Ike, Assured Of Health, Leaves For Vacation

He took off in his plane Columbine III at 10:35 a.m. less than 24 hours after his doctors reported to him and to the nation that there is no medical barrier to his running again and serving another term if elected.

The President was accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, and by a small staff including press secretary James C. Hagerty.

The President appeared in high spirits. He chatted for a few moments at the foot of the landing ramp with an old golfing friend, Col. Tom Belshe, who came to the airport to see him off.

They were bound for Thomasville, Ga., and a week's stay at the estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey near there.

The President planned to get in some quail hunting and perhaps some golf.

How he feels after tramping the piney woods and broom sage fields in pursuit of birds may determine his decision as to whether to run again.

From physicians who examined him, the verdict was that he appeared fit for "another 5 to 10 years" in the presidency.

But the doctors offered no advice as to whether he should run again.

"The choice is his, not ours," Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, said in telling a news conference late yesterday about the medical report he and his colleagues gave Eisenhower.

The President's six doctors said in a prepared statement Eisenhower "has made a good recovery" from the heart attack he suffered Sept. 24, and his health "continues to be satisfactory."

Eisenhower undoubtedly will give the physicians' report careful consideration before he makes his announcement, which he has indicated will come around March 1. But he told a news conference a week ago today:

"I think I will probably trust my own feelings more than I will the doctors' report."

Nevertheless, the medical appraisal was a cause for much jubilation among political supporters who have been predicting Eisenhower will bid for another four years in the White House if he is physically able.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), one of the original Eisenhower-for-president boosters, summed it up in saying:

"It's the best news the people of the United States and the world have had since the President was stricken. This gives added hope and assurance he will serve for another four years."

Adlai E. Stevenson, Eisenhower's opponent in 1952, said in Seattle that "like all Americans I am of course delighted at the favorable report . . ."

At the outset of the physicians' news conference, a ten-minute session was held by about 100 newsmen. Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder read a statement in which the six doctors declared Eisenhower "has made a good recovery." Snyder is Eisenhower's personal physician.

The first question put to Snyder was whether Eisenhower could serve "another four years" in the White House without any damage to himself. Snyder replied:

"We believe he can serve four or five years or longer in a very active position of great responsibility."

Questioning brought out that Snyder was talking about the presidency.

Then the same question was put to White, who has been chief consultant on Eisenhower's case. White went further than Snyder had, saying:

"After weighing very carefully all the available evidence, including our own experience, and fully aware of the hazards and uncertainties, we believe that medically the chances are that the President should be able to carry on an active life satisfactorily for another 5 to 10 years."

"But the choice is his, not ours," Dr. White added.

Actually, of course, Eisenhower could only serve another four years after completing the remaining 11 months and 5 days of his present term. The Constitution now limits any president to two terms.

The phrase "the chances are" dropped by White from his "5 to 10 years" statement when a reporter said it suggested an element of doubt, and asked whether the doctor meant it to do so. White said the assertion about the "hazards and uncertainties" of a second term made the other phrase unnecessary.

Snyder described Eisenhower as in "very good health" now, but he added that just before the heart attack the President "was in better physical condition than I had known him to be in 10 years."

"Yet he had a cardiac accident," Snyder said. "We don't know that he won't have another cardiac accident. We don't know that I won't have one tomorrow, although I am feeling pretty fit today. And so it goes."

Eisenhower returned on Jan. 9 to what he termed "the full duty of the presidency." White said he and his colleagues concluded Eisenhower is physically able to serve another term on the basis of "what we have seen of the job and the way he has carried on during the last five weeks."

Time and again White refused to say specifically whether he thinks Eisenhower should run again. But he did say there is no medical reason why he can't. And he said he would vote for him if he does run.

Webb Students Forced Out Of City For Homes

A goodly number of members of the new student officer class at Webb Air Force Base, it appears, will have to find residence in Columbia, Stanton or Midland. Some already are making arrangements for housing in Midland.

This was the outlook that came from Webb today as members of the new Class 56-S started arriving. The class has about 60 married officers, it was stated, and several who have arrived early have been unable to locate living accommodations after a four-day search.

The answer? More rental facilities in Big Spring. The Chamber of Commerce and the city administration today renewed their appeal for Big Springers who have apartment space, houses, or garage apartments that are not now on the rental market, to open them to the Air Force officers.

Both Mayor G. W. Dabney and C-C President Ira Thurman expressed the hope that more housing can be found. People who can help are requested to call the Chamber of Commerce at once.

Col. John Weber, commander of Pilot Training at Webb, said the base prefers student officers to be closer to work than Midland, since this will involve driving long miles daily, and at early hours to meet flying schedules. The base hopes that accommodations can be found here.

CHAMBER BANQUET Fortune Not Only Factor In Building City, Guests Are Told

Men and circumstances determine the future of a city and "only we determine whether the circumstances are too big for us," Dr. John F. Anderson told 300 community builders Tuesday evening.

Dr. Anderson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Dallas, addressed the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet which also was the occasion for presentation of the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award to Vic Alexander.

Ira Thurman, vice president of the First National Bank, was installed as president by Marvin Miller, retiring head of the organization. J. H. (Jimmie) Greene, who is retiring as manager after this year, was given a standing ovation.

"Lucky breaks help but they don't win pennants," Dr. Anderson declared. "This is another year in which the scoreboard is blank, and it's all in how we play the game today."

He warned against glorying in the past and called for cooperative effort in solving community problems.

"If you're not careful you'll get steeped so deep in tradition that you'll drown," he warned. "Obey the rules of life and you've got a game. Ignore them and you've got a mess."

John Taylor, president of the Jaycees, announced the selection of Vic Alexander, formerly manager of Zale's for nearly 10 years and now opening his own jewelry firm, as the outstanding young man during 1955. Alexander has been active in many civic enterprises, served last summer on the citywide recreational committee, is on the YMCA board, a director of the Tuberculosis Association, a member of the Rotary Club, was co-chairman of the employees division of the United Fund, served the past year on the Chamber of

Woman Dies As Water Sweeps Resort City

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A flash flood surged through this resort city in the pre-dawn hours today, running about five feet deep on some downtown streets for several hours.

One death was reported, a 33-year-old Nome, Alaska, woman who was swept by raging waters from the top of a car where she and her husband had sought refuge. Her husband escaped.

The torrent, result of an early morning cloudburst, came at the start of the tourist season in this west Arkansas city of about 38,000 permanent residents.

Estimates of damage to downtown business houses varied. Insurance officials said the loss would run about $250,000. Gus Dickson of radio station KWFC at Hot Springs, said, however, that a poll of downtown merchants indicated the damage would total about 1 1/2 million dollars.

Most of the establishments on Central Avenue, the city's main street that winds through a narrow valley between two steep hills, were swamped. Merchandise that floated out broken doors and windows littered the street. Thick carpets of mud were left in stores and hotels as the water receded.

Hot Springs' famous Bathhouse Row, a string of thermal bath and massage houses, was knocked out of operation temporarily. The water flooded basements. Donald S. Libbey, superintendent of the National Parks Service, said a 300,000-gallon water tank that supplied the bathhouses was damaged.

Streets here were almost deserted when the flood struck shortly after midnight.

The flood's only known victim was Mrs. Hollie Barker, who was camping with her husband about five miles northeast of the city. Bob Barker, 56, was hospitalized and treated for shock. He said he and his wife were sleeping in their car when the flood struck.

They got onto the top of the car, he said but he and his wife were swept off the car.

Barker grabbed a tree, he said. His wife's body washed away. He stayed in the tree about four hours and when the water subsided he walked about a mile to a farm house for help.

His wife's body was found by sheriff's deputies about a quarter of a mile from their campsite. The car was washed into a ravine.

Damage outside the business district included a bridge knocked out and slight damage to railroad pilings in the area. Passenger trains into the area were stopped.

A city alderman, W. C. Sheppard rescued two women from their car, which was trapped in the downtown waters. The women, not identified, were not hurt.

