Long Westinghouse Walkout At An End

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike, one of the longest in the nation's modern labor relations history is over. Strikers weary of picketing idle plants for 156 days headed happily back to work.

Settlement came last night when the striking International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) voted to accept a peace plan proposed two weeks ago by government mediators, but changed somewhat in the union's favor since then.

Westinghouse announced that nine of its consumer products plants will get back into production today. They are at Springfield, Mass., Metuchen, N.J., Fairmont, W.Va., Elmira, N.Y., and Mansfield and Columbus, Ohio.

Returning Workers 'Glad To Be Back'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lunch buckets swinging jauntily, the advance guard of Westinghouse Electric Corp. workmen came back to their jobs today after 156 days of striking. Talking with reporters at the plant gates, the men were all but unanimous in saying "Glad to be back."

summed up the way the IUE rank and file felt. There was no dancing the streets. But pickets happily tore up their shanties and set a few of them afire.

The bulk of the 44,000 strikers represented by IUE are expected to be on the job again in a matter of days. However, at some heavy machinery plants, notably the company's East Pittsburgh works, it will take a month to restore production.

State Closes Case In Bus Boycott Trial

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The state closed its case today against the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., the first of 90 Negroes brought to trial for the boycott of their race against segregated city buses. Circuit Solicitor William F. Theford rested after the manager of the bus company, Montgomery City Lines, Inc., had been recalled to the witness stand for further cross-examination by Negro defense attorneys.

At Pittsburgh, Joe Laird, financial secretary for Local 601, voiced the reaction of most union officials when he said: "It's wonderful news. I'm hopeful that this will mean the beginning of more harmonious relations in the future between company and union."

Blasier avoided argument on which side won or lost. He said it was "now vital that bitterness and recrimination be forgotten" and that everybody pitch in to "maintain our position as a leader in the electrical manufacturing industry."

31 Absentee Votes Cast In Dawson Bond, Tax Election

LAMESA — Thirty-one Dawson County voters have cast absentee votes in the $400,000 hospital bond and tax reallocation election to be held Saturday. Deadline for absentee voting ended Tuesday evening. County Clerk Walter Buckel said election judges could pick up supplies at his office at any time until Friday night.

There will be two ballots in Saturday's election, one on the proposed $400,000 bond issue, the other on a proposal to reallocate the 80-cent ad valorem tax. There will be no new tax, simply a redistribution of the present levy. County Judge Aubrey Boswell has emphasized that only if the hospital issue carries will the reallocation be advisable. He urged all voters who vote for the bond issue to vote also for the reallocations, and vice versa.

Purpose of the survey, according to Green, is to determine actually the prevailing wage paid domestic labor in Dawson County during those days. The United States Department of Labor has announced Dawson County growers owed the Mexican Ministry of Interior for the braceros 20 cents cwt for cotton pulled between those dates.

RED RIVER

3-State Group Asks Flood Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-state delegation today called for funds for flood control and navigation in the Red River Valley in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

The group appeared before a House appropriations subcommittee considering appropriations for water projects in the year starting July 1.

More than 20 persons from the three states were in the group testifying. In addition, Congress members from the area added their requests for adequate funds.

One spokesman, Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) urged approval of these appropriations for the valley.

Ferrell's Bridge Reservoir, Tex., five million dollars; Texarkana Dam, Texas, $1,225,000; bank stabilization below Denison, Tex., $500,000; Overton Waterway $400,000 for planning and restudy of Catde Lake Dam $35,000. These requests are close to budget recommendations except that the President called for $4,300,000 for Ferrell's Bridge and $300,000 for planning the Overton Waterway.

The appropriation for Texarkana would complete that project, the group said, while five million is needed to continue construction of Ferrell's Bridge Reservoir.

Brooks said Northwest Louisiana needed one million dollars for bank stabilization on the Red River and that the budget amount of $500,000 was the very minimum which could be allowed.

In a request for planning money for the Overton Waterway, Brooks said the valley is badly in need of water transportation. The Waterway, authorized by Congress some years ago, calls for a navigation channel on the river or adjoining streams up to Shreveport.

"The Red River Valley is rapidly filling up with people," Brooks said in a statement. "Shreveport, the queen city of the Red River Valley, has increased from 43,000 people in 1930 to 159,000. As cities like Texarkana, Alexandria and Natchitoches in the valley have likewise been growing in population, the transportation needs of this area have been growing commensurately."

He noted industrial activity in the valley has increased greatly. The delegation also included: L. R. Matthias, Shreveport, executive vice president of the Red River Valley Ass.; Quentin Miller, Cooper, Tex.; E. L. Ashcraft and Brent Tarter, Sulphur Springs, Tex.; Frank Green and Ivan P. Oliver, Marshall, Tex.; Ned W. Jenkins, Mansfield, La.; Edgar W. Fullilove and J. T. White, Bossier City, La.

The committee also received testimony urging approval of $75,000 for planning the proposed Cooper, Tex., dam. Rep. Patman (D-Tex) said the project would cost between 15 million and 20 million dollars and would serve as a water supply for Cooper, Commerce and Sulphur Springs.

It has been authorized by Congress but the President's budget did not recommend that Congress provide any money for it this session.

Deepening of the Brazos Island harbor near the mouth of the Rio Grande from 32 to 38 feet is proposed in a project Rep. Kilgore (D-Tex) and Richard Schultz, Brownsville, outlined to the committee.

The budget recommended $400,000 for this work next fiscal year. Kilgore also urged the committee to support the budget recommendation that $50,500 be provided for continuation of studies of irrigation and drainage problems in the Rio Grande Valley.

