Odessa Mine Firm Faces State Action

ODESSA (U)—The state moved today to shut down a mining corporation it accused of "salting" its stock. The Ector County Grand Jury studied criminal charges against the firm's officers. Judge Paul McCollum, at the request of the attorney general and secretary of state, signed a temporary order prohibiting the operation of Texas Empire Minerals, Inc. and its affiliates. Immediately after the court action, the Ector County grand jury convened to investigate allegations of fraud and stock sale violations made against the corporation in the state petition. Dist. Atty. Warren Burnett said almost 40 witnesses including the corporation officers, securities salesmen and stockholders have been subpoenaed. The state's petition said E. F. Matthews, a director and sales manager of the Texas Empire, "salted" or in the words of the petition "made false representations about the stock in selling it. 'Fraudulent efforts to entrap the public met with moderate success,' the state said. Assistant Atty. Gen. Elbert Morrow and deputy state securities Commissioner E. J. Castille estimated 600 persons in the West Texas area have bought the stock. The state investigators have not been able to determine the total invested by stockholders. The figure will probably be between $500,000 and $1,000,000, they said. The price of the stock ranged from $1 to $15 per share. The state said a report by the company's certified public accountant showed $21,243 shares were issued by Nov. 30. The company was chartered May 20, 1955 and was only authorized to issue 30,000 shares of stock, the petition said. The state explained that the excess shares were created when directors voted to increase the stock from 300,000 to 900,000. No date was given.

Southern Solon Asks Probe Of Negro Group

WASHINGTON (U)—Investigation of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) was proposed in the House yesterday by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark.). Several other Southern congressmen joined him in the proposal and went on to criticize the Supreme Court's decision that segregation of white and Negro children in schools is unconstitutional. Gathings called for a "full and complete" investigation of the NAACP, centering on the organization's funds and what it does with them. "We have nothing to conceal, either as to the officers, the objectives, the income or the expenditures of the NAACP," said Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary. "There is no mystery about what we seek or how we operate." Gathings said the House Committee on Un-American Activities has cited 78 of the NAACP's total of 177 officers, board members and executive staff members and said "the facts speak for themselves: The record has been made."

Doctor Turns In Good Report On Ike Health Condition May Be 'Safer' Than Ever

This is strictly for the birds, and the hungry guests couldn't wait for the table to be set. A Dutch naval helicopter pours bird food over the frosty Holland landscape to save starving feathered life shut off from natural feeding grounds by the current snow and ice blanket. The flock of wild swans happened to be in the right place at the right time to grab an early snack.

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (U)—President Eisenhower's personal physician said today the President "might be safer" from a health standpoint in serving a second term than he was before his heart attack. The physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, made the statement to newsmen on this fifth month anniversary of the President's attack in Denver last Sept. 24. A reporter asked the doctor whether he feels Eisenhower will run for re-election. "I have no impression about that," Snyder replied. The next question was whether Snyder thought Eisenhower is physically able to run again. A newsman said Snyder gave the impression in Washington last week that he believes the President is able to serve again. "I don't know what anyone can tell on that," Snyder said. "These physical accidents can come out of nowhere and he has no guarantee in trying this thing again that it won't happen again." Snyder made about that same statement in Washington on Feb. 14 at a news conference where Eisenhower's physicians reported on his latest physical examination. At that time Snyder and his medical colleagues said Eisenhower had made a good recovery from his heart attack and appeared fit "for another five to ten years" in a job such as the presidency. "All he can do," Snyder said today, "is trust in God if he goes ahead." He added it "would be the same for a new man"—meaning that any new President always would run the risk of developing ill health. "Even many young men die of heart attack," Snyder went on. Then, referring to Eisenhower, Snyder said "it might be safer for him than it was before." Snyder did not elaborate on that. But he apparently meant that a man who has had a heart attack is much more inclined to watch his health. Also, particularly in Eisenhower's case, the doctors have intensified their watch over his health.

ROME (U)—A new American camera that photographs in darkness may help solve a 1,300-year-old mystery of the shroud of Turin as the linen cloth used to wrap the body of Christ after his crucifixion, a Roman scholar believes. Lorenzo Ferri, sculptor and painter who has studied the shroud for years with encouragement from Pope Pius XII, says the camera "could help lead to a scientific proof of the resurrection of the Lord." The camera, nicknamed "Eva," instead of focusing reflected light like ordinary cameras, gathers heat radiations and wave lengths from various objects. These radiations are focused on a thin film of oil and produce a picture. The Shroud of Turin, a length of cloth, is imprinted with images of a body which believers say was that of Jesus. Ferri's theory is that radiations from Christ's re-vivified body made the impressions on the shroud soaked with the oils used to anoint it. In other words, a kind of photograph might have been made on the shroud just as "Eva" makes photographs. The shroud is kept in the cathedral at Turin. It was photographed in 1898 by Secondo Pia, an attorney. He found on his plate positive images, meaning the images on the shroud were negative. It was photographed again in 1931 and it is with life-size reproductions that Ferri has worked. The images are full length, front and back, of a man's body. The shroud's documented history goes back to 1300. Doubters think the images on it are the work of a medieval artist. They cite an appeal from the bishop of Troyes, France, to Pope Clement VII to halt what the bishop called a scandal connected with the shroud. The bishop said the images had been painted on the cloth. The shroud then was at Lirey in the Troyes diocese.

