

Nepal Crowns King Amid Ancient Pomp

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Remote Himalayan Nepal crowned its new King today in a ceremony mixing ancient pomp with such modern innovations as movie cameras, foreign visitors and only one queen.

Hindu high priests placed the giant crown of the little kingdom—a gem-studded circlet of gold surrounded by brilliant bird of paradise plumage—on the head of 35-year-old King Mahendra at 10:43 a.m.

It was the precise minute fixed by the royal astrologers as most auspicious for a long and successful reign of the world's only Hindu monarch, ruler of nine million Nepales.

Whirring motion picture cameras and hundreds of clicking shutters recorded the coronation in the palace courtyard. Official delegates from a score of countries and a handful of tourists looked on from distant reserved seats.

Behind a red curtain other guests "looked on." They were the unseen Hindu gods invited to the ceremony.

"Oh! People!" the priests proclaimed as they crowned Mahendra. "This man is your king. He is the King of your Brahmins."

Then the priests vested the monarch with "the glow, splendor and energy" of the gods to make him "unrivaled in purity, greatness and kingship."

Guns boomed. Bands played. The high priests in golden robes intoned ancient chants. The cheers of thousands of subjects echoed from the streets outside the palace.

Mahendra, sitting on a throne mounted on the skins of oxen, leopards, lions and tigers, repeated prayers after the priests and promised "never to be arbitrary." His queen, Ratna Devi, sat stiffly beside him.

The ceremony has come down unchanged through the reigns of nine earlier Nepalese monarchs. But there were several big differences since the coronation 43 years ago of Mahendra's father, the late King Tribhuvana. Then only one European, a British resident, saw the coronation. Nepal, virtually inaccessible due to the high Himalayas that make up most of its 54,000 square miles, allowed few visitors before 1950. No cameras were present then.

Mahendra has only one queen. He has spurned Nepalese tradition that the monarch must have two wives.

The U. S. Marine Corps recommended court martial of Sgt. Matthew McKeon, left, and ordered the transfer of Maj. Gen. J. C. Burger, right, from command of Parris Island, S. The Corps said McKeon, 31, of Worcester, Mass., was under the influence of alcohol when he ordered the march into tidal swamp area.

DELEGATE FIGHT

Johnson, Shivers Trade New Blows

By The Associated Press
Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Gov. Shivers swapped verbal blows this mid-week in bids for support in Saturday's precinct conventions.

Speaking on a statewide telecast from Dallas Tuesday night, Johnson asserted Shivers is "a frightened, frustrated and fearful man who seems obsessed with the decision that someone is closing in on him."

"I do not know what is closing in on him unless it is his own conscience, I have not closed in on him," the Senate majority leader said.

Johnson charged Shivers had "done yeoman work for the Republicans." He urged Texans to "speak up and vote for men who want to preserve and not destroy the Democratic party."

At Beaumont Tuesday night, Shivers charged that "the same old gang is backing Lyndon Johnson that has fought the moderate Texas Democrats down through the years."

The governor directed most of his attack at speeches by former Atty. Gen. Gerald Mann. Quoting from Mann speeches in 1941 when Mann and Johnson ran against each other for the Senate, Shivers renewed his charges that the AFL-CIO was backing his foe.

Shivers got the backing of former Gov. Coke Stevenson who said the main issue in Saturday's precinct conventions is "state's rights versus centralized federal government."

Stevenson, in a radio broadcast, declared Shivers is confronted with "all the might of the Washington machine" in his fight against Johnson.

Shivers' charges made at Fort Worth Monday night that labor unions had contributed to political activity in the Rio Grande Valley, brought sharp denial from three organizations Tuesday.

Shivers had shown the Fort Worth audience what he said were deposit slips from the GI Forum, the Texas State Federation of Labor and Walter Reuther's AFL-CIO to the Rio Grande Valley Democratic Club.

Shivers charged the donations "apparently were by labor unions to a political action committee." Leaders of the Forum, AFL and CIO asserted the money was used to promote poll tax sales in the Valley and not to support any political candidate.

Marines Move To Prevent New Training Ills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Pentagon officials say they believe the Marine Corps has taken the necessary steps to prevent any more incidents like the drowning of six recruits on a night disciplinary march at Parris Island, S.C.

