City, Phone Co. Fail To Reach Accord On Rates

Southwestern Bell Telephone officials and the city commission could not agree on terms for a telephone rate increase Tuesday, so the two groups will hold another meeting May 15.

The telephone people said they must have rate hikes of about 22 per cent to pay a "fair return" on investments. Commissioners countered they felt they could not go above their proposed increases averaging 15 per cent.

Marshall Kemp, district telephone manager from Midland, said that to pay a "fair return" on investments, his company had to have the increases. He termed a fair return to be 5.6 per cent. The increases worked out by the commission would be about a 4.7 per cent profit for the company.

Kemp reasoned that since other cities pay a better percentage return on investments, those cities are in a better position to obtain materials to improve telephone service. And if Big Spring continued to pay a lower return, local officials would find it hard to procure materials to expand its service here, he said.

Dr. Lee Rogers said he had spoken to several citizens and the list of proposed increases quoted by the commission was favorable with the people. Above those marks, the favor stopped, however, he said.

The company requested raising one-party business lines from $9 per month to $11.60. Members of the commission offered to raise the rate to $10.60.

Other figures: PBX trunk lines — present $13.50, requested by the telephone company $17.40, offered by the commission $15.75; one-party residence — present $4.25, requested $5.50, offered $4.80; two-party residence — present $3.50, requested $4.50, offered $3.50; three-party residence — present $3, requested $3.75, offered $3.25; hotel trunks — present $9, requested $11.60, offered $10.50, and hotel stations — present $6.00, requested $1, offered $5.

Dr. Rogers mentioned to the telephone people that Midland and Odessa pays lower telephone rates than Big Spring. To this Kemp said that their volume of long distance calls lowered their rates.

Kemp said he wished the phone company's increases left room to bargain, but they didn't.

However, when Dr. Rogers asked if Kemp would favor increases which would give a five per cent return, he said he would bring an answer to the commission at the meeting May 15.

Methodists Swing Into Vital Issues

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Methodist Church today swings into its biggest round of church business—some of it alive with controversy.

But there were few signs of the touchy problems in store as bishops, preachers and laymen assembled for opening sessions in an atmosphere of comradeship.

Ahead of the two-week General Conference, the supreme governing body of the country's largest Protestant church, was a record-breaking volume of church business piled up since the last session four years ago.

About 4,000 legislative proposals—many of them routine but others highly ticklish—have been filed with the conference for action. Conference Secretary Dr. Lud H. Estes, Memphis, Tenn., says it's the biggest workload ever.

The proposals, like bills put in the hopper of Congress, will go through a maze of committee studies and consolidations before getting to the floor.

They're called "memorials," and may come from any of the church's far-flung agencies, regional units or plain churchgoers.

One of the thorniest items on the agenda deals with Methodism's unusual administrative structure, which places its Negro congregations in a special, separate subdivision of the church.

Bishop Richard Raines, Indianapolis, told a dinner for newsmen last night that there's bound to be sharp debate over proposals for wiping out, modifying or continuing the segregated arrangement.

Romance Issue In Mine Strike

MEXBOROUGH, England (AP)—More than 100 young coal haulers are on strike at the Denaby colliery because in the spring a young man's fancy etc.

At issue is the starting time for the afternoon shift.

The shift now ends at 9:30 p.m., which leaves very little time for after-work courting. The young haulers say they are losing their girls to youths whose jobs end earlier.

The young haulers asked Nathaniel Irving, the pit manager, to start their shift 90 minutes sooner so they could be off to their wooing at a reasonable hour.

Irving conceded that spring is here, but said the shift change would disrupt the whole colliery working schedule. The young miners walked out.

Said Peter Coley, 19-year-old spokesman for the strikers:

"By the time we wash and get home after the afternoon shift it is 10 o'clock. If I went to take my girl friend out then, I would soon have her father after me."

"Now that spring is here we like to go walking in the evenings."

Said his 18-year-old girl friend, Judy Hampshire:

"I'm fed up with staying home nights. The men are justified."

Sainburg Jury Nearly Complete

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—One juror and two alternates remained to be selected today in the trial of Dr. Frank Sainburg, 36, of Big Spring, Tex., and two men accused with him in the kidnaping of the physician's son.

Eleven jurors including four women had been selected yesterday.

Dr. Sainburg and the other two were accused of taking the son, Philip, from the custody of the doctor's divorced wife Jan. 19, 1954. The boy is now 5. Sainburg is also accused of second-degree assault and third-degree burglary.

Red Chiefs Raise Parley Hopes Again

LONDON (AP)—Soviet and British leaders decreed today an 11th hour reprieve for their talks on urgent world problems. Hopes rose for at least a small measure of agreement.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev looked thoughtful and solemn as they left No. 10 Downing St. after what was to have been their last session with Prime Minister Eden. But Eden smiled cheerfully.

Both sides had sent their top negotiating teams into action to try to break the deadlocks and narrow the differences on a number of the Middle East, disarmament, trade and cultural contacts, German reunification and European security.

Neither side wanted the talks to end in complete failure, and there was speculation that at an "overtime" meeting the Russians might offer a package deal—cooperation in the Middle East for increased British-Soviet trade and cultural exchanges.

From the Prime Minister's residence, Bulganin and Khrushchev hurried to a luncheon with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

There still was a possibility of an additional session tomorrow.

A Foreign Office communiqué issued after this morning's two-hour session did not list the subjects discussed, but it was con-

9 People Die In Raging Fire In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Six children and three women burned to death today when a fast-spreading fire gutted a three-story brick home trapping the victims on the second and third floors where they were sleeping.

Four persons were injured, three while leaping out of windows to the pavement below. Two others escaped unhurt.

Police said they understood that 17 persons were in the building when the blaze was discovered at 7 a.m., leaving two unaccounted for.

All of the victims were Negroes, reportedly members of the same family.

The bodies were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Immediate identification was not possible.

Firemen said the flames mushroomed through the small North Philadelphia dwelling with such speed that the victims had little chance to flee.

Accused Of Tapping Red Lines

Colonel Ivan A. Kotsuba, hand on chest, acting Soviet military commandant in Berlin, talks to newsmen as he escorts them on a tour of an air-conditioned tunnel. In a formal protest note, the Russians charged Americans had dug a long tunnel where Soviet and U. S. sectors of Berlin meet and then cut in with listening devices on the Soviet Army's main cable lines. Tunnel is elaborately equipped with recording apparatus.

Nixon Aide Linked In Army Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators lined up key witnesses for questioning today in a probe of Army contracts which has involved the name of Murray Chotiner, one of Vice President Nixon's 1952 campaign strategists.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) announced that Chotiner would have a chance to testify before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, if the Los Angeles lawyer cares to explain anything about a $5,000 fee he reportedly received in 1953 as defense counsel for Herman Kravitz, and Atlantic City (N. J.) clothing manufacturer.

Kravitz is one of several garment industry figures under investigation in connection with the subcommittee's search for evidence of possible corruption in the letting of military clothing contracts.

He was convicted in a Brooklyn federal court in 1954 on charges of misappropriating furs provided by the government for the manufacturing of Parka Hoods for U. S. troops. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000.

In Los Angeles, Chotiner said: "It is true that in May of 1953 I received a fee to represent Mr. Samuel and Herman Kravitz as an attorney." Samuel Kravitz is Herman's father.

Chotiner said he has given the subcommittee chief investigator "all the information I can disclose without violating my oath as a lawyer." But he said he has "no objections to giving this information again if the committee so desires."

McClellan summoned both Kravitz and George Klass, Herman's brother-in-law, for questioning about Army contracts.

Teacher Hearing Held In Private

A teacher, being dropped from the high school faculty, asked for a public hearing but was heard behind closed doors last night.

Trustees went into "executive session" to hear Mrs. Jessie Maye Sabin's protest of the board's action in not re-electing her for another year.

Clyde Angel, board president, "excused" a Herald reporter from the room.

Later, when Mrs. Sabin asked outside the meeting room that a reporter be admitted, Angel said: "This board has officially gone into executive session."

The board president first declared the board in executive session, and his action was followed by a motion by R. W. Thompson that the closed-door session be held.

Mrs. Sabin, government and history teacher, was the only member of the school staff not recommended for re-election for next year. All other faculty members were returned at a school board meeting Mar. 27. She was not recommended by Principal Roy Worley or Supt. W. C. Blankenship.

"I want you in there," Mrs. Sabin told the reporter after he left the meeting. She repeated the request to Angel when she was invited into the room, and was advised of the executive session.

Mrs. Sabin, in a statement to the Herald subsequent to the hearing, said her purpose in appearing before the board was to seek reinstatement. She said she did not feel quality of instruction had ever been raised as an issue. Only difficulties experienced, she said, arose from disciplinary problems.

Mrs. Sabin said she told the board that on each occasion these matters were referred to or came in contact with her principal's office, she was told to avoid discipline problems with children of influential families.

It was in connection with one of these incidents, she said she told the board, that she was informed she would not be recommended to the administration for re-election. When she was not re-elected, she declared, she informed her principal she would ask a hearing.

Mrs. Sabin said the principal told her it would do no good because he knew the board and members would do as he said.

She said she told the board she had enjoyed her teaching experience here, that she felt both pupils and faculty were a superior group, and she hoped her appearance before the board would be a means of relieving faculty tensions and of promoting cooperation. Her request for a recorder at the meeting met no response, she said, but she was heard without comment or questions.

Water District Groups To Meet

Two important committee meetings and a session of the board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District are slated for Big Spring on Thursday.

Meetings of the recreation and land committee and of the water rate committee are scheduled at the Settles hotel at 10 a.m. Two concession lease agreements are up for consideration of the former committee. The latter group is to go over a proposed schedule for rates to member cities beginning Jan. 1, 1957. Under terms of the indenture, the rating pattern changes after the initial five years of operation. Currently, each city pays a fixed monthly charge, plus six cents per thousand for water metered to it.

Reports from the engineer, general manager and other matters are due to come before the board.

Living Costs On Rise Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today reported living costs rose one-tenth of 1 per cent in March, the first increase since November.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said its living cost index in March reached 114.7 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This is three-tenths of 1 per cent above March, 1955.

H. E. Riley, chief of the bureau's price and living cost division, said a seasonal increase in food prices can be expected beginning in April and continuing through most of the summer. He said it probably will mean some rise in the living cost index.

In March prices averaged higher over the month for all major categories of family spending except housing and transportation. Housing costs remained at their February level and transportation, led by a slight drop in used car prices, declined.

Retail food prices rose two-tenths of 1 per cent from February to March, following a five-month decline. Food still was 1.6 per cent below March last year, with meats, poultry and fish at most 10 per cent lower.

From February to March, however, prices increased for fresh vegetables, coffee, fats and oils, and restaurant meals. Crop freezes in Florida influenced the rise for fresh vegetables, with tomatoes up nearly 30 per cent.

The food increases were largely offset by lower prices for meats, milk and fresh fruits.

Small increases costs for home furnishings and household operation were canceled by moderate declines in costs of home ownership.

Clothing prices increased slightly and scattered increases were reported in local sales taxes, hospitalization rates, men's haircuts and movie prices.

SOIL BANK PLAN

Russell Confident Of Bill's Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said today he is "confident" there will be a soil bank program adopted by the Congress this session.

He made this comment as he asked Secretary of Agriculture Benson to appear at a hearing of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee handling the annual farm money bill.

Russell, who heads the subcommittee, said he would question Benson and other Eisenhower administration officials about a House Democratic proposal to vote $1,200,000,000 for soil bank payments this year.

The soil bank proposal, President Eisenhower's major 1956 farm recommendation, contemplates paying subsidies to farmers who agree to remove from production land they otherwise would plant to crops already in surplus.

Many key Democrats have argued that if Congress votes the money, Benson can put a soil bank program into operation under authority of a 20-year-old soil conservation law. Benson disputes this, saying new authority is required, and there were indications that some Democrats at least are coming around to that view.

The soil bank was included in a catch-all farm bill which Eisenhower vetoed last week on grounds that high price supports and other provisions it contained would nullify the benefits he says will come from a soil bank.

He asked Congress to approve that in a simple soil bank bill, and a number of Congress members have introduced such legislation.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said in a separate interview that "I think the Senate should wait and see what the House does first."

He added: "After all, there are half a dozen different soil bank bills floating around now."

In the House, GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts said from the Democratic farm state members, "have the votes now" to hitch Eisenhower's soil bank program to

Sees Paradox In Halting Of H-Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he believes the United States is somewhere around the position of the Soviet Union in the development of guided missiles.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference in replying to questions dealing with the assertion by Kremlin Leader Nikita Khrushchev that Russia soon will have a hydrogen bomb missile capable of striking at any part of the world.

Eisenhower at the same time rejected suggestions by Adlai Stevenson and others that this country halt its tests of hydrogen bombs. A new test is scheduled in the Pacific next month.

