Tea Announces Jewel Barton Woman Of Year Contest Winner

County Health Nurse Jewel Barton has been named Howard County Woman of the Year.

The selection was announced at a tea Sunday afternoon at Webb Officers' Club. The contest was sponsored by the four local Beta Sigma Phi chapters.

Nominated by four organizations, Miss Barton's welfare activities include the establishment of a Milk and Ice Fund for needy county families. Miss Barton is a director on the State Public Health Association Board. She is secretary-treasurer for the county Crippled Children Society, a member of board of directors of both the Tuberculosis Association and Polio Association. For the latter she supervised a Polio Workshop course for area registered nurses.

She is director of the local Disaster and Civil Defense organization and is Executive Nurse Director for the West Texas area.

Miss Barton was instrumental in the formation of the district group of the Texas Graduate Nurses Association. She is also a charter member of the local Business and Professional Women's Club and is chairman of the Welfare Committee. She is a member of First Baptist Church.

She was educated at Bertram High School, Kings Daughters Hospital School of Nursing in Temple and at the University of Texas.

1930 Hyperion Club members concluded the club year with an annual luncheon meeting at Cosden Country Club Saturday.

A slate of activities for next year will begin with a State Hospital occupational therapy project in the fall. Committee chairmen will stay in offices with the exception of the welfare committee, to be headed by Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards.

The next meeting will be held October 6. Mrs. H. C. Stipp, president, was in charge of the business session.

Guest reviewer was Mrs. Clyde Angel, who presented "Papa's Wife" by Thyra Dorn.

Pink roses and honeysuckle in silver were on the speaker's table. The luncheon table was centered with yellow roses in an amber antique glass bowl.

Hostesses were Mrs. Leroy Tidwell, Mrs. Bill Griese, Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mrs. Bob Parks. Twenty-three attended.

Woman Of Year

Jewel Barton's welfare activities won her the title, Howard County Woman of the Year, in a Beta Sigma Phi sponsored contest. Her name was revealed as winner at a tea Sunday afternoon. Twenty-four other nominees were entered by local clubs in the contest. Miss Barton was nominated by four clubs.

Dawson County Names Year's Club Woman

LAMESA—The Lamesa Woman's Study Club building was the scene Sunday afternoon for a Silver Tea honoring Mrs. Welton Blair, who was named Dawson County's Outstanding Club Woman of the Year. The tea was sponsored by the Junior Woman's Study Club.

Mrs. Blair received the award for her work in guiding Dawson County Home Demonstration Clubs without the aid of a home demonstration agent since last October. She was also instrumental in the District two meeting held in Lamesa in March. She has worked with the 4-H Clubs and assisted with their exhibits at the County Fair.

The identity of the winner was kept secret until the tea. Mrs. Charley Bucy, president of the Junior Woman's Club, presented each nominee and told of her work. They were: Mrs. Charnell Jobe, Dawson County Garden Club, for her work as flower show chairman in the fall; Mrs. Buster Reed, Lamesa Woman's Study Club, her work as chairman of the building committee in the erection of a new clubhouse; Mrs. A. G. Barnard, Green Thumb Garden Club, beautification chairman of Pioneer Park, and Mrs. Tom Conner, 1948 Delphian Club, who was represented by Mrs. Dick Collins, for her work as project chairman to the Dawson County Library.

Final judging and selection of the winner was made last week by the 1939 O'Donnell Study Club from letters of achievement and qualifications submitted by local Federated Clubs on their respective candidates.

INScribed TROPHY
The trophy which Mrs. Blair received was inscribed "Mrs. Welton Blair, Dawson County Home Demonstration Clubs, Outstanding Club Woman, 1956. This was displayed, surrounded by yellow roses, on a small table.

Mrs. Earnest Moody, the official hostess, greeted the guests as they called. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. Bucy, Mrs. Blair and the other nominees.

The serving table, which was laid with white linen, held a centerpiece of yellow roses from which came brown satin streamers with the club woman's name and the year inscribed in gold. Mrs. Louis Davis and Mrs. C. E. Ford presided over the tea table which held silver and crystal appointments.

Music was furnished during the tea hour by Diane Frazier, Letta Jean Cope, Durrell Phillips and Tahita Niemeyer.

White carnations were used on the table where Mrs. Gene Sealy, Mrs. W. E. Aiken, Mrs. C. G. Norris and Mrs. Johnny Lyons registered guests.

Jawaharlal Nehru May Throw Damper On Cocktail Fling

WASHINGTON—Local hostesses will be deprived of an excuse for throwing any big-time parties with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India as the drawing card when he visits the capital in July.

Indian Embassy officials have made it clear the dignitary's visit will be informal, that Ambassador G. L. Mehta does not plan to have the customary lavish reception accorded a visiting head of state, that no state luncheon, or dinner will be given in Nehru's honor by the White House.

The cocktail circuit probably won't mind this a bit since Nehru, because of religious beliefs, is a tee-totaler and nothing is more disconcerting to local party rounders than to arrive at a shindig and find nothing but fruit juices and soft drinks to quench their thirst and liven up the conversation.

The last time Washington met Nehru was when he came here while his sister, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit was India's ambassador to the United States. Nehru stayed at Blair House, as he will again in July, but Mrs. Pandit gave a to-do in her brother's honor which drew all the big headlines in town, including Harry S. Truman, who was then President. This was an uncommon occurrence, since our Presidents rarely attend unofficial functions like that.

Perseverance Wins
MT. PLEASANT, Mich.—Mrs. Gladys Flarity, a school teacher who has been going to college since 1919, has won her bachelor's degree. Soon she'll start work toward her master's.

Mrs. Flarity has driven the 100-mile round trip from her Brethren, Mich., home to Mt. Pleasant almost daily so she could care for her invalid mother and still keep up her classwork at Central Michigan College.

She entered college in 1919 and began teaching the next year but continued her education through extension courses, summer sessions and Saturday classes.

Mrs. Flarity, who is 55, plans to step up her courses so it won't take so long to get her next degree.

Begin With Dip

Let's begin with a cocktail dip of apple sauce combined with coarsely shredded cheese—with saltines or rye bread on hand to dip with.

Few Fights Seen In Demo Conventions

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Few squabbles are expected in Texas' 254 county Democratic conventions tomorrow. Most of them are meeting to approve decisions of rank-and-file members to make Sen. Lyndon Johnson the state's new party leader.

Johnson handed Gov. Allan Shivers his first political defeat in 22 years of public life Saturday when the senator calls a "moderate" 56-member Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention in August. He also won a landslide support as the state's "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination.

The Associated Press tally showed that Shivers was rolling up 1,244 of the 1,900 votes to be cast in the state convention against 348 for Shivers.