Cookie Sales Reported By Girl Scouts

LAMESA — If all districts in the area have done as well in the Girl Scout cookie sale as has Lamesa, the objective of improvements at Camp Boothe Oaks will be met this year.

Mrs. Rex Petty, cookie sale chairman, said that some 250 Brownies and Girl Scouts working in the campaign, had grossed $920 in Lamesa and $90 in Gail. Of the $1,010 total raised, $404 went to Camp Boothe Oaks, south of Sweetwater, $545.40 for cookie costs, and $60 for local troops.

During the past four years, the annual cookie sale has made it possible for Girl Scouts of the West Texas area to build a recreation hall, a swimming pool with filtration and chlorination units. Now they are trying to raise funds for a caretaker's lodge, counselors' retreat, and a dispensary.

Several Issues Fought Out In Costly Walkout

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH—The Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike was fought over issues of how much work a man should do each day and whether an existing contract can be replaced. The 156-day dispute cost each side many millions of dollars.

The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers struck 30 Westinghouse plants last Oct. 17.

The main issues commonly were referred to as time study and length of contract. Wages were in dispute too.

Other disputes—some became just as serious as the initial ones—cropped up as the months of negotiations dragged on at the bargaining table.

A smaller union—the independent Electrical Workers—walked out Oct. 26. Wages were its big issue. The UE has conducted separate negotiations.

Together the two unions crippled production in 40 Westinghouse plants—plants which produce electrical equipment that accounts for about 50 per cent of the firm's annual dollar volume.

The strike was the longest major dispute in the nation in the past 10 years. It idled 45,000 IUE members, 10,000 UE members and other company employees.

On one occasion the Federal Mediation Service withdrew from the negotiations, "convinced" it could "be of no further help." But the federal mediators were back a few days later seeking a settlement.

Governors, mayors, ministers and private citizens made suggestions to settle the strike. Usually arbitration was suggested and the company refused, saying it did not want an outside party making decisions on the firm's policies.

Some Westinghouse plant communities that had lived in peace for years became divided into two groups—those who were on strike and those who worked, either as supervisory personnel or as strikers returned to work.

In Sharon, Pa., scene of one of the company's biggest plants, a 7-year-old boy invited 30 of his friends to a birthday party. None showed up. The boy's father, an IUE member, had crossed picket lines and resumed work.

The IUE said that no more than 1,800 of its members ever returned to work and the high point came just before Christmas. The union admitted some production was resumed at a few plants.

The statisticians estimated company production losses were slightly under 20 million dollars a week.

In its annual report, Westinghouse said sales were 250 million dollars below the expected level between Oct. 17 and Feb. 21—the date of the report.

In the same report the company estimated workers lost 86 million dollars in wages between Oct. 17 and Feb. 21. That would average out to about $671,900 a day.

Labor and industry representatives in many sections of the country summed up the long dispute by saying, "Both sides underestimated the strength of the other."

Union and company officials sparred at the bargaining table for a month before the strike started.

The company offered both the IUE and the UE a five-year contract providing what it said was a minimum 2 1/2 cents an hour in wage hikes during the pact. Workers averaged $2.10 an hour before the strike.

Both unions refused although the IUE already had a five-year contract with Westinghouse's biggest competitor, General Electric Co., the nation's biggest electrical appliance producer.

That contract, which became effective last Aug. 1, can only be opened once during the five-year tenure. That is on Oct. 1, 1958, and only on the subject of employment security.

Westinghouse, the second largest producer and the 14th largest corporation in the nation, said it could accept no less. The IUE said the Westinghouse offer was inferior to the GE pact.

Both unions opened negotiations demanding 15-cent hourly wage increases for the remainder of two-year agreements expiring next October. Later the demands were scaled down at the bargaining table.

The IUE charged the company was violating the existing contract by insisting that a new five-year agreement be accepted. The GE contract had expired and was open for negotiation.

But knotty as the problem was it was overshadowed by the time study issue—a dispute over efficiency experts checking the amount and type of work done by hourly paid employees.

An hourly, or day worker, is the classification given an employee who has no specific work quota to meet and is paid a flat wage rate. His work standards are set by the foreman.

An incentive employee is one who by mutual agreement between the company and union, has a work quota to meet. The quota is set by company time studies.

When his quota is exceeded the worker receives incentive or premium pay for his extra effort.

Westinghouse insisted it must be able also to study day worker jobs to learn if the plants could be operated more efficiently.

The union said the goal of such time studies would be to reduce the number of workers and cause demotions or pay cuts for some who remained.

Snowbound On The Parkway

Stalled autos and deep drifts halt all traffic on the Grand Central Parkway in the borough of Queens in Long Island, New York, after one of the worst snow storms in history. Many drivers abandoned their autos, halting all traffic and blocking the efforts of highway workers to clear snow from the roadway. New York auto traffic was paralyzed by the storm.

Mexican Police Seek One Of Two Suspected Killers

MEXICO CITY—The search for one of two men being sought in connection with the slaying of an American couple centered today around Tampico where he was reported seen.

Police said they had taken steps to prevent his escape by boat.

The two men are wanted for questioning in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Barton Kennison of Detroit, Mich., whose badly mutilated bodies were found near Ciudad Victoria last Saturday.

At first it was believed the two men were headed for Texas in a Mercury station wagon.

Police say it was believed the Kennisons had between $45,000 and $60,000 in money and jewelry with them at the time of their deaths.

Murder-Suicide Ruled In Deaths

HOUSTON—Nine-year-old Wayne Reed was shot to death on a Houston street yesterday and two hours later an 80-year-old pensioner, William H. (Red) Davis, was found dead at his home.

