Last-Ditch Effort On Farm Bill Promised In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-ditch effort to reshape a second 1956 farm bill in line with President Eisenhower's program was promised in the Senate today by Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) and Aiken (R-Vt.).

"Unless the feed grain section is cleared up there may be no farm legislation this year," said Aiken, senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"It's the worst section of the new bill," Holland agreed. "It would penalize dairy, poultry and livestock farmers nationwide much more than it would help the feed grain producers."

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said the bill, a substitute for a catch-all farm measure Eisenhower vetoed April 16, would be called up for Senate debate today. Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he hoped to complete action tomorrow or the next day.

A version of the measure has passed the House. A Senate-House conference will adjust differences. The Senate committee added several other provisions opposed by the administration. These include a two-price support plan for rice and a provision sponsored by Sen. Young (R-ND) that would prevent probable 1957 declines in support levels for wheat, corn and peanuts.

Farmers Want Tractor Men

If you are a tractor operator, there's a job waiting for you. The grand rush for tractor drivers has hit the Big Spring office of the Texas State Employment Service, according to Leon Kinney, manager. Farmers, eager to get at their planting, are pressing the office for tractor men and the list of available workers has been exhausted.

Other agricultural workers are also in demand, Kinney said. He recommended that all persons wanting employment in agriculture make application to his office at once.

The grand rush for farm help will continue well into June, he said. If rains fall, the need for farm workers will be prolonged.

15 Atomic Workers Dosed By Radiation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen or more persons were exposed to potentially fatal radiation at an atomic power plant project at Ft. Belvoir, Va., yesterday, but the government says the amount was "not serious."

A version of the measure has passed the House. A Senate-House conference will adjust differences. The Senate committee added several other provisions opposed by the administration.

Opposition Cuts Rhee's Vote Lead

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Syngman Rhee won his expected third term as South Korea's president today but strong opposition cut his vote to only about 55 per cent of the total ballots cast.

South Korea's only president since the republic was established in 1948, polled 72.6 per cent of the total vote in the 1952 election.

In the separate vice presidential ballots Rhee's running mate, Lee Ki Poong, was trailing Democratic party candidate Chang Myun, a former ambassador to the United States. However, Lee was still given a good chance to pull ahead in the rural counting.

Because of Rhee's advanced age many politicians think the next vice president will turn out to be the old man's presidential heir.

Rhee piled up a big lead in the country districts. In the big cities of Seoul and Taegu he trailed the combined total of his opponents—a man and a former Communist—ran a poor second in the capital.

With nearly 95 per cent of the ballots from yesterday's election counted, unofficial returns from the national polls gave Rhee 4,504,725. His living opponent on the three-man ballot, reformed Communist Cho Bong-Am, polled 1,949,013.

Patrick Henry Shinicky, Democratic party candidate who died of a cerebral hemorrhage May 5, was the choice on most of the 1,645,450 ballots declared invalid. Votes for Shinicky were automatically thrown out.

An estimated 8,600,000 voters—90 per cent of those registered—went to the polls in South Korea's second national presidential election. Rhee, a fiery old patriot who crusaded for years abroad for his country's independence from Japan, was elected by the National Assembly for his initial four-year term in 1948.

Counting of the vice presidential vote, cast on a separate ballot, lagged far behind the presidential. With more than 40 per cent tallied, Chang was ahead with 1,753,294 and Lee was in second place with 1,425,793. Four other candidates trailed behind, but no majority is necessary and the job goes to the high man.

The million-plus vote for the dead Shinicky and Chang's strong showing were interpreted as expression both of sentiment over the presidential candidate's death and support for the Democrats' "time for a change" appeal.

Otherwise Rhee's Liberals and the Democrats campaigned on similar conservative platforms. The Progressives urged more spending of foreign aid on economic rehabilitation and less on arms.

The opposition charged police intimidation during the campaign and irregularities at the polls and in vote counting. Spokesmen for Rhee's Liberal party government denied the charges or said they had no information about them.

Witness Denies Being A Spy

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I was never a spy," V. Frank Coe told investigating senators yesterday. But he refused to say whether he is a Communist.

Coe, who served in the Treasury and the International Monetary Fund under the late Harry Dexter White, has been linked in congressional testimony with alleged espionage for the Soviet Union.

Four years ago, Coe invoked his possible self-incrimination in refusing to answer questions by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee concerning spy accusations against him. As a result of his refusal to talk, he lost his job as secretary of the fund.

Yesterday, Coe came before the subcommittee and declared, "I wish to drop the protection of the Fifth Amendment and state for the record: I was never a spy."

Coe also challenged the subcommittee to bring forth any evidence that he ever did pass government secrets.

