Hearing Due In Slaying Of Abilene Airman

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Day, 21, laborer arrested by the FBI in the slaying of Airman Roger Timm of Abilene Air Force Base, was called up for arraignment today.

Day is charged with unlawful flight from Oklahoma to avoid prosecution for murder and interstate transportation of a stolen car.

FBI agents arrested Day in a Bowers hotel yesterday. James Kelly of the FBI said Day was given a dishonorable discharge from the Army.

Timm, of Evanston, Ill., was found shot dead alongside a road near Madill, Okla., Feb. 21. He had left his Evanston home Feb. 13 in his father's car en route to Texas.

The bloodstained car, a 32-caliber bullet imbedded in the door, was recovered in San Antonio a week before Timm's body was found.

Kelly said "The investigation had connected Day with the recovered car." He would not elaborate.

Kelly said Day served three years in the Army, including a tour in Korea. He was dishonorably discharged Dec. 8, 1955, after having been assigned for about a year to the Army Pictorial Center in New York.

The FBI said Day remained in New York after his discharge until early February, when he "departed suddenly."

He returned in March and was registered in the hotel under the name of Frank Benton.

Lamesa Officers Trap Escapees

LAMESA — Two youthful Hobbs, N. M., jail breakers were captured in Lamesa Saturday night by City Policemen L. D. Martin and Harold Parsons.

The two, 18-year-old Fred Connell and 15-year-old William Deavers, broke the Hobbs jail about noon Saturday. They allegedly stole a General Telephone Company pickup at Hobbs and drove it to Western Gaines County. There the pickup was abandoned, and a 1952 Mercury was stolen.

At the W. E. Fisher home south of Welch, someone stole nine shirts, four pairs of khaki pants, a pair of socks and two caps. In Lamesa the boys were spotted by Martin and Parsons and when the officers gave chase, the youths abandoned the car and split up. Each patrolman captured one youth near South Seventh and Lynn streets about 9:30 p.m.

Gaines County officers took them to Seminole where they face auto theft charges.

Officers here said they expected federal charges to be filed in Hobbs.

When the two were being taken from the jail here, Sheriff Henry Mayfield discovered one of the youths was wearing a heel tap. This led to their connection with the Welch theft.

Arson Seen In Lubbock Fire

LUBBOCK (AP)—Police said today an arsonist may have set the fire which damaged the new multi-million dollar coliseum-city auditorium.

Fire Marshal A. C. Black said "the fire was not accidental."

Another city official said the fire appeared to have started on the outside of the roof.

Damage was set at several thousand dollars. Only one side of the dome-shaped roof appeared damaged. Some smoke and water damage was visible in the lower portion of the building.

The auditorium was opened several weeks ago. The coliseum is to be completed about May 1.

Raids In Gaza Strip Keep Tensions Up In Mid-East

JERUSALEM (AP)—Egyptian charges of an Israeli raid in the Gaza Strip and retaliation raids by Arab commandos kept tensions high today along the turbulent Arab-Israeli borders.

The latest reported toll since Thursday in the Gaza area was: 66 Egyptians and 9 Israelis killed, 93 Egyptians and at least 23 Israelis wounded, 1 Egyptian captured.

Violence continued on the eve of U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival in the Middle East on an urgent hunt for ways to restore peace.

Hammarskjold received the blessing of Pope Pius XII in Rome today.

'FACE OF AMERICA' TO SHOW FLAMING REINECKE OIL WELL

Remember the Pan-American No. 1 Holley, the wild gasser which burned for more than three weeks in the Reinecke pool? The Saturday Evening Post, which will be on the stands Tuesday, will refresh your memories with a magnificent view taken by Ivan Dmitri.

The two-page color spread is the Post's "Face of America" picture for this week. It captures the rampant well as flames from gas and oil roared high into the air to plume black smoke over the spring landscape.

The well had blown out on June 10, 1950, when a crew was running a plug. Everyone got safely away, but Jack M. Bristow, 26, geologist coming off an adjacent well, was burned to death when his car sparked the gas along a road 1,000 feet away. The well became a national news story for several days, and remained a story of state interest for several weeks until flames were blasted out and the casing capped.

Pall Of Dust Moves South

AMARILLO (AP)—A history-making pall of dust drifted southward over Texas today bringing some sections their worst sand storm since the 1920's.

The stifling cloud of black top soil blinded Amarillo in the Panhandle late yesterday.

For four hours visibility was zero, making the storm the second worst in Amarillo's history. In February, 1936, skies were blacked out for nine hours.

Amarillo reported visibility back to 15 miles today. At the same time Del Rio on the Rio Grande reported 1/2 mile visibility. The worst storm since the 20s. Residents drove to work at 8 a.m. with their car lights burning in the thick haze.

Duster Drops Mercury Here

The storm also spread to Central Texas where visibility dropped to 1/4 mile at several points early today. Waco and Dallas both reported light showers along with the dust, resulting in a sprinkle of muddy water.

Other visibilities at 8 a.m. included: Dalhart 15 miles, Lubbock 10, Abilene 6, Mineral Wells 3, San Angelo 2, Fort Worth 1 1/2, Dallas 1, Killeen 1/2, Junction 1/2.

The storm, called a black duster because it came from the north and carried fine black soil, blew into this Texas Panhandle city about 5 p.m. yesterday. It was accompanied by winds up to 78 miles per hour.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority tower at Amarillo was abandoned when winds hit 71 miles per hour. The second wind and dust storm within a week came at a critical time for farmers and ranchers already hard pressed by prolonged drought.

The Texas A&M Extension Service said general rains are needed over the entire state for planting and for growth of crops, pastures and ranges. Wind and dust has damaged wheat. The next two weeks will be especially important for small grain crops already suffering badly. Pastures are very dry and in poor condition.

Cold weather followed the duster into the Panhandle. The temperature was 32 degrees at Dal-

Publisher Pleads Innocent To Anti-Noise Violation

BEAUMONT (AP)—Newspaper publisher William Prescott Allen pleaded innocent today to a charge that he violated a city anti-noise ordinance and posted an appeal bond after being fined $100.

"I'm just saying 'Let's get rid of some of this corruption,'" Allen told Corporation Court Judge Ethridge Wright.

Allen was brought to the city court on the misdemeanor complaint after he was arrested Saturday because he insisted on using his loudspeaker-equipped car on downtown Beaumont streets to tell about his anti-crime crusade.

Allen, publisher of the Laredo Times and newspapers in Juneau, Alaska, and Montrose, Colo., also was arrested in nearby Port Arthur on a similar complaint. He posted a $25 bond. When Allen did not appear in the Port Arthur court today his case was postponed until tomorrow morning.

After posting the $300 appeal bond in Beaumont Allen drove to Port Arthur and applied at City Hall for a permit to operate his sound car. City Manager Charles Brazil said he rejected the request because "the city does not issue such permits for political purposes."

Allen appeared in the Beaumont court with his attorney, Wyatt Baldwin of Beaumont.

"I have never been involved in politics," Allen told Wright. "I am not supporting any candidate."

Allen commented in court that after he finished his anti-crime tour in Texas he planned to go to Washington "and clean up the income tax department." He said "hidden taxes are eating up most of our income."

The date for the appeals hearing in county court here was not set.

Ike Charges Farm Bill Does Not 'Meet Test'

President Asks $47 Million In Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress for an additional $47,000,000 in defense funds for the year starting next July 1.

The supplemental funds are mainly for a speedup in production of B52 jet bombers, the mainstay of the U. S. atomic weapons air fleet, and additional bases for Strategic Air Command which flies the giant planes.

Further development of the Distant Early Warning program and additional ship conversion also are contemplated together with minor increases in Army and Navy strength.

The White House, in announcing the appropriation request, said:

"These additional appropriations will not increase estimated expenditures for the Department of Defense during the fiscal year 1957 by more than 400 million dollars.

"Therefore they will not unbalance the 1957 budget, since a surplus of over 400 million dollars was estimated."

Some Democrats have been protesting that U. S. defense forces were being tailored by the administration to budget balancing rather than the needs of security.

These protests, notably from Sens. Symington (Mo) and Jackson (Wash.), have stemmed from reports that Soviet Russia is rapidly approaching, if not outstripping, America's progress in developing atomic age air strength.

Eisenhower's original request for defense appropriations for the year starting July 1 had totaled $34,900,000,000. The House Military Appropriations subcommittee has completed hearings on the request but the bill has not gone to the House for final consideration.

The spending budget Eisenhower sent to Congress last January proposed an outlay of $35,547,000,000 for defense in the next fiscal year. This is the amount that would be increased by 400 million dollars if today's request is approved.

The breakdown shows the Air Force gets $7 1/2 million dollars, the Army $5 million, and the Navy $3 1/2 million.

Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration also asked Congress to enact a broad civil rights program including creation of a bipartisan commission to investigate individual grievances.

The proposals, submitted by Atty. Gen. Brownell, include creation of a new civil rights division in the Justice Department, to function under an additional assistant attorney general.

A third specific proposal would provide that citizens who feel their constitutional rights have been infringed may go direct to a federal court with their complaint. Under present law, such recourse is available only after it can be shown that all state administrative and judicial remedies have been exhausted without the desired result.

Brownell sent texts of proposed bills to Vice President Nixon and House Speaker Rayburn.

Along with the other proposals, he asked that Congress and the projected Civil Rights Commission consider a further statute under which the attorney general himself could initiate civil actions against conspiracies where present law limits such action to the injured individual.

Trustees Set Bond Hearing

Petitions for elections on a $900,000 school bond issue and adoption of a new school financing law will be presented to trustees Tuesday evening.

Three copies of the petition were being circulated this morning and more than 100 signatures had been secured.

Bond issues are asked to finance new elementary classrooms, expansion of the junior high, a new athletic stadium, and other school improvements.

Petitioners also ask that voters decide whether the Big Spring Independent School District shall adopt a new school financing law (SB-116) which permits a levy for debt retirement in addition to the present $1.50 rate which could be devoted to maintenance and operation. Trustees have estimated that passage of the bond issue and adoption of the new law would add about 15 cents to the present school tax rate of $1.50 per $100 of property valuations.

Three members of the school board will take the oath of office at the Tuesday meeting. They are Clyde Angel and Robert Stripling, re-elected to the board Saturday, and Tom Gunn, named to a first term.

A guest at the Tuesday meeting will be Floyd W. Parsons of Beeville, who will become superintendent here July 1. Parsons is in Big Spring to study school operations today and Tuesday.

Cited For Bravery
Fourteen-year-old Patricia Ann Strickland of Atlanta, Ga., is honored for her heroism in Washington as President Eisenhower presents her with a citation accompanying the Young American Medal for Bravery. Patricia Ann pulled her mother, Mrs. Lionel H. Strickland, from the burning wreckage of a plane piloted by her father following a crash May 8, 1954. She was restrained when she attempted to re-enter the flames to rescue her father. In background is FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Hart Gives Up Governor's Race

AUSTIN (AP)—Former Supreme Court Justice James Hart said today he would not run for governor in 1956, although I deeply appreciate the encouragement I have received from many Texans.

