Fourth Snow Of Year Forecast For Big Spring

Big Spring can forget the early spring weather prevailing this week. The Weather Bureau forecasts the fourth snow of the year and cold temperatures for this afternoon and Friday.

The Weather Bureau predicted this morning that the temperatures would take a plunge this afternoon from a pleasant 72 to a 22-degree reading tonight. Then, the mercury would not get above the freezing mark Friday, the Bureau added.

With the lowering temperatures Friday, the weather station looked for snow flurries in this area. Today's dropping temperatures will be accompanied by strong southwesterly winds and partly cloudy skies.

If the predicted snow materializes, it will be the fourth of the year for the Big Spring area and the fifth of the '55-56 winter.

Initial snow of the winter Nov. 8 was the earliest in history for Big Spring.

The snow will be a fast reversal of Wednesday's weather picture here, when the mercury did not get closer than three degrees to the freezing mark. The low of the previous 24 hours was recorded at 3 a. m. today with a 35-degree reading. By 8 a. m. today the temperature had risen to 45.

The high Wednesday was 56.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Defiant segregation leaders declared today that "the people of Louisiana will not integrate" to comply with a federal court's ruling ordering desegregation in public schools.

State Sen. W. M. Rainach, segregation leader in the Legislature, criticized the three-man court which gave the ruling yesterday and the Orleans Parish (county) School Board said the next step would be to appeal the decision.

Rainach said the three judges "look an oath of office to uphold the Constitution of the United States, not an oath to uphold the palpably unconstitutional decision of the (U.S. Supreme Court) justices."

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright ordered desegregation of Louisiana schools in the opinion, but he emphasized this did not mean that the mixing of classes would come "overnight or even in a year or more."

Wright granted a temporary injunction against continued segregation in New Orleans public schools and told the School Board to integrate classes "after such time as may be necessary to make arrangements of children to such schools on a racially non-discriminatory basis with all deliberate speed."

Rainach aimed his criticism at Wright and his two fellow jurists, all natives of Louisiana. Judge Wayne G. Borah of the 5th Circuit and U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert Christenberry shared in the ruling.

Wright cautioned that "the problem of changing a people's mores, particularly those with an emotional overlay, is not to be taken lightly."

After the U.S. Supreme Court decision in 1955 abolishing segregation in public schools, the Legislature passed a series of laws placing segregated schools under the state's inherent police powers.

The district court ruled that the laws were unconstitutional.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A hot legislative fight loomed today between the Roman Catholic Church and segregation leaders seeking a law that would halt church plans for integration in Catholic schools.

Four state representatives asked last night for measures to prevent mixing races in private schools. Catholic Church officials have said integration in their schools may come by September.

The request came shortly after a special three-judge federal court threw out state laws aimed at retaining segregation under the state's police powers.

The law created a controversy when passed four years ago. The House originally passed a bill banning integration in all schools, but

ELUSIVE QUAIL

Ike Trades Politics For Bird Hunting

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Vacationing President Eisenhower put bird hunting ahead of politics today and hoped for better luck in a new quest for elusive quail.

With the nation waiting for his answer on a second-term bid, the President for the time being is intent on relaxing in this piney woods area of South Georgia. It's his first hunting trip since suffering a heart attack Sept. 24.

He arrived from Washington yesterday afternoon for about a week of rest and outdoor exercise at the plantation estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who accompanied him.

Within 15 minutes after getting to the Humphrey place, the President and the Cabinet officer had changed to hunting togs and were off to the fields aboard a green-wheeled roadster drawn by two white mules. Behind was another hunting roadster with red wheels carrying the bird dogs and some of the Negro beaters whose job it is to flush the quail.

Eisenhower and Humphrey rode around the big estate for two hours but sighted birds only twice. And neither brought down any quail.

Tuesday, physicians told the President he has had a good recovery and concluding that he is physically able to seek and serve a second term.

The cheering medical report has convinced political supporters of the President that he will run again. If he has not already made his decision, he quite likely will do so here.

He has indicated he will announce his plans around March 1.

Before the doctors spoke out Tuesday, a majority of newsmen who cover the White House regularly felt the President would not run again. Now the majority has swung heavily the other way.

Both the President and Humphrey were accompanied by their wives. Also along are Mrs. Eisenhower's mother Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver and the President's personal physician Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

It was a happy Eisenhower who rode 43 miles by automobile from Spence Air Base at Moultrie, Ga., to the Humphrey plantation. Enthusiastic crowds gave him a warm welcome along the way, and he responded with repeated waves.

The White House Limousine in which he traveled has a top which slides back so he can stand and be seen by the crowds. On the trip yesterday he stood a third of the way without any outward sign of tiring.

Dawson Livestock Show Scheduled
LAMESA—Several score 4-H and FFA members today are transferring stock from farm pens into the show barns here for the largest livestock show in the history of the Dawson-Borden Junior Livestock Association.

Almost 400 animals will be exhibited.

On Friday the animals will be shown to the public, and will be judged Saturday. There will be classes for lambs, swine and calves.

The livestock will be shown at the former C. V. Ball Implement Company warehouse and the adjoining vacant lot. Premiums will approximate $2,100. There will be no sale in connection with the show.

Charges Filed In 'Bloody Burglary'
A Baird man, Jack Willard Bellah, 36, was charged Wednesday with burglary of the Radford Grocery Company following what District Attorney Guilford Jones called "a fine piece of police work."

Jones said Detectives Jack Shaffer and A. N. Standard were responsible for the arrest of Bellah in Odessa Tuesday. They were assisted in the investigation by Bobby West, the district attorney's investigator.

The 'bloody burglary' of the grocery concern occurred Monday night. Taken from a safe was $640.40 in cash. Police said that $217 of the loot was recovered in Odessa this morning.

Bellah had $102.50 in his possession when he was arrested. The district attorney said the de-

Gunman Uses Threat To Girl In Bank Heist

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A young gunman used threats against the life of a 3-year-old girl to help him execute a $15,000 robbery at a branch of the Southern Arizona Bank and Trust Co. here yesterday.

The gunman walked up to the window of teller Eunice Dossett and handed her a note instructing her to put all the money she had in a heavy paper folder.

When another bank employee, unaware of the holdup, started to leave the room, the gunman ordered her to stop. When she hesitated he threatened to shoot 3-year-old Mary Kay Vezina, who was in the bank with her mother.

Before he fled with the money the gunman warned: "Count to 300 before you move. There's a man across the street ready to blast you. Don't move or the little girl will get hurt."

No one saw whether he made his escape in a car. Police said they had picked up two suspects, one 19 and the other 20, but that no charges had been filed.

Nixon Called 'All-Purpose Politician'

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson takes his campaign for the presidency into Utah today after a one-night Idaho stand in which he blasted Vice President Nixon as an "all-purpose politician" in the service of the Republican Party.

Stevenson, who seeks the Democratic presidential nomination, told a Boise audience that Republicans have failed to grasp the significance of a changing way of life in the 20th century.

The Eisenhower administration looks upon farmers, workers and consumers as "customers and wards of a remote, benevolent authority—not participants," he said.

Saving his hardest punches for Nixon, with whom he tangled frequently in the 1952 campaign, Stevenson accused the Republican administration of failures in farm and fiscal policies over the past three years and predicted they would lose in November.

The candidate was dined in the Basque style at a 45-plate Lenten dinner served by Basques—originally sheep herders who came to this country from Spain in the last century and have formed a large colony in Boise.

Later he had a private meeting with Idaho's Democratic leaders and party members.

Stevenson told some 700 in Boise's South Junior High School gym that Nixon is an "all-purpose politician" who uses "socialism" as an "all-purpose word to vilify New Deal Democratic programs and applaud the same things when they have a Republican label."

"What a wonderful all-purpose word this 'socialize' is in the hands of this all-purpose politician who can proclaim an old Democratic program as good when it tears a new Republican label and denounce it as socialism at the same time," he said.

Mayors Hold National Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The third annual Washington Conference of Mayors held under White House auspices, opened today with the emphasis on civil defense.

About 200 chief executives of American cities took part in the conference. Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, directing it, said they will be in the front line of defense if another war comes.

Peterson told a news conference it is likely a number of American cities would be hit simultaneously by atomic weapons in such a war.

So, he said, the mayors must be given the fullest possible information to guide them. This includes, Peterson said, such things as the latest information on the foreign situation and latest enemy weapons.

A number of top officials are briefing the mayors. Some sessions are held behind closed doors in order, Peterson said, to permit complete freedom of discussion.

Mayors Robert F. Wagner of New York and John B. Hynes of Boston, took part in the news conference with Peterson.

Wagner said civil defense is being studied increasingly as a regional rather than a municipal problem.

Hynes said the mayors want to talk over such problems as urban redevelopment in addition to civil defense and related matters.

Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. told the mayors the United States will "persevere" in efforts to settle disputes with Russia "despite the disappointing results so far."

At Bay On Bridge

Elijah Smith, 25-year-old mental patient, brandishes a five-foot long iron bar as he holds off police on a girder of the bridge between Ward's and Randall's islands over the swift current of the East River's Little Hell Gate in New York. Smith escaped from the hospital on Ward's Island, swam in the river for a short distance, picked up the bar and climbed on the girder. Police in a boat under the bridge jostled with Smith with a long pole to divert his attention until the police on the girder closed in and overpowered him.

PLEADS INNOCENT

Sainburg Gives Up To Ithaca Officers

Dr. Frank Sainburg of Big Spring surrendered to Ithaca, N. Y., authorities this morning and pleaded innocent to kidnapping charges in county court. He was released on $10,000 bail.

He is charged with twice kidnaping his son, Phillip Sainburg, 4, from the boy's mother, Doris Blanchard of Ithaca.

Sainburg left Big Spring last weekend after quitting his job at the Veterans Administration Hospital. He said he planned to "clear up" his personal troubles before returning to the practice of surgery.

Sainburg, who previously had been fighting extradition to New York, did not explain his reasons for appearing.

He surrendered to Police Chief William Simmers, who charged him with kidnaping Phillip Sainburg II from the home of his former wife in Ithaca Jan. 14, 1954, and from a nursery school there Nov. 14, 1955.

Sainburg's attorney, William Dicker, came to the police station minutes before Sainburg appeared to give himself up.

Sainburg was taken to county court where he pleaded innocent before Judge Norman Staggs.

He was accused of second-degree assault, burglary and kidnaping in the 1954 incident and with kidnaping in connection with the 1955 disappearance of the child.

Sainburg was released on $10,000 bail to appear during the April term of County Court in Ithaca.

It was not disclosed what disposition had been made of the extradition proceeding, based on a fugitive charge in the November disappearance of Phillip.

The child was found with Sainburg in Yuma, Ariz., early in December and has since been returned to his mother, Miss Doris Blanchard, of Ithaca, who resumed her maiden name after her marriage to Sainburg was annulled.

Airman Admits Spangler Death

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Airman Roy Hunter has admitted killing Jack Spangler near Wichita Falls, Dec. 16, the district attorney's office said yesterday.

Dep. Dist. Atty. James Willett said Hunter, AWOL from Sheppard Air Force Base, told him he shot Spangler three times after immoral advances were made by Spangler.

Spangler, 26, Wichita Falls city employe, was found later in a roadside ditch.

Willett said Hunter, 18, of Salineville, Ohio, was captured Monday night in Spangler's auto. Hunter agreed to waive extradition to Texas.

Hunter was charged here with two counts of auto theft, carrying a concealed weapon and impersonating an officer. He has been absent from Sheppard AFB since Jan. 3.

Alabama Prexy At Student Meet

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—President O. C. Carmichael of the University of Alabama meets his students face-to-face today for the first time since Autherine Lucy was driven from the campus Feb. 6.

Carmichael planned to speak at a student-faculty convocation, rescheduled from Feb. 8, following violent demonstrations against the Birmingham Negro, first of her race to attend the university.

The president was scheduled to address two mid-day meetings. The convocation was divided into two groups because bad weather made it necessary to meet in the university auditorium, instead of the stadium.

University authorities said no cameras were permitted in the auditorium. It was emphasized that the meeting of students with Carmichael was to be "strictly for the students," and cameras were barred to "avoid distractions."

Only outsiders permitted will be reporters. Meanwhile, two Negro brothers who attacked a university student Tuesday night were charged with assault with intent to murder.

Circuit Solicitor Olin Zeannah said Arthur Washington, a soldier on furlough, and his brother, John made statements that they attacked 19-year-old Samuel Perrin Taylor because of resentment over the Lucy case.

Zeannah said the brothers were transferred from the Tuscaloosa city jail to the Greene County jail at Etawah, Ala., about 18 miles away.

"I do not anticipate any trouble, but the transfer would eliminate any such possibility, since there is considerable tension in Tuscaloosa," the solicitor said.

Taylor, a slightly built Tuscaloosa freshman, was beaten and kicked. Both Negroes are in their 20's.

Jimmy Hall, a third Negro, was arrested as a material witness. Zeannah said the brothers would be held for action of the Tuscaloosa grand jury, which meets March 1, unless they ask bond.

Segregation Bill Urged On Daniel

AUSTIN (AP)—Reuben Senterfitt wants Texans to urge Sen. Price Daniel to introduce legislation in Congress which would void the U.S. Supreme Court desegregation ruling.

From too wet to 400 dry might describe the country around Vealmoor. Last spring some farms were almost a sea of mud, but the weather turned dry in the summer to cut cotton yields down to a county average.

Claude Collins, who operates ranches in West Texas and New Mexico, says his place near Vaughn is in good condition. He got a good growth of grass last year and only recently started feeding. They got quite a snow over that way, enough to bring out a lot of new grass when the warm weather comes.

In some places of Sterling County there are almost as many varmints as sheep and cattle, but they don't bother much. The brushy draws hold a number of foxes and raccoons, though these animals seldom bother lambs, according to County Judge G. C. Morrell. He said coyotes were seldom ever found in Sterling County.

"With the net wire fences that nearly every rancher has, getting rid of an occasional coyote is not a big problem," said Morrell.

A few weeks ago a local ginmer had two or three bales of cotton that he would sell cheap. I suppose he still has them, because at that time no one would make him an offer.

The gimmick was that the cotton was grown right next to the carbon black plant. The company paid the farmers damages to cover the loss and the farmers were satisfied. In fact, everyone was happy about the affair until the ginmer tried to sell the cotton.

Farmers who want to try hybrid sorghums this year can now buy the seed at two Big Spring feed stores. There are two or three kinds available in 25-pound bags. With each 25 pounds, which costs $6, the buyer is given two 5-pound bags of seed of different strains.

