Destined For The Mid-East

Eighteen Walker Bulldog M-41 tanks rest on barges at a pier in Brooklyn. There, they had been held when their shipment to Saudi Arabia was cancelled by the White House.

The President's decision permits the export not only of the tanks but of certain other military equipment among which are $110,000 worth of automotive and aircraft repair parts and other articles for Israel.

A State Department announcement said the two-day embargo was ended after officials had satisfied themselves that shipment of the tanks to Saudi Arabia would be in line with the United States policies designed to avoid an arms race between Israel and the Arab states and to promote stability and peace in Palestine.

Knowland Furthers His Bid, Is Tired Of Waiting On Ike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) was reported preparing today to broaden his official campaign for the Republican presidential nomination on what he apparently regards as the 50-50 chance President Eisenhower won't run again.

Eisenhower's resumption of sports activities after the reassuring reports of doctors earlier in the week evidently has not swayed Knowland's belief that the odds favor a second-term bid remain even.

Neither has the Senate Republican leader given any sign he feels as many Democrats have said publicly—and several Republicans privately—that the President's gas bill veto presages a decision to run again.

Associates said today that unless Eisenhower announces by March 1 that he will be available for the GOP nomination, a slate of Knowland delegates will be entered in Wisconsin by the March 2 deadline.

The President had indicated he may have an announcement by March 1, but has declined to commit himself on that date.

Recover Bodies From Plane Crash

Even as the bodies of all those aboard were being collected, discrepancies were appearing in a casualty list released by the Camp Pendleton Marine Base, where the men had been stationed.

By late morning parents of five listed victims reported that their sons had "traded seats" and were not aboard the craft. The men had telephoned home after the crash.

Arrested For DWI

Police arrested a man Friday morning and held him on charges of driving while intoxicated and no driver's license. He was transferred to county authorities Saturday. The arrest was made at Fourth and Birdwell Lane.

Nearly everyone who got a front seat for last Friday's sandstorm agrees that it was one of the worst ones in recent years, at least for the first hour. A lot of sand moved about, and a lot more was put into condition to move when another one comes along.

The worst blowing seems to have been between Knott and Brown with another bad blow spot just south of Lamesa. The land around Fairview and Ackerly held fairly well, and in the Sparenberg community there was little evidence of soil moving except along the roads and turn rows. Much of the land has been plowed, with quite a bit of deep breaking. Also, most of the fields are well covered with maize stubble and big cotton stalks.

The deep sand southwest of Brown leveled some listed rows, and made dunes knee high in some places. This land has been blowing every spring since the Comanches left the community, so farmers are not so concerned about it.

At West Knott visibility was zero, according to Edgar Ahrhart. He said that for several minutes after the storm hit he couldn't see the road 50 feet away.

Earl Castle was bringing a cow back from Stanton when the sandstorm met him. He said it took him an hour to drive a mile over a dirt road.

The big water tower at the Co-Op Gin at Knott started swaying back and forth, and looked as if it would topple any second, but it was still standing when the wind slackened. One man driving along a new road near Fairview had to do some fancy dodging to miss two empty trailers.

The trailers were parked across the road and just as he came along, the wind sent one rolling toward him. He managed to dodge the first one when another started after it. It missed his fender by inches and rolled clear across the road into a barrow pit.

West of Lamesa a farmer was upset in more ways than one by a rolling tub. He was out at the cow lot when the storm struck, and immediately started for the house. Through the haze, he saw the family wash tub bearing down upon him. He said he dodged one way, then another, and just before the tub got to him he tried to leap to one side. One foot twisted, and he was falling flat on his face when the bouncing tub finished the job. It shoved his face into the ground and rolled harmlessly on over him.

Later in the day he found the bent-up tub nearly a quarter of a mile out in the field.

Jesse Brooks, who owns a small farm just northwest of Coahoma, has a cheap, homemade silo that works just as well as any trench silo. He took a bunch of second-hand railroad ties and stacked the one on top of another until he had two stout, solid walls a few feet apart. Inside these walls he stacked the green feed for silage.

One advantage in his silo, he says, is that it works well as a self-feeder. There is no chore work, as the cows eat out of one end of the silo whenever they are hungry. The spoilage is about the same as in a trench silo.

Fred Raney, president of the Dawson County Farm Bureau, says cotton growers face a gloomy future. He doesn't see much hope of cotton prices advancing for a long time.

Raney has been one of the leaders in the fight to get West Texas cotton allotments raised.

The recent snow did little good between Big Spring and Lamesa, but north of there it was deep enough to put plowing moisture in the ground.

Herbert Green, farming between Lamesa and O'Donnell, said he got between four and six inches of snow. He already had a little deep moisture, and this coupled with the melted snow, put the land in shape for easy plowing.

A nephew of mine has made a pile of money in business, and now wants to buy himself a small ranch. I tried to tell him that no one could buy a ranch at present prices and every pay it out from the sale of livestock.

"I don't expect to," he said. "I just want some place to keep a few white-face cattle and saddle horses. I want a place where I can go on weekends and where the kids can spend the summer out-of-town."

"With land disappearing and people increasing so fast, I don't think land will ever get any cheaper. So I won't lose any money on it."

To me that sounded like a good reason. Come to think of it, if I

Reds Turn On Joseph Stalin

MOSCOW, Feb. 18 (AP)—The works of Joseph Stalin were assailed in the Soviet press today, directly and by name. It was an action unprecedented in the Soviet Union.

The man whose words were being published was a first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, Anastas Mikoyan, the dapper little Armenian boss of the U. S. R.'s foreign trade. He spoke at the Communist party Congress in the Kremlin Thursday.

He devoted his remarks in considerable part to a criticism of Stalin's method of rule. Stalin's views on capitalism and Stalin's version of Soviet history, "the text of Mikoyan's address was published by the Soviet press and broadcast over the Soviet radio only this morning. Apparently the delay in its issuance reflected serious soul searching about it at the highest party levels.

For two decades, said Mikoyan, the Soviet Union had no collective leadership while the personality cult flourished. This, he said, had an extremely negative influence on affairs. Now that collective leadership has been restored, he continued, the fruitful influence of Leninist methods of leadership is felt. This was a direct reference to the last 20 years of Stalin's domination.

Mikoyan said Stalin's statement in his last work, "The Economic Problems of Socialism in the U.S.S.R."—that production in the United States, France and Britain would shrink—is a mistake. It "can hardly help us and is hardly correct," he added, and demanded that this entire work by Stalin be reviewed critically "from the point of view of Marxism-Leninism."

Mikoyan assailed in strong terms Stalin's book "The Short History of the Communist Party." It was published in millions of copies and made compulsory reading for adults and school children in the Soviet Union. It had the status of a Bible of Stalinist doctrine.

Mikoyan said if Soviet historians were to study profoundly the facts and events of the Soviet period of history they would be able to give a better elucidation from positions of Leninism of happenings in the period covered by the "Short Course."

Declaring that in present works on the period of the Revolution the events of 1918-1920 "are explained by some historians by alleged sabotage on the part of some of the party leaders of that time, who were wrongly declared many years after the events described had taken place to have been enemies of the people."

Mikoyan did not explain which party leaders precisely he meant. Among the leaders who were accused of efforts to sabotage the Revolution in Stalinist histories were Trotsky, Bukharin, Kamenev and Zinoviev, most of them executed by Stalin after the purge trials of the 1930s.

Mikoyan called for more serious study of the West by Soviet economists and held up to them the example of the United States which, he said, an immense number of economists engaged in the selection of material and study of economic development in the Soviet Union.

Local Group At C-C Workshop

Seven Big Springers took part in the Chamber of Commerce Leaders' Workshop conducted in Lubbock Friday by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Three general discussion sessions were held and Chamber managers, officers and directors were divided into small groups for a total of seven "roundtables" on various aspects of Chamber of Commerce work.

Directing the conference was Dwight Havens, manager of the U. S. C of C service department. He was assisted by Walter B. Petrage, manager of the organization's business relations department; James G. Roberts, southwestern division manager; and Lester G. Flesner and J. Ledge Craig Jr., both district managers.

High point of the workshop was the luncheon address by Petrage, who told of the threats to business in various legislative propositions of organized labor, "social planners," and the Farmers' Union.

Several hundred Chamber of Commerce leaders from about 50 cities in West Texas and New Mexico attended the meeting in the Caprock Hotel at Lubbock. On hand from Big Spring were Raymond River, R. H. Weaver, Horace Garrett, E. M. Er Tarbox, Champ Rainwater, J. H. Greene and Wayland Yates.

Teachers Called Upon To Convert All Certificates

In an attempt to simplify classification of high school teachers' certificates, teachers throughout the state are now in the process of having their teaching permits converted.

The state Legislature last May passed a bill calling for the conversion of all teaching certificates. At the present time, there are 31 varieties of certificates, and the change will group all the permits into two classes.

The two classes are professional and provisional certificates. The new law does state, though, that one-year emergency certificates will be issued for new teachers who may lack some particular course before meeting requirements for a professional certificate.

All new certificates—whether professional or provisional—will list the teacher's teaching field (secondary, elementary, etc.) and degrees. Degree and present certificate status determines whether a teacher receives a professional or provisional permit.

In the changeover, rights of present certificate holders are fully protected. In no instance will a teacher receive a certificate with lesser value than her present certificate.

In addition to present school teachers, many local citizens are ex-public school instructors, and some of them hold permanent certificates. These too may be exchanged for the new certificates at no cost. Anyone wishing to have a certificate changed should contact either Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, or W. C. Blankenship, city superintendent.

The offices of Bailey and Blankenship have applications for the conversion.

All teachers now teaching are being asked to turn their applications in to the school offices, and the schools' records then will be mailed together to the Texas Education Agency at Austin—the agency handling the changeover.

The county school superintendent said that because of the huge conversion volume, the new certificates will probably not be returned until shortly before the start of another school term in September, even though they are sent within the next two months.

Democrats Talk Of Victory In The Fall

HOUSTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Terming the Republican party the party of "double talk, deception and inaction," Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburg of Birmingham, secretary of the Democratic National Committee, predicted today a Democratic triumph this fall.

She spoke to the Texas Democratic Advisory Council and other so-called "liberal" party leaders holding an all day session here. About 300 Democrats from throughout the state attended.

She was introduced by Byron Skelton of Temple, chairman of the Advisory Council, who sharply attacked Gov. Shivers for what he called "betraying and deserting the party."

Skelton predicted Shivers would try to capture the Texas delegation to the national presidential convention "by throwing out duly elected delegations at the state election."

The governor, he asserted, has

KBST To Televis Both GOP, Demo Conventions

Both the Democratic and Republican national conventions will be carried this summer by KBST-TV, Jack Wallace, president, said Saturday.

Wallace said that the CBS network, with which KBST-TV will be affiliated, has ordered stations to carry both of the conventions on a live basis. This means that from 30 to 30 hours of on-the-spot telecasting will be provided from the convention halls.

Another election feature, later in the year, will include the telecasting of election returns in the presidential race and in the key senatorial and congressional races.

Starting April 7 and continuing through Sept. 29, KBST-TV also

The Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland has denied Charlie Robinson's application for a rehearing on his appeal of a condemnation award in Howard County.