IN MARYLAND

5 Die, 100 Hurt In Train Wreck

ODENTON, Md. (U)—Seven cars of a passenger train, racing at 80 m.p.h. through the flat countryside between Washington and Baltimore, broke loose last night and overturned. Five persons were killed and almost 100 injured. A Pennsylvania Rail Road spokesman said it was not yet known whether faulty air brakes caused the accident or whether the air brakes went on as a result of the accident. The engineer said the brakes ganged suddenly. The worst mangled car on the New York-bound Embassy was the diner. Apparently it tipped over just as it started to pass one of the heavy steel girders supporting overhead electric cables. The force of the impact literally peeled back the roof of the diner like a sardine lid. The coach broke apart. Dining chairs were tossed 50 to 75 feet away. Scattered stacks of linen napkins were blackened by the tramping back and forth of rescue parties. Ten-year-old Paul Sloane of Baltimore, making the trip from Washington alone, said: "I felt a bumping and heard a big noise. Then I knew we were in a wreck. I was real scared. I got bumped around, but I didn't get hurt." The dead were Alexander Nero, 22, Trenton, N.J.; Thomas Reed Johnson, 35, Baltimore; Alfred B. Haupt, Baltimore; Sydney Jackson, 50, New York City; and Edward Q. Holloway, Wilmington, Del. Jackson was a Negro porter, and Holloway was a flagman on the train. Of 90 persons taken to six Maryland hospitals, 59 remained hospitalized today. Scores of others were treated at the scene by dozens of doctors and nurses. The derailment occurred about 10 miles south of Baltimore. Engineer Herman Malzer of Point Pleasant, N.J., told police he was making "normal speed—80 miles an hour" when the air brakes suddenly grabbed.

Kefauver Blasts Dulles For 'Errors'

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (U)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) criticized Secretary of State Dulles last night for making "many mistakes" in the conduct of American foreign policy. At a news conference after his address at a Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet, he told newsmen he is in a much stronger position in his quest for the nomination now than he was at this stage four years ago. In 1952 he lost to Adlai Stevenson, an opponent again this year. Kefauver said he has received expressions of "a lot of support" among North Carolina political leaders. He said, "I hope to get some delegates from North Carolina" at the Democratic National Convention in August. On the subject of foreign policy, he said Dulles' "many mistakes" and the slogans with which he has been associated have lost many friends for America. "The present administration has not had a foreign policy," he said. "It is just going from one crisis to another." "Neither Congress nor the people are adequately informed on foreign policy. They (the administration) are acting in secrecy. The people, I think, are substantial enough to take bad news without being badly disturbed." On the segregation issue in Alabama, where he spoke Wednesday night, the senator said: "If a country has a written constitution it must have a supreme court to guard and interpret it, and when the Supreme Court issues its opinion on a matter in the Constitution they must be followed."

Five Months Since Ike's Heart Attack

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (U)—Five months ago today President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack and the world started guessing whether he would run for re-election. The speculation still goes on. It still goes on, intensified, as the President starts the last full day of his south Georgia vacation at the plantation home of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, he arrived here Feb. 15 and plans to fly back to Washington tomorrow. Next week he may end all the guessing with an announcement of his plans. But there still is nothing definite about the timing. There has been a big change in the trend of the speculation since Eisenhower was stricken Sept. 24 in Denver. Then and during the seven weeks he was hospitalized the predictions that he would run again were few. His political supporters were close to desperation. But there was a gradual change in the outlook for a second term bid. Now after five months most of the guessing seems to be that the President will announce for re-election. The predictions that way got a big boost 10 days ago when Eisenhower's doctors gave him a new physical examination and reported a good recovery. They said, for that matter, he appeared to be fit for "another 5 to 10 years" in a job such as the presidency. On Jan. 9 Eisenhower resumed what he termed "the full duty of the presidency." Then 10 days ago he came down here to the south Georgia pine woods area for a vacation and presumably to reach a final decision. If he had reached it, the world hasn't been let in on the secret. The White House won't say. It does say Eisenhower has not passed any word back to his close associates in Washington—not even to his No. 1 aide, Sherman Adams. Eisenhower indicated before he left Washington he would announce his plans around March 1. He said he probably would do it at a news conference. His next one is tentatively set for Wednesday, Feb. 29. Here at Thomasville, the President has put his physical stamina to a real test. A week ago today he played his first round of golf, nine holes, since his heart attack. Since then he has played two 18-hole rounds. On five of the other days he has been here Eisenhower went quail hunting, up to 6 1/2 hours a day. And his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, says he has come through it all in fine shape. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty says the President has shown "no evidence of fatigue."

Lamesan Killed In Attack On Father

LAMESA — A grieving father early today told Sheriff Henry Mayfield how he had shot his son to death because he feared for his family's safety. One shot from a 38-caliber pistol struck Walter (Buck) Gilbreath in the left cheek shortly before midnight. He died soon afterwards. W. W. Gilbreath called Sheriff Mayfield to the family home at 1108 N. 3rd Street immediately to tell him of the tragedy. No charges were filed and there was no indication that they would. Gilbreath told Sheriff Mayfield he had first used the butt of the pistol to try to club Buck off his teen-age brother, Billy. The blow was enough to lay open his scalp, but he produced a knife and turned on his father, Mayfield was told. That is, when Gilbreath fired. Sheriff Mayfield said that Buck Gilbreath was still alive when he arrived, and had a knife clutched in his hand. Members of the family told the sheriff that Buck had been drinking and was breathing threats against them. He got in an argument with his mother and struck her. After pulling his father out of bed, he then turned to grapple with Billy, threatening the family. Sheriff Mayfield said that Buck Gilbreath, normally a good-natured individual, was a large man. He estimated his weight at 250-60

Shaken Passengers Describe Crackup

NEWARK, N.J. (U)—Survivors of a Maryland train wreck, arriving here aboard a special train early today, told of being violently shaken about when seven cars derailed the rails near Odenton, Md. Christian Oehler, 64, of Westfield, a private management consultant, said he was sitting in the diner when "all of a sudden I thought someone put on the emergency brakes." "The car veered, I jumped up and somersaulted, ending up near the kitchen," Oehler said. "That probably saved my life because the section of the car I had been tossed from was completely crushed. The car plummeted down a 15-foot embankment." Aaron Gordon, 53, of Nutley, a lawyer, told of vibration in one car before the wreck. "I was traveling in the fourth car with my wife Hannah, 43, and daughter Janey, 11," he said. "The train was shaking all the way from Washington. It was quivering so badly it was impossible to read a newspaper. Finally I stood up to speak to a trainman about it. The trainman was telling me he didn't know the reason when the axle seemed to snap underneath the car. "Simultaneously the cars in the rear seemed to break away. They stood up to speak to a trainman before they came to rest at 45-degree angles. "Everyone was in mass confusion but there was no sound from

Air Force To Take Part In Austin Clinic

WASHINGTON (U)—The Air Force said today it will participate in the Texas Aviation Clinic at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin March 3. The Air Force will display jet fighters, tanker and cargo planes. There will be jet speed flights and air refueling over the field.

