.

The institution is operated by Miss Amelia Anthony at Whiteface in Cochran County. Winters said the institution had been notified its license would be cancelled unless it strengthened its board organization to head up responsibility for its management.

Winters said he had received notice of appeal and would appoint an advisory board. Under state law, the department has authority to license child care homes.

This board will submit its recommendations to the Welfare Department. An order was issued Jan. 3, Winters said, revoking the license as of Feb. 3.

The Welfare Department's action was disclosed earlier in a court dispute at Lubbock over the custody of a runaway girl. The habeas corpus hearing was postponed in 194th District Court on the motion of Hugh Harrell, attorney for Miss Anthony.

"The continuance of the hearing was requested at my insistence and institution in order to prepare for the hearing in Austin. The continuance was granted by mutual consent of attorneys for both sides and the court," Harrell said.

The writ involved the custody of a girl, 17, who ran away from Girlstown and went to live with C. E. Ogden of Lubbock, who formerly worked at Girlstown.

In a preliminary hearing on the writ last week, Ogden told the court he worked at Girlstown about three years ago.

He said he saw a girl beaten and knew of two other instances in which he said girls were mistreated.

Rep. Rutherford Unhappy Over Egyptian Dam

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. J. T. Rutherford of West Texas and four other first-term congressmen decided over coffee cups in a House restaurant that the State Department wasn't letting them know enough about what's going on over the world.

"Especially in regard to our foreign aid," said Rutherford, "so we asked for a special briefing."

"We got it. And it was quite interesting, but when we got down to the matter of foreign aid they just couldn't explain to our satisfaction why we should spend so much on non-military things."

It was agreed a follow-up briefing should be held after information could be assembled for them.

What made Rutherford unhappy was the plan for U.S. financial help in building the huge Aswan Dam in Egypt, which will put two million acres into production of long staple cotton. Long staple grows in the El Paso area and he said:

"We talked for three hours, at the conclusion of which I was still at a loss to find any logical reason why American dollars should be spent abroad to create more competition for our own people."

Participating with Rutherford in the briefing were Reps. Paul and Dan Fassel of Florida, R. E. Lankford of Maryland and W. R. Hull of Missouri, all Democrats.

Another Texas with similar views, Rep. O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, says a tax cut is possible this year if non-essential spending is reduced.

Answering his own questions as to how this can be done, Fisher said in the Congressional Record:

"We can, for example, take the fat out of the foreign aid and limit it in the main to necessary military assistance, with economic aid going only to those countries that are on the side of the free world, that are strategic and cooperative, and which without our help are in danger of falling into Communist hands—thereby further endangering our own security and world peace."

Around the Capital:
Lt. Robert Chapman, Air Force jet pilot, and his bride, the former Helen Gunter of San Angelo, were luncheon guests of Rep. Fisher (D-Tex) in the House dining room. Married in San Angelo, the couple stopped here en route to Westover AFB near Boston, where he is stationed.

Originally from Russellville, Ark., Chapman met his wife during a visit to San Angelo with his West Point classmate from that city, James Surber, now a lieutenant at Fairchild AFB at Spokane, Wash.

Another young service couple, Maj. G. J. Roddy and his wife, both formerly of Bullard and Longview, were also luncheon guests at the Capitol of Rep. Brady Gentry of Tyler. Roddy is now stationed at the Pentagon.

Every now and then a congressman takes the floor to announce the death of a predecessor who has been away from the Capitol so long that few remain who knew him personally.

Such was the case when Rep. Gentry told the House of the death of Morgan Sanders, 77, who had represented the 3rd Texas District from 1921 to 1939.

VOTE HUNT

California Here I Come, Sings Adlai

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson invades vote-rich California today, a step ahead of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, to swing into his first intensive campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

California supporters sent a chartered airliner to fly the 1952 Democratic standard bearer to Sacramento for the start of an eight-day whistle-stop tour of the 1,000-mile-long state.

His itinerary, liberal on bean dinners, box-lunch socials and informal handshaking affairs, suggests emphasis on the folksy approach successfully applied by Kefauver in California and other primaries four years ago.

Kefauver himself plans to spend four days on the California circuit, after both contenders deliver their only scheduled formal speeches before the California Democratic Council in Fresno Saturday.

The Democratic rivals will battle it out in California June 3 for the largest single bloc of national convention votes—88 of any of the three primaries they have signified they will enter to actively

Governor Poses Legislation As Wedge In Transit Strike

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin has announced he will propose "remedial legislation" if necessary, in an attempt to end the strike against the Baltimore Transit Co.

The strike went into its second day today with commuters riding to work in car pools and taxis, or on foot.

In a letter to Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro last night that sounded like an ultimatum, the governor said: "It is my opinion that the time has arrived for the paramount rights of the public to be asserted..."

McKeldin proposed a meeting with the mayor and both disputing sides in an effort to convince them of the "necessity of restoring service to our public." If that fails, he said, he would propose remedial legislation at the State Legislature convening Wednesday, or "any other action that I shall feel obliged to take."

Other moves were already afoot to use legislative weapons to deal with the strike which affects some 200,000 daily riders. It was reported that a bill seeking to compel arbitration of labor disputes involving public utilities in the state was in the preliminary drafting stages.

General Says Praise For Race Speech Was 'Misinterpreted'

ATLANTA (AP)—Maj. Gen. Eugene Caffey, judge advocate general of the Army, says remarks he made to the Georgia Legislature expressing admiration for a speech favoring segregation have been "misinterpreted" in news reports.

He addressed both House and Senate of the General Assembly briefly yesterday, explaining that he had read a speech made to the Legislature last Tuesday by Rep. John J. Flynt of Griffin.

"If I were going to make a speech I would hope to make one like that," he told House members.

Then he visited the Senate, repeated that he had read the address by the Georgia congressman, and declared:

"There was a lot of meat in that speech. I, for one, admire it."

A newsman asked him afterwards if that meant he was going along with Flynt's appeal to Georgians to join the interposition movement to preserve segregation.

"Listen, I'm not in politics," Caffey said.

Later in Washington, Maj. Gen. Guy S. Meloy, Army chief of information, said he talked with Caffey by telephone and declared the judge advocate general said his remarks had been "misinterpreted."

Meloy quoted Caffey as saying: "Rep. Flynt is a friend of mine, but nothing I said was an endorsement of anyone or anything. I simply paid tribute to Jack Flynt's ability to make a speech."

Caffey could not be reached for further comment.

Flynt in his speech urged adoption of a "resolution of interposition" and sharply attacked the Kelley bill pending in Congress to provide school aid. He said the measure "in a sense is an effort to bolster the weak position of the Supreme Court decision" against school segregation.

The Kelley bill reference was to a measure offered by Rep. Augustus B. Kelley (D-Pa) that would provide $1,500,000,000 in federal aid to states for school building over the next four years.

Advocates of interposition contend the states have the right to "interpose" their sovereignty and seek to upset the Supreme Court ruling against school segregation by having the issue settled by an amendment to the U. S. Constitution. The theory is that such an amendment would not be ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states.

GOP Loses Chance To Cop Kentucky In Senate Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican strategists got word today they probably can't count on John Sherman Cooper as a Kentucky candidate in their uphill battle to regain control of the Senate.

