Meg Truman Engagement Is Announced

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman today announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to Clifton Daniel Jr., assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times.

Mr. Truman, who made the announcement for himself and Mrs. Truman at a press conference, said the wedding will be held in Independence in April.

Asked by a newsman when he and Mrs. Truman first received word from their daughter about the engagement, Truman said: "That is something you will have to talk to them about."

Both Miss Truman and Daniel spent the weekend at Zebulon, N.C., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel Sr.

During the visit, the elder Daniel said his son and Miss Truman had been friends for years but he added "whether there's anymore to it than that I couldn't say."

Miss Truman has spent most of her time in New York, where she is engaged in radio and television work.

The 32-year-old Miss Truman, a coloratura soprano has made a series of concert tours in the past six years.

She made her debut on television with the Ed Sullivan Show in 1950. That same year she signed a radio and TV contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

Daniel, 43, was graduated in 1933 from the University of North Carolina. His first newspaper work was on the Daily Bulletin at Dunn, N.C., in 1933. He moved then to the News and Observer, Raleigh, N.C., from 1934 to 1937. For the next six years he was with The Associated Press in New York, Washington, D. C., Bern, Switzerland, and London.

He joined the New York Times in 1944, serving as a correspondent in London, the Middle East, Germany, and the Soviet Union. Last year he became assistant to the foreign editor of the New York Times.

Daniel's father, a Zebulon druggist, is a former president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Assn.

Miss Truman and Daniel returned to New York by train this morning from a weekend at the home of Daniel's parents in Zebulon, N.C. Daniel was with her. The couple refused to comment on their plans.

Texas GOP Won't Hold A Primary

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Republican Executive Committee voted unanimously today to nominate state, district and local candidates by convention rather than in primaries.

Houston was unanimously selected as the site for the May 22 state convention which will name a record breaking 54 member delegation from Texas to the Republican convention in San Francisco.

The committee filled one vacancy, naming Mrs. A. E. Swenson of Dallas committeeewoman from District 8. It named 14 new county chairmen.

Nomination of candidates will take place at the Republicans' second state convention in August, the names to go on the ballot for the November general election.

Republicans had a choice this year on whether to select their candidates in primary elections or by convention, and almost without discussion, they voted to return to their traditional method of utilizing conventions.

Among those who spoke for the convention system were John Adams of Harlingen, chairman of the committee, who said he had previously favored the primary system but "I am now convinced this year it would be better to hold conventions for this purpose."

Also speaking in behalf of the convention system was Thad Hutcherson of Houston, who said there was considerable sentiment there for the primary but that Harris County party members would go along.

New county chairmen named were Billy Rodgers, Mineola; W. C. Bracewell, Somerville; J. A. Steele, Burnet; Axtell Byles, New Braunfels; Mrs. Percy House, Kingsville; Robert Franks, Alice; Lloyd Wofford, Lockney; Harry Wilber Jr., Canadian; W. H. Price, Midland; Max Mossholder, Abilene; Dr. Warren Binkley, Fallris; Harry Korthaver, Sealy; J. R. Ragsdale, Hallettsville; and F. M. Sinek, Dime Box.

Mitzi Gaynor Loses Weight, Cops Career

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mitzi Gaynor offers proof of how losing weight can change your life. Dropping 35 pounds brought her a whole new career.

Three years ago, she was a curvy 150 pounds.

"It was right after I had my appendix out," she recalled. "I figured I had to build myself up, so I ate like a fool. I told myself bread was good for the blood, butter was good for the skin, potatoes would fill my stomach and so forth."

"It was all baby fat and muscle. Since I was a dancer, the exercise turned the fat into muscle. I was simply too big. My waist was always small—even at my heaviest it was no more than 22 inches—so that made the rest of me look even bigger."

Being a career-minded doll, she figured this wasn't good.

"I was in sort of a rut at 20th Century-Fox," she admitted.

"When I left there, I was 22, but I was still playing little-girl roles. I wanted to grow up. But you can't play mature roles if you still look like a little girl. You've got to be able to wear glamorous clothes, which I couldn't."

It was then that she decided that weight control is not a passing fancy but a way of life. "You just have to decide that you are going to eat sensibly all the time," she said. "The main element is self-control. If you don't have that, you can't lose weight."

Her methods are diet, massage and exercise. Besides skipping starches, sugar, saucy, etc., she undergoes a two-hour dance session every day except Sunday. Afterwards she has a deep massage, which she said helps break down fatty tissues and improve muscle tone.

Mitzi is now down to an elegant 114 pounds and never allows herself to rise above 118.

Femme Fatale

Three years ago Mitzi Gaynor was a plumpish 150 pounds, too immature at 22 to play anything but young girl parts as an actress. Today, many salads later and 36 pounds lighter, she is a femme fatale in George Cukor's movie "The Birds and the Bees." The comment of one studio observer who saw her for the first time in three years: "Wowee! Double wowee!"

Alabama U. Ousts Student For Riot

Johnson Sees No Hope For Farm Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas, said today "nobody is satisfied" with the omnibus farm bill as it now stands after several major decisions.

"You will be surprised at the number of votes against the bill unless substantial changes are made," he told reporters.

Asked if he was predicting defeat of the bill when it reaches a final vote, Johnson replied: "I'm no prophet."

Johnson said there was "considerable resentment" over moves he said Secretary of Agriculture Benson has made to swing votes on key issues.

The main battle has been over whether to continue the present flexible price supports backed by parity or return to the fixed 90 per cent parity supports which were required by law during the Truman administration.

The Benson program has won test votes as to supports for wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts.

As Johnson talked with newsmen, the Senate was approaching a vote on the question of 90 per cent supports for that part of the rice crop consumed in this country.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), floor manager for the farm bill, said he hopes to have it passed tomorrow night "even if we have to stay here until midnight." Republican Leader Knowland of California set his sights on final action Wednesday.

The Senate Agriculture Committee, which Ellender heads, proposed a trial of the two-price plan for rice. Under this, rice grown for domestic use would be eligible for price support at 90 per cent of parity, while the excess for overseas shipment would be sold without support at world market prices.

Parity is a price determined under farm laws to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Rice, like other basic crops, is now supported under a flexible scale which rises when more is needed and drops when a surplus is on hand.

The Senate voted last week to retain the flexible system on wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts. The House voted 296-201 last year to return to a 90 per cent level for two years. The two houses must agree before any new farm bill can become law.

DULLES ALL SET FOR '56 CAMPAIGN

NEW DELHI (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dulles left New Delhi carrying a small ivory casket—about the size of a two-pound box of candy—given him by India's President Rajendra Prasad.

Informed sources said Prasad took Dulles by surprise when he handed him the elaborately hand-carved box. Prasad joked that the box was especially suited to a Republican—it has a pair of two-inch high elephants mounted on it.

School Officials Rap Total Of 25

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—University of Alabama trustees today expelled one student, suspended three others and approved lesser punishment for 21 more in disciplinary action arising from student rioting against Autherine Lucy, the school's first Negro student.

Leonard Wilson, 29-year-old Selma, Ala., sophomore was expelled.

Miss Lucy was excluded from classes after rioting Feb. 6. She was expelled Feb. 29 after unproved charges that university officials were in conspiracy with the mobs.

Wilson, who addressed student demonstrations the nights of Feb. 3 and 4, was called from class today and told of his expulsion.

A statement from the trustees said Wilson was thrown out because of his part in student rioting and also because of "unwarranted and outrageous public attacks" on Dr. Luther C. Carrichael, university president, and other school officials.

Wilson called for a general house-cleaning at the university in an address before a White Citizens Council rally in Birmingham last Tuesday.

The trustees also announced that three students under investigation in the student rioting had since withdrawn from school and would not be readmitted unless they were cleared of charges against them.

Wilson's name was the only one given in a statement by John A. Caddell, Decatur, Ala., trustee.

This year the Texas GOP will go to San Francisco with the largest number of convention votes in history—54. That came as a result of bonuses granted states which voted Republican for president in 1952 and which elected a Republican governor or senator.

Texas not only gave its electoral votes to Dwight D. Eisenhower, but the Republicans nominated Gov. Allan Shivers who won on nomination of both parties.

The cross-filing law which permitted this has since been repealed.

The university news bureau said last night that the trustees met "informally" yesterday.

Gov. James E. Folsom was present yesterday as ex-officio chairman of the board.

Wilson said last Tuesday he had heard rumors he would be expelled, and challenged school officials to throw him out. He denied having caused any violence.

Bullets Hit Two Autos

Two cases of persons shooting at vehicles were reported to police authorities Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Saturday night a car belonging to Ismael Dianda, 507 NW 8th, was hit by four bullets, three ripping through the windshield and the fourth entering the hood. Three boys were in the front seat of the car but were not harmed by the shots.

Sunday morning, Ramon M. Mendoza, 601 N. Douglas, reported a shot had gone through the door of his garage and knocked a hole in his car parked in the garage.

Police said the shots were made with either a .22 or .38 caliber weapon. Warrants have been issued for two boys thought to be involved in the incidents.

Bitter Cold Nips N. Texas Crops

By The Associated Press

Freezing rain and low temperatures threatened the North Texas fruit crop Monday as a cold blast of air was shoved southward by blizzard conditions in the Midwest.