The appeals court recently affirmed the award made by special commissioners and approved in county court. The condemnation last year involved a strip of Robinson's land on the U. S. 80 Freeway just east of Big Spring.

Medical Chief Named At T-U

AUSTIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—Dr. Melvin Casberg of Solvang, Calif., was appointed today to fill the new post of vice president for medical affairs at the University of Texas.

Casberg, a surgeon, medical administrator and former assistant secretary of defense, will go to work July 1.

His basic function will be to advise President Logan Wilson on programs and activities in medical and dental education.

"Although his principal office will be in Austin, he will spend much time at the medical units of the university in Galveston, Houston, and Dallas," Wilson said.

"With appointment of Dr. John B. Truslow, effective April 1, as director of the Galveston Medical Branch, we believe we have an administrative organization now adequate to cope with the complex problems and challenges faced here in Texas with regard to health education and research."

Casberg has been dean of St. Louis University's School of Medicine, chief of surgery in hospitals, and chairman of the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council. He was assistant secretary of defense for health and medical purposes by presidential appointment for two years ending in 1954 before returning to private practice of surgery in California.

The job was authorized more than a year ago.

"We have been searching since then for a man with the unusual qualifications needed for this highly responsible post and in Dr. Casberg we believe that we have such a man," said Wilson.

As a military medical administrator, Casberg was at the 21st General Hospital, station surgeon in Chungking, China; and surgical consultant at Wakeman General Hospital.

He was dean at St. Louis from 1949 to 1952.

His job will require consultation with the chief administrative officers of the Galveston branch, which includes John Sealy Hospital; the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, the dental branch, and the postgraduate school of medicine, all in Houston; and Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

Goodson Files For Reelection To City Board

ALFRED GOODSON

Alfred (Tunney) Goodson filed Saturday as a candidate for the city commission.

Goodson is serving out his first term and will be seeking reelection.

In offering again for the post, Goodson said that he believed that while much had been accomplished, much remained to be done toward providing citizens with better services. Candidates, especially those with previous service in office, must stand on the record said Goodson, and to that end he invited questions from all residents on any matter.

A native of Big Spring, Goodson has been an employe of Cosden Petroleum Corporation since completing his schooling here 11 years ago. In addition to serving as an electrician at the Cosden plant, he also is president of local No. 825 of International Union of Operating Engineers. He has been active in United Fund campaigns in the past and last year helped direct the cooperative fund appeal at the refinery.

Goodson is married and he and Mrs. Goodson have one son; they own their home at 1304 Ridgeroad.

DO IT YOURSELF Elegant Lines Mark Dining Room Buffet

By BILL BAKER

Smoothly modern lines and elegant proportions will make this modern buffet the pride and joy of your dining room. And if your dining area is simply an "L" in your living room, you'll discover that the buffet is a perfect room divider.

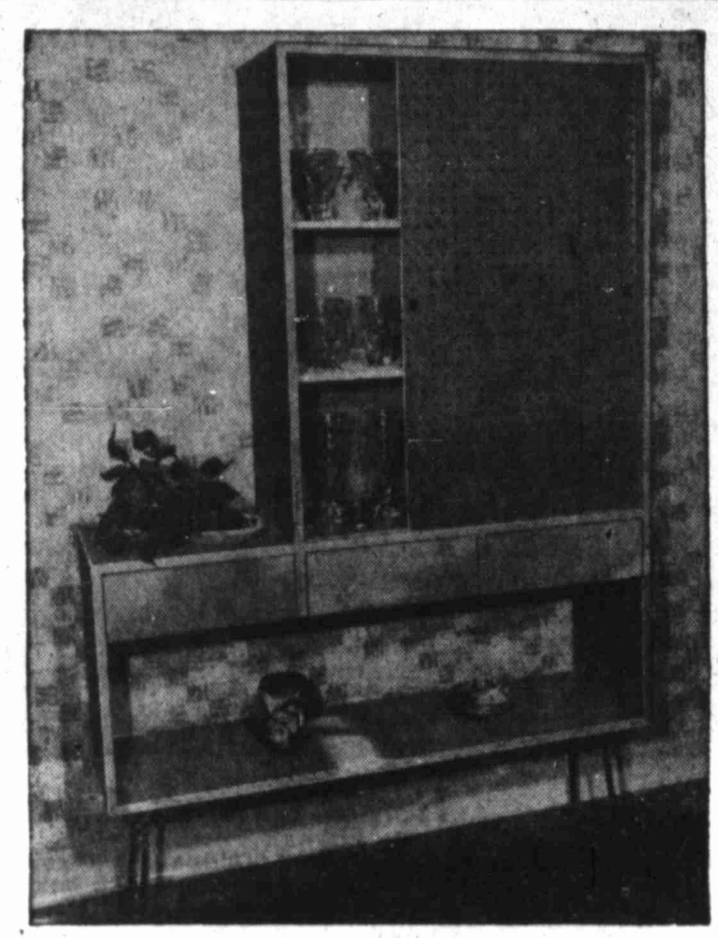

It may be hard to believe, but the buffet is an easy-to-make project simple enough for even the novice woodworker. With my new pattern package number 131, you'll build it in a few hours.

Exact-size pattern pieces, like a woman's dress pattern, make it possible to tack, trace and cut with few problems. Easy directions, illustrated assembly instructions and a full material list are added features of the pattern.

Your buffet, which is almost four-feet long, features three deep drawers for napkin or silver storage. Behind two sliding doors, on a raised section, you'll find ample space for all your fine china.

You'll like the open section of the buffet since it adds a note of grace and beauty. Metal legs, as illustrated, or wooden legs can be used on your finished unit.

To get your buffet pattern package, simply send your name and address (clearly printed), together with one one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. When you write, be sure to ask for pattern number 131.

Medical Group Approves Malone & Hogan Hospital

The Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital Foundation has again been given approval of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The commission, which is composed of five agencies, is successor to the American College of Surgeons which handled the task of accreditation until 2 1/2 years ago. Periodically the commission surveys all approved hospitals as well as those applying.

Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital for a number of years was accredited by the American College of Surgeons and this was continued under the joint commission. Agencies in the joint commission are the American Medical Association, American Hospital Association, American College of Physicians and the Canadian Medical Association.

Basically the major purpose of the commission is to insure quality patient care in hospitals through setting of high standards which accredited hospitals must meet or surpass.

Physicians making surveys for the commission check to ascertain if the hospitals are living up to their responsibilities, and follow proper rules of conduct, keep adequate medical records, review constantly the work being done, have proper staff organization, maintain good facilities with modern equipment, and provide adequate, trained personnel.

He had been selected to submit a tape to be played on the network disc jockey roundup. In a one-minute discourse, he explained his reasons for picking Don Connell's "Teen-age Meeting" as a potential top recording.

If the selection pans out, he might eventually be in line for the top three awards of the network for the show.

Look to GAS for the fastest team that ever whizzed through the wash

Don't let your good automatic washer put up with half-hearted help. See how two efficient Gas appliances actually cut laundry time . . . make your laundry really AUTOMATIC.

1. An automatic Gas water heater is 3 times faster than non-flame heaters . . . gives the plentiful extra-hot water necessary for cleaner, whiter and more hygienically-safe washes. You never have to run a load through again because it looks dingy. You save on bleaches, soap, agitator time. Yet you pay less to buy, less to install and less to use a Gas water heater.
2. An automatic Gas clothes dryer is the speediest dryer made. It does away with long warm-up periods, takes clothes fast as they come from your washer, and delivers them fluff-dried and ready to put away. Imagine, your ironing is cut by one-third. Automatic gas operation is cheaper, too.