Justice of the Peace Dave Thompson returned verdicts of murder and suicide.

Police said Davis' suicide ended threats against the lives of the slain boy's mother, Mrs. Johnnie Reed, 28, a sister, Barbara, 11, and his grandmother, Mrs. D. B. Spicer, 63.

The latter three, who were taken into protective custody while Davis was being sought after Wayne's death, told police that Davis had threatened the family. Mrs. Reed said they had once lived in his home and he was attempting to get her to agree to return to his home with her family.

Police said Davis' suicide ended threats against the lives of the slain boy's mother, Mrs. Johnnie Reed, 28, a sister, Barbara, 11, and his grandmother, Mrs. D. B. Spicer, 63.

The latter three, who were taken into protective custody while Davis was being sought after Wayne's death, told police that Davis had threatened the family. Mrs. Reed said they had once lived in his home and he was attempting to get her to agree to return to his home with her family.

Maybe That's The Reason He Left

HOUSTON—The Houston police missing persons bureau received a request from a Dallas woman for help in locating her husband whom she said had deserted her and three children.

The police asked for a description of the missing husband. They got this answer:

"He has a flat forehead and a large nose and mouth. All in all, he looks like a horse."

2 Men, Woman Due Jail Terms In Bank Robbery

TOPEKA, Kan.—A pert young brunette and two men from Texas faced sentencing today on charges stemming from the robbery of a bank belonging to a former U. S. treasurer.

Mrs. Frankie Evelyn Fletcher, 27, Dallas, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of conspiring to rob the bank Jan. 28.

James Arlington Debenham II, 24, Fort Worth, and Louis Dee Young, 25, Dallas, pleaded guilty to charges of aggravated bank robbery.

They were to be sentenced by U. S. District Judge Arthur J. Mellott, before whom the pleas were entered. Eight other charges against the three were dropped.

On Jan. 2 three men entered the home of Mrs. Georgia Neese

Clark Gray, U. S. treasurer under President Truman, and bound her husband with adhesive tape. Two guarded Gray while a third, identified as Billy Gene Ross, 23, Dallas, forced Mrs. Gray to drive him to her bank and turn over about $4,000.

Mrs. Gray was returned home unharmed, but the men bound her too before they left.

On Jan. 28 Ross was shot to death by Gray as he climbed stairs leading to second-floor bedrooms in the Gray home. Young was arrested in Topeka later that day. Debenham was subsequently arrested in Texas.

Mrs. Fletcher was identified as the driver of what was to have been the getaway car in the hold-up attempt Jan. 28.

And when you take the wheel and "give the gun" to its mighty, aircraft-type, Super Red Ram V-8 engine, your enthusiasm will burst all bounds. For the Texan boasts a powerplant just like the sturdy Dodge that made automotive history on the celebrated Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah.

Surely you've read or heard recently how a '56 Dodge stock car shattered 306 AAA records for endurance and speed in that sensational 14-day, non-stop run. In this officially witnessed performance, Dodge covered the first 10,000 miles at an average speed of 105.43 miles per hour... then went on to cover more than 31,000 miles of round-the-clock driving at a record-breaking clip. This is the greatest distance at the fastest pace any make of stock car has ever travelled.

Now this handsome, flair-fashioned, specially trimmed Texan offers you the same rugged endurance and the same eager power as the Dodge that established these records. What's more, your biggest surprise is still to come!

Most likely, you'd expect to pay a pretty price for a great car like this. Not so! The Texan is priced right down with the so-called "low-priced three." Yet it's big and powerful and luxurious... actually rivaling cars costing as much as a thousand dollars more!

Never will you find a better "buy" nor make a better deal than your nearby Dodge dealer will give you today. Come in today and see the Texan close-up. Get the feel of its wheel on the road. Then judge for yourself.

Sen. Case Urges Rejection Of Change In Presidential Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) appealed to his GOP colleagues today to reject a proposed constitutional amendment that would revise the system of electing presidents and vice presidents.

Although 30 Republican senators are listed as sponsors of the proposed amendment, Case contended its "adverse effect on the Republican party for the indefinite future cannot be questioned."

He also maintained in a memorandum sent to his fellow Republican senators that the proposal would cause what he termed "great and permanent injury to our society and our form of government and to the American two-party system."

Senate debate on the legislation got under way yesterday. Almost immediately there were sharply conflicting interpretations of its possible effect. Party lines were mixed on the question.

The proposal would do away with the present "winner-take-all" system under which a state's entire electoral vote goes to the candidate receiving the most popular votes, no matter how slim his margin.

The proposed amendment, originally approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee, would divide each state's electoral votes for president in proportion to the popular votes received by the candidate.

A substitute amendment, worked out by Senators Daniel (D-Tex.), Mundt (R-SD) and Thurmond (D-SC), would let each state decide whether to cast its electoral vote in that manner, or to choose presidential electors as they now select their senators and representatives in Congress.

Put forward as a compromise, the substitute now lists as sponsors 54 senators—30 Republicans and 24 Democrats. Daniel said he thought it had "a good chance" of winning Senate approval.

To become effective, a constitutional amendment must get approval of two-thirds of those voting in the Senate and the House, and be ratified by three-fourths of the states.

The principal argument of sponsors is that the proposed constitutional change would bring about a more accurate reflection of the popular will in presidential elections.

Senators Douglas (D-Ill.) and Kennedy (D-Mass.), opposing the plan, contended the effect would be to increase further what they called the present overrepresentation of rural areas in government.