In response to questions, Hart added that he found financial support hard to get.

"The financial requirements for a race like this are heavy," Hart said.

"I didn't get enough promises of financial support to make the race possible."

Asked if he might be interested in some future race—such as the U. S. Senate—Hart replied: "We'll have to wait and see."

He said he was not endorsing any other candidate at this time, and that he planned to concentrate on the practice of law in Austin.

Hart has recently completed a swing over the state talking with friends about the governor's race.

Asked if he had found evidence of dissent or unity among Democrats generally, Hart said he had not inquired, but had concentrated on checking up on his own prospects.

Abilene Editor Due Honors

ABILENE (AP)—Frank Grimes will say "howdy" tomorrow to thousands of West Texans who have been reading his newspaper editorials for years.

Tomorrow is Frank Grimes Day in Abilene as part of the city's Diamond Jubilee celebration.

The tall, soft-spoken editor of the Abilene Reporter-News will be honored at a luncheon attended by newspapermen from throughout Texas. Speakers at the luncheon will include Houston Harte, San Angelo newspaper publisher; Howard McMahon, publisher of the Abilene Reporter-News; Frank H. King, general executive for The Associated Press; Mrs. Lettie Faucett, former society editor of the Reporter-News, and C. E. Sitchler, forecaster at the Abilene Weather Bureau. Grimes and Sitchler have carried on a good-natured feud for years over which one can correctly predict West Texas weather.

Lady Bullfighter Escapes A Goring

JUAREZ (AP)—Bounced around by her first bull and almost gored by her second, Bette Ford, U.S. girl who gave up modeling for bullfighting, put on an exhibition of courage yesterday before more than 4,000 fans in the Juarez bullring across the border from El Paso.

The judges, apparently taking into consideration the brisk wind which made passing the bull almost impossible, awarded the trim brunette an ear for her second encounter. Fans responded with a standing ovation.

Bette was knocked down twice by the first animal but rolled to safety both times.

GOP Leaders Will Fight For Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republican congressional leaders today that the farm bill does not meet "the test of a good bill." They promised to battle to change it.

House GOP Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, told newsmen after a White House conference that an effort will be made, probably Wednesday, to send the bill back to a Senate-House Conference Committee.

"I'm quite hopeful we are going to recommit the bill," he said.

Martin said no decision has been reached yet on just what changes will be sought in event the measure can be handed back to the committee which whipped the bill into compromise form last week.

But he indicated strongly that one aim will be to knock out high rigid price supports for basic commodities. The matter of instructions to the conferees, Martin said, will be thrashed out at a session of all House Republicans he has called for tomorrow afternoon.

Martin, a Senate Republican Leader, Knowledge of California, and the party whips, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Rep. Arends of Illinois, huddled with Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson for nearly 2 1/2 hours.

Afterward Martin read this brief typed statement to reporters:

"The President repeated his desire to have a good farm bill promptly. He has been asking for it since Jan. 9, when he sent his farm message to the Congress.

"The President does not believe the conference report meets the test of a good bill. He is concerned that the conference report bill will not give the real and permanent assistance which is so necessary for the security of our farm families and all Americans.

"In the House we shall try to recommit the measure with instructions, so that the conferees may have another chance at drafting a bill which will help, rather than hurt, farmers; which will eliminate the buildup of huge surpluses that have been and are depressing farm prices, and which have been denying farmers their fair share of our prosperity."

Martin and Knowledge said that Eisenhower didn't say specifically whether he would veto the bill if it is accepted by Congress in its present form.

But Martin added that the President would "be a little shaky about doing anything else."

Ike Piles Up 105,603 Miles Of Traveling

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, leaving today for a week at Augusta, Ga., already has piled up 105,603 miles of business and pleasure travel since taking office.

Figures from White House records indicate he has been away from Washington about 38 per cent of the time.

On this ninth trip to Augusta, one of his favorite relaxation spots, Eisenhower plans a week of golf mixed with work. He arranged to fly in his personal plane, Columbine III. The flight takes about 2 1/2 hours.

Eisenhower's various journeys since Jan. 20, 1953, have taken him out of the United States four times. He has criss-crossed this country on business trips, vacations, to fill speaking engagements, and to attend events of other nature.

Seven weeks of his time away from Washington was spent in a Denver hospital recuperating from his heart attack of last Sept. 24. Right after that he convalesced for another 33 days at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa. Then he spent 11 days at Key West, Fla., before resuming what he termed "the full duties of the presidency" last Jan. 9.

All told during his White House tenure, Eisenhower has made 40 visits, most of them over weekends, to his farm and to Camp David, a mountain retreat near Thurmont, Md.

During 1953, his first year in office, Eisenhower traveled 37,536 miles. He crossed the border into Mexico to help dedicate Falcon Dam, went to Ottawa for conferences with Canadian leaders, and flew to Bermuda for talks with Britain's Sir Winston Churchill and France's Joseph Laniel.

In 1954 the President logged 31,942 miles, all within the United States. Last year the total was 32,835 miles, including 9,571 miles to and from Geneva, Switzerland, for the summit conference with the leaders of Russia, Britain and France.

So far this year he has traveled 3,290 miles.

Marine Jet Crashes Into Housing Area

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Marine Corps jet fighter trying to make a landing crash into a group of houses near the Marine air base today. The pilot was injured. First reports said no civilians were hurt.

Two of the dead were killed when they leaped from upper floors to escape the flames. Two children were killed in the fire, but several others were saved when their mothers dropped them to spectators.

9 Die In Chicago Apartment Blaze

CHICAGO (AP)—A fire in a crowded four-story apartment building on Chicago's South Side early yesterday killed nine persons and injured eight others.

Two of the dead were killed when they leaped from upper floors to escape the flames. Two children were killed in the fire, but several others were saved when their mothers dropped them to spectators.

Union Protection Due In Acid's Wake

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman and Mayor Robert F. Wagner have vowed to "protect legitimate union and business activity" in New York City against threats of renewed industrial racketeering.

The two met for an hour last night at Harriman's Manhattan residence to discuss "indications and threats" of a revival of racketeering "in some phases of business" here.

In a joint statement they said: "We are determined to protect legitimate union and business activity and we will meet again on this subject in the near future."

Earlier, Harriman paid a hospital bedside call on labor columnist Victor Riesel. An unidentified young man threw sulphuric acid in Riesel's face on a mid-Manhattan street early last Thursday.

Riesel was able to open his eyes himself yesterday for the first time. He said he was able to see. Previously, doctors had opened the syndicated newspaper columnist's eyes for him.

Harriman said he visited Riesel to "express the interest of all the people of the state in his early recovery and the determination of the city to put an end to mob activities and end any intimidation of free speech."

Wagner said yesterday the attack on Riesel was a "shame." The mayor, back from a week's vacation in Florida, conferred with Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy.

Forty-eight detectives have been assigned full time to the task of tracking down the assailant who hurled the acid as Riesel left a Broadway restaurant.

In a statement Saturday Riesel said "he a very financed racket combines... planned and executed the attack on me."

Late last month U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams warned that New York City was on the brink of a "gangster invasion" of its garment and trucking industries.

The federal prosecutor said racketeers were already entrenched in the two industries. He predicted that "out-of-town mobs with union connections" would take over completely if businessmen failed to cooperate with federal and local officials.

Riesel assailed alleged racketeer influence in unions during a radio broadcast shortly before he was attacked.

Tick Of Arab Clock Sounds Ominously Like A Time Bomb

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
BEIRUT, Lebanon, April 9 (AP)—It is close to zero hour in the Middle East while today across barbed wire frontiers of the Holy Land, any bullet could become the signal for the war every one fears—the little war that may blow up into world catastrophe.

Every minute of the next two months will be precious for the West. Unless the United States and Britain take positive action, there is grave danger the Israeli-Arab conflict will raise the curtain on World War III, just as Spain was the rehearsal for the last great war.

A threat of economic shock hangs over England and western Europe, with consequences that endanger the North Atlantic Treaty alliance structure.

These are not extravagant or alarmist statements. These are the considered opinions of experts: diplomats, businessmen, experienced observers of the Middle East scene. All are agreed on this: there is no time to lose.

Hate, fear and frustration set the mood today in the Arab world. Of these it is the feeling of frustration which carries the biggest danger. It is the feeling that the United States is the Arabs' enemy and that there is no hope for justice in the quarrel with Israel.

The tragedy of the Middle East is that it has everything to lose and nothing to gain by war. Only world communism would gain. The irony of the Middle East is that war threatens, though few expect hostilities on either side want it. Egypt does not want war. She needs to busy herself with her economic future. Syria does not want war. It would worsen an already bad internal situation. Lebanon, with her little 10,000-man army, scarcely more than a police force, is a thriving mercantile center and wants no war. Jordan still leans on Britain to help feed her people.

For Israel, surrounded on all sides by enemies growing stronger each day, war could spell the beginning of ruin. As matters stand, Israel could win a first round, sweep to Damascus and Beirut and probably punch through the Egyptian forces. That would be the blitz for which Israel appears to be geared. But this war would not end after an initial blitz.

Diplomats thought there was a good chance for Arab-Israeli peace before February 1955. Some remain guardedly optimistic that neither side will dare start this dangerous war. Others hold that peace must be imposed, regardless of sentiment or moral qualms on either side, because the safety of the whole world hangs in the balance.

Virtually every Arab I spoke to in the Middle East referred to February 1955. That was a turning point in history, the time of the large-scale Israeli assault on Egyptian troops in the Gaza Strip of Palestine. The Mideast situation took a decided turn for the worse then, and became even more ugly when Moscow decided to fish in the troubled waters.

Soviet policy apparently aims at the destruction of any alliance which might deter aggressive Communist expansion. Utter chaos in this part of the world would go far toward hacking away the foundations of NATO, by choking off the supply of Middle East oil to western Europe and Britain.

That oil is vital to the survival of Britain and important to the future of democratic governments in Europe.

Political repercussions from a situation which might cut off this oil could be enormous in western Europe. Nobody here denies that it would be a long stride forward by the Communists toward domination.

Thus, war in the Mideast would be a matter likely to bring Western intervention. To this prospect the Egyptians, Saudi Arabians and Syrians, after meeting in Cairo, are reported to have told the United States: if you intervene with force in the situation, we will ask active Soviet help.

Whether the three states actually told the United States this, it is important and significant that on many lips in the Middle East is the story that three divisions of Soviet troops from central Asian Soviet republics with a dominantly Moslem population sit across the border from Iraq in Soviet Georgia.

But the peril of world war would exist without actual entry of Soviet "volunteers." War in the Middle East, as matters stand now, could throw the whole Arab world into the arms of the Soviet Union and pose the threat that Middle East oil would be forever lost to the West.

(Next: Nasser, the new hero of Pan-Arabism.)

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

Why is it that theme music from certain motion pictures seem to have that particular ability to stick to your memory? Perhaps the reason is that only top rate music is chosen for this particular honor.

