Insurance Probers Leave Many Issues Unsettled

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senate and House committees have left many questions unanswered and unasked in their investigations of Texas insurance troubles.

The committees eventually may get to these questions.

Conflicts have appeared between the testimony of witnesses which the legislators made no strong attempt to resolve at the moment.

Examples of how the investigations have operated:

1. Legislator's names have appeared in state auditor's reports on who was paid by U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. of Waco but no questions about the details were asked publicly by Senate investigators.
2. Senators appearing before the Senate committee as witnesses have been allowed to give unsworn testimony, while other witnesses have been required to swear their testimony is the whole truth and nothing but the truth.
3. No questions were asked by the Senate group when Sen. Carlos Ashley made his voluntary statement explaining acceptance of a $10,000 cash fee from A. B. Shoemaker, president of U.S. Trust. Shoemaker has shot himself since but survived.
4. No effort has been made by either committee to call Garland Smith as a witness, although he was chairman of the Insurance Commission during much of the critical period under scrutiny.
5. No challenge has been voiced on Insurance Commission Chairman Byron Saunders' statement that the duty for enforcement of the new insurance securities law was on district attorneys. The law, effective Sept. 6, says the commission shall have the obligation of calling violations to the attention of county and district attorneys.
6. No immediate attempt was made to resolve apparent conflict between the testimony of Saunders and Renne Allred, discharged attorney for the state insurance receiver-liquidator, on a number of points.

7. No strenuous effort has been made to determine how Shoemaker spent $47,500 he withdrew in cash in late 1954 and the first six months of 1955.

An example of the unasked question came last week when the Senate committee received a supplemental report from state Auditor C. H. Cavness about certain expenditures of U.S. Trust and affiliated firms.

The report showed payment of $500 to a "Bill Moore" May 25, 1953. It also listed payments of $200 and $100 to Sam Sellers and Bert McDaniel that same date.

Reporters knew Sellers and McDaniel were Waco men in the House of Representatives at the time they received those checks. They did not know for sure which "Bill Moore" was involved.

They questioned Cavness, but he couldn't identify the "Moore" in the report as Sen. William Moore of Bryan. It was several hours before the senator was located for confirmation that he was the person to whom the $500 was paid. He said it was a legitimate fee for legal services rendered.

There has been a dearth of questioning each time the Senate committee has had a fellow senator in the witness chair.

Nine senators or their law firms have been identified as receiving fees ranging from $100 to $10,000 from U.S. Trust or an affiliate within three years. To date, the committee has received testimony from four of the nine—all on a voluntary basis.

None of the four was put under oath, and virtually no questions were raised by the investigators after the four men completed their prepared statements. All the lawmakers involved have asserted they were paid for legitimate legal services.

One chance for questioning which went by the boards was at Ashley's appearance before the Senate group. Ashley appeared on the verge of an emotional breakdown as he defended acceptance of a $10,000 cash fee from Shoemaker.

That was on Jan. 18, a month ago today, and Ashley has not been called back.

There has been no indication that either the Senate or House investigators have any desire to question Smith, former chairman of the Insurance Commission, Smith, who headed the commission during the 18 months or more that U.S. Trust was under "surveillance" by the commission, resigned Jan. 30 after being hospitalized for ulcers.

The new chairman, Saunders, has testified that the commission took no affirmative action to prevent sales of certified drafts by U.S. Trust after a law requiring a license to sell took effect Sept. 6, 1955.

Saunders said the commission was aware illegal sales were being made, but he has contended that U.S. Trust was making such sales at its own risk and that district attorneys could have taken action against the firm.

Neither committee has challenged Saunders on whether he knew the duty for enforcement of the new law was placed on the commission, requiring it to call violations to the attention of prosecuting attorneys.

Considerable conflict has been indicated between the testimony of Saunders and Allred.

Allred testified before both committees that the Insurance Commission prevailed on him in the summer of 1954 not to include L. W. Blanchard, then chief examiner for the insurance department, in a proposed damage suit.

Saunders denied he had ever asked Allred not to sue Blanchard. Saunders also said Fire Insurance Commissioner Mark Wentz never made such a request, and Wentz confirmed this to the Senate committee.

Both committees heard Allred charge fraud, corruption, bribery, or negligence in at least eight instances.

An important meeting concerning the establishment of a caged-hen project at Stanton has been called for tonight at the Chapman Feed and Appliances Store in Stanton. C. J. Chapman said recently that many people were interested in the plan, with several from Knott and other communities planning to investigate the possibility of building caged-hen houses at 7:30.

Though the Ackerly FFA members practice an all-around agricultural program, they also win their share of prizes. At the Lubbock show last week, they took in several prizes with their hogs.

Leo Burkett took first place in the heavyweight Hampshire division and won first for the pen of three. The three hogs came from the same litter and weighed within five pounds of one another. The weights were 188, 185 and 183 pounds.

Leo also won a fifth place prize, while Bobby Campbell's hog took eighth prize. Some of the hogs will be taken to the Lubbock show next month if they don't get too heavy, said A. H. Smith, vocational agriculture teacher.

The club members had few lambs to show this year, Smith said, because good lambs are very hard to find. To offset this next year, at least one boy intends to raise his own. Jerry Batoon bought five high quality ewes and will keep the best of the lamb crop to feed for next year's shows.

Old-fashioned goose neck maize is still a major crop on the John Nutt farm, 10 miles south of Stanton. Nutt, who is a Big Spring business man, owns 220 acres on which there was very little cotton allotment, so he decided to irrigate a feed crop.

Last year he made 4,000 pounds to the acre of maize on 15 acres. He says he can make just about as much money raising feed and putting it through cattle as he can on cotton. He has a large number of calves on feed now.

A cotton burr makes a warm bed for pink bollworms, but they may have needed an extra wad or two of lint during the recent cold spell. A short cold snap doesn't bother them much, says Bert Badger, the local pink bollworm man, but when the weather gets below freezing and stays that way several days, the worms freeze up permanently.

Badger has been downstate and hasn't done any checking yet, but says the frigid weather of a few weeks ago probably killed off part of the hibernating worms.

The hurricane storms that raged Dawson County in 1953 and '53 left scars that are just now disappearing, says Dan Trammell, who farms a few miles southwest of Lamesa. He said the dunes and gouged-out spots in his fields were about to level over, but still are not as smooth as they used to be.

Farmers in Trammell's area made a fair crop last year, but must have moisture soon to brighten the outlook for the one coming up.

The farm to city movement was reversed a few years ago by the J. A. Long family of Sprenberg.

insurance receivership cases.

The only charge he directed toward the commission was that of negligence.

Called by the Senate committee to answer Allred's statements, Saunders said that the companies involved in Allred's testimony had been organized "eight to ten years ago," before Saunders came on the board in October, 1953. He said he had no first-hand knowledge which Allred said should have been caught.

There was reportedly an amount of $47,500 in cash withdrawals which Shoemaker made between Dec. 17, 1954, and June 7, 1955—the period immediately preceding and paralleling the 1955 legislative session which ended June 7.

That was the period when a bitter fight was being waged against efforts to bring U.S. Trust and Guaranty under strict state regulation.

A partial answer to the $47,500 question may have come in the disclosure of Ashley's $10,000 cash fee and Sen. William Shireman's $3,000 cash fee, both paid during the period.