The utility pole went first and then the office wall as a five-ton truck crashed into a filling station at Warren, Rhode Island. The truck started its wild spree by hitting another truck, clipped the pole off at the base, narrowly missing two parked cars and finally wound up in the office of the filling station. No one was injured in the crash.

Cotton Allotment Review Panel Refuses To Hear Protest Here

A review committee took a hands off attitude toward Howard County's cotton acreage allotment protests Thursday afternoon. Calling up the case of B. M. Newton, first of more than four score docketed for the review committee's consideration, the committee ruled it did not have jurisdiction. Austin Wilson, attorney for protesting farmers throughout West Texas, said the ruling would be appealed. Newton told the committee—and Wilson substantiated in his pleadings—that he had no quarrel with the distribution of acreage by the Howard County ASC committee. He was attacking the formula on which the state ASC committee appointed the 1956 reserve cotton acreage to Texas counties. The review committee, composed of D. M. Womack, Colorado City; Glenn Tate, Hermleigh, and C. M. Webb, Tennyson, agreed unanimously that the action complained of had been that of the state ASC committee and "it is out of our authority to change it." This was the position taken by Howard Rooney, Washington, D. C., representing the general counsel of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Regulations promulgated by the secretary of agriculture under section 11.30 definitely limited the powers of the review committees to local levels, he argued. Wilson put into the record committee (See COTTON, Page 10, Col. 6)

Passer-by Foils Burglary Attempt At Hardware Store

A sharp-eyed motorist foiled a well-laid plan to rob the safe of the Stanley Hardware Co., 203 Rummels, early Thursday evening. According to police, the motorist, whose name is being withheld, saw the prowler in the store. He notified two patrolmen he encountered two blocks away. A small army of police and sheriff's deputies surrounded the building. A 33-year-old man, who gives Abilene as his residence, was trapped in the building and arrested. He was taken to city jail and it was said that charges will be filed against him sometime today. Although the knob was battered from the store safe, the door did not yield and $400 remained in the safe. Sheriff Jess Slaughter and Police Chief C. L. Rogers said that

Death Takes Ex-Associate Of Al Capone

LOS ANGELES (U)—Death has ended the shadowy career of Jack Dragna, 65, who never was convicted of a felony but who was described by a State Crime Commission as California's Al Capone and an associate of the Mafia.

The underworld character was currently appealing a deportation order to his native Italy.

A maid found the body yesterday in a Sunset Strip motel bed. Police said he apparently died sometime Wednesday night of a heart attack.

Dragna was dressed in pink pajamas. On a night stand were two sets of false teeth and several pill bottles of a heart patient. His wallet contained $988.71, including nine $100 bills.

He had checked into the motel Feb. 10 as Jack Baker, one of his many aliases. His late-model car was parked outside.

Often described by police as the tingle of the Los Angeles underworld, Dragna had been arrested 13 times but never convicted of a felony.

He frequently complained that he was persecuted by police.

In recent years he had described himself as an importer or banana merchant.

The California Crime Commission saw the short, chubby alien in a more sinister light. In a report three years ago, the commission said:

"There can be little doubt that Jack Dragna and his gang . . . are connected with the notorious L'Unione Siciliano (Mafia)."

Dragna, in the report, was linked to the slaying of dope pedler Abe Davidian at Fresno, Calif., in 1950; to the attempted slaying of gambler Mickey Cohen outside a plush Sunset Strip cafe; and to bookmaking and narcotics activities.

Dragna's only jail sentence was in 1952, after a misdemeanor morals conviction. The sentence was cut from 180 to 90 days after doctors testified Dragna's heart wouldn't stand a longer term.

Whale Captured Alive

Divers gently maneuver a rare young whale from polar waters after it was captured alive off the Southern California coast. The whale, lashed by its tail, was being moved to the pier of the Marineland of the Pacific Oceanarium near Portuguese Bend, Calif. From the dock it took 10 men and two cranes to transfer it to its new tank home. Experts said the whale, a rare Cuvier's beaked specimen, is the first ever caught south of Canada.

Girl Gets Along Fine Minus Arms

LOVEJOY, Ga. (U)—A little girl who made headlines as a baby by waving at a passing train with her stubs of arms says she wants to wait awhile before trying to use artificial arms again.

Grace Purcell, now 12 and a straight A pupil in school, explained that she was getting along pretty well without the arms—eating, writing and playing games with relatively little difficulty.

The artificial arms always bothered her, she said. "I haven't had any since I was in the second grade. They were always so much trouble to put on and take off. And they were heavy. Maybe I would like to have some more when I am in high school."

The suggestion for a new set of arms was made by Charles C. Blish of Chicago. He sent her a gift for her birthday Feb. 7 and asked how she was doing. When she wrote that she had outgrown the arms, he sent her a check hoping it would start a new fund. But Grace said she would rather wait awhile.

The little girl who was born with arms which stopped in nubs just above the elbow was only 2 when engineer Henry B. Lee of Macon saw her waving at his train in 1946.

For the next two years Lee and other crewmen waved at the little girl and sent her gifts. The story made newspaper headlines and brought in more than $6,000 to a fund for buying her artificial arms.

After two operations, Grace was fitted with her arms in 1950. She outgrew them in six months, and her father R. R. Purcell had them altered. Six months later she again outgrew them and this time it was impossible to alter them to fit. There was only $1,832 left in the fund by then and her father decided to wait until she was grown and then buy a permanent set.