While refusing to comment specifically on the proposal by Stevenson, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, Eisenhower said it was a bit paradoxical, when we are working as hard as we can on development of guided missiles, for anyone to advocate halting H-bomb tests.

The President said he wishes the money spent on such programs could be channeled to peaceful uses—and that in conducting the tests the United States is not simply trying to come up with what he termed a bigger bang than some other country.

But research in nuclear weapons fields without tests is useless and a waste of money, Eisenhower said. He added that as long as it is necessary to get into the weapons field, it should be done right.

As for Khrushchev's statement that the Soviet Union soon will have a guided missile with an H-bomb warhead, Eisenhower said he sees no reason why the Russians would make a misstatement on a matter like that. He added that he did not accuse him of doing so.

But the President went on to say there is a very big difference between the capacity to turn out such weapons and the actual production of efficient instruments of war.

It's a very expensive and complicated business, Eisenhower added.

Near the outset of the conference, in response to a question, Eisenhower said he believes no useful purpose would be served at this time by a visit to this country by Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Bulganin. The Russians are now visiting Britain.

The President said he might change his mind under different circumstances, but now feels that there is very little need for such a visit until something new in the international picture turns up.

Eisenhower said he and the Russian leaders had a very thorough discussion of world problems.

Court Receives Freeman Appeal

Appeal of B. E. Freeman, Big Spring, from a two-year prison sentence on a charge of embezzlement, was submitted on the record in the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin today.

Freeman allowed the petition for appeal to be presented before the court in routine form without additional evidence or oral argument.

Freeman, former Howard County tax collector, is under conviction for embezzlement of public funds. He was found guilty by a jury in 118th District Court last December.

His punishment was fixed at 2 years in state penitentiary.

Gulford Jones, district attorney, said that normally about 12 days will elapse before the court will hand down its ruling on the case.

If the appeal is denied, he said, another two weeks would probably elapse before a mandate to the lower court would be received here.

Freeman is at large on bond pending outcome of the appeal.

No Word Yet From Nixon As Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Vice President Nixon has not told him definitely whether he wants to be the President's running mate again this fall.

Eisenhower was reminded of his statement some weeks ago that he had invited Nixon to chart his own course politically and report his decision back to the President. Has Nixon done so? Eisenhower was asked.

Well, the President replied, Nixon hasn't reported back in the terms he — Eisenhower — used on that previous occasion.

Then Eisenhower was asked if Nixon has replied in any manner that would give the impression that he would like to be renominated.

With a chuckle, Eisenhower said he hesitated to answer that because impressions can be misleading. Some people even may have formed false impressions about him, the President quipped.

Then turning serious, he told newsmen: Nixon hasn't given him any answer that he would consider final and definitive.

Eisenhower also told a news conference, on other political topics:

1. He thinks the Democrats are right in making him, rather than his administration generally, a chief target of criticism. After all the President said, he is the head of the administration.

He commented that he has been shot at before.

2. He refuses to endorse charges by some Capitol Hill Republicans that the present Democratic-controlled session is a "do-nothing Congress." Eisenhower said he never has indulged in that kind of talk and added he doesn't make it a practice to challenge other people's motives.

Houston Detective Is Shot To Death

GALVESTON (AP)—Houston Detective Dwight Fields, 32, was shot to death as he and his burly detail partner scuffled with drawn guns on a downtown street here early today.

Charged with murder was Houston detective Hershel Golden, 38. Golden said his service revolver discharged accidentally when he tried to hit Fields with the butt of the weapon.

Galveston Chief of Detectives W. J. Whitburn said Golden had deep lacerations on the forehead and upper lip which Golden said were caused when Fields hit him with the butt of a pistol, and that Golden's pistol went off when he tried to hit back.

Fields was shot once in the left temple.

Mrs. Derrick said she had known both Golden and Fields for a number of years and said they had been partners since they started on the Houston police force six years ago.

En route to Galveston the two Houston officers began arguing, Mrs. Derrick said. She said she could not tell what they were arguing about but she thought it was a friendly argument until the car stopped at 25th and Postoffice streets and Fields got out. She said Golden followed him out of the car, the two argued some more, then began scuffling. There was a shot and Fields fell.

Experts Called In Graham Case

DENVER (AP)—Aircraft experts were called today by the state in the effort to build a murder case against John Gilbert Graham, 24, accused of dynamiting an airliner carrying 44, including his mother. Graham is charged in the death of his prosperous mother Mrs. Daisy E. King, 55. He is accused of placing a 25-stick dynamite bomb in her luggage before taking off $37,500 flight insurance on her life payable to him.

A scale model of a DC6B air transport of the same type shattered by an explosion last Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo., was placed in the courtroom yesterday. Parts of the wrecked plane were ready for introduction.

Doctors Cite 4 Big Springers For Health, Welfare Service

Four citations for exceptional service in contributing to the health and welfare of the community were made by the Permian Basin Medical Association Tuesday evening.

Singleed out for special recognition were Shine Philips, retired druggist; Dr. E. H. Hoppel, practicing dentist for more than half a century; Dr. Marjorie Kirkpatrick, determined to recover from a mishap that left her almost totally paralyzed; and, posthumously, Paul Lawrence, pharmacist who was killed in a recent airplane crash in Mexico.

The ceremonies took part at the annual meeting of the Permian Basin Medical Society and its Auxiliary, together with members of the dental and pharmaceutical professions and their wives. Approximately 75 attended the dinner affair in the Settles ballroom.

Dr. Earl Williams, Dallas, who read the citations, was speaker for the evening. He said that the people recognized personified the fact that service is man's highest calling, and that they had learned the art of living.

Dr. Williams, a dental specialist in Dallas and an after-dinner speaker of note, told the group that it was imperative in these days to maintain a sense of humor, to appreciate the viewpoint and attitude of others, and to count your blessings.

"Anytime you get to feeling sorry for yourself," said Dr. Williams, "I have a prescription for you. Go sit on a street corner, watch the world go by and see how well off you are."

Philips, who has been a druggist here since acquiring a store in 1919 from the late B. Reagan, was a repeater for a citation because of his comeback after two heart attacks last year. The award cited him not only professionally but because of his community spirit and unswerving devotion in visiting the sick.

Dr. Hoppel, who came to Big Spring in 1902 upon his graduation from Vanderbilt College of Dentistry, has been practicing here continuously since. In three years at Vanderbilt, he had an average of 98, a record never equalled in the annals of the university. "Venerable and beloved in and out of his profession alike," is the way Dr. Williams put it.

Conquering through courage was the citation for Dr. Kirkpatrick, who was left paralyzed by back injuries last November. Stubbornly she refused to give up, and today is able to walk with aid of crutches, to feed herself, to sign her name, and is determined to resume her practice as a physician. Dr. Williams said he hoped to return soon and find her fully restored to her career.

Because of friendliness and human concern which endeared him to many people and because of high professional standards and ethics, Paul Lawrence was honored posthumously as a pharmacist. Dr. Preston Harrison, society president, presided over the dinner. Dr. W. B. Hardy, whose dental career has paralleled that of the speaker, introduced Dr. Williams. A brief business session was held following the dinner program.

Singapore Freedom Issue Is Dynamite

By MURRAY FROMSON SINGAPORE, April 25 (AP)—The man in the British-style "bush" jacket looked out over a sea of faces and spread his arms as if delivering an invocation.

"Merdeka!" he yelled, and 30,000 Malays, Chinese, Indians, Indonesians and Eurasians responded by repeating the clarion call of Singapore's independence movement.

As the crowd subsided for one brief moment, the man in the jacket, David Saul Marshall, turned to an aide and with boyish enthusiasm exclaimed: "Isn't this wonderful? Isn't this inspiring?"

Then he faced the crowd again and in a high-pitched British accent started on his favorite subject: "Down with Colonialism! British rule must end! We want independence (merdeka) now! Freedom and justice are our rights!"

The crowd roared again. "Atta boy, Davey," called out one admirer to the leader of Singapore's Labor Front government.

Singapore's different racial groups, usually divided among themselves, are at least somewhat united by a lust for freedom.

Even so, responsible authorities here fear the possibility of serious race riots in the coming months. There are 800,000 Chinese here as against 115,000 Malays and 90,000 Indians and Pakistanis and none of them have any love for each other.

Herein lies the story of Singapore and of Marshall, the elected leader in the present campaign to end 137 years of British rule in this strategic Southeast Asia outpost at the foot of the Malay Peninsula.

It was as a criminal lawyer that Marshall first gained prominence in Singapore. He was born here 48 years ago, the son of a prosperous Jewish merchant. He was stricken with tuberculosis in 1926 and went to Switzerland, where he recovered.

Whether Marshall can win his biggest fight may be known in the weeks coming up. He heads a 13-man delegation to London to talk independence with British government officials in a series of conferences starting April 23.

The big issue centers around the question of how many people in Singapore really want independence.

Many responsible citizens fear coercion from the Communist element which is strong, vocal and well organized despite the fact it is outlawed here. The Communists are among the chief backers of independence and are generally recognized as the behind-the-scenes leaders in Singapore's past riots.

Officers Attend FBI Lectures

Sheriff Jess Slaughter and his deputies are winding up a two-day study course sponsored by the FBI on control of car stealing, identification and communication.

On Tuesday, Slaughter, Rufus Davidson, Fred Taylor, deputy sheriffs, and Leo Hull, special investigator for the T&P railway, were in Abilene for an all-day session sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Today Deputies Floyd Moore, Jim Engstrom and Joe Tom Draper are in Lubbock attending a similar session.

Ninety officers attended the Abilene meeting which was said to be one of the most successful of the short courses in crime control the FBI has held in this part of West Texas.

It was anticipated as many would be present at the Lubbock meeting.

Special agents and specialists with the FBI in Texas and elsewhere conducted the course and lectured on various phases of crime control.

Four members of the police department attended the lectures in Abilene Tuesday.

Making the trip were Police Chief C. L. Rogers, Detective Jack Shaffer, and Sergeants A. N. Standard and Alvin Hillbrunner.

Miner Rescued

Mrs. Joseph Archuleta cries unashamed and joyfully on the coal-dust-begrimed face of her husband after his rescue along with two other miners from a cave-in in Sunnyside, Utah. For 40 hours he lay under a piece of machinery which sheltered him from tons of rock and coal. Both hands were caught between a falling beam and an edge of the mine machine. Archuleta pulled his left hand free, got his pocket knife and cut off the tip of his right thumb, but he couldn't free another finger and rescuers cut it off with a hammer and cold chisel.

'No Gain' In Battle For Free Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard W. Slocum, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today that U. S. newspapers "have not been gaining in the battle" for a free press.

In an address prepared for the 70th annual ANPA meeting, Slocum charged that government officials are short-changing the public on information it should have. He urged editors to look into the motives behind the recent Senate subcommittee questioning of New York newsmen and the U. S. Treasury's temporary seizure of the Communist Daily Worker for allegedly unpaid taxes.

He said newspapers should announce that they will fight "harassment or interference with the public right to a free press."

And he said editors have not supported what he termed the "wholesome study" being conducted by a House subcommittee into withholding of information within the government.

Slocum, executive vice president of the Philadelphia Bulletin, expressed confidence "that the American press will meet its obligation of full, fair, objective and unbiased reporting" of the year's political campaigns.

Noting that there is a difference between the news and editorial columns of a newspaper, he said: "We would urge upon both (political) parties that in any criticism or attack they name specific newspapers for a specific performance or lack of it, not cast an accusation against the whole press or any special part of it."

But, Slocum said, the American press "cannot be a free and continuing press unless it operates on a sound financial basis, self-sustaining and without subsidy, direct or indirect."

He said the supply of newsprint is a major problem and "no relief is in sight" for the current shortage.

American newspapers are, however, receiving the largest volume of newsprint in history, Slocum added. He said the shortage stems from the "tremendous" and sudden increase in use of newsprint. Slocum is retiring as NPA president after serving two yearly terms.

The public must give stronger support to the "battle for press freedom," he told more than 1,000 publishers meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"We are the active trustees of that right and we intend to continue vigilant and vigorous in its assertion, for government agencies constantly tend to act like clams," he said.

Slocum said no newsman wants to harm the nation's security.

"The trouble arises, and the public gets short-changed on information," he said, "because many public officials have an outsize sense of what is important to national security."

Turning to the probe of possible Communist activities among newsmen by Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss.) and the Daily Worker tax case Slocum said:

"Hearings like those of the Senate Eastland committee, which called a number of New York City newspapermen before it, must be looked at to determine whether the motive was as stated or directed at certain newspapers with the thought of reprisal or intimidation."

"Procedure of the Treasury Department in seizure and padlocking of any newspaper demands critical scrutiny. It is easy for some to pass over an incident like the recent seizure and padlocking of the New York Daily Worker with the thought that this was a Communist newspaper and Communists deserve nothing better."

"But an act looked at lightly which violates a safeguard can well be used as a precedent."