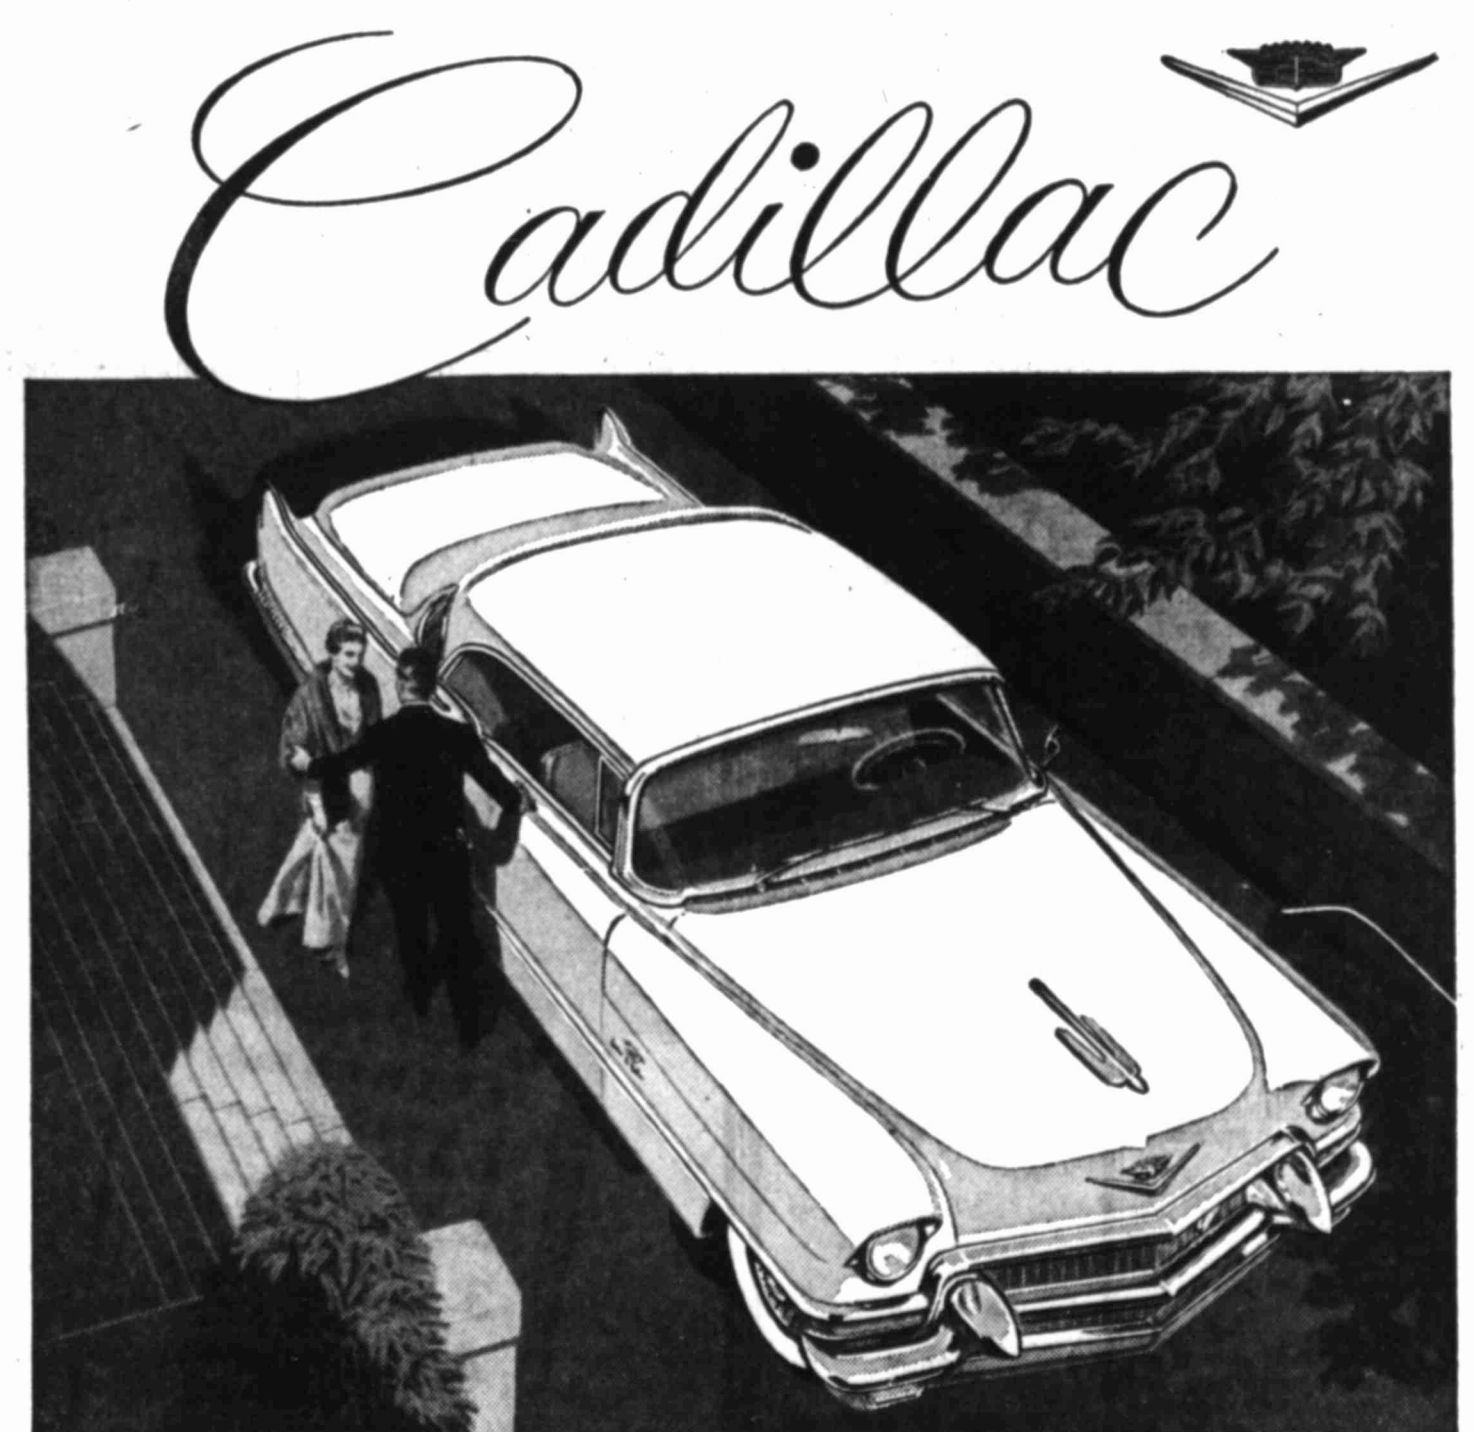

Is it any wonder that professional launderettes—obviously concerned with the most efficient way to run a laundry—prefer Gas 30 to 1? Take a tip and make sure your laundry is GAS.

Stepping Out...With His Two Loves!

It's the hour of twilight!

And what happier prospect could a man ask for a wonderful evening. For tonight he's stepping out with his two favorite companions—the lady in his life . . . and the car in his life!

And you can rest assured that the "car of cars" will make a contribution all of its own to his evening's enjoyment.

First of all, there will be the inner satisfaction a man always feels as he steps into his Cadillac and settles behind the wheel. All about him will be the inspiration of Cadillac's luxury . . . and beauty . . . and graciousness.

Then there will be the thrill of Cadillac's marvelous performance. Driving will be so easy and so effortless that every mile will be a mile of relaxation and pleasure.

There will be the contentment that comes with Cadillac's great safety . . . and the comforting knowledge that he—and his lady—are surrounded with every comfort and safeguard known to automotive science.

And, finally, there will be the joy of arriving in the "car of cars" . . . and of catching those glances of admiration that will come his way as he pulls to the curbstone at journey's end.

Little wonder, then, that Cadillac owners have so great an affection for their motor cars.

And their sentiments etch themselves all the more deeply in the light of Cadillac's great economy and practicality. For how wonderful it is to know that the satisfactions of Cadillac ownership are coming from motordom's soundest and wisest investment.

Why not come in soon—with your lady—and "step out" for an hour or so at the wheel of a 1956 Cadillac? The car is waiting for you . . . and we'll be delighted to do the honors!

Loyalists Charge Shivers Has 'Sewed Up' Convention Hotels

HOUSTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Convention skirmishing within Texas Democratic Party ranks began today as a loyalist faction official charged conservatives with sewing up all Dallas hotels for the May 22 state convention.

Byron Skilton, Temple attorney and chairman of the Texas Democratic Advisory Council, also predicted that Governor Allan Shivers will attempt to capture the Texas delegation to the national convention "by throwing out duly elected delegations" at Dallas.

Skilton told the council's on-day workshop meeting that Shivers

"has made a deal with the hotels in Dallas."

He said he will appeal to the hotelmen of Dallas to make rooms available.

Later, the 300 county party leaders unanimously approved a resolution challenging Shivers to hold a legal and honest convention—something we haven't had in four years."

Introduced by Creekmore Fath of Austin, the resolution stated, "It is our policy that whichever faction or group of Democrats honestly and legally wins control of precinct and county conventions, and ultimately the state convention, will be recognized and supported by the Democratic Advisory Council."

The council earlier had heard its executive committee chairman, District Atty. Tom A. Moore of Waco, demand that the entire State Insurance Commission resign or be fired by Shivers.

Moore last night had announced that members of the commission will be subpoenaed to testify before a subcommittee investigating the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co.

78 'Flu' Cases Shown In Report

Influenza was the communicable disease reporting the most cases, the city-county health unit's weekly tabulation showed.

Next biggest total after influenza was 40 cases of upper respiratory trouble, and there were 24 cases of tonsillitis.

Twenty-two pneumonia cases were reported, and chickenpox affected 20. Gastroenteritis bothered 15, and the weekly reported showed 12 cases of diarrhea.

Mumps' cases numbered 11, and there were seven of the measles, two gonorrhea, and strep throat and one of impetigo.

Rotary Clubs To Take Note Of 51st Birthday

Rotary International, the result of one man's desire to become acquainted socially with his business associates, marks its 51st "birthday" Thursday.

Other than to take note of the occasion at its weekly luncheon Tuesday, the Big Spring Rotary Club, now more than 25 years old, plans no special observance.

Rotary International was founded on Feb. 23, 1905, by Paul Harris, a Chicago lawyer who had been making it a practice to have lunch each week with some of his business friends. Harris, 511 West 1st St., a coal merchant, Gustavus Loehr, a mining engineer, and Hiram Shorey, a merchant and tailor, were the members of the first club.

Harris had convinced the others that a regular association of representatives of the various professions and businesses would provide understanding and, consequently, better business and professional relations. They called it a Rotary club because the members rotated their meetings from one place of business to another. Motto of the group has become "service above self."

The small group grew rapidly in Chicago and the movement has spread throughout the world to include thousands of clubs.

Harris was the third president of the first club, and he became the first president of the National Association of Rotary Clubs in 1910 and the first president of the International association in 1912. When he died in 1947, he was president emeritus of Rotary International.

Gay Hill Game Makes $179.79

Friday night's basketball game at Gay Hill School between the Glamour Girls and the Bloomer Girls may not have been an exhibition of the best basketball tactics, but the cause—the March of Dimes—benefited just the same.

With the men dressed as members of the opposite sex, more fighting was accomplished than basketball, but the backers of the March of Dimes drive reported $179.79 was contributed at the door.

Coupled with $37.39 received at the talent show there the previous week, the community's total for the March of Dimes campaign stands at $217.18.

The game was staged for the March of Dimes campaign in the Gay Hill community, with men of the community fighting it out in the basketball game.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. today in the Coahoma Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. Mark Reeves, officiating. Interment will be in Coahoma Cemetery under direction of River Funeral Home.

Mr. Nunn was alone at the time. He had been feeding his chickens and was stricken in front of the garage as he returned to the house.

erase the slate so he could get back to his practice.

Stage for action has been set by the school board in inviting Floyd W. Parsons, Beville superintendent, here for a conference. This meeting is a sort of exchange to see if the district wants to extend a contract, 2) to see if he wants a contract. If not, on either count, at least two other interviews are in order.

Dr. John F. Anderson, addressing the Chamber of Commerce banquet last week, in effect told the citizens of Big Spring that barring most unusual circumstances, development of the city is square up to them. He was right when he said that "breaks my game but they don't win pennants."

Reports from unofficial sources put a bright face on prospects for oil and gas production from the Strawn for the Standline No. 1 Stevenson, the second producer in the Big Spring Fusselman field. Some observers think the well will be as good in the higher section as in the Fusselman. If so, that would be mighty important.

Ida Mae Sewell, whose home was destroyed more than a week ago by flames, has written a list of names to say "thank you." These who helped are too numerous to list—but we're sure that everyone who did will be content for us to relay her "thanks."

What's needed now is a hub cap with a burglar alarm. Last week reports to police reflected the loss of more than a score of these items, which don't exactly come free. Surely no one would buy any of these at ridiculously low prices without notifying police of the offer.

If you have quarters which might accommodate a couple or a small family, please notify the Chamber of Commerce. More officers are reporting for training at Webb AFB and they desperately need living quarters.

investigation of the antisegregation case." It can return indictments under a state law rarely if ever used before except in labor strife.

Scope of the grand jury investigation was indicated when jurors issued a partial report Friday night announcing 114 true bills had been returned. The jury resumes indictments Monday.

Circuit Judge Eugene Carter charged the jury of 17 white men and one Negro last Monday to determine if the boycott on Montgomery City Lines buses is unlawful.

If the jury finds the mass protest was organized and carried on without "just cause or legal excuse," it can return indictments under a state law rarely if ever used before except in labor strife.

Greece Chooses A Parliament

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 18 (AP)—Greek voters elect a new 300-man Parliament tomorrow and the outcome may influence this nation's ties with the West.

A coalition of seven opposition parties ranging from rightwing to Communist-controlled seeks to oust the pro-Western government of Premier Constantine Karamanlis.

In a campaign fought through Greece's coldest winter of the century, the coalition, called the Democratic Union, charged that Karamanlis is a puppet of Britain and the United States. It accused him of selling out on the Cyprus issue and demanded a foreign policy independent of the West.

Karamanlis countered with the charge that the coalition is playing Moscow's game, risking landing Greece behind the Iron Curtain. In his windup speech, he declared creation of the coalition "has made the Communist party a respectable again."

Stray Bullet Strikes Francis Parker Home

A bullet ricocheted into the home of Mrs. Francis Parker, 500 W. 4th Friday evening.