Secretary of Defense Wilson told his news conference yesterday he thinks "the best possible solution was worked out and I hope it will be accepted by everybody."

Secretary of the Navy Thomas put out a statement saying he was confident orders issued by Gen. Randolph Pate, Marine commandant, "will prevent the recurrence of a tragic incident of this kind."

Earlier in the day, Pate reported to the House Armed Services Committee that, in the wake of a Corps inquiry into the drownings last month, he had reorganized the training command, ordered closer supervision of non-commissioned drill instructors, and shifted Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, commander at the Parris Island boot camp, to Camp Lejeune, N.C., where there is no recruit training.

The Marines have recommended the court-martial trial of S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon of Worcester, Mass., on four charges, including manslaughter. McKeon, a World War II and Korean War veteran, ordered the night march that ended in disaster. The inquiry court found he was under the influence of vodka at the time of the unauthorized march.

Thomas said formal charges were being prepared in his office, preparatory to bringing McKeon to trial. Maximum penalty on the manslaughter charge, the most serious of the four, is 10 years in prison.

Gov. Folsom Loses To Segregationist

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A strong advocate of racial segregation defeated Gov. James E. Folsom for Democratic national committee chairman from Alabama.

Montgomery buses by Negroes, and the forced enrollment of Autherine Lucy, the University of Alabama's first Negro student.

Miss Lucy was driven from the campus at Tuscaloosa by mob rioting Feb. 6. She was expelled March 1 for her unproved accusations that university authorities conspired with rioters.

Rep. Frank Boykin won his party's nomination for return to Congress from the 1st District and Rep. George Grant had a substantial lead in his bid for the 2nd. Other members of the congressional delegation were unopposed. Nomination in the Democratic primary is equivalent to election in Alabama.

Folsom's smashing defeat came two years after he won his second term as governor in an overwhelming first primary victory over six other candidates.

McKay, an attorney, made his first statewide race against a background of controversy stirred up by Negro demands for the integration of public schools. Tension had mounted over the boycott of

Reward Due

William F. Friedman, of Washington, D. C., has been identified as the government's top expert in codes and secret cryptographic devices who would get a $100,000 reward under a bill passed by the Senate and sent to the President. The reward is intended to offset some of the profits that Friedman, inventor and communications expert, might have collected if the government had not monopolized his numerous devices.

Adlai Leads In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—A slate of Democratic National Convention delegates pledged to Adlai E. Stevenson took a wide early lead over one pledged to Sen. Estes Kefauver in yesterday's District of Columbia primary.

But whether they won for sure, and by how much, may not be known for days.

For the nation's capital — accustomed as it is to the thunder of national politics — proved to be mighty green at the precinct level in yesterday's first official voting here in 82 years.

Despite an apparent light vote, the tabulation machinery all but broke down early today because of a complicated Democratic ballot and a lack of experienced poll workers.

On the Republican side, all delegate candidates were pledged to President Eisenhower. There was a factional contest for control of the local GOP organization.

The names of Stevenson and Kefauver, the Tennessee senator, were not on the ballot, but both had campaigned here for the district's six convention votes.

New Test Aid To Postmature Babies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A microscope test which may help prevent the loss of babies through postmature birth was described here today by a Cleveland physician.

Postmaturity, in which the baby arrives late, is more common than generally supposed, Dr. Allan C. Barnes of Western Reserve University School of Medicine told the California Medical Assn.

He cited a series of cases indicating 22 out of every 1,000 births are postmature, and that 30 per cent of these result in stillbirths.

Postmature babies are fully developed but are malnourished because of deterioration of the placenta, the tissue which provides the vital connection between mother and baby.

The later the baby is in arriving the more malnourished he is likely to be because the placental de-

Psychiatrists Tell Jokes On Their Profession

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Psychiatric Assn. is meeting and a newsman went over to ask a silly question.

"What," he asked members in the lobby of the convention hotel, "is your favorite gag touching on your profession?"

Members replied as follows:

A young psychiatrist met an elderly psychiatrist in an elevator.

"How can you stand it," the younger man inquired, "listening to complaints eight hours a day?"

His older colleague shrugged and said: "Who listens?"

A breathless fellow was running along a street and encountered a friend.

"What's your hurry?" the friend asked.

"I have an appointment with my psychiatrist at 10 and it's after 10 now," the runner explained.