At about the same time the flood hit Hot Springs, tornado-like storms cut through an area 60 miles north of here, killing one man, injuring two and wrecking numerous houses and outbuildings.

The opening of the annual spring horse racing meet at Oaklawn Park is only 10 days away. Early arrivals already jammed hotels and motels.

The sheriff's office here estimated that 75 to 100 business houses were flooded. At one place, police said, the water forced open the front door, swirled in and carried chairs out the door.

A bakery in an outlying area reported a loss of about $20,000 when water damaged sugar and flour stocks.

Jack Ridgeway of Radio Station KWFC said the water in the heart of the city rose to 5 1/2 to 6 feet. Oldtimers in the area said the flood ranked second only to the mammoth flood of 1923 when water from a cloudburst virtually wrecked the city.

Adlai Takes Tumble

Adlai Stevenson, left, looks dazed after falling from an overturning snow tractor at Timberline Lodge, Ore. He and five others in the tractor were unhurt. Ralph Wise, Mt. Hood district forest ranger, points to damaged vehicle. In front of Stevenson is Alf Corbett, Portland attorney and head of Oregon Stevenson for President committee. Stevenson, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was resting at this mountain lodge while preparing a talk for delivery at Seattle.

Airman, Wanted In Death, To Be Brought To Texas

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—An airman listed as a deserter from his squadron and charged with murder in the pistol slaying of Jack Spangler here Dec. 16 will be brought here tomorrow from Stockton, Calif., Sheriff Weldon Bailey said.

Bailey said Airman Roy Allen Hunter, 19, of Salineville, Ohio, made a statement last night concerning the slaying of the 26-year-old city tax employe and waived extradition.

Stockton state highway patrolmen said Hunter was arrested there for participating in a hot rod drag race. Spangler's auto was involved in the race. The automobile had been the object of a nationwide search touched off here by the sheriff's department, but it still bore its regular Texas license tags.

Patrolmen started questioning Hunter when he could not produce papers showing ownership of the car. The big stumbling block of the investigation, Bailey said, was the complete disappearance of the flashy yellow and white automobile.

Bailey said Hunter had been wanted for several weeks. The sheriff and office of special information agents at Sheppard Air Force Base were checking records of every airman named Hunter on the base.

City Commissioners Pass On Routine Business At Meeting

The city commission approved purchase of a tract of land for a connecting street between West Fourth and West Third, voted to install a traffic signal at Birdwell Lane and Fourth, and processed other miscellaneous business at Tuesday's regular meeting of the council.

It was agreed to pay Dee Weatherly $5,000 for a 30-foot right-of-way between West Third and West Fourth. This new street will coincide with the west end of the ABC Westside Park and is about 1 1/2 blocks west of Presidio.

It will not connect with other streets going north of Third or south of Fourth. The commission voted to build another connecting street when land can be purchased in the area.

In spite of Texas Highway Department recommendations, the commission voted to spend about $600 to install a traffic signal at Birdwell Lane and Fourth. The signal will be a regular traffic light during the busy hours and change to a blinking light at night.

The highway department said the traffic or accident rate at this corner did not warrant this type of light. The report was made, however, before recent serious accidents at the intersection.

The Highway Department recommended that a light be installed that would remain green for high-way traffic and change to red only when traffic on Birdwell approached the intersection. This type of light would cost about $1,000, Herbert Whitney, city manager, said.

A city-owned lot on Gregg, north of the VA Hospital and south of the Tip Top Drive-in, is being considered as a playground site. Whitney said the Tip Top wanted to rent the land at about $35 per month to install kids' rides. The commission decided to consider the matter before approving it.

The council agreed to accept bids on radio equipment at the Feb. 28 regular meeting. At that time, it will consider a base station, seven mobile units, and three monitor stations for the substations, all for the fire department. Four more mobile units will be purchased for the police department.

The council declined to approve a plat of the Clanton subdivision, north of the Kennebec Heights ad-

Europe Cold Wave Takes 489 Lives

LONDON (AP)—Europe's relentless cold wave had claimed at least 489 dead today after 2 1/2 weeks. Relief still was not in sight.

Subfreezing temperatures spread across the Continent. St. Tropez on the French Riviera playground had a 16-inch snowfall, heaviest in memory.

Icepacks slowly forced the 1,000-ton Swedish cargo ship Matilda on to Sweden's rocky Baltic coast. Helicopters stood by to rescue the crew of 20.

The ice also threatened the last open sea lane between eastern and western Denmark.

People in hundreds of isolated villages in Italy and on lonely Baltic islands ran short of food and fuel.

By countries, these deaths were recorded from cold, fire, storms, avalanches and accidents attributed to the freeze-up:

France 107, Yugoslavia 65, Italy 63, Britain 45, Greece 30, Denmark 27, Germany 25, Turkey 41, Austria 17, Netherlands 15, Portugal 14, Spain 12, Switzerland 11, Sweden 6, Belgium 5, Poland 4 and Libya 2.

More were feared dead in small communities still isolated. No complete figures were available for Iron Curtain countries, which were suffering at least as badly as Western Europe.

U.S. Army engineers and German frontier guards blasted away ice to release floodwaters on the Danube, frozen over for 140 miles.

Bodies Of Missing Fliers Discovered

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The bodies of the pilot and copilot of a Texas-based bomber that crashed in San Bernardino Mountains last month have been recovered and search continues for the bodies of two enlisted men.

Crews from Norton AFB, digging in snow on the slope of Mt. San Geronimo, have brought out the bodies of Capt. Bill Shotwell, pilot, of San Angelo, Tex., and Lt. Alvin Sterns, co-pilot, of Gulfport, Miss.

Still missing are the bodies of Airman I.C. Andrews Doman Jr., of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Airman I.C. Harold Hill, Hutchinson, Kan.

Burglary Suspect Is Held In Odessa

Detective Jack Shaffer was in Odessa this morning questioning a man police believe burglarized the Radford Grocery Monday night. The man was apprehended at Odessa and police here were notified.

Between $400 and $600 was taken in the burglary of the grocery Monday. The burglar cut his hand or arm gaining admittance and police were able to trace him for about six blocks before the trail of blood became too weak.

A bloody scarf and the tree used to gain entry to the building, also covered with blood, were the only clues the police had on the man's identity.

Board Considers Beeville Educator

Floyd W. Parsons, 46, superintendent of Beeville schools, is the leading candidate for the Big Spring superintendency.

The school board Tuesday voted to invite Parsons to Big Spring for an interview. Parsons and two other educators—the superintendents at Lake View (San Angelo) and Childress—are being considered for the local post which becomes vacant July 1.

Clyde Angel, school board chairman, contacted Parsons last night and made arrangements for an interview later this month. The Beeville man said he could come here for talks with the school board following the national conference of the American Association of School Superintendents opening Thursday in Atlantic City, N. J.

Trustees already have interviewed Parsons in Beeville. Salary for the position here has not been discussed. Angel said he thinks Parsons receives $10,000 per year at Beeville. Supt. W. C. Blankenship who is resigning here at the end of the current year draws $9,300.

Parsons has been superintendent at Beeville for three years. He also was superintendent at Orange-dale, Calallen and Bishop and principal at Johnson City. His experience as a school administrator covers 16 years. He now is serving as president of the Beeville Chamber of Commerce and is a deacon in the First Baptist Church of Beeville.

Although the other candidates weren't eliminated, the majority of trustees said Parsons is their first choice for the local job if a suitable contract can be negotiated.

Trustees also formally set the 1956 school board election for April 7 and fixed March 21 as the candidate filing deadline. Lawrence Robinson was appointed presiding judge and J. C. Robinson, Avery Deel and George Mclear were named assistants.

Resignations from four teachers were accepted and appointment of three new teachers was approved. Resigning are Sue Nell Truxal, Mrs. Allen R. Collins, Mrs. Marjorie Rutenbeck and Mrs. Emmett Broderson. Appointed were Mrs. Frances R. Commier, Mrs. Peggy Craig and Homer Lockridge.

