At Least 21 Dead In Birmingham Tornado

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A tornado swirling and twisting through the outskirts of Birmingham killed at least 21 persons, injured more than 200 and left 400 persons homeless. A Red Cross official said the winds yesterday destroyed more than 100 houses clustered on hills west and north of this industrial city. Hundreds of houses received lesser damage. "We've counted 21 bodies and there may be others," said Roscoe Whitley, Red Cross director here. Most of the dead were Negroes. Most of the dead and injured were at McDonald's Chapel, a suburb of 3,000 population just outside the northwestern city limits. Winds also flailed Sandusky, New Georgia and Sayreton, other suburban areas. Fire engines joined the confusion at McDonald's Chapel when fire broke out in some of the ruined houses. Approximately 150 persons were admitted to Birmingham hospitals. Some were treated and released but most were confined for treatment. Whitley said an emergency ward had been set up in a union hall in Ensley, an industrial suburb, where 30 of the less seriously injured were admitted. The awesome roar of the approaching storm gave sufficient warning for many to take shelter before their houses were blown to splinters. Roy J. Self, 56, hid under his service station. "I got under the station and had been there about 30 seconds when the building tumbled over and went crashing down an embankment and against a hill," he related. "I just can't tell you what it was like—like going over a waterfall," said Mrs. Margie Blake, 29, Sayreton, who suffered a deep cut between her eyes. "The next thing I knew the house was gone and we are piled all around with the rain pouring on us." Another twister struck Huntsville in North Alabama, causing heavy damage but no known injuries. Tuscaloosa, Anniston, Centreville, Montgomery, Dothan and Mobile also felt high winds. A severe thunderstorm with hail and wind gusts up to 60 miles per hour pelted the devastated area last night while relief operations were in progress. Most of the dead were found in wreckage left in the wake of the storm. Mrs. Betty Duncan, 30, lay with her 3-year-old son Rodney in her arms and Melvin Duncan, 8, sprawled nearby. All three were dead. The Red Cross and Salvation Army set up relief centers and provided food and shelter for the homeless. National Guardsmen patrolled the area and set up a rescue center. Lloyd Noland Hospital at Fairfield, near the disaster scene, was swamped by the first wave of injured. All available doctors and nurses were summoned to help the injured who lay in emergency rooms and corridors.

Hagler On Trial In 'Torch' Death

SULPHUR, Okla. (AP)—The murder trial of David Hagler Jr. opened before an overflow crowd today, climaxing one of the most baffling cases ever encountered by Oklahoma cops. The former $23,000-a-year Fort Worth asphalt salesman was naturally dressed. He appeared with his attorney and his mother, Mrs. Anne Robinson of Fort Worth. On Oct. 10, 1954, the charred corpse of a still unidentified man was found in the burning station wagon of Hagler's former wife on a lonely road near the mountain town of Davis, Okla. For a time it was believed the body was that of Hagler. However, the 39-year-old self-admitted playboy turned up a few days later at Waco, Tex. He claimed he had been on a drinking spree and had "blacked out." He denied any knowledge of the crime. State prosecutors decided not to ask for the death penalty. They conceded their case against Hagler was purely circumstantial. But, Murray County Atty. Dixie Colbert and Owen J. Watts, assistant state attorney general, believe they can prove an insurance plot and circumstances leading up to the murder—all involving Hagler. They said they will try for a life term conviction. The only clues to the mysterious case were a general description of the victim's size and a dental bridge, believed to have been constructed in Germany. A business associate of Hagler's, Frank St. Claire of Dallas, told Oklahoma authorities a month after the body was found that the slaying was the aftermath of a conspiracy to collect $200,000 in an insurance windfall. St. Claire said he and Hagler would pass the body off as Hagler's and collect the insurance while the Fort Worth man lived under an assumed identity. Less than a month after that, Dec. 9, 1954, St. Claire killed himself in the garage of his home.

U.S. Plays Safe In H-Bomb Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first non-government civilian observers to see one of the hitherto secret tests of a hydrogen bomb will be their looking from 50 miles away. Safety, not security, dictates the distance. Fifteen newsmen and about 20 representatives of the Federal Civil Defense Administration will see one test next month in the Operation Redwing spring series at the Marshall Islands proving grounds. They are scheduled to see one of the large, but not the largest, of the H-bomb trials. The average 50 miles viewing point aboard a ship provides a buffer against the three immediate dangers of a large H-bomb explosion—blast, heat and radiation. It also allows for maneuvering if winds change unexpectedly and carry the drifting cloud of contamination in the direction of men. Ten years ago a few of the news correspondents who have been assigned to cover Operation Redwing were present for Operation Crossroads. The scene was the same—Bikini atoll. The weapons were different—two "little" nuclear weapons yielding only 20,000 tons (20 kilotons) of force in 1946 compared with the multimillion ton hydrogen weapon of today. For the two 1946 test shots, the observer ships backed away an average distance of about 11 miles.

Jury Panel Being Chosen For Graham Murder Trial

DENVER (AP)—State and defense attorneys began today picking jurors to try John Gilbert Graham, 24, on murder charges for the dynamite bombing of an airplane that hurtled 44 persons to death last Nov. 1. The convicted forger and former drive-in restaurant operator is charged specifically with killing his mother Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55. Federal officials said he signed a statement admitting he placed a 25-stick dynamite bomb in her luggage with the intent of collecting $37,500 flight insurance. He has repudiated the statement in news interviews. Dist. Atty. Bert Keating said the prosecution will ask death in Colorado's gas chamber. Court-appointed defense lawyers said they are going to trial "seeking justice." They said Graham has never admitted the crime to them. Pictured as feeling "good" and "unafraid," Graham played a word game—scrabble—with his county jail guards over the weekend. His wife Gloria, 22, mother of their two children, described him as "anxious to get it over with—and not afraid." State and defense lawyers have estimated the trial may run from five to eight weeks.

Icardi Perjury Trial Begins As World War II Slaying Aftermath

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ex-Army Lt. Aldo L. Icardi was called to trial today on charges of falsely denying he plotted the World War II slaying of his superior, Maj. William V. Holohan, behind enemy lines in Italy. While the indictment charges Icardi with perjury, the effect of it is to accuse him of directing the slaying of Holohan during a daring cloak-and-dagger mission. Icardi, a Pittsburgh real estate broker, appeared before a House Armed Services subcommittee March 26, 1953, and made a general statement of knowledge concerning the disappearance of Holohan in December 1944. The indictment resulted from this testimony. Holohan, 40, a lawyer in civilian life, headed what was known as the "Mangostine mission." The Italian-speaking Icardi, then 23 and known for his daring, was second in command. Former Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N.Y., and an Italian partisan, Tullio Lussi, who operated under the resistance name of Capt. Landi, also were along. The mission parachuted 100 miles north of battle lines near Lake Orto Sept. 26, 1944. Holohan was last seen alive Dec. 6. Investigation into Holohan's disappearance, begun after the war was stepped up after recovery of his body from icy Lake Orto in November 1950. An autopsy disclosed he had been poisoned and shot. A Defense Department memorandum issued in 1951 accused Icardi and Lo Dolce of complicity in the slaying. Icardi and Lo Dolce were tried in absentia by an Italian court and convicted of murder. Icardi was given a life sentence, Lo Dolce a

PHONE BOOTH ACROBATICS

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Police got a call Saturday that a woman was upside down in a restaurant telephone booth and please come get her out. The woman said she had dropped a coin on the floor of the booth, bent over to pick it up and her feet went out from under her, leaving her trapped head down. Police did not identify the woman.

Arms, Loans Offers May Be Made By Reds

LONDON (AP)—Speculation centered today on the imminent visit of the Soviet chiefs of state. Britons wondered whether they might make a dramatic proposal to end the disarmament deadlock or even offer a loan of billions in gold. Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev, known as the "Kremlin Twins—B and K" in every British household, are en route to England in the Soviet cruiser Ordjonikidze. They sailed yesterday from the Baltic port of Kaliningrad. Thousands of Soviet citizens shouted "Happy voyage, a Moscow dispatch said, and Khrushchev waved his black fedora in acknowledgment. The Soviet cruiser is due at the English Channel harbor of Portsmouth Wednesday morning. A cryptic Moscow radio broadcast touched off the speculation about a disarmament proposal. "We feel sure that the Soviet leaders' visit to Britain will help break the deadlock in the matter of disarmament," a commentator said in an English-language broadcast. He did not elaborate. A subcommittee of the five big U.N. atomic powers—the United States, Britain, Russia, France and Canada—is meeting in London on disarmament. Some British politicians have speculated, although lightly, that the Soviet chiefs in a grand gesture might offer a loan of two or three billion dollars in gold to bolster Britain's economy. The Soviet press and radio has said the Soviet chiefs' talks with Prime Minister Eden will center on trade as well as disarmament. Eden is intent on pinning down the Soviet leaders on such troublesome international issues as Communist moves in the Middle East and Russian intentions on the unification of Germany. Vandals early today daubed white paint on the statue of Communist hero Karl Marx at his grave in a London suburb.

Wife-Slaying Trial Begins

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—James Alexander, 48-year-old former Casper, Wyo., schoolteacher accused of slaying his second wife, came to trial in District Court today. Alexander has pleaded innocent to a first-degree murder charge in the death of 24-year-old Barbara Alexander. Barbara's body was unearthed from the cellar of a Casper home Dec. 8. She disappeared in July 1953. Alexander's first and present wife, 40-year-old Rose, also has been charged with first-degree murder. Her trial is scheduled to start May 7. Rose contended at an inquest that Barbara died accidentally from a fall. She acknowledged she buried the body. Alexander was married to Rose 15 years before he divorced her and married Barbara a week later. Rose and he were married again early this year after they had been accused. Both were free on bond.

Hitchhikers Rob Midland Driver

Road blocks were set up on an area highway at noon today in an effort to trap three men who held up Charles Elliott, Midland, in mid-morning and robbed him of a 1950 Ford coupe. According to rather meager reports received at the sheriff's office, Elliott had picked up three hitchhikers, all about 18 years of age. "Eight miles east of Coahoma, he was held up by the trio and forced out of his car. The holdup men sped on east. He was forced to walk several miles before he could report the crime. Sheriff Jess Slaughter and his deputies were reported to have blocked off all of the roads out of the county at noon. Reports related that the car was registered to J. G. Elliott, Midland. It was said that J. G. Elliott and Charles Elliott are brothers.

GOOD START ON ANNIVERSARIES

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A woman driving a car involved in a collision last night gave her name as Mrs. Joanne Hollingsworth. "That's not your name," said Dennis Hollingsworth, "It's James." "We were married yesterday," the woman retorted. Hollingsworth's head had struck the windshield. It was some time before he finally remembered he was no longer a single man.

AIR PROBE General Describes Russ Capabilities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Walter Bedell Smith told senators today he believes Russia can keep abreast of this country in turning out trained personnel and in the production of some modern scientific weapons. Smith, now retired, was the first witness before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee as it launched a public inquiry aimed at comparing Soviet and U.S. air power. Sen. Symington (D-Mo), the subcommittee chairman, said in opening the hearings that the investigation may publicize some military secrets in the interest of giving the public the knowledge necessary to form judgments on defense issues. Smith said that in the weapons field the Russians can keep pace with the United States "in areas where they concentrate." Since World War II, he said, the Soviet Union has shown an unanticipated ability to rebuild its economy, overcome a shortage of scientists and produce the complex weapons of the present atomic age. "It has intensified our problem greatly," said Smith, who was chief of staff to President Eisenhower in World War II and later served as ambassador to Russia, director of the Central Intelligence Agency and under secretary of state. From Omar N. Bradley, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, came a warning that in another world war "there are many reasons to believe" that the first attack will be launched against the United States. "Unless we can powerfully and decisively retaliate," said Bradley, "we cannot hope to break the enemy's might while we develop from a weak position to a strong one." Bradley said in a prepared statement, however, that he intended to discuss the problem "without expressing my personal opinion as to whether or not we now have sufficient forces in our service, be it air, ground or Navy." Symington said in a prepared opening statement that some of the testimony necessarily would be taken in closed sessions.

Sahib Reuther

WASHINGTON (AP)—The deadline for the big tax payoff to Uncle Sam is only hours away. By midnight tonight all individual taxpayers must have their 1955 income tax returns on the way to the Internal Revenue Service. Mail by the truckload was arriving at the 64 IRS district offices as taxpayers rushed to beat the final hour. Actually the deadline is April 15. But, since that date fell on Sunday this year, the law gives individuals an extra day.