Ashley has refunded the full amount. Shireman has promised to repay on the installment plan to state receiver-liquidator J. D. Wheeler for the benefit of creditors of U.S. Trust.

The committees have raised the question of whether improper pressure was exerted on the Legislature, but there has been no testimony that U.S. Trust unlawfully sought legislative influence.

Sen. Searcy Eracewell of Houston, who quit as chairman and member of the Senate Investigating Committee in protest against a closed hearing Jan. 11, said Shoemaker had tried to hire him as attorney for U.S. Trust in Houston about December, 1954. Eracewell added he turned down the offer.

Sen. Warren McDonald of Tyler, who said he had been paid $350 for examining an abstract for the local U.S. Trust office at Tyler, testified Jan. 18 that he rejected a retainer offer from Shoemaker in 1954 because Shoemaker was interested in legislation.

Dozen Atomic Tests Reported Due In Pacific

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that more than a dozen nuclear and thermonuclear detonations are scheduled to be set off over a period of two to three months at the mid-Pacific proving ground in the Eniwetok-Bikini area.

A story by Hanson W. Baldwin said:

The detonations are scheduled to start in March if weather permits. They will be the most extensive series of atomic tests yet held by the United States.

These tests will include ground or tower "shots" of test devices, air drops and missile firings of operational weapons, and the firing of prototypes of production models.

The explosive force of the devices and weapons tested is expected to range in power from small kiloton explosions to megaton bursts.

A so-called kiloton weapon is one, the last power of which is measured in thousands of tons of TNT equivalent; a megaton weapon's power is measured in millions of tons.

On Jan. 12, a joint announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department told without detail of the forthcoming tests. The announcement said they would be with weapons "substantially" less powerful than the so-called hydrogen, or thermonuclear, weapon detonated at Eniwetok two years ago.

2 Suits Filed Daily In District Court

Law suits were entered on the 118th District Court docket for Howard County at the rate of more than two a day during 1955.

And they were disposed of at about the same rate during the year.

Total of cases filed during the year was 681. Disposed of were 707.

Filings and trials left 452 cases of various kinds pending at the end of the year.

The information is included in the annual report of District Clerk George Choate to the Texas Civil Judicial Council.

Of the 707 cases disposed of, 31 were tried before juries. The remainder resulted in non-jury decisions.

Removed from the docket were 13 tax suits, 293 divorce suits, 289 civil cases of other types, and 109 criminal cases. Three pauper's oath trials were held.

Filed during 1955 were two tax suits, 357 civil suits other than divorce actions, and 298 divorce cases. Also going on the docket

Tidelands Bill 'No Give-Away'

HOUSTON (AP)—The federal government has collected 252 million dollars from less than 5 per cent of the offshore lands it eventually can lease, proving the return of the tidelands to the state was "no giveaway," Rep. Joe Martin (R-Mass.) said last night.

The House minority leader spoke to a chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Martin said the Geological Survey estimates the return to the federal government will eventually amount to about 13 billion dollars.

"Unlocking such resources for all Americans is a far cry from the give-away claims we had to listen to during a period of political wildcatting in Washington, D.C., when there were many predictions of calamity should the Congress recognize the states' claims to its tidelands boundaries," he said.

He said that the United States "through strength, readiness, and wise leadership is closer today to solving the riddle of world peace than ever before."

