Negro Singer Attacked By White Group

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Nat (King) Cole, Negro singer and pianist, was attacked on stage last night by a group of white men at Birmingham's Municipal Auditorium.
An audience of nearly 4,000 gasped as the 37-year-old Cole was knocked to the floor.
Police, who had been alerted to watch for trouble, swarmed from the wings to grab three men on stage. Three others were taken into custody later.
Outside the auditorium officers found a car containing two .22 rifles, a blackjack and a pair of brass knuckles. Detectives said the car was owned by some of the men who came from Anniston, Ala.

Charged with inciting a riot are Willie Richard Vinson, 23; E. L. Vinson, 25; and Kenneth Adams, 35, all of Anniston, Ala.; and Jesse W. Mabry, 43, Birmingham.
Held for further questioning were Orless Clevenger, 18, and Mike Fox, 37, both of Anniston.
The attack came in the first of two concerts scheduled under Birmingham's rigid segregation laws. The first performance was for white patrons only. The second was given before a Negro audience.

The North Alabama White Citizens Council, one of several such groups, has been trying to stop the playing of "rock and roll" music in juke boxes. Asa Carter, executive secretary of the group, turned up at police headquarters with several other men "to get the details" of last night's attack. Police refused to talk with him.
It has not been determined if any of those arrested have any connection with the council group. The attack on Cole, a native of Montgomery, Ala., caught the singer by surprise.
"This thing happened so fast. The spot was in my eyes. I didn't see anything," he told newsmen later. "This fellow lunged up, below the stage, and hit the microphone and it hit me under the chin. I fell over the piano stool, on my back."
After the attack the audience kept calling for Cole to come back. Cole returned. The ovation he got lasted nearly 10 minutes.

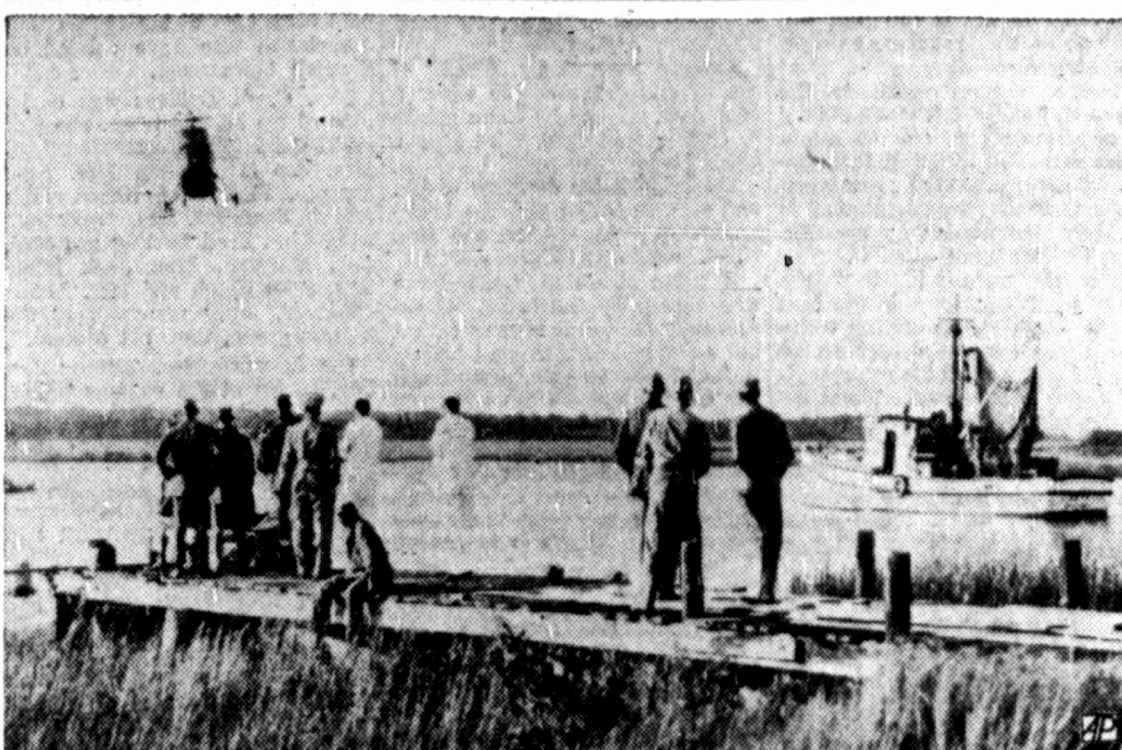

'Uphill Fight' For Ike Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Martin (R-Mass.) today conceded House Republicans "face an uphill fight" to save the Eisenhower administration's farm program.
Martin, GOP House leader, conferred with Republican strategists in an inconclusive last-minute huddle before the House squared off over a compromise farm bill pronounced unacceptable by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.
"We're still fighting for a few votes," Martin said.
He told reporters GOP floor leaders would continue seeking ways of softening up controversial features of the farm bill right up to voting time later in the day.

Adlai Casts Ballot

Adlai Stevenson emerges from a voting booth in his polling precinct at Half Day, Ill., after marking his ballot in the Illinois presidential primary election.

Where Marines Drowned

Searchers in a helicopter and a boat search for a Marine missing after an unscheduled night march at Parris Island Marine Corps Depot, N. C. Bodies of five other Marines were recovered at this site after 75 men marched into the swampy marshland. This creek is normally dry at low tide. The drill sergeant who directed the men on the night march was held in detention pending the outcome of an investigation.

Adlai Snows Estes, Loses Edge To Ike

CHICAGO (AP) — President Eisenhower moved ahead of Adlai E. Stevenson today in returns from the Illinois presidential preference primary.
Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, making a write-in bid, was left far behind in what amounted to an election year popularity contest.
The President scored spectacular gains in reports from downstate precincts while Stevenson — Chicago—the stronghold of his Democratic party.

Eisenhower, who took almost 55 per cent of the Illinois vote in his duel with Stevenson in the 1952 presidential election, passed Stevenson in the count of ballots in midmorning.
Returns from 3,797 of the state's 9,511 precincts in Eisenhower's race against the nominal opposition of Sen. William F. Knowland and Lar Daly on the Republican side gave Eisenhower 679,891, Knowland 30,620 and Daly 8,783.

Reports from 3,826 of the 4,511 downstate precincts gave Eisenhower 423,880.
The Democratic vote in 8,470 of 9,511 precincts was: Stevenson 671,257; 7,787 of 9,511 precincts: Kefauver 28,206.

Eisenhower was expected to have virtually all the 50 GOP delegates chosen to go to the Republican nominating convention and delegates with 10 votes to be picked later in a state convention.
The Democrats also chose delegates with 50 convention votes. Twenty-three of the delegate candidates were for Stevenson and three had declared for Kefauver, with the others open-minded or uncommitted. The votes still were being counted in the Democratic delegate races. Delegates with 14 votes will be selected later at a state convention.

No delegates are bound by the preference outcome.
The Kefauver write-in vote fell far short of expectation. His supporters and expressed hope of receiving 10 per cent of the Democratic vote. With returns still coming in, he had slightly less than 4 per cent.
This was Stevenson's best primary showing. He stressed the importance of his endorsement by the homefolks, especially after his setback by Kefauver in Minnesota last month.

How Eisenhower and Stevenson stacked up against each other in Illinois nearly four years after their last meeting at the polls was the foremost facet of the primary, which legally is just a popularity contest. Results of the primary are not binding on the state's delegates to the national nominating conventions.

Kefauver said the Democratic showing was an indication that farmers are not happy with the GOP farm program. He said he had expected only a moderate write-in vote for himself.
The Tennessee senator's supporters, however, said that the returns did not justify "any great claims" for Stevenson personally.

Republican Gov. William G. Stratton, who won renomination with ease, was enthused over the downstate vote for Eisenhower.
"If there had been any deflection on the farm issue in downstate Illinois," he said, "you wouldn't have that great vote for President Eisenhower."
Stevenson ran up a big bulge over Eisenhower in the early returns last night, mostly from the Democratic stronghold of Chicago. But the President gained steadily, sometimes rapidly, as the ballots were counted downstate.

Neither was on the printed ballot for the 1952 primary, but Eisenhower got 147,518 write-ins to Stevenson's 54,336. Kefauver was unopposed in the Democratic primary then and polled 528,901 votes. The late Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio was the GOP winner with 955,967.

Republican Sen. Everett Dirksen was renominated without opposition. State Rep. Richard Stengel of Rock Island, also unopposed, will be Dirksen's Democratic rival in November.
Sixteen incumbent congressmen were unopposed. The other six seeking renomination appeared certain winners. There were battles for three vacated seats.

Stevenson, who returned to Florida last night to campaign for his battle with Kefauver in that state's May 29 primary, said he was "delighted" with the vote back home.
"I am delighted that the total thus far indicates that, despite an organized write-in campaign by Sen. Kefauver's supporters, I have been overwhelmingly endorsed by the voters in my home state," he said at Daytona Beach today.

A. Bradley Eben, national vice chairman of Kefauver's campaign organization, said incomplete returns "indicate that Mr. Stevenson will run well behind the vote he received in the 1952 gubernatorial primary."
Stevenson, receiving 708,275 votes, was renominated for governor without opposition in 1952. The total Democratic and Republican vote in that primary was nearly 2,300,000.

Eben said that since Stevenson "had the support of the powerful and closely knit Cook County (Chicago) organization, it is hard to see how his managers can make any great claims for him."
Kefauver, himself, said "I would not expect anything more than a modest write-in."
Before the election Kefauver's backers had said they would be happy with 10 per cent of the Democratic vote.

Stevenson, during his limited homestate campaign, called for a big Democratic vote to show dissatisfaction with the administration's farm program.

Kefauver, like all the Republican presidential entrants, did not campaign in Illinois.
In Irvington, N.J., the Tennessee senator said the Illinois voting showed "the Democrats are running way ahead of the Republicans. That proves that there is serious threat in the farm states, a trend that appeared in Minnesota and other areas there.
"it shows that we Democrats have a good chance now to win the great farm belt states."

New Junior High Needs Described

Trustees were told last night that the junior high school enrollment already is more than can be accommodated in one junior high plant.
And a projection of anticipated enrollment for the next six years shows the number of junior high pupils will increase by more than 50 per cent.

The only answer to the problem, said Almer Atkinson, architect, appears to be a second junior high school.
Without deciding on any program for an additional junior high, trustees commissioned the firm of Acheson, Atkinson and Fox to make a further study of the problem and, if possible, recommend alternate solutions.

Atkinson showed sketches nearly doubling the size of the present junior high and incorporating the nine-room Central Ward building.
He said expansion would provide space for a modern junior high program for a maximum of 1,000 students.

Present junior high enrollment is 1,078. The projection, worked out by Trustee R. W. Thompson on the basis of children already in school, showed junior high enrollment probably will increase to 1,098 in 1956-57; 1,191 in 1957-58; 1,196 in 1958-59; 1,366 in 1959-60; 1,556 in 1960-61, and 1,771 in 1961-62. After that, the enrollment could be expected to stabilize around 1,770, according to Thompson's estimates.

Supt. W. C. Blankenship, trustees and Floyd W. Parsons, superintendent-elect, agreed "ideal" enrollment for any junior high school should not exceed 800 students. They said 600 is near the "ideal."
Atkinson estimated it would take three years to provide a "good junior high program," even if trustees decided immediately on construction of a second junior high school.

Trustees Get Bond Petitions

Petitions for a $900,000 school bond election were presented to trustees last night, but the officials put off action until a special meeting next Tuesday.
Proposed in the bond issue was $360,000 for enlargement and improvement of the junior high school. Following junior high discussions last night, trustees said the sum would not be sufficient to solve the junior high problem of over-enrollment, but that the funds would be a step toward alleviation of the condition.

Also proposed is $400,000 for elementary school expansion and $140,000 for new athletic facilities. Trustees said the petitions will be resubmitted and action taken at the special session Tuesday.

Marine Honor Guard Due For Swamp Victims

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — The bodies of six young Marine recruits, who drowned on a forced march Sunday night, will be placed in a funeral home with a guard of honor late today.
The flag-draped caskets will lie in state at funeral parlors at nearby Beaufort until they are shipped home for burial, perhaps tomorrow.