The bitter cold quickly nipped blooming trees, shrubs, young legumes and vegetables that survived a quickie freeze of last Thursday.

Rain showers spotted other portions of the state as the cold front rolled into the Gulf Monday with clearing skies expected to follow.

The Weather Bureau warned North Central Texas to expect "locally heavy freezing" Monday night with 15-25 degree minimums in the west and north and 20-30 in the southeast.

In West Texas a glaze warning was issued for east of the Pecos River with locally heavy freezing rain or snow extending into the lower South Plains. A low of 10 to 20 was predicted for the Panhandle and South Plains with 20-30 elsewhere in West Texas.

A glaze warning was forecast for the northwest portion of East and South Central Texas Monday night with lows of 22 to 32 in the northwest and extreme north.

The temperature dropped to 21 at Electra and yard flowers that stayed green through the winter snows turned black. Buds on fruit trees, mostly peaches, turned dark.

Dallas County agent A. S. Milkien forecast doom to young crops and budding fruit trees, principally because the freezing was due to last longer than last week's cold spell.

Milkien said he did not believe the freeze would damage grain crops, but, coupled with the long dry spell, it will give trees a shock that will require more energy to recover. Young alfalfa, fruit trees and vegetables would suffer most, he said.

Temperatures dropped to 22 at Wichita Falls but growers hoped the accompanying high wind had forestalled some of the damage. The young wheat crop, up enough for grazing, was not expected to be damaged.

However, fruit trees were in full bloom and could be hit hard.

At mid-morning Monday freezing rain or sleet fell from the Wichita Falls area southward to below Abilene, Mineral Wells and eastward to Sherman and Denison.

Motorists were warned by the State Highway Patrol that freezing rain and sleet made streets and highways dangerous.

Temperatures dropped to 8 degrees in the upper Panhandle shortly before dawn. Freezing weather was forecast for the Fort Worth-Dallas area by noon.

Two pressure systems were gyrating in unison and causing the cold, damp weather.

Clouds covered all Texas and showers were forecast for much of the state. Light freezing rain mixed with sleet was expected in North Central Texas.

A low pressure system centered over El Paso sent moist Gulf air up over the state. A high pressure system in Nebraska shooed cold air down across Texas.

Junior Fat Stock Show Set To Open

Members of Howard County 4-H clubs and FFA chapters move into Big Spring Tuesday for opening of their annual fat stock show.

They are bringing 19 steers, 140 lambs and 40 capons to compete in the event and hope to share in the $450 in prizes posted by the Howard County Junior Livestock Association. The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring organization working through the association in staging the exposition.

Three classes of fat steers are to be featured. There will be two classes of capons and six classes of fat lambs.

The lambs are divided into two classes of fine wool lambs; one class Southdown Crossbred; one class crossbred and two classes Southdowns.

Initial event of the show will be the weighing in which begins at 8 a.m. and must be completed by noon Tuesday.

Wednesday is judging day. Capons will be judged at 8 a.m., fat lambs at 9 a.m. and steers at 2 p.m.

Judges are to be: Capons—Elbert Steele, FFA teacher, Stanton; Fat Lambs—Herman Carter, Midwest Feed Yards, San Angelo; Steers—Calvin Holcomb, county agent, Tula.

Closing event of the show will be the auction at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Walter Britten is to be auctioneer. Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said that 18 steers are to be sold. There will be 70 lambs placed on the auction block and 20 capons are to be offered.

The location is at the Howard County Fair Association plant, south of the rodeo bowl.

Taylor said that the sudden downward dip in weather would have no measurable impact on the show even if it continued.

The buildings are heated, he explained, and all of the exhibitors are properly prepared for any contingency.

Prize money will be shared by the first 10 place winners in each event.

Tentative plans were being discussed Monday to have a carnival play during the show on an adjacent tract of ground. Taylor said that a carnival was not a usual feature of the show but that the Junior Chamber of Commerce was planning to ask the city to permit a show to set up for the 1956 event.

The Howard County exhibition will bring to an end the current schedule of show activities by Howard County 4-H and FFA members.

So far this year, Taylor said, the Howard county group has participated in shows at Dallas, Chicago, Odessa, Phoenix, El Paso, San Antonio, Houston, Abilene and San Angelo.

At San Angelo, Taylor said the local entries fared well enough.

In the heavy steer division, Robert Lomax placed first and Wanda Boatley second. In the light weight steer division, Mack Robinson, Coahoma FFA, was second; Rodney Brooks placed third and eighth and Joyce Robinson, fifth. The Lomax steer was reserve champion. Lomax also won the top showmanship award at the San Angelo show.

In the lamb division, Howard County won fourth place in groups of 15 from one county.

Lorita Overton placed 7th in heavy fine wool division; Susan Elrod, 10th in medium fine wool division and Taylor said that half of the 29 lambs the Howard County delegation showed wound up in the money.

Fifteen youngsters were at San Angelo. They were accompanied by Taylor, his assistant, Bill Sims and Mrs. J. W. Overton and Mrs. C. L. Gooch. These women are from Forsan.

Taylor estimated that in sales and prizes, the Howard County exhibitors have collected more than $5,000 this past year.

Next year, he said, a much heavier schedule is planned. More calves are being prepared and more lambs will be readied during 1956.

Lad Is Dawson's Seventh Fatality

LAMESA — An 8-year-old Latin-American boy Sunday became a Dawson County's seventh traffic fatality of 1956.

He was Henry Garza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Garza.

The accident left the county with its unenviable record of a traffic death every 7 days during 1956. The accident occurred when a tire blew out on the pickup truck in which the lad was riding. He was thrown from the truck, which then overturned on him.

Driving the truck was Julian Ramirez, 23, of the Sand Community, in which the Garza family resides. The accident occurred about seven miles west of here on U.S. 180 Highway.

Funeral has been set for 4 p.m. Monday at the graveside. Rites were to be conducted by the Rev. James Comiske, pastor of the Catholic Church. Interment was to be in the Lamesa cemetery under direction of Higginbotham Funeral Home.

Bodies To Be Checked In Poison Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 12 (AP)—Six bodies are to be exhumed today for examination to determine if Mrs. Rhonda Bell Martin poisoned them with arsenic.

The bodies are those of Mrs. Martin's second husband and her five children, one of whom died 12 years ago. One source said the bodies would be turned over to state toxicologists tomorrow.

The husky 49-year-old waitress was arrested at Mobile Friday and jailed here on charges of poisoning her fourth husband, Claude Martin, whose son by another marriage is her current husband.

Supreme Court Ousts School Entry Delays

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today declared unconstitutionally that state universities may not delay the admission of Negro students pending a study of problems involved.

The high tribunal issued an order overturning a Florida Supreme Court decision that permitted a delay in the admission of Virgil D. Hawkins to the law school of the all-white University of Florida.

Hawkins is a 46-year-old Negro of Daytona Beach, Fla.

The Florida Supreme Court had appointed a commissioner to take testimony on the question as to when Hawkins could be admitted without creating "public mischief."

The highest tribunal's order today said:

"As this case involves the admission of a Negro to a graduate professional school, there is no reason for delay.

"He is entitled to prompt admission under the rules and regulations applicable to other qualified candidates."

Only last Monday the Supreme Court affirmed a lower court decision which broadened to include tax-supported colleges and universities the court's 1954 decision on striking down segregation in public schools.

Today's order noted that the Supreme Court in 1954 had ordered Hawkins' case—then before the tribunal—reconsidered in the light of the public school decision of that year.

Climbs Tree At Age 90

Mrs. Eugenia Frazier, of Springdale, Va., celebrates her 90th birthday by climbing a maple tree near her home before making a trip to Bowmanville, Ontario, Canada, where she was born in 1866. In previous years Mrs. Frazier has celebrated her birthday by roller skating, sledging and rope skipping. The vibrant lady said her husband frowns on such demonstrations.

Funds Asked In Cotton Battle

Howard County farmers and other interested citizens have been asked to provide another $300 to help finance the legal battle of West Texas farmers for more cotton acreage.

Ralph White, Farm Bureau president for the county, said that $15,000 is being raised to finance court tests of rulings by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Various farmers have filed for injunctions against Ezra Benson, secretary of agriculture, and the State ASC Committee. The suits ask that the defendants be restrained from putting into effect cotton acreage allotments which the West Texans allege are discriminatory.

White said the cost of handling the suits in the federal courts is being prorated among the various West Texas cotton producing counties. Howard County's share will be the $200, in addition to $225 which the Farm Bureau and Chamber of Commerce already have paid.

Persons wishing to participate may send contributions to Howard County Farm Bureau or the Chamber of Commerce, White said.

Late-Winter Blast Brings Sleet, Low Of 21 Degrees

Winter refused to pay any attention to the nearness of official spring and struck a bitter blow at Big Spring and West Texas Sunday night and Monday morning.

Its onslaught was scheduled to continue this afternoon, tonight and into Tuesday.

Low temperature for the night was 21 degrees at the Experiment Station. This reading occurred at 8 a.m. At that time sleet was pelting the countryside and a cold wind was blowing. The sun was able, by late mornning, to break through the gray clouds but the cold wind persisted.

Bruce Frazier, reporting from the Howard County Junior College, said that the reading at that station was 26 degrees at 5:30 a.m.