Although police could not locate the marksman, a patrolman said the man had apparently been killing cats near the house and one of the bullets ricocheted. No one was hurt.

Police Seek Leads On Missing Airman

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18 (AP)—San Antonio detectives called on border police at Laredo to help in running down a lead on the disappearance of Airman Roger C. Timm of Evanston, Ill.

Detective Capt. Joe Hester said former city police officer Boyd B. Smith, now a car salesman, told him he had given a ride Friday to a man fitting Timm's description and carrying a small brown metal suitcase bearing the name, "Timm."

Smith said he gave the man, tall, slender and blonde, a ride to Devine, 30 miles south of here on the Laredo highway. Smith told Hester the rider said he was "going to Mexico."

Hester said there were these other developments here in the mystery of the missing airman: 1. Three duffle bags of civilian and military clothing bearing the last four numerals in Timm's serial number, AF764247, were found today on a street near Kelly case." It can return indictments under a state law rarely if ever used before except in labor strife.

Officials of Montgomery City Lines, a subsidiary of National City Lines of Chicago, have declined to say publicly how the boycott has affected the company financially.

Before the boycott began last Dec. 5, approximately 65 per cent of the lines' passengers were Negroes. Since then, an estimated three-fourths or more of the Negro customers have stopped riding.

Car pools have been organized to get Negroes to and from work. Taxicabs have done a thriving business. Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers says many Negroes have complained they were threatened with harm if they rode the buses.

The mass protest against seating of white and Negro passengers began on the day that Mrs. Rosa Parks, a Negro seamstress, was fined $14 in City Court. She was arrested after refusing to move to the segregated section of the bus.

Negro leaders led by a 27-year-old Baptist minister, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., demanded a "first come, first served" arrangement which would seat Negroes from the rear and white passengers from the front until all seats were taken.

Negro boycott rallies have grown, too, with the meeting places jammed night after night.

Acts of violence have been reported against both the bus company and two Negro leaders, but no one has been injured. Dynamite bombs were exploded at the homes of King and E. D. Nixon, former state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Shots were fired at some buses in Negro sections of Montgomery in the first week of the protest. Other buses were targets of rock throwing.

Ike Spends Another Day Getting Outdoor Exercise

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower got out in the warm sun today for another round of quail hunting.

Accompanied by his host, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, the President climbed aboard a mule-drawn hunting rooster shortly after 9 a.m. and went off to the fields of the plantation estate.

This was the fourth straight day of plenty of outdoor activity for the President, who still is testing his health preparatory to telling the nation whether he will seek reelection.

Eisenhower arrived here from Washington Wednesday for about a week's vacation, just 24 hours after getting word from his physicians that he had a good recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack. The doctors said he appeared fit for "another five to ten years" in a job such as the presidency.

This One Is Called 'The Boss' Mrs. Roy Lloyd, left, discusses the painting by Mrs. Bismark Schafer of Garden City, with a judge, Eida Prickett of Midland. This is just one of about 150 paintings entered in the Las Artistas Area Art Show that is being exhibited at the Howard County Junior College from 2 to 6 this afternoon. All entry proceeds will go for the Big Spring Art Museum building fund that the local art group is sponsoring.

Legislative Ethics Proposals Are Sent To Special Council

AUSTIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey relayed to the Texas Legislative Council today requests of House investigators for a study of legislative ethics and other questions raised by the insurance situation.

Ramsey said the "several areas suggested by the house investigating committee are not new to consideration in the legislative process of the past several years," but he agreed "they should be given further study."

Ramsey, the Legislative Council chairman, said the Texas situation should be "gauged by the practical results made in each field by other states."

He was referring to the four areas of study suggested by the House committee: a code of ethics for legislators and other state employees; lobbying; legislative sessions and compensation of legislators; and a resumption of the council's analysis of the insurance situation.

More Hub Caps Stolen; Total For Week Is 37

Seven more hub caps were stolen from cars in the city Thursday and Friday nights, bringing the total for the week to 37.

Police said other cities in the area were also reporting large numbers of hub caps being stolen. Due to the large numbers of hub caps being taken, one patrolman said the thieves are probably selling them outside the area, because local dealers are on the lookout for them.

A. M. Harris, 908 E. 12th, reported his Chrysler was missing two hub caps since being parked behind Radford's Grocery, Preston Taylor, 505 N. Bell, said two hub caps were taken from his car while parked at his home.

Mrs. Frank Morales said one hub cap was taken from her car while parked at Morales Cafe on the West Side. Robert Holland, Webb AFB, said two hub caps were taken from his car while it was parked at 403 1/2 NW 5th.

OIL GIFTS

wouldn't have done it if they didn't like me.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), who voted against the gas bill, reported that J. Howard Pew, J. H. Pew Jr., and Miss Mary Ethel Pew put up $1,000 each for his successful reelection campaign in 1952.

Republican Zales N. Ecton, who was tilted out of his Montana Senate seat by Democrat Mike Mansfield in 1952, reported contribution of $1,000 from Cullen, $3,000 from Hunt, $2,950 from Mrs. H. L. Hunt, and $1,250 apiece from the four Peews. Mansfield voted for the gas bill.

In addition, Cullen put up $1,000 and the four Peews $1,250 each for Washington State Republican Harry Cain, who was ousted from his Senate seat in 1952 by Democrat Henry M. Jackson. Jackson voted against the gas bill.

For the 1954 congressional election, Roy H. Cullen and his wife gave $2,500 each to the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and $1,000 each into the coffers of the National Republican Congressional Committee.

He was referring to the four areas of study suggested by the House committee: a code of ethics for legislators and other state employees; lobbying; legislative sessions and compensation of legislators; and a resumption of the council's analysis of the insurance situation.

Ramsey's comments were in a letter to Rep. Wade Spilman McAllen, House committee chairman. He said it should "be noted particularly that the current movement for insurance law reform has been years in the making. It is not an orphan born of the recent failures of weak, fraudulent or fly-by-night insurance companies."

"That the same type of nefarious schemers who for a quarter of a century had thwarted efforts for insurance law reform were on hand at the last legislature is well known," Ramsey wrote.

"It should be expected that greed will bring them back next session in quest of selfish interest legislation," he said.

Ramsey suggested each legislator should study the history of insurance insolvencies as outlined in a 200-page report made by the Legislative Council prior to the 1953 legislative session.

He also recommended that lawmakers be "fully versed in corrective measures enacted by the last legislature."

"The bald fact, sometimes overlooked," said Ramsey, "is that the last legislature did the best job of legislating insurance law reform effected in the last 50 years. A before and after look at the situation should give the public confidence that its government means business and that, within the time deemed necessary to weed out the undesirables, insurance in Texas will be on the soundest footing in the state's history."

Another round of enthusiastic signers Saturday boosted the number of entries in the 1956 Soap Box Derby to 27.

During the day there were 13 Big Spring, Coahoma and Midway boys who registered at Tidwell Chevrolet Company as contestants. Entries also are being received in Snyder and in Colorado City, but no report had been received late Saturday from those points.

Other boys between the ages of 11 and 15 are urged to sign up next Saturday at Tidwell Chevrolet for the Derby. The event, sponsored jointly by the motor company, The Herald and the Lions Club, will be held July 4th.

Those who entered Saturday included three sets of brothers—Avery Falkner Jr. and Johnny Falkner of 708 W. 17th, Doyle White and Troy White of Midway, Jesse Lee Brown and Lewis Brown of 1106 NW 8th.

Final performance of the ninth annual Lions Minstrel drew a slightly larger crowd to the City Auditorium Friday evening.

Final results of the show were not known Saturday and may not be for a week, but Larson Lloyd, president, indicated Friday evening that the net might be between $750 and $1,000. All net proceeds go into a special fund for youth and welfare activities.

This year's production, directed by Oriand Johnson, moved faster than usual and Friday's performance went off smoothly. Consensus was that the Howard County Junior College choir did the best chorusing job ever done in the minstrel's long history.

Balloon Explanation Rejected By Moscow

MOSCOW, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Soviet Union tonight brushed aside an official United States explanation that American balloons seized on Soviet territory were dispatched to collect weather information.

A diplomatic note delivered to U. S. Ambassador Charles L. Bohlen here renewed the Soviet objection to the flight of balloons over Soviet air space. The Soviet reply said in effect that the United States version was not true.

The Soviet note declared the American description of weather balloons did not correspond with "studies of the equipment by Soviet experts."

It charged that the balloons "pursued a different aim."

The Russians refused to accept any of the explanations in regard to the balloons in the U.S. note of Feb. 8, but did not correspond with the statement of the United States government that it will take measures to stop further balloon flights over the Soviet Union.

The United States ordered an immediate grounding of its balloons, which had been launched from Germany and Turkey, pending a study of whether they had been flying over Soviet territory.

The Soviet Union originally protested the flight of balloons in a note Feb. 4, followed by a full-dress news conference and an exhibition of captured balloons and equipment.

The exhibition was obviously aimed at making propaganda capital of the balloon flights. Soviet press officers who conducted it insisted the balloons were for aerial reconnaissance. Later the Soviet press declared release of the balloons "by American military organs" in territory near the Soviet Union was an attempt to carry out unilateral President Eisenhower's "open sky" program.

This was a plan for mutual aerial inspection as an initial phase of disarmament agreement. The Russians turned it down.

Today's note seemed to be another Soviet attempt to back up their original insistence that the balloons were tantamount to aerial espionage.

The Soviet government offered to stage exhibitions of the captured balloons and their equipment in Washington, New York, London, Paris or any other city willing to participate.

Shepperd Gives Views On State Control Of Gas

KILGORE, Feb. 18 (AP)—John Ben Shepperd today told the Kilgore News Herald that "there are three main courses that Congress might take immediately to remove federal control over the production of natural gas."

The Texas attorney general made the suggestions as officials and citizens in oil and gas industry states, shocked and angry, considered the effects of the President's veto yesterday of the natural gas bill.

Shepperd listed the following courses: an override of the veto; passage of a bill prohibiting federal courts and all other federal agencies from considering any matter withdrawing from the several states administration of matters relating to oil, gas and other minerals; and the introduction of a resolution nullifying, by constitutional amendment, the decision rendered in the Phillips case.

"If it becomes apparent that Congress either will not or cannot dispose of the matter by direct legislation, I am going to ask the governor to convene the Legislature in special session to consider the matter," Shepperd said.

Shepperd said he believes an override of the president's veto could be accomplished because opposition to the Harris bill would like to remove the institution in the veto message which cast a cloud of suspicion on members of Congress.

Shepperd said the second and third courses of action would constitute the necessary congressional portion of the doctrine of interposition. He said a suggested resolution of interposition will be mailed from "my office next week to members of the Texas Legislature asking for their support and comment."

