Reviewing The Big Spring Week

Announcement of the impending merger of Cosden Petroleum Corporation with W. R. Grace & Company overshadowed all other developments here last week. It was bigger even than rain.

Merging Cosden with Grace was almost like merging Big Spring, so much a part of the community has Cosden become. In this connection R. L. Tollett, Cosden president, said he was anxious for Big Spring to know more about Grace & Co. and to have J. P. Grace Jr., its president, to visit here and get to know the city and area.

Our vicinity received from three-quarters to an inch of moisture last week, settling dust and generally brightening the landscape. Moreover the wind came from the

Local Firm Planned As Separate Division

An agreement for the merger of Cosden Petroleum Corporation and W. R. Grace & Co., in consideration of approximately $55 million, was announced here Saturday evening by R. L. Tollett, Cosden president.

Cosden is due to operate as a division or wholly-owned subsidiary of Grace & Co., probably as its oil and gas division. Headquarters will continue in Big Spring under the present management. No changes in staff are contemplated immediately. All plans for expansion now under way will continue on schedule. Indeed, said Tollett, expanded resources could open the way to further development.

W. R. Grace & Company, headed by J. Peter Grace of New York, is a century-old firm with an international scope on its varied operations that include banking, insurance, brokerage, shipping, air transport, chemicals, textiles, cement and paper manufacture, mining and many others. Last year sales and operation revenues amounted to $427 million. Cosden's revenues for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1955, were in excess of $50 million. Grace total assets were listed at nearly $415 million at the close of the past year, and Cosden's assets approximated $28 million.

Grace Co. Operates In Numerous Fields

A name familiar to a few people in this area only in the stock exchange listings and perhaps on ocean liners will henceforth be familiar in Big Spring. It is W. R. Grace & Company of New York. This is the concern with which Cosden Petroleum Corporation is merging.

Station Operator Robbed, Kidnaped

atives and other employees of Cosden will have expanded opportunities for advancement and personal improvement. Principal offices of Grace & Company are at 7 Hanover Square, New York City. In addition to its multiple activities within United States, it has many properties in South America embracing mines, plants, textile mills, etc. Within recent years Grace has entered the chemical industry by organizing Thurston Chemical, Dewey and Almy, and Davidson Chemical Companies. Cosden also has been increasingly active in the petroleum field. Currently under construction is a $3 million styrene facility at Cosden plant. The proposal for a merger has been under consideration since January, Tollett revealed. In the interim, as in the past, Cosden has had other proposals to merge and had itself pursued the possibility of acquiring some other companies. "Cosden is not being sold," emphasized Tollett. "Rather it is becoming part of a tremendously versatile and robust company. The stockholders of Cosden are acquiring one-fifth interest in a vigorous enterprise launched more than 100 years ago and which today has very good prospects for future growth and expansion. Tollett and Thomas I. Sheridan, senior member of the Cosden board of directors, are due to become members of the board of W. R. Grace & Company when the merger is approved. "I want to assure our people that Grace will be good to Big Spring," said Tollett. "It is a wide-awake, aggressive company." Cosden, after ups and downs during its first decade of existence, has experienced a meteoric development, particularly within the past decade. For instance, $100 invested in Cosden as late as 1943 would today be worth $8,000. Tollett has headed Cosden since June 10, 1940 and one of his first acts as president was to move general offices from Fort Worth to Big Spring where the refining plant had operated since establishment of the original company in 1928. Instead of a plant which reflected a stockholder's equity of only 62 1/2 cents per share in 1940, Cosden today has a shareholder equity of $17 per share. The manufacturing plant has been thoroughly modernized and broadened to include not only asphalt, oil, and gasoline products, as-gas, benzene, toluene, xylene and other chemicals as well. It has vastly increased its production and exploration, and has multiplied its pipeline facilities. At the present time, Cosden is the only independent oil company in the country whose principal business is refining. Airways, Inc., under the name of Panagra. Back of the rapidly expanding concern is a vigorous young executive who has not yet turned his 43rd birthday. His activities have led observers to note a striking similarity between his company and the Ford Motor empire since Henry Ford II took over. J. Peter Grace went out and hired the best executives he could find and began to attract young men of high potential. When he was graduated from Yale in 1936, Grace entered his family's business as a clerk. In 1940 he became assistant secretary and by 1946 he had risen to the top. He is a director on numerous companies including Grace & Co., C. A. Hanover Square Corp., Grace Staff Corp., Water Street Corp., Grace Properties, Inc., Grace Line, Inc., Griswold & Co., Llangollen Corp., Naco Fertilizer Co., Panama Agencies, Grace, Grace y Cia (Colombia) (Bolivia) (Ecuador), Grace Bros. Ltd., National City Bank, Ingersoll & Rand, New York Assurance Co., Stone & Webster, Davison Chemical Co., Atlantic Mutual Insurance, Centennial Insurance, Emigrant Ind. Savings Bank and others. He is an officer in many welfare and philanthropic agencies. In addition, he has been in numerous professional organizations, holds the high rank of Knight of Malta, has been active in support of Catholic organizations, and Boys Clubs of America. He is married and he and Mrs. Grace have five children: Joseph Peter II, William Russell, Michael Stephen, Margaret Mary, and Mary Janet.

Panel Offers A Change In U. N. Veto

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee recommended today that the big power veto in the United Nations Security Council be removed on all questions involving the peaceful settlement of disputes and the admission of new members.

Otherwise, the subcommittee said it believed "the veto power should be retained unimpaired."

While advocating abolition of the power to veto membership in the United Nations, the subcommittee made clear it strongly objects to a seat for Red China.

The special subcommittee, composed of an equal number of Democrats and Republicans, was directed by the Senate in July 1953 to make a thorough study of proposed changes in the U. N. Charter, partly to prepare the Senate in case a charter review conference should be held.

No such conference has been called yet, although the U. N. General Assembly has created a committee to look into the question. Any amendments to the charter would have to be submitted to the Senate for ratification.

The subcommittee, first headed by Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) and now by Sen. George (D-Ga.), said in its final report it is convinced that U. S. membership in the U. N. "is still in the national interest."

It opposed suggestions that Russia and her satellites be expelled.

If the U. N. were reorganized without the Soviet bloc, the report said, "it might be expected that the issues between the free world and the Communist world might then be even less susceptible of negotiation than is now the case."

In recommending elimination of the veto power on questions of membership, the subcommittee said it believed the qualifications

Barkley, Rayburn Hit GOP At Fund-Raising Banquet

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Democrats rallying under financial difficulties around the memory of Woodrow Wilson heard Sen. Alben W. Barkley accuse the GOP tonight of "nearly a century of intellectual and political sterility."

The former vice president went after the Republicans on both foreign and domestic policy at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in the National Guard Armory honoring Wilson on the 100th anniversary year of his birth.

Seeking to convert the Republican "peace and prosperity" slogan into a club against the opposition, Barkley declared the GOP laid the foundation for the last world war and Democrats the foundation for "whatever prosperity we are now enjoying."

This was a subdued sort of affair for the Democrats, this dinner at which Barkley and House Speaker Sam Rayburn were the principal orators. With the party not far from the financial rocks, the Democrats were able to sell only

Truck Driver Dies In Road Collision

VICTORIA, April 21 (AP)—Ray Stevens, 25, of Corpus Christi, a gasoline transport truck driver, was killed today when his truck collided with a car on a bridge on Highway 35 about 40 miles southeast of here. The driver of the car, Gordon Payne, was taken to Port Lavaca. His injuries were not believed serious.

Shivers To Visit Panhandle Cities

AUSTIN, April 21 (AP)—Gov. Shivers will follow a campaign-type schedule this week as he tours the state to rally support in his fight with Sen. Lyndon Johnson for leadership of the Texas delegation to the Democratic national convention.

Shivers is to attend meetings in Waco Tuesday night, Amarillo at noon Wednesday and Lubbock that night, and Dallas Friday night.

He will interrupt his campaign Thursday afternoon to speak at the Kerrville centennial celebration.

Details Available On Cotton Classing

H. J. Matejowsky, in charge of the Abilene office of the Agricultural Marketing Service for cotton classing, has announced that Howard County cotton farmers can now get all details on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's 1956 Smith-Doxey program.

"Farmers," said Matejowsky, "are to follow the same procedures as in past years in signing up for this program."

Under the Smith-Doxey program, farmers can get their cotton classed without cost. They also receive by mail a weekly cotton market news bulletin prepared especially for their locality.

Certain steps, Matejowsky pointed out, should be taken by cotton farmers to be eligible for the services provided by the Smith-Doxey program.

These are: organize a group to improve the quality of the cotton; adopt a variety of cotton that grows well on local soil; file an application with the AMS before Aug. 1, 1956; arrange for sampling and meet certain other requirements for membership in the group.

All details are now available at the office of the AMS, 1407 South First Street, Abilene, Matejowsky said. However, county agents, state and county ASCS offices will also have the required information, he added.

Senator From Arizona Visits

Proposed soil bank bill now being studied by Congress since the veto of the farm bill will probably be passed, according to Senator Barry M. Goldwater, junior United States Senator from Arizona.

Sen. Goldwater was in Big Spring briefly on Friday afternoon. He was flying to Phoenix, his home town, to speak Friday night at a dedication of Luke Air Force Field as a permanent Air Force base.

The senator, who was piloting a T-33 from Luke field, is a colonel in the Air Force Reserve. He was an aviator during World War II.

"I always get in a little flying time," he said, "anytime I am asked to visit some Air Force base. I do my best, as time permits, to keep up with my flying."

The senator, serving his first term in the United States Senate, is active in behalf of the U. S. Air Force Reserve. He is in frequent demand as speaker at base dedications and similar exercises because of his enthusiasm for air-planes and flying.

He left Washington at 12:55 p. m. (CST) and landed at Webb AFB at 3:45 p. m. After fueling he took off for Phoenix planning to land there at 5 p. m.

"There's not a great deal going on at Washington right now," he said. "The Farm Bill issue has settled down and things were tranquil on Capitol Hill."

He believes that Congress will be able to wind up its work this year by scheduled adjournment time.

Two Killed, Five Injured In Crash

JACKSBORO, April 21 (AP)—Two persons were killed and five were injured today in a two-car crash four miles east of here on State Highway 24.

Killed was Alice Boaz, 51, of Bridgeport, the only occupant of one car, and Judy Boyington, 11, of Sherman.

The injured apparently were members of the family of the child who was killed. Those injured were Mary Boyington, 40, driver of the second car, Charles Boyington, 48, and three Boyington children, Larry, 13; Kela Sue, 15, and Leslie, 8.

Johnson's Candidacy Gets Plug From Virginia Solons

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Virginia's Democratic senators today plugged Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, as a man "of presidential stature." They said he is likely to draw support from all areas of the nation for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Water System Contracts To Be Awarded Tuesday

City commissioners will be awarding contracts for the million gallon water reservoir and additions to the filter plant at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

In addition, they will set dates for accepting bids on two swimming pools and the Northside fire station.

The commission will open bids on the reservoir construction and filter plant renovation and tabulate the figures Tuesday afternoon, and then award the contracts at the regular 5:15 p.m. meeting time.

Bids on the projects were asked at the group's meeting March 27. Specifications on the reservoir call for alternate bids on concrete and steel, and all concrete construction.

Construction will be on a 1.53 acre tract in the southern part of the city. The land was bought from the Edwards estate after condemnation proceedings. The condemnation board awarded the estate $12,500 for the property, but the city has appealed the verdict.

The remodeling of the present filter plant will about double its treating capacity.

Puckett and French, architects, reported they would have plans and specifications ready by Tuesday for the Northside fire station. And the commission plans to approve the diagrams and set a date for letting the contracts.

Work on the fire station plans were bypassed to finish the police station plans early in April. A date for letting contracts for two swimming pools also will be set Tuesday night. City Engineer Clifton Bellamy has drawn the plans for the pools—one of which will be built in the Negro Park and the other in the block with the Northside fire station.

Originally, commissioners had given the planning job to a Midland swimming pool architect, but his diagrams were not satisfactory and Bellamy was commissioned to work up specifications. All the construction projects are being financed by the bonds voted by the city Aug. 10, 1955.

Also on the agenda for Tuesday night will be conferences with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The telephone company is asking the city for permission to increase rates.

Once previously, the city commission turned down a like plea. That rejection was Aug. 24, 1955.

Industry Sees Boom Going On

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Experts from government and private industry took the measure of the boom this week — and found it still growing.

Several major lines of business were rocketing along at the fastest pace in months.

Steel production in the week ended April 14 reached a historic high of 2,483,000 tons.

Department store sales, coming back strong after a post-Easter slump, showed a 15 per cent gain over the comparable week of 1955. Prominent retailers said the outlook for the rest of the year was rosy.

At annual stockholder meetings, company after company reported record highs in profits and sales for the first three months of this year. Looking toward yearend, corporate executives forecast even more sensational results — despite rising costs and stiffening competition.

Top Washington officials hinted that with boom going full blast, there was little likelihood that the federal government would ease up on credit restrictions now.

FOR COUNTY $21,045 In Road Equipment Bought

Howard County Commissioners Court bought $21,045 worth of road machinery at a special session Saturday morning.

Some of the equipment was purchased new and some second hand. It comprises equipment which Walter Parks, county engineer, had requested in order to speed up completion of the 20-mile road building program set up by the county for 1956.

Vote on all of the equipment bought Saturday was unanimous. One item, a carry-all, included in the $21,045 total, was actually purchased last Monday. Vote on this purchase was three to one, with Commissioner G. E. Gilliam voting no. This is a station wagon type automobile which Parks will use in making road survey. It was bought from the Driver Truck and Implement Co., for $1,795.

Items bought Saturday included: One rebuilt tractor-digger, $8,500, from Central Texas Machinery Co., Abilene.

One used four-drum sheepsfoot roller, $2,750, from Conley-Lot-Nichols Machinery Co., Dallas.

One three-wheel, 10-ton roller, new with a 90-horse-power engine, $8,000, from Patton Equipment Co., Abilene.

Immediate delivery on all equipment was specified in the purchase orders.

The most discussion on any of the machines was over the roller.

Adlai Makes Trial Run On The Capital

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson made it to the capital today and declared: "I hope this is only a dress rehearsal."

The Democratic presidential aspirant, who would like to return next inaugurating day, arrived by train and got a rousing welcome at Union Station from several hundred fans.

A decorated motorcade, flying banners and balloons, took Stevenson through the main business district of Washington for more than a mile—on a beeline toward the White House. But two blocks from President Eisenhower's front door, it turned and headed for a hotel.

The former Illinois governor came here to address the American Society of Newspaper Editors at a luncheon and to appear at a Democratic party fund-raising dinner tonight. Stevenson will be at the Democratic dinner while Eisenhower is addressing the ASNE.

In an informal talk to the crowd at the station, Stevenson said he supposed he would speak to the editors for half an hour and not convince any of them. He noted that Eisenhower addresses them tonight and said the President wouldn't convince them either— "They are already convinced."

Then Stevenson quipped that Margaret Truman and Clifton Daniel would exchange one word at their wedding today in Independence, Mo., and "everybody will be convinced."

Jake Bruton Enters Race For Sheriff

J. B. (Jake) Bruton announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for the office of sheriff of Howard County. He made his announcement subject to action of the Democratic primaries.

Bruton has been a resident and home owner in Howard County for more than 20 years. For the past two years he has been safety inspector for Movers Conference of America, Washington, D. C. Bruton is an active member of East Fourth Baptist Church, is a teacher of the Men's Bible Class. He is married and he and Mrs. Bruton have one son.

Land Is Reclaimed

OTTAWA, April 21 (AP)—Thousands of acres of marshlands are being reclaimed in Nova Scotia. A. R. Lusby, Liberal party member from that province, told Parliament the land should be used for cattle ranching. The maritimes import 18 million dollars worth of beef annually.

Uncle Ray: Reader Suggests Building Tower

By RAMON COFFMAN

A letter from Mr. B. F. Sprinkle contains these notes: "The light and powerful substance known as hydrogen may exist in inexhaustible supply above the stratosphere. I wonder whether that supply could be tapped. Perhaps hydrogen spreads through all outer space, and is the medium which brings light and energy from the sun."

"Since so many persons are doing the same, let me make a Jules Verne suggestion. At a future time, when we have surplus labor, might a tower be built of aluminum, or other tough material, which would reach beyond the stratosphere, and which would bring down a supply of hydrogen?"

"Even if that effort proved to be a complete failure, how much better would it be to put our surplus into that project than into machines and instruments for fighting and killing?"

Mr. Sprinkle mentions Jules Verne, a French author whose imagination reached far ahead of his time. Surely it is well for suggestions to be made, even if they seem strange to the present generation. It is well to keep our minds open to what may, or may not, prove possible.

In this case my first thought is that the aluminum tower might blow down. Fierce winds would strain such a structure. Eiffel Tower in Paris and TV towers in Florida have been built, with success, to heights of about one fifth of a mile, but what of a tower six or eight miles high?

I agree strongly with the last paragraph quoted from the letter. When men put their minds on atomic energy for the good of mankind, instead of for destruction, we can build our earth into a kind of paradise. If we could use all of the atomic energy in a few pounds of material—sand, for example—there would be enough power to take a big ocean liner across the Atlantic.

BSHS Girls Win Top Places In HCJC Senior Day Program

Sandra Jennings and Eunice Freeman, both of Big Spring High School, were top winners in the Howard County Junior College fourth annual Senior Day here Friday.

Petite Miss Jennings was selected as Miss Senior of '56 in a field of 28 young ladies all so lovely that judges from Webb AFB had a hard time coming to a decision. Miss Freeman captured first place in the talent division and also placed in the Miss Senior contest.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president, was well pleased with response to the special day. The turnout was larger, the program ran off much more smoothly, and there was wider participation.

"Of course we are delighted that so many of the seniors from Howard and surrounding counties could be on our campus," observed Dr. Hunt. "We were pleased, too, that so many took occasion to tell us that they were putting HCJC in their college plans."