Sen. Aiken Optimistic On Beating Rigid Price Bill

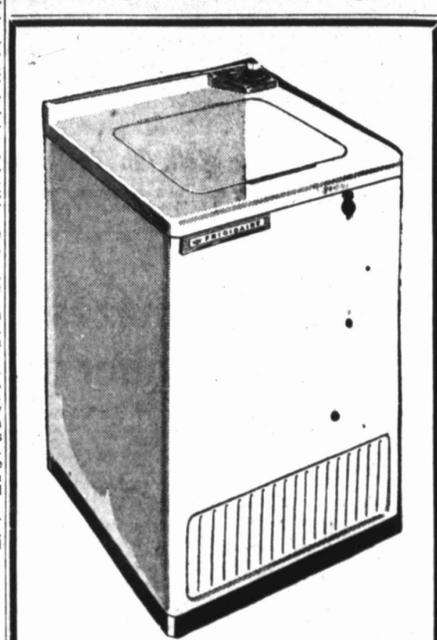

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today that "prospects for beating rigid mandatory price supports are good."

As the Senate moved into its third day of debate on a controversial election-year farm bill, Aiken prepared to speak in support of the administration's lower and flexible price support system installed two years ago.

Aiken is senior Republican member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, but is opposing that group's stand on price supports. The committee, by an 8-7 vote, called for scrapping the flexible supports and returning to the higher rigid levels for basic crops which have been in operation most of the time since World War II.

Most of the speeches in the Senate thus far have supported the committee's stand.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson referred to the high supports last night as "the unsound farm programs we inherited" and said they are to blame for farmers' present troubles. He said they encouraged overproduction and the accumulation of surpluses.

Restraint Urged In Republic Strike

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (U)—A State Supreme Court Justice has exhorted both sides to "prevent and eliminate any physical violence" in the six-day-old Republic Aviation Corp. strike.

After a courtroom showing of motion pictures of picket line fighting, Justice Edgar R. Nathan Jr. reserved decision on a company application for an injunction against mass picketing, violence or physical interference with non-strikers.

Skirmishing at the company's main plant here continued yesterday as the injunction hearing was held in Manhattan.

Twenty-nine more pickets were arrested during the day, raising to 121 the number of people seized since the walkout of 12,000 members of the International Assn. of Machinists started Saturday midnight in a wage dispute. Those arrested—almost all of them pickets—were charged with assault or disorderly conduct.

Dozens of persons have been injured in the picket line clashes.

The company's 7,000 engineers, scientists, supervisors and office workers are not on strike.

Republic, which makes jet planes and guided missile parts for the U.S. government, said yesterday that since Tuesday it had been able to get a trickle of preliminary production by using non-strikers. No plans has come off the production line since the strike started. The company says its sales losses are more than a million dollars a day. It has a backlog of half a billion dollars in government orders.

Most of the violence has been at gates of Republic's plant here. It has other plants at Hicksville, Port Washington and Greenlawn. All four are on Long Island.

Through film and affidavits the company representatives showed the justice that the strikers have formed human walls to block non-strikers' autos, and in some cases the pickets stretched out on the ground in front of cars.

Republic counsel John J. Ryan, estimating that 700 pickets have massed at plant gates at times, called them "an unruly and milling mob."

A union spokesman said union representatives would go to the National Labor Relations Board to charge Republic with unfair labor practices on the ground that it allegedly has refused to bargain.

Union representatives had a 90-minute exploratory session with federal mediators yesterday in Manhattan. Ostro said the union was ready at any time to resume bargaining.

The union is seeking an hourly package totaling 19½ cents in wages, welfare benefits, vacations and night shift improvements. The company has offered a 5-cent boost. The union figures the present average hourly pay at $1.97. The company figures it at $2.23.

Slow Thaw Raises Europe Flood Fear

LONDON (AP)—A slow thaw spread fearsome landslides and flood threats over parts of southern Europe today. The rest of the Continent shivered, with little sign of a break in the worst winter anybody could remember.

No deaths were yet reported from the slides in Italy and Yugoslavia, but it was believed they would add to the toll of 831 known dead in the record freeze, now in its 25th day.

Crop damage ran into hundreds of millions of dollars. Food prices rocketed. Coal and other fuel was running short.

At Vasto, in central Italy, a landslide crumpled 150 homes. Hundreds of workmen fought to divert the vast mass of rumbling soil and snow from other homes and a railroad.

Scores of smaller slides cut roads and menaced villages throughout Italy's central Apennine Mountains. Landslides also were reported in Yugoslavia.

Hundreds of starving gulls invaded public parks in southwest

France to snatch carp and goldfish from ornamental lakes. Their usual source of food—the Garonne River—was frozen.

U. S. helicopters in the same area dropped food to 20 resin collectors isolated in vast fir forests.

A temperature rise promised Britain failed to materialize and new snow spread over the eastern part of the island. More cold weather was forecast. Snowplow teams worked through the night to reach east coast villages cut off by 10-foot drifts. U. S. helicopters stood by at Manston, Kent, to act as ambulances if needed.

Twelve thousand people faced a disastrous fuel shortage in Vadsoe, on Norway's frozen border with Russia. The city's supply was down to three days—and the temperature was 22 below zero. Coal was ready in emergency stores in neighboring towns, but no transport was available to get it to Vadsoe.

The temperature in Paris was 9 degrees— a record low for the second half of February. The forecast was for continued cold.

Engineers blew up ice blocks on the Seine and Marne rivers to avoid damage to bridges.

Berlin's riot police joined thousands of city workers and unemployed in breaking up frozen snow on the streets.

Berlin's overnight temperature was 4 below zero—the lowest for Feb. 24 in 125 years.

Communist East Germany, with factories closed by fuel shortages, called off all public events to save coal.

Thick fog settled on Hamburg, Germany, snarling road and river traffic. Temperatures were slightly warmer than yesterday, but still well below freezing.

North German hunters spotted a rare sight—wolf tracks. They said the cold probably had driven wolves westward from Poland and Russia.

Sev girls of Amsterdam's Ice Bears Swimming Club at last had to give up their morning dip. Every day through the freeze the swimming bath superintendent had hacked a hole in the ice for them. Today he said he couldn't cut one.