The Senate Majority leader who teamed with House Speaker Sam Rayburn to unseat Shivers as Texas party leader promised that the delegation he leads to the national convention will work to find the best candidate and come home and support him. That was a dig at Shivers' bolt from the party in 1952 to support Dwight D. Eisenhower — which helped lead Texas into the Republican fold.

Shivers yesterday conceded defeat but expressed some doubt as to whether Johnson himself won the Texas party leadership or whether "it was he, labor and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People."

Shivers in a national television appearance said that Johnson's victory came through a combination of the senator's forces "with the radical element" in the Democratic party.

Johnson said that the people of Texas had repudiated Shivers' campaign of "hatred and prejudice" and voted for the "path of moderation."

While Shivers was in Washington on the television show, Johnson spent the day resting at his ranch home on the Pedernales River 65 miles west of here. He read stacks of newspapers with big "Johnson Wins" headlines, and took congratulatory phone calls from all parts of Texas and the nation on his victory.

Following the county conventions tomorrow Texas Democrats meet in state convention at Dallas, May 22. That convention names the Texas delegation, and it is expected to ratify precinct and county convention actions.

Shivers was the central figure in the CBS television panel Face the Nation yesterday, the day after his stunning defeat.

He refused to say flatly whether or not he would support Johnson for the presidency if the senator's "favorite son" role develops into nomination at Chicago.

"I would look with favor on any Texan and would stretch a point to support him (Johnson). It will depend on whether his new-found friends adopt his views, or he adopts theirs," he said.

This was a reference to what Shivers has often referred to as support for Johnson from organized labor, the NAACP, the political action committee and the Democratic advisory council in Texas.

Slams Shivers

House Speaker Sam Rayburn lashes out at Texas Governor Allan Shivers in a speech in Fort Worth, Texas. He addressed a rally of Democrats supporting U.S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson in his battle with Shivers for state party control.

Meany Sees Eradication Of Corruption

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—President George Meany has predicted the recently merged AFL-CIO labor unions will soon eradicate what he called "the tiny minority" of corrupt labor union officials within the organization.

"We will defeat the enemies from within whose wrongdoings can undermine the effectiveness of everything good that we are trying to accomplish," Meany said.

He said that an ethical practices committee, set up when the unions merged in December "will very soon begin to demonstrate the labor movement is determined to keep its house clean."

If adequate health care is to be provided, medical men must be attracted into the health professions.

Hospitals of the nation cared for more than 20,000,000 patients last year, the greatest number of any year in hospital history. On the average day there are more than 1,300,000 persons and more than 45,000 newborn infants in U. S. hospitals.

Total assets of all hospitals are placed at almost $11 billion. Total payroll of all these hospitals is more than $3 billion for more than 1,200,000 employees.

There are about 7,000 hospitals in the United States, and while the nation's bed count is more than 1,500,000, official estimates are that there is a deficit of over 800,000 beds.

The filling of such deficit depends not only upon provision of physical plants, but also upon obtaining trained personnel to staff them.

Thundershowers In Wide Areas

By The Associated Press

Cold air from Canada clashed with warm, moisture-heavy currents from the Gulf of Mexico today, bringing rain and thundershowers to wide areas of the nation.

Thundershowers occurred in a narrow belt from the Central Plains eastward across the Ohio Valley, the Middle Atlantic Coast and southern New England.

Violent thundershowers in the Pittsburgh area last night brought wind gusts measuring up to 70 m.p.h. The wind lifted power lines leaving hundreds of homes without electricity or telephone service.

Police and firemen rescued several motorists from automobiles stalled in flash floods in the area.

MEN PAST 40

Troubled with GETTING UP NIGHTS Pains in BACK, HIPS, LEGS Tiredness, LOSS OF VIGOR

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to Glandular Inflammation. Glandular Inflammation is a constitutional disease and medicines that give temporary relief will not remove the cause of your troubles.

Neglect of Glandular Inflammation often leads to premature senility, and incurable malignancy.

The past year men from 1,000 communities have been successfully treated here at the Excelsior Institute. They have found soothing relief and a new zest in life.

The Excelsior Institute, devoted to the treatment of diseases peculiar to older men by NON-SURGICAL Methods, has a NEW FREE BOOK that tells how these troubles may be corrected by proven Non-Surgical treatments. This book may prove of utmost importance in your life. No obligation. Address Excelsior Institute, Dept. W13 Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

Sniper Sought After Attack On Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Police searched the city today for a sniper who killed one worshiper and wounded five others at a Romanian church.

Sought in the wild Saturday night shooting was Tony Tudorache, 60, a handyman who came here from Romania 30 years ago.

A volley of shots scattered a throng of 400 worshipers gathered outside the church for midnight services in celebration of the Eastern Orthodox Easter.

The shots appeared to have been fired at random. The church warden, Vasili Cucuia, 66, died when a bullet struck him in the chest. The five others who were hit suffered minor injuries.

Whether Cucuia was the intended target was not known.

Former-Romanian Princess Ileana, one of the worshipers, said the sniper "tried to kill either me or the priest or both of us."

She said the sniper may have been "a tool of the Communists." "They hate the church and the royal family tremendously," she added.

Former Webb Student Hurt

A former student at Webb AFB and the husband of a Big Spring woman was seriously injured in a helicopter crash in Kentucky Sunday.

L. E. A. Henningan was the copilot of the helicopter which crashed while en route to Pennsylvania from its home base at Stewart AFB, near Smyrna, Tenn. Lt. Henningan is the husband of the former Dolores Belk.

No word has been received by Mrs. H. E. Belk, mother of Mrs. Henningan, as to where the crash occurred in Kentucky, but she had information that the pilot and copilot were given emergency treatment and flown back to Stewart. The Henningans have their residence at Smyrna.

Lt. Henningan is from Water Veltel, N. Y. and graduated from the jet school at Webb in April of 1955.

Scattered Showers Forecast For State

Partly cloudy, mild weather with a few scattered showers will be in the cards for Texas Monday.

Early Monday skies were generally cloudy in South Texas and in the Panhandle and partly cloudy elsewhere. Amarillo, with a little drizzle, was the only point reporting moisture.

Temperatures ranged from 51 at Dalhart and Amarillo to 77 at El Paso. Wink had 100 degrees Sunday afternoon.

George Calls For Aerial 'Equality'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he doubts the country will be willing to accept as a permanent policy anything less than equality with Russia in a long-range bombing force.

George, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he does not disagree with President Eisenhower, that the United States has tremendous air striking power from a chain of bases and in a highly mobile Navy.

But George said he doubts the country will accept Eisenhower's thesis—expressed last Friday at a news conference—that while it is vital to have what is needed in intercontinental bombers it isn't necessary to outbuild the Russians in this one weapon.