It is elephant grass and resembles Georgia cane or sugar cane. One acre can produce more than 121,000 pounds per year of green forage suitable for forage or silage. Alfalfa yields a maximum of 55,000 pounds per acre.

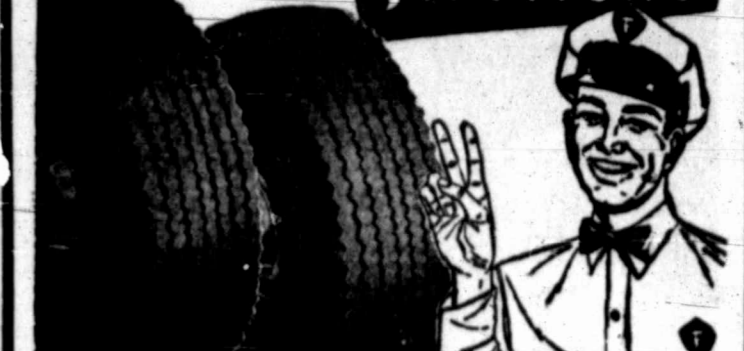

The Southwest Foundation for Research and Education said sample reduction at an experimental nursery at Brownsville indicates the cost will be about $5 an acre or less than $1 a ton for forage.

Experimenters say elephant grass is particularly suited for cultivation on lands which no longer can be used for cotton, citrus, and vegetables. It grows readily in soils which have become salty by brackish waters through irrigation.

The grass requires heavy fertilization and should be irrigated if not in an area of heavy annual rainfall.

PLAIN FOLK Adlai's 'Machine' Beaten By Estes

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The "machine" was for Adlai E. Stevenson. Plain folks—including some Republicans and an important segment of the farm vote—most were for Sen. Estes Kefauver.

There's the nutshell story of the Democratic end of the Minnesota presidential primary.

Some Republicans probably were for Kefauver out of conviction and voted for him out of protest against Eisenhower administration farm policies.

Others apparently voted for him with only political mischief in mind. Despite a GOP vote-for-Eisenhower drive, they jumped into the Democratic primary to embarrass Stevenson and the state Democratic organization that went all out for him.

On the national level, Kefauver's underdog victory over Stevenson points to this: Stevenson came out of yesterday's primary with his political luster tarnished. And it definitely is a question whether he can burnish back some of it in the future primaries. He says he is in to stay.

Yet it is too early to pronounce the former Illinois governor dead as a Democratic presidential possibility. Other presidential aspirants have lost a primary or two, then reversed the field and gone on to capture the nomination. Thomas E. Dewey did it for the GOP in 1948.

To underscore the obvious, Kefauver's political star glows far more brightly.

Republicans have more reason than ever to worry about that farm vote, which helped elect President Truman and the Democrats in 1948 and President Eisenhower in 1952.

Stevenson outbid the GOP for farm support. But Kefauver outbid Stevenson by holding out to the small farmer, at least, hopes of 100 per cent of parity price supports for his basic products. Stevenson offered no more than 90 per cent.

The personal element was involved too in Kefauver's tremendous and not entirely unexpected showing in small towns and farming regions. It probably had an effect, perhaps to a lesser degree, in cities. There might be a lesson in it for Stevenson.

Both candidates campaigned hard. But for the most part Stevenson whined in, made his speech in the beautifully worded, precise, sharp-witted style that is all his own, then whisked out. He didn't find much time for handshaking and mingling.

The lanky senator chatted away in easy-going relaxed, down-to-earth fashion. He mingled. He pumped every hand within easy reach and stretched for those that weren't. Rural people, particularly, liked it.

On the state level, the Minnesota results may leave scars on the Democratic party. It may bring about something of a cleavage between the organization regulars and the rank and file.

Stevenson had the unanimous endorsement of the party's State Central Committee, plus the backing of the party's top leaders. Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Gov. Orville Freeman. They gave it to him last October. Humphrey and Freeman were on Stevenson's national convention delegate slate.

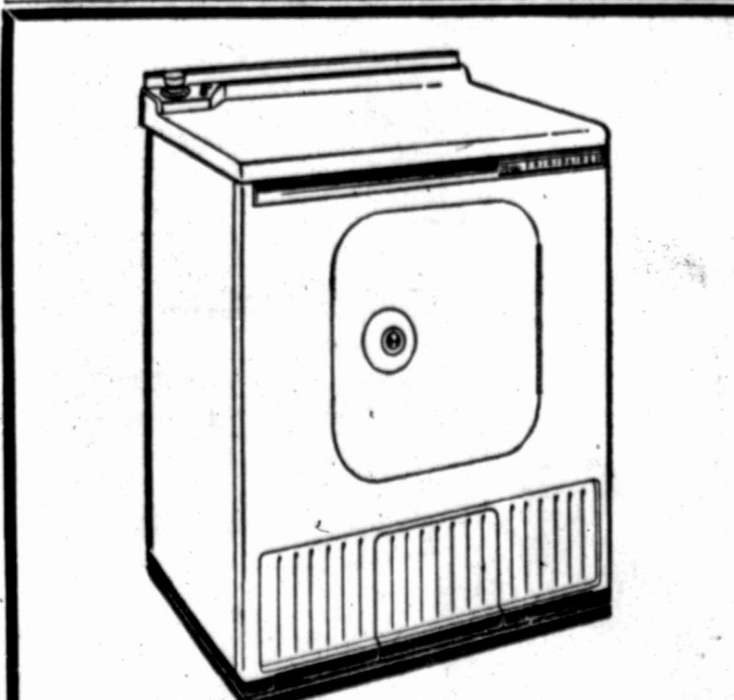

Kefauver tried to capitalize on this. To some undetermined extent he did.