One thing about this seed: the grower can't use the seed from the crop for next year. He can make a crop and harvest the grain, but that grain will be no better for planting than regular maize. To continue to grow hybrids, he must get new seed each year from the seed breeders. Hybrids are produced by the crossing of male and female plants, and only an experienced seed breeder can do this.

The hybrid grain is supposed to make up to 30 per cent more than

8 DOUBTFUL YEARS

Louisiana Firm In Democrat Fold

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana appeared firmly entrenched today behind the Democratic Party banner after eight years as a doubtful state.

Although Gov.-designate Earl Long has not indicated a presidential choice, he said earlier he would throw his official support regular varieties. It seems, however, that most trials have been made on irrigated land, though the seed is recommended for both dry land and irrigated.

On the afternoon of Jan. 31, Martin Holder postmarked a letter at the St. Lawrence post office, then laid his rubber stamp aside. He might as well have thrown it into the wastebasket, because it would never be used again.

In place of a post office, a star mail route was created so that residents could have their mail brought closer to them. Holder said the closing of the post office was part of a movement all over the country to abandon offices with small amounts of business.

The St. Lawrence post office was opened on Nov. 1, 1948, when the community was still in its infancy. Holder became postmaster in 1951 and had been on the job six days a week ever since.

One tragic mistake the early day farmers made was trying to raise crops on the dry, tightland areas of the Edwards Plateau. There is such a place between Forsan and Sterling City. The oil fields are now only scars on range pastures, but you can still see the places where some farmer tried to raise a cotton or corn crop a half century ago.

A few fields remain, but they are a part of some large ranch, and farming is only incidental to cattle and sheep. Many years ago there was a community of farming people living between Ross City and U. S. Highway 47. Several houses still remain but only two or three are lived in.

Mrs. J. R. McCartney, whose husband works on the Bill Reed Ranch, said eight or ten families had moved away from there during the last 20 years. At one time they had a school house called Fairview, but only the concrete foundation remains as a monument to early day education.

Nearly all these communities were the same way. After a series of crop failures, the people packed their belongings and moved elsewhere, leaving only the shacks and fences behind. And as the years passed, the old houses disappeared one by one like cattle slowly drifting over a hill. All that's left to show for the hardships and wasted years are the old fields now almost completely grassed over.

Perhaps a few cowboys shrugged their shoulders with an I-told-you-so attitude. It wasn't farming country in the first place and was fit only for cattle and sheep. Now if the rains don't start coming back, it won't even be worth anything for livestock.

Westinghouse Strike Enters Its 123rd Day

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike entered its 123rd day today and an early settlement seemed remote after the firm's rejection of a public inquiry into the walkout.

Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, in cooperation with four other governors, had set up a two-man fact-finding board to study the strike which has idled 44,000 workers at 30 Westinghouse plants since Oct. 17.

Gwilym A. Price, Westinghouse board chairman and president, sent telegrams to the governors rejecting the plan.

"Westinghouse cannot delegate to outsiders . . . the right to determine the fundamental terms of the union agreement under which Westinghouse must live for some years," he said.

In Washington, the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers said Westinghouse should "abandon its futile attempts to adjust this dispute by million-dollar propaganda campaigns" and try to achieve settlement by presenting its case to the fact-finding board.

The IUE, which already has accepted the governors' proposal, charged Westinghouse management with a "campaign of lies, duplicity and misrepresentation."

Meanwhile, more violence at the firm's Sharon plant was reported. A federal court order broke the racial barrier in North Carolina last fall when three Negroes enrolled at the university at Chapel Hill. One lives in a dormitory on the campus and the other two plan to move in next fall.

Integration is working both ways in Tennessee. There are 32 Negroes in six white colleges and universities there and 14 white students at Fisk University at Nashville, a Negro school. The University of Tennessee has 32 Negroes in its graduate schools, 17 on the main campus at Knoxville and 15 in its school of social work at Nashville.

Except at Fisk, dormitories and cafeterias are operated on a segregated basis. Most of the Negro students live at home.

Negroes have been permitted in the University of Kentucky's graduate school since 1949 and at the University of Louisville since 1951. Kentucky admits Negro undergraduates in 1954. All live off the campus. At Louisville some Negro members of the football squad live in dormitories on the campus but have separate rooms. State-supported colleges began

Negroes Peacefully Breaking Barriers In Most Of South

Negroes are peacefully breaking color barriers at formerly all-white Southern colleges and universities in sharp contrast to the bitter demonstrations that greeted A. L. Davis' attempt to attend the University of Alabama.

Eight Southern states have accepted Negroes in both graduate and undergraduate divisions, an Associated Press survey showed today. No violence attended these changes which upset patterns that had stood for generations.

Arkansas admitted a Negro to its university law school in 1948. There was no incident. Hundreds have followed quietly.

Other Dixie states with Negro students ranging from a handful to hundreds include Oklahoma, Texas, Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee and Louisiana. In none of these states has there been any violence. Many of the Negroes live in campus dormitories and most eat in school cafeterias with the white students.

A few have been admitted into professional fraternities but there is little social mingling.

Most of the schools which have admitted Negroes, either voluntarily or under court order, had no exact figures. Estimates range from 500 to more than 1,000 in the eight states which practice collegiate integration.

Dr. Guy Johnson, professor of social science at the University of North Carolina, has completed a study of the subject and estimates that about 1,000 Negroes are in state-supported Southern colleges with another 1,000 in privately endowed institutions.

A federal court order broke the racial barrier in North Carolina last fall when three Negroes enrolled at the university at Chapel Hill. One lives in a dormitory on the campus and the other two plan to move in next fall.

Both the university and N.C. State have Negro graduate students.

Nixon Seen As Ticket Mate If Ike Runs Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—A cross-section sampling of Senate Republicans and Democrats showed today most of them think that if President Eisenhower runs again Vice President Nixon will be on the GOP ticket.

Eisenhower has indicated he will give his second-term decision around March 1. If he says then he is available, there is little doubt the vice presidential nominee named at the August convention will be the man he wants.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said he believes Eisenhower will want Nixon to run with him despite what Smith termed "some opposition" within the party.

"I think most of the Republican opposition to Nixon is directed at him as a possible presidential candidate, if the President doesn't run again, rather than as a vice presidential nominee," Smith said.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said he thinks there is little likelihood of any move by Eisenhower to shelve Nixon.

Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) said in view of Eisenhower's complimentary remarks about Nixon he thinks the ticket will be the same as in 1952.

Sen. Curtis (R-Nebr.) agreed. Sen. Spurrman (D-Ala.) the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said he doesn't think Eisenhower is going to run again. But if he does the Alabama senator predicted Nixon will be his running mate.

A novel suggestion for the 1956 GOP ticket came from Sen. Long (D-La.), who reiterated his contention of a year ago that Eisenhower will not run again.

IT'S GOOD TO KNOW THAT WE ONCE HAD A FEW WET YEARS

COLLEGE STATION — Texas farmers may be surprised to learn that rainfall in the Southwestern states increased 10 inches per annum during the period 25,000 B.C. to 12,000 B.C.

Dr. L. S. Dillon, associate professor of biology, Texas A. and M. College, includes that information in his article, "Climate and Life Zones of the Wisconsin Ice Age," which appeared in the Feb. 3 issue of Science, publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The article, which discusses actual climatic conditions existing during the Ice Age period, states that the Northern part of the country underwent a 25 degree drop in mean temperature during that period, while Texas temperatures dropped only 10 degrees.

There was no tropical zone in Florida then, Dr. Dillon declares, and no grapefruit in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas because winters were too severe.

While the Southwestern states were showing a 10 inch rain increase, he says, Southeastern states enjoyed a 20 inch increase, but the people who were around at that time didn't really care if it rained or not.

SAYS TRUMAN 'Adlai Should've Listened To Me'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman's own version of the 1952 election campaign: Adlai E. Stevenson would have gained millions of votes if he had listened to Truman's advice—in particular, if he had accepted when the then President picked him in January 1952 as his choice to head the Democratic ticket.

And Dwight D. Eisenhower, in Truman's view, should be ashamed of himself for knowingly permitting a Republican "campaign of distortion and vilification."

In the final installment of his memoirs, Truman accuses Eisenhower of exploiting the Korean War for partisan gain and of hampering cease-fire negotiations with his famous "I shall go to Korea" campaign speech.

"No man," Truman declares, "had less right to use this crisis for political purposes."

In his memoirs, as serialized in Life magazine, Truman says he favored the late Chief Justice Fred Vinson at first for the Democratic nomination, but turned to Stevenson when Vinson declined it.

Stevenson, says Truman, was "flabbergasted" at the offer and even as the nominating convention was opening—was unwilling to accept.

So, as Truman tells it, he picked Vice President Alben W. Barkley (now junior senator from Kentucky) to head the ticket. And he says "the Veep" would have been nominated if he hadn't backed out in too big a hurry when labor leaders meeting in Chicago refused to back him.

Stevenson later accepted the nomination, but Truman contends: "I am sure that if Stevenson had accepted in good faith the proposition I made to him on Jan. 30, 1952, and enabled us to make the proper buildup, there would have been no contest to speak of at Chicago, and I think he would have received at least three million more votes."

The transition period is to lead to ultimate self-determination, in which the Cypriots themselves would vote whether to remain in the British Commonwealth, become independent or unite with Greece.

The Cypriots are to have an independent Parliament elected by proportional representation. The British governor automatically will approve all acts of the Parliament and will have no authority in domestic affairs unless they relate to foreign affairs or defense.

Soviets Planning Revival Of The 'United Front'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet high command appears to be planning a revival of the "united front" technique to try to gain power and respectability for the Communist parties of Western European nations.

The technique—used with considerable success in the past—is the establishment of working arrangements between local Communist parties and such non-Communist groups as the Socialists.

U. S. officials think they see a tipoff to renewed emphasis on "united front" drives in the speech given by Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev to the Congress now meeting in Moscow.

Another aspect of the speech which has aroused considerable interest here is its possible bearing on the fate of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Molotov said in a speech a year ago that only the foundations of socialism had been built in the Soviet Union. After he was officially criticized, he amended that to say Soviet Socialist (that is, Communist) society was already strongly developed in the Soviet Union. Molotov publicly confessed error.

Khrushchev, without naming Molotov, brought up his "erroneous" statement Tuesday and again denounced it as misleading. This renewed speculation that Molotov may be on the way out.

In general, Khrushchev worked hard through many thousands of themes, as his speech is read here. One is that Soviet communism is moving inevitably forward to cover the world. The other was that of peace.

He sharply modified Communist theories that war between Communist and capitalist states is inevitable and that violent overthrow of established governments is required.

Floods Pile Misery On Chilled Europe

LONDON (AP)—Raging floods and a new cold wave struck much of Europe and parts of the Middle East today, piling misery on misery in a 17-day freeze-up which already has cost 368 lives.

Torrential rains and melting snows brought Turkey new disasters of the worst winter on record. The known dead there totaled 72.

Ice jams and a brief thaw sent the Rhine and scores of rivers rampaging over their banks in central Europe.

Yugoslavia estimated its flood damage from the Strumica River alone at a million dollars.

The Netherlands reported the coldest night since 1942, with temperatures down to 13 below zero.

Even sunny Spain froze up again after warmer weather yesterday. Behind the cold wave lurked the specter of famine. Crop losses already ran into millions of dollars.

Scores more were feared lost in villages still snowbound across the Continent. And nine men were aboard the 359-ton Norwegian ship Sagvag, missing since Sunday off Norway's icebound south coast.

Relief organizations rushed food and clothing to more than 250 persons left homeless by floods in Turkish Thrace. The raging waters swept away bridges and railroad lines. Thousands of acres of rich farmlands were inundated.

Delayed reports from the Turkish mountain hamlet of Aga Kulus said 20 persons were killed and six were missing after a huge avalanche. Cave-ins caused by Italian Official Dies On Floor Of Senate

ROME (AP)—Budget Minister Elio Vannoni suffered a fatal stroke today on the Senate floor. He collapsed during a successful defense of Premier Antonio Segni's government against charges of inflation and died shortly afterward.

British Okay Home Rule Plan For Cyprus Colony

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Informed sources say Britain and the leader of the Cypriot movement for union with Greece have agreed on a home-rule plan for this strategic east Mediterranean colony.

British government officials in London acknowledged that such a plan had been offered Cyprus but declined to comment on the report that it had been accepted by Archbishop Makarios, the Cypriot leader.

A bloody anti-British campaign is being waged on Cyprus by terrorists seeking immediate union with Greece. Some 400,000 of the island's half-million residents are of Greek origin, most of the rest of Turkish descent.

Sources here said the British program offers complete internal self-government to Cyprus with Britain retaining control of defense and foreign affairs. They said official announcements are being withheld until next Tuesday to avoid possible influence on Sunday's Greek elections, in which the "Enosis" campaign for union of Cyprus with Greece is an issue.

The sources said the agreement includes these provisions: Defense and foreign affairs will be controlled by London for an un-stated transition period. During that period there will be no restriction on British military bases on Cyprus.

The transition period is to lead to ultimate self-determination, in which the Cypriots themselves would vote whether to remain in the British Commonwealth, become independent or unite with Greece.

The Cypriots are to have an independent Parliament elected by proportional representation. The British governor automatically will approve all acts of the Parliament and will have no authority in domestic affairs unless they relate to foreign affairs or defense.

Equal political and religious rights will be guaranteed to minority residents of the island, including about 80,000 persons of Turkish origin.

Tides Of Supply And Demand

Supply and demand is still a pretty accurate way to determine the relation between price and production. For instance, the Agriculture Department's census of livestock and poultry on farms shows a 2 per cent increase in numbers in 1955 but a decline of 4 per cent in the aggregate value. Hogs increased 9 per cent and cattle 1 per cent, while sheep and lambs dropped 1 per cent, horses and mules 8 per cent and poultry 2 per cent. Cattle, horses and mules and poultry increased in value, but hogs with a whopping 9 per cent increase in numbers fell right through the price scale to the bottom. In 1954, 59 million hogs were produced in 1954 and 55 million in 1955. But in terms of money, the 50 million hogs marketed in 1954 brought the producer $1.5 billion, while the huge 1955 turnout of porkers brought in only $977 million. There, in a single package, is a half-billion-dollar reason for the political restiveness of the corn-hog belt, and a plain case of the ruinous effect of over-production on the price structure. It is difficult to see how the government could keep people from rushing into hog production on a lavish scale in anticipation of a killing, short of annihilating some 5 million little pigs before they go to market. But regardless of the circumstances, it's a red-hot political issue just the same. Cattle in 1955 increased only 1 per cent to around 97.5 million head. They were fractionally higher in spite of the slight increase in numbers, yielding roughly $65 million more than the smaller crop of 1954. The 1955 money yield: $3,581 billion. Item: Chicken production dropped from 390 million in 1954 to 332 million in 1955, but brought in $70 million more. Turkey production was off only slightly but brought in almost $10 million more in 1955 than the year before, for a 1955 total of $26,298,000. The law of supply and demand still seems to play an important part in our agricultural economy.