Broadcast Tonight To Explain Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed the farm bill. He will go on the air at 10 p.m. EST, to explain his rejection of the measure which becomes through his veto, a sure major issue in the election campaign. In his veto message, Eisenhower told the lawmakers the high price support bill "would do harm to every agricultural region of the country and also to the interests of consumers." The bill would return farm price supports to 90 per cent of parity for one year, junking the administration's flexible support system. Congressional backers of the measure conceded there was no chance for enactment of the bill over the veto. This would require a two-thirds vote to override the President. Eisenhower's message, sent to the House since the farm bill originated there, announced the administration is taking three actions under existing law "to improve farm income now."

1. Price supports on five basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts—will be set at a level of at least 82 1/2 per cent of parity. This, Eisenhower said, should insure national averages of wheat at $2 a bushel, corn at $1.50 a bushel, and rice at $4.50 per 100 pounds. Price estimates for cotton and peanuts were not given. 2. For this year, the support price of manufacturing milk will be increased to $3.25 per 100 pounds. The support price of butterfat will be increased to 58.6 cents a pound. Manufacturing milk is that used in making butter, cheese, ice cream and other manufactured dairy products as distinguished from milk sold for beverage purposes. 3. More than 400 million dollars of Agriculture Department funds "whose assistance will be constructive," will be used to strengthen the prices of perishable farm commodities for the year beginning July 1. Additionally, Eisenhower urged the lawmakers to enact his soil bank plan "as promptly as possible" before next fall's seeding for next year's crops. The President said the four main provisions made the bill unacceptable to him: (1) the return to rigid 90 per cent of parity supports for basic commodities; (2) dual parity for wheat, corn, cotton and peanuts; (3) mandatory price supports for feed grains; and (4) multiple-price plans for wheat and rice. The veto unquestionably will have far-reaching significance in this year's political campaign.

For one thing, it gives Democrats, who have been reluctant to attack Eisenhower personally, an issue on which they can hammer at the President. Although the bill was pushed by the Democratic majority in Congress it won support from many farm state Republicans. Some said a veto in the light of falling agricultural prices would hurt Eisenhower and other GOP candidates in the November election. Only this morning the Republican governors of Kansas, Iowa and South Dakota urged the President to sign the measure even though it contained features which Secretary of Agriculture Benson had called "unacceptable." Eisenhower backed Benson in turning down the bill although he said he took the veto action "with intense disappointment and regret." Eisenhower said that far from reducing surpluses, the bill would encourage more surpluses and also increase government control over farming. He went on to say the nation's farm families are suffering reduced incomes and have a right to expect of Congress "workable and beneficial legislation to help solve their problems." "Bad as some provisions of this bill are," Eisenhower said, "I would have signed it if in total it could be interpreted as sound and good for farmers and the nation. "After the most careful analysis I conclude that the bill is contradictory and self-defeating even as an emergency relief measure and it would lead to such serious consequences in additional surpluses and production controls as to further threaten the income and the welfare of our farm people." Eisenhower chided Congress for "long delays" in acting on the farm proposals he submitted last Jan. 9. These included the soil bank proposal which was a part of the vetoed bill. In today's message Eisenhower said he was ready to sign a "sound soil bank" bill as soon as he received it. He said such a bill can be passed "in a very few days if the leadership in Congress will undertake the task." A few minutes before the veto message was announced, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, had said that "obviously" the President's advisers wanted the bill vetoed. Johnson added: "I hope his advisers are not proceeding on the assumption that a veto will be followed by immediate passage of all that Benson wants. "One thing sure, Congress is not (See FARM, Page 2, Col. 5)

Senators Consider Request For Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A request from Sen. Young (R-ND) for an investigation of the Leader Publishing Co. to perform a dress rehearsal of its defense to the impending libel action... Young voted for the controversial bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal price controls. The Senate passed it 53-38 early in February but President Eisenhower vetoed it. Young said in a letter requesting the investigation: "I have not, of course, sold out, nor have I received bribes from anyone." The special committee, equally divided between Republicans and Democrats, was set up to investigate any improper or illegal attempts to influence senators or others through lobbying, campaign contributions or other activities. Its creation was a sequel to charges of lobbying on the gas bill and, more particularly, to the limited inquiry into a $2,500 campaign contribution which Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) refused to accept from an oil company lobbyist. Young sent the committee a photographic copy of the front page of the Feb. 9 issue of the Leader, with a streamer headline reading, "Young Sells Out Again."

California Awaits Big Jolt, But No One Knows Where

By G. K. HODENFIELD
SAN FRANCISCO, April 16 (AP)—California is sitting right on top of a destructive earthquake, just waiting for it to happen.

When? The experts have no idea. Where? There are a couple of likely spots, but no seismologist will hazard more than a guess.

Why? Because no one can anticipate the deadly San Andreas fault line, which cuts a path of potential catastrophe almost the length of California.

Pressures built up far below the surface push against this crack in the earth's crust. The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has found the coastal side of the fault moves 20 inches northward every 10 years.

There is an almost constant rubbing and grinding. As the earth crunches, shock waves are transmitted outward in every direction. Some are so weak they can be detected only with delicate seismographs. Others are strong enough to rattle dishes and start light fixtures swaying.

California long ago learned to live with such disturbances. Occasionally there is a major slip, and the ground heaves with a force so great it dwarfs the greatest man-made explosions.

It was like that 50 years ago, at 5:12 a.m., Tuesday, April 18, 1906.

It came without a whisper of warning. One moment the city was asleep, serene and silent.

The next moment the earth buckled and rolled. Buildings shuddered, and toppled to the ground. Streets were filled with debris and cobwebbed with dangling wires.

Twice again before 6 a.m. there were violent jolts. That quake, with the fire that followed, was the greatest catastrophe ever to hit an American city.

People poured into the streets, appalled at the destruction. All over the city, dozens of small fires broke out.

Firemen raced to the rescue—then watched in horror as pressure died and streams of water turned to trickles.

For three days and nights the fire raged until firemen, police, soldiers and volunteers blasted away rows of buildings to create a protective belt of vacant lots.

Even in those days of horse-drawn statistics, the damage was impressive: More than 60,000 buildings destroyed, 285,000 of the city's 360,000 inhabitants made homeless, 2,953 acres of ruins totaling 490 city blocks, property damage of $50 million dollars—in an area of 5-cent beer and 8-cent prime beef.

That was just the San Andreas part of it. The quake hit along a 200-mile stretch of the San Andreas fault.

At least 700 persons were killed. No village or city along the line escaped. Palo Alto had three million dollars in damage, Salinas two million, Santa Ana a million, Redwood City $700,000, San Mateo $500,000.

Sixty miles north of San Francisco giant redwood trees which had been standing since the time of Christ snapped and crashed to earth.

The mayor, police chief and police commission gathered hurriedly at the Hall of Justice. The first official act was to close every saloon and smash liquor bottles in stores.

The mayor's first proclamation declared, "troops and police are authorized to kill on sight any person or persons caught looting."

The next day 14 men were shot down trying to loot the San Francisco mint, and 14 soldiers were strung up for looting a saloon.

Families gathered what belongings they could carry and fled. Mothers were separated from their children, husbands from wives.

A vast refugee camp was established in the Presidio, another in Golden Gate park.

Governor Pardee proclaimed a legal holiday every day from April 19 through June 2, thus averting a run on the city's 48 banks.

In San Francisco the official casualty list numbered 482 dead, 1,500 injured. The actual death toll may well have numbered hundreds more.

Around the world they wrote the obituary of a beautiful city—but they wrote it too soon. Like the mythical phoenix, San Francisco rose from her own ashes.

Only nine years after the quake and fire she was host to the world at the Pan-Pacific International Exposition.

For 50 years San Franciscans have insisted: "It wasn't the quake, it was the fire."

In the past 50 years, California has had six major quakes, causing upward of 1,000 deaths and damage estimated at more than half a billion dollars. Next to San Francisco, the most costly in lives was the Long Beach quake which killed 115 in 1933.

The most recent were in 1952, when tremors in the Tehachap and Bakersfield areas killed 16 and caused 120 million in damages.

California knows that the San Andreas fault does not rest easy for long. To the experts, this much seems certain: another big earthquake is due, sooner or later.

Dr. Charles Richter of California Institute of Technology says California may go 10 years or more without a San Andreas quake—but one could come tomorrow.

California does not worry about the next big earthquake. It may not come in their lifetimes, or if it does, it may spend its vast fury in the sparsely inhabited desert or mountains.

What can you do about an earthquake anyway, but sit and wait for it to happen?

After the bids were opened and listed, the commissioners instructed Parks to inspect all of the second hand machinery offered.

The bidders offered both new and used machinery.

Bids included: Conley-Lott-Nichols, Dallas, 10-ton roller, $3,000; sheepfoot roller, $2,750.

Texas Machinery and Equipment Co., Amarillo, 10-ton roller, used, $4,500.

Patton Equipment Company, Abilene, 10-ton roller, new, $7,300. Road Machinery Company, Midland, tractor, new, $1,375; used, $10,000; sheepfoot roller, new, $1,750; used, $1,100; 10-ton roller, used, $4,600.

Howard County Commissioners Court ordered a carryall for county highway department use this morning. Bid of Driver Truck and Implement Company to provide such a vehicle for $1,795 was accepted. The vote on the proposal was 3 to 1. G. E. Gilliam voted "no."

He told the commissioners that the department has nine pieces of equipment which can be classified as "transportation" and he did not believe an additional car of the type wanted by the engineer was needed.

Walter Parks, county engineer, has requested the carryall. He said that it is needed in connection with survey work carried on by his department.

Three firms offered bids for the carryall. The others were Shroyer Motor Co., $2,333; and Tidwell Chevrolet Company, 1,875.

The commissioners opened bids on a number of pieces of road equipment posted by firms in response to an advertisement for such bids.

Equipment sought includes a 10-ton, three-wheel roller; a tractor and dozer and a sheepfoot roller.

Adlai Stevenson says he intends to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot. He is visiting at his sister's home here resting and working on speeches. He will remain through Wednesday.

An interviewer asked him yesterday whether it would be safe to say that he would win on the first ballot at the Chicago convention. He replied: "That's just what we intend to do."

He also predicted he will win the Democratic preference primary in Florida May 29. He and his opponent, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, ended a swing through Florida Saturday.

Stevenson plans a private gathering with North Carolina political leaders today.

On arrival yesterday in his private plane, he was met by about 25 persons, many of them members of the Moore County Stevenson for President Club.

"I'm awfully glad to be here, and I'm looking forward to a good rest," the former Illinois governor said. He was prepared to spend most of his time relaxing and working on campaign speeches.

Officers Checking On Sunday Wreck

Sheriff's deputies were investigating an accident Monday which occurred six miles east of Coahoma sometime Sunday.

A 1950 DeSoto was involved in the wreck and was damaged $300 in the mishap. Owner of the car and details of what had happened had not been determined Monday morning.

On The Beam

DENVER (AP)—Patrolman George Zellner jumped into his police cruiser after seeing a "drivesless auto" with the headlights on, roll through a red light at a downtown intersection.

But when he overhauled the car there was a driver in it after all. "Where were you two minutes ago?" asked the cop.

"Under the dashboard trying to fix the headlights," said the unidentified driver.

Antibiotics May Hold Key To Cancer Battle

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A big new hunt for possible cancer-fighting weapons among drugs of the "antibiotic" class, such as penicillin, has been suggested by a team of Boston researchers.

Dr. Sidney Farber and two colleagues of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation, Inc., urged such a hunt by science in making a report to the American Assn. for Cancer Research, whose annual meeting ended yesterday.

The Bostonians reported recent research in which an antibiotic drug called "actinomycin D" was found to have some slight, though only temporary, effect against a few forms of human cancer—particularly Hodgkin's disease (a cancer of the lymph system) and "rhabdomyosarcoma," a form of muscle cancer.

They said the effect was so temporary and the drug itself is so potentially toxic—that that particular antibiotic could not in its present form be rated as an addition to the few somewhat effective chemical weapons science now has against cancer.

But they added: "The interest in these observations lies in the fact that further proof has been obtained of the anticancer characteristics of antibiotics."

"A detailed large-scale search for anticancer effects of all known antibiotics and the development of new antibiotics to be tested for anticancer properties appears to be mandatory from these observations."

In the past, science has tested a large number of antibiotics for anticancer activity. A few have worked against cancers in test tubes and animals, but by and large their effects against human cancer have been disappointing or inconclusive.

9 Sergeants Court-Martialed

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—The public information office says that nine drill sergeants have been before general courts-martial in the last 16 months at this Marine Corps training base.