"Moonlight" and the theme from "Picnic," Morris Stoloff conductor, seems headed for the top of the popularity list locally. The Decca label is stuck on this disk which is from the original sound track of the movie "Picnic" which stars Kim Novak and William Holden. Also on the Decca label is the theme from "Picnic," by George Dunning. A third rendition is done by Ralph Marterie on the Mercury label.

"Out of the Picture" by the Crew Cuts is a tune to watch. Already getting comment, is a new release with a sharp mambo beat at the beginning, but softening up in time

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while getting relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinking) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made

STANDARD OIL PRODUCTS

For years Chevron men have been doing business in your neighborhood under a sign like this . But nothing will be changed except the sign and the colors. The same dealers will be there to serve you—reliable, neighborly, independent business men of your community, with trained, expert attendants. They'll have the same top-quality Standard Oil petroleum products and Atlas tires, batteries, accessories. Same liberal budget plan, too—and the same Credit Card facilities. Of course, until all Chevron Stations have time to change their "dress," Chevron National Credit Cards will be honored at Chevron Stations that display either the new or the old Chevron sign.

And the familiar cream-green-and-burgundy Chevron Stations have been southwestern motorists' favorite stopping place for the finest motoring supplies and service.

Now Chevron Stations are blossoming out in bright, brand new red-and-white colors, and will be identified by the sparkling new red-white-and-blue sign shown above.

Here's the new color scheme you'll find Under the bright new Chevron sign . . . soon at all Chevron Stations

We take better care of your car

Wildcat Will Test San Andres In Southeast Sterling County

A wildcat location has been reported in southeast Sterling County as a San-Andres test. W. W. Murray will be drilling the No. 1 E. V. Hall about seven miles southwest of Water Valley and also about 1 1/2 miles southwest of the Randle No. 1-A Johnston wildcat location.

Britain's U.N. Delegate On Hot Spot Again

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 9 (AP)—Sir Pierson Dixon, Britain's wily and energetic permanent delegate to the U.N., is on a diplomatic hot spot again and likes it. He expects things will get hotter before many days pass.

Being in such a position is nothing new to 51-year-old "Bob" Dixon. In his somewhat rapid rise in Her Majesty's foreign service, he has been principal private secretary to two foreign secretaries, the Conservative Anthony Eden and the Laborite Ernest Bevin, and has attended all the major postwar conferences.

During March he has served as president of the U.N. Security Council, whose main worry now is the Israeli-Arab conflict. He also has met headon a Greek demand for the U.N. to debate at the Assembly next fall the question of Cyprus.

Dixon objects that Cyprus, a crown colony torn by violence over Cypriot demands for union with Greece, is British business and not concern of the U.N. Last year the British mustered enough votes to keep Cyprus off the agenda of the Assembly. Dixon is working for the same result this year but the odds are against him.

Dixon is an old friend of Greece and spent happy days there as an archaeologist. Lady Dixon was born of a British father and a Greek mother. But despite his warm regard for Greece, he faithfully carries out instructions in the Cyprus case. For him, the decision of his government is law.

Dixon's hair is red and slightly wavy. He has schooled himself over the years to keep a matching temper under tight rein. Although he is sometimes accused of being a "stuffed shirt," those who know him say he is a warm-hearted and loyal friend. He weighs 140 pounds, stands 5 feet 10.

Dixon took his post here March 18, 1954, succeeding Sir Gladwyn Jebb.

County Wage Hike Approved

County pay raises authorized sometime ago by the County Commissioners Court were made official today. The Commissioners passed a resolution unanimously which approved the pay raise schedule and made the increases effective as of April 1.

Originally, the resolution had proposed to make the pay raises effective March 1. The date was changed to April 1 on advice of the county attorney.

Approval was given for the justices of the peace to employ a deputy on one day of each week to assist them in keeping up to date with their dockets.

Lee Porter, county auditor, submitted the financial report for the month. Transfer of $15,000 from the general fund to the salary fund was authorized by a unanimous vote.

Board Still Boss Of School Paper

AUSTIN (AP)—The board of Texas Students Publications Inc., at the University of Texas, is still editorial policy boss of the Daily Texan, student newspaper, regents said in effect yesterday.

The TSP has ordered withheld some editorials written by Willie Morris, youthful editor of the paper.

TSP suggestions that space given controversial subjects be reduced and controversial issues already in sensitive areas be avoided will be studied by a committee soon, the regents said.

Discussion Unit Organization Is Set For Today

Formation of an economics discussion group this afternoon opens a series of activities planned this week by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber's spring membership campaign will be launched Tuesday morning and plans for the city-wide clean-up drive will be made Wednesday afternoon.

J. H. Grene, Chamber manager, said plans have been made to include about 20 persons in the discussion group. The organization will be completed at a 5:30 p.m. session today.

Guidance materials and recorded talks on various economics and political subjects have been secured from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce for the 17-week discussion period. Each participant will be asked to pay ($5) for the material he uses.

The Chamber of Commerce purchased the 17 recorded talks for $100.

Membership campaign of the Chamber will start at 10 a.m. Tuesday. George Zachariah and Champ Rainwater will be in charge of the drive. Some 75 workers have been asked to meet the leaders at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The clean-up planning meeting is scheduled for 5:15 p.m. Wednesday. E. L. Powell and Sam McComb will be in charge of the Chamber's part of the clean-up drive.

Finley Martin Of Stanton Dies

STANTON — Finley Martin, 83, long-time resident of Stanton, died early Sunday in a hospital at Big Spring after a long illness.

Services were set for 3 p.m. Monday in the First Methodist Church in Stanton. Burial was to be in the Evergreen Cemetery beside the grave of his wife who passed away five years ago. Arrangements were to be in charge of Arrington Funeral Home. Conducting the rites was to be the Rev. Wallace Kirby, Methodist pastor, assisted by the Rev. H. L. Bingham, Big Spring, and the Rev. E. B. Coon, Stanton.

Mr. Martin was born in Tennessee Feb. 11, 1873, and came to Stanton in December of 1923. Until 1948, when he retired, he farmed in the Courtney community. Mr. Martin was married Oct. 27, 1905 to Elizabeth Key at Cornish, Okla.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Lula Mae Compton, Abilene; five sons, Sam H. Martin, John Martin, Leonard Martin and Alfred Martin of Stanton and Joseph H. Martin, Lamesa. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Ruth Beal Chandler; two brothers, Jim Martin, Lakeview, and B. W. Martin of Tennessee; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were to be B. F. White, Ernest Mims, James Jones, Oliver Vaughn, A. C. Powell and S. W. Wheeler.

Burglars Get Money, Beer

Burglars got away with between $15 and $20 in money and six cases of beer in a break-in at a North-side establishment.

The El Sobrero, 307 N. Gregg, reported that the burglary occurred about 1:50 a.m. Sunday morning. The vandals had turned the lights out by cutting the current, and the clock stopped at that time.

Taken was $3 from the cash register, $6 or $7 from a juke box, and between $8 and $10 from a cigarette machine, plus the six cases of beer.

Entry was made through a window on the south side of the building. J. B. Long, 1623 E. 3rd, reported loss of a tan briefcase Saturday containing some "important papers and blueprints."

Resident's Sister Dies At Amarillo

Mrs. D. M. McKinney received word Monday of the death of a sister, Mrs. T. F. Gilbert, in Amarillo. Mrs. Gilbert had been ill for several weeks.

Mrs. McKinney lost another sister, Mrs. L. A. Crabtree, recently at Whitesboro, and she and Mr. McKinney had just returned from a week-end visit in that area and at McKinney. Other sisters surviving Mrs. Gilbert are Mrs. Jim Snyder, Amarillo, Mrs. Mrs. Jim Hill and Mrs. John W. Moore, McKinney.

Parked Truck, Car Collide

Two parked cars collided this morning. A 1955 Oldsmobile owned by Raymond E. Miles, 104 W. 8th rolled back against a 1955 GMC truck owned by the city. This accident happened in the 100 block of W. 8th.

Two accidents were reported in Big Spring Sunday. One at the Setles and Wood corner involved Rodney Sheppard, 1417 Wood, and Jessie M. Bailey Jr., 2110 Main. Sheppard had a 1950 Buick, and Bailey a 1952 Mercury.

Maria Florez, 702 NW 10th, was driving a 1948 Ford which collided with Aurora Flores, 710 NW 10th, at 704 NW 10th. No damage report was submitted.

An accident Saturday night occurred at First and Scurry. Involved were Herbert Reaves, driving a 1952 Dodge, and J. C. Barnett, who had a 1953 Oldsmobile. Reaves lists his address as 601 E. 12th, and Barnett at 1106 Lamesa.

Rites Today For Mrs. Ellen Mott

Mrs. Ellen Mott, 85, died Sunday in San Antonio and last rites were to be said here at 3:30 p.m. today.

Services were set for the River Chapel with the Rev. Cecil Rhodes, pastor of the West Side Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was to be in the City Cemetery beside the grave of her husband, James B. Mott, who died April 3, 1937.

Mrs. Mott had been a resident of Big Spring since 1905 until she moved to San Antonio five years ago. Surviving is one son, O. F. Mott, Houston.

Pallbearers were to be Dewey Martin, Milton Broughton, Luther Smith, John M. Smith, Dee Foster, Troy Newton.

'Y' Membership Reports Asked

A full-scale report meeting has been set for the YMCA membership campaign Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. in the YMCA building.

Initially this was to have been the El Sobrero, but the drive has been progressing so well that Mrs. Mary Rogers, membership campaign chairman, has urged all workers as well as captains and division leaders to report in person.

She said that if the response of last week was continued, there was a good possibility that the objective would be approached at the Tuesday evening report.

The YMCA is seeking at least 300 adult members and a minimum of $6,000 from this source to give assurances that all budgeted activities of the YMCA can be carried out this week.

Girls Cash Hot Check

Two young girls, picked up as possible runaways by A. E. Long, juvenile officer, have been surrendered to Midland authorities.

Game Canceled

LAMESA — The baseball game of the Lamesa All-Stars and Clovis Pioneers, set for tonight, was cancelled shortly before noon today in the face of the cold front that threatens to drop temperatures to near freezing here tonight.

Gray On State TB Directorate

Zack Gray, Big Spring, president of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association, is one of the 12 new members elected to the board of directors of the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

He was named at the 46th annual meeting of the board Saturday in Midland. Among other new directors are Mrs. Jack R. Walton Jr., Midland and Walter V. Terrell, Sweetwater. Among those re-elected for a one-year term was Mrs. Jack G. Smith, Colorado City.

Dr. H. T. Barkley of Houston was named president of the association, succeeding Mrs. Joella T. Butler of Wichita Falls. Other state officers are Dr. Daniel Jenkins of Houston, first vice president; Joe Sorrels of College Station, second vice president; Mrs. J. V. Cooper of Waxahachie, secretary; and Dr. Z. T. Scott, Austin, treasurer.

Speakers at the three-day meeting called for an acceleration of efforts to prevent the spread of tuberculosis, pointing out that the disease still is a major killer despite improvements in treatment.