State Official Selling Out All Private Holdings

HOUSTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Houston Post said today that state Treasurer Jesse James has been dumping private ventures for which he might be criticized. The newspaper said, "In another month, all I'll own is my lodge out on Lake Austin and I hope to god no one criticizes me for owning that." James said. James indicated his decision to get out of private business even remotely connected with the state was influenced by the current trend to criticize all such connections "even if you were a director of the Chase National Bank." James said he could now afford to get rid of all his private ventures since his pay rose from $419 a month take home to an annual $17,500. He talked freely about his investment in the International Life Insurance Co. and his listed ownership of 1,001 shares Dec. 31, 1954. He borrowed money to buy the stock, he said, and still owes the bank $7,000 on the loan. He still has his 1,001 shares of stock but will own these no longer than he has to, he said. James said he knew nothing about International's leasing part of its building to the state. "I didn't even know it was going on and had nothing to do with it," he said. James said he had also sold his boat dealership on Lake Austin to a daughter and her husband. He had been criticized, he said, for selling boats to the state. "It's all hers and her husband's now," James said. "We have just had a state audit," James said. "And we haven't had a letter of complaint yet."

Mo-Pac Moving Out Of Houston

HOUSTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Missouri Pacific offices here will likely close down except for a skeleton crew of business employees. This prospect seemed likely today after notice was received from St. Louis saying about 300 persons here would be transferred. Most will be moved to Palestine or St. Louis under a reorganization plan. Theodore Short, chief personnel officer in St. Louis, said the Palestine accounting office would handle payroll, stores department and mechanical department accounting for the Mopac in Texas and Louisiana. Short asked for a March 5 meeting to give more details. David Ligon, general chairman of the Gulf Coast Lines System board of adjustment, an affiliate of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, has asked that the meeting be changed to March 9. The transfer of personnel is necessary, officials said, because the parent firm is absorbing its subsidiaries in Texas and Louisiana. Under the reorganization plan Mopac will transfer the assets of 17 subsidiaries, the largest of which are the IGN and Gulf Coast Lines.

Electrical Strike Has Wide Effects

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18 (AP)—The unwashed windows of the biggest Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant peer down on the quiet streets of Turtle Creek Valley in East Pittsburgh. Pickets loiter wearily before a small fire built to ward off the winter chill. The men have been idle since last Oct. 17. There are scenes like that in 34 other communities across the land where other Westinghouse plants are located. Down town in a hotel room representatives of Westinghouse and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers have wrangled bitterly across the conference table for five months. The room is vacant now, but the negotiators — by urgent government request — have been called to meet again in Washington Monday. East Pittsburgh is only one of 40 plants closed by the IUE strike of 44,000 workers, and by a strike of 10,500 independent United Electrical Workers members that began Oct. 26. But the situation here each payless week. Before the strike, Westinghouse workers earned a national average of $2.10 an hour. Around the plants and in the areas where Westinghouse workers live business has been affected. Shopkeepers worry about the climbing total of unpaid bills owed to an by them. Already some small businesses have closed their doors. In many places, like East Pittsburgh, the Westinghouse payroll is the base of a community's economy.

PAL AND POOCHIE

They belong to a little girl. And she loves them both. But, although she is only a tot, she understands the difference between Pal and Poochie.

Poochie is just her "doggie dollie." She can talk to him, and pat him, and cuddle him at night in her crib. But she has to pretend that he loves her too!

Pal is her "bow-wow." He answers words and caresses with his eyes and his bark and his wagging tail. He follows her, he snuggles up to her. His love is just as real as his funny cold nose.

Poochie will one day retire to the attic. But Pal will be her pal for all of his faithful life.

Brings home, does it not, the importance of responding to love?

The love which inspires man's faithfulness is God's love. The Response is our Christian worship and life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Adams Wins Honor For Conservation

The outstanding conservation farmer or rancher in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District for 1955 is Harvey Adams.

Adams, who operates 1,163 acres of cropland and 117 acres of pasture land, was announced last week as the choice of the district supervisors for this honor. Subsequently he will be presented with a special plaque from the Lions Club in tribute to his conservation practices. At the same time, he will be entered in the state contest sponsored by the Fort Worth Press in its "Save the Soil and Save Texas" program.

HARVEY ADAMS

Son of a pioneer Howard County farm family, Adams has been developing practices to save the soil and its fertility since he began farming. He attended two years at Texas A&M College where he studied agricultural economics.

His two-section place is located north of Knott and all of his land is protected with broad-base terraces with the ends closed. The closures extend completely around his field so that all of the normal rainfall on the farm stays in the fields. Other practices which he follows include stubble mulching, through use of sweeps and chisels, to leave small grain and grain sorghum residue; planting of soil building crops; strip cropping; pasture rotation; cover crops; and ensilage storage.

Adams has used his small grains, where autumn moisture will permit, not only to provide a cover and protection from wind erosion but also to furnish winter pasture for livestock. He also employs the stubble mulch as a wind barrier as well as to promote organic matter and moisture absorption.

In his strip cropping, Adams plants wind resisting crops such as sorghums alternated with peas or cotton. Always interested in trying new crops, he has planted summer peas and guar for soil building.

Adams has planted more than 50 acres to blue panic grass for summer grazing, thus permitting his native pasture to rest during this period. All of his sloping land that might be susceptible to excessive water erosion has been left in permanent grass. Thus, Adams crops only his best land. In the summer he also plants a substantial amount of sudan for temporary grazing.

When moisture conditions provide ample summer and winter grazing, he runs around 50 calves, fattening them on home grown feeds such as the several hundred tons of sorghum ensilage he puts up each year.

Adams is a son of Mrs. Reece Adams and the late Reece Adams, and he has served on various boards and committees.

2 Youths Still In County Jail

Two of the five young men arrested here in a stolen car Tuesday are still in the county jail. California authorities may come for the pair, sheriff's officers said. Both have admitted passing worthless checks in California and other states, Deputy Rufus Davidson reported.

Another member of the quintet, to be charged with car theft, was turned over to federal authorities for transfer to Abilene Thursday. The other two were released Saturday morning after satisfying officers said they were hitchhikers who caught rides with the other three.

The five were arrested after telling a service station attendant that the sheriff's office was "the last place" they wanted to go. They had been referred to the sheriff when they asked how to contact the Red Cross.

Criminal Cases Set Monday In District Court

Eleven criminal cases will be called for trial when 118th District Court convenes Monday morning.

A 60-member jury panel, including 14 women, has been summoned for 10 a.m. The docket of cases will be called at that time.

Defendants whose cases will be called, and the charge each faces are Odell L. Allen, second offense DWI; Bessie Adams Guy, theft; J. A. Smith and M. C. Holt, both second offense DWI; Thomas Wesley Hendricks, Billy Wayne Mayo and John T. Purcell, all forgery; Katherine Nelson, perjury; Elmer Lavender and Jack Porter, both burglary; and Francisco Hernandez, assault with intent to murder.

District Attorney Guilford Jones said Saturday that he will be ready to present the state's evidence in all of the cases.

To New Post

Harold B. Seifert of Dallas has been named vice president of operations administration of Continental Air Lines, Inc., at Denver. Seifert's promotion is part of the reorganization of Continental's operations throughout, which establishes the new post responsible for administrative functions, planning, research and coordination with other major divisions. Bomb Explodes At N.O. Post Office

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A home-made time bomb exploded today on a loading platform at the main New Orleans post office.

Two employes, Leonard J. Payton and Bourbon Wells Sr., suffered burns while extinguishing a fire that resulted. Neither was hurt seriously.

The bomb was in a mail-filled bag being transferred from a truck. Postal inspectors found wire and glass fragments in debris from the explosion.

Uncle Ray:

Block Books Were Printed In Europe

By RAMON COFFMAN

A week ago I spoke of the fact that many insurance companies charge higher rates when there is a teen-age driver of an automobile. The question came up:

"Can teen-age drivers do anything to bring the rates down?"

That will be, at best, a slow and hard-drawn battle. I have heard of one company which lowered the rates for girl drivers because girls were said to be more careful, on the average, than boys of the same age.

Whether drivers are boys or girls, there will be improvement when cars are driven with more care. In the long run, millions of boys and girls could lower the insurance rates by driving safely. "If it is going to take years to lower the rate by careful driving, I may be out of my teens before the change takes place."

Human life is more important than money. Even if it takes a long time to change insurance rates, a teen-ager may save his own life or some other life by driving safely right now.

Certain boys use the slang term of "chicken" when other boys refuse to drive in a foolish manner. The truth is that the boys who want to drive that way are as silly as geese are supposed to be. Often they are cowards.

Anyone who supposes that he is "brave" when he breaks the rules of driving is fooling himself. He may put others in danger, as well as himself, and that is cowardly. Let us never forget that bad driving may lead to something besides death. Serious injuries also come about. An automobile accident may leave a person crippled for life.

Help With Homework

The Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Bingham give their son, Ronnie, assistance with his algebra homework. The newcomers reside at 709 W. 15th.

Minister At Hillcrest Is Week's Newcomer

The newcomer for this week is the new minister of Hillcrest Baptist Church, the Rev. H. L. Bingham. He and his wife and 14-year-old son, Ronnie, reside at 709 W. 15th.

This residence belongs to the First Baptist Church, and the Bingham family are living there temporarily until they can find a suitable place of their own.

Coming here from Lamesa, Rev. Bingham was pastor of the Friendship Baptist Church for three years. He is a native of Fisher County and Mrs. Bingham was born in Sea Drift, a community near Rockport on the Gulf Coast.

The minister received his degree from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. His first church was the Saint Jo Baptist Church in DeLeon.

Other churches he has pastored in his 11 years in the ministry have been at Scranton, Nugent, Gillespie and Courtney.

When asked about his plans in Big Spring, the minister said, "Hillcrest is a mission of the First Baptist Church, and they are building an education building 45 by 80 feet and remodeling the main building. When this construction is completed, we will be able to make definite plans."

The Bingham family have one daughter, Mrs. Wayne Holcombe, who lives in Midland. Their son, Ronnie, is in the ninth grade.

Rev. and Mrs. Bingham said that they never had much time for hobbies, since they were always busy with ministerial duties. Ronnie likes to fish and hunt.

P-TA Council Has Tea Honoring Founders' Day

Approximately 150 called during serving hours of 4 to 5:30 Friday afternoon at the Founders' Day Tea held in the high school cafeteria. The tea was sponsored by the P-TA Council.

Fifty-nine years ago, the Parent-Teacher Association was organized, and the tea was in honor of the two women that helped found the organization.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien gave the invocation. Mrs. H. B. Staneland was in charge of refreshments. The hospitality committee was composed of Mrs. J. T. Grantham, Mrs. A. McNary, Mrs. D. D. Johnston, Mrs. O. O. Workman, Mrs. R. J. Leighty, and Mrs. E. D. Campbell.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Harold Homan. Barbara Coffee and Valjean La-Croix played piano selections during tea hours. The junior high choir, under the direction of Mrs. F. C. Gambill, sang several numbers. Mrs. J. L. Christensen accompanied the group at the piano.

A skit was presented entitled "Mr. Facts." J. N. Young was the announcer. Maj. L. G. Bradford was "Mr. Parent," and Mrs. Bradford was "Mrs. Parent." The founders of P-TA, "Mary," "Ruth," and "Grace" were played by Mrs. W. N. Norred, Mrs. M. V. Seals and Mrs. A. C. LaCroix, respectively.