Meanwhile a court of inquiry ordered by Gen. Randolph Pate, Marine Corps commandant, continued its closed door investigation of the tragedy. The board will recommend whether action should be brought against M-Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon of Worcester, Mass., the drill sergeant who ordered the platoon of 78 recruits to make the ill-fated march.
McKeon said in a statement he ordered the march to "teach the platoon discipline." Both Gen. Pate and Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, the Parris Island base commander, said the night trek was unauthorized.
Survivors of the night march later told of an hour of horror as their buddies slipped and floundered and drowned in a mucky tidal stream near the base. They credited McKeon with heroic action in saving some of the recruits. McKeon said, "I can't find words to express my grief."

The bodies were recovered Monday. The sixth was retrieved from a hole in the stream yesterday by Marine skin divers.
The dead recruits were Thomas Curtis Hardean, 20, of Vidalia, Ga.; Donald Francis O'Shea, 18, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles Francis Reilly, 18, of Clyde, N. Y.; Jerry Lamont Thomas, 17, of Alexandria, Va.; Leroy Thomson, 18, of Brooklyn; and Norman Alfred Wood, 17, of Bay Shore, N. Y.

Gen. Pate said in a statement he believed regular Marine Corps procedure would be ample to cover the investigation without a congressional inquiry. He termed the accident "deplorable," but said: "We have absolutely nothing to hide."

WEATHER CONTROL NOTHING TO 'PLAY AROUND' WITH

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "Weather control is not something to be played around with," the chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau advised a group of world experts on clouds.
Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer spoke yesterday at a conference on weather at the University of Arizona.
He said a nuclear bomb set off at the right place might produce a cloud of dust that would temporarily warm the arctic air and cause some of the polar ice cap to melt.
"One group is of the opinion this could raise the level of the Atlantic Ocean by 10 to 15 feet and put many dock installations under water," Reichelderfer reported.

Commission Swears In New Members, Holds 3-Hour Meet

After swearing in three new members, the city commission waded into business which consumed three hours Tuesday night.
Roy Bruce, Curtis Driver, and Dr. Lee Rogers — two of whom were beginning second terms — took the oath of office. Then the group went through 15 different items of business, including selling two pieces of property and deciding to appeal action of last week's condemnation suit.

Bruce and Driver were starting their second terms, while Dr. Rogers was making his first appearance on the commission. Bruce was named mayor pro-tem after the commission had canvassed returns of the April 3 election and installed the new men.

Clifton Thompson submitted high bid for four lots on Eleventh Place, and the city elected to sell him the property. His bid was $6,501. The agreement will be a cash deal, he pointed out.
Only other bid submitted was from V. A. Whittington. His price for the 100x135-foot tract was $4,875.

Another piece of property was sold — this one to the American Legion. The local post asked the city to sell an acre to the south of their property on the San Angelo highway. The commission agreed to sell the acre for $200.
Bill French told the commission that complete plans for the police station would be ready by Friday and the group gave the go-ahead

City Druggist Is Listed As Killed In Plane Crash Fishing Trip Ends On Volcano Slope

PAUL LAWRENCE, Big Spring pharmacist, was listed Wednesday as one of six Texans who died when their small aircraft crashed into the slopes of an extinct volcano about 25 miles northwest of Jalapa, Mexico, on Tuesday night.
Others who were listed as victims were Ray Watson, Levelland, sport store owner; Morris Davis, co-owner of a Lubbock prescription laboratory; Charles C. Coffee, a well-known Lubbock farmer, and Quinn Henry, Lubbock, a professional pilot.
Lawrence, partner in Leonard Pharmacy with Dwan (Doc) Leonard, was en route with others to Ciudad del Carmen on a fishing expedition. Leonard said he had been in contact with the American consul but details were skimpy. Apparently a second plane bearing other members of the expedition landed safely. The group left Lubbock shortly after 5 a. m. Tuesday, said Leonard, who had been making calls most of the night in an effort to gain information.

Leonard said he had learned at noon that the list of dead had been confirmed. He said the bodies would be brought back through El Paso. The second plane landed safely.
Surviving Lawrence are his wife, the former Jean O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy O'Brien, and a step-daughter, Carol Bailey, 16. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence were married about five years ago and they made their home on the old San Angelo highway.

Lawrence had resided here more than 10 years and he and Leonard had been active together in independent oil operations in Garza County as well as in their pharmacy.
The sixth man was identified tentatively as Arthur Chase, also of Lubbock. Vice Consul Josiah Brownell said he was co-pilot of the plane.

The six men were part of a two-plane fishing party of 11 men. All were described as middle-aged businessmen.
The second plane did not crash. Five men were known to be aboard it.

H. V. Tull, president of an Amrillo machinery company, was first believed on the plane that crashed when some of his papers were found at the crash scene, but he did not make the trip.
Carl Maxey of Lubbock, owner of the crashed plane, was also identified earlier as one of the victims when his papers were found, but he was found safe in Lubbock.
Tull reported that he had given Chase, a former employee, some of his credit cards to use on the trip.
Although cause of the crash was not determined, it was believed the route had been lost due to a heavy mist.

Papers found at the crash scene showed the six men had authorization for a five-day fishing trip, and a map was marked at the town of Ciudad del Carmen, indicating that was where the sportsmen were heading.
The five men on the second plane were identified as: Willard Turner of Lubbock; the pilot; L. T. Foster, a Lubbock contractor; Don Portwood of Lubbock; L. T. McKinley of Lubbock, and R. D. McDonald, cotton compress owner of the second plane.

Claude Hutchinson, owner of Hutchinson's Flying Service of Plainview said that the plane was at least 50 miles off course. He said the plane should have been over water, instead of mountains, at the time of the crash.
Hutchinson was to have made the trip with the others but business forced him to cancel at the last minute.
They had flown approximately 460 miles after leaving Brownsville, Tex., and still had about 360 miles to go to Carmen, if they flew over the bay. A coastal route would have been much farther.

Train Smashes Gasoline Truck
FORT GREEN, Fla. (AP) — Two persons died today in the flaming wreckage of a passenger train and a gasoline transport truck that collided with explosive force at a crossing in this small west Florida town.
N. G. Adams of Tampa, an express messenger on the train; and Clifford Ledger of Tampa, the truck driver, burned to death.
Two hours after the spectacular crash, workmen were still trying to get their bodies out of the smoldering wreckage.

Dag Holds Talk With Egypt Chief

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold talked with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt for 75 minutes today in his first major move to restore peace between Israel and its Arab neighbors.
As the U. N. Secretary General began his talks with the Strong Man of the Arab nations, a Jerusalem dispatch reported an easing of tensions in the Palestine area.

The dispatch reported only two minor attacks last night by roving Arab suicide squads which had struck in a series of raids and sabotage missions on the three previous nights.
Hammarskjold talked with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi last night after his arrival in the Egyptian capital.
The U. N. Secretary General was accompanied by Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian Chief of the U. N. truce commission. They plan to fly later this week or early next to Tel Aviv and the capitals of Jordan, Syria, and Lebanon for more conferences.

Burns' plea last week for a cease-fire along the flaming Israeli borders had failed to halt the outbreaks.
Israel charged that Arab suicide squad trained in sabotage by Egyptian army officers, had struck deep within southern Israel for four straight nights.
The Israelis said the roving commandos, called Fedayeen, had killed 6 and wounded 24 Israelis. Israel's patrols pressing a mop-up of the roving bands reported they had killed 13 and captured 6 Fedayeen.

Egypt in turn charged that an Israeli plane had flown over the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip and an Israeli army patrol had raided deep inside Gaza.
The latest chain of violence began last Wednesday, when four Israeli soldiers were killed in a patrol clash on the Gaza Strip border. The next day a 14-hour artillery and mortar duel across the Gaza frontier killed 64 Arabs and wounded 102. Most were Palestine refugees.

Each nation blamed the other as Hammarskjold opened his talks with Nasser.
The U. N. diplomat was backed by a White House statement that the United States would "observe its commitments within constitutional means to oppose any aggression" in the Middle East. The statement said the United States would "support and assist" any victim of such aggression.

Following up the White House statement, Secretary of State Dulles reviewed the Middle East crisis with congressional leaders in Washington. Republican House leader Martin said afterward the administration "of course" would seek congressional authorization for use of troops if acute danger develops in the Middle East, but Martin said no such request was imminent.

Publisher Fails To Show In Court

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — Newspaper publisher William Prescott Allen of Laredo failed to appear in court today on an anti-noise charge.
Judge Jack Voyles said the case would be called tomorrow and that if Allen failed to appear his $25 bond would be forfeited.
Allen had indicated he would forfeit the bond by non-appearance. He was arrested here and in nearby Beaumont last week after he insisted on using his loud speaker-equipped car to tell about his anti-crime crusade.

Ramsey, Mrs. Sunny Edwards, Mrs. Bill Neal, Mrs. Howard Schwarzenbach, Mrs. Pete Harmonson, and Mrs. Bill French. Members unable to be present were Mrs. Dennis Turner, Mrs. Hack Wright, and Mrs. J. W. Atkins.

The buffet table was covered with a brown linen cloth. A unique arrangement of tumbledweed, ribbon decorated, was held in an antique container. Paper streamers, appropriately inscribed, rippled from the base of the centerpiece.

After the luncheon, Mrs. DeWees presided for a business session. The women voted to learn and to follow the PGA rules. Mrs. Liles was appointed to post a new one each Tuesday for the players to use.

Announcement was made of beginners' golf classes scheduled for Wednesday and Friday and Tuesday and Thursday. Time of the classes is 10 a. m.

A discussion was held of the one-day golf tournament set for April 24 in San Angelo. Deadline for entries is April 20.

A ringer tournament was planned for the local players. Mrs. French and Mrs. John Turner, new captains, announced their teams for the next period of play.

The Rev. J. J. Ellington, pastor of First Methodist Church, Cheilan, Wash., is visiting in the home of his brother, Dr. E. O. Ellington, 704 Main. He plans to visit other relatives in East Texas before attending a general conference of the Methodist Church in Minneapolis, Minn., April 25.

Shipboard Action

Actress Grace Kelly, en route to her wedding in Monaco, plays shuffleboard on deck of the S. S. Constitution. Watching her are nieces, Margaret, nine, and Mary Lee, seven, right, daughters of Mrs. George L. Davis Jr. The picture, by Associated Press cameraman John Rooney aboard ship, was dropped off during the liner's stop at Algieras, Spain. The photo was sent by land line to London and radio to New York.

City Approves Suggestions Of Citizens Traffic Commission

Recommendations presented by the Citizens' Traffic Commission concerning safety measures got the approval of the city commission Tuesday night, and in addition the commission pitched in a few of its own safety counts.

Four street lights were sanctioned, plus several stop and yield-right-of-way signs. The commission also approved putting parking meters on Scurry Street between Fourth and Fifth.

Traffic signals will be added at Seventh, Fifth, and NW Third on Gregg. The fourth light would be at Fifth and Scurry. All were recommended by the CTC, except the N. Gregg signal. A blinking light would be placed north of the NW Third light as a warning.

Other safety recommendations made by the CTC included stop signs on Circle Drive at Sycamore and on Austin at Sycamore. Signs will be mounted on Seventh at Main, Seventh at Runnels, Rosemont at Wood, and Settles at Wood.

Commissioners agreed to try painting "signals ahead" on Fourth Street an "appropriate distance west of the signal light at Presidio."

Two recommendations will be turned over to Jake Roberts of the State Highway Department for consideration. One was on a request to study maximum speeds of Farm Road 700 between Highways 80 and 87. The road winds through the city limit and therefore the speeds are alternated.

The other request was the First Assembly of God be allowed to purchase for themselves portable "Church Crossing" signs to be placed on Fourth by the church custodian during church meetings.

A letter was read from Dr. P. D. O'Brien, past of the First Baptist Church, when the commission mentioned adding parking meters in front of the First Methodist Church on Scurry between Fourth and Fifth. Dr. O'Brien was asking why his church had parking meters in front while churches nearer the business district had none.

The commission felt that more room was needed on Scurry and voted to put parking meters in the block on both sides and make parking parallel on both sides. At the present time, cars park parallel on the east side of the block and angle park on the west side.

The change will be made when the city receives the parking meters.

Commissioners agreed to pay the Chamber of Commerce $150.95 which is the deficit suffered by the chamber in expenses of the Christmas lighting. Annually, the city pays the electric bill and then usually helps defray the remainder of the expenses.

This year they agreed to make up the deficit for the chamber but went on record saying they would pay only the electrical bill unless on any given year they said they definitely would pay more.

For the past season, the electricity used for the Christmas lights and paid by the city was about $250.

Water rates for the Country Club and Cosden's club were equalized.