The association voted to hold its 1957 meeting in Longview. No date was set.

Big Springers who participated in the Midland convention were Mr. and Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Alton Underwood, Mrs. Wayland Yates and Jewel Barton.

Fires Damage Two Automobiles

Two car fires on opposite sides of Big Spring were reported over the weekend.

A car owned by R. J. Whirley caught fire from its wiring system, on the Lamesa highway. Only the wires were damaged, firemen reported.

While being worked on, the car belonging to Dan Krausse caught fire. The car was parked at 18th and Gregg. Firemen from the Main Street substation said that the motor, wiring, dash, and hood sustained heavy damage.

Scout Council High At Dallas

The Buffalo Trail Council, in which this area participates and which serves 20 West Texas counties from Colorado City to the Rio Grande, captured top honors at the Region IX meeting in Dallas last week.

The region embraces Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and parts of Arizona, Arkansas and Utah. The Buffalo Trail Council was first in total units, total boy membership, percentage of boys and units registered, total Explorers, and Boy's Life subscriptions.

'Mr. Five-By-Five' Held

A man who police identified as Harry Lester, who left Buffalo, N. Y., in 1954 allegedly owing one and one-half million dollars, was arrested in his apartment in Phoenix, Ariz. He is shown with Lt. Herschell Britton, right, after the arrest. Lester, 5 feet 5 and about 250 pounds, was known in the East as Mr. Five-by-Five.

Court Okays Prof's Amendment Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today denied New York City the right to fire a college professor who invoked the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

The decision applied to Dr. Harry Slochower, who told the subcommittee he had not been a Communist since 1941, but refused to say—on the ground that his answer might incriminate him—whether he had been a Communist party member in 1940 and 1941.

Justice Clark delivered the 5-4 decision. Others who made up the majority were Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Frankfurter and Douglas.

Justices Harlan and Reed wrote dissenting opinions. Justices Burton and Minton joined in Reed's dissent.

Slochower was fired in 1952, two weeks after he appeared before the subcommittee. He was a Brooklyn College teacher who had 27 years of service.

The dismissal was automatic under Section 903 of the New York City Charter. It provides for discharge of city employees who refuse to answer questions of authorized investigative bodies on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

Ephraim London, New York City attorney for Dr. Slochower, told the high court the effect of the section was to forbid public employees to invoke the Fifth Amendment "under pain of discharge." He described this as "an unconstitutional condition on a constitutional privilege."

Clark's majority opinion today said the dismissal of Slochower violated the federal constitutional guarantee of due process of law. Clark wrote: "This is not to say that Slochower has a constitutional right to be an associate professor of German at Brooklyn College."

"The state has broad powers in the selection and discharge of its employees, and it may be that proper inquiry would show Slochower's continued employment to be inconsistent with a real interest in the state. But there has been no such inquiry here."

Reed said in his dissenting opinion that the court's decision "strikes deep into the authority of New York to protect its local influences of officials whose conduct does not meet the declared state standards for employment."

Reed said the City "does have employees either to give evidence regarding facts of official conduct within their knowledge or to give up their positions."

Reed noted that the provision of the Charter under which the professor was fired followed the refusal of numerous city employees to testify as to criminal acts on the ground of self-incrimination. He added: "New York decided it did not want that kind of public employee. We think New York had that right."

Harlan said in his dissent that he felt the high court majority "has unduly circumscribed the power of the state to ensure the qualifications of its teachers."

Harlan said he feels a state may justifiably consider that questions concerning their official conduct "are no longer qualified for public school teaching, on the ground that their refusal to answer jeopardizes the confidence that the public should have in its school system."

Price Levels Main Issue In Farm Bill

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Reporter
WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The election-year congressional battle over farm legislation is basically a fight over the economic role of government price supports.

It is the contention of Republicans—that is, those who back the views of the Eisenhower administration—that supports should be used to stabilize farm product prices and to help guide production upward or downward in line with market needs. By stabilization is meant the avoidance of wide fluctuations during a marketing season. Normally, prices tend to dip at harvest time, when supplies are abundant and to advance later, as supplies decline.

County Wage Hike Approved

County pay raises authorized sometime ago by the County Commissioners Court were made official today. The Commissioners passed a resolution unanimously which approved the pay raise schedule and made the increases effective as of April 1.

Originally, the resolution had proposed to make the pay raises effective March 1. The date was changed to April 1 on advice of the county attorney.

Approval was given for the justices of the peace to employ a deputy on one day of each week to assist them in keeping up to date with their dockets.

Lee Porter, county auditor, submitted the financial report for the month. Transfer of $15,000 from the general fund to the salary fund was authorized by a unanimous vote.

When Hashimoto arrived in Washington, he was assailed by some newspapers as a "cold-blooded professional killer." But he maintained that, as now, that he was merely carrying out orders, as did American submarine commanders.

Hashimoto turned to writing to support himself. His memoir, "Sunk: The Story of the Japanese Submarine Fleet," sold 80,000 copies and was translated into English and French.

In February 1954, Kawasaki Heavy Industries, one of Japan's biggest shipbuilders, resumed construction of warships and employed Hashimoto as adviser. He is now supervisor of a dockyard here which, among other things, overhauls ships turned over to Japan by the United States.

But her husband, Endre Marton, who was correspondent for the Associated Press in Budapest, remains in prison.

Budapest radio announced last Jan. 14 that Mrs. Marton had been sentenced to three years imprisonment and her husband to six years on charges of spying for U. S. intelligence agents. The Martons are Hungarian citizens.

During Wallace's tenure, supports for major crops varied between 52 and 75 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

But in the postwar period, as prices started declining from levels far above the supports, Congress hesitated to pull out the 90 per cent floors lest it cause farm income to drop too sharply. Thus, the emergence of the philosophy that supports should be used as an instrument to maintain farm income.

In 1954, the Eisenhower administration persuaded Congress to adopt a flexible support system, with price floors ranging between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. It argued — as did Wallace earlier — that high supports would not maintain income because they would deprive farmers of markets, force sharp cutbacks in production and rigid government controls.

The GOP argues that the way to increase farm income is to reduce the price-depressing surpluses, reduce farm production costs through adoption of more efficient methods and aggressive salesmanship.

But Democrats are pressing for re-adoption of price support measures for getting more money to farmers. They say the GOP methods are too slow, that many little farmers would be squeezed out in the meantime.

Elks Slate Installation

Big Spring Elks will install new officers following a dinner of bar-becued ribs to be served at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Elks Lodge at the Crawford Hotel.

Officers of the Abilene lodge will be in charge of installation ceremonies. A delegation of Midland Elks also will be on hand. New officers include C. C. Ryan Jr., exalted ruler; M. T. Kuykendall, leading knight; Jack Taylor, loyal knight; Jasper Atkins, lecturing knight; R. L. Heth, secretary; and Bart Wilkinson, treasurer.

A Bible Thought For Today

For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. (1 Tim. 6:7)

Editorial

Hazards Of The Occupation

In 1947 Nathan Riesel, a fighter for clean journalism, died of injuries attributed to a beating by "the mobs."

One night last week his son, the noted labor columnist Victor Riesel, friendly to unionism but a relentless foe of the labor racketeers, completed a broadcast critical of some of the shadowy figures who operate on the fringe of organized labor, stepped into a New York street, and was met with a dash of sulphuric acid full in the face, thrown by a man lurking in a dark doorway.

Riesel, who began his career writing for labor papers, and is now on about 200 daily newspapers all over the country, may lose the sight of both eyes.

The New York Daily Mirror, which prints his column, and the Hall Syndicate, which distributes it, jointly put up a reward of $10,000 for apprehension of the guilty party. The Newspaper Guild, to which Riesel belongs, and the Overseas Press Club offered $1,000 each. The

New York Newspaper Reporters Assn. put up $500. An organization of veteran newspapermen offered another $500.

The AP points out that the use of physical violence against crusading newspapermen has a long and dishonorable history, and offers several cases in point.

But violence isn't aimed solely at the crusaders. Routine handling of the news as it breaks—the simple reporting of facts to the best of a newspaperman's ability, without bias—has its hazards, too.

Newspapermen know this, and accept it as part of their profession. They feel they have a duty to the public that must be fulfilled.

But it is the crusaders who know best of all the risks they run, especially in exposing racketeers and criminals and entrenched privilege. Men like Victor Riesel simply ignore these dangers and plow steadily ahead, let the chips fall where they may. They are the soldiers of the press.

The More The Merrier

A city councilman of Tampa, Fla., whose 16-year-old son was driver of a car that went out of control, killing one boy and injuring five other teen-agers, had this comment to make:

"I know that much of the problem (reckless driving) is centered on speed. Ever since we have had a television set in our home, all I can remember seeing on automobile ads is power, speed, pickup."

And Governor Ed Johnson of Colorado recently addressed these words to his state Legislature:

"We have tried to reason people into safe driving. We have tried to shame them into safety practices. We have begged them not to commit suicide or murder. We must continue these persuasion methods, of course, but also we have got to be tough. . . . The violator of traffic laws is a dangerous criminal and he must be so recognized and so labelled by the General Assembly."

With reference to the new cult of horsepower worship, Dan Murphy, writing in the Farm Bureau Spokesman, voiced these thoughts:

"Well, we welcomed 1956 with 11 auto deaths. Using the logic of auto makers I'd say the trouble was too little horsepower. If 250 horses don't solve the tight spot, let's try 500 horsepower, eh? Silly, of course. But aren't we consumers the silly ones? Each year we buy a bigger, faster car."

It seems to us that the "light spot" theory of greater safety through horsepower—you just speed up and run out of danger, apparently—has no more reality than the opposite theory; namely, that smaller horsepower is safer because it keeps you from getting into so many tight spots in the first place. You can run into more trouble and danger with 250 horsepower than you can get in to with, say 100.

After all is said and done the horsepower cult is merely pandering to that savage instinct common to most people of a desire to outshine and outrun everyone else regardless of consequences. . . .

If, as the man says, 250 h.p. is a good and safe thing, why not go for 500 or even 1,000 h.p.? A thousand-h.p. car ought to keep a fellow out of all mischief.

Air Probe Sets Stage For Symington

WASHINGTON — By one of those coincidences which the cynical will conclude is merely sheer timing, Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is about to start an investigation into the Air Force and the charge that this country is lagging behind the Soviet Union in air power.

It comes at a time, as the cynics will be inclined to point out, when Symington is being more and more frequently mentioned as a compromise candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

As chairman of the Senate Investigating Committee, Symington will be walking a narrow and hazardous path. He will be dealing with a matter involving, in the most direct and immediate way, America's security.

Both Symington and Senator Henry M. Jackson, Democrat of Washington, who will serve with him on the subcommittee, have charged that this country rapidly is falling behind Soviet Russia in the development of guided missiles.

Air Force officers, while not having spoken with complete frankness, have suggested that the Strategic Air Command, the retaliatory striking force that is considered America's first line of defense, has been weakened by the budget-balancing economies of the Eisenhower Administration.