"The country has been taught that the long-range bomber is the core of our striking force," George said. "It will remain disturbing to the country to be constantly reminded that the Russians are building up an enormous air force but that we are not keeping pace."

George said he agrees with Eisenhower that the chain of American bases provides this

Light Vote Seen In Maryland Primary

BALTIMORE (AP)—Even with the names of Eisenhower and Kefauver as drawing cards, fewer than half of one million eligible Marylanders were expected to visit primary election polls today.

President Eisenhower on the Republican ticket and Sen. Estes Kefauver on the Democratic were running against unopposed delegations. Write-in voting and crossing party lines was prohibited.

The only race generating much interest was a five-way bid for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

The principal contenders, ex-Sen. Millard E. Tydings and paving contractor George P. Mahoney, placed the emphasis on shaking voters' hands. There was little exchange of personal criticism.

Tydings served 24 years in the Senate until Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler defeated him in 1950 in a bitter campaign, in which Butler drew support from Sen. McCarthy, J. R. Wisla and some of his supporters. Tydings had been chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating McCarthy's charges of communism in the State Department.

During the campaign a composite photograph — purporting to show Tydings in amiable conversation with former Communist party leader Earl Browder—was distributed in Maryland. A special Senate investigating group later said "back-street" tactics were used in the campaign.

Fired U. S. Worker Gets Red Job Offer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Russian offer of a job compiling data on the American aircraft industry has been reported by a suspended government worker.

Sidney Hatkin, 40, of Washington told a news conference yesterday he rejected the offer after reporting the whole affair to the FBI. He said FBI photographs indicated that the man who made the offer was named Methlov, a clerk and translator to the Soviet Embassy.

Hatkin has been suspended without pay on security grounds since Feb. 28, 1955, from his job as a civilian economist for the Air Force. He was notified late last month that a hearing board has "tentatively come to a conclusion" that Hatkin is a security risk but has until Thursday to reply.

Yesterday's news conference was called after former Sen. Harry P. Cain gave the details, but no name, in a speech Saturday before the Jewish Labor Committee in New York.

Cain, now a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board, said the case shows the hardship imposed on suspended government workers by delays in taking final action on their cases.

He said it also points up a hazard to the nation in throwing such persons open to Soviet approaches. Although they failed in this case, he said, Russian efforts may "be successful in future attempts to find American spies to serve Soviet purposes."

Hatkin said he was approached about a week after he had placed a classified newspaper ad seeking employment in February. He said the man who called him spoke with a "heavy foreign accent" and refused to give his name, though when they met the next day he gave a name which "sounded like Machoff."

Hatkin said the man described himself as a student at the University of Maryland who had need for research data on the aircraft industry. He said he wanted information on industrial capacity and actual production as well as economic tendencies.

His attorney, Joseph H. Freehill, said Hatkin first was charged as a security risk in September 1948 while employed by the Census Bureau, but was cleared after a hearing. New charges were filed in February 1955 and Hatkin has been suspended since that time awaiting action. The charges allege Communist associations.

NATO Chiefs Begin Reshaping Study

PARIS (AP)—NATO's "Three Wise Men" set out today on their historic mission of reshaping and invigorating the Atlantic alliance to combat Soviet Russia's new trade-and-aid program.

The study committee of three foreign ministers chosen by the 15-nation Atlantic Council — Canada's Lester B. Pearson, Italy's Gaetano Martino and Norway's Halvard Lange—plunged into the task of devising new strategy for countering the Kremlin switch to "soft" tactics.

The trio sorted out a batch of proposals on political cooperation and economic aid to win the neutral third of the world to the side of the West.

Among the ideas was a U.S. proposal for creation of an "Atlantic cabinet," or cold war general staff to unify the West's global policies.

Before leaving for Washington after four days of meetings with foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, U.S. Secretary of State Dulles told the "Three Wise Men":

"You are entrusted with the most important task since NATO was founded."

The "Wise Men" committee—so dubbed by British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd—was set up in response to a call by Dulles for an "ideas" drive that would defeat communism in the contest for the hearts and minds of the neutral peoples of Asia, Africa and the Middle East. It is to report back to the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers before December after consulting with the member governments.

Lloyd said on his return to London that NATO would remain primarily a military alliance.

"But there is no reason why we should not take the offensive in propounding our political ideas throughout the world," he emphasized.

Pearson conferred last night with Lord Ismay, NATO secretary general, on the possibility of setting up a European headquarters and secretariat for the "Wise Men" committee.

Pearson, Martino and Lange left for their respective capitals to obtain the approval of their governments for their new duties.

The most ambitious proposal in their briefcases is the U.S. plan for an Atlantic cabinet.

$12 Billion Spent For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress today the United States has shipped more than $12,400,000,000 worth of planes, tanks, guns and other military supplies to free world countries during the last six years.

About 900 million dollars worth was shipped during the last half of 1955, Eisenhower said in a semi-annual report on the mutual security program.

He gave no breakdown of either the amounts or the items shipped to individual countries.

One of the main achievements of the Mutual Security Program, he said, has been to assist in building up the forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries in Europe, including Greece and Turkey.

The NATO members, he added, have put up about 85 per cent of the cost of their military development during the six-year period of the program's existence. The United States contribution has been about 15 per cent.

The United States also has been building up its own armed strength on the Continent, Eisenhower reported, with shipments of new weapons including "Nike, Corporal, Honest John and Matador missiles and 288 mm. gun battalions, all with an atomic capability," and some F100 Super Sabre planes to replace F96 Sabre jets. He added: "The United States plans to provide its NATO partners with certain types of modern defense weapons and equipment which we are now furnishing in increasing numbers to our own NATO forces in Europe."

"Many European countries are now able to finance greater share of the cost of maintaining their existing forces using United States equipment furnished in prior years. A greater proportion of United States assistance can therefore be used in helping them acquire the

DJ, Egyptian Girl, To Wed

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A California disc jockey and his green-eyed sweetheart of the Nile—who met face-to-face for the first time yesterday after a long-distance tape-recorded romance—say they'll marry next week.

Carroll H. Pederson Jr. of Salinas, 22-year-old Cairo secretary, to the desert plateau overlooking the ancient Egyptian capital last night.

There in sight of the Great Pyramid on a desert bathed in moonlight, he placed on her finger the ring that sealed their electronic engagement.

Their airport meeting yesterday was as electric as their romance. As Pederson stepped down from the plane after a 3,000-mile flight, each recognized the other simultaneously. They rushed together to embrace and kiss madly.

"I can't believe it," Laurence gasped.

"Darling, I love you," her 26-year-old groom-to-be responded. "I'm sure it's a dream. Probably when I wake tomorrow, I'll find I'm still in California."

"It's very strange," sighed Laurence. "It almost seems we were predestined."