Previously, Cosden had been paying straight out-of-city rates, which are higher than what the Country Club was paying. The rates will be $35 for the first 100 thousand gallons, $30 for the second 100 thousand, and $25 per 100 thousand thereafter.

A contract was shown to the commission which will be drawn up with Cosden and Cabot concerning water rates. At the present time, the two firms are paying $17.50 per 100 thousand gallons of untreated water.

Commissioners approved a yearly contract which would depend on the price the city has to pay the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Contracts with CRMWD are renewed annually, and at the same time rates are adjusted—thus far upward.

The group voted to authorize a contract calling for an annual renewal, but to charge the same as they are now in comparison with upward or downward fluctuations by CRMWD. The firms wanted a five-year contract on the present scale.

Commissioners named Willard Sullivan and R. L. Cook to serve two year terms on the CRMWD board of directors. The two have been serving on the board.

Fred Allen Leaves Half To His Widow

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Fred Allen left half his estimated one-million-dollar estate to his widow, as well as the income from the other half.

Allen, whose real name was John F. Sullivan, died of a heart attack March 17 at the age of 61. His will was filed for probate yesterday.

Allen also left his jewelry, manuscripts and theatrical possessions to his widow, known professionally on radio as Portland Hoffa.

Half of the estate was set up as a trust fund for three nieces. They will receive the principal after Mrs. Allen's death.

The nieces are Frances Hershkowitz, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hershkowitz of New York; Barbara Bond, 15, and Mary Bond, 13, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Guy Bond of St. Paul, Minn.

EXCEPT IN CRISIS

U. S. Officials Discount Ike Asking Troops For Mid-East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials discounted today the likelihood of President Eisenhower's asking Congress for authority to use U.S. armed forces in the Middle East unless the Israeli-Arab conflict grows much more critical.

They said, however, that with border clashes and retaliatory attacks building up as they have been, the situation could become extremely grave in a matter of hours.

American officials said the major administration effort now is to prevent that kind of crisis from developing by using every resource of diplomacy.

The purpose behind Eisenhower's statement on Monday warning against aggression by either side was described as being to back up the peace mission of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

The possibility of a request by Eisenhower for congressional approval of the use of American forces in event of Middle East war was discussed yesterday when Secretary of State Dulles met with congressional leaders. Several congressmen said there was no request for action at this time.

When Red China was threatening an invasion of Formosa early last year, Eisenhower asked and obtained from Congress a blank check for the use of American forces if he thought such action necessary.

But officials made clear today in private conversation that the administration greatly hopes to avoid a request for similar stand-by powers covering the Middle East, and has no plan to act unless the danger grows considerably worse.

Their hope that it will not do so is based on an estimate here that neither Israel nor Egypt wants to become involved in a war now.

Monday's White House statement declared that the United States under the U.N. Charter "will observe its commitments within constitutional means to oppose any aggression" in the Middle East.

The statement made no specific reference to a 1950 declaration by the United States, Britain and France. In it, the three countries pledged jointly to maintain an arms balance between Israel and the Arab states and to resist aggression by either.

It now appears that the administration has decided its best chance for decisive action—if ever that has to be taken with U.S. forces—lies in working through the U.N.

There are reported to be several reasons for this:

First, it would put up to the U.N. the problem of determining which side was the aggressor.

Second, Russia has achieved considerable influence in the Middle East. As a U.N. member, Russia would automatically be brought into discussions on any crisis in Palestine.

Third, U.S. policy makers regard France as so heavily committed in a military sense in North Africa that they do not see a possibility of much effective French cooperation if it comes to a showdown in Palestine.

Gap In Prehistoric Evidence Is Riddle

PALISADES, N. Y., April 11 (AP)—Who was North America's first citizen? How long ago did he live? And how on earth did his people dispose of their dead? These are tantalizing riddles to scientists seeking to learn how man fitted into the lost ages of this continent.

Since the coming of the atomic era, their task has been aided by a remarkable process known as the carbon 14 method of determining the age of objects from the prehistoric past.

The results have shattered once popular theories which held that man arrived in North America only 3,000 to 5,000 years ago. Now many scientists believe the date should be 30,000 years ago or perhaps even earlier.

But they can't be completely sure.

There is a gap of almost 20,000 years between the oldest evidence of man and the most ancient dateable skeleton of man himself.

RECENT EVIDENCE

The most recent development which appears to shed important light—and perhaps further mystery—on the subject was recently disclosed here at Columbia University's Lamont Geological Laboratory.

In this modernistic, brick institution 20 miles north of New York, an age check of bone fragments from a dwarf elephant, picked up on Santa Rosa Island off southern California, yielded an answer of 29,650 years.

MAN AT WORK

From the manner in which the skeleton had been pulled apart, scientists believe the beast was butchered by man. There is also evidence that the meat was cooked. Charred by prolonged burning were rib sections not too different in size from that which might be served in a restaurant today.

From the hillside in which the elephant bones were found scientists dug what appeared to be crude stone implements that might have been used to skin the animal.

But along with this new discovery came an old element of enigma: despite the apparent evidence of man's presence, no human skeletons were found.

Without such skeletons, can it be concluded that man existed contemporaneously with the dwarf elephant 29,650 years ago?

Columbia scientists believe the assumption is warranted, but they can't dispel all elements of doubt.

Stubborn Blaze Rages 5 1/2 Hours

COLORADO SPRINGS (AP)—A smoldering fire exploded, hurling five men down a stairway, and razed a two-story building in downtown Colorado Springs early today.

The stubborn blaze raged out of control nearly five and a half hours before firefighters brought it in check about 4:30 a.m.

Half a dozen business firms and a dozen offices were burned out as the flames destroyed the Bates Building on Pikes Peak Avenue the main business street.

The loss was estimated unofficially by newsmen at nearly a million dollars.

Heart-Lung Pump Saves Life

HOUSTON (AP)—A new pump which takes the place of the heart and lungs and permits what a heart specialist terms "the ultimate achievement in heart surgery" has been credited with saving the life of a Houston man, 49.

The operation repaired a hole the size of a half dollar in the muscle that separates the right and left ventricles.

"This is the achievement we have been waiting for," said the specialist, who asked that his name be withheld. "It is now possible to repair the most serious damage there can be to the adult heart. Now it is possible to lay open the papillary muscles—the wires, so to speak—then control circulation, patch a blowout and then repair the muscles and re-establish circulation."

The patient, Bertram Sommerfield, a merchant, was reported in good condition yesterday, five days after the operation.

The rupture in Sommerfield's heart, which developed four days after he suffered a heart attack 11 weeks ago, was repaired by the surgeon who sutured a plastic sponge over the area.

Victims of such a rupture usually die within 12 to 24 hours since blood leaks through the hole from the left to the right ventricles instead of circulating through the body.

A Bible Thought For Today

How should one chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight, except their Rock had sold them, and the LORD had shut them up? (Deut. 32:30)

Editorial

Shepherd Is Young Yet

The decision of John Ben Shepperd not to seek re-election as attorney general at this time is probably a wise one, though many of his friends had urged him to do so. As we interpret it, the mood of the people is against the "ins" regardless of how innocent they might have been with regard to the many disclosures in land and insurance matters of the past two years.

John Ben Shepperd is young, and no doubt will be heard from again in Texas politics. In his announcement of non-candidacy this year, he asserts stoutly his determination to continue his interest in public affairs, and to "battle for constitutional government out of office as well as in it."

He has only one regret, Shepperd declares: "When my term is over, Texas will still be facing the gravest threat to their freedom since Santa Anna marched across the Rio Grande. The federal government is a hungry wolf that is never filled. It is tearing through our Constitution and devouring its creator." Shepperd has been one of the most active attorneys general in recent Texas history. He declares his department has won over 90 per cent of the thousands of civil cases, large and small, handled by his office during his tenure.

He tied into the Duval County situation with the boldness of a lion and pursued it with courage and competence. Administration after state administration had ignored or tolerated it, but it took a John Ben Shepperd to meet it head-on and to pursue it with the utmost vigor.

Texas should be grateful to him for that. It called for a high degree of moral and political as well as actual physical courage to tie into that long-standing mare's nest, and as it turned out Shepperd had what it took.

It was in the highest tradition of public service, and the people of Texas should keep it in mind in assessing the administration of John Ben Shepperd as attorney general of Texas.

Looking Up For All But Producer

Natural gas producers of Texas whose competitive position with other fuels was left in the federal deep-freeze by President Eisenhower's veto of the decontrol bill will be interested to know, we imagine, that the revenues of the gas utility and pipeline industry reached a new peak of $5,310,000,000 in 1955. This was a gain of almost three-quarters of a billion dollars, or 15.1 per cent over the comparable period a year earlier.

The index price of natural gas common stock advanced "slowly but steadily" during March, and at the end of the month stood only 1.3 per cent below the all-time high. The year to year increase was 4.0 per cent. The current annual dividend rate per share represents a gain of 9.4 per cent over last year, while the corresponding yield of 4.66 per cent shows a 5.2 per cent improvement over the same period a year ago. We quote these data straight from a press release by the American Gas Association.

The same resource reports that the gas transmission common stock acted in a similar manner, but the gas distribution common stock segment followed an irregular pattern during the month. But there was nothing to worry about, really; compared with 1955, the transmission common stocks revealed an increase of 4.3 while distribution common stock recorded a 3.4 per cent year-to-year increase. The current dividend rates per share gained 13.9 and 8.6 per cent respectively, while concurrent yields increased 9.4 and 5.1 per cent respectively.

So it is evident that business is looking up for everybody — except the people who produce the gas from holes in the ground. There is no chance for them to show any rising profits as long as federal bureaucrats sit on the lid to make sure that the "exceedingly low prices of natural gas from Texas fields — which supply more than half the nation's total — continue to prevail."

There is no uncertainty in the gas transmission and distribution business. The future looks bright with promise. The demand is big and the captive sources appear to be inexhaustible.

The Gallup Poll

Kefauver Shows Phenomenal Gain

PRINCETON, N. J. — Sen. Estes Kefauver, in less than four weeks time, has registered a phenomenal upsurge in candidate popularity with the rank and file of Democratic voters.

Since his impressive Minnesota primary conquest, he has all but closed the wide gap which had separated him and the front-runner, Adlai Stevenson, and today Mr. Kefauver trails the former Illinois governor by only six percentage points. One month ago, the Tennessee Senator was 33 percentage points behind Mr. Stevenson.

Among Independent voters, Mr. Kefauver has overtaken Mr. Stevenson and today holds the lead in popularity. Further evidence of the Tennessee crime-buster's meteoric rise in popularity is shown by the fact that Democrats today are almost evenly divided in their preference if the convention choice were narrowed down to Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Kefauver.

Those are the highlights of the Institute's latest survey on Democratic candidate popularity, based on interviewing conducted since the Minnesota and New Hampshire primaries.

In today's survey, the figures represent the proportion of the vote which the various Democratic candidate possibilities would get if there were a national presidential primary in which ALL Democrats voted and in which ALL Democratic candidates were listed.

Each voter was handed a list of prominently mentioned Democratic candidates. Following are the choices of voters who classify themselves as Democrats:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party. Which ONE would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate for President?"

DEMOCRATS ONLY

	Today	March
Adlai Stevenson	39	51
Estes Kefauver	33	18
Averell Harriman	6	8
Richard Russell	4	4
Lyndon Johnson	3	2
G. Mennen Williams	3	2
Frank J. Lausche	2	2
Stuart Symington	2	1
Others, No opinion	8	12
	100	100

Senator Kefauver's gain among Independent voters is shown in the following table:

Democratic Choices of Independents Only

	Today	March
Kefauver	29	25
Stevenson	23	33
Lausche	10	7
Harriman	6	6
Russell	5	3
Sam Rayburn	4	5
Williams	4	4
Paul Douglas	3	4
Symington	3	3
Others, No opinion	13	10
	100	100

Persons questioned in the survey were next asked to express their preferences if the choice were narrowed down to two candidates, as follows:

"Suppose the choice narrowed down to Stevenson and Kefauver. Which ONE would you prefer to have the Democratic convention select?"

The vote today of Democrats:
Stevenson	49
Kefauver	46
Undecided	5

"Suppose the choice narrowed down to Kefauver and Harriman. Which ONE would you prefer to have the Democratic convention select?"

The vote today of Democrats:
Kefauver	64
Harriman	25
Undecided	11

It should be borne in mind that presidential nominees are picked by delegates to nominating conventions, not by the rank and file of the parties. Hence the survey results are no indication as to who will get the Democratic nomination this summer.