The board re-elected the present administrative staff, including Pat Murphy, business manager; Dr. Loyal V. Norman, director of elementary education; Roy W. Wiley, high school principal; Thos. E. Ernest, junior high principal; Roscoe T. Newell, assistant junior high principal; John B. Hardy, M. R. Turner, Oma McGahey, Ruth Rutherford and Mrs. Curtis Beard, elementary principals; and Robert J. Walker, Lakeview principal.

Worley was voted a $500 boost in pay for filling the position of assistant principal as well as principal for the remainder of the year.

Attendance of Supt. Blankenship at the national AASS conference in Atlantic City Feb. 16-25 was approved. The board authorized a salary deduction plan for teachers in the school credit union. No action was taken on a request from Webb Air Force Base for use of the school baseball field during the spring and summer.

TEXAS WEATHER

Cold Wave Snaps Early Warm Spell

A new cold wave that brought hail, freezing drizzle and rains Wednesday snapped a premature heat wave in Texas. The front, which shortly before dawn Wednesday stretched east and west across Texas on a line between Dallas and Waco, brought a freezing drizzle to Lubbock, a violent hailstorm to Dallas, and rain to widely scattered points. The colder air mass erased the unseasonable high temperatures reported by main points Tuesday afternoon and set off a strong twisting wind that destroyed a house and barn at Port Neches. In less than an hour 2.42 inches of rain was dumped on Port Neches. Alice was the hottest spot in the state Tuesday with 88 degrees. Laredo had a high of 86, Victoria and Waco 82, Lufkin, San Angelo, Sherman, Dallas, and Fort Worth 80, Abilene 79, Corpus Christi 78, Beaumont 71, Lubbock 68, and Amarillo 55. Tuesday's readings broke six-year records at Dallas and Fort Worth.

Early Wednesday, Lubbock had freezing drizzle, fog, and a temperature reading of 31. Amarillo also reported fog, and a reading of 26, the lowest in the state. A brisk rainshower that was accompanied by hailstones as large as hens' eggs pelted sections of Dallas about midnight. Although only .07 inches was received at Love Field, the rainfall was heavier in some sections of the city. The thunderstorm, which the Weather Bureau said was a local one, played out northeast of Dallas. No one was injured in the wind and rainstorm at Port Neches. The heavy rain stacked up water five and six inches deep in downtown streets. Partly cloudy to cloudy weather with scattered showers and lower temperatures has been predicted for the state Wednesday and Thursday.

City Pays $50,020 For New Equipment

The Big Spring city commission accepted bids totaling $50,020 for the purchase of seven pieces of road equipment at Tuesday's meeting. The commissioners did not take the lowest bid in every instance, but decided on the equipment they said they felt was the best buy as far as maintenance and operation cost. The equipment purchased was a loader, a grader, a tractor, and four trucks. The Wilson Equipment Company, Odessa, submitted the winning bid of $10,550 for an 80-horse power Michigan loader. The commissioners asked for alternate bids on the tractor and grader, both 75 horse power and 100 horse power. They decided to accept the bid of Central Texas Machinery Company, Abilene, for the larger of the vehicles. The two pieces of equipment are Caterpillars. The 102 horse power tractor with dozer will cost $17,447 and the 115 horse power grader will cost $14,053. The four trucks, chassis only, will cost $7,900. The low bid of the Tarbox Motor Company was accepted. The city is to have them fitted with dump beds. The commissioners discussed the consideration of combination bids before the bids were opened. A few companies had submitted bids for all the equipment and others had bid individually. It was decided that any bidder could have his bid back to include a combination bid if he wished to. Only one company did so. Although the combination bids were considered, the commissioners did not accept them. The final prices include a trade-in of a used grader and tractor which the city now owns. Other bidders for the three large pieces of equipment were The Road Machinery Company, Midland; Plains Machinery Company, Odessa; Johnson Machinery Company, Midland; Texas Machinery and Equipment Company, Amarillo; Fred Berryhill Equipment Company, Lubbock; and the Patton Equipment Company, Abilene. Other makes of trucks considered were Chevrolet, Dodge, GMC and International.

Clothes, Other Articles Stolen

Four thefts were reported during the last 24 hours, one of them being clothes from a police patrol car. Patrolman Ellis Eubanks said a coat and a pair of gloves were taken from his patrol car while parked at the Club Cafe Tuesday afternoon. A later entry on the police records cancelled the report. It is not known if the clothes were recovered. Larry Batterton, 1303 S. Monticello, reported his bicycle was stolen from the Walgreen Drug store about noon. J. P. Curry, 1304 Pickens, reported a hub cap taken from his car during the night. Earl Krebback, Webb AFB, reported clothes and a camera taken from his car while parked at Carlos Cafe on the North Side. There are a zipper bag, three pairs of trousers, three shirts, a camera, and a light meter missing, he said.

2 Wrecks Occur In City Tuesday

Two accidents were reported in the city Tuesday. Earl Bates Stovall, 301 E. 1st, and Essie Maxwell Galloway, Big Spring, were involved in a mishap at Gregg and Fourth. Oscar Clifford Terrell and Stella Derington, both of Big Spring, were drivers in a wreck at Góland and Fourth.

Condemnation Of Reservoir Site Ordered

The Big Spring city commission voted to initiate condemnation proceedings against the Edwards Estate for a tract of land northwest of Westover Drive near the Veterans Hospital.

At Tuesday's regular meeting, Herbert Whitney, city manager, told the commission that he had been negotiating for about 1 1/2 acres in the area for over two months. This is the proposed site for the million gallon reservoir which is part of the $300,000 water system improvement bonds approved by voters last year.

A 20-inch water line is to connect the reservoir with the filter plant on the east side of the city.

Whitney and Clifton Bellamy, city engineer, told the commissioners that this site is about the only one in the area suitable for the reservoir. Whitney said the Estate is asking $12,500 for the 1 1/2 acre tract.

Construction on the 20-inch line is nearing the site, Whitney said, and a decision must be made. Either a new site must be picked, or the city can pay the price or condemn. Commissioner Al Goodson moved that condemnation proceedings should be started and the other commissioners agreed.

City Attorney Walton Morrison was instructed to begin the proceedings.

The water line has other problems also. It passes over the Pearl Cole property south of the College Heights School. Before any negotiations had been made for an easement, the pipe company put their pipe on the land and began clearing a right-of-way.

The commissioners instructed Whitney to make financial arrangements with the Coles for allowing the line to run across their property.

ON ARID PRAIRIE

St. Lawrence Future Hinges On 4-Inch Stream Of Water

GARDEN CITY (SC)—The future of the St. Lawrence community hangs by a thread—a 4-inch thread of water that means the difference between a prosperous farming community and a desert.

Farmers on the arid prairie land south of Garden City have given dryland farming a long trial, and failed. Now they are fast turning to irrigation. Last year about 70 wells were in operation, and as soon as crops were out, well-drilling crews converged on the community. Over 20 wells are being drilled now, and predictions are that considerably more than 100 wells will be ready to water the 1956 cotton crop.

Several farmers are drilling their first wells, others are putting down number two or three. Doris Blissard is completing his fifth one. Robert Hayden who has been trying to dryland farm is putting down his first well. Easy Hoelscher is putting down another well. Others with wells going down or just completed are Roscoe Schaefer, H. D. Childress, V. A. Hallmann, Martin Holder, Melvin Braden, Freddie Hallmann, and several others.

The average well at St. Lawrence is from 250 to 300 feet deep. It pumps from 150 to 200 gallons per minute, and will do this 24 hours a day without falling. The average cost figures a little over $3,000, which included the hole, pumping test, pump and pipe to get the water out on the ground. Some farmers have spent more; others who bought second-hand equipment got by for less.

One well will irrigate about 40 acres of cotton, according to Martin Holder. To cover this many acres, the owner wets down the soil before planting, then keeps the water flowing day and night until crops are laid by about the first of September. These farmers don't produce in large quantity, but they make a profit by holding down overhead. Most farmers, except the very biggest ones, work their entire farm with only family labor. There is not much hoeing to do, but the expense of fighting insects has been getting a little higher each year.