Meantime, a court of inquiry today continues taking testimony about a forced night march in which six recruits drowned April 8.

The information office, giving its figure in reply to a newsman's question, said the number of courts-martial is normal for the period covered. Six resulted in convictions on charges of striking recruits.

The PIO said one sergeant was found guilty of hitting a recruit 19 times in the stomach on the recruit's birthday.

Maj. Gen. Joseph Burger, depot commander, said the inquiry should end this week. Results will go through his hands, the Marine command and the naval advocate general's office at Washington being released.

The six men drowned on a forced march in swampy water ordered by S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, 31, of Worcester, Mass. Called before the court have been the survivors of the march and McKeon's Captain, Richard P. Grey. Grey was heard yesterday.

Accident Ends Talk On Phone

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Betty Toth, a nurse at Desert Hospital, was talking on the phone to her husband Richard, a Marine staff sergeant on leave, when the phone went dead.

She went back to her duties. Minutes later a man was brought into emergency—too late.

It was her husband. Police said he had accidentally shot and killed himself while talking to her on the phone.

Toth, 27, was twirling a gun, a .25 caliber belonging to his father, in his right hand while holding the receiver to his left when the accident happened. Officers were told Toth had planned to clean the gun.

Thunderstorms Rumble Across Gulf States

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms rumbled across the Gulf states and northward to North Carolina today in the wake of tornado winds and destructive windstorms which struck sections of Alabama and Georgia yesterday.

At least 21 persons were killed and more than 200 injured in the twister that ripped into suburban areas of Birmingham, Ala., yesterday. More than 100 houses were flattened and hundreds of others damaged. Some 400 persons were homeless.

Heaviest toll of dead and injured was in McDonald's Chapel, a community of 3,000 outside the northwestern city limits of Birmingham. Most of the victims in the Birmingham area were Negroes. A tornado which hit Huntsville in northern Alabama caused heavy damage but no injuries were reported.

Violent weather was reported throughout Alabama as well as in Georgia. Severe thunderstorms extended from the Carolinas to the central Gulf states. Two tornadoes swept through several north Georgia towns but only one person was reported injured.

Heavy rain and hail fell throughout the storm belt. Winds gusts were recorded at 89 m.p.h. at Atlanta. Rainfall measured more than 2 inches in many areas of the Gulf states and the lower Tennessee Valley.

Windy and wet weather was in prospect over most of the East and Northeast today, followed by some cooling tonight. Rain was reported in the Mid-Atlantic and Northeastern states.

Scattered light showers and snow flurries were reported in the Great Lakes region and the north central states.

2 Vehicles Hit Fixed Objects

Accidents in Big Spring during the weekend included two cases of drivers hitting stationary objects.

Leonard Durwood Crain, 1201 Mulberry, was involved in an accident with a light pole at the end of the west viaduct Sunday. He was driving a 1955 Buick.

In the other accident, Thomas Ralph Bigham of Mineral Wells hit a building at 601 E. 3rd. The building belonged to Merril Creighton, and $35 was the estimated damage. Bigham was driving a 1955 International truck.

John R. Stanley, 406 Douglas, and Weldon H. Donica, 710 Goliad, were in collision at 700 Goliad Sunday. Stanley had a 1949 Chrysler and Donca was driving a 1953 Chevrolet.

At 21st and Main, Nathan J. Johnson, 2008 Nolan, and Sherwin W. Agree, 1208 Ridgeway, were in collision. The accident occurred Sunday.

This morning, Norman A. Gound, 802 W. 18th, and Alton Franklin, 2303 Main, collided. Both were driving Fords, with Gound's being a 1955 model and the other a 1954.

4 Persons Treated For Knife Wounds

Knives replaced BB guns as the weapons of violence over the weekend, as four persons were reported treated at local hospitals for wounds.

The stabbings were in three separate incidents.

Police authorities rounded up at least five persons after Pete and Jesse Porres were taken to Cowper Clinic with knife wounds Saturday night. The two were injured in a fight at Gomez No. 3.

Taken into custody was one person who police said would be charged with aggravated assault, two who would be charged with simple assault, one to be filed against for assault with intent to murder, and one for carrying a concealed weapon—a knife.

Pete Porres was admitted to the clinic, but Jesse Porres was treated and released.

In another incident, a 3C Henry Lee Jr. was reported stabbed at the Negro American Legion Hall Saturday night. Policemen said they were notified Lee was taken to the Webb Hospital for treatment. The third stabbing occurred at 610 Nolan. Ella Mae Woodson was taken to Malone-Hogan but was released Sunday morning. She had been stabbed above the heart.

A complaint was filed in county court against Idella Johnson in connection with the stabbing of Mrs. Woodson. She pleaded not guilty and her bond was set at $500 this morning.

Howard Thanes reported one of the three BB-gun incidents over the weekend. He said his car had been damaged while it was parked at 608 E. 12th. A Crawford Hotel employee reported two holes in the windshield of his car.

The third victim was Milton Carver, 601 Circle, who said six holes had been plugged in his car Saturday night.

Dyer was taken into custody near Lubbock.

BAR MEETING

Satellite System Called 'Criminal'

DALLAS (AP)—Asst. Secretary of State Henry Holland declared today the political system of Russia and its satellites "is criminal by any standard of morals or law existing anywhere in the world outside the Iron Curtain bloc."

Holland noted recent statements by present Russian leaders which he said indicate some possibility of relaxing their policies and of adopting "moral principles" from the free world.

"Saying the United States will 'watch with interest and with caution' whether or not to what degree indications of change are borne out, Holland said:

"Communism is the force which grotesquely combines the power of modern science and technology with a brutish medieval incomprehension of 20th century moral and ethical standards. Our world forbids that never in history has the Russian been free."

"Yet the Communist leaders who are even now nauseating us with their accounts of the crimes of Stalin ask the free world to accept a system which for us would mean a shameful retreat hundreds of years backward along the path which we have toiled in achieving our present freedom."

Bitter Fighting Continues In North Africa

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — French attempts to get local cease-fires after nearly 18 months of guerrilla war with Algerian rebels appeared today to be making little progress.

Bitter fighting continued. One major rebel group insisted Algerian independence must be recognized before it can stop.

French planes, helicopters and ground forces took part in a clash yesterday in which the French said 82 guerrillas and two of their own men were killed.

The skirmish occurred near Garamen between Constantine and the Mediterranean in an area where the rebels have considerable strength.

French authorities, who a few months ago spoke of only 2,000 or 3,000 men in the field against them, now openly refer to 15,000 guerrillas or more.

The French have more than 200,000 soldiers in Algeria and are prepared to double the strength if they have to.

French Premier Guy Mollet said last week he had authorized local contacts with the rebels to try for cease-fire agreements, but no success has been reported yet.

What may have been a reply to his statement appeared in a manifesto put out by the "general staff" of the insurgent group known as the Front of National Liberation.

The rebel statement, which appeared in the Tunisian weekly L'Action, denied any link with Egypt such as the French believe exists. It said there could be no valid cease-fire until the free Algerian government can talk with the French government on an equal footing.

The French maintain the guerrillas do not represent the whole of Algeria and that negotiations can only be held after free elections.

The statement called for a federation of Algeria with the former French protectorates of Morocco and Tunisia, which have been granted a degree of self-rule.

"We consider," it said, "that the joining of our efforts in such a federation will permit us, among other things, to play a primary role in hastening the liberation of peoples still held subject—notably those of black Africa."

Joint Funeral For Crash Victims Set

LAMESA — Double funeral services were to be held at 3 p. m. today for John W. White Jr., 23, and Charles White, 10, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White of Lamesa.

The boys were killed Friday evening when their car collided with a truck eight miles south of Littlefield.

Rev. A. E. Hughes was to officiate at rites in the Second Baptist Church. Burial was to be in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of the Higginbotham Funeral Home.

HCJC Staying Within Its Budget

With two more months remaining in the current school term, Howard County Junior College is well within its budget and could show some substantial underrun.

Disbursements for March aggregated $23,439.61, bringing to $187,483.67 the amount of expenditures for the year thus far. This compares with a budget outlay of $294,580 for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1956.

The only over-run on any division was that for bus operations. All other funds are well within the money.

'Button' In On Adlai

Campaign paths of Estes Kefauver (right) and Adlai Stevenson crossed in Tampa, Fla., and the rival candidates met briefly—just long enough for Kefauver to pin his own campaign button on Adlai.

PRIMARY

Kefauver Confident Of New Jersey

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Presidential hopeful Estes Kefauver, in an encore visit to New Jersey before tomorrow's primary, said he has gained strength during the past week and "will win all over the state."

The Tennessee senator yesterday capped his campaign for New Jersey's 36 Democratic convention votes with a one-day tour damped somewhat by rain and fog. In the big contest of the primary, Democrats will choose between a slate of 72 districts and at-large delegates pledged to Kefauver and an unpledged list proposed by the regular Democratic organization.

Each delegate will have half a vote at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago next August.

Before he left last Wednesday for days of handshaking and speechmaking in such a federation will permit us, among other things, to play a primary role in hastening the liberation of peoples still held subject—notably those of black Africa."

Gov. Robert B. Meyner, who heads the organization slate, has taken no sides in the nationwide contest between Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson. He said he favors the idea of an unpledged delegation which can decide for itself which man to back.

Kefauver, who had a friendly meeting with Meyner last week, has indicated he feels the will of the voters was thwarted in 1952 because he got 154,694 votes when he ran unopposed in the preferential primary poll but the unpledged New Jersey delegation amounted to $298,677.12, or $4,097 more than estimated for the entire year. Local tax collections of 179,661.72 are $1,126 more than pegged in the budget. Miscellaneous revenues are up nearly $3,000 over estimates for the year. The bookstore is $3,273 over its revenue estimates, but its expenses are $2,551 more than anticipated, too.

By funds, disbursements for March and the total so far this year in parentheses follow:

Library $340.82 ($3,527.14); athletic $1,426.46 ($5,800.73); co-curricular activities $1,619.81 ($18,585.23); general and administration $4,555.60 ($33,984.55); instructional $12,380.50 ($77,135.24); plant operations $2,246.31 ($15,585.77); bus operations $238.15 ($1,570.77); refunds $1.90 ($664); $410.36 ($30,116.88); fixed charges none ($534.05).

There were no expenditures from the interest and sinking fund, leaving the year's total at $23,621, and the fund with a $45,432 balance. The general fund has a balance of $89,636, the state and county fund a balance of $23,217. The building fund, with $75,938 disbursed in March, had a balance of $285,457.54.

Higher Lending Rates To Have Slight Effect

Big Spring bankers said that action of the Federal Reserve Board on Thursday hiking the lending rates of 11 out of 12 Federal Reserve banks will have little noticeable immediate effect on local banking institutions.

The bankers here explained that the hike in interest rates posted by the Federal Reserve Board affects loans made by the Federal Reserve bank to member banks.

Since the matter applies only to banks which are borrowing from the Federal Reserve the application here does not apply. The Big Spring banks have not availed themselves of the privilege of loans from the Federal Reserve bank.

However, R. W. Currie, president of the State National Bank, said that any such increase applied by the Federal Reserve inevitably tended to "tighten" money. And indirectly, he added, the impact of such a development would make itself felt all over the nation.

The First National Bank, according to H. H. Hurt, vice president, is in the same position as its sister bank. It has not borrowed from the reserve bank and the increased rate does not affect its operation. The general tightening of money by virtue of the rate increase, he said, is to be expected.

The Federal Reserve made its new rate order operative on Friday. With one exception, the increase in interest rate in the reserve districts was increased from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent.

Lamesa Grocers To Open Short Course

LAMESA — Lamesa grocers and their employees tonight begin a four-session short course at the Chamber of Commerce.

Clyde Bennett, grocer training specialist for the University of Texas extension division, will teach the classes, beginning at 8 p. m. today through Thursday. The course includes classes for both managers and other personnel.

The training is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Education Agency. Registration fee is $2 per person.

Garrett Elected To Foundations Board

LAMESA — Horace Garrett of Big Spring has been elected to the board of directors of Southwest Foundations.

Also new on the board is Mrs. Percy Jones of Abilene. Mrs. Edger Tobin of San Angelo is president of the organization.

Garrett and Mrs. Jones were elected at the agency's eighth annual conference in Corpus Christi last week.

Dear Friends

As a part of their work in Humble's Refining Research Laboratory, Humble scientists bombard petroleum hydrocarbons with electrons in a 2-million volt Van de Graaff Accelerator.

But if you ask one of these scientists what he expects to find, he'll answer, who knows!

