Shivers, Brownell Linked In Attack On Sam Rayburn

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

Sen. Lyndon Johnson's campaign manager asserted today Gov. Shivers "perhaps had the aid and advice" of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell in a "ruthless and base" attack on Speaker Sam Rayburn to divert Texas Democrats from the real issue in party control fight.

Former U.S. Rep. Charles South said by radio the governor cannot afford to face his record of "disloyalty to Texas Democrats and meet other issues involved." South and Shivers opened the last week of battle for control of Saturday's precinct conventions with radio talks originating in Austin.

Shivers hammered away with new references to "pressures" which he said are being brought by the "Washington crowd" in behalf of Johnson who is seeking the dual role of delegation leader and favorite son presidential nominee.

"Go to any city or town in Texas where a federal appropriation is pending for public works improvement, and keep your ears open. You will soon learn what the Washington bunch is up to," Shivers said.

The contest between Shivers and Johnson for leadership of the 56-member Texas delegation to the Democratic convention in August comes to its first climax Saturday in the local party meetings.

Former Gov. C. C. Ke. Stevenson will make a political talk over the Texas state network Tuesday beginning at 12:30 p.m. and carried at later hours over other stations.

Stevenson and Johnson have been bitter political foes since Johnson edged the former governor out in the U.S. Senate race in 1948 on late returns from Duval County, South Texas domain of political boss George Parr.

The late Duval returns gave Johnson an 87 vote margin of victory.

Both sides planned heavy barges of stump, radio and television appeals. Headquarters of both camps were pouring out thousands of letters and circulars a day.

Two former attorneys general go on the radio on Johnson's behalf. Gerald Mann of Dallas will speak over KRLL-TV in Dallas and KLT-TV Tyler Monday night from 10 to 10:15. The speech will be re-broadcast on other stations Tuesday. Grover Sellers of Sulphur Springs will speak for Johnson Wednesday night over radio yet to be announced.

Shivers scheduled for a Monday night rally at Fort Worth along with a telecast. Tuesday he goes to Beaumont and Wednesday to Houston. He will continue his early morning broadcasts daily.

The Monday morning speech hit again at Rayburn, who is teamed with Johnson in the campaign for control of the precinct, county and state conventions. Rayburn originally suggested Johnson as Texas' favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and for delegation leadership.

He said that while Johnson thinks "Sam Rayburn is a great man, I don't."

He renewed his earlier statements that "political and economic" pressures from Washington are being used by his opposition,

Co-Defendants Are Freed At Sainburg Trial

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A county judge dismissed today charges of kidnaping against two men on trial with a Texas physician charged with kidnaping his son twice from the custody of the boy's mother.

Judge Norman Stagg let two kidnaping charges stand against Dr. Frank Sainburg, 38. He dismissed a second degree assault charge against Sainburg and Murray Morton, 32, of Hollywood, Fla. and reduced the charge against George Varris, 38, of New York, to third degree assault.

Stagg also changed third-degree burglary charges against Morton and Varris to illegal entry but let the charge against Sainburg remain as burglary.

The judge acted on defense motions made Friday about charges with kidnaping his son twice from the custody of the boy's mother.

Stagg acted at the start of the second week of the trial. After the rulings, Sainburg testified.

The Big Spring physician told of his medical training. He told of a visit he made to Doris Blanchard, who resumed her maiden name after their marriage was annulled, at the Arlington hotel in Binghamton in June, 1953, and described flying from Texas to New York where he retained Morton and Varris as private detectives the day before the January, 1954, incident here.

Morton now is on trial on a charge of illegal entry and Varris is charged with third-degree assault and illegal entry.

3 In Family Swept Off In Flash Flood

Tragedy Follows Brady Area Rains

Bombing Postpones Wedding

A homemade bomb in a box opened as a gift exploded, leaving the prospective bridegroom, Andrew Donald Dixon, 27, left, seriously injured. Dixon and Miss Sara Pfarrer, 21, right, had to cancel their wedding in Dayton, Ohio, after Dixon suffered injuries when he unwrapped a package, thought to be a wedding gift, but instead contained a bomb. Three of Dixon's relatives were also injured.

BRADY (AP)—One by one, three members of a San Angelo family were swept away late last night when a flash flood on the San Saba River engulfed their stalled car.

W. S. Hale carried one daughter to safety and then was carried away himself in the muddy, rushing water as he tried futilely to save his wife and a foster daughter, Sharon Kay Kennedy, 14.

At least one other car plunged into the river at a low water bridge 11 miles south of here at Voca. Highway patrolmen said other cars might have been caught in the sudden flood caused by rains of up to 4 inches in the West Texas ranch country.

Near noon National Guardsmen and other searchers had been unable to find the Hale bodies. The couple and the three children left San Angelo last night for a vacation to Mississippi.

Highway patrolmen said they had reports that as many as three other cars had gone off the bridge but had been able to verify only one report. Carol Coffee, also of San Angelo, said he was carried in his car for about 100 yards before he was able to get out and swim to shore.

Coffee told officers he thought there were two cars ahead of him and he believed they were swept off the bridge also.

Helping the searchers at the river after treatment at a local hospital was Dowling Kennedy, a twin to Sharon Kay.

The father, a San Angelo painter, disappeared in the murky waters after he had got to shore with a foster daughter, Susie Kennedy, then swam back to set his wife and other children.

Dowling Kennedy got the door open and swam to a willow tree. For more than an hour he clung to a limb, his body dangling in the rapid water.

A truck driver and motorist rescued the boy by tying a long rope to a bridge and guiding a boat downstream to the tree. Then they pulled themselves and the boy back to the bridge.

The rescued girl was reported in a state of shock at Brady.

A National Guard unit began searching the river shoreline at daylight. At one time last night the river was on a 15-foot sudden rise, but it was going down.

The San Saba subsided enough during the morning for rescue workers to spot the top of a car down stream. But the river began rising again and delayed a thorough search.

The cars were all swept down the San Saba at a single point, the Voca low water crossing 11 miles south of Brady. About 50 feet downstream is an old high water ledge, where rescue headquarters have been set up.

The head of civil defense at Brady, Joe Ogden, directed rescue work, aided by the National Guard and Salvation Army. An appeal has been sent to cowboys up and down the river to search the banks on horseback for bodies.

Rain Continues As Flood Rolls Down San Saba

By The Associated Press

A flash flood surged down the San Saba River today in the Brady area after brief, torrential rains.

Three persons and four or five automobiles were missing.

Carol Coffee, San Angelo, said he was driving alone from Austin to San Angelo when his car was swept down river at the crossing. He said that he was carried along for at least 100 yards before he was able to get out of the river.

Coffee said that he believed at least two or three other cars were ahead of him but he did not know what happened to them.

Rains measured up to 3/4 inches in Schleicher, Menard and McCulloch counties in West Texas.

Dallas had 2.28 inches of rain, with thundershowers continuing. Fort Worth has had 1.75 inches; Brady and Kerrville 1.56; Mineral Wells .89; Ozona .81; and Cross Plains .85. Scores of other points have had less than half an inch.

Light morning rain was falling now at Dallas, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Lubbock, Lufkin, Longview, Texarkana and Del Rio.

Overnight temperature lows ranged from Corpus Christi's 78 to Amarillo's 41.

The San Saba was reported building 5 to 13 feet above normal at places. Water coursed a cross Highway 29 between Menard and Eldorado and across a farm road between Menard and Brady.

Hail as large as eggs fell with the rain at Menard. Sheriff Max Menzie at Menard said a draw on the San Saba backed up into the lowlands of Menard County, flooding a number of homes.

Up to 1.34 inches of rain and hail halted traffic on Highway 67 at Barnhart, 52 miles west of San Angelo.

Other rainfall reports included San Angelo .26 inch, McCamey one inch, Eden 1.0 and Winters .25.

The Weather Bureau said skies cleared in far West Texas and in the Panhandle Monday morning. The rest of the state was cloudy.

Forecasts called for scattered showers and thundershowers in East and Central Texas Monday and Tuesday and east of the Pecos River in West Texas Monday.

The floods resulted from heavy rains Sunday in Southwest Texas. Heavy rains, beneficial to farms and ranches, also fell over a wide area of North Texas.

Hail accompanied the rain in sections of southwest Texas.

SAYS WITNESS

Graham Gave No Reason For Blast

DENVER (AP)—An FBI agent who heard two confessions from John Gilbert Graham says the 24-year-old murder trial defendant never did explain exactly why he blew up an airliner that plunged his mother and 43 others to death.

Graham has since denied the truth of the confessions, which the FBI said he gave last Nov. 13-14.

The trial entered its 13th day today with continuing testimony from Special Agent James R. Wagoner, chief questioner for the FBI when Graham made his admissions.

A typewritten, signed statement by Graham and an oral confession as related by Wagoner were placed before the seven men and five women jurors Saturday over defense objections. Entered as direct evidence, they give the state grounds for demanding the death penalty when the case goes to the jury — probably the end of this week.

Graham is charged in the death of his mother Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55. In the confessions, he said he stuffed a 25-oz. dynamite time bomb in her suitcase before it was stored on a United Air Lines plane that exploded last Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo., 11 minutes after leaving Denver.

After Graham signed the confession, Wagoner said, he asked him why he bombed the plane.

"Graham said he didn't know," said he couldn't remember why," Wagoner testified.

"He denied he did it to inherit her estate," he added. "Graham said he wanted to kill himself five years ago and he believed maybe he did this because he wanted to end his life. He said if he caused the crash he would be found out and his life ended. He said if he was not found out he intended to tell someone and his life would be ended."

Graham took out a $37,500 air trip insurance policy on Mrs. King's life payable to him. A will also provided that he was to inherit one fourth of her estate, which includes two ranches, two drive-in restaurants, a house and other property in Florida.

Graham's signed confession gives no explanation of why he sabotaged the plane.

Methodists Plan Minister Aid

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Hard pressed to keep its pulpits filled, the Methodist Church today expanded plans for a sweeping expansion in facilities for turning out new ministers.

The proposals, scheduled to come before the church's law-making General Conference today, call for enlarging the seminary program to graduate 2,800 new pastors a year — up from a past peak of 927.

A church study commission recommends stepping up the capacity of the present 10 Methodist seminaries and establishing two new ones.

Bishop Donald H. Tippett of San Francisco, commission chairman, said a large, steady stream of new ministers is needed "if we expect as a church to continue to grow in size and spiritual power."

The two new seminaries, to accommodate 250 students each, would be established in the Ohio area, with no particular site indicated, and in the Kansas-Nebraska-Missouri region, with Kansas City the suggested site.

Together with the expansion of the existing seminaries, the schools would increase capacity to 4,800 students — up 60 per cent from the present 3,000 maximum.

Bishop Tippett said the church at present needs 1,200 new clergymen a year, to fill vacancies that occur through retirement or death, and will need 1,600 others a year to keep up with church growth.

Bishop Tippett estimates, there will be 1,400,000 more Methodists by 1965, worshipping in about 3,500 new churches. This would give the denomination, already the country's biggest Protestant body, about 11 million members in about 43,500 churches.

Fire Causes Big Loss At C-City

COLORADO CITY — Equipment valued at $16,000 and a restaurant building were destroyed by fire on U. S. 80 in the east part of Colorado City early today.

The blaze, starting about 1:30 a.m., destroyed Gordon's Drive-In, operated by Gordon Goss. Volunteer firemen fought the fire, but the building was nearly consumed by the time they laid a hose to the nearest fire plug, two blocks away inside the city limits.

Goss estimated his loss at $12,000 for equipment and fixtures. He said about half was covered by insurance. Wendell Jordan, owner of the building, said he also lost about $4,000 worth of equipment, none of which was insured. He would not estimate the value of the building.

Fire Marshall Barney Wren said cause of the fire has not been determined. The blaze broke out about an hour and a half after the drive-in was closed.

2 People Die When British Plane Crashes On Takeoff

STANSTED, England (AP) — A transport plane loaded with British servicemen, their wives and children, bound to strife-torn Cyprus crashed on takeoff today. Two persons, a serviceman and a child, were killed. Six were injured seriously.