"Anyone who listened to his recordings would have fallen in love with him."

They first heard of each other in January, through Laurence's brother who works with the Egyptian merchant marine in New York.

Pederson wooed her with his tape-recorded tones and such endearments as "Gem of the Desert" and "Princess of the Nile."

They will be married in Cairo's All Saints Cathedral, honeymoon at the Mediterranean resort of Mersa Matruh where Cleopatra once bathed and then go to the United States.

Nuptial Rules On Divorced People Studied

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A move to relax the Methodist requirements for marriage of divorced persons was before the church's law-making General Conference today.

A committee on the ministry, headed by the Rev. James A. Chubb, of Grand Island, Neb., recommends that pastors be directed only to exercise "special care" in determining the fitness of divorced persons to marry.

Under the present church discipline, ministers are instructed not to marry divorced persons whose former spouses are living except in these specific circumstances:

1. When it is "clearly established by competent testimony" that the person was the "innocent person" in a divorce caused by "adultery or other vicious conditions which through mental or physical cruelty or physical perjury invalidated the marriage vow."
2. When divorced couples want to be reunited in marriage to each other.

Under the present rule, Methodist pastors would not solemnize the marriage of a divorced person whose wife or husband is living and unmarried.

The present position is defended by a group of delegates who are opposing the committee recommendations. Both sides are agreed on the following portion of the discipline:

"A minister shall solemnize the marriage of a man and woman only when, in his judgment, they are emotionally, morally and spiritually fitted for such marriage."

Uncle Ray: Julius Caesar Gave Support To Plebs

By RAMON COFFMAN

Two thousand years have passed since Julius Caesar died. Little notice had been taken of this fact, perhaps because it requires the adding of "44" (from the B.C. date of his death) to the number of the present year to determine the passing of 20 centuries.

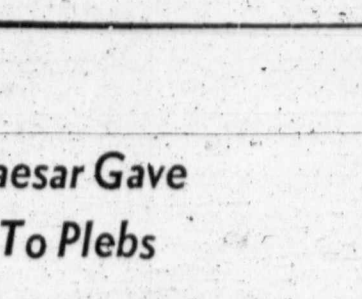

A slave played an important part in the life of Caesar. This slave, a man from Gaul, knew both Latin and Greek, and served as a teacher of the young Roman. Although he was a member of a wealthy family, the youth chose the side of the plebs, or common people. We are told that his teacher from Gaul taught him about the sufferings of the plebs.

An uncle of the student was Marius, a famed general who supported the plebs in their struggle against the patricians. Marius stood first in Rome for a period, but then was defeated by Sulla, who opposed the plebs.

Marius escaped from Italy, but Sulla hunted down the supporters of Marius. Caesar (a young man at the time) came close to losing his life, but was saved by friends. An old record says that the Vestal Virgins made a plea for him.

During the next three years Caesar served in the Roman army at the eastern end of the Mediterranean Sea. He took a leading part in stamping out bands of pirates, and in this way promoted the safety of Roman sailing vessels.

After the death of Sulla, Caesar returned to Rome. He was chosen pretor (also spelled "praetor," and in either case pronounced "PRE-tur"). In this office he served as judge in lawsuits.

Three Roman officers in the time of Caesar and, in background, a soldier with long spear.

Later he became the governor of Spain, then a Roman province. In this office he reaped rich rewards, and used his new wealth to pay debts which had grown at Rome. He had been lavish in entertaining the Romans, and was fortunate to have a way to pay what he owed.

Asthma and Hay Fever Relief Comes in Minutes ... and Lasts For Hours

Tiny Tablet Now Available Without Prescription!

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Medical science has developed a new, tiny tablet that not only stops asthma spasms but brings relief to those who also suffer from hay fever attacks.

Authoritative tests have proved that this remarkable compound brings blessed relief in mere minutes—and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful spasms.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed by doctors for their private patients who suffer from both asthma and hay fever. And now sufferers can obtain this formula—without prescription—in tiny, easy-to-take tablets called Primatene.

New Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves latent nervous tension, helps dry up nasal passages.

All this without taking painful injections, and without the inconvenience of nebulizers.

The secret of Primatene is that it contains medicines found most effective in combination for those who suffer from asthma and hay fever distress.

Primatene is available at all drug stores. The price is only 95¢ for a bottle of twenty-four tablets. And remember—if not entirely satisfied, your money will be refunded promptly.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from anxiety by day. Get Primatene today!

Citru-Mix Gives Relief To Mrs. D. G. Venus For Rheumatism That Surpasses All Past Treatments

Collins Drug Store
Big Spring, Texas
Dear Mr. Collins:

I read in the Big Spring Daily Herald about a tablet for rheumatism called Citru-Mix. Since I have been suffering for many, many years with rheumatism, I decided to try it. The results were amazing. I haven't felt this good since I was a child.

My family has spent thousands of dollars for numerous treatments, but none of them did anything but give me temporary relief.

I want to tell you, and everyone else that is interested, how very much Citru-Mix has helped me.

Until I tried Citru-Mix, I spent weeks at a time in bed, and felt wretched even in bed. The first bottle gave me immediate relief. I now attend social functions, do all my housework, take outings, and everything else that I want to do.

It is simply amazing how much Citru-Mix has helped me. I will recommend this wonderful medicine to anyone that suffers with rheumatism.

I live at 208 1/2 Hardin St., Big Spring, Texas.

Cordially,
Mrs. D. G. Venus

Four brothers tell about their 100 years with the telephone company

by Don Davis,
Telephone News Reporter

In this day of people constantly on the move, it's refreshing to note four brothers who have worked for the same company a total of 100 years. But that's the story of the Brandenburg brothers and the telephone company.

It all started with Les—at 52 he's the oldest of the four—who joined the company in 1923. Brother Leon followed suit in 1929, Sam in 1935 and "kid" brother Bud a year later.

The Brandenburg brothers talk to Don Davis about their telephone careers. Les Brandenburg (left) is the oldest in point of service. He joined the company in 1923, was followed by brothers Leon (1929), Bud (1936), and Sam (1935).

WAITED FOR OPPORTUNITY

What was the big attraction? To a man, the Brandenburgs say they were impressed by the people they knew who worked for the telephone company, the up-to-date working conditions and the company's "up-from-the-ranks" promotion policy. Apparently, the only thing needed was the opportunity. When it came, they jumped at the chance. Sam Brandenburg recalls that maybe he was too anxious. "I showed up for work a day before I was scheduled to start," he says, smiling.

ENTHUSIASM GROWS

The brothers seem to be more enthusiastic about their work now than when they started with the company—if that's possible. Listening to the Brandenburgs talk at length about the advantages of working for the telephone company, you can appreciate just how proud they are of their "outfit." Seems that their enthusiasm grows through the years. Les and Leon belong to the company's Pioneer organization, made up of employees with 21 or more years of service. Sam and Bud are looking forward to joining the Pioneers, soon.