Cooper, now ambassador in India, is reported to have told friends he prefers to remain in that post rather than to undertake what promises to be a strenuous campaign. He is now in Washington for consultations.

Democrats outnumber Republicans 49-47 in the Senate. Up this year are 17 Republicans and 15 Democrats—8 of the latter in Southern states which traditionally go Democratic. Kentucky, a border state, is one where GOP leaders have entertained hopes of gaining a seat in the November elections.

Sen. Clements of Kentucky, the assistant Democratic leader, has potential trouble within his own party. Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler has indicated he will back some other candidate, presaging a tough primary battle.

Because of this situation, Republicans have been counting on Democratic factional differences to better their chances to pick up a Senate seat in a state President Eisenhower lost by only 700 votes in 1952.

Many GOP leaders have felt that Cooper, who won by 29,000 votes in a 1952 election to fill two years of an unexpired Senate term, offered them their best candidate. Cooper was defeated for re-election in 1954 by Democratic Sen. Alben Barkley, former vice president. He also had served two years of an unexpired term in 1946-48.

200 Aliens Report Here

Today is the final day for aliens to file with the federal government or liable themselves for deportation or a fine.

Under the provisions of the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act, all aliens must register with the Immigration and Naturalization Service through their local post offices or with the service directly every year prior to Feb. 1. Failure to comply can mean a fine or deportation for a willful violation.

The Dallas office of the service has estimated 9,000 aliens have already filed their address reports with the office. Of that total approximately 200 were reported through the post office here.

Officials at the post office said Monday they hand out the forms and also collect them to send on to Dallas. And they added that already they have dispatched about 200.

A total of 17,842 aliens filed reports with the Dallas office last year. Any alien in the U. S. except those having diplomatic status and foreign representatives assigned to the United Nations come under the Immigration Act.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Farm Operator Must Watch Many Angles

By FRANK O'BRIEN Associated Press Staff

According to the latest count by the Census Bureau, there are about 4,800,000 farm operators in the nation. These people earn their living in such a special way that the tax laws make special provisions for them.

What must be included in the farmer's income? This depends on what system of accounting you use—cash or accrual.

Under the cash method, the following items must be included: The entire amount received during the year (in cash or property) from the sale of raised livestock, poultry, vegetables, fruit, grains, etc.

The farmer, like other businessmen, is allowed to deduct from his income for the depreciation of his capital assets. He can deduct a reasonable allowance each year, after establishing the useful life of the asset.

Buildings (but not your dwelling); machinery and equipment; livestock used for work, dairy or breeding not inventoried and where the cost of raising the livestock has not been deducted; fences and tile drains; orchards, groves and vineyards of producing age; autos and trucks in proportion to their use for business; corrals and loading pens; tanks, vats and water wells.

A farmer who operates his own farm, owned or rented, is a self-employed person. Beginning with 1955, most self-employed farmers were brought within the social security system.

First, the forms you may need as a farmer: Form 1040—the basic form. (Farmers may not use the card Form 1040A, because that is only for persons reporting wages and salaries.)

Schedule F—the special supplementary schedule for reporting farm income. You can use it whether you are reporting on the cash or the accrual basis. But if you use the accrual basis, you can, if you prefer, use Schedule C—the regular businessman's supplementary schedule.

Under the cash method all taxable income received (as cash or as property) during a year is included in the return for that year. Income should be counted even when it is only constructively received, that is, when it is unconditionally credited to your account, or set apart for you to draw upon, whether or not you actually draw upon it.

Under the accrual method the farmer includes on his return all income earned during the year covered by the return, whether or not he actually received the income. He sets up (on Schedule F) an account of what he had at the beginning of the year and what he had at the end of the year.

The farmer also deducts, as expenses, his business expenses incurred during the year, whether or not he actually paid for them in the year.

Under the accrual method usually results over the years in a more uniform taxable income—that is, it tends to avoid sharply contrasting years of high and low income resulting of the reporting of big sales in some years and small ones in other years under the cash method.

For livestock and other property used in farming, the farmer must compare his taxable gains (recognized gains) with his deductible losses (recognized losses) in transactions in such properties to find out if he has a capital gain or loss. If his taxable gains exceed his deductible losses, then each gain and loss is a capital gain or loss. If deductible losses exceed or equal taxable gains then each gain and loss is an ordinary gain or loss.

Problems Of Love

Dear Miss Brandow: How can a girl tell if she's in love? When Dick compliments me I feel that I am in seventh heaven.

"Time will tell" is a poor answer, but in this case it is the only answer. Physical attraction is an important part of real love, but in my opinion mutual interests and mutual attitudes and opinions, and seeing eye to eye on the majority of issues are also tremendously important and no feeling can honestly be termed mature love that does not include them.

My advice would be that you bide your time now and go light on the hugs and kisses until you find out whether your personalities are truly compatible. This is by far most important. Physical compatibility is much easier to find.

Dear Miss Brandow: I got tired of dating Allen, and one night at a party I decided we were through and asked another boy to take me home. Allen was nice but acted hurt. He took Ruthie

Amnesia Victim Mapping Plans

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Nate J. House, partially paralyzed amnesia victim, today mapped plans for the future as his past slowly returned.

House lost his memory and disappeared from his Kingsville, Tex., home Sept. 3 after suffering a cerebral blood clot.

He was reunited with his wife and daughter, Gloria, 16, last week at Deming, N.M., but suffered another cerebral clot at San Antonio, while en route to Baton Rouge.

The second attack left House paralyzed in the right hand and right leg, but immediately after that his memory began to return.

His wife came to live at a sister's home here several months after House disappeared from Kingsville. She was informed of his whereabouts when a truck driver, who previously knew House at St. Francisville, La., recognized him working at a truck stop in Deming.

House said he "came to" in El Paso, Tex., but still didn't know who he was or where he was from. He wound up in Deming after working and walking his way across West Texas.

Flaming Pyre

This is a general view of the flaming hall in Baltimore, Md., where at least 10 persons perished as the fire swept the structure during an oyster roast. Panic broke out among the some 1,000 persons present when the fire was discovered. Nine other persons were reported missing after the fire.

Report Sought In Church Fire That Killed 10

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Anne Arundel County commissioners were expected to seek a "preliminary report" at their regular meeting today on the fire at Arundel Park Auditorium near Baltimore that took the lives of 10 persons and injured about 200 more.

An "intense probe" was begun into the cause of the Sunday blaze that stampeded about a thousand or more persons attending an oyster roast sponsored by the Holy Name Society of the St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church.

Named to the three member investigation group were Harry W. Klasmeyer, head of the Fire Prevention Bureau, Sgt. Thomas Smith of the state police and H. Charles Robinson, special investigator for the county police.

Eyewitnesses said a small blaze first was noticed in the kitchen area, then the flames reached up to the wooden ceiling and spread quickly the length of the building.

Then the lights went out, the crowd rushed for the doors and chaos resulted.

New York Governor Harriman Asks Record-High State Budget

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman asked the Legislature today to approve a record-high $1,501,100,000 state budget, which he called "tight" and recommended an immediate 40-million-dollar income tax cut favoring persons in the lower brackets.

In his budget message, he indicated he would support gasoline tax increases and a bond issue to finance a long-range highway building program.

The governor set aside $508,000,000—more than a third of his entire budget—for education. It represents a rise of $67,400,000, or 15.3 per cent, over last year.