Candidate strength is a function of three different factors: (1) popularity with the rank and file of a particular party, (2) strength with the leaders of the party machinery, and (3) ability to draw support from independent voters and to attract votes from the opposition party.

In a special poll of Democratic County chairmen, reported in December, Mr. Stevenson was the top favorite of 42 per cent, compared to 14 per cent for Mr. Kefauver, 8 per cent for Mr. Russell, and 6 per cent for Mr. Johnson.

No Mid-East Plans Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Eisenhower administration has a plan for preventing Middle Eastern war, it hasn't been stated. Nor, if war begins between Israelis and Arabs, is it clear whether this government will try to stop it with armed force or a debate in the United Nations.

This lack of clarity about U.S. policy may discourage the Israelis and Arabs from big fighting. Or it may have the opposite effect.

A careful reading of the White House statement issued this week after a conference between President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles shows this country is not saying precisely what it will do. The key sentences said:

"The United States, in accordance with its responsibilities under the charter of the United Nations, will observe its commitments within constitutional means to oppose any aggression."

"The United States is likewise determined to support and assist any nation which might be subjected to such aggression. The United States is confident that other nations will act similarly in the cause of peace."

Those two paragraphs could mean any number of things: that Eisenhower, with congressional approval, would send armed forces into the Middle East to stop a war; or send one side or the other supplies; or ask both sides for a cease-fire; or ask the U.N. for united military action.

If it just meant getting into a debate in the U.N., a quick war might be over before the debate was over.

Dulles called in congressional leaders yesterday for a briefing. It's possible, although officials discount the idea now, that Eisenhower may ask Congress to do what it did for him in 1955 when Formosa was threatened by the Red Chinese; or authorize him to use armed force as he saw fit to stop an aggressor.

Whether that did it or not, the Red Chinese quieted down. A similar congressional authorization in the Middle East might not have the same result. The situation there is not identical.

In 1950 the United States, Britain, and France agreed on the subject of Israelis and Arabs: "The three governments, should they find that any of these states was preparing to violate frontiers or armistice lines, would, consistently with their obligations as members of the U.N., immediately take action, both within and outside the U.N., to prevent such violations."

That agreement, made under the Truman administration, has never been repudiated. But that doesn't mean Eisenhower will think the agreement is practical now.

The agreement didn't talk of armed force in so many words. It said "action" would be taken. Action can take many forms. The picture is different from 1950 when this country was far ahead of Russia in atomic development and the Russians were not involved in the Middle East.

So perhaps this country may not wish to carry out the 1950 agreement. Britain and France have their hands full in Cyprus and in North Africa.

What neither the United States, Britain nor France is providing now — as far as Middle East peace is concerned — is leadership.

Go Out To See The Islands

ELEUTHERA, Bahamas (AP)—Did you ever hear of the old Maine farmer who yearned all his life to see Boston?

Finally, one morning he decided he simply had to satisfy his curiosity, so he caught the early milk train to the city. That same evening he returned home on another train. Plumb tuckered out, he sat down to rest by the stove in the general store of the hamlet near which he lived.

"Well, Ezra," asked one of his neighbors, "tell us—what was Boston like?"

"To tell you the truth I still don't know," replied the old farmer. "There was so much going on in the station there, I never did get out to see the city."

Tourists who come to the Bahamas and spend all their time in Nassau, the capital, remind me of that old farmer. Nassau is no more the Bahamas than New York, Miami or Los Angeles is America.

To get the full flavor of the Bahamas, you have to go out to "the out islands," some of the 3,000 islets and cays scattered over 70,000 square miles of turquoise seas. To them still clings the savor of the picturesque Bahamian past.

It isn't hard to do. You can sail to many in a few hours. You can reach others in a half hour from Nassau by air.

One of the most interesting is Eleuthera, a curving island 100 miles long and 1 to 10 miles in width, flung like a boomerang against the Atlantic waters.

It is "the bread basket of the Bahamas," and the site of an American missile base. It has a thriving dairy and growing cattle herds. At Rock Sound, Arthur Vin-ling Davis, the American aluminum titan, is building a multi-million-dollar resort center, complete with an 18-hole golf course designed by Robert Trent Jones, the Michelangelo of the fairways.

Wild cotton from abandoned plantations flower on roads leading along the pink-sanded seashore. One is owned by Rosita Forbes, the novelist.

Around The Rim

Fairy Tale Come True? Nuts!

Leave it to the American people for excesses. Sheep have nothing on us when it comes to going whole-hog and then some, whether it's the yo-yo craze, miniature golf, pixie glass frames, mambo, rock-and-roll, or Grace Kelly.

Now I have no ill feelings toward Miss Kelly or anything other than an abstract desire that she and Prince Rainier will be happily wed. But my stomach valve is getting mighty fluttery over all this tinsel hoopla over the impending nuptials between the two. After all, Grace is only a girl from Philadelphia who has made good in Hollywood, and Rainier is only the nobleman from a principality which would get lost in almost any Texas county. Miss Kelly is an attractive, wholesome young woman of pleasant acting talent, but despite an Academy Award she has done nothing to attain the stature of a national hero and certainly not to merit unrestrained adulation. As for the prince, if he's not too bewildered by it all, he's probably licking his chops over the windfall of publicity for tiny Monaco.

This whole thing has been blown out of proportion by the Pandora's box of press agency. The American public is being told that this is like a page of Hans Christian Andersen — a fairy tale come true. Nuts to that!

Wires are cluttered with the stuff, most of it strained and artificial. So many people have been assigned to cover the occasion, that side stories of the most outlandish details are being carried for good copy. And we editors don't have any more sense than to swallow the junk simply because the press associations send it out. Actually, we're afraid — afraid of our own judgment. This must be a good story, we reason, because there is so much of it on the wire. And good old AP will beat her breast and brag about how many lines of Kelly copy was sent and how many papers preferred the AP brand of pure pap to that of UP or INS. At the end of the year, the adding machine will be put to the totals, and the Kelly-Rainier story will be ranked along with the world-changing events.

This tendency to adulation has me a little fretted, though I guess it shouldn't. The bobby soxers will still mob someone who contributes nothing more to the sum of human progress than the ability to quiver a grace note. Reporters still face public figures, whether they are presidents or hard-hitting rightfielders with something of awe. Silly people still overwhelm a mobster for his autograph.

After all, I suppose that there's nothing unusual about the fact that the psychological cycle of the masses has turned to the point where the publicity gods decree: "Let us whip ourselves into a frenzy."

It just escapes me, that's all. I must confess to an aging process or a touch of cynicism, though not as great as one of my colleagues who raises the question: "Why all the fuss? They won't be married more'n a year anyhow?"

On Whose Authority Do We Go To War?

WASHINGTON — When President Eisenhower said the other day that he wouldn't "order" American troops into the Middle East or anywhere else without first getting authority from Congress, there was widespread approval. But that wasn't the significant news. It was rather that a President of the United States felt it necessary to give this reassurance to the American people.

Back of it, of course, is Mr. Eisenhower's conviction that American participation in the Korean War should have been specifically authorized by Congress or at least that ratification should have been obtained once intervention was begun.

To this day there is no clear-cut understanding in Congress as to whether the United Nations' Security Council can "order" American boys into a war without action by the House and Senate.

Every treaty made by the Eisenhower administration governing regional problems has in it a stipulation that "constitutional processes" must be followed. The only one that doesn't contain such a qualification is the North Atlantic Treaty — signed under the Truman administration — which says that an attack on one member country is an attack on all. This is a specific instance in which a treaty has superseded the Constitution at least with a moral commitment that makes automatic a declaration of a state of war by Congress.

The argument made by the Truman administration in June 1950, when the North Korean Communists committed their aggression, was that the action had to be taken instantly and there wasn't time to do more than consult informally some leaders in Congress. That is a satisfactory explanation for the speed with which the first military step had to be taken but it doesn't explain why the Truman regime refused subsequently to lay the whole matter before the two houses of Congress and secure ratification of the state of war which existed. President Wilson in the spring of 1914 had to make a decision at 4 o'clock in the morning ordering American sailors to seize the customs house of the port of Vera Cruz because there was a German shipment of arms en route there which could cause trouble for American interests. But in the next few days Mr. Wilson personally addressed Congress and obtained a resolution of ratification.

Just why the Truman administration didn't ask Congress for formal authority to continue to commit American armed forces to the prosecution of the war in Korea has never been explained except with the issuance of a pamphlet containing a long series of precedents — mostly minor police actions — in which the executive had not asked for congressional approval when our armed forces were used.

But there's a difference between a minor action in which Marines are landed at a port to protect American interests and a war involving armies of 1,000,000 on each side and in which the United States is compelled to bear the burden of the fighting.

It has been suggested that the Department of State, which at that time contained influential individuals who believed the Communists in China were "agrarian reformers," didn't want to antagonize the Communist regime in Peiping. It is further argued that a "state of war" if declared by Congress would have permitted our Navy to blockade the China coast and the Air Force to bomb Chinese supply stations — and this, it was feared, would enlarge the war.

Later on, however, it was precisely the failure to apply this military strategy which caused the defeat of the United Nations forces in Korea. As a sequel the prestige as well as the influence and the power of the United Nations to settle disputes have been weakened. The enforcement sections of the United Nations Charter are meaningless today because the United Nations itself refused to ratify the existence of a state of war in Korea and hypocritically permitted its members to adopt the status, first, of non-belligerency, and later of "neutrality" even to the point of acquiescing when Soviet Russia supplied munitions and military equipment to the North Korean armies.

Enough attention has not been drawn to the deliberate manner by which the Constitution was ignored in the Korean war. For the United Nations charter is a treaty so far as the United States is concerned, and if a treaty can override the Constitution to the extent that some Presidents of the United States feel they can order American boys into war without getting either in advance or afterwards the authorization of Congress then maybe the new Bricker Amendment is going to be necessary. Maybe, too, many members of the Senate who plan to vote against it will have to be prepared to answer to their constituencies next November whether they are ready and willing to order American boys into war by the fiat of the executive and without the specific authority of Congress as the Constitution provides.

More New Materials For Clothing

We live in such an explosive age that one revolution more or less is sort of like another rabbit. The truth is that revolutions in every-day living kinda creep up on us before we know it.

Such a revolution — and it is later than you think — is zipping through the textile business. It could make the spindle, the loom and the knitting machine as antique as great-grandma's spinning wheel.

And before you decide that the poor woman is off her rocker, let me point out that a U. S. Government official, George A. Fowles, of the chemical and rubber division of the Department of Commerce, has just warned the textile industry to speed research in the new field of non-woven fabrics or be "replaced" by the up-and-coming plastics industry.

With Fowles' warning in my ears, I marched off to see the man who, almost single-handedly, is responsible for this revolution in the United States. He is David Morgenstern, a brilliant and charming Polish refugee for whom millions of women say a silent prayer every time they put on a dress, suit or coat lined with crush-proof, wrinkle-proof pella.

For pella, the prototype of the non-woven fabric about which Fowles is warning the textile industry to get hep, is the first non-woven fabric ever produced in the U. S. A. Through this process, fibers that man formerly spun or knitted are "bonded" or blended together with chemicals and high heat ("thermochemic" is the tender term).

I first saw Morgenstern less than four years ago when pella was just coming on the market as a strange new lining material. He was certain that it was just the beginning of a revolution in the textile business ("the only real new idea in 4,000 years," to quote Fowles again — or since man gave up bearskins and learned to make cloth).

"There is not the slightest doubt that within a reasonably short time, there will be on the market a non-woven fabric that looks like woven chifon, or wool jersey, broadcloth or tweed," Morgenstern said. "And it will be much cheaper than comparable fabrics of the same weight and quality."

"Maybe I won't be the first to make them, but someone now pioneering in this field — someone now working in a laboratory — will do it. The pioneer train is rolling."

Just as he was the first to produce a non-woven lining fabric (pella), Morgenstern has produced the first non-woven fabric to be used in outer garments. A lawyer (graduate of the University of Vienna) turned chemist, he is the inventor and holds the patents on "lilion," from which Seventh Avenue and Paris already are making skirts, jackets, evening wraps and formal dresses.

Like pella, it is wrinkle and crush proof, but is much finer in quality and even lighter in weight. Porosity and virtual weightlessness are two of the many virtues of non-woven fabrics. Lilion itself is a mixture of 80 per cent nylon and 20 per cent cotton fibers. Decorators also are beginning to use it for draperies, for it hangs like a dream.