Commissioners Let Contracts, Set Dates For Awarding Bids

Construction contracts were let for two projects by the city commission Tuesday night, and dates for awarding bids on two swimming pools and the Northside fire station were set.

The contracts let Tuesday were for building a million-gallon water reservoir and enlarging the filter plant.

Low bidder for the filter plant project was Clay P. Carey Construction Co. of Brownwood. The firm bid $179,695 with completion in 180 calendar days.

Clyde Yarbrough of Odessa was awarded the contract for building the reservoir of concrete. His bid was $64,329 and 120 days to completion. Yarbrough is currently laying the water line to the site of the new project.

Other bidders on the projects were Russ Mitchell of Houston, A. P. Kasch of Big Spring, Wayne W. Smith of Dallas, Anderson Construction of Abilene, Banks Moreland of Houston, Chicago Bridge of Houston, and Pittsburgh - De S Moines of Dallas.

CONCRETE FAVORED

Commissioners favored the concrete bidders because of delivery dates and also maintenance costs. Low bid for steel construction on a concrete base would have totaled $63,825.

Figuring 15 per cent for engineering fees and contingencies, the city is planning on the two projects costing about $200,027 of the bond elections voted last year to pay for the projects, only $279,994 remains for financing. Therefore, the commissioners approved a move to take the balance — if needed — from surplus in the water and sewer fund. This fund will have $28,000 surplus this fiscal year, the city estimated in setting up the budget.

Commissioners elected to accept bids on two swimming pools May 15 — next meeting of the group — which will be the same date for letting the police station contracts. Bids will be accepted for conventional concrete reinforced with steel construction. Bids on bath-houses will be taken separately.

SITES PICKED

One pool will be built in the Negro park and the other on the same block as the Northside fire station. The block is between N. Main N. Rummels, Seventh and Eighth streets.

The commission decided to take bids May 22 on the Northside fire station. Plans were approved Tuesday night. The building will be located on the northwest corner of the block with the swimming pool on the southwest. Remainder of the block will be made into a playground.

Roughly, the building will be L-shaped, with the back side measuring about 85 feet. The longer end will be 59 feet and the same shorter end about 39 feet. The brick will be approximately the same color as the Birdwell-Eleventh station.

Only one contract is being called for to cover all construction. The commission approved an application from Bruce Frazier to construct at his expense a water line from a city water line to the Cedar Ridge addition south and outside of the city limits.

RE-PLAT APPROVED

Frazier said he would be having a line graduated from six to two inches to care for the area. Commissioners approved the line and said that no person would be allowed to tap the line without permission from Frazier — as long as the line is outside the city limits.

A re-plot of a section on the Amended Central Park addition was approved by the group. The change was needed to alter an alley in the block under question. The area is in Section 7 of the addition and is bounded by Ridge, road, Manor Lane, and Settles.

An application had been made by Cecil McDonald regarding paving three streets in Avion Village. The commission made no move and is holding to a 36-foot street. McDonald was seeking permission to pave 30-foot streets.

Prayer Urged On Deadlocked Jury

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Federal Judge Stephen Chandler Jr. told a deadlocked jury yesterday prayers overnight might help them reach a verdict.

The jury was deliberating a case in which state Sen. Max Cook seeks a $5,000 attorney's fee from a construction company he represented on a government contract.

The jurors told Chandler they were hopelessly deadlocked at 10-1 after one member had been excused because of illness.

"If you have tried everything, I suggest prayer," Chandler said from the bench. "It has helped me in making hard decisions."

Barber Shop Singers Install New Officers

Harmony reigned at the annual installation banquet of the Big Spring Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing Tuesday night at the First Christian Church.

The harmony was provided by a number of vocal groups. Included were the Junior College Choir, the Big Spring High School boys quartet, the Mitty Nice Quartet and a "pick up" four which demonstrated the tonal possibilities of "wood-shedding."

Basically, the meeting, attended by 100 guests and members, was for the purpose of installing the chapter's new officers. However, this portion of the evening was devoted to barbershop vocalizing.

A number of guest singing groups invited to attend were unable to be present. This led to a wider range of activity by members of the local chapter and by other Big Spring singers.

Lieut. Kerry Kicklighter, retiring president of the local chapter, acted as installing officer.

New officers are:

Jack Wise, president; Edward Johnson, first vice president; L. Rodney Rish, second vice president; Carol Belton, first secretary; George Larson, recording secretary; Bob Spears, treasurer; Bob Clark, historian. Directors include Kicklighter, Byron Wolf, Tolford Durham, Allen Orr and all of the chapter officers.

Webb Choraleers who were to be featured on the program had to cancel their appearance because they were ordered to fly Tuesday night.

Joe Lewis, international vice president of Dallas, notified the group he had been called to Minneapolis. He was to have installed the new officers.

The Big Spring Chapter of the SPEBSQSA meets each Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian Church.

It also says GM should cut prices of its cars and other products in view of what it says were the company's "extremely high profits" over the past eight years.

Congress and the Justice Department to see if action is called for to curb what it described as a trend toward monopoly by the six-billion-dollar corporation, world's largest manufacturing concern.

O'Mahony heads the judiciary subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly, which recently completed a survey of General Motors as a "case history" in an inquiry to determine whether changes are needed in the nation's antitrust laws.

In Detroit, a GM spokesman said company officials have not had a chance to see the report.

"However," he added, "on the basis of the entire record before the committee, the staff's conclusions as publicized are unwarranted."

Citing GM's dominance in such fields as truck and diesel locomotive manufacturing, as well as its recent purchase of extensive facilities for making earth-moving equipment, the staff report says the corporation's size gives it competitive advantages not necessarily good for the economy as a whole.

O'Mahony said in an accompanying statement the study "broadly intimates that the time has come to consider at least the limitation of any further expansion of the corporation into other industries."

In addition, the report said, "in view of the extremely high level of profits sustained over such a long period the interest of the consumer should receive stronger recognition by the company in lower prices."

There were these other main findings in the report:

1. Legislation is needed to ease the "plight" of retail dealers who, the report said, now operate at a disadvantage in their rela-

State Insurance Group Raps 'Loan Sharks'

AUSTIN (AP)—The Insurance Commission has thrown roadblocks in the way of "loan sharks" who use credit insurance to burden small borrowers. The action by a 2-1 vote may save borrowers more than 2.2 million dollars a year.

The dissenting vote was cast by Morris Brownlee. He said the commission should have gone farther to prevent the writing of excessive insurance with small loans.

The order goes into force July 1, giving companies time to change forms, re-write policies and revise rate charts.

Seven major revisions were made, including a reduction of premium rates that may be charged for credit life insurance and accident and health insurance written with small loans.

It was the first rate revision since 1951. At a hearing three weeks ago the commission was urged to "stop the prostitution of the insurance business by loan sharks."

Chairman Byron Saunders and Commissioner Mark Wentz voted for the order, which Saunders predicted "will result in an improvement."

Saunders said the commission hoped the lower rates and other changes "will tend to prevent abuses—including splitting and flipping of loans."

Basic health and accident rates will be cut about 10 per cent. The order eliminates the minimum premium of $1 on life policies of $100 or less, and premiums are limited to the amount calculated from the actual period the loan is to run.

Thus, a lending agency making a loan for three months will be able to collect only a three-month premium, or 25 cents, on a credit life policy of $100 or less.

Lenders still may require the borrower to take out insurance exceeding the amount of the loan. Brownlee said this was the main basis of his protest vote. He said the commission should require that insurance be offered only in an amount sufficient to cover the unpaid balance of the loan.

He noted that the order leaves the amount of insurance that may be required from 175 to 300 per cent of the loan note.

"This, in my opinion, permits charges beyond the value of the service rendered," Brownlee said. The commission said other savings or better protection for borrowers will result from these revisions:

Policy writing fee reduced from 50 to 25 cents.

Reserve requirements for insurers writing credit insurance increased from 18 to 25 per cent.

Health and accident coverage broadened by requiring companies to pay for sickness or accident that originated during the term of a previous policy.

Requirement that lender-agents be able to prove insurance policies have been delivered to insured persons.

Hospital benefits doubled.

Ike Rolls Up Major Plurality In Pennsylvania Vote Contest

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Eisenhower rolled up a 260,000-plus plurality over Adlai Stevenson in Tuesday's Pennsylvania primary battle for the "popularity" vote with both major parties expressing satisfaction at the result.

Republican State Chairman Miles Horst said the Eisenhower vote was a "resounding endorsement" of the national administration.

James A. Finnegan, Stevenson's campaign manager, said in the Pennsylvania voting his candidate did "exceedingly well, far exceeding our expectations."

It was one of the tightest votes in Pennsylvania's political history. With three-fourths of the ballots counted, the results were:

Republican — In 7,182 of 8,730 precincts, Eisenhower 781,859; Sen. William F. Knowland of California, on the ballot against his wishes, 36,151.

Democratic — In 7,159 precincts, Stevenson, 495; Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who was not on the ballot and who made no bid for support, 21,726.

While the Eisenhower-Stevenson battle was billed as a "popularity" contest, it was strictly an intra-party election. In Pennsylvania primaries, voters cannot cross party lines.

However, the state chairmen of the two major parties had made last-minute pleas for votes of confidence on behalf of their respective presidential hopefuls.

The turnout was noticeably below pre-election predictions. The hoped for 40 per cent or better vote actually was running closer to 25 per cent of the state's 4,992,069 registered voters.

The final figures were certain to provide both parties with much discussion material.

The GOP holds a 455,000 registration margin in the commonwealth and the presence of some statewide contests on the Republican side — the Democratic state slate was unopposed — may have added to the GOP totals.

One of those who braved the wintry day to visit the polls was the President himself, who went to his Gettysburg farm home a night in advance so he could vote at the 7 a.m. Then fly back to the White House.

Statewide, GOP voters renominated U.S. Sen. James H. Duff, who will oppose in November former Philadelphia Democratic Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr., running yesterday without opposition.

Duff received only token opposition from Paul E. Sanger, Lebanon farmer and auctioneer.

Twenty-nine of the state's incumbent U.S. congressmen were renominated.

The state's electorate also finished the selection of a 70-vote GOP convention delegation and a 74-vote Democratic delegation for the presidential nomination balloting this summer. Both delegations will be pledged.

President Eisenhower is assured of solid backing by the GOP group. The bulk of the Democratic delegation, consisting of 148 members each with a half vote, is expected to plunk for Stevenson.

One of the noteworthy results in yesterday's voting came in Philadelphia, the state's largest city, now under Democratic rule.

In the 1952 general election, Eisenhower lost the city to Stevenson by 160,000 votes but won the showed:

Republicans — 1,539 precincts gave President Eisenhower 44,005 write-ins; Massachusetts Gov. Herter got 738 and Vice President Nixon 244.

Democrats — 1,555 precincts gave McCormack 23,868; Stevenson 16,540; Kefauver 3,938.

On the Democratic ballot the same precincts gave President Eisenhower 1,816 write-ins.

Boston Favorite Leads City Vote

BOSTON (AP)—Democratic Boston gave a hearty "favorite son" write-in vote to U.S. Rep. John W. McCormack in yesterday's state primaries.

His Boston vote was 12,392 to 3,272 for Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 nominee who is campaigning for a second shot at the presidency.

Stevenson ran ahead in the rest of the state, reducing McCormack's home town lead.

Stevenson's chief rival in the spring primaries, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) ran far behind. Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver campaigned in Massachusetts. In addition, Kefauver urged his supporters to give their write-in preference to McCormack.

Aside from the McCormack-Stevenson contest the primaries were uneventful. Scattered contests for district delegates to the national conventions attracted little interest.

None of the delegates is pledged, and the write-in is not binding on them. The presidential candidates' names were not printed on the ballots.

As expected, President Eisenhower dominated the Republican write-in. He also was the choice of a number of Democratic voters, although his write-in fell far behind the 16,000 Democratic write-ins he collared four years ago.

The vote was one of the lightest on record with indications that less than 10 per cent of all eligible voters participated.

In Springfield, where voting machines were used, only 767 votes indicated preferences, although a total vote of 4,354 was announced. The city has about 80,000 registered voters.

With more than four-fifths of the 1,767 precincts tallied, the returns showed:

Republicans — 1,539 precincts gave President Eisenhower 44,005 write-ins; Massachusetts Gov. Herter got 738 and Vice President Nixon 244.

Democrats — 1,555 precincts gave McCormack 23,868; Stevenson 16,540; Kefauver 3,938.

On the Democratic ballot the same precincts gave President Eisenhower 1,816 write-ins.

Expose Russians To Free People, Churchman Urges

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—"The more the Russian people are exposed to contact with people who live in freedom, the more difficult it will be to continue the worst forms of totalitarian tyranny," Dr. Roswell Barnes told the United Church Women board of managers yesterday.