Any investigation into such grave charges, that have the look of politics in a Presidential election year, will plainly backfire. But at the same time, the committee must do a thorough job, regardless of the political implications.

As first Secretary for Air under unification of the services, beginning in 1947, Symington gained a broad knowledge of air power.

By another coincidence, the air hearings will start at about the time that Trevor Gardner will let loose a new blast at Administration policy which, he says, is resulting in a "second best" Air Force for the United States.

Gardner resigned as special assistant Secretary for Air in charge of research and development after publicly arguing the need for much larger appropriations for both research and missile development.

He has written two articles for a national magazine, telling in detail why he believes present policies are bound to result in a "second best" Air Force and why he felt he could not stay on as assistant secretary and accept the consequences.

Both articles have been reviewed for security and cleared by the Department of Defense, although they are said to pull no punches.

Gardner is still, nominally at least, a consultant to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

In his last talk with Wilson before he left the Department, Gardner discussed the appointment of a "czar" of missile development. It was reported that he himself had hoped to be considered.

But he told Wilson that, in his opinion, a so-called czar over missile development could be effective only if, first, it were a Presidential appointment with the authority of the White House behind it and, second, if the "czar" were given control over dollar disbursements for the program.

Only under these circumstances, Gardner argued, would the "czar" have anything like the authority required to straighten out the service rivalries and competition involved in the 30 different missile projects of the Navy, Air Force and Army. As Gardner pointed out, there then were three separate dollar controls on missile development and the "czar" presumably would have a fourth control.

The chemical engineer whom Wilson finally named to the post, Eger V. Murphree, is not a Presidential appointee nor does he have the kind of controls which Gardner felt were a prerequisite for an effective job.

After the groundwork has been laid, Gardner, in all probability, will be a witness before the Symington committee. So will Secretary Wilson. The latter, however, will be saved for the end when he will be called on to explain the testimony of witnesses who are expected to show that economies have cut away not merely the fat but the bony structure of a developing air force.

When the Russians flew their security chief, General Ivan A. Serov, to London in a jet transport plane, a civilian version of the TU104 bomber, British air experts were dismayed.

The same shock and consternation were registered privately in this country. Gardner told associates that America has nothing like the Soviet jet and will not have for a year and a half or two years.

The hearings are expected to last from about the middle of this month to the middle of June. This means that the final report of the committee should come around the middle of July — on the eve of the Democratic convention in August.

In short, the stage is set. And a forceful performance by Chairman Symington, with resulting headlines and television coverage, could very well make him the man of the hour.

Dixie Demos Have Out-Sized Powers

WASHINGTON — Southern Democrats have a power in Congress out of all proportion to their numbers.

One of them — Rep. Roberts of Alabama — recently reminded the country that Southern Democrats are chairmen of a majority of Congress' standing committees. He said "we are in a position to do something about" the "manifesto" signed by over 100 Southern Democrats against the Supreme Court's ban on racial segregation in public schools.

This is what Roberts meant: "Congress has 531 members and only 121 of them — or 22 per cent — are Democrats from the 11 Southern states. But they hold 60 per cent of the committee chairmanships. They also hold the top party posts — Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn and Senate leader Lyndon B. Johnson, both Texans.

In Congress, where advancement is by seniority, chairmen get their jobs by survival. A new member starts at the foot of the committee ladder and moves up to chairman when he outlasts all those who were before him.

This does not mean that many committee chairmen aren't able men. Some of the most respected members of Congress are from the South.

In the one-party South, where Democrats have a minor voice, Democrats who once get elected to Congress have a big advantage in political longevity over those from the two-party states.

The Senate has 96 members, with 42 of them Southern Democrats. Nine of the Senate's 15 standing committees are headed by Southern Democrats. The House has 435 members, has 99 Southern Democrats. They head 12 of the 19 regular committees. There are seven Southern Republicans in the House.

The committees headed by Southerners are almost all important ones. For example, Sen. Eastland of Mississippi is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Eastland is a leading foe of the Supreme Court's ruling against segregation. Five of the eight Democrats on the committee, which also has seven Republicans, are Southern Democrats.

It's this group which considers proposed constitutional amendments and the appointment of federal judges. Anyone named by the President to fill a Supreme Court vacancy must face this committee.

If the committee recommended against him, it would take a sturdy fight in the full Senate to get him confirmed.

Here are the nine Senate committees headed by Southern Democrats, with their states and years of service in parentheses:

George (Ga-34), Foreign Relations; Russell (Va-24), Armed Services; Byrd (Va-24), Finance;

Ellender (La-19), Agriculture; Hill (Ala-18), Labor and Public Welfare; McClellan (Ark-13), Government Operations; Fulbright (Ark-11), Banking and Currency; and Johnston (SC-11), Post Office and Civil Service.

Here are the 12 Southern Democrats heading House committees: Vinson (Ga-41), Armed Services; Cooper (Tenn-27), Ways and Means; Smith (Va-25), Rules; Post Office and Civil Service; Gooley (NC-21), Agriculture; Barden (NC-21), Education and Labor; McMillan (SC-17), District of Columbia; Bonner (NC-16), Merchant Marine and Fisheries; Priest (Tenn-15), Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Murray (Tenn-13), Post Office and Civil Service; Teague (Tex-10), Veterans Affairs; Burleson (Tex-9), House Administration.

Good Place To Buy A Ghost

ANDROS TOWN, The Bahamas — If there is someone in your life you want haunted, this is the place to bring him to get the job done.

You can rent a boat here and enjoy some of the world's finest bonafide. But if you choose to dabble in a little black magic, you can also rent a ghost by the week or month — or even buy one outright, if you prefer.

Andros, the largest island in the Bahamas, is a mystic realm reportedly inhabited by the spooks of pirates and several kinds of evil beasts known nowhere else on earth.

Clear Creek is a salty stream that now divides the old and new worlds of Andros.

On one side lies Andros Town, a multimillion-dollar development by Dr. Axel Wenner — Gren, the Swedish financier. Its luxurious villas, Yacht Club and Lighthouse Club have become a new resort playground for well-to-do sportsmen and sun-seekers of three continents. You couldn't find a pleasant place to fish for a marlin or pick up a quick tan.

Across Clear Creek is Coakley Town, where the natives live. They are descendants of African slaves and Seminole Indians, and many still hold to a local form of voodoo they have developed over the centuries.

They dislike walking by the deeply timbered groves after dusk. They feel the forests are the homes of the chickcharms and the yahobs, strange, half-human, half-animal creatures with magic powers to work ill or harm.

The chickcharms are knee-high, have big ears and huge, owl-like eyes. Birdlike, they build nests in the juncture of three tall trees that touch at the top.

They inflict a lifelong curse on anyone who molests their eyes.

Legend has it that all the misfortune that befell the late British Prime Minister, Neville Chamberlain, was the work of the chickcharms.

The story is that Chamberlain, as a young man, came across a chickcharme nest while clearing ground for a sisal plantation here.

When native workmen fled in terror at his order to tear down the home of the aerial elves, Chamberlain chopped down the trees himself.

Elders here still blame Chamberlain's failure at Munich on the chickcharme curse, and say Britain never would have won the war if he hadn't been succeeded by Churchill.

Barred From Jail

TULSA — A bootlegger was rebuffed when he showed up at the Tulsa County jail office to begin a jail sentence ordered 18 months ago. Jail officials said there has been a mixup in the files of the case, and they could not jail him without a court order.

Teachers Taught

ALBUQUERQUE — State Sen. Calvin Horn spoke to a group of school teachers here about a bill which passed both houses of the Legislature and was vetoed. During a question period, a teacher asked, "Who vetoed the bill?" Horn patiently explained — the grammar school civics class fact. The governor.

Ulcer Data

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — Henpecked fathers and domineering mothers contribute to stomach ulcers in the later life of their children.

That's the conclusion of a group therapy project in the medical school department of psychiatry at the University of North Carolina.

Small-Size Organist

LUSK, Wyo. — St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church organist is Robert Huey, II. Robert can't see over the big organ to get his cues from the minister when he starts playing.

His mother, Mrs. Archie Huey, sits nearby and relays the cues to him.

"You're improving, dear — it usually takes you FIVE tries to break a club!"

Better To Know Candidates Personally

So you think you've fulfilled your duties to society by trooping to the polls and scratching the name of some candidate you don't like?

Government and politics, sad to relate, are still a three-ring circus to many individuals. We don't lend nearly enough attention to the manner in which our public servants perform as we should.

Like one man in politics said, the game can be compared to baseball in that "it's all right to sit on the sidelines but it's more fun to get in and play."

How can you "get your feet wet," you say? That's easy. Make it a point to talk to office seekers and smoke them out on their views and theories. Judge for yourself whether they are political lightweights, eager to feed at the public trough or are sincere in their beliefs that they can help by getting elected.

Both major political parties hold precinct conventions at election time. Manage to be there and take an active part in the discussions that take place. If you're not sure when they're scheduled, it's not hard to find out. The newspapers ordinarily carry stories on such happenings and county party officials are aware of the time they are scheduled.

More than a few of the things that are settled at national conventions are first brought up on a precinct level. If you don't attend, you have small grounds for complaining that things don't go to suit you when it comes time to decide on statewide and national issues.

If you are dissatisfied with the manner in which some party machines do business, and there are few of us who go along with everything they do, you can rally other voters and form some sort of alliance that can counteract their effect upon the voters.

That's as American as apple pie and baseball.

The old-time box suppers where politicians bid on box lunches or pies, then made their pitch to the voters after every one had been fed, did much to generate public interest in politics, but they've about gone out of style, because of the inroads made by radio and television.

It is not good to vote for someone when your only contact with that individual has been by radio, television or through newspaper accounts you have read about him.

If a candidate has two faces, one he presents to a television and radio audience and the other he uses to promote himself, it is your duty to examine his credentials and determine if he's the man to serve you.

You do that best through personal contact over a period of time.

'Daily Worker' Has No Rights In U.S.

WASHINGTON — For several days now the news dispatches have told about the troubles of the "Daily Worker" with the tax collectors of the federal government but nowhere has there appeared any explanation as to why a newspaper in New York City which is the official organ of the Communist party is permitted to publish at all.

Inquiry here of government officials discloses that the subject has never been given the study that it deserves. Likewise, some officials seem to think that the "Daily Worker" has been permitted to publish largely as a gesture to prove that even unfriendly and dissenting publications can be issued in free America.

But the Supreme Court of the United States is on record in a historic decision declaring that the Constitution doesn't protect a newspaper engaged in propaganda hostile to the United States. The high court said in 1921:

"Freedom of the press may protect criticism and agitation for modification or repeal of laws, but it does not extend to protection of him who counsels and encourages the violation of the law as it exists. The Constitution was adopted to preserve our government, not to serve as a protecting screen for those who, while claiming its privileges, seek to destroy it."