Five couples from the fourth grade at Park Hill danced the minuet. A girls' chorus from College Heights, accompanied by Mrs. Mickey Butts, sang "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White," "Big Brown Bear" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Wedding Vows Taken In Chapel At Webb

An exchange of wedding vows in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base united Barbara Burleson of Lamesa and Lt. Delbert R. Motal Saturday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Burleson, 101 Juniper Drive, Lamesa, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Ethel Motal, 305 Brons St. El Campo.

Chaplain W. H. Barker officiated at the semi-formal double ring ceremony. The background was an arch of candelabra completed with baskets of blue and white carnations and stock.

Mrs. Omar Pitman, organist, accompanied Marcella Hill of Lamesa, as she sang "I Love You Truly," and at the close of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer." Traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Pitman.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. L. R. Crowell, 410 E. 18th, designed and made the bridal gown. Fashioned of white slipper satin, it was cut on princess lines with a full ballerina length skirt. The sleeves were long and pointed.

Seed pearls outlined the pattern of antique lace and bordered the neck and yoke attached to the fitted bodice. A waist length veil was joined to a shell cap of pearls.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, carried a white orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Crowell attended her sister as matron of honor. Her dress of blue lace over taffeta, was on princess lines, with pushup sleeves and circular skirt. Her accessories were blue and shirvan.

A reception was held at the Officers' Club at WAFB following the marriage rites. Guests were received by the bride couple, assisted by their parents, and Mrs. Crowell and Lt. Wilson.

Blue and white flower arrangements centered the bride's and bridegroom's tables, with the wedding cake of white. Miss Hill presided at the register.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Dallas, the bride wore a shantung faille suit in a gray and black mixture. Her accessories were black.

They will make their home in Big Spring.

Mrs. Motal is a graduate of Lamesa High School, and she attended Howard County Junior College. She was a cheer leader in both schools, and was a member of the capella choir in the college.

Lt. Motal is a graduate of El Campo High School and Wharton

MR. AND MRS. W. H. GILLEM

Cauble-Hood Vows Repeated Saturday

Dot Cauble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lad Cauble, 800 Johnson, became the bride of Charles Hood Saturday evening in a wedding ceremony performed in the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hood, 4103 West Highway 80. The Rev. B. A. Rogers of Midland, uncle of the bride, officiated for the informal double ring rite.

Vows were taken as the couple stood before an arch of colonnades, entwined with fern, and candelabra. White gladioli and stock completed the background.

Mrs. Leslie Green, pianist, accompanied Mrs. Harold Talbot as she sang "I Love You Truly," and as the couple knelt at the conclusion of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

Jack Cauble gave his sister in marriage. Her bridal gown was of white Chantilly lace over white satin. The basque bodice, coming to points in front and back, was designed with a small stand-up collar and long sleeves. These came to points and were buttoned with tiny self-covered buttons.

The ballerina length skirt was full; the bride wore white satin slippers and carried a white purple-throated orchid in combination with lace leaves and stephanotis on a white Bible.

The short nylon veil was attached to a cap of Chantilly lace and satin with lace points.

For something old, the bride carried a white handkerchief; something new was the Bible, a gift from her mother. She had borrowed a sixpence, which she wore in her shoe, and something blue was a garter.

Mrs. Bill Condra of Austin attended the bride as matron of honor. Her frock was of blue net over blue taffeta, with fitted bodice and full ballerina skirt. The dress was made with a low neckline and short puffed sleeves.

Her flowers were a colonial bouquet of Frenchies, blue carnations. Nosegays of yellow rosebuds were carried by the junior bridesmaids, Judith Elaine Cauble and Olive Gean Cauble, both nieces of the bride. Their dresses were of yellow net over taffeta fashioned like that of the matron of honor.

Richard Lad Cauble, a brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Sig Rogers, uncle of the bride, and Bill Condra. A nephew of the bride, Richard Lad II, carried the wedding rings.

Jacqueline Ann Cauble, the bride's niece, and Sharon Lee Rogers, cousin of the bride, were candlelighters. Their dresses were identical to those of the other attendants.

Following the wedding, a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. The receiving line included the bridal couple, their parents, the best man and the matron of honor.

An arrangement of white carnations and candytuft centered the refreshment table, laid with a

Autobiography Given For Woman's Forum

Mrs. Arnold Marshall and Mrs. L. B. Maulden presented the program Friday afternoon when members of The Woman's Forum met in the home of Mrs. Carl Benson. Mrs. W. H. Bain was co-hostess. Mrs. Marshall reviewed Lillian Roth's autobiography, "I'll Cry Tomorrow," in which she relates her early childhood. This was abnormal due to her mother's ambition for her to be in the theatre. Her rise to stardom on the stage and in motion pictures is told as is her degradation due to excessive drinking. The book is concluded by her explanation of the aid she received from the Alcoholics Anonymous and the help she and her husband are now able to give others in similar plight.

The life of Lily Pons was discussed by Mrs. Maulden who pointed out that Miss Pons' early ambition was to become a concert pianist. Due to a severe illness, she was forbidden by her physician to play the piano for two years. Following her recovery she was entertaining World War I soldiers and one asked her to sing. Although she had never sung before, she sang and realized she had a great gift in her voice from the prolonged applause of the audience.

Miss Pons then took up vocal training which has led to her fame the world over. Due to her experience she advises mothers of prospective coloratura sopranos to wait until after their sixteenth birthdays to start training their voices. Members voted to send money to help defray expenses of a gift for Mrs. J. S. Hendricks, outgoing president of Eighth District. Tentative plans were outlined for the Federation Day luncheon slated for April 11. Due to the small audience, members chose to wait until a later date to discuss adoption of a proposed project at the Big Spring State Hospital. Eleven attended the meeting.

Morning Rites Unite Miss Gray, Lt. Gatts

Before an arch of candelabra, entwined with greenery, and arrangements of white gladioli and stock, Anne Mary Gray became the bride of Lt. James D. Gatts, Saturday morning, in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Y. C. Gray, 1704 Main. Parents of Lt. Gatts are Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Gatts of Bedford, Ohio.

The informal double ring rites were read at 11 a.m. by Chaplain Charles J. Fix. Mrs. Champ Rainwater, organist, played a prelude of wedding music and the traditional wedding marches.

The father of the bride gave her in marriage. Her ballerina length dress of white antique taffeta was trimmed in imported French lace. The fitted bodice, with portrait neckline and long pointed sleeves, joined a full skirt.

A tiny hat of taffeta to match the bridal gown was trimmed with seed pearls. The pearl necklace, which the bride wore, was borrowed from her cousin, Mrs. Bobby Gray of Gail. For something old, she carried a white Bible, which had been a gift from her father during her childhood. Her bridal outfit was new, and she wore a blue garter.

Gardenias and stephanotis made up the bridal bouquet carried atop the white Bible.

The bride's sister, Helen Clare, serving as maid of honor, wore a frock of antique taffeta in buttercup yellow. She carried yellow baby roses and wore a tiara of matching rosebuds.

Richard Gatts of Bedford attended his brother as best man. Lt. Bill Walker was groomsman. The Aqua Room at the WAFB Officers' Club was the scene of a reception following the ceremony. Nellie Lee Jefferies of Forsan was at the guest register.

The bride's table held a ring cake with an arrangement of flowers centering it. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Max West of Snyder, Mrs. E. E. Reynolds and Mrs. W. B. Hardy.

For a wedding trip, Mrs. Gatts chose a brown and beige tailored suit with a brown and beige hat. Her shoes, bag and gloves were of brown kid.

The couple will be at home, temporarily, in Wichita, Kans. Lt. Gatts is soon to be transferred to McDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla. He is a graduate of Bedford High School and of Ohio University.

Here's Observance Of National Sew-And-Save Week, Feb. 18-24

Sew and save!
This practice is not limited to the national week set aside for it, Feb. 18-24, but throughout the year women sew a fine seam to stretch the budget and because they enjoy it.

Recent surveys show that women no longer sew just to save those extra pennies, but they take the needle in hand because it is a means of creative expression. It is significant that the trend toward increased sewing activity is most predominant among the upper and middle class groups; therefore, the money is not the main factor involved.

Another fact that can be attributed to the upsurge of home sewing is the increased interest by women throughout the nation for learning modern techniques and time-saving methods. Sewing lessons are offered not only in schools for four million young American girls, but in adult education classes, industry sponsored courses, and home demonstration programs.

Reports are that a total of 38 million women sew today, which is an increase of 52 per cent over the 1940 figures.

Let us trace back the history of home sewing. There have been all kinds of light fantastic tales about sewing being a creation of the fashionable set many years ago, but the truth is that the fate of the entire human race once hinged upon the discovery of this simple operation.

The earliest home sewing was the joining of animal skins by threading sinews through holes pierced in hides. Historians have explained that the race would have perished during the ice age if they had not learned how to sew clothes to protect themselves from the severe cold.

The needle that the housewife buys in a pack for a few pennies was considered a luxury until the latter part of the 14th century. The first needles were of silvers of bone, ivory, wood or thorn and later they were handworks of gold, silver, copper or bronze.

It was not until the 14th century that pins were used in sewing, and then they were very expensive, because they were handmade. During this period, generous husbands set aside, once a year, a sum of money for their wives' "pin money."

Home sewing has developed tremendously in the past few years. Such handy objects of the trade that we take for granted are the zipper, cover-your-own buckles and buttons, easy to follow patterns, and miracle sewing machines that do everything but put the dress on you.

As quickly as fashions change, it is the wise woman who can sew so she can change her wardrobe to fit the trend of the times. Not only will she be a smartly dressed person, but she will have some extra pennies in her purse. Then she can afford to go somewhere in the new dress!

CUTTING AWAY — Another step in home sewing is cutting out material by the pattern. Mrs. Rex Baggett, 1507 Ayford, is cutting out material for a dress for her daughter, Jan, who is a junior at Southern Methodist University.

THEN COMES THE SEWING — at the machine ready to stitch up her new dress is Mrs. Johnnie Green, 1610 Settles. Mrs. Green enjoys her hobby of sewing and does some professional work for the public.

THE PATTERN MUST FIT — One of the first big jobs of home sewing is splicing the pattern to take up or to let out to fit your model. Here, Mrs. Donald Hayworth, 1700 Donley, is fitting a dress pattern on her oldest daughter, Beth, who is five, while Lydia stands nearby.

THIS PATTERN CALLS FOR FOUR YARDS — Mrs. R. H. Boykin, 101 Jefferson, measures her material before she cuts it out. Mrs. Boykin said that the real seamstress in the family is her daughter, Annette, who makes practically all the clothes for herself and her sister, Betty. Annette is a junior in high school.

THE FINISHED PRODUCT — Patricia Barrington, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Barrington, 2003 Johnson, and Connie Gale Dunagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Dunagan, 1607 Sunset, model the dresses that Mrs. Harold Gilmore, right, has made for them. These dressed-up young ladies stay with Mrs. Gilmore at 2008 Nolan during the day. FOR TALL GIRLS Designer Makes Special Work For Tall Fashions

Tall girls are the envy of all their shorter sisters, for they have the carriage and height to make the most of today's fashions. Today's fashions, however, are not always cut long enough in the waist for comfort, and this is where Peg Newton enters the scene.