He cited the recent visit to Russia by nine Protestant representatives of the National Council of Churches, and said this "pushed the opening in the Iron Curtain back a little further."

Dr. Barnes is associate general secretary of the National Council of Churches.

Shivers Claims Johnson Makes 'Suckers' Of Friends

By The Associated Press

Gov. Allan Shivers, accusing Lyndon Johnson "of making suckers of his friends, said Tuesday night if the senator is a "serious candidate" for the presidential nomination, he is barred by convention rules and tradition from being Texas' delegation leader.

Supporters of Johnson have argued that he be named the leader of the state's delegation to the national Democratic convention and also Texas' "favorite son" candidate. Shivers also wants to head the Texas delegation.

The governor said at Waco convention custom and tradition prevent a candidate for the nomination to go on the convention floor until after the nomination. Shivers said:

"If Sen. Johnson is a serious candidate for the nomination, then he cannot act as the Texas delegation leader. If he is not a serious candidate, then what kind of game is he trying to play with the Democrats of Texas?"

The Dallas County Republican chairman predicted Shivers would be defeated in the battle for control of the Democratic party in Texas. Paul O'Rourke said "the Shivers conservatives would make fine Republicans, and we would like to have them join us, lock, stock and barrel."

The Harrison County Democratic Executive Committee unanimously endorsed Shivers for state delegation leader and Johnson for the "favorite son candidate."

The show of strength between Shivers and Johnson will come May 5 at precinct conventions.

A record number of voters will be eligible to attend precinct conventions held by both parties. Comptroller Robert Calvert said the estimated voting strength was 2,410,188 compared to 2,338,261 in 1952.

Ralph Yarborough told the University of Texas Young Democrats Club a "permanent improvement" is needed in Texas government.

Makes Friends with the Meanest Roads

(Have you tried Buick's great new ride?)

THE SWEET WAY a '56 Buick rides on all sorts of roads is something you find nowhere else on wheels.

Capricious roads that twist and turn — unruly roads that rock and roll — tired roads, battered and beaten — they all seem to wear company manners the moment a Buick approaches.

Why? Simply because Buick comes with what it takes to put any road on its best behavior — the completely ride-engineered combination of chassis, engine and automatic drive that is obtainable in no other car.

And that's gospel truth whether you drive a new SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER or ROADMASTER.

No other car matches the firm, true tracking of Buick's own ride foundation — buttressed by brawny X-braced frame and torque-tube drive — cushioned on coil springs and deep-off shock absorbers.

No other has such width of tread and length of wheelbase within dimensions so trim and tidy that Buicks turn, park and garage more easily than smaller cars.

No other duplicates the assurance of steering, brakes and rear axle so precisely geared and gaited for the nimble handling that's a safety "must" in modern cars.

And certainly no other name plate promises the soaring sweep of power that wells from the big 322-cubic-inch V8 beneath every new Buick bonnet.

Nor does any other automatic drive put power to its car's rear wheels with the swift, unruffled pace of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* — and that goes double every time you "switch pitch" for whip-quick, safer passing.

But why stop to count reasons — when results are what you're after? Wouldn't you rather really feel Buick's new "sense of direction" on straightaway, curves and corners?

Wouldn't you rather relax in supreme comfort while tooling this powerful performer over roads you always hated to travel?

Well, sir, we cordially invite you to drop in on us and do just that.

Make it this week, won't you? Sample the ride that has charms to win any old road — and get first-hand figures on prices that make Buick owning a more positive pleasure.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Century-Old Eastern Hotel Razed By Fire

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—A fast-spreading fire wrecked the century-old Carver Hotel early today.

An estimated 65 guests fled to safety. Hotel officials said they believed all occupants had been accounted for within two hours after a general fire alarm was sounded at 1:36 a.m.

One guest, who identified himself as N. J. Santon, 61, Oswego, N.Y., crawled out of a window of his first-floor room about 3 a.m., apparently uninjured.

Others fled down rear stairways after being warned by telephoned alarms from the hotel switchboard and by hotel employees. Firemen hoisted aerial ladders to rescue other guests.

The blaze burned furiously for more than two hours through the four-story brick structure in the heart of Warren's downtown business district.

Edgar McClen, night clerk, remained at the hotel switchboard until melted wires broke off his communications. Then he grabbed the register and fled to an office across the street where he immediately began checking for any missing guests.

Warren Hospital reported it had admitted three persons who had been in the hotel. They were reported suffering from shock.

Milburne Anderson, 72, owner of the hotel, collapsed from a heart attack and was taken to the hospital.

Cause of the fire was not determined, nor was there any immediate estimate of damage.

Administration Being Pushed Into New Look At Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration seems to be moving reluctantly and under various pressures toward a reappraisal of its major cold war policies.

Secretary of State Dulles expects to discuss with Democratic chairman of the Senate and House foreign policy committees in the next few days plans for setting up a committee of prominent citizens to investigate the whole foreign aid program. That is one of the chief instruments of government operations abroad.

Dulles leaves next Tuesday for a Paris meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council. There he will discuss with foreign ministers of the other 14 NATO nations the possibility of giving that essential military organization new political and economic responsibilities.

Indications are that in moving to investigate foreign aid and expand the scope of NATO administration leaders are in part at least responding to pressures at home and abroad.

These pressures include claims that this country's policies, or at least its tactics, have not changed rapidly enough to deal with Russia's increasing emphasis on economic and political weapons in the cold war.

Russia's behavior under the Bulgarian-Khrushchev regime has so shifted that fear of war is no longer a driving force in the Western alliance. Western leaders all have taken the line that the struggle to prevent expansion of Soviet power and influence must take new forms while preserving the alliance.

Such countries as Canada, France and Italy have been urging for months that NATO be given broader responsibilities, especially in economic matters.

Dulles said in February he thought European economic problems could be handled better through other agencies which embrace such non-NATO countries as Sweden and Switzerland.

He told newsmen yesterday he still holds that view as far as European economic affairs are concerned but he thinks there are other economic questions which might be put into NATO's hands. One of these is cooperative efforts to assist the development of underdeveloped countries in Asia and Africa.

Dulles said also NATO might properly concern itself with some political problems like those of the Middle East. That region is the source of petroleum for many NATO countries and thus has both strategic and economic importance.

Dulles said that if ways are not found to keep NATO "growing" and doing practical work, it may wither away as the military need for its existence seems to disappear because of a lessening threat of war.

But President Eisenhower and Dulles both have said many times that Russia's aim of world conquest has not changed.

Thus the problem which Dulles is getting at is one of cold war policy and tactics. For in the thinking of the U.S. government there will remain a continued need to block Russia's aim of world conquest—it simply will not be so apparent.

Similarly the contemplated review of foreign aid operations is a problem in cold war tactics. The administration regards assistance to countries in Asia and Africa as a means of building their economic and political defenses against communism's appeals.

Midwest Gets Warming Winds

By The Associated Press

Southerly winds brought a little warming to the chilled areas of the Midwest today but unseasonably cool weather prevailed in most of the eastern third of the nation.

The warm air drifted northward from Oklahoma through the Dakotas and extended over the Texas Panhandle and Eastern Colorado. Temperatures were from 10 to around 20 degrees higher in the upper and middle Mississippi Valley compared with yesterday morning.

Readings dropped to near zero in Mount Washington, N.H., as cooler air spread across the northeastern region.

Light showers and snow flurries were reported in the upper Mississippi Valley and the Northern Plains. Showers sprinkled areas in the central Rockies and Central Plains, while snow flurries fell in the northern Rockies.

Boy Shoots Snake With Bow, Arrow

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Rodney Klomp's parents gave him a bow and arrow for his eleventh birthday.

Rodney headed for the Verdugo hills in search of big game. He found himself face to face with a coiled rattlesnake.

With the coolness and aplomb of Frank Buck, Rodney drew his bow and let fly just as the reptile struck the snake in the head.

Rodney thinks he'll never have a greater thrill.

Buses Remain Segregated As Next Moves Planned

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Montgomery's newly integrated city buses remained segregated for all practical purposes today while Negro boycotters and city officials debated their next moves.

The traditional assignment of seats according to race was ended yesterday by bus company decree. The few Negroes who rode buses, however, made no attempt to sit in the front section formerly reserved for white persons.

No tense incidents between the races have been reported. Throughout most of the South, bus and trolley segregation continued. In Virginia, however, a policy of mixed seating was being followed in Richmond and Norfolk and was expected at Portsmouth.

The Duke Power Co. in North Carolina said it was complying with the Supreme Court decision but that it did not expect any great change in its bus operations at Durham and Greensboro.

But the desegregation order, far from immediately ending troubled transportation problems in Montgomery, created a sharp split between the City Commission and the bus company. The status of the prolonged Negro bus boycott was also still in doubt.

Negro leaders said a decision on ending the five-month-old protest movement may be made tomorrow night at a mass meeting of members of their race.

Bus officials said the number of Negroes riding yesterday on the first day of desegregation was about the same percentage that has continued to ride despite the boycott. That figure had been previously estimated by the company at from 5 to 15 per cent of the normal load.

City and state officials here insisted Alabama bus segregation laws are still in effect and would be strictly enforced.

The parent company's decision followed a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Monday holding bus segregation unconstitutional. National City Lines operates bus franchises in several other Southern cities—Mobile Ala.; Jackson, Miss.; Tampa Fla.; Tulsa, Okla.; and Beaumont, Wichita Falls and El Paso, Tex.

The three-member Montgomery City Commission yesterday issued a warning that it expects "the bus company and all other persons to abide by existing laws and ordinances." They said the Supreme Court ruling affected only South Carolina.

Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers said he would order the arrest of "any passenger or bus driver who indulges in desegregation."

President C. C. Owen of the Alabama Public Service Commission sent a telegram to National City

No Bunnies Till Hunting Season

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—If the two little Weatherford boys want to take care of wild rabbits they will have to wait for the hunting season.

Yancy, 7, and Dell, 3, thought they were doing a fine job of caring for the two little bunnies found by their father, C. W. Weatherford, while mowing the lawn.

All went well until Weatherford sought information on proper care and feeding and district wildlife supervisor Cliff Sipe arrived in person.

Sipe whisked the bunnies away. It's simply illegal to have wild rabbits in your house except during the hunting season. "Does that apply to baby rabbits?" Sipe was asked.

The season is Nov. 20 to Jan. 18, and Sipe said, "there wouldn't be any baby rabbits then."

Violinist Popular With Club, Guests

A most appreciative audience attended the concert presented by the Music Study Club Tuesday evening at Howard County Junior College.

The occasion was the presentation of Harriet Emerson, violinist, of Fort Worth and New York, accompanied by Joe Bratcher of Fort Worth.

Miss Emerson won her listeners with her informal manner as well as with her artistic performance. Her first group of selections included Allegro by Fioco, a gay composition requiring fluent ease on the violin.

The second number Miss Emerson introduced as a revival of an old classic which had been off the concert stage for 50 years. This was La Chasse by Mondonville, a selection with interesting staccato passages easily executed by Miss Emerson.

Caprice No. 28 by Fiorello-Ordrick was a rollicking number suitable for an encore or for presentation in a classical group. For her second period, the violinist presented the prize-winning numbers of the Texas Composers' Guild. These were recently announced at the state meeting of music clubs in Dallas.

Reminiscence by Forrest Goodenough, awarded honorable mention, was in a minor mood. Painted by Sister Elaine, was an opportunity for Miss Emerson to display her ability to extract the deep mellow tones of her instrument.

First place winner was Rondo in E Minor by Lois Butler, a fast difficult selection, skillfully performed by the artist. Her concluding number was her own arrangement of David Guin's Harmonica Player, originally composed for the piano.

Especially popular were the two encores, Turkey in the Straw and Ghost Dance.

Appearing on the same program was Mrs. T. A. Mitchell, state chairman of the Composers' Guild of Texas. She gave a background of Texas music through the years.

Members of the Music Club entertained with a dinner at the Wagon Wheel following the concert. The honored guests were Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Emerson and Mr. Bratcher.

Tables were decorated with arrangements of gladioli and other spring flowers. About 25 members and guests attended the dinner, which was arranged by Mrs. Carl Marcum. Mrs. Nell Frazier is president of the club.

Rosebud Club Hears Of Native Plants

Native shrubs and flowers were discussed by the Rosebud Club Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. David Barker. Mrs. C. M. Boles was cohostess.

Mrs. Boles and Mrs. Robert Pondrom presented the program and displayed examples of flowers and shrubs that are native to this section. Members were told that the Tahoka daisy is one of the flowers best suited for this soil and climate; stone crop, or flowering moss, was also recommended.

Mrs. Boles told members that in the eastern states, carnations and galliardia are about the same price. Galliardia is often called Indian Blanket. Another flower which does well here is thimble flower, which is often called black-eyed Susan.

Rain-lilies are cultivated in other parts of the country, also, Mrs. Boles said. The purple verbena is the parent of all the domestic verbena used, the club learned.