"While written more adroitly than the usual pro-German propaganda of that time, they nevertheless prove clearly that the publisher of these articles was deliberately and persistently doing all in his power to deter its readers from supporting the war in which our government was engaged, and to induce them to lend aid and comfort to its enemies. The order of the Postmaster General not only finds reasonable support in this record, but is amply justified by it."

The newspaper in question lost its second-class-mail privileges.

Today a more specific power of law is directed at those who would carry on the work of the Communist party in this country. The Smith Act of 1940, under which about 16 convictions recently have been obtained by the Department of Justice, makes it a crime to teach or advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force or violence of any kind or to disseminate any propaganda by means of printed matter or otherwise seeking the same purpose.

The statute says, moreover, that "it shall be unlawful for any person . . . to organize or help to organize any society, group, or assembly of persons who teach, advocate, or encourage the overthrow or destruction of any government in the United States by force or violence; or to be or become a member of, or affiliate with, any such society, group, or assembly of persons, knowing the purposes thereof."

If, therefore, individuals may not engage in propaganda which is a part of the Communist apparatus, how can the "Daily Worker" maintain editors or staff writers or other employees when their chief occupation is to participate in the making of a propaganda that has often been described in court evidence as an essential part of the Communist party's work in America?

There are some who say America should permit the "Daily Worker" to continue in order to dramatize abroad the "free press" idea of the United States. But no group of Americans could get a reciprocal privilege to publish in Moscow a newspaper which day in and day out would sneer at, ridicule, denounce and attack the government in the Kremlin. Nor would any Americans be permitted even to travel where they pleased in Soviet Russia to gather news for such a newspaper.

If Moscow permitted a subversive operation directed by Americans to be conducted inside the Soviet Union, there might be some sense in agreeing to reciprocity. But, as it is, the personnel of the "Daily Worker" apparently can continue to be part of the Communist party's organized effort to destroy the foreign policy of the United States and give aid and comfort to the enemies of this country in the "cold war" and yet escape any punishment whatsoever.

The big unanswered question today is: How does the "Daily Worker" get away with it while dozens of individuals are tried under the Smith Act for "teaching" and "advocating" measures designed to bring about the overthrow of the government of the United States?

There's Always A Way To Get Your Man

Since Leap Year still has eight months to go, I feel it is no less than a sacred duty to put on paper the way in which one dauntless belle overcame all obstacles to get her man. (The Canadian Mounties could take lessons!)

So I shall plunge at once into the true tale of our heroine, more a woman than a girlie. As the scene opens, with 1956 on the horizon, Bix, as I shall call her, is wallowing in Stygian gloom.

Her current husband has just given her the heave, a humiliating and — to her — surprising end of another marriage. With her pride, rather than her emotions, bleeding at every pore, a most ample financial settlement accompanying the divorce scarcely salved her wounds.

In these mortifying straits, Bix's reaction was pure female. Obviously the only solution, the only means by which Bix could hold up her head in international cafe society in the future and salvage her ego, was to marry before her immediate ex-husband could beat her to it.

As Bix mentally cased the list of eligibles, it became alarmingly clear that she had just about exhausted American possibilities in the past. But as the pit yawned at her feet, Bix suddenly remembered a remarkably attractive Englishman whom she had met only once before and then for only a few hours.

On a train from New York to Washington, they had been seated by happy accident at a small table for two. They chatted only enough for Bix to realize that he was a man-of-the-world, a charmer, and rich, to boot. Yachting, he had said, was his hobby and his love. He had talked of sailing with great enthusiasm.

She remembered these few things about him, his name and nothing more. But, stout soul, she took the next liner to England. Once settled in her London hotel, she began a systematic hunt for her quarry. She started by phoning all the best London clubs and hotels and asking for her man.

Within 40 minutes she located him. It was obvious that he scarcely remembered her. He was brief and coldly courteous. When she said that she had to see him at once, he explained that he would be in business conferences all day and was leaving for the Continent late in the afternoon.

But Bix was so insistent that he finally and reluctantly said that if she would come at once, he could see her for five minutes, no more.

The long and short of it is when they met, Bix told him she finally had decided to buy "the best small yacht in the world" and wished him, since he was an expert of experts, to order, superintend and buy it for her.

And, as a clincher, she handed him a blank check with only her signature in the proper place.

She had pinked him, as she expected, in his Achilles' heel. He could not resist. Naturally, while the yacht was a-building, he had to consult with Bix every day.

Yes, they were married 10 days ago.

Leap year, ladies, is a cinch, if you have a blank check handy.

Turtle Heart Studies

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Turtles are being used in heart studies at Michigan State University. The turtles are deeply anesthetized so that electrodes may be attached to their heart muscles for direct electrocardiograph recording.

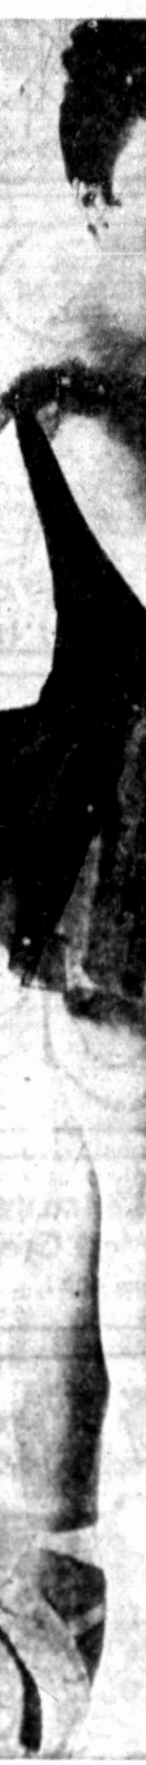

"The fundamentals of electrocardiography can often be studied best by recording directly from the heart itself," says Dr. William D. Collings, associate professor of physiology at M.S.U.

Grunt And Groan

EAST LANSING, Mich. — The grunts, groans and aching muscles of a group of Michigan State University professors, someday may help prevent a lot of heart attacks.

The M. S. U. faculty members and other volunteers, all at least 40 years old, are undergoing a special course in exercise to see if it can reduce or control the amount of cholesterol in their blood-streams.

Dancer Has Exercise To Make Legs Pretty

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Ballerina Renee Jeanmaire is one of Hollywood's most exciting new talents. She was introduced to me by her husband, Roland Petit of the Ballet de Paris, who choreographed her big number in "Anything Goes." Jeanmaire, who is typically French, believes that individually comes before fashion. "Short hair may eventually go out of style but I will always keep mine short," she told me as we lunched at Paramount. "I like the change this style has made in me. "When I was dancing in Paris, and Roland was considering me for his new ballet, 'Carmen,' my hair was long and much too curly. Roland took a pair of scissors and cut my hair as it is now. 'Now, we have the real you,' he said and gave me the role of Carmen. "My hair was lightened for authentic reality in 'Hans Christian Andersen' (Jeanmaire's first movie) but I like my natural color, brunette, better. My skin tone falls for dark hair."

Jeanmaire's legs have been called the most perfect since Mistinguette. Since some ballerinas have overdeveloped calves, I asked her the cause of this. "They have not been trained right," she said with emphasis. Jeanmaire started formal ballet instructions in Paris Opera Ballet School at the age of ten. She believes that anyone wanting to be a ballet dancer must have discipline and dedication. "How can a girl make her legs more beautiful?" I asked. "By exercise," Jeanmaire exclaimed, "she can build them up or reduce them." "What should girls with thin legs do?" I asked. Jeanmaire said, "Stand with your feet 12 inches apart and keep your knees straight. "Roll your weight so that it is on the outside of the foot and your knees come close together. Hold this position firm and then relax. Repeat five times. "Then roll your weight to the outside of your feet and cup your toes firmly so the arch is stretched," she continued. "Hold this and let go. Do both of these exercises slowly because it is a leisurely rhythm that builds muscle. I couldn't resist asking Jeanmaire in parting to tell me what she felt was a contrasting difference between an American and French girl. "Life here is easier for the woman. Her husband pays her so much attention that she is spoiled," she laughed. "But I don't say she deserves this attention."

Pretty Legs, Too

Jeanmaire, the exciting French ballerina of Paramount's "Anything Goes," plans to keep her hair short even if the style goes out of fashion. She believes in individuality.

Local Girl Is Married Saturday

Billie Marie Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Tucker, 1101 N. Scurry, became the bride of Richard Zymkoski at a double ceremony at High Mass at St. Thomas Catholic Church, Fort Worth, Saturday morning, April 7. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zymkoski, Scranton, Pa. Green and white were the colors chosen by the bride for her waltz-length gown. Green lace covered white satin. The skirt was bouffant. She wore a small white hat and carried white gardenias on a bride's Bible. Mrs. Zymkoski is a graduate of high school here. She has been employed in Fort Worth, where the couple will live. Attending the wedding from here were Mrs. Tucker, her son, Richard, and two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Parker and Mrs. R. B. Davidson and Mr. Davidson.

Subdeb Creations Shown At Guest Day Program

The highlight of the 1955 Hyperion year, Guest Day, featured a subdeb style show Saturday afternoon at Howard County Junior College. About 80 members and guests viewed the show and a series of home decorating color slides in the auditorium and ended the afternoon with a tea hour in the union building. "New Fabrics" was emphasized by each of the high school models in their dresses, which they created and made themselves. Their home economics teacher, Mrs. John Annen, introduced the show. "Sewing at home is not only more economical but just as smart," said Mrs. Annen. Most of the dresses ranged in total cost from five to fifteen dollars, one dipping as low as $3.43. The secret, Mrs. Annen explained, is in exciting new fabric blends and the bold colors and style trends spotlighted on the fashion scene this season. A vibrant turquoise sheath with a mandarin collar, influenced by the Far Eastern trend, and an orange-hot party dress illustrated her points. "These are colors you've wanted to wear and now you won't be afraid of them because they are high fashion," she said. As for fabrics, not only are both new and old fibers teamed in one material but unusual material combinations comprise the new ensembles. A lilac lace duster over a white linen sheath was modeled by the narrator, Clara Freeman. On another junior model yellow dotted Swiss swished over chintz. A straight-lined pink denim duster was scattered with rhinestones, another example of the season's unhibited fashion flair. Mrs. Annen warned that the customer should read the label on the bolt of material for the width, characteristics and care needed for the cloth. She said today's seamstresses are demanding spot, wrinkle and crease resistant fabrics, and getting them, as the models proved. Carts, flanking the stage, were piled with yellow and lilac flowers. A white bridegroom blossomed with yellow. Darlene Agee provided an organ background as the models pivoted across the stage. Mrs. Norman Reed was chairman of the Guest Day program. The guild of Wesley Methodist Church, Big Spring, reported the year's largest increase, six new members. Eleven guilds are included in the district. Each guild president outlined the progress of her organization as roll was called at the meeting. Twelve local guild members attended from both churches.

Mrs. H. H. Stephens Challenges Guilds To Increase Rolls

District Wesleyan Service Guild members were challenged by Mrs. H. H. Stephens to add 200 to their roll this year at a meeting in Andrews Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Stephens, a member of the local First Methodist Church, is president of the district Women's Society of Christian Service. She said the increase would mean a new member for each seven already enrolled. The guild of Wesley Methodist Church, Big Spring, reported the year's largest increase, six new members. Eleven guilds are included in the district. Each guild president outlined the progress of her organization as roll was called at the meeting. Twelve local guild members attended from both churches.