A unique designer with a great sense of taste and proportion, she has dedicated herself to girls who are over 5'7", delivering clothes that fit and also minimize height. This model with its fitted bodice has a full flared skirt cut in three tiers with button tabs in the center front. This detail, repeated on the short sleeves and high neckline, is easy to do since the custom cut pattern is so accurately perforated you can't possibly go wrong.

Make it in linen, shantung, novelty cotton, chambray, gabardine, serge or sheer wool.

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements.
 Size 10, bust 34, waist 24, hips 35; size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36; size 14, bust 36½, waist 26½, hips 37½; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41.
 Size 12 requires 4½ yards of 36-inch material for dress with short sleeves and ½ of a yard of 36-inch material for contrasting fabric.

To order Pattern No. 1250, state size; send $1.00; address Spades Fashions, Inc., P. O. Box 535, G. P. O., Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. Add 25 cents for Airmail handling. New 144-page Pattern Booklet XII-50 cents. Add four cents if paid by check.

Miss Neel Is Bride Of Wayman Clark

A picture window in the home of the bride's parents formed a background for the wedding of Janelle Neel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Willard Neel, 1007 E. 23th, and Wayman Clark. The bridegroom is the son of O. F. Clark, 806 Birdwell Lane. The pair married Saturday evening.

The couple stood before an arch of blue plumous fern and white blossoms of various types, with sheer pale rose curtains behind the arrangement. The Rev. Ed Welsh, pastor of Phillips Memorial Church, officiated for the informal double ring rites.

Wanda Petty, a cousin of the bride, played a prelude of wedding selections including "Becomes" and "I Love You Truly." At the conclusion of the ceremony, she played "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee."

A doorway, marked with white satin streamers, formed the arch through which the bride entered to be given in marriage by her father.

White embroidered polished cotton was used for the wedding dress, which featured a molded torso with scoop neckline. The three-quarter length sleeves were fastened with tiny self-covered buttons.

The bodice, coming to points in front and back, joined a waist-length flared skirt with added fullness of gathered fabric. The bride's mits of white tulle were edged with seed pearls on the double ruffled.

Seed pearls also trimmed the headpiece of the same material as the bridal dress. The bride's veil was of tulle, and she wore white satin slippers. Her flowers were a nosegay of feathered mums surrounding a white orchid.

For tradition, the bride wore a blue garter, her dress was new; for something old and borrowed, she had a necklace from her aunt, Mrs. Burly Hall. She had a penny in her shoe that her father had brought her from India.

The bridesmatron was Mrs. Jerry Sanders, attired in a broadcated falde of navy, made on princess lines with a scoop neckline. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Bridesmaids were Maxine Rosson and Sandra Flowers, schoolmates of the bride. They were dressed in identical fashion as Mrs. Sanders. The frock of Miss Rosson was of a pale orchid with pink cast, while that of Miss Flowers was a pale blue. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Mr. Clark served his son as best man. Groomsman were Jerry Sanders and C. E. Massey of Stanton, an uncle of the bridegroom. James Cauble, a cousin of the bride, was an usher.

For the reception immediately following the ceremony, the couple was assisted in receiving by their parents and Mrs. Massey. Guests were registered by Delores Odum of Jackboro, a cousin of the bride.

A handmade cutwork cloth covered the bride's table, which was centered with the three-tiered cake. Based in a rhaline ruffie of pale blue, the cake was decorated in blue and was topped by a miniature bride and groom.

The feminine attendants served refreshments, using crystal appointments. Guests from out of town were Mrs. Ella Neel of Long Beach, Calif., grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Burly Hall and Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Odum, Debra and Darla, all of Jackboro; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell and Calvin Campbell of Balmorea, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore, Susan and Carol of Lubbock.

Mrs. Clark is a 1955 graduate of Big Spring High School and is attending Howard County Junior College, where she will continue her studies. She is employed by her father in his transfer company.

The bridegroom was graduated from Carbon High School in Eastland and is now employed by Wilbanks and Rutter Drilling Company.

The couple will be at home at 207 1/2 E. 9th St.

Flower Grove Man Weds Lamesa Girl

LAMESA — The Lamesa Church of Christ was the scene, Friday evening of the marriage of Sharon Acuff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Acuff of Lamesa, to Charles M. Nance of Flower Grove.

Vows were exchanged before a fan-shaped arrangement of gladiolus, woodwardia palm, juncos, leaves and fern as a background for candelabra and baskets of gladioli.

Sammy Garvin, student at Abilene Christian College, read the double ring ceremony. The Broadway Church of Christ bridal chorus presented the wedding music. Royce Acuff, brother of the bride, was soloist and sang, "I Love You Truly" and "I Pledge My Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of imported embroidered nylon tulle over net ending in a chapel train. The mandarin collar was encrusted with seed pearls in a flower design.

The long torso waist ended in six petal points which joined a voluminous skirt of two tiers of satin and net ending in a chapel train. The long sleeves, coming to points, were outlined with seed pearls. A fingertip veil of illusion was secured to a crown of pearls, rhinestones and sequins.

The bride's flowers were an orchid and stephanotis atop a white Bible. For something old, she wore a locket she owned as a baby; she had borrowed a cameo from her mother, and she wore a blue garter. A lucky penny was in her shoe.

Mrs. John Hamrick attended her sister as matron of honor. She was dressed in a lilac taffeta with a long torso.

A headpiece of lilac taffeta was trimmed with velvet and a tiny half veil. Mrs. Hamrick wore short white gloves and carried a silver fan of Dutch iris tied with long streamers of deep lilac ribbon.

Dressed in an identical fashion with the matron of honor were the bridesmaids, Britta Denton of Abilene and Pat Jones of Lamesa. Harold Cheves of Bridgeport was best man, and groomsman were Carl Phelan of Flower Grove and Rowland Kemp of Eunice, N. M.

Guests were seated by Gerald Ritchey of LaPryor, Lawrence Morrow of San Benito and Royce Meyers and Dwayne Powell of Lamesa. The flower girl was Barbara Howard of Midland, a cousin of the bridegroom.

Joe Acuff of Odessa, a cousin of the bride, was the ringbearer, and candlelighters were Johnnie Marie Rhodes of Stanton and Ronny Acuff, brother of the bride.

In the receiving line for the reception at the home of the bride's parents, were the bride and groom, their parents and the women of the wedding party.

The table was laid with a floor length cloth of white satin with a garland of flowers around the edge of the tabletop. The bouquets of the attendants formed the center arrangement.

Mrs. Loy Acuff of Big Spring, aunt of the bride, served the cake, three tiered and decorated with a stairway of lavender rosebuds leading to the top where a miniature bride and groom stood surrounded by hearts.

Mrs. Gene Acuff of Odessa, an aunt of the bride, assisted with the serving. Mrs. Don Carmichael of Stanton, a sister of the bridegroom, was at the guest register. Mrs. Flora Barnard furnished the music during the reception.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wore a brown linen sheath with a tweed duster. Her hat was white, and she used alligator accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. Upon their return, they will make a home on a farm four miles west of Stanton.

The bride is a 1955 graduate of Lamesa High School. She has been attending Abilene Christian College, where she was a member of Pi Epsilon Beta, the Art Club, the Kitten Club and the Sand Dwellers Club.

The bridegroom finished high school at Flower Grove in 1954. He has been in school at ACC and was a member of the varsity track team, vice president of the Physical Therapy Club, president of the Sand Dwellers and president of the Pennin Club.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

In a recent issue of a women's magazine there is the most impressive article on an easy routine for keeping house with no help. You simply do simple things each day, harder things once a week and the really difficult ones once each month. I dedicated myself to follow this ... Friday I had completed the first course. I had just finished cleaning the northeast bedroom, and the sand came. I am now undedicated.

KING SIDES visited here briefly Wednesday with friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coffey. Mr. Sides sells insurance in Lubbock and is a former resident of Big Spring. Mrs. Sides is teaching in the Lubbock schools.

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE SMITH of Lamesa were here Friday night so that Mrs. Smith could attend the shower for Lila Turner. Mrs. Smith is a sister of Mrs. Lonnie Coker.

MR. AND MRS. LUCIEN JONES are expected back tonight from a business trip to Dallas.

MRS. WAYLAND YATES was almost as pleased as her mother, Mrs. W. L. Kincaid, when she received a letter saying that Mrs. Kincaid had won first prize in the novels section of the National Penwomen's Contest. Mrs. Kincaid lives in Abilene and will receive a cash award at the meeting in Washington in April. Her novel is titled "Redhead."

Enjoyed seeing MRS. CHARLES WATSON of Austin who is here for the pre-nuptial parties for her son's bride-elect, Candace Dickinson. The Watsons moved from here about 18 months ago.

At the Valentine Day tea we were happy to see MARGARET (MRS. DUB) HARRKIDER for the first time since she has returned to West Texas to live on their ranch near the Hyman community. Her twin boys go to the Forsan school and she says everyone is happy to be "back home."

From Midland was MRS. JOE BIRDWELL an ex-resident, who was with her sister, MRS. HUGH DUNCAN. MRS. ROGER GALLEGRE was here from Fort Stockton and visited with many old friends one of whom was MRS. MILLER HARRIS who was a college friend at CIA. Garden City was well represented, and it was nice to visit with MRS. SAM RATLIFF, MRS. RONNELL MCDANIEL, MRS. ALTON COOK, MRS. DICK MITCHELL, MRS. JOY WILKERSON, MRS. RAY HIGHOWER, MRS. ILA KEATHLEY, MRS. STEVE CURRIE AND MRS. GLEN RILEY.

Always attractively dressed is MRS. OLEN PUCKETT who accentuated her dark hair and eyes by wearing a single circle of red cherries in lieu of a hat. Why don't I think of something like that? MRS. VANCE LEBKOWSKY was pretty in a striking red knit suit that was perfect for the theme of the day, MRS. PAT MURPHY'S red tulle and straw hat was just right for her close-cropped grey hair.

MRS. BOB SATTERWHITE was enjoying being just a housewife again after having done office work for several years. Her black and white braided straw hat looked "springy."

MRS. LORIN MCDOWELL plans to leave Monday for New Orleans where she will spend several weeks.

MR. AND MRS. J. T. BAIRD SR. and J. T. Jr. spent last week end in Dallas visiting with Mrs. Walter Baird who is making her home at 3549 Southwestern Blvd.

About this time next week MR. AND MRS. R. R. MCEWEN SR. will be on their way to making their new home in La Jolla, Calif. What with the McEwen Jr. and Krause grandchildren here they probably will be back for a visit before very long.

WALTER REED and son, Scooter, from Brownfield were here with friends for basketball games Tuesday night, and we saw them briefly while continuing our visit with the Wacil McNairs and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson Jr., who were here for the C of C banquet from Snyder.

Also here with her husband for the banquet was MRS. JOE CLARK of Fort Worth who is as pretty a woman as I have seen in some time. She is a family friend of MRS. E. P. DRIVER who was having a hurried visit with her after the banquet. Mrs. Clark is a former Palo Pinto newspaper editor, and she contributes articles to The Cattlemen Magazine at the present time.

DR. AND MRS. NORMAN FURLONG have returned from a flying two weeks trip that took them to Chicago to a meeting of dentistry specialists and to Dayton, Ohio, where they visited with their son, Lt. Norman B. Furlong, who is stationed at Wright Patterson Base. They also met their son's fiancée who flew up from Atlanta.