"Don't rush," the friend advised. "He'll wait for you."

"Not my psychiatrist," the tardy fellow said. "He starts without me."

"Girls who frequent picture palaces

"Don't think much of psychoanalysis.

"But they're happy and gay

"And in their carefree way

"Their psyches won't get any callouses."

"A psychiatrist is a man who has been trained to understand and explain to other people the facts of life—which he himself has to avoid in order to become a psychiatrist."

A man who saw spots before his eyes went to an eye doctor, who told him he didn't know the cause. The patient moved on to a neurologist and finally to a neurosurgeon.

"I can't find anything wrong with you," the neurosurgeon said. "Have you ever seen a psychiatrist?"

"No," the puzzled patient replied, "just spots."

"I can't remember jokes," one psychiatrist said. "But, if it's research you are interested in, why not find out how many cartoonists and jokesmiths are under psychiatric care?"

Soldiers Sentenced On Robbery Count

CARTHAGE, N.C. (AP)—Three Ft. Bragg paratroopers have been sentenced to 5 to 10 years at hard labor for the robbery of state liquor store funds in Pinehurst.

Theodore Wuschke of Beaufort, Tex., Anthony Leli and Michael Yasso of Brooklyn pleaded guilty. Signed statements admitting the $4,447 theft were read into the court record.

A young liquor store clerk, Carson Black, testified the money was taken from him as he was on his way to deposit it in a bank.

Wuschke testified Black was in on the robbery and was set to get 10 per cent of the loot. Black denied that.

Anti-Food Poison Vaccine On Way

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter

HOUSTON (AP)—New steps toward a vaccine to prevent deadly botulism — and food poisoning — were reported today to the Society of American Bacteriologists.

Botulism is caused by one of the world's deadliest germs. It is often mentioned as an extremely potent weapon of bacteriological warfare, if an enemy spread it through our water or food.

A series of reports by scientists from the biological warfare laboratories at Ft. Detrick, Frederick, Md., point toward a preventive vaccine.

The botulism germs sicken or kill form a poison which they release within the body. There are a number of types of these lethal germs.

One type alone, Type E, caused 17 outbreaks of food poisoning in the last 20 years. These involved 69 persons, killing 21 of them.

It thus seems to be highly lethal. But when the poison or toxin alone from Type E germ is injected into mice, it does not often kill them, the scientists said.

The poison does become lethal, however, if a normal digestive chemical in the stomach — the enzyme trypsin — is added to the poison. The poison becomes, in fact, up to 47 times more deadly.

The action of the trypsin is apparently the reason why these germs become so dangerous when consumed in contaminated food. The normal body chemical enhances the poisonous effect.

Based on this finding, the scientists used trypsin to make potent, purified preparations of the poisons from the various types of the germs.

From the poisons, they could

Cuba Approves Liberty Bars

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Both houses of Cuba's Congress put their stamp of approval last night on the suspension of civil liberties ordered by the government after Sunday's unsuccessful revolt.

The measure, which bars public meetings and puts Cuba's press and radio under censorship for 45 days, was approved by the Senate 24-10. In the 172-member House the vote was 109-10.

The country was reported calm today.

Urging approval of the already-instituted suspension decree, Prime Minister Jorge Garcia Montes told the lawmakers the action was necessary because "blood was shed and the public order was upset" in the brief rebellion.

The government announced previously that 15 rebels were killed and four soldiers wounded in the fighting at Matanzas, 60 miles east of Havana.

Garcia Montes charged the uprising was "inspired" by former President Carlos Prío Socarras.

Eloise Wood Wins Acquittal

A district court jury deliberated 50 minutes Tuesday afternoon before bringing in a verdict acquitting Eloise Wood of a charge of theft.

The trial was the only one in the 118th District Court on Tuesday.

The defendant was indicted on charges of theft of a suit of men's clothing from the Hemphill-Wellis Department store Sept. 8, 1954.

The state presented evidence by four witnesses and the defense elected to offer no evidence from the stand.

The jury received the case at 3:50 p.m. and returned its "not guilty" decision at 4:40 p.m.

Harvey Hooser, county attorney, prosecuted the case in the place of Guilford Jones, district attorney, who was disqualified.

The Wood matter was the first case to be laid before a jury in the present criminal docket of the district court. Charlie Sullivan, district judge, presided.