Youth Dies For Airman Slaying

SANTA FE (AP)—Calm and resigned, while his mother was restrained in a hospital at her own request, James Upton, 22, was electrocuted early today.

The Bakersfield, Calif., youth was convicted of slaying Airman Donald Dilley of Salt Lake City near Albuquerque Sept. 10, 1954.

Warden Harold Swenson said Upton ate a full meal, "had several soft drinks" and was calm awaiting the midnight death penalty.

His mother, Mrs. Annie Wood, asked the state policeman watching her apartment to help her just a few hours before the execution. She told Sgt. I. E. Salazar "she didn't feel she could hold on to herself much longer," he reported.

Upton was dead two minutes after the first bolt hit him. A minute before the first of three bolts were shot through Upton's body, Swenson asked him if there was anything he wanted to say. In a low voice, Upton asked if there wouldn't be a mask put over his face. Swenson said yes, there would. Upton then told the warden he had nothing more to say.

About 60 persons saw the execution, the last in the electric chair in this state.

Burglar Waits To Don Gloves

Burglars traditionally wear gloves when engaged in their nefarious trade, but Sheriff Jess Slaughter is looking for one who appeared to wait until he broke into his selected spot before providing himself with handcovering.

Four or five pair of knitted gloves were included in the loot taken from the Burns Cafe, Combs, sometime Wednesday night, the sheriff reported.

The burglars gained entrance to the cafe through the vent used for air conditioning. Inside they ransacked the place, looting several vending machines, taking a few dollars in change left in the cash register and the gloves.

Other unorthodox loot lugged away by these prowlers included several packages of cough drops and 18 pints of milk.

Integration Talk Reaction 'Amazes' Baptist Preacher

DALLAS (AP)—Controversy continued today around Dr. W. A. Criswell, Baptist minister who said he favored segregation and lambasted those who would integrate as "infidels in dirty shirts, dying from the neck up."

Dr. Criswell, who returned from South Carolina where he made two trips against integration, said he was "amazed" by the reaction stirred up. He said he was planning no further speeches. He said he stood behind his statements as something his mind has been fixed on "all my life."

"I think it is better for the schools and for the churches for us to go to ours," he said. "I think that is part of the freedom of America and of our way of life."

"The church has the right to choose its own members like a man has the right to choose his own house and rear his own family. It is better that way and we are happier that way."

In South Carolina, Dr. Criswell said of those who would integrate, "Let them integrate. Let them sit up there in their dirty shirts and make all their fine speeches. But they are a bunch of infidels, dying from the neck up."

"Integration is a thing of idiosyncrasy and foolishness. Any man who says he is altogether desegregated is soft in the head. The idea of the universal brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God is a denial of everything in the Bible."

Frank Rayburn Sr., chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist Church, Dallas, said he knew of no plans to discuss his pastor's statements officially. Several deacons said they believed Dr. Criswell's statements reflected the majority view of the church. His is the largest Baptist church in the world.

Several other deacons refused to comment. One said, "The mechanics of the Baptist church are that one voice does not necessarily reflect the opinion of a congregation. I was a little surprised since I never had heard Dr. Criswell speak on that subject. I do not completely share his views on it."

Comments came from other pastors. Dr. Harry Earles, pastor of the City Temple Presbyterian Church, said "It is nice that this is a free country where a man can express his opinion. But my opinion is quite different from that of Dr. Criswell."

The Rev. Ralph Langley, pastor of the Wilshire Baptist Church, said that he must agree with Dr. Criswell's observation that Negro people and white people would be much happier attending their own churches.

At the same time I am in agreement with the Supreme Court's decision that the Negro should have first-class citizenship rights. But I feel that separate and equal facilities for the Negro satisfies this aim, and that it will be many, many years before this section of the country will be ready for complete integration."

The Rev. I. B. Loud, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist Church for Negroes, said "I find it difficult to believe Dr. Criswell has said the things attributed to him."

Dr. Robert Raible, senior minister of the First Unitarian Church, said that his church "cordially welcomes members of all races" and that there are now Negro members, Negro children in the church school and that one of the nursery teachers is a Negro.

Gets Jail Term In Baby Beating

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For beating a baby so severely he may never recover from brain damage, Roy Burch, 31, must spend 10 years in prison.

Burch pleaded guilty to felonious assault on the 22-month-old child, Daniel Cox, who suffered facial burns, burns on his body, blacked eyes and head injuries.

The child's mother Mrs. Florence Cox, 18, was sentenced to six months in the county jail on a charge of endangering the life and health of a child. Police said Burch was living with Mrs. Cox when they were arrested Nov. 15.

The boy's father Bill L. Cox, 23, Norwalk, Calif., was granted an annulment of the marriage and given full custody of the child last Feb. 6.

New Labor Peace Pact Try Is Failure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sharp disagreement over the union shop has ended for the present at least a new try for a peace pact between industry and organized labor.

AFL-CIO President George Meany met with Chairman Charles R. Sligh Jr. of the National Assn. of Manufacturers' Executive Committee yesterday to discuss possibilities of a broad-scale agreement.

But they split on the first point to come up — labor union insistence on compulsory union membership provisions — and from then on it was no use talking about anything else.

"We seem to have run into a first hurdle here that it will be pretty hard to surmount," Sligh said.

As the first of four proposals, Sligh suggested that organized labor quit demanding union shop contract terms, requiring all an employer's workers to join a union.

"Union insistence on compulsory union membership is today the greatest obstacle to acceptance of unions by the public, employees and employers," Sligh said.

Meany replied that organized labor feels it must have such arrangements so that all workers will pay in union dues the cost of maintaining the union as a functioning mechanism.

Sligh proposed also a ban on either union or business political spending, a free hand for em-

Shivers Injects Interposition Issue

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Shivers has injected the interposition-states rights issue into the growing battle for Democratic party control in Texas, and perhaps into the governor's race.

Shivers recommended yesterday that interposition and the possibility of changing the federal Constitution to strengthen states' rights be discussed at precinct, county and state conventions in May and then perhaps be submitted to voters in a referendum.