The four-engine York plane, carrying 45 passengers and a crew of 5, rumbled off a shoulder of the runway at this Royal Air Force field and spun, crumpling under the strain. Five persons were trapped in the wreckage, but were freed quickly by firemen.

Eyewitnesses said the big plane, civilian counterpart of the World War II Lancaster bomber, lurched off the runway just as it began to rise. A wheel dug into soft ground and the plane smashed a wing and crumpled the fuselage as it swerved.

Airport firemen raced to the scene and sprayed the wreckage. No blaze broke out. U.S. Air Force personnel at the base also helped and brought in heavy rescue equipment.

Airport officials said the reverse seats used on British transport craft undoubtedly saved lives, since the passengers were cushioned against the shock.

New Developments Assure H-Bomb Missile Payloads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says a major scientific breakthrough has assured hydrogen warheads "light and handy enough to be carried by long-range missiles of reasonable size."

Two Air Force generals testified that although much engineering work remains, "no inventions are required" to perfect intercontinental missiles. They disclosed also that a definite schedule of development has been prepared, and expressed confidence it will be met.

The testimony was given by Maj. Gen. S. R. Brentnall, assistant chief of staff for guided missiles, and Maj. Gen. Bernard A.

Schreiber, who is in direct charge of the long-range missile program. A House Appropriations subcommittee made public a censored version of their testimony last night.

Brentnall said missile development was long stymied because of the size of the warhead. But he said the "advent of lightweight high-yield warheads" has simplified many technical problems and assured eventual success.

Schreiber said the big job now is to plan and put together the complex system required to operate accurate missiles. He did not say, in the released testimony, how long that might take.

Ike Warns Congress Against Major Cuts In Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent word to Congress today that any substantial cuts in his $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program at this time "would greatly endanger the security of the United States."

Eisenhower's views were relayed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Secretary of State Dulles following a White House conference.

In an all-out defense of the program which has undergone repeated attacks on Capitol Hill, Dulles testified:

"To have this program appreciably reduced, interfered with, or put into jeopardy would gravely endanger the security of the United States. That is the considered judgment of the President and all his advisers who are charged with safeguarding our national security."

Dulles said that judgment was expressed in the President's message of March 19 and "has not been altered."

"The President told me that this morning," Dulles said.

Dulles reiterated that the administration supports a restudy of the overall foreign economic and military aid program, as called for by George who heads the committee.

"But none of these questions relates to the basic validity of the program itself," Dulles argued. "It would indeed be ironic if, now that the Soviet has begun giving aid . . . the United States should withdraw from that program which it invented and let the Soviet take over that field."

"It is true that Soviet policies and doctrine now seem to put less emphasis on violence, and that is encouraging," he testified. "The danger of general war seems somewhat less, and that is an immense relief."

Dulles, who takes off tomorrow for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris, testified against a background of threats to the Eisenhower program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said he favors marking time on the program on the possibility the administration may offer drastic changes. And George has announced his opposition to American aid for building Egypt's big Aswan Dam project, one of the proposals involved in the administration's long-range foreign aid program.

Dulles said the estimated cost of military and defense support in the coming fiscal year for South Korea, Nationalist China, Viet Nam, the Philippines, Thailand and Japan is in the neighborhood of 1 1/2 billion dollars.

"Without this help he said, "these forward positions would have to be held by greatly increased United States forces, or else left exposed to a Communist takeover which either we would have to accept, with grave danger to the United States security position in the Pacific, or else we would have to use our own forces to go over there and drive the Communists out as we did in the case of Korea."

In the Middle East, he said, Pakistan, Iran and Turkey will all have common borders with the Soviet Union and Iraq is close to it.

Asserting these countries hold the gateway to oil reserves vital to the West, he estimated military aid and defense support for these countries at about 800 million dollars.

3 Dead In Violent Mid-East Outbreak

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel said today its casualties from weekend incidents on the Egyptian-Israeli border mounted to three dead and one wounded.

Egypt and Israel parties to a 12-day old cease-fire agreement, each blamed the other for the flareup.

The accusations came as U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was trying to button up his all-but-completed peace mission in the Middle East. Sources in Cairo close to the secretary general did not believe the latest incidents would affect the outcome of his trip.

An Israeli spokesman said Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett had complained to Hammarskjold of "acts of renewed Egyptian aggression."

An Israeli army spokesman said a recently laid mine had exploded, killing one Israeli soldier and wounding two, inside the Israeli border near the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the Egyptians had returned the mutilated body of a 22-year-old Israeli farmer who he asserted had been dragged across the Gaza border yesterday by Egyptian soldiers. The spokesman said a U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission investigation had disclosed that the soldiers were engaged in illegal harvesting in the Nahal Oz area near the Gaza Strip. The farmer rode toward the Egyptians on horseback and was attacked, he said.

Egypt said the man, carrying revolver and grenades, had attacked Egyptian soldiers and farmers inside the Gaza Strip.

Hammarskjold conferred last night in Cairo with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and other officials. They reportedly discussed ways to prevent border friction.

Egypt and Israel have agreed to a cease-fire. Israel's three other Arab neighbors — Syria, Jordan, and Lebanon — have given tentative cease-fire pledges but Hammarskjold is awaiting final assurances from them.

Thunder, But Little Rain

It tried hard Sunday night but despite all the thunder and lightning and every other basic element, there was no measurable amount of rain recorded for Big Spring. A "trace" was the very best that could be shown on the books.

Winds of considerable velocity accompanied the midnight storm threat and the electrical display was the most colorful of the spring.

Texas Electric Service Company said that it recorded .05 inch of rain east of town but the experiment station gauge showed just a trace.

Toward Sweetwater, precipitation was a little heavier. Best rain in the general area was recorded at Eskola where 1.17 was measured. Sweetwater had .22 of an inch. Chalk was credited with .05 and Morgan Creek and Colorado City each reported a "trace."

The weather prediction calls for thundershowers this afternoon and warns that strong surface winds may be expected. Tuesday is scheduled merely as "partly cloudy."

Several Highways Remain Closed

AUSTIN (AP)—Several west-central Texas highways were still closed by high water this morning but others were open by noon, the Highway Department said today.

Farm Road 734 between Brady and Llano was closed 12 miles southeast of Brady.

State 29 between Llano and Menard was closed, Farm 42 between Menard and Brady and Farm 1311 north of Hext in Menard County were closed.

State 29 between Menard and Brady and Farm 42 between Menard and Brady were open by noon, the department said.

Explosion Wrecks Apartment

A tremendous explosion and fire wrecked this three-story apartment house in Paluski, Va., killing 10 persons, including a woman and her three children. Seven others were injured. A restaurant owner said the blast occurred when he struck a match to light a gas water heater.

$300,000 BURGLARY

Houston Police Arrest 3 Men, Recover $95,000 Cash

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Police arrested three men yesterday and said they had recovered more than $95,000 in cash in what they called a $300,000 burglary.

Police said the money was recovered in a raid on the home of Harvey Marley, 31, in San Antonio by Houston and San Antonio police and Texas Rangers.

Marley and Edwin Roy Hamlett, 54, Houston automobile salesman, are held in jail here. San Antonio police are holding Arthur Eckert, a used car dealer.

The three men are charged with burglary and felony theft in the looting of a closet safe the night of April 22 at the home of Paul D. Denny, a bakery owner.

Police said the raid was the result of efforts of San Antonio sports writer Dan Cook to solve the burglary and get his "big story."

Cook, of the San Antonio News, took $3,055 to Houston police last Thursday and said he and Jimmy Parks, San Antonio boxing promoter, had taken the money from Hamlett and Jimmy Hicks, an automobile dealer, in an effort to solve the burglary. Police called the story "fantastic" and arrested Cook and Parks on charges of robbery by firearms. They were freed under $10,000 bond.

Police said they cannot account for about $261,000 of an estimated $300,000 in cash, government bonds and negotiable securities they said were stolen from the Denny closet safe.

They said about $160,000 in securities was burned, $95,000 in cash was recovered in San Antonio yesterday and they are holding a Cadillac automobile purchased last week by Hamlett for $3,205. These amounts are in addition to the $3,055 which Cook turned over to Houston Police Chief Jack Heard.

Denny reported to police on the night of the burglary that the safe holding $100,000 in securities and $10,000 in cash had been stolen while he and his wife were at church.

Asked last night if the safe held as much as $95,000 in cash, Denny replied:

"I think it did. I'm not sure."

He said the total amount of cash "might be" over $100,000 but not as much as $200,000.

"I hadn't counted it for some time," he said. "I guess we should have taken better care of that money."

When Cook went to Houston police last Thursday he said that he had received a tip that a job as "big as the Brink's holdup" had been staged here. He said he was given the name of Hamlett and an automobile license number.

Cook said he saw a chance for his "big story" and talked Parks into helping him.

Cook said he and Parks went to the homes of Hamlett and Hicks, an automobile dealer who was Hamlett's employer, posing as police officers. He said he and Parks roughed up the pair in order to find out where Hamlett had hidden the money.

Police said they do not know what will happen to the charges against Cook and Parks.

Houston Police Lt. A. C. Martindale said "Hicks strictly had nothing to do with this robbery."

Verification of Cook's story began to develop Saturday when the safe stolen from Denny's home was found west of here.

Houston police picked up Hamlett Saturday night. They said that after four hours of questioning Hamlett admitted he participated in the Denny robbery and named Marley as his accomplice.

Police took Hamlett to San Antonio, where they obtained a warrant to search Marley's house.

They said Marley first turned over $6,220 which had been hidden in a bedroom behind a chest of drawers. They said a further search turned up $59,000 in a tin box buried under the house.

Police said that after more questioning Marley told them he could produce an additional $29,000 on condition that his wife and mother-in-law be allowed to go alone to an undisclosed location to bring it back.

The police consented and the two women came back a few minutes later with the money.

The police also said that Marley told them he gave $5,000 to Arthur Eckert, San Antonio used car dealer, to buy "a pair of race horses." Eckert was arrested on charges of felony theft.

Police said Marley and Hamlett had been friends in a federal prison. Hamlett said he was a three-time loser and just been released from a five-year term or forgery.

Constitution Is Lifted Following Cuban Rebellion

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuba's Cabinet today ordered a 45-day freeze on constitutional guarantees after 70 civilian rebels attacked an army base 60 miles east of Havana in an apparent bid to take over the country.

The government of President Fulgencio Batista said the revolt at the Domingo Goicuria army base, just outside Matanzas, had been crushed swiftly with 11 rebels killed and a number wounded. It said only three Cuban soldiers were wounded.

The army announced that former President Carlos Prío Socarras, who has been repeatedly charged with plotting against the government, had been arrested with a number of his friends.

Gen. Francisco Taberilla, army chief of staff, said Prío Socarras, who was ousted by Batista in a bloodless revolt in March 1952, had been taken into custody "to protect the personal safety of the former President."

When word of the revolt reached Havana, Batista reportedly left the capital to take personal command of the army.

The government communique said all police, army and navy leaves had been canceled and all members of the armed forces ordered to quarters.

The Cabinet's move to suspend guarantees went into immediate effect. The action must be confirmed by Congress, but approval appeared certain.

The suspended guarantees are freedom of assembly, inviolability of mail and freedom of speech and of the press. There was no indication, however, that the government intended to put on censorship.

Under the decree, the government also is empowered to hold arrested persons incommunicado as long as it desires.

A government account of the revolt said the rebels, "heavily armed with machine guns, rifles, carbines and grenades," tried to seize the Domingo Goicuria base. Gen. Pilar Garcia, military commander at Matanzas, reported the battle was over in three hours, except for the mopup.

"The attackers were exterminated at the side of their machine guns," he said.

Discovery Of 'Fifth Disease' Virus In Children Reported

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Discovery of the virus causing a strange "fifth disease" in children was reported today to the Society of American Bacteriologists.

The fifth disease is erythema infectiosum, so called because it can be mistaken at times for measles, German measles, scarlet fever or another rash disease, roseola infantum.