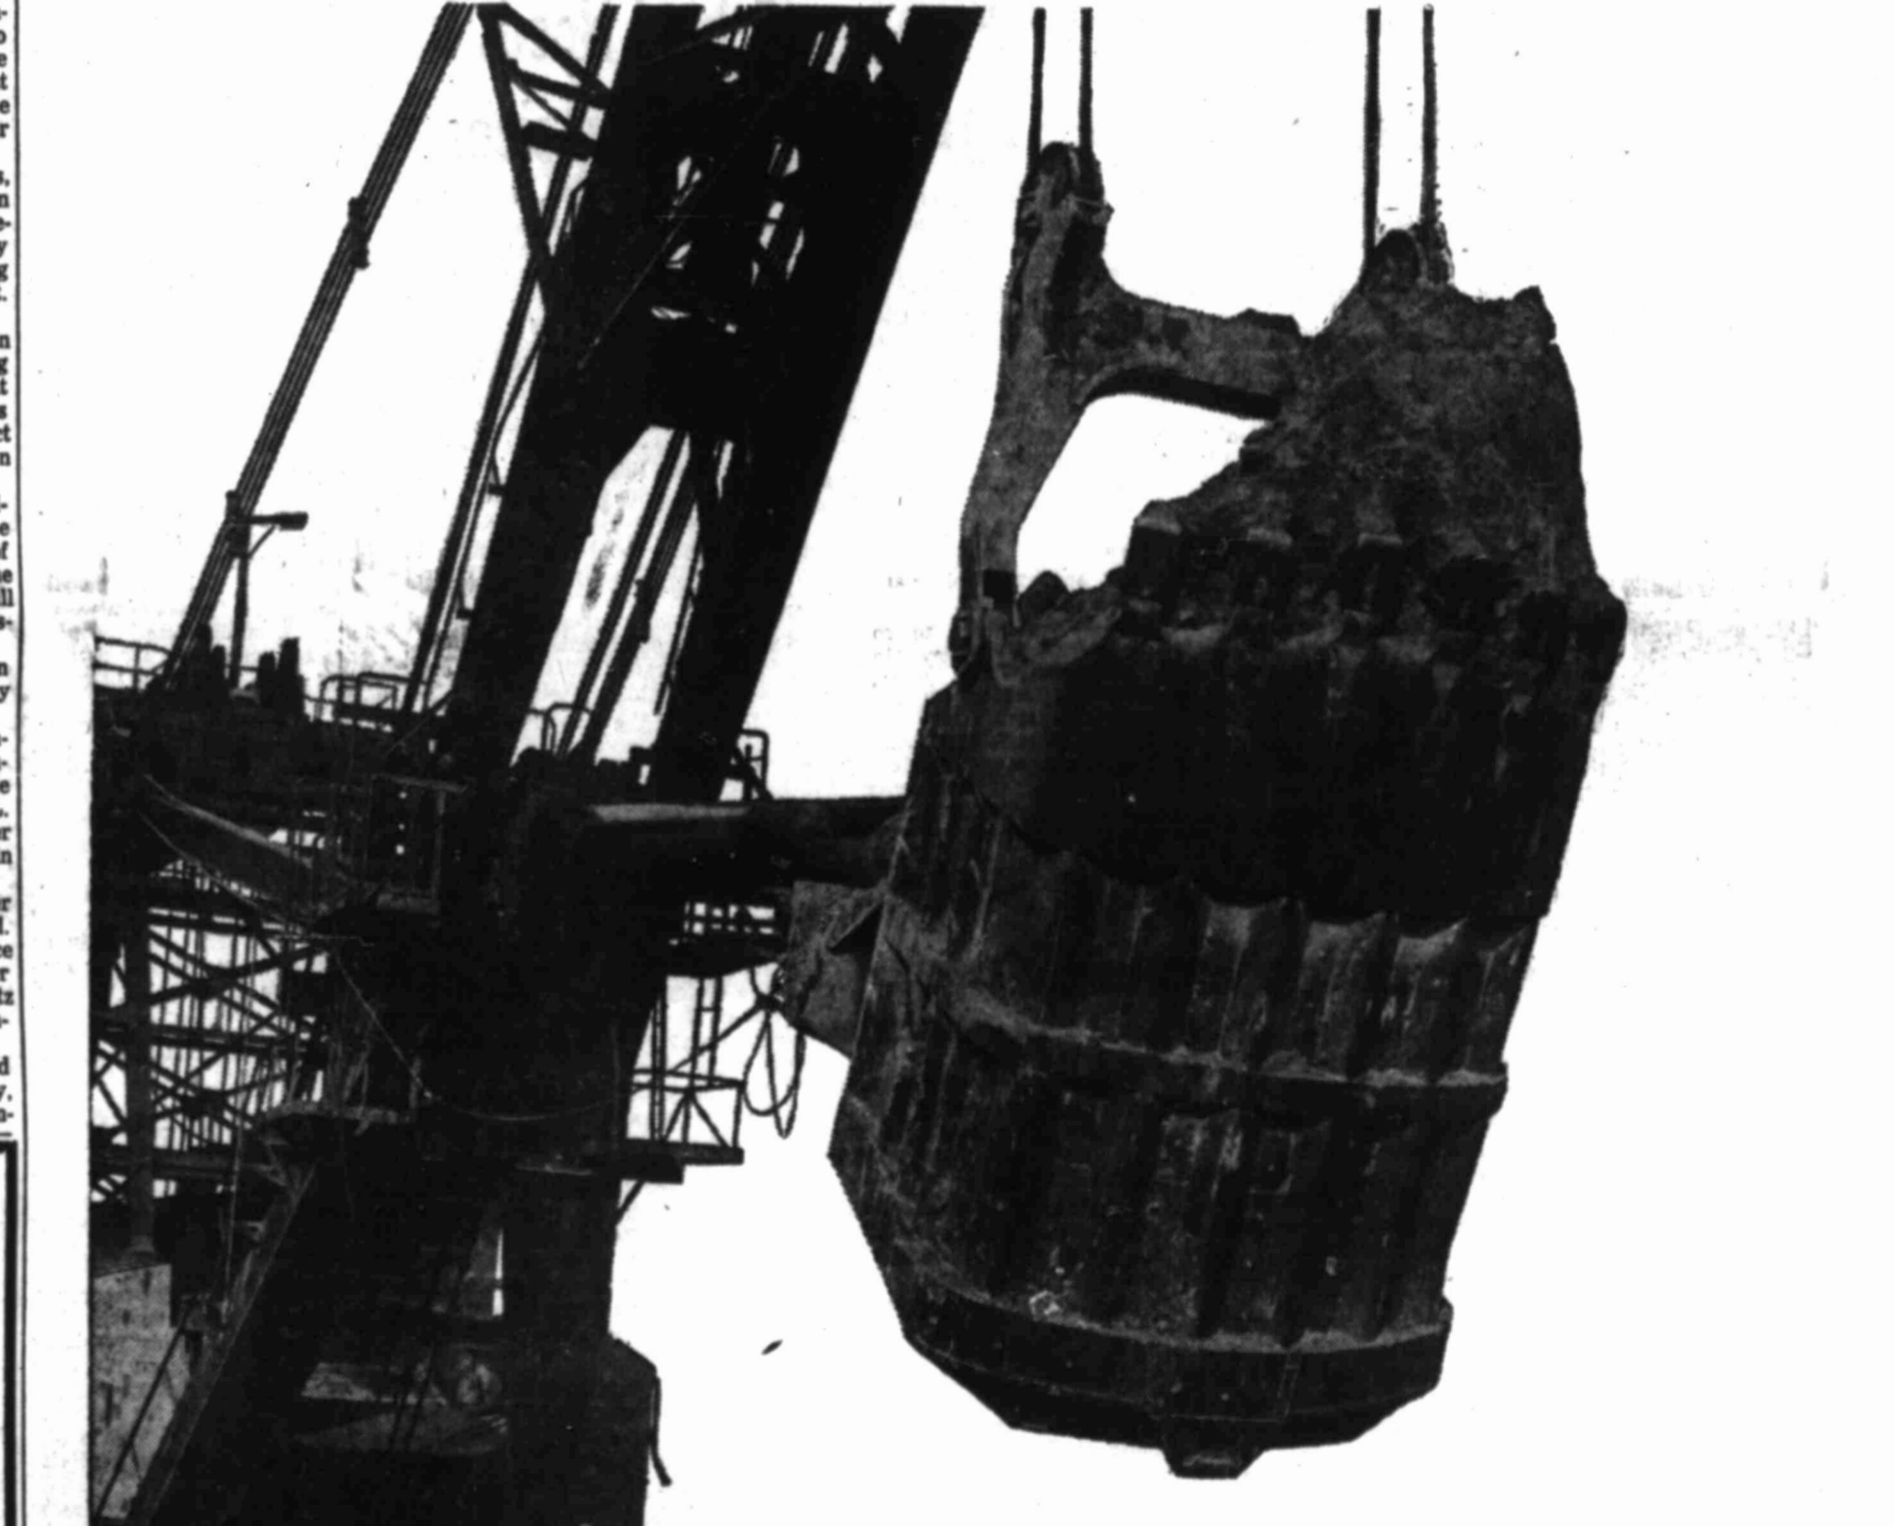

Martin eulogized Jesse H. Jones, Houston financier and publisher and former secretary of commerce, who was presented a good citizenship award.

Kidnap Slayer Due Execution Tonight

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Arthur Ross Brown, kidnap-slayer of Mrs. Wilma Allen, is scheduled to die shortly after midnight tonight in Missouri's gas chamber.

Mrs. Allen, 34-year-old wife of a Kansas City automobile dealer, was kidnaped during a shopping trip, raped and shot to death by Brown last August.

When he reached prison here last week, the 30-year-old Brown was quoted as saying he thought death was the best way out of his "crime-studded life."

It takes a giant to move mountains of merchandise, too. In the world of selling there is a giant who lives in every town—the newspaper.

Nothing develops the rich ore of responsive customers like the newspaper because:

1. Over 56,000,000 newspapers are sold every day.
2. Over 88% of U. S. homes received a newspaper yesterday.*
3. 64% of men and 73% of women read the general news pages with advertising.†

More and more, retailers, wholesalers and distributors are exploiting people's daily habit of newspaper reading by advertising in newspapers regularly.

Man Behind Case Money Offer Is Misty Figure

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23 (AP)—Howard Keck, president of Superior Oil Co., named as the man behind the money in the Case investigation, is almost as misty a figure at home as he is in Washington.

Keck, 43, millionaire son of one of the roughest riders in the rugged independent oil game, seems regarded as something of a shadow by his colleagues.

To most he is far better known as the man who owned the car the late Billy Vukovich drove to victory in the 1953 and 1954 Indianapolis Speedway races.

"Howard—we call him Bud—always was fond of speed—fast cars, planes and the like," an old acquaintance said recently.

The executive refused an interview, saying Senate investigators had advised him to keep quiet until the matter of the alleged $2,500 donation to Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) is settled.

Keck has told a Senate committee he didn't know his money was being offered by an attorney to Case's campaign fund at the height of the fight over the vetoed Natural Gas Bill.

President Eisenhower, vetoing the measure, hit the "arrogance" and "highly questionable activities" of some of its supporters.

Superior, one of the nation's sturdiest oil and gas producers, operates in 17 states and had plans for doubling its natural gas output this year.