"Lilion is only a start in the right direction toward a non-woven dress or outer fabric," Morgenstern said of his brain-child, "It seems pretty special to me now, but some day it will probably seem amateurish. But it is a beginning."

Anyway, hang onto grandma's spinning wheel. It may be antiquer than you think.

Kerrville Puts Brake On School Integration Plan

KERRVILLE (AP) — Kerrville's new school board revoked this week an integration program adopted Feb. 6 as "being too fast." The board said it would "proceed with all haste" to study the best plan for integration.

The Feb. 6 plan had called for a three-year program, beginning by integrating the first six grades next September.

Two new school board members, David Brewton and Rankin Starkey, were elected Saturday on a platform favoring segregation.

Two who did not make an issue of segregation and one who favored integration, were defeated.

It was one of the few cities in Saturday's school board elections Saturday in Texas in which integration in compliance with the Supreme Court ruling was an issue.

U.S. Bartenders Hold (Hic) Area Contest Finals

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Hic! You ever been to a bartenders' contest?

Well, this is a report on the regional finals of the national bartenders' ingenuity contest. Let's get one thing straight. This was a most decorous contest. There was no unseemly comment, no threats or dross on the judges, some 60 in number. They simply sat and drank. Three hours later the room still was a picture of sobriety.

The program said this was a contest to stimulate the art of gracious living. Too often these days, it explained, a host simply opens a few cans for his guests. Even worse, he pulls the cork on a bottle of ready mixed cocktails.

In order to correct this horrid trend, the program continued, Brown-Forman, a distilling company in Kentucky, sponsored this national contest for professional bartenders.

As a self-appointed kibitzer, we wish to report the art of gracious living is definitely on the upgrade. Those drinks were something to look at! Forty-five recipes had been screened from some 500 submitted.

The proud bartenders who concocted them sat with the spectators and had a few on the house for a change, while a battery of their brethren mixed the drinks.

After 15 drinkoff heats, the judges settled on this beautiful mixture, the product of the fertile brain of Al Hasenzahl of Kansas City.

1 1/2 ounces of bourbon whiskey. 1 ounce of black raspberry syrup. 2 ounces of ginger ale. 1 ounce of lemon juice.

The whiskey, syrup and lemon juice are shaken with crushed ice and strained into a 12-ounce punch glass over ice cubes. The ginger ale is added, and the whole business garnished with a fresh strawberry.

Hasenzahl also produced an entry in the short, stout category which took ninth place and gave him a prize take of $25 for the day. He gets a chance at the $1,000 prize in the national finals at New York's Ambassador Hotel May 14.

Weatherman, Grimes Glare At Each Other For Photographers

ABILENE (AP)—Two bearded Abilene residents — Abilene Reporter-News Editor Frank Grimes and weatherman Clint Stichter — glared at each other for the benefit of photographers and then shook hands yesterday.

The occasion was Frank Grimes Day as more than 300 newspapermen and civic leaders throughout West Texas paid tribute at a luncheon to the lanky editor and his 41 years of work.

The picture-taking was symbolic of the friendly feud they have been carrying on for years. Stichter, local Weather Bureau forecaster, calls Grimes his "downtown assistant" because of the editorial comment often made on forecasts.

"Can't anyone get Frank Grimes' mind off rain?" Stichter asked.

"In West Texas the professional weatherman forecasts fair weather and the amateurs predict rain," Grimes replied. "I might add that a certain weatherman's wife got caught on a Girl Scout camping trip the other day after he had predicted fair weather."

Both Grimes and Stichter wore fierce looking goatees and beards as part of the pioneer celebration of Abilene's 75th birthday.

At yesterday's luncheon in honor of Grimes, the veteran editor was presented a plaque which read: "To our scholar and esteemed editor who has helped shape our community and endeared himself to many of us through the years."

"I have merely tried to do my job," Grimes said in reply. "At the same time, I have never felt that I was just holding down a job. I have always felt in the growth of an institution, of a city and of this area."

Frank Grimes is not only one of the greatest editorial writers in this state, but more important, is, in my mind, one of the profession's greatest men," said Houston Harte, San Angelo publisher, at the luncheon.

Harte also is a partner in the Harte-Hanks organization of 12 Texas newspapers.

"He has never written an editorial that ground a personal axe," said Howard McMahon, publisher of the Abilene Reporter-News where Grimes began work in 1914.

"It is my personal and professional honor to pay tribute to

Direct Farm Subsidy Hit

WACO (AP)—Direct subsidization of the farmer by the government could lead only to disaster for agriculture," E. W. Tideman of Chicago, dairy director of the American Farm Bureau Federation said yesterday.

Rep. Poage of Waco has proposed direct farm subsidization.

New Anti-Cancer Drug Is Reported

DALLAS (AP)—A potential new anti-cancer drug, nicknamed D.O.N., was reported today to the American Chemical Society.

It is at least 50 times more effective in slowing or controlling one type of cancer in mice than Azaserine, an antibiotic used in cancer research, said one of six scientific reports on the drug.

D.O.N. is a chemical relative of Azaserine, and it may show promise of use in the study of cancer," said Dr. Harry Crooks Jr., of Detroit.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "JUST FACE LIFTING"?

EVERY NOW AND THEN, we run across someone who seems to think that 1956 cars do not offer anything really new — just a little face lifting from the year before.

We won't try to speak for the automobile industry. But we certainly can speak for Buick.

And let us announce in no uncertain terms — it's the newest thing on wheels.

The Styling is New
Sure, it looks like a Buick. But it has a new V-proved grille that says 1956 and no mistake. The hood's new — the fender ports are new — the sweepers are new — and it all adds up to a new sweep-ahead look that ends in a sassy new slant to the rear contours. But that, friends, is only the beginning.

The 1956 Dynaflo* is New
It introduces what the engineers call "double regeneration" — which means a double-action take-off. It gives you new, split-second response in the first inch of pedal travel — plus the "switch the pitch" at full acceleration, which no one else has yet approached.

The Ride is New
To coil springs on all four wheels, a brawny X-braced frame, and torque-tube drive, the engineers have added deep-oil shock absorbers to give new softness, new buoyancy, new comfort, and a brand-new "sense of direction" handling response.

The Power is New
All 1956 Buicks have new and mighty 322-cubic-inch V8's — with record highs in power and compression — with unique new double "Y" manifold to step up efficiency —with new carburetor "deicing"—and a host of other new features to make owning a Buick pure pleasure.

The Thrill is New
And the surest way for you to find out how right we are, is to sample a 1956 Buick yourself.

As we said before, this is the best Buick yet — by a wide measure — and when you learn the prices we're quoting, you'll know why this Buick is one of the three best sellers in today's market.

It takes a lot more than face lifting to produce such a winner as this.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Forsan Bisons Win 124-B Track Meet

Pat Brunton Point Leader

Forsan's Buffaloes captured team honors in the District 124-B track and field meet held Tuesday on the HCJC cinder oval here, scoring 47 points to 46 1/2 for Sterling City. Garden City wound up third, with 38 1/2 while Knott finished with 20. Garden City capped the junior division of the meet, with 52 points. Sterling City had 42 1-6 and Forsan, the only other entry, wound up third, with 22 5-6.

Winner And New Champion

Only one record was bettered during the day. Sterling's Billy Young, son of the head coach there, sped the mile in 5:11.1, beating the old mark by 1.4 seconds. Harold Baker of Garden City established the old record in 1949.

Sterling City's athletes left the field thinking they had won the meet by a fraction of a point but a recheck of the records showed Forsan to have finished in front.

A second place finish in the final event of the day, the discus throw, enabled the Buffaloes to take home top honors. L. Caudley's 118-foot toss in the discus earned the second place finish for the Bisons in that event. Sterling did not have an entry in the discus.

Forsan's Pat Brunton emerged as the top individual performer. He won first in the 100 and 440, finished second in the broad jump and ran a leg on the winning mile relay team for a total of 14 1/2 points.

Winners of the first three places in each event became eligible to compete in the regional meet a week from Saturday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

It pays to recognize talent when you see it. Jack Everitt, coach of the North Ward softball team, tells about a practice tilt his team played with Kate Morrison recently. Emmett Hutto, Morrison coach, filled in as plate umpire because no other arbiter was to be had.

Morrison was first to bat. The leadoff batter fled to left one out. The next popped to center, two out. The third skied to right, three out. Everett reasoned the fly-chasers had done so well he instructed them to bat in that order.

It was then Hutto discovered that the North Ward leftfielder was, in reality, one of his own players. Further investigation proved the center fielder was, too.

He's still wondering whether Everett knows his own boys. He will admit Jack knows and appreciates a fancy catch when he sees one.

Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler, and James Braddock—both one-time Heavyweight boxing champions—are due to appear in Odessa shortly as referees of amateur fights.

Texas Tech obviously has a long way to go in baseball. In a recent four-game series against Texas Lutheran, the Raiders collected four hits in the opener, then didn't get a hit in either of the next two contests. Finally, in the last contest, they scratched another safety.

The two Lutheran hurlers who saw action in the series, Ray Exliebon and Pete Correa, struck out a total of 53 batters in the four games.

H. W. Kirby, one of our town's biggest athletic fans, ran into Dizzy Dean recently in Dallas and had a long talk with the former St. Louis mound ace.

Kirby was there to be at the bedside of an ailing father in a Dallas hospital. Dean was on a similar errand of mercy. His brother, Elmer, a rather outspoken person, was confined in the same hospital.

Dizzy is a busy individual but he found time to accompany H. W. to the elder Mr. Kirby's room and offer words of cheer. That proved quite a tonic for Mr. Kirby, who had never before met Ditz but had followed his feats down through the years in the papers and by radio.

It's hard to figure out the thinking processes of the people who run athletic shows, on occasions. Walt Davis, the tall Texan, has officially cleared seven feet in the high jump but it isn't recognized as a world record. Seems he has accepted money for playing basketball, an unforgivable sin for the AAU and other amateur bodies.

Davis puts it this way: "It's unofficial, because I did it after turning pro and pros aren't humans as far as records go."

Jimmy Ned Duncan, playmaker of Kilgore's National JC cage champions, has received scholarship offers from 47 senior colleges.

And George Jones, one of the stars of the Howard College Tournament here last year while performing for Wharton, is headed for Baylor.

Cosden Solidifies Hold On Bowling League Lead

Cosden of Big Spring solidified its hold on first place in Midland Women's Bowling League standings by swamping Lone Star Beer in all three games in Tuesday night action.

Cosden now leads second-place Pinkie's, also of Big Spring, by a margin of 3 1/2 games. Dot Hood and Sugar Brown paced Cosden in individual point-getting. Hood had scores of 179-480 while Brown reported 171-484.

Cosden enjoyed a team effort of 714-743-755-2212. Pinkie's stumbled before West Texas Brick and Tile, losing two of three games. Pinkie's team aggregate scoring of 742-716-655-2113.

Jesse Pearl Watson paced a 11 scorers with tallies of 200-162-490. Frances Glenn had the second best aggregate, 447. Cosden bowls Knorr Furniture.

Two SW Teams Take Losses On Diamond

Two Southwest Conference teams—Rice and Texas—took drubblings Tuesday when they took on outside foes in what were to be warm-up games for critical loop tilts this weekend.

The Texas Longhorns tackled the Amarillo Gold Sox of the Class A Western League at Austin and were doing fine until the final inning when the pro team scored five runs to take a 12-10 victory.

The Longhorns, with starting pitcher Wayne Graham on the mound, managed to build up leads of 5-0 and 8-3 but the Gold Sox nicked relief pitcher Harry Taylor for five runs in the ninth.

A six-run sixth inning spelled victory for the Sam Houston State Bearcats in taking a 12-9 win victory over Rice at Houston. Bob Casey's homer accounted for three of the runs in the explosive third frame. It was a free-hitting game with four pitchers giving up a total of 23 hits.

The Texas Aggies were slated to meet the Bryan All-Stars at Bryan Tuesday but the game was postponed because of cold weather until Wednesday night.

In other Wednesday tilts, the Southern Methodist Mustangs, play the Dallas Eagles of the Texas League at Dallas while the Rice Owls journey to Seguin for a game with Texas Lutheran.

Conference games Friday and Saturday will match Baylor and Texas A&M at College Station, Texas Christian and Texas at Austin and Southern Methodist and Rice at Houston.

Landy To Aim For Barrier

MELBOURNE, Australia (U)—John Landy, the fastest miler of all time, hinted today he might break the 4-minute barrier when he visits the United States for two races next month.