However, he pleaded the Fifth Amendment when asked if he is a Communist. He told the subcommittee he objected to "being compelled to talk about my political beliefs and associations."

Coe said he is convinced that White was not a spy "and that any notion to the contrary is unthinkable."

White, who was assistant secretary of the Treasury and later executive director of the monetary fund, died in 1948 a few days after denying to the House Committee on Un-American Activities that he was a Communist or had done any spying. Atty. Gen. Brownell has called White a Soviet spy.

Ike Outdraws Estes Easily In Nebraska Voting

By The Associated Press
President Eisenhower easily outdrew Sen. Estes Kefauver—as expected—today as counting continued in separate Nebraska primary elections held yesterday.

The ratio gave no indication of any substantial farm unrest. With 1,383 of 2,127 precincts reporting, Eisenhower had 57,921 votes. On the Democratic primary side, Kefauver had 32,019 votes, or about 36 per cent of the vote to 64 per cent for Eisenhower.

Meanwhile, the political paths of Kefauver and Stevenson crossed in Eugene, Ore., where both appeared at the same Democratic rally. The two presidential hopefuls covered much the same ground in separate talks.

In the Nebraska voting, neither Eisenhower nor Kefauver was opposed on party ballots. But Nebraskans living outside the state's 13 largest cities—about 60 per cent of the total population—could vote either primary.

Any substantial departure from previous Republican winning margins in the predominantly GOP state would be interpreted as a signal of rural discontent with administration farm policies. Nebraska normally goes Republican by about 2-1.

Eisenhower carried the state in 1952 by a 69-31 percentage. Kefauver supporters said beforehand they expected no significant changes in the normal Republican ratio.

There was no organized campaign for write-in votes by any group. The preference voting results are not binding on the 18 Republican and 12 Democratic national convention delegates selected. Virtually all the GOP candidates were Eisenhower supporters and Kefauver was the most popular choice among the Democrats.

In the joint Oregon appearance of Kefauver and Stevenson, where both are seeking that state's 16 Democratic delegate votes in the national convention, both candidates continued to hammer away at the Eisenhower administration.

Stevenson accused Republicans of "squandering a great part" of national good will he said was built up abroad by the Democrats.

He added that the Democrats' "scientific records are being collected for accurate evaluation."

The current series of atomic tests is the third conducted by Britain. The first British atomic blast was set off in the Monte Bello Islands off the coast of Western Australia. The test was termed successful but there was no indication of the nature of the device.

British spokesmen said last month the blast would be detonated on a tower. There have been reports it might be a type of "trigger" for a hydrogen bomb test Britain is expected to hold late this year.

Supply Minister Howard Beale announced that an "atomic device was successfully exploded" at 1:51 p.m., Eastern Australian Time, and said "all safety precautions are in operation. He added that "scientific records are being collected for accurate evaluation."

Another Democrat — Gov. Averell Harriman of New York — repeated yesterday that he is "not an active candidate" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Harriman is on a speaking tour in Western states. In Spokane, Wash., he told a Democratic dinner, "The present trend toward monopoly — protected by President Eisenhower and his 'big business administration' — threatens the very heart of our free enterprise system."

A different view came from Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, in a speech prepared for the Maryland GOP State Convention in Baltimore today.

Hall said that under the Eisenhower administration labor has been doing more and business less than each got under the Democratic administration of President Truman.

Howdy Podner!

The reviewing stand at the annual Los Banos, Calif., May Day celebration was the scene of this meeting between Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Adlai Stevenson, two aspirants for the Democratic party's presidential nomination. Stevenson is decked out in cowboy gear and Kefauver in a silk suit. Both appeared at the celebration in the central California farming center—and their meeting brought generous cheers from the crowd estimated at 50,000. Both are campaigning for the state's 68 Democratic convention votes in the June 5 presidential primary.

Britain Explodes An 'Atomic Device'

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Britain exploded an "atomic device" today in a test in the Monte Bello Islands off the coast of Western Australia. The test was termed successful but there was no indication of the nature of the device.

British spokesmen said last month the blast would be detonated on a tower. There have been reports it might be a type of "trigger" for a hydrogen bomb test Britain is expected to hold late this year.

Supply Minister Howard Beale announced that an "atomic device was successfully exploded" at 1:51 p.m., Eastern Australian Time, and said "all safety precautions are in operation. He added that "scientific records are being collected for accurate evaluation."

The current series of atomic tests is the third conducted by Britain. The first British atomic blast was set off in the Monte Bello Islands off the coast of Western Australia. The test was termed successful but there was no indication of the nature of the device.

Reports from the explosion area said the blast sent an atomic cloud soaring high into the air and prevailing winds swept it out over the Indian Ocean, away from the mainland.