THE OLD DAYS

The Brandenburgs like to reminisce about the old days now and then, talk about the changes that have taken place in telephone service. It's pretty tough to top Les, though. After all, he's the old-timer of the group.

The brothers spend a lot of their spare time together, too. They own their own homes, located within a few blocks of each other. At the slightest excuse, the entire family—wives, children and grandchildren—get together. The brothers even played on the same baseball team when they were youngsters.

EYEING A RECORD

As for the future—the four brothers say that will have to take care of itself. But, they are looking to the grand total of 175 years of telephone service they'll have by the time young Bud retires. Then, there's the chance of more Brandenburgs on the company roster in the years to come. After all, the youngsters at home are hearing some mighty fine things about the place where their dads and uncles work.

Nobody Stirred Up In Indiana Primary

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Lack of a top-level issue is sending Indiana voters in lackadaisical fashion into their first presidential primary election in 28 years, tomorrow.

Nobody is getting really stirred up. President Eisenhower has no effective opposition on the GOP side and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee none at all on the Democratic side.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders in the state—plus Kefauver himself—say the GOP will outvote the Democrats. They usually do, both in primaries and in National elections.

The big question is, by how much this time?

Republican politicians figure on doing about as well as ever tomorrow. But Democratic leaders are counting on various factors to improve their showing:

A measure of unrest among farmers in an important agricultural state; a carry-over of trend from 1955 when the party scored heavily in municipal elections; a reflection here of what has shown up in most other 1956 primaries—an increased share of the total vote for Democrats.

Certainly a heavy vote for Kefauver could be interpreted as a sign of some discontent with the Eisenhower administration, since, more than anything else, the Hoosier primary is another test of popularity.

Hoosiers are free to cross over from one party to another in the primary. Write-in votes aren't allowed.

One difficulty in determining what constitutes a heavy vote, Kefauver said over the weekend he would consider it a definite victory for himself and the Democratic cause if he gathered in more than 41 per cent of the vote. That was the share Adlai E. Stevenson

How Much More Do They Need It?

In the year 1889 the State of Texas opened a school of correction for boys at Gatesville. So far there has never been a chapel for religious services erected at the school. In 1915 the school of correction for girls was opened at Gainesville; so far no chapel. In 1947 a similar school was opened for Negro girls, and again no chapel. Provision of shelter, clothing, food and instruction have been the prime responsibilities of the state. Perhaps there are enough people who care who are willing to go one step further. Lewis Nordyke, member of the Youth Development Council, tells in a recent issue of the Texas Parade how he had gained a new and heart-rending insight into the problems of delinquency through his studies of the correction schools. "I think that a slender-spined, white chapel at each school would be of untold comfort and inspiration to youngsters whose lives have been marred by trouble. I think such chapels should be open at all times so the girls and boys could use them for meditation. It seems so strange to me that we have churches for the good boys and girls but none for those in deadly serious trouble. How wonderful it would be to have chapels for Thanksgiving and Christmas for children far from home and loved ones — the little fellows who have homes and loved ones. "I have learned never to be positive about any problem of delinquency, but I am convinced that chapels — little churches — at our schools, with organ music and hymn-singing, could help give many children a new start on the right path towards useful, happy, Christian lives." Well, the council as a state agency can't solicit funds. But under the law, it can accept them and apply them for this purpose. So if you feel as Mr. Nordyke feels, you might send a generous contribution to the Youth Development Council, 808 Tribune Tower, Austin, or better still, take it up with your club, your lodge, your association and get others interested.

Come, Come—Mighty Poor Pickin's

Texas and ex-Texas scribes who specialize in finding fault with Texas and its way can always find their articles highly salable in the magazine and newspaper markets of the effete East. Since a Texan became editor of Harper's — and unfortunately his name eludes us — that magazine has run a number of articles critical of our little old state. That magazine's latest fault-finding with something Texan comes from one Hugh Russell Fraser, a native of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., now described as a resident of San Antonio. Mr. F. opens his opus with this paragraph: "Do you have an idea that most Texans don't know what is going on in the world? That they are cheerfully unaware of events in foreign parts — an area which includes forty-seven states and all other nations? That they are, on the whole, the most provincial people in America?" And this from a native of a state whose people generally don't know (1) what lies across the Hudson River in New Jersey, much less (2) what lies beyond Pittsburgh, Pa. It seems Mr. Fraser has been studying the column inches of space devoted by Texas dailies to international subjects in comparison with the space so employed by, say, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, for which Mr. F. once worked, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and New York. He seems to overlook an obvious fact: Many of the big metropolitan dailies maintain large staffs of writers overseas, while no Texas daily maintains even one — with the possible exception of the Dallas Morning News, which used to keep a man in Mexico City. Pertinent question: Does the state of foreign news carried by the metropolitan press get itself generally read, even in the big cities, outside the export-import trade? With large staffs overseas they just can't throw the stuff away. Tut-tut, Mr. Fraser. As a newcomer you'll find a lot more valid stuff about Texas to criticize.

Nation's Economy In Delicate Balance

WASHINGTON — The specialists here who scan the economic skies are beginning to be somewhat concerned over signs of an "adjustment" — it is still considered likely to be no more than that — which could come in the late summer or early fall. If it should coincide with the political campaign, the Democratic opposition certainly would seize on it to try to puncture the claim of all-out prosperity back of the Republican boast, "Everything's booming but the guns." This possibility has not escaped those who believe that President Eisenhower's re-election is essential to assure continuation of the boom. Differences over the latest rise in the rediscount rate of Federal Reserve banks, a controlling factor in the supply of money, enter into the discussion over whether there will be a setback. Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, the most knowledgeable and persuasive member of the Eisenhower team, opposed the latest increase because he felt it was wrongly timed. In long and always friendly arguments with William McCleskey Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve system, Humphrey contended that inflationary forces had been checked and that to apply a further brake was to risk a downturn. With the frankness that is one of his most engaging characteristics, the Secretary of the Treasury readily conceded that he could be quite wrong and Martin right. A shrewd realist, Humphrey often has said that there is no second guessing on these decisions and once a stand has been taken only events will determine the wisdom of the choice. Members of the financial community are beginning to think that Humphrey was on the right side of this argument.