The Australian school teacher, who has gone under 4 minutes in four of his last five races, will run in Los Angeles May 5 and in the West Coast Relays in Fresno May 12. His world mark is 3:58.

"If conditions are right, I might even run faster than last Saturday," he said. He was caught in 3:58.6 in that one and complained later that he felt "sluggish."

"But it's just a gamble," he added. "I really would love to break the 4-minute mile in the United States, though."

The under-4-minute mile has been run nine times since Roger Bannister of Great Britain finally broke the barrier two years ago. It never has been done on American soil. Wes Santee's 4:00.5 is the closest in the United States.

"I haven't been training particularly hard," Landy continued. "But now I'll do some preparation for these meetings."

He said he had no idea who he would run against him in Los Angeles—which will be a special mile in a dual meet between Southern California and UCLA—and Fresno.

There will be no more competitive appearances for him between his American races and the Olympic 25-year-old Landy indicated.

Spieser Fights Rowan Tonight

DETROIT (U)—Light-heavyweight Champ Spieser returns to his home town tonight for the first time since hitting big time boxing's television trail.

But the local fans aren't battering down the box office and the one-time Michigan State collegian will be lucky to attract 2,000 cash customers to the vast Olympia Stadium for his 10 rounder against Joe Rowan of Phoenixville, Pa. (ABC TV-radio, 9 p.m. Big Spring time).

Spieser never has benefited from a Midwest buildup such as the one given Chuck Daxey, another Michigan State boxer who has been national television dates, but none of them has been in the Michigan area.

Spieser went into the Army and has had eight fights since being released a year ago. His last four have been national television dates, but none of them has been in the Michigan area.

Spieser pitched good ball and I think he will do the job."

Lopez' talk of "certain spots" for Feller indicates he probably will use Bob as he has in the last two seasons. That means mostly fly games, more appearances at home than away, and in double headers.

Feller pitched only 83 innings last season and 140 in 1954. In 1946 when he set the major league strikeout record of 348, he hurled 371 Innings.

Last year Bob had a 4-4 record, against 13-3 the year before. Three of his victories were at home and two were against New York and Boston.

Feller has said that when he feels he isn't helping the ball club, he will end his playing days. Lopez sizes it up the same way: "When Feller's time is up he will know it before anybody else, and he won't hang around. There'll never be a problem in getting rid of Feller. He will simply hang 'em up."

Bob Feller has again earned spot on staff

Opposition To Coach's Proposed Pact Voiced

Carl Coleman, head football coach and athletic director for Big Spring schools, asked trustees last night for a salary raise and a new three-year contract.

Action on the request was put off, although five of the seven trustees indicated they were against both requests.

Coleman asked that his annual salary be increased to $7,500. He now receives $6,198. He also requested the $240 annual travel allowance which he now receives.

Trustees Omar Jones and John Dibrell expressed sentiments favorable to Coleman's request. R. E. McKinney, who ended his term on the school board last night, Tom McAdams, R. W. Thompson, Robert Strickland and Clyde Angel offered criticisms of the coach and the Big Spring athletic program. Tom Guin, new trustee who sat in on the board meeting as an observer, declined to comment.

Coleman's request was in a list of recommendations written by him through Supt. W. C. Blankenship.

He asked for immediate consideration of the contract and salary proposals.

Trustees delayed action on suggestion of Thompson that "we attempt to measure the sentiment in this town."

In introducing his athletic program recommendations, Coleman pointed out that several boys have been "lost" from the high school athletic program in the past few years. He said improved ward school and junior high athletic programs should provide better athletes for the high school.

Coleman recommended:

1. That teachers qualified to coach athletics be employed for all elementary schools.
2. That the junior high staff include at least six coaches.
3. That an additional high school coach be employed, two if the basketball coach does not assist with football.
4. That high school and junior high coaches be limited to four classes each and that they be free to work with the athletic program during the sixth period each day.
5. That all high school coaching aides be paid a minimum of $1,500 above base pay and that any new assistants employed be paid $1,000 above the base.
6. That the school board determine whether it is Coleman's responsibility for assigning coaches to the various positions.

The athletic director proposed that the football staff include six assistant football coaches, two each for the A, B and C teams; that the basketball program have A, B, and C-team coaches; that there be two baseball coaches, two track coaches, one golf coach and one tennis coach.

Some of the staff would work in all sports, of course, due to the seasonal nature of the various parts of the athletic program.

Trustees said they would study the six proposals at length before taking any action.

Joe Ramirez was on the mound for the winners, who now have a 5-0 won-lost record.

Joe Martinez and Louie Rodriguez hit home runs for Morrison. Park Hill got its two runs in the final inning when Dick Thompson clubbed a four-master with B. I. Darrow on base.

Wildcats Lead Record Attack

DENTON, Tex. (U)—Eight records, five of them due to be set by Abilene Christian College, are expected in the North Texas Relay scheduled here Saturday.

The Christians are favored to win the meet with comparative ease. Defending champion Oklahoma is not competing this year. ACC will be aiming at records in the 440, 880, sprint medley and mile relays and sprinter Bobby Morrow also may wipe out the 100-yard dash record of 9.5 held by himself and two other runners.

Texas Christian's Bill Curtis may erase the 120-yard high hurdles record of 14.5, Ray Burrus of West Texas State is expected to better the discus record and Howard Payne to provide a new two-mile relay record.

North Side of Fort Worth defends its championship of the high school class and Jimmy Reeves of Weiner's record of 4:38.2 in the mile run.

Nine colleges are entered—Abilene Christian, North Texas State, Texas Christian, West Texas State, Howard Payne, Hardin-Simmons, Sam Houston State, Southwest Texas State and Texas Tech.

There are 13 high schools. They are Fort Worth North Side, North Dallas, Wichita Falls, Lewisville, Callsburg, Boyd, Hallsville, Dallas Highland Park, Granbury, Muenster, Clifton and Denton.

Venturi States Remarks Were Misunderstood

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Ken Venturi, young San Francisco amateur who blew a four stroke lead to lose the Masters Golf Tournament, says he is sorry he said anything at all when he came home because his remarks "were certainly misunderstood."

Venturi denied he had criticized other players or officials of the tournament which ended Sunday at Augusta, Ga.

"Jackie Burke's victory was a great achievement," Venturi said in a statement to The Associated Press.

Burke shot a final 71 to total 289 while Venturi scored 80 for 290.

"I would like to deny the report that I said Mike Souchak, Burke's playing partner, was helping him read the greens and to club him in the final round."

"What I did say was that Souchak's friendly, moral support undoubtedly helped Burke in the final round. That was perfectly natural."

He added: "It was a great tournament; it was a pleasure to play in it, and I am happy that I played as well as I did."

Venturi said he still is puzzled by the switch just before the last round which paired him with Sam Snead instead of Byron Nelson, a long time friend and mentor.

"I was nervous anyway and all the help I could get, I could use," he said. "I don't mean clubbing help or anything like that, just someone friendly to talk to."

"But," he added, "I'd like to correct the statement attributed to me that I would have won had I played with Byron Nelson."

Another puzzle, Venturi said, is why his friend Harvie Ward, national amateur champion, was shooed away from the 17th green and not even allowed to speak to him on the final two holes of the last round.

Venturi said he did not plan any more big tournaments until the National Open at Rochester, N. Y., in June.

Morrison Blasts Park Hill, 25-2

Kate Morrison enjoyed a nine-run first inning and went on to defeat Park Hill in a Ward School Softball League game here Tuesday afternoon, 25-2.

Every player in the Maroon lineup scored in the initial inning.

Joe Ramirez was on the mound for the winners, who now have a 5-0 won-lost record.

Joe Martinez and Louie Rodriguez hit home runs for Morrison. Park Hill got its two runs in the final inning when Dick Thompson clubbed a four-master with B. I. Darrow on base.

Duster Leaders Are Selected

T-Sgt. James W. Roughley and A-1C Bill Paschal have been named to lead the Webb Air Force base baseball team this year, which is now in training.

The Dusters are still negotiating for use of Steer Park, the high school park.

2. That the junior high staff include at least six coaches.
3. That an additional high school coach be employed, two if the basketball coach does not assist with football.
4. That high school and junior high coaches be limited to four classes each and that they be free to work with the athletic program during the sixth period each day.
5. That all high school coaching aides be paid a minimum of $1,500 above base pay and that any new assistants employed be paid $1,000 above the base.
6. That the school board determine whether it is Coleman's responsibility for assigning coaches to the various positions.

The athletic director proposed that the football staff include six assistant football coaches, two each for the A, B and C teams; that the basketball program have A, B, and C-team coaches; that there be two baseball coaches, two track coaches, one golf coach and one tennis coach.

Some of the staff would work in all sports, of course, due to the seasonal nature of the various parts of the athletic program.

Trustees said they would study the six proposals at length before taking any action.

Joe Ramirez was on the mound for the winners, who now have a 5-0 won-lost record.

Joe Martinez and Louie Rodriguez hit home runs for Morrison. Park Hill got its two runs in the final inning when Dick Thompson clubbed a four-master with B. I. Darrow on base.

Wildcats Lead Record Attack

DENTON, Tex. (U)—Eight records, five of them due to be set by Abilene Christian College, are expected in the North Texas Relay scheduled here Saturday.

The Christians are favored to win the meet with comparative ease. Defending champion Oklahoma is not competing this year. ACC will be aiming at records in the 440, 880, sprint medley and mile relays and sprinter Bobby Morrow also may wipe out the 100-yard dash record of 9.5 held by himself and two other runners.

Texas Christian's Bill Curtis may erase the 120-yard high hurdles record of 14.5, Ray Burrus of West Texas State is expected to better the discus record and Howard Payne to provide a new two-mile relay record.

North Side of Fort Worth defends its championship of the high school class and Jimmy Reeves of Weiner's record of 4:38.2 in the mile run.

Nine colleges are entered—Abilene Christian, North Texas State, Texas Christian, West Texas State, Howard Payne, Hardin-Simmons, Sam Houston State, Southwest Texas State and Texas Tech.

There are 13 high schools. They are Fort Worth North Side, North Dallas, Wichita Falls, Lewisville, Callsburg, Boyd, Hallsville, Dallas Highland Park, Granbury, Muenster, Clifton and Denton.

Venturi States Remarks Were Misunderstood

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Ken Venturi, young San Francisco amateur who blew a four stroke lead to lose the Masters Golf Tournament, says he is sorry he said anything at all when he came home because his remarks "were certainly misunderstood."

Venturi denied he had criticized other players or officials of the tournament which ended Sunday at Augusta, Ga.

"Jackie Burke's victory was a great achievement," Venturi said in a statement to The Associated Press.

Burke shot a final 71 to total 289 while Venturi scored 80 for 290.

"I would like to deny the report that I said Mike Souchak, Burke's playing partner, was helping him read the greens and to club him in the final round."

"What I did say was that Souchak's friendly, moral support undoubtedly helped Burke in the final round. That was perfectly natural."

He added: "It was a great tournament; it was a pleasure to play in it, and I am happy that I played as well as I did."

Venturi said he still is puzzled by the switch just before the last round which paired him with Sam Snead instead of Byron Nelson, a long time friend and mentor.

"I was nervous anyway and all the help I could get, I could use," he said. "I don't mean clubbing help or anything like that, just someone friendly to talk to."

"But," he added, "I'd like to correct the statement attributed to me that I would have won had I played with Byron Nelson."

Another puzzle, Venturi said, is why his friend Harvie Ward, national amateur champion, was shooed away from the 17th green and not even allowed to speak to him on the final two holes of the last round.

Venturi said he did not plan any more big tournaments until the National Open at Rochester, N. Y., in June.

Morrison Blasts Park Hill, 25-2

Kate Morrison enjoyed a nine-run first inning and went on to defeat Park Hill in a Ward School Softball League game here Tuesday afternoon, 25-2.

Every player in the Maroon lineup scored in the initial inning.

Joe Ramirez was on the mound for the winners, who now have a 5-0 won-lost record.

Joe Martinez and Louie Rodriguez hit home runs for Morrison. Park Hill got its two runs in the final inning when Dick Thompson clubbed a four-master with B. I. Darrow on base.

Duster Leaders Are Selected

T-Sgt. James W. Roughley and A-1C Bill Paschal have been named to lead the Webb Air Force base baseball team this year, which is now in training.

The Dusters are still negotiating for use of Steer Park, the high school park.

Opposition To Coach's Proposed Pact Voiced

Carl Coleman, head football coach and athletic director for Big Spring schools, asked trustees last night for a salary raise and a new three-year contract.