Security In Nicosia

A British soldier holds a civilian resident of Nicosia, Cyprus, at a bayonet point, while his partner searches the civilian's effects. Continuing demonstrations against the British on the island have brought about a tightening of security regulations.

Strike Spreads Like Wildfire In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A spontaneous general strike spread like wildfire throughout Cyprus today, virtually paralyzing all business on this British colony island in the eastern Mediterranean.

Shops, banks and schools were closed in protest against Britain's exile of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the union-with-Greece movement.

No specific call was made by any organization for the general strike. Many of the shops had been closed since Saturday.

British troops wielding batons dispersed a small crowd outside the Phanomenon Church in Nicosia after the crowd had stoned a patrol car. The British threw a crowd of soldiers around the church.

Another group of 200 demonstrators was dispersed without incident near Metaxas Square. British troops patrolled the streets of this tense capital.

In Athens, the Greek government banned mass meetings called for today in protest against the deportation of Archbishop Makarios to a remote Indian Ocean island.

The Greek Ministry of Interior in banning demonstrations reacted speedily to warnings by the sponsor, Archbishop Spyridon of Athens, that the mass meetings might degenerate into violent rioting.

Squads of police and steel-helmeted troops guarded the British, U.S. and Turkish embassies in Athens.

Fears were expressed that Communists would flock to the demonstrations and incite violence.

Greek feeling against Britain was running high. Archbishop Makarios was the leader of the union-with-Greece movement on Cyprus, a British colony in the eastern Mediterranean.

More than 80 persons were injured in rioting Saturday which saw British flags burned, British buildings stoned and the tires slashed on British-owned buses.

The chief of Athens' mechanized police was injured critically while attempting to quiet the mob.

The anti-British demonstrations spread out to Salonika and Crete. Rioters on Crete wrecked and looted the British consular building. The consul escaped by hiding in the basement.

While the government banned mass meetings, it showed its anger at the British in other actions.

It suspended indefinitely the teaching of English in elementary and high schools. It closed the British Institute and four other British-subsidized agencies. It canceled horse races and all athletic meetings "as a precautionary measure."

Greek trade unions demanded the expulsion of British Ambassador Sir Charles Peake, whose presence in Athens they called a "dangerous provocation." Greece has already recalled her ambassador from London.

Nicosia shops opened for business today but closed again when word spread that workers had stayed away from factories. Security forces patrolled the city.

British Maj. Tony Dean-Drummond, a hero-author of World War II, was in serious condition. A mob stoned his car Saturday night while he was driving through Kyrenia, Cyprus.

A 17-year-old Cypriot youth died when a hand grenade he was about to throw at a military ambulance exploded in his hand. He was with a group of rebels in the Trodos Mountains.

The British deported Archbishop Makarios Friday as he was preparing to leave for talks with the Greek government on his failure to win self-determination for Cyprus after five months of secret talks with the British.

British authorities on Cyprus said an analysis of seized documents indicated that Makarios had been under the thumb of the terrorist Eoka organization during the negotiations.

Quads Enter Third Day

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The nation's tiniest celebrities, the Shaia quadruplets, have started their third day of life with surprisingly good health but no names and terribly empty stomachs.

The quads—all girls—were born Saturday to Mrs. Richard Shaia, 32, wife of a Richmond restaurant owner.

Physicians at St. Luke's Hospital said today, "They're looking better all the time."

Born more than a month premature, the quads weighed a total of only 16 pounds 3 1/2 ounces. They were placed in two double incubators.

"Everything is going particularly well," said Dr. Carolyn McCue, the pediatrician who watched over the tiny babies constantly.

The identical quads get their first nourishment today—a sugar and water mixture. Barring adverse reactions, regular formula feeding will begin.

As to names, Papa Shaia planned to confer with Mama Shaia before deciding. Shaia, 30, and Mrs. Shaia have five other children, 2 to 9.

"We've gotta talk it over. These are very special kids," remarked Shaia. "They ought to have very special names."

The attending physician, Dr. William Hughes Evans, said the quadruplet births were "perfectly normal" and that the mother came through her ordeal "very nicely." The babies were delivered in 14 minutes.

Parents Will Pay For Youth 'Picnic'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An attorney for parents of a group of Oklahoma City teen-agers told Oklahoma County authorities today the parents have promised to make full restitution for damage done Friday night to a farmhouse near here.

The house, owned by Mrs. Lulla Long, 80, a widow, was virtually destroyed. Large holes were broken in the walls, furniture was smashed and a porch and roof were torn off the house.

The lawyer, Lester Hoyt, gave Sheriff Bob Turner a list of names of 31 boys, who he said had told their parents they were present at a "picnic" in the vacant house Friday night. No charges have been filed.

The U.S. Air Force set the previous record last August when he flew a F100C Super Saber at just over 822 miles an hour. Another U.S. plane, the Bell X-1A, has flown at 1,650 miles per hour but not under record conditions.

Britain Claims Jet Speed Mark

LONDON (AP)—Britain claims her dart-like new jet fighter, the Fairey Delta 2, has captured the world speed record with a mark of 1,132 miles an hour.

The Royal Aero Club said the single-jet plane known to airmen as the "Drop Snoot" struck this average in two runs over a nine-mile course in southern England.

It recaptured the record from the United States. Test pilot Peter Twiss was at the controls.

Col. Horace H. Hanes of the U.S. Air Force set the previous record last August when he flew a F100C Super Saber at just over 822 miles an hour. Another U.S. plane, the Bell X-1A, has flown at 1,650 miles per hour but not under record conditions.

Card of Thanks

I wish to extend my deepest appreciation and thanks to all the blood donors who were so generous during our emergency. God bless each of you.

After Nixon Broke Tie

Vice President Richard Nixon and Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) pose on the Capitol steps in Washington after Nixon cast a tie-breaking vote to give the administration a 46-45 victory on a farm bill amendment to knock out 90 per cent price supports on wheat. The vice president announced the tie and cast the deadlock-breaking "aye," overruling an objection from Gore who challenged his right to do so under existing parliamentary situation.

Motorist Sliced On Head By Propeller Recovering

DENVER (AP)—A 21-year-old motorist who was sliced on the head by an airplane propeller as he drove his car through its churning blades was recovering at a Denver hospital today.

Attendants said Bryce L. Bredehoff of Brighton, Colo., was in good condition. He suffered only a deep cut and a black eye.

Bredehoff's bout with a Trans World Airlines Constellation climaxed a wild drive around Stapleton Airfield early yesterday that threw officials into a tizzy.

His auto fell in behind the plane as it was taxiing for a takeoff, police said. The car kept going into the propeller blades under the control tower.

The blades slashed the car at 6-inch intervals. Bredehoff was hit on the head before the amazed pilot, Capt. Norton H. Vance, Malibu, Calif., could shut off his engines.

Police said Bredehoff started his ride by driving through a stop sign. The car then:

- Jumped a curb and a ditch.
- Smashed through a steel wire fence.
- Bumped along a plowed field about a mile.
- Smashed through a wood fence onto airport property, tearing out a radar installation.
- Logged several miles up and down runways before tangling with the plane.

Bredehoff said later: "I'd had three or four glasses of beer and a couple of drinks of vodka at a party. But I don't remember hitting the fence or having an accident at all."

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dync*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.* At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Beaten Body Of Schoolgirl Found In Neighbor's House

KAUKAUNA, Wis. (AP)—The bludgeoned body of Theresa Van Der Horst, 18, a senior at Kaukauna High School who had been missing from her home for two nights, was found yesterday in the basement of a neighbor's house.

Dist. Atty. Fred Froelich said Michael McCormick, 17, a junior at the high school, was held without charge.

Froelich said McCormick admitted in an oral statement that he had beaten the girl on the head with a brass shell case and stuffed her body in an alcove in the basement.

The district attorney said McCormick related that he and the girl met in the basement Friday night. She told him she was pregnant and threatened to tell his parents that he was responsible if he did not run away and marry her. Froelich quoted McCormick as saying:

County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said a preliminary autopsy report indicated the girl died of suffocation.

He said her wind pipe was kinked, cutting off air, when she was placed unconscious in the 20-inch-wide alcove.

Young Indonesia Reds Razz Dulles

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A dozen young Communists shrilled anti-SEATO slogans to greet Secretary of State Dulles when he landed here today. But most of Indonesia's 80 million people appeared indifferent to the American diplomat's visit.

During his 24-hour stopover Dulles planned to confer with President Soekarno. His program does not include a visit with Premier-designate Ali Sastroamidjojo.

Sastroamidjojo, former ambassador to Washington, headed a pro-Communist government for two years until he was ousted last July. Soekarno called on him to form a new cabinet after last fall's first popular election in which the Communists gained considerable strength in Parliament.

Eleven jeering youths and one girl were arrested by police when they began demonstrating as Dulles stepped out of his plane.

As the secretary's automobile pulled away from the airport, one of several hundred spectators hurled a piece of purple paper at it. A policeman who threatened the paper thrower with his gun but was restrained by a superior officer. Police said later the paper carried the slogan "Destroy SEATO."

A Foreign Office spokesman said Communist workers had threatened yesterday to stage a demonstration on Dulles' arrival. He said the girl arrested admitted she was a member of the Indonesian Gerwani, a Communist nationalist organization.