It is the fifth consecutive billion-plus budget in this state. Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Harriman's Republican predecessor, submitted the first three.

To help pay for his proposed boost in spending, Harriman will have revenue of $88,400,000 in excess of what he estimated when he tendered his first budget a year ago.

The governor broke his budget down into three main sections: $786,200,000 for local assistance, an increase of $95,600,000; $334,000,000 for state purposes, a boost of $51,100,000 and $174,500,000 for capital construction, a rise of $26,900,000.

These three total $1,494,700,000, to which Harriman added $6,000,000 from the capital construction fund for "first instance advances" (loans) and $400,000 from the general fund surplus for the state's "rainy day" reserve funds.

Production Drops

TULSA (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and condensate dropped 48,550 barrels to 6,982,973 during the week ended Jan. 28, the Oil and Gas Journal survey showed today.

Kansas and Oklahoma accounted for practically all the decline, the former falling 23,500 barrels to 325,300 and the latter losing 23,300 to 587,400.

By ED CREAUGH WASHINGTON (AP)—Bad news, stenographers: You may have to go back to school and learn to type all over again.

But there's a bright side to it: your fingers might get a lot less tired under a new keyboard system which the government begins testing today. And your employer—the American taxpayer, in this case—stands to save a tidy sum if the new keyboard does all that's claimed for it.

Twenty-four government figures from 10 federal agencies are taking part in the four-month test. Twelve use standard typewriters. The others work out on new keyboards, which look at first glance like a stenographer's nightmare.

New Brazilian President Due To Take Office Today

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Elected by the votes of dictator Getulio Vargas' followers and the Communists, Juscelino Kubitschek becomes Brazil's president today. He heads a largely conservative cabinet.

Delegates from 60 nations and members of the new Congress were in Rio for the inauguration of the 53-year-old former governor of Minas Gerais state, born in the backwoods of Brazil and the grandson of a Czech immigrant.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon headed a 17-member U. S. delegation to the inaugural ceremonies in the capital of Latin America's largest and most populous country.

Rio took on a carnival air in the midst of a 100-degree summer heat wave. The holiday atmosphere was in marked contrast to the tension three months ago, when military leaders overthrew an interim government suspected of trying to block Kubitschek's inauguration because of the support his ticket had attracted from the followers of the late dictator and the Reds.

A conservative himself, Kubitschek bulwarked his government by continuing in office the three service chiefs who staged the counter-coup that insured his inauguration. They are Gen. Enrique Teixeira Lott, the war minister; Gen. Vasco Alves Seco, air minister; and Adm. Antonio Alves Camara, navy.

To cope with the vast economic problems facing Brazil, the new President also named to his 11-member Cabinet four men from his own Social Democrat party, one each from the conservative Republican and Liberal Social Progress parties, and only two from the Labor party of his running mate and Vargas' political heir, Vice President Joao Goulart.

In addition to the three military leaders, Foreign Minister Jose Carlos Macedo Soares was continued in office and Provisional President Nereu Ramos, installed by the Nov. 11 coup, was named justice minister.

In a preinaugural news conference, Kubitschek emphasized the urgent necessity for his government to expand transport, electric power and production to meet Brazil's dependence on imports and consequent shortage of foreign exchange.

Vandals Toss Fire Bomb At El Paso Schoolman's House

EL PASO (AP)—An El Paso High School principal said yesterday vandals tossed a flaming gasoline bomb at his home Sunday night. The flames were put out with only minor damage.

Virgil Welch, principal of a new high school, said the makeshift bomb consisted of a jar of gasoline with a handkerchief stuffed in the neck. He estimated damage to woodwork at $350.

Welch said he called down a group of boys at the school last week for wearing "gang" sweaters to school.

British H-Bomb Test Scheduled For Next Year

LONDON (AP)—The London News Chronicle said today Britain will explode its first hydrogen bomb "somewhere in the South Pacific next year."

The story, which gave no source for the information, said the bomb will be of an immensely powerful three-decker type—with an atomic bomb trigger, a middle shell of hydrogen and an outer layer of uranium.

There was no immediate comment from officials on the report. Britain has scheduled a nuclear weapons test off Australia in April but Australian sources have said a hydrogen weapon would not be set off.

The News Chronicle said a team of British scientists already is exploring possible test areas in the Pacific and added:

"It has been decided that, if a ground test is objected to by other countries, the bomb will be exploded in the air between three and four miles up so that the fireball cannot touch the earth's surface."

The Soviets announced last November they had exploded their most powerful H-bomb so far high in the air to safeguard against harmful radioactive influences.

The first man-made hydrogen fusion device was set off by the United States on the ground at its Bikini Atoll testing site.

Blast Rocks Negro Minister's Home

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—An explosion last night damaged a Negro minister's home in a new flareup of violence stemming from the prolonged boycott by Negroes of the city's transportation system.

Minutes after the blast the minister, who has been an outspoken leader in the movement protesting segregated-seating laws, appealed to a crowd gathered at the scene to remain calm in the face of mounting racial tension here.

Police said either a hand grenade or dynamite shattered windows at the home of the Rev. M. L. King.

No one was injured. This was the first violence reported since the first week of the boycott last Dec. 5. Shots were fired at a few buses during that first week but there were no injuries and little damage.

The City Commission offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the bombing.

King's wife, their 7-week-old daughter and Mrs. Roscoe Williams were in the home alone when they heard a thud "like a brick hitting the front porch."

They ducked into a back room just as the explosion shattered windows, ripped a hole in the porch and cracked a porch column.

Arriving home 15 minutes after the explosion from a mass meeting at a church, the Rev. Mr. King asked about 300 Negroes gathered outside his home to be "peaceful."

"Don't get panicky," he said. "Don't get your weapons. He who lives by the sword will perish by the sword. Remember that is what God says..."

Mayor W. A. Gayle told the Negroes at the scene that the "entire white community is for law and order and none of us condone or believe in these sort of acts."

King, 27-year-old pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church, was fined $14 last Saturday for driving 30 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone. He denied the charge and blamed his arrest on Gayle's statement that the City Commission was through "pussyfooting around" with boycotters.

Mrs. Mattie Smith, 73, a customer, finally threatened to sic her dog on the man. A woman at the counter picked up a coffee mug to defend herself.

"I guess I've changed my mind," the bandit said. "Just give me a cup of coffee."

Waitress Lucille Kizer said the man drank the coffee and two glasses of water before leaving.

"He didn't pay for the coffee," she said. "I didn't ask him."

Worcester, Mass. (AP)—Five well-groomed youths, aged 15 to 20, today were under life sentences in state prison after they admitted slaying an unemployed painter in a robbery that netted them only 12 cents.

The youths are Richard P. Pelton, 20; George S. Patenaude, 19; Donald C. Magnuson, 18; Robert K. St. John, 17; and Robert F. Wesson, 15, all of Worcester.

The victim was T. J. (Tex) Holder, 48, whose battered body was found in a park last July 26.

5 Youths Plead Guilty In Slaying

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Five well-groomed youths, aged 15 to 20, today were under life sentences in state prison after they admitted slaying an unemployed painter in a robbery that netted them only 12 cents.