Footnote On Dismal History

WASHINGTON — It is almost like a small footnote on the dismal story of Korea when the United States suggests abandoning as useless the truce teams set up to see that neither side cheats on the armistice. By last summer, after 23 Polish and Czech inspectors stationed in South Korea were accused of spying for the Reds, the 80-man commission was cut in half. It was cut more later. Now there are only six inspection teams left. Trouble, and doubts that the Reds meant to live up to the armistice, began on the day the armistice was signed, July 27, 1953, when an American radar outfit reported the Reds had flown in many planes that day. That was before the inspection teams really had a chance to get started. Once they did, there was more trouble. South Koreans attacked and shot at the Polish and Czech inspectors; the United States has charged the Reds in North Korea have not only greatly built up their air force but have built many airfields, not there during the war. The West complained the Swiss and Swede inspectors were not permitted to carry out their job by covering enough territory in North Korea. As long ago as Aug. 1954, Secretary of State Dulles indicated he would favor disbanding the truce commission altogether. The United States has repeated this suggestion since. Last week Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, called representatives of this country's 16 allies in the Korean War into conference and said steps should be taken to abolish the inspection teams. The Communists will have something to say about that, since the inspectors were the creation of the armistice to which both the Reds and the Western Allies agreed.

Lonesome George Pays For Fame

NEW YORK — Success always exacts a price. George Gobel, who makes a nation laugh, says this is the price he has paid for fame. "I used to go to the movie near my home and put a dime in the popcorn machine. If I didn't get my popcorn, I'd shake the machine until the popcorn did come out. A neighborhood cop showed me how to do it. "But now if I put in a dime and don't get my popcorn I'm not supposed to shake the machine. I'm just supposed to put in another dime. "There is more than a little truth in this wry fable. Gobel, who often calls himself "Lonesome George" on his NBC television program, often does feel a bit lonesome. He is still a bit surprised, he still feels a bit uneasy, at being regarded as a celebrity, at being regarded as George isn't the overnight sensation many people think him to be. He came up the hard slow way before achieving the rank of a top comedian. "I always had long-range hopes. A nice guy—Lonesome George. But I never had any real long-range plans," he said. "I still go from show to show, doing the best I can on each, and then start preparing for the next one." George, whose dad ran a general store in Chicago, was a schoolboy soprano in a church choir when he was asked to sing at a wedding. He sang "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," and afterward someone handed him an envelope containing $2. "I thought to myself, 'Boy, how long has this been going on?'" George recalled. "I turned pro right then." Gobel doesn't book overmuch on longevity of TV comedians. He feels he can always fall back on his old night club routines. He has never rushed into print with reports of his multimillion-dollar earnings. "The main reason I don't like to talk about what I make," he said, grinning, "is that my wife, Alice, will ask, 'Well, where is it?'"

Get Puny, And You'll Be Offered Cures

Who needs doctors? Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never within hearing hath said, I can diagnose and prescribe . . . for some one else? How many remedies for colds, hay fever, headaches and backaches have you gotten in your time? If your case is like mine, you've been bequeathed with many. And if you're like me, you never have to ask for same. Let our neighbors know you're puny, and the suggested remedies will cascade upon your ears like the water going down Niagara Falls. Of course, you get a wide variance of opinion on some ailments. If you betray the fact that you have an aching head, one party might tell you to open a box of aspirin, choose the third one from the left, second row, and take it while standing on your head. The next guy might insist, however, that aspirin is a curse upon society and will endeavor to give you his own chiropractic treatment "to ease the tension." Of course, you've heard about all the prescriptions for nose bleeds, from placing a brown sheet of paper between the lip and the gum to whistling "Dixie" through a comb and tissue paper. I've listened to all kinds of remedies for rashes and the gripe but attribute my long life to the fact that I've tried few of them. It must be a form of human weakness, that of offering advice for the improvement of another's health, for the practice is universal. I've known people who didn't even speak my tongue and who had to relay their information to me through an interpreter. About the only "sure-cures" I haven't heard are for old age and being a member of the opposing political party. One type of diagnostician I can do without is the person who breaks the news that "you don't look so good. Have you been ill?" I start looking for a thermometer quicker than I'd been sneezing and wheezing for a week. A pox on such individuals. Let them look at their own tongues. —TOMMY HART

The War Of Tomorrow—And In 1960

WASHINGTON—The American people are likely to get confused as a result of some of the testimony they will hear and some that they have already read about America's air power versus that of the Russians. A man with the military experience of President Eisenhower isn't likely to let his own country down and allow it to be unprepared for sudden war. Then why all the fuss in Congress and the special inquiry undertaken by the Senate Armed Services Committee as a result of prodding by Senator Symington of Missouri, Democrat? It would be easy enough to disparage this effort by describing it as just a means of getting the limelight on the Missouri senator's supposed ambition to win the Democratic presidential nomination. But the controversy has deeper roots. Mr. Symington was Secretary of the Air Force under the Truman administration. He has many reliable sources of information about America's air strength and hence about the enemy's power, too. Naturally it would be a feather in the senator's cap if he could get national attention at a time when Senator Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson are in the limelight. It is, of course, not wholesome to see America's air-power secrets spilled over the front pages—as this is bound to benefit the enemy—just to advance the fortunes of a candidate or a political party. But those who are pressing the investigation deny any such purpose and insist that it is really patriotic to bring out the facts because only in that way can the remedial steps be taken that, they are convinced, ought to be taken. This theory assumes, on the other hand, that General Twining, Chief of the U.S. Air Force, Donald Quarles—the Secretary of Air Force who won widespread fame in scientific circles for his record in research and development, especially in guided missiles—and the other Air Force officers in the top commands either agree with the Senate investigators and are being muzzled or that they have faith in their own concepts and judgments in support of the air policy now in effect. The issue, however, cannot be simplified that way. The fact is that as a general who has to be fought tomorrow—as General LeMay, head of the Strategic Air Command of the Air Force has testified—the United States is superior to any enemy that might attack. As for the war that might have to be fought in 1960, there is a wide difference of opinion among military men. Who knows exactly, for instance, what the enemy will do between now and then? Who knows the capabilities of the Russian air force today, even though it has a certain number of planes of a particular range or fighting capacity? Who can accurately assess those capabilities, and how many among our own military people would agree on a speculative appraisal of Russian capacity and the ability of her pilots in action? Mere numbers do not tell the story at all, nor does the fact that one kind of plane is being built by the Russians for their purposes necessarily mean that America must match what the Russians are building. Each country has a different military problem. As one military expert put it—if the Russians have determined to build 1,000 "Bisons," which is their equivalent of America's B52, an intercontinental long range bomber; if we could mean that war could be expected very soon, "The Russians aren't building their "Bisons" that rapidly, and maybe in a year or so this kind of plane will be considered obsolete by them. They have made only 100 thus far and the United States has produced 78 B52's, according to testimony released by the Senate committee. How many "Bisons" have proved satisfactory to the Russians is unknown, but only 47 B52's have been accepted by the U.S. Air Force. Much has been made in the press about the slow progress in this country in building B52's. The inference is that America doesn't have any other bombers to use in the meantime. Actually, the B47's are available in large quantity. These do not have as long a range as the B52's, but they were designed to do the job of bombing in the short ranges from our overseas bases. If, however, our overseas bases are vulnerable or not likely to be available due to "neutalism," then more B52's are needed, and so are more aircraft carriers. The Navy, incidentally, has the "ASB," which is the same type of plane as the B47, and has just been ordered to build more of them. This is for action overseas, too. In other words, if it's to be an intercontinental war tomorrow, then neither Russia nor the United States is adequately prepared. If it's to be a war from overseas bases and from mobile bases like the Navy's aircraft carriers, then America is in relatively good shape and could win. The Congress has provided the money for tomorrow's war. What must it do about this war in 1960? That's the real question. This type of plan never has been finally decided by military testimony in Congress but by the calculated risks taken by the men actually in charge of our armed services—and they are not protesting. They are agreed and will testify in support of the present budget and program. Copyright, 1956, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.