The Case investigation, Keck's associates say, marks the first time the blond, bespectacled son has emerged from behind the dominating silhouette of his father, William (Old Bill) Keck. While neither the father, who is Superior's chairman, nor the son is discussing the controversy—or anything else publicly, for that matter—colleagues put together these pieces of background: Old Bill built Superior into something more than a minor power after its 1936 consolidation with Limited Oil Co.

In 1937, after resting on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, the shares sold at $25. Superior sells—when it sells—at $1,100 a share—today a return of 44 to 1 for original investors.

The Keck family owns or controls 52 per cent—or 243 million dollars worth—of 425,000 shares of stock.

Howard became president three years ago after father Keck reformed elder son William Jr., his first choice, after a squabble which insiders say shook the push Superior offices. William Jr. is now an independent producer.

Under Howard, the company has prospered although net income last year was down to $3,395,446, compared with $10,360,388 in 1954. The company said it put a new high of 28 million into development, however.

In its latest stockholders report, Superior stressed that "several gas properties in southern Louisiana will be connected for delivery to major gas purchasers in the near future."

By June, it estimated daily production would be 445 million cubic feet, about double the 1955 output. This was expected to boost the company's gross income by about 21 million annually—more than 25 per cent.

The report was made before the president's veto.

Howard Keck joined the company as a youth, bypassing college to learn the oil business, literally from below the ground up. In 1950 he married a cress Elizabeth Brown. They have three children. Keck has a $100,000 yacht and occasionally flies his own plane. He may not be as big and tough as Old Bill, but field hands say Howard made quite an impression when he gave Superior foremen a fleet of Cadillacs. He had numbers painted on the tops and then proceeded to fly over the fields, checking on their whereabouts.

He shuttles between Los Angeles and Houston, supervising operations. Superior's major holdings are in California, Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

As for politics, the chances are that the Kecks—father and son—won't be able to refrain, intimates predict.

Keck Sr., on the conservative side, frequently opposed former Gov. Warren, now chief justice of the United States, between 1944 and 1952. In 1954, he made a company plane available to Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) for a speaking tour.

Both are expected to be more outspoken this year against a proposed state oil conservation measure which is being backed mainly by the major companies. Old Bill Keck led the successful fight against two previous conservation bills. Nearing 70, he's gearing up to do it again, observers say, with or without Howard's help.

Aide Knows Nothing About Ike Decision

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's press secretary says that as far as he himself knows, the chief executive has passed word to no one on whether he will seek re-election.

James C. Hagerty made that statement to newsmen late yesterday in breaking silence for the first time to discuss some aspects of the big question: Will Eisenhower run again?

Hagerty did not come anywhere close to answering the question. For that matter, a literal interpretation of his own statement—that Eisenhower has passed word to no one—would mean Hagerty doesn't know the answer for sure anyway.

But he did deny a published report that the president's chief and W. Hall, chairman of the Republican leaders Eisenhower had decided to bid for re-election and would say so publicly next week.

"I asked Sherman about that and he said he never made any such statement," Hagerty said in reply to newsmen's inquiries.

The Detroit News, in a dispatch from its Washington bureau, said yesterday that Adams and Leonard J. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, had informed party leaders the Presdent would announce for re-election next week.

Hagerty said he had not asked Hall about the matter. But Hall said in Washington when asked about the report: "It's news to me."

To a question whether he still believes Eisenhower will run, Hall did reply, "I certainly do." He has been predicting for weeks the President will bid for another term if he decides he is physically able.

Until yesterday Hagerty had refused to discuss any aspect of the second term question. He had said "no comment" scores of times. He surprised reporters prepared to argue with him when he readily agreed yesterday that they were entitled to know it, if any White House official such as Adams was passing word that Eisenhower would run again.

Many times earlier Hagerty had said that once the President made up his mind, the decision would be announced as soon as possible. Eisenhower himself also has promised that.

So Hagerty said he had checked by telephone with Adams, who was in Washington, and that Adams denied passing any word. Eisenhower has been vacationing here since Feb. 15 at the plantation home of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. After a week of seclusion with the President, Humphrey said Tuesday night that he had "no idea" whether Eisenhower would run again.

Rebel
Major Haroldo Veloso is leader of Brazil's current revolution — one of the strangest in the history of the world. With 30 men from the Air Force garrison at Santarem, Veloso seized control of the Amazon River town and cut off all air and river traffic from the coast to the interior.

Air Power Gone, Rebel Leader Flees

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—His air power reduced to one C47, the leader of Brazil's sputtering jungle revolt was reported fleeing today. Word spread that the beleaguered Amazon River town of Santarem was back in loyal hands.

Air Force officials said the sudden break came after government planes, in their first blow of the 13-day revolt, strafed the rebel-held airport at Santarem.

The air force announcement said the rebel leader, Maj. Haroldo Veloso, fled to unknown parts and that loyal air and ground troops he had held prisoner retook the city of 15,000 persons.

The government said its planes destroyed on the ground a Beechcraft trainer reportedly loaded with bombs for an attack on a troop ship heading up the Amazon.

Veloso had fled in this plane from Rio de Janeiro Feb. 11 to launch his revolt. Authorities said the straying left Veloso with only a C47 transport in his "air force."

Many of Santarem's residents were reported pouring out of the city as government forces advanced. It was not yet known whether Veloso's small rebel band, said to include three dissident air force officers and about 30 men, had fled with him.

The steamer President Vargas meanwhile moved toward Santarem with troops, anti-aircraft weapons and small cannon. The troops had orders to take the city without bloodshed if possible, otherwise "at any cost."

Two Escapees Are Returned

EDINBURG (AP)—Two Milwaukee brothers who escaped the Laredo jail Friday were brought to the Edinburg jail yesterday by Mexican officials.

Spiro and Michael Karabelas were caught by Mexican police after they attempted to rob an apartment in Monterrey Monday. The brothers were among the seven who escaped. Four were recaptured the next day.

James Belton, a Negro from New York, was still at large. Belton was under 99-year sentence for armed robbery.

The jailer, Robert Hernandez, 35, was indicted on charges of helping the escape. He was charged with smuggling hacksaw blades to the prisoners.

The Karabelas brothers, 26 and 31, were awaiting sentence at Laredo on kidnaping charges. They are wanted in Los Angeles in the shooting of a policeman.

Phares Brothers Freed On Bond

PLAINVIEW (AP)—Sheriff Ted Andrews said residents of neighboring Lamb County made bond for C. W. and Jack Phares yesterday.

The brothers had been held in the Plainview jail.

C. W. Phares, charged with murder in the disappearance of his wife, was released on $12,500 bond. He was arrested in Oklahoma Jan. 28.

Mrs. C. W. Phares, 21, an expectant mother, disappeared from their farm home near Hale Center May 4. Officers have made extensive searches of Hale and Lamb counties but her body has not been found.

Jack Phares, charged with perjury, was released on $1,500 bond. He was arrested Feb. 7.

$100 Down, $37 Per Month Gets Banks Addition Home

Two-bedroom homes, all in first-class condition, are being offered here for $100 down and about $37 per month.

Fourteen of the houses are available. They are located in the Banks Addition in the northwest part of the city. Purchasers are required to live in the homes.

The houses were on the rental market for a time, at $50 per month. They were constructed about four years ago by G&H Construction Company.