The youths are Richard P. Pelton, 20; George S. Patenaude, 19; Donald C. Magnuson, 18; Robert K. St. John, 17; and Robert F. Wesson, 15, all of Worcester.

The victim was T. J. (Tex) Holder, 48, whose battered body was found in a park last July 26.

Stickup Artist Settles For A Cup

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—"Line up against the wall, this is a stickup," ordered a would-be badman at May and D. A.'s Cafe last night.

He repeated the demand three times, but wasn't getting anywhere.

Mrs. Mattie Smith, 73, a customer, finally threatened to sic her dog on the man. A woman at the counter picked up a coffee mug to defend herself.

"I guess I've changed my mind," the bandit said. "Just give me a cup of coffee."

Waitress Lucille Kizer said the man drank the coffee and two glasses of water before leaving.

"He didn't pay for the coffee," she said. "I didn't ask him."

Nehru Supports Plan For State Government Merger

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru has thrown his support behind a campaign to get India's 27 state governments to merge voluntarily. The idea is to make unnecessary the government's plan to redraw state boundaries along language lines.

Nehru told a mass meeting the Bombay "language riots," in which between 300 and 400 persons died earlier this month, could not force the government to abandon its program for new linguistic state boundaries.

But the riots, he said, showed the "dangers inherent in the creating of linguistic states and reminded one of the cause of India's fall through the ages—mutual rivalry, petty mindedness, violence and provincialism."

Nehru termed the announced plan of the governments of West Bengal and Bihar to merge a "healthy electric shock treatment" and added: "I want this example to be followed in other places also."

Nehru has never been in favor of linguistic states, holding that they would hamper national unity. But pressure from local groups had forced him to endorse the plan to consolidate India's 27 states into 16 along language lines.

The West Bengal and Bihar chief ministers announced their plan to merge after the central government's plan calling for exchanges of border territory between them touched off disturbances in their state capitals. The riots in Bombay protested the plan to make that big West Indian port a federal city, separating it from the rest of Bombay state.

Polar Site's Base Depth Is Studied

By SAUL PETT

LITTLE AMERICA V (AP)—This main base in America's antarctic Operation Deepfreeze stands on a floor of snow and ice 600 to 800 feet thick.

Below, seismographic studies show today, there is water to a depth of 1,500 feet. And below that is about 350 feet of silt resting on the bed rock of the antarctic.

This information was supplied Rear Adm. George Dufek, commander of Navy Task Force 43, by the Rev. Daniel Linehan, seismologist of Boston College.

The Little America base is located three miles inland from Kanan Bay, on the Ross Shelf, which covers an area of 160,000 square miles. The shelf has been built up by thousands of years of snowfall and glacier ice sliding down the mountains from the giant plateau covering the antarctic interior.

Experts estimate the coastal area of the Ross Shelf extends outward about four feet a day under the force of its own weight and that of the glaciers pushing down from the mountains. Thus, a year from now, Little America V is likely to be more than a quarter of a mile farther north than it is today.

Good news was received, meanwhile, from the trail-blazing party penetrating deep into Byrd Land to locate the site of another base. American scientists will use for the International Geophysical Year observations next year.

The seven-man party was reported moving east again after being stopped for 2 1/2 days by a blinding whiteout.

Mother Is Freed At Abortion Death Trial

Judge Rules Punishment Already Given

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The mother of a 22-year-old Doris Jean Oestreicher, who arranged the abortion which led to the girl's death, was freed today by a judge who said the memory of the tragedy would be "substantial and overwhelming punishment." Shortly before a bartender and his beautiful wife drew prison terms for the death of the food chain heiress.

Strongly condemning the abortion as contrary to both the laws of Pennsylvania and to the moral laws of the world, Judge Vincent A. Carroll freed Mrs. Gertrude Silver and rejected pleas for mercy by the attorney for Milton Schwartz, 42, and his blonde 38-year-old wife, Rosalie.

He first sentenced Mrs. Schwartz who admitted on the witness stand yesterday that she performed the illegal operation that killed the attractive red-haired bride of a Miami motorcycle policeman. He imposed an indeterminate prison term and ordered Mrs. Schwartz committed to the Pennsylvania Industrial Home for Women at Muncy.

Mrs. Schwartz, moaning and weeping hysterically, fainted and had to be carried from the crowded courtroom. Her attorney, William Gray, leaped to his feet and asked Judge Carroll to reconsider and sentence her instead to 11 to 23 months.

The judge said he would take the request under consideration. As the cries of Mrs. Schwartz echoed through the courtroom Judge Carroll called up Schwartz and sentenced him to 3 to 10 years in East State Penitentiary.

Mrs. Silver, the dead girl's mother, pleaded nolo contendere yesterday to being an accessory before the fact of abortion. She sat with bowed head and closed eyes as Judge Carroll directed his remarks to her before he suspended sentence. She could have received a maximum term of 10 years and $5,000 fine.

Judge Carroll said that "further punishment" in Mrs. Silver's case "would be classified as legal revenge."

He said that the "present tragic picture of this defendant, this mother, is and will continue to be a deterrent to future crimes of this kind. The memory of this tragedy will rest on her memory." Gray, in asking for a lighter sentence for Mrs. Schwartz, said that under the law she could be imprisoned for as long as 10 years unless paroled.

Before Judge Carroll pronounced sentence, two psychiatrists testified that imprisonment for Mrs. Silver—a 49-year-old titan-haired matron whose husband is a vice president of a multimillion dollar East Coast food store chain—would be a "further impediment in her getting well."

Maurice Wolf, representing Mrs. Schwartz, urged clemency and pointed out "the motive in this case, if anything, was excessive love."

He said further, that no matter if the abortion was Mrs. Silver's idea or her daughter's idea "it was a wrong idea."

Doctors who performed the abortion resulting in death, were charged with abortion and conspiracy but these charges were nolle prossed—dismissed—after today's sentencing.

The defendants also were charged with conspiracy but these charges were nolle prossed—dismissed—after today's sentencing.

Two months earlier she had eloped with Earl M. Oestreicher, a Miami Beach, Fla., motorcycle policeman, after a whirlwind romance. Oestreicher was in the courtroom yesterday.

Dawson Mothers Hope To Reach Campaign Goal

LAMESA—Gene Pearson, drive chairman of the 1956 March of Dimes, reported that the funds are now standing over $4,000, far from the quota of 10,000, it is hoped that the Mothers' March this evening will bring in enough to reach that goal, said Pearson.

Mothers' March headquarters have been set up at the Lamesa Insurance Agency, 110 Austin, and Mrs. Pat White, MOD secretary, will take all calls that the mothers miss. Someone will be dispatched to pick up these contributions.

Word Puzzles Attract Wider Popularity

Not since the 1920's, when crossword puzzles first attained wide national popularity, have Americans shown such an interest in the word puzzles as they do today. In fact, the number of people doing crossword puzzles today is at an all time high.

Experts on the subject offer various reasons for this upsurge in popularity. First, they say, it may reflect the larger, second generation of people who are discovering the fun of crossword puzzles. But more than this, we as a nation have a great deal of "waiting time" on our hands, little periods during the day when we are waiting to see a doctor or business contact, riding the bus to work, or killing a few minutes while our automatic appliances do their jobs.

The typical crossword puzzle of today grew out of a type of word puzzle conceived by Arthur Winn, an editor of the old New York World Sunday Magazine, to fill an empty space in his newspaper.