Data Shows Earth Waist Is Smaller

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army map service scientists said today new studies indicate the earth's circumference is about half a mile smaller than previously believed.

Bernard Chovitz, one of them, said the new findings would help in tracking the "baby moon" satellites the United States plans to begin launching into space sometime next year.

He also said a current project aimed at making the first accurate measurement of the distance between Western and Eastern Hemisphere lands, across the Atlantic, conceivably could yield information that would aid in accurately firing an intercontinental missile.

In a report prepared for the annual meeting of the American Geographical Union, the map service scientists said the equatorial radius of the earth — the distance from its center to the equator — is 6,975,396 yards or 140 yards less than the figure generally accepted since 1909.

Chovitz, a map service mathematician, told a newsman the new computation, applied to the circumference of the earth at the equator, would make the world 24,902 miles around at its widest point. This is about half a mile smaller than the old circumference measurement.

Chovitz said the new estimate is based on continuous measurements of arcs — many thousands of miles long — ranging from Alaska to Chile in the Western Hemisphere, and from Finland to South Africa in the Eastern Hemisphere. Each arc is as long as one-third of the earth's circumference.

LeMay At Hearing

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay is listening here to Chairman Stuart Symington (D-Mo) of a special Senate subcommittee in Washington, D. C., which is comparing U. S. air power with that of Russia. As a witness a few minutes later, LeMay told the senators: "We believe we now have the capability of winning any war the Soviets might start" — but not without "very serious damage" to this country. Between them is Maj. Gen. J. P. McConnell, Strategic Air Command plans director. LeMay is SAC chief.

REAL-LIFE

CBS Opens New TV Drama Field

NEW YORK (AP)—CBS is convinced it has latched on to something new and exciting—a way of presenting filmed documentaries on television with all the suspense of fictional drama.

"We call it actuality drama," said Irving Gittlin, the network's director of public affairs. "The old documentary technique was simply to take something which actually happened and have it occur again for the benefit of your cameras."

"Our idea is to shoot it as it happens. More importantly, to set up a situation, completely realistic where your cameras lie in wait, waiting for the dramatic climax of an actual life situation."

Gittlin could get an argument as to whether this is basically a new technique but few people would debate the fact that it was tremendously effective in "Out of Darkness," the hour long study of mental health so well received it was repeated last week-end.

Here, the camera was hidden behind one-way glass in the wall of a psychiatrist's office at a mental hospital. Three times a week for three months, the doctor met with "Doris L.," and most of that time the camera was cranking behind the wall.

What it recorded was a moving, poignant battle in which the patient slowly fought the darkest fears of her tormented mind to find the courage to resume a simple human function—speaking. It took a great deal of skillful guidance and patience by the psychiatrist. Telling the story well also took a great deal of skill and patience by the cameraman.

Doris began not only mutely but seemed not even to hear any of the doctor's simple suggestions—to take a seat, to use his comb on her hair. It was three weeks before she dared to pick up the comb. It was eight weeks before she dared to sit down.

But when would she talk? When would she break through the wall of fear she herself had erected?

Finally, in the 10th week, the doctor quietly suggested to Doris that she might want to whisper in his ear. She leaned forward, her lips parted, she tried — but couldn't.

Then suddenly, Doris fingered the doctor's cufflink and, for the first time in three months of treatment, talked.

"That's a pretty pearl," she said. "Is it real pearl?"

The doctor said he didn't know.

Drunk Driving To Cost More

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Police court Judge Peter B. Muir has raised the minimum fine for drunken driving in Louisville from $100 to $200.

He said the crime was getting "worse and worse."

"And if $200 fines don't break up the practice of drinking and driving," the judge said, "we will set the minimum even higher."

Knott FFA Team To State Contests

KNOTT (SC)—The FFA livestock judging team of Knott won third place in Area II contests at Lubbock Saturday and will participate in the state contests Saturday at Texas A&M.

Members of the Knott team are Luther Witt, Freddie Graham and Mike Shockley. Their coach is Cyril Keith, vocational agriculture teacher. The group plans to leave Thursday for the state contests.

Expert Lashes Shock Cures In Psychiatry

CHICAGO (AP)—A specialist in mental diseases asserted today that psychiatry, shock treatments, brain surgery and drugs have failed to solve the problem of mental illness.