Dulles gave no sign of hearing the slogan shouters as he walked into the airport and was greeted by outgoing Foreign Minister Anak Agung Gde Agung.

Dulles said he looked forward to exchanging views with Soekarno and other Indonesian leaders.

"I share the gratification of democratic nations at the successful completion of free and orderly elections" in Indonesia, he said in a brief radio talk.

The secretary flew here from Ceylon, where he told newsmen collective security pacts are as vital to countries as police and fire departments are to communities.

History-Testers Find Why Battle Of Hastings Lost

CIRENCESTER, England (AP)—Six volunteer history-testers staged in last night with the reason King Harold lost the battle of Hastings: his men were too darned footsore to fight.

The volunteers wore helmets and 40 pounds of chain mail, and carried shields, battle axes and spears. Their grind covered 20 miles of grass-grown, rutted trail, the Old Roman Road between Bath and Cirencester. They finished as weary men.

It was a test run to see whether history could be right in saying Saxon King Harold's forces marched 200 miles from Stamford Bridge to Hastings in 10 days back in 1066. Some modern experts claim this was impossible without horses.

Asked whether he could have kept it up for another nine days, one volunteer, nursing a blistered foot, crisply told a reporter:

"I could have kept up the walking, all right, but I wouldn't have been fit to fight any bloody battle with William, the Conqueror when I got there."

The volunteers, all members of the Surrey Walking Club, were enlisted by the British Broadcasting Corp. The BBC plans to stage a Battle of Hastings television program on June 5, and wanted to make sure history isn't being ridiculous about Harold's famous march.

Exchange Of Pot Shots Fires Up New Hampshire Primary

An exchange of pot shots between the rival camps of Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver has added new heat to the windup of New Hampshire's Democratic presidential primary campaign.

Members of both parties in New Hampshire will ballot tomorrow. President Eisenhower seems assured of a decisive victory in the Republican contest, so interest centers on the Kefauver-Stevenson competition for Democratic convention delegates.

Stevenson supporters yesterday put out a statement claiming Kefauver is "a straw candidate receiving money from the governor of a large state" in an effort to torpedo Stevenson's candidacy. The statement did not identify the governor.

Kefauver, stopping in Boston en route to New Hampshire for a final round of campaigning, said last night:

"We've received mighty little money from anybody, and no governor has given or offered us any contribution."

Kefauver is unopposed in the presidential preference section of the primary and Stevenson has not campaigned in the state. Both men are represented on the ballot by full 12-member delegate states, however. Single delegate candidates are in the Democratic race as favoring Governors Averell Harriman of New York and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

On the Republican side, seven delegate candidates favorable to Sen. Knowland of California are running against Eisenhower backers. The President is unopposed in the preference poll.

The much-discussed question of who will be Eisenhower's November running mate popped up yesterday in a New York radio-TV interview of Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

Herter said he is "making absolutely no effort" to get second place on the GOP ticket but would take the assignment if Eisenhower and the party convention "wanted me." The governor said he would be "very happy" if Vice President Nixon was nominated for a second term.

Something less than solid support for Nixon was shown Saturday in an Associated Press poll of 19 of the 38 prospective GOP convention delegates in New Jersey. Nine of the organization-backed delegate candidates favored Nixon while 10 were either undecided or lukewarm toward him. All 19 candidates were for Eisenhower.

Among the Democrats, there were indications that a Texas "favorite son" move for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson might spread and give him presidential support from Southern states.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said yesterday that if Johnson wants to run "I will support him 100 per cent." Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), who headed a States Rights ticket that opposed national Democratic candidates in 1948, commented that Johnson would be an "attractive candidate" in his state.

The move on behalf of Johnson was initiated by Speaker of the House Rayburn of Texas. Johnson has agreed only to give the proposal careful consideration. The 47-year-old senator suffered a heart attack last July but his doctors say he has made a good recovery.

Meanwhile, Stevenson and Kefauver ranged far afield during the weekend in their quest for support.

Addressing a party dinner in Detroit Saturday night, Stevenson attacked what he called Eisenhower's plan "for the delegation of our highest responsibilities to some 'associate presidents.'"

He said the limits placed on Eisenhower's activities since his heart attack do not conform to "the rules for governing a democracy."

"Finding peace and security is a full-time job for a full-time president," he said.

Kefauver, in a radio-TV interview yesterday, said Eisenhower administration "insistence" on flexible farm price supports would cost the Republicans dearly in some normally GOP farm states next November.

Last Week's Freeze Seen As Fatal To Fruit Crops

DALLAS (AP)—Last week's freeze apparently brought the third knockout blow in three years to East Texas fruit growers, district agricultural agents reported.

It was still too early to tell for sure the extent of the freeze damage. District agents J. H. Surovik of Mt. Pleasant and Walter Scott of Nacogdoches said the damage appeared to be great.

The freeze in East Texas was harder than in the area to the west. Temperature got down to 23 degrees at Nacogdoches, Scott said.

Some corn had been planted but was not up, he said.

Surovik said the cold snap "nipped" grasses in low places, did considerable damage to peaches, pears, plums, strawberries and tomatoes.

The need for more rain grew serious during the week, spurred on by high winds that dried out the topsoil, district agent Ted Martin of Denton said. The soil in North Texas is still in good growing condition and small grains made "excellent growth" last week, he said.

The grain provided some grazing. Livestock were reported in from poor to fair condition. Stock water was short in some areas.

Corn planting started in North Texas.

In the Rolling Plains, the topsoil moisture was drying out rapidly, said district agent J. A. Scofield of Vernon. Small grain over most of his district made slight growth "but will be suffering for moisture soon." Ranges were greening up very slowly, and most range cattle received supplementary feed.

14 Hen Houses Set At Stanton

STANTON—The caged hen project for Stanton is almost ready to start moving. The only thing holding up the building of houses, according to C. J. Chapman, is getting the finance papers cleared.

Chapman says 12 farmers and two residents of Stanton will build the poultry houses. The size of each house will be 24 by 160 feet, and each will hold 1,200 cages. This size was decided upon after a visit to Colorado City, where several houses were inspected.

The marketing contract has already been signed. A San Angelo firm will handle the eggs, picking them up at a central location in Stanton.

In preparation for the time when the first eggs will be sold, the producers have formed an association to be known as the Stanton Caged Egg Producers. Officers are Tom Houston, president; James White, vice president; and Miss Ann Bickley, secretary.

Woman Describes Drug Addiction On Television Program

DALLAS (AP)—A masked woman told of becoming a drug addict on a television program last night, then listened to a panel of experts discuss her plea for help.

She appeared on the new WFAA-TV "Confession" show which has been fully endorsed by all Dallas area law enforcement agencies.

The Rev. Tom Shipp, pastor of the Lovers Lane Methodist Church, insisted that the church wants to help. "You do have a home, friend, God loves you," he told the woman identified only as "Jane."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said second-time offenders should receive capital punishment for their "death on the installment plan" by selling drugs illegally.

LINCOLN

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time

If this changes your former preferences . . . you're in good company!

We'd like to make a prediction about you. Without reservation, we prophesy that you will revise your fine car standards upward after even a brief personal meeting with Lincoln for 1956.

The reason for our confidence? Simply this: the pleased people we've watched in our showrooms — and the names we've been writing on our waiting lists — ever since this completely new fine car made its debut.

We're certain that you — like these others who really know fine cars — will recognize at once the dramatic whole newness of Lincoln design. In its long, clean sweep of line. In the breathtaking daring of its low silhouette, a scant five feet high.

And we further forecast this: when you turn the key, your interest will turn to admiration. For you will feel the swift obedient thrust of the new 285-hp Lincoln engine as it is served up with silken smoothness by Lincoln's incomparable Turbo-Drive transmission. You will know the gentle firmness of Lincoln's ball-joint suspension system.

And all this, surrounded by the matchless luxury of Lincoln interiors . . . encircled by the protection of Lincoln safety advances . . . pampered by the automatic ease of Lincoln power assists.

We suggest you put our prediction to the test this very week — with a Lincoln safety-flex steering wheel in your hands and a long road before you. Why not make it today?

Sap Is Up In Texas Politics

Texas' internal politics, as well as its role in the national Democratic Party picture, hotted up this week with the proposal from Bonham by Speaker Sam Rayburn that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson become Texas' favorite-son candidate for the presidential nomination.

sey shift reflected the governor's attitude; that is, that Johnson as a favorite son was acceptable, but heading the delegation to the convention is something else again.

How Much Of A Lobby Probe's Coming?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The special eight-man committee picked by the Senate to investigate lobbying has its work cut out for it.

There are four Democrats and four Republicans on his committee. If they play politics on the direction the investigation takes, McClellan as chairman may split along party lines, there won't be much investigation.

They've already shown signs of party splitting. From the time they were appointed Feb. 23 until the Saturday they were so badly divided they couldn't agree on rules for doing business.

Now they have agreed — with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) as chairman and Sen. Bridges (R-NH) as vice chairman — but the kind of agreement they made leaves the door open for party splits and paralysis.

Around The Rim

Sees No Conservatism In U.S. Growth

Speaking over the British Broadcasting Corporation not long ago, Peregrine Worsthorne said the rebirth of interest in conservatism in the United States almost defies our history.