Since that time, shortly before World War I, crossword puzzles of many different varieties have been manufactured by loyal fans of the hobby. Subject matter has ranged from topics of general interest to religious matters and even Latin and Greek grammar. Occasional puzzles have been constructed from numbers or symbols instead of letters.

This week, readers will be introduced to a unique crossword puzzle called "The Trickster." This new "Trickster" puzzle will be featured in an advertisement for Procter & Gamble's Joy liquid dishwasher. It will appear only once, in the big food issue of the Herald Thursday and the winner will be awarded $32,000 in cash.

Debate Pact Raises Hopes For Gas Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—An agreement to limit debate has assured a Senate vote early next week on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

Forces for and against the measure accepted the debate limitation without dissent late yesterday. Debate, now in its third week, will be limited Monday to an hour on each amendment, with up to three hours of discussion to precede a vote on final passage approved 209-203 last year a measure almost identical to the Senate bill.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) opposing the measure, called on Congress to "investigate the country's giant oil companies to see whether the anti-trust laws and the Corrupt Practices Act (federal election laws) are adequate to protect the people against a powerful price fixing monopoly working in politics through both major parties."

He assailed the bill as designed to protect monopoly pricing of oil as well as gas, and to prevent public disclosure of the use of great concentrated wealth to influence the nation's political decisions.

Hennings said that "while the Natural Gas Bill has the support of a small part of the Democratic party leadership in both House and Senate, it is opposed by the great majority of the Democratic party throughout the country and by most of the party's representatives in both houses."

Backers include Speaker Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, both of Texas. Hennings called natural gas "merely a by-product for the oil companies which primarily are interested in the sale of oil."

"The giant oil companies," he said, "already are able to pay large dividends, and stand in no need of public relief or public aid or legislative assistance of any kind whatsoever."

Youth Committed To State School After Burglaries

The sentence for breaking into over a dozen houses here within the past month for a 11-year-old juvenile Monday was commitment to the State Reform School at Gatesville.

The youngster admitted breaking into the houses—most of them on East Highway 80—and on Juvenile Court Monday he was sentenced to the Gatesville School.

His brother, 14, admitted going into only one of the houses and was committed but was released to his mother. He and his mother plan to move back to Waco.

The younger boy had been suspected of breaking into between 12 and 15 houses in Waco, and as a result of the burglary.

In the juvenile authorities in Waco were queried as to Williams' record, they reported the burglaries there and recommended the reform school. The 11-year-old also admitted two burglaries in Snyder within the past month.

Juvenile officer A. E. Long said the boy would be taken to Gatesville Wednesday.

Menu: Atomic Steak With Nuclear Salad

DUGAWAY PROVING GROUNDS, Utah (AP)—You sit down to dinner and your wife says: "Tonight, dear, we're having atomic steak with nuclear salad."

It won't happen tonight, or a year from tonight, but Army and civilian scientists working with an atomic "cooking spot" here say that foods preserved by nuclear energy may be ready for you in 10 or 15 years.

When the time comes, you may find that some familiar foods taste a little different. But the scientists say that will be a minor problem—like learning to like spinach.

The research is part of a national five-year program. The goal is to learn how to use waste products from atomic energy plants to preserve perishable foods so they can be kept on shelves or held on sidings at crowded market places without spoiling.

The project is in its second year, and the atomic "spot" fixes freshness into foods so permanently that some of them are still good to eat after a year or more.

Newsman saw the Dugaway project yesterday. It was the first time details of the food preservation studies for the Atomic Army post had been disclosed.

The scientists call the process "atomic irradiation." What it does is kill the bacteria that cause decay.

Dr. C. J. Christensen, University of Utah, who coordinates the research, said the problem is to find out whether the irradiation process destroys food value along with bacteria.

Another, he said, is irradiating food without changing its taste, color or texture. He would want to eat it.

"But," he said, "from where we stand now, it looks very hopeful that inside 10 to 15 years atomic irradiation will be in commercial use for food preservation."

"There will be some foods we won't want to eat; others will work beautifully."

He said it has been proved the humans are not in any danger from the processed foods.

JayCee Contributions Told At Club's Bosses Banquet

The greatest contribution Jaycees are making are intangible but real—the contribution of young men trained in civic leadership—Ed Stumpf, Houston, state Jaycee president, declared here Monday evening.

Stumpf was the speaker at the Jaycees' Bosses Banquet held at the Settles Hotel. List of accomplishments of the Jaycees nationally and on a state level was considerable, he told his audience. Last year the organization furnished medical teams to South Viet Nam as a good will gesture to combat communism; raised $250,000 or more than all other organizations combined, for the Olympic team; sponsored a Voice of Democracy program to better acquaint people with fundamental rights and obligations; became interested in helping mental hospital patients.

Bill Cox, charter member of the local Jaycee chapter and regarded as the "grand old man of the young men," was recognized as the Jaycee of the Year. He was presented with a handsome pen desk set. Col. Charles M. Young, Webb AFB commander, was recognized for encouraging young men at Webb to participate in community affairs, and John Taylor, president, gave

Scattered Rain Seen For Texas

By The Associated Press

Snow flurries in the Panhandle and scattered rain over other sections of Texas was forecast for Wednesday.

Continued cold and partly cloudy weather was predicted for Tuesday.

Rain splattered a number of points Monday but the amount was negligible. Fort Worth had a light sleet that melted as it fell.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 21 at Dalhart and Lubbock to 32 at Brownsville. Skies were clear in parts of West Texas, cloudy in South Central and East Texas, and partly cloudy elsewhere.

Lufkin and College Station reported a light rain before dawn. Abilene had 23 degrees, Midland 24, San Angelo 26, Fort Worth 28, Dallas 31, Waco 32, San Antonio 41 and Houston 47 at dawn.

Benson Warns Meat Packers To 'Tighten Up Your Costs'

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson told meat packers today "to tighten up your costs" because, he said, the farmer is bearing more than the full brunt of price decline.

He said too the Department of Agriculture is stepping up its pork-buying program in an effort to bolster hog prices, and will do everything possible to help develop new markets abroad.

"However," he said in a speech prepared for the National Swine Industry Committee, "we do not intend to contribute to the problems of livestock farmers by approving any program for the government to purchase and store vast quantities of meat products for which it has no visible outlet."

"We feel that this would do irreparable injury to the industry."

He told packer representatives on the industry committee, which also includes producer spokesmen, that he has been "extremely concerned" because marketing margins have been rising while farm

Missouri Pacific's 22-Year-Old Receivership May End Soon

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The longest major railroad bankruptcy born of the depression—the Missouri Pacific's 22-year-old receivership—may end within two months.

"It's anticipated that unless some monkey wrench is thrown into the proceedings, the receivership may end within 60 days," said Russell Dearmont, attorney for the Missouri Pacific trustee.

His comment came after the Supreme Court refused yesterday to grant a hearing to two objectors to the "agreed system" plan of reorganization.

The receivership would end with the effective date of a consummation order to be issued by Federal Judge George Moore of St. Louis.

Another appeal is pending in Federal Court and Moore's final order conceivably could be delayed if the objectors again seek a Supreme Court hearing.