Erythema infectiosum, hitting in epidemics, brings a harmless reddish rash on the face and other body parts. It may be more common than supposed.

The virus causing it was isolated from secretions of sick children, said Doctors Georges H. Werner, Albert Kettler, Philip S. Brachman, and Geoffrey W. Rake, of the University of Pennsylvania.

The virus can be grown in monkey kidney tissue, just like polio and other viruses. This will aid in understanding how it is related to other virus diseases like measles—maybe from a common parent virus—and in making a vaccine if one is needed.

An improved vaccine appears to start bringing defense against rashes within 15 days, said Doctors H. M. Powell and C. G. Culbertson of the Eli Lilly Research Laboratories, Indianapolis, Ind., in another report.

The virus to make the vaccine is grown in duck eggs, and then is killed by a chemical, beta propiolactone. This method avoids or reduces risk of paralytic, allergic-type reactions from virus growth in rabbit brains, or from use of live virus, they said.

The new vaccine produced protective antibodies against rashes in tests on dogs and other animals, and in 32 humans so far. The defending antibodies appeared within 15 days or less.

Crippled Song Writer Missing

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Pianist-composer Barclay Allen, 37-year-old paralytic, was reported missing early today after he failed to return from a Sunday ride in his hand-controlled auto.

His wife made the missing persons report to police here after she expressed fear that his car had broken down in some spot where he was unable to summon assistance.

Mrs. Allen said her husband, famed as the composer of "Cumana" and long featured with Freddy Martin's orchestra, had left home without his portable wheelchair in his car. He usually took it.

"His drives have become quite a habit with him," Mrs. Allen told a reporter, "but he never stayed away this long."

Victim Snakebit At Church Rites

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A rattlesnake bite suffered while he was handling the reptile at a church service yesterday left Lloyd Hill, 37, sick and in pain, but he refused all offers of medical aid.

Hill and two other men including the preacher at the Pentecostal Holiness Church were charged with handling a dangerous snake in a manner to endanger the life or health of others. Hill is from Fort Payne, Ala.

Chamber Advised Against Red Wooing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 3,000 delegates of the United States States Chamber of Commerce were advised today not to succumb to the "synthetic good will" of the same Kremlin leaders who "were part and parcel of the great Soviet bloodlettings."

President Boyd Campbell of Jackson, Miss., declared in a prepared keynote address for the Chamber's 44th annual meeting that "the same old gang is ruling Russia — minus Stalin."

The Chamber's 1,700,000 affiliated business men and women, he said, will insist on "keeping America's defense impregnable while we watch and wait for more convincing evidence of the Soviet's regeneration."

Campbell said it is evident that Russian leaders, in repudiating Stalin's record, have found it easy to "convict a ghost" and are "getting away with it in too many corners of the world."

America must keep its guard up, he said, until Russia has liberated slave laborers and illegally held war prisoners, freed the satellite countries, and "done everything possible to expiate her crimes against civilization."

"When she has repudiated her diabolical purpose to rule the world," he declared, "then perhaps it will be time to take her new look seriously."

Theme of the opening Chamber session was "for human betterment." A dramatic presentation of the peacetime potential of nuclear energy, opening in a darkened auditorium with a filmed representation of an atomic bomb explosion, was arranged to follow an address by evangelist Billy Graham on "Moral Responsibilities in the Atomic Age."

Buffalo Cow Gored

NEW YORK (AP)—A bull buffalo suddenly turned on his mate and gored her to death at the Bronx Zoo yesterday as several hundred visitors watched. Gus Schilling, head keeper of mammals, said he did not know what caused the bull's action.

A Handsome Cabinet At A Very Low Cost DO IT YOURSELF

By BILL BAKER

You'll be on the way toward solving your phonograph record storage problem when you add this smart cabinet to your home.

A truly handsome record cabinet can cost more than a hundred dollars but you'll be building this one for yourself for a total outlay of only a few dollars. And you can take on this job even if you are a novice woodworker — with my pattern package 125 absolutely no woodworking experience is necessary.

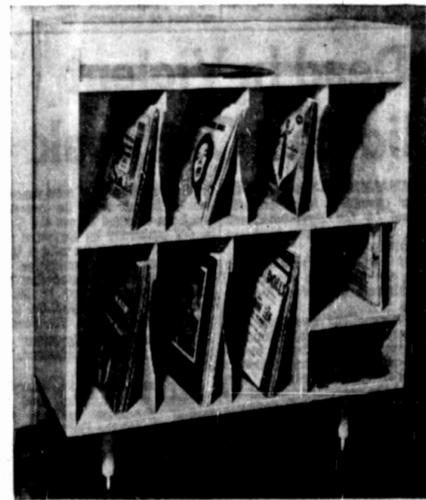

Here are the dimensions of the finished cabinet: It's 32 inches high, 32 inches wide and 15 inches deep. I've used standard six-inch wooden legs on the model pictured above — you can find these ready-made in any lumberyard. Metal legs can also be used.

Four large sections are designed for your 10 inch records, three divisions will hold your 12-inchers and two compartments give space for lots of 45's. A wide top offers room for your turntable.

I said no woodworking experience is necessary to build the cabinet, and it's true. Exact-size paper pattern pieces, included with the pattern package, make it possible to tack, trace and cut. You can't miss.

Easy-to-read instructions, detailed assembly diagrams, a full material list and suggested ways to finish the cabinet are added to make the job easy.

Now here's how you can get the Kind Of House The Woman Wants

To judge from the way women talk the ideal home would have at least seven walk-in closets each four by eight feet, beds that automatically make themselves up, and walls equipped with windshield wipers so they could be cleaned after every sandstorm.

In Washington this week 103 women representing various sections of the country were brought in by the Housing and Home Finance Agency and told to talk their hearts out about what they wanted in a home. They were chosen from women who had written the HHFA on various housing subjects, and their expenses were paid by that agency to and from Washington and while attending the conference.

What do they want? The AP's Martha Cole sums it up: "Save the trees — build sidewalks — give us more space."

They wanted a more "livable" home. They wanted closets, cabinets and storage space everywhere. They wanted more space between their house and the neighbors'. (The lot had to be at least 60x100, preferably larger.) They denounced the bathroom as the most archaic room in the house. They wanted the laundry at a more convenient height, a shower in a separate stall, surface areas flat and free of obstructions and easily cleaned, and a railing for the bathtub.

One lady, a Mrs. Robert C. Baldrige of Cedarhurst, Long Island, N. Y., put it succinctly: "And we want a light over the tub so we can read."

The train fare and $12 a day spending money for each of these 103 women may prove to have been well-spent—if HHFA and the architectural and building trades generally lend an attentive ear. After all, if a woman doesn't know what kind of a home she wants, who does?

What does a man want in a house? A living room big enough to play bridge in without stacking the furniture. A bedroom large enough to cuss a cat in. Doors that don't have to be trimmed or readjusted every time it rains. Among other things.

GOP Ticket Signed And Sealed

The Republican presidential ticket for 1956 will be the same as that of 1952: Dwight D. Eisenhower, a native of Denison, Texas, and Richard Milhous Nixon, a native of Yorba Linda, Calif.

The only thing new about this news is that Nixon this week publicly "accepted" the vice presidential spot on the ticket if the convention and Mr. Eisenhower want him. "Delighted," said Mr. Eisenhower on being told of Nixon's "decision" to make himself "available."

It could not very well be any other way, since to ditch Nixon for any cause would create a party squabble of serious proportions. Many Republicans do not like Nixon, but getting shut of him would look like base ingratitude, besides stirring up Nixon's devoted followers.

So the GOP was stuck with Nixon for good or ill, just as Mr. Eisenhower was stuck with him after the revelations regarding Nixon's outside funds — a revelation that would have wrecked the Nixon career if Ike had not gone to bat for him. Democratic strategists have been saying they preferred Nixon as Ike's running-mate again, on the theory Nixon is vulnerable, and because they can attack the Republican Party through Nixon without making a direct assault on the President himself. They have accused the administration of using Nixon as a "hatchet man" during the 1954 congressional elections, and the vice president therefore becomes a foreordained target.

Nixon is probably not the best running-mate Mr. Eisenhower could have chosen, but besides his obvious high regard for Nixon there was the danger of a party split involved in shoving him aside.

To win the GOP must attract some seven million independent, mostly Democratic, votes. Nixon's performance in 1954 in wielding the ax on Democratic skulls does not make him the best of candidates to lure Democratic votes in 1956. And every time the GOP teammates' pictures appear side by side the individual voter will be reminded that in voting for Ike for President he may very well be voting for Richard Nixon as President as well as vice president.

Further Federal Intervention

WASHINGTON—The day is not far off when the federal government will take over some of the important functions of maintaining law and order which hitherto have been considered by the courts to be solely the responsibility of states, counties and cities. An extension of the federal police power is under way.

The latest move whereby the House of Representatives is being asked by its Judiciary Committee to pass legislation permitting the attorney general to bring civil suits to enforce civil rights—if confirmed as constitutions by the Supreme Court in a future case—would mean that Congress could provide criminal penalties, too. In fact, Chairman Celler of the House Judiciary Committee recently sponsored exactly such a provision which, for reasons of political expediency, was temporarily dropped from the committee's bill on civil rights in favor of one being pressed by the administration.

What it all means is that the new measures, although not aimed at labor unions, will be feared by them—at least by those unions which depend on "goons" and strong-arm men to overturn a worker's auto at the factory gate and beat him up. For, if the new measures on civil rights are passed and sustained in the courts, it's the opening wedge toward protection of the "right to work" both by the federal government and the states.

Historically the Constitution has been interpreted as meaning that no state can pass a law abridging the right to vote or the freedom of the press or any of the "privileges and immunities of citizens." But up to now this has been construed by the Department of Justice in administration after administration and by the Supreme Court in decision after decision to

Two Brothers Work Hand In Hand

WASHINGTON (AP)—This country may not be able to judge during their lifetime the success, or failure, of a pair of brothers who hold two of the most important jobs in the government.

As head of the Central Intelligence Agency, Allen W. Dulles, 63, supplies his brother, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, 68, with information which helps shape American foreign policy.

Secretary Dulles has an obligation, as foreign policy guide in a democratic society, to keep the public as informed as possible on what the foreign policy is and the reasons behind it.

Because too much revelation at a given moment might defeat the purpose of a policy, Secretary Dulles' wisdom, or lack of it, may not appear for a month or a year and the full results may not be visible for a generation.

But CIA Dulles has no obligation at all to keep the public informed. On the contrary, his agency was created to be, because of the nature of its work, the most secret in government.

So the full achievements, or mistakes, of CIA Dulles may never publicly be known. Even Congress, which checks on every other government agency, has comparatively very little information about the CIA.

Congress doesn't even know how much money it spends or how many people work for it. CIA Dulles is answerable only to members of four congressional committees: armed services and appropriations subcommittee of both houses.

While members of those groups have said on the floor of Congress CIA Dulles is frank in answering their questions, they also have said they are careful not to pry too deeply into his agency's operations.

It has secrets, they say, which they don't want to be responsible for knowing. Last year the special commission headed by former President Hoover looked into the CIA and generally gave it a pat on the back. But it had some reservations.

It said Dulles was a hard worker but tried to do too much by himself. And the commission expressed disappointment that the CIA wasn't getting more information from behind the Iron Curtain.

The CIA evaluates information gathered by its own and other government agents overseas and presents this to the National Security Council.

The NSC, composed of President Eisenhower, Secretary Dulles and other top officials, is the highest and most important policy-making body in the government.

Recently, as a result of Hoover Commission recommendations, Eisenhower appointed a committee of distinguished citizens to look into CIA operations, but only periodically, and report to him.

Talk More And Live Longer

NEW YORK (AP)—Would American men, if they talked as much as American women, also live as long?

Dr. Ira M. Altshuler, a Detroit psychiatrist, at least sees this as a possibility.

He has a theory that the big silent male, by keeping his trap shut too much, bottles up his latent hostilities and vexations. But the little lady, when she riles up, gets it out of her system pronto via her vocal cords. She talks herself calm.