Interposition is a doctrine being urged in many Southern states to fight public school desegregation as ordered by the Supreme Court. Shivers said the whole question of federal encroachment on states' rights is broader than problems of segregation in the schools, and that it should be referred to the people for a vote.

The governor made the suggestion in letters to George Sandlin, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and to Will Morris of San Antonio, chairman of the Texas Advisory Committee on School Segregation.

The plan could touch off sharp conflicts in the battle for control of the May conventions and give the conservative Shivers forces a rallying point against the liberals. Shivers wants to send a Texas delegation to Chicago that will spearhead a fight there for states' rights and what he calls a "moderate" presidential candidate and platform.

Shivers has said he is thinking seriously of running for re-election to his fourth term.

The question at the precinct, county and state conventions would be discussion and possible action on resolutions to place the proposition on the ballot.

"Eventually, of course, the expression of the voters would be a guide to the Texas Legislature in the preparation of proper interposition resolutions," Shivers said.

The 10th Amendment reserves to the states powers not prohibited by the Constitution, or not delegated to the federal government, Shivers said.

"It is my tentative conclusion that the interposition proposal, if approved by the people, should take the form of a recommended amendment to the U. S. Constitution clarifying and strengthening the principles expressed in the 10th Amendment," Shivers said.

He asked Sandlin to refer his recommendation to the state Democratic Executive Committee and to its legal subcommittee. He asked Morris to refer the proposition to the segregation advisory committee's legal panel.

Grand Jury Pokes Into Ballot Code

WACO (AP)—A grand jury, inquiring into the defunct U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co., broadened its scope yesterday to investigate alleged violations of the State Election Code.

The grand jury issued subpoenas for Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and former Insurance Commissioner Garland Smith to appear Monday.

The jurors spent most of yesterday hearing assertions of C. T. Johnson, Austin real estate man, that $11,500 in newspaper advertising in behalf of Ramsey was not reported in the 1954 race for lieutenant governor.

The grand jury has jurisdiction since the Texas Press Assn. placed ads for Ramsey with the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald.

Dean Abner McCall of the Baylor Law School and foreman of the grand jury headed a committee of lawyers which drew up the Election Code which Johnson alleges Ramsey violated in beating him.

The code requires advertising agencies and newspapers to keep records of political ads placed with them.

Vernon Sanford of Austin, executive director of the TPA, was recalled by the jury shortly before it recessed yesterday.

Sanford, named with the TPA and Ramsey in a civil suit by Johnson, said his records relating to Ramsey's advertising order in the last election have been destroyed.

Two members of the Insurance Commission, Byron Saunders and Mack Wentz, appeared briefly before the jury. So did Bert McDaniel of Waco, attorney for A. B. Shoemaker, president of U. S. Trust and Guaranty. Shoemaker shot himself through the head Jan. 7 but survived.

Mild Cool Front Due

A mild cool front this weekend was expected to nip Texas' spring-like weather.

The mass of cooler air should drop temperatures early Saturday about 10 degrees below the pre-dawn readings Friday, the Weather Bureau said.

Continued partly cloudy weather with scattered showers was forecast for Friday and Saturday.

The mercury got up to a sweltering 91 at Presidio Thursday. Temperatures throughout the state were in the 70s and 80s. Galveston had the low maximum of 70.

College Station, which had a drizzle, was the only point reporting overnight rain.

Minimum dawn temperatures ranged from 43 degrees at Dalhart to 70 at Corpus Christi, Lubbock had 45, Amarillo 58, El Paso 58, Abilene 62, Del Rio 63, Texarkana and Houston 64, Lufkin 65, San Antonio, Waco and Dallas 66.

Ike Slices, Almost Breaks His Word

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower announced with a hearty laugh today that on orders from his doctor he was adopting a new philosophy of laughing at his mistakes on the golf course.

But 10 minutes later he came close to forgetting all about the philosophy after driving three balls into the woods.

Brimming with energy, Eisenhower arrived at Glen Arven Country Club at 8:45 a.m. for his second day of golf in a row—and his third match since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

As he stepped from his car, the President threw his arm around the shoulders of the club pro, John Walter, and told him with a broad grin:

"You're going to hear a lot of laughter out here today. My doctor has given me orders that if I don't start laughing instead of cursing when I miss those shots, then he's going to stop me from playing golf."

"Everytime I miss a shot you're going to hear me go 'Ha, ha, ha.'"

Well, that was all fine until Eisenhower got to the first tee after about 20 minutes of practice. His first drive sliced into the fringe of the woods about 150 yards off. No laughter.

His second hooked into the woods.

"That's in the woods," Eisenhower observed mournfully. No laughter.

"I'll be darned," he declared with something mighty akin to a big frown on his face. "I'll be darned if I'm going to start with one like that."

He teed up another ball—and hooked it into the woods.

"Well," he remarked with growing exasperation, "that fairway looks broad. I am going to hit another ball and see what the devil—"

His fourth drive saved the day and salvaged in nick of time a somewhat tattered resolution to laugh at his mistakes.

The ball traveled about 230 yards right down the middle of the fairway and brought the smile back to Eisenhower's face.

The President was teamed again with Walter, the club pro. They were playing opponents they defeated yesterday—White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and John Hay (Jock) Whitney, New York financier and horse enthusiast.

When Eisenhower arrived at the club he was greeted by a corps of sleepy-eyed newsmen.

"Good morning," he said cheerily. "You fellows are up early. I'm going to start playing golf at 6 a.m. if I can bother you fellows like this."

Eisenhower has been vacationing here since Feb. 15 at the plantation home of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. He plans to fly back to Washington Saturday.

Guided Missile Probe Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said today a broad investigation of the Air Force guided missile program is planned by a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee. He contends the program is lagging.

Russell, who heads the committee, told reporters he will "have a statement during the day" on plans to set up a special subcommittee to conduct the inquiry "wholly with respect to the Air Force and guided missile program."