Mayflower II Will Be Modern Craft

LONDON — When a handful of British enthusiasts decided a few years ago to build a replica of the Mayflower as a gift for the United States, they weren't quite certain where the money would come from. The answer is that the money has come from everywhere. England is full of Mayflower enthusiasts or buffs, ranging from a Hemingway character, Felix Fenston, whose first contribution was $8,500, to men and women who could contribute only a few shillings. No appeal for funds has ever been necessary, so generous and spontaneous has been the financial response ever since the project was announced. Ultimately the venture will cost about $300,000. If the British have underwritten the Mayflower II, an American naval architect, William Baker of Bethlehem Steel, contributed five years of intensive research and the resultant naval blueprints. It is from Baker's designs that Mayflower II, to be launched in September, is being built as much in the mold of the original Mayflower as possible. When the second Mayflower is sailed from Plymouth, England, to Plymouth, Mass. in the autumn of 1956 or the spring of 1957, she will be given to the United States. Thereafter, she will be permanently docked at Plymouth Plantation, which is being reconstructed, a la Williamsburg, by a group of Americans to show the little settlement as it was in 1622-23. Despite the fact Mayflower II will attempt to duplicate in every way the vessel and the conditions of the journey in 1620, there will be a number of features that would have astounded Elder Brewster and his brave band. "There was no navy Ministry of Transport in 1620 to require a maximum of safeguards on British vessels. The second Mayflower, by order of the ministry, must carry radio equipment. And she also will be equipped with modern navigational instruments. The last word in rubber dinghies will be carried as lifeboats, and the galley will be stocked with fresh and tinned foods unknown in 1620. The original Mayflower, believe it or not, carried more wine and spirits than water on her historic voyage, for the simple reason that water went bad so quickly in those days. The Mayflower II will carry more wine and spirits, too, than water, which will be rationed at one gallon per day per passenger for drinking, cooking and bathing. Four passengers and their equipment in Mayflower II would have astounded the original Mayflower passengers. There will be two still and two newsreel and television photographers aboard to make a complete photographic record of the trip. No burden of debt will hang over the passengers of Mayflower II as over those in the original Mayflower. The Pilgrim Fathers and mothers made their journey on money borrowed at a fixed interest rate of 70 per cent from the merchants of London. Despite the hardships in the new land, the Pilgrims liquidated the debt within 15 years! The greatest problem of the six-to-eight-week journey of the Mayflower II, in the opinion of Capt. Alan Villiers, who will skipper the ship will be — no, you'll never guess — boredom! Copyright, 1956, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Lions Broom Sale Brings In $2,525

LAMESA — The Lamesa Lions clubs' annual broom sale topped previous records last week, said L. C. Scott, co-chairman. Scott said the 1956 total is $2,525, about $100 more than last year which also was a record. The Lamesa clubs will retain about $630 from the sales. The Lions spent about $660 in Dawson County during the past year on their "Better Vision" program in the schools. Most of the money went for glasses for students who could not purchase them.

Picture On Stamp Due A Shrinking To Save Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service is going to shrink Dwight D. Eisenhower's picture a fraction of an inch, saving the taxpayers an estimated $20 million a year. The average taxpayer probably doesn't have the foggiest notion where Clinton's picture figures. Some observant cigarette smokers might. A picture of Clinton, with his hand to his face, graces the revenue stamp on every cigarette package. Thus Clinton, in a way, is a sort of agent for the government in helping to reap about $1,600,000,000 of income each year from cigarette smokers. Some 20 billion stamps a year are sold to cigarette manufacturers. Producing the stamps costs the revenue service about 1 1/4 million dollars a year. Beginning some time in June, the service will cut down the width of the stamp, including Clinton's picture, by three sixteenths of an inch. The present issue is fifteen-sixteenths of an inch wide; the new ones will be three-quarters of an inch wide. The length, 1 1/4 inches, won't be changed.

ECONOMIC STUDY

Report On Area Fully Documented

TOMORROW IN WEST TEXAS (Along The Texas and Pacific Railway) by Sidney L. Miller, Texas Tech Press.

Five years ago Dr. Sidney L. Miller, professor of transportation at the University of Pittsburgh, was drafted for an unique assignment. Communities in West Texas, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas and Pacific Railway Company commissioned him to make a detailed analysis of the area as the basis of future efforts to strengthen its economy. The feeling reflected not only an appreciation for the principle of not kidding one's self, but also a desire to gain the dispassionate view of a capable mind looking on from the outside.

Dr. Miller's 633-page book is the summation of his study and of his conclusions. In all candor, you need not look upon this book as something for light reading, although its style is bright and lucid enough. Indeed, you will find "Tomorrow in West Texas" more nearly fits into the category of a text on West Texas.

The vastness of the discussion, plus the abundance of appendices testify to the monumental task which Dr. Miller performed. The bulk, however, is likely immaterial for the volume was not produced for mass appeal or necessarily to be popular. It was obviously written to present certain findings, the author's views and ultimately to raise some guideposts. Our first thought was that what the book needs is a good digest; yet, it will be read only by people earnestly seeking information and expert counsel, and to them even the smallest details may be of interest and value.

Much of the book is given to documentation, and often times this goes far afield, understandably so for no region stands to itself. It is easy to get tired in this and lose the point.

Dr. Miller rightly observes that the oil and gas industry, rather than agriculture, has been the factor not holding West Texas together in recent years but furnishing impetus for unprecedented growth in the face of record drought. He looks a long way down the line when dwindling reserves might once more throw the weight of the economy back on agriculture and other sources.