They visited in their home town of Norwalk, Ohio, and with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Cook, in Detroit, Mich. Another son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Furlong, were their hosts in St. Louis, Mo. The only child they missed seeing was a son, who is in Miami, and the loop was too great to circle this time out.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gressett were in Odessa to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pye Jr. and children. Recently in Andrews to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Grant, have been Mr. and Mrs. Harley Grant and sons.

Demons of Disease

It has taken man many centuries to realize that disease has "natural" cause and that a cure takes place in a "natural" way. For many years, all internal disease was considered to be the revengeful work of gods or demons. Magic and exorcism were therefore used to rid the body of the offending demon.

Today, however, diagnosis and treatment of disease have a sound, scientific basis. Your physician is trained by education and experience to care for you in times of illness. We supplement his service by filling your prescriptions promptly.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Creighton and presented to Mrs. Turner and Miss Turner, who wore a turquoise polished cotton frock with elbow length push up sleeves. Tiny self covered buttons were featured from the deep V in back to the waistline. The bodice was fitted to the hips and then shirred to great fullness for the skirt. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Turner chose a black sheath with rhinestone jewelry.

Mrs. J. A. Coffey presided at the tea table which was laid with a white floor length organdy cloth, draped at the table edge with and organdy swag that was caught at intervals with miniature bouquets of lily of the valley tied blue satin ribbon.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Margaret Pierce

The past week was one of the busiest of the year for the year for the Jayhawkers as they made last minute preparations for the Lion's Club ninth annual minstrel. The chorus was presented as one of the main parts of the program.

Some of the numbers given were "Swanee," "Muskrat Rumble," "It's All Over Me," "In That Great Gettin' Up Mornin'," and a Moonlight Medley consisting of "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," and "Moonlight Bay." Selections from "Oklahoma" were also presented.

The minstrel was held on Thursday and Friday nights. In some cases, it was not difficult to recognize the guys and gals from the college; however, there was some comment on the identity of B. M. Keese, registrar. Mrs. Keese was an outstanding character dressed in a striped suit, his face blacked up and being a fun-man of the evening. Dee and Dennis Phillips were featured as soloists. Patty Gregory was also soloist singing "Basin Street Blues."

Two ball games featuring the Hawks were played Tuesday and Thursday nights. Tuesday night, an exciting game was played with the Hardin-Simmons "B" team. HCJC emerged on top with a close margin of 82-80. Thursday night, they journeyed to San Angelo to play the Rams. The final score of the game was 93-74 in favor of the Rams.

Ernie Davis was out of the game because of an infection of his jaw. Jimmy Joe Robinson was hurt before half-time of the game and was unable to play anymore in that game.

Some of the students and other fans also made the trip to San Angelo for the game. Those going were Myrna Sproul, Joan McKinney, Barbara Mossy, Betty Hester, Edna Harrell, Barbara Abbott, Mrs. Louise Brown, Peggy Crooks, Alvin Baker, and Melvin Brown. The Globe-Trotters exhibition

We wish to welcome Don Isham back to HCJC. Don was out of school for a week because of a broken collarbone received in an accident.

Tuesday, at 11:30 a.m., an assembly will be held in the auditorium. It will feature Clark Beachler and Camille Monte singing swing and jazz numbers.

Some of the kids who went home over the weekend were: Buddy Mayes, Midland; Silas Flournoy, Snyder; and Dee Phillips, Lamesa.

'There's Always Tomorrow'

Fred MacMurray and Barbara Stanwyck star in the current Ritz feature. Miss Stanwyck plays the other woman who almost breaks up his marriage. Joan Bennett is the wife.

Marriage Problem Is Film's Subject

"There's Always Tomorrow" starts today at the Ritz and stars Barbara Stanwyck, Fred MacMurray, and Joan Bennett. The story is about a successful businessman who thinks that his wife and children fail to appreciate him. He is dissatisfied with his home life and just right for an adventure.

Joan Bennett, not too often seen recently, fits well in her part of wife. Her last film was "We're No Angels." This part is similar, but it is no comedy. Pat Crowley and William Reynolds play the sons. Gig Perreau and Judy Nugent are the other children and both have good parts for newcomers.

The picture will play through Tuesday. The Bowery Boys, with Leo Gorcey and Huntz Hall, are starred in a State feature this week, "Dig That Uranium."

The riotous team are on the trail of riches when they buy a deed to a uranium mine. They have a difficult time finding the project, however, and rustlers try to gyp them out of it. Finally they find the mine, but only after they escaped from the rustlers in a car that will go faster in reverse than forward.

The picture plays Friday and Saturday.

Controversial Subject

Frank Sinatra and Eleanor Parker are starred in "The Man With the Golden Arm" at the Ritz beginning Wednesday. The picture has narcotics addiction as its subject and has been a point of controversy since release.

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Coates
Big Spring definitely has a "little theatre" now. The Big Spring Civic Theatre has become more than just a group of people talking about plays. They have produced two one-act productions that any group could be very proud of.

Thursday night, Wilder's "The Happy Journey" was produced with Shakespeare's "Pyramus and Thisbe" at the VA Hospital. These productions had a professional quality with all the lines and scenes expertly done.

The make-up and costumes were as good or better than any traveling troupe has ever had on stage here. And I think the acting was good. The direction of the plays, by Paul Ritterbrown and John Davis, could not have been better.

President Dewey Magee was all smiles after the productions were over. The applause of the audience and the happy smiles of the casts encouraged Magee to start talking about giving the plays for a paid audience.

The two productions will be coupled with "The Trysting Place" for performances Monday night at the State Hospital. Magee said if those performances are as good as the Thursday night plays, then plans may be started to play for the public in about two weeks.

If the Big Spring Civic Theatre decides to play for the public, don't miss it. These plays are dated, to a certain extent, but they are hilariously funny. If you don't believe it, ask one of the patients at the VA Hospital.

Most important of all, Big Spring has a legitimate theatre of its own. No longer will you have to wait for traveling road shows.

No single character in the plays could be called more outstanding than any others. All the members of both casts worked hard for over six weeks to give these performances. Many times, rehearsals were held every night of the week and even Sunday afternoons.

But it was worth it. These amateurs are more than mere beginners. They have talent. Marilyn Morris, star of high school plays, was very good as the daughter in "The Happy Journey." Mary Archer got in the cast only ten days before the Thursday performance.

Playing the lead part of Ma, she won spontaneous applause from the audience as she left the stage. Cy Devery as Pa had everyone laughing with his pantomime of driving the car. Nick Trapatas, as stage manager, Joan Stowe as the other daughter, and Barrett Thiele as the son played superb performances.

Big Don Shore is a natural thespian and his Shakespearean line in "Pyramus and Thisbe" is enough to start anyone to laughing. He is a natural for the famous Falstaff of other Shakespearean dramas. Jan Downing, Betty Meek, Janie Griffin, and Barbara Thiele spoke the Shakespearean blank verse like it was the only tongue they ever knew.

If you get a chance, see these plays. This is theatre that everyone will like.

Sinatra Plays Dope Addict On Ritz Screen

"The Man With the Golden Arm" is scheduled for the Ritz Wednesday through Saturday. Frank Sinatra, Kim Novak, Eleanor Parker, and John Conte star in the picture.

This film is the most controversial picture to come from Hollywood since "The Moon Is Blue." Otto Preminger produced both pictures. In the latter picture, sex was the taboo subject. In the current picture, it is narcotics.

Like "The Moon Is Blue," "The Man With the Golden Arm" has been released without approval of the Production Code. The former picture was one of the biggest money-makers of the year and advances forecasts predict the same for the Sinatra film.

Reviewers throughout the nation have praised the picture and especially Sinatra for his acting ability. The lead is Frankie Machine (Sinatra), a weak little fellow who is expert at dealing cards and a sucker for heroin.

Cured once, he gets the habit again and then takes a "cold turkey" cure. (Without the aid of anything but will-power) This film could be described as the life of a drug addict.

Possibly not a picture for children, this one is a must for the adult. It should help toward understanding the problem of the narcotic addict and possible ways of solving it.

"Fort Yuma" Is State Premier

"Fort Yuma" is scheduled at the State for three days beginning Tuesday, starring Peter Graves, Joan Taylor, and Joan Hudson.

This western adventure is the story of the Apache wars when the settlers were trying to settle the West. Most of the action takes place at Fort Apache and Fort Yuma.

Mangas-Colorado is the Indian Chief who pledges to drive out or kill all the white men. He murders everyone in a wagon train but he stuns his match when he tries to storm Fort Yuma.

The picture is filmed in Technicolor.

First Run Films Slated At Sahara On Twin Bill

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz are starred in "Forever Darling" at the Sahara tonight and Monday. This colorful team, made famous on their "I Love Lucy" television program, are starring in their second movie.

Co-starred is James Mason and Louis Calhern. The picture is filmed in color.

The story is about a man and wife who find their marriage going on the rocks due to the immaturity of the wife. Then her Guardian Angel makes an appearance. He advises that the wife should make herself a part of the husband's life and work.

She tries to do this by accompanying him on a field trip where she causes even more trouble. But finally it works out all right.

Lucille Ball is a very good comedienne. This picture is as good as her former picture, "The Long, Long Trailer."

The Sahara is playing a double feature. The other picture is "Bedevilled," with Anne Baxter and Steve Forrest.

Miss Baxter plays a cabaret singer in Paris who falls in love with Steve Forrest, a young man headed for school in a Theological Seminary. When they meet, she is running from a gangster who is trying to kill her.

They fall in love and have a difficult time evading the killers. The picture has suspense and drama. Most of the other characters in the picture are Frenchmen. It is filmed in CinemaScope and color.

Both films will play into the week.

A definite favorite of everybody at BSHS is LaRue Casey. Especially in the spotlight this week, LaRue was elected Ranch Week Queen in a popular vote. This is one title that has belonged to LaRue for the two past years, and she was a nominee for the honor her sophomore year.

During her high school career she has held membership in the Future Homemakers of America, Order of Rainbow, and Debutantes. Besides being a member of the Corral staff, she was a sophomore student council representative.

Best-all-round is another title bestowed on LaRue by her fellow classmates this year. Especially active in Tri Hi Y and the Short-hand Club, she serves as treasurer and president of the clubs, respectively.

The Old West was again brought to life Thursday and Friday at the high school as Ranch Week was observed by the students and administration. Western dress prevailed for the two days, with practically all students co-operating by wearing the prescribed attire.

Ranch Week favorites were announced in the first of the special activities, in assembly Thursday morning. LaRue Casey was announced as queen, Jerry Graves, foreman; J. D. Adams, sheriff; Lewis Porter, judge; and Clyde McMahon, parson. Deputies were Richard Pachall, Leon Clark, Mike Hull, Hershel Stock, Jimmy Evans, Jan Laudermilk, and Tommy Buckner.

Kangaroo Court, along with several other events, was held in the gym Friday noon. Contest winners were: Gerald Backey, hog calling; Carlene Coleman, sack race; Paul Limer, pie eating; and Barbara Shields, beard growing.