Mrs. Pondrom related legends about some of the native shrubs and told the names of some which thrive here. Included in the list are mesquite, allthorn, native cedars and junipers and catclaw.

FLOWER HINTS

Hints for keeping flower arrangements were given to members as a part of the program. Assters may be kept fresh for a longer period of time if a little sugar is added to the water in which they are placed. Vinegar, a cup to a quart of water, will preserve calla lilies for a longer time.

Place a cube of sugar in the water where irises are kept to keep the water from smelling. Marigolds like a solution of oil of peppermint, made in the same strength as that for chrysanthemums.

A solution of five drops of wood alcohol to two pints of water makes a "freshener" for pansies as well as for roses. Be sure to slit the stems of roses about two inches, members were told. Dahlias also respond to this solution if they are in it for about an hour.

SALT AND SODA

Salt added to water for petunias will help keep them fresh; use two tablespoons of salt to one quart of water.

Three tablespoons of baking soda in two quarts of water will make a good stimulant for snapdragons.

During the business meeting the club made plans for their entry in the garden pilgrimage to be sponsored by the Council of Garden Clubs. Date of the pilgrimage is set for May 20.

Hostesses for the next meeting are to be Mrs. Jim Lewis and Mrs. Neil Norred. Mrs. Tip Anderson presided for the meeting, which was attended by 11.

A Bit Of Fat To Chew Upon

What may become one of the biggest fat-chewing issues in years was projected at week's end by the President's Commission on Veterans' Benefits, submitting some 70 proposed changes or revisions in existing laws.

Most controversial is the suggestion that veterans pensions be tied in with social security payments and gradually eliminated. The national commander of the VFW commented that while he supports many of the 70 provisions, those that suggest combining veterans pensions with social security "are highly objectionable and should be denounced by all veterans."

However, the executive director of the American Veterans Committee said the suggestions are a "magnificent contribution in bringing sanity and realism to the nation's program of veterans' benefits and pensions."

A man of great experience in veterans affairs, selected to bring order out of chaos after World War II, heads the President's Commission that made the recommendations. He is Gen. Omar N. Bradley, retired.

Main objective the suggestions seem to aim at is cutting out waste and insuring that the lion's share of benefits go to those who earned and actually need their government's help.

Rep. Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.), much-decorated veteran of the last war and chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said last Saturday that he has found hundreds of cases where government benefits for incompetent veterans—those unable to manage their own affairs—are passed on to distant relatives. He cited one example: A World War I mentally ill veteran had been under VA Hospital care since 1919. VA payments and earnings thereon had pushed his estate above $150,000. His relatives, when last reported on 20 years ago, included a brother and four sisters in now Communist Poland.

He thinks where no widow, child or dependent parent survives the government should be allowed to collect VA compensation payments from that portion of the estate not accruing from investments or other sources.

Pitch For A Paen To The Pig

A paean to the pig is sung by the National Live Stock Producer, a magazine, which notes that this useful animal became a citizen of America on May 25, 1839, thereby beating the first Families of Virginia to the New World by some 68 years.

Hernando DeSoto, when he landed at Charlotte Harbor, Florida, on the way to discover the Mississippi, off loaded among other things 13 sows and two boars. As recounted by the magazine, when he began his march north in the spring of 1540 there were 300 pigs in line, and these pigs paced the foot soldiers through a 3-200-mile march through Florida to Arkansas—obviously by a circuitous route.

In 1542 DeSoto died in Arkansas, and the magazine thinks a monument to the pig should be erected at the spot where he first left his footprint on the sand in Florida.

Funds for this monument, National Live Stock Producer urges, should be supplied by federal and state funds, in recognition of the pig's great contribution to American agriculture.

The pig has been in economic difficulties of recent years, as anyone who has read the papers is well aware. That king of the American rural landscape; the beef critter, has displaced the pig as the principal supplier of fresh and cured meat. For instance, in the period 1935-39 beef consumption was 54.8 pounds per capita and pork (exclusive of lard) was 47.4 pounds per capita. By 1947-49, beef had climbed to 64.7 pounds as against pork's 67.4.

Then, in 1954, the pig slipped into second place—beef, 79.2 per capita as against pork's 60 pounds (still exclusive of lard).

Pork reached new lows in price not many weeks ago, a victim perhaps of full employment and a high level of prosperity; for pork has been the great staple down through the decades, and when people start "eating high on the hog" it is usually beef they go for, not pork.

A monument to DeSoto's pig? Well, why not? There's one to the bollweevil.

Appeal To Throw Off The Shackles

WASHINGTON — There's more than meets the eye in the speech delivered by President Eisenhower before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It is perhaps an oversimplification to say that Mr. Eisenhower actually called upon the people of Soviet Russia to revolt against their rulers but it is certainly clear from what he said that he hopes they soon will rebel. In fact, the President, by an implicit reference to historical trends, as much as says that revolution in Soviet Russia is "inevitable."

The news dispatches already justify the assumption that there's something of an incipient revolt going on now. An Associated Press correspondent traveling in Tiflis, in the province of Georgia in central Russia, reported over the weekend that he has "pieced together a startling picture of the dramatic events of last month." His dispatch says:

"Reliable Georgian sources said that up to 100 Georgians may have been killed when troops opened fire on surging pro-Stalin demonstrators who tried to seize the Tiflis postoffice last March 9. The sources said that the city was an armed camp for days after the rioting. Troops and tanks patrolled the streets and a mid-night curfew was clamped on."

The foregoing was transmitted from Russia by telephone and then came an interruption by the censor. The world still does not know all the details but inasmuch as Mr. Eisenhower receives secret reports from the intelligence representatives of our own government and from other governments he had this background when he made some carefully veiled statements to the American Society of Newspaper Editors that go far beyond anything hitherto said officially by any American high official about the inevitability of revolution in Soviet Russia.

Mr. Eisenhower made two speeches to the editors—the first a prepared document and then some extemporaneous comments largely intended to confront the tariff protectionists in America with the prospect that unless they see things differently Japan may be forced to trade with Red China.

But it was the deliberately planned strategy of the prepared speech which will evoke world-wide comment. The sensational passages were carefully separated from one another in what was designed, for reasons of tact and diplomacy to make it appear that the President was discussing abstractly the theme of revolution as it related to the states in Asia which had in recent years won their freedom. Mr. Eisenhower's first mention of "revolution" came, for example, as he referred to April 19th as the 100th anniversary of the Battle of Concord when the shot was fired that was "heard round the world," and when, he added, "our forefathers started a revolution that still goes on."

The President went on to talk at length in terms of the American revolution and its "firm belief in the spirit of the individual." He then applied the illustration to the past decade as he declared that 18 nations totalling 650 million people "have gained their independence."

After some general observations on how unsafe these new nations are, the President issued a plain warning to them about the dangers of the Communist dictatorship. Then, without naming Soviet Russia specifically, Mr. Eisenhower said in a paragraph that ought to be read "round the world:

"The prospects for peace are brightest when enlightened self-governing peoples control the policy of nations. Peoples do not want war. Rulers beyond the reach of popular control are more likely to engage in reckless adventures and to raise the grim threat of war. The spread of freedom enhances the prospect for durable peace."

It was evident that rulers the President meant, because earlier in the speech referring to Soviet offers of economic aid to Asia, he had said: "The Communists conceal the terrible human costs that characterize their ruthless systems of dictatorship and forced labor."

The climax of what may be considered a sensational appeal to the peoples of Soviet Russia over the heads of their rulers came at the very end of the President's address—again in carefully couched phrases, as he said:

"A Soviet government genuinely devoted to these purposes can have friendly relations with the United States and the free world for the asking. We will welcome that day."

"We cannot doubt that the current of world history flows toward freedom. In the long run dictatorship and despotism must give way. We can take courage from that sure knowledge. But as a wise American, Mr. Justice Holmes once said, 'the inevitable comes to pass through effort.' We should take these words to heart in our quest for peace and freedom. These great aspirations of humanity will be brought about—but only by devoted human effort."

Then Mr. Eisenhower, in his concluding sentences, deliberately referred again to the battle of Concord, describing it as a "symbol of the faith, the courage, the sacrifice on which the victory of freedom depends."

It was the most pointed appeal for revolution, bloodless revolution if possible, which has yet been made by any world statesman to the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite states.

Russians Make Themselves Felt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The journey of Russia's Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev to Britain—one of the strangest of modern times—will probably be giving off echoes for a long time.

The jeers and hoots for the two men may have amused Western anti-Communists. The effect elsewhere may have created sympathy for the Russians and hostility for the British. The Russians were guests in Britain.

At the same time Khrushchev's temper tantrums—and his reaction to needling—raises questions about his leadership. They don't prove anything definite—yet—but they make Westerners wonder what they're looking at.

Georgi Malenkov, deposed as premier in favor of Bulganin but still a member of the Russian hierarchy, got a warm reception on his recent visit to Britain. Bulganin and Khrushchev may have thought they were in for the same.

Americans in the best position to know what Kremlin thinking is—if anyone can be said to know it—are said to feel Malenkov is the smartest man in the Russians' collective leadership and will be back on top in time. Malenkov, fat and almost sad-faced, made no mistakes in Britain.

Khrushchev is apparently the real boss now. Bulganin takes a back seat to him, letting his partner do almost all the talking.

Khrushchev, from the time he got drunk in Yugoslavia and wrestled with one of his associates in a field, has appeared as a lusty, uninhibited, nonintellectual, extroverted character right out of a Dostoevsky novel.

Being so, he is unpredictable. But it could be assumed, since he's at the top of 200 million Russians, that he is a cool, calculating man who knows what he's up to every minute.

Khrushchev's performance in Britain raises questions about both his coolness and his shrewdness. The sight of a British workman shaking his fist at him so irritated him that he mentioned it in a speech shortly afterwards.

"Never shake your fist at a Russian," he said. Then, like a teenager puffing out his chest in view of a rival gang, he informed his British hosts and the world that Russia was developing a hydrogen missile that could hit anywhere on earth.

He blew up again at a dinner given him and Bulganin by the British Socialists. He was asked if Russia would free about 200 East European Socialists presumed to be in Communist prisons.

This irritated him so much that he blasted back, according to reports, with these statements: All Socialists are "enemies of the working class," he knew nothing about the 200, they were not in Russian prisons, if they were in prison elsewhere that was no concern of his, and he refused to take a list of their names or try to help them.

As errors go, this was a beaut, if the reports of what he said are correct.

The new Russian line, as outlined by Khrushchev himself at the Communist party's 20th Congress in February, envisions Communists working with Socialists outside the Iron Curtain to gain parliamentary majorities in the Western governments.

And in the West this idea cannot help occurring: If Khrushchev can be needed into exploding by jeers, a raised fist, and a barbed question at a Socialist dinner, just how emotionally reliable is he to do business with in far tougher situations?

Keys King In Germany

By ALLAN JACKS ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's next general election is still two years away, but the storm already is brewing.

Opposition leaders and a large part of the Turkish press accuse Premier Adnan Menderes of leading Turkey into serious economic difficulties.

Menderes accuses his political opponents and the press of sabotaging his policies and of "preparing the revolution in the country."

The wide-open political battle dates from December. At that time Menderes' Cabinet quit during a squabble within his own Democratic party over the country's faltering economy. He formed a new government immediately, but only after a score of leading Democratic deputies quit or were ousted from the party. They joined in the mounting clamor against him.

In almost daily meetings, opposition politicians blame Menderes for inflation in Turkey, for rising prices and for other economic woes.

For his forum Menderes has chosen the sites of a number of development projects undertaken during his six years as premier. In recent weeks he has inaugurated several new cement factories and power projects, including a 35-million-dollar hydroelectric power and irrigation plant in the Seyhan River Valley in southern Turkey. These and many similar projects to modernize Turkish industry have been the backbone of Menderes' economic program. He claims they are essential if Turkey is to maintain a competitive position in world markets and raise the standard of living at home. The opposition contends the program leads to inflation, shortages and a lower standard of living.

Cosden Has Had Ups And Downs

I can't help but be a bit nostalgic, in the face of the impending merger of Cosden with W. R. Grace & Company, as my mind bounces back over the years in which Cosden has been a key industry of the area.

For a long time Cosden refinery—as it then was—had its ups and downs as the founder, fabulous Josh Cosden, had his ups and downs. It was a modern refinery when Cosden laid it out in 1928 to handle crude from the booming Howard-Glasscock field and from the great spread of leases Cosden was buying. The company acquired a tank car fleet calculated to make the industry's eyes bug, and interestingly this became the trading piece by which many trades were manipulated. After one collapse, Cosden got backing and reorganized. Boldly he added thermal cracking to the skimming processes at the plant. Then came another decline, and with it a decline in the quality of the physical plant. Moreover, the handwriting on the wall was showing up in the decline of Cosden's mid-West market for gasoline.