Appeals involve technical objections to a feature of the reorganization plan under which 25 subsidiary corporations making up the Missouri Pacific System would be dissolved and their properties transferred to the parent organization.

This would make Missouri Pacific one of the nation's 10 biggest railroads.

The plan was approved in 1954 by the Interstate Commerce Commission and subsequently by Moore. The Federal Court of Appeals here affirmed Moore's ruling Sept. 19, and the objectors sought a Supreme Court hearing.

The pending appeal by the same objectors is on Moore's order concerning the plan after it was approved by 13 of 15 classes of security holders last spring by overwhelming majorities. Two other classes, approved it by simple majorities but didn't give it a two-thirds majority.

The objectors include holders of 4.8 per cent of the stock of the subsidiary New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway and holders of second Missouri Pacific 5 1/2 per cent secured serial bonds.

Dearmont sought today to have the Federal Court of Appeals hear their appeal of Moore's confirmation order early next month.

If this appeal is rejected, Moore is then expected to issue the final order. The objectors still could seek a Supreme Court hearing.

The Mopac system now consists of the Missouri Pacific, the International Great Northern Railway group and the Gulf Coast Lines, of which the New Orleans Line is the largest.

The public owns about 5.8 per cent of the stock of the New Orleans Line, the only one not wholly owned by Mopac or its subsidiaries.

Dearmont said Avery Brundage, president of the Olympic Games Committee, holds the biggest block of this publicly-owned New Orleans stock. Missouri Pacific owns 94.2 per cent of the stock.

The reorganization plan gives recognition to the present common stock, about half of which is owned

Injured Duo Saved From Plane Wreck

NOME, Alaska (AP)—The injured commander of the Alaska National Guard and a disabled companion were removed from the shattered remains of their plane yesterday in a daring rescue by three pilots and a druggist.

Brig. Gen. John R. Noyes was reported in critical condition with numerous injuries and extreme exposure.

Maj. Robert Kolb, pilot of the Guard plane, was hospitalized with minor injuries. He too was frozen from three days spent huddled in the wreckage with Noyes, who could not be moved until aid came.

Noyes' twisted body remained in the same position it took Friday when the plane in which he and Kolb were riding with two other men crashed into the top of a high mountain and slid 300 feet down its icy slopes.

The crash scene was 25 miles northeast of this bleak northern outpost across the forbidding Bering Strait from Soviet Siberia.

The two men riding with Noyes and Kolb, Sgt. Richard August of Nome, the mechanic, and Maj. Francis Siegwart, commander of the Alaska National Guard's 1st Scout Battalion here, started the long walk from the crash scene to Nome Sunday, two days after the plane crashed.

They were spotted from the air and intercepted on the ground shortly after a Civil Air Patrol plane piloted by Phillip Lancaster of Nome located Noyes' downed craft.

Siegwart was uninjured. August was suffering extreme exposure.

Lancaster and his flying companion Martin Olson landed their light craft at the top of the plateau.

"I want to speak very bluntly with you," he said. "It is essential that marketing margins be kept in line so they do not exceed real costs and that farmers be paid as much as possible for their products."

"I urge you in industry to tighten up your costs. Keep your profits and margins in line with the historic pattern of a large-volume, small-margin industry. . . . The livestock farmer is bearing more than the full brunt of price decline at a time when his costs are going up. . . ."

"I stand emphatically that I will not stand idly by during such times without defending the farmer with every means at my disposal."

Attorney Claims Tokyo Rose Citizen, Can't Be Deported

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The attorney who defended Tokyo Rose in her 1949 treason trial contends that even if the government takes away her citizenship, it could not deport her.

Wayne Collins pointed out yesterday that Mrs. Iva D'Aquino, her real name, was born in the United States. Even if she loses citizenship, he said, she would still be a "resident native of the United States—a stateless person—but not subject to removal because she would not be an alien."

Another Suit From Plane Crash Filed

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Another damage suit resulting from the February 1955 TWA plane crash in the Sandia Mountains near here has been filed in Albuquerque. An attorney for the estate of Robert B. Relly of Dallas sued the attorney for the estate of the pilot of the plane, Ivan R. Spong, for $202,000. Sixteen persons were killed in the crash.

Mollet Turns Back On Reds In Catholic Support Attempt

PARIS (AP)—Socialist Guy Mollet appeared turning his back on the Communists today in hopes of winning Catholic support for his bid to become France's first Socialist premier since 1947.

He prepared to go before the National Assembly with a compact Cabinet list of 13 ministers and a policy statement threshed out over the weekend with Pierre Mendes-France and other partners in his Republican Front.

The complexion of the Cabinet and the reported Mollet platform appeared designed to woo support of the MRP (Popular Republican Movement) as a substitute for Communist backing.

Korean Couple Slays 'Possessed' Daughter

SEOUL (AP)—Police today said a 36-year-old Korean and his wife had confessed they strangled their 3-year-old daughter "because the Devil's spirit dwelled within her." Police said the couple were known as "pious Christians with 10 years of faithful church attendance." Both have been charged with murder.

Dons, Dayton Still 1-2 In Cage Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. The Associated Press

The San Francisco Dons, who remained undefeated through last Saturday's battle of the Deep Freeze against California and set a new record for college basketball winning streaks, seem to be just as thoroughly installed at the top of the basketball rankings.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: FRANK LANE, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals: "All sports have one thing in common. And that is the evolution of the athlete. It follows a set pattern. Ten years out of college, the man who was a third stringer evolves, in his own thinking, into a regular. Twenty years, and he becomes an outstanding star. Thirty years, and he's an All-American."

JOHNNY LAYTON, the late three-cushion and pocket billiards champion: "Take all the shots of all the thousands of players in this world and put 'em together and you'd still be shy a billion or two combi-nations. Nobody ever will know them all. It's a game of mathematical science that you never master."

DAN FERRIS of the NAUO: "I don't see how the United States Olympic team can miss winning at least ten track and field events. Several of our boys hold world records in their specialties and if the Russians or anybody else beats them, we'll be surprised. I can't see anybody taking Bob Richards in the discus. As for Paddy O'Brien, what shot putter has come close to his world record?"

HARRY MENDEL, boxing publicity man: "Tony Galento was the meanest and dirtiest fighter who ever lived. There was no close second. Galento would butt a man for the sheer fun of it."

HAROLD DAVIS, HCJC cage mentor, following his return from New Mexico on a scouting mission: "I saw only two boys who might help us and one of those apparently can go anywhere he chooses. His folks are well off."

CHUCK TAYLOR, 'ambassador to U.S. basketball' of a sporting goods firm: "The San Francisco Dons could beat several of the pro teams in the National Basketball Association. Last year, I told every one that USF was the best basketball team I'd ever seen. This one is even better. It's the first club in history with a perfect all-around game — offense, defense, shooting, etc."

RALPH KINER, former big league outfielder: "My biggest disappointment was in never playing in a World Series. That's the big goal of every player. When you finally fade out without having experienced the thrill, it leaves you with a sort of empty feeling."

CARL HUBBELL, one-time meal ticket of the New York Giants: "For five years, Dizzy Dean was the greatest pitcher I ever saw."

GABE PAUL, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs: "When radio came along, they said the phonograph was dead. There are more phonographs now than at any time in history. When television came along, they said radio was dead. There are more radio sets now than ever before. Discouragement is the enemy of the football player. It is the enemy of the baseball player. It is the enemy of the man in business. If you give in to failure, you're licked. Fight back, and you win."