The buildings subsequently were taken over by the Federal Housing Administration, which removed them from the rental market because few were being rented. The Patterson Insurance Agency, 111 E. 2nd, is the FHA broker for sale of the homes.

The FHA is offering the houses for $5,000 and all the buildings are put in first-class condition before they are sold. Five have been sold already, and 14 remain on the market.

A down payment of $100 is required and the purchaser must put up about $75 in addition to this to cover closing costs, a year's interest and taxes. The monthly payments of $37 include taxes, insurance, interest and a small reduction of the principal. Interest rate is 4 1/2 per cent.

Testimony Resumes In Murder Trial At Crystal City

CRYSTAL CITY (AP)—Testimony continued today in the murder trial of Ina Thrasher, charged as a result of a fatal argument at a Camp Wood dance hall.

Miss Thrasher, in her late 20s, is charged with murder in the Jan. 30, 1955 death of Robert Hamrick. R. A. Chapin is also charged with murder in Hamrick's death.

The case was moved here from Real County.

Hamrick was killed in a fight after a dance in Camp Wood. Two companions testified that Chapin and Hamrick fought after the dance and that Miss Thrasher told the companions to stay out of the fight.

The witnesses testified Miss Thrasher had something in her hand and that she told them she had a gun. Camp Wood is a small town north of Uvalde.

The nation's weather showed only minor changes today, with light rain, snow and cloudy skies in most areas. No severe cold or storms were reported.

Heaviest precipitation in the past 24 hours was along the Pacific Coast and Idaho with falls measuring around 2 inches at Mt. Hamilton along the central California coast.

Light snow continued in most of the Dakotas and rain or snow hit sections of the lower Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and Arkansas and Tennessee.

Skies were cloudy over the rest of the country except along the Atlantic coastal states where clear weather prevailed.

Temperatures moderated in the early morning readings well above zero.

Betty Field, often called the actor's actress, stresses simplicity in her beauty routine. Betty is one of the stars in Columbia's "Picnic."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Some People Are Not The Type For 'Tricks'

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Betty Field, wife of Pulitzer Prize playwright Elmer Rice, has often been called the actor's actress.
"She throws herself so completely into a part," a famous Hollywood director once commented, "that she confuses her fans with her versatility. They can't imagine what the real Betty is like."
I drove out to her seaside cottage hoping to find out. Betty met me in an immaculate slacks outfit, wearing a big straw hat.
"I have to keep my hair out of the sun," she explained. "They turned me into a strawberry blonde to match Kim Novak."
"Betty plays Kim's mother in 'Picnic.'"
"I don't have to keep my hair," Betty moaned. "I get so angry with myself. It would save so much time if I were clever with my hair like some of my friends are. They even turn out beautiful ornaments."
"I don't believe much in adornment for myself. I'm not the type. I recall in my early days in the theater the famous critic Percy Hammond remarked that I didn't look like an actress."
"And when Mainbocher was dressing me he was more interested in finding a suitable style for me than a striking one. He is wonderful. I remember after working with me he said, 'Always keep yourself simple—you are not the type for tricks.'"
Betty commented about how imitative children are.
"I never realized my posture faults until I noticed them in my eleven-year-old daughter," Betty said. "I sent her to dancing school and it was extraordinary how much it helped her."
Betty served tea and some tempting cookies. "Don't you need one from the plate."
"No, not since I've cut down on salt. I used to pour salt on all my food and then I found out that it causes water retention which increases your weight."
"I don't find it hard to resist rich foods," she continued. "Not that I don't like the taste of them but they don't agree with me. I feel much better when I stick to a simple diet. I think our system will tell us what we need if we listen. I remember that I hated orange juice as a child and my mother forced me to drink it. Later I was told that I was too alkaline and that oranges should be eliminated from my diet."
Our conversation was punctuated by the roar of the surf and I remarked how pleasant it must be to live by the sea.
"I sleep so well here," Betty said in parting. "I shall have to try to remember the sound of the surf when I get back to the city."

Brannan Feels Problem Of Farm Prices 'Worse'

By GORDON G. GAUSS
DENVER, Feb. 23 (AP)—Behind a desk sits a bald, soft spoken attorney who feels very close to the hotly debated question of what to do about farm prices.

He is Charles F. Brannan, and not very long ago the farm problem was his own. He was Ezra Taft Benson's predecessor as secretary of agriculture.

Three years after completing a term which was perhaps just as controversial as that of Benson has been, Brannan feels the problem of farm prices is getting worse instead of better.

He contends that the Eisenhower administration has no chance now of winning the agricultural vote in 1956 and that administration officials have decided "they can ignore the farm vote."

Brannan maintains that so far as the farm vote is concerned, the current administration passed the point of no return between last Sept. 15 and Oct. 1 "when hog prices started down and they did nothing about it."

"Lots of farmers are going to be hurt in the Midwest by spring," says the man who headed the Department of Agriculture for 4½ years and gave his name to the controversial Brannan farm plan. "The cattlemen felt it first, the dairymen felt it next and then the feed grain producer and finally the wheat producer."

Brannan, now 52 and graying at the temples, discusses his Cabinet days and the farm problem in general with the detached manner of a college professor.

He insists he has no yearning to get into politics or return to Washington, where Republicans and many Democrats in Congress once attacked his farm proposals as "socialistic" and too costly.

Whatever Brannan's own feelings may be, a lot of Colorado Democrats want him to run next fall for the Senate seat now held by veteran Republican Eugene D. Millikin.

Brannan has never sought elective office. Born and educated in Denver, he practiced law here until 1935, when he took a $300-a-month job as assistant regional attorney for the Federal Resettlement Administration.

In 1944, he moved to Washington as assistant administrator of the Farm Security Administration and later in the same year was appointed by President Roosevelt as assistant secretary of agriculture.

He was named secretary by President Truman on June 2, 1948, and remained in the Cabinet until Truman left the presidency.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A Texas professor said today the nation's high schools now have thousands of pupils "who would have flunked out of grade school a few years ago."

This situation is a result of the great increase in the percentage of youngsters attending high schools, said Dr. J. G. Umstatt, and because society "asks us to serve all children and youth from the moron to the genius."

What's more, said Umstatt, professor of secondary education at the University of Texas: "Momma and Papa American want Johnnie passed each year and sometimes Papa, or even Momma, is on the school board or a friend of the board president; so Johnnie is passed."

In a prepared talk on the final day of the annual convention of the American Assn. of School Administrators, Umstatt said educators believe the youngster will get more by passing than if he "became retarded and hopeless."

"The only American solution is to adjust the (secondary school) program to Johnnie's ability," he added.

Educator Says Schools Pass Practically All

Farm Price Fuss Hits Senate Floor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The battle over flexible vs. rigid farm price supports shifted from committee rooms to the Senate floor today.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) called for a return to higher supports levels as the only means to "put more dollars into the farmers' pockets without delay." But even as he opened debate on the election year farm bill late yesterday, an amendment was offered to continue the present flexible scale.

Voting on this and other controversial provisions of the measure will not start before next week at the earliest.

Ellender pleaded for a final vote

Court Splits On Driver's Appeal

AUSTIN (AP)—The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals has split on whether an arbitration board's decision could nullify the company firing of a bus driver for smoking and speeding.

The majority upheld the right of the arbitration panel to rule that the violations by the driver did not provide just cause for his dismissal.