Dr. Altshuler, who may fail to emerge as the average American woman's No. 1 pinup hero of the year, also leans to the view men shorten their lives by working too hard to keep their wives happy.

He points out that the average wife "can rest when she chooses." He says household gadgets and the supermarket have made her life "one long day of leisure."

As a longtime defender of the modern woman, I can't ride all the way with Dr. Altshuler. There certainly is a great deal of truth in his observation that housewives know the art of resting better than their husbands.

They are never more than 30 paces from a couch or sofa at home and all day long, in between chores, they flop down, stretch out for a few quick moments and take life's lead off their minds as well as their feet.

If men had half as much sense, they'd run their life at the office the same way. What makes the tired businessman so tired is that, after a wearing three-hour luncheon, he returns to his job and makes one big decision after another.

There are probably many reasons why women live longer than men, including the fact they may be basically built of sterner stuff. But surely one reason for the superior longevity of woman is aside from her greater common sense in taking proper rest when she needs it—her superior curiosity. She is actually intellectually more interested in exploring the endless and stimulating variety that life holds.

Interest is what keeps people alive. Men usually get bored with life easier than women do, and that certainly is partly why they let go of it sooner.

Men in later years have to find a hobby to keep from drying up—and giving up. But with women life itself is their favorite hobby.

Mr. Greger

Got it from an amusement park, to remind her about stayin' on her diet...

Around The Rim

Simplifying Man's Sartorial Problems

It's probably an indication of approaching old age but I can remember when men's clothes never changed much from year to year.

Nowadays, some designer with nothing better to do is always thinking up changes in the male animal's wearing apparel, whether it be ruffled shirts or Tyrolean hats.

I liked things the way they were, when men let women's toggery change with the seasons and wore the same old suits they had ten years ago, provided there was enough material in the waist and seat to allow for the expanding girth.

But, look what they're doing to us. One year you wear padding in the shoulders to give the appearance of the All-American fullback and the next time you are told to look thin enough so that you can be threaded through a needle.

Trousers cuffs expand, disappear altogether and then reappear. Bell bottom trousers are the vogue, then you find you have to take off your shoes to get your legs in your pants.

I've got my own ideas how men's clothes can be improved, however, and it doesn't necessarily mean changing your wardrobe.

The tie, if not eliminated altogether, should be permanently attached to shirts so that they are in place the minute you button the top button. (I never could master the Windsor knot, anyway).

Size 40 pants (in the waist) should be designed to look like they are a size 34. Better still, dress one and all in togas, so that it be difficult, if not impossible, to tell the fats from the leans.

Deviser pockets that won't throw your valuables all over the floor when you hang up your trousers (which few men obviously do with any degree of regularity).

Make shirt pockets with black basements that would not betray the fact that you have been carrying sharpened pencils.

Carry scabbards for all your loot, in order that all shirt pockets will not be overloaded.

Perfect some sort of waistband that will either keep shirt-tails in or anchor the bottoms of the shirt to your garters.

Put a funnel on hats to reroute the water and keep it from dripping down your neck during a shower.

Perfect a center-of-the-room magnet that will attract a cuff link when it falls and insists on rolling under the dresser. Design self-sealing socks—after all, they do it with automobile tires.

Russian Gals Could Stand Improvements

LONDON — Yohoo, Marshal Bulganin! Hey, Comrade Khrushchev! Come the revolution I am about to foment among Russian women, they will all wear foundation garments and like it! Likewise powder, lipstick, rouge and a decent hairdo.

The clothes and the coiffures worn by the feminine members of your party on your visit here shouldn't happen even to a lady Trotskyite, much less a royal party member. Whether the women were attired in suits or dresses, their clothes were equally shapeless, drab and frumpy.

And comrades K and B, whatever became of that Soviet cosmetic trade or industry that we used to read so much about? The one whose prize perfume was named "Breath of Stalin!" If the cosmetic trade is as hot as the party line used to indicate, how come the ladies in your party apparently couldn't scrape up a lipstick among 'em?

Whatever became of all the rouge and that face powder you were producing? Obviously these ladies hadn't any. You may be manufacturing a 170-passenger turbo-prop passenger plane, as you boasted in England, but what about a good home-permanent kit?

If the ladies who were with you are a fair sample, then it is no problem in Russia to determine which twin has the Toni. The answer is "Neither."

Hair skinned back from the face and wound into a knot or braids looks good on Grace Kelly, but how many Grace Kellys do you have?

To the naked eye, comrades, it is obvious that what feminine Russia needs is a potato famine. If the H-line ever hits your country the verticle lines of that letter will have to be spread-eagled.

The motto of my revolution is going to be, "Women of the Soviet Union, arise! You have nothing but your weight to lose—say about 40 pounds each."

Until I encountered the women of your party I always had thought it a bourgeois lie that in Russia there is no corset industry, no all-in-ones or two-way stretchers. But the truth will out and in all the wrong places.

Thanks to you, Comrades K and B, the Soviet emphasis is once more on heavy industry. For heaven's sake, add a girde factory. Only heavy industry can hope to cope with the problem or make what it will take to contain the Russian belle until she is hep to calories as well as cooperatives.

It is a crime against nature for any woman to be forced to look as dowdy as the stenographers and maids in your party. I support the proposition that rags are royal raiment when worn for virtue's sake, but what or where does a gunnysack get a girl?

The Gallup Poll

Demo Leaders Advance Symington

PRINCETON, N. J. — In their speculations about 1956, political writers will be giving greater attention to a new figure on the Democratic presidential horizon.

He is the junior Senator from the State of Missouri, Stuart Symington.

In a special poll of the "grass roots" leaders of the Democratic party — the county chairmen across the country — Senator Symington has leaped into third place today as a favorite presidential candidate, behind Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson is still the leading favorite polling 29 per cent of the chairmen's vote, compared to Kefauver's 21 per cent and Symington's 12 per cent.

In a similar poll of county leaders four months ago, Symington polled only 4 per cent.

Whereas in the December poll, 78 per cent of the county leaders said that they expected Stevenson to win the nomination, today the situation is a great deal more fluid, with 35 per cent expecting Stevenson to be named, 18 per cent saying it will be Governor Harriman, 16 per cent saying Symington and 14 per cent saying Kefauver.

In today's special survey, the Institute sounded the views of Democratic county chairmen by means of a secret ballot sent to 2,950 county leaders furnished by the Democratic National Committee.

Ballots were sent out during the first part of April, and up to the present time, replies have come from 1,540 county leaders.

Each county chairman was first asked his personal preference from a list of 12 Democrats who have been prominently mentioned as possible presidential candidates.

The question read: "As of today, which one of these men do you personally prefer as the Democratic candidate for President in 1956?"

Up to now, Symington's possible strength as a Democratic candidate has been largely a matter of speculation. Here for the first time is proof of his political drawing power within the ranks of the Democratic party organization.

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN CANDIDATE PREFERENCES

	Dec. TO-1955	DAY	Per Cent
Stevenson	43	21	39
Kefauver	14	21	33
Symington	4	12	6
Harriman	12	8	3
Russell	7	7	3
Johnson	5	7	2
Byrd	4	6	2
Lausche	3	4	2
Williams	2	3	2
Others, no opinion	6	3	2

Others included Sen. Paul Douglas, Gov. George Leader and Gov. Robert Meyer.

Space also was provided on the ballot for a "write-in" vote in case any of the county leaders preferred someone not on the ballot. The number of write-in votes amounted to less than one per cent.

Considerable differences show up in the vote of Southern party leaders. Here are the preferences of Democratic county

chairmen in the South: DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN CANDIDATE PREFERENCES — SOUTH ONLY —

Stevenson 33 22
Russell 18 15
Johnson 12 15
Byrd 9 14
Kefauver 10 12
Symington 1 8
Harriman 8 6
Lausche 2 4
Others, no opinion 7 4

Of interest to Kefauver supporters is the fact that the Tennessee Senator edges out Stevenson as the Number One favorite in the Midwest, with Kefauver polling 30 per cent to Stevenson's 29 per cent. Symington's 19 per cent and Harriman's 7 per cent.

Stevenson leads in the East with 40 per cent to Harriman's 20 per cent, Symington's 13 per cent and Kefauver's 12 per cent.

In the Far West, Stevenson also leads with Democratic county chairman, polling 44 per cent to Kefauver's 25 per cent, Harriman's 12 per cent and Symington's 7 per cent.

The county leaders were next asked: "Regardless of whom you prefer, what is your best guess at this time as to who will be the Democratic candidate for President in 1956?"

Here are today's replies and those of last December:

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN GUESSES ON CANDIDATE

	Dec. TODAY	Per Cent
Stevenson	78	35
Harriman	11	19
Symington	1	16
Kefauver	3	14
Others, no opinion	7	17

The latest poll of the Democratic county chairmen is especially interesting when compared with the views of the rank-and-file of voters in the Democratic party. Here are the latest results:

DEMOCRATIC VOTERS CANDIDATE PREFERENCES

	Dec. TO-1955	DAY	Per Cent
Stevenson	43	29	39
Kefauver	14	21	33
Symington	4	12	6
Harriman	12	8	3
Russell	7	7	3
Johnson	5	7	2
Byrd	4	6	2
Lausche	3	4	2
Williams	2	3	2
Others, no opinion	6	3	2

Today's poll represents a radical departure from the type normally conducted by the Institute, which usually confines itself to polling the general public rather than the experts.

However, since delegates to nominating conventions are responsive not only to the pressures of the party rank-and-file, but also of party leaders, the present poll sought the views of one important segment of the Democratic party leadership — the county chairmen.

Go Ahead And Remodel

Jan Sterling believes that you can develop a new personality by remodeling any facial feature that bothers you. Soon the moviegoers will be seeing her in Columbia's "The Harder They Fall."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Suggests Full Steps To Improve Looks

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — "Trying to improve your appearance all you can do is much more than a form of vanity," Jan Sterling told me when I visited her hilltop home recently. "It has a deep psychological impact. I know the way I look influences the way I feel. "I am all for changing whatever bothers you. For years I hated my nose. I didn't feel pretty and it affected my attitude. After I had it bobbed, I developed a new personality and my career and my life took an upswing.

"And teeth, too, should be fixed. I happen to have no trouble there, but I have had friends who were afraid to smile until they had caps made.

"A photographer told me my face would have better proportions if I had a higher forehead," Jan continued, "so I had my hairline shaved.

"It was done so cleverly that it wasn't noticeable. Fortunately the hair around my face is very light, but if I had more patience I would have them waxed out. It's a neater job.

"There is no end to the ways you can improve yourself," Jan confided. "Sometimes just changing the color of your hair causes a complete change in personality. "The first time I bleached my hair was for the Chicago company of 'Born Yesterday.' I had to look real flashy, and this was quite a change from the English debutante roles I had been playing on Broadway.

"With my hair platinum blonde I found that I had to dress differently. When you look the type, women resent you and men don't expect you to be able to carry on a conversation. I am glad that my hair is darker now."

The nurse brought in Jan's baby, an adorable little boy of six months. Jan's baby was delivered at home without anesthetics.

"I don't know why people made so much fuss about it. It is not THAT uncommon," she explained. "I wanted to do it because it's supposed to be better for the baby. "I really indulged myself during pregnancy," Jan reminisced. "I ate everything that I felt like eating and gained 42 pounds."

"But your figure is so lovely now!" I said, admiring Jan's tiny waist.

"In some ways my figure is better than ever, but I had to work to get it that way," Jan admitted. "How much did you have to lose to get back your normal weight?" I asked.

"About 30 pounds," Jan disclosed. "I'm five-six but for pictures I keep 10 pounds on, so I stay at 110 pounds.

"Ten days after the baby was born I was rehearsing when my costumes were fitted. I told them to make my inner belts 22 inches. I would never have been so sure of getting back to normal without Louise Long. Louise is a wonderful masseuse. She knows every bone, muscle and nerve center in the body. This is so important because a badly trained masseuse, one who is not familiar with body structure, can be harmful."