When Cosden came out from this receivership, a new personality had emerged. He was R. L. Tollett, a young accountant with a steel-trap and analytic mind. Nobody needed to tell him the company was hard up—plenty hard up. I am told that some local appliance dealers thought that when the president moved into the Cosden house that they would swing some deals for plus furnishings. Instead, they found a man scrupulously frugal with the company's money.

With the concern deeply (and some thought hopelessly) in debt, Tollett had to sell a bill of goods to those most heavily involved. One was Universal Oil Products. Not only did he talk up a moratorium, but actually he obtained more credit for needed improvements. From this moment on the fortunes of Cosden Petroleum Corp. began to change, although there was a period of fending off this creditor while perhaps one more pressing was satisfied. However, it was not long before Cosden was paying its bills—and paying them almost the minute they hit the hopper.

Perceiving that that once dependable Chicago market was perhaps on its last legs as a profitable outlet, Tollett turned his eyes nearer home. Where the name had been familiar in only Big Spring and Fort Worth (the former headquarters), Cosden signs began to spring up all over West Texas.

If market versatility was good, Tollett reasoned that product versatility was equally wise. He had begun to surround himself with sharp, young executives. Some had background in processing, some in chemistry, some in marketing and production. Gradually Cosden re-entered exploration and production. New elements were added at the plant to produce better fuels.

Then came a series of events around 1949-50 which turned the gradual growth into an unprecedented rally. Cosden had turned the deal which resulted in discovery of the fertile Reinecke pool. At this point Cosden stock quit crawling upwards and began to leap. A catalytic cracker was added, then a polymerization unit. Meanwhile, the extraction of mercaptans and production of modest amounts of cresylic acid had wedged into the petrochemical frontier. Cosden plunged in realistically with a BTX (benzene, toluene and xylene) unit operated in conjunction with a platformer which made use of aromatic qualities of the crude. The company also developed a viscous polymer; it interested Phillips in putting in a revolutionary process for extracting para-xylene (for fabric material) from the mixed xylene stream. Meantime, it launched a program to utilize the xylene in manufacture of styrene.

In addition to the Phillips plant, Cosden had induced General Atlas (now Cabot Carbon) to locate a plant next door and take a special type of residual oil for furnace black manufacture.

Other improvements were added and pipeline facilities multiplied. Production reserves gained constantly. Cosden bought a building to house its headquarters.

This vigorous, rapidly growing, wide-awake concern began attracting interest throughout the industry. I suppose it was almost inevitable that someday such an attractive industrial lass would marry. Personally, I feel she has married well.

Monaco Needs Shuffleboard

MONACO — I'll bet this is the only country in the world — all 370 acres of it — built like a giant roller coaster. It is strongly reminiscent of two American communities: San Francisco without cablecars and St. Petersburg, Fla., without shuffleboard.

Yet anyone with half an eye can see that what this principality needs more than new hotels or customer-inclined roulette wheels is shuffleboard for its senior citizens.

It may surprise you, as it did me, to learn of the great number of elderly persons who seek the sun here exactly as our senior citizens turn to Florida and Southern California.

Both movies and novels of the Riviera have emphasized young love, adventure and romance so exclusively that I was under the impression the Fountain of Youth had switched from St. Augustine to Monte Carlo.

However, senior citizens abound in Monaco — all along the Riviera for that matter. As of now, there is very little for them to do until the Casino opens in the afternoon and the croupiers come to life.

They — the senior citizens — are forced to spend the forenoon peering along the streets, peering into shop windows and sunning on park benches. There was a pretty crisis here just before the wedding when the park benches were painted and all the angry elders had to go back to their hotels and sit in the lobbies. They felt Rainier was overdoing it.

Shuffleboard is the obvious answer, especially if the Societe des Bains de Mer, which runs the Casino, would sponsor it.

To put it bluntly, shuffleboard hasn't got a prayer here unless the all-powerful Societe, the business and financial monopoly of Monaco, gives it the nod.

With shuffleboard, the Societe could fix a scale of side wagers, always remembering the house percentage, and assign apprentice croupiers to handle the game. This would give the senior citizens something on which to gamble during those restless, boring hours when the Casino closes up to clean itself rather than its customers.

For the oldsters here, unlike those of St. Petersburg, do not come South for the scenery and the sun. They come for chemistry in de fer, baccarat and roulette. Each one has a system carefully worked out by which the house keeps winning year after year but which, in the end, is personally guaranteed by each senior citizen to break the bank.

However, to get back to shuffleboard: It would keep the senior citizens out in the open and give them something constructive to do until the wheels start after lunch.

It wouldn't be long before each elder had worked out a system to beat the game and record it on the little pieces of paper on which they perpetually make notes in the Casino.

There is a lesson in all this for canny U. S. politicians now struggling with the problem of keeping our senior citizens happy. Gambling obviously has the Townsend plan beat three ways to the jack.

Major Line Of Attack

WASHINGTON — If there is one thing the Democrats are able to agree on in this political year when so many issues divide them, it is that foreign, defense policy will be a major line of attack in the fall campaign.

Candidates Adlai Stevenson, Averell Harriman, Estes Kefauver, Stuart Symington and Lyndon Johnson all are coming down hard on the Eisenhower Administration for failures of omission and commission in the foreign and defense fields.

They have, in their several ways, challenged the President and his Secretary of State to come up with new concepts and new plans to meet the Soviet shift of tactics represented by the bid for economic cooperation and peaceful coexistence offered to the world by the two travelling salesmen of Communism, party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

The President and Secretary John Foster Dulles have replied with speeches to which no one could take exception, since they express sincere good intentions to try harder and do better.

But these declarations are cloaked in words of vague good will. That is true particularly of Dulles' speech to the Associated Press which was studded with the often-repeated Dullesisms about moral values and common aspirations.

The report out of the State Department is that a plan of economic cooperation, hinted at in the Dulles speech, will be unveiled at the meeting of North Atlantic Treaty foreign ministers next week. This is good news, if true.

For many months, Canada's foreign minister, Lester Pearson, has been pushing in this direction, arguing that the language of Article 2 in the NATO treaty provides ample justification for using the alliance to further common economic and political goals.

As another specialist in foreign policy now freed of the inhibitions of office, George F. Kennan, formerly head of the State Department's policy planning staff, pointed out, it is not enough for heads of government to speak words of good intention.

In a talk at Princeton where he is on the staff of the Institute for Advanced Studies, Kennan suggested that the attitudes of the American people had considerable to do with the lack of dynamism in American policy.

There are signs of a curious division of attitudes working against peacetime cooperation in the West. For most Americans, peace is peace and the current boom is evidence enough that all is well with the world. They are scarcely in a mood to respond to a challenge based on the cry that we are losing the cold war.

On the other hand, the military, on whom the greatest burden of sustaining the NATO alliance falls, operates under wartime attitudes that hardly fit the present mood.

The Icelandic Parliament has voted to ask America to withdraw the troops protecting the vital air base there. This minor irritant could well have contributed to the growing feeling of resentment.

As the State Department has pointed out in a long dispute with the Department of Defense, here is a matter of peacetime manners versus wartime manners.

The armed forces have a right to broadcast without paying royalties, but to do so is a continuing source of irritation. France, Belgium and Great Britain are threatening to take action similar to Iceland's in this matter.

As peace breaks out, attitudes become more important than ever. It is a hard lesson for Americans, and particularly the American military, to learn. But unless it is learned, the erosion of the Western alliance will continue.

Service Stations Stock Phillips 66 Fertilizer

Want to make your lawn the pride of your neighborhood? Then use Phillips 66 premium quality Ammonium Sulfate, available at any Phillips 66 service station in Big Spring.

Containing 21 per cent nitrogen and 23.8 per cent sulfur, the fertilizer is easy to use. It can be spread by hand or in a lawn spreader.

It comes packaged in 25, 50 and 100-pound moisture resistant bags. Nitrogen is one of three essential plant foods. It speeds up easy plant growth, boosts stem and leaf development and gives rich green color to growing plants.

How much Ammonium Sulfate should you use? Soil conditions, quantity and evenness of rainfall or watering, temperature conditions . . . all determine your growing conditions.

Marked improvements in the appearance of a lawn may be obtained with annual applications of about ten pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulphate per 1,000 square feet of grass. Ten paces by ten paces equals about 1,000 square feet.

Ammonium Sulfate should be applied evenly. Uniform distribution is important. If you apply by hand, for spring application pour into a dry bucket 1½ quarts, about three pounds. Distribute by throwing the crystals through the fingers with a sweeping arm motion while walking back and forth over a 1,000 square foot area.

School Board Nixes Coleman's Requests

Coach Carl Coleman's plea for a new contract and more pay was rejected by a 5-2 vote of the Big Spring school board last night.

The action came after a petition signed by slightly more than 300 persons was presented in support of the coach. There was little discussion, since trustees had devoted considerable time to the matter in two previous sessions.

Coleman, who has another year of his old contract remaining, had requested a new three-year pact and a salary raise from the present $6,198 to $7,500 per year.

The requests were in a list of recommendations the coach made concerning assistants' salaries, enlargement of the coaching staff and assignment of the aides. No action was taken on the recommendations.

The vote turning down Coleman's two requests came on a motion made by Robert Stripling and seconded by Tom Guin. Voting against the motion and in favor of Coleman's requests were Omar Jones and John Dibrell. Voting with Stripling and Guin were Tom McAdams, R. W. Thompson and Clyde Angel.

Guin, the only member of the board who had not expressed his sentiments in the matter earlier, said last night that "if we're going to that kind of salary, we'd better look for someone else."

"He's asking a three-year contract at $7,500. I don't think he's that kind of man," Guin said.

Jones had raised the question of what salary the board expected to pay a successor if it has to replace Coleman this year.

"We're not to determine if he goes or stays. That's up to him," Guin said.

At earlier meetings, Thompson, Stripling, Angel and McAdams were critical of Coleman's athletic program, outside of football.

"I don't think, personality-wise, that the man can get the job done," Angel said. "He may know all the football in the world, but if he can't teach it he's not worth a dime."

Thompson said he believes that having a head football coach as athletic director handicaps the remainder of the athletic program. "I don't think Carl Coleman is a 3-A coach and I don't think he's a 4-A coach," he stated.

Stripling suggested that the board employ a "modern, up-to-date coach." He said, "I think we can get a better coach for the money. He's had some good teams, but it may have been the years he had some extra good material."

McAdams said he believes athletics other than football should receive more consideration than Coleman has given other phases of the program.

"I think he's a good coach. I'm glad my boy played under him," Dibrell declared.

"I'm all for him," Jones told other members of the board. "The last four years have been a change from the years when we got beat 60 or 70 points in every game. I don't think we can replace Carl Coleman for $7,500. I think he's done a good job with what he has had to do with."

The petition supporting Coleman was presented last night by Joe L. Hull and C. W. Parks. Hull, the spokesman, was an unsuccessful candidate for the school board in the April 7 election. He said the 300-plus signatures were secured in about 24 hours.

Stressing that there was "nothing personal" in his appearance at the board meeting, Hull told trustees the petition was in response to their announcement of plans to sample the sentiment of Big Springers before acting on Coleman's requests. He said the petition reflected a "cross section of Big Spring."

Hull said his son played football under Coleman. "The morals Coleman teaches are something you might not find on a football field anywhere," he said. "We should put morals ahead of winning games."

The petition asked the school board to retain Coleman as head coach and athletic director. It made no mention of salary or extent of contract.

Savage Underdog To Orleanian

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mauling Milo Savage, stout-punching second-ranked middleweight from Salt Lake City, finds himself a surprising underdog tonight to young Charley Joseph of New Orleans.

The 10-round bout pits the veteran Savage against a 23-year-old comparative unknown who has lost only once in 34 professional outings.

Savage, 29, packs one of the most feared right hands in the middleweight ranks, although he shows only 19 knockouts in 76 fights. But he earned his lofty rating with victories over tough Holly Mims and Moses Ward last year and a 10-round draw with Argentina's Eduardo Lausse earlier this year.

ma Geers had the next best aggregate, 487.

In other matches last night, West Texas Brick and Tile swamped Midland National Bank, 3-0; Knorr Furniture defeated Basin Electric, 2-1; I. W. Hynds upended Lone Star Beer, 2-1; and Basin Supply defeated Schlitz, 3-0.

In matches next week, Cosden plays I. W. Hynds while Pinkie's opposes Basin Supply. League play draws to a close on Tuesday.

Dan Ferris Is Accused In 'Defection' Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A former Stanford University track star has accused Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the American Amateur Athletic Union, of arranging for him to make a trip to Canada that exceeded AAU expense account rules.

Ferris, in New York, quickly denied the allegation, branding it as "ridiculous."

John T. Fulton, who was a half-miler at Stanford and captain of the 1946 United States track team which toured Europe, held a long conference yesterday with Larry Houston, secretary of the Southern Pacific Assn. of the AAU. Then he announced he would place before the AAU Executive Committee a charge that Ferris was "instrumental in my defection" from amateurism.