Dr. Percival Bailey, director of the Illinois State Psychiatric Institute of Chicago, lashed out at many modern techniques for treating mental states as dangerous or ineffectual.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Assn., Dr. Bailey, a former specialist in brain surgery, said:

"The task of psychiatrists... it seems to me, is to get back in the asylums and laboratories, which they are so proud to have left behind them, and prove, by established criteria, that their concepts have scientific validity."

Dr. Bailey said he has been "frankly appalled" by the results of lobotomy—a surgical procedure for treating certain mental conditions by severing nerve pathways to a frontal lobe of the brain.

"The most favorable result seems to be that the disturbed patients, after lobotomy, are easier to handle in the hospital," he said.

He said lobotomy has been forbidden by the Soviet Union and severely criticized by Pope Pius XII and is rapidly disappearing from American practice.

Dr. Bailey said insulin shock treatment in certain mental states is "less dramatic and brutal" than electric shock treatment "but its effects are also transitory in schizophrenia and there is a temptation to use it, as in the case with lobotomy, as another substitute for administration, more personnel and larger budgets." He added:

"Moreover this treatment sometimes leaves organic syndromes more serious than broken backs, such as the loss of memory or impulsive and violent behavior."

Uncle Ray: Cortez Was Driven From Aztec Capital

By RAMON COFFMAN

Not long after his landing in Mexico, Cortez sent a message to Montezuma, saying that he and his men had "a disease of the heart" which could be cured only with gold.

It turned out, however, that gold failed to cure the Spaniards. The more they obtained of the yellow metal, the more greedy they became.

Aside from wealth, Cortez wanted power. He decided to capture Montezuma, and to rule the country through him. With a small group of soldiers, he entered the royal palace and accused the Aztec ruler of having sent soldiers to fight the Spaniards who had been left at Vera Cruz (now spelled Veracruz).

Very possibly the charge was true, but Montezuma spoke as if he were innocent. He promised to punish the chief who had ordered an attack on the garison.

"That is very well," said Cortez, "but there is more which must be done. You must come and live in the building which I occupy!"

Hardly able to protest, the emperor was led away. From that time onward he was a prisoner, even though the Spaniards pretended that he was a visitor to their quarters. The Aztecs revolted, and Montezuma was mortally wounded.

ed when he was stoned while trying to quiet the populace.

Shortly before that event, Cortez had led 200 of his men to the coast of the Gulf of Mexico to oppose a Spanish force which had been sent from Cuba to arrest him. Instead of doing that the newcomers skirmished a little, and then joined Cortez!

Marching back to Mexico City, Cortez found the Aztecs in revolt. A new Aztec leader was chosen, and the natives drove the whites out of the city.

Youths Make Up New Auto 'Game'

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Two policemen believe they have found a new "game" among youths here. In checking an auto with eight teen-age boys in it, they found a ninth inside the trunk.

The officers said the boys explained they took turns riding in the trunk and after riding a distance, the one inside had to guess where he was.

The police said that of the nine, the one in the trunk was the only youth who held a driver's license.

New Discovery May Doom Fish Leech

OTTAWA (AP)—Science has come up with a discovery about the parasitic sea lamprey that may help to kill him—the eel-like fish destroyer emits a pulsating electrical discharge from the area of his head.

Income Tax Foe Accuses U. S. Of Ducking Test

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Utah's Gov. J. Bracken Lee has accused the federal government of trying to duck a court test of the constitutionality of using income taxes to finance its foreign aid program.

He made the accusation yesterday after the Internal Revenue Service slapped liens on his property to collect the $1,203.10 it says he owes in income taxes.

British Official Speaks Friday At Webb AFB

Austin Wheatley, attached to the staff of the British consulate-general at Houston, will make two addresses at Webb AFB on Friday.

Wheatley, who, with Mrs. Wheatley, is making a tour of the western part of the state, has engagements in Midland and Odessa on Saturday.

His first appearance will be at 10 a.m. in the base theatre, and the second at 1 p.m. In both instances he will be speaking to officers and master sergeants.

Wheatley, 46, is a former British foreign correspondent and London editor. He traveled in Europe, South Africa, India, Burma, Malaya, and the Far East as well as in Canada and the United States.

For the past five years he has been based in the United States. In May, 1953, he became the British information officer for the Southwest region and was attached to the consulate staff at Houston.