Contending the administration's program is inadequate and is taking "very long chances with security," Russell has announced he will seek an increase of 1 1/2 billion dollars in Air Force funds.

President Eisenhower's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 allots 16 1/2 billion dollars for the Air Force. This is approximately half the total funds for the military services.

Pastor Lists Needs For A 'Good Life'

Four basic elements are essential to a contented and successful life, Rev. Clarence Saint, pastor of First Christian Church, Midland, told the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

A man, he said, must first of all work and, more important, be contented and satisfied with the work he is doing. A man, too, the speaker said, must play since he must have some form of recreation in addition to the effort by which he makes his livelihood.

He must have love, Saint told the Kiwanians, and it must be the kind of love every person wants and every person desires to give to others. In fourth place, for a successful and contented existence, man must have worship and he must realize that in this sense, the fulfillment of this need must be far beyond simple membership in some church.

Saint was introduced by Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of First Christian Church.

The address was the club's observation of Brotherhood Week.

Sam Sonntag, chairman of the fourth annual Pancake Supper event sponsored by Kiwanis, reported only 600 advance tickets

Admiral Dunked In Tokyo Bay

OPPAMA, Japan (AP)—Rear Adm. Fitzhugh Lee, commander of America's fleet air arm in the Western Pacific, was dunked in Tokyo Bay and slightly injured today in a helicopter crash.

The Navy said the helicopter hit the water 75 yards offshore, moments after taking off.

Lee's right shoulder was dislocated.

Two other officers aboard suffered scratches and cuts. They were Lt. Cmdr. R. H. Raymond, Chula Vista, Calif., the pilot, and Lt. K. McGrath, Palm City, Calif.

Morelock was supporting the admiral when a rescue boat picked them up.

Big Cosmic Ray Outburst Noted

LONDON (AP)—A startling outburst of cosmic rays from the sun early today was reported by Royal Greenwich Observatory.

A terse announcement said only that the cosmic ray intensity was more than double for a period of two hours—an increase far larger than ever before.

The largest previous increase in cosmic ray outbursts from the sun was about 40 per cent in 1949. Outbursts are fairly common but usually much smaller.

Greenwich reported the latest bursts began about 3:45 a.m. GMT. A major radio fadeout was reported at the same time.

NO DEATHS YET Abnormal Passion For Bomb Planting

NEW YORK (AP)—The man apparently looks and acts so normal no one pays any attention to him. But he's got an abnormal passion—setting off time bombs in places like the public library, a movie house or a railroad station lavatory.

So today, after the 26th such bomb explosion in New York City since 1940, police once again are looking for an eccentric who never has been spotted.

Police are quite certain the same person who set a time bomb in the men's lavatory of Pennsylvania Station just before Tuesday night's commuter rush is the same one who placed bombs elsewhere. The bombs always are constructed in the same way.

Just as in previous bombings a watch was used to set off Tuesday's explosion. The explosive was packed in a small metal cylinder capped at both ends. The crude bombs usually are wrapped in an old sock. A sock and watch fragments were found in the station lavatory.

Fortunately the homemade bomb does not do much damage. Tuesday's explosion was powerful enough to smash a porcelain toilet bowl and a partition and inflict head and leg injuries on an attendant.

William Jones, a pharmacist's helper, tells best what it is like to be at the scene of such an incident.

He was in the Paramount Theater early in the evening of Oct. 10, 1955. A bomb inserted in the upholstery of a seat four seats from him exploded.

There was a muffled report, he said, then a flash and smoke. Jones felt a stinging sensation in his right foot. His shoe had been cut by a fragment but he did not require medical treatment.

No one else in the theater heard the explosion because the movie "Blood Alley" contains scenes of violent action.

But a capacity audience was started in Radio City Music Hall in November, 1954 when another crude bomb ignited. Two women and two boys were hurt.

All in all eight persons have been hurt by the explosions.

Homesick Mom Delays Trip

WILMINGTON, Calif. (AP)—Homesick even before the Honolulu-bound ship left the dock, Mrs. Laura Evans, 33, had her baggage put ashore and returned to household chores in San Diego, Calif.

For 10 years she and her husband John had been saving so she could return to Hawaii and visit her mother Mrs. Mabel Lee.

After her husband and two of her four children saw her aboard the Lurline yesterday, she sat down to write a letter. She thought of John, struggling with his own meals, darning his socks and the children getting themselves ready for school each morning.

She got off the ship and took a bus back to her home.

"I won't go until we can all go," she said.

Schoolmen Oppose Race Amendment To School Aid Bill

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American Assn. of School Administrators has gone on record against any desegregation amendment to federal school aid on the grounds such a clause might lead to defeat of the legislation.

The association's annual convention, which winds up today, took its stand on the school aid question in resolutions adopted without objection.

It asked that federal school buildings funds be channeled through state departments of education. Local school districts should receive them, the AASA said, "on the basis of demonstrated need and effort."

In another resolution dealing with integration, the 18,000 school officials urged "that all citizens approach this matter with the spirit of fair play and good will."

They expressed conviction that all problems of integration in our schools are capable of solution at the state and local levels."

Teachings on Stewardship

JESUS INSTRUCTS US HOW TO USE OUR GIFTS, TALENTS AND ABILITIES

Scripture—Luke 16:1-13; 19:11-27.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THIS LESSON Christ teaches us how we should use our God-given gifts, talents and abilities in an honorable manner, and our worldly possessions for the good of mankind, not only for ourselves.

Every normal person has some gift, talent and ability. Are we putting them to the best use? Every teacher knows that some of her children are better equipped mentally for their studies than others, but some of the brightest are not always the best students. They don't apply themselves. It is those who are anxious to learn who make the most of their abilities.

So it is with older persons. Some work hard and efficiently all their lives; others loaf on the job, not giving the full service for which they are paid. In which category are we? There is much complaint in the modern world about the latter type.

The first parable Jesus told is rather puzzling. A certain steward-man had been cheating his master, and, hearing about the master's demand for an accounting, threatening to dislodge the man if he were proven dishonest.