Organization support for Stevenson may have been to some degree what one newspaper editor called "a blessing with a brick in it." And Minnesota Democrats may be heading into the general election with less unity than they might have had otherwise.

Teacher's Husband Charged In Assault On School Chief

IRVING, Tex. (AP)—The husband of an Irving schoolteacher was charged with simple assault yesterday after he admitted beating up a principal who told the teacher she would not be rehired next year.

Justice of the Peace C. M. Cantrell accepted the complaint filed by Principal Ira Lasater of the central elementary school against Nolan Butler. Cantrell set a hearing for 2 p.m. today.

Butler, in turn, filed charges with Irving police against Lasater in connection with the fight.

Mrs. Butler was one of those teachers who refused to go out on strike last year during the suspension of Irving school Supt. John L. Beard by the school board.

Lasater declined to comment on the incident to newsmen.

Daniel Gets Pleas In Governor's Race

By The Associated Press

The Washington office of Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) announced Tuesday that more than 25,000 Texans have sent letters and telegrams urging him to run for governor.

The 25,000 is the goal he set when he announced March 12 that he was willing to make the race provided that many Texans wanted him to run. He is due to announce his final decision March 28.

At the same time Reuben Senterfitt, former Texas House speaker who is an announced candidate in the governor's race, Tuesday challenged Daniel to a public debate "at any place or any time he cares to designate in Texas."

In a radio address at Stamford, Senterfitt said "The senator will not explain the necessity of the plan for his 'great switch' from U.S. senator to governor. He will not explain the powers behind the throne who are arranging that switch."

Senterfitt also took a shot at W. Lee O'Daniel, former governor and senator, who announced Monday that he would be a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary.

Senterfitt said the question of Daniel's "professional or amateur standing has not been settled. He is the only non-professional politician in Texas history to serve so many years in public office. As a matter of fact he is the only living Texan to have served both as governor and U.S. senator."

Besides O'Daniel and Senterfitt, other announced candidates for the governorship are J. Evetts Haley, Canyon rancher and writer, and J. J. Holmes, Austin businessman.

In addition to Daniel, potential candidates include Ralph Yarborough, who has twice sought the office, and James P. Hart, former Texas Supreme Court justice.

Mrs. Price Daniel said in Washington that she has been in charge of the mail which her husband has been receiving in response to his March 12 TV and radio broadcast asking Texans to write him whether he should run for governor or finish out the two years he still has to serve as senator.

Mrs. Daniel said that after handling the mail the first few days at Daniel's office, she had the rest forwarded to their home.

"It sure looks wonderful," she told a reporter Tuesday. "It's heartwarming to see the kind of letters we are getting from folks wanting Price to run."

Mrs. Daniel estimated that about $4,000 had been received in the mail, mostly in one, five and ten dollar bills.

Kelly Fashions Up To Neiman-Marcus

DALLAS (U)—Grace Kelly's wedding wouldn't be the same without Joe Hong's married sister.

"That crazy sister of mine," said Neiman-Marcus' youthful fashion designer, "actually turned down some of the stuff that Miss Kelly wanted for her wedding."

Officials of the Dallas specialty store which has been commissioned to make eight bridesmaid and four flower girl dresses for the Monaco nuptials quickly pointed out that Jean Hong's wedding last summer was the loveliest in the San Joaquin Valley in many a day.

His sister's wedding was the 25-year-old Chinese-American artist's first try at designing wedding finery. Miss Kelly's much publicized betrothal to Prince Ranier gave Hong his second attempt at wedding fashions—and maybe his last.

"All this fuss," mutters the bespectacled 6-foot, 175-pound artist, who likes to wear a sweater in Neiman-Marcus' air conditioned chill. "To get anything done I have to take my work home now. I've tried my hand at a little of everything. I'm kind of a Jack-of-all-trades artist. I may not do any more wedding stuff."

Exactly what Hong designed for Miss Kelly—and his sister Jean—is a Neiman-Marcus secret until next week.

"We've got to wait until all these principals make up their mind," said one store official. "What if we put out a story saying the design will be such-and-such, then one of the girls decides she doesn't like a bow bouncing over her what-you-may-call-it?"

Joe is a good keeper of the secret.

"We did a lot of research on this," he said. "We took into consideration that the ceremony would be held in a big, dimly lighted church. We considered the type of religious ceremony and how the gowns would look at certain stages. And of course we considered the fact that all of the bridesmaids have good figures and would like to show them off."

That's Joe's explanation of how to design dresses for a wedding party.

While Neiman-Marcus is outfitting the wedding party, Miss Kelly's bridal gown is being made in Hollywood by Helen Rose, specialist.

The Kelly wedding assignment is Hong's first job of any size with Neiman-Marcus. He came to the store in December from the Army. Since then his other work has been mostly gift wrapping designs.

Before going into the Army, Hong, of Spanish and Chinese descent, had been a staff artist for CBS-TV in San Francisco. While at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex., he did some free lance fashion work for an El Paso department store—but no weddings. That was all new until Jean and Miss Kelly came along.

Oscars Due For Hollywood Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Tonight is Oscar night in movietown and for the first time this traditionally gay night will be tinged with a little sadness.

Never before in the 23-year of the Academy Awards has a dead man been one of the favorites to win a top Oscar. Then too it is expected to be the last Hollywood appearance of Grace Kelly, a movie queen soon to become a real princess.

Many in Hollywood feel that if the late James Dean doesn't win the top acting award, the Academy should give him a special Oscar. The brilliant young actor was nominated for "East of Eden."