During World War II, Wheatley was a squadron leader in the RAF and was awarded the M. B. E. by King George VI in the Victory honors list. Later he was a staff officer to Adm. Lord Mountbatten, supreme commander of the South-east Asia theatre. Wheatley served as liaison officer of the RAF and the U. S. Air Force headquarters in the China-Burma-India theatre.

Thieves' Labor Lost

General Gas Committee before leaving on a trip to Europe. He said he was "very proud" of the committee's work and didn't want it to seem that "I'd run out of the country."

He said he had asked to be heard after consulting half a dozen persons in the industry and found them all favorable to the idea. But he said it was his own decision.

"No one in the industry instigated my appearance," he told Gore.

Nixon is chairman of the General Gas Committee, set up in 1954 to work for passage of a bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

In vetoing that bill, President Eisenhower said he was in accord with the basic objectives of the measure, but he denounced what he called "highly questionable" activities in its behalf by a small segment of the industry.

His veto message, plus the earlier disclosure that an oil company lobbyist had tried unsuccessfully to contribute $2,500 to the re-election campaign of Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during Senate debate on the controversial measure, led to the current investigation.

Nixon—no relation to the vice president—testified the General Gas Committee, financed largely by oil and gas producing companies, gathered and distributed what he called "facts" about the gas bill, but did not engage in lobbying members of Congress.

He said the gas committee, which he described as "in hibernation," took in $118,625 from 249 contributors and spent $119,800 in the 18 months in which it was in operation.

He denied knowledge of any illegal or improper lobbying for or against the gas measure—or any other lobbying, for that matter. He said he didn't have any possible leads to give the Senate investigators.

Nixon, who is president of Southern Minerals Corp., testified he had made some "very small" contributions in Texas primary campaigns. Otherwise, he said, he never had made any political contributions to candidates for the Senate or the House.

Asked by Gore why he was before the committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), Nixon replied that he felt he should give an account of his stewardship of the bill.

He said he met a man in a diner, felt sorry for him because he longed for a beer and gave him the keys to his parked car where some beer was stored.

When Joseph went to the car 20 minutes later, the man, the beer and $295 worth of clothing were gone, he reported.

'Best Foot Forward' In Lobby Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today "the oil and gas industry put its best foot forward" at the first public hearing held by a special Senate committee investigating lobbying and influence.

Referring to testimony yesterday by Maston Nixon of Corpus Christi, Tex., Gore told newsmen: "I do not say that his testimony was instigated for that purpose, but he seems to have received no discouragement in appearing before the committee from any source within the industry."

Nixon is chairman of the General Gas Committee, set up in 1954 to work for passage of a bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

Kentucky U. Racial Integration Success

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 2 (AP)—The University of Kentucky has had seven years of successful racial integration and its president thinks it's because the problem was tackled through "evolution, not revolution."

Five years before the U.S. Supreme Court's explosive decision of 1954 the university admitted its first Negro students.

The program has flourished without fuss or incidents.

There is no quota for Negro students. They intermingle freely on the campus. They use the same cafeteria, and says Dr. Herman L. Donovan, university president: "If and when a dormitory application comes from a Negro, he probably will be received."

Today there are 83 Negroes, from freshmen to graduate students, on the campus of 7,500.

Integration began at the university in 1949, when a federal court ordered it to admit a Negro graduate student for work in the field of history.

Dr. Donovan, past president of the Southern Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools and last year's president of the National Assn. of State Universities, concedes that the problem in the Deep South is greater.

Integration, Dr. Donovan says, should be a slow process in areas of the nation where segregation has long been accepted as the rule.

Dr. Donovan believes that "ag-

Martha Raye's Husband Files Divorce Suit

NEW YORK (AP)—An attorney for comedienne Martha Raye's fifth husband, Edward Begley, says he is trying to serve a summons on her in a divorce suit. Begley is 30 and Miss Raye 39.

Last Saturday she was sued for alienation of affections by a 20-year-old housewife, Mrs. Barbara Ann O'Shea of Westport, Conn.

Mrs. O'Shea accused the wide-mouthed comedienne of stealing the love of her policeman husband Robert, who had been acting as Miss Raye's bodyguard in his off-duty hours. Miss Raye has a home in Westport.

The Westport police chief yesterday ordered the 27-year-old patrolman not to report for duty until further notice.