"I asked Jan about her diet.

"I love sweets so I had to discipline myself," Jan confided. "I didn't follow any set menus but I kept to around 750 calories a day and I still had reasonably balanced meals.

"For breakfast I had grapefruit, coffee and either a poached egg or diet toast.

"For lunch I had a boiled egg, lean hamburger or cold chicken. For dinner I had steak, green vegetables and skim milk. And I supplemented my diet with multiple vitamins and minerals.

"If I found myself thinking about food, I nibbled a raw carrot. I was very careful to have no candy in the house.

We were chatting about perfume when Paul Douglas, Jan's husband, came in and I asked his reaction to scents. "I like perfume to be subtle," he explained. "I don't want to be assaulted."

As he looked admiringly at his wife I asked, "What attracted you to Jan?"

"I liked Jan because she was stimulating and she had something interesting to offer. She is a good listener, too, and," he said lighting a cigarette, "more than anything else, she has integrity."

Mrs. Clyde Angel spoke for the group Saturday afternoon, using as her subject, "Study To Show Thyself Approved Unto God." She stressed the fact that any work should be done with the importance of putting heart and talent into every-day activities.

Mrs. Stokes took as her topic, "How Understanding Are We?" She based her discussion on the Scripture, "Wisdom is before him that has understanding." She told her listeners that club women should be more understanding in the club, the church, the school and the community.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Minnie Mangum Left Town's People With Mouths Open

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD

Lusty old Norfolk, Va., hardened by years of service as a playground of seafaring men, felt a ripple of shock at citizens picked up their newspapers one morning last December. Linked in headlines were the name, Minnie Mangum, and the crime, embezzlement. Readers were accustomed to social items about the lavish parties Miss Minnie—a woman of prominence—gave for friends. Members of her church knew she had given generously ($8,800) to the building fund.

But the news stories said the 52-year-old spinster had been accused of taking funds from the Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn. which she served in the $10,000-a-year post of assistant secretary-treasurer. Now, Miss Mangum awaits trial. On April 2 an indictment accused her of embezzling $2,557.06 from Commonwealth over 22 years.

Norfolk reacted like any other community, business or individual whose trust has been violated. Months dropped open. For more than almost any other crime, embezzlement produces a reaction of shock because it must be committed by a person in a position of trust.

President B. H. Mercer of Baltimore's Fidelity and Deposit Co., the nation's largest insurer of employee honesty, estimates $60 million dollars in money and merchandise was stolen by employees in this country last year.

A woman most often sacrifices her honesty at the altar of "nice things"—imported lingerie, for example. Indebtedness and the care of dependents are other strong motives for female embezzlers.

Minnie Mangum's minister has said, "I believe she was so anxious for gratitude that she felt compelled to go out and buy it." Employees' methods in getting away with big sums varies, but John H. Jackson, of F&D's claims department, says they almost always involve a breakdown in a system of safeguards, often the failure of a trustworthy employee to carry out a simple assignment.

There are two main things a firm must do: 1. Set up a detailed system of internal control over cash receipts, disbursements, and merchandise, equipment and other materials. This will discourage the embezzler and make it more difficult for him to conceal his thefts.

2. To be on the safe side, carry a substantial amount of honest insurance.

From the case files, here is a prime example of what can happen when a small cog slips in the system of internal control: The payroll clerk of a firm in Houston, Tex., was supposed to make out the payroll, write employee checks and take them to the head bookkeeper who checked them against the list of employees. He was supposed to take the checks to the secretary for his signature and then distribute them to employees.

But the head bookkeeper let the accommodating payroll clerk, a hard working matronly woman, take the checks to the secretary. On her way, she would add phony checks to the pile. After the secretary had signed the checks she would remove the phony ones and return the legitimate checks to the head bookkeeper.

She took the phony checks to the bank and cashed them. The bank, assuming they were checks the company had cashed for its employees as a matter of convenience, never questioned the lack of endorsement.

For eight years, the dishonest payroll clerk took the company for $1,000 a month. She was considered an extremely loyal employee. She never took a full vacation, always returning in time to make up the payroll.

She finally got caught when she didn't make it back in time.

Moisture, Cold Top Actors In U.S. Weather

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—With an assist from ex-President Truman, Democratic orators will soon open heavy fire on the Eisenhower administration as the nation's alleged all-time "giveaway" champion.

This has nothing to do with quiz shows. It's the Democratic charge that the Republicans are handing out natural resources. Democratic national headquarters rate it one of the top issues of the 1956 campaign.

Basically, say the Republicans as they hotly deny Democratic allegations, it's the old fight between public and private development of the nation's public wealth.

Nevertheless, the Democrats can be expected to make it a major political battle cry, much in the manner the Republicans poured it on about "the mess in Washington" under the Truman regime four years ago.

GOP bigwigs, quick to defend the record of their first administration in nearly a quarter century, scoff at the giveaway talk as typical election-year bush-wacking.

"Pure political bunk," said Douglas McKay, whose opponents dubbed him the "Giveaway King" before he resigned as secretary of the interior to seek the U. S. Senate seat of his arch critic, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

"The administration," said McKay, "has made a sincere effort to achieve a wise use of our national resources . . . by all of the people."

As viewed by Democrats, the purported great giveaway includes: Hydroelectric power sites, such as Hells Canyon in Oregon; oil deposits; forests and grazing lands; wildlife refuge; government-owned rubber and synthetic fuel plants.

Former President Truman keyed the power-garb theme in a Portland, Ore., speech last summer in which he declared: "Selfish interests in this country have been scheming to take away from the people vast public resources. Much has already been lost . . . and I fear vastly more will be taken away. By tricky leeches, private raiders on public power have been at work. What the administration is really after is a partnership between public and private interests. Aimed at a strange partnership it is, with the people paying for the dam and the private partners taking all the profits."

Truman's speech sparked angry rebuttal from McKay. As an example of alleged GOP skulduggery, Democrats cite the case of Al Sarena Mines, Inc., of Mobile, Ala. A congressional investigation disclosed the company invested $3,945 on 15 mining claims in Oregon's Rogue River National Forest and proceeded to "mine" the land of timber valued in congressional testimony at as high as $638,000—an 8,000 per cent return.

Genuine mining claims on land in the public domain are perfectly legal—if proven underground minerals are the goal—but Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-Ind.), chairman of a Senate-House inquiry committee, said a lot of logging but little if any mining was done by the company.

Administration officials, led by McKay, insisted that the Al Sarena transaction was "in full accord with the law." Undersecretary Davis testified that under the law he had no choice but to grant the company's application when it made a showing of mineral discovery.

Democrats have long shouted "giveaway!" over the so-called tideland oil legislation, passed by the GOP-controlled Congress in 1953, granting jurisdiction to the states over offshore oil deposits.

Republicans retort that if the tideland bill was a giveaway, then the Democrats must bear a full share of the blame. GOP lieutenants emphasize that just about as many Democrats voted for the bill as against it and that the party's giveaway charge, in this case, embraces nearly half its congressional representation.

In the showdown, the Senate voted 56-35 for state as opposed to federal ownership of the submerged oil deposits, with 21 Democrats and 35 Republicans voting aye. Twenty-six Democrats and 9 Republicans voted no. The House voted 205-108 in a similar party split.

High on the Democratic list of giveaways and attempted giveaways is the controversial Dixon-Yates episode. The Democrats call it an abortive attempt by the Eisenhower administration to kill the government-operated Tennessee Valley Authority by depriving a private concern of a contract to sell power in the TVA area.

President Eisenhower finally canceled the Dixon-Yates con-

As viewed by Democrats, the purported great giveaway includes: Hydroelectric power sites, such as Hells Canyon in Oregon; oil deposits; forests and grazing lands; wildlife refuge; government-owned rubber and synthetic fuel plants.

Former President Truman keyed the power-garb theme in a Portland, Ore., speech last summer in which he declared: "Selfish interests in this country have been scheming to take away from the people vast public resources. Much has already been lost . . . and I fear vastly more will be taken away. By tricky leeches, private raiders on public power have been at work. What the administration is really after is a partnership between public and private interests. Aimed at a strange partnership it is, with the people paying for the dam and the private partners taking all the profits."

Truman's speech sparked angry rebuttal from McKay. As an example of alleged GOP skulduggery, Democrats cite the case of Al Sarena Mines, Inc., of Mobile, Ala. A congressional investigation disclosed the company invested $3,945 on 15 mining claims in Oregon's Rogue River National Forest and proceeded to "mine" the land of timber valued in congressional testimony at as high as $638,000—an 8,000 per cent return.

Genuine mining claims on land in the public domain are perfectly legal—if proven underground minerals are the goal—but Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-Ind.), chairman of a Senate-House inquiry committee, said a lot of logging but little if any mining was done by the company.

Administration officials, led by McKay, insisted that the Al Sarena transaction was "in full accord with the law." Undersecretary Davis testified that under the law he had no choice but to grant the company's application when it made a showing of mineral discovery.

Democrats have long shouted "giveaway!" over the so-called tideland oil legislation, passed by the GOP-controlled Congress in 1953, granting jurisdiction to the states over offshore oil deposits.

Republicans retort that if the tideland bill was a giveaway, then the Democrats must bear a full share of the blame. GOP lieutenants emphasize that just about as many Democrats voted for the bill as against it and that the party's giveaway charge, in this case, embraces nearly half its congressional representation.

In the showdown, the Senate voted 56-35 for state as opposed to federal ownership of the submerged oil deposits, with 21 Democrats and 35 Republicans voting aye. Twenty-six Democrats and 9 Republicans voted no. The House voted 205-108 in a similar party split.

High on the Democratic list of giveaways and attempted giveaways is the controversial Dixon-Yates episode. The Democrats call it an abortive attempt by the Eisenhower administration to kill the government-operated Tennessee Valley Authority by depriving a private concern of a contract to sell power in the TVA area.

President Eisenhower finally canceled the Dixon-Yates contract at the height of a congressional uproar. Democratic critics say major giveaways include: 1. The Hells Canyon affair, permitting a private power company to develop one of America's last great unopened power sites. (The Idaho Power Co. argues that its proposed three small power dams can be built much faster than the federal government could build a single giant multipurpose dam for power, flood control and irrigation. The company says it will thus supply the power-hungry Pacific Northwest's demands sooner and will pay 10 million dollars at the mercy of hard-fisted federal project would be tax exempt.

2. The Al Sarena case. 3. The leasing of land in the Lacassine National Wildlife Refuge, in Louisiana, to private oil interests. 4. The disposal of government-owned synthetic rubber plants and oil-from-shale plants. 5. The breaking up of Indian tribal lands, allegedly leaving Indians at the mercy of hard-fisted, fast-talking timber, oil and cattle barons. 6. The leasing of federal timber lands to private companies, particularly in the Pacific Northwest.

The affliction is called phlebitis, an inflammation of one or more veins in the legs. In some cases blood clots develop in these veins and produce serious consequences, sometimes death. But the great majority have only a disabling or painful affliction, and it can be treated by medical means and a few changes in the routine of living, said Dr. Roy J. Popkin of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Dr. Popkin, who reported to the California Medical Assn., said treatment consists principally of reducing the swelling by conventional medical means and of rearranging the life of the patient to keep his feet off the ground.

People with this trouble should not dangle their legs, Dr. Popkin said. They should sleep with their feet elevated a few inches, usually on a pillow. Before they get out of bed they should put on an elastic stocking or bandages, as the doctor prescribes.

Their work, Dr. Popkin added, should be something that permits them to keep their legs outstretched, such as the feet-on-the-desk position.

Without being able to put his finger exactly on it, he feels that something is stirring within the country that will make the November presidential contest a horse race. He feels it is compounded out of dissatisfaction over low farm prices and their effect on small town business, by spotted economic conditions and by public disenchantment with the Eisenhower foreign policies.

Ever present also is the possibility that Eisenhower's health still might remove him as a candidate. Stevenson's own health appears good after a couple of bouts with illness after the 1952 campaign.