Girls Sing Harmony For 1930 Hyperions

Songs in two and three-part harmony were sung for the 1930 Hyperion Club Saturday afternoon by sixth grade girls from Central Ward and College Heights. Hostesses for the meeting, held in the home of Mrs. William Hefflin, were Mrs. Hubert Stipp, Mrs. Horace Garrett and Mrs. Hefflin. Mrs. Bill Griese, music instructor in the local schools, spoke to the club about the work in harmony and paid tribute to the teachers who work with her on the music. She accompanied the Sixth Grade Sextette from Central Ward. Rachel Phelan, a member of the group, introduced the members, Maudie Sammons, Diane Baker, Judy Bradberry, Linda Garrett and Lynn Wood. She also gave the name of the songs to be sung, "Old Gray Bonnet," "Three Little Maids," and "Chee-Chee-A-Chee." Pat Moore announced the selections for the Triple Trio of College Heights. They were "All Through The Night," "Were You There?" and "Mozart's Alphabet." Members of this group are Miss Moore, Clarice Wright, Cherry Masters, LaJuana McPherson, Karon Koger, Patricia Hull, Sharon Gary and Jean Jordan. In combination, the two groups sang "Waltzing With Anya," a Bohemian folksong, "B u y M y Tortillas" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Griese was assisted by Mrs. Ruth Burman. Speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Lee Rogers, who gave highlights of her trip to Europe. She showed souvenirs which she brought back to this country. During the business meeting Mrs. Maurice Koger reported on the magazines which had been ordered for the Westside Recreation Center as part of the project carried on by the club. They are all magazines to appeal to children between the ages of four to 14 years. Mrs. Marie Carter gave a report of the City Federation meeting. Mrs. M. M. Edwards and Mrs. R. V. Middleton, former members, were welcomed back into the club. An announcement was made of a book review to be given April 17 by Mrs. W. A. Hunt. Appearing at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, Mrs. Hunt will review Taylor Caldwell's "Tender Victory." She is being sponsored by the WSCS of the church. Mrs. Chester Barnes reported on the work of the club with the Service Men's Center. For the tea hour, the hostesses used an arrangement of iris, daffodils and other spring flowers with eucalyptus leaves on a white linen cloth. Silver and milkglass appointments were used in the serving done by Mrs. Stipp.

Become A Gay Gardener In Colorful Coveralls

This is the season when gardeners from Maine to California put away the seed catalogs and start looking over the gardening tools. Whether your garden consists of a few flowers or an acre of vegetables, the day you get out the trowel, is the first day of spring for you. If you are going to be a gardener you might as well be dressed for the job. Sewing center experts suggest you make a couple of gay and practical one-piece coveralls for outdoor chores. Made of flower-printed cotton with a dry-shrink finish, they can be tossed in the washing machine and worn next day without ironing. The finish is dirt resistant too, meaning that dirt will not get down into the fibers. You can make the coveralls in both mother and daughter sizes from standard patterns. It saves time to cut two at once and sew them on the assembly line plan. Thus you will find that it doesn't take much longer to make two garments than it does to make one. The one-piece coverall suggested has an open shirt collar and peddle pusher length pants. It is zipped all the way down the front, and may have a gay sash or belt of contrasting color. Look pretty in the garden and you will find the work is more fun—especially when you won't have to worry about the laundry.

Need Some New Clothes? Here's How To Get Them

Some lucky young Texas lass is soon going to be the owner of an all-wool wardrobe valued at approximately $4,000 and in addition will be given an expense-paid trip to the fashion centers of the United States. All she has to do is to become "Miss Wool."

Some lucky young Texas lass is soon going to be the owner of an all-wool wardrobe valued at approximately $4,000 and in addition will be given an expense-paid trip to the fashion centers of the United States. All she has to do is to become "Miss Wool."

The 1956 "Miss Wool" contest is under way. Sponsored by the San Angelo Board of City Development in cooperation with the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, the contest comes to a climax August 31, when the new Miss Wool is crowned in San Angelo. Winner of the coveted title will also be presented with a 1956 model car for her own use during her reign as the official ambassador of wool. Also included is a set of matched luggage for the new wool royalty. To enter, any single miss between 20 and 25 need only write for an application form to the Miss Wool Contest Headquarters, Box 712, San Angelo. Eleven finalists will enjoy an expense-paid five-day visit in San Angelo at the annual Wool Fiesta where Miss Wool will be crowned. The finalists will have to pay only their transportation to and from San Angelo. Hundreds of applications for forms have been sent to Texas colleges and universities. Deadline for entries is July 15.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

I'm of the opinion that, if the softball diamond were prettied up and the lighting system improved, there'd be more interest manifested in softball here than at any time in the past ten years.

For one thing, there will be no professional baseball here. For another, it appears no other league is going to be organized in the area.

I'm told there are from one to four WAB teams available for such a circuit, if one is organized. Surely the city itself can field as many as four teams.

The park diamond is in none too good condition, however. It needs dirt hauled in and leveled. The number of lights should be doubled, at least.

Chances are good a YMCA men's volleyball tournament will be staged here this month. Teams from cities throughout the area will be invited, in such a case.

The morning of the ABC Relays here two Fridays ago, quarter-miler Milton Davis of the Big Spring Steers got up off a couch and his knee locked.

It didn't appear there was a chance for him to compete but a visit to the doctor corrected the trouble and he ran fourth in his specialty.

Julio Ramos, one-time mound ace of the Big Spring Bronces, has already drawn his release from the Roswell Rockets. His arm woes seem to be chronic.

That Monahan's coaching job, the one writers out there who said the school board would probably have trouble filling, has gone to Bob Henderson, former Baylor athlete, who has been at Chillicothe the past five years.

His Chillicothe teams won 39 games, lost 11 and played three ties in Class A competition.

Incidentally, Chillicothe is the former home of W. E. and Herschel (Red) Ramsey, W. E. is the former Ozona golf pro who now manages the Cosden Country Club here. Red is the one-time Little All-American griddle at Texas Tech who now makes his home in San Angelo.

What a difference a decade makes. Ten years ago, the Los Angeles Angels were the only Pacific Coast League team with a major-league affiliation. Now, every team out there is either owned outright by or else is closely affiliated with a big league team.

Look for Sihgo Green and not Bill Russell to be the first choice when the National Basketball League begins its annual draft. Both were All-Americans but Russell's talent was more widely acclaimed.

Doc Hayes, the SMU basketball coach, has been seeking player material in New Mexico.

Audie Malone, former hurler for Vernon, Roswell and San Angelo in the Longhorn League, has been assigned to Amarillo by Memphis of the Southern Association. He probably won't stick there and could possibly wind up with Tony York down at Ballinger.

Net Lettermen Are Announced

Big Spring High School tennis lettermen have been announced by Coach Johnny Johnson.

They are Gary Tidwell and Tom Henry Guin, seniors; Roy Brown, junior; Robert Stripling, sophomore; and Bobby McAdams and Bill French, freshmen.

Bill Rigney Can't Decide On Lineup

SHREVEPORT, La. — Manager Bill Rigney has put off for several days naming his New York Giants' varsity.

"They'll have to be put off now for a couple of days until Hank Thompson's shoulder gets better," said Rigney after the Giants had beaten the Cleveland Indians 10-3 in Dallas yesterday.

JEAN BELIVEAU LEADS MONTREAL TO 3-0 WIN

DETROIT — A gifted, long-armed giant was in the right place at the right time on two occasions and whisked away all but the faintest glimmer of hope that the Detroit Red Wings would repeat again as Stanley Cup hockey champions.

The Wings geared their defense to halt rangy Jean Beliveau, but the 24-year-old wizard from Three Rivers, Que., came through with two goals last night to all but wrap up the Montreal Canadiens' first Stanley Cup since 1935.

Red Sox Will Give Yankees Real Test

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK — The New York Yankees, who defeated Cleveland by three games last year, should capture the American League pennant again in 1956 but not without another terrible struggle—this time with the greatly improved Boston Red Sox.

The 1956 race shapes up as a four-team battle, with the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox showing plenty of fight. Even the Detroit Tigers could cause trouble.

The Yankees' depth in pitching, superior bench strength, maneuverability of players and the presence of Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra—baseball's mightiest one-two punch—should be able to offset the Red Sox' youth and speed, their strong pitching and the mighty bat of Ted Williams.

The Indians and White Sox, the first spearheaded by their superb pitching and the second strengthened by the arrival of Larry Doby, probably will slug it out for third and fourth. The Tigers have enough to throw a scare into the others but not quite enough to overtake any of them.

Eating dust all the way will be Kansas City, Baltimore and Washington.

The writer selects the order of finish this way:

1. New York
2. Boston
3. Cleveland
4. Chicago
5. Detroit
6. Kansas City
7. Baltimore
8. Washington

Last minute trades could upset all the dope, but New York and Boston appear to have gained the most from off-season deals. The Yankees' acquisition of Mickey McDermott from Washington erased most of the advantage gained by the Red Sox when they plucked Mickey Vernon and Bob Porterfield from the Senators.

Boston finished 12 games behind New York in 1955 and that's a lot of ground to make up.

Cleveland and Chicago both claim they were strengthened by the winter deal that sent Doby to the White Sox and Chico Carrasquel and Jim Busby to the Indians.

On the face of it, it looks like Cleveland got up much-needed lefthanded power and Chicago left itself with a shortstop problem.

Detroit has improved its pitching and boasts top flight stars in Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Ray Boone but needs a second baseman badly and can use a good lefthanded hitting left fielder.

The addition of McDermott, who split 20 decisions with the last year Senators last year, could give the Yankees the best pitching in the league. Whitey Ford 18-7 appears set for his first 20-game season. If Tommy Byrne (16-5) holds up and Bob Turley (17-13) continues to improve, it could be quite a foursome. Casey Stengel also can count on Don Larsen (9-2), Bob Grim (7-5) and Johnny Kucks (8-7) as occasional starters.

Tom Morgan, Jim Konstanty and Gerry Staley provide ample relief.

Stengel's lone question is at shortstop. Right now it looks like Gil McDougald, once he recovers from his leg injury, is the man. Casey is so rich in replacements he can play two or three guys at every infield position and still not be hurt.

The Red Sox will field their strongest team in a decade but manager Mike Higgins knows that Vernon and Williams, each nearing 38, can't be expected to play more than 100 games. He realizes that Porterfield seldom goes through a season without injury. He is conscious of Boston's shortage of righthanded power.

Even so, Higgins has more young talent than he knows what to do with. The infield is rich in replacements. Williams is available for the start of a season for the first time in years. The outfield of Jackie Jensen, Jimmy Piersall and the Thumper is one of the finest in Red Sox history.