Meanwhile, Miss Raye's attorney Shirley Wolf arrived here from Miami. She said she had come here "to clean up this ridiculous mess."

She said Miss Raye was "shocked" by the housewife's suit and had no romantic relationship with the young patrolman.

The attorney for Miss Raye's fifth husband said he could not disclose details of the divorce action, including who would be named co-respondent. The couple were married in 1954.

Adultery is the sole ground for divorce in New York state.

Wife Sues

Patrolman Robert O'Shea, 27, sits in a patrol car outside police headquarters in Westport, Conn. His wife, Mrs. Barbara Ann O'Shea, 29, mother of a 14-day-old child, charged comedienne Martha Raye with alienating the affections of her husband. The suit, asking $50,000 in damages, was filed in Superior Court in Bridgeport. An attorney for Miss Raye said the actress was "completely shocked" by the charges.

Museum Dedicated To Rail Engineer Casey Jones

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP)—The Casey Jones Museum was dedicated Monday—the 50th anniversary of the train wreck at Vaughn, Miss., that made old Case a famous rail-roader.

Mrs. Casey Jones, 82, cut the ceremonial ribbon stretched across the porch of her former home, now the main section of the museum.

Gov. Frank Clement praised "that breed of men who made rail-roading a distinct American institution," and added:

"Such a man was Casey Jones."

The museum contains Casey's wildcat whistle, telegraph keys, lanterns, pass books and numerous other obsolete railroad items of the Jones era. There's a replica of the engine, old "Cannonball."

Casey was raking the run from Memphis to Canton, Miss., as engineer on the Illinois Central's "Cannonball" when the wreck occurred.

Sam Webb, an 82-year-old Memphis Negro who was firing for Casey that day, told the crowd about it.

"I hollered something was coming on the main track," said Webb. "Then Mr. Jones yelled for me to jump and jump I did."

Railroad records show that another train had been backed onto the main line by mistake. Casey died in the wreck.

It wasn't much of a wreck, as train wrecks go, but somehow it was woven into folk song and Casey Jones became a famous name.

West Germany Has 200,000 Alcoholics

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany today has 200,000 alcoholics, up 25 per cent since 1952. German health agencies call the situation alarming, particularly the figures which show the average age of alcoholics has dropped from 55 to 35 and a heavy increase in the number of women alcoholics.

At present, 35,000 persons are being treated for alcoholism in West Germany and 1,000 of these are classed as hopeless cases; 30,000 have to be cared for by welfare agencies.

Doctors say that many of the young people who drink to excess belong to the so-called disoriented postwar generation. Most of them have good jobs, but are dissatisfied and restless.

They attribute the increase in alcoholism among women—40 per cent before the war—to loneliness, disappointment in marriage and failure in professional careers.

Building May Affect Architecture Design

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., May 2 (AP)—A startling shaft of steel and glass towering 221 feet above this plains city may have a profound effect on the future of American architectural design.

The 19-story brain child of architect Frank Lloyd Wright, 86, widely regarded as a dean of his profession, combines offices and eight two-story apartments, believed by the owners to be the first ever incorporated in an office building's original design.

The apartments occupy one corner of the building and are served by entrances and elevators separate from those in the office areas.

Dedicated and opened to public inspection in February, the building was 3½ years in construction. The Culwell Construction Co., Oklahoma City, was the general contractor.

The building's cost has been a closely guarded figure, with guesses on it ranging between 2 and 13 million dollars. Reliable estimates, however, place it at about 6½ million.

Although structurally square, the tower's design is based on a parallelogram. Floors and walls are suspended from four vertical, steel-reinforced concrete supports. These extend outward from near the structure's center and are also interior dividing walls. Thus, each floor is divided into four separate quadrants.

Expansive window areas provide natural light and a constant view of the outside to fit Wright's main philosophy of bringing the outdoors as much as possible into living and working quarters.

Also distinctive are 20-inch copper louvers, or blinds, with both decorative and functional purposes. On the southwest apartment quadrant, where the sunlight is greatest, the louvers on the outside walls are placed in a vertical position. Over the other three office quadrants, they are set horizontal.

The individual office quadrants permit partitioning to follow the parallelogram pattern, allowing maximum efficiency in the use of available space.

Wright calls the tower a symbol of American freedom.