For this is fundamental research. Results may be quick or they may be a long time developing. Who knows?

... Perhaps the scientists will find a way to increase the yield of useful products from a barrel of crude oil.

... Perhaps they'll be able to make improvements in the fine products already supplied you.

... Perhaps they'll develop an entirely new group of petroleum products.

Who knows!

This much, however, is certain: Humble research scientists at Baytown use every device of physics, chemistry, mathematics and mechanics to provide you with more and better petroleum products.

Two quick examples: The specifications for Esso Extra gasoline, the formula for Humble Uniflo motor oil. These, without question, are the finest products you can use in your car.

Sincerely
HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

Potential Compromise Candidate

Talk of Sen. (William) Stuart Symington of Missouri as 1956 Democratic presidential nominee may well step up with the public hearings he opens or or about April 16 on our air defenses. He will conduct them as chairman of a Senate Armed Services subcommittee created especially for this investigation.

Witnesses from the Defense Department, also those from the airplane industry, will be running up against a man who is, or should be, able to meet them on their own ground. Mr. Symington was Assistant Secretary of War for air in 1946-47, then served for over two and a half years as the first Secretary of the Air Force, then was chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

Before entering public service "Stu" Symington, now 54, had been an executive or head of various manufacturing enterprises. If he should get the presidential nomination this year, he would be the first Democratic nominee who had been previously a successful businessman.

In 1952 Symington swept the Democratic Senatorial primary in Missouri with almost 369,000 votes to 181,000 for J. E. Taylor, supported by President Truman, and 44,000 for a third candidate, John A. Johnson. In the election he defeated the Republican incumbent, James P. Kem, by over 150,000 votes while the state was giving Gen. Eisenhower a majority of almost 30,000 for President. Sen. Kem had hardly been regarded in Washington as one of the strongest GOP Senators.

Sen. Symington has a better-than-average attendance record in the Senate, missing 38 Yes-and-Nay votes in 1953-55 while the average Senator missed 52. On some votes he has reflected the prevailing sentiments of the business community, on others he has voted as might be expected of a successful manufacturer. For instance, he was against turning the offshore oil deposits over to the states, for increasing unemployment compensation, and against ending federal regulation over gas and oil prices at the source, although he was for selling the government rubber plants.

At times he has been for, at other times against, an increased amount of public housing. All in all, by his voting record he seems to be about as firmly fixed in the middle of the road as President Eisenhower.

Opinions Can Be Ill-Timed

Henry Wallace's sudden departure from the Harry Truman Cabinet was the direct result of public statements made by him that clearly conflicted with the announced policy of the United States government of which he was a member. Wallace thought his way of getting along with the Soviet Union was superior to that of his chief.

William Jennings Bryan, Wilson's secretary of State, was subjected to much criticism because of his absences from Washington on several occasions when his presence there was deemed necessary in view of the gathering storm over Europe. (A la Mr. Dulles?) In 1915 he resigned because he figured he knew better how to deal with Germany than Wilson did.

Atomic Energy Commissioner Murray is not of Cabinet rank, but before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee this week he expressed some opinions regarding nuclear weapons and policies that went counter to the official position of this country in association with Great Britain.

First, he said he didn't believe it was right to use the atom bomb on Hiroshima.

Next he proposed that tests be stopped on "multimegaton" weapons.

This latter goes directly contrary to the policies of the two great Western nations which developed atomic energy. It is in line with the Russian demand that all further tests be stopped, especially those relating to the hydrogen bomb.

These Murray pronouncements come at a time the U.S. and Britain are locked in struggle with Russia at the London disarmament conference.

Undoubtedly Mr. Murray is sincere in his beliefs, but like Bryan and Wallace indiscreet in the timing and setting of his remarks. There were good and sufficient reasons for the bomb on Hiroshima: it forced a quick Japanese surrender and thereby saved untold thousands of American (and Japanese) lives. An unfortunate necessity, but a rational decision. Also, knowledge of the potency of the bomb kept Russia at bay.

All that stands between the West and eventual domination by the Communist world is the power of the bomb, and our margin of capability over Soviet Russia.

Ike Leads Kefauver In 'Trial Heat'

PRINCETON, N. J. — How strong a race would Sen. Estes Kefauver run against President Eisenhower if a presidential election were being held now?

The latest Institute "trial heat" matching these two possible November opponents finds that a majority of the nation's voters today would pick Mr. Eisenhower. But the President's lead is not as great today as it was one year ago.

The latest figures:

"Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If President Eisenhower were the Republican candidate and Sen. Estes Kefauver were the Democratic candidate, which would you like to see win?"

IKE vs. KEFAUVER

	Per cent
Eisenhower	59
Kefauver	38
Undecided	3

Eliminating the undecided vote, the above figures become: Eisenhower 61 per cent, Kefauver 39 per cent.

A similar trial heat between Senator Kefauver and President Eisenhower was conducted in February, 1955. At that time, the vote divided in the following manner:

IKE vs. KEFAUVER

	Per cent
Eisenhower	60
Kefauver	34
Undecided	6

Today's trial heat was conducted at a time when the Tennessee Senator is showing phenomenal gains in popularity among rank-and-file Democrats across the country.

In the most recent check, Kefauver had greatly reduced the gap separating him from the front-running Adlai Stevenson, polling 33 per cent to Stevenson's 39 per cent. In the South, Kefauver is trailing Stevenson today by only two percentage points, 26 per cent to 28 per cent for Stevenson.

Analysis of today's trial heat results indicate that Eisenhower's edge over Kefauver comes largely from the President's greater appeal to Independent voters. However, Eisenhower also continues to chip away at the Democratic vote.

Among persons who classify themselves as Republicans, Eisenhower is favored over Kefauver by a huge margin.

Here are the results by party affiliation:

REPUBLICANS ONLY

	Per cent
Eisenhower	97
Kefauver	2

DEMOCRATS ONLY

	Per cent
Eisenhower	26
Kefauver	70
Undecided	4

INDEPENDENTS ONLY

	Per cent
Eisenhower	66
Kefauver	26
Undecided	8

What about the South?

Present indications are that President Eisenhower also would receive a majority of the Southern vote, in a race against Senator Kefauver as follows:

IKE vs. KEFAUVER

	Per cent
Eisenhower	53
Kefauver	44
Undecided	3

While the President runs ahead of the Senator in all of the sections of the country, he shows his greatest strength in the Eastern seaboard and New England states.

With the exception of Democratic voters, the President receives majority support from every major population group today.

However, Kefauver does considerably better among men voters than among women and draws his biggest following in today's trial heat from farmers and from manual workers.

Eisenhower, on the other hand, is favored by more than seven out of every 10 business and professional people and by more than six out of every 20 white-collar workers.

In conducting today's trial heat, interviewers for the Institute personally questioned an accurate cross-section of the nation's voters in which each major group in the voting population was represented in its proper proportion.

The sampling procedure was the same as that used by the Institute in estimating the outcome of the 1954 Congressional elections within one percentage point of perfect accuracy.

Ike Veto Means Political Trouble

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, after leading a charmed political life for three White House years, steps right into the target area if he vetoes the farm bill.

Eisenhower has been amazingly free of criticism at home and abroad. His aides have been blamed when things went wrong, particularly Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. Even the Democrats have seemed gun-shy of the popular Eisenhower until recently.

Now in this election year Eisenhower is in a spot where his aides cannot serve as lightning rods. He must make the decision on whether to veto the farm bill.

The Democrats have made issuing farm income a campaign issue. The Democrats who run Congress have just passed—with the help of farm state Republicans—a bill they say will help farmers.

It's the kind of bill Eisenhower and Benson have fought against. If he signs it, the President will probably have done much to take the issue out of the campaign or let the Democrats claim they are the farmers' saviors.

If he vetoes it, the Democrats no doubt will use this to fan farmers' discontent, with dire warnings of things to come if the Republicans win the election.

This is the problem:

During World War II the government put high, rigid supports under farm prices by guaranteeing farmers 90 per cent of parity for basic crops. Parity means purchasing power equal to that of other income groups.

Say the government decided a wheat farmer, in order to have purchasing power equal to that of a factory worker, should get $2 a bushel for his wheat. In this case 90 per cent of the $2 parity would be $1.80.

If the farmer found that wheat on the open market, because of an oversupply, was selling at less than $1.80, he could turn it over to the government, getting a loan of $1.80 on his crop.

If the market price on wheat went up beyond $1.80, the farmer could get back his wheat by repaying the loan, plus 3 1/2 per cent interest.

But if the market price of wheat stayed below $1.80, the farmer would let the government keep the wheat while he kept the loan money.

Eisenhower and Benson do not advocate abolishing price supports. They have argued for flexible supports of between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

This is the Eisenhower-Benson position: Rigid, 90 per cent supports encouraged farmers to over-produce, since the government will buy their products if prices go below 90 per cent, and over-production builds a surplus which drives down market prices.

There are surpluses. Farm income has gone down. But Democrats argue lower supports do not discourage production and that, at a time of falling farm income, high, rigid supports would give farmers the relief they need.

Two years ago the administration persuaded Congress to abolish the rigid, 90 per cent program in favor of flexible supports. This year the Democratic-run Congress rammed through a bill to restore 90 per cent supports for this year only.

That's the problem facing Eisenhower now: whether to let this bill become law or veto it. There are other details in the bill which also give it political significance in an election year.

But ambition soon seized him, and he began to listen to and accept as gospel what politicians and organization bosses told him. He dispensed favors to his cronies and made a sorry record in allowing important officials in the Internal Revenue Department, which collects the nation's taxes, to go unpunished for their misdeeds.

Out of this and other errors came the 1952 campaign cry of the "mess in Washington." One of the biggest complaints was about the corruption in the different departments of government where favors were given to special interests — even to the point of quashing prosecutions.

Today Mr. Truman is trying a comeback. He has taken to the stump, assuming that the American people have forgotten why they voted so overwhelmingly against his administration in November 1952. For, while General Eisenhower was popular, he never would have won the election if the people had not been deeply dissatisfied with the incumbent administration. It was a negative verdict — against the party in power. The country knew little about what the Republican policies would be, and cared less.

For three years, the Democrats have had a chance to divert the attention of the public from the mistakes of the past but now Mr. Truman, fortunately for the Republican strategists, is out making speeches stirring up memories of "Trumanism" and all that it connotes. Thus, the former President in his latest speech proudly boasts:

"I know what I am talking about. I had to fire some pretty important people while I was president."

Who were those "important people?" Certainly, Henry Wallace was one of them and the whole truth about that episode wasn't revealed at that time. Mr. Truman claimed he hadn't approved a speech by Mr. Wallace delivered in New York at Madison Square Garden. But Mr. Wallace now testifies that Mr. Truman heard the speech read to him paragraph by paragraph and did approve.

Doesn't Live In Past

NEW YORK — "I don't live in the past — I guard against it," said Thomas Loughran. "I know too many guys who got to living in the past, and ruined their lives by doing it. I never kept a scrapbook."

Loughran, a handsome, middle-aged Wall Street sugar broker, does have quite a past to recall, however, and he prefers the sweet memories.

At the age of 17, Tommy, one of seven children of a Philadelphia motorman, laced on a pair of boxing gloves in earnest.

In the next 18 years he fought—his own estimate—227 bouts and earned "well—more than a million dollars." He fought in three classes, middleweight to heavyweight, won and resigned undefeated the light heavyweight title. He fought 23 men who were, became or had been world champions. The ring records show he was shaded 23 times, but knocked out only twice.

He was for years the incomparable "Philadelphia Adonis," one of the true boxers of history, famous for his left jab.

Tommy began as a pretty good right-handed slugger and had an early string of knockouts.

Then something happened to his right hand.

"They say I broke it, but I really didn't," he recalled. "The covering of the knuckles just got so inflated that when I hit someone I could hardly keep from screaming."

"I went to work building up the muscles in my left. Took a year. I worked until I could hold a 10-ounce dumbbell in my left at arm's length for half an hour—yes, only 10 ounces, but try it sometime—then go on and jab the bag a thousand times."

Tommy, who at 53 keeps his weight to a trim 193 pounds by working out five times a week and eating only two meals a day, looked down at the two shirred eggs on his luncheon plate and said:

"Any fighter could do what I did. But they don't train as they did in the old days. Life has become too comfortable. What has ruined more fighters than anything, might I kill boxing."

Loughran, who was outwiped himself by an amiable Al named Primo Carnera when the Alp held the big title, said:

"That is nonsense. There is no more dishonesty in boxing than there is in any other profession."