It was the "shocking" lifetime suspension of miler Wes Santee that prompted Fulton's decision to air his case, he told newsmen.

Fulton, 33 and now an independent television producer, displayed a letter dated March 19, 1956, from Ferris in answer to Fulton's wherein he told Ferris they both might be guilty of violating rules.

Ferris disclaimed any knowledge of alleged irregularities. He said: "Your attempt to besmirch my reputation is definitely libelous. If you violated the amateur role you certainly did it without my knowledge. Was your letter written in an attempt to intimidate me?"

Fulton told Houston and newsmen that in 1944 he competed in several Eastern indoor meets at the invitation of the AAU. He said he won events in the Millrose Games in New York and at the Boston Gardens. He said he was tired, had blisters on his feet, and so went to Ferris and told him he was returning home.

"The National Indoor Championships were coming up and Ferris asked me to stay on," Fulton related. "We agreed that I could take a trip to east Canada to visit my grandparents whom I had not seen since I was little. I got a cou cher from the AAU and bought a round-trip plane ticket to Canada. And I got my $7 a day expense money every day I was away. I know this was far in excess of AAU expense rules."

Fulton said that when he returned from Canada he ran in the Nationals and then in a Knights of Columbus event, for which, he said, he received $600 in cash in an unmarked envelope. He said he still doesn't know who delivered it to his room. For winning the Millrose race, Fulton said,

Kramer May Take Team To Russia

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jack Kramer, whose touring professional tennis troupe will visit a large part of the world this year, is interested in still another trip—behind the Iron Curtain of Russia.

The idea is still quite indefinite, Kramer said, but he added: "Sure, we'd like to go to Russia and show them our tennis. Not so much for the money—rubles, that is—but sort of as a first for tennis."

Kramer—who disclosed that his present domestic tour starring Pancho Gonzales and Tony Trabert has already assured him of a profit—said a friend, wealthy Mrs. Roddy Holt of Carmel, Calif., had promised to look into the possibilities of a Russian tour.

Waddill Hurls No-Hitter As Jayhawks Grab Pair

Featured by a no-hit, no-run performance of freshman Kidd Waddill, who had been considered a second-line hurler until game time, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks swept a twin bill from the Clarendon Bulldogs here Tuesday afternoon, 2-0 and 11-1.

In sweeping the pair, the Hawks set the stage for their all-important battle with Odessa JC in Odessa Thursday afternoon. By winning that one, the Hawks can tie for the West Zone lead.

Should Odessa win, however, the race will all be over.

HCCJ has now won five of six conference games and boast a 6-2 record for the season. Odessa leads the zone race, with six straight victories, two of which came as the result of forfeits.

Waddill never gave the Bulldogs a look-in. He had to be airtight, however, because the Clarendon hurler, Tate Breedlove, was double-tough in the clutches.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

Some day they'll learn. It's silly to open professional baseball league play in West Texas before May 1. The weather has rarely been known to cooperate.

I understand Charles Caraway, the capable junior high school coach, is shopping around. Local officials are going to lose a popular, ambitious young coach through indifference.

When Buddy Dike was a sophomore at TCU, he was hailed as one of the very finest fullbacks the Southwest Conference ever saw. He's back for another try at the job, after suffering a kidney injury that threatened to ruin his career for good, but he's got to win the job.

The Frogs, who recently completed spring drills, have a wealth of material, not only at fullback but in all backfield positions. Vernon Hallbeck ran at the first string fullback position for the Purple in the spring workouts and Dike also has bruisers like Harold Pollard, Henry Crowsey and Jack Webb with whom to contend for the job.

Coach Abe Martin's only regret is that the fullbacks came to TCU at the same time. "Some years I didn't have any fullbacks at all. I wish I could spread this batch out a bit."

Jerry Graves, whom Martin wooed and lost to Rice Institute, has been invited to the Texas Sports Roundup Association banquet in Houston, where he'll receive an award for "outstanding achievement in the realm of sports."

The banquet will be held in the Sam Houston Coliseum in Houston April 28.

The Big Spring all-stater is one of several schoolboys invited to the Houston party.

Charter members of the Texas Sports Roundup Association include Dana Bible, Doak Walker, George Sauer, Bud McFaddin, Kyle Rote, Larry Isbell, Bob Smith, Blair Cherry and Jinx Tucker.

The organization has been more or less dormant since 1951, when the first meeting was held in Waco.

The Longhorn League, of which Big Spring was a member most of its life, drew 3,388,385 paying customers in its nine seasons of operation. Attendance went above the 400,000 mark during four of those seasons. Its best year occurred in 1950, when 463,951 paid their way into league parks.

Big Spring's Bobby Maxwell, captain of the North Texas State College Eagles, is undefeated in dual meet golf competition this season.

Among his latest victims was the No. 1 player of the University of Oklahoma team, Bob Vickers, who fell, 4 and 3. Maxwell defeated Vickers with a one-under-par 69 at Denton.

North Texas is fielding one of its poorer links teams in recent years but Maxwell can't be saddled with any of the blame. He's playing consistently fine golf.

The gross gate, in cash intake, at the recent wrestling match here featuring two girls, amounted to $796.

Promoter George Dunn would stage a regular show here, if he could do that well every time.

Incidentally, Dunn, an expert welder, built his own ring.

Golf Association Drawing A Bead On Links Gambling

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Golf Assn., which took a firm stand against organized gambling in the wake of the notorious "Deepdale incident" last summer, now finds itself plagued by questions it can't answer.

The principal one is what kind of gambling is likely to disqualify a golfer as an amateur?

Golf's amateur rule, probably the longest and strictest applying to any sport, lists some 15 ways in which a player can put his amateur status in danger. One "Any conduct, including activities in connection with golf gambling, which is considered detrimental to the best interests of the game."

The gambling clause was inserted this year and the concern of the USGA was re-emphasized when the executive committee's resolution opposing gambling was printed on the entry forms for the Open championship.

But the USGA has nothing against "friendly" bets. It recognizes the fact that most golfers like to wager a few bucks on their skill, or lack of it, and that Dick Duffier as well as Claude Champion is likely to go out on the links with a gint in his eye and a determination to take his best pal for every cent the guy will put up.

There's nothing in the lengthy rule that draws the line. Several questions have reached USGA headquarters lately about sweepstakes tournaments, popular under various names in different sections of the country. They follow the same general pattern—each entrant puts up a small amount and the top players or resolution opposing gambling was

The Bulldogs finally scored off Jimmy Jolley in the last inning of the second game but that was unearned.

The visitors loaded the sacks twice on Jolley but he was up to the challenge on each occasion. In the second frame, he struck out the side with the sacks jammed. Jolley yielded six hits but he fanned 11 and found the going easy after the Hawks had their big inning.

Beals Decided By Kid Castro

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Kid Castro, 1934, of Stockton, won a 10-round decision Tuesday night over Billie Beals, 134, Oakland, despite a broken nose Castro suffered in the sixth round.

Cary Middlecoff Vegas Favorite

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gulfer Cary Middlecoff remained the favorite to win the $37,500 Tournament of Champions as he and 21 rivals got in final practice rounds today for the start of the event tomorrow.

Middlecoff never has won this tournament in three tries, but he is the most consistent professional in action today and figures to be a strong candidate to carry off the $10,000 top money.

Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead are the only eligibles to qualify for the Tournament of Champions in its three editions. The field is limited to winners of a major PGA Open in the preceding year up to and including the Masters in Georgia.

Snead and the recent Masters winner, Jack Burke Jr., notified Tournament Director Howard Capps that business commitments would prevent them from participating this year.

Those who did qualify and are due to tee off tomorrow are Gene Littler, last year's winner; Mangrum, Middlecoff, Mike Souchak, Bo Wininger, Don Meyer, National Open champion Jack Fleck, Tommy Bolt, Shelley Mayfield, Chanler Harper, Dow Finsterwald, Doug Ford, Henry Ransom, Julius Boros, Arnold Palmer, Ted Kroll, Max Evans, Frank Stranahan, Al Balding, Don Fairfield, Mike Fetchik and Gardner Dickenson.

Play is over the 7,102-yard, par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course.

Reward For First Aid Work

Blankenship Heads Red Cross Chapter

W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring city school superintendent, has been elected as chairman of the Howard-Glasscock County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Blankenship, who served last year as vice chairman, succeeds Adolph Swartz as chairman. His term of office begins July 1. He was elected Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Chapter. Other officers elected at the meeting in the county courtroom in the courthouse, included: Wendal Parks, vice chairman; Mrs. Anne LeFeaver, secretary; Mrs. Reba Baker, treasurer; Mrs. Baker is beginning her 35th year as treasurer for the chapter. Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, now in her 17th year as executive secretary, was re-elected for another year. Swartz presided at the meeting. Due to many conflicting engagements in the area, attendance was smaller than usual at the meeting. One of the highlights was the presentation of a certificate of merit to S. G. Leslie Snow, now honored for his outstanding work in fostering first aid activities in the two counties. Reports were made on the year's work at the Glasscock County March Roll Call drive were reported. The Glasscock campaign netted $261.25. In Howard County, the chapter is supported through the United Fund. Next meeting of the board will probably be in July.

LAMESA—The Lamesa Federal Savings and Loan Association has purchased a lot at S. First and Houston Streets for use as a future building site.

Lamesa Baptists Plan Building

LAMESA—Proposed plans for the educational building addition to the First Baptist Church will be presented to members at a meeting of the church tonight. The plans call for two-story addition to be erected south of the present building, facing Avenue G. The two committees working on the project have been busy for 10 weeks making surveys of needs. Members of the survey committee are W. C. White, chairman; Owen C. Taylor, Mrs. Carl M. Cox, George Hansard, Aubrey Boswell, and Vick Edwards. The building committee consists of White, W. J. Fluoridation U.N. Chieftain In Jordan Talks

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold opened talks with Premier Samir al Rifai of Jordan, today in another stage of his Middle East peace mission. He is seeking a cease-fire agreement for the Israeli-Jordan border similar to that he already has obtained from Israel and Egypt. Syria agreed yesterday to a border cease-fire, subject to a like commitment from Israel. There was no indication that Hammarskjold was taking up with the Jordanians Israel's charge that Arab infiltrators had killed four Israelis in an ambush several hundred yards from the Jordan border Monday. Presumably this was being handled on a lower level, by the U. N. truce commission.

Dallas Transit To Lower Bars

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Railway Transit Co. said today that in compliance with the Supreme Court decision, the separation of Negroes and whites on city buses here "will be abandoned immediately." "The highest court in the land has spoken and it has spoken unanimously," the transit firm's legal counsel said in a statement. "The DRTC can but abide by the court's decision." The transit company has operated under city and state segregation laws.

Man Caught In Business Place

Police patrolmen caught a burglar in the act of relieving Modern Cleaners, 303 E. 3rd, of some clothes, early this morning. Patrolmen Jack Jones and Paul Eslinger noted the burglar in the establishment, apprehended him, and called the manager, W. M. Elige. The burglar, said Elige, had on clothes belonging to the cleaners at the time he was arrested. The policemen saw the man from the front window as he was taking some clothes. When he saw he had been detected, he ran to the back part of the shop and was hiding behind some equipment when patrolmen got in. The items he apparently planned to take were found in a box. He had entered through a skylight, Elige said, and had cut himself in entering. Police said that he would be charged this afternoon. Other vandals took a horse during the night. George Jeffrey, 1610 Owens, said that sometime during the night, the fence was torn and his horse had disappeared.

New Cold Front Aims At Texas

Another cold front was aimed toward Texas Wednesday. The Weather Bureau said it was too soon to predict what effect it would have on the state. The cold front entered Wyoming Wednesday. Behind it in northern Montana and southern Canada temperatures were in the 20s. The Weather Bureau said if the front gets enough push the chances for more rain in Texas would improve considerably. The forecast was for cooler weather in the Panhandle Wednesday night and a few showers across extreme North Texas late Wednesday or early Thursday. No rain was reported in the state since midnight. Rainfall for the past 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday included Houston .07 of an inch, Beaumont .06, Palacios .04, Corpus Christi .02. Skies were clear in the Panhandle and extreme West Texas Wednesday and mostly cloudy elsewhere. Heavy fog was reported Wednesday morning from the Gulf inland to Lufkin and San Antonio. Lufkin reported 1-1/8th of a mile visibility and San Antonio a quarter mile. Wednesday minimum temperatures included Amarillo 48, Texas 51, Lubbock 54, Beaumont 56, Houston 58, Austin, Brownsville and Waco, Abilene and Wichita Falls 62, Dallas 63, El Paso and Corpus Christi 67. The mercury rose to 96 degrees at Presidio Tuesday.