Reporters at the town of Onslow, 80 miles from the explosion site, said the blast gave off a bright flash followed by a mushroom-shaped cloud. The rapidly swelling cloud took the shape of a woman's head, they reported, and favor trails from jet planes roaring in to investigate the cloud became visible.

Seven minutes after the report was sent the flash, they said a thunderous rumble rolled in across the ocean, causing a slight vibration in Onslow, a quarter of an hour later the cloud had drifted into a giant "Z" formation extending from the horizon upward into the clouds.

Only a handful of scientists and officials knew the real significance of the blast. Speculation included the theory that it might have been an atomic bomb warhead for a guided missile.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Williams, 57, and Mrs. Cordia Lyons, 54, and L. D., all of Lamesa; a sister, Mrs. Henry Metcalf, Moran; and a brother, A. Q. Plumber, Coolidge, Ariz.

Mrs. Blackstock had been a member of the United Pentecostal Church for 44 years.

Candidates Stump While Plans Go Forward For Demo Meeting

The credentials subcommittee will prepare a temporary roll of delegates; and hear the contests and make recommendations to the committee. The final say on who may be seated will be up to the convention itself.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, who helped guide the Johnson forces to victory over A. Shivers, will be in Dallas for a Democratic rally Monday night. Johnson has said he plans to attend the state convention.

Candidates were busy. W. Lee O'Daniel, who '66 is seeking to return to Austin as governor, spoke at Sherman, Denison and McKinney Tuesday and moved into Texarkana Wednesday. Ralph Yarborough, another candidate for governor, spent Tuesday in Denton and met with his backers in Dallas Wednesday.

City To Adopt Mail-Box Type Tickets For Overtime Parking

Big Spring will soon change its methods of collecting overtime parking fines.

The city commission Tuesday approved a system now being used in Lubbock and other cities where a parking ticket can just drop $1 and the ticket-envelope in any mail box.

The notice of having parked longer than authorized would be printed on one side of an envelope. If the driver desired, he could just insert $1 in an addressed envelope, and drop it in a mail box.

The system would remove the necessity of having to come to the city police station to pay the tickets.

The forms will be purchased and put into use when the present supply of overtime parking tickets is exhausted.

In addition, the commission approved printed cards to be given to registrants coming to Big Spring for conventions. These cards on one side would be a notice that the person was in Big Spring for a convention and therefore should be bypassed if parked at an overtime meter.

And on the reverse side would be a welcome to Big Spring and statements relating to the city.

Commissioners approved two Citizens' Traffic Commission recommendations but tabled three for further study. Approved were requests for a traffic light at Fourth and Bell, add 30 m.p.h. speed signs on Birdwell between Fourth and Eleventh.

Tabled were requests for a traffic island at the intersection of Cedar Road and Canyon Drive to control one-way traffic, and removal of parking on Gregg between Third and Fourth.

The commission deferred a recommendation to change parking from angle to parallel on Second from Gregg to Nolan. Reason was the problem of finding the parking space that would be lost in making the change.

Rates were changed from nine cents to 10 for group swims at the city pool this summer. This applies to YMCA classes and Baptist encampment groups which use the pool in the mornings.

Reason was not the money but to expedite making change every morning. Also, a majority of the pennies ended in the pool, clogging up the strainers.

Police patrolman L. C. Waits was granted half pay for 90 days while he goes to a Veterans Hospital for medical treatment. The commission said it could not grant him sick leave with full pay for that length of time.

The YMCA summer recreation program received $750 from the city also Tuesday night. The amount is annually given toward paying the program expenses and is set up in the budget. It needed only formal commission approval.

The council awarded easement rights to Cosden for laying a pipeline across city property — Webb AFB. The line will serve Webb, but since the city owned the property, Cosden had to gain permission to cross the land. A nominal $10 will be paid the city for the right-of-way.

Authority was given to install six-inch water lines on East 6th and East 17th streets. The areas are either served by small water lines or by none.

When the lines are placed, the city will install fire plugs to proper intervals to give the area fire protection.

Eastern States Get Showers

By The Associated Press

Showers sprinkled the eastern quarter of the nation today but dry weather prevailed in all other sections of the country.

Scattered light showers extended over the eastern Great Lakes region southward through the Ohio Valley and eastward through the Middle Atlantic Coast states and into New England. Light rain fell in parts of Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia.

Skies were mostly clear west of the Rockies and generally fair weather was reported over the Plains states, the Mississippi Valley and most of the Southeast.

There was a cooling trend over the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi Valley with early morning temperatures mostly in the 30s and 40s. It was a little below freezing in some northern Midwest areas.

Cooler weather also was reported in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the lower Mississippi Valley.