Around The Rim

You Can Tell When Spring Arrives

You know it's spring, even though you're told that there is no such thing in West Texas, when you see—

Ice cream sales shoot up.

The convertibles, which must have been in storage all winter, start darting in and out of the traffic, a few distinguished by the young bucks that insist on riding atop the backrest, as if they were the featured performers in a parade.

The housewives flocking around the food store counters featuring picnic items.

The tattle-tell green of the mesquite trees.

Middle-aged men, who never look quite right in a pair of overalls, clipping the hedge.

Women attired in slacks, bent over and nimbly jerking tiny weeds from their lawns.

Lawn furniture again in evidence, possibly needing a paint job and quite possibly getting it.

The upswing in business at the drive-in theaters.

The slump in business at Sunday night church services.

Young fellows seeing more of the country side on bicycles.

The clear sound of a neighbor's radio or television, now that he has to keep his windows up.

The hum of motorists' tires on a distant highway — you've got your window up, too, you know.

Owners of new automobiles cleaning and polishing their vehicles in the city park, with loving care.

The suddenness with which Johnny Johansen's flowers suddenly come to life at the city park.

The increase in the number of boats you see being pulled along the highways.

The change in the advertising techniques in newspapers, where fishing tackle and golf sticks are prominently displayed.

The abundance of hikers, covering the routes they made last year but acting as if they were experiencing the thrill for the first time.

The introduction of talks about vacations into conversations again.

The increased activity around green houses and nurseries again.

The perpetual song of the cricket and the hum of the bee.

The newsreels featuring the antics of the big leaguers in spring training.

Farmers eyeing the skies, discussing the possibility of rain, wondering when they can sink a plow disc into the soil.

Fresh cantaloupes that begin appearing on the grocery store counters.

Increased sale of flower and grass seed.

The urge to "get out of doors" it brings to all people.

That's spring, and I like the manner in which it renews interest in just being alive every year.

Mr. Truman Has Revived Trumanism

WASHINGTON — Eleven years ago last week Harry S. Truman was starting his career in the White House. He was a humble man, awed by the responsibilities of his office. He reached a high degree of popularity because he seemed to be interested in the public welfare rather than in politics.

But ambition soon seized him, and he began to listen to and accept as gospel what politicians and organization bosses told him. He dispensed favors to his cronies and made a sorry record in allowing important officials in the Internal Revenue Department, which collects the nation's taxes, to go unpunished for their misdeeds.

Out of this and other errors came the 1952 campaign cry of the "mess in Washington." One of the biggest complaints was about the corruption in the different departments of government where favors were given to special interests — even to the point of quashing prosecutions.

Today Mr. Truman is trying a comeback. He has taken to the stump, assuming that the American people have forgotten why they voted so overwhelmingly against his administration in November 1952. For, while General Eisenhower was popular, he never would have won the election if the people had not been deeply dissatisfied with the incumbent administration. It was a negative verdict — against the party in power. The country knew little about what the Republican policies would be, and cared less.

For three years, the Democrats have had a chance to divert the attention of the public from the mistakes of the past but now Mr. Truman, fortunately for the Republican strategists, is out making speeches stirring up memories of "Trumanism" and all that it connotes. Thus, the former President in his latest speech proudly boasts:

"I know what I am talking about. I had to fire some pretty important people while I was president."

Who were those "important people?" Certainly, Henry Wallace was one of them and the whole truth about that episode wasn't revealed at that time. Mr. Truman claimed he hadn't approved a speech by Mr. Wallace delivered in New York at Madison Square Garden. But Mr. Wallace now testifies that Mr. Truman heard the speech read to him paragraph by paragraph and did approve.

Another important person "fired" was,

General Douglas MacArthur. There was a man who had served his country brilliantly in World War II and was making a wonderful record in handling the postwar problems in Japan. This was apart from the matters in controversy in Korea. Yet such a distinguished servant of the people was fired without so much as the courtesy of an advance notification. General MacArthur found out about his dismissal from a radio announcement.

Nor was General MacArthur given a hearing. If even a minor federal employe is accused of anything, he has a chance to learn the nature of the charges, so he or his attorney can have an opportunity to answer them. The so-called "liberals" of today make quite a point of this right.

The other day the Supreme Court held that a teacher couldn't be fired summarily just for pleading the Fifth Amendment and had to be given a hearing. If General MacArthur was guilty of insubordination, he was entitled to a court-martial proceeding.

But the fact is that Mr. Truman was defiant of all rules of government as well as courtesy. He believed in one-man government. Early in 1952 he ordered the entire steel industry seized, although there was not a single statute permitting it. The Supreme Court later denounced the action as a violation of the Constitution.

Mr. Truman in boasting in his speech about how he fired "important people" was advising Mr. Eisenhower to fire Secretary of Agriculture Benson. But the difference is that President Eisenhower recognizes sincerity and honesty and doesn't feel that Mr. Benson should be fired for his policies unless they are proved wrong. The White House is a republic, the Benson policies.

More speeches by Mr. Truman will be helpful to the Republicans, because they will awaken memories of what the Truman administration stood for. The President's secretary, James Hagerty, speaking for Mr. Eisenhower, commented: "I don't believe that Mr. Truman by his own standards can recognize accomplishment when he sees it."

There was a time when Mr. Truman was humble, but today he believes in "give 'em hell" speeches. He misjudges the intelligence of the electorate if he thinks such a technique will be effective for the Democrats against Dwight Eisenhower, whose sincerity and honesty have so favorably impressed the American people.

Monaco Spends Freely—To Get An Heir

MONTE CARLO—Tomorrow is Der Tag in Monaco when they pull the bung out of the barrel and the Monegasques start living it up on free wine, free music, free variety shows, free movies and free dancing in the streets in a three-day celebration of the marriage of their sovereign, Prince Rainier III, to Her Grace, the American Beauty Kelly.

Decorum demands that the free wine flow only at certain hours of the day, so the line forms early and at the right.

Thus does the average Monegasque get his cut of the princely-wide (all 370 acres of it) celebration which is anticipated by an official of Monaco, will set back the taxpayers and the Societe des Bains de Mer, which runs the Casino, an estimated $600,000. The two groups probably will whack this check up between them.

The Societe sank the first $100,000 (and maybe more) last night in the eye-popping gala in honor of Prince Rainier and Miss Kelly; for which it transformed the great hall of the International Sporting Club into a 17th century version of Versailles.

Fewer than 300 guests, chosen by His Serene Highness, attended last night's gala, where the fountains fanned with champagne. But a much larger attendance is expected tomorrow when the hydrants start spouting vin ordinaire and the band strikes up for free dancing on the docks along the fabled Mediterranean.

"It will be worth every cent of the $600,000, madam, if only we get an heir out of this and avoid those damnable French taxes," an elderly Monegasque said as I stopped at his souvenir stand to buy picture postcards of the bridal pair.

"As you know, madam, if there is no heir, the French—by an old agreement—gobble us up and we poor Monegasques will have no choice but to follow Pouljadel!"

"If a million dollars will get us an heir, let us spend the money!" said his wife, as she counted out my change. "Anything, anything to outwit the French!"

On Wednesday, the day of the civil ceremony to the throne room of the Palace, a coronation will be witnessed by only 70 to 80 persons, there will be free movies from midnight to noon, with a different picture shown every two hours.

But should a hardy Monegasque manage to sit through the 12-hour performance, he will catch nary a glimpse of his new Princess. From that day forward, Her Grace will be cherished as a Princess and forever banished from Monaco as a movie star.

Henry Astric, who is in charge of all entertainment in this principality of pleasure, including the cinemas, says that he will never again rent or show a motion picture in which Miss Kelly appears.

"I have had no direct orders from the Palace, but I am certain His Serene Highness approves of my decision. I think this decision to show no more of Miss Kelly's pictures is the correct thing to do."

Loyal Monegasques who want to judge their Princess as an actress in the future will be put to the trouble of driving three or four miles away to the cinema in Cap Ferrat, or Menton. Or, maybe the lucky ones will be asked up to the Palace some night for a private screening of Her Serene Highness' last two mo'm pictures, "The Swan" and "High Society."

It stands to reason that Her Grace will not let rest form on that $50,000 movie projector, with sound equipment given to her by her ever-lovin' friends and neighbors in Philadelphia.

Texas Federated Clubs To Meet In Dallas May 7

Mrs. L. E. Dudley, Abilene, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, called the 59th Annual Convention, May 7-10, to be held at the Hotel Baker, Dallas.

Reflecting the convention theme: "Light One Candle," Mrs. Dudley and the eight district presidents will present a program based on the record of achievements of the two and one-half years they have served in office.

Important resolutions already passed by the spring conventions of the Districts, will be acted on, along with resolutions presented by the General Federation of Women's Clubs for their 65th Annual Convention, Kansas City, May 14-19.

Robert H. J. Welch, Jr., Cambridge, Mass., author, lecturer and student of world affairs will address the International Affairs luncheon, May 8th on "What's Happening to America-Abroad." Dr. John G. Young, Dallas, will be at the afternoon session and discuss "The Psychological Problems of the Growing Child."

Amy Freeman Lee, San Antonio artist, member of the American Society for Aesthetics and the International Art Critics Association will tell a story of "Texas Heritage" at the traditional Texas Pioneer Dinner, Wednesday evening.

"The Outstanding New Clubwoman of 1955-56" in the Leadership Development contest will be announced. The three state winners, judged as eligible for competition in the GFWC Community Achievement Contest award in Kansas City will be announced at the Thursday morning session.

A fashion revue directed by Jessie Southworth, fashion coordinator for Sanger Brothers will highlight the Thursday luncheon.

Entertaining features of the convention will be music by the Denton Civic Boy Choir; an Indian Breakfast with everyone in "squad dresses" watching the Eagle Scouts of Dallas performing tribal dances; a reception honoring the president on Tuesday evening by second district; special musical selections and other courtesies by local and visiting clubwomen.

Election of new officers will take place May 10th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Convention will close following the installation service conducted by Miss Gifford for state and district officers. A reception will follow.

bridge, Mass., author, lecturer and student of world affairs will address the International Affairs luncheon, May 8th on "What's Happening to America-Abroad." Dr. John G. Young, Dallas, will be at the afternoon session and discuss "The Psychological Problems of the Growing Child."

Amy Freeman Lee, San Antonio artist, member of the American Society for Aesthetics and the International Art Critics Association will tell a story of "Texas Heritage" at the traditional Texas Pioneer Dinner, Wednesday evening.

"The Outstanding New Clubwoman of 1955-56" in the Leadership Development contest will be announced. The three state winners, judged as eligible for competition in the GFWC Community Achievement Contest award in Kansas City will be announced at the Thursday morning session.

Try Something New

New flowers are always interesting, but no doubt there are hundreds of old-timers which would be new to you. It is fun to try out some of these each year.

Garden Vegetables

Quick-grown, young vegetables are the best, and only the home garden, where they may be harvested as needed, can provide them.

Mrs. Jarratt To Attend Convention

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt left this morning for Dallas, where she will attend the state federation of music clubs. She is completing her second and final term as president of District Nine of the organization.

The convention, which will meet at the Baker Hotel, will begin with an executive board meeting Wednesday morning. Mrs. Jarratt will give the report from her district Thursday. Activities will end Saturday at noon with a luncheon at the Baker.

Fashion Shop Workers

Patients at the Big Spring State Hospital are finding an answer to the clothing problem in many instances due to a "Fashion Shop" project. Materials for the shop, which will dispense clothing to patients in need at the hospital or who need clothing to go home on furlough, have been donated.

While Odessa women gave the initial impetus, the American Association of University Women has performed outstanding service in providing apparel. Above, several members look over a dress being added to stock. In the group are, front row, Mrs. Robert Jerdheim, Mrs. Allen McAshan, Mrs. Bill Sims, Mrs. Corrie Nichols, day supervisor at the hospital, Ina Mae McCollum; rear row, Nell Brown, Helen Hurt (behind Mrs. McAshan), and Mrs. Bill Gage. Below, members of the Woman's Forum, which will operate the shop on a weekday schedule, check over the inventory, mending and cataloging as to size. Left to right they are Mrs. Charles Sweeney, Mrs. Nell Norred, Mrs. C. M. Boles and Mrs. E. P. Driver.

Unusual Cabbage

Savoy cabbage is a fine home garden vegetable. It is not often found in markets though its crinkled leaves have a special flavor.

Colorado City Girl Is Wed In Germany

COLORADO CITY — Iva Helen Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Lee of Colorado City, became the bride of Ulrich Bossenroth in the Army Base Chapel in Kaiserslautern, Germany on March 31.