Negro Leaders Reject 'Gradualism'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of Negro leaders has rejected "gradualism as a way of achieving civil rights." After an all-day meeting yesterday, the conference of nearly 75 persons issued a statement saying that "quite some progress" has been made toward implementing the Supreme Court's decree against racial segregation in the public schools. But, they said, "the pace was considered to be too slow and the progress inadequate." Accordingly, the meeting—held under sponsorship of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People—appointed a steering committee to push for immediate action. Named head of the steering committee was A. Philip Randolph, chief of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. Randolph told a news conference the group would try to arrange a meeting with President Eisenhower.

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Railway Transit Co. said today that in compliance with the Supreme Court decision, the separation of Negroes and whites on city buses here "will be abandoned immediately." "The highest court in the land has spoken and it has spoken unanimously," the transit firm's legal counsel said in a statement. "The DRTC can but abide by the court's decision." The transit company has operated under city and state segregation laws.

Farm Worker Reports Beating

STANTON (SC) — Tony Lara, worker on the Dr. G. T. Hall ranch in Glasscock County, reported to Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders at 10 a. m. today that he had been "pistol whipped" Tuesday night by three fellow workers on the ranch. Saunders relayed the information to Jess Slaughter, sheriff of Howard County, and to Buster Cox, sheriff of Glasscock County. Slaughter dispatched officers to the scene and Cox followed suit. It was not certain at first in which county the offense had occurred. Sheriff Saunders' office said that later it was shown that the attack occurred in Glasscock County. Lara, about 31, was beaten about the head and face and told officers that two of his companions had held him while a third beat him with a pistol. His injuries were said to be painful but are not believed serious. He was given first aid treatment and turned over to Sheriff Cox. Cox said that he expected to make arrests in the case soon. Lara said that the alleged assault occurred at 2 a. m. Wednesday.

Land Data Entered In McLarty Vet Land Fraud Trial

JOURDANTON, Tex. (AP)—Records were introduced in the T. J. McLarty trial here today purporting to show that McLarty bought 5,789 acres of land for $152,234 and later sold part of it to the state for $177,510. Dist. Atty. Wiley Cheatham of Cuero produced a certified copy of a deed showing the land transaction between McLarty, former South Texas land promoter, and the late Henry Koozts of Victoria County. McLarty is on trial in district court on an indictment charging he falsely interpreted a written instrument to Warner J. Scott, Negro ex-GI of Cuero. The deed, dated April 22, 1952, showed a sale by Koozts of 5,789 acres of Guadalupe County land to McLarty who sold 3,700 acres of the tract to the state in a joint transaction under the veterans land program for $177,510. R. Clark Diebel, executive secretary of the land board, testified as the trial went into its third day. He testified to records covering the sale of land under the GI aid program to Scott. Scott was one of 24 veterans who allegedly obtained land with the state's assistance from McLarty. Diebel testified yesterday that there is no record that the land McLarty sold to Scott was ever appraised by the state.

lems at last year's summit conference at Geneva. The President also dealt with other matters. TAXES — Eisenhower said in his opinion it would not be in the best interest of the United States to reduce taxes at this time. He said he sees no logical reason for doing so. The question was prompted by estimates in congressional quarters that the government may end the current fiscal year next June 30 with a larger-than-expected surplus—possibly about two billion dollars—as compared with the Treasury Department estimate of about 200 million, made sometime ago. Eisenhower noted that for the last few years it has been necessary to increase temporarily the national debt ceiling of 275 billion dollars. He said it would not be wise to think about reducing taxes. He called it only prudent to plan to apply something like a billion to 1 1/2 billion dollars on the debt before cutting taxes. DISARMAMENT — Eisenhower said he received this morning a report from Harold E. Stassen, his special assistant on disarmament, on a conference Stassen held in London last night with Khrushchev. The President said the report has not received his full study as yet, but that so far he has detected nothing in it indicating any change in Soviet policy on disarmament. He added there might be something in the fine print, and he wants to give the document further study before saying anything more about the matter. NATO — Reminded that Secretary of State Dulles has spoken out twice this week on the possibility of broadening the North Atlantic Treaty Organization into something more than a military alliance, Eisenhower said he has been much interested the last four or five years in the future of NATO. He said he always has believed that the organization set up originally to protect the West against any Soviet aggression has more than just military usefulness. That concept, he said, is inherent in the nature of NATO. Eisenhower sent on to say that Dulles plans to discuss possible expansion of NATO at a meeting of officials of the organization in Paris next week. If agreement should be reached there, he said, then the details will be published. ADVISORY BOARD — In a major foreign policy address last Saturday, Eisenhower suggested creation of what he termed a rotating advisory board to study international problems. Asked about it today, the President said he had more in mind a board to advise on foreign economic aid.

BIG RAIN 34 YEARS AGO TODAY PUT RAILROAD 'OUT OF BANKS'

This was the day, in 1922, when it rained 6.77 inches. Most of the rain fell during the afternoon, and the T&P Railway then resembled the Mississippi. Water backed from First Street on the south side of the tracks to as far as N. Second on the north side. Eventually, train traffic was stalled as water reached firebox level. Telephone poles and cross-ties, stacked in the yards, became rafts for youngsters. Boats suddenly appeared to ply the stream. Bridges were washed out and the north side was totally isolated from the south. For that matter, Big Spring was cut off from the outside world. As the initial head subsided, the effects of an equally heavy rain on the Elbow Creek watershed came down, and once more the water rose waistcoat high in the T&P depot and to the floor of the old railroad YMCA building. The same flood filled the lakes west of town so full that they lasted several years. Later in the summer of 1922-23, recreation boats plied the 12-mile lake and did a thriving trade. And what of today? No prospects for even the decimal in the deal, let alone 6.77, says the Weather Bureau.

Big Spring Firm Hits Reagan Pay With 1,726-Bbl. Potential

A 24-hour flowing potential of 1,726 barrels was indicated in a Reagan County strike by the Big Spring Exploration Company. Location is in west half of the southeast quarter, 19-E, HE&WT Survey. W. L. Kistler of Midland is attempting a new wildcat eight miles northwest of Colorado City. It is the No. 1 J. H. Humphreys. It is a 3,000-foot wildcat located C SE SE, 44-29-In, T&P Survey, and eight miles west of Westbrook.

Blankenship Heads Red Cross Chapter

W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring city school superintendent, has been elected as chairman of the Howard-Glasscock County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Blankenship, who served last year as vice chairman, succeeds Adolph Swartz as chairman. His term of office begins July 1. He was elected Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Chapter. Other officers elected at the meeting in the county courtroom in the courthouse, included: Wendal Parks, vice chairman; Mrs. Anne LeFeaver, secretary; Mrs. Reba Baker, treasurer; Mrs. Baker is beginning her 35th year as treasurer for the chapter. Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, now in her 17th year as executive secretary, was re-elected for another year. Swartz presided at the meeting. Due to many conflicting engagements in the area, attendance was smaller than usual at the meeting. One of the highlights was the presentation of a certificate of merit to S. G. Leslie Snow, now honored for his outstanding work in fostering first aid activities in the two counties. Reports were made on the year's work at the Glasscock County March Roll Call drive were reported. The Glasscock campaign netted $261.25. In Howard County, the chapter is supported through the United Fund. Next meeting of the board will probably be in July.

The plans call for two-story addition to be erected south of the present building, facing Avenue G. The two committees working on the project have been busy for 10 weeks making surveys of needs. Members of the survey committee are W. C. White, chairman; Owen C. Taylor, Mrs. Carl M. Cox, George Hansard, Aubrey Boswell, and Vick Edwards. The building committee consists of White, W. J. Fluoridation U.N. Chieftain In Jordan Talks

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold opened talks with Premier Samir al Rifai of Jordan, today in another stage of his Middle East peace mission. He is seeking a cease-fire agreement for the Israeli-Jordan border similar to that he already has obtained from Israel and Egypt. Syria agreed yesterday to a border cease-fire, subject to a like commitment from Israel. There was no indication that Hammarskjold was taking up with the Jordanians Israel's charge that Arab infiltrators had killed four Israelis in an ambush several hundred yards from the Jordan border Monday. Presumably this was being handled on a lower level, by the U. N. truce commission.

Red Returns, Describes 'Misery, Terror' In U. S.

MOSCOW (AP)—Dr. Pavel A. Tebenkov has returned to the Soviet Union after what he describes as six years of misery and six months of terror in the United States.

By his account, printed in Pravda, it was this way:

Assigned to a Soviet rifle division, he was captured by the Germans in January 1945. After the war he spent four years in displaced persons camps in West Germany.

"The Citrus Associated Company was shipping cheap labor from Western Europe to its orange groves in California," he wrote. "Cheap hands from the DP camps filled the purpose of breaking the resistance of Mexicans and Negroes who had no desire to work for the miserly pay the plantations paid."

Tebenkov, a graduate of Tomsk Medical Institute, said he earned 15 cents a crate-packing oranges, and that only two or three days a week. So he moved to Chicago, where he said he worked for Mandel Bros. store and at St. Anne's Hospital.

"Time went like this," he wrote. "Work a day and then look for a week to find work for another day. Such a fate is difficult."

He said he decided to come back to Russia last fall and wrote to the Soviet Embassy in Washington. From then on, he continued, his footsteps were marked by fear and dread.

He said mysterious plainclothesmen stopped him at railway stations and airports demanding his documents. In a Washington hotel room he said he was visited by an American who warned him he would be driven to Siberia, then tried to bribe him by offering him big money for three minutes at the Voice of America.

Traffic Inspector Goes To Meeting

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Traffic inspector Millard Calhoun will attend a Nebraska governor's safety meeting because the public wants him there.

The city council had voted 5-3 that the city couldn't send Calhoun though he was a member of a nine-man statewide committee.

Calhoun's friends got busy on the streets and in a short time had contributions assuring him the trip. The cost will be $30.

Cortez Greeted By Aztec Messengers

By RAMON COFFMAN

After hearing that gold could be found in a country called Mexico, Hernando Cortez talked with the governor of Cuba.

"If you supply a fleet and soldiers, I will go to Mexico and explore it. I will divide the gold with you."

A fleet was made ready, and Cortez went aboard one of the vessels. Almost at the last minute, a messenger bought him word that the governor had changed his mind and was going to put a different man in command of the fleet.

Without waiting, Cortez ordered the sailors to lift anchor and sail away. Across the Gulf of Mexico went the fleet, and a safe landing was made on the shore of the country ruled by Montezuma II.

There were about 700 men with Cortez, and they soon built huts on the shore. The huts were the start of a village which later grew into the city of Vera Cruz, or True Cross.

Messengers from Montezuma came to greet the white men. There was an old Aztec story that a white god had ruled them long before, and had promised to return. The Indians wanted to learn whether Cortez was the white god.

An Indian woman named Marina was a slave of Cortez. She had lived in Mexico during her childhood, and knew the Aztec language.

Now she served as interpreter. "Go back to your ruler," said Cortez, "and tell him that we want to visit him. Say that we suffer from a disease of the heart, and must have gold to be cured."

In eight days the messengers returned. They brought presents, including a plate of gold "as large as a carriage wheel."

"The emperor has sent you these presents," said the spokesman for the messengers, "but he says that you would find the way to his city too hard and dangerous."

Liver Operation Now Possible

GALVESTON (AP)—A New York cancer expert said yesterday 80 per cent of the liver can be removed and the patient will survive.

Addressing the Texas Medical Assn., Dr. George Pack of the Cornell University School of Medicine said the surgery could be done because the metabolic changes and factors influencing the regeneration in the left lobe of the liver are now known.

Until three years ago any person found to have cancer of the right lobe of the liver, which is about 80 per cent of the entire organ, faced death because doctors considered it too risky to remove that part.

Pack said it has been found that after the right lobe has been removed, the left lobe will grow to take up the functions of the normal liver.

Lyndon May Draw N. Mexico Support

DALLAS (AP)—New Mexico's Democratic committeewoman said yesterday Sen. Lyndon Johnson would draw "considerable" support from her state if he bids for the presidential nomination.

Mrs. U. D. Sawyer said New Mexico was not officially aligned with any active or potential candidate "but there are a lot of Democrats in New Mexico who think very highly of Sen. Johnson."

U. S. Experts See Long-Range Rocket

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—U.S. officials predicted today the United States will develop an intercontinental rocket capable of leveling any place on earth. But they admitted it's extremely difficult to build a rocket accurate enough to hit a target 5,000 miles away—the goal of U.S. researchers.

In general, these officials were inclined to discount the statement by Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev Monday that the Russians soon would have such an intercontinental missile.

"It's good propaganda," one high source commented, "but that's all you can say for it."

These views were expressed at an informal interview during the world's first international conference on guided missiles. The symposium now being held here was arranged by the scientific unit of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A score of Americans representing the Pentagon and aircraft industries are attending, along with 400 others from NATO nations. They were willing to discuss the U.S. rocket program informally but did not want to be identified by name.

One official expressed belief that no one will be able to judge