For The Moment A Dr. Jekyll

The fourth plank in Nikita Khrushchev's 5-point foreign policy as outlined to the 20th Congress of the Communist Party called for better relations with the United States, Great Britain and France "in all fields, especially economic, technical and cultural." "We wish," he said, "to be on good terms with the U. S. A." and to that end "we have proposed a treaty." The Communist quadrennial congress is the party showcase. The Khrushchev who spoke thus on Tuesday was wearing the hat of party general secretary. In the presence of party leaders from all parts of the Soviet Union he found it expedient alternately to speak in terms of peace with the West and at the same time hold an implied threat over the U. S. in particular by speaking of Russia's military might. Absent were the vituperative bluegeonings Khrushchev visited upon the U. S. only a few weeks ago. Even the Soviet delegates might find it strange that a man who mouthed the word "peace" one minute had turned the next to denunciation of the nation he wants peace with most of all. This time he was speaking for home consumption, turning the Dr. Jekyll side of his countenance to the home watchers, and concealing for the moment the Mr. Hyde side. It is hard to believe any people could live so long on empty promises, but the Russians have managed to exist on little else for a whole generation. Peace and prosperity is the promise, and the delivery is more deprivations and tighter chains. For the moment Khrushchev and the party of which he is boss speak of "peaceful coexistence," a word that means many things, which is no peace at all but the slavery of obedience. And that obedience is demanded of all peoples, under whatever flag.

Maclean-Burgess Episode Hasn't Helped Reds

WASHINGTON—The real story of what is back of the public appearance in Moscow of Messrs. Maclean and Burgess, the British diplomats who turned traitors, has yet to come. Bringing them out after a concealment of nearly five years is not explained by rationalizing that all the Communists want to do at this time is to drive a wedge between America and Britain. The episode may turn out in the end to have been a big blunder by the Soviets. For, instead of producing a rift in Anglo-American relations, it will assure the opposite—namely, the strengthening of the security measures which both London and Washington will take hereafter against those engaged in spying or in infiltrating government offices. It will also increase distrust of Khrushchev and the other members of the Kremlin who have denied repeatedly that Maclean and Burgess were in Moscow. Sir Anthony Eden, the British Prime Minister, lost no time in emphasizing this very point to the House of Commons.

Messrs. Maclean and Burgess cannot as yet be assessed. Their behavior did cause American authorities to be squeamish for a while about letting confidential information about atomic energy go to Great Britain, though it is believed this problem has since been solved satisfactorily. Perhaps the biggest injury to America, however, came during the Korean War. Maclean took charge of the American desk in the British Foreign Office on November 5, 1950. He was in a position to read all confidential messages and to know the British reaction thereto. The vanguard of the Red Chinese armies had already come into Korea from Manchuria a few days before, and General MacArthur requested authority to bomb the bases in Manchuria so as to isolate any Chinese troops already in Korea and prevent other divisions from coming in. The U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff formally requested the permission, on behalf of General MacArthur, about November 13, 1950, in a message which was relayed to twelve allied governments. The request was rejected in the next few days, and the Red Chinese naturally stepped up their offensive on November 25. Here is what General MacArthur only last week was saying in a statement apropos of his controversy on this point with former President Truman: "Only if he were certain that we would continue to protect his bases and supply lines would a commander have dared to throw the full weight of the Chinese Army into Korea. . . . The Maclean-Burgess defection has shown how he could have known. . . . It was not until the recent exposure of the British spies, Burgess and Maclean, that the true facts began to unfold. These men with access to secret files were undoubtedly links in the chain to our enemy in Korea through Peiping by way of Moscow."

Why did the Soviet government fail to produce Maclean and Burgess before? They may have believed that they could conceal the two diplomats indefinitely. But the "Daily Express" book showed circumstantially that this was no longer possible. In fact, the "London Daily Mail" correspondent in Geneva, Frederick Sands, telegraphed in November, 1955, to his newspaper saying he had been told by a Russian diplomat that Maclean, having been brought to East Berlin, had been analyzing all the plans put forward by the West and was being consulted at every stage of the Big Geneva conferences of 1955. Sands said: "The Russian told me: 'Yes, I have met Maclean. I saw him for the first time in Moscow in the summer of 1954.'" On March 18, 1954, just after the Big Four conference at Berlin, I wrote a dispatch saying: "How is such infiltration accomplished? In some countries like France and Italy, where the Communist party is not regarded as a conspiracy, direct access is gained to cabinets and government departments where important information is acquired daily as to the trend of policies while they are being shaped. This permits Moscow to move on the diplomatic scene in ways that cause international friction and weaken the solidarity of the free world. Messrs. Maclean and Burgess, formerly of the British Foreign Office, sit behind the Iron Curtain advising the Russians. But the British keep on pooh-poohing the Communist menace and crying out against 'McCarthyism'."

Stalin Is Quickly Forgotten

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph Stalin was such a complete dictator he looked like a Hollywood production. But no one was ever swept under the rug faster than Stalin after his death in 1953. In his lifetime he was treated as a kind of Soviet saint, a combining of folk-hero and wonder-man. In death he has disappeared almost into oblivion. Westerners have long wondered why.

This week his successors, his own hand-picked disciples, have given the answer without mentioning his name: they got fed up with his one-man show and, apparently, even of his memory. From what they say now they didn't show it while he was still around, or they wouldn't be around. He was the Communist party. He held the life of every Russian in his hand. Pictures of him, alone or with Lenin and Marx, adorned the country. After his death his pictures began to come down. The Communist-owned Russian press glorified when it mentioned him, which was always. He was glorified with adjectives sometimes so ludicrous they seemed chosen with malicious irony. Now his name is hardly mentioned.

The answer to all this came Tuesday from the new Communist party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, in a long speech to the party Congress in Moscow. He mentioned Lenin and Marx many times but Stalin only once by name, and then in passing.

Khrushchev told his fellow Communists from all over Russia that he and the other new leaders are acting as a team. Collective leadership, he called it, referring to the top men on the party's Central Committee.

They issued a slashing condemnation of Stalin without using his name, explaining why Stalin has been shown to Communist limbo. Khrushchev said: "Everyone can see how much the role of the Central Committee as the collective leader of our party has grown in recent years. . . . (It) took steps to explain widely."

Every college student who has read a book about the Russian Revolution knows that the Bolsheviks were a team. Collective leadership, he called it, referring to the top men on the party's Central Committee.

Capitalists Join Chinese Reds As 'Partners'

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—An Egyptian newsman who recently returned from a 30-day tour of Red China reports he met three former Chinese millionaires who willingly handed over their wealth to the ruling Red regime. "They were happy to still have their heads on their shoulders," Aly el Gammal wrote in the daily Al Akhbar. Each time a wealthy Chinese "decides" to let the government enter as a partner in his enterprise, a Mardi Gras-type procession is held to celebrate the occasion. The ex-capitalist leads the crowd. El Gammal told of meeting three former capitalists in Shanghai who had just finished their "conversion." "They tried to look happy, they made an effort to smile," he said, "but their answers to our questions were not straight." The Egyptian newsman said, however, all three expressed relief that the government was running their business. They said, "Our new customers formed mostly of peasants and workers, could not afford to buy our expensive products any more." El Gammal said the Red Chinese government has opened a book to teach millionaires Communist doctrines and the rules of the government.

WASHINGTON (AP)—I came again to the old white frame house a block off the University of Missouri campus and knocked at a well-remembered door. The door opened, and I saw before me the same lady who had opened that same door to me when I had first knocked upon it a quarter of a century ago as a brash young student.

The graying lady looked hesitantly for a moment at the graying middle-aged man before her, and then her mind peeled away the ravaging changes time had made in him, and she said in a real pleased voice: "Why, Harold!" and then I put my arms around her and pressed my face against her cheek—and knew myself at home.

Going back to his old college is a spiritual ordeal to any man. So many of the landmarks of his youth have vanished and been replaced by the new landmarks of a new generation that he feels himself a stranger from a lost time. But Mrs. E. E. Tydings, my foster mother, hadn't changed. "Why, Harold, come right in," she said, and shut the door against the winter chill.

We went into the kitchen, and as Mrs. Tydings placidly busied herself at the stove, I sat in the old straight-back chair she had received as a wedding present around the turn of the century. We talked of old times, and it was almost as if I had never been away. "My mind often goes back . . ." said Mrs. Tydings.

Every college campus has its Mrs. Tydings. They are the motherly women who take in lonely college boys and give them a home away from home. Over the years Mrs. Tydings and her husband, Dr. Tydings, a dentist, now dead, must have sheltered and fed a hundred or more students—and lost a lot of money doing it.

"I just don't know how many boys have stayed with us," she said. "I've never bothered to count them."

"How do the college boys of today compare to those who were in school when I was here?" I asked, rather hoping, I must admit, for a bit of personal recognition.

permitting and encouraging his own glorification, had betrayed the spirit of Marx and Lenin. But Khrushchev went further, suggesting that Stalin had even hurt the progress of communism. He said: "Currency of the cult of the individual tends to minimize the role of collective leadership in the party, and at times results in serious drawbacks in our way."

Thunder Of Jets Here To Stay

A new problem soon to confront many people, and probably some Big Springers, is jet aircraft noise. Instead of a feeling of reassurance, people living and working around airplanes soon may have a desire to pull their hair and gnash their teeth every time a jet engine is fired up. Supersonic airplanes are becoming noisier. Some jets coming into use soon give off a noise of more than 140 decibels, and that's about the limit a person can endure without suffering pain, fear and panic. They say that the noise of a jet exceeding the speed of sound is one and a half billion times as great as the smallest sound the ear can detect. In other words, the racket is about that many times greater than the sound of a pin dropping. Pierce, isn't it? Comparison with the din created by a big diesel truck makes the noise of a supersonic jet even more spectacular. The people who measure sound say the big truck uses a power of 10 watts to make its noise. A diesel locomotive creates its racket with a power of 100 watts. Propeller-driven airplanes are heard with a roar created with 1,000 watts. Jet planes, just a little advanced from the ones they use at Webb, roar with a 10,000-watt voice. And future jets will thunder with a power of 100,000 watts. In other words, it's going to be a lot noisier before it gets any quieter. You don't have to worry much about commercial aircraft. They're putting noise suppressors (like mufflers on an auto) on them. But the military planes can't afford mufflers. When you try to suppress their noise, you cut down on their performance at the same time. And a one per cent loss of power just might give the enemy the edge in the airpower race. The Air Force and commercial aviation are aware of the problems the more powerful planes are creating. And they're doing what they can to ease suffering ear drums. Where it's feasible, traffic patterns avoid populated areas. Engine run-ups are made in isolated areas, or in buildings, at fields where the bigger planes are tested and flown. And the commercial people are working on the sound suppressors for their big jets. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief, says the best answer to the noise problem lies in "acceptance" of the nerve-jangling roars. He calls it "just something we're going to have to live with," meaning that the jet blast is here to stay. —WAYLAND YATES

Labor Sees Economy As Unpredictable

Sculptors, to your medium! Fashion a medal, a solid gold medal, for a man of intrepid courage, Stanley H. Ruttenberg. He's head of the department of research of the merged American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organization, and, hence, responsible for the enlarged union's new publication, Labor's Economic Review. The first issue contains this daring paragraph: "Perhaps our economic system has a character that can only be described as feminine. Up to now, she has been on her best behavior, but someday her smile might change to a frown. And in a manner truly feminine, this might happen at a time when it is least expected." So, Mr. Ruttenberg, the business cycle is a woman, fickle, and unpredictable.

Considering that the men have so much to do with the ups and downs of business—men run the big corporations, the big labor unions, and the government; men make the decisions to expand plant or lay off workers—Ruttenberg and his five top associates, all male, are taking on a lot of Keatsian license. She who rocks the cradle, cooks meals, washes dishes, makes beds with steadfast constancy and no union representation may want to give Ruttenberg a medal! Not for courage, but for the most ill-chosen metaphor so far in this youthful year.

Labor's Economic Review is the AFL-CIO counter part of the CIO's Economic Outlook, which also is directed by Ruttenberg. The Review is less raucous and demanding than the Outlook. Understandably, this is the voice of a consolidated labor union. It must take an established point of view. The Outlook, on the other hand, was a thrusting, torch-bearing publication, representing a minority group in the labor movement.

In its "economic depression" the Review asks if we have a Depression-proof economy. Its answer is mild and tolerant. "Business leaders," the Review concedes, "have a greater knowledge of the economy and how it operates" than 20 years ago. "Perhaps the biggest change of all since the 'thirties has been the new role now assumed by the federal government. Even among business men there is now general recognition that government action is desirable to avoid serious fluctuations in the business cycle." Often the Outlook belittled the business man's capacity to understand the world around him. In a constructive vein, the Review enumerates the stabilizers built into the economy: "The old-age and survivors insurance benefits provide minimum income for an individual after he is no longer able to work. Unemployment insurance benefits . . . provide at least some support when an individual is deprived of work opportunities through no fault of his own."

"A farm support program . . . has been designed to assure farmers at least a certain minimum return. The nationwide insurance of bank deposits eliminates the possibility of another 1933 bank panic. Today's federal tax structure . . . provides a built-in system for assuring a relatively greater flow of income to consumers in the event an economic downturn develops." Then the Review properly cautions:

"The existence of these many programs cannot automatically assure future economic growth and stability. . . . It is dangerous to become too complacent about the future and talk about a 'depression-proof' economy."

This is the AFL-CIO answer to a recent U. S. Chamber of Commerce pamphlet, "Can We Depression-Proof Our Economy?" It's a sensible, invective-free answer. If Labor's Economic Review continues thus, it will take its place in current economic literature alongside the long-established and well-balanced monthly letter of the First National City Bank of New York and the newer Chase Manhattan Bank review. A well-reasoned analysis of economic conditions and problems from the labor angle, has long been needed.

A Way To Get Your Picture In The Paper

Dear me! What a toilsome, dedicated life is led by the young actress who doesn't know where her next newspaper picture or press puff is coming from! Just think of all the merl and terl to which the late Miss Anna Held subjected herself, when Uncle Horace was a boy, in rounding up enough milk to fill a bathtub! And dwell for a moment on the bravery of the lady in dunking herself in the nasty, sticky stuff just for a line in the public prints!