Dean was killed last September in a car crash, but he still gets more fan mail than any other star on the Warner lot.

He could well win. He's the choice of many, including Frank Sinatra, who was nominated himself for "Man With the Golden Arm."

But Hollywood is a practical town. Most of the voters want to see an Oscar go to someone who can get some good out of it. That makes Ernest (Marty) Borgnine the favorite.

Others in the top acting circle are James Cagney and Spencer Tracy. Both are previous winners and both gave performances, Cag-

British paratroopers help Cypriot families move their belongings from their homes in the heart of Nicosia, in the area where a British constable was slain by pro-Greek terrorists. Optimist Club To Stage Motorcycle Races On April 15

Optimists will sponsor motorcycle "scramble races" here the afternoon of Sunday, April 15, with proceeds to go to their fund for boys work and other community activities.

The club accepted a proposition from Cecil Thixton, representing the motorcycle club group. Thixton's group agreed to stage the races, with Optimists to be in charge of ticket sales. The Optimist Club will keep all proceeds except enough to cover expenses of the races.

There will be nine races during the afternoon. Thixton said the program probably would fill two and a half hours.

The races will be staged in the Graña gravel pits at the southeast edge of Big Spring, starting at 2 p.m. The admission charge will be 50 cents per person.

Atlanta Teen-Agers Are Hit By Curfew

ATLANTA (AP)—Police have slapped a midnight curfew on Atlanta teen-agers under 18 in an effort to halt juvenile delinquency. Police Chief Herbert Jenkins issued the order after an investigation into juvenile problems by the Fulton County grand jury and the aldermanic police committee.

Jim Fryar Named President Of Big Spring Rotary Club

Rotarians Tuesday named Jim Fryar as their president for 1956-57. Fryar, now vice president of the Big Spring Rotary Club, will succeed Dan Krausse as head of the organization July 1.

Election of officers and an address by Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor, were highlights of the weekly club meeting. Dr. Grooms was the third minister to make pre-Easter talk before Rotarians. He urged the club members to take full advantage of the Lenten season through prayerful preparations for the Easter observance.

The minister said the Christian faith is like bacteria in that it enters the body, grows and spreads and is contagious. He called fellowship with Christ "the most glorious experience of life."

"The Cross is an irritating factor in life," Dr. Grooms asserted, "but those who take it up find that Christ walks the rugged ways of men, entering into joys and comforting in sorrows."

Rotarians voted to support Mrs. Truman Jones as the club's nominee for "woman of the year" in Big Spring. Cited were her activities in the Presbyterian Church, Big Spring Concert Association, 1946 Hyperion Club, United Fund, March of Dimes, Country Club and other organizations.

Other club officers named were Charles Weeg, vice president; Bill

Cold Winters, Wet Summers Due For U. S.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
 NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—You can look for a general change in our weather, bringing:

Colder winters . . . cooler and wetter summers . . . Fewer hurricanes battering the East Coast and New England . . . perhaps fewer tornadoes ripping into Northern states.

These long-range predictions come from Prof. Hurd C. Willett, meteorologist of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge.

He finds evidence we are at the end of a warming-up period that extended over the last 40 years, from about 1915 to the present.

The 40 years before that, from about 1875 to 1915 had been wetter and cooler, making grandpop right in his declaration that our winters aren't what they used to be.

For the next 40 years, Prof. Willett says, we should be going back to cooler, wetter weather, in a slow change. But it probably will not be as cold and wet as the 1875-1915 period.

Prof. Willett bases this upon statistical analyses of weather and trends over a large section of the Northern Hemisphere.

Ups and downs or short cycles can and do occur within a long-term 40-year trend. Recently there has been one such shorter period of warmer weather occurring within the long-term warming-up trend.

A change to cooler weather will be one factor making the East Coast less a hurricane target than it has been recently, he continues.

In 1938, New England was hit by its first superhurricane within a century. Since then there's been a siege of destructive hurricanes along the East Coast and the Northeast.

They've been more destructive than anything on the records for that area. This doesn't necessarily mean they've been stronger blows. The storms now have more concentrated, more expensive targets of buildings and installations to strike than they had 50 to 100 years ago.

Over the last 10 years, hurricanes have shifted in their path. While they used to go through the Gulf Coast area, lately they have tended to strike more at the Northeast.

Warmer general weather and a large-scale change in general wind patterns are responsible. Now Prof. Willett expects the wind patterns to change back to their previous status. Ocean surface temperatures also have been warmer than before, reflecting the same wind and ocean systems associated with hurricane paths.

Tornadoes may also become fewer, because the same changes in wind circulation that favors hurricanes have affected tornadoes.

The year 1954 was a bad one for tornadoes, with Michigan having its heaviest tornado on record. Tornadoes also struck within recent years into Massachusetts and Ohio.

But we lack data to prove or disprove that tornadoes have been increasing in number. Prof. Willett cautions. The reason is many tornadoes go unreported — especially in the past — because they hit uninhabited or relatively uninhabited areas. Today there are fewer such open areas where tornadoes can hit and not cause damage.

Tornadoes usually have a path half a mile wide or less. They may sweep along the ground for only a few hundred yards, or for up to 40 miles. They can dip up and down, and jump long distances. So it's hard to tell if two separated places were hit by the same tornado, or by two different ones, he explains.

W. P. Sharman Dies

British Study Group Urges Changes In Divorce Laws

LONDON (AP)—A royal commission recommended today that Britain recognize three new grounds for divorce, now limited to adultery, cruelty and desertion.