Practically all the water will be used to irrigate cotton. Last year the irrigated cotton made about a bale and a half per acre. The total production was around 5,000 bales. With from 1,500 to 2,000 more acres in cotton this year, the community is expecting at least 7,500 bales of cotton.

"That will be enough to live on."

British Call Khrushchev 'New Dictator'

LONDON (AP)—British commentators pictured Nikita Khrushchev today as the new dictator of the Soviet Union. They credited him with all the might of the late Joseph Stalin, and the undisputed authority to revise basic Marxist doctrine.

They said his behavior at the opening of the 20th congress of the Soviet Communist party in Moscow yesterday and his marathon speech confirmed his position and ended once and for all the "rule by committee" which followed Stalin's death.

"Khrushchev the Dictator," headlined the Conservative Daily Mail, whose diplomatic correspondent wrote:

"Mr. Khrushchev, the 61-year-old Soviet Communist party leader, has won the struggle for supreme power in Russia. . . . With Stalin-like authority he showed he intends to exercise full control over both home and foreign affairs."

"Khrushchev makes it clear he's boss," said the Laborite Daily Herald. The Daily Sketch echoed: "Khrushchev shows he's boss."

Said the Daily Express: "The ex-minister, son of a miner, stands in the floodlights of the Kremlin's white and gold palace and speaks with all the authority and assurance of the supreme boss of Russia. The New Stalin."

The Independent Times commented: "By delivering the report of the Central Committee (of the Communist party) in his capacity of first secretary, Mr. Khrushchev appears to have gained increased stature. It was Stalin himself who delivered the congress reports until just before his death. It was this appearance by (Georgi) Malenkov at the previous party congress (in 1952) that indicated he was in line for succession as prime minister."

Virtually all the papers emphasized Khrushchev's revision of Marxist tenets—his pronouncements that war is not inevitable, that violence and revolutions are not necessary to install communism worldwide, and that the world is not divided into two irreconcilable camps.

One newcomer to the community is Doris Blissard of Howard County. He likes the place so well that he recently sold his farm near Lomax and is starting to build a large brick home just west of the St. Lawrence store. Blissard will have five irrigation wells, with which he hopes to water his allotment of 206 acres of cotton. He farmed here last year and summed up the general opinion about farming in the St. Lawrence area by saying:

"Without water, it wouldn't be worth anything, but as long as we have these little wells, we can make out all right. I'll take it over dryland farming anytime."

'Accounting' Due Over Neff Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) said today "there is no question but what there will have to be an accounting" of where John M. Neff got $2,500 to contribute to the Nebraska Republican committee last October.

Neff, a Lexington, Neb., lawyer employed by the Superior Oil Co. of California, disclosed this contribution to a special Senate committee investigating a like amount he offered for the re-election campaign of Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during Senate debate on the natural gas bill. Case rejected it.

The bill, designed to free natural gas producers from direct federal price controls, is now before President Eisenhower for signature or veto. Saturday is the deadline. If Eisenhower should take no action by then, the bill would become law.

The New York Times said in a Washington dispatch today Eisenhower is said to be considering a veto. It said that word came from industry sources and from senators who were on both sides during the long debate.

Thye, a member of the special committee looking into the money offer to Case, said Neff was not asked the source of the $2,500 he gave to the Nebraska GOP State Central Committee.

"The committee will find out before it closes its investigation," he said.

Meanwhile, an air of utmost secrecy continued to surround the federal grand jury looking into the $2,500 contribution which Case rejected.

Neff spent five hours before the grand jury yesterday and was ordered back for further questioning today. Waiting to follow him as a witness was Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., also an attorney for the Superior Oil Co.

Patman and Neff told the Senate committee they sent the money to Case with no strings attached. They said it came from the personal funds of Howard B. Keck, Superior Oil's president.

The committee was set up to investigate whether an improper attempt had been made to influence Case's vote after he told the Senate of the donation, announced he had rejected it and would vote against the bill, which the Senate passed 53-38.

In a statement last night, Thye urged expansion of the special committee's authority to cover all contributions "having any possible relationship on the gas bill."

Cold Spreads In Midwest

Icy air spread across wide areas of the Midwest from the northern Rockies today as most of the South and East enjoyed mild winter weather.

The cold air from Canada, which kept temperatures below zero along the Canadian border in Montana and the Dakotas, moved southeastward into the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes region.

At the same time warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico extended northeastward from the Gulf Coast through the Ohio Valley to New England as well as along the entire Atlantic Seaboard. Readings were in the low 60s in the Ohio Valley and considerably warmer than 24 hours earlier in areas east of the Appalachians.

Showers and thunderstorms hit parts of the west and central Gulf states and in the Ohio Valley. Scattered snow flurries fell in the northern and central plains and in the northern Rockies.

"At home he has his own bed, but on cold nights he usually climbs in with me," Shinnars said.

THE J. L. SMITH PLACE NEAR FAIRVIEW
Owner applies himself in running half-section farm.

Farm Operator Hasn't Called On Bank Since Early 1940's

J. L. Smith, owner of last week's Mystery Farm, has demonstrated one element for successful farming in this country.

It is, to use the vernacular, a willingness to get with it.

Just how well he has managed his farm and general operations is reflected in the fact that not since he paid out his place back in the early 40's has he had to go to the bank. Not many producers can match that record.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have their home place one mile west and half a mile south of Fairview, which puts it about nine miles northwest of town. They bought the original 240 acres in 1939 from B. M. Ray, who previously had acquired it from Dick Andrews. In 1941 they added another 80 acres from Hatch & Dillard.

Of the total, they have 306 acres in cultivation, with a cotton allotment (last year) of 131 acres. The yield wasn't too good—only 50 bales.

Smith thinks he outsmarted himself on that, however. He had done a lot of deep breaking and the weather turned off dry. When rains did come there wasn't enough moisture to fill up to that depth, and his shallow breaking neighbors made better yields. However, he has found that generally deep plowing has paid dividends.

He puts about 125 acres in feed and got about 1,200 pounds per acre in combine maize, which is a pretty fair turnout. The rest of his land he either leaves fallow or plants to garden crops or legumes like peas, etc. He doesn't bother with raising bundle stuff. He hasn't gone in for terraces and has relatively few contour rows.

Normally he runs eight to 15 cows, most of them for beef. However, in the face of continuing drought, he has cut down to one milk cow, but she is a dandy.

Last year he turned two calves with her in the field in the daytime and then penned her at night. In the morning he milked more than enough for family needs and let the calves have what was left. When the calves were around 10

Habeas Corpus Plea Denied

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (H)—Jack Phares was denied freedom on a habeas corpus plea yesterday but his bond was reduced from $2,500 to $1,500.

He is charged with perjury in connection with the murder charge against his brother, C. W. (Bill) Phares, 44, central figure in a major South Plains mystery.

Bill Phares is charged with murdering his wife, Andrea, 21 years old and seven months pregnant. She has not been seen since the night of May 4 when she left her home near Hale Center. Officers have dug at various spots trying to find her body.

Jack Phares is charged with making a statement that he was not at the Bill Phares home when Andrea disappeared. He later said he was present.

At a habeas corpus hearing Monday, Jack testified that his brother told him he killed Andrea and buried her. Bill Phares has contended that he did not kill his wife and does not know where she is.

EXPERT CLAIMS 'Business Sense' To Hire Ex-Cons

ST. PAUL, Minn. (H)—Charles A. Ward, who licked the handicaps of his own prison background and fought his way to the top of one of the world's largest calendar and advertising specialty companies, believes it's "just plain good business sense" to give jobs to ex-convicts.

The 70-year-old head of Brown & Bigelow has, over a quarter of a century, helped hundreds of "ex-cons"—among them murderers, bank robbers, confidence men and government officials who made a mistake.

He admits that out of more than 300 men and about a score of women who served time behind prison bars and then made good at Brown & Bigelow there have been two or three exceptions who failed to become self-reliant, respected citizens and good employees.