Stevenson would have liked to conduct what might be called a "lofty" campaign for the nomination. He mapped a course of what others called "moderation" and set out to discuss the issues.

Then Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee came along with a campaigning, vote-for-me type of campaign which buried Stevenson's unofficial delegates in New Hampshire and inundated Stevenson himself in Minnesota.

It is no secret that Stevenson is far from enthusiastic about getting right down to the business of asking people to vote for him. He can do it, as he demonstrated in the 1948 campaign when he became the fourth Democrat to be elected governor of Illinois since the Civil War.

With a non-profitable farm of his own at Libertyville, Ill., he thinks he talks the farmers' language when he advocates at least a temporary return to fixed, high-level crop price supports.

Although Eisenhower's apparent popularity has reached a point which causes some to wonder why Democrats should knock themselves out for their party nomination, Stevenson has none of this feeling.

Nepal Crowns New King Wednesday

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—At 10:43 a.m. Wednesday—an hour and day fixed after long study by royal astrologers and high priests—Nepal will crown a new king, Mahendra I.

There will be a great and, for Nepal, costly celebration. Twenty elephants, who have been eating their way through great stocks of hay and other feed in the royal stables, will lead the coronation procession. Hundreds of visitors from the outside world will be here and special planes are flying in extra food to feed them. The government has made a million rupees (about $200,000) available for expenses.

Shoppers mourning up to half an inch also fell over most of the northeastern part of the country yesterday. Unseasonable cold gripped the central and northern plains and the Great Lakes area. Below-freezing temperatures were reported early today in an area extending from Montana eastward to the upper Great Lakes region.

At the appointed hour, the gold crown—surmounted by giant plumes of a bird of paradise and covered with diamonds, pearls, emeralds and rubies—will be placed on his head in the great Durbar Hall. Then he will be seated on the ancient Nepalese throne, mounted on the skins of oxen, leopards, lions and tigers. He will wear a velvet robe embroidered in gold.

Katmandu has but one modern hotel and that and the scattered guest houses are booked to capacity. The army has arranged to supply tents for the overflow. Mahendra Bir Bikram Shah Deva, 36, succeeds his father, Tribhuvana, who died in Zurich, Switzerland, March 13, 1955, after more than 40 years on the throne.

Without being able to put his finger exactly on it, he feels that something is stirring within the country that will make the November presidential contest a horse race. Swollen! gs Common Illness

LOS ANGELES (AP)—About 10 million Americans have swollen legs due to circulation trouble and most of them are in need of some kind of medical treatment and changes in their way of life, a Los Angeles physician asserted today.

The affliction is called phlebitis, an inflammation of one or more veins in the legs. In some cases blood clots develop in these veins and produce serious consequences, sometimes death. But the great majority have only a disabling or painful affliction, and it can be treated by medical means and a few changes in the routine of living, said Dr. Roy J. 'Hobby House' Has Everything For Hobbyist

Hodges Hobby House, 603 E. 3rd, is one of Big Spring's most fascinating stores.

It doesn't make any difference whether you have a hobby or not when you go into the Hobby House. The odds are, unless you have sales resistance galore, you'll have one when you walk out.

Charles Hodges and Mrs. Hodges are the proprietors. Both are hobbyists on their own—which probably accounts for their embarking in this unusual line about a year ago.

Hodges' personal hobby is most hobbies. He has many.

The hobby follower can buy all types of model airplane kits and equipment at the Hobby House. The kit is there, the only limit being what the hobbyist wants to spend. Even radio controlled models may be bought. Ship builders will find complete lines of kits ranging up to large models which, too, are radio controlled.

Railroad builders can get kits in HO gauge, S gauge and O gauge in stock or T gauge can be ordered. Coppersmiths, oil painters, stamp collectors, coin collectors—any kind of hobby and Hobby House has what the addict wants.

"If we don't have it we can get it in 48 to 72 hours," Hodges promises. "Tell us what you want—we'll have it for you in record time."

The Hodges want their friends to drop in and browse.

"Even if you aren't planning to buy anything," they said, "we want you to make yourself at home and look things over."

A visit to 603 E. 3rd is a "must" for the dyed-in-wool hobbyist and a pleasant adventure for those few folk who haven't a hobby.

And as said, even if you don't have a hobby when you go in the door, the chances are you'll have one when you come out.

At Tire Sales Conference

Ideal, City Feature Sanitone Cleaning

Dry cleaning has made rapid progress and much improvement in recent years but none has contributed so much as Sanitone System.

In Big Spring, City Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 121 W. 1st and Ideal Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 401 Rannels, feature Sanitone Service.

This method of dry cleaning provides many features which are of great importance to the customer.

The system requires, first of all, that not a part, but all of the dirt in the garment must be removed.

Both the City and the Ideal feature efficient, dependable and expert laundry service. Their locations are convenient for their customers and their equipment is the latest.

The firms constantly keep abreast of new improvements in machinery and service and add it to their plants as soon as it is perfected.

Efficient and courteous pickup and delivery service is maintained by both plants.

A cordial invitation to new customers to try Sanitone Service at either the Ideal or the City is extended by the management.

"Once you have your garments cleaned by the Sanitone System," said the management, "you will never again have them cleaned any other way."

Every trace of perspiration must be eliminated and when the garment is completed and ready for the owner, there must not be a trace of "cleaning" odor present.

Customers who try Sanitone System cleaning never go back to any other.

NEW METHOD CLEANS AND POLISHES CARS

Polish your car as you clean it—with Johnson's POLISHAMPOO. Just apply rich harmless ends, then simply brush off dirt and "road film" that retard ordinary washings. Car dries quickly with no rubbing or wiping, leaving a polished surface. Use POLISHAMPOO regularly to keep car clean and polished.

Bottle containing 9 shampoos... $1.79. Available at Piggly Wiggly, J. O. Newsom Supermarket, J. E. Green Food Mart, Dale Douglas Food Mart, Jack's Drive-In Gro., Toby's Drive-In Gro., Hill & Phillips Gro. Dist. by Striping Supply Co.

Blue Lustre Does 6 Things For Rug

The finest product ever developed for cleaning carpets and rugs at home is now on the market.

Blue Lustre, a triumph of research, is an amazing concentrate that does the six things you need to keep your wall-to-wall carpeting clean and bright. Blue Lustre is available at Big Spring Hardware.

ONE: It produces a billowy foam that cleans all the way through without soaking or matting. Your carpets are ready for use in a few hours.

TWO: It restores the original colors, makes the nap bounce up soft and fluffy and leaves no gummy residue.

THREE: It foams away spots, stains, and traffic lanes without any telltale ring to show it has been used.

FOUR: It's easy to apply with the accompanying long-handled brush. No hands-and-knees work—just stroke like shuffleboard.

FIVE: It's economical. A half gallon of Blue Lustre, selling for $2.59 makes enough solution for three nine by 12 foot rugs or more.

SIX: It works equally well for upholstery.

If Blue Lustre is used regularly, it is claimed that carpeting will never wear out prematurely from harsh, gritty dirt.

Nixon's Record Prime Democrat Target For '56

By The Associated Press
The political record of Vice President Nixon will be a prime target in the 1956 presidential campaign, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said last night.

Butler, in a television appearance, said Democrats also would attack what he called the "failure and fumbling" of the Eisenhower administration, which he accused of "trying to take credit for everything."

On the other hand, Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) in another TV appearance declared that Nixon's decision to run again "assures a Republican victory all over the country."

Butler said voters will consider that in voting for Eisenhower this time they would be "taking the risk and possibility" of putting Nixon in the White House.

Nixon's campaign technique, Butler said, not only "betrans but debauches the whole American system." He accused Nixon of "impugning the patriotism" of former President Harry Truman, among other things.

Butler also denied he prefers Adlai Stevenson over Sen. Estes Kefauver as the Democratic presidential candidate. As party chairman he said he wants only to get a candidate chosen and elected.

Kefauver said, meanwhile, he expects to be the Democratic nominee. "All the reports that I received from Florida and California . . . show that we are on the upgrade," he told a rally of District of Columbia supporters.

Residents of the District will choose six-vote slates of national convention delegates Tuesday. Both Kefauver and Stevenson have a Democratic slate of delegates entered.

Seamen Leave Hearing

Four Russian seamen who sought and were granted sanctuary in the United States leave the U.S. Immigration Service building in Washington after reporting for "routine" interviews. Left to right are: Viktor Solovjev, Viktor Tatamikov, rear, and Ben Ermenko. The fourth, Michael Ivanov-Nikolov, is hidden behind Solovjev. Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin also came to the hearing in an effort to persuade the men to return to the Soviet Union but his efforts were unavailing. Newsmen at right are unidentified.

VOTING DUE

Folsom's Racial Stand Faces Test

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Gov. James E. Folsom and his challenged stand on racial segregation will be the center of attention tomorrow when Alabama Democrats go to the polls.

Folsom, running for Democratic national committee, has been widely criticized for what his critics maintain is a tepid attitude toward continued racial segregation.

Voters in the Democratic primary will also elect a national committee woman and 52 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. They will nominate candidates for Congress, presidential elector and several state and district offices.

Red Party Chiefs Back In Moscow

LONDON (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev returned to Moscow today and told a welcoming crowd their trip to Britain was of great political and practical significance.

The Moscow radio broadcast an account of the Russian leaders' arrival by plane on the final leg of their journey home from their 10-day tour and said they were warmly applauded by tens of thousands of persons at Moscow's big military airport.

Sen. George Against NATO's Entering Economic Fields

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he favors expansion of international political activities by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but does not believe it should enter the economic field.

George spoke out in an interview in advance of the scheduled public appearance of Secretary of State Dulles before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

George heads the committee and serves as chief Democratic spokesman in Congress on foreign policy.

Voicing general approval of Dulles' proposal to try to give vitality to NATO, the Georgia senator said, "I don't see how it can be made into an economic agency."

Dulles has declined to spell out his NATO proposals before leaving tomorrow for a Paris meeting of the organization. But he has said there are "possibilities of joint efforts" which might include some of all of the NATO countries to assist in neighboring areas such as North Africa.

The secretary has said much of the economy of the NATO countries depends on oil from the disturbed Middle East.

George made it clear he thinks any large-scale American economic aid in the Middle East would involve "sticking our head in the lion's mouth" of the dispute between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

He said that outside the economic field he believes NATO nations could accomplish a great deal by "moving away from what is now only a strict military alliance."

"The Russians are undoubtedly trying to get rid of NATO," he said. "They may have succeeded in softening up some of the European countries which are not as aware of the immediate danger of war as they have been in the past."

For this reason, he said, he will support proposals to broaden the consultation between NATO nations in the international political field.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said the United States should channel a larger share of its aid through the United Nations, Lodge is chief U.S. delegate to the U.N. In a statement in New York, Lodge said such a move would offer "some real advantages over a program sponsored by the United States alone" in meeting the challenge of Russian competition.

"Multilateral aid," Lodge said, "offers a way to prevent the so-called auction which some are trying to promote between the United States and the U.S.S.R. as to which will spend the most in an underdeveloped country."

Soviets Leave For Home

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A grid coach who's never been known to sing the blues is Johnny Hickman of Levelland, who, ever since he arrived at the Northwest Texas school, has insisted on predicting tremendous things for his athletes.

Though he had never brought in a champion, Hickman has seen his team emerge the winner with almost monotonous regularity.

Even when the Lobos would be meeting the perennial toughies like Breckenridge, Snyder and Sweetwater and the 1953-54 Big Spring teams, Johnny never hesitated to put the finger on his team as the best.

He obviously operated on the theory that one of the principal duties of a coach was to sell a boy on himself.

Hickman hasn't changed. Two weeks of spring training has been completed at Levelland now and, to quote a neighboring scribe, "Hickman remained optimistic about the prospects for the coming football season."

Hickman said he was "encouraged by the outstanding performance of several returning regulars as well as the great promise being shown by some members of last year's reserves and Coyote squad." Levelland, like Big Spring, has changed districts but the Lobos remain on the Steers' schedule. Hickman, by the way, is expecting Phillips, now a conference foe of his team's, to come up with another great team. Dumas will be double-tough up that way, too.