Nearly 500 persons, including the visiting students, their sponsors, members of the HCJC faculty and wives, board members and other guests, were on hand for the barbecue lunch served in the gym. There, as at the opening program, the Webb AFB band furnished the music.

Student volunteers, along with faculty representative, entertained the high school seniors and conducted them on tours of the plant and the other buildings now under construction.

Jennings and Miss Freeman, if they choose HCJC, and half scholarships went to second and third place winners in both the Miss Senior and talent divisions. In addition, a host of merchandise prizes were awarded by local businessmen.

In the talent contest, second place went to a cornet trio composed of Darrell Sanders, Jimmy Montgomery and Johnny Westbrook of Big Spring; third place to Clyde McMahon Jr., and J. D. Adams, skit; fourth place to Lydia Corrales, Big Spring, vocalist; fifth place to Wilda Carruth, Lamesa, vocalist; sixth place to Latrell Venable, Pat Gotcher, Eugene Davee, Bob Childers, Garden City.

Garden City's entry, Latrell Venable, was second place in the

The state meet will open May 3 with a one-act play general meeting with instructions from contest director Bruce Roach.

State contests also include debate, tennis, golf, track and field, journalism, ready writing, declamation, slide rule, poetry reading, extemporaneous speech, typewriting, shorthand and number sense.

10 Thoroughbred Horses Perish As Stables Burn

FORT WORTH, April 21 (AP)—Ten thoroughbred horses died in a fire last night which destroyed the J. O. and I. A. Hart Stables near Hurst. The loss was estimated at $60,000 to $80,000.

J. O. Hart of Fort Worth said about 15 to 20 racing horses were in the stable.

Star Betty, brought to the stable only yesterday from Arizona by its owner, Glen Haskell Jr., of Crowell, in preparation for a race meet May 20 at Omaha, was a victim. Three other victims owned by Paul Yount of Fort Worth. They were Ruler's Tony, Miss Bound and Texas Capital. Yount valued his three animals at $20,000.

Robert Tomlin of Arlington lost three horses: Royal Devil, Daddy Jim and My Mia.

The fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed the stable building at an estimated $10,000 loss. Most of the horses recently returned from Hot Springs, Ark.

New Law In Effect On Farm Refund Of Gasoline Taxes

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, called attention Saturday to a new federal law by which farmers will be able to obtain a refund of Federal excise taxes paid on gasoline which is used on a farm for farming purposes.

The success of the maneuver to combine them appeared to depend on parliamentary developments and the willingness of the Democrats to cooperate.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has insisted new legislation is needed. Otherwise, he contends, he cannot spend the money even if it is voted. He reiterated that contents today after conferring with Eisenhower at the White House over a series of proposed administrative boosts in price supports.

Hope, senior Republican on the House Agricultural Committee, said the combination move, if successful, would give Eisenhower everything he asked for in a soil bank program, including authority and money to pay farmers this year for taking surplus crop land out of production.

Daughter Rejects Mother

Mrs. Melitta Real, right, of San Diego, Calif., looks down at the Voelklings, Saar, police station after her sobbing daughter, Ursula, 13, said she didn't want to go to the United States with her. Between them is Mrs. Maurice Ferry, Ursula's foster mother and wife of a French steelworker. World War II swept the child and mother apart and Mrs. Real came to the United States, eventually marrying a San Diego stonemason, Mrs. Real, a native of Yugoslavia, said she would file a custody suit if the Ferrys insist on keeping Ursula. Mrs. Real said the child's father, Karl Hollinger, was drafted into Hitler's army before he could marry her. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Paris.)

Party Leadership Question Put To Johnson Supporters

AUSTIN, April 21 (AP)—The chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee asked today whether endorsement of Lyndon Johnson for president also means some of Gov. Shivers' former supporters prefer Johnson in the party leadership fight.

The question was one of eight directed by George Sandlin to persons who have identified themselves as political supporters of Shivers in the past and who were named on a Johnson for President Committee Thursday.

Sandlin said he felt these people owe it to the public to say whether they have "broken" with Shivers and no longer share his political views. He said his questionnaire went to not more than 35 or 40 of the 183 on the Johnson list.

"Sen. Johnson is an announced candidate both for the 'favorite son' nomination for president and for the chairmanship of the Texas delegation to the national convention," wrote Sandlin. "Does your membership on the 'for president' committee also indicate your support of Johnson against Shivers for the delegation chairmanship?"

Sandlin said he ordinarily would agree that a citizen's political views are his own and that he should not be publicly questioned about them.

"In this instance, however," wrote Sandlin, "you have publicly identified yourself with the man who is opposing Gov. Shivers for the chairmanship of the Texas delegation to the Democratic national convention.

"To that extent, your views become of public concern, and I feel free to ask you some questions about them."

The questions—similar to ones asked by Shivers and ignored by Johnson—dealt with how the recipients of the letter stand on "pledged" support of party nominees, use of interposition to protest desegregation, federal aid to schools, repeal of the poll tax as a requirement for voting, and restoration of the two-thirds rule in the national Democratic convention.

Sandlin also asked if the persons to whom he wrote were familiar with Johnson's views on these questions.

His letter was the latest maneuver by Shivers' forces to rally support in the precinct and county convention fights May 5 and 8. Those meetings will set the stage for a final showdown at the state convention in Dallas May 22.

Foreign Textile Competition Hits Cotton Economy

LUBBOCK, April 21 (AP)—The South Plains Bankers Assn. was told today that the cotton economy of Texas is directly affected by the threat of foreign competition to the American textile industry.

Sadler Love of Charlotte, N.C., secretary-treasurer of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute Central trade association of the textile industry, emphasized the increasing danger to the American textile industry from rising imports of cotton goods from foreign low-wage countries, especially Japan.

American mills, he said use more than two-thirds of the American cotton crop. American cotton once made up about 60 per cent of the total amount of cotton used by Japan. Now, however, Japan uses only about 17 per cent American cotton, buying most of her needs from Mexico and Brazil.

Teague Calls For Change In Veterans Compensation

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.) said today the House Veterans Affairs Committee has found hundreds of cases where government benefits piled up for incompetent veterans are passed on to distant relatives.

Teague called for a law to turn back to the U. S. Treasury unused Veterans Administration payments to incompetent veterans upon their death, unless the money can be inherited by a widow, child or dependent parent.

"As it is now," he told a newsman, "persons who have little connection with a hospitalized veteran couldn't use it, but was paid because of his war services."

An incompetent veteran is one legally found to be incapable of managing his own affairs.

Teague said he would push a bill which would allow government recapture of VA compensation payments from an incompetent veterans estate after his death, but not that part accruing from interest, investments or other sources. That would be when there is no widow, child or dependent parent to inherit the estate.

Teague said committee investigators have come across such cases as these:

1. A World War I veteran who has spent most of his time in hospitals since his discharge and who is worth at least a quarter of a million dollars because a guardian invested some of his VA payments in what turned out to be a rich oil field in East Texas. He has several living brothers and sisters. Under Teague's proposal, his inheritors would not get that part of the estate made up of actual VA compensation.

2. A mentally ill World War I veteran under free VA hospital care since 1919. VA payments and earnings thereon have pushed his estate above 150,000. His relatives, when last reported on more than 20 years ago, included a brother and four sisters in now Communist Poland.

3. A World War I veteran hospitalized for life at the Gulfport, Miss., VA hospital with an estate above $65,000 and no legal heir.

4. A long-hospitalized World War I veteran who died with VA-built assets of $70,500 now frozen by court order. The estate will go to a brother and sister in Poland if they can prove their relationship; otherwise it will probably be paid to aunts and uncles and more distant U. S. relatives.

5. A hospitalized World War I veteran whose growing $113,000 estate is more than half accounted for by VA payments. His sole heir is a sister already wealthy in her own right.

6. A 36-year-old World War II veteran who killed his mother and was committed to a state hospital for the criminally insane. Continued VA disability compensation benefits are expected to bring his estate to more than $100,000 in his lifetime. His heirs would be brothers and sisters or their descendants.

The House Committee has found one instance of a veteran under guardianship who is worth $1,322,839. Most of the money comes from non-VA funds and the veteran is in a private hospital, but he continues to get VA disability and insurance payments.

War-time veterans can get up to $181 a month compensation for service-incurred disability and also may receive disability payments of up to $37.50 monthly from World War I government insurance. Their compensation is discontinued if they enter a VA hospital and their estate exceeds $1,500, but not if they go to a state hospital.

Texas Building Is Stronger In March

AUSTIN, April 21 (AP)—Construction lags but March was the best month for building in Texas since May, 1955, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said today.

The total was 90 million dollars, with an increase in residential construction more than offsetting the February-March decline in other categories. The figure was still 17 per cent below March 1955.

Building authorized in Texas during the first quarter was 32 million dollars, 12 per cent below last year.

Portrait Is Presented

"Prof" Dewey O. Wiley, director of the Texas Tech band, was surprised last week when members of the Alpha Omicron chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi, national band fraternity, presented his portrait. He is shown here beside the life-size oil done by Mrs. Myrtle Lee, Big Spring, while A. Frank Martin, grand executive secretary of the fraternity, looks on. Mrs. Lee was commissioned last fall to paint Dr. Wiley, but she had to do it from photographs, except for a couple of casual visits with him in Lubbock, in order to preserve the element of surprise. Kenneth Briden and Charles Rainwater, Big Spring students at Tech, were instrumental in arranging for the picture, as were Jake Douglas and Clyde Rowe, charter members of the fraternity at Tech. ## No Boils In Big Spring, So Sulphur, Molasses Not Needed

By SAM BLACKBURN
Things have come to a pretty pass!
You can't find a single solitary kid in all Big Spring who has had his spring dosage of sulphur and molasses!

And what makes it all the more disgusting to older folk, it's very doubtful if a single youngster in the whole community has a spring boil to display to other envious kids in the block.

Things weren't that way when Pop was a kid.

In those happy and orderly times, every boy and a lot of the girls, not to mention quite a few adults, always had a proud crop of boils to show come spring.

Grandma said that they were to be expected. Her theory was good. During the long winter months, the blood became sort of stagnant and sluggish. It filled up with some mysterious element called "pi-sin."

When the sap began to run and the snows to melt, the warming weather caused a minor revolt among one's red corpuscles.

Grandma helped things along. You needed a tonic. The best tonic in all the world to "tone" up the system for spring and rid the blood of its "pi-sin" was a concoction made by blending sulphur with molasses.

It seems highly probable that a more atrocious beverage was never assembled.

Grandma was generous, too.

Huge teapotsful of the dreadful brew were thrust between tightly clinched teeth of her patients at regular intervals.

Came then the boils.

These were of varied sorts and sizes and possessed all of the colors of the rainbow. They were imbued with a satanic capacity, too, for popping out in the most inconvenient places. Anyone with a boil was reasonably certain that his pet was in the worst possible of all places. When a new one showed up (they seldom made single attacks) that one was in the worst of all possible places.

Grandma wisely observed that this was the thing to be expected—that the boils were evacuating the accumulated winter wickedness and contamination from the blood. They were, she said, worth $5 apiece to the holder.

In that case, lots of kids went around with a sizable fortune on their scrawny frames. It is not recorded that any youngster was ever able to see eye-to-eye with Grandma on this evaluation.

But all of these things were in the past.

Where are the boils of yesterday?

What do youngsters of this modern day have that older generations did not have?

Ask the medical men.

The boys and girls and the adults of today are boil-free because of the discovery of those marvelous infection killers called antibiotics.

This answer, however, does not quite fit the situation. Granted, if you please, that penicillin shots will chase away the bugs that cause boils—what of the folk who have not had shots of that wonder drug?

They, from all evidence, have become almost as immune to the spring outbreak of boils and "risins" as those who have the benefit of the antibiotics.

Could it be that we are a cleaner bunch of folk now than were our fathers and grandfathers? Could well be, indeed! And isn't it possible that this improved sanitation across the board may have contributed generously to the suppression of that ancient bane of each spring season?

And what of diet?

Could it be that today's population eats better and of more balanced rations? And that this happy circumstance contributes to the elimination of the old fashioned spring boil?

Medical men will tell you there are very few patients who come to them now to get a "risin lanced." There was a day when surgery in this field was brisk in the vernal season.

Doctors admit they seldom have calls to investigate interesting samples of the fine work of Staphylococcus Aureus anymore.

So the spring is rid of boils and the boys and girls of today are deprived—beneficially—of one of the prize ailments of last generation's adolescents.

Furthermore, they do not know the rare and exquisite horror of sulphur-r-molasses—as only grandma could blend it.

Antibiotics, sanitation or nutrition—what's the difference? Boil's ain't no more!

Local Jaycees Win Agriculture Award

Big Spring Jaycees Saturday won the top state award for their agricultural program.

It was the second consecutive year the Big Spring club won the state championship in their division. This year they were competing in Division III, for cities of under 100,000 population.

The victory was announced at the state Jaycee convention in Brownsville Saturday.

The Big Spring group's agricultural scrapbook will be entered in the national contest at Kansas City as a result of the state victory.

The winning entry was based on sponsorship of the annual Howard County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Show and the county-wide 4-H and FFA Swine Show.

Big Spring Jaycees received three other awards at the state meeting. Their weekly publication was judged second best in the state, and their safety scrapbook also won second place. In addition, the local group received an award from the Texas Motor Transportation Association for a safety program revolving around the annual Teen-Age Road-o.

Big Springers at the state convention were Mr. and Mrs. David Simms, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ryan Jr., Bill Gray, Lt. Bob Grew, Neil Norred, Lt. Bob Harrell, Lt. Elden Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weeg and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin. They are to return today.

Car Smashed, But 6 Youths Escape Injury

A 1951 Mercury, owned and driven by a 17-year-old Midland high school youth, was demolished in an accident on Scenic Mountain road at 2:15 p.m. Friday.

Neither the driver nor his passengers, — one other boy and four girls from Big Spring — was hurt, according to Fred Taylor, deputy sheriff who investigated the accident.

Taylor said the Midland youth, Richard Grandell Williams, Route 2, came to Big Spring Friday and was joined by the others. Their names were not available.

On the Scenic Mountain road, Taylor said, a left rear tire on the car blew out. The car turned sideways and skidded 100 feet. It crashed through a stone barrier wall on the road, plunged off an embankment and turned over.

The six passengers scrambled out of the wreckage. One of the girls, Taylor said, had a slight bruise on one eye but otherwise none was hurt.

The car was badly wrecked.

Five City Youths Enlist In Navy

Chief R. E. LaFon, Navy recruiter for the Big Spring area, announced that five boys from Big Spring had enlisted in the Navy through his office during the past week.

The boys enlisted together under the Navy's plan which assures them of staying together during nine weeks of recruit training at San Diego, Calif.

The recruits are: Thomas Pierce Holliman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Holliman, 210 Carey; Denver Hodge Heffington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver E. Heffington, 1305 W. 2nd; Jerry Don Kinman, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kinman, 1100 Main; Darwin Lee Williams, son of Mrs. Ruby L. Froman, 1000 Main; and Sidney Albert Collins, son of Lorain Collins, 1513 Meadow.

The men will get 14 days leave upon completion of recruit training and prior to reporting to their ultimate duty station.

38 Killed In Truck Mishap In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 21 (AP)—A truck jammed with construction workers plunged into a 230-foot deep ravine in northern Chile today, killing 38. There were two survivors.

The accident occurred when the truck ran off an abandoned railway bridge about 45 miles from the Chuquicamata mining community. News of the accident came from the Chile Exploration Co., a subsidiary of Anaconda Copper Co.

District High In Bond Sales

District 16-A, which embodies much of this immediate territory, is running well ahead of the state average in U. S. Savings Bonds sales.

For the first quarter the state sales amounted to $53,592,065 or 25.6 per cent of the annual quota. This district, according to reports from Ira L. Thurman, chairman, had attained 31 per cent of its quota. Total sales for the district for the first three months of the year had amounted to $30,809 on an annual quota of $1,710,000.

In the Fort Worth area, of which Howard and adjacent counties are a part, the march sales amounted to $2,953,555, or 28.9 per cent of the year's quota.

During March, reported Thurman, Howard County sold $72,129 in E bonds and $58,000 in H bonds, bringing the first quarter total to $295,704 or 37.9 per cent.

Mitchell County had $16,469 in E bonds and $1,000 in H bonds, boosting to $145,983 the first quarter aggregate, or 48.7 per cent of the year's quota. Scurry County reported $12,283 E bond sales, accounting for an aggregate of $88,621 for the year, or 14.5 per cent.

Among other counties in the area, sales reports included $6,900 in Coke for a total of $36,862 for the year, or 30.7 per cent, and in Nolan $18,551 E bonds and $6,000 H bonds, a total of $125,063 for 30.5 per cent.

District High In Bond Sales

District 16-A, which embodies much of this immediate territory, is running well ahead of the state average in U. S. Savings Bonds sales.

For the first quarter the state sales amounted to $53,592,065 or 25.6 per cent of the annual quota. This district, according to reports from Ira L. Thurman, chairman, had attained 31 per cent of its quota. Total sales for the district for the first three months of the year had amounted to $30,809 on an annual quota of $1,710,000.

In the Fort Worth area, of which Howard and adjacent counties are a part, the march sales amounted to $2,953,555, or 28.9 per cent of the year's quota.

During March, reported Thurman, Howard County sold $72,129 in E bonds and $58,000 in H bonds, bringing the first quarter total to $295,704 or 37.9 per cent.

The SCVAK Telephone Company, Inc., Announces

Modern, efficient telephone service for these areas
Sand Springs, Vincent-Lake Thomas, Sparenburg.

"Planned For More Progress In Your Community"

The SCVAK Telephone Company is pleased to announce we are now ready to accept your applications for telephone service in this area.

Our commercial representative will call on each resident in these areas starting April 21st to sign each applicant for telephone service and to answer any service questions you may have.

It is important that if you desire telephone service give our representative your application as the SCVAK Telephone Co. must close our applications June 1st 1956 in order that we know the line load and to let construction contract to build lines into these areas.

The Ackerly-Knott area of Howard, Martin, Dawson and Borden counties will be announced at a later date. These areas will be covered by one exchange after completion of our construction program this year with all new equipment and lines.