But, he adds, "nothing this side of heaven is perfect."

Those who wonder whether his philosophy has hurt the business he heads are referred by Ward to the firm's healthy financial standing. He predicts that this year, its 60th anniversary, Brown & Bigelow will surpass its 1955 sales of more than $2 million dollars.

Ward has a deep sense of religious and personal obligation—although he is not a member of any church—which dominates his conviction that those who have satisfied their prison debt deserve another chance. He recommends that more employers give ex-cons "an opportunity to stand up straight again."

Ward has an almost legendary background that began in Seattle in 1886. He peddled papers at the age of 7, shined shoes and did odd jobs.

When he was 17, he ran away from home and became a sailor. Later he started a stage line in Arizona. He sold out at a $70,000 profit and went to Denver.

It was in Denver that he ran into trouble—a kind of trouble that was to change the whole course of his life.

Federal agents filed a charge of narcotics possession against him, after allegedly finding a package of drugs in his room. He denied the charge, insisting he had never touched narcotics or had anything to do with them.

He claimed the narcotics were planted in his room by men who wanted to hurt him.

"After the high, wide and handsome life I led, I was bound to have enemies," he says.

"Nobody believed me. I guess my vagabond life was too flavored with fringe adventures to defend my innocence."

He was convicted and sent to Leavenworth Prison. He thinks he had "plenty of reasons to be bitter" or feel that he was "framed," but, philosophically adds:

"Now I often wonder if actually I was 'framed' by God, because at Leavenworth I got the one thing prisoners rarely get—a break."

Ward's "break" came in 1923 when he met a cellmate, Herbert Huse Bigelow, president of Brown & Bigelow, who was serving a term for income tax evasion.

Ward helped Bigelow over the rough spots of prison life and when Bigelow was paroled in April 1924 he offered Ward a job on his release. When he was freed a month later after serving more than three years of a 10-year sentence, Ward headed for St. Paul and went to work at $25 a week as a benchhand. Later he was made department foreman. Then followed promotions to superintendent, assistant general manager, and in 1931 he became vice president.

Bigelow died in 1933 and Ward was elected president and general manager. He had moved from bench-hand to the top in nine years.

Playboy Admits Oil Swindle

NEW YORK (H)—Robert H. Schlesinger, 38-year-old playboy son of a millionaire mother, pleaded guilty yesterday to an oil stock swindle.

He had used $132,000 of the proceeds from a shaky Louisiana oil promotion to buy jewelry for actress Linda Christian.

The husky, unmarried Schlesinger faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 to 20 years. He might get off with less by making restitution to the three men he duped in the oil deal.

General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen scheduled sentencing for March 14.

Harris B. Steinberg, Schlesinger's lawyer, told the court: "He realizes the foolishness of towards straightening out his life towards straightening out this life he has to realize that he has wronged other people and to make whatever redress is possible."

Steinberg said Schlesinger, an Air Force veteran, now has a steady job as a pilot and flight instructor.

Schlesinger's mother, the former Mona Williams, inherited 12 million dollars in 1933 from her second husband, Harrison Williams. She is now married to Count Albert Edward Bismarck. She has long been rated one of the world's best dressed women.

Schlesinger was the object of a six-month international search before he voluntarily returned from a Canadian hideout last December. At first he pleaded innocent to eight counts covering a $330,000 swindle. Yesterday, he was allowed to plead guilty to two counts, covering $170,000 of the total.

Odessan Convicted Of Beating Trusty

PECOS, Tex. (H)—Deputy Robert William Burkett, 37, of Odessa, is to be sentenced May 14 by Federal Judge R. E. Thomson for the beating of prisoner Cecil Cope at the Ector County jail in Odessa.

Burkett, who waived a jury trial, was found guilty by Judge Thomson yesterday.

Burkett was charged with beating Cope after the trusty had returned from an errand to the postoffice. Cope testified he had been caught in the rain and stopped at a cafe where he had three beers.

Burkett testified Cope looked like he was reaching for a knife and that he pulled his pistol and struck Cope. Burkett was defended by his uncle, Joe Burkett, a prominent San Antonio lawyer.

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

Large oil company with holdings in Texas and Oklahoma is offering a limited amount of stock to the public. This company has $50 acres in Howard-Glasscock field with 18 producing wells. Last 3 wells came in flowing. No dry holes on any of company's property. This lease is producing from 3 different pay zones with two other proven pay sands. This lease has new equipment throughout and is clear of debt. Need money to develop. This will stand any type of investigation you might want to give it. Other company holdings just as good as this one. Investigate this today and drive out and see this property. Just $4.00 will make you a partner in the oil business. We maintain a market at all times for our stock.

Sentenced In 'Fright Slaying'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (H)—Preston T. Parrish, 28-year-old shipyard worker, was sentenced yesterday to 25 years for the "fright slaying" of his former wife.

The woman, Mrs. Shirley Ann Miller, 19, became terrified when Parrish struck at the window of her car with a bayonet. She sped away. Parrish pursued in another car. Mrs. Miller collided with an automobile at an intersection and was killed.

Nathan Schevitz, assistant state attorney, said the second-degree murder charge was based on the theory that Parrish so terrified Mrs. Miller that the involuntary act of passing through a stop sign at the intersection became the act of Parrish.

Awards Given At Blue, Gold Banquet

Awards were presented to five boys at the Blue and Gold banquet of Cub Pack No. 109, sponsored by the Wesley Methodist Church, Tuesday night.

Cubmaster Roy Didrickson presented Bear badges to Warren Kelly and Jerry Thornton and Bobcat pins to Andy Coots, Keith Howze and Jerry Thornton.

Speaker for the banquet was Rev. C. W. Parmenter, pastor of the sponsoring church. Decorations and other banquet arrangements were handled by Mrs. Minnie Lou Stormes, and Mrs. Luther Kelly, both denmothers, and Mrs. L. D. Thornton, assistant denmother.

The banquet was held in the church's fellowship hall. The blue and gold decorations were highlighted by a silver Valentine tree strung with blue and gold heart favors for the mothers.

Businesslike Dog Helps Owner Out Of Traffic Ticket

DETROIT (AP)—A black German shepherd dog with a businesslike glint in his eye helped his owner out of a traffic ticket.

Nelle Jane Fancher, 29, brought her pet Fritz to court to back up her claim that she had not left her car unattended with the motor running last Jan. 12.

"I left Fritz in the car while I called a garage," Miss Fancher said. "The engine wasn't running right and I didn't want to turn it off. If anybody had tried to steal the car, Fritz would have chewed his arm off."

Traffic Referee John Wise took one look at Fritz's powerful jaws and agreed. "The car was obviously not unattended. Case dismissed," he said.

Wild New Orleans Mardi Gras Ends

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Church bells sounded the beginning of Lent today as New Orleans cleaned up confetti and beer cans after one of its most colorful Mardi Gras celebrations.

Thousands of tourists jammed into the city to see Rex, Lord of Misrule, hold sway in a realm of daytime merrymaking and Comus, God of Revelry, rule over a night kingdom of torchlit parades and fancy dress balls.

The celebration started at dawn when the first maskers appeared on the streets, continued at its high pitch as Zulu, King of the Negroes, debarked from a barge at the foot of Canal Street, and reached a frenzied climax with the big Rex and Comus parades.

With the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People urging dignified behavior, Zulu King Albert (Snake) Hamilton found himself at the head of a parade that pleased nobody.

NAACP Field Secretary Clarence Laws saw some improvement, particularly in the toast-drinking department, but thought the parade still left "very much to be desired."

Zulu Grand Marshal James Alexander was even more unhappy—for a different reason. "Worst I've seen, and I've been looking at them since 1916," he grumbled. High-stepping bands, gaudily decorated floats and precision marching units graced the Rex and Comus parades, but the real show was the street dancing, general masking and impromptu antics that prevailed everywhere in the city. Rex was Edgar Bright, a New Orleans cotton broker. The identity of Comus is never disclosed.