RED SANDERS, UCLA football coach, when asked if he had ever been hung in effigy: "There's nothing childish about the UCLA student body. If it decided to hang me, it'd be for keeps."

A THOROUGHbred RACING ASSOCIATION report on racing: "The average person attending a race track is married, a church member, from the middle income group and one of the 57 per cent of the American public who enjoys gambling in some form or another."

FG Rash Breaks Out In League

Points were a dime-a-dozen in YMCA Industrial Basketball League play here Monday night.

Nabors Paint Store thrashed The Daily Herald, 83-14, in the opening contest. Tate, Bristow and Parks Insurance Company followed with a 73-46 triumph over Denton's Pharmacy while Garden City finished up with a 42-31 success at the expense of McGibbon Phillips 66.

In all, 289 points were scored in the three contests.

Bill Bennett and Walker staged a two-man scoring show in the Nabors-Herald engagement. Bennett banked 32 points, Walker 25.

DAYTON'S FLYERS, who suffered their first defeat after winning 14 straight, held onto second place ahead of upsurging Vanderbilt.

While Dayton was losing to Louisville, 66-64 in overtime, Vanderbilt's Commodores turned in a decisive 81-73 decision over Kentucky and St. Louis University beat Cincinnati by an impressive 104-86 score.

As a result of these three games, Vanderbilt leaped from seventh place to third in the rankings, Louisville vaulted from ninth to fifth and Kentucky dropped from third to eighth.

Although running their winning streak to 13 for the season, unbeaten Temple pushed down one place to seventh, just behind Big Ten leader Illinois, which also lost ground.

North Carolina State, fourth; North Carolina, fifth; and Duke, tenth, completed the top 10.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams, dethroned as passing champion, won the punting title of the National Football League last season, official league statistics disclosed today.

Van Brocklin booted the ball 60 times in 1955 for an average distance of 44.6 yards with his longest boot traveling 61 yards. None of Van Brocklin's punts were blocked.

Dick Deschaine of Green Bay was runner-up with an average of 43.2 per boot, followed by Adrian Burk of the Philadelphia Eagles, 42.9; Eddie LeBaron, Washington, 41.6; and Jag Gland, Detroit, 41.5.

The 1954 champion, Pat Brady of Pittsburgh, was out for the entire season because of injuries.

Borger Uses Free Throws To Defeat Hawks, 76-65

BORGER, (SC)—Frank Phillips of Borger used his favorite weapon, the free throw, to defeat the HCJC Jayhawks of Big Spring, 76-65, in a West Zone basketball game here Monday night.

The outcome left the Plainsmen in sole possession of first place in West Zone standings with a 3-0 won-lost record. HCJC now has won two and lost one.

The Hawks outshot the Plainsmen from the field, 28-25, but the home club made 26 free pitches to nine for HCJC.

The Phillips team had only nine fouls called against them, to 20 for the Hawks. Only four of those infractions were called in the first half.

In the first 18 minutes and 49 seconds of the second half, only two fouls were charged against Borger. The other three came against Frank Phillips substitutes, after the Plainsmen had saluted away the verdict.

Wiley Brown played one of his finest games for HCJC, scoring 24 points.

Nashua Appears To Know What He Sold For

By GAYLE TALBOT MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The sum of $1,251,200 is not quite the dignified lump that it once was, when you could have bought a small railroad for that amount, but there still is a thrill in saying a few words to a horse that fetched such a figure.

Nashua is a beautiful animal, even when interviewed at Hialeah Park in the chill of the very early morning. One could almost swear he knows what his new owners paid for him as he gazes majestically up new ways of getting attention from his groom, Artie Robinson.

Nashua stomps and stomps with an expensive foreleg until Robinson jumps up in pretended exasperation with a "No, Mick! No, Mick!" and drives him back a step or two into the deep straw.

Nashua nips at the spring which holds shut the special cage door of his stall to make it "whang," and he knows that will bring Robinson, too.

"Mick," Artie says aggrievedly, "you'd run a person crazy."

The difficulty with his charge right now, Artie explains, is that he's back in shape and wants to race.

For five weeks between the tragic death of Nashua's original owner William Woodward Jr. and his record sale to the syndicate headed by Leslie Combs, the colt and his groom camped out on a farm near Paris, Ky. Nashua ran loose in a pasture.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the 81-year-old trainer of Nashua, recognizes that the showpiece of his extensive stable is ready to run again, and he would like to let him stretch out for about seven-eighths of a mile before he goes in the $100,000-added Widener Handicap here Feb. 18, but it is not too easy to find exactly the right event and the right conditions, even with the track management offering its eager cooperation.

"We've got too much time ahead of us to take any chances now," Fitz explained. "We'll have to wait and see how things turn out. Nashua isn't going to run in any race, not even in the Widener, if the track is really bad, the way it was a couple of days after last week's heavy rain."

Knott To Play In Kat Gym

Knott seeks his fourth straight basketball victory in District 19-B tonight, at which time the Hill Billies will be in Garden City.

Bill Bolin's team will be heavily favored to win that one, since Garden City is still without a victory in tonight's other action, Forsan.

A win would all but insure a first place finish for the Knott team in the standings.

Knott had its hardest game last week, at which time it edged by Forsan in a game at Forsan, 51-48.

In tonight's other action, Forsan will be in Sterling City. The loser of that contest will be all but eliminated from title contention.

Forsan is the defending champion in the circuit and has shown much improvement in recent weeks.

Yearlings Invade Odessa Gym Today

Charles Caraway's Big Spring Junior High School Yearlings invade Odessa this afternoon for a basketball doubleheader with Bowie Junior High of that city.

Both the Eighth and Ninth Grade contingents will see action.

The action will serve as a final warmup for the Ninth Graders, who compete in a tournament at Midland this weekend.

Longhorns Host Tornado Quint

Two arch rivals, Big Spring and Lamesa, tangle in a District 1-AAA basketball engagement in the local gymnasium this evening. Tipoff time is 8 o'clock.

Lamesa has had all the better of the milling in the series in recent years. It's been over a decade since the Steers have been able to beat the Golden Tornadoes.

In their previous meeting this season, which took place in Lamesa, the Tornadoes won a three-point verdict.

Coach O. W. Follis brings another talented team to town. Like his other quintets in the past, the Tornadoes do not depend upon one player to get the job done.

Instead, he fields five boys of about equal ability and benefits from a fairly strong bench.

Alvin Cohorn, Bobby Seal, Doyle Chapman, Dwayne Powell and Dennis Lamphere are among the boys who will see action for the visitors.

Lamesa has won three games and lost seven in conference play this year. Big Spring will carry a 3-3 record into play.

Probable starters for Big Spring are Jimmy Bice, Jimmy Evans, Charles Johnson, Mike Musgrove and Jan Loudermilk. LeRoy LeFevre, Donald Lovelady, Jesse McElreath and Lloyd Harrison will be available for relief duty.

This is the next-to-last home game for the Longhorns, who meet Monterey, Palo Duro and Stanton on the road, before closing out Feb. 14 here against Levelland.

There'll be a B team action tonight, starting at 6:15 p.m.