Justice Raymond Gray, in a sharply worded dissent, said the award in favor of Bryan Couey of Abilene was "contrary to the undisputed evidence, the rules of the company, and compels the company to condone violations of the law."

The majority decision, with Justice Robert Hughes writing the opinion, reversed trial court Judge James Evetts which had set aside the arbitration panel's award.

Hughes said the majority decision in favor of Couey, "reached with considerable doubt," was that the arbitration board was vested by virtue of the contract between the Union and the company "with the same authority and discretion as Arrow possessed with regard to (Couey's) discharge."

Russians Mark Red Army Day

LONDON (AP)—Soviet military leaders marked Red Army Day with calls today for vigilance against "intrigues of aggressive forces" and assertions that Russia has "reliable means" for delivering atomic and hydrogen bombs to any part of the world.

Moscow radio broadcast an article in the Communist party newspaper Pravda by Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky concerning Russia's nuclear punch.

Sokolovsky, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces, declared the Soviet Union "has at its disposal reliable means for sending atomic and hydrogen bombs to any part of the world." He did not say whether he meant airplanes or intercontinental missiles, but he added that the Soviet army now is equipped with "long-distance rockets and guided missiles."

"We speak of this," he said, "not because we want to intimidate anyone but because it is sometimes worthwhile to remind those who time and again brandish atomic bombs that in our days one cannot wage war without being subject to retaliation."

Defense Minister Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, in an order of the day, urged the Soviet Union's armed forces to strengthen the nation's defense capacities.

He charged that "aggressive circles of imperialist states continue to pursue a policy of force, of extending aggressive military blocs and accelerating armaments."

Oil Committee Changes Called

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell directed major changes in the functioning of the oil industry's foreign petroleum supply committee today to bring its operations under closer government supervision.

The objective, he said, is to "minimize anti-competitive consequences," described as potentially present in the previous setup.

The committee was created under the Defense Production Act of 1950, after the shutdown of the Iranian oil industry. Its members are from major American oil companies.

Its function is to cooperate with Office of Defense Mobilization and the Interior Department to assure that nations friendly to the United States receive an adequate oil supply. Its work is immune from anti-trust prosecution, so long as its procedures have the attorney general's approval.

Woman Saved By Mate's Hair Grip

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A man grabbed his wife by her hair as she slipped over a 300-foot cliff today and held on for five minutes until police arrived to help pull her to safety.

The husband told the officers the 35-year-old woman, yelling hysterically, dashed from their home and tried to jump over the cliff at the entrance to Sydney Harbor.

A lunacy court ordered the woman held for observation. Police withheld names.

What A Whale Of A Fish Story

PORTUGUESE BEND, Calif. (AP)—Southern California, headquarters for odd attractions, today has a new one to bedazzle the tourists: a whale in a fish bowl.

Furthermore, it's a girl whale with a beak. And she has an unlikely name for a budding monster: Martha Washington.

This may sound like a fish story. But the guys who caught and tanned the rare young stray from polar waters have bruises to prove that she's a whale for sure.

The saga of the sea started Tuesday when Al Hansen, a skin diver, spotted the mammal beached in a kelp bed at offshore Santa Catalina Island. He and four companions towed her to a harbor on the island, tied a rope to the tail, then wrestled for seven hours to get her loaded into a big skiff for ferrying yesterday to Marineland of the Pacific, a big oceanarium at the Los Angeles County Beach community.

At the Marineland dock it took 10 men and two cranes to transfer Martha to a tank.

Curator Kenneth Norris of Marineland identified the mammal as a rare Curvier's beaked whale, a native of North Atlantic polar waters. They occasionally are found in the Northern Pacific, but this is the first ever caught south of Canada. The "beak," incidentally, actually is an extended lower jaw.

Martha is a youngster — 4 or 5 years old, 1,200 pounds, 14 feet long. Beaked whales grow to 28 feet, and that could be a problem for a whale in a tank.

The curator says his new star attraction is the only whale in captivity in this country, if not the world.

"We haven't fed it yet, but it should eat squid and mackerel," he said. "Since it beached itself we thought it may have been sick so we gave it a massive dose of penicillin, plus some vitamins to try to induce it to feed."

Hattie Carnegie Dies At Age 70

NEW YORK (AP)—Hattie Carnegie, who left school at 11 to work as a messenger girl and became one of the greatest in the fashion world, died yesterday at the age of 70.

Miss Carnegie came to this country from Vienna with her family early in the century. Her father died shortly afterward and she went to work in Macy's department store.

Later she and a seamstress friend, Rose Roth, opened a dress shop on East 10th Street in 1908. When death came at her fashionable Fifth Avenue home she was operating a 6½-million-dollar-a-year business employing more than 1,000 persons.

Her family name was Kanengiser. She changed it to Carnegie in admiration of the late steel magnate and philanthropist Andrew Carnegie.

She was not only a top designer of women's hats and dresses but controlled wholesale garment businesses and a cosmetics firm.

A small lady with boundless energy, she pioneered in adapting Parisian custom styles to American ready-to-wear clothing and hats.

Nevada Gets Table Limit

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Fearful that too many tables might spoil the pot, the State of Nevada has adopted a new code permitting it to limit the number of gambling licenses.

The code, adopted by the State Tax Commission and the Gaming Control Board, put into writing the rules for governing Nevada's legal gambling industry.

Members of the agencies said the troubled Las Vegas situation, with some hotels and casinos closing while more are being built, shows the necessity for the rules.

Theatre Group Meets Tonight

A general meeting of the Big Spring Civic Theatre will be held this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Justice Courtroom at the courthouse. Plans for the forthcoming three-act play and the problem of financing are to be discussed.

It is important that all members attend the meeting, President Dewey Magee said. He asked that the board of directors meet at 7 p.m. Magee said that the Webb AFB Hospital has requested that the three one-act plays be presented for the patients there.

The three current plays were produced for the VA and State hospitals. The membership will probably be asked to vote on the advisability of giving the plays for the base hospital.

Finances will be the major problem of the directors. Magee said the group will have to plan some way to raise money for the expenses involved in producing forthcoming plays. A play library and a wardrobe are other items that will cost the group considerable money.

Magee said the group had not decided on dues for the membership thus far, but that does may have to be initiated.

All persons interested in "little theatre" work are invited to tonight's meeting, Magee said. We still need persons who like to act, design costumes and props, and plan make-up, he added.

Mediation Due In Plane Firm Strike

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP)—The strike impasse at the Republic Aviation Corp. today headed into a mediation session and into a court hearing on a company move for an injunction to curb pickets.

Meanwhile, Gov. Averell Harriman withheld action on a Long Island police chief's plea for National Guardsmen, state troopers "or anything so we can maintain order here."

Skirmishing on picket lines since Monday has led to arrest of 21 persons—practically all pickets—on charges of assault or disorderly conduct. All were released on bail. Thirty people have been main plant here.

The International Assn. of Machinists called out 120 workers Saturday midnight at the company's four Long Island plants in a wage dispute, halting production of jet planes and guided missiles for the U.S. government.

The plea to Harriman today said was made Tuesday night by Police Chief Percy K. Hempstead of Babylon, whose 30-man force has borne the brunt of keeping order at the main Republic plant. Sheriff's deputies also have aided.

Identity Of Savagely Beaten Little Boy Remains Mystery

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP)—The identity of a savagely beaten little boy found abandoned here remained a mystery today after apparent collapse of a theory that he might be a 3-year-old boy kidnaped from a New York City suburb.