Truman Takes A Skeptical View Of Red Arms Cutback

PARIS — Harry S. Truman took a skeptical view today of Soviet Russia's announced plan to cut its armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

"I'll believe it when I see it," said Truman, jaunty, smiling and relaxed, on his arrival with Mrs. Truman for a seven-week tour of Europe.

Asked if he thought the cold war was over, Truman said: "I don't know. I don't have the Central Intelligence Agency working for me."

Truman, carrying a shiny black cane and favoring a foot lamed about two weeks ago, obviously enjoyed himself despite the jostling. He responded to the cheers of several hundred bystanders, mostly Americans, by waving his hat.

He and Mrs. Truman arrived at La Havre aboard the liner United States this morning and met other newsmen there before taking the train to Paris.

Asked if he thought President Eisenhower would win a second term, the Missourian juttied out his jaw and cracked: "I'm not doing any crystal gazing but I'm going to try to beat him."

He said he would campaign for the Democrats if the party's national committee asked him.

He wouldn't endorse any particular Democratic candidate and repeatedly denied any political ambitions "except to elect a Democratic president."

He had a word for the Russians. Asked if he trusted them, Truman snapped out a "No" and said: "The first year I was in office they broke 32 agreements with me."

POOLS, POLICE BLDG. Contracts Let For $250,000

City commissioners let contract for two swimming pools for $51,900 and the new police station for slightly over $200,000 at its meeting Tuesday night.

A. P. Kasch and Sons received the contract for construction of the two swimming pools on the North side — one in the Negro park and the other in the block with the proposed fire station.

Four separate contracts were let on the police building — for general construction, mechanical, electrical and jail equipment. Total is $208,491.15 without architect's fees.

J. D. Jones of Big Spring received the contract for general construction on a bid of $124,730, with the commission accepting one alternate. Other bidders included Sages Construction $141,101 for the base bid, Horn Construction of Abilene $139,985, C. L. Cooke of Abilene $148,484, A. P. Kasch $139,990, and G. A. Jones of Lamesa $147,426.

The low bid called for completion within 90 calendar days.

For the mechanical work, Western Service of Big Spring was low bidder, with $29,112 including one alternate. Minus the alternate, his bid was $30,392. Anthony Company of Lubbock bid $38,640 base, Kasch $32,000, and Rountree of Lubbock $36,675.

Southern Steel Company of San Antonio had a low bid of $46,377 with one alternate for the jail equipment. Only two other firms bid — Fries and Son Steel of Covington, Kentucky, $78,122 base, and Decatur, Ala., Iron and Steel $66,132 base.

Phillips Electric of Midland bid low for the electrical work. The bid was $8,251.15.

Including the architects' fees, the total was $216,915.71, with only $209,000 being allotted from the bond election.

The commission elected to meet the difference by appropriating the $6,915.71 from sale of the property at Eleventh Place, $9,189.96 from the Fourth Street Escrow fund, and the difference of $3,244.75 from the surplus in the general fund.

Equipment for the station would have to come from the next fiscal year budget.

Only two bids were submitted on the swimming pools project, the bid of Kasch, and Clay Carey of Brownwood. Carey's cost was $89,445.

Kasch's bid called for completion in 150 days, but the commission in awarding him the bid urged him to shove ahead the work on the pool to be built in the Negro park and try for completion of it as soon as possible.

This, he said, could possibly be finished in 45-60 days.

Commissioners approved a letter from H. W. Whitney, city manager, to Webb AFB concerning the sewer and water lines to the air base housing unit. The letter stipulated that the city would pay the cost of a survey for the sewer line, and award the two contracts. Then the Air Force would in turn pay the city a comparable amount as a connection fee.

If the city would want to enlarge the line for possible tap by individuals other than the Air Force, the city would pay the additional charges. In any case, however, the city would assume responsibility of maintenance and operation.

The letter will now be submitted to higher echelons of the Air Force for approval.

In connection, the city restated its policy on persons being served by the present line going to Webb. The policy is that no person who did not have a house under construction April 10 would not be allowed to tap the line outside the city limits.

Whitney was authorized to use his judgment in settling complaints in this area.

A petition for bigger water and sewer lines in the Mountain View and Rice additions was rejected.

What Gives With Other Teen - Agers?

Any day now you might be having lunch a few hundred miles away from home, what with new planes like the F-104 to carry your parachute.

"It's a good idea to keep up to date on what's happening around here are some cues . . .

LA MESA, Calif. — The name "Boulevard Shagstasty" survived two weeks on the Helix High School roster here with somebody answering at roll calls, before school authorities finally fathomed there was no such student.