According to the English news analyst, the very word has a peculiarly un-American ring about it for, said he, the U. S. is a country associated in the minds of many people with change and planning for the future rather than preservation of the past.

It is arguable, Worsthorne added, that at least in the South, conservatism has deep roots. Southern political conservative thinkers did make a determined effort prior to the Civil War to introduce the ancient regime into the western world.

When the principal bogeyman available to the Southern conservatives was Thomas Jefferson and to their successors, Franklin Roosevelt, it is not surprising, said Worsthorne, that American conservatism has always seemed unnecessary.

The commentator pointed out that American industrial titans have sometimes been fiercely reactionary in their politics but, at least, in their speeches they always cling to the sonorous liberal platitudes.

And if you called Carnegie, Rockefeller or Henry Ford a conservative, Worsthorne said you faced the probability of facing a battery of lawyers for allegedly defaming character.

How, asked Worsthorne, could men who transformed a continent, revolutionized the habits of mankind, bound with no affection for the past, be termed conservative?

Such men, stated Worsthorne, have opposed cartels, monopoly and other restrictive practices, as evidence of an improper concern for security and a settled life. In other words, they have never really objected to revolutionary capitalism, but only to capitalists who have become conservative.

Search as we may, says Worsthorne, conservatism, sounds no substantial echo in the American past. Yet today, visit any American university, read any intellectual or business journal or serious newspaper and the word "conservative" keeps recurring like a holy incantation.

Young dons, as Worsthorne puts it, will proudly inform you that there is a conservative revival on the campus.

Worsthorne says he regards such New World tomes as a shade naive and potentially dangerous — naive because they overlook the essential liberalism of the American tradition; and dangerous because, if they succeeded in establishing a genuinely conservative movement in America they would also run the risk of producing, as a reflex action, which hitherto America has notably lacked.

Will The 'Middle' View Work For Integration?

Life magazine publishes a letter addressed to the people of the northern states by William Faulkner, the eminent novelist. Mr. Faulkner is a native of Mississippi. He speaks as a Southerner who not only believes in "the simple incontrovertible immorality of discrimination by race" but also that this discrimination is an evil which will be cured eventually by the Southerners themselves.

The point of this letter is to warn Northerners that discrimination will not be cured, will in fact become all the sharper, if legal coercion is used to enforce the Supreme Court's decision.

Mr. Faulkner, as a Southerner who is opposed in principle both to segregation and to enforced integration, regards his position as being in the "middle." He sees himself as pressed from two sides between the Citizens Councils on the one hand, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on the other. He is between those who would uphold "white supremacy" by nullification of the Supreme Court's decision and those who would use the Federal power to abolish segregation. Where, he asks, will Southerners like himself go if Federal enforcement is attempted? They will go, so he says in effect, with the resistance of the Citizens Councils.

The burden of Mr. Faulkner's plea is that the Northerners should not now press for Federal enforcement. For this would make it impossible for Southerners like himself to work for the gradual acceptance of integration.

To this there is something which must be said for the Northerners who will understand and sympathize with Mr. Faulkner's argument. These Northerners include the President and Gov. Stevenson, and they are quite surely a majority today. But their position is threatened by the Southern extremists who not only proclaim the doctrine of nullification but, as in the Lucy case in Alabama, connive at mob violence.

For the moderate Northerners it is impossible to accept the gradualism that Mr. Faulkner advises if at the same time they have to acquiesce in what happened at Alabama University. To do so would be to surrender two elementary principles. One is, as Mr. Faulkner defines it, that discrimination by race is immoral. The other is that the laws of the Union bind all who live within the Union. To acquiesce and not to protest would make the middle position unprincipled and in the end untenable.

The situation is one in which all the strong passions tend to run to the two irreconcilable extremes — towards the fierce defense in the deep South of the white way of life, towards a militant demand by the Negroes and their friends for the vindication of their indubitable human rights.

There is little reason to believe that the issue can now be dealt with in the South as it was after the Civil War—by nullification with the assent of the North. There is a new dynamic factor in the situation today—the rise of the American Negro to a position of very considerable economic and political power.

Yet we can have no great hope that mutual warnings like Mr. Faulkner's and mine, that these pious exhortations to reason and moderation, will in themselves be heeded. The basic weakness of the middle position is that it does not now, that it does not as yet, represent a practical and concrete program on which men of moderate temper have agreed to unite.

Mr. Faulkner says "go slow now." But how slowly can we go without nullifying the Constitution? Northerners say, "Take your time but show good faith." But what would be enough compliance to prove good faith?

There seem to be a number of persons today who feel the world is going to hell in a hack, and certainly they have a point. But for the optimists who believe that, every day, in every way the world is getting gooder and gooder, I can offer a little concrete evidence this day.

Not to beat around the bush further, men are now taking their own wives—goody! goody!—to Maxim's, a fact that would have caused a scandal in Uncle Horace's day.

Believe me, in the Gay Nineties, England's Edward VII (then Prince of Wales) didn't take his wife to this Paris rendezvous, which he loved. And that lady Uncle Horace saw Belgium's Leopold II with in the little upstairs dining room was neither his wife nor a lady. Maxim's, in those days, was no place for either.

"But times change. Today the wife gets the break. She is the one who comes to Maxim's," mused M. Albert Blazer, 74, the incomparable maitre d'hotel of Maxim's, who is paying his first visit to the United States.

M. Albert is known as the last absolute monarch in Western Europe, an iron and non-benevolent social dictator before whose smile international society weeps with delight, just as it trembles with fear at his frown. Because Albert can make or break a cafe society career by the prominence of the table he assigns to Maxim's clientele.

"So what is the basis of the protocol on which you assign top tables?" I asked M. Albert, a pleasingly plump tribute to the glories of French cooking.

"First, a really famous name." M. Albert said seriously, as he attacked a notable slab of roast beef and scuffed his pristine oxfords in the sawdust of a notable Second Avenue bistro.

"Second, money. And third, elegance." And if you have all three, wail! You are probably the Duchess of Windsor and sit at the very best table, which is No. 16, with your husband, The Duke, in turn, is the grandson of Edward VII who first made Table 16 famous by not dining there with his wife.

But there is still another way to get a prime table, said M. Albert softly. Let a gentleman and lady whom he has never seen and of whom he has never heard (and M. Albert has seen and heard of everyone worth Maxim's salt) ask for a table, and they will get the best, providing only that the lady is surpassingly beautiful and wears shoes.

"Does it work in reverse?" I asked. "Suppose a middle-aged woman like myself arrived at Maxim's with a young man as handsome as a combination Sir Laurence Olivier, Ezio Pinza and Clark Gable. What does she get?"

"The gate," said M. Albert, who speaks Americanese.

M. Albert may be the last old-fashioned snob left in captivity, but he has some very enduring opinions of American cuisine. "Think it's excellent. Loves the roast beef." ("American beef is the best in the world!"). American coffee and the cheesecake, pastry division.

"The other division," said M. Albert, "is unexcelled, too."

Love And Boredom Are Partners

NEW YORK (AP)—I set out to find the 10 most boring types of people in America.

You may be more sophisticated than I am, but I really was surprised by the results.

I was surprised to discover how many people are bored by the things they feel they honestly love. I never had thought that love and boredom could partner. They do.

Every thoughtful person has his own ideas about our most common American bores, but here are the 10 that resulted from my quick survey:

1. The hobbyists. A new sports car from Germany, a fresh stamp from Abyssinia, a rosy rocket that might reach the moon, three mistakes that if Robert E. Lee hadn't made would have changed the present accent in Brooklyn, and how to make a camellia smell sweet as well as look ornamental.

2. Anybody who marries for the first time, had a baby for the first time, or who just bought a new car, new house, or a new hair tonic used hopefully by Khrushchev.

3. The silent or secret bore. He bores from within himself. It takes you some time to realize that the only wisdom he actually has is his own desperate realization that everytime he opens his mouth he puts both of his feet into it—plus any neighboring foot.

4. Gourmets. The trouble with gourmets is that, when they invite you out to dinner, they always insist they know the best things on the menu and you must share their knowledge, too, even though it consists of pickled rabbit's foot.

5. All sports fans, and particularly New York Yankee fans. One must include here all those who praise the benefits of fresh air but rob you of them by breathing more than their share.

6. The guy with the better way. He knows the place where you can get a finer suit cheaper, a restaurant that serves tastier meals than any you've been able to take your wife to, and a vintage point you never heard of where you can watch the sun rise in technicolor—and it will cost you less to see it.

7. The provocative bore. He knows you because he claims a pipeline into anywhere. He knows whether Eisenhower sleeps in striped pajamas and the brand of hair tonic used hopefully by Khrushchev.

8. The silent or secret bore. He bores from within himself. It takes you some time to realize that the only wisdom he actually has is his own desperate realization that everytime he opens his mouth he puts both of his feet into it—plus any neighboring foot.

9. Gourmets. The trouble with gourmets is that, when they invite you out to dinner, they always insist they know the best things on the menu and you must share their knowledge, too, even though it consists of pickled rabbit's foot.