The father of Steve Damman, kidnaped four months ago, said last night the boy found here is not his missing son.

Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, head of Nassau County, N.Y., detectives, said today he is "in great deal of doubt" that the boy found whimpering outside a service station here before dawn Monday is the Damman child.

Pinnell told a newsman that on the basis of present information from here and from the Damman child's father he has no intention of sending any detective here for a further check.

After examining a police photo of the boy, A.I.C. Jerry Damman said he is at his home in East Meadow, N.Y.

The situation at the plant was three arrests and one person injured. Picket lines were thin because Washington's Birthday is a plant holiday.

About 7,000 Republic employees are not involved in the strike. They include engineers, scientists, supervisors and office workers.

The union was called upon to show cause in the State Supreme Court why it should not be restrained from "illegal picketing" as alleged by the company. The company seeks an injunction limiting the number of pickets and requiring them to grant entry to non-strikers.

Union representatives and federal mediators were scheduled to meet, but without company representation at least at the start. State mediation efforts are being held in abeyance pending outcome of federal efforts.

The union is seeking a 19½-cent-a-hour pay raise, including wages, welfare benefits, vacations and night shift improvements. The company has offered 5 cents. The union puts the present average wage at $1.97 an hour. The company says it is $2.23 an hour.

He said the unknown child had certain similarities to Steven, who vanished from in front of a supermarket in East Meadow Oct. 31, 1955, but that the child did not appear to be his. He said the boy found had only three teeth, while his son had 22. There were other discrepancies, he said.

The child found here was taken to Tucumcari General Hospital. There, officers said, they found his nose recently had been broken and badly set, he was covered with bruises from a severe beating around the head and bore a still-unhealed burn on his right palm.

Asked where he got a scar on his arm, he told nurses, "Daddy hit me." But he was still incoherent and didn't know his name. He is to be placed in a foster home in Tucumcari sometime today.

Hospital authorities said he is from 3 to 5 years old.

Money Trouble At Root Of Kidnaping

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Eugene C. Hurst, 28, had less than $4 in his pockets when he abducted a pretty housewife in a plot to ransom her, Dist. Atty. Wesley C. Kettelkamp said today.

Of two bills in his possession, one was a $2 bill which he apparently kept as a good luck piece, Kettelkamp said.

Three hours after the husky Grand Junction, Colo., gunman kidnaped Mrs. Nancy Jackson, 27, Tuesday night, he was captured and beaten by the woman's husband and two other men on a prairie 27 miles west of here.

Hurst also was wounded in the leg by a wild shot during the melee. He remained under armed guard at St. Mary's Hospital today.

The district attorney said no charges had been filed.

"We are still gathering statements and evidence to compile in form for filing of a kidnaping charge, probably later this afternoon or Friday," Kettelkamp said.

He said Police Chief Roy Harper obtained a signed confession from Hurst yesterday.

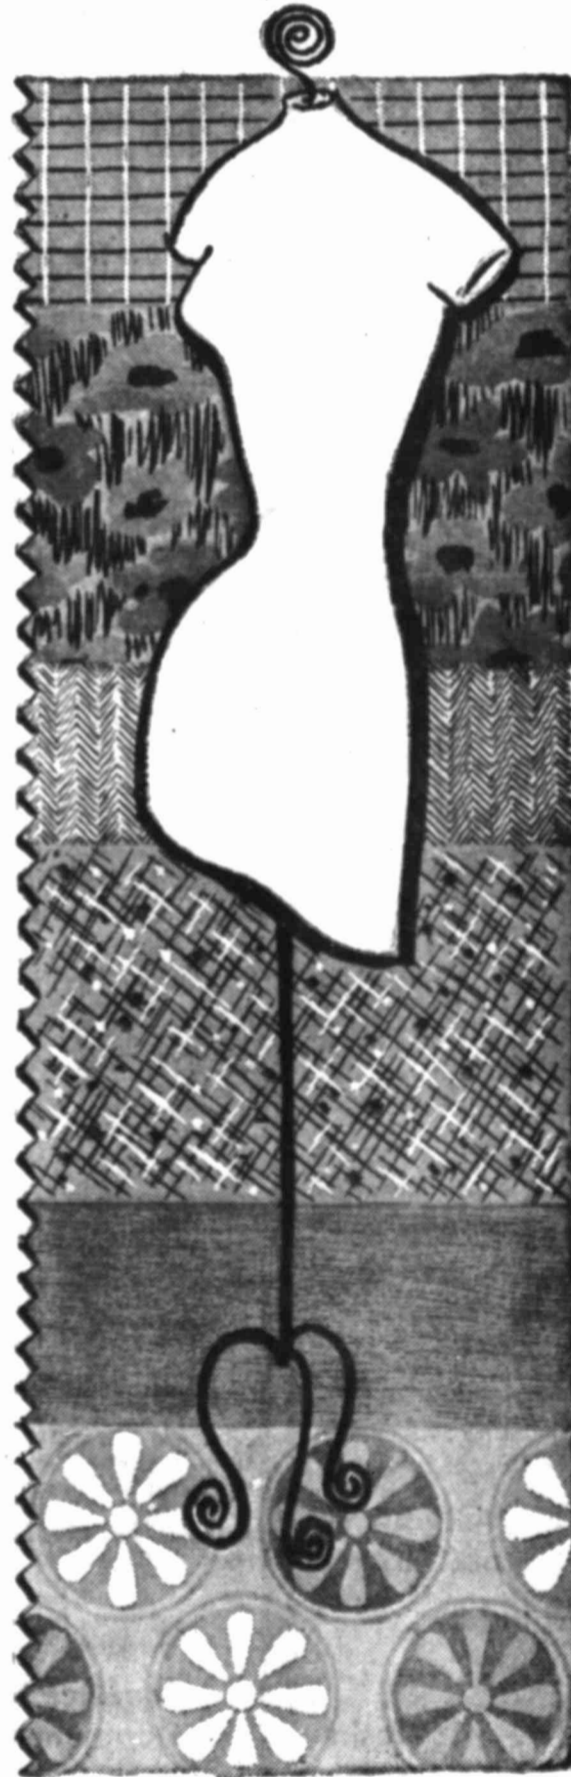

"Hurst realized he'd made a very foolish mistake," Kettelkamp said. "He evidenced confusion, but was quite talkative and volunteered information quite freely."

Band Master Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Edwin Frank Goldman, 78, whose name had been identified with free open air band concerts for nearly 40 years, died yesterday. He wrote more than 100 marches, including "On the Mall," which ranks second in popularity to John Philip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Peruvian Troops Poised For Attack On Rebel Units

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Government troops were reported poised today at an unnamed Amazon River port within striking distance of the rebel-held city of Iquitos.

Sources close to President Manuel Odría said a military airlift has been massing troops and supplies at the port.