MUSKEGON, Mich. — If teenagers at Catholic Central High School here get short of ready cash, they can dip into credit union funds. The organization, which members believe is the first of its kind in the nation, has a charter from the state to operate as the Holy Family Assn. Credit Union. It will emphasize savings but loans are available also. If you borrow $5 it costs you only 5 cents to finance it for a month.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — It now costs another two bits to be a square. Most barbershops here have raised the price of flat-top haircuts to $1.25. The flat-tops are supposed to give a square-head look, the current rage among boys.

POUNDRIDGE, N. Y. — Judy Lewis returned from a Florida vacation with an endless variety of jargon, including the "See you later, alligator." To which one answers — "After while, crocodile." The boys, all inspired by space ships, are likely to say "Black-off" instead of "drop dail" these days, she says.

Union Panel OKs Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers will seek a "substantial" wage increase and 21 other contract changes in forthcoming negotiations with 172 basic steel firms.

The demands, approved yesterday by the union's 170-member Wage Policy Committee, touch on almost every part of the current contract.

Highest on the list, besides wages, are a premium pay plan for Saturday and Sunday work and supplemental unemployment benefits. The committee did not put a dollar and cents value on the package.

David J. McDonald, USW president, said he felt the demands were "reasonable" in view of high profits reported by most basic steel producers.

A date for negotiation with basic steel companies has not been set, but union officials said they are hopeful to get contract talks under way by about June 1.

Contracts covering 650,000 union members in the 172 firms expire at midnight June 30. If an agreement is not reached by that time, the union is free to strike.

McDonald said other highlights of the contract proposals are improved insurance benefits, a union shop, more holidays and longer vacations.

GM Chief Scales Down '56 Prediction

DETROIT (AP)—The president of General Motors, who last year accurately forecast record auto sales, has scaled down his 1956 prediction for the industry.

Harlow Curtice had said the current year would be the auto industry's second best with retail sales of 6 1/2 million cars. Last night, at a news conference, he cut the figure to 5,800,000.

This is 1,600,000 under 1955. It would be the third highest sales total, exceeded in 1950 and 1955.

Curtice, under questioning, said General Motors now has 50,000 fewer hourly employees than it did last June. He did not go into detail. He said some additional layoffs are planned for this week and that he hoped these would be the last for the 1956 model run.

He said the industry as a whole had run into several difficulties in selling cars this year. But, he said, as far as General Motors is concerned, overproduction in 1955 was not one of the difficulties.

A questioner suggested that Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, and others had laid some of the blame for the poor market on overproduction and oversupply of cars in 1955.

Curtice said: "We have not indulged in overproduction at any time."

Among the difficulties, he said, were the Federal Reserve Board's policy of tighter credit and the great amount of speculation that 1957 models would be revolutionary.

Curtice said the credit controls were bad and should be reversed. He admitted his new sales figure was based on the assumption credit will be eased sometime while 1956 models still are on sale.

He said predictions of revolutionary changes just weren't so. He said 1957 models will cost more than 1956 models. He said labor and all raw materials are somewhat higher and that the price of steel is expected to rise.

Students Rapped For Uprising

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Twenty-five students at the University of Pennsylvania have been suspended or put on probation for a "spring fever" uprising two weeks ago.

The school's Committee on Discipline yesterday met out the punishment, described as the most drastic ever taken against participants in a "rowbottom" — Penn's name for noisy student uprisings on streets near the campus.

Last May 3, 116 students were arrested. Of these, 28 were held in $500 bail for the grand jury and the others were released with warnings.

The Committee on Discipline, consisting of three student leaders and four members of the administration, did not make public the names.

Among the difficulties, he said, were the Federal Reserve Board's policy of tighter credit and the great amount of speculation that 1957 models would be revolutionary.

Rumors Give Princess A 'New Love'

LONDON (AP)—A new romance rumor cropped up today around Britain's Princess Margaret.

The Daily Express quoted German-born Prince Christian of Hanover as saying "I can neither confirm nor deny" rumors that he and Margaret will announce their engagement.

The rumors also were noted by the Daily Mail, but it said it "understands there is no truth in these reports."

Buckingham Palace declined any comment, following its usual pattern in matters involving the private affairs of the royal family.

Margaret and Christian are distant cousins, both descended from Queen Victoria.

The prince, fair-haired, six feet tall and 35 years old, is well known in New York society, where he has spent much time in recent years. He is a director of a London shipping company.

Judge Advises Fight For Rights

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Judge Tom Brady of Mississippi told 200 residents from northeast Texas last night that the people of Texas should rise up and fight any movement by the federal government to usurp the powers of the state.

Brady is an outspoken foe of the Supreme Court's segregation ruling.

Referring to the Supreme Court as black robed socialist judges, he told the gathering, "If we can't get the court to reverse its decision on integration, then we must remove them by impeachment, form the nation into nine judicial districts and elect one member of the court from each of these districts to serve terms of no more than eight years."