A deposit of $15.00 must accompany all applications for telephone service. A part of the $15.00 will be your first month's rental in advance, $3.00 will be installation charge. The balance will be in the form of a deposit on your telephone to be refunded in event you move or disconnect your telephone.

MEET THE NEW BOSS in the Performance Department!

Come In and Drive
the Surprise Car of the Year!

The word's getting around fast—the big, handsome husky you see here is the big surprise that caught the industry a year or so off balance!

But it didn't come as any surprise to Pontiac engineers that they had the year's performance sensation.

They knew all along that it would be, because they started from scratch and designed the most modern high-compression, high-torque V-8 in America!

Then they tailored an all-new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic* especially for Pontiac's high-stepping Strato-Streak power plant—and for nothing else! The blazing action of 227 horses is yours in a flash with the positive, no-lag action of gears—plus an amazing liquid coupling for a smooth, uninterrupted flow of power to the wheels.

Bring yourself up to date—come in and pilot the surprise car of the year—you'll soon see what the talk's all about! And don't be afraid to ask about price, for that's another pleasant surprise—the one that will let you boss the best on the road for a great deal less than you probably think! *An extra-cost option.

The car says 60 and the price won't stop you!

MANAGER WANTED

Immediate unbelievable income. Full or spare time. Well established national company offers overseas supervisory distributorship for seasonal new product, that retails daily. Year round business. No selling or experience necessary. Following qualifications:

A few Mexican Nationals are being brought into this area, according to Jack Buchanan, manager of the Howard County Farm Association. He says they will soon have a special labor center at Eagle Pass where farmers can get the men they need, such as special tractor drivers.

Several new irrigation wells have been put down since last fall, besides the ones already mentioned in this column.

The last two rains totaled 1.3 inches on the A. G. Smith place west of Vincent. He said it helped grass a little, particularly the tobacco grass, but more was needed to make any real grazing.

Smith has been feeding grain cubes, cake, bundles and ensilage. He put up around 100 tons of ensilage last fall and still has some of it left.

All but 40 or 50 acres of his cultivated land has been plowed. Some of it is still dry, but the deep sand still has quite a bit of bottom moisture. It would be ready to plant with another rain, but the tighter land will need more water.

The irrigation farmers in the Lomax community are ready to start putting cottonseed into the ground as soon as the soil warms up a little.

I recently got a letter from a northern editor who wanted to know if there were any lobo wolves in this area. I never saw but one lobo wolf in my life outside a zoo, and he was a dead one.

Russian Chiefs Get A Razzing From Students

WENDOVER, England, April 21 (AP)—Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev began peace talks in an English country manor house tonight after 4,000 Oxford University students ragged them with chants of "Poor old Joe!"

The Kremlin leaders sped through the gates of Chequers, official country residence of Prime Minister Anthony Eden, as the sun set on a day of bustling activity.

The two visitors of the British secret atomic city of Harwell, then went on to Oxford—and one of the biggest razzes seen in the university town in decades.

Crowds of students began their chant about the late Soviet dictator as the two Russians left Sheldonian Theater, and repeated it interminably.

Neither Bulganin nor Khrushchev understood English but they had plenty of interpreters with them.

Both Russians took it well. Khrushchev once raised his hands in grinning surrender when backed against a wall by auto-graph-hunting Oxford residents. Bulganin beamed.

The Oxford students, many in their 20s, were derisively good-natured and refused to take the two Russian dignitaries seriously. They roared the "Volga Boatmen," cheered, boisterously offered comment and at one point an impatient student called out in precise Oxonian:

"Come on, Bulgy, I want my tea."

Peace was on the docket for informal weekend talks, and especially the Middle East, an area the Soviet leaders have offered to help stabilize.

But the echo of their words had barely died today when Moscow radio began pumping out charges that Britain and America were the villains there.

The two Western Powers, said the broadcast, are guilty of a policy "primarily directed against the Arab countries."

But back in London, senior British and Russian diplomats took up their quest for a Middle East peace plan.

Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, permanent head of the Foreign Office, conferred for two hours with Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister. They were working to a directive given them yesterday by Eden and his Soviet guests.

Texas U. Students Vote On Building

AUSTIN, April 21 (AP)—The University of Texas will have a new air-conditioned $2,125,000 Union building if the students say "yes" at an election. They will vote next week on whether to raise their own compulsory $1 a semester union fee to $5. The increase would finance and operate a new Union building.

Margaret Becomes Bride In Simple Church Rites

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 21 (AP)—Margaret Truman and Clifton Daniel Jr., were married today in a simple ceremony at Trinity Episcopal church.

Only close relatives and friends watched as the 32-year-old daughter of former President Harry S. Truman became the bride of the 43-year-old assistant to the foreign editor of the New York Times.

A crowd estimated by police at 1,000 greeted the happy couple as they stepped out into the bright sunshine of a warm spring day.

Margaret and Cliff came out of the church arm in arm, walked the four steps down to the sidewalk and posed briefly for photographers.

Then a black limousine whisked them away to the reception at the Truman's big white home—the former "Little White House."

The crowd surged forward as the new Mr. and Mrs. Daniel came out of the church and dispersed immediately after the bride and groom drove away.

The church was beautifully decorated in green fern and white flowers.

Only Margaret's parents, former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman; Daniel's parents from Zebulon, N.C.; and other immediate members of the families—plus a few others, including Vietta Garr, the long-time Truman housekeeper—were present as guests.

It was the kind of wedding ceremony that any small town girl in any small town, U. S. A., could have.

Margaret resisted—"and we Trumans can be stubborn," she often has said—the natural trend resulting from the big influx of reporters, photographers, radio-TV commentators—to turn the wedding into a gala event.

In her days in the White House, she became accustomed to public attention, and as a concert singer and radio-TV star she has courted public applause. But from the day last month her engagement was announced, she had firmly said her marriage would be private.

But Margaret finally agreed to a limited number of news reporters on a pooled basis at the ceremony and at the small reception afterward in the Trumans' big old-fashioned home.

This is the first marriage for

Telephone Co. President Dies In New York

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—William Henry Harrison, 63, president of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., died today at his home of a heart ailment.

Harrison went to the IT&T in September, 1948 from the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. where he had been serving as vice president in charge of operations and engineering.

Born in Brooklyn in 1892, he began his communications career with the New York Telephone Co. in 1909.

During World War II he was commissioned a colonel in the Army and rose to the rank of major general.

He leaves his widow, the former Mabel Gilchrist Ouchterloney, and two sons, William Henry Harrison Jr. of Barrington, Ill., and Dr. J. Grant Harrison of Garden City, in 1909.

3 Plead Guilty In County Court

Willie Tyler, charged with illegal transportation of intoxicating liquors, pleaded not guilty before County Judge R. H. Weaver Saturday. His bond was set.

A few minutes later he requested to be brought before the court again. This time he withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. Judge Weaver sentenced him to pay a fine of $100.

Ocie Mitchell, charged with driving a car while intoxicated, pleaded guilty. He was fined $75 and sentenced to serve three days in the county jail.

A fine of $100 was assessed against Henry Ivy for transporting liquor. Ivy, too, pleaded guilty.

Boys Turn To Shops In Building Soap-Box Racers

Soap box racers started taking shape Saturday at the high school woodworking shops as the first "shop day" was held for the 1956 Soap Box Derby.

Nine boys took advantage of the power tools to start fashioning floorboards, bulkheads and axletrees for the cars they'll run in Big Spring's derby July 4.

Among them may have been the boy destined to win the city championship and represent Big Spring at the All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, O., in August.

Some of the parts turned out Saturday looked like the makings of speedy racers.

Displaying ingenuity that matched their enthusiasm, the boys started the group with work on the power tools from cabinet topping to big sheets of one-inch plywood from which to construct the foundations—floorboards—of their racing coasters.

Avery Falkner Jr., who won the prize for the best-constructed car last year, appeared to be shooting for the same prize again this year. He also had his mind on the city championship and that trip to Akron as he sketched out his plans for a sleek, sturdy car.

Avery and his brother, Johnny, who'll be in his first races this year, were using long slabs of cabinet top for floorboards. Both were planning slim, low-slung racers.

They held an advantage over some of the other boys who because of their larger size were having to design bulkier racers. Ronnie Hamby had the largest car under construction Saturday, but was avoiding excessive weight by using a big sheet of lightweight plywood for his floorboard. Ronnie won sixth place in the local derby last year.

Also using one-inch plywood for their floorboards were Troy and Doyce Wilhite, Ronnie Jeter, Kenneth Sloan, David Spradling and David Haley.

Some of the boys completed their floor pieces and started sawing out bulkheads and axletrees. Assisting the group with work on the power tools were Louis Maneely, high school shop instructor, and Loyd Wooten of Tidwell Chevrolet Company, one of the Derby sponsors.

A larger turnout is expected the next two Saturdays for the final pre-Derby shop days. Wooten said. He also reported that all but six of the 36 boys entered in the race have secured wheels for their cars. The other six are urged to pick up their wheel sets as soon as possible if they intend to build racers.

Five sets of wheels also have gone to Colorado City where that number of boys have entered the Big Spring races.

Desk And Derrick In Regional Meet

TWO PREXIES of the Amarillo Desk and Derrick Club are Cleella Wilkinson, at left, in photo above, and Dorothy Garrett. Miss Wilkinson, who is representing her club this weekend at the Region Five meeting, is incoming president. Miss Garrett served in the office in 1955.

WE'LL TAKE THIS ROUTE plan members of the Hobbs, N. M., Desk and Derrick Club in preparing to attend the meeting of Region Five here this weekend. While Ann Moore plots the course on a highway map, Mrs. Dorothy Hall talks on the telephone to one of the other four members who will accompany this group. Mrs. Jo Landusky, third from left, and Mrs. Jackie Nelson are more interested in travel than in the telephone conversation.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. II      BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, APRIL 22, 1956      SOC.

Inside Big Spring

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Boren add a look at the local paper to their survey of their new home town. The Borens are from Pecos and are making their home at 1905 Rannels with Mrs. Puff, their cat.

Borens Like To Look Over New Home Here

Every time Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Boren drive to town they take a different route in order to see a new part of Big Spring.

That's one way the couple formerly of Pecos, is getting settled in their new home, 1905 Rannels. Boren, branch manager of Universal CIT, has already been welcomed by a former schoolmate he ran into by chance. Now he is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"We are both joiners at heart," said Mrs. Boren, voted Pecos Woman of the Month for her Beta Sigma Phi, garden and study club work and her activities as high school home economics teacher. Boren is also a former Lion.

The Borens are also making themselves at home here outdoors. A garden and flowers have already been planted and a portable grill has seen service in the back yard. Charcoal broiling chicken, a half for each guest, and frying hamburgers is Boren's job. Mrs. Boren fixes a hot vegetable and tosses a salad.

"The fun of eating outside makes up for any extra work it involves," she said.

Despite their easy adjustment here, Mrs. Boren still gets a lump in her throat when she passes a school. The girls she taught in her first class at Pecos will graduate from high school this year.

"But I guess it's time for me to graduate with them and retire to be a housewife," she said.

Both Borens were graduated from Sudan High School and attended Texas Tech. Boren served two years during World War II and was recalled during the Korean War to teach B29 flying at Randolph Field in San Antonio.

Buffet For Official Held In Trego Home

An informal buffet dinner honored State Comptroller Robert Calvert in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Trego, 1610 Pennsylvania, Thursday night.

Guests were members of the local office staff and their wives. Trego is director of the office here. Calvert was in Big Spring overnight on business. Red Amariyllis were used in floral arrangements.

Dig Those Mixed-Up Foods! They're Good!

By ANNE LEFEVER

When the various mixes began appearing on the shelves of food stores, how did you receive them? Chances are you said they were "for lazy folk" or that you could prepare the food better in your own way. Maybe you have "eaten those words"—as well as some of the mixes—maybe not.

At any rate, it seems that mixes are here to stay, and for the career woman, especially, that is a boon. Besides the saving of time in the preparation of food, there is less danger of failures if directions are followed.

FOR VARIETY
If you're a venturesome soul who likes to add her own special touch in cooking—and let's hope you are, there are numerous ways to change or dress up the basic mixes.

For a loaf of delicious nut bread, add a cup of chopped nuts to biscuit mix, which has been combined with a bit of sugar and an egg. Sugar and eggs are also added to the mix for an easily made upside-down cake. Directions for these quick dishes are printed on the mix container.

And such a variety of changes in cake mixes! Wishing "to get into the act," a cooking oil company now suggest the addition of the oil to any of the cake mixes except angel food and sponge cake. This will make the cake moist for a longer period of time, it is said.

The addition of peanut butter to white cake mix will make a new friend in the line of desserts. Or, try adding mashed banana to the batter. Like a richer cake? Then chop nuts and dates fine and add to the spice mix.

For chocolate mixes, I sometimes substitute strong coffee for the liquid called for in the regular recipe. This gives the cake a mocha flavor. A teaspoon of vanilla or almond extract, or a combination of both, will enhance the taste of cakes or the frostings used on them.

FROSTINGS
Who hasn't, at some time, had a failure in making fluffy white icing for her cake? There's a mix on the market to be used "as is," or changed to suit the cook's fancy. Add nuts or cherries, or both, and you have beauty as well as flavor.

Other variations include a sprinkle over the top of coconut, silvered almonds, crushed peppermint candy or shavings of chocolate. Chocolate chips may be added just before spreading the frosting if you like.

Chocolate chips might also be added to gingerbread mix. This mix and brownie mix may be varied by using them for cupcakes or drop cookies.

You'll find a pound cake mix now on the shelf at the grocer's. For something different, make the batter as directed and then half it; add cocoa to one half and leave the other plain. After putting both batters in the pan, stir gently to make streaks of both intermingle. Lemon juice and grated rind will give another taste to the pound cake, as will your favorite spice—mace, nutmeg or allspice.

FOR A CASSEROLE
Do you use the hush puppy mix? Try adding it to a combination of ground meat, chopped onion, whole kernel corn and canned tomatoes. Serve as a casserole with a tossed salad.

Pie crusts are ready-mixed for you as are the fillings. The latter may be disguised by the additions of fruits, dates and nuts, bananas, spices or chocolate chips. Different kinds of crushed fruit may be used in the ice cream mixes, while fruit juice added to sherbet mixes can add variety each time you serve it.

Cheese, nuts, blueberries, crisp bacon and whole kernel corn are a few of the tasty variations for pancake or waffle mix. Try the pizza mix as it comes from the box or add ground beef or tiny bits of chicken to it.

OTHER MIXES
There are cornbread mixes, those for drinks, some for puddings, and a blueberry muffin mix. Soup mixes are time and labor savers. Onion soup, combined with sour cream makes a good dip for an appetizer. That soup when sprinkled over the top of a roast before cooking it, adds a piquant flavor.

Salads take on new life when served with "your own" dressing, made by adding vinegar and salad oil to one of the salad mixes now available.

Whatever mix you choose, there'll probably be some little trick or addition to make it "sincerely yours."

Music Club To Present Musicale

"Texas Composers and Their Music" will be the subject of a discussion by Mrs. T. A. Mitchell for members of the Music Study Club and their guests Tuesday evening. She will be presented in the auditorium of Howard County Junior College at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Mitchell, a resident of Fort Worth, is state chairman of the Texas Composers' Guild. Appearing on the same program will be Harriett Emerson, violinist, also of Fort Worth. A graduate of the University of Texas, Miss Emerson has been studying with Emmanuel Ondrick of Boston and New York. She has appeared on television and radio stations and is now preparing for a European tour.

Joe Bratcher, accompanist for the Fort Worth Civic Opera, will play the accompaniment for Miss Emerson.

The program will include Allegro, by Fiocco; LaChasse by Mondoville, and Caprice, No. 28, by Fiorello - Ondrick. Selections by Texas composers will be Reminiscence, by Forrest Goodenough; Plaint, by Sister M. Elaine; Rondo in E Minor, by Louis Butler and The Harmonica Player by David Guion.

OWC Has Bridge Party And Buffet

Members of Block Two of the Officers' Wives' Club served refreshments buffet style at a bridge party Thursday afternoon. The OWC met at the Officers' Club.

Winner in the bridge games was Mrs. E. V. Coggins; second high scorer was Mrs. Jerry Welsh.

In the intermediate bridge games, Mrs. R. C. Jordan was winner, and the canasta prize went to Mrs. J. G. Mills.

Special prizes were won by Mrs. A. J. Conoscenti, Mrs. Earl Peck, Mrs. Robert Blacker and Mrs. N. H. Thomas.

Mrs. Richard Patterson will enter three paintings in the South Plains Art Guild Membership Show at Texas Tech. The two-week exhibition begins Sunday. Mrs. Patterson also received recognition recently in Southern Artists Magazines and has been appointed regional chairman of Texas Fine Arts Association.

Spadea's american designer pattern

By Anne Klein
© 1956 Spadea Fashions Inc. Junior Sophisticates

FOR JUNIOR SIZES

Princess Silhouette Is Featured In Coat Dress

Anne Klein, the bright designer for Junior Sophisticates, forecasts great success for her double-breasted coat dress. Young and sophisticated all at once, it features a flared princess silhouette with notched collar and flap pockets. The center back of the skirt opens out into an inverted pleat, arrested at the waist line with a narrow martingale. A hand cut pattern with precise perforations, it's easy to make in either version. Choose linen, novelty cottons, shantung, cords, or pique for the sleeveless model; faille, plain or printed silk, wool crepe, light-weight tweeds or worsteds for the other. Contrast for the collar on the short sleeve version might be velvet, faille, linen or pique depending on dress fabric.

This hand cut, custom made pattern is not standard sized but is the only pattern available with exclusive designers retail sizing measurements for a more accurate fit, better styling, less altering. Open perforations for easy markings without damaging tissue; also time saving, fabric saving, money saving; no tracing wheel or carbon paper needed; easy to follow instructions for beginners.