But here am I who never saw Miss Held but who knows the milk-bath legend, all of which proves that the newspapers and the public prints are not in vain. It fairly shakes my heart when I think of Miss Monroe all alone by the telephone (she says she hasn't got a feller as of now), patiently loosening or weakening the straps on her décolletage before each public appearance.

There she sits, working her fingers to the bone, worrying a stitch here, unravelling a thread there, and for what? Just for another 'I'll see you in the newspapers' or press puff in coming from! But it wasn't the bathroom I was seeking. It was my old room. It had changed less than I. The February sun threw a slanting warmth at the old desk where I had once studied. What a wonderful room it had been, and what wonderful roommates I had known there! Among them were John Keats, Samuel Johnson, Jonathan Swift, Thomas Hardy, and a lady named Emily Dickinson.

I walked back downstairs, slowly leaving their ghosts behind to cheer other boys.

So Miss Monroe gets to the public rendezvous, takes a good breath, the strap slips, its mooring, pandemonium reigns and bingo! Photographers once more immortalize this mise en scene. Nor is it easy for a girl to do her hair with an egg-beater as Miss Monroe does. It takes time and egg-beaters. But the broken-strap and the egg-beater coiffure are Monroe trademarks. So is the old familiar pic with her eyes half-closed and her rosebud mouth slack and at half-mast as if she had a cold in her head and her nasal passages were blocked. It is a rich, ripe pic that always convinces me that the role at which Miss Monroe is secretly aiming is not The Brothers Karamazov, as she insists, but that of Ellie May, the turn-up-curtain, debutante daughter of Tobacco Road's Jeeter Lester.

It has been difficult for Miss Mansfield, a girl also richly endowed as to frontispiece but a Jaymie-Come-Lately, to whip up a space-stealing act to rival Miss Monroe's. However, Miss Mansfield's press agent has just sent me—via the mails and a plain wrapper—a picture of Miss Mansfield indicating that calendar art did not die with Miss Monroe.

The rivalry between the two has already exposed both to pneumonia, head colds and chills. No sacrifice, obviously, is too stark for either, as long as it is in the public domain. And why I am yawning beats me.

Narcotics By Mail

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—There's good news these days for users of peyote—a narcotic used by some Indian tribes in certain religious rites. The Albuquerque Post Office has announced that the drug may be sent through the mails—unlike opium, marijuana or heroin. The post office asked for a ruling on the narcotic after a COD shipment was mailed here last month from Mirando City, Tex.

Peyote is the product of a certain type of cactus bud which is found only in southern Texas and north central Mexico.

The Straight Road

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Road Department received a highway marker in the mail along with a letter from a man in Lambert, Minn., saying it had been taken as a souvenir in 1942. The letter concluded: "Several years ago I became a Christian and my entire life has been changed. Will you accept this road marker and my apologies for having taken it?" The Department assured him all is forgiven.

An increase was also noted in water and sewer bills during the month. Bills for the month totaled $43,949.03 or $5,133.60 more than January of '55. The increase over December was $2,430.50.

Rodney Sheppard had trouble with his car in the 700 block of Johnson. A short in the car's wiring burned up the wires in the car.

"Lights! Curtain Up!" Roy Rogan, veteran city electrician who operates the stage panel board and curtain mechanism at the City Auditorium, is all set to catch these words from director Oriand Johnson. When he does at 8 p.m. today, the ninth annual Lions Minstrel will be under way. Johnson will be in the pit with Jack Hendrix, accompanist, and in communication with the light technicians in the balcony projection room.

LOTS OF MELODY Ninth Lions Minstrel Opens Tonight In City Auditorium

Curtain goes up at 8 p.m. today in the City Auditorium on the ninth annual Lions Minstrel.

Melody will abound in this year's offering billed as the "Spasms of '56," for the Howard County Junior College choir will be serving as the minstrel chorus. Oriand Johnson, director of the choir, is producing this year's Lions show. Jack Hendrix will be at the organ as accompanist.

The final performance is set at 2 p.m. Friday in the auditorium. Net proceeds from tickets ($1 and 50 cents) will go to the club's special fund for welfare and youth projects.

In addition, there will be the traditional popcorn sale at the intermission with nearly two score prizes on tap.

Opening on a lively interpretation of "When the Saints Go Marching In," the chorus then swings into the catchy "Muskrat Ramble." Arnold Marshall will sing "Old Man River," followed by Jim Crausie, who does a variety of vocal and piano novelties.

Then comes the "Rockaway" with Su-Whitley, Virginia Wilson, Karen Kee, Linda McNew, Mary Wilson and Ann Puckett.

There will be a "boop" dancer sequence with Susan Zack, Gil Jones Jr., Katie Bess Morgan, Bobby Moore, Deane Mansfield, Jimmy Hinds, Linda McNew and Jim Burk. Also in the first act, with Dr. E. Gage Lloyd as the show barker, will be chorus numbers, "It's All Over Me" and in "That Great Gittin' Up Mornin'."

Most of the customary black-face sequence comes in the second act when the minstrel flavor hits its peak with opening by the chorus in "Sewanee." While end men will exchange banter with Gil Jones, (Mr. Interlocutor) through out, there will be a variety of other specialties. These include Patty Gregory, a torch vocalist; the Moonlight Medley by the chorus with the Sportsmen (Walter Dickson, Johnny Janak and Ronnie King, and accompanist Julie Rainwater); Bill Adams has a hilarious episode on how to make a salad. Betty Farrar does a lively tap dance, "Hannah from Savannah," followed by the chorus in songs from "Oklahoma" and the finale.

End men are E. M. Keese, Pete Cook, Emmett Broderston, Joe Pickle, Dr. C. W. Deats and Elbert Boullion.

Some of the sequences will feature special light effects, now that the club's black light has been returned. The missing equipment was borrowed by a prospector to examine some uranium samples.

Pop corn sellers are prepared for a whirlwind offering while stage hands, under Avery Falkner, rush out the prizes and make a hasty behind-the-scenes change of scenery.

Costumes have been refurbished by Cornelison Cleaners. Among

Three Men Held In Burglary Probe

CRMWA Pact Revisions Okayed At Directors Meet

LAMESA (SC)—Revisions in the proposed water contracts for member cities of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority were approved by directors at a meeting in Plainview Monday.

Mayor James Minor of Post said he thought his city would be interested in purchasing around a million gallons per day from the CRMWA under terms outlined for non-member cities. The terms are virtually the same as for the members. Minor said he felt Post should have been in the project from the start.

Contract revisions were proposed by Portland Merrill of Blythe & Co. and O. V. Cecil of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beene, of New York, representing prospective purchasers of $74,000,000 in bonds. Included was the right of the CRMWA to increase rates in event of increased maintenance costs. Previously, rates could be increased only in event one city defaulted and others had to absorb the load. There were other minor changes and there have been forwarded to member cities.

The contract referendum is scheduled for March 13. Representing Lamesa at the meeting in Plainview were Ray Renner and Sam Richardson, local directors of the CRMWA.

There were about eight or 10 calls from servicemen Wednesday, according to this morning, Jimmie Greene, manager, said.

"Stunts" has become a time of homecoming for TSCW, and hundreds of former students and other visitors are expected on production night, Feb. 24 and 25. Competition will reach its climax on Saturday night, Feb. 25, when judges will announce the '56 winner of the silver Stunt Cup.

Miss Olliphant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Olliphant, is a co-author of the senior stunt.

Reidy Files In City Election

Charles M. Reidy, 703 E. 13th, has filed for a place on the ballot for the city commissioners election April 3. C. R. McClenny, city secretary, said Reidy signed the necessary affidavit Wednesday. Reidy is the first candidate to announce that he will ask for election to the city council. Three vacancies are to be filled. Posts held by Curtis Driver, Roy Bruce, and Al Goodson are to be vacant. The present commissioners have not indicated whether they will run for re-election. The deadline for filing for a place on the ballot is March 3. There is no charge for filing.

Texas Baptists Name O'Brien To Study Committee

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has been named to a special convention study committee of the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. The committee is to study methods of correlating various annual conventions per day from the denomination in the state. Dr. Arthur B. Rutledge said that the study was occasioned by a rapid growth, and with it a growth in the number of meetings within the denomination. The committee is to attempt to present ways of utilizing time and programs for the benefit of as many people as possible, he said. Only other minister in this area on the committee is the Rev. Jones Weathers, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Brownfield.

Souchak Seeks Second Open Title In Row

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Big Mike Souchak, the long driver from Grossingers, N. Y., set out today to defend his Texas Open golf championship and the touring professionals thought he had a good chance of doing it.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the tournament veteran from St. Louis, liked Souchak in the run for the $4,999 first money because the Ft. Sam Houston course is so open and puts a premium on the long hitter. But there were favorites aplenty as the field of 159 moved out in the opening round of the $20,000 tournament. Final time-up rounds yesterday indicated that the par-72, 6,476-yard course would take a hefty hammering.

Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., had the best pretournament score, laying down a 6-under-par 64 while Johnnie Demaret and Jack Burke, both of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., had 66s. There were plenty of 65s and 66s.

Souchak said there would be plenty of par busting if the weather was good, but added:

"A strong wind will make those scores soar. The wide course will be tough under such circumstances."

In any case, he said, there would be none of those 60s and 65s for 72 holes such as has been hung up in the past in the Texas Open. Souchak had 257 last year playing the short and comparatively easy Brookridge Park course.

M. P. Wilson, the tournament director, said there were more star golfers in the field this year than any time since the tournament was started in 1922.

"Outside of Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff we have everybody of consequence," said Wilson, to whom this year's tournament is being dedicated for his long service to golf. Wilson has been a member of the San Antonio Golf Assn., the sponsoring organization, since 1940, was president of it for four years, has been tournament director 10 years and is president of the Winter Golf Sponsors Assn.

SW Grid 11's Book Rugged Competition

The Southwest Conference football schedule for 1956 shows 23 inter-sectional games and includes such perennial powers as Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Maryland, Georgia Tech and Mississippi.

Those schools are listed primarily to point up the fact that while the conference's overall record is quite good in inter-sectional warfare it hasn't been able to do much with Oklahoma, Notre Dame, etc. Until it does it can't brag about its national standing.

Since World War II—or rather from 1946 to the present time, a period of 10 years—the conference has won 136 inter-sectional games, lost 90 and tied 10. That sounds good but let us examine the record:

Oklahoma has won 17 and lost 5 against the conference's teams. Notre Dame has a 5-1 record, Georgia Tech 7-1, Maryland 1-0 and Mississippi 7-3. And to make it look worse than ever, Louisiana State, which seldom beats anybody else, has taken down Southwest Conference teams

8 TEAMS ENTERED Knott Cage Meet Under Way At 6

KNOTT, (SC) — Competition opens in the eight-team Knott Independent Basketball Tournament at 6 o'clock tonight. All teams will see action before the lights go off.

The first round schedule:

Texas Electric of Big Spring vs Denton's of Big Spring, 8 p.m.; McGibbon Phillips 66 vs Nabers Paint Store, 7 p.m.; Stanton vs McMahon's of Big Spring, 8 p.m.; Lamesa vs Klondike, 9 p.m.

Four games are also on tap for Friday evening, at which time consolation play begins.

Consolation finals start at 8 p.m. Saturday, the title game at 9 p.m. Tom Moorhead of Big Spring has been named chief official.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Knott Senior Class. All proceeds above expenses, including concessions money, will go toward the annual trip made by the seniors.

Admission prices for the meet have been pegged at 50 and 25 cents per session.

Two Ex-Champs To Fight In State Gloves Meet

PORT WORTH (AP) — Two former champions are to see action tonight as 26 bouts will cut the field to the quarter-finals in the 20th annual Texas Golden Gloves here.

Nearly 4,000 fans were on hand for the first 23 bouts that opened the state contest here last night. Amarillo boxers won four bouts to take an early lead for team championship.

Among those who did not see action last night were the lone defending champion, lightweight Jake Martinez of El Paso, and the 1953 state and Chicago flyweight champion, Pete Melendez of El Paso.

Melendez will make his start tonight against Don Roberson of Lubbock.

The semi-finals are set for Saturday night and the finals for Monday.

Robert Espinosa, Odessa, who weighed in at 119, scored the most spectacular victory of the opening night by knocking out Pete Camacho, 118, of El Paso in the second round.

Lane Doubtful He'll Make A Player Trade

By JOE REICHLER
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Frank Lane, who consummated 241 trades involving a total of 353 players during his seven years with the Chicago White Sox, doubts whether he'll make a deal for the St. Louis Cardinals before the start of the 1956 baseball season.

The new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals was found behind the batting cage at Al Lang Field watching intently as the players went through their paces in the Cardinals' first spring training drill.

"It's like starting all over again," said the man who converted a drab cellar-dwelling White Sox outfit into a hustling, colorful contender for the American League flag. "I consider this a challenge. No matter what I did in Chicago, no matter how much success I enjoyed with the White Sox, it doesn't mean a thing to the people in St. Louis."

"The fans in St. Louis want a pennant. So do I. I think we can bring them one in three years, we're not interested in just finishing in the first division. We're interested in finishing on top."

It was at this point that he was asked whether he had any trades in mind.

"No," he replied frankly. "I doubt very much if we'll make a deal. Oh, I could have made several since I took over as general manager. In fact, I could have done a right now—one that would insure us a first division finish this year. But I won't make it."

"It would mean giving up young talent—our future pennant hope—for veteran players who undoubtedly would pull us up several positions this year, but would be of doubtful value after that."

"The young talent," of course include such youngsters as Bill Virdon, the National League's top rookie last year, and Ken Boyer, the fine freshman third baseman, who have been coveted by other clubs.

All For Sweet Charity

Is St. Francis Really Neglected Cage Giant?

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Is St. Francis of Brooklyn really one of the neglected giants of college basketball? Or are the Terriers, rated No. 13 in this week's Associated Press poll, simply pulling a fast one by knocking off a few "big names" which aren't what they used to be?

The Terriers bagged past Brooklyn College 94-74 last night—giving them 192 points within 24 hours—and stretched their unbeaten string to 18 games. NIT-bound St. Francis and San Francisco are the only major unbeaten teams.

Some were ready to rank the Terriers right behind top-rated San Francisco—nursing a record major college winning streak of 45 games—after watching St. Francis wallopp Manhattan, a so-so contender for a post-season berth, 98-75, Tuesday night.

And some New York observers, maybe a little eager to end the famine of standout local players and teams, were even comparing the Terriers' 6-foot-7 All-Inniss favorably with the Dons' All-America Bill Russell.

PLAY IN SNYDER Bovines Wind It Up This Evening

Basketball togger of the Big Spring Steers will be packed away in mothballs after tonight, after which the locals visit Snyder for a game with the always-tough Tigers.