Three or Jack Morrison at second, Jackie Williams at shortstop, Truett Newell at third base and Gerry Hoover, Jimmy Montgomery and one of the utility infielders patrolling the picket line.

The Hayhaws are also booked to see action Friday, at which time they visit Amarillo for a double header with the Badgers.

After today, the locals have only two more home dates, an April 17 outing with Clarendon and one April 20 with Odessa.

Cage Drills Get Under Way Today

Spring basketball workouts get under way at the local high school this afternoon.

Coach Johnny Johnson plans to work the team until spring football drills get under way the latter part of this month.

Missing from the workouts will be Jan Loudermilk, Billy Blum and Frank Hardisty, all of whom will be playing baseball.

However, Coach Johnson is planning several night sessions, at which time the boys will be available.

Mickey Mantle Set To Try Leg Again

HOUSTON, Tex. — Mickey Mantle is expected to give his healing right leg a test this week, probably when the New York Yankees play the Pirates in Pittsburgh Friday.

But it is doubtful if Mickey McDermott will get a chance to pitch for at least a week. The star southpaw hurler has been discharged from the hospital but still is weak from an attack of food poisoning suffered last week.

Mickey was supposed to pitch yesterday. Instead, Bob Turley checked the Philadelphia Phillies at New Orleans as the Yanks won 4-2.

Smashes Records

Kellner, a big 31-year-old lefthander certainly never will go down in the record books as a great pitcher, but he's an essential cog in the plans of the Kansas City Athletics.

Last year, Kellner was the most effective hurler on the A's staff with an 11-8 record, and manager Lou Boudreau was hoping he might regain some of the touch that enabled him to win 20 games back in 1949 when the club was in Philadelphia.

A good year from Kellner with an assist from the comebacking Bobby Shantz, and the A's possibly could move to the top of the second division in the American League.

Until yesterday, Kellner had been singularly unimpressive, losing two exhibition games and giving up 12 runs in 20 innings. Even the New York Yankees in their heyday needed better pitching than that to win.

But yesterday Kellner tossed seven scoreless innings in the A's 4-0 triumph over Pittsburgh in San Antonio. He gave up only three hits and enabled the A's to break a five-game losing streak.

Arnold Portocarrero handled the final two innings and faced only six Buccos. He, too, had been totally ineffective in previous appearances.

The second bearing of the exhibition season marred the New York Giants' 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in Dallas. Ray Katt, New York catcher, was hit on the head by Art Houtteman in the seventh inning. X-rays at Baylor Hospital were negative, but Katt was held there overnight.

The big fireworks of the Sunday schedule were provided by the Baltimore Orioles, one of the weakest-hitting teams in the American League. The Orioles found the range for 24 hits against Chicago in Corpus Christi and went on to batter the Cubs, 9-4.

Kellner Looming Large In Kansas City Plans

Alex Kellner, a big 31-year-old lefthander certainly never will go down in the record books as a great pitcher, but he's an essential cog in the plans of the Kansas City Athletics.

Last year, Kellner was the most effective hurler on the A's staff with an 11-8 record, and manager Lou Boudreau was hoping he might regain some of the touch that enabled him to win 20 games back in 1949 when the club was in Philadelphia.

ON LOCAL FIELD

Steers, Midland Tangle Tuesday

The Big Spring Steers make a belated return to action here tomorrow afternoon, at which time they tangle with the Midland Bulldogs at Steer Park. Game time is 4:15 p.m.

The two teams were to have played in Midland last Friday but the contest did not take place due to wet grounds.

This will be the first meeting of the year between the two teams. The game will not go into the records, since District 3-AA play doesn't get under way for either team until April 17.

Conditions have been such since the rain here that the local diamond corps hasn't been able to use their own diamond. Batting practice has been held on some uneven terrain east of the high school.

Last Friday, however, the schoolboys got in a few practice licks in competition with the HCJC Jayhaws.

Coach Roy Baird will probably send T. L. Kennedy to the mound against Midland. Kennedy reported late for practice and is just now rounding into shape.

The Steers have been weak in the hitting department all year, which is the reason they haven't missed a batting drill in the past week.

When Coach Dub Headrick of Midland gets together with Baird, they'll probably work out a date for the postponed game. On Friday of this week, the Bovines tangle with Snyder in a return practice tilt here and the Big Springers will be seeking their first win in four starts in that one.

Snyder Wins Two From Monterey

SNYDER (SC) — The Snyder Tigers won two games from the Monterey Plainsmen of Lubbock here Saturday, 9-4 and 3-2.

Tim Roberts scattered eight hits in hurling the opening win for the Bengals. Ronnie Baker tossed a six-hitter in the nightcap.

First game: Monterey 101 000 2-4 8 2 Snyder 303 030 X-9 11 3 White and O'Brien; Roberts and McGrew.

Second game: Monterey 010 010 00-2 6 3 Snyder 001 010 01-3 4 2 Hill and O'Brien; Baker and McGrew.

Archery Meet Is Slated Sunday

The Permian Basin Archery Club will hold an invitational tournament Sunday, April 15th, beginning at 10 a.m. at their range two miles east of the Air Terminal between Odessa and Midland. Archers from all over West Texas and eastern New Mexico are expected.

Highlight of the event will be a team shoot between San Angelo, Lubbock, Carlsbad, N. M., and Odessa. There will also be an Open Division for non-affiliated archers, both men and women. Shooting will be on a handicap basis.

Reese Stands Up Under Big Test

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Lee Wee Reese, Dodgers veteran shortstop, apparently has recovered from a serious back injury and a sore arm which has plagued him during spring training.

He stood up under a stern test yesterday at Nashville as the world champions thumped Milwaukee 12-2. On one play he went far into the hole for a smash by Hank Aaron, made a sudden body-jerking stop and threw him out—like the Reese of old.

Top-Rated Jackie Kamrath Defeated

HOUSTON — Second-seeded Billy Buckley of Oklahoma City defeated top-ranked Jackie Kamrath of Houston 6-2, 6-2 Sunday to win the junior boys championship of the River Oaks Tennis Tournament.

Buckley teamed with Lon Siegel of Little Rock to defeat Kamrath and Ed Greer of Houston in doubles, 6-3, 6-2.

Dallas Eagles Need Help In Figure In TL Race

Sports Director. Dallas Times Herald. Written for The Associated Press. DALLAS — The Dallas Eagles, defending full-season champions of the Texas League, need help if they are to match their 1955 record. They are considered as strong for opening day as last season except in catching. They need another infielder.

As the only Class AA club with a working agreement with the New York Giants, Dallas has first shot at the athletes turned back by Class AAA Minneapolis and may get help direct from the big club, as it did last year.

Replacing such stars as catcher Ray Murray, first baseman Bill White and pitchers Red Murff and Pete Burnside, all graduated to higher company, isn't simple.

Manager Red Davis has high hopes of getting Murray back from the Giants. Carl Hubbell, farm director, has made no promise, but he has indicated there is better than a 50-50 chance. The catching now is handled by Bob Schmidt, who hit 265 with Danville last year, and Ray Dabek, who hit 220 for Minneapolis.

The infield offers Hal Holland, recently acquired from Memphis, and Mickey Sullivan, the former Baylor star who was farmed out last season, at first; Alex Cosmidis and Frank Murray, holdovers at second; Jim Davenport, a most promising rookie from El Dorado, at third; and Ken Rodgers, rangy youngster from St. Cloud, at short. Rodgers could be the sensation of the Texas League. Standing 6-5, he is agile as a cat and has a good eye and good power at bat. Either Murray or Cosmidis will protect the keystone sack, with the other serving as utility.

The Eagles may get Lee Tate back from Minneapolis. Then either Murray or Cosmidis would have to go, for Tate is a much better man with the bat. Davis has a bid in for the return of Ossie Virgil, last year's hot corner guard, if he doesn't stick with Minneapolis.

Wiley Moore, Art Dunham and Bobby Prescott, the first two holdovers and the latter from Hollywood, give the Eagles three great defensive performers, in the outfield. They are not long ball hitters. Ray Maurer, hard-hitting service returnee from St. Louis, has just been assigned to Dallas by Minneapolis and he may supply the long ball hitting. He hit 336 with St. Cloud in 1953.

Don Taussig, with Sioux City last season, can hit a long ball and has a chance of breaking in. The pitching stacks up fine despite the loss of Murff and Burnside, who won 45 games last season.

Jim Singleton, a clever southpaw from Johnstown, should be a consistent winner. John Fitzgerald, another lefty who is up from Danville, has stuff if he can master control.

From last year's staff the Eagles have Tommy Bowers, Jim Tugerson, Joe Kotrany and Hiel Patrick. Bowers is a cinch to stick around. The others will have to fight for their jobs. All are right-handers.

The overall picture is bright. With what they have on hand and what they may reasonably expect from the New York Giants, the Eagles should be right in the fight from opening day.

Schools Plan Book Displays

An exhibit of 650 new books by 25 leading publishers and the nation's best authors and illustrators will be conducted here the week of April 23rd.

The display of books for grades one through 12 will be at College Heights School, according to W. C. Blakeneship, superintendent of schools.

Helping plan and arrange the book exhibit was a committee composed of Mrs. Hank McDaniel, Howard County librarian, Miss Ruth Beasley, Junior High School librarian, Mrs. Janet Harris, High School librarian, Mr. J. P. Vaught, Howard County Junior College librarian, and Dr. Loyal V. Norman, director of elementary education for Big Spring schools.

Purpose of the exhibit is to give parents, boys, and girls and teachers a look at the newest books available in both fiction and non-fiction.

The exhibit will be open each day of the week. Mothers will have an opportunity to select home reading material in collaboration with the teacher and principal.

These 550 books fall under 31 different subject heads, including adventure, aeronautics, animals, the arts, biography, careers, classics, conservation, exploration, fairy tales and folklore, foreign lands, games and parties, geography, history, hobbies, activities, Indians, information, intercultural relations, inventions, literature, nature, picture books, pioneer life, religion, science, ships, social studies, sports, story books, and verse.

Known as "Books on Exhibit," the display is a co-operative service by some of the nation's leading publishers and has been made possible without local cost. No books will be sold at the exhibit.

Hospitals Await Ford Checks

Big Spring hospitals, scheduled to share in the half billion dollar grants made by the Ford Foundation, are not disturbed over the announcement that 1,000 of the grant checks have been mailed and that checks to their hospitals are not included.

The local hospitals have been advised, that the Foundation is dispatching the checks as rapidly as they are being processed and that the first 1,000—totaling $37,748,800—happen to be the initial batch to complete the elaborate processing routine.

Two Big Spring hospitals are sharing in the gifts.

They are the Malone-Hogan Hospital and the Big Spring Hospital. In each case, they have been advised that the gifts must be expended in some way to better the services that the hospital renders. Both institutions have plans under consideration to use the money but are waiting until it is at hand to take definite action.

D. S. Riley, administrator for the Malone-Hogan Hospital, scheduled to receive $21,400, said that he was of the opinion that the checks for the local institutions would probably be on hand soon after May 1.