From this chart select the size best for you. Size 9 bust 33 1/2, waist 23 1/2, hips 34 1/2 inches; length from nape of neck to waist 16 inches. Size 11 bust 34 1/2, waist 24 1/2, hips 35 1/2 inches; length from nape of neck to waist 16 1/4 inches. Size 13 bust 36, waist 26, hips 37 inches; length from nape of neck to waist 16 1/2 inches. Size 15 bust 37 1/2, waist 27 1/2, hips 38 1/2 inches; length from nape of neck to waist 16 3/4 inches. Size 17 bust 39, waist 29, hips 40 inches; length from nape of neck to waist 17 inches.

Size 13 requires 6 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for coat dress with sleeves and contrasting collar. Interfacing requires 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch material.

To order Pattern No. 1260, state size, enclose $1.00. Airmail handling requires 25 cents extra. Address American Designer Patterns, P. O. Box 535, G.P.O. Dept. B-8, New York 1, N. Y. 144-page Pattern Booklet XII-50 cents. If paid by check add 4 cents. (Next week look for Spadea's American Designer Pattern by David Goodstein.)

Maine Town Has Battle Of Sexes

WATERFORD, Maine. —In Waterford, women go to the right and men to the left, and nobody knows why.

A recent town meeting in this rural community of 828 residents marked the 25th anniversary of sex segregation at governmental sessions in the tiny town hall on the shore of picturesque Lake Keoka.

For some unexplainable reason the first group of women to attend a business session in town hall here, turned to the right when they entered the unpapered, plastered room and seated themselves on the hard wooden benches running lengthways of the building.

The men remained on the left side of a box-stove placed in the exact center of the meeting hall. From the stove to one end of the building ran a lengthy stovepipe which has apparently served as the dividing line.

Only once during the past quarter of a century did the women have the temerity to break the unexplainable tradition. That was when they were fighting among themselves so fiercely that they had no other choice.

Back in the late 40's, mothers of Waterford City — the town's center — demanded that a planned consolidated school be built between the "City" and a village end of the town called the "Flat."

The "Flat" women wanted the school erected between their village and North Waterford. The situation was so tense that the two groups didn't even speak to each other. A special town meeting was called.

On the morning of the big session the "City" women arrived bright and early and took their accustomed seats on the distant side of the room.

Arriving in a body shortly thereafter, the "Flat" women decided they would rather mingle with the men than sit with their opponents. They filed to the left.

The "City" folks lost their battle after a torrid discussion. The school was built between the "Flat" and North Waterford in 1949.

Now things are back to normal — and sex segregation prevails in Waterford.

Eager Beaver Club

Making Red Cross bandages was the occupation of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. D. Bruton. Nine attended the meeting with two guests, Mrs. W. H. Morgan and Mrs. Hollis Yates. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. G. Burnett, 709 Douglas.

Former Resident Is Member Of Musical Comedy

Helon Blount, talented singer who received her first training in Big Spring, is a member of the cast of a new musical comedy due to open on Broadway May 3.

The show is Frank Loesser's production of "Most Happy Fella." Miss Blount has a part in the chorus and also is understudy to one of the principal players in the cast.

She has been with "Most Happy Fella," during tryouts in Philadelphia recently.

Helon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Blount, for many years residents of Big Spring and now living in Austin. The Blounts are here visiting friends over the weekend. Blount, formerly with Texas Electric Service Company, now is associated with the Lower Colorado River Authority.

Helon, who is a graduate of Big Spring High School, later studied at the University of Texas and in New York.

D. Kefauver Licks Reporter Problem

David Kefauver, 10, only son of Sen. and Mrs. Estes Kefauver, has a stock answer for all the "iffy" questions, like "would you like to live in the White House" shot at him by reporters these days.

"Yes and No," it is, and he says he thought it up himself.

He did admit to one new man however he had no intention of following his father into politics. He's going to be a farmer.

FASHION HEADQUARTERS FOR ALL THE FAMILY

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Margaret Pierce

Senior Day held the spotlight this week as seniors from several of the surrounding schools attended. Registration began at eight o'clock, followed by openhouse in the Student Union Building, and a band concert featuring the Webb Air Force Band.

Then began the presentation of the "Miss Senior Day," and Talent Contest entries. A barbecue dinner was served for the visitors in the gymnasium.

Finalists for the two contests were presented at 1 p.m. While the judges (five officers from WAFB) made their final decisions, the audience was entertained by the HCJC choir. Winners were then presented.

First place winners were Sandra Jennings, "Miss Senior Day," and Eunice Freeman winner of the talent contest. The day of festivities was then concluded.

A slumber party was held in the home of Myrtice Q. Jones Friday night. Those attending were Sue Neal, Mary "Skunk" Forehand, Margaret "Hungry" Pierce, Myrna Sproul, and "Myrt" Jones.

Best wishes to Lois Spivey and Tommy Hammond on their recent engagement. They have been a steady couple for sometime around the HCJC campus.

The tennis team journeyed to Plainview Tuesday and returned Wednesday evening. Single and double matches were played by Myrtice Jones, Mary Forehand, Homer Lucas, Hollis Leonard.

Doubles teams were Homer Lucas and Jimmy Burkholder; Jimmy Castleberry and Al Kloven; and Mary Forehand and Myrtice Jones. One girls singles match was won by "Myrt," and one boys doubles match was won by Lucas and Burkholder.

Plans are now being made for Ranch Day to be held next Friday at HCJC. Each organization on the campus will sponsor different activities.

Couples seen around town the past week are Sue Neal, Ray Russell; Gene Quins; Yvonne Peterson, Silas Flournoy; Willella Hanks, Marvin Wise; Margaret Pierce, Phil Stovall; Patty Gregory, Ernie Kennedy; Alice Ann Martin, Wiley Brown; Claudine Böler, Buddy May; and Evelyn Cummings and Harold Baker.

See you next week!!

Lamesa Artist Plans Book Of Paintings

By BETTYE CAMPBELL

LAMESA — A series of 58 paintings, done in oil by Mrs. Alyce Hart of Lamesa, will soon find its way into book form. These paintings, interpretations from the visions in the Book of Revelations, are so beautifully done that a child could understand and appreciate them.

The completed series represents the life ambition of the 48-year-old self-taught artist. She estimates that 1,500 hours were spent on the actual painting of the series during the past four years. Even more time consuming was the research necessary to paint in authentic detail. When asked why she chose the Book of Revelations for this work, she stated that the question must be answered from the religious and artistic standpoint. Both of them presented a definite challenge.

Mrs. Hart has been painting since she was 16 years old. She has been Mrs. George Hart since 1926, has reared three sons, helped with a grocery store and service station, taught private art lessons and still has found time for her own creative work.

She told with pride of her son George who will be graduated from the University of Texas Medical School June 2. He will enter a special surgical school in Rochester, N. Y. in July.

Her second son, Bill, is manager of the local Furr Food store and is the youngest manager in Texas. Woody, the youngest, is a senior in Lamesa High School, where he was active in football.

In 1949, Mrs. Hart received the

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Says Anne: Greatest Beauty Secret Is Rest

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Anne Baxter is a charming combination of brains and beauty. A grand-daughter of Frank Lloyd Wright, she has inherited from this illustrious architect his intellectual curiosity and drive. Anne throws herself with great enthusiasm into a pet project and at the moment she would love to form a club, "Relaxation, Inc."

"Failure to get enough rest," Anne told me as she poured a cup of tea in the attractive library of her Hollywood home, "and driving oneself with a whip hand is the most destructive force in life. All the beauty externals in the world can't hide the tension and weariness which pile up in one's face."

"This was vividly illustrated to me on a TV program the other day," Anne explained. "A famous make-up man picked three women from a studio audience and did the before and after bit by changing their hair-do's and make-up. As I watched them I thought how futile it is to try to hide tense muscles and a worried frown with cosmetics."

"The greatest beauty secret in the world is rest. It is the fundamental rule which must be followed if you want to look well and feel well."

"Relaxation is not easy today, especially for women who have multiple responsibilities. Our civilization is not geared for rest. The pioneer days are over but the habit of frowning upon the sista still persists. It is ridiculous, but many feel apologetic for taking a nap during the day."

"Driving yourself with a whip hand all day until fatigue makes you fall asleep from exhaustion will cause you to wake up feeling tense and tired."

"And as for sleeping pills — I don't believe in taking anything to make you sleep," said Anne with feeling. "The only healthy way is to make the effort to relax before trying to go to sleep."

"What do you recommend for relaxation?" I asked Anne who stars in "The Come On" for Allied Artists.

"Fatigue is quickly reflected in the face, and it is through the face that tension in the whole body can best be released," Anne explained.

"Lie down, close your eyes and drop your jaw. Let it hang loose for a few minutes because it is impossible to have a tense face with a relaxed jaw. This really works," Anne insisted.

"And the more you put your mind to it the more you are able to let go and let down."

"There are three simple steps in lightening fatigue. One: resolve not to get overtired; Two: train yourself to catch early signs of tension; Three: develop what I call a 'duck's back.' Learn to allow small things to roll away. So much energy is wasted on irritating trifles."

"Formerly when I tried to rest, I felt like the picture of Gulliver pinned down by a million tiny strings while all the little people swarmed over him. I felt as though there was no escaping from them."

"When I became ill and I was forced to rest, I realized the destruction of fatigue. It destroys your beauty, robs you of your good disposition, reduces your ability to think clearly. It can ruin your marriage, your career, your health, your whole life."

"I believe that a great deal of overweight comes from fatigue. Your organs do not function properly, your whole system seems heavy, and you eat from nervousness. If you have trouble reducing your weight," Anne suggested, "try reducing your tension."

"Everyone needs a retreat — a place of complete solitude. It can be in your own home but you must feel protected from interruptions from people or the telephone. We don't realize what a toll is taken by the constant noise which is beating at us all day.

"Getting sufficient rest is the only way to keep young. It is fundamental for beauty. Rest makes your eyes sparkle, your skin glow and your voice vibrant. Even your hair responds to rest."

"Someone should invent Rest Tests. If you can't pass the test, you should be required to stop whatever you are doing because when you get too tired too often you are digging your own grave."

But if you want to have maximum health and beauty, you should remember that we are what we eat. So don't allow yourself to think completely about how food tastes but do think of the nourishment that it gives you.

"It is really so simple. Don't get over tired. Don't overeat. Put first things first. And remember what Abraham Lincoln said, 'Every man is responsible for his acre after forty' and so it is up to us — the type of living we reflect," Anne concluded.

RELEASING TENSION

Anne's three steps to lightening fatigue form a good basis for releasing tension. If you'd like to know more about the subject, leaflet M-38 is the one for you. Among the tips are special exercises to relax the body and mind, exercises to relax eyes and tips on bathing and breathing to release strain. To get a copy of leaflet M-38, send 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Want To Join Her Club?

Lovely Anne Baxter learned when she was ill the importance of relaxation. Now she wants to form a "Relaxation, Inc." club. Anne stars in Allied Artists' "The Come On."

Fire Auxiliary Has 'Bonanza Basket' Friday

A "bonanza basket" was the feature of the afternoon meeting for the Firemen's Auxiliary Friday in the home of Mrs. H. V. Crocker. Mrs. Harvey Coffman was co-hostess.

For the basket, members brought articles to be sold to other members. Proceeds from the sale went into the welfare fund of the club. Remaining articles will be sold to friends and neighbors of the club members.

During the afternoon the women worked on cancer bandages. Mrs. Edison Taylor was awarded a special prize. Mrs. R. T. Hale, 711 San Antonio, will be the next hostess with Mrs. Howard Dodd assisting her.

Eleven members and one guest attended the meeting.

Martin Collects Elephants, Gavels

House Minority Leader Joe Martin (R-Mass) has an office collection of miniature elephants, symbol of his party. A carved wooden one, he says, was a gift of former President Harry S. Truman.

He also has a little green donkey which stands out in the collection he keeps on the mantel over a fireplace in his office in the Capitol. It is not a Democratic donkey, he insists. He told a group of women visitors it is a Willie donkey given him when he was a manager of the late Wendell Willkie's presidential campaign. Martin also has a collection of gavels, one with a built-in bell-ringer which he once used to pound an end to the 83rd Congress when he was speaker.

Work Around Clock

Katie Loucheim, director of women's activities, Democratic National Committee, does her work usually around the clock, from three desks. One is at committee headquarters, one in the library of her Georgetown home, another in her bedroom. Her understanding husband, Walter Loucheim, a financial consultant, says "Home is just an extension of the Democratic National Committee."

No Pink Pachyderms?

White elephants and purple donkeys joined forces in a bake and rummage sale put on by wives of Republican and Democratic members of Congress for the benefit of their nonpartisan Congressional Club headquarters. The event which drew more than 1,000 customers was a complete sell-out by mid-afternoon.

Bachelor's Choices

Young New York bachelor designer, Mr. Mort, picks these outfits as glamorous from a man's-eye view. He advises women to buy only dresses that "make you look pretty." Although his creations come in junior sizes, Mr. Mort points out that they can be worn by women of all ages because of simplicity of line and specialized fit. Left is a beige silk sheath with the new empire line; right, coat dress in black and white pin-striped cotton embroidered all over in tiny pink rosebuds.

HD Clubs Have Contest; Plan Tours For HD Week

Elizabeth Pace, county home demonstration agent, directed a contest for members of the Vealmoor HD Club Friday afternoon.

Meeting in the home of Mrs. Carl McKee, members competed in recognizing and naming shrubs. The prize was awarded to Mrs. J. S. Jackson, who named 10.

Mrs. McKee gave the devotion. Members answered roll call with names of evergreens that grow well in Howard County.

Miss Pace gave a discussion on shrubs. She stressed the importance of choosing the right plants for this section and selecting the right size of shrub for the space to be planted.

Mrs. Max Zant was introduced as a new member. Mrs. W. O. Cox won the white elephant prize.

Members made plans for an exhibit of their work to be shown during National HD Week, April 30-May 2. Plans were also made for a tour, which will include various homes. This will be in combination with the Knott HD Club. Members will gather at the HD office on May 1.

Members of the Centerpoint HD Club, meeting Thursday afternoon, voted to make their tour April 30. Members will meet in the home of Mrs. E. L. Bradford at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Leonard Hanson was hostess to the meeting Thursday, and she gave the devotion. Roll call was answered with the names of trees. Mrs. J. W. Brigrance gave a program on small utensils for the kitchen.

Nine attended the meeting, including a guest, Mrs. N. H. Montgomery of Waco.

Eight Girl Scouts of Troop 5 discussed badge work at a Friday afternoon meeting at the Hut. One visitor, Carolyn Wigginton, attended.

Redhead Wears Deputy's Badge

Miss Mary Farmer, with the National Democratic Committee staff is a red-haired deputy sheriff from Manchester, N. H.

Miss Farmer said that it was her job as secretary to the sheriff that led her indirectly into politics. "I went out every two years and worked for my boss's reelection," she explained.

She still holds deputy powers in her state and toed to Washington with her a deputy sheriff's badge of gold.

Her new duties include organizational work on the college level and rounding up speakers for Young Democrat groups over the country.

HI--TALK

By Mary Sue Hale

The most recent example of BSHS carrying off its ample share of honors is the contests held Senior Day at Howard County Junior College Friday. Two contests, talent and a Miss Senior event, ended with a total of twelve place winners.

Out of six spots, five winners were local girls in the Miss Senior contest. Sandy Jennings was awarded first place and a large "Miss Senior" trophy plus a number of gifts from local merchants. A full year's scholarship to H.C.J.C. was given her.

Next in line was an out of town girl, but Sally Cowper followed with a third place win. Sally was also awarded a trophy and a full year H.C.J.C. scholarship, along with gifts from local merchants. Eunice Freeman, Clara Freeman, and Margaret Fryar followed as 4th, 5th, and 6th place winners.

Eunice Freeman also competed in the talent section, carrying off first place in this event. Daniel Sanders, Jimmy Montgomery, and John Westbrook were the next winners in line, as they captured second place in this judging with a cornet trio.

Third place went to J. D. Adams and Clyde McMahon for a pantomime act. Lydia Corrales won fourth place with a solo number sung in Spanish. Four out of six places were won by BSHS girls in this part of the program.

DISTRICT WINNERS
Rodney Sheppard and Tom Guin, BSHS debate team, were out to Lubbock to seek regional honors Saturday at Lubbock.

Amarillo was the team assigned to Rod and Tom this weekend, after they cleared all obstacles in their path the previous weekend to become district champs.

Leta Sampson and Janice Williamson, second and third place winners in district shorthand, also went to Lubbock Saturday to compete in regional shorthand.

Mariene Mann and Carol Rogers represented our journalism department in regional journalistic competition held at Lubbock this weekend also. Marilyn Morris returned to compete for a regional spot in the declamation event, since she won a first place in district competition in Lubbock last weekend in that department.

Speaking of Marilyn, she is our senior of the week. Besides winning district senior girls declamation, Marilyn excels in many other phases of school activity. Most prominent, however, is her dramatic work. Lead parts in "Outward Bound," "Father of the Bride," have been hers, besides the "work behind the stage" that she has done so well.

With the stage crews of "One Foot in Heaven," and the Follies of '56, she diligently worked as student director of "Father of the Bride," as well as being a member of the cast.

Her lively imagination provided numerous editorials for the Corral when she was a member of that staff during her junior year. Marilyn won regional honors in ready writing, a branch of journalism judging that same year. She then graduated to the position of copy editor of the El Rodeo staff the next year. She is also a member of the Quill and Scroll, a national journalism organization. All this has been accomplished since her transfer from Tokyo, Japan, in 1954.

ELECTIONS HELD
Elections of cheer leaders and junior and senior student council representatives were held this week as a distraction to an otherwise average school week. Sue Boykin and Lou Ann White were elected for a second term to serve as senior cheer leaders. Junior cheer leaders are returnees, also, Val Jean LaCroix and Sammie McComb.

To serve as senior members of the student council will be Walter Dickenson, Jerry McMahan, Lewis Porter, and Jean Robinson. Junior representatives will be Stephen Baird, Brenda Gordon, Susan Landers, Opal Hancock, and George Peacock.

Armed Forces Day was a feature of BSHS Wednesday, as Webb

Garden City Has Eight In Contests

GARDEN CITY — Eight seniors entered contests Friday when they were guests of Howard County Junior College on Senior Day.