But it warned that the idea of life-long marriage is in danger through growing social acceptance of divorce as a casual matter.

The commission, headed by 68-year-old Lord Morton, spent 4 years sifting evidence on Britain's altering marriage pattern in a study intended to help bring marriage laws up to date.

Its 300,000-word report carried this theme: divorce must not be made easier and all efforts should be made to bring divided couples together before dissolving a marriage.

But the 19-member commission, including lawyers, educators and doctors, unanimously recommended recognition of these matters as grounds for divorce:

1. Wilful refusal of one party to consummate the marriage (instead of being a ground for nullity, as at present).
2. Artificial insemination of a wife without her husband's consent.
3. The fact that one party is a mental defective who has been detained for at least five years and who shows no hope of recovery from violent or dangerous characteristics.

T&P Wins Fourth Advertising Award

DALLAS—For the sixth consecutive year, the Texas and Pacific Railway has been cited by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., for an Honor Medal for its institutional advertising. The T&P is the only American railroad to be so consistently honored.

The most recent award was made as a result of the railway's advertisement captioned "The Good Book Is Still Good for Americans." This advertisement is the seventh in a series of ads centered around the theme of "Our Four Great Faiths."

Not only has the T&P received its award consecutively but during the six-year period, a total of eight honors was passed on to the carrier, its president, W. G. Volmer, the company magazine T&P Topics, and Alan T. Myers, editor, for contributions toward preserving the American way of life.

Each advertising campaign of the railroad during the past several years was built around an article by Volmer. The first three articles and companion advertisements—"Freedom Isn't Free," "Freedom Needs a Soap Box, Too," "The Four Pillars of Freedom"—are appropriately tagged the "freedom series." More than a million reprints of these articles have been distributed and, although the last ad appeared in 1952, requests for the articles and reprints of the ads still come in.

On the heels of the "freedom series" ads, the next campaign, which began in October, 1952, centered around an article entitled "Our Four Great Faiths." This series has become known as the "faith series." In addition to offering copies of the article, "Our Four Great Faiths," a companion piece, "Toward a Better World," which contains miniature reprints of the advertisements, was made available for widespread distribution.

Of the "faith series" booklets, more than three million copies of "Our Four Great Faiths" and 14 million copies of the ad booklet have been sent out in answer to the 27,689 requests. Almost a million full-sized reprints of the advertisements of all four programs have been distributed.

While the "faith series" advertisements drew many requests from church groups, the steady stream of requests today come from school teachers who use the materials in civics and social science courses.

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge is a non-profit, non-partisan organization founded in 1949. Its annual awards to individuals, organizations and schools is based on their work in bringing about a better understanding of the American way of life. Honorary Chairman is President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Honorary President is Herbert Hoover.

Most Texans In Congress Have Men On Staffs

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (U)—There was a time when few men were on the staffs of Texas congressmen. Things have changed.

Only 7 of the 22 Texas representatives do not now have men on their Washington staffs. A steady increase has come in secretarial pay. The maximum now allowable is $12,131 a year.

Newcomers to the Capitol Hill secretarial force are Jerry Hall of Stanton, with Rep. George Mahon; William Yelvington of Athens, with Rep. John Dowdy; Glen Savage of Lewisville and Brunson Moore, formerly of El Paso, with Rep. Frank Icard; and Ralph Marlett, former Pentagon publicist man, with Rep. Walter Rogers.

Another newcomer among the Texans is William Brammer of Austin and Dallas, who is handling publicity for Sen. Lyndon Johnson on Texas matters. Another former newspaper man handles press utterances of Johnson in his role as Senate Democratic floor leader.

Hall, 29, worked on the Fort Worth Star Telegram for 15 months before joining Mahon's staff. He graduated at Texas Tech in 1950. He had been Tech reporter for the Lubbock Avalanche Journal, and went to work full time on the paper on finishing school. He stayed there until going to Fort Worth in 1954.

Savage, 25, attended North Texas State College in Denton. He got his B.A. degree at NTSC in 1951 and his M.A. there in 1952. In 1954 he went in the Army. He came out a corporal a few weeks ago and joined Icard's staff.

Brammer, 26, was born in Dallas and attended the University of Texas and NTSC at Denton, where he got his B.A. degree in 1950. After a few months on the Denton Record Chronicle he went to Corpus Christi to work in the Callier Times, and six months later joined the Austin American Statesman.

WTCC Sets 38th Annual Meeting At Mineral Wells

MINERAL WELLS—The 38th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held here March 28-30.

On the program will be a panel of six congressmen; Robert M. McKinney, chairman of the Citizens' Committee on Atomic Energy; R. M. Dixon, chairman of the state Board of Water Engineers; and Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, former minister of finance for Hungary. Plaques will be awarded to four "top West Texans" at the meeting. The panel made up of Congressmen Mahon, Fisher, Poage, Burleson, Icard and Wright will answer questions from convention delegates. New officers will be elected and a site for the 1957 convention will be chosen.

McKinney, of Santa Fe, N.M., will deliver the keynote address at the opening of the convention. Dixon, assisted by H. A. Beckwith and O. F. Dent, will speak on "The General Situation on Texas Water Resources." Dr. Nyaradi, now chairman of the Department of Economics at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., will speak on "Free Enterprise or Disaster."

The "top West Texans" will be announced at a dinner meeting the night of March 29.

Weather Bureau To Probe Storm

WASHINGTON (U)—D.M. Little, deputy chief of the Weather Bureau, said today the bureau will carry out a full scale re-study of weather developments which led to the Eastern seaboard's heavy snowfall.