The defeat of the Texas Tech mile relay team by HCJC caused some red faces among Tech athletes.

Prior to the event, which occurred during the West Zone meet at Lubbock, a Techman approached one of the local athletes and said in effect, "we don't expect to beat you too much because we haven't worked out very much in a week."

The race was close until Little Freddy Stuart took the baton on the third leg. He opened up a 30-yard gap in his tour around the track.

The Tech anchor man groaned by disappointment while Stuart roared down the stretch — he knew he didn't have a chance to catch John Dale Curtis, the Hawks' anchor man. John Dale held about that same advantage all the way around the oval.

Kidd Waddill, who threw that no-hitter for HCJC against Clarendon recently, hurled a one-hit game for Roby High School in bi-district play against Miles last year. Roby won the game, 6-0.

Witty Quintana, the former Big Spring infielder, is holding down the regular shortstop position for the Vancouver Mounties in the Pacific Coast League.

He's batting (none too well) down around the sixth position in the lineup.

Brooklyn's Jersey City experiment didn't prove very successful.

Field too big. Playing turf too soft. Wind off the river blowing directly toward home plate. Be it ever humble, there is no place like home. Ask Duke Snider, who likes the cozy right field wall at Ebbetts Field.

Earl Caldwell Jr., who Milwaukee Scout Earl Halslead said would be in the major leagues "inside two years" when he was with Odessa a couple of seasons back, is trying to win a spot on the Midland Indian roster.

Tigers Defeated By Lamesa, 11-3

The Big Spring Tigers lost their fifth straight baseball decision here Sunday, yielding to the Lamesa Red Sox, 11-3.

Charley Fierro and Joe Cadenhead divided time on the mound for the losers, yielding ten hits between them.

The Bengals managed seven hits off Lamesa hurling Lamesa with Odessa a couple of seasons back, is trying to win a spot on the Midland Indian roster.

Game Called Off

The baseball exhibition between the Webb Air Force Base Dusters and the Snyder Furniture Company, which was to have been played at Steer Park Sunday afternoon, was postponed indefinitely.

Big Spring Hawks Defeat Odessa For Second Win

ODESSA (SC) — The Big Spring Hawks registered their second baseball victory in three starts here Tuesday, vanquishing the Odessa Stars, 14-4.

The Hawks held the Stars scoreless until the ninth inning.

Big Spring made the most of 13 hits and pecked away for runs until the sixth, when they scored five times to salt away the verdict.

R. Ramirez and Jimmy Fierro divided time on the mound for Big Spring.

HCJC Outfielders

Jayhawks Wind Up Campaign

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks wind up their 1956 baseball season here today, tangle with the Odessa JC Wranglers at 2 p.m. in Steer Park.

Odessa has already clinched the West Zone championship and qualified itself to appear in the state playoffs.

Beating the Wranglers would prove quite a feather in the caps of Coach Harold Davis and his boys, however. In three meetings with Odessa this season, the Hawks have won one game.

Kidd Waddill will probably toe the mound for the Big Springers today. Coach Larry McCulloch of Odessa has not indicated who he'll pitch but it could be he'll save Jimmy Coulter, ace of his staff.

Last week, Odessa won the crown by drubbing HCJC, 14-5. James Dobbins, Wrangler infielder, highlighted the offensive fireworks by blasting a bases-loaded home run.

Today's contest was originally scheduled for 1 p.m. but was moved back following a conference of the coaches.

Glen Braxley will be behind the plate for HCJC, with Phil Gore or Ralph Murphree at first base. Jack Morrison or Melvin Murphree at second, Jackie Williams at shortstop, Truett Newell at third base and Lefty Don Reynolds, Mike Powell and possibly Morrison in the outfield.

Odessa will have Dobbins catching, Gerry Hinds at first base, Alvin Stone at second base, Houston Kirby at shortstop, Jimmy Dobbins at third base, Alex Lewis in left field, Don Hickman in center and Phil Baxter in right.

The Hawks will be trying to improve upon a 6-3 win-loss record. Odessa has lost only once in nine starts.

Underwood Beaten In Cisco Meet

CISCO (SC) — James Lee Underwood of HCJC and Big Spring lost out in the consolation finals of the championship flight in the Cisco Invitational Golf Tournament here Sunday to Jim Harris of Eastland, 1 up.

James Lee's father, Alton, yielded in the semi-finals of the third flight to Garland Crawley, Breckenridge, 2 up.

Kirby And Downey Tourney Favorites

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Veterans Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta and Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore were regarded as the co-favorites today when qualifying began in the 41st Women's Southern Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Kirby, former National Amateur champion, won the tourney in 1937 and has been runner-up three times in the past decade. Miss Downey is a member of the 1956 Curtis Cup team.

Morrow And Sims Can Set 100 Record, Says Karnes

DES MOINES (AP)—Sophomore sprinters Dave Sims of Duke and Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian are capable of cracking the world record of :09.3 in the 100-yard dash.

That is the opinion of Drake Relays Director Bob Karnes who watched Sims take the Drake record down to :09.4 in a sensational duel with Morrow in a cold rain and upon a water-logged track last Saturday.

"They have all the potential and I think both can do .093 or better," Karnes said, adding, "And I think, too, both Sims

Hard-Luck Ace Of Tribe Staff Beaten Again

DETROIT (AP)—Young Herb Score called it the best game he ever pitched in the major leagues, but in the record books it'll go down as his second loss of the young baseball season.

The fireballing Cleveland southpaw, just beginning his second season and already ranked as one of the game's finest pitchers, lost his second low-hit effort yesterday when Bill Tuttle smashed a two-out 10th-inning home run for a 1-0 Detroit victory. Score has one win.

It was only the third hit off the talented 22-year-old left-hander, who struck out 13 and walked but four. The Indians got nine singles off Billy Hoft.

Just 10 days ago, Score permitted Chicago only two hits but lost 1-0 when the White Sox scored a run on two walks, a passed ball and a sacrifice fly.

"I can't blame anyone but myself," said Score, who led the major leagues in strikeouts last year with 245.

"I put the ball right down the middle. I should have pitched him lower."

Score was in the clubhouse relaxing with a book while his teammates were out winning the second game 8-4.

"Those guys were trying just as hard to hit out there for me as they are now," he remarked. "But that's the way it happens sometimes."

Score has allowed only four runs and 10 hits in 27 innings, but has only a 5-2 win over Kansas City to show for it. Asked how he felt about his "bad luck" so far, Herb replied:

"Naturally I feel bad about it but I can't complain. No one feels like celebrating after losing but the Good Lord has been good to me and I consider myself to be pretty lucky to be up here in the majors."

Wally Post Takes Over In Reds' Mace Attack

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

Attention Ted Kluszewski. If you don't get back in that Cincinnati lineup and start swinging that home run bat at a $40,000-a-year pace, Wally Post is going to be grabbing the heavy sugar.

Post, a farm boy from St. Henry, Ohio, is a vastly underrated slugger who can hit a ball as far as any boy.

They dug into the record books at Cincinnati yesterday when the 26-year-old outfielder hit four home runs as the Redlegs swept a double-header from Chicago 5-4 and 8-4. Only one man, Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals on May 2, 1954, ever hit more.

Post also hit one Saturday to make it five in three consecutive games, also one short of the major league record of six held by Tony Lazzeri, Gus Zernial and Ralph Kiner (twice).

With the help of Post's slugging, Manager Birdie Tebbetts' Redlegs finally climbed up to the 500 mark in the win-and-lose column after a sad start.

Ed Bailey and Frank Robinson joined Post's homer party and Harry Chitt, Ernie Banks and Jim King hit home runs for the losing Cubs.

Brooklyn's double defeat by Pittsburgh, 10-1 and 11-3, dropped the world champions out of the National League lead. Milwaukee, idle for seven straight days, took over on a percentage basis.

Bob Friend and Nelson King, coming to the relief of Vern Law, did the job on the Dodgers, who saw Don Drysdale, their 19-year-old rookie, and sore-armed Billy Loos knocked from the box.

Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider were injured in the first game but they are not regarded as serious casualties. The thing that hurt Dodger manager Walter Alton most was the comparison between this year's 7-4 record and last year's 13-2 on the same date.

Jack Shepard, who hit two homers all last season, hit two in the first game for the Pirates. Frank Thomas and Law also homered for the winners and Robinson and Roy Campanella for the Brooks.

Ranen Monzant, 23-year-old New York Giants right-hander, turned in one of the season's best pitched games, a one-hit, 8-1 victory over Philadelphia. A first-inning single by Del Ennis that drove in a run was the only hit.

The Phillies topped the Giants in the first game of the twin bill 5-4. Relief pitcher Jack Meyer won it in the 10th with his first major league home run after pinch hitter George Wilson of the Giants tied the score in the ninth. Andy Semnick had put the Phils out front in the top of the ninth.

Rain, wet grounds and cold postponed double-headers between St. Louis and Milwaukee and Chicago and Kansas City, and a single game between the New York Yankees and Boston.

Herb Score made the headlines the hard way, for the second time this season, by losing a 1-0 game. The Cleveland lefty struck out 13 Detroit Tigers and allowed only three hits, but one of the hits was a homer by Bill Tuttle in the 10th inning. Score had lost a 1-0 game to Chicago 10 days ago. Billy Pierce beat him then. Yesterday it was Billy Hoft.

Vic Wertz and Al Smith each hit two homers and Hal Naragon got one to give Cleveland a split with an 8-4 victory in the second game. Bob Lemon allowed seven hits, none until Al Kaline doubled with one out in the seventh.

Baltimore beat Washington 8-6 with the help of Tito Francona's two-run pinch homer. Hal Smith and Billy Gardner also hit homers for the Orioles and Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon for the Senators. Sievers and Karl Olson also homered in the second game, won by Washington 5-4 on Dick Tetelbach's single with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Littler Uses Hot Putter To Repeat

By BOB MYERS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The fourth annual Tournament of Champions is a matter of record today and once again the champion of the champions is Gene Littler and his hot putter.

Littler, winner last year, went into the final round with a 5-stroke wimp over Cary Middlecoff. At the wimp Gene's 71 for 281 was 4 strokes in front of Middlecoff's 70 for 285.

The final duel in Country Club course was a routine one in the early stages, when Middlecoff pulled up to only 2 strokes behind Littler on the seventh hole.

Out of the $38,500 purse, Littler collected $10,000.

Singer Frankie Laine cashed in, too, for the second straight year. He bought Littler in the leggy auction in midweek. He paid $18,500 and then, as last year, sold third shares to two friends, Don Frankel of Los Angeles and Chauncey Needham of San Francisco.

Their share from the total auction pool of $192,000 was $69,120.

Yesterday's featured threesome included Littler, Cary and Gardner Dickinson Jr. Dickinson was very much in line for third-place money, possibly even second, until he got into bunker trouble on the 15th hole and yielded to an enormous 8.

That left the way clear for Lloyd Mangrum to slip in for third money of $2,200 with his last round 69 and 288 total. Dickinson had to settle for a tie for fifth at 290 for $1,260. With him were Dick Mayer and Doug Ford, and just ahead with winnings of $1,400, were Al Balding, Shelley Mayfield and Ted Kroll.

CASE SENT BACK

Supreme Court Delays Ruling On Commie Registration Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today put off indefinitely a ruling on legality of the law under which the Communist party has been ordered to register as a tool of Moscow.

By a 6-3 vote, the high tribunal sent the case back to the Subversive Activities Control Board for further proceedings to clarify the record.

Specifically, the high court said it wanted "to make certain that the board based its findings upon untainted evidence."

Justice Frankfurter delivered the majority opinion on behalf of himself, Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Douglas and Harlan.

Justice Clark wrote a dissenting opinion, joined by Justices Reed and Minton.

After a 15-month hearing, the Subversive Activities Control Board in 1953 found the party was a Communist-action organization and directed it to register under terms of the 1950 Internal Security Act.

The law requires registration by Communist-action and Communist-front organizations.