The Longhorns, who gave Leeland a great game earlier this week before losing by nine points, will be seeking their fifth consecutive win of the season against the Bengals, who beat them by one point earlier this year.

A victory would insure the Steers finishing above the Snyder team in the standings, which would be a relief for the troubled Coach Johnny Johnson has had this year.

Tonight's game ends the high school playing career of two members of the team, Charley Johnson and LeRoy LeFevre.

Johnson is the team's second leading scorer. At 6-4, LeRoy is the tallest member of the club.

Those two are apt to start, along with Jimmy Bice, Jan Loudermilk and Mike Musgrove.

Snyder will again lean heavily upon such boys as Alan Sneed, Jack Spikes, Jerry Taylor and Milton Ham. Ham has been the real standout in play for the Tigers to date. It was his two free pitches in the last five seconds of the game that enabled Snyder to beat the Steers by one point the last time the two teams met.

There'll be a B team game this evening, starting at 6:15 p.m. The varsity go begins at 8:00.

Hawks Oppose San Angelo In Final Practice Tilt

HCJC, counting its blessings after having skinned by Hardin-Simmons Bulldogs earlier this week, invade San Angelo for a practice basketball just with Phil George's Rams, their last non-league tilt of the campaign.

The Jayhawks will be gunning for revenge. San Angelo rallied to nip the Hawks by two points in a game played here Dec. 10.

The Hawks beat HSU, 82-80, and considered themselves lucky to do it.

HCJC will be seeking to improve upon its record in the hopes of getting an invitation to the Region V basketball tournament, which takes place in Amarillo later this month.

The Hawks have the better overall record, but that means little in a San Angelo-HC series. There's a fierce rivalry between the teams, considering the fact that they are not even in the same conference.

Probable starters for HCJC are Ertis Davis, Charles Clark, Ray Crooks, Jimmy Robinson and Wiley Brown. Al Kibven, Buddy Mayes, Mike Powell and Jimmy Castlesberry are among those who can expect to see action.

George will lean heavily upon such performers as Ray Senterfitt, Phil Addison, Charles Martin, Frank Trevino, Ed Nicholson and Milton Nickel.

The Hawks wind up their regular season here Monday night, at which time they oppose Frank Phillips of Borger in an important West Zone game.

Bankers Lead By Half Game

Exactly one game separates the top three clubs in Midland Women's Bowling League standings and two of the teams are from Big Spring.

Midland National Bank still leads with a record of 43½ wins and 22½ losses. Cosden of Big Spring is second, at 43-23; and Pinkie's of Big Spring third, at 42½-23½.

Both Pinkie's and Cosden gained ground in competition this week. Pinkie's blanked Basin Supply, 3-0; the same margin by which Cosden won over I. W. Hynds.

Pinkie's posted team scores of 767-784—225. Jesse Pearl Watson and Marie McDonald teamed up to lead the scoring parade.

Jesse Pearl boasted scored of 194-512, Marie 186-529.

Sugar Brown and Olive Cauble had big hands in Cosden's win over I. W. Hynds.

Sugar registered out at 206-493. Olive had 170-453. As a unit, Cosden put together scores of 790-757—2283.

Lone Star is fourth in the race, with 39-27; West Texas Brick and Tile fifth, with 37-29; Basin Supply sixth, with 34-32; Basin Supple seventh, with 31½-34½; Hynds eighth, with 30-36; Knorr Furniture ninth, with 27½-38½; Schlitz tenth, with 27-39; Eagles 11th, with 24-44; and Fashion 12th and last, with 21-45.

Coach Re-Instates 3 Odessa Players

ODESSA (AP)—Three of the six basketball players that were dropped from the Odessa Junior College squad for "lack of interest and breaking training rules" were returned to the team yesterday.

Coach L. E. McCulloch said the three returned were co-captain Virgil Trower, Bro Trower and Jimmy Spence.

TCU Stall Fails, Ponies Win 26-22 Cage Verdict

By The Associated Press

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs couldn't beat the Southern Methodist Mustangs, Wednesday night but they sure put a dent into the Southwest Conference leaders' scoring average.

The Frogs, whose conference record of eight losses in nine starts, shutting out La Salle 12-0 in the last 5½ minutes for a 60-37 margin, North Carolina, rated No. 10 nationally, took the undisputed Atlantic Coast Conference lead by defeating Wake Forest 77-73 as Len Rosenbloom counted 33 points; and St. Louis, making it 64-9 on the road this season, gained a share of the Missouri Valley lead with Houston by smacking Bradley 73-62.

The toughest game of the night was played at Fort Worth, where Southern Methodist, rated 12th in the nation, showed championship form in overcoming Texas Christian's surprise possession tactics 26-22 to bolster its Southwest Conference lead.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

The latest records released by the National Juco Athletic Association show that Hannibal-LaGrange, that two-points-a-minute basketball team in Missouri, dropped from first to third in the national standings.

Arkansas City, Kansas, by virtue of a victory over Hannibal, moved to the top spot while Vincennes, Ind., was listed second.

Eastern Arizona, Wright and Moberly were ranked ahead of the first Texas team, Tyler, which was down in the seventh spot. Wharton, finalist in the Howard College Tournament here in December, was eighth, Erie Tech ninth and Chipola tenth.

Camille Pascual, the former Big Spring baller, capped a great season in the Cuban Winter League by being designated as the circuit's Most Valuable Player.

Pascual pitched Cienfuegos into the Caribbean World Series, posting a 12-5 win-loss record. The team as a whole posted 40 wins.

"Little Potato" was given an emblematic scroll by Arthur Gardner, United States ambassador to Cuba.

Flam And Fortana In Net Finals

MANILA (AP)—The United States' Herbie Flam and Canada's Don Fontana today defeated the Philippines' Cesar Carmona and Federico Deyro to enter the doubles final of the Philippine National Open tennis championship.

Although Fontana developed severe cramps in both legs early in the fourth set, the visitors won 6-1, 6-8, 7-5, 6-4. They met the Philippines' Felicissimo Ampon and Johnny Jose in the finals Saturday.

Willow Blonde, Comics May Help Sell Tennis

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—The once-osted U. S. Lawn Tennis Assn. has come up with a new formula for winning back the Davis Cup—comic books and a tall, willow blonde.

The blonde is Christine White of Washington, D.C. ("Just call me Chris"), identified in the press releases as a "bratney Broadway actress."

She was unveiled yesterday as "Miss Tennis of 1956."

She is part of a $50,000 campaign—which also includes 1½ million comic books—designed to stimulate new interest in tennis and result in the early recapture of the Davis Cup from Australia.

"I think this drive is going to be tremendous," Renville McManis, new president of the USLTA, told a press conference. "I predict in two or three years our Davis Cup superiority will match that of the Wightman Cup."

Uncle Sam has never lost the

Trotters Wow Crowd Of 1800

If anyone of the 1,800 people who witnessed the Harlem Globetrotters—Honolulu Surfriders' basketball game here last night left the gymnasium unhappy, the two teams couldn't be blamed.

The two teams, with Honolulu conforming perfectly to its role of "straight man," went all out to tickle the funny-bones of the spectators.

Robert (Showboat) Hall was missed from the entourage that visited here last year, but he wasn't missed.

Such natural-born comics as Chico Burrell, Honey Taylor and J. C. Gipson more than filled the void.

It's incidental, but the Trotters won 88-72. They scored with effortless ease and in all conceivable ways, from cranking the ball through the hoop to sitting on each other's shoulders.

The pre-game and half-time entertainment, the best that Brower Abe Saperstein could hire, was perhaps even better than it was a year ago, and the vaudevillians were more than adequate then.

The Garners, James and Yvonne, staged a well-received trampoline act. Ray Wilbur had no challenges when the announcer announced him as the "world's greatest hoop artist." The Fariss Roly Poly act went over well.

All in all, it proved a painless way to take money away from spectators.

Swaps May Enter $15,000 Feature

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The on-again, off-again return to racing of Swaps tomorrow remained in the speculative stage today.

Trainer Meshach Tenney was expected to drop Swaps' name in the entry box this morning for the $15,000 feature at Santa Anita tomorrow, a mile and one-sixteenth over night styled the Los Angeles County Handicap.

Presumably it will be Swaps' last chance for a formal race before the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 25.

Fourteen other horses, among them such outstanding handicap threats as Bobby Brocato and Traffic Judge, are also expected to be in tomorrow's field.

Many Awards

MCCALLEN (AP)—Sixteen trophies will be awarded in the Texas Championship Shuffleboard Tournament at McAllen Feb. 24. The players are practically all from the approximate 15,000 winter visitors in the Valley.

Schreiner Upsets Angelo, 83-80

SAN ANGELO, (SC)—Schreiner upset San Angelo College, 83-80, here Wednesday night to drop the Rams from a tie for the Pioneer Conference basketball lead.

San Angelo led most of the way, only to lose out in the final seconds.

Gene Mauze scorched the nets for Schreiner, scoring 36 points. Ray Senterfitt led Angelo with 23.

Flier Of Fortune Believed Missing

MONT JOLI, Que. (U)—Harold E. (Whitey) Dahl, a headline flier of fortune since the Spanish Civil War, is believed missing with three other persons on a flight over northeast Canada's frozen wastes and icy waters.

Northland pilots at the distant early warning radar line base here said Dahl was piloting the American-owned DC3 transport which disappeared early Tuesday on a 24-hour, 400-mile flight from Fort Fisher Bay, Baffin Island, to Fort Chimo, Que.

There was no official confirmation that the missing pilot was Dahl nor was there any identification available of the three passengers reported aboard the plane.

Officer Convicted, Loses $2,500 Pay

SAN ANTONIO (U)—Col. Roy Ulmer was convicted last night of conduct unbecoming an officer and was sentenced to loss of $2,500 pay. The charge was based on a five-specification allegation of adultery. The 4th Army staff officer, a native of Joquin, Tex., served more than 20 years in the ranks before obtaining a commission in 1942. He gained his present rank in 1950. The colonel, who is married, has been living at bachelor quarters on the Ft. Sam Houston post. His lawyer said his wife has been living at Garrison. Identity of the other woman involved was not disclosed by the secret court martial.

Hearing Scheduled On Campaign Funds

WASHINGTON (U)—A closed meeting of the Senate Elections subcommittee was called today to discuss a projected broad inquiry into campaign contributions in the wake of the national gas bill fight. Chairman Gore (D-Tenn) said he would recommend that the elections unit embark on an investigation into "campaign contributions, federal elections and any evidence of corrupt practices which may be revealed." Gore said the inquiry he had in mind would be "far wider" than any contributions or pressures involved in the natural gas bill and would "run throughout the year." The gas bill, to exempt producers of natural gas from direct federal controls, was passed by the Senate last week amid complaints of pressure from both sides. It is now awaiting action by President Eisenhower. A special committee, set up under the chairmanship of Sen. George (D-Ga.), spent the weekend investigating whether a $2,500 campaign contribution rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) was designed to influence his vote on the gas bill. Case voted against the bill after telling the Senate about the contribution offer. George told newsmen he felt the special committee already had developed all the essential facts about this incident and added he knew of nothing at this time to justify asking the Senate to continue its inquiry or to enlarge its authority. He said he had told Gore that "unless something of a startling nature occurs which I do not now foresee, I hope we can make a report to the Senate next week ... and ask to be discharged." Earlier, however, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said in a statement he thought the special committee should seek Senate authority to inquire into what he called "a great deal of pressure" on senators in connection with the gas bill. The other Republican member

Committees Map Programs For C-City Chamber

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City Chamber of Commerce Committees met during the first half of February and set out programs of work to be announced at the monthly luncheon today, according to Bill Quimby, new Chamber of Commerce manager. The Public Relations Committee, under G. D. Foster, chairman, will seek to establish a monthly meeting between officers of the various civic organizations of Colorado City to coordinate plans on community projects. The newly organized committee also will attempt a program of publicity in area newspapers as well as continued detailed coverage in the local newspaper and on radio. The committee will study the possibility of a regular Chamber of Commerce radio program to discuss items of community and area interest. Members of the committee are Rev. Jack Ellzey, Joe Bell, Jim Wilkes and Dr. R. D. Bridgford.

C-City To Ask Water Survey

COLORADO CITY — The Agriculture Committee of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce will request a survey of the underground water resources in Mitchell County by the U. S. Geological Survey at the expense of the government and Mitchell County, according to Curtis Latimer, chairman. Latimer said that the committee would aim for completion of the survey in 1956. The committee will also request the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to sponsor legislation requiring that all eggs sold in Texas be graded on USDA standards. The committee will also sponsor the April meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and urges each member of the Chamber to invite a farmer to the meeting. Other members of the committee include R. B. Baker, Homer Bodine, J. C. Costin, Frank Kelley, Floyd Merket, A. A. Tate, Elmer J. Martin, Jack Burkhafer, Gerald Gordon, and Mike Custer.

Rain Douses Flood Areas

By The Associated Press
More rain doused the heavily soaked areas along the Gulf Coast and in the southern and middle Atlantic Seaboard states today. Torrential rains (about 6 inches in 7 hours) flooded parts of New Orleans and Hot Springs, Ark., yesterday. Heaviest falls were reported through the lower Mississippi Valley and along sections of the east Gulf Coast. The downpour at Hot Springs sent floodwaters five feet deep streaming through the streets of the resort city. One death was attributed to the storm. Damage was estimated from $250,000 to 1 1/2 million dollars. Sections of Florida and Georgia also reported heavy rain. More than 1 1/2 inches fell at Tallahassee and about 1 inch at Alma, Ga.

Attorney Claims Airman Due Pay In Records Mixup

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U)—An attorney for Air Force Pvt. Joe V. Garcia, who has been waiting 10 years for orders to report back to duty, said yesterday his client is entitled to back pay. "I don't think he can be considered absent without leave under any circumstances," the attorney, Fred Seman, said. Seman said Garcia, 30, has never been discharged and was merely following orders when he went home in 1946. Garcia, then 19, was injured in a tavern fight and spent two months in Brooke Army Hospital. When he returned to Lackland Air Force Base he found that his outfit and his records had been transferred. A lieutenant told him to go home and that orders to report to duty would be sent to him in a couple of days. The orders never came. In the meantime, Garcia has been working as a truck driver here. Although Pentagon officials said they couldn't locate Garcia, local officers found him here yesterday.