Little said the probe into the late winter storm would be aimed at "determining the underlying, broad scale conditions which led to the unusual snowfall, with the object of improving weather forecasting in the future when similar conditions are developing."

Troopers Save Expectant Mom

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (U)—A 25-year-old mother of five is in St. Luke's Hospital awaiting her sixth child—thanks to two husky state troopers who waded through 8-foot high snow drifts to reach her.

When Mrs. Donald Platt of nearby Dartmouth called state police, troopers Thomas Hibbert and Edward Gillis answered the call.

They left their car a mile away from Mrs. Platt's home because the road was impassable. Using an improvised sled made of a cellar door, they dragged Mrs. Platt from her home to the car.

The ride to New Bedford took two and a half hours in a raging blizzard.

Dust Storms Hurt 3,335,000 Acres In Great Plains

WASHINGTON (U)—The Agriculture Department said today 3,335,000 acres of land in the Great Plains have been damaged this season by dust storms.

A survey showed further, it said, that 19,400,000 acres were in a condition to be damaged by wind erosion due to lack of moisture and soil cover.

The department said about 94 per cent of the land already damaged this season is in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas. About 85 per cent of that in a condition to blow was said to be in the same states.

The department said the land already damaged and that likely to be damaged was about the same total acreage in similar conditions a year ago.

Damage to growing wheat this season was put at $11,000 acres, most of it in Colorado and Texas.

Love-Stricken Tar Charged By Wave

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U)—A Navy Wave charged a sailor with battery, saying he roller-skated her out the back door of a rink and got rough.

"All I was trying to do was kiss her," Metvin Ray Edmo, 18, of the U.S. landing ship Gunston Hall told police.

The complaint, signed by Elsie Jane Dubree, 23, said Edmo stifled her screams with his hand.

"When I saw her, I fell in love," said Edmo. "When she screamed, I got scared."

Dallas Vandals Damage 1,100 Cars

DALLAS (U)—Police said today vandals have damaged 1,100 autos and 200 buildings in two weeks. The City Council talked over the terrorism with Mayor R. H. Thornton last night.

Some 29 vehicles were damaged last night at a used car lot. Police received complaints of at least 20 incidents involving cars that were moving or parked. Some 36 windows in houses and buildings were reported damaged.

Political Opinion Surveys In Florida Bring On Confusion

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
 TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Joseph Samuel Havepian typifies some of the confusion you run into in trying to figure out whether Florida will go for President Eisenhower again in November. Havepian is a red-hot Eisenhower booster. But he is just as red hot for Fuller Warren, a Democratic former governor and now one of five men contesting Gov. Leroy Collins' bid for renomination in the May 4 primary.

It doesn't strike Havepian as unusual that Warren, whom he champions so stoutly, is a strong booster of Adlai Stevenson both against Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for Florida's 23 votes in the Democratic National Convention, and against Eisenhower in November.

But, to quote Havepian, a pipe organ builder and a Democrat: "If Ike wasn't in it, I'd vote for Kefauver. Next to Ike, I think he's another statesman. Stevenson is a politician."

Vice President Nixon is not his choice for Ike's running mate. "Nixon seems to agitate people," he said. "He could lose Eisenhower Florida." Nevertheless, Havepian predicts, Florida will vote for Eisenhower again.

That view differs greatly from those of former Gov. Warren and Gov. Collins, who say the Democratic party is stronger today and better financed than it was four years ago when Eisenhower got 544,036 votes to 444,950 for Stevenson.

Political reporters and both Democratic and Republican politicians say Stevenson has an edge on Kefauver for Florida's Democratic convention votes. They are contesting in the second, or runoff Democratic primary May 29. Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) bested Kefauver in the preferential primary four years ago.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) is lukewarm to both Stevenson and Kefauver. Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) has boosted Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) as the party's 1956 standard bearer.

Feyton Yon, assistant treasurer of the Republican State Executive Committee, registered as a Republican after a tour of duty in 1952 as a Democrat-for-Eisenhower worker.

He told this reporter he and a lot of his neighbors switched to Eisenhower four years ago because they thought the national Democratic organization had gone too far in pushing civil rights. And while he said he is confident Eisenhower will carry the state again, he said the people he has talked to in west Florida "aren't too strong for Nixon," adding: "He'll have to do a selling job for himself down here."

Southern opposition to Nixon, where it is expressed, stems almost directly from his recent New York speech in which he claimed credit for the GOP stand in the civil rights field.

You won't run into a white an-segregationist in Florida in hours of looking and it's almost as hard to find an Eisenhower Democrat or Republican of 1952 who blames Eisenhower personally for the integration movement.

A couple of Negro bellboys in a local hotel said they would vote Democratic. "I think times will be better for working people like us if the Democrats get in," one of them said. "But, for goodness sake, don't put my name in the paper."

Collins said that if the election were held now, he thinks Eisenhower would carry the state again.

"But," he said, "you've got to remember that four years ago the Democratic leadership was silent. And, you must bear in mind that the party in the state was disorganized."

Today, Collins said, the party is better financed, and he added that he thought there were indications it will be close ranks behind the presidential nominee, once the primaries are out of the way.

Collins hasn't committed himself, but some of his own strongest supporters are working for Stevenson.

There's a slate of delegates for Senate Republican Leader William Knowland of California entered against the Eisenhower slate in the Republican presidential primary May 29. But it is described as a sort of "standby" slate in the event that Eisenhower should, for any reason, withdraw his candidacy.

Joe Miller Jr., Florida chairman of the Florida-for-Knowland organization, said, "Our entire program is one of supporting the President if at the time of the convention he is a candidate."