'Richard III' Is Video Success

NEW YORK (AP)—There is both poetry and blood and thunder in the "histories" of William Shakespeare. Never have the two qualities been more effectively combined than in Sir Laurence Olivier's filmed production of "Richard III," which made its American debut on NBC-TV yesterday.

The three-hour color film was the longest single program yet shown on TV.

What theater audiences always have had to imagine came glowingly to life in this great motion picture of the evil hunchback Duke of Gloucester who wills and murdered his way to England's 15th century throne as Richard III.

In creating Richard, Shakespeare added a new dimension to the stereotype Elizabethan villain; he made him witty, intelligent and courageous as well as ruthless.

Interpreting Shakespeare's Richard, Olivier has added the dimensions of the motion picture; he gives us the closeup of character and the broad grandeur of castle, cathedral and battlefield.

As Richard, Olivier undoubtedly has played his greatest role to date.

The stellar cast, which includes many of England's finest actors, brings more than extraordinary interpretation of character to the screen. Sir John Gielgud as Clarence conveys Shakespeare's thoughtful melancholy; Sir Ralph Richardson as Buckingham is a piercing shrewdness; Claire Bloom as the Lady Anne is a delight in sensual pleasure. The entire cast could be named for extraordinary performances.

Keeping Curly Hair

Helen Grayco gives her complete care-of-hair routine to Hollywood Beauty readers in today's column. Helen, who is Mrs. Spike Jones, knows that attractive hair adds to her TV appearance.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Hints On Hair Care Given By TV Player

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "Don't envy girls with curly hair," Helen Grayco (Mrs. Spike Jones) declared as we chatted in her living room. "It's infinitely more trouble than straight hair. In humid weather it frizzes up and when you wash it, it's a struggle to make it behave as you want it. I had a miserable time with my hair until I learned a few tricks about managing it."

"I must say you've done a good job," I remarked. "No one would suspect that your hair presented any kind of a problem."
"I put it up every night," was Helen's surprising confession. "I don't wet it but I start rolling at the end and pull tight as I wind it into a curl and I find this keeps the hair from being fuzzy. I always make a point of pulling and stretching it after a shampoo," she added. "It would be much easier to manage short but The Boss (Spike) doesn't want me to cut it," she smiled.

"Brushing it helps a lot," she continued. "I carry a small nylon brush in my purse and even my brushes at home have nylon bristles. I need a good, strong bristle to stimulate my scalp because my hair is quite thick. And nylon bristles dry so easily and don't lose their firmness, no matter how often the brushes are washed."
Helen told me how much she enjoys working on TV.
"I've found it so helpful to see myself objectively," she said. She has made frequent television appearances both as a single and with her famous husband's band. "I love clothes," she admitted. "However, I've never thought it necessary to limit myself to one basic type. I much prefer to change around."

"Some of my dresses are high fashion—very sleek and sophisticated. Some of my other things go all out for glamour. When I wear play clothes I wear my hair in a pony tail and put on flats. I feel equally comfortable in each type, in its place, of course, and it's more fun than looking exactly the same all the time."
"But no matter what clothes I'm wearing, I always try to wear suitable make-up. The more I study make-up the more I realize that it takes practice to do all these things to improve yourself, yet maintain an appearance of naturalness. Make-up," Helen concluded, "is definitely an art."

Confidence Vote Seen In French African Policy

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet's demand for special powers to handle the Arab Nationalist revolt in Algeria appeared certain to win National Assembly approval today.

The Assembly met to go through a series of four votes of confidence on the issue.

The Communists and the followers of Pierre Poujade, right wing anti-tax leader, were expected to abstain.

Mollet, returning from weekend talks with Prime Minister Eden, expressed France's thanks for British support of French policy and actions in North Africa. He told the Foreign Press Assn. in a luncheon speech Britain and France now understand now better than ever that they must have a common policy toward the Middle East.

The gravity of the Algerian situation was pointed up by Arab outbreaks across a widespread area of the North African territory over the weekend. French authorities counted nearly 200 rebels killed. Street fighting even spilled into a suburb of Algiers, which rarely has been hit by Nationalist violence.

Assembly approval of Mollet's bid for emergency powers was expected to bring within hours a series of decrees aimed at restoring order in Algeria.

The authorization requested by the government would give Robert Lacoste, resident cabinet minister for Algeria, power to take "all exceptional measures required by circumstances to re-establish order, protect persons and property and safeguard the territory."

Lacoste's first moves were expected to include:

1. Proclamation of a state of siege in many areas.

2. Formation of specially protected areas for Europeans who live in constant danger of terrorist attacks.

3. Reorganization of the police and some other government services.

France up to now has lacked the punch to knock out the 16-month-old Arab rebellion.

Despite the mounting tension, life in the capital went on as usual. But outside Algiers, fighting erupted in a number of places.

Surety Board Okays Rate Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—In an unprecedented move today, the Insurance Commission has approved a graduated rate plan for fire, windstorm and extended coverage on dwellings and farm properties.

The board said it "appears that losses are more frequent and the loss ratio greater on the lower brackets of insurance on dwelling policies."

The rate now is the same per $100 regardless of whether the policy is for $5,000 or $25,000.

"So that the premium will be distributed more equitably among the dwelling classification, the board is of the opinion that a graduated scale of fire, windstorm and extended coverage rates should be adopted for use in rating dwellings," the order said.

The graduated scale of rates is "a new and untried method" and complete statistical information is not available, the board said.

The plan will be made effective Aug. 1 "at which time the board will have statistical information on which to base rate refinements."

Debate on the plan was heard by the commission March 1. Proponents asked for one rate for a $1,000-$5,000 policy, a slightly smaller rate for $5,000-$10,000 and smaller rates for larger price categories.

Mata Dias, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty. His punishment was fixed at $75 fine and three days in jail.

Wind-Whipped Fire Rages Through Suburban Area

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fanned by roaring, gale force winds, flames swept through seven expensive homes of suburban Tujunga early today and raced along a half-mile front through brush and scrub timber.

Families in nearby homes were evacuated. More than 100 firemen, leaning into the teeth of 70 to 85 m.p.h. winds, fought the swiftly moving flames.

Small explosions punctuated the roaring and crackling as the modernistic homes were consumed. At least two homes were unroofed by the wind.

The flames quickly advanced into the head of Las Tunas Canyon, scene of a 3,000-acre brush fire last October.

Today's fire covered several miles along the San Gabriel mountain foothills. It started in a home, firemen said.

THIEVES GET TROPHIES, TOO

There are more ways than one to collect trophies. Two were reported stolen over the weekend.

J. M. Moody, 813 E. 3rd, reported Saturday that a trophy awarded for a fishing contest had been taken from his residence sometime Friday.

Then Sunday morning Roy Little called that a trophy had been taken from the lobby of the State Theatre sometime between noon Saturday and midnight.

Other difficulties Sunday included driving through yards.

F. R. Teague, 1411 W. 6th, reported that a car had hit his back porch steps and driven over some bed springs in the back yard.

Also reported to police Sunday was a hunk of poisoned meat in the yard at 810 E. 13th.

Two Highway Crashes Listed

Sheriff's deputies investigated two traffic accidents over the weekend.

Floyd Moore and Rufus Davidson said one of these was on U. S. 87, 18 miles north of Big Spring.

A 1955 Plymouth identified from papers in its glove compartment as belonging to N. R. Bruster, Perryton, left the highway and plunged down a steep embankment after going over the edge of a culvert. The car was not seriously damaged and the driver was apparently uninjured.

A second accident, at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, occurred in front of Jack's Grocery, U. S. 80 west. A 1950 Chevrolet, driven by V. A. Slay Elliott, Menard, was struck on the right fender by a 1949 Ford driven by Pedro Perez, Big Spring.

Damage was estimated at $25 for each car.

White Man On Trial In Death Of Mississippi Negro

SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—A white Mississippian charged with murdering a Negro goes on trial today in the little country courtroom where two other white men were found innocent of murder in the sensational Emmett Till case six months ago.

Eighty-five prospective jurors were summoned to this northwestern Delta town of 550, for the trial of Elmer Kimbrell, 34-year-old Glendora cotton gin operator.

Kimbrell entered a plea of innocent when arraigned Thursday on a charge of murdering Clinton Melton, 33-year-old filling station attendant at Glendora. Melton was killed Dec. 3 by a shotgun blast that climaxed an argument over the amount of gasoline he had pumped into an auto.

Kimbrell was arrested at the Glendora home of his friend, J. W. Milan, owner of the car.

The French News Agency reported last night the plane exploded in flight near Port Say.

Mustard Gas Kills 2 Boys

LONGWY, France (AP)—A World War I mustard gas shell has caused the deaths of two boys and felled doctors, nurses and an ambulance driver of the Longwy Hospital.

Four schoolboys found the shell yesterday on the outskirts of this town near the Belgian border, scene of heavy fighting 40 years ago. When they tried to dismantle it, the shell exploded.

Farmers summoned an ambulance to take the boys to the hospital. Two of them died on the operating table. Two are near death from their wounds.

At nightfall, members of the hospital staff began collapsing. They had been contaminated by the gas. In serious condition are two doctors who operated on the boys, the attending nurses and the ambulance driver.

An army decontamination squad is working over the entire hospital.

Jet Pilots Told To Develop Faith

Complete faith — yours in others and others in you — will make good leaders, John L. Taylor told graduates of class 56-J at Webb AFB graduation Monday morning.