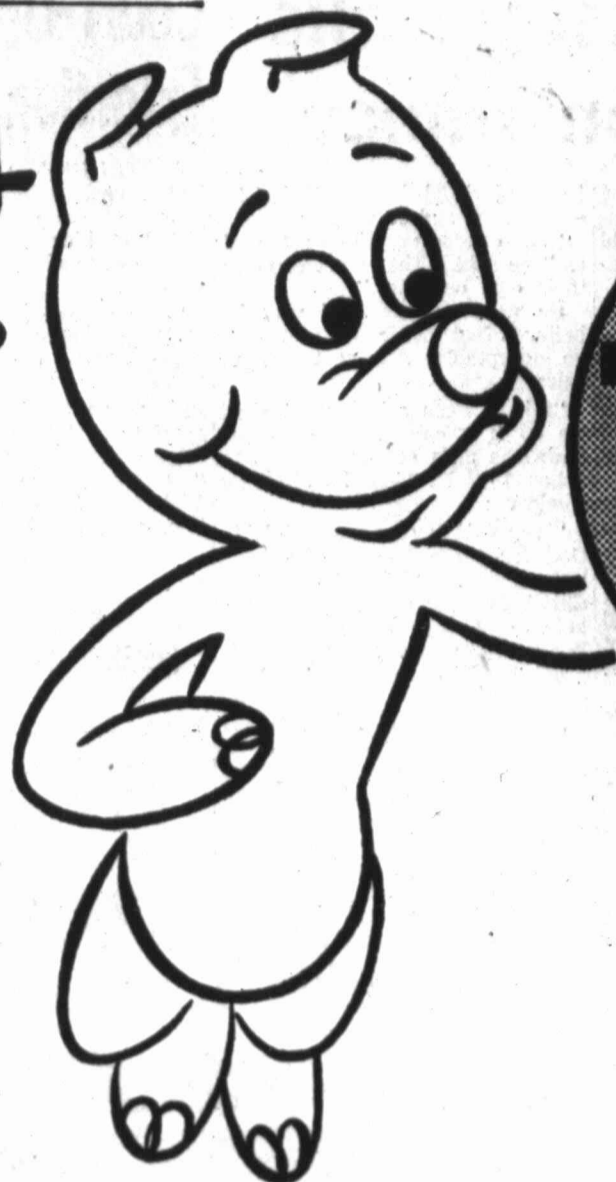

Judge Prefers To Believe Wife

LEICESTER, EKNGLAND (AP)—Harold Frankel told a divorce court he had to take lessons in jujitsu to defend himself against attacks by his wife Eileen.

Frankel weighs 204 pounds, his wife 119. The judge said he preferred Mrs. Frankel's story—that Frankel practiced jujitsu holds on her to the point of cruelty. She was granted a divorce decree and custody of their child.

Abilene Editor Due Honors From City

By TIM PARKER
The Associated Press

Frank Grimes of Abilene is an unlikely creature in the same way Abraham Lincoln was unlikely, nor does the comparison stop there.

Tall and lean as Old Abe himself, he moves with the deliberate care of a whooping crane worrying about broken glass under the water. When he changes from a sitting to a standing position, he sort of unfolds.

Grimes is editor of the Abilene Reporter-News. For 40 years he has been identified with every progressive move in Abilene.

The people of Abilene know that, and will take official cognizance of it this spring. But his homelike treasure him most for his advice on pumpkin pie, weather forecasting, women in shorts and other whimsy.

Again and again on the editorial pages, he lambasts "pumpkin pie," which he says tastes like axle grease. After one especially hampering editorial, a downtown eating place displayed the editorial on the pie counter and ran a special on pumpkin pie. Grimes' next day editorial admitted they sold all their pumpkin pie.

Unhappy with the brand of weather turned out by the local Weather Bureau, Grimes took up forecasting in his editorials. This came to a sudden end, unexplained until an editorial which began: "Our readers may have noticed a sensational absence of weather predictions in this column in the last 10 days or two weeks." He went on to admit that forecasting drought-breaking rains had produced no rain.

His editorial on women in shorts was entitled "The Lost Art of Contentment."

"Few women look alluring in shorts or tight breeches," he averred. "By coming practically all the way out they leave little to the imagination, but they do destroy the mystery and the promise of illusion, which after all is the highest development of art."

Newspapers mark their birthdays by changing the "Volume Number" at the top of page one. But they sometimes forget. Grimes mentioned editorially in 1954 that he never could remember to remind someone to change it on June 17, the proper date. He casually offered $5 to the first person to remind him June 17, 1955.

Then he forgot about it — until phone calls began coming when June 17, 1955, was one minute old. All that day the calls came. "Our switchboard operator offered to accept them for us," Grimes told his readers, "but we declined on the ground that if people were kind enough to call us we'd take the calls until our arm dropped off."

The other day he wanted to use the phrase "jumped on the issue like a — on a junebug" but couldn't remember what it was that jumped on the junebug. He mentioned his problem to the readers. He got scores of answers, including ducks and roosters, and set off an awful argument among Reporter-News subscribers.

Grimes editorialized roundly on the need for city planning and zoning that he wound up, as Chamber of Commerce president, putting his own program into effect. He preaches incessantly on Abilene's need for a secure source of water. As a result, every water bond issue passes handsomely. Soil conservation and more support for Abilene's three colleges are favorite subjects.

So far, he's had less success with a longtime goal — to get the Texas & Pacific to bury his downtown railroad tracks. But he hasn't quit. Grimes, who quit school in the eighth grade in his native Bell County but was awarded an honorary degree by McMurry College a few years ago, figures he has written about 15 million words.

Abilene celebrates its diamond anniversary April 8-14. The third day — Tuesday, April 10 — will be "Abilene Industrial and Frank Grimes Day."

Long And Short

The tallest man in Britain's Royal Navy, 6-foot, 8-inch Seaman Geoffrey Newson, 18, teams up with his service's shortest woman, W.R.N. Audrey Green, 18, to give the long and short at it at Victoria Barracks in Portsmouth. Newson, from Priory Hill, Dover, had to be fitted with a special uniform—including size 15 shoes. Wren Green, of Ballycastle, Ireland, also had to have a uniform tailored to fit her 4 feet, 9 inches.

Flier Cuts Way Out With Knife

CHARLESTOWN, R. I. (AP) — Using his regulation hunting knife, Navy Lt. Daniel M. Reddy, 28, of Sunbury, Pa., hacked his way out of his burning plane yesterday after a crash at an auxiliary landing field. He escaped without apparent injury but was held overnight at the Quonset Point Infirmary for observation.

4 Men Jailed In Explosion At Warehouse

AUSTIN (AP) — Four men have been arrested by Texas Rangers on charges resulting from the August, 1954 bombing of the Austin Fireproof Warehouse Co.

An officer and a former officer of the AFL Teamsters Union were among those arrested.

Jailed here were Raymond Shafer, 32, business manager of Local 657 of the union and Eddie Hass, 34, former business agent for the local.

William Springer and Buck Owens, identified as union members, were arrested in San Antonio. The Department of Public Safety said Shafer and Hass were charged with "aiding, abetting, conspiring and causing another to possess a bomb" and with accomplice to arson.

Owens and Springer were charged with possession of a bomb and arson.

The DPS said Shafer and Hass had also been charged by the San Antonio grand jury with attempted arson and possession of a bomb in connection with an explosion about a year ago at offices of Alamo Motor Freight in San Antonio.

Shafer, of Dallas, was arrested in Crystal City and Hass, formerly of San Antonio, was arrested at his home in Dallas.

The dynamite bombing of the storage and moving company occurred as it was being picketed by the teamsters after the firm refused to recognize the union as bargaining agent for its drivers and helpers.

Six days after the explosion, Shafer offered a $500 reward for arrest and conviction of those responsible, asserting he was convinced the union members had nothing to do with it.