Pentagon To Aid Red Trade Probe

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today the Pentagon has agreed under prodding to cooperate "to the limit" in an investigation of free world trade with Russia. The Senate Investigations subcommittee heads prominently called as a witness John Williams, a civilian machine tools specialist, in its scrutiny of the causes, effects and scope of U. S. agreement to a relaxation of curbs on Western trade with the Soviets. Ohio industrialist Ralph R. Baldenhofer testified yesterday that he and Williams protested in vain last spring against removal of embargoes on Western Allies' sales to Russia of machine tools he said could be used to produce "the most modern" of weapons. "Far better to give them (Russia) the planes, munitions and, yet even guided missiles," Baldenhofer exclaimed. A guided missile, he said, can be shot only once, but the tools in question could be used to produce many missiles "for years and years and years." He named no names but said the State Department argued that the precision tools he and Williams said should not be sold to Russia also "could be used for peaceful purposes" and that "therefore they saw no harm in shipping them." Baldenhofer then was a machine tools specialist on loan to the Commerce Department by the Navy, which he serves as a consultant. He is executive vice president of the Thompson Grinding Machinery Co., Springfield, Ohio. McClellan contends government officials have tried to block his search into the story behind U. S. agreement to the easing of curbs on Western trade with Russia. Administration officials have said a "net advantage" to the free world resulted from the move. Baldenhofer testified that a month after the curbs were eased in 1954 Britain accepted orders from Russia for six milling machines which he said could be used to build "a base of machine tools" for war plants. He said one of the machines has been delivered to Russia. As the reduced list of embargoed machine tool items stands now, Baldenhofer said, it "is not worth the paper it is written on, if you want to bypass it."

Texas' Largest Drive-In Theatre To Open Here Tomorrow Night

Lucy & Desi's New Hit To Premiere At The Sahara Drive-In

The Southwest Drive-In Premiere of "Forever Darling" will be the big attraction at the grand opening tomorrow of the giant Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre.

The newly released film, "Forever Darling" starring Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz, and James Mason should help you forget your troubles. It is designed purely for laughs.

Released by M-G-M it is the first of the newly-formed Zanra Productions (Arnaz spelled backwards), with Arnaz as its producer as well as co-star, and marks the first feature-length film of the celebrated "I Love Lucy" couple since their outstanding hit in "The Long, Long Trailer."

In the role of the ephemeral Guardian Angel who comes to Miss Ball's rescue when her marriage to Desi (in the film) seems headed for the rocks, James Mason enacts his first all out comedy role, a characterization in striking contrast to his winning dramatic portrayal with Judy Garland in "A Star Is Born."

Louis Calhern plays a co-starring role as the demoniac father of the bride, with important supporting parts filled by John Emery, John Hoyt and Mabel Albertson.

Anne Baxter To Star In 1st Run 'Bedevilled'

It will be "Twin Hits on Twin Screens" opening night at the New Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre. Anne Baxter will star in her latest smash hit "Bedevilled." The Cinemascope picture will have its first regional showing at the Grand Opening of the theatre along with the Southwest Premiere showing of "Forever Darling."

THE GIANT TWIN CONCESSION STAND at the New Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre will be equipped with the very latest and most modern equipment in order to provide its patrons with speedy service. The snack bar is set up to operate as a cafeteria and customers will select the confections they wish and then return to their cars, without missing a bit of the show.

First T-W-I-N Broadcast Set Friday Night

First Nighters at the Grand Opening of the new Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre will be treated to witness the first broadcast of station T-W-I-N, a closed circuit hook-up. The new station will operate exclusively for the enjoyment of the Sahara patrons. Latest hit music will be played for the patrons, pre-show. In addition to the regular musical programs, public service announcements will be aired. Request songs and musical contests will highlight the nightly broadcasts.

Free Favors For Kiddies

There will be free candy and favors for the kiddies on opening night of the new Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre. Each child will receive candy and favors for their visit to the snack-bar.

Parents will be glad to know that the Sahara loves its future patrons and wants to do everything possible to help raise them into fine boys and girls. Milk for baby bottles will be provided free of charge, and bottle warming services will always be available.

In addition fine, modern, spacious rest rooms will be a joy to the mothers. If ever one of the kiddies wanders away from the watchful eye of his parents he will be treated most royally in the concession stand until his parents can be located. Getting lost at the Sahara will be a pleasure for the children.

Dodge Display At New Sahara

The Sahara Twin Drive-In Theatre will feature a review of the 1956 Dodge in conjunction with its grand opening tomorrow night.

Customers will have the opportunity to inspect the all-new 1956 Dodge in several models. There will be a Dodge on display on each of the theatre's grand stages.

All customers are invited to see these grand new Dodges. They are displayed courtesy Jones Motor Co.

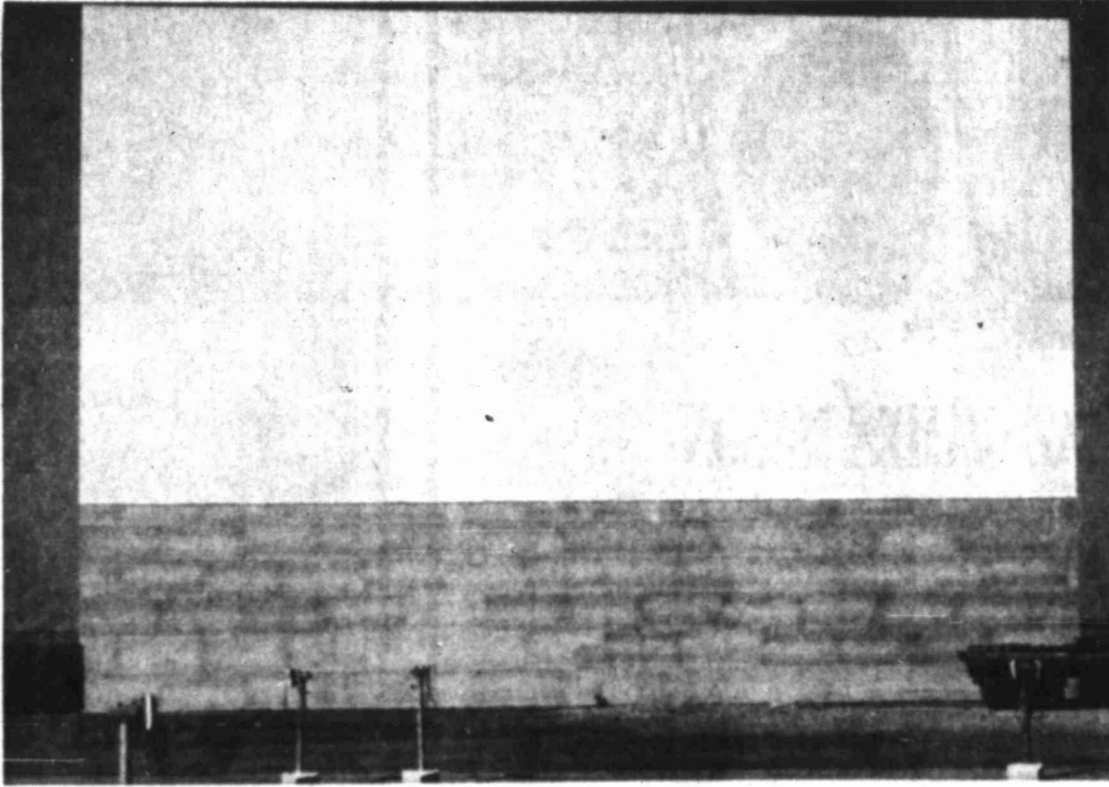

Drive-In Equipped For Latest Film Processes

The new Sahara Drive-In Theatre will be equipped to exhibit the very latest Hollywood screen techniques, including Cinemascope, VistaVision, SuperScope, 55mm Cinemascope and other wide screen variations.

Century projectors and strong 135 ampere lamps will be used exclusively throughout the ultra modern projection room.

This equipment, said to be the finest, was obtained from the Hardin Theatre Supply Company of Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Johnny Hardin, president, is expected to attend the grand opening Friday.

GIANT TRI-VIEW CINEMASCOPE SCREEN—Here is a customer's view of one of the giant screens at the new Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre. The picture size of the screen will be 120 feet by 60 feet, said to be the largest Tri-view Cinemascope screen ever built. The greatest feature of this screen is that it enables the patrons to see a perfect picture from any angle.

THIS IS A VIEW OF THE ATTRACTION SIGN that will inform patrons of the screen programs currently being played at the new Sahara Drive-In Theatre.

Terms Films "Good Will Ambassadors"

"An intensified interest in Hollywood is currently to be noted in Europe as a result of American motion pictures filmed in part or in whole abroad," reported Henry Berman, on his return from France, where he produced "Bedevilled," co-starring Anne Baxter and Steve Forrest. This is the first picture to have been filmed in France in Cinemascope.

According to Berman, Europeans appreciate and are complimented by the fact that Hollywood considers it important to film pictures against authentic foreign backgrounds.

"Movies filmed in Europe for legitimate plot reasons create an interest in Hollywood that cannot be duplicated," he says. "Such interest is the greatest aid Hollywood has in selling its product overseas."

The producer adds that appreciation, too, is evident in the cooperation given American film companies by ministers and governmental officials in Europe. As an example, he states that in France, Director Mitchell Leisen was given permission to use all Parisian streets at any time and to photograph heretofore inaccessible interiors of national monuments such as Napoleon's Tomb.

Film Chase Over Paris Rooftops

Although Paris is one of the most photographed cities in the world, the new M-G-M picture "Bedevilled," starring Anne Baxter and Steve Forrest, shows sections of the French capital never before seen on the screen.

New Drive-In Sahara A Boon To Motorists

The Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre which opens this Friday night was designed with today's motorist in mind. The entire theatre parking area is paved and patrons will find the E-Z park ramps the finest parking system ever to be devised. Everything is provided for the comfort of the entire family in the privacy of their car.

Premiere Feature Co-Star Advocate Of 'Cheese Cake'

"Don't undersell Hollywood cheesecake," says Louis Calhern. The stage and screen star, who celebrates 45 years in the theatre with his role as Lucille Ball's father in "Forever Darling," insists that so-called "leg art" is grossly underrated.

"If it weren't for leg art I might be selling shoe-laces," he points out.

It seems back in the days when Calhern played high school football in St. Louis, he was offered his first stage role as an extra in "Much Ado About Nothing" strictly on the premise that football players had legs suitable for tights. "I couldn't afford to turn down the financial windfall," the actor recalls. "My salary was fifty cents—twenty-five cents a leg!"

Film Has Unusual Setting In Tomb

The first scenes ever filmed for a feature motion picture inside Les Invalides, France's greatest national monument which contains the tomb of Napoleon and other national heroes, were photographed for the new M-G-M drama, "Bedevilled," starring Anne Baxter and Steve Forrest.

Permission to obtain the sequences inside Les Invalides which, in addition to being a national shrine, also is a war museum and chapel, had to be obtained from two sources, the Ministry of War and the Ministry of Fine Arts.

Two days of shooting were required for the scenes, which form part of a dramatic chase sequence in which Miss Baxter and Forrest as an American cabaret singer in Paris and the student who falls in love with her, are threatened by a gang of racketeers.

"Bedevilled" is the first Hollywood production to have been filmed in its entirety in Paris and the initial Cinemascope picture to be made in France. It was produced by Henry Berman under the direction of Mitchell Leisen.

KBST Broadcast Of Gala Opening On Friday Night

The gala premiere opening of the all new Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre will be covered by station KBST with an on the spot radio broadcast commencing at 7:00 p.m. Local and Hollywood celebrities will be interviewed and people unable to attend the grand opening will be kept posted on the activities at the new theatre.

New Theatre Will Feature Twin Screens

When the clock strikes 5:45 tomorrow evening, Texas' largest and finest drive-in theatre will open its gates to the public for the first time.

The new Sahara Twin-Screen Drive-In Theatre, located west on Highway 80 boasts a capacity of 1400 cars.

The theatre is a twin theatre indeed. Not only does it have twin Tri-View Cinemascope screens, but it also has a twin concession stand, located directly in the center of the theatre. The concession stand at the Sahara, cafeteria style, will be able to provide fast, efficient service for the largest crowds.

Many people have wondered just how a twin screen drive-in theatre operates. And many believe that it is necessary to drive from one screen to the other in order to see the complete screen program. This is not so at the new Sahara. Complete programs will be presented on both screens. For example we will use the opening program "Forever Darling" and "Bedevilled." Screen One, the screen nearest the highway will present "Forever Darling" followed by "Bedevilled." Screen Two will present "Bedevilled" followed by "Forever Darling." So it is merely a matter of choice which feature you want to see first.

The new theatre is owned and operated by All States Theatres of Abilene, Texas.

Sahara Boasts The Latest In Hi-Fi Sound

The very latest hi-fidelity sound system has been installed at the new Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre.

Each side of the giant twin drive in theatre is equipped with two 500 watt amplifiers, power that is unheard of in normal amplification.

The amplifiers were built and installed by Dalmacco, Byron A. Susan president.

Susan is widely known throughout the world of perfected sound. His equipment is considered to be among the finest in existence. The reason for the powerful hi-fidelity units is to enable the patrons of the Sahara theatre to hear the picture sound from a baby's whisper to the roar of a jungle beast without the slightest distortion of any kind.

WILLARD McCANN

Local Man To Be Sahara Manager

Willard McCann, a long time resident of Big Spring, has been selected by All States Theatres as manager of their new Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre. McCann has recently returned from an extensive tour of other All States operations and is well qualified for his position. McCann resides with his wife, Norma and their two children.

Sahara To Meet Theatre Needs Of Neighbor Cities

The new Sahara Twin Screen Drive-In Theatre is designed so that its capacity will meet the needs of the neighboring cities of Comstock, Westbrook, Garden City, Stanton, Morita, Ackerly, Sterling City and other surrounding cities.

The tremendous capacity of the Sahara Drive-In Theatre will assure the late comers of choice parking.

The Sahara may be described as a small city in itself and will have all the facilities to make its visiting citizens as comfortable as possible.

Paris Fashion Notes

Anne Baxter, recently returned from Paris, where she starred in M-G-M's "Bedevilled," reports on the current French fashions, as exhibited by such famed couturiers as Balmain, Dior, Desses and Givenchy.

According to the star, fashions are back in the Twenties. Day dresses are slim and straight with only a suggestion of a waist. Many are two-piece with jackets dropped down over the hips. Blouses are loose and floppy, with belts hanging on the hips. Some of the short coats look exactly like the double-breasted ones worn by Army officers and almost masculine in line.

Cocktail dresses are pencil-slim sheaths with almost no waist indentation. The bustline is high and narrow, the flatter the better. Evening dresses generally are short. The skirts fall wide from the hips with petticoats peeping out underneath. Some skirts taper off at the bottom, giving the impression of an inverted powder puff.

Lucy And Desi Star At Opening

Mrs. Puckett's Recipes Fit In Season's Menu

Appropriate for this time of the year is a recipe taken from the files of the cook books of Martha Washington. Mrs. Olen Puckett has a recipe that she found in the Williamsburg Cookbook called "Pecan Confections," which dates back to the time of George Washington.