Romance Ends

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Actress Gloria DeHaven has terminated her romance with Dick Fincher, a Miami motor car dealer.

TAX EVASION CASE Oil Lease Gift Told At Connelly Trial

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A close friend of former President Truman testified a $750 loan obtained by Truman's former appointments secretary to buy an oil lease was repaid the next day by a tax dodger's lawyer.

Tom L. Evans, Kansas City businessman, told a federal jury yesterday he loaned the money to Matthew J. Connelly, onetime White House appointments secretary.

He said it was repaid by Harry I. Schwimmer, then attorney for Irvin Sachs, a St. Louis shoe manufacturer.

Connelly, Schwimmer and T. Lamar Caudle, head of the Justice Department's Tax Division under Truman, are on trial on charges they conspired to fix the tax evasion case against Sachs.

Evans testified Schwimmer said to him on a plane ride to Washington in 1949:

"Tom, I'd like to do something for Matt Connelly. He's been so wonderful and nice to me."

Evans said he replied there was nothing the attorney could do. Schwimmer later suggested buying an oil lease "that would produce about $40 to $50 a month for him."

The government contends Schwimmer bought a $3,600 lease in Connelly's name.

Evans said he told Schwimmer

Cabbie Gets Dream Fare-To California

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—"The kind of thing that every cab driver dreams about," came true for Waukegan driver Raymond F. Gilbert — a $1,350 fare to California and back.

The fare was Mrs. Arlene Andrews, wife of Victor J. Andrews, chairman of the board of Andrews Corp.

Gilbert said he's getting $10 a day for expenses while here.

"Of course," he added, "any side trips in California will cost her the usual rate — 50 cents a mile."

fore she boarded a United Air Lines plane at Denver last Nov. 1. The craft exploded and crashed 11 minutes after takeoff near Longmont, Colo.

Still stolid and apparently unconcerned, Graham was led through the main gate of the prison here at 2:37 p.m.

After shackles were removed from his legs, he lolled against a wall, under guard, while Warden Harry Tinsley and Denver officers exchanged pleasantries and admission formalities were quickly completed.

A reporter approached Graham, and he turned away. "I don't want to talk to anyone," he said.

Prison guards led Graham toward a receiving room. One of his escorts from Denver called, "So long, Jack." He half turned, smiled and waved.

As Prisoner 29625, he was taken to his 8x10-foot cell, one of six in death row.

Cool Front Enters Gulf

By The Associated Press

A cool front that brought hail, torrential downpours and high winds to Texas earlier in the week, had blown itself out into the Gulf by early Wednesday.

Except for a few scattered clouds along the coast, skies were clear. The forecast for Wednesday and Thursday called for clear to partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures.

The front left the state late Tuesday with heavy rains, thunder and strong winds in South Central and lower East Texas.

Corpus Christi, Alice and Laredo had thundershowers late Tuesday. Showers fell at Galveston, Victoria and Beeville.

The heaviest rain reported Tuesday was at McCoy, south of San Antonio, where 5 inches fell. Southeast of Lockhart a 3.9 inch rain was reported. Laredo had 2.96 inches, Corpus Christi 2.79, San Antonio 2.23, Midway 2, San Marcos 1.90, New Braunfels 1.64 and Junction 1.32. Lesser amounts fell at Lake Victor, Lufkin, Beeville, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, Victoria, Waco, Wichita Falls, College Station, Llano, and Fredericksburg.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour were reported Tuesday at George West, south of San Antonio.

The front brought cooler temperatures. They ranged from 72 degrees at Dalhart Tuesday to 93 at Laredo. Early Wednesday Lubbock had 45 degrees while Laredo had 68.

The REASON For This . . . Our First "Major" Sale In All The Years We've Been In Business!

We have had sales . . . many of them BUT NEVER A SALE OF THIS PROPORTION OR AS IMPORTANT. We don't particularly like THIS KIND OF A SALE . . . too sensational but something had to be done to reduce this heavy inventory. We're an aggressive firm maintaining an enviable reputation. We are known everywhere for our fair-trade practices. But . . . like all well-rated firms over a period of years . . . there comes a time when mistakes are made and adjustments are in order to keep abreast of the times. Ordinarily this would be our Anniversary Sale but we realized it would take more than just another sale to get the job done. That's why we called on the Ron Campbell Company and gave them full authority to do what was necessary to dump a huge surplus inventory. PROFIT is not the object of this four day event. Turning stocks into money our only reason.

Teachers Quit Work Because Of Pay Snag

AVOCA, Pa. (AP)—The schools in this northeastern Pennsylvania town of slightly more than 4,000 closed today because the 23 teachers of the district say they won't work until they're paid.