In the beauty contest were Kay Mitchell, Ruth Ware, Patsy Gotcher and Latrell Venable. Talent contestants were Rob Childers, Eugene Davis, Patsy Gotcher and Latrell Venable. Supt. W. A. Wilson also attended.

Mrs. J. A. Bigby won high score when Mrs. Joy Wilkerson was hostess to the Afternoon Bridge Club. Mrs. W. C. Underwood won second high and bingo prizes were won by Mrs. Clyde Reynolds and Mrs. C. J. Cox.

Rook Club Has Social

The Rook Club met with Mrs. W. A. Miller, 1204 Gregg, Friday afternoon for a monthly card social. A guest was Mrs. Jake Bishop.

The next meeting will be held 8:30 p.m., May 17, in the home of Mrs. C. E. Shive, 1311 Scurry.

Air Force Band entertained with a 30-minute program which was followed by a period in which members of different branches of the service spoke to boys and girls, separately, outlining the brighter side of non-civilian life.

The Odessa High School Choir presented a program of songs this week. Two quartets seemed to be especially popular with the student body; the first composed of girls and the second, of boys.

Off for four days in Fort Worth, where the state FHA convention meets, spiced up with shopping expeditions and other diversions, were 11 members of the local clubs. Accompanied by their teachers, Miss Edna McGregor and Mrs. John Annen and daughter, Vicki, the girls left Thursday to represent the local clubs. Members attending were Annette Boykin, Darlene Agee, Pat Bradford, Denise Honey, Sue Barnes, Helen Gray, Carlene Coleman, Sue Arlick, Loretta Bennett, and Arlinda Grifford.

Friendship Class Meets For Social In Stanton Home

STANTON—The Friendship Sunday School Class, First Baptist Church, had a monthly social Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Clayton Reynolds. Mrs. Walter Graves was co-hostess.

Mrs. Chalmers Wren, vice president, presided in the absence of the president.

Mrs. Prentiss Hightower offered the opening prayer. The devotion was given by Mrs. Dorothy Miller. The month's objective was discussed, to collect needed articles for the Stanton Baptist cabin at the Big Spring Camp. Each class member will donate an article.

It was announced the next social will be at the home of Mrs. Geneva Franklin.

Games were played and refreshments were served to 12.

Don Hightower is now employed at the Midland-Reporter Telegram. He recently was with the Odessa American.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Butcher of Hobbs, N.M., recently visited in Stanton with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Butcher.

O. E. Bryan has returned from Washington, D. C. He is manager of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

100 Guests Call At House Warming

ACKERLY — More than 100 guests called at a house warming for Mrs. Edd Hall and sons recently.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lonnie Kemp, Mrs. Jonnie Clark, Mrs. Tommy Horton, Mrs. J. T. Cook, Mrs. Lester Brown, Mrs. D. L. Rasberry, Mrs. Fred Thomas, Mrs. Jake Harry, Mrs. Aubrey Lankford and Mrs. Darrell Smith.

Attending the state Future Homemakers of America Convention in Fort Worth this weekend are Maria B. Rhea, Beverly Russell and Mrs. John Johnson.

Eighth graders held a theatre party recently. Sponsors of the group were Mrs. Arthur Little, Mrs. Tommie Horton and Mrs. Ray Adams.

Zenobia Crain and Jessie Ann McDonald are spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCurtin.

What's Your Rating As A Date - Wrecker?

By VIVIAN BROWN
What's your date-wrecking quotient? Have you ever given it a thought?

One young man, Jim Flynn, really stirred up a hornet's nest when he listed in the Huntington Park, Calif., high school paper, six types of date wreckers.

It really made the girls hoppin' mad. But as Jim said of their outraged reaction — "I merely constructed the shoe. If they want to announce that it fits, it's up to them."

Here are the date wrecking types. Be honest now, girls when testing yourself. . . . "Dominating Diane" — the bossy type, who "tells her date how to drive, when to roll down the window, and how to part his hair. (There are lots of these types around, although usually they are the steady daters who feel pretty sure of their man.)

NO PARKING
"Forgetful Frances" — absent-minded by chance or design who "remembers at 11:50 p.m. that she has to be home at 12 sharp."

"These are the girls who are smart enough to shave the time so close there's no time for parking on the way home."

"Catty Kathy" — who "spends the evening talking about the faults of other girls, especially those her date used to go steady with (This type usually lacks a sense of security, and will always fear competition, we'll bet.)

"Betty Bring Down" — the belittler, who "makes cracks about her date's car and flips ashes on the rug." (A man fears this type more than any other. He may have heard Dad being criticized by Mom for insignificant things, so you can imagine he'll shy away from the clutches of the belittler.)

"Irene Iceberg" — she's the gal "who sits on the far side of the car, giving her date the impression he must have something contagious." (As a matter of fact he probably does — "Parkitis," the disease that runs out of gas every three or four miles.)

ADDED ATTRactions
The trouble with Jim's list is he doesn't include: "Jennie Dutch Treat" — the gal any boy will go out with because she always pays her own way, and sometimes his tab too; "Mary Home Treat" — she's the girl whose popular with the "scoundrels" because she's always got something good to eat in the family refrigerator, and some nice cool drinks while he lounges on the sofa."

That's the 1956 male edition. But maybe Flynn doesn't want to be reminded of these oaf-types of which there are more than any other.

And what ever happened to the chivalrous beau, the one who bought tickets for a show occasionally, who remembered a birthday, who arrived with a corsage for that important date?

Let's tee off on the ungallant swain, girls. They're getting too big for their breeches.

Now that Grace and Margaret are happily married and we've had a rain, about the only thing unusual is the weather that doesn't seem to know it's April. There have been more chilly winters here the past week because they have already had their winter clothes put in storage and here came more winter weather. They didn't get cold enough to stay home though.

I see where MRS. AND MRS. BOOTY BLOUNT are here from Austin. Daughter, HELOD, is just about ready for her new musical show that is to open soon in New York, so I understand, I remember in the late 1930's when we were all so broke and the Chamber of Commerce sponsored free amateur hours at the amphitheatre; Helon was one of the contestants and she sang "Sitting on the Old Fence Rail" with her mother playing her accompaniment. Even then her talent was apparent.

MISS LETTIE BROWN of Dallas is the houseguest of her friend, MRS. J. L. THOMAS.

CAPT. AND MRS. O. W. VANCE and their daughters, Loraine and Charlotte, of Topeka, Kan., are visiting in the home of her parents MR. AND MRS. N. A. JOHNSON. They have been vacationing in Galveston and are planning to stay here through Tuesday when they will return to their home.

MR. AND MRS. MERLE STEWART and Stanford expect to return here today after spending several days in Oklahoma City with relatives.

Turner's. Pretty MARIE PETTY, who is teaching in Coahoma, was across the room and I never got to say hello.

When I see the lovely high school girls in their pretty dresses, as they were at the Senior Day activities Friday at the Junior College, I just can't see why they ever wear those awful blue jeans and treader pants to school. It's just a personal wish, but I wish our schools would insist on the junior and senior high girls wearing dresses to school and our junior and senior high boys wearing their blue jeans up over their hip bones.

As I say, it's strictly personal.

The R. E. Blounts Sr., visiting here this weekend, tell how their daughter Helon attended a farewell party aboard ship for Castleberry Campbell, another former Big Springer. Someone stole her purse, and while she frantically tried to find it, the boat sailed for Europe. She got aboard when the ship dropped the pilot.

Club Problem Discussed By Desk, Derrick

Desk and Derrick members from Region Five met at Cosden Country Club Saturday to hear panel discussions and exchange ideas on club problems.

Mrs. LaVerne Montgomery of Lubbock, regional director, was in charge of the program. Delegates were expected from 17 towns in the region, which includes West Texas, Arizona and part of New Mexico.

Saturday morning's discussions were taken up with "General Club Problems." A luncheon was served at noon, with the afternoon topic being "Committee Functions."

This morning, members are meeting at the Settles Hotel for a program dealing with "The Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America."

A party at the Athletic Club Saturday afternoon was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tollett. This was followed by a banquet at the Settles. Mrs. Paul Sheerly was in charge of arrangements for the convention.

Anthony's

At the Methodist WSCS book review Tuesday evening MRS. HAYES STRILING was pretty in a black shiny straw that she wore squarely on the fore part of her head. It was one of those styles that all of us can't wear. On her it looked good. MRS. JOHN WINKLER, who, I understand, is the mother of twins, a boy and a girl, looked charming in a large light brown straw hat worn with a dress of aqua. She hadn't put her coat away and it was a pretty bright tangerine. MRS. JIM LEWIS whose hairstyle is different, wore a pretty white beaded small hat. MRS. M. H. TURNER looked gay in a bright red faille duster.

MRS. D. E. BARTLETT of Midland is visiting in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, MR. AND MRS. RILEY FOSTER. Also a weekend guest of Judy Foster is MELINDA MEAD, a former resident, who is now making her home in Abilene.

In San Angelo Thursday night for the Lily Pons performance were MR. AND MRS. J. C. PICKLE. This concert is the last of the current series sponsored by the San Angelo College Association.

MR. AND MRS. A. M. RIPP'S returned during the past week from San Antonio where they visited with his family. While in South Texas they attended the big strawberry festival at Poteet.

MR. AND MRS. C. O. NALLEY left today for Dallas with their daughter and son-in-law, LT. AND MRS. RUSSELL SCOTT, who will leave there by plane for New York. They will sail from New York for England where they will be stationed with the Air Force.

MR. AND MRS. L. B. MAULDIN and son, Blair, are in Lubbock where they are attending a district meeting of the S. and D. Distributors.

We enjoyed being with the members of the Howard County Teachers Association last week in Coahoma. It was nice to meet MR. AND MRS. FRED SALLING, Coahoma's high school principal and MR. AND MRS. H. L. MILLER, the superintendent. I talked about children (mostly mine) and school teaching practices (all hers) with MRS. EDITH MCBRIDE who teaches at Vealmoor. Also there were MR. AND MRS. HARRY MIDDLETON. She teaches at Elbow as does Mary Pratt who was attractive in a red duster. In fact the same pretty red as Mrs.

Farewell Shower, 42 Party Featured For Coahoma Folks

COAHOMA — Mrs. Boone Cramer honored Allie Rae Adams with a party and handkerchief shower in her home recently. Miss Adams is moving to Grandbury to make her home.

The serving table was laid with white linen and centered with arrangement of mixed spring flowers. Crystal and silver completed the table appointments.

A 42 party was given by the Baptist Fidelis class for members and their husbands. The serving table was lace laid and centered with spring flowers and fern. Mrs. Henry Wallace and Mrs. O. B. Warren were at the serving table. Mrs. Ralph White and Mrs. Henry Wallace were hostesses.

The members of the Jolly Sewing Club met in the Legion hall this week with 11 members present and a new member, Mrs. Hershel Fowler. Mrs. Aina Bobo won the special prize.

Mrs. K. E. Foglesong visited in San Angelo with her son and family this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett DeVaney of Goldsmith spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. Rosie DeVaney.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Sheedy spent the weekend in Comanche visiting her sister and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shive and Mrs. Carl Bates spent several days in Lubbock this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DeVaney and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bates.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tinner will spend this weekend in Odessa visiting their children Mr. and Mrs. Lou Turlo and Nancy Jane.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson will spend the weekend in Paducah visiting in the home of his uncle.

Heat Crabapples

Spiced crabapples are readily available at most food markets. Use the syrup from the fruit for basting a clove-studded boneless pork shoulder butt. Heat the crabapples and serve as a garnish for the meat.

Indian Sari Seen At Rummage Sales

It is not unusual to see a lady in a sari, or scarf-draped costume from India rummaging through odd items along with scores of American women at a fund-raising bazaar in Washington, D. C. To Mrs. Barkat Ram, dark-eyed wife of a delegate from India to the World Bank here, such affairs are commonplace.

"Bazaars provide the most popular way of raising money in my country," Mrs. Ram said.

"We need lots of money; for the Red Cross, for helping the thousands of victims from the floods which come almost every year. It's difficult for most people of my country to give. When you ask them to buy, they are very willing," Mrs. Ram said that the women of New Delhi, like the women in this country, make most of the items sold at their bazaars. She herself usually contributes knitted articles, for knitting is one of her hobbies.

Wives who accompany their congressmen husbands on junkets abroad have a duty to learn as much as possible about the places they visit. They should show interest and express their appreciation of hospitality extended by foreign hosts, says Mrs. Maurice Burnside, wife of a Democratic representative from West Virginia.

"Otherwise," she says, "there's no point in their going along."

Mrs. Burnside is one of the wives who accompanied their husbands on a congressional committee survey of South American countries.

Spicy Herbs Add Flavor To Garden

MIDLAND, Mich. — A Midland housewife can embark on a meal-time adventure every time she steps into her hobby — the herb garden that grows outside her kitchen door.
 In a plot of scented flavors, Mrs. D. D. Irish trends sweet basil and oregano; borage and burnet; chervil, chives and coriander; apple mint and thyme.
 In 10 years of experimentation, Mrs. Irish has developed a plot of more than 20 different varieties of herbs. Well-known as an expert in the field, she frequently speaks before women's and garden groups on her hobby.
 Since she first began to grow herbs, she has found they are more satisfactory in a smaller plot and closer to the house than her original garden.
 "I found that to make the best use of herbs they should be readily available and that very little space is needed to grow on an ample amount," Mrs. Irish says.
 A single plant is enough for normal needs. Care must always be taken in cooking with herbs to use a little at a time — too much gives a bitter flavor.
 To have a supply of herbs on hand during the winter months, Mrs. Irish gathers many varieties at their flavor peak, just before blossoming time, and dries them. Just how does Mrs. Irish use her herbs?
 One summertime way is in a cold thermos jug filled with mint tea. Her mint plants include spearmint, apple mint, pineapple mint and peppermint.
 The leaves of sweet-scented geraniums — rose, peppermint and lemon — are used to flavor jellies or crushed to spice a room.
 Leaf tips of borage go into pickles, fish sauces and salads; the flowers can be candied or floated in punch.
 Burnet gives a cucumber-like flavor to salads; chives have a delicate onion flavor; chervil is similar to parsley; coriander, an ingredient of curry powder, flavors honey cakes and cookies.
 Mrs. Irish, exploring new uses for herbs, finds that true enjoyment of herb flavors is best fostered by gradual introduction of their different tastes.
 Her rule: a light and delicate touch.

Local Women Host Iris Society Today

Expected here today are about 30 members of the Midland Iris Society, who will make a pilgrimage of three local Iris gardens.
 Members will meet in the home of Mrs. Cliff Wiley, 1010 Eleventh Place. From there, they will go to the home of Mrs. Norman Reed, 503 Washington Blvd.
 The last stop will be at the home of Mrs. Obie Bristow, 554 Hillside, where tea will be served.
 Included in the Society, which is a subsidiary of the national society, are towns in the southern part of District One Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Ted Wegman Is Class Speaker

Mrs. Ted Wegman gave the devotion for the Bethany Sunday School Class of Temple Baptist Church Thursday evening. She chose the subject, "The History of the Disciples" for the group, which met in the home of Mrs. Randall Carpenter.
 The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. R. H. Long. Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. Sidney Woods, 2008 Johnson. Six members attended Thursday's meeting with one guest.

PYTHIANS, CLUBS

Banquet Date Set For May 3 In Lamesa

LAMESA — The Pythian Sisters met Thursday evening in the hall with Mrs. E. J. Bartlett presiding over the business meeting. It was voted to hold the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet May 3.
 During the good of the order a memorial ceremony was presented in memory of Mrs. Ada Bell Onion, past supreme chief, who passed away in Austin at the age of 84. Mrs. Ira Ashley was the most excellent chief and was assisted in the ceremony by Mrs. Sam Floyd, Mrs. John Agee, Mrs. Earl Henderson, Mrs. Mable Lee Ray, Mrs. Jack Barrow, Mrs. Jack Mitchell, Mrs. J. D. Jenkins, and Mrs. Vic Middleton.
 Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Frank Love, Mrs. B. L. Bratcher, and Mrs. Willie Tyra.

The Dawson County Garden Club met Thursday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Charnell Jobe was elected to be the club's nominee for the outstanding club woman of the year.
 It was voted to hold a plant exchange May 12, the last day of the clean up campaign, on the bandstand on the courthouse lawn. Mrs. J. H. Adkins is the chairman to be assisted by Mrs. Ella Schmidt, Mrs. W. C. Land, and Mrs. A. N. Randall.
 The Junior Gardeners, under the leadership of Mrs. Buster Reed, will distribute Litter Bug stickers and posters.
 The program, presented by Mrs. Oliver Rhoades on house plants, was followed by a question and answer period. Mrs. Ben Dobson reported on a clinic held in Midland and Mrs. C. Jobe on one in Amarillo.
 Hostesses were Mrs. W. C. Land and Mrs. J. H. Adkins.

Ten Lamesans attended the District P-TA Spring Conference in Sweetwater Thursday and Friday. Twenty counties were represented at the meeting.
 Leading in a workshop or discussion group were Mrs. Geneva Cox, Mrs. Horace Burger, Mrs. Buster Reed, and C. W. Tarter. Others attending the meeting were

A Desk-Storage Unit For Children's Room

By BILL BAKER
Here's a chance to build a handsome and useful desk-storage combination unit for the children's room. Without a doubt, you couldn't add a better item of furniture to your home.

Take a look at the above picture and I'm sure you can imagine how useful the unit will be in your own home.

Wide shelves, 12 inches deep and almost two feet long, offer lots of room to store much-used toys handy drawer is an ideal place for the youngster to store his treasures. The whole shelf section of the unit, by the way, is almost four feet high.

Most impressive part of the unit is the adjustable desk. Almost two feet wide, the writing surface can be tilted to any angle. The addition of a special strip will hold book or paper in place.

Using my pattern package 121, you'll be able to build the desk combination for a fraction of the amount it would take to purchase one like it in a custom shop.