Under terms of the SACB order the party would have had to list its officers and members, give detailed financial accountings, and supply an inventory of printing and mimeographing equipment. Communist fronts are subject to substantially the same requirements, except the listing of rank and file members.

Failure to register as ordered by the board is punishable by five years' imprisonment and a fine of as much as $10,000 or both. Each day of failure to register constitutes a separate offense. Party lawyers said the penalties thus were "potentially astronomical."

In his majority opinion Frankfurter noted that the party had attacked the credibility of three government witnesses during proceedings before the U. S. Court of Appeals here.

The Appeals Court rejected the party's contention and upheld constitutionality of the 1950 law by a 2-1 vote.

Frankfurter today said "We cannot pass upon a record containing such challenged testimony."

Frankfurter said the high court was acting as it did, not in order to avoid a constitutional adjudication but because the fair administration of justice requires it.

The testimony involved was that of Paul Crouch, now dead; Manning Johnson, a frequent government witness in Communist cases and turn-about witness Harvey Matsumoto, a self-styled liar.

Clark, speaking for himself, Reed and Minton, said the court's action today "is taken merely for delay and can result only in the board reaffirming the action."

Clark added: "In fact it so advised the Court of Appeals and that court found all of the testimony of the questionable witnesses was supported by 'masses of other evidence.'"

Clark continued: "Ironically enough, we are returning the case to a board whose very existence is challenged on constitutional grounds. We are asking the board to pass on the credibility of witnesses after we have refused to say whether it has the power to do so."

Congress passed the law over President Truman's veto.

An unusual number of "friend of the court" briefs were offered. Those in opposition were submitted by the American Civil Liberties Union, the National Lawyers Guild, and 360 individuals. Listed among the latter were Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) and Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winner.

A brief by the American Bar Assn. urged the Supreme Court to uphold the law so that a "spotlight of pitiless publicity" could be turned on the Communist party.

Connecticut Church Burns

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — Fire swept through the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church yesterday, causing damage estimated at half a million dollars.

Deputy Fire Chief William LaRochelle estimated it would cost twice that amount to replace the church.

The fire broke out shortly after 8 p.m. Mass started. There were 300 people in the church.

Section Michael LaMothe, saw smoke coming from the sacristy, a room off the altar. He stood up and pointed to the rear exit. The parishioners started filing out.

One said later he didn't know what was wrong, and assumed someone was taken ill and the sexton wanted the church cleared.

Then the sexton told the Rev. Rene Messier, who had just started to read the weekly announcements from the pulpit.

Father Messier quietly advised the people to leave the church. There was no confusion.

Father Messier removed the chalice and other sacred vessels and followed the congregation out.

Firemen battled the blaze for three hours. The fire burned out the interior of the church, leaving only the smoke-blackened brick shell.

Checkpoints To Track Fallout

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — A vast network of 79 U.S. checkpoints will keep track of the radioactive fallout resulting from the nuclear tests starting next month at the Enewetak proving grounds in the Pacific.

The Atomic Energy Commission, telling of safety precautions for the tests, said these operations are not being set up in expectation of "possible hazard." The AEC said they will serve scientific purposes and keep the public informed on levels of radioactivity.

One type of monitoring will consist of a network of 40 weather fallout samples at various localities.

A more rapid radiation level check will be provided by 39 monitoring stations in various cities. These include Corpus Christi, Austin, Dallas, Albuquerque and Oklahoma City.

Yoo Yoo New Name For GOK

Yoo Yoo New Name For GOK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you have ever suffered the disease known as GOK (and millions have) you may be interested to know there's a new name for it. It's now called yoo yoo.

Dr. Margaret Ann Storkan, Redondo Beach, told the California Medical Assn. convention it used to be that whenever a disease was not clearly defined in the mind of your physician, it was labeled GOK, which translated meant "Gosh only knows."

In order to standardize the nomenclature, Dr. Storkan explained, a physician at sea with your symptoms will now classify it in his files as "yoo yoo."

Translated, it means: complete ignorance of the nature of the disease both as to location and cause.

Wiring Is Blamed For Three Blazes

Faulty electrical connections caused three fires here Sunday, but only slight damage resulted.

Two were handled by the Mal Street substation. A car belonging to L. M. Cunningham created a small blaze at 1902 Lonley. No damage was noted in the fire.

The roof was burned on a chicken house at 2001 Rumlens Sunday. The building belonged to Harvey Wooten. An undisclosed number of baby chicks were consumed by the blaze.

Firemen from the central fire station answered a call to the Northside on a blaze developing from faulty wiring. The fire was at the residence of Lupe Gonzales, 603 N. Douglas. No damage was reported, however.

Lamesa Lions Clubs Planning Broom Sale

LAMESA — The two Lamesa Lions Clubs have scheduled their annual broom sale for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Leonard Scott and Earl Henderson, co-chairmen, reported plans for a house-to-house canvass of the entire city. Brooms and mats also will be sold from a truck on the south side of the square. These wares are made by blind persons and all proceeds will be used for the Lions better-vision program.

Commissioners Talk Of Road Projects

County Commissioners Court had no official business before it Monday morning.

The court devoted its time to routine discussion of road projects and interviews with landowners who are to provide right-of-ways for proposed roads.

Youth Confesses Theft Of Coupons

A 16-year-old Latin American has confessed to taking six books of ice coupons from Southern Ice Company about two months ago. He will go before the Juvenile Judge early this week.

The boy said he took six books — each containing 1,000 coupons — from a closed drawer in the office of the ice company. The first of the coupons was redeemed about a week ago.

City detective Jack Shaffer said no report of the theft was made at the time, because the office manager suspected an employee. The suspicion later proved false.

Tech Journalism Director Accepts Nebraska Position

LUBBOCK — Dr. William E. Hall of Texas Tech has accepted a University of Nebraska invitation to become director of its School of Journalism on or about July 1.

Dr. Hall is journalism department head and public information director at Tech.

Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech president, expressed regret at losing Dr. Hall but said the position was "one of those 'once in a lifetime' opportunities." Dr. Hall said the chance outweighed his reluctance to leave Tech, which he joined in 1954. A working newspaperman in Albuquerque, N. M., from 1939-43, he served the University of New Mexico as assistant to the president, alumni director and journalism faculty member. He holds degrees from New Mexico, Columbia and the University of Iowa.

Five Girls Are Candidates For Queen Of Auto Show

Aces Auto Club members named five girls as candidates for queen of the "Motorama" which will be staged here May 26.

Nominated were Mary Lane Edwards, ValJean LaCroix, Sandra Flowers, Charlene Williams and Eunice Freeman. The queen is to be crowned on the evening of the auto show and will present some 18 trophies to winners of various show classes.

The Aces, with Gordon Myrick as president, will be holding the auto show at Steer Park. The motorama will be exhibits of remodeled and custom cars, and the public will be asked to select the best, most original, and other top classifications.

In addition, city dealers have been asked to show their models on the grounds, and one member of the group will be assigned to each dealer to help with exhibits.

Venice? No, Corpus

Jimmy Courtney boats down the street near his home in Corpus Christi at a faster rate than most autos were able to travel during recent heavy rain storms that flooded sections of the city.

Big 3 To Test Russ
Mid-East Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and the foreign ministers of Britain and France probably will confer this week on a formula for testing Russia's offer to join in a general embargo on arms shipments to the Middle East.

The possibility of bringing Middle East arms shipments once again under some kind of control is regarded here as slight but worth looking into.

Dulles will leave for Paris tomorrow to attend a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and diplomatic talks on a variety of international problems, dominated by the continuing Palestine crisis, Russian maneuvers and the Cyprus dispute.

He will get a first-hand report from Britain's Selwyn Lloyd on the visit to London of Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Just before leaving London last Friday, Khrushchev said if it were possible to agree on an arms ban "through the United Nations or otherwise" Russia would take part. He said that as long as other nations sold arms the Soviet Union would do so.

The reaction here was one of great suspicion. Communist Czechoslovakia began selling arms to Egypt last fall, and Moscow comment then linked the transaction to the development of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact in the Middle East.

Speculation in official quarters here is that Soviet willingness to stop shipping arms to the Arab states in return for a general embargo is a way of saying that the United States and Britain would have to stop shipping arms to countries in the Baghdad Pact. Aside from Britain, they are Pakistan, Turkey, Iran and Iraq.

Bricker Demands Video Regulation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Renewing his demand for federal regulation of television networks, Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said yesterday the two major chains are threatening the existence of smaller networks and stations.

He said the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co. have established "an unprecedented economic stranglehold" on the industry. CBS promptly disputed his conclusions.

Uncle Ray:
Montezuma Refused To Turn Christian

By RAMON COFFMAN

Cortez and his men saw the mountain which has become widely known as Popocatepetl, or simply "Popo."

Marching ahead, the Spaniards reached a spot about two miles from the Aztec capital. There they were met by a group of Indian messengers. They brought this message:

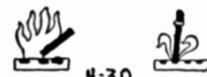

"Wait here! The mighty ruler, Montezuma, is coming to this place to greet you!"

Cortez agreed to the plan, and watched anxiously for the Aztec ruler. Before long Montezuma was seen in the distance, being carried in a litter. The litter was adorned with jewels and gold. Three men with golden wands walked in front.

When he reached the place, where the Spaniards waited, Montezuma stepped from the litter and welcomed Cortez and his men. The whites were invited to enter the city, and were given comfortable quarters. They were served with food by the natives.

After resting from his journey, Cortez paid a visit to the royal palace. Montezuma II, during his young manhood, had been bold on the battlefield, but at this period in his life (he was about 40 years old) he spent his time in and around his home. The royal palace was made of red stone. In addition to the structure in which the ruler slept, there were several other low stone buildings.

Anyone who desired to see Montezuma was ordered to take off his sandals or shoes, and to enter barefoot. Cortez followed this custom on his first visit.

The Spanish commander soon fell into a talk about religion. He told the Aztec ruler that the natives ought to give up their old religion and become Christians. In reply, Montezuma said:

"Your religion may be good for you, but I am content with my own. Our gods have watched over us and have made us strong."

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has 140,800 women relying on prostitution for a living, the government's Women's and Minors Bureau estimated today.

New U. S. Traffic Death Record Looms

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council says the nation may be headed for a new all-time record of traffic deaths in a single year.

The March death toll was the highest in history. If the present trend continues, the council observed, the 1941 all-time record of 39,969 deaths may be surpassed in 1956.

The March toll was 2,960—320 more than March 1955 and higher than the previous record of 2,866 for the month, set in 1937. It was the 13th consecutive month of increased traffic deaths. The toll for the first three months of 1956 was 8,590, second highest first-quarter total on record. The record first quarter total of 8,615 deaths was set in 1937.

The mounting rate of traffic deaths prompted Council President Ned H. Dearborn to declare a "traffic accident emergency."

He wired each state governor to urge an "all-out effort" to curtail traffic accidents.

He also sent the traffic toll records to the President's Committee for Safety in advance of four regional conferences to be sponsored by the committee in May. The first meeting convenes tomorrow in Atlantic City with follow-ups at Miami, Chicago and San Francisco.

"These might well be called emergency conferences. The death toll certainly underscores the urgency of these public support meetings," Dearborn declared.

Dearborn called on the driving public to make a "united effort" to cut down the death rate.

Despite the growing national toll, the council said 15 states and 155 cities have reduced traffic fatalities so far this year.

Actress Charged In Affection Suit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Martha Raye is "completely shocked" by an alienation of affections suit brought against her by a 20-year-old mother, says the comedienne's attorney.

The suit was filed Saturday by Mrs. Barbara Ann O'Shea of Westport, Conn., wife of a former bodyguard of the TV star. Mrs. O'Shea contends that Miss Raye gave her police husband Robert money and "costly gifts" while he served as her bodyguard. O'Shea is 27. The O'Sheas have a 15-day-old child.

"Miss Raye is completely shocked at this totally unexpected action," said Miss Shirley Wolf, the comedienne's attorney. "She has never had any romantic alliance with Mr. O'Shea."