The teachers haven't been paid in 2 1/2 months.

The reason, School Board Secretary Francis Woods says, is that the town aren't paying their taxes.

He explained that the board applied to the First National Bank of Avoca for a $10,000 loan, enough to pay salaries for one month, but that the application was denied. He added that the bank already has lent the board about $50,000 for salaries.

Enrollment in Avoca's schools is 568.

Drought Feed Aid Extended

Howard County is included in a list of 74 Texas counties in which the emergency feed program for relief of cattlemen and farmers has been extended. Other counties in the area in which this program will continue are Martin, Glasscock, Borden and Sterling.

Forty-seven counties of the 121 originally receiving relief under the program have been dropped as a result of recent satisfactory rains.

Farmers Home Administration County Committees have been advised they can accept applications from farmers and ranchmen through June 8 to provide for basic livestock herds through June 30.

Applications for emergency feed can be made at either the ASFC office in the County Court House or at the FHA office located in the basement of the post office building.

Mollet Urges Russians To Lower East-West Barriers

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet of France, appealed to the Soviet Union today to destroy the barriers separating East and West.

At a Kremlin caviar and cognac luncheon, Mollet made a toast urging increased communication between the Western Powers and the Communist bloc. He called on Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to employ the press, radio and movies and free travel "without prejudice and without concern for propaganda."

French sources said Bulganin's reply was "very cordial."

"Exchange and meeting of ideas and of knowledge would be profitable for all — I repeat — for all, just as much for French citizens as for Soviet citizens," Mollet said.

The luncheon followed a 2 1/2-hour opening session of conversations between the French and Soviet premiers. Also participating were Foreign Minister Christian Pineau of France and Russia's V. M. Molotov.

At the luncheon were Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party secretary; Molotov; Deputy Premier Lazar M. Kaganovich; Maxim Saburov and Georgi Malenkov; and two members of the Communist party Presidium.

Mollet, first top political figure from the Big Three Western Powers to visit Moscow since World War II, arrived yesterday. He said the talks would cover European affairs, troubles in the Middle East and Far East and disarmament. He emphasized France will remain faithful to its Western allies although continually seeking "the peaceful settlement of all disagreements which exist in the world."

Lake Dam Gets Check

Bramblett McClelland, consulting engineer of Houston, arrived here Wednesday for a routine inspection of the dam at Lake J. B. Thomas.

For the past several months the Colorado River Municipal Water District has been doing some grouting to fill internal cracks resulting from settlement of the earthen structure on the upstream side. Engineers said that this horizontal cracking was due to the weight of the water plus some softening of material at the base on the upstream side after the lake filled rapidly last autumn. A flexible material is used in the grouting, which is done by drilling holes and pumping the grout in under pressure.

E. V. Spence, general manager for CRMWD, accompanied McClelland, an expert on such maintenance work, for the regular progress check.

Three Big Spring student preachers at Hardin-Simmons University will participate in youth revivals and other religious services in the Southwest this summer.

The announcement was made by Truett Sheriff, director of religious activities at H-SU. They are R. B. Hall, Jackie Fryar and James Smith. Among other West Texans in the group will be George Mullins, Kermit, and Hal Haralson, Loring.

"We are modestly proud that our program not only has given opportunity for hundreds on the campus to dedicate abilities to Christ but that many can carry the message throughout the regions," said Sheriff.

SILENT RADIOS STIR LISTENERS

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Idaho's radio stations went off the air for 15 minutes yesterday in a statewide broadcast blackout during National Radio Week.

Broadcasters said they wanted to show listeners what life would be like without radio.

Stations reported their switchboards were flooded with calls from listeners asking what caused the silence.

One radio repairman in Boise, aware of the observance, was called to fix a radio during the blackout. He said he took the set apart and installed a new set of tubes before he discovered nothing was wrong with it.

Station Raided Second Time

For the second time in four days, the Triple X Service Station was broken into Tuesday night, but likewise for the second time, nothing was found missing.

The station operated by W. E. Kinman at 1300 E. 3rd had been entered either Saturday or Sunday night.

Tuesday night, burglars broke four windows trying to gain entry but only on one attempt were they in any way successful. One of the windows opened into a rest room, but it had no access to the main part of the building.

Also reported entered during the night was the Burrows' Texaco Station at 1410 E. 4th. A window pane had been knocked out of a west window and the window opened.

Investigating authorities said that the building had not been entered, however, and nothing was taken.

Girl Released In Dad's Death

NAVASOTA (AP)—Mary Worthington, 18, has been released under $1,000 bond after testifying she shot her father to death during an argument over an invitation to her high school graduation.

She was charged with murder after the inquest. The girl said she fired a rifle bullet into the back of her father, Clarence Worthington, 48, after he slapped her and threatened to whip her with a belt at breakfast yesterday.