Taylor, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and a veteran of the Korean campaign, told the group that he could find no subject more important to them than leadership.

"Leadership is a tool that can be used for good or evil," he said, citing how Hitler had prostituted leadership in rising to his dictatorship.

Taylor advised the young pilots to be leaders in their communities, wherever they may be, as well as in the Air Force.

Col. Charles M. Young presented a letter of commendation to 2nd Lt. Maurice A. Longworth for the highest academic standing of the class. He also reiterated his creed that "there is no place for a second rate pilot or a second rate Air Force."

Members of the class were 2nd Lieutenants Howard T. Brophy, Charles L. Camp, Joe V. Carpenter, Sion W. Carter Jr., Arthur J. Copp, George C. Crockett, Glenn Davis, Clement R. Ellis Jr., Vaughn C. Green, Robert D. Hales, Eric W. Heizer, John C. Hemme, Edgar N. Hobby Jr., George R. Houska, John B. Kimmerring.

Maurice A. Longworth Jr., Thomas G. Machen, Paul R. Mackey, Robert D. Mariner Jr., Andrew H. McEachron, Donald W. Manlowe, John E. Oliphant, Thomas S. Pussifer, Gilbert H. Snow, Thom Q. Waltz, Daniel P. Warwick, John J. Zito, all of the USAF and Hasan Kayaltin and Nuri Sahin of the Turkish Air Force.

The exercises were held in the Base chapel.

Churchmen In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—A delegation of American Protestant churchmen has arrived in Moscow for the first formal talks with representatives of the Russian Orthodox faith.

The 10-man group was greeted at the airport by bearded Metropolitan Nikolai, who welcomed them on behalf of Patriarch Alexei, head of the church in Russia. Nikolai expressed the hope their visit here would "result in better relations."

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, president of the National Council of Churches, shook the metropolitan's hand and replied while American and Russian television cameras whirred.

"We bring a greeting to all the people of your churches from the Christian people of the United States. We hope to have interesting and fruitful conversations."

Later the metropolitan shepherded the group to their hotel. They were treated to a lunch of caviar, delicacies and various wines. Teetotalers in the group just held up their glasses when the Russians proposed the customary toast.

A group of Russian churchmen is to repay the visit in June.

Shotgun Blast Fired Into Court Barely Misses Judge

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP)—A shotgun blast fired at close range, narrowly missed U. S. Dist. Judge Frank A. Picard as he presided at a trial here today.

FBI agents immediately seized Stanley Wloch, a 68-year-old farmer.

The agents said Wloch poked a shotgun through the courtroom entrance and fired.

The pellets missed the judge's head by inches and imbedded themselves in the wall back of the bench.

At first, no one saw the pellets that left a pattern about 18 inches wide on the wall.

Judge Picard first appeared to think a blank charge had been fired. He went ahead with the trial, but declared a recess 10 minutes later.

The judge said he had been warned about a week ago to be on guard. "If I went into hibernation every time I get a warning I would never get out into the open," he said.

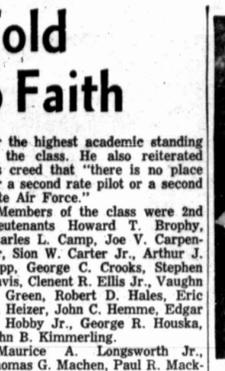

FBI said Wloch filed a civil suit from the U. S. Naval Base at Abilene and the judge dismissed it for lack of jurisdiction. They said Wloch later sent threatening letters to the judge. The suit, agents said, involved Wloch's attempt to recover a farm from his divorced wife and Wloch appealed to federal court after losing in the state court.

Ford Says Aide Sought Funds From Dealers For Ike Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Ford II said today his assistant, as a private individual, sought contributions from Ford dealers in 1952 for President Eisenhower's election campaign.

But he insisted, in testimony prepared for a Senate Commerce subcommittee, that no pressure was put on the dealers, no company funds were used, and no other company personnel were involved.

Ford said that under those conditions, he approved in advance the solicitation efforts of his assistant, Allen W. Merrill, who at the time was a member of the Republican National Finance Committee.

Shot Fired At Two Dawson Officers After Liquor Raid

LAMESA—Someone took a pot shot at two deputy sheriffs here Saturday night, and James Legrant, 20-year-old Negro, was being questioned about it.

Deputies Morris Zimmerman and Shorty Hancock were fired upon as they returned to the Flats section following a raid that had netted a quantity of contraband beverages.

Sheriff Henry Mayfield reported the incident apparently arose out of the sheriff's department having confiscated some beer and liquor in a raid. Armed with a search warrant, officers had entered the house in which the beverages were stored. They could not find Lena Mae Hill, who allegedly was owner of the house someone began throwing rocks at it. The sheriff said he went outside and found Legrant.

After a man-to-man talk, he reported the youth was dismissed. After taking the beverage to the office, Zimmerman and Hancock returned to the Flats section to hunt for the occupant of the house.

A shot was fired at them in the dark, and Legrant was found, according to Mayfield, with a saved-off shotgun in his possession. Mayfield said that charges would be filed in the case.

Charges of possession of intoxicating beverage for purpose of sale will be filed against Lena Mae Hill, who allegedly was owner of the confiscated beverages.

Fire Consumes Cabins At Rear Of Dreamland Hotel

A string of cabins behind 508 NW 3rd burned this morning, but no injuries were sustained.

Firemen answered the call about 5 a.m. today, but the small tarpaper buildings were practically demolished when they arrived.

The buildings belonged to V. A. Gomez and are located just west of the Dreamland Hotel. An oil stove explosion caused the fire. The stove was located in the center cabin of the string, and the fire immediately spread to the adjoining structures.

The blaze was held to the string of cabins by an easterly breeze.

A small blaze was started in the garage behind 2202 Runnels Sunday by a group of children playing there. The garage belonging to Esther Stuteville was not damaged.

Title Cage Meets Begin This Week

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

College basketball gets around to the beginning of the end this week with the NCAA championship tournament, breaking away from tonight in New York, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Seattle, Wash. By week's end, the NCAA and the National Invitation Tournament teams will be in the thick of the final fights for the two major 1956 titles.

The small colleges have at it too, with the NAIA Tournament at Kansas City. That 32-team field starts eliminations tonight. The champ will be crowned Saturday.

The NCAA starts paring its sprawling 25-team field in regional eliminations tonight.

At Madison Square Garden in New York, it's Temple (23-3) vs. Holy Cross (22-4) and North Carolina State (24-3) vs. Canisius (17-4).

At Seattle tonight, Idaho State (17-4) and Seattle (16-8) present their annual tilt in the first of the Western regionals. The winner meets Utah (22-5) Friday at Corvallis, Ore., with San Francisco (25-0), the defending champion with a major college mark of 51 straight successes, meeting UCLA (21-5) in the other half of the double-header.

In the other section of the Western first round, tomorrow at Wichita, Kan., Memphis State (20-6) faces Oklahoma City (18-6) and Southern Methodist (22-2) meets Texas Tech (13-12). Those winners go to Lawrence, Kan., to oppose Kansas State (16-7) and Houston (17-5) to determine the team that will meet the Corvallis winner for March 22.

The Western and Eastern champs battle for the national title at Evanston March 23.

At Fort Wayne's Coliseum tonight, DePaul (13-7) meets Wayne (Mich.) (17-1) and Marshall (18-4) plays Morehead (Ky.) State (17-9). This weekend, the DePaul-Wayne winner will meet Kentucky (19-5) and the Marshall-Morehead winner will test Iowa (17-5) at Iowa City, Iowa. The final survivor moves on to Evanston, Ill., March 22, to meet the Philadelphia winner for the Eastern title.

At Seattle tonight, Idaho State (17-4) and Seattle (16-8) present their annual tilt in the first of the Western regionals. The winner meets Utah (22-5) Friday at Corvallis, Ore., with San Francisco (25-0), the defending champion with a major college mark of 51 straight successes, meeting UCLA (21-5) in the other half of the double-header.

124-B Meet Set April 5

The District 124-B track and field meet will be held on the Howard County Junior College track Thursday, April 5, it has been announced by O. T. Jones, director-general of the conference.

The four-team meet begins at 9 a.m. George McAlister, HCCJC coach, will serve as starter.

Competing will be Knott, Sterling City, Garden City and Forsan. The district tennis meet is scheduled to be conducted on the Forsan courts starting at 10 a.m. Friday.

All schools but Knott will probably have teams entered.

The district golf tournament takes place at the Mundy Course in Spring starting at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 7. Knott and Garden City may enter teams in the links play.

In the track meet, trophies will go to the winning team and to the winners in the mile relay and sprint relay. Individual ribbons will go to winners in the other events. Girls' volleyball will be conducted at Garden City on Tuesday, April 3. All four schools will be represented.

Entries for the district meet must be in the office of Jones at Sterling City no later than Monday, March 26.

Forsan is favored to win team honors in track and field.

Brooklyn Looks Like A Shooin

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

It looks as if the Brooklyn Dodgers are a shooin to repeat as champions of the National League.

Few clubs looked worse during the 1955 exhibition season, when the Dodgers won only 13 of their 27 games. But in the regular season they went on to capture the pennant.