Stores were closed, downtown streets blocked off to traffic and inhibitions cast aside to make way for the thousands of costumed citizens and tourists who turned out as clowns, hula dancers, men from Mars, plumed knights and endless other characters.

Intermittent rain fell during the afternoon and early evening, making sloppy going for the marchers but not slightest difference to the masqueraders, who milled through the French Quarter and downtown streets throughout it all.

The official celebration came to an end at midnight when the middle partition lifted in the huge municipal auditorium and the dancing courts of Rex and Comus joined to toast each other's health and stage a mass ball.

But for many hours thereafter Jazz continued to pour from the cubby-hole night clubs on Bourbon Street, strippers plied their trade and hundreds of private parties went on all over the city.

Use Leadership, Not Lungs In Civil Rights, GOP Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) called on the Eisenhower administration today to "exercise its leadership rather than its lungs" in obtaining congressional action on civil rights legislation.

Humphrey, a supporter of Adlai E. Stevenson's bid for the Democratic title presidential nomination, struck back at the contention of Vice President Nixon in a New York speech Monday that the Democrats have proved themselves "helpless and futile" in this field.

"We might make some substantial progress in the field of civil rights legislation in this Congress if we can get just a little help from Republicans," Humphrey said in an interview. "If we do, the administration will have to exercise its leadership rather than its lungs."

"I might remind the Republicans that during the 83rd Congress which they controlled a whole series of civil rights bills were introduced and I don't recall that a single one of them was ever brought up for action."

Humphrey joined Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) in criticizing Nixon's statement that "a great Republican chief justice, Earl Warren, has ordered an end to racial segregation in the nation's schools." Humphrey favors integration of white and Negro pupils; Stennis opposes it.

"I didn't know the Supreme Court was Republican or Democratic," Humphrey said. "Vice President Nixon might do well to study the Constitution, as President Eisenhower evidently has done."

This was an apparent reference to a Jan. 25 statement by Eisenhower that "confusion between politics and the Supreme Court" should be avoided.

Stennis told the Senate yesterday that Nixon's statement had acknowledged "officially" that the court's desegregation decision was "in Stennis' words—'purely a political one.'"

Boy, 9, Stuck By Gallantry

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP)—The gallantry of 9-year-old Dennis Bittle backfired. He became wedged in a chimney when he tried to go down it and open the front door for his girl friend, who had been locked out.

Dennis says he has climbed down his own chimney several times "but our's is bigger and I never got stuck before." He got just above the damper over the fireplace in Patty Wilson's house and discovered he couldn't go any farther—up or down.

Patty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, were away from home, but she summoned firemen, who used ropes to pull Dennis up, sooty but unharmed.

Asked about his girl friend, Dennis answered: "She's my second girl friend. I don't think I want any more."

Wish For Peace Not Partisan, Adlai Declares

SEATTLE (AP)—Adlai Stevenson took his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination to the land of huge dams and atomic energy today after telling an audience here the Eisenhower administration has left this country unprepared to cope with Communist expansion.

Hammering at what he called the "frequent and foolish failures" of the Republicans, Stevenson told a $25-a-plate Democratic rally last night that the desire for peace is not a partisan problem.

"But there are crucial differences among us as to methods, policies and the vigor with which we shall pursue them," he said. "I am not one of those who feels, or says for partisan advantage, that all the administration... has done in this field is wrong or has wholly failed."

"But I am shocked when I read every day that all is well... and that whatever a Democrat says about the conduct of our foreign affairs must be taken with a grain of salt."

The former governor of Illinois told the audience of 400 persons that communism cannot be stopped by slogans or "a Republican chorus of 'peace and prosperity.'"

The Communists, he said, are on the move, using "aid, trade, arms, good will missions, technical missions, student exchanges, athletes and neutrality propaganda" and "our government is unprepared structurally and divided philosophically..."

No Spy Link In U. S. Letter To Diplomat

LONDON (AP)—The British Foreign Office says a mysterious letter found in Cairo does not indicate that renegade British diplomat Donald Maclean was receiving secret U. S. documents from a contact in the American Embassy in Cairo.

Sir George Young, chief spokesman, also said yesterday there was nothing to indicate that the author of the letter, identified as an American but not named, was engaged in espionage.

Newspapers had suggested the letter indicated a possible spy link. Written in 1951, it was found last November in a book in the library of the British Embassy, where Maclean once served on the staff.

The Foreign Office said the letter was "from an address in the United States, to a third person, clearly not Maclean."

Young added that the letter was being investigated.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said U. S. officials also were investigating.

The letter mentioned Maclean, who had recently disappeared when it was written on June 8, 1951.

Maclean was recalled to London from Cairo in May 1950 for riotous behavior including the wrecking of a U. S. Embassy secretary's apartment. After almost five years of staying away from Westerners he and his colleague, Guy Burgess, held a brief press conference in Moscow Saturday.

Papers On Royal Scandal Missing

LONDON (AP)—The scandalous affair of King George IV and Queen Caroline took place 135 years ago but apparently someone in the royal family still was smarting over it in this century.

It has been disclosed that two red-taped bundles of state papers concerning this royal couple, their spites and their love lives, have been removed from the public records office. For over a century they had been available to anyone wishing to brush up on the doings of Britain's Hanoverian rulers.

There is speculation that King George V, grandfather of Queen Elizabeth II, had the papers removed to his private archives. An intriguing point is that they were removed more than 20 years ago—and weren't missed.

The marriage of George IV—then ruling Britain as prince regent in place of his mad father George III—is one of the spiciest fragments of British history. It was a state marriage of convenience and he met his bride, Princess Caroline Emilia of Brunswick-Wolfenbuttel, only a few hours before the wedding.

They parted in 1796, just one year after the marriage and after the birth of a daughter, Princess Charlotte Augusta.

George slipped easily back into his gay bachelor ways. Caroline toured Europe in a flare of gossip and intrigue. In 1820, when George took the throne, Caroline spurned an offer to stay abroad and renounce her claim to the queen's crown.

When she came back to London, George immediately filed for divorce, on the grounds of her adultery with an Italian nobleman. The suit was hastily dropped when Caroline's counsel brought up the business of the King's girl friends during his regency days.

Caroline was locked out of Westminster Abbey for the coronation and died a fortnight later—as queen of England.

According to custom, two bundles of state papers concerning the royal pair were deposited in the public records.

Their removal came to light when historian Hugh Ross Williamson asked to see them.

"Sorry, sir, they were taken to Windsor (the royal state residence outside London) in 1935," he was told.

The question was brought up in Parliament, where a government spokesman explained they were private papers—and shouldn't have been in the public records office in the first place.

Ardent Ex-Mate Haled Into Court

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Saye, 38, was accused by his divorced wife Rose, 36, of being too ardent in attempting to woo her back, she told Municipal Judge Joseph A. Pope.

She said Saye, a truck driver, had telephoned her 33 times in the last month. Last Saturday, she said, he telephoned her 67 times in attempting to effect a reconciliation. She said she doesn't want him back.

Frantic Dad Loses Race With Death

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A frantic father, his only child choking on a piece of candy, lost a 10-mile auto race against death today.

James Spicer of Mount Joy drove at speeds up to 95 m.p.h. with his daughter Jacqueline, 18 months, trying to reach a hospital for aid. Moments before he arrived at St. Joseph's Hospital here the child died.

Coroner J. M. Mustard said death was accidental, caused by a gum drop lodged in the child's throat. Spicer and his wife Mary had tried vainly to remove the candy earlier.

JOYFUL Republicans Think Ike To Run Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joyful Republicans predict that yesterday's reassuring medical report will convince President Eisenhower he should run again.

Democrats voiced gratification at the extent of Eisenhower's recovery. A few of them maintained he will say "no" to a second term.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, chief consultant on the case since Eisenhower's Sept. 24 heart attack, said he and five other physicians believe Eisenhower should be able to carry on in the presidency "for another 5 to 10 years."