Bossenroth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bossenroth of Georgetown, Germany.

The double ring ceremony was read by Chaplain Alexander J. Turner music was played by PFC Arthur Evans of Columbia University.

The bride is a graduate of Colorado High School and Texas Christian University. She attended Tulane University and had taught in the U. S. Army School in Germany for two years.

The groom is personnel administration supervisor in a transportation battalion for the Army. The couple will arrive in the United States in June for a visit with the bride's parents, and later will make their home in Fort Worth.

Lamesa P-TA Has Officer Election

LAMESA — The Junior High P-TA met recently in the cafeteria for a business meeting. Mrs. J. D. Harris was elected president; Mrs. Albert Lamb, vice president; Mrs. Aubrey Boswell, secretary; Mrs. Dell Barron, treasurer; Mrs. Margie Maddox, historian.

Mrs. Victor Bearden was elected as a delegate to the Spring Convention which will be held April 19 in Sweetwater. The group also voted to give five unbridged dictionaries to the five language art departments of the school.

Mrs. Aubrey Boswell was program leader. Others taking part were Mrs. W. H. McCulloch, Mr. C. E. Green and Pat Ryan.

Good Back Saver

Junior's cart makes a very good little vehicle for the laundry basket. The colorful lightweight polyethylene plastic baskets are easy to carry or tote in a wagon, and you won't have to bend so far down to the basket.

Mothers' Club Meets

LAMESA — The Mothers' Club of the Vernon W. Bryant Chapter met recently in the home of Mrs. Howard Chapman for a buffet dinner and installation of officers. Mrs. Carl Bowen Cox, installing officer, presided for the service with the theme, "Special Meaning of Names." Mrs. Maurice Lamphere was installed as president; Mrs. C. L. Schmidt, first son, second vice president; Mrs. L. W. West, secretary; Mrs. Howard Chapman, treasurer; Mrs. Bowers Purcell, historian and Mrs. F. Y. Martin, chaplain.

Local Woman Praises New Medicine

Dear Mr. Collins: I read in The Big Spring Daily Herald about a tablet for rheumatism called Citru-Mix, so I decided to try it as I have what the doctors call spinal rheumatism. My back hurts sometimes until I just can't stand it. I have taken most everything for it. I have been to Hot Springs and Mineral Wells, but I only got relief while I was there.

I am glad to tell you that one bottle of Citru-Mix has given me more help and relief than any other thing that I have taken in all my life.

I am on my second bottle now and I am sleeping all night sound and up doing all my housework for a family of six.

I live at 219 West 4th St. and I will recommend it to anybody who has suffered as I have.

Respectfully
Mrs. Ralph Harvey

The above letter was received by Mr. Alfred Collins praising the new medicine Citru-Mix on sale at Collins Brothers Drug Store at Second and Jumels and at The Walgreen Agency located at Third and Main Streets in Big Spring, Texas. (Adv.)

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Remember Jim Tongate, the old-timer who finished 29 years of umpiring in the Longhorn League last summer?

He'll help Johnnie Carrigan run his Big State Boys' Baseball Camp at Meridian from June 10 through the first week in August.

Tongate will serve as one of the camp umpires, as well as teach baseball fundamentals to youngsters.

Youngsters 9 through 19 are eligible to enroll in the clinic.

Carrigan, by the way, expects a record enrollment. Registration is already running 50 per cent ahead of last year.

Johnnie expects to open a similar school in California next year.

Other instructors at Meridian will be Monty Stratton, the former White Sox ace; Johnny Luco, Dave Allen (of Lubbock) and Charles Roper.

Seven boys who attended Carrigan's school are now on big league rosters. Forty others won college scholarships.

Big Spring's Billy Bob Satterwhite, a fine competitor in any sport, ran out of the money in the District 2-AA track meet in Odessa recently but his coach, Harold Bentley, clocked him in 2:15, not bad at all for a sophomore.

The young man holds bright promise of developing into an overall sterling half-mile for the Steers before he's through.

He could take his place alongside such standouts as Leon Lepard and Cleo Russell, which would be something.

Steer Park is slowly falling to ruin.

Though the high school team still plays its games there and several independent teams in the city would like to, nothing is being done about keeping it in good repair.

The other day, a boy leaned against a railing while sitting on the top row of the grandstand. It broke and he fell through to the ground below. Luckily, he wasn't hurt, but he could have been. Rotting timbers in the park caused the mishap.

If something isn't done about maintaining the park, it possibly can't be used in 1957.

Jackie Barron, who played in the Big Spring High School basketball team 1945 and '46, has quit his job as head baseball and assistant football coach at Artesia High School in New Mexico.

Barron is credited with building some fine backfields at Artesia.

Tony DiPrimo, the former Odessa catcher who used to pitch for his base hits when he played against local teams, has been cast adrift by the Corpus Christi Aces of the Big State League.

Rene Vega, who won 23 games for Corpus last year after starting out as if he's win 40, will do his tossing for Monterrey of the Class AA Mexican League this season.

Vega, who used to toil for Abilene, reported for spring workouts nearly three weeks late and it obviously didn't set well with the management.

There are those around here who are willing to bet you that Ballinger never opens the Southwestern League season and still more who will wager that the city won't be in professional baseball after one month.

Marlene Hagge Is Beaumont Winner

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge, whose great putting bagged first money in the Babe Zaharias Open, headed the women golf professionals toward Dallas today for the second tournament on the summer tour.

Mrs. Hagge shot even-par 73 over the Beaumont Country Club course yesterday to wind up with 219 for 54 holes and take $900 first prize in the fourth Zaharias Open, beating out Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga. by three strokes.

Casey Stengel Makes Only One Change In NY Lineup

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Crusty old Casey Stengel pointed a gnarled finger at a reporter today after singing the praises of his New York Yankees and rasped:

"Now maybe you'll wonder how we'll ever lose a game this season."

Quite so, quite so.

The professor seems to have convinced himself (and most experts) that the Yankees will be in their accustomed place in the World Series when the American League chase ends.

"We're starting this season in stronger shape than a year ago," he said before leading his men to Washington for the opener tomorrow. "And that includes our injuries."

"The younger players, particularly the pitchers, have more experience. And our pitcher is stronger with Don Larsen at his best the way he has been recently."

The injuries Stengel referred to are of a minor nature, but they have hit three of his starters.

Catcher Yogi Berra is nursing a swollen right ring finger; out-

Awaits Conference Opener

Three Yank 'Cripples' In Lineup On Tuesday

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, on the eve of the opening of the major league season, were solid picks today to win again but that doesn't mean the other clubs should save time and energy by sitting it out.

The Yankees and Dodgers definitely appear to have the overall strength to repeat but injuries to their key men could scramble the entire pennant picture.

Boston, Cleveland and Chicago in the American League, and Milwaukee, St. Louis, New York and Cincinnati in the National are rated as strong, if not stronger than they were a year ago.

The Yankees, in fact, will have three "cripples" in the lineup tomorrow as they help the Washington Senators inaugurate the home season in Washington.

Mantle still has a swelling of the hamstring muscle he pulled several weeks ago. Elston Howard has a pulled groin muscle and Yogi Berra a swollen finger.

A sellout crowd of 28,758, including President Eisenhower, who will throw out the first ball, is expected to see a pair of right-handers, Don Larsen (9-2) of New York and Camilo Pascual (2-12) of Washington square off on the mound.

Approximately 250,000 spectators probably will witness the eight openers tomorrow. The largest crowd is expected at Detroit where some 45,000 will watch the Tigers inaugurate the season against the Yankees.

Right-hander Frank Lary (14-15) will oppose Alex Kellner (11-8), the Athletics' veteran southpaw. A crowd of 35,000 in Chicago will have their eyes glued on

L'IL LEAGUE MEETING SET

All persons interested in and concerned with the operation of the National Little League have been urged to attend a meeting tonight, which will be held in the Junior High School gymnasium, starting at 7:30 p.m.

A number of rule changes will be discussed during the session.

Ballinger Fooled Lot Of Observers

BALLINGER, Tex. (AP)—A lot of folks didn't think they'd make it but Ballinger will be on the starting line Tuesday night when the new Southwestern League opens its campaign.

Ballinger didn't have enough players to play exhibition games and only last week were enough men in camp to put a lineup on the field.

But Tony York, owner and manager of the club, thinks he'll have a team that can make a respectable showing. He has 14 players on his roster now and expects more help from clubs of higher classification.

Ballinger opens the season against Pampa here Tuesday night with these players available: pitchers, Milton Isenberg, Eddie McKay, Jerry Roney, Bob Leach, Ed Allison, Ralph Mason and Ben Bonine; infielders, Dale Seales, Nick Cappelli, Joe Giel, Al Werneke and York; outfielder Doug Alford, and catcher Kenny Jones.

Everyone agrees on that, too.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, back after a two-year term in the Army, gets the nod for the Redbirds. He will be opposed by Joe Nuxhall (17-12).

Another 25,000 is expected at the Polo Grounds to see the New York Giants take on the Pittsburgh Pirates. Southpaw Johnny Antonelli (14-16), will oppose right hander Bob Friend (14-9).

The St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds, both rated as "dark horses" in the pennant scramble, will oppose each other in Cincinnati before a capacity crowd of some 22,000.

shortstops Chico Carrasquel and Luis Aparicio and center fielders Larry Doby and Jim Busby as the White Sox and Indians come to grips for the first time. Three of these four figured in a trade last winter with Cleveland sending Doby to Chicago for Carrasquel and Busby. Aparicio, a flashy fielding young Venezuelan, will be trying to fill Carrasquel's shoes. Both teams, rated top contenders behind the Yankees, will lead their best on the mound. Right-hander Bob Lemon (18-10) will be the Indians' choice against southpaw Billy Pierce (15-10).

Only 20,000 are expected to see the Red Sox lift the curtain against Baltimore in Boston. The Red Sox are a vastly improved team with the addition of Bob Porterfield and Mickey Vernon and Ted Williams starting from scratch.

Southpaw Bill Wight (6-8) will

TCU Nearing SW Bunting

By The Associated Press
The Southwest Christian baseball race isn't quite half over but Texas Christian might virtually clinch the championship this week.

It depends on what comes from a two-game series at Waco Friday and Saturday between Southern Methodist and Baylor. A split in that brace of battles could give TCU a 2-game lead.

The Horned Frogs top the circuit by a game margin with Southern Methodist second and Baylor third. Texas Christian plays Rice at Fort Worth Friday and Saturday and will be favored to win both games.

Texas A&M, the 1955 champion, is almost out of the race, having taken three licks. The Aggies can't lose any more but they're likely to do it Friday and Saturday when they play Texas at Austin.

Texas and Rice can be counted out as championship contenders. Each has lost five games.

Texas took two whippings from Texas Christian last week, losing the first game 6-2 and the second 8-4. Southern Methodist was staying hot on TCU's heels by walloping Rice twice—3-1 and 9-2. Baylor had its hopes pretty well bruised by dividing a series with Texas A&M. The Bears won the first game 5-1 but lost the second 12-3.

fielder Elston Howard has a slight groin pull and outfielder Mickey Mantle still is playing on a bruised leg.

Right now, Stengel has "only" three regular, full-time, certified starters. They are Larsen, Whitey Ford, and Bob Turley. Even Johnny Kucks, who will pitch the second game in Washington, is not in that category.

"Mauri McDermott and Tommy Byrne must do better before they get into the rotation," Stengel croaked. "Kucks will be spotted against certain clubs. Tom Morgan, Bob Grim and Jim Konstanty have pitched but they will be kept in the bullpen."

Stengel has made only one drastic change since last season when he led the Bombers to their sixth pennant in seven years.

That will place Jerry Lumpe, 22, at shortstop on a permanent basis over ancient Phil Rizzuto, the long-time incumbent.

Would the professor care to comment on his most serious opposition?

"Cleveland and Boston," he snapped.

Everyone agrees on that, too.

Swaps made his Florida debut in the $25,000 Broward Handicap Saturday and set a new world's record for the mile and 70 yards in 1:39.4. The did mark was 1:40, established at River Downs by South Dakota in 1945.

"I really enjoyed that ride," said jockey Willie Shoemaker, who made up most of the 130 pounds Swaps carried. "Swaps ran a real big race."

A reporter asked Willie if he'd like to see Swaps and Nashua meet again.

"Sure, I'd like to take another crack at Nashua with Swaps," he said.

JERRY GRAVES SELECTS RICE

Jerry Graves, star center of the 1955 Big Spring High School football team, has signed a letter of intent to attend Rice Institute.

Graves was to return here today after a conference with Rice officials in Houston.