Mrs. Puckett told the legend that when the English women brought their recipes to America they had never used pecans before. But when they discovered how delicious the nut meats were, they began to add them to their recipes in great quantities.

Mother of three children, Phil, 16, Ann, 9 and five-year-old Lynne, Mrs. Puckett is kept rather busy. She is also active in church, civic and community activities.

Here is a recipe for "Pecan Confections" that Mrs. Puckett made for a March of Dimes coffee recently that received so many compliments.

- PECAN CONFECTIONS
- 1 egg white, beaten stiff
  - 1 cup brown sugar
  - 1 tablespoon flour
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
- CHINESE SHRIMP IS TREAT FROM ORIENT
- Treat your family to a taste from the Orient. Try this recipe.
- CHINESE SHRIMP AND GREEN PEAS
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
  - 2 cans (5 to 7 ounces) shrimp, drained and deveined
  - 3 scallions, thinly sliced
  - 1 teaspoon ginger
  - 1 clove garlic, minced
  - 2 teaspoons cornstarch
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon sugar
  - 1 teaspoon soy sauce
  - 1/2 cup cold water
  - 1 can (1 pound) peas, drained
- Heat oil in frying pan. Add shrimp; add scallions on both sides. Add brownings, ginger and garlic. Combine cornstarch, salt and sugar; add soy sauce and water; mix to a smooth paste. Add to shrimp mixture gradually, stirring constantly, until boiling. Add peas; heat thoroughly.

- Fry Potatoes—The Danish Way
- If you are tired of the same old American fried potatoes, prepare them like the Danish do.
- DANISH FRIED POTATOES

Celebrate George Washington's Birthday With Cherry Desserts

Young George Washington and the cherry tree caused such a furor that today his birthday and cherry pie go together like bacon and eggs.

Of course, there are many kinds of cherry pie with French cherry pie being a little unusual. The different touch to this treat is the smooth white icing that makes a cheerful and tasty topping. Save out a few cherries from the filling to decorate the top of the pie in a cherry branch design. Do serve it at the table where it can be admired as well as tasted.

February 22 Calls For Cherry Hatchets

If cherries are a must in your family, come Feb. 22 and George Washington's birthday, make some of these Cherry Hatchet cookies. Serve them to small fry with glasses of milk as a special patriotic snack. In the evening, the grown-ups will enjoy them with a cup of tea or coffee. We like this cookie because it has an interesting texture and flavor due to its combination of maraschino cherries, coconut and orange rind. So if you want a crisp delicious cookie, that's not overly sweet, do try this recipe. If you haven't a hatchet cookie cutter, make yourself one out of cardboard and cut around it with a sharp knife.

For a buffet party on Washington's birthday—either at noon or in the evening—you'll find our Cherry Cluster Salad festive. So easy to make, and so impressive! We served this salad with cold baked ham, Bahama-style mustard and crisp potato chips. We also had a tray of rolls and think slices of buttered pumpkin-bread. Our tasters loved this salad the best of its type that they had eaten, and they particularly enjoyed its creamy topping.

CHERRY HATCHET COOKIES

Ingredients:

- Three cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup well-shredded coconut, 1/2 cup well-drained chopped maraschino cherries, 5 egg yolks (slightly beaten), 2 tablespoons milk, extra maraschino cherries, (sliced).

Method:

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; cut in butter with pastry blender or 2 knives until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Add orange rind, coconut and cherries; toss lightly until ingredients are well mixed. Combine egg yolks and milk; add to cherry mixture and mix well. Roll dough out on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into hatchet shapes and place on greased baking sheets about an inch apart. Decorate with extra cherry slices, if desired. Bake in moderate (350°) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 7 dozen cookies.

CHERRY CLUSTER SALAD

Ingredients:

- One 14-ounce can (No. 211) pineapple chunks, 2 packages cherry gelatin, 2 cups very hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1/2 cup drained chopped maraschino cherries, 1/4 cup chopped walnuts, two 3-ounce packages cream cheese, 1 cup real mayonnaise, 1/4 cup milk, whole cherries and watercress or mint.

Method:

Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Dissolve gelatin in very hot water; add cold water and pineapple juice; stir well. Place in refrigerator until slightly thickened. Fold in pineapple chunks, cherries and walnuts; turn into a 1 1/2 quart mold or an 8-inch square pan and return to refrigerator until firm. When firm, unmold onto serving plate. Meanwhile, allow cream cheese to soften; blend in mayonnaise gradually. Add milk and beat with rotary beater until fluffy. Spread topping on salad and garnish with clusters of whole cherries, watercress or mint leaves. If watercress is used, place extra sprigs around salad. Makes 8 servings.

First President's Supper Deserves Cherry Pudding

A George Washington supper deserves a dessert as special—and as old-fashioned—as this Cherry Puff Pudding. Praise goes to this pudding because it's one of those basic recipes you'll use over and over again.

This old-time fruit pudding is usually called a "cobbler." The pudding is called a Puff because it has a feathery cake, rather than a pastry, topping.

The cherries for the pudding are thickened with quick-cooking tapioca, in a saucepan on top of the range, before they go into the baking dish. The tapioca leaves the cherry flavor unimpaired and gives a consistency to the fruit juices that is just right with the sponge-cake topping.

In testing this pudding, cooks used cherries packed in extra-heavy syrup, and accompanied it with unsweetened whipped cream. It was a delicious combination.

CHERRY PUFF PUDDING

Ingredients:

- Two tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, No. 2 can of syrup-packed pitted red sour cherries, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 2 eggs (unbeaten), 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup sifted cake flour.

Method:

Mix tapioca, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and cherries (including juice) in a saucepan. Cook and stir over moderate heat until mixture comes to a boil. Add lemon juice; remove from heat. Add butter; stir until melted. Pour into 2-quart baking dish and keep warm. Put eggs, cream of tartar, and 1/4 teaspoon salt in bowl. Beat with rotary egg beater until foamy. Then add 1/2 cup sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is thick and ivory colored. Gradually sift flour over mixture, folding it in as you do so. Turn onto warm fruit mixture. Bake in very slow (325°) oven. If desired, garnish each serving with a small ball of hard sauce rolled in red sugar, with a maraschino cherry stem inserted, to resemble a cherry. Or serve with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

Crash Landing Risk Too Great, Navy Airmen Bail Out

EDWARDS, Calif. (AP)—After circling for four tense hours, three Navy airmen bailed out rather than crash-land their disabled jet bomber on the Mojave Desert yesterday.

The three parachuted safely and the two-million-dollar A3D jet was shot down by three Air Force F100s as it flew pitilessly about 20 miles north of here.

The plane's landing gear stuck soon after taking off on a ferry flight from Los Angeles to Patuxent River, Md. The gear could not be lowered and the pilot, Lt. W. B. McGinty, Norman, Okla., said he would try a belly landing on Murco Dry Lake.

Crash trucks stood by as the plane circled to use up fuel so that the possibility of fire would be lessened. Observer planes flew alongside as ground experts offered advice by radio to the tense airmen.

Metal panels, apparently landing gear covers, continued to drop off and finally the fliers decided to abandon ship.

"Evidently some of the falling gear damaged the horizontal stabilizer," McGinty later explained. "So I felt it was not safe to attempt a belly landing."

The other airmen were Lt. Kenneth L. Mellin, Alexandria, Minn., copilot, and Aviation Machinist's Mate 3 C. C. W. Huffines, Gainesboro, Tenn. All were unhurt. The three are stationed at Patuxent River Naval Air Station.

Hawaiian Boy Killed By Shell

HILO, Hawaii (AP)—Five-year-old Stanley Alatan was killed yesterday, presumably by a bursting shell—the second island youngster to die in a week from playing with explosives.

Doctors said metal taken from Stanley's body resembled shell fragments.

A week ago 15-year-old Fred A. Holloway of Lanikai, Oahu, was killed by a homemade bomb.

Pi Sheng Used Clay For Movable Type

By RAMON COFFMAN
As we have seen, Asia was the place where printing with ink was started. Carved wooden blocks were used instead of type, and the books printed from them have been given the name of "block books."

Several old Chinese block books have been found and placed in museums. We also have a number of wooden blocks which were used to print such books.

One Chinese record is known as the "History of the Five Dynasties." It speaks of wood blocks which were carved 1,073 years ago. Other old records tell of movable type which was used in China long before it was known in Europe. Here, in short form, is the account written by Shen Kua 900 years ago: "Pi Sheng, a man of the common people, made movable type. He took sticky clay, and cut thin characters. He baked the (pieces of) clay to make them hard.

"On an iron plate he placed a mixture of wax, rosin, and ashes. When he was ready to print, he put the pieces of clay tightly together inside a frame, and set them on the iron plate. The iron plate had been warmed over a fire, and the mixture on it had melted a little. The (dark) paste made in that way was used to print hundreds of copies."

A different record tells us that Wang Cheng carved Chinese words on wooden blocks 642 years ago, and then cut the words apart. At that time, as now, the Chinese employed complete words instead of the letters of an alphabet. It seems clear that they should be honored for the first making of movable type. Because they were without an alphabet, however, they failed to develop the use of movable type very far.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Age Of Decision

Dear Miss Brandow:
Is a sixteen year old girl old enough to be a person in her own right or must she be treated as a child? My mother insists she has the right to forbid me to date a certain boy whom I like very much. I say I am old enough to choose my own friends. We would appreciate your opinion.
Greta

Sixteen is a very trying age to be because in some ways you are mature enough for many adult decisions and responsibilities, but in some other ways you still need guidance.

When a son or daughter suddenly shoots up tall many parents are over-awed and forget that the last phases of becoming an adult are just as important as the first ones.

When a child is little it is easy to recognize the need for help and guidance; not so when one is almost as tall as Mom or Dad.

This is a time when a teen-ager often has too much self-confidence, too little ability, and too little parental guidance and he or she finds herself or herself in deep water all because they were allowed to plunge in without even a pair of water wings, much less swimming lessons.

At sixteen you should be encouraged to take as much responsibility as you can capably handle. A wise parent will encourage you to choose your own clothes and your own friends as well. However, a really wise parent will hold the reins firmly and reserve the right to say "no" when necessary rather than let you make a fool of yourself at school in some ridiculous outfit or cast a shadow over your reputation by dating someone whose character is a threat to you socially and morally.

It is not a matter of trusting or not trusting, but one of loving or not loving you. A parent must care a great deal to say "no" sometimes when "yes" would be so much easier.

You are a person in your own right. A good Mom knows it and merely wants to teach you how to choose your friends wisely. She can make mistakes, too, so present your case to her calmly. If she is still against the boy, have a little faith in her. She probably sees something you do not. In six months you may thank her for saying thumbs down.

(You may write Miss Brandow in care of The Herald. A 3 cent stamp will bring a personal answer.)

Drunkenness Fines Total $2,783 During January

Drunkenness cases outnumber the remainder of offenses handled in Corporation Court during January, with 139 cases resulting in $2,783 in fines.

The total of all fines in the court for the month was $4,981. In addition, $992 was paid at the city hall on parking tickets, $90 was paid on warrants, and $15 for cases continued from December.

Including $375 on fines pending Jan. 1, the total ran $6,423. Cash receipts from this total were $3,441, while jail layouts accounted for $2,145. Previous pending cases paid totaled $50.

In all, 1,814 tickets were issued during the month on all types of offenses.

In addition to drunkenness fines, $175 was assessed on seven air-fray charges, $25 on leaving the scene of an accident; $320 on disturbance charges; $25 from theft; $50 from indecent exposure, $25 from not having a health card.

Also $50 for using obscene language; $27 for vagrancy; $30 from liquor violations; $215 for driving without license, $15 for parking violations, $891 for moving violations, and $50 for mechanical violations.

Legion Post Urges 'Forgiveness' For Tokyo Rose

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Tokyo Rose should be forgiven for her World War II broadcasts to United States servicemen in the South Pacific, members of the Catholic-Ward American Legion post resolved last night.

The resolution asks that Mrs. Ivan Kudko Toguri d'Aguiro be restored her United States citizenship. It states, "There is no record that Tokyo Rose ever convinced a single fighting man of a single statement she made, but rather, was a source of entertainment to hundreds of thousands of these fighting men" and did not impede the progress of the Pacific war in any manner.

Grass Seeding Time At Hand For Pastures

Now is the time to begin seeding grass mixtures on land to be put into permanent pasture, according to Marion Everhart of the local Soil Conservation Service. To be successful, the seeding should be done in a dead litter cover of sorghum or sudan stubble.

Seeding at this time of year in a litter cover is nature's way of revegetating the land. The method has been found to be the surest way of obtaining a good stand.

L. K. Miller of the Big Spring State Hospital has started seeding a mixture of King's Ranch blue-stem, sideots grama and switchgrass on an area used as a waterway. He is using a grass drill owned by the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District. The waterway area was drilled to redtop cane last summer. It came up to a good stand, was left unharvested in order to make maximum growth, and will now give good protection for the young grass seedlings when they come up.

The Howard County Junior College will begin seeding right away on ground around the college. Others desiring to seed grass may get assistance from the SCS concerning the kind and amount of grass seed to use and also help in setting the drill properly.

Farmers and ranchers applying this practice can draw payment from the ASC. This government assistance helps pay for the cost of the cover crop and for the permanent grass seed that follows it.

Schools Open In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Children wore long faces in Mexico today—the school year has just opened. Instead of having a long summer vacation, they have a winter vacation here. The school year is from February through November. This enables them to be free during the dry season, and for the Christmas holidays.

The large American colony, which has its own schools, tried to adopt the United States system so families could vacation with relatives in the states during the summer. The Mexican government refused to permit it.

The Americans have a dozen or so schools and kindergartens. Monthly tuition for each student ranges from about $10 in kindergartens to around $25 or more in upper grades. In addition there are bus charges and innumerable other fees.

English, French, Italian and other residents here also have their own schools.

For the first time this year, all such foreign schools must have Spanish names. The American school, for example, is La Escuela Americana. It meant repeating names of buses, new letterheads, other changes.

Students have one advantage over their American counterparts—they have probably double the number of holidays. American schools close not only for the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, and other normal U.S. holidays, but also for all the Mexican and church holidays, which are numerous.

Campus Religious Week Replaced By Prayer Periods

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP)—With most of the featured speakers canceling out because of a segregation row, the University of Mississippi will substitute 30-minute silent prayer periods for Religious Emphasis Week.

The controversy was touched off when university officials withdrew their speaking invitation to the Rev. Alvin Kershaw, Episcopal minister from Oxford, Ohio.

Kershaw said he is a member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, which opposes Mississippi's intention of keeping the races segregated despite the U. S. Supreme Court decision.