The man was worried about losing his job, so he thought up a scheme whereby he would be welcomed as one of the owners of which owed his master money. He called them in one by one, asked how much they owed his master, and from each he took payment for only a part of what he owed. Then the steward wrote a receipt for that amount and later destroyed the records. The odd part of it was that the master seemed to think it was a clever trick and commended the steward for it, making both of them unethical.

The Pharisees, who were fond of money, mocked our Lord for his sayings, and He said to them, "Ye are they that justify yourselves before men; but God knoweth your hearts; for that which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God."

As an object lesson to rich people who are not using their wealth to aid others or, in other words, are selfish and self-centered, Jesus told of the wealthy man who was dressed in "purple and fine linen," and "laid sumptuously every day." He is called Dives. At his gate lay a poor beggar covered with grievous sores. He was waiting until the rich

THERE'S A MOUNTAIN OF STRENGTH

Mount Lassen in northern California towers majestically heavenward, its immense size a tremendous sight to man. It has long been considered an inactive volcano, yet it maintains an active warmth in its depths that is shared with lakes and springs at its base.

Somehow it reminds you of the towering strength of Christianity. Christianity, like Mount Lassen, is visible to all in its vicinity. It is a mountain of strength, with endless opportunities for exploring its mysteries.

Christianity imparts warmth to all who approach it. From its depths there spring rivers of living water to quench the thirst of your soul. And though each person touching this mountain should take away with him all he could carry to scatter through the world, yet its bulk will not diminish.

Gaze upon that Christianity that is like a huge mountain. Be warmed, refreshed, and strengthened through fellowship and worship each Sunday at Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

Jack Benny's Daughter Reweds

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The 21-year-old daughter of comedian Jack Benny will sail tomorrow for a honeymoon in the Orient. Joan Benny won a divorce in Reno, Nev., yesterday from New York stockbroker Seth Baker. Three hours later she married Beverly Hills haberdasher Bud Rudolph, 31. They flew here last night. The wedding was a simple ceremony in sharp contrast to the $50,000 event staged for her marriage to Baker in March 1954. Mrs. Rudolph did not disclose terms of a property settlement with Baker but said she was given custody of their 6-month-old son Michael.

Uncle Ray:
Steam Power Led To Better Presses

By RAMON COFFMAN
A note in one of the books printed by William Caxton said: "Thus ends my book. I have translated it the best I could. My pen is worn, my hand is weary. My eyes are dimmed by looking too much on white paper."

Caxton used a pen when he translated the book from French into English. After that the words were "set up" with pieces of type. Page by page (sometimes a few pages at a time) the book was printed. Early printing presses were crude affairs. The type face was inked with a roller worked by hand. Then a sheet of paper was spread over the type, and a wheel was turned. The wheel made a flat surface come down, press the paper firmly against the type. Next the wheel was turned in an opposite direction, and the printed sheet was removed.

A press worked by hand (like the one shown here) is used to this day to make high-grade proofs.

That was a slow kind of printing, but it was faster than writing the words on a page. After the printing press came into use, the cost of a book was cut to a fraction of what it had been in the days of copying books with pen and ink.

The printing press was improved in small ways during the three centuries which followed the work of Gutenberg, Coster and Caxton. The main changes, however, came after steam power was applied.

A German inventor who lived in England built a successful steam power press 145 years ago. This was followed by other good steam power presses on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean.

In early times of printing in Europe, the presses were made of wood. Later they were constructed of iron, and this made them last much longer.

More quickly came the change from wooden type to metal type. Metal type was cast in the time of the pioneer printers of Germany and Holland.

Wet, Cloudy For Most Of Nation

By The Associated Press
Wet and cloudy weather was the outlook for most of the nation today, with a little warming in prospect for much of the mid-continent.

There was a variety of precipitation in the Midwest. Freezing drizzle and freezing rain slicked areas in Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin. Showers and thundershowers and hail were reported in Illinois and southern Iowa.

Showers and light rain fell in Kentucky, Tennessee, parts of Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama. Falls were generally light.

Ground fog extended in a narrow band from Oklahoma and Kansas northward through Minnesota.

Southerly winds brought warmer air over the Mississippi Valley, the Plains States and the Great Lakes region.

A little warming also was reported in the Southeastern states. Lower temperatures were reported in the New England region, Montana and the Great Basin area.

Handling The Kids

Making your bid for popularity with a party? Or are you giving a casual sock hop so you can invite that "someone special"?

Then don't booby trap your little scheme with small fry, with children around, "the best laid plans 'o mice and men gang aft a'glee."

Don't get me wrong, I like saucy little first graders, and toddling preschoolers as much as the next person, but I can do without them in my lap or their lolly pops in my hair when I am intent on enjoying companionship with people my own age.

Unless the adult is a doting aunt or a fond big sister, most people do not appreciate dirty shoe marks planted on their clothes, nor do they like to be cornered into reading aloud from very Grim Fairy Tales, or into playing with educational toys.

Children are people, too, and have their rights, but unless their manners are exceptional (and those children you can't hardly get no more) they should be removed for the evening.

Of course, a great deal depends upon the child. Almost everybody adores the kind who are neat and clean, can serve refreshments with a smile, and enter into the conversation for a few minutes and then politely disappear. Most children can't resist monopolizing both conversation and guests.

There are two solutions. First of all, you can explain to small fry before party time that girls and boys in high school just don't go for color books and bean bag games anymore.

Let them know that it is your party with your guests and therefore you have a right to run it your way. However, do give them a small part to make them feel important. Perhaps they can help with decorations or serving. Teach them what it means to be a good host or -hostess, explaining that the guests should do what they enjoy.

If reasoning doesn't work, plan a theatre party for junior or junior miss and a couple of friends for that night. Maybe Dad will take them, or you and some of the gang can drop them off at the movie and call for them later. Even a babysitter isn't a bad idea.

After the movie there will be just enough time for them to join your group for refreshments before being hustled off to bed. (You may write Miss Brandon in care of The Herald. A 3 cent stamp enclosed brings a personal reply.)