Dale McKeehan Assumes Lead

Sweetwater's Dale McKeehan has taken a big league in the individual scoring race in District 1-AAA, with a total of 251 points.

The tall senior, who seems to get better each game, has averaged 22.8 points in 11 district starts.

His closest pursuer is Gene Arrington of Palo Duro, who scored 30 points against Monterey Saturday night to run his district aggregate to 214 in ten games. That averages out to 21.4 a game.

Palo Duro's Robert Hoyer is the only other player with more than 200 points. He has 202.

The leading Big Spring scorer is sophomore Jan Loudermilk, who has 152 points in 11 games for an average of 13.9.

The leading scorers:

Russia, with an imposing total of 85 points going into the fifth day failed to pick up a gold medal but got a third place in speed skating.

The United States, with only 6½ points accumulated through the first four days in unofficial team competition, failed to better its position materially although it could look forward to championships, and plenty of points, in the men's and women's figure skating.

Alston Is Sure Bums Will Again Be Eager Club

By JACK HAND NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Alston sees no danger of complacency on his 1956 Brooklyn Dodgers after their first World Series success.

"They all know they had to hustle to get up there and they'll have to keep hustling to stay," Alston said yesterday after signing to manage the Dodgers again for a reported $32,500 salary. "They all realize this is another year."

Alston pointed to catcher Roy Campanella, pitcher Don Newcombe and third baseman Jackie Robinson as he spoke of his hopes for the new season. He discounted the problem of the Dodgers' advancing ages.

"Cammy, Newk and Jackie look pretty good to me," he said. "I think they all lost weight since the end of the season. Although they're a year older, they'll still get us plenty of runs."

"Pitching could be a problem, if we still have our arms. It all depends on how Carl Erskine, Karl Spooner and Billy Loes come around. Roger Craig and Don Besant should be better but you never can tell about young pitchers."

Alston singled out second baseman Charley Neal (.274), outfielder Gino Simoli (.306) and pitcher Ken Lehman (.22-9) as newcomers from the Montreal farm with "good reports."

Admitting the Dodgers had "as good a chance as anybody else," Alston cautiously listed New York, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia as the top opposition.

"We don't know how long Johnny Podres will be around before he goes into the Army. But he should be a better pitcher after that job in the Series," he said.

As for the third base rivalry between Ransom Jackson, the former Chicago Cub who was acquired in a December trade, and Robinson, Alston said it will have to be worked out in spring training.

Rescuers Seek Crashed Plane

CARACAS, Venezuela (U)—Ground teams pushed today toward a mountainside where air searchers reported spotting a missing private plane. Four U.S. citizens and six others were aboard the aircraft, but the first report said no survivors were sighted.

The brief announcement said the plane was seen southwest of Higuero, a Caribbean port 55 miles east of Caracas.

The missing two-engine Beechcraft was piloted by Capt. Charles C. Baughan, a native of Georgia. Also aboard were Baughan's wife Mary, formerly of Shelbyville, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Edgerton of Stamford, Conn., and New York.

Edgerton is a member of the New York Stock Exchange. His wife served three terms as a member of the Connecticut House of Representatives.

The plane disappeared Saturday en route from eastern Venezuela. It was routed to Higuero because the Caracas field was weathered in.

False Data Against McCarthy Claimed

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul H. Hughes has testified at his perjury trial that a top Democratic party official had him concoct false documents to be used against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). Hughes identified the man as Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He also told a federal court judge and jury that he was urged to fake anti-McCarthy material by Joseph L. Rauh, a Washington attorney and national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action.

Both Fritchey and Rauh flatly denied in earlier testimony for the prosecution that they asked for false material from Hughes. When questioned on this point, Fritchey stated, "Certainly not," and said

Gunman Seeks Prophet Jones

DETROIT (AP)—A gunman invaded the 54-room "French castle" of Prophet Jones yesterday and terrorized the household by firing a shot.

Nobody got hurt. A spokesman for the Negro religious leader said: "We assume it was an assassination attempt since the man had a gun, wanted to see Dr. Jones, and there was no mention of money."

He said the white gunman demanded an audience with the prophet. He fired a single shot over the heads of attendants after one of them ducked up stairs to warn the Rev. Mr. Jones.

The shot scattered the remaining attendants and the gunman fled.

Bottle-Tossing Racial Brawl Breaks Up Dance

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A bottle-throwing brawl between Negro dancers and white spectators interrupted a concert-dance here last night.

Three white persons and three Negroes were hurt slightly and nine Negroes were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

City and county officers waded into a barrage of flying bottles and chairs to break up the melee. No estimate was available on the number of participants.

The fight came during the closing hour of a dance and concert which featured Roy Hamilton, a well-known Negro singer. The affair was primarily for Negroes, but a special section of Memorial Auditorium was reserved for white spectators.

It was estimated 3,000-4,000 Negroes and more than 1,000 white persons were present.

Police said the affray was touched off when a Negro member of the Hamilton troupe sat down in the dress circle, an area surrounding the dance floor and reserved for the white spectators. Another Negro, also unidentified, tried to remove him and the two began fighting, officers said.

Negro dancers joined in the brawl and bottle throwing by both races began. Officers said it was not known whether whites or Negroes hurled the first object.

Police dispersed the crowd in about an hour and made the arrests. Four of those jailed also were charged with public drunkenness, officers said.

Hamilton was not available for comment. No member of his group was hurt or arrested.

Uncle Ray: Scottish Doctor Attacked By Lion

By RAMON COFFMAN
During his early years in Africa, Dr. David Livingstone met with a terrible adventure. He was attacked by an angry lion!

The Bakalia natives had told the white man about lions which were destroying their cattle. After hearing this, he joined a hunting party, and carried a two-barreled flintlock. One of the natives—Mabalwe—also had a flintlock. The rest of the hunters were armed with spears.

On a hill covered with trees, Livingstone and the others saw a troop of lions. The natives made a circle around the hill, and Mabalwe fired at one of the beasts. The shot missed, and the lions took alarm. One after another, they bounded through the circle. The natives gave way, showing their fear of the lions.

The doctor felt that the hunt was a failure, and started back to camp. Then he caught sight of a big lion seated on a boulder. Taking aim, he fired both barrels. The beast was wounded, but it remained on its feet and ran angrily toward the white hunter. Springing on him, it sank its cruel teeth in his shoulder.

Down he fell, and the lion shook him "as a terrier shakes a rat." At this point Mabalwe aimed his gun from a distance of about 40 feet. The flintlock missed fire, but the lion left his first victim and ran toward the other enemy. A native came to the scene and flung a spear at the lion. It fell dead, either from the blow of the spear or from the effect of the bullets which had been fired into its body.

The left shoulder and upper arm of Livingstone had been cut in a dozen places by the lion's teeth. He managed to reach the village, and there he rested until his wounds healed. The lion's jaws had crushed the bone in his shoulders, however, and Livingstone never after enjoyed the full and free use of his left arm.

Graham To Visit India's Capital

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham's followers today planned what they hoped would be a triumphant four-day New Delhi visit for the American evangelist including a private meeting with Prime Minister Nehru.

Organizers of Graham's New Delhi stay said he would see Nehru sometime over the weekend.

Graham, now touring southern India, is scheduled to arrive here Friday. The following days he will address public meetings, with 16,000 persons expected at each.