Action on the request was put off, although five of the seven trustees indicated they were against both requests.

Coleman asked that his annual salary be increased to $7,500. He now receives $6,198. He also requested the $240 annual travel allowance which he now receives.

Trustees Omar Jones and John Dibrell expressed sentiments favorable to Coleman's request. R. E. McKinney, who ended his term on the school board last night, Tom McAdams, R. W. Thompson, Robert Strickland and Clyde Angel offered criticisms of the coach and the Big Spring athletic program. Tom Guin, new trustee who sat in on the board meeting as an observer, declined to comment.

Coleman's request was in a list of recommendations written by him through Supt. W. C. Blankenship.

He asked for immediate consideration of the contract and salary proposals.

Trustees delayed action on suggestion of Thompson that "we attempt to measure the sentiment in this town."

In introducing his athletic program recommendations, Coleman pointed out that several boys have been "lost" from the high school athletic program in the past few years. He said improved ward school and junior high athletic programs should provide better athletes for the high school.

Bronchos Rally To Nip Snyder

SNYDER (SC)—The Odessa Bronchos crowded three runs across the plate in the final inning and held off a Snyder counter-offensive to defeat the Tigers in a baseball exhibition here Tuesday afternoon, 8-6.

Coach Julian Pressley of the visitors used three pitchers in a successful attempt to halt the rampaging Tigers. Snyder now has a 13-5 won-lost record.

Odessa has won 11 times in 13 tries.

Don McNew of the home club rapped out four hits in as many tries.

Odessa 001 040 3-8 8 0 Snyder 102 200 1-6 11 2 Snyder, Ewart (4), Parker (7) and Murphy; Prince, Baker (3) and McNew.

British Royal Sisters Get Lot Of Wear From Clothes

LONDON (AP)—You might clip this out and paste it on your wife's mirror: Queen Elizabeth II and Princess Margaret get a lot of mileage out of their wardrobe. Both were photographed at the wedding of a cousin. Princess Margaret wore a fluffy pillbox. It was readily recognizable as the one she had on six months ago at a reception for the President of Portugal. The Queen's hat was a concoction of pink petals. She was wearing it last summer when she toured Nottingham. To carry the austerity theme still farther, both were wearing the same old coats—Margaret a blue velvet and the Queen a blue satin.

Mideast Waif
An Arab youngster who never has known any home other than a displaced persons camp clutches a bottle of milk distributed by members of the United Nations relief agency to Palestinian Arab refugees near Beirut, Lebanon. The camp is one of several shelters housing the more than 900,000 former Arab residents of Palestine now scattered throughout the Mideast.

BUT DANGER LOOMS
Iraq, Bright Spot
Of The Middle East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Iraq is the bright spot in the Middle East. But against the background of Middle Eastern politics the outlook is becoming increasingly gloomy. Left to herself and her forward-looking, hopeful program for the future of her people, Iraq surely would become the leader of the Arab world. But there are tremendous obstacles — the threat of war, the threat of Soviet power to the north, the peripheral threat of Red subversion, the eternal feuds, intrigues and jealousies of the Arab world. Saudi Arabian money pours into a campaign to subvert the regime of a man who has the look of a statesman in a part of the world sadly lacking in statesmen. The Saudi Arabian feud with the Hashemite family ruling Jordan and Iraq is deep and centuries old. The Saudi Arabians fear that Iraqi leadership will lead one day to powerful union of Iraq, Jordan and Syria. Egypt's revolutionary regime under its premier, Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, makes a strange alliance with the feudal Saudi Arabians in the hope of ruining the Baghdad Pact — to which Iraq adheres — for rendering it futile. LIKE STATESMAN Iraq is governed by a statesman-like premier, Gen. Nuri Said. His government seems worried. Boy King Faisal II's Hashemite cousin Hussein holds the shaky throne of Jordan, to the southwest. If a Saudi Arabian, Egyptian and Palestinian-Arab intrigue should overthrow young Faisal, Iraq would lose her steady influence in Jordan and probably in Syria too and might be forced into a compromise with the Egyptian-Saudi-Syrian bloc which is hellbent for subverting the Baghdad Pact. It seems likely Nuri would like nothing better than a reasonable settlement of the Israeli question to remove the imminent threat of war. Publicly he cannot say he will tolerate the continued existence of Israel. Like the fellah in Egypt, the barefoot Iraqi peasant has been unchanged over the centuries. He lives in the same mud hut with his cow, chickens or goat. Like Egypt's fellah, the average Iraqi is ridden by a variety of diseases. Like his Egyptian cousin he knows little of international politics. But he hears Cairo radio in the coffee houses or friends' huts and hears about Israel and the wounds, real or imagined, of the Arab world. Anyone interested in making trouble for the government can buy a riot easily. He can hire selected rioters for 30 cents each to key a riot and others will join for the fun of it. Riot leaders — a combination of hard core Communists and other elements — direct riots as sheepdogs direct flocks. CHARMING DANGER There is danger — great danger — to the West. A charming man with a disarming manner is one of the most dangerous foes in the Middle East of Iraq and the West. Tall, affable Khaled Bagdash, orator, writer and leader of disciplined Syrian and Lebanese Communists, attended Moscow's 20th party Congress in February. Long after the noisier and more prominent Red leaders left, Bagdash still was there. He had much to talk over with the bosses and it concerned Middle East, too. Across the territory of Syria run pipelines which carry at least 30 per cent of the Middle East oil from Iraq and the Persian Gulf, pipelines of the Iraq Petroleum Co. and American Tapline. If the Communist party could make an alliance giving it a measure of control in Syria, it could deal both Iraq and the West a heavy blow. Iraq's Interior Minister Said Qazaz says Iraq's Communist strength is dwindling and the hard core is down to a few hundred because Iraq's development program

Sea Salt May Give Increased Health

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
DALLAS (AP)—Someday you may sprinkle your food with ocean salt to give yourself some vital spices of life and health. These "spices" would be traces of minerals like iron, calcium, fluoride and iodine to ward off anemia, rickets, tooth decay and goiter. Ocean salt is rich in these and more than 30 other minerals, besides the sodium chloride of pure table salt. These potentialities in sea salt were described today to the American Chemical Society in a report by Drs. Arnold E. Schaefer, Olaf Mickelsen, R. B. Ing, and the late H. R. Sandstead of the National Institute of Health and National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, U.S. Public Health Service, Bethesda, Md. About 70 per cent of sea salt is sodium chloride or ordinary salt; the rest is traces of all the other minerals. Many people over the world eat only ocean salt. Goiter, caused by lack of iodine, is virtually unknown among them. Rickets from lack of calcium is not common, even though many of these people don't get enough calcium in their foods. Many also avoid anemia from lack of iron because of iron in sea salt, the scientists said. People in some areas of India have far less tooth decay than children in Boston, yet their drinking water contains about the same amount of fluoride, credited with building teeth resistant to decay. The Indians may get their fluoride protection through sea salt, the report said. The scientists cited a Rutgers University study which found that pigs receiving sea salt gained more weight and appeared superior to pigs eating regular salt. A successful process of preparing sea salt as a white, free-flowing material containing all the sea

Southeastern, Western Areas Get Moisture

By The Associated Press
Wind and rain storms struck southeastern states and rain and snow fell in far western areas but generally fair weather prevailed in most other parts of the country today.

Tornado winds hit areas along the southeast coast of Florida yesterday. Twisters struck at West Hollywood and nearby Dania, north of Miami, injuring several persons. A tornado smashed windows in the big jai-alai fronton. It also struck a nearly empty drive-in theater in Dania.

Moderate to heavy rain drenched sections of Florida, Georgia and South Carolina with falls measuring from 1 to 2 inches. Miami reported nearly 3 inches of rain in 24 hours, with more than 2 inches in a 45-minute period.

Light to moderate rains were reported in the middle Mississippi and parts of the Ohio Valley. In the far West, light rain spread into the Pacific coastal states of Oregon and California, with snow reported at the higher elevations.

Winds of 40 to 50 m.p.h. whipped up dust in the southwest desert region.

Skies cleared over the upper Great Lakes region and temperatures dropped into the 20s. Readings were around seasonal levels elsewhere.

Early morning reports: Chicago 38 and clear; Los Angeles 55 and rain; Seattle 51 and cloudy; Minneapolis 42 and clear; St. Louis 43 and cloudy; Boston 37 and clear; Miami 70 and partly cloudy; Augusta, Ga., 50 and rain; Fort Worth 45 and clear; Green Bay, Wis., 28 and clear.

SAYS BISHOP

Kelly, Prince May Be A Bit Nervous

MONTE CARLO (AP)—The man who will marry Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly said today he doesn't expect them to "become speechless" during the ceremony but he thinks the "ouis" probably will be a bit shaky. "If one or both of them don't get a little nervous, I'll be surprised," said Msgr. Gilles Barthe, the bishop of Monaco.

The 50-year-old churchman said he has married a lot of people, and many of them have trouble hurdling the part where each says "oui"—"I do"—in French. The voices of some fail. Others come out with a quavering high squeak. "It matters not who they are," said Msgr. Barthe, "many of them have trouble."

"As for myself," he added, "I am very calm and am content to remain that way."

Rainier and the American movie star will be married in a civil service in the throne room of the prince's palace April 18 and then in an elaborate religious ceremony the following day in the Monaco Cathedral.

The bishop said the prince and Miss Kelly technically marry themselves with their exchange of vows. "I shall be their witness," he explained.

He said he would first ask Rainier—in French—"Do you take this woman to be your wife?"

"The prince is to respond 'oui.' Then the bishop will ask Miss Kelly if she takes Rainier to be her husband."

"And when she answers 'oui,' then that's it," said the bishop.

Miss Kelly is to arrive here tomorrow morning aboard the liner Constitution.

The liner yesterday put in at Algeiras, Spain, where Mayor Jose Soriano journeyed out to tell Miss Kelly the Spanish people wish her happiness.

Reports of fabulous wedding gifts for the actress continued to pour in.

An informed source said millionaire Greek ship owner Aristotle Onassis, the chief stockholder in the Monte Carlo casino, is giving Miss Kelly a $15,000 diamond and ruby bracelet. The people of Monaco were said to be buying a five-piece diamond and ruby set costing between $100,000 and $150,000.

Rainier yesterday signed a contract for the filming of the civil marriage service with the Columbia Broadcasting System and newsreel agencies. The contract stipulates that the occasion must be kept dignified.

Rainier still had not decided whether he would permit reporters to witness the throne room ceremony.

Alaskan Plane Crashes Carry Seven To Death

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Two airplanes which crashed 200 miles apart Monday in rugged central Alaska coastal highlands carried seven men to their death and seriously injured an eighth.

The smashed remains of the twin-engine aircraft were found about the same time late yesterday by search planes which had fanned out when neither reported on schedule.

A bush pilot first found a Cordova Airlines plane broken to bits at the 3,000 foot level in mountain country 75 miles southwest of here on the Kenai Peninsula. A rescue crew reported "no survivors."

The airline plane met its fate while on a dog-legged 100 mile flight from Anchorage to Seward. Its six occupants included an unidentified military passenger, Raymond Gillis, of Seward and formerly from San Haven, N.D.; Bruce Robertson, Seattle; B. J. Jams, Milton, Wash.; Douglas Sayre, Juneau, Alaska, and the pilot, John Wade, Anchorage.

The other broken plane, an amphibious Grumman, yielded the body of Haakon Christensen, pilot and operator of an Anchorage airline. Trapped in tangled metal and fabric was Wells Ervin, Anchorage businessman. They were found five miles south of Cordova, where they were scheduled to stop on a flight from Yakutat, 200 miles south.

THE CHARLES EBERLEY FARM AT LOMAX Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Adkins operate the place.

Adkins Fought Insects, Early Freeze, Drought For 104 Bales

Lawrence Adkins produced Howard County's first bale of cotton last year, on the Charles Eberley place in the Lomax Community. He went on to harvest another 103 bales, despite drought, insects and an early freeze.

It was a pretty good crop from about 250 acres, because Adkins was operating in one of the driest sections of drought-stricken Howard County last year.

Two small irrigation wells on the Eberley farm were responsible for most of the 104-bale crop. The "dryland cotton" made very little. The Eberley place, which Mr. and Mrs. Adkins have operated for going on seven years, was last week's "Mystery Farm" in the Herald. It was the last in the year-long series of farm pictures Herald readers have been asked to identify.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eberley of Big Spring have owned the 1 1/2-section farm for nearly 25 years. They purchased it in 1932. The place is a part of the old Oxshier Ranch which used to spread over a large portion of southwest Howard County.