Colleges throughout the country sought Graves' services, after he had been a near unanimous choice for all-state honors last year. He was also named to at least two All-American squads.

A three-year letterman with the Steers, the 210-pound defensive ace was an all-district selection and a second team all-state choice his junior year.

His ability to back the line for the Steers won him praise throughout the state. In game after game, he led the Big Spring club in tackles and against Lubbock Monterey last fall he was credited with the astonishing total of 37 tackles and tackle assists.

He was one of two Class AA players named to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's "super" all-state team at the conclusion of the 1955 season.

Jerry has been named to play in the Texas Coaches' Association all-star game in Lubbock, which will take place in August.

Rice, was due to greet Graves upon his return here today and wind up details for Jerry's enrollment at the Houston school.

Graves' final choice of schools was believed to lie between SMU and Rice.

Black Winner Of AMA Cup

Joe Black, motorcyclist from Lubbock, won the free-for-all trophy Sunday afternoon to climax scramble races at the Big Spring Motorcycle Club's track south of the Monticello area.

Two other Lubbock riders, Hart and Dempsey, also won trophies. Hart won the lightweight division and Dempsey topped the medium-weight class.

Motorcyclists were entered from Abilene, Lubbock, San Angelo, Odessa and Big Spring. About 300 persons viewed the races and the spectators, Big Spring Optimists, cleared about $90 on the event.

LAREDO (AP)—The annual Texas Women's Public Links Golf Tournament opens today with qualifying rounds. Some 60 golfers, lowest entry list in several years, are registered. The event drew 125 last year.

Joanne Bruni and Russ Meyer, both of Laredo, won a Scotch foursome yesterday with a low gross of 77. Wanda Sowell of San Antonio and Vidal Palacios of Laredo placed second with 79.

There's Talk Of A Third Swaps-Nashua Meeting

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Talk of a third meeting between Swaps and Nashua was revived today after it was learned that Swaps may race in Chicago late this summer and New York in the fall.

Rex Ellsworth, the owner, and Mish Tenney, the trainer, said they'll ship to Kentucky from Gulfstream Park this week and then return to California with Swaps and the others in their string.

"After that, we'll probably go to Washington Park—maybe New York in the fall, but that's all in the future," Ellsworth told a reporter.

Swaps made his Florida debut in the $25,000 Broward Handicap Saturday and set a new world's record for the mile and 70 yards in 1:39.4. The did mark was 1:40, established at River Downs by South Dakota in 1945.

Top Money Is Won By Sammy Snead

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—By his own admission, Sam Snead won a golf tournament he had "no business" winning when he took down the money of $2,200 in the Greensboro Open yesterday.

The 43-year-old White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., veteran and darling of Greensboro Open crowds since he won the first tournament here in 1938, made it two straight here and six all told. But he had to travel two holes of a sudden-death playoff to win from Fred Wampler in the rain.

Snead, after watching Wampler come from nine shots behind with a third-round 64 to move into a one-shot lead over Sam after 54 holes, finished a half-hour ahead of the 27-year-old Indianapolis pro with a one-under-par 70 for 279, five under par.

Wampler picked up $1,500 before heading for Hot Springs, Ark., scene of the next tournament on the PGA tour.

Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., finished third with 281 for $1,170. Back of him were Jim Turnesa, Spring Valley, N.Y., 283 for $860; and Mike Fetick, Mahopac; Frank Stranahan, Toledo, and Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., 284, for $740 each.

Archie Moore continues his "luncheon" fights for his lightweight title defense against Yolande Pompey in London June 5 by boxing 220-pound George Farnmentier of Eureka, Calif., tonight at Seattle.

Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico and Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, two busy little fighters who fought an exciting Feb. 27 bout, provide the TV entertainment tonight in a match at St. Nicholas Arena in New York. Bell won the first fight on a split decision.

DuMont will telecast.

Eddie Machen, highly regarded California heavyweight, bumps up against a rated contender tonight at San Francisco in Nino Valdes, the hulking Cuban, in his most important test.

Houston, one of the hottest boxing centers at the moment, shows Isaac Logart of Havana and El Conscripto of Mexico at the City Auditorium tomorrow night. Logart is a ranking welter and El Conscripto, whose real name is Tommy Lopez, once held the Texas 147-pound title.

Grace, Prince Rehearse For Big Wedding

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Grace Kelly and a nervous Prince Rainier III went through a rehearsal today for their marriage ceremony.

The American film star had a strained look on her beautiful face and Rainier bit his finger nails during the rehearsal of the religious ceremony which will take place Thursday.

Grace's bridesmaids also appeared at the cathedral for the run-through.

The couple have a civil ceremony on Wednesday. Marcel Portanier, Monaco's justice minister who will officiate at that ceremony, said Grace will automatically become a citizen of Monaco.

"What repercussions this may have in the country she comes from, I do not know," he told newsmen. "But when I marry Miss Kelly and Prince Rainier, she'll be a Monacan."

Told that the Prince's American chaplain, the Rev. Francis Tucker, predicted that Grace's marriage will "last forever," Portanier said:

"As the man who'll marry them first, I hope the marriage will last forever too."

Father Tucker raised the question of divorce from his pulpit in St. Charles church yesterday appealing to all people to "end this nightmare of disbelief."

In contrast to the boogie that Grace and the Prince received last night from thwarted photographers trying to take their pictures under difficulties, the pair were applauded by a crowd of tourists, Monacans and newspapermen as they walked down the center aisle at the end of the rehearsal.

Another round of applause greeted them as they stepped into a waiting limousine in a pouring rain.

Grace wore a tight fitting white hat, beige suit, and white gloves. Dark glasses hid her eyes.

Just as Grace started to walk up to the altar during the rehearsal, her mother Mrs. John B. Kelly, grabbed her.

"Here I'll take your part. Your father says it's bad luck for a bride to make the march to the altar in rehearsal."

Rainier, most of the time, stood at his place near the altar, occasionally smiling, but constantly shifting from one foot to another, and biting his nails.

Last night the community gave one of those once-in-a-century parties, to welcome the blonde from Philadelphia.

The $140,000 price tag for the gala dinner at the sumptuous Sporting Club across the street from Monte Carlo's famed gambling casino was the preliminary estimate of one of the organizers. It will take weeks before the actual cost can be totaled.

It was much more than a dinner of caviar, duckling, lobsters and champagne for some 400 guests. It included a ballet, vaudeville show, fireworks display and the brightest social spectacle the Riviera has put on in many seasons.

Grace, holding hands with her prince on the balcony behind a barricade of banked flowers, seemed enthralled by it all.

There was as much excitement outside the club as inside. Out in the rain dozens of photographers trying to get close to Grace and Rainier had a sprightly pushing match with police.

The scene, with slight variations, was enacted twice—on the couple's arrival and when they departed at 1:30 a.m.

Grace heard some boogie from the damp photographers and the Prince appeared displeased.

But Monacans said the demonstration was not by the home citizenry and did not reflect on their hospitality.

The Prince, wearing white tie and tails, his chest bright with medals, had recovered his smile when he joined the scene within.

The Sporting Club, which has little to do with sports, is the community's social center.

Its rather somber smoking room of dark paneling was completely refurbished in Grace's honor. The high ceiling had been converted into a blue sky in which hundreds of tiny stars gleamed. Lights glittered from 25 chandeliers and from candelabra held aloft by 14 red-coated plaster statues which lined the walls.

Grace and Rainier sat on a balcony at one end of the room. As the evening wore on, her blonde head inclined towards Rainier and by the time the entertainment started they were holding hands.

Grace's parents and the Prince's mother and father also had places at the head table.

Earlier in the day Rev. Tucker lashed out from the pulpit at gossipers with a declaration that the marriage "is going to last."

The priest from Wilmington, Del., startled a congregation in St. Charles Church with an admonition to look out for their own marriages.

Bulgarian 'Red Wolf' Rose By Executing Orders, Opponents

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Tough Vukko Chervenkov—the Red Wolf of Bulgaria—got to the top by faithfully executing Stalin's orders and Stalin's opponents.

His career took him from underground work in Bulgaria to Moscow for nearly 20 years and then back to Bulgaria in the wake of the Soviet army. There he rose to be a little Stalin, after death and execution removed his leading competitors.

Chervenkov — his first name means Wolf—achieved fame by organizing the bombing in 1925 of Resurrection Cathedral in Sofia—killing 180 people. The bomb was intended for Tsar Boris but Boris wasn't there. Chervenkov had to leave for Moscow.

Chervenkov also played the leading role in the liquidation of Bulgarian Communist leader Traicho Kostov in 1949 as a "Titoist." While Chervenkov sat out in Moscow the years of severe repression from 1925 to 1944, Kostov had led the Bulgarian underground inside the country.

Chervenkov could almost serve as the prototype of a Moscow-bred foreign Communist leader accustomed to carry out without question the orders and caprices of the Kremlin.

He was born 55 years ago in a middle class Bulgarian family. His father was an army captain. He became involved in Communist activity when he was in high school and joined the party before he was 20. In 1923 he became secretary of the Bulgarian Young Communist League.

After his unsuccessful attempt to kill Tsar Boris, Chervenkov went to military school in Mos-

Bulgar Stalin Friend Quits

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Vukko Chervenkov, Premier of Communist Bulgaria, submitted his resignation to Parliament today, according to a telephone message from Sofia.

The resignation came as no surprise to political observers here. The Premier — known as Bulgaria's "Little Stalin" — has been under fire by the Communist party for his strong one-man rule of the Balkan country.

Chervenkov, whose first name means wolf, has been attacked by Communist party for practicing a Stalin-like one-man rule in the Soviet satellite.

The Bulgarian Communist party on Saturday "rehabilitated" Traicho Kostov, former deputy premier and party secretary who was executed in 1949 for alleged treason and Titoism.

The campaign against him was led by Chervenkov, a Moscow-trained Communist who became premier in 1950.

Perhaps significantly, it was the Belgrade radio which made the disclosure of Chervenkov's "request to be released of his duties" as premier.

Chervenkov led the anti-Tito campaign in the Soviet satellites under Stalin. But since the recent denunciation of Stalin by the new Kremlin leaders, Titoism is no longer a crime.

Lady Bullfighter Given Applause

MORELIA, Mexico (AP) — Bette Ford, the American girl bullfighter, walked around the "monumental ring" to heavy applause in recognition of her good work in killing her second bull yesterday.

She received no special credit in killing her first bull. The only thing she did well was the actual thrust of the sword which made the kill.

cow. He graduated subsequently from the Marx-Engels-Lenin Institute in the Soviet capital, worked on its staff, and in 1937 became one of its directors.

He was an intimate of the Bulgarian Communist leader in exile, Georgi Dimitrov, who gained his fame by his successful self defense at the Reichstag fire trial in Hitler's Germany. Dimitrov became chief of the Comintern Chervenkov married Dimitrov's sister. From 1931 to 1941 he worked in the party educational section of the executive committee of the Comintern. During the war, he directed the Bulgarian radio station in Moscow.

When he returned to Bulgaria in 1944 he was made a member of the Bulgarian Communist party Politburo. In 1945 he became head of the agitation and propaganda department of the party. In 1949 after Dimitrov, then premier, died, Chervenkov became a deputy premier.

After Kostov was liquidated, Chervenkov was one of the two top men in the country. When the other, Premier Vasily Kolarov, died in early 1950, Chervenkov became both premier and secretary general of the Bulgarian Communist party.

Chervenkov remained in power after Stalin's death. It was not till early 1954 that he lost one of his two jobs—the post as secretary general of the Communist party. He remained premier.

There have been many signs that Chervenkov is in trouble. The Bulgarian Communist Party Central Committee recently charged he was practicing "the personality cult"—Stalinism.

As a matter of fact, Chervenkov tried to be more Stalinist than Stalin himself. He ruled with an iron hand and aroused the hate of many Bulgarians by his subservience to Moscow.

Asthma and Hay Fever Relief Comes in Minutes ... and Lasts For Hours

Tiny Tablet Now Available Without Prescription!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — Medical science has developed a new, tiny tablet that not only stops asthma spasms ... but brings relief to those who also suffer from hay fever attacks.

Authoritative tests have proved that this remarkable compound brings blessed relief in mere minutes—and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful spasms.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed by doctors for their private patients who suffer from both asthma and hay fever. And now sufferers can obtain this formula—without prescription—in tiny, easy-to-take tablets called Primatene.

New Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves taut nervous tension, helps dry up nasal passages.

All this without taking painful injections, and without the inconvenience of nebulizers.

The secret of Primatene is that it contains medicines found most effective in combination for those who suffer from asthma and hay fever distress.