He was to have discussed religious drama.

After his invitation was dropped, four out-of-state speakers, a Catholic priest, a rabbi and two Protestant ministers, decided to cancel their speaking engagements.

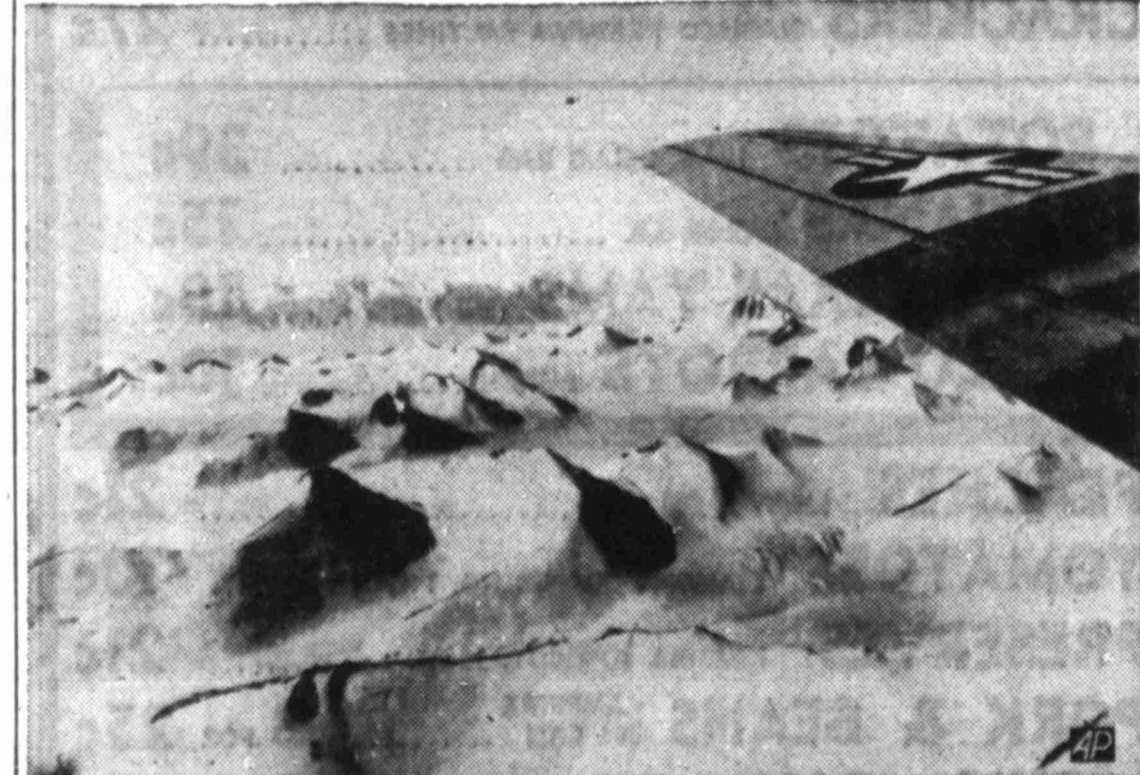

They were joined last night by five ministers from Oxford, Miss., where the campus is located.

Finding itself virtually without speakers, the 100-man executive committee in charge of the Feb. 20-22 program decided to do away with all activities and substitute 30-minutes of silent prayer and meditation on each of the three days.

Houston School Board Sets Integration Talk

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston School Board has scheduled a "public conference" Feb. 27 for a discussion of integration of white and Negroes in public schools.

A citizens committee has recommended that segregation in Houston schools be abolished in compliance with the U.S. Supreme Court ruling. The conference was set after two separate groups—one opposing integration and the other favoring it—asked for the hearing.

Antarctic Mountains

A U.S. Operation Deepfreeze four-engine Skymaster wings over mountain peaks, some 10,000 and 11,000 feet above sea level, on a 2,700-mile round trip flight over the South Pole January 13. These mountains are on the Ross Ice Shelf, some 600 miles from the pole. This is one of the pictures made by Saul Pett, Associated Press staff writer, whose flight over the pole was the first by a newsmen.

Mahon Finds It Easy To Get In Controversy

By TEX EASLEY
 WASHINGTON (AP)—When a man holds down an important position around here, he is likely to find himself involved in controversies without knowing it. Ask Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock.

The West Texas is chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee handling all defense money measures, which account for most of the budget. He also is next to the chairmanship of the full Appropriations Committee.

He was quoted in the House chamber recently by a colleague, Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan.), who was taking Gen. Matthew Ridgway to task. It was in connection with the latter's recent magazine article charging that some important military decisions had been guided by political expediency.

Mahon wasn't on the House floor at the time, so he learned about it the next morning when he read the Congressional Record. Scrivner had dug up the House floor debate on the military appropriations bill on April 28, 1954, and read arguments Mahon made only a few days after Ridgway had testified before the subcommittee two years ago.

"The trouble," Mahon said in an interview, "is that I was quoted out of context. It was a distorted account of what I had stated."

Here's the way Scrivner quoted Mahon, as he read from the 1954 debate:

"The Army has been most unhappy about the budget estimate this year. Secretary Stevens, in testifying before our committee earlier in the year . . . showed a great deal of concern about the reductions in the Army budget. General Ridgway expressed a similar concern . . .

" . . . I for one, have great confidence in President Eisenhower, especially in this field."

Mahon was surprised at reading Scrivner's remarks, saying he couldn't remember taking sides with Eisenhower against Ridgway. He hurried to the back copies of the Congressional Record.

"Those two paragraphs of quotations were correct," the Texan continued, "but several intervening lines were left out."

"I had been discussing overall defense budget matters, and in expressing confidence in the President, was in no way referring to General Ridgway."

The current controversy, Mahon made plain, is a matter he doesn't want to get involved any further. If he had to choose, he generally would accept the judgment of Eisenhower over Ridgway, he said, but added:

"I wouldn't want to accept the opinion of either blindly. I would want to hear all the facts, and then reach my own conclusion."

Chief Urges Citizens To Aid Police In Enforcement Of Law

By GLENN COOTES
 "The police department cannot function properly without the help of the people," said Chief of Police C. L. Rogers.

Rogers was referring to the many activities of his department. Because of the large amount of territory and the limited number of men, the police department needs the help of everyone to quickly catch wrongdoers and bring them to justice," he pointed out.

There has been an outbreak of stolen hubcaps and fender skirts in the last few weeks, Rogers said. These small items are very difficult to trace and automobile owners can help the department in recovering stolen articles by furnishing a means of identification.

Hubcaps and fender skirts can be marked on the inside with a name or number, he explained. Any type of permanent identification inside the car will not mar the appearance of the article but may furnish the necessary information to find the item when it is stolen.

Other towns in the area are also reporting a large number of automobile accessories stolen. A ready means of identification may be the answer to solving the problem, he said.

As it is now, there is no way of proving that an item has been stolen when it is found.

Automobile thefts are increasing in number, Rogers said. Many times, these thefts were preventable. On several occasions the stolen car was left with the ignition key in it. This is an open invitation to any thief to take the car, Rogers warned.

"Anytime you are in town, lock your car when you leave it." This won't always prevent the thief from taking the car, but it will cause him to make considerably more noise and take more time, Rogers said. Maybe enough to get him caught.

Drivers should be careful about leaving anything valuable in a car without locking it. There have been several instances of valuables taken from cars. If you have cleaning or purchases in your car, lock it up, he said.

Also, persons locking up their stores before leaving for the day, should take a glance around to make sure that a window is not open. It only takes a minute to check windows and doors. That minute may save the owner a lot of money, Rogers said.

Big Spring is at the crossroads of two of the busiest highways in the nation. As a result, there are many persons passing through the city who would take advantage of carelessness, he warned.

If a person seems to be acting unusual in unusual circumstances, call the police. If it turns out to be a false alarm, there is no harm done. But you may prevent someone from losing money or other valuables.

If you notice a suspicious person, note how he is dressed and get the license number of any car involved. Then call the police immediately.

Also, when you see a door or window open, call the police about it. Many times, a burglary will not be discovered until it is too late to catch the burglars. If you wait too long to call police, the burglars may be out of town and gone before they can be apprehended.

When the burglars get a head start, there is little hope of catching them. This is the case when a broken window or open door is not reported immediately when it is discovered.

All valuables in your home or car should be marked in some way so that you can quickly identify them. Items with serial numbers should have a record made of them.

Memorize your automobile license number, too. When reporting your car stolen, give police a complete description with the motor number, license number, color, and other pertinent information, he added.

Remember, Rogers continued, the police regularly patrol all city streets as often as possible. There is about 200 miles of streets in Big Spring and the average citizen can make the police force much more effective by helping prevent thefts and burglaries.

Victim Pokes Robber In Eye

OMAHA (AP)—White-haired Wilhelmina Linneman is a lady who doesn't stand for any holdup business. She proved it last night. Two youths entered her small beer store and growled, "This is a holdup."

Mrs. Linneman reacted swiftly. "I hit the nearest one right in the eye with a right swing," she told police.

When her first swing brought a howl of pain from one youth, the other bolted out the door, she said. "I was so mad they could have shot me and I wouldn't have felt it," said the small woman.

English Language To Give Way To American Slang

SOCORRO, N.M. (AP)—Poet Louis Untermeyer said last night American slang will soon take over the Anglo-Saxon world and that he, for one, doesn't mind a bit.

He said the American tongue is different from British English, which he says is spoken only by the British and by American school teachers. American slang, he said, is harder hitting and more muscular. He described it as "the shorthand of the people: short, grammatic and even poetic."

In the final analysis, he told a lecture hall audience at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology, "the spoken language

Pen Riot Leaders Held In Solitary

SUGAR LAND, Tex. (AP)—Warden Joe Hines said yesterday 18 convicts who led the Sunday riot at the Harlem State Prison Farm are being kept in solitary confinement.

Hines blamed the riot on "choke beer" which he said the prisoners made behind bars. He estimated the damage of the riot at $5,000.

Hunted Slayer Kills Himself

HOUSTON (AP)—Salvador Ayala, 30-year-old bricklayer, shot himself to death yesterday as officers closed in on him to arrest him for the murder of three members of his family.

Ayala was cornered by a posse in a house in northeast Houston. Officers said he shot himself in the right temple with same .38 caliber subcompact pistol he had used in fatally wounding his estranged wife and her mother and brother 16 hours earlier.

Murder charges and a charge of assault to murder had been filed against Ayala.

Mrs. Louise Stefani, 77, the mother-in-law, was dead on arrival at a hospital. The wife, Mrs. Charlene Ayala, 36, who was to have appeared in court yesterday for a divorce action hearing she had filed, died two hours after the shooting. The brother-in-law, Gabriel Stefani, 56, died two hours after Ayala killed himself.

Officers said the shooting climaxed an hour-long family dispute Monday night.

All valuables in your home or car should be marked in some way so that you can quickly identify them. Items with serial numbers should have a record made of them.

Memorize your automobile license number, too. When reporting your car stolen, give police a complete description with the motor

Polio Fund Up To $9,797.74

The March of Dimes fund has crawled up to $9,797.74 with few activities left.

Rad Ware, chapter chairman, said Thursday that mail contributions offered the key boost of material increase in the total. Gay Hill community is sponsoring a benefit basketball game Friday evening. This, with miscellaneous gifts, could put the total past the $10,000 mark.

Final figures from the schools showed a total of $515.93, from the Aces Auto Club (from washing cars) $48.20, from the Coahoma Lions Club $100, from the Garden City Schools $187.07 ($53.65 from schools and $133.42 from a benefit basketball game), another $25.40 from coin collectors (making total of $1,003.22 from this source).

Ware appealed for residents who have not yet given to respond by sending in contributions to March of Dimes by mail.

Saved

Ten-year-old Donald Sturdivant, whose death was considered almost certain last June after he was burned over 65 per cent of his body in the flash of paint thinner with which he was attempting to fire a backyard barbecue, joyfully leaps into the arms of his father, A. G. Sturdivant, as he arrives at Kansas City, Mo., from Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, where special medical techniques and plastic surgery restored him to a normal, active life.

Gov. Shivers Again Hits Federal Control

DALLAS (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers, again warning against federal control, said today the issue of freedom versus control will be inherent in many of this year's election issues.

"Now, to me, it is the greatest folly to think that the problems brought on us by freedom of enterprise can be met by centralization and control," Shivers said in a speech prepared for a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Shivers said the dangers of federal aid are the same, whether the assistance applies to construction of highways, school buildings, or dams.

"Make no mistake—federal aid brings with it controls," he said. "There is no use denying this, for everyone admits that the U.S. government does not give money without providing for the manner it is to be spent. We cannot have a better example than the school construction bill now being discussed by the Congress."

"Already riders have been proposed which would require that certain conditions be met before money is given—some of those conditions vitally affecting the social and economic customs of certain areas, customs which can change—if they must change—only by consent and action of the local people and not by virtue of some law passed in Washington."

This was an apparent reference to proposals that federal aid for school construction be denied in areas segregating Negro and white students.

"We cannot expect to enjoy the continued benefits of free enterprise if we weaken or destroy the principles on which it is based," he said.

"And this should be made quite clear," Shivers cautioned. "There are people asking for your vote and confidence who—knowingly or not—are willing to abandon those principles for easy answers to current problems."

"There are others who are bent on remaking our economy and our political system to suit their own untried and dangerous ideas."

"There are still others who espouse easy answers and unproven ideas simply to get in office—not knowing or caring what their ideas would mean to the future of our nation and its economy."

The governor told the engineers he was trying, in his speech, "to lower that partition that usually separates politics from science and to show how vital your interest should be in the political development this year."

Held In Shooting

Mrs. Jean Milton, 23-year-old divorcee, walks into suburban Webster Groves police station, near St. Louis, Mo., where Pres. Atty. Edward W. Garholz said she admitted shooting to death Walter A. Siebert at his home and then later setting fire to his bed. Garholz said the woman claimed she shot Siebert in self defense.

Yank's Death Was 'Mistake'

CASABLANCA, French Morocco (AP)—French officials say the first American victim of the strife between Moroccan Nationalists and colonial authorities was killed by mistake by a Moroccan policeman.

U. S. Air Force Capt. Nelson Brown, 42, was shot to death Monday night when he stopped his car behind another vehicle on the road from Casablanca to the U. S. Strategic Air Command base at Noceur.

French sources said a Moroccan policeman searching for terrorist suspects opened fire and Brown died immediately from a shot in the head.

The French Foreign Office in Paris termed the slaying a "tragic mistake" and a "regrettable incident." U. S. officials imposed tight travel restrictions on U. S. servicemen as a result of the shooting.