The Eberleys are as proud of the farm's record for droughty 1955 as the Adkins are. Mrs. Eberley pointed out that one five-acre plot of cotton produced about two and a half bales per acre.

That was irrigated cotton, of course. Adkins had another 30 acres of late cotton, also irrigated, which he had counted on to boost his total cotton production to around 175 bales.

The patch was all but "made" last fall when the early freeze nipped the young bolls and knocked about 70 bales off the production potential.

A late insect infestation also hurt Adkins' cotton, although he poisoned five times during the growing season.

Something more than 500 acres of the Eberley place is in cultivation. All that isn't devoted to cotton production is used in raising feedstuff. The two water wells enable Adkins to irrigate about 60 acres of cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. Adkins moved on the Eberley farm in 1949. They had operated other farms in the Lomax area following his discharge from the Army late in 1945.

Adkins also served as assistant coordinator for the first vocational agriculture classes which he helped organize for veterans following World War II.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Adkins have lived in Howard County for most of their lives. Mrs. Adkins is the former Evelyn Stallings, daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. A. J. Stallings. He is the son of the late D. W. (Dave) Adkins and Mrs. Adkins who now lives in Big Spring. He was reared in Big Spring and the Moore community where his father owned a farm.

Lawrence and Evelyn were married 13 years ago Tuesday, on April 10, 1943, in Yakima, Wash., where he was stationed in the Army at the time.

They have four children, Larry, 11; Bob, 9; David, 5; and Mollie, 15 months. Bob and Larry are in the fourth and fifth grades at Stanton where the Adkins also are members of the First Methodist Church.

Adkins is a member of the board of stewards for his church, and also serves as a director of the West Texas Telephone Cooperative of Stanton. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge in Stanton.

Mrs. Adkins is a member of the Howard County Home Demonstration Club.

Adkins produced the county's first bale last year on Aug. 23. If the weather gives him a break, he's hoping to turn out the "first bale" a little earlier in 1956.

Calory Counting No Way To Lose Fat

DALLAS (AP)—To control your weight, stop counting calories and take care of your hypothalamus, an authority on nutrition suggested today.

Regular exercise and wise choice of all nourishing foods are ways to do it, said Prof. Roger J. Williams, University of Texas biochemist, and president-elect of the American Chemical Society.

Your hypothalamus — hype for short — is a vital area of the brain which is apparently one sort of "bodily wisdom" and automatic control mechanism. The mechanism controlling appetite is probably located there, Dr. Williams said.

Some scientists also find evidence your hype area is a switchboard of the emotions, translating ideas and emotions into physical effects through nerves and hormones. This complex area may also be the part of the brain that controls sleep wakefulness.

Dr. Williams told of finding new evidence indicating that if the hypothalamus area is well-nourished in every way, then your metabolism controlling appetite will work properly.

The bodily wisdoms include control mechanism over temperature, breathing, composition of the blood and "the wisdom to eat or stop eating," he told the ACS' division of agricultural and food chemistry. The appetite control is so remarkably precise that it is not unusual for a middle-aged man to gain only 20 pounds very gradually between ages 35 and 55, never counting a single calorie, he said.

This man might eat 20 tons of food in that time, but burn up 99.85 per cent of it.

If he gained only 4 pounds in 20 years, he would have burned up or discarded 99.99 per cent of all the food.

But if his appetite control mechanism was not so efficient, and he burned up only 99.8 per cent, he would gain 80 pounds.

Regular exercise increases this bodily wisdom of appetite control, Dr. Williams said, citing studies by Dr. Jean Mayer of Harvard University.

The human body can also become foolish about eating, said Dr. Williams, discoverer of the B vitamin, pantothenic acid, which promotes growth. Examples are the child with a sweet tooth whose sugar consumption crowds out the vitamins, minerals and proteins he needs, and the adult whose craving for alcohol lets alcohol substitute for food.

He indicated the well-nourished hypothalamus could avoid or help overcome the cravings.

Hoover Blasts 'Coddling' In Parole Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover spoke out today against "ill-advised parole and probation" for hardened criminals.

In a speech prepared for a national conference on parole, Hoover said 11 of the 18 FBI agents killed in line of duty were slain by ex-convicts who had been granted parole, probation, or some other form of clemency.

Hoover condemned what he described as attempts to "coddle" unrepentant criminals, asserting: "Parole upon parole and probation upon probation for those who have not reformed are unreasonable and unjustified."

"I appreciate the fact that for every flagrant mistake in parole and probation, there are scores of cases reflecting dynamic reformation and rehabilitation. What I am saying is not that parole and probation are wrong — but that ill-advised parole and probation reflect adversely upon these methods of protecting society. It is the old case of a rotten apple tainting the whole barrel."

EXPERTS MEET

Some 600 state and federal specialists in penal and probation work are attending the conference called by Atty. Gen. Brownell. It is a three-day exchange of ideas looking to uniform practices in the clemency field.

Chief Justice Earl Warren told the gathering yesterday there should be "a public awareness of the fact that the parole of a prisoner is not an act of coddling." He called it simply an extension of the state's effort to assist the wrongdoer to reestablish himself in society.

Brownell said yesterday that the great majority of parolees successfully complete their paroles but that "only the parole violator hits the headlines."

Hoover submitted a long list of major crimes in which he said parolees figured. The list included the 2 1/2-million-dollar Brink's hold-up in Boston six years ago.

REPEATER PROBLEM

Hoover said one of the most serious law enforcement problems involves the criminal repeater. He reported that out of all prisoners received at federal institutions in 1954 for sentences of more than one year, 63 per cent were previous offenders.

Hoover asked the conference to consider this proposal: "When a person has been convicted and sentenced to prison, the authorities today have the ability to determine in many cases whether the wrongdoer is capable of leading a law-abiding life. But when it is clear that due to mental quirks the likelihood of violence exists, then there should be some legally recognized machinery whereby such individuals can be isolated from society to receive preventive treatment."

"If the case is sufficiently acute, then there should be a means, with all the proper safeguards for constitutional rights, whereby treatment could be enforced, even beyond the period of actual sentence, if necessary."

Tubeless Tires Quickly Repaired

If you're in the dark as to how your tubeless automobile tire can be repaired, consult personnel employed at the Jim Raoul Humble Service Station, located at 1301 Gregg Street in Big Spring.

The Raoul concern has vulcanizing equipment to repair such makes of casings in a comparatively short period of time.

Raoul's concern also maintains the latest and most complete equipment for changing tires. All done electrically, the equipment has been improved upon by Raoul himself.

Located on one of the area's busiest thoroughfares, Highway 87, the Raoul station remains open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily seven days a week to cater to its regular customers and the tourist trade, as well.

A fairly complete line of Atlas automobile accessories, including tires and tubes, batteries, oil filters, gasoline tank caps and spark plugs, is stocked and sold by the Raoul establishment.

All Atlas products, of course, carry long guarantees.

All kinds of tires, including the tubeless kind and white sidewall makes, are sold at the Raoul station.

In business at his present location for the past five years, Raoul has managed to meet many Big Springers and would like to meet them all and cater to their automotive needs.

The concern specializes in washing, greasing and changing crankcase oil in all kinds and models of automobiles.

Raoul's place of business maintains a pickup truck, used to offer emergency service to any point within the area.

S&H Green Stamps, which can be redeemed locally, are offered to customers at Raoul's with the purchase of 10 cents or more of goods and services.

Kills Roaches

No-Roach, put out by the Gaston Johnston Corporation, kills roaches, ants and other crawling insects as easily as it is "painted" across their paths. The housewife merely paints No-Roach around baseboards, drain openings, etc. The colorless liquid lasts for weeks and kills the insects as they crawl across it.

Big Spring Hardware Has 'Blue Lustre' Rug Cleaner

Science has provided the answer to a bothersome problem—Keeping wall-to-wall carpeting bright and clean.

Blue Lustre, a product of long research, does the job better than it's ever been done before, simply because Blue Lustre is the best thing of its kind ever developed. Carpets stay clean longer since Blue Lustre removes the soil and does not put anything into the fabric to cause rapid resoiling.

A concentrate, Blue Lustre mixes with water to produce a foam that brushes into the carpet. There's no soaking—the pile doesn't sog or mat. The dirt is gathered into tiny crystals which are vacuumed away, leaving your carpet like new.

After you've cleaned from wall to wall, a new stain or traffic lane can be foamed away safely, because Blue Lustre leaves no ring. Blue Lustre is inexpensive and is available at Big Spring Hardware.

NEW METHOD CLEANS AND POLISHES CARS

Polish your car as you clean it with Johnson's POLISHAMPOO. Just apply rich harmless suds, then simply flush off dirt and "road film" that resist ordinary washings. Car dries quickly with no rubbing or wiping, leaving polished surface. Use POLISHAMPOO regularly to keep car clean and polished.

Bottle containing 3 shampoos... $1.19. Available at Piggy Wiggy, J. O. Newsom Supermarket, J. E. Green Food Mart, Dale Douglas Food Mart, Jack's Drive-In, Gro. Tob's Drive-In Gro., Hull & Phillips Gro. Dist. by Strippling Supply Co.

BEST WAY TO KILL ROACHES AND ANTS

Scientists recommend that you control roaches and ants the modern way—with Johnson's NO-ROACH. Brushed just where you want it, (not a messy spray) the colorless, odorless coating kills these pests. It's effective for months, sanitary, and so easy to use. 8 oz., pint, quart. Available at Safeway, Piggy Wiggy, Hull & Phillips, Newsom's, Bud Green's, Cunningham & Phillips, Big Spring Drug & your local drug or grocery store.

SOLVED — CARPET CLEANING PROBLEM

Science finally has the answer to carpet cleaning. Blue Lustre, a new development, is mixed with water and brushed into carpet or upholstery. It's amazing the way forgotten colors spring out. The nap is left open and lofty. It's easy to apply. One half-gallon of Blue Lustre cleans three 9 x 12 rugs. Available at BIG SPRING HARDWARE CO. 117-119 Main St.

Adair Music Co. Is Baldwin Dealer

"America Bursts Into Music" is the title of a Baldwin advertisement in the April issue of Coronet Magazine which claims that the whole nation is in the midst of an exciting, unprecedented resurgence of interest in music... at all age levels.

The advertisement goes on to cite the figures that the nation spent more money last year on classical concerts ($50 million) than was spent on baseball games ($40 million). And during the past decade, the number of symphony orchestras has increased 80 percent.

Along with the trend to music is the trend toward Baldwin Piano Company instruments, featured locally at Adair Music Company, 1708 Gregg.

Baldwin is known as the first family in America's formal music, personal music, and participation music. Their models include the Grand (the artists' piano), the Baldwin organ (spirit of America's spiritual life), the exquisite Acrosonic piano, the Organ-sonic spinet organ, the Hamilton studio piano, and the new Baldwin Model 45 organ.

Adair has these models at its Gregg Street studio, and the models are shown in the Coronet advertisement.

An organ or piano is easy to finance. The Adair rental plan method. The plan allows a person to rent an instrument, and up to 90 days rent will be applied toward purchase price of it if the person decides to buy.

If a piano is desired, the piano to buy is the Acrosonic Modern and traditional styles fit the Acrosonic perfectly into today's pattern of living. Its full blow action is favored by the most persons familiar with the system.

See it today at Adair's; 1708 Gregg St.

Southern Baptists Urge Christianity In Race Issues

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (P.—A joint appeal by Southern Baptist leaders urging all Christians, white and Negro, to adopt the Christian spirit in race relations has been acknowledged by President Eisenhower.

Dr. C. C. Warren of Charlotte, N.C., president of the Southern Baptist Convention, said a copy of the resolution issued by 23 Southern Baptist leaders was sent to the President a week ago.

"The President wrote us a note of thanks for our willingness to aid and do what we could to ease the tensions in the Southland," Warren said last night.

The resolution was issued in response to a request from the Advisory Council for Work with Negroes, a group serving with vari-

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (P)—The day may soon come when you can carry around that extra-dry martini—complete with olive—in an envelope in your pocket.

Or when the housewife can laugh if she drops a dozen fresh eggs because she knows they won't crack or break.

New plastic film containers for martinis, eggs and many other products went on display today at the opening of the American Management Assn's 25th annual packaging exposition and conference.

The shell-less eggs are packaged in unbreakable, transparent polyethelene containers—in which they can be boiled and from which they can be eaten.