The pattern package, you'll discover, makes for easy workshop sailing. Exact-size pattern pieces, much like a woman's dress pattern only in heavy-weight paper, make it a task, trace and cut schedule. A full material list, diagrams and finishing suggestions are also included for your assistance. And you'll do the whole job without a lot of special tools, too.

To get your pattern just send your name and address (clearly printed), and one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, Calif. Remember, it's pattern No. 121.

Mechanic Saves Fire Victim

GARLAND, Tex. (AP)—A cool-thinking, fast-acting mechanic is credited by a fire marshal with saving the life of Leon Blessingame, 36, who was engulfed in flames when a truck engine backfired.

Garland Fire Marshal Bob Flanagan, who witnessed the explosion at Blessingame's garage, said the victim was sprayed with flaming gasoline when the carburetor into which he was pouring gasoline backfired.

"His face, head and hands were wrapped in fire. Flames six to eight inches long were licking off his head," Flanagan said.

Mechanic Mason Dean ripped off his own shirt and wrapped it around the head of victim. But the terrified Blessingame tore it off, broke loose and started running. Dean ran after him, caught him and pushed Blessingame's head and hands into a water trough, extinguishing the flames.

The victim was taken to Baylor Hospital in Dallas where his condition was reported fair.

6 Organizations Join Forces To Aid Water Program Plans

AUSTIN (AP)—Six farm, ranch and soil conservation organizations officially joined forces here last week "to aid in the formulation of a positive statewide water program."

After convincing itself that its original name was okay, the Texas Agricultural Water Committee elected R. W. Hodge, 36, of Del Rio as its chairman. A sheep and goat raiser on 13,000 acres near the border town, Hodge is immediate past president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Assn.

Named as vice chairman was Glenn White of Donna and the Texas Farm Bureau. Ernest Williams of San Angelo, executive secretary of the TS&GRA, was named temporary secretary-treasurer.

The six charter groups are: Texas State Grange, Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Assn., Texas Farm Bureau, Assn. of Texas Soil Conservation Districts, Texas Farmers Union and the TS&GRA.

Controversial water issues were brought up throughout the meeting, but "not for attack but for learning about them," said J. B. McCord of Coleman, TS&GRA president and former temporary chairman for the newly formed committee.

Adopting a resolution, the committee said water supply and its use require "diligent study and attention... solutions that are fair to all segments of our citizenry and to all users of water must be found."

Its solution for an adequate water program would provide "For reduction of flood water waste through a program of sound conservation through upstream watershed protection.

"Flood prevention through a program of reservoirs on major streams for flood control.

"For storage of water for domestic, municipal, agricultural, industrial and miscellaneous uses."

The six charter members agreed to meet with the legislative-appointed Texas Water Resources Committee, but as individual groups and not representing the newly formed organization.

Hodge said he plans to be at the resources committee meeting May 17-18 as an observer.

The six groups turned down earlier invitations from the resources committee, saying they first wanted to talk problems over among themselves.

MEN IN SERVICE

Johnnie Suter, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Suter, 1005 Lancaster, has been named "honor man" of his recruit training company at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Young Suter has been in the Navy since Feb. 12 and has completed his boot training at the Great Lakes Station. He graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Tarleton State College and Howard County Junior College before enlisting in the Navy.

He was selected as honor man at Great Lakes on the basis of leadership, sportsmanship, military bearing, initiative, response to orders, general cleanliness, and high scholastic standing.

A certificate of honor and engraved identification bracelet were presented during a recruit graduation review Saturday morning.

A member of the Far East Air Forces in Japan, Staff Sergeant Jerry M. Williams, Big Spring, recently arrived at Johnson Air Base and will be assigned as a personnel specialist with a bombardment group.

His wife, Polly, and children, James, Jerome and Caroline, reside in Big Spring. Johnson Air Base is located near Tokyo on the main Japanese island of Honshu.

Court Rules Vet Improperly Fired On Loyalty Basis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled Friday that James Kutcher, legless World War II veteran, was improperly fired as a Veterans Administration clerk on grounds of "reasonable doubt" of his loyalty.

Dividing 2-1, the appellate court reversed U. S. Dist. Judge Burnita Shelton Matthews who had granted a government motion to throw out Kutcher's suit for reinstatement.

Judge E. Barrett Prettyman, speaking for himself and Judge John A. Danaher, said the charges against Kutcher and the findings of a Veterans Administration loyalty board "differ substantially."

Kutcher, 44, who lost both legs while serving in the Army on the Italian front, has been fighting since 1948 to get back his job as a clerk in the Newark, N. J., VA office. He made about $42 a week when he was fired.

Kutcher figured prominently in the news several months ago when the VA cut off his $329-a-month compensation for loss of his legs.

Kutcher appealed and the VA in January ordered him back on the rolls. This followed a public hearing at which Kutcher, as he has done so many times, acknowledged membership and activity in the Socialist Workers party. This is generally regarded as the Trotskyite wing of communism.

Hearing Delayed In Kidnap Case

GEORGETOWN (AP)—A hearing for a Houston nurse accused of kidnaping a 20-minute-old infant from a Beaumont hospital at year ago has been postponed indefinitely.

The trial of Mrs. Pauline Schulze, 30, had been set for Friday before Judge D. B. Wood in the 26th District Court after a postponement earlier this month. Judge Wood said he was busy with other cases now.

Mrs. Schulze is charged with the March 19, 1955 kidnaping of Carolyn Sue Wharton. The former nurses' aide went on trial Jan. 30 in Beaumont but a mistrial was declared Feb. 4, after doctors testified that a key witness was too ill to testify.

'Fixing Up' Pays Great Dividends

Few investments can pay as great dividends as a systematic program of "fixing up" around the house. In dollar and cents, the money you apply to repairing and re-painting will yield a proportionately higher return in property values. This is the consensus of local realtors whose business it is to appraise and to market houses every day. As great as the value of such investment may be momentarily, it is no greater than a sense of self-satisfaction. In fact, some realtors put major emphasis upon this return.

Typical comments on the value of a sound maintenance policy is this from Jack Cook: "I don't know anything that will depreciate the value of property more rapidly than just letting things go," he said. "I know I surely will appraise a place much higher if the owner has kept it in good repair and has kept the woodwork protected with a good coat of paint."

Polish Reds Fire Officials

LONDON (AP)—Warsaw radio said Friday Poland's Red government has fired three top officials—two of whom starred for the prosecution in Polish purge trials.

The broadcast identified the ousted officials as Prosecutor General Stefan Kalinowski, State Farms Minister Stanislaw Radkiewicz and Chief Military Prosecutor Gen. Stanislaw Zarakowski.

The broadcast said there had been "distortions in the work of the military prosecutor's office" and "inadmissible lack of supervision" over its investigations.

The announcement said there had been "serious deficiencies" in Kalinowski's work in recent years. This was seen as a hint that some of the victims of the purge trials under his regime may be restored to good standing.

No reason was given for the firing of Radkiewicz.

Other real estate men and women echoed this view. They agreed that the wisest policy is to fix things as often as they need fixing, and not to wait until the lack of repair causes far greater damage.

Once a year, such as during Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up Week, it is a good idea to go over the premises for an inspection with the view of catching up on anything which might have been overlooked.

Whatever cost is involved is not really cost at all in the long run, they pointed out. Failure to do it will cost you a lot more in depreciation values. Besides, if you do attend to this chore, you have the satisfaction of having maintained your comfort and pride.

Gets TU Assignment

HOUSTON, April 21 (AP)—Col. David Liston, World War II deputy chief surgeon of the European Theater of operations, has been appointed assistant director of the University of Texas Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

Repairs Require Right Tools, Materials

One of the major stumbling blocks to complete satisfaction for the do-it-yourself citizen who wants to make some improvements around his home is the product of insufficient or improper tools and material.

A householder can, in these modern days, do nearly any job in the category of home improvement as well as a professional—if he provides himself with the right tools and the right material to do the task.

Big Spring dealers point out that many home owners attempt carpentry, painting, minor electrical and plumbing repair or other renovation jobs illy prepared for the work to be done.

As a result, the task when it is completed falls short of being all the houseowner hoped for.

Most Big Spring shops have completed stocks of tools needed for nearly any repair or renovation job that the average citizen may wish to attempt. And the material needed for such jobs is also available.

For the amateur who decides that painting is needed around his house, it is urged that he provide himself with good brushes, proper quality paint, and all of the other material the job calls for.

The same rule as to tools and materials is true where the home-owner tries his hand at carpenter work.

This does not mean, it was pointed out, that the amateur craftsman must have a complete kit of tools comparable to what a professional workman must have. But the amateur needs more than a beat-up hammer and saw if he wants to do acceptable carpentry work; he needs more than a worn-out paint brush to achieve a creditable job of decorating.

One special admonition is given: Most work around the home in connection with the annual spring cleanup and touchup program requires the use of ladders. It is axiomatic that the average household stepladder is not a safe and suitable tool.

For the sake of safety and peace of mind, the business establishments which deal in such supplies urge that the home repairman make certain his ladder is safe and usable.

It is also emphasized that amateurs who attempt to make improvements in the electrical features of their residences keep firmly in mind that carelessness in this field can be deadly.

The advice of the Big Spring dealers who handle the materials that the average home repair worker requires can be summed up in a short statement: "Provide yourself with the tools and material the job calls for. Study the project and determine exactly the steps to be taken and the order in which they fall. Exercise care in doing the work—care in making the job look right and serve right; care in handling materials which are dangerous so that no accident can occur to you or your family."

Plant Opens Monday

ARANSAS PASS, April 21 (AP)—The Sunray-Midcontinent Redfish Bay Gas Products plant between here and Ingleside will begin operations Monday. The plant is designed to process 140 million cubic feet of gas per day.

2 C-C Committees Work At Enlisting Clean-Up Support

Goal of the Clean-Up and Beautification Committees of the Chamber of Commerce has been to enlist as many Big Springers as possible in the annual spring clean-up, paint-up and fix-up campaign.

The effort has been taken one step further this year. Support of the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs has been sought to encourage residents to make extra efforts at beautification of the city.

Garden Club members are asking homeowners throughout Big Spring to plant more trees, flowers and shrubbery to achieve the goal of beautification.

Directing this phase of the program this year are Mrs. O. B. Bristow, president of the Garden Club Council, E. L. (Son) Powell, clean-up committee chairman, and Mrs. Clara Zack, chairman of the beautification committee.

Others playing leading roles in the promotion of the spring clean-up have been M. R. (Frog) Koger, who has directed the appeal for cleaning up vacant lots; H. V. Crocker, city fire chief who has been in charge of the fire prevention phase of the clean-up; Jack Irons, who with Ellis Brown, Negro Chamber of Commerce president, and Robert Walker, Lakeview school principal, is directing the campaign on the northside; C. A. Ross, who is responsible for appealing to all service club members to join in the clean-up; Sam McComb, in charge of Boy Scout activities; and Jack Wallace, who with Mrs. Zack has handled radio and television publicity.

To play vital parts in the campaign this week are Herbert Whitney, city manager, and R. V. (Skeet) Foresyth, superintendent of the city's public works department. They and Foresyth's street crews will be responsible for the removal of a year's accumulation of rubbish. All they ask is that residents place in their customary garbage collection areas the waste that is scraped up from homes and lots during the week. The city trucks will do the rest; the trash will be moved to the dump grounds for disposal by fire.

Big Spring schools, represented on the clean-up committee by Supt. W. C. Blankenship and M. R. Turner, also have a place in the clean-up campaign.

Letters urging all parents to join in the effort have been sent to school patrons through the schools. In addition, a clean-up, paint-up, fix-up poster contest is being conducted in the elementary schools.

'Litterbug' Drive Clean-Up Feature

A "Litterbug" Campaign will be sponsored by the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs during Clean-Up Week.

Scheduled for the first six grades of the public schools is a poster contest, with the first and second prizes for each grade. Five dollars will be awarded to the winner, with three dollars going to the second best poster, dealing with some phase of cleaning up litter.

An over all prize of six dollars will be given for the best poster turned in. Plans are under way to place metal Litterbug signs in various spots around the town.

Mrs. J. B. Knox is chairman of a committee appointed to map plans for helping with the clean-up drive. The Council will present a panel on one of the radio stations next week. Date and time of the program will be announced later.

There will be two cash prizes, plus an honorable mention, for the students in each grade who make the most effective posters urging Big Springers to clean up their premises.

The prizes will be $3 for first place, $1 for second place and honorable mention for third place in each of the six elementary grades. Turner is in charge of the contest and the winners will be announced during Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week.

Other appeals for all-out participation will be made by means of movie shorts and radio and television announcements. Many merchants also are joining in the appeal through advertisements in The Herald.

And Big Springers will notice the Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up banners on the sides of delivery trucks and public vehicles during the week. The banners were placed on the trucks by owners in cooperation with the clean-up committee. Powell and Avery Falkner handled that phase of the program.

O'Daniel Plans Outdoor Rallies

FORT WORTH, April 21 (AP)—Lee O'Daniel, candidate for governor, said today he would hold a series of "big open outdoor meetings" across the state to tell the people of "special interests" in the state government.

Speaking over WBAP, O'Daniel invited the "folks to get ready to attend" the meetings so he could tell them how "professional politicians" have "taken over and converted" the Texas state government into "a money-making machine for the special interests."

Proclamation

Mayor G. W. Dabney Saturday officially proclaimed April 22-28 for Big Spring's annual Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up campaign and urged every citizen to participate in this year's program.

Today's proclamation was as follows: WHEREAS, the general health and welfare of our citizens depend upon wholesome surroundings arising from good clean living conditions, and

WHEREAS, the lives and property of our people are endangered by fire and accidents caused by littered and cluttered conditions in homes, factories, places of public assembly, alleys and streets and

WHEREAS, a clean and beautiful community is a proud and prosperous one and

WHEREAS, unity of effort is required for future development of our community,

THEREFORE, I, G. W. Dabney, Mayor of the City of Big Spring, do hereby designate April 22 to 28 inclusive as Clean Up Week and most respectfully call upon all departments of this city, its commercial organizations, civic clubs, schools, churches, boys' and girls' clubs and all other associations and our people in general to take an active part in this constructive program of community improvement to insure its success.

This, the 21st day of April, 1956.

MAYOR G. W. DABNEY
City of Big Spring

White Still Homeowners' Favorite Outside Color

The average Big Springer, driven by the ancient springtime urge to do a bit of touching up around the home, will repaint his residence white if his impulse toward home decoration includes that operation.

Color fads come and color fads go but the majority of folk still cling persistently to white as their standard for the exterior of their residences.

C. A. Ross, manager of the Sherwin Williams Paint store here, said that he sells more white outside paint than any other color and that the average customer who plans to do any repainting automatically turns to that old reliable shade in making his plans.

"There are hundreds of colors available," he said. "And of course a lot of folk vary from the ordinary pattern. The point is that white always has been and still is the favorite color for exteriors."

TWO-COLOR TONES
Inside the house, though, things are different. Right at this time, Ross said, the big star combination for interiors is charcoal and pink. Turquoise likewise has many devoted followers.

Like the manufacturers of automobiles, this is the day when two color combinations are in high favor with those who do inside painting.

Pastel pinks and greens are also getting followers in sizeable number, Ross says.

The desire for more shades, he pointed out, has driven the paint manufacturers to develop many new colors.

Five years ago, there were 30 basic tints in standard paint lines. Today, his stock includes 144 basic colors. By blending, this number can be expanded to more than a thousand different shades. And by 1,000, Ross means that many possible colors can be produced which are accepted and recommended.

These are the days, too, when it is no longer imperative in the springtime to employ a professional painter to do the paint-up job that the homeowner has in mind. Paint manufacturers have gone all out in preparing materials and paints ideally suited to the limited experience and talent of the amateur — the "do-it-yourself" sort of person.

TROUBLE FREE PAINTS
Greatest of all aids to the home

decorator who does the work personally are the new rubber based paints. These are to all purposes completely "bug free." Anyone can use them and do a good job. They automatically smooth out and leave no unsightly brush marks; they are easily applied; they dry in minutes.

A room can be refinished in the morning and be back in service that night.

The colors are abundant in these new easily applied rubber-based paints.

One important development of recent years in these paints, Ross said, is the elimination of the one troublesome feature of the past. When the rubber base paints were first introduced it was stressed in big black letters on each container — "Do not stir." If the paint was stirred, air bubbles in great numbers developed and the amateur painter was in for a lot of grief. Now that difficulty has been eliminated.

Today's rubber based paints, improved in a hundred other ways, are also bubble-free. Stirring, if the amateur painter insists on that practice, does not harm them. They are still as easily and effectively useable as ever.

PAINT DOES THE JOB
Nothing, Ross points out, can make a residence look so clean and attractive as a paint job.

And there is a lot more to it than just appearance.

Paint is the best of all preservatives of a house. It prevents the damages and ravages of weather from working their will; it increases the value of the property.

And for the do-it-yourselfer, a well applied coat of paint can do a great deal to conceal "botches" in amateur carpentry and give the finished product a professional touch.

Clean-Up Eliminates Many Fire Hazards

Fires do not start without a cause. And city fire chief H. V. Crocker said that if a person would remove the causes, he would remove the fires.

A quick check of any residence will reveal several fire starters, Crocker said. The average citizen does not realize what constitutes a fire hazard, and in overlooking seemingly small items, the citizen is paving the way for a fire.

Trash cans and piles of trash around the cans causes thousands of fires each year. Locally, in March five of the 25 calls made by the department were trash fires. Although the local firemen reported no monetary damage from the five, the fires could easily have spread if not controlled immediately, Crocker added.

All trash should be placed in authorized metal cans with tight-fitting lids. In this way, if a small blaze should develop, lack of oxygen in the air-tight can would stifle it.

Another minor item which can lead to fires is leaving oily rags near an open flame and also in a closed room. Concerning the open flame, the rags are likely to burst into flame when everything seems safe, the fire chief warned.

Leaving oily and paint-soaked rags in a closed room is an invitation for fire from spontaneous combustion. Fumes from the rags are liable to cause a blaze which can quickly consume the rags — and just as quickly the room.

Crocker said that in addition to cleaning up around the house to prevent fires, repairing electrical and gas connections can eliminate them.