Will it be the same story this year? The first two exhibition games would indicate so.

Saturday, the world champions bowed to the Boston Red Sox 3-3 and yesterday took a 17-5 thumping from the same club. The youthful Sox, who collected 17 hits with seven Brooklyn errors, did most of their damage off rookie pitchers yesterday. Only Ed Roebuck, veteran relief hurler, was effective.

The Red Sox's big blow was Ted Lepcio's grand slam home run off rookie Ralph Maueriello in a five-run fourth inning.

Mickey Mantle came through with a three-run homer off rookie right-hander Bob Mabe with two out in the eighth to give the New York Yankees a 4-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hank Aaron hit two homers over the 433-foot center field barrier at Bradenton, Fla., and Billy Bruton connected with one in leading the Milwaukee Braves to their second straight over the Philadelphia Phillies 6-2. All three came off Jack Meyer, of whom the Phils expect big things this season.

Willie Mays, Johnny Antonelli and Ray Kat got into the home run act as the New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 8-5 for their second straight over the Tribe. Hookie Carroll Hardy and Dick Brown homered for the Indians.

Vernon Law hit a bases-loaded homer and pitched three innings of hitless ball in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 11-1 romp over the Kansas City Athletics. Gene Freese also homered for the Buccs.

Walt Moryn, obtained from Brooklyn by the Cubs in a winter trade, and Monte Irvin, ex-Giant, homered for Chicago but seven Baltimore errors were the big factors in a 13-5 walloping of the Orioles.

The Detroit Tigers made use of 10 bases on balls in edging the Washington Senators 5-4. Two homers were hit in this game—by Jim Lemon of Washington and Ben-Downs of Detroit.

A pinch sacrifice fly by Bob Sherman gave the Chicago White Sox the run they needed in the 10th to defeat Cincinnati 6-5.

Locals Oppose Ponies Tuesday

Weather permitting, the Big Spring High School Steers will meet Andrews in a return baseball game here at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

In that one, the Longhorns will be trying to balance their worst record for the season. They have yielded once to Andrews and last Saturday split a doublebill with Crane.

Though Andrews panted the locals 14-9, Coach Roy Baird is of the opinion that Andrews is not as strong as Crane.

"We should have beaten them," said he. "We made a few, little mistakes I'm sure we'll correct in time."

The Longhorns appear to be lacking in power this year but they have a young team that should show much improvement with experience.

Danny Birdwell or Salvador Sarmiento could get the mound call for Big Spring against Andrews.

The Longhorns visit Snyder Friday for a seven inning practice tilt.

Wes Santee Plans For Next Race

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Miller Wes Santee, facing trial Thursday in his battle against professionalism charges by the Amateur Athletic Union, plans to run next Saturday in Cleveland's Knights of Columbus.

"My plans are to run in Cleveland, no matter how my trial comes out," the former Kansas State star declared Saturday night after winning his section of the Journal feature mile in 4:10.5.

The 24-year-old Marine lieutenant is under a lifetime suspension by the AAU, which ruled he accepted excessive expense money in meets last year. He blocked enforcement of the suspension by securing an injunction that was twice upheld over the appeals of the AAU.

"If my suspension sticks," he said, "we have plans. We hope to move through normal channels. I am not at liberty to divulge what those plans are." The trial on the injunction proceedings will be held by the New York Supreme Court.

Saturday night Santee defeated easily Ed Kirk of the Air Force, who was second, and Bill Taylor, a Marine stationed with him at Quantico, Va.

The second section of the Journal mile was won by Billy Tidwell of Emporia Kansas State Teach-

Midland Defeated Twice By Austin

EL PASO, (SC) — El Paso Austin won both ends of a double-header from the Midland Bulldogs here Saturday, 5-1 and 12-7.

Ronnie Barr scattered five hits in posting the mound victory for Austin in the opening game. James York absorbed the losses in both games.

First game: Midland 010 000 0-1 5 4 Austin 310 091 x-5 5 4 York and Sanford; Barr, Furman and McNutt.

Second game: Midland 015 000 1-7 7 2 Austin 310 071 x-12 7 2 Brown, York, Smith and Sanford; Sanchez, Christian and McNutt, King.

Decimated Red Raiders Ready

LUBBOCK, (SC)—Never in the history of basketball have so few gone so far to meet so many.

With apologies to Churchill, that pretty well sums up the situation confronting Texas Tech's decimated Red Raiders, who play seventh-ranked Southern Methodist University in the first round of the National Collegiate playoffs at Wichita, Kan., Tuesday night.

Only six basketballers are still available to Coach Polk Robinson as the result of NCAA tournament eligibility regulations.

Besides the Red Raiders' top two scorers, Jim Reed and Du-Wayne Blackshar, via the four-year rule, Tech will also be minus Sterling Gibson and Earl Redwine. The latter pair played at other colleges and entered Tech last September upon discharge from the Air Force. Ex-servicemen are immediately eligible in the Border Conference, but NCAA tournament regulations require them to establish eligibility through a full year's residence.

That leaves Tech with three of its regular season starters, two replacements, and one substitute. To help make sure the Raiders have enough men to finish the game, Coach Robinson is suiting up manager Dennis Calvert, junior from Lubbock who played freshman basketball at Tech, and football tackle Barton Massey, all-state cager for Bowie High School in 1951, also a junior. Calvert stands 5 feet 11; Massey, 6 feet 2.

Three who began most of Tech's regular season games will be starters against SMU. These are senior Eugene Carpenter, 6-8, of Big Spring at center, juniors Ned Underwood, 6-4, of Snyder and Harry Scaling, 6-1, of Fort Worth at guards. In Reed's and Blackshar's berths will be a pair of sophomores—Logan Cummings, 6-3, of Littlefield and Bobby Wilson, 6-4, of Lipan. Sophomore Royce Elam, 5-11, of Megarig is the only other full-fledged basketballer.

Overlooked in the furor accompanying Tech's playoff plight was a commendable season. Thirteen-eleven, the Raiders finished fast in winning of their last 11 games. Tech won its third consecutive Border Conference championship counting a title share last season even though two starting spots did not fall until early February.

Tech won four consecutive games by more than 100 points—to set a new major record—and cracked the century mark a fifth time in averaging 79.3 points a contest.

Basilio Is 9-5 Choice In Chicago Title Bout

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio is a 9-5 favorite to beat off ex-champ Johnny Saxton's challenge in a 15-round title bout in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The 28-year-old Marine from Chittenango, N.Y., unbeaten in his last 15 fights, will be making the second defense of the crown he won from chunky Tony DeMarco. Basilio copped the title on a 12th round technical knockout of DeMarco last June 10, and stopped him again in the 12th round in his return championship contest on Nov. 30.

Saxton, who won the title from Kid Gavilan, lost it to DeMarco on a 14th-round TKO in Boston last April 1. He stepped aside twice (for a good chunk of cash) to permit the Basilio-DeMarco money-makers.

The 25-year-old New Yorker, now ranked as the No. 2 contender behind DeMarco, has won four straight since blowing the title. In his last effort on Nov. 9, he looked sharp in outpointing middleweight contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Basilio, the favorite of the television fans for his stirring scraps, will be seen again by video viewers. The bout will be broadcast and telecast (ABC-TV, Radio, 10 p.m., EST) coast to coast.

New York middleweights Hardy Smallwood and Ray Drake clash in a return bout at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight (DuMont-TV, 10 p.m., EST). They fought a sizzling draw on Feb.

Jim Reed Named MVP In Circuit

LUBBOCK, (AP)—Jim Reed, Texas Tech's basketball star, has been selected as most valuable player in the Border Conference for the second time.

Conference coaches picked Reed for the honor he first won as a sophomore in 1954, and named Presley Askew of New Mexico A&M "coach of the year."

East Texas League Not To Operate

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Plans to form an East Texas baseball league were abandoned for this season yesterday but a meeting to organize for 1957 was set at Kilgore Sept. 1.

J. Walter Morris of Dallas said the group wasn't able to get together "due to the lateness of the year" but thought prospects for next year look bright. He has agreed to head the league. The group also decided to operate as a Class C league with a 50 cent admission.

Operating representatives from Greenville, Longview and Marshall attended the meeting. A Kilgore representative phoned that he was ready to join if the league were formed now.

Each club probably will send delegates to the winter minor league meeting to seek player and financial help.

Tech Schedules European Tour

LUBBOCK — Fifty-one days in the heart of Europe on the proverbial "student shoestring" will be offered for the third time this summer by the Texas Tech history department in its annual travel-for-credit program.

The 51-day tour of 11 countries may be taken for six hours of undergraduate or graduate credit—just for the fun of it—according to Dr. Charles D. Eaves, Tech history professor and tour leader. Students and other travelers will leave New York on June 19 and return Aug. 18 via British Overseas Airways.

Although both Atlantic crossings will be made by air, the continental tour itself will be by motor coach.

Total cost will be $998 including air transportation, most meals and tips, or $1,058 if the groups include fewer than 25 members.

Students, instructors and anyone else who is interested will be welcome on the tour. Dr. Eaves said. Further information may be obtained from Dr. Eaves at his office in the Tech administration building from 9 to 10 a.m. or 11 to 12 a.m. daily.