In essence, he says that the oil industry is likely to be an increasingly important factor for a long time, and conservation and secondary recovery will prolong its development. In the main, he believes Texas shouldn't resist ready exportation of gas. Some petrochemical developments stem from oil and gas, he says, but I don't see overbars on these possibilities. Potash possibilities are good and he says outlook for discovery of other reserves are bright if demand warrants. As for cotton and wheat, Dr. Miller thinks the area would be better off with less acreage to them and more to grass and feeds. He says he recognized need for some farm program but doesn't like one that involves acreage and other controls. You get the impression that if cotton were allowed to seek its world market level, the return might be low enough that more would turn to grain sorghum or grassland operations. The latter eventually leads logically to his thesis that West Texas has opportunities in marketing much of its grain through meat animals, dairy stock and poultry. Gains to the community from improved grasslands may well do more for improvement of community interest than any industrialization, he observes, and then urges brush control.

He sees some opportunities in fruit production; some for industrialization, but while he faces this optimistically, he does it realistically, noting the area's limitations in water, transportation rates, sparsity of market, etc. "In view of efforts of other areas to retain and draw industry, that struggle will be sharp," he warns, "not one for those of faint heart." The rewards along many lines can, however be high.

Appearance of Dr. Miller's book at this time is doubly interesting because he will be here Friday noon to speak at the American Business Club. Those who read his book will want to hear him; and those who have not, will especially want to get his message. —JOE PICKLE

Polishampoo Keeps Autos Looking New

The Gaston Johnston Corporation is offering a product designed to keep old cars from looking like old cars.

The product is called Polishampoo. The manufacturer believes it will save thousands of automobiles from the junk heap every year. These are the cars that are abandoned not because they are worn out, but because the owners have neglected the appearance of the vehicles. They have allowed the "finish" to become so "beat up" that little by little the cars have become worthless.

The Gaston Johnston Corporation, of Long Island City, N. Y., is well-known throughout the nation as the manufacturer of No Roach and Super No Roach which mean death to the crawling household insect. Now the firm presents Polishampoo, designed to maintain sparkling automobile finishes.

Polishampoo is available in Big Spring at Red & White, Piggly Wiggly, J. O. Newsom, J. E. Green, Hull and Phillips, and Douglas food stores. It also is sold by Jack's and Toby's Drive-In Grocery stores.

Here's what the Gaston Johnston Corporation has to say about its new product:

"Whether yours is one of the beautiful new models with which the roads are crowded, or an old one with which you are 'making do' until you can turn it in for something more up-to-date, not to see that it is kept washed and polished shows both a lack of pride and no business sense—on your part, and the part of the whole family. 'What has 'the whole family' got to do with it? Washing the car, polishing the body, the chrome, and the glass, used to be a man's job—a major performance.

"Today with Johnston's Polishampoo, a new product—a woman or a teen-aged child can do the job quickly, and with no effort. 'Now let us tell you just what it does, and how to use it.

"Polishampoo polishes as it cleans. It not only removes every last particle of dirt and grime, dust and dirt, but it actually renews the gleam of the original car polish.

"It is a scientific formula made only for car washing. After using it, the surface of the car, and its glass and chrome, are spic and span."

Mrs. Rainwater Is Agent For Shield Company, Hammond

Although the studio address has been changed, the methods of selling and the quality of products have not been altered.

Mrs. Champ Rainwater is Big Spring representative for the Shield Company of Fort Worth and has moved her studio to her residence at 716 Hillside. Previously her studio was located at 1201 Scurry and before that at 1708 Main Street.

As Shield's saleslady here, Mrs. Rainwater is handling Hammond organs, termed the best organs in the nation. The Shield Company has been selling Hammond organs in West Texas for the last 20 years.

Five models are available to choose from at Mrs. Rainwater's studio. They are the concert, the home, the church, the Spinnet, and the Chord Organ models.

For the most part, most people prefer the smaller Spinnet and Chord Organs for home use, but several persons here have the larger home or church styles in their homes. The quality, however, is at the same high level in all.

Mrs. Rainwater will be glad to demonstrate any model for groups either at her 716 Hillside Drive studio, or she will present demonstrations for churches, schools, banquets, parties, or private groups.

Hammond models are nationally known, and the tones have been spoken of as "music's most glorious voice." The Hammond tones are produced electrically, thus giving room for multiple arrangements.

Two of the latest features added to Hammond organs have been selective vibrato and touch response techniques.

The Shield Company has set up a three-year time payment plan to enable persons to finance a Hammond model. Although slightly more expensive than most models, the extra price can easily be seen in difference in organs. The company also will accept old pianos and organs as trade-ins on new models.

NEW METHOD CLEANS AND POLISHES CARS

Polish your car as you clean it—with Johnston's POLISHAMPOO. Just apply rich harmless soda, then simply flush off dirt and "road film" that resist ordinary washings. Car dries quickly with no rubbing or wiping—leaving a polished surface. Use POLISHAMPOO regularly to keep car clean and polished. Bottle containing 8 stamps... $1.17. Available at Piggly Wiggly, J. O. Newsom Supermarket, J. E. Green Food Mart, Dale Douglas Food Mart, Jack's Drive-In, Toby's Drive-In, Hull & Phillips Gro. Dist. by Sterling Supply Co.

SOLVED — CARPET CLEANING PROBLEM

Science finally has the answer to carpet cleaning. Blue Lustre, a new development, is mixed with water, and brushed into carpet or upholstery. It's amazing, the way forgotten colors spring out. The nap is left open and lofty. It's easy to apply. One half-gallon of Blue Lustre cleans three 9 x 12 rugs. Available at BIG SPRING HARDWARE CO., 117-119 Main St.

Strike In Italy

ROME, May 7 (AP)—Italy's typographical unions called a one-day strike today as negotiations with publishers for higher pay and pensions collapsed.

Necchi Is Machine Homemakers Need

Modern homemakers, who are keenly alert to the multiple benefits that home-sewing and dress-making can provide, have discovered exactly the machine they need.

They want a Necchi Sewing Machine — the most modern and perfect of all machines. They visit the Gilliland Sewing Machine Company, 120 E. 2nd, Big Spring distributor for this amazing machine, by the score. And they have bought generously indeed of the Necchi and Elna which the company has to offer.

The Necchi offers so many more advantages and improvements over any other sewing machine now on the market as to make other types appear out-of-date.

The Necchi does nearly all of the work when its owner sits down to make a dress or accomplish some other home sewing project. It sews on the buttons and makes button holes far better than they could possibly be made by hand. It does blind stitching on hems. It is the smoothest running and most efficient of all sewing machines. Gilliland Sewing Machine Co., in addition to being representative for the Necchi and Elna lines, offers many other services to the home seamstress.

The firm extends a cordial invitation to all Big Spring and Howard County women to visit its establishment and inspect the Necchi and Elna models on display. It also invites the homemakers of this area to familiarize themselves with the many other special services and features available at the establishment.