Those makeshift repairs that "will be fixed right next week" are often cause of blazes, Crocker said. That "next week" usually does not come until the house has burned, he added.

When electrical repairs are needed, the person to handle the job is a qualified electrician, the fire chief advised, and not the neighbor who claims he can fix it with a screwdriver and a roll of friction tape.

As to gas connections, the same applies, Crocker said. A small gas leak when a careless cigarette pitched nearby could mean bye-bye, he warned.

During the past year, fires in Big Spring cost citizens just short of $70,000, and if the citizens had rid themselves of these common hazards, the figure would have been practically nothing.

Vacant Lots Need Cleaning

Clean-up Week will be a waste of time unless that vacant lot next to you is cleaned up. Or maybe the one across the alley is an eyesore.

Even if your yard is spick and span, the first high wind will pick up some of the papers caught on the weeds and bushes on that lot and transfer them to your place.

To avoid this, why not clean up those vacant spots. Chances are that the owner is not going to have it done, and it would take very little effort on the part of you and your neighbors.

To lighten the work and make it more fun than a chore, how about getting a group of neighbors together to do the cleaning. With several to rake and collect the trash, the job can be done some afternoon after office hours.

To add festivity to the occasion, plan a supper, covered dish or potluck to be served when the work is completed. If there's a barbecue pit among the group, have a wiener roast or hamburger broil. Plan something easy to prepare in order that the women can join in the cleaning and visiting without spending all their time in the kitchen.

ported no monetary damage from the five, the fires could easily have spread if not controlled immediately, Crocker added.

All trash should be placed in authorized metal cans with tight-fitting lids. In this way, if a small blaze should develop, lack of oxygen in the air-tight can would stifle it.

Another minor item which can lead to fires is leaving oily rags near an open flame and also in a closed room. Concerning the open flame, the rags are likely to burst into flame when everything seems safe, the fire chief warned.

Leaving oily and paint-soaked rags in a closed room is an invitation for fire from spontaneous combustion. Fumes from the rags are liable to cause a blaze which can quickly consume the rags — and just as quickly the room.

Crocker said that in addition to cleaning up around the house to prevent fires, repairing electrical and gas connections can eliminate them.

Those makeshift repairs that "will be fixed right next week" are often cause of blazes, Crocker said. That "next week" usually does not come until the house has burned, he added.

When electrical repairs are needed, the person to handle the job is a qualified electrician, the fire chief advised, and not the neighbor who claims he can fix it with a screwdriver and a roll of friction tape.

As to gas connections, the same applies, Crocker said. A small gas leak when a careless cigarette pitched nearby could mean bye-bye, he warned.

During the past year, fires in Big Spring cost citizens just short of $70,000, and if the citizens had rid themselves of these common hazards, the figure would have been practically nothing.

Proper Disposal Of Garbage Is Aid To Health

Pardon us, but your garbage is showing.

And if the city is to keep down disease this summer, the thing to do is cover up that garbage can.

City sanitarians checked 55 houses in various sections of Big Spring recently and found that 70 per cent of the places did not know of the city's ordinances concerning proper handling of garbage.

They likewise said that many did not know they could be fined in corporation court for violation of these ordinances. The city did not pass the laws to gain revenue from fines, however; they were passed in the interest of fire, fly, and disease prevention.

The regulations are against (1) open or overturned containers and scattered trash, (2) bent or damaged lids, (3) unapproved containers, (4) piled or littered trash around the garbage can, (5) lack of adequate containers, (6) fire or burned trash and garbage in the containers, and (7) wet garbage left in the containers.

Bent or damaged lids will give flies and disease-carrying insects access to the garbage, and if wet garbage is in the can, the flies have a place to gather disease germs.

Likewise, if trash or garbage is piled around the can instead of inside, the same is true — whether the lids fit tightly on the cans or not.

The city ordinance calls for metal containers with lids. Many people are using cardboard containers which will burn and actually cause more of a hazard than if there was no container.

Although not a city regulation, a suggestion by the city sanitarians is to construct a rack for holding garbage cans. In this way, the cans are not easily tipped or blown over.

Have You Enough Pride To Help?

It's not so much that you can take a strong stand on this issue with impunity, but more out of an earnest desire to see our community cooperate wholeheartedly that we join the chorus in support of Clean Up, Fix Up, Paint Up Week.

The easy thing is to regard the undertaking as sophomoric, or as something which happens about this time every year... a season of essays, posters and pick-ups.

Seriously, Clean Up Week does offer a means of promoting a concerted community-wide campaign to gather up the litter and accumulation of a winter's season. The occasion gives us special reason not only of tidying around our own places, but even more to do something about the paper, rags, cans, etc., which have lodged against brush and in the streets and alleys.

Rugged, rocky caliche hills and gullies may not be good subjects for beauty, but they do present a far better picture when kept clean. Vacant property has nothing much to recommend it as an eye-catcher, but one gets a lot better impression if the property is cleared of brush and junk.

The same rule holds true for buildings.

A bit of paint and a bit of repair will go a long way to changing the entire appearance of a structure. Change the appearance of several along a street — such as on the highway entrances — and you improve the impression created upon transient traffic and upon visitors. Consciously or unconsciously, you improve the degree of pride of individual citizens in their community.

After all, pride is the basis of any successful campaign such as this. If people are not too slovenly or too sophisticated to take part, real results can be obtained.

As always, the City of Big Spring is going to considerable expense and time to haul away the debris gathered around your place. This means that you need to act promptly to avail yourself of this helpful service. Perhaps this is just as well, for if the time were put off, most of us would put off our program of cleaning up.

This is the week—now is the time. Won't you be a good neighbor and a good resident by seeing that your property is clean up and fixed up — won't you do your part toward making our city a little neater, a little safer, and a little more healthy?

Ultimate Weapon—Ultimate Peace?

The Hundred Years War produced three great English victories over the French—at Crecy, Poitiers and Agincourt. The superlative weapon that produced these victories was the English longbow, which occupies as conspicuous a place in the weaponry of its time as the A-bomb holds today. Arrows from these mighty instruments of destruction penetrated certain types of armor, and slew their thousands of French soldiery and the knights and their horses as well. They made the crossbow as obsolete as the Winchester made the old flintlock.

But the most awful destruction created by these weapons in the French ranks was due partly to failure of French tactics. They failed to devise the proper infantry dispositions to meet the situation.

In one of his installments of the History of the English-Speaking Peoples in Life magazine, Sir Winston Churchill states that from Agincourt (October 25, 1415) to the American Civil War no infantry weapon created so much slaughter as the English longbow.

Sir Winston wrote:

"The French were once again unduly crowded upon the field. They stood in three dense lines, and neither their cross-bowmen nor their battery of cannon could fire effectively. Under the arrow storm they in their turn moved forward down the slope, plodding heavily through a plowed field already trampled into a quagmire. Still at thirty deep they felt sure of breaking the line. But once again the longbow destroyed all before it. Horse and foot alike went down; a long heap of armored dead and wounded lay upon the ground, over which the reinforcements struggled bravely, but in vain. In this grand moment archers slung their bows, and, sword in hand, fell upon the reeling squadrons and disordered masses."

Thus for four and a half centuries the longbow was the "ultimate weapon." This is something to think about, especially now that the world has another ultimate weapon—the nuclear weapons.

Beyond these, is there something else mankind has long sought—ultimate peace?

Business Grabs Top Military Brains

WASHINGTON — When he retires from active service some time during the next four or five months, General Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense forces in Europe, is expected to take one of the top jobs in American industry with compensation, in salary and in stock, in six figures.

Gruenther will be following an increasingly familiar pattern in recent years of high-ranking generals and admirals moving from the services into big business.

Gruenther is assuring his close associates that he has made no final commitment, either actual or implied. But during the past three years he has received more and more tempting offers from industry.

It is believed that when he finally makes his decision he will go with the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., which has contracts with the government and plants and offices in half a dozen cities around the country.

The general, whose abilities as an administrator have impressed politicians and businessmen alike, is close to Thomas S. Nichols, president of Olin Mathieson. Nichols is said to be one of several corporate executives bidding for Gruenther's services.

President Eisenhower's announcement that Gruenther would retire before the end of the year came as a surprise and shock to the world and particularly to Western Europe where his capacities had been considered important if not essential in holding the NATO structure together.

He was deputy under Mr. Eisenhower at European Headquarters, continued in that role under General Matthew B. Ridgway.

We're Having What You Call Selective Prosperity

This is selective prosperity. Inflation stalks side by side with disenchantment and deflation, as follows:

- In Washington, President Eisenhower boosts the support prices of major crops to 82½ per cent of parity to soften his veto of the farm bill. At the same time, he urges Congress to put through the soil-bank program to take land out of cultivation. Basis of the veto: The bill is self-defeating. It encourages increased planting, would only pile surplus on top of surplus.
- In Detroit, James J. Nance, president, breaks bad news to stockholders of Studebaker-Packard Corp. The company has been losing money. It needs new financing, and the new financing isn't in sight. Irving Olds, former chairman of United States Steel Corp., has been named special counsel to the finance committee to help.
- In Pittsburgh, Sparrow Point, Md., Cleveland, Chicago, and other steel centers, open-hearth furnaces pour record tonnage. Demand seems implacable. Yet, in Salem and Warren, Ohio, American Radiator & Standard Corp. lays off 700 workers in its Youngstown Kitchen Division. And in and around Detroit, the automobile industry operates 20 per cent below last year's level.
- Throughout the U.S., business failures nudge upward. So far this year, failures have averaged 253 per week versus 226 in 1955 and 211 in 1954. And, though the number of new business incorporations in the first quarter rose to 38,696, setting an all-time high for the period, 8 per cent above last year, March incorporations were down 4 per cent.

Amid these up-and-down pulls, the Federal Reserve Board took the audacious step of raising the rediscount rate from 2¼ per cent to a split rate of 2½ per cent and 3 per cent. Why?

"Because everybody wants money," said one high-up official. "If they want it so badly, let them pay for it."

This is a decision which historians may some day write books about. It packs a political wallop: Is the Board giving business the last push over the top of the hill and down? One economist with considerable government say — so commented gravely, "I'd have waited."

The boom in borrowing impelled the Board to act. As noted here last week, business loans of reporting member banks are up $5,000,000,000, nearly 20 per cent, from a year ago. And just at the time that the Board took its vote, Avery C. Adams, president of Pittsburgh Steel Co., said the price of steel ought to be boosted $12 to $15 a ton. Asked, "When?" he replied, "Yesterday."

That's what worries Reserve Board governors—the upward pressure on prices: Aluminum, steel, and, until recently, copper. This indicates demand in excess of supply. Therefore, credit should be rationed to those who need it. And it shouldn't be cheap.

The Board's action gave the bond market quite a knock. Prices dropped. This drop makes it more expensive for corporations to finance expansion programs. It tightens the money problems of companies like Studebaker-Packard. It makes business men think twice about adding to inventories. It causes investors and speculators to curb borrowing to buy stocks. Banks must now charge borrowers 4 per cent and more for money. And when blue chip stocks sell to yield less than 4 per cent (see chart), a person, who's in debt on stocks, pays out more interest than he receives in dividends. Will this lead to liquidation?

The Reserve Board has this in

German Reds Set Up Clamor To Take Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communists are setting up a menacing clamor to erase the four-power status of Berlin and take over. They call the city's four-power status a legend and threaten the three Western sectors with new restrictions.

This clamor could foreshadow a fresh attempt by the Reds to annex West Berlin, an island surrounded by East Germany and 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

East Germany's Communist party boss, Walter Ulbricht, hints at uniting Berlin by infiltration among workers.

Divided Berlin has been a focal point in the East-West struggle since the end of World War II. For 11 months during 1948-49, the Russians blocked the city in an attempt to force the Western allies out. The attempt was thwarted by the giant airlift, which brought food, clothing and other essentials to more than two million West Berliners.

In their campaign to annex West Berlin, the Communists also have made use of their control over the access routes to the isolated city from West Germany.

Last year they boosted taxes on western trucks bringing in supplies on grounds the money was needed to keep up the roads. West Berlin officials called the levies exorbitant and paid them through government subsidies. In another move, the Russians announced that East Berlin was the sovereign capital of sovereign East Germany. When two U.S. congressmen were detained in East Berlin, the Russians told protesting Western officials to take the matter up with the East Germans.

The U.S. commander, Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher nipped this move in the bud, however.

Around The Rim

The Business Of Getting Up First

Columnist over on the Memphis Commercial Appeal writes that he has discovered a major domestic issue. This is the question: Who should get up first in the morning — the husband or the wife? Little surprising, this fellow wrote, to find that there was some pretty sharp feeling on the subject.

Hadn't given it much of a thought, myself. Knew full well that there were some edgy thoughts on the matter around our own domicile, but figured other people couldn't have the same difficulties. Sure enough they do.

It must be conceded that in most homes, husband and wife arise about the same time. The "about" may be no more than five minutes or so — but what a difference! On the one hand, there is a delicious satisfaction in remaining drowsily abed after the mate's feet have hit the floor. On the other hand, it is a human weakness that the first one out turns completely diabolical and will resort to every underhanded trick in the book to rouse the other one out from under the covers. Chances are, somebody is going to fly off the handle even before breakfast.

Some women, they say, resort to the old line of male gallantry. You know, "My father always got up before my mother did. His father got up before his mother did. I don't care how long I have to wait, I'm going to stay in bed till after my husband gets up. The very idea of a big strong man lying in bed while his wife starts off the household chores of the day."

One thing about this is the fact that her papa and his papa probably had to get up first to build the fires, a task that doesn't confront many homes today. That, would be the lady's answer, is completely beside the point. A real gentleman wouldn't hesitate to get up first.

Another kindly sort of wife might suggest that her spouse works hard all day and might be entitled to an extra three minutes in the sack. This would bring the immediate retort: "You, with three children, have the audacity to say it's your husband who works all day? And what do you do? The big lug ought to be out an hour before you are, getting breakfast and helping with the kids."

Well, some men do just that, of course. A few of them even delight in climbing out to hail the first blush of dawn, to greet the paper boy and the milk man on their matutinal rounds. They say this comes easier as one gets older, due to assorted human evolutions and such.

And, too, there are some men who are convinced that only they can make decent coffee, although they would be the last to utter this in front of their wives. On the other hand, there are some ladies, too, who welcome the solitude of an early morn — if this solitude isn't rudely broken by the sound of snores from the lesser half's side of the bed.

Perhaps the business of quitting the bed is a universal issue. Like so many such problems, it isn't easily solved. Best solution would be, of course, for a completely integrated, concerted movement of both Pa and Ma planting feet on floor in unison. But then there is the problem of the bath.

As for me, if my adored one feels she should have first call at the mirror and lavatory, who am I to be so rude as to shove her aside?

Just five minutes more, please.

—BOB WHIPKEY

Ike Bears Down On Principles

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is in a fighting mood, a crusading mood. He is not taking for granted victory in the November election. That's why he delivered such a stimulating address to the meeting of state chairmen and party leaders sponsored by the Republican National Committee.

For when Leonard Hall, national chairman, arranged the meeting, he did not know whether the President would do more than greet those present. To the surprise of Mr. Hall, the President asked for time in which to deliver an address.

This speech, coming as it did immediately after the President's veto message on the farm bill, endeavored to convert into a strength what had seemed to some observers a weakness on the farm issue. Mr. Eisenhower focused attention on "principles." He said:

"The campaign is concerned with principles because they provide the only sound base for policies and practices. Policies not based on principle retreat to expediency. They become — as we have seen them become in the past — surrenders to pressure, bribes for support, escapes from responsibilities. Because expediency is a betrayal of America's trust, the Republican party in this campaign must be vigorous and dedicated and inspired by principles, by political integrity."

The President undoubtedly was thinking of the pressure upon him recently to sign a farm bill that he felt was unsound and thus to give way to expediency. Many people are saying now that the President's act of courage will win him votes even in the farm states. Certainly many of the Republican members of the House of Representatives who originally voted for the bill switched when it came to a vote on overriding the veto. Only 20 Republicans who had previously voted for the bill did so again, which means that 28 Republicans changed their vote so as to be recorded finally on the President's side.

Since the vote showed that the bill itself failed to get a majority of the House, let alone the necessary two-thirds, the President's leadership appears to have gained ground in Congress. Even three Democrats who had voted for it before deserted the bill on final passage.

Unquestionably the farm bill has been one of the biggest hurdles the President has had to face. Today some of the Democrats are criticizing their own leadership for forcing a vote to attempt to override the veto because it appears now that the House, though controlled by the Democratic party, supported the veto message. It certainly means that the House will have to do something soon about the President's request for a "soil bank" bill.

Most significant of the week's developments on the political front was the forthright way in which Mr. Eisenhower identified himself with the Republican party. He stated unequivocally his pride in being a Republican. He outlined principles for his party which he hopes will appeal to Democrats as well as to Republicans. Mr. Eisenhower's eight principles are expressed in the following key sentences:

- "The individual is of supreme importance."
- "The spirit of our people is the strength of our nation."
- "America does not prosper unless all Americans prosper."
- "Government must have a heart as well as a head."
- "Courage in principle, cooperation in practice make freedom positive."
- "The purpose of government is to serve, never to dominate."
- "To stay free, we must stay strong."
- "Under God, we espouse the cause of freedom and justice and peace for all peoples."

So it looks as if the Republican national campaign has begun and that it will be built on the slogan of "Peace and Prosperity" underlined by "principle in government."

Prescription For 'Coming Alive'

A successful personnel manager once told me that he hires people by the kind of eyes they have! "I look over the applications they have filled out, giving their past records," he said, "but what it says on the application form is only a minor consideration. I base my final decision on what I see in their eyes. If a man's eyes are sleepy and dull, I don't want him. I want alive-eyed people!"

I don't know how good a system that is from a practical standpoint, but I must confess, ever since I had that conversation, I take a good hard look at myself each time I get before my shaving mirror. One thing is sure — he was right in that the only people who are good for any job are those who are alive inside and out. And isn't that what we all really want — to be fully alive in every sense of the word?