Primatene is available at all drug stores. The price is only 98¢ for a bottle of twenty-four tablets. And remember—if not entirely satisfied, your money will be refunded promptly.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from anxiety by day. Get Primatene today!

The tiny, red-brick church where Harry and Bess Truman were married 27 years ago, where the family worshipped and Margaret sang in the choir, has been spruced up for the ceremony April 21. But there won't be time to do a complete cosmetic job on the filling station adjoining. "I was hoping we could get those curbs painted," station manager Ralph Sheridan said ruefully. He called for food and water for the first time since he was placed in an iron lung at Darwin Hospital five days ago. But Charlie almost choked when he tried to drink. "Doctors think the youth's belief that nothing can save his life subconsciously prevented him from swallowing. A tribal elder and a group of aborigine women were believed to have sung Charlie's death song at Yirrkalla Methodist mission in northeast Arnhem Land nearly two weeks ago. They were said to have acted on instructions from Wulumu's mother-in-law. Her motives were not clear. The women hid Charlie's spear and woomera (throwing stick) in a hollow log just before the singing ceremony. When Charlie found the missing weapons in the log he began to feel ill. He was flown to Darwin Hospital Tuesday and the following day had to be placed in an iron lung. Hospital authorities said Charlie was a little better today, but he is still on the critical list. He is able to breathe without the iron lung for periods up to 15 minutes. Although the youth has some polio symptoms, spinal tests showed nothing.

Student Wins Award In Language Study

Carl Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Preston of Big Spring, is among those honored at the Texas Tech annual foreign language awards banquet. He was one of five who received French embassy book awards for outstanding records in second year French. Kay Waters, Lamesa, was also one of the second year award winners.

Rabbit Hunters Wind Up Another Glasscock Drive

Rabbit hunters put away their shootin' irons today after another campaign in northern Glasscock County. However, they will have them out again this weekend when farmers and ranchers in the St. Lawrence community, south of Garden City, play host to another drive. Sunday afternoon, several hundred hunters scoured the south end of the Houston, Tom, and Cross ranches. Estimates were that they bagged around 2,000 jackrabbits. Approximately the same number

French-Type Jets Seen At Israel Independence Fete

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Twelve French-type Ouragan jet planes spearheaded an air parade of Israel's military strength at Independence Day celebrations in Haifa today. Highly placed Israeli military sources revealed yesterday that a newer jet plane, the French Mystere, would make its appearance but no Mysteres were on display and there was no official confirmation of the report that 12 of these planes actually had been delivered to Israel. The Mysteres, the military sources indicated yesterday, would somewhat balance Egypt's acquisition of Soviet MIG15 jets from Czechoslovakia. The Ouragans, never displayed

Round Up Club Meeting Called

George Zachariah, membership chairman for the Chamber of Commerce, has called a meeting of the Round Up Club for 10 a.m. Tuesday. Membership in the club, which expects to conduct a year-round campaign for Chamber of Commerce members, is still open. Zachariah said, however, Round Up memberships will not be available after reorganization of the club is completed. Reorganization of the Round Up group was started at a meeting last Tuesday. Rad Ware and Cecil Bowles were named foremen for the club's two divisions. Invitations have been sent to potential members, calling attention to the Tuesday meeting. Zachariah said coffee and donuts will be served.

Urge Sharing U.S. Wealth

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The third National Study Conference on the Church and Economic Life has called on the United States to share its wealth with needy people all over the world. The conference, sponsored by the National Council of Churches, ended yesterday after a four-day study of the relationship of Christianity to the economy. Some 400 clergymen and leaders in government, industry, labor, agriculture and education participated. In its concluding messages, the conference declared: "As we look beyond the borders of our own country we find a world where millions of people are hungry or ill-fed. No people can call itself Christian, if, possessed of the means to abundance, it fails to exert every effort within its power to relieve want wherever it exists." The conference said gifts of food and clothing are not enough. "A far more reaching Christian act, which will build for better Christian relationships, is assistance to people to help themselves, the sharing not only of things but of knowledge, techniques, methods and the creative spirit." The conference said "To this end Christians should support substantial participation by the United States in a large-range program of cooperation with other nations in the development of the less economically developed countries of the world."

publicly in Israel before, along with British-made Meteor jets, took part in the aviation section of a two-hour military parade reviewed by President Izhak Ben-Gurion, Premier David Ben-Gurion, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, army chief of staff, and thousands of spectators. The show marks Israel's eighth anniversary as an independent Jewish state born in the fires of war with four Arab neighbors—Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon. It comes on the eve of Dag Hammarskjold's arrival on a U.N. mission to stamp out the new flames of conflict between Arab and Israel. The border area was comparatively quiet but uneasy in the wake of the U.N. secretary general's first week of on-the-scene persuasion.

assumed by powers that are supplying aggressive arms to the Egyptian dictator (Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser) and also by those that deny defensive arms to Israel," Ben-Gurion charged. His statement was an obvious slap both at the Soviet bloc for selling arms to Egypt and the United States for denying arms to Israel.

"The conscience of the great powers failed when the Nazi dictator set out to slaughter six million of the Jews of Europe," "Will that conscience fall again now that the Egyptian dictator and his allies are planning to do the same thing to Israel in its own land?" President Izhak Ben-Gurion urged Israel's youth to prepare for "defense against any attack by the enemy who threatens to destroy us."

The military source who disclosed the arrival of the Mystere jets estimated that the Arab states could field 280,000 troops against Israel's army of 200,000.

In Cairo, Premier Nasser declared that Egypt is surrounded by "enemies who try to degrade our honor."

"We are united in one line and our policy is aimed at achieving our own welfare," he told newly graduated army officers. "Egypt now looks to its armed forces as the main power which will defend her."

Egypt and Israel have agreed unconditionally to stop shooting except in self-defense. Hammarskjold left Cairo Saturday after initial talks with Nasser. He said he had accomplished what he set out to do there.

Hammarskjold talked nearly two hours in Beirut today with Lebanese Premier Abdullah al Yafi and Foreign Minister Salim Lahoud. A Lebanese spokesman said Hammarskjold was told Lebanon was "ready to accept all proposals to reduce tension in the Middle East."

The only qualification to Lebanon's stand, the spokesman said, was that the proposals would not "prejudice a final just settlement of the Palestine question and must not violate the sovereignty of any Arab state."

This was in line with the views of other Arab states — that the easing of tension must be within the framework of the armistice agreements and not reach the broader political questions of a permanent peace settlement.

Lebanon has been involved in but few border clashes with Israel.

Laughton Tickets Go On Sale Today

Tickets for the Charles Laughton program here May 2 went on sale today at the Chamber of Commerce.

Reservations were available this morning in all sections of the auditorium, with seats ranging from $3.50 down front to $1.50 in the back section of the balcony. Mrs. Charles Tompkins is handling ticket sales for the Rotary Club, sponsor of Laughton's appearance. She will be at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Periman Building daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee. "The U. S. Pat. Off."

Uncle Ray:
Queer Pictures Were Made For Old Books

By RAMON COFFMAN
Hand-written Bibles existed in England during the Anglo-Saxon period. Some of these contained quaint pictures, and perhaps none of these was more amusing than one which showed "the wives of Jacob riding into Canaan."

Two queer-looking camels were drawn, and on the back of each animal we see three women. One woman holds a child, providing an extra burden for the poor camel. The Anglo-Saxon artist who made that picture must never have seen a camel. Probably he knew nothing about the clothing of the ancient Jews. The women in his picture were shown with dresses like those of Anglo-Saxon women who lived 1,000 years ago.

Another picture of that period shows women working on a hand loom. Two of them hold bulky scissors or shears, which look very much like garden shears which are used today.

Most Anglo-Saxon women in the old pictures have hoods over their heads, but girls and some young women are shown bareheaded. Often the artist made their hair look blue!

Because of the color, it has been suggested that they dyed their hair blue. More likely, however, the artists were without black coloring material and employed dark blue as a substitute.

When an Anglo-Saxon girl was born, she was likely to be given such a name as Eadburga, Brunehild, Elgiva or Eadgyth. Eadgyth (which later turned into Edith) had the original meaning of Happy Gift. Elgiva arose from Old English words meaning Elf Gift, and Eadburga was Happy Stronghold.

Anglo-Saxon women became known for their embroidery and other needlework. Girls became skillful with the needle while still in their teens.

For HISTORY section of your scrapbook.

An illustrated leaflet telling about the everyday life of the ancient Romans will be mailed without charge to any reader who encloses a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your letter to Uncle Ray in care of this newspaper. Ask for ROMANS AND THE CHILDREN ROMANS.

Predict Negroes To Leave Demos

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Gloster B. Current, director of branches for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, yesterday said there are indications that Negroes will desert the Democratic party this year in large numbers.

He made the prediction in a speech to about 300 members of the Nashville NAACP opening their 1956 membership campaign.

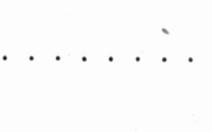

Gets NAACP Post

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herman Sweat, first Negro to enroll at the University of Texas, was named executive secretary of the Cleveland branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. Sweat, 42, has been working in the Urban League of Cleveland.

156 Cities To Send Soap Box Derby Champs To Akron

The Big Spring representative who wins the Soap Box Derby here on July 4th, will compete against 155 other boys from far-flung parts of the globe, at the 19th All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, Aug. 12.

A total of 156 local champions, including for the first time an entry from Ireland, will race for $15,000 in college scholarships, valuable prizes and world fame.

This list of officially sanctioned races, announced with the close of entries by W. G. Power, the Derby's executive director and Chevrolet advertising manager, included 21 that are new this year.

It seems likely that some 60 boys will race in the Big Spring affair, with entries from this city, Colorado City and Coahoma. Boys who have signed to race are now drawing their official wheels, so that they can start on construction of their coasters.

Ireland's champion will come to the United States under the auspices of General Motors Overseas Operations, Power said. The champion will be selected in a race at Dublin pitting contestants from the Free State's 26 counties. In addition, there will be representatives from Canada, Alaska and Western Germany.

Other new Derby locations signed for 1956 are: McKeesport, Ind.; Uniontown and Warren, all of Pennsylvania; Fulton, N. Y.; Houghton, Mich.; Portland and Grants Pass, both of Oregon; Lancaster and Norwalk, both of Ohio; Malden, Mass.; Sarasota, Fla.; Sioux Falls, S. D.; Topeka, Kan.; Lawrenceburg, Ind.; Minot, N. D.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; St. Paul, Minn.; Spokane, Wash.; and Stockton, Calif.

Canada is represented again this year by the joint entry from Mission City and Vancouver and another from St. Catharines. The Alaskan champ will come from Fairbanks. Western Germany will select its champ in the final race matching boys from all over the sector.

The amateur coasting car building and racing event for boys 11 through 15 is co-sponsored by Chevrolet, Chevrolet dealers and leading newspapers, civic service organizations, radio and television stations. Five scholarship awards top the list of prizes to be awarded by Chevrolet. Valuable merchandise awards and trophies are also offered for winning race drivers and best car designers. Scholarship awards are first place, $5,000; second, $4,000; third, $3,000; fourth, $2,000; and fifth, $1,000.

Cool Front Leaves Texas Skies Clear

By The Associated Press
Texas skies were clear Monday in the wake of a cool front that moved into Louisiana.

Cooler temperatures are forecast for East and South Central Texas Monday and Tuesday. Mild and cool nights are predicted for North Central and West Texas.

Shortly before dawn Monday temperatures were in the 60s along the Texas Gulf coast and in the middle to high 40s in the remainder of the state. The highest Sunday was 91 degrees at Laredo and Corpus Christi.

4 Couples Note Anniversary

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The four Wopschall brothers and the four Thee sisters, who met in Mason City, Iowa, courted and married, were all together for a golden wedding anniversary yesterday.

The anniversary was that of Carl Wopschall, a former mayor of Pasadena, and Clara Thee Wopschall. She told about the four-way romance during an anniversary reception at St. James Methodist Church, where they were greeted by the minister who married them, the Rev. F. G. H. Stevens.

"We met in a church in Mason City," she said. "And we all began courting Emiel and Anna went to California."

"My sister Martha and I came out here a few weeks later. The brothers were already here and every time I went to see Anna, I kept meeting Carl. Things just worked out."

Then Martha became engaged to Otto and Emanuel and Hulda were married next.

Emiel and Anna will observe their 55th anniversary in November. Otto and Martha will have their 50th anniversary June 2, a day before Emanuel and Hulda celebrate their 48th. They all live in this area.