"Like all Americans," said Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, "I am of course delighted at the favorable report on the condition of the President's health."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic floor leader, said in a statement dictated from his home in Texas:

"As a fellow human being who has gone through the same thing, I am very pleased that the medical report is so favorable. I know every American will be happy."

Johnson suffered a heart attack last July.

The Los Angeles and San Francisco stock exchanges—the only ones still operating at the time of the announcement yesterday—were flooded with buying orders.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) said he feels confident "the President will be a candidate again in order that he may continue the program he has so magnificently begun."

Sen. Albott (R-Colo.) said, "We should thank the good Lord that He has answered the prayer of the people and has given the President an opportunity to be of further service to his country."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) said he felt all along Eisenhower would run again "unless the doctors told him not to."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said there is "a great deal of difference between carrying on the full load of the presidency and just staying in the White House."

"There's a great deal of difference too between staying in the White House and carrying on an active campaign for the presidency," Sparkman said. "The President has indicated he will take these factors into consideration. When he weighs everything, I still believe he won't run."

Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) said: "No man of his age has ever been elected president in good health and lived out his term. I fear that another term might be his death sentence."

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who has been maintaining Eisenhower will run, said in a statement that "the decision... is in his hands, and his personal feelings and judgment will be the determining factors."

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), who has indicated clearly he will seek the GOP nomination if Eisenhower does not, said in East Orange, N.J., that everyone "will rejoice at the progress reported by the doctors."

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts, speaking in Hagerstown, Md., termed the medical report a "green light" and added: "I believe... the President will not fail to respond to what is almost a universal call of the people."

Forgotten Suspect Jailed 18 Months, Freedom Asked

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An admitted narcotics user who was "sort of forgotten" spent 18 months in jail without trial, the county prosecutor says.

Charges of possessing marijuana against Melle John Ecton were dismissed at the request of Prosecutor Richard K. Phelps.

Phelps told the Circuit Court that Ecton's case "in some way got put on the hold docket" rather than a regular docket.

"Ecton has been sort of forgotten," Phelps said. "He used the drug and he tells me he now is cured of addiction."

Ecton's attorney died after his arrest in August 1954. No one at the jail could recall whether Ecton ever asked about his length of stay.

After the case was dismissed today, Ecton was still held pending action in connection with a mental examination of the prisoner.

ROK, Like Most Of Asia, Suffers Leader Scarcity

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea, like many of the new-risen republics of Asia, suffers from a glaring weakness—a scarcity of leaders. Faced with the inevitable decision of finding a successor to President Syngman Rhee, Koreans are hard put to name a man who can begin to fill the shoes of the crusty old patriot who has led them since the country's founding in 1948.

Rhee has avoided naming an heir apparent and the opposition clings to the same leaders who have twice failed to oust Rhee at the ballot box. The opposition Democratic party, recently formed from various splinter groups, will try again this summer but even now its leaders seem convinced of Rhee's invincibility and will probably offer only a figurehead candidate for the presidency.

Korea's predicament is not unique. Who follows Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa? Magsaysay in the Philippines? Nehru in India? Great emphasis is being placed here on the importance of the vice presidency. Under the revised governmental organization, the chief executive's chair in the event of a vacancy. Previously, national elections would have been called in these circumstances.

Rhee has not declared he will try for the presidency again. But just about everyone says he will. The President will step March 28, and to strangers, it is impossible to fathom the grasp he has on his 20 million people. To most of them, he is the only leader they know, the father of the Korean republic, the outspoken foe of the enemy which destroyed South Korea and the man who fought the Japanese from the first day they occupied Korea at the turn of the 20th century.

Perhaps a successor will be found in the group of military leaders who rank among the country's brightest—and certainly most powerful—men in South Korea. Gen. Chung Il Kwon, the chief of staff, and Gen. Sun Yung Paik, the 1st Army commander, have disclaimed interest in the political arena. It seems logical to assume, however, that any candidate for office will have a soft place in his heart for the army.

Negro Boycott Of Bus Lines Proves Costly

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—How much has the 10-week-old bus boycott by Negroes here cost the community? Officials of the National City Bus Lines aren't making public the company's loss. The cost in terms of the community is much more important, and that isn't measurable either, civic leaders say.

But racial tension between white persons and Negroes has mounted. The Montgomery Advertiser recently put it this way: "Never before in Montgomery has the word 'nigger' been used as frequently as in recent weeks."

The racial unrest in Alabama has pulled white persons and Negroes farther apart. Thousands of Negroes attend boycott meetings here, and officials of the pro-white Central Alabama Citizens Council say their membership has jumped from a few hundred to 12,000. The boycott began Dec. 5 in protest to segregated-seating laws. On that day Mrs. Rosa Parks, a seamstress, was fined $14 for refusing to move to the back of a bus. Since then the Negroes have stayed off the buses in droves.

Estimates of the boycott's effectiveness run as high as 95 per cent. About 65 per cent of the bus company's patrons were normally Negroes but the company claims it is now breaking even by hiking fares and curtailing service.

Negotiations between white and Negro leaders for a compromise broke down completely after the first few weeks of the boycott. Now both sides are seeking legal means to end the protest movement.

Yesterday Circuit Judge Eugene Carter charged the Montgomery County grand jury to determine if Negroes boycotting the buses are part of a conspiracy violating the law. The grand jury is composed of 17 white members and one Negro.

On the other hand, five Negro women have filed suit in U.S. District Court challenging the constitutionality of the state and city statutes requiring separate seating facilities for white persons and Negroes on public vehicles.

Mayor W. A. Gayle said recently that the commission was through "pussfooting around" with the boycotters.

Boycott leaders, many of them ministers, have demanded bus seats on a "first come, first served" basis. They said Negroes would continue to sit from the rear toward the front but should not be required to stand if back seats aren't available.

But Gayle, pointing to the federal suit challenging constitutionality of the segregated seating laws, said the Negro leaders will be satisfied with nothing short of complete integration.

Despite the growing tension, there have been few incidents of violence here and no injuries. Two weeks ago, a small dynamite bomb exploded in front of the homes of two Negro leaders. A few buses were struck by bullets in the first week of the boycott.

Big Story Told In Food Store Labels

NEW YORK (AP)—A big and sometimes controversial story is being told in small print on the labels of food packages found on your supermarket shelves. It's the story of chemical additives, designed to improve on nature in the appearance, taste, smell or lasting qualities of food products.

Speaking in generalities, as the consumer often does, you can build a case for or against these objectives. Some, for example, have found cause for alarm in such developments as these:

- 1. A recent finding by the Food and Drug Administration that three coal tar dyes widely used to put red and orange hues in food are poisonous when taken in large quantities.
- 2. A report by a congressional

Aerial 'Brain' Spots Target

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Business Machines Corp., today made public some details of what it described as a new electronic airplane bombing and navigational system of "unprecedented reliability."

Because of security considerations, few details could be given. However, these were some of the facts disclosed about the new device:

It somewhat resembles the giant computers now in use in industry and research, except that it is small enough to be installed aboard a plane. Radar principles are employed.

Information such as air speed, altitude, desired target—all the factors bearing on reaching and bombing a target—are fed into the machine by the plane's crew.

Rabbi Condemns 'Spectator Mind'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Mental flabbiness" threatens the "spectator mind" that feeds on a diet of radio, television and movies, says Rabbi Harold Welsberg, Washington, D.C.

"The spectator mind that accepts, instead of the athletic mind that questions," was deplored yesterday by the national director of adult Jewish education for B'nai B'rith.

He told a news conference that the adult Jewish education committee hopes to stimulate a practice of inquiring, challenging and analyzing "as Americans used to do in their pioneer days."

Williams Sheet Metal Works

Specialists in the installation of central heating and cooling equipment are the workmen at Williams Sheet Metal Works, above, at 201 Benton. The firm is distributor of the dependable Utility brand of forced-air equipment. Duct systems, adaptable to both heating and cooling, are manufactured in the Williams shops. Each system is a custom job, tailored to the house for which it is intended.