I remember one night about five years ago being on a train going from New York to Pittsburgh. A man came into the dining car and sat down across from me. "These are the most uncomfortable chairs," he groaned. Then he asked, "What are you eating?"

"I told him."

"Any good?" he demanded. "I never get a good meal in a dining car."

He ordered and I never saw a man consume so much food. "Wasn't that awful?" he asked, after finishing everything in sight. "This is a terrible train, isn't it?"

"I think it's a fine train," I said. "One of the best on the Pennsylvania. I might even call it a gleaming institution of shining steel speeding through the night with romance in ever detail of its construction."

"Romance!" he snorted. "There's no romance in this life."

"What's the matter with you?" I asked. "A man like you, in good health, shouldn't be thinking so glumly and negatively."

"Well, I'm not happy," he said. "I'm half sick. I'm tired. I'm nervous. I'm discouraged and gloomy. I've got aches and pains and I'm getting old and fat. Can you tell me what to do?"

"Yes, I can," I replied promptly. "In the first place, when you sat down, you should have said: 'Glad to see you. Isn't this a wonderful dinner?'"

"I didn't think so," he muttered. "I'd have been dishonest if I'd said so."

"You were dishonest in not saying so," I told him. "You must have thought it was good because you ate every bit of it. After dinner, you should have said: 'This is a fine train and things are wonderful. Tomorrow's going to be a great day for me!'"

"He stared at me. 'I can't talk like that!'"

"You can, I assure him, 'if you have faith in the power of God in your life.'"

We continued our conversation quite a while on that train. I urged him to deliberately practice looking at the hopeful and positive side of life.

The next morning, when we arrived in Pittsburgh, the smoky overcast skies threatened rain. I heard the porter say to my companion of the night before, "Did you have a good night, sir?"

"Not too good," he said. Then he saw me and grinned. His attitude changed and he said, "Oh, hello, Doctor, isn't this a beautiful morning?" He was learning already.

That's the way to come alive. Think positive, vigorous, dynamic thoughts. Affirm goodness, happiness and health and you will develop them. Assume that as long as you live Almighty God will continue to pour into you His own re-creation of life, vigor, vitality, force and energy. When you live this way, you'll have what everybody really wants — life.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 8:37—"No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us." (RSV)

There are many things we do not understand as we seek the presence and the supporting power of Christ. None of our usual senses of observation bring Him near. It is necessary to believe, to have a sure faith in His promises and to talk with Him in dedication and prayer. The human body, the human mind and the human spirit have great capacities for endurance in danger and hardship. Only when they are undergirded with the courage and confidence of a living faith in Christ are they competent to cast out fear. Most of us are surrounded with influences which poison human happiness and destroy human freedom. We need release from the bondage of dread. As believers in Christ we may have the triumphant assurance of a sustaining love in every crisis and circumstance. Through its power we may live positively, creatively and helpfully among our fellow men.

Tickets Selling Well For Laughton Show

Tickets are going well for the Charles Laughton program scheduled for City Auditorium, May 2 at 8:30 p.m. Plenty of good seats are left, however. Advance sales are being made at the Chamber of Commerce office. All seats are reserved for the event brought here by the Rotary Club for its charity program. The noted actor will walk onto the stage carrying an armful of books and nothing else. He needs no setings, no backdrop. The only stage item he finds useful is a place to put his books. Laughton is scornful of the "message" writer, and none of his readings contain any special preaching attempts. A discerning critic of literature as well as one of the foremost actors of this generation, he pulls no punches in his scorn of the "message" writer. He says:

"I ask you, in all of Shakespeare can you find a message? In all of Mark Twain, Thomas Wolfe, James Thurber. In this discussion I leave the Bible aside. As the inspired Word of God it is not to be judged in the same category as the literary works of men. Naturally there are messages in the Bible, since it is a book of teachings, a rule of life, of man's relationships with the Almighty, his Creator. "But our classics of literature were written for the entertainment and enlightenment of mankind. They are works of art. I say that no creative work by a genuinely great writer was written with a message in mind. "We have had some Hollywood movies with messages — they all flopped miserably. Sometimes a stage play pleads a special cause, nearly always to the detriment of its public appeal. "Laughton's one-man shows have created a new dimension in American entertainment. On his reading tours, he reads nothing but what he himself likes — and he sets a lofty standard. The mere suggestion of a "message" in his readings sends anger him. "Laughton recently added still another "new dimension" to the entertainment field. He assembled together some of the top stars of stage and screen and produced group readings of "Don Juan in Hell" and Stephen Vincent Benet's "John Brown's Body." "Some of the readings here will probably include excerpts from the Bible, Shakespeare and many of his favorite classics. Laughton often includes Lincoln's Gettysburg Address in his readings. Old-time moviegoers will remember his rendition of Lincoln's speech in "Ruggles of Red Gap."

Play Ball!

James Stewart and June Allyson star in "The Stratton Story," based on a pro ball player's attempts to recover from a disabling injury.

'Red Sundown' Suspense Film

"Red Sundown," playing Friday and Saturday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre, is a Western thriller in the tradition of "High Noon" and "A Man Alone." The plot is based on the building up of suspense. Rory Calhoun plays the role of a notorious gunman who reforms when his best friend is killed in a duel. He becomes a deputy sheriff, and immediately finds himself in trouble with two villainous characters who seek to do away with him. Thus, Calhoun has to unlimber his guns again. Starring with Calhoun are Martha Hyer, Dean Jagger and Robert Middleton. Lita Baron, real-life wife of Calhoun, stars in the film as a Latin beauty who is spurned by the hero, but saves his life anyway.

Top Love Drama Shows At Terrace

Those who like love dramas with a touch of tragedy will like "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," returning to the screen of the Terrace Drive-In Theatre Thursday and Friday. Starring Jennifer Jones and William Holden, the film is based on the book of the same name. The plot features a love affair between a Eurasian girl and an American news correspondent.

Grace Kelly Film Returns To Terrace

Grace Kelly's been in the news of late. The Philadelphia miss was always good for a news story during her hey day in Hollywood, but public interest in the star has shot upward since she became Princess of Monaco.

As the wife of Prince Rainier, Miss Kelly has hinted that she'll be making no more films, so this may be one of the last opportunities to see her on the screen. "To Catch a Thief," starring Miss Kelly and Cary Grant, returns to the screen of the Terrace Drive-In Theatre Sunday and Monday. The story takes place on the French Riviera, next door to the principality of Monaco. It was on location for this film that Miss Kelly met her prince. The story concerns a mysterious theft of jewelry that keeps the audience guessing up to the very end. It's an Alfred Hitchcock-directed film, which always means tops in suspense. The story also includes some of those unsettling love scenes for which Miss Kelly was just beginning to be famous. Here are the ingredients: Cary Grant as a reformed jewel thief;

Miss Kelly as a thrill-seeking American heiress; a gem-stealing imitator who copies Grant's techniques and places him in peril of his life; and the use of Miss Kelly and her gems as bait to catch the thief.

The film aptly restates the old adage "It takes a (reformed) thief to catch a thief."

Terrace Features Two Fact Dramas

Two noted film dramas return to the screen of the Terrace Drive-In Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. "The Girl In The Red Velvet Swing," starring Ray Milland and Joan Collins, is based on the facts gleaned from a murder trial that stirred the country back at the turn of the century. "Love Me Or Leave Me," starring Doris Day and James Cagney, is also based on fact, concerning the attempted murder of the boyfriend of a noted singer of the 1920's.

Ancient Chassis Gets Film Contract

One of the main characters in the Walt Disney film "The Littlest Outlaw" is a stripped down Model A with a rear end like a truck and the personality of an Army mule. Usually, such automobiles, when required for a special film role, are mock-up jobs put by studio shops, but "Dorothea" is real. One of Disney's experts came upon the car with the agitated chassis while on location in Mexico. The movie magnate, after talking with her owner, a village priest, immediately signed Dorothea for a movie contract.

Lana Turner Gets Free Of Contract

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For the first time in 17 years, Lana Turner can call her career her own. And she's never been happier. Lana got sprung from her long exclusive contract with MGM after months of campaigning. She still owes the studio five pictures in the next five years, but otherwise she's a free agent. "And does it feel wonderful?" she enthused over lunch in a Hollywood hideaway. "At last I can read scripts from other studios—I've been going through a stack this high at home."

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

Perhaps the biggest stir occurring these past few weeks is that created by the marriage of Hollywood's Grace Kelly to Prince Rainier of Monaco. A Mercury LP record album, tentatively entitled "The Love Song of Grace Kelly," composed of songs that will spotlight music from the special ballads played in Monaco during the wedding festivities. Having been in preparation for the past couple of weeks, the albums will be rushed to dealers across the country for sale this next week. "Innamorata," a record done up both by Dean Martin and Jerry Vale, was brought to public attention some time back with the release of the movie, "Artists and Models," in which Dean Martin costarred. Both records are probably at their peaks of popularity now, and both hold a boat at the same amount of local popularity, perhaps with Martin's recording having a very slight lead. Time was when England's hit parades trailed ours four to five months, or by an even longer

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

If you like books and if you enjoy hearing books well read let me urge that you plan now to be on hand when that distinguished actor, Charles Laughton, is presented here on May 2. I have seen Mr. Laughton's act and I believe that every person who has a love for literature and for fine interpretation of the writing of authors old and new will find the performance enthralling. I was one of 6,000 men, women and children who heard Laughton a year or so ago. I went to the show in a highly skeptical frame of mind. I had read in the advance notices that Laughton performed alone; that his only "properties" were a kitchen table, a reading stand, a microphone and a stack of books. I just couldn't believe that any man, even one as talented as Laughton, could hold the interest and attention of an audience for two hours with this sort of program. I think most of the 6,000 persons jammed into the big auditorium must have felt very much as I did. There was an air of restlessness before curtain time. There was an impression prevalent that this was something a little bit new and, to those present, untested. But when Laughton, stepped out on the stage (there was no scenery and he worked in front of the main curtain) this uncertainty and skepticism vanished like the mists of morning. He came lumbering out on the stage, his arms filled with books. These he dumped rather unceremoniously on the kitchen table. He was dressed in a wrinkled grey suit, he had no makeup. He looked just like any middle-aged portly gentleman and nothing like the colorful Henry VIII or the tyrannical Captain Bligh we had all seen him portray in the movies. He ruffled up his thinning hair, leaned on his reading stand and suggested, in rather bored tones, that we might as well try a little Shakespeare. From then on, it was the most amazing exhibition of acting I have ever beheld. He skipped from Shakespeare to Nash; from Nash to Dickens; from Dickens to the Bible. He read portions of all sorts of books — books that all of us had read and reread many times. He read familiar passages — paragraphs that all of us were as familiar with as we were with our own households. But they did not seem the same. His talent and his skill endowed them with a new color, a new significance and a new beauty. The characters who spoke from the pages of the book came to life and it was as though we had never before heard of the events and incidents. He turned to a chapter in the Bible — a chapter dealing with the events which led to the casting of the three Hebrew heroes into the fiery furnace (probably the most repetitious chapter in the entire Bible) and that thrilling event of life. All in all, it was an amazing experience. After a while, he laid his book aside, suggested drily that he needed to smoke and added that he would be back in a few minutes. I was astonished, when I looked at my watch to find he had been reading steadily for an hour. It had seemed only a few minutes. When he returned, (after a short interval as he had promised) he read from other books for another hour. His audience was still as mice. The listeners were sitting on the edge of their seats so as to not miss a word. And when he finally brought his performance to a close the applause threatened to shake down the building. His listeners had not had enough — they wanted him to read still longer. I do not know, of course, how his visit here will be received. I do not know whether Big Spring folk like this sort of thing. I only know that I have already reserved my seats, well down front, so I can hear Laughton read again.

'Jubal' Is Top Western Movie

An unusually good Western film is scheduled for the Ritz Theatre Wednesday through Saturday. "Jubal," based on the novel of the same name, stars Glenn Ford and Ernest Borgnine. Borgnine won last year's Academy Award for his portrayal of a lonely butcher in the film "Marty." "Jubal" portrays the interweaving of emotions between three men and two women, one of them a rancher's wife who slips around on the side and tries to ensnare Ford into an illegitimate relationship. This, naturally, results in trouble (and some gunplay) for all involved.

Baseball Fans Go For 'Stratton Story'

Those who like baseball will like "The Stratton Story," based on a noted player's fight to overcome an injury that took him out of the game. Starring James Stewart and June Allyson, the film plays Sunday through Tuesday at the State Theatre.

High School Annual Due Soon, Others In Hands Of Printers

High school students can expect their annuals any day, but students at HCJC and junior high school will have to wait about another month for theirs.

Mrs. Erma Steward, sponsor of the high school annual, said that the books were printed last Monday and were to be sent either the last of this week or the first of next.

The Jayhawk of HCJC is expected about May 20, while the junior high annual, El Palomar, will be arriving about May 10.

China Carroll is editor of the El Rodeo of Big Spring High School. The annual this year is built around the theme of Our Town, with division page pictures taken of local city landmarks.

The book will contain 176 pages, plus 16 blank pages for autographs. Of the total, 24 pages are advertisements.

Students paid $5 each for their annuals, but this price included having their pictures taken. The annual staff rented dinner jackets for the boys' pictures. Barr Photo-center handled the photography for El Rodeo.

Members of the 16-student staff who have worked for one year previously on the annual will receive their book free. Five hundred and ten books were ordered.

Work on the Jayhawk was completed and the last section was sent to the publishers — the Steck Company — March 15, and the books were expected here about May 20.

Students when buying their activity ticket pay for their annual, and 350 books were ordered.

New covers will spotlight the 10th anniversary edition of the Jayhawk. Previously, the cover featured a Jayhawk, but this year a view of the campus will adorn the cover.

Ernest Lillard, who now is attending Texas Tech, was business manager for the annual and sold 15 pages of advertising. The book contains 200 pages. The number of pages and also the size — nine by 12 inches — is the same as last year.

Theme of the book is the 10th anniversary. All pictures were taken by the college, with the exception of the special shots—favorites, etc. The specials were taken by Barr.

Mrs. Betty Waters is editor of the book, and Alice Ann Martin did the art work. Clements said that election of the editor for next year's book would be held sometime in May, and that work on the 1957 Jayhawk will begin this summer.

Junior high students compiled a

168-page annual, El Palomar, of which eight is advertising. The book contains 15 more pages than the 1955 annual. The Steck Company is printing it.

Mike Jarratt edited the book, and his associated was Kolla Grant. Mrs. Lorine Williams sponsored the annual. Fourteen students worked on it.

The book features the little steers, and contains art work by students exclusively. Martha Cobb and Jean Franklin handled the art work. Ted Groehl was business manager.

Galveston To Open Vacation Season With Festivities

GALVESTON, April 21 (AP)—The vacation season opens here May 5-6 with parades, two water skiing shows and a big fireworks display.

A beach parade May 6 will be headed by the University of Texas Longhorn Band and the Jeep band from the 1st Armored Division at Ft. Polk, La.

Twelve muscle men, each a champion, will compete May 5 for the title of "Mr. Texas Splash Day."

'Millions' Lost In Army Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said Friday the Senate Investigations subcommittee has shown at the least that the Army has spent millions with "people not worthy of a government contract."

"We are pointing out a condition that ought to be taken care of," McClellan told newsmen in discussing subcommittee hearings, in recess until Tuesday, on reports of graft in the buying of Army uniforms in the period 1951-54.

"If nothing else comes out of these hearings," he said, "we are showing that the federal government has been having contracts worth millions of dollars with people of questionable integrity."

He said he will keep digging into the story of millions of dollars Joseph (Joey) Abrams and Herman Kravitz allegedly invested in bonds under bogus names while holding big Army uniform contracts.

Webb Airman Gets Orders For Third Hawaiian Tour

A Webb sergeant who has spent 11 of the past 15 years in Hawaii will be returning there in June for his third tour of duty in the islands.

M. Sgt. Jack Peterson received word Wednesday that his application for assignment to Hawaii had been approved and he and his family will be leaving in June. His wife and four of their six children were born there.

Upon receiving word last winter that Mrs. Peterson's father, Joseph Roque, was suffering from a heart attack, the sergeant planned to send his wife to visit her parents. She was to take their oldest son, Jack Jr., who was also suffering from heart trouble. The son was to have gone to a military hospital in Hawaii.

At the same time, he applied for overseas duty in the islands but he had no strong hopes of getting approval.

But Wednesday the approval came.

For his wife, it will be returning home, and for him, it will be his third time there in the 15 years.

Not all of Peterson's time there has been with the Air Force, however. He spent the first five years there with the Navy, two with the government as a civilian, and the last four in the Air Force.

He first went to the Hawaiian Islands in June, 1941, as a seaman and was stationed there until 1946. In 1944, he married Rose-line Roque.

Shortly after being discharged from the Navy in 1946, he returned to Hawaii as a civilian inspector working with the Army. He was a claims investigator for the ordnance corps.

He handled the civilian job until 1948 when he enlisted in the Air Force and remained there until 1952. Until 1951, he was assigned to the Hawaiian Armed Services Police, a joint military unit designed to cut out overlapping police duties among the various branches of service.

The last year there, he was with the identification section at Hickam Field.

Upon returning to the U. S. in 1952, he was assigned to Ellington AFB at Houston. He came to Webb in June, 1955, to handle the NCO Academy.

Four of Peterson's six children were born in Hawaii. Gwendelyn, 10; Donna Marie, nine; Jo Ann, eight, and Jack Jr., seven, were born here, while Bruce Charles, four, and Cindy Lou, 10 months, were born in the U. S.

Peterson, who now has 15 years in service, said he planned to retire in Hawaii. The family plans to live in Waihiawa, which is about 20 miles from Honolulu.

Upon reporting for duty there in June, Peterson will be first sergeant of the 5th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron, probably at Wheeler AFB.

Six Children Are Killed In Blaze

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six children died and three were severely burned in an oil-fed fire that swept through a two-story row house in southwest Washington yesterday.

Four of the victims were children of Mrs. Dorothy Parker, 26. Her remaining child, Brenda, 1, was hospitalized.