Williams Sheet Metal Works Ready With Air Conditioning

It may seem a bit "airish" to be thinking about air conditioning, but W. C. Williams, owner-manager of Williams Sheet Metal Works, suggests that you give the matter some thought.

In a few more weeks, the air-conditioning season will be at hand and, as usual, many Big Springers won't be prepared.

It doesn't have to be that way, though. You can install your air-conditioning equipment now, enjoy it the rest of the winter and be ready for the hot summer months when they arrive.

It's year-round air conditioning equipment, available at Williams Sheet Metal Works, 201 Benton, that makes this possible. Williams' workmen have the equipment and the know-how to install immediately, giving you the benefit of central heating for the remainder of the winter as well as air conditioning next summer. Both heating and cooling equipment will be set for years of dependable service.

An installation by Williams is the economical route to year-round home comfort, too. Williams' workmen can install the combination heating-cooling equipment in conjunction with a common duct system that will carry season-tempered air to every corner of a home.

There's no bother with installation and maintenance of separate systems when Williams Sheet Metal does the work. The homeowner simply turns off the hot air and turns on the cool when the seasons change.

Williams is dealer for Utility forced air heating units which are available in sizes for every type of home or commercial building. They are easily adaptable to joint installation with "partner" central air conditioning, also available in just the size you need.

The duct systems are manufactured in the Williams shop. Each is tailored to fit the house or other building for which it is intended. There is no guesswork, and no expensive structural alterations are necessary, such as may be required in a prefabricated system.

Williams, of course, will provide pay for comforts he can start enjoying immediately.

For any additional information, residents of the Big Spring area are invited to dial 4-6791 and discuss their cooling or heating problems with W. C. or Don Williams.

Mrs. Rainwater Is Shield Co. Agent

The goal of the Shield Company, Inc. of Fort Worth—after 20 years of faithful service as dealers of Hammond organs—is to put a Hammond organ in every home and church in this area.

Reaching the goal is a large order, but with the quality of products handled by the Shield people, it is a goal that can easily be reached.

In Big Spring, the dealership is handled by Mrs. Champ Rainwater, and her combination studio-office is located at 1201 Scurry Street. Mrs. Rainwater is one of eight staff organists employed by the Shield Company to demonstrate and sell Hammond organs in this area.

Hammond models are nationally known and their tones have been spoken of as "music's most glorious voices." The tones are produced electrically, thus giving room for multiple tones. Two of the latest features added to Hammond models have been selective vibrato and touch response techniques.

Although Hammond organs are fairly expensive, they are within financial reach of the average family because of Shield's convenient time payment plan.

These payment schedules will enable a family to afford a fairly expensive instrument and still pay for it at an inexpensive rate.

Special Hammond organ demonstrations and concerts are available through Mrs. Rainwater. Such a demonstration can be arranged for homes, churches, schools, banquets, and other public groups, as part of the Shield Company's demonstration procedure.

Philgas Available For Heat, Engines

Automatic home heating the Philgas way is proving increasingly popular the country over.

The McGibbon Phillips 66 concern here is equipped to install any kind and size Philgas units in local homes.

Even in the coldest weather, homes can be kept snug and comfortable with Philgas systems. Once installed, the thermostat controls the temperature.

Philgas, too, is used for cooking, water heating, refrigeration and clothes drying. Because it's dependable and automatic, it's ideal for heating brooders and running irrigation pumps.

Farm tractors and automotive equipment, too, can be converted to the use of the clean-burning LP gas. It's a good way for the user to save money, since both fuel gas and cost of upkeep are much less.

The famous Phillips 66 ammonium sulfate fertilizer, perfect for growing better flowers, shade and fruit trees, shrubs and healthier, greener lawns is available at any Phillips 66 service station in the area.

Heavy applications of Phillips 66 ammonium sulfate should, for best results, be applied in March and April and lighter applications in May-through October.

A heavy application would be six to seven pounds per 1,000 square feet. The lighter application would mean three to four pounds for the same area.

Phillips 66 stations also stock such items as Phillips 66 batteries, Lee tires and tubes, as well as premium gasolines and motor oils.

Thoughtful President

President Eisenhower appears deep in thought as he pauses by one of the displays during a tour of an exhibit on the American Economic System in Washington. At left is a sign reading: "Directly contrary to Karl Marx's predictions, in America the rich did NOT get richer and the poor poorer! The number of the very very rich and the very poor steadily diminished, while the middle class got larger." The exhibit will be used abroad. Bernard Shanley, secretary to the President, stands beside Eisenhower.

Polar Bear Hurt By Italy's Cold

MILAN (AP)—Of all the animals in the Milan zoo, it's the polar bear who's suffering most from Italy's current cold spell. The arctic native has some kind of rheumatism or arthritis. "It's not the cold so much," Zoo Director Maria Molinar explained. The temperature is only down to 6 degrees above zero. "But it's too damp a cold. The polar bear needs a dry cold."

Cohen Runs Afoul Of Law Again

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Mickey Cohen, who recently completed a federal prison term for income tax evasion, is square with the law again after pleading guilty to two misdemeanor charges and paying $75 in fines. Police Chief August Kettman said Cohen stayed at the El Mirador Hotel under a fictitious registration and also failed to register as an ex-convict. Municipal Judge Eugene Theriault fined Cohen $100 with a choice of 10 days in jail on each count, but he suspended $50 of one count and $75 of the other, with the proviso Cohen not violate the law for one year. Cohen paid the fines in cash.

Client's Affection Costs Dentist $160

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A woman entered Dr. Linus West's office and told him she wanted her teeth pulled. The dentist said he didn't extract teeth but would recommend a colleague who did. Then, he told police, she threw her arms around him and said, "What I really need is affection." Dr. West, who is 75, disengaged himself and told her, "I'm afraid I'm not interested." He gave her his colleague's name and she left. A few minutes later he found his wallet, containing $160, was gone. Dr. West said the woman was about 40. He couldn't give a detailed description of her except that she had six teeth in her upper jaw and eight in her lower.

Uncle Ray: Old Printed Books Found By Chinese

By RAMON COFFMAN
Early in the present century a Chinese monk raised money to restore the Caves of the Thousand Buddhas on the western boundary of China. Those caves were used as monasteries by men who lived from 900 to 1,500 years ago. While fixing a cave wall, the monk discovered that bricks had been used to block the entrance to a dark room. Taking out some of the bricks, he crawled through the opening. In the dark room he was in the midst of a vast number of rolls of material which had been covered with writing or printing. There were more than 14 thousand rolls! They had been saved from decay because the cave was at the edge of a dry desert area. Several years after that discovery, a British scientist reached the place. He was Sir Aurel Stein. He managed to purchase about 3,000 of the rolls, along with four printed books. The rolls and books were turned over to the British Museum, and that famous museum placed one of the volumes on display as "the first printed book." It is believed to date back 1,088 years. Early printing in China was done with blocks of wood. Words were carved on the wood, also pictures. These were printed on paper. Inks of crude kinds were smeared. Many of the imprints were smudged. One old record, left by a Chinese official, states: "During the Han dynasty... I saw men from Wu and Shu who

Five ancient Chinese picture words.

That official was named Feng Tao, and he lived more than 1,000 years ago. Thanks to his urging, the emperor ordered the classics to be printed. A mistaken notion later grew up in China that Feng Tao was the inventor of printing. For HISTORY section of your scrapbook.

Brazilian Flood Toll Reaches 20

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP)—The death toll of a cloudburst near Pelotas rose today to 20. The heavy rain broke dikes of the Pelotas River yesterday. The flooded area is in south Brazil about 80 miles from the Uruguayan frontier.

Federal Fee On Autos Is Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told Congress today it could raise 4½ billion dollars for road building over a 12-year period by imposing a federal registration fee of $1 per 1,000 pounds on motor vehicles. But Humphrey said he was not proposing any specific highway financing plan and would "go along" with Congress on whatever it authorized. Humphrey mentioned the federal registration fee as among things "suggested to us" after telling the House Ways and Means Committee that a Democratic-backed highway plan would provide less than half the funds necessary for a pay-as-you-build road program.