The girl and her mother told authorities Worthington had insisted an invitation to next week's Navasota High School graduation be sent to a woman friend at Bryson, Texas, who is now in jail. She objected, they said, and the argument continued for a week before the shooting.

Private Plane Wreck Probed

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Investigators examined the twisted and scattered remains of a private airplane today trying to learn the cause of its tragic plunge to earth.

Eight persons, including six business executives en route to a convention in Louisville, Ky., died yesterday when the plane crashed out of low-hanging clouds into a muddy field.

Witnesses said the twin-engine, 14-or 15-passenger Lockheed Ventura plunged to earth in a spin and exploded.

It was owned by the Crane Co. of Chicago. Two vice presidents of the firm, George Erwin Jr. and James A. Dwyer, were among the victims.

The pilot, Randolph Muhler, radioed into Louisville's Standford Field for landing clearance a few minutes before the crash. There was no indication then the craft was in trouble.

No Nomination For Lyndon, Says Solon

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), who will speak here tonight at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner, said yesterday Sen. Lyndon Johnson doesn't have a chance of getting the Democratic nomination.

"I don't think Sen. Johnson, or any other Southerner, has a chance for the Democratic presidential nomination by a convention that is controlled by Harry Truman, the Americans for Democratic Action and Walter Reuther," he said.

Tickets To Dinner For Blankenship Moving Rapidly

Tickets are moving rapidly for the dinner Friday honoring W. C. Blankenship, who is retiring after 39 years as superintendent of schools.

Dr. Loyal V. Norman, director of elementary education and helping with plans for the affair, said that a number of people apparently did not understand that the banquet is open to all friends of Blankenship. Any patron or other person may take part just as members of the staff so long as tickets last.

To facilitate reservations, tickets have been made available at the various schools, at the Chamber of Commerce office, and at the school administrative office. In contacting the schools, reservations should be made through the principal's office, said Dr. Norman.

The program is to be held at 7 p.m. Friday at the Cosden Country Club. Up to approximately 400 can be accommodated. Blankenship, who is rounding out his 28th year as the administrative head of the school system, will become superintendent emeritus with duties subject to assignment.

Theft Charge Dropped After Court Hearing

Guilford Jones, district attorney, asked dismissal charges of theft filed against Norman C. Wood, who is alleged in a complaint to have stolen a sewing machine from Big Spring woman.

At a preliminary hearing before Walter Grice, Justice of the Peace, Wood took the stand in his own defense. He told of having assisted the complainant in the case when she moved to Midland. He testified that when she had established herself at Midland, she turned a sewing machine over to him with the request that he "borrow" some money on it.

He said he took the machine to a pawnshop in Midland and borrowed $20 against it. Later, he related, he took the $20 and the pawn ticket to the woman. The sewing machine, he said, was still in the shop insofar as he knew.

The complaining witness had called the defendant in her testimony of taking the machine from her car while it was parked in Big Spring. Jones checked with pawnshop and alleged-stolen machine was said to be still in the shop. Details of the transaction as related by Wood were borne out. The machine had been pawned several weeks before the date that the complainant had sworn it was stolen from her car in Big Spring.

Jones told the court he would investigate the pawnshop story and if it stood up he would dismiss the case. When he had confirmed the account as told by Wood, he ordered the case thrown out.

Capitol Dedication Was A Big Event

AUSTIN (AP)—It was 68 years ago, on May 16, 1888, when the capitol of Texas was dedicated.

"Never in the history of the city, never in the history of the state was there another such day," the Austin Statesman of that day reported. The people poured into town.

At 9 a.m. that day the military that had been camping down by the Colorado River started marching up Congress Ave. to the looming new Capitol, 12 blocks away.

At the front gate in the iron picket fence around the Capitol grounds awaited Gov. Sul Ross, flanked by veterans of Texas' War for Independence.

A. W. Terrell stepped out and cried: "Welcome—thrice welcome—to this imposing Capitol of our state! Whenever in all time, a son of Texas shall behold its vast proportions, pride will come around him like a mantle and crystallize devotion to his state."

Texas swelled with pride: At that time it was generally recognized that their Capitol was the largest public building in the world. The only one in the Texas Capitol dome rose seven feet higher than the National Capitol in Washington.

The celebration went on for a week.

Now 68, the Capitol has grown graceful, growing old.

Tank Slips, Water Truck Overturns At Intersection

Big Spring's 56-hour interval of no traffic accidents came to an abrupt end at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday when a 1951 Ford truck, used to haul water by Clyde Yarborough, Odessa contractor, rolled over at the corner of Lancaster and Westover Road in southwest Big Spring.

According to officers, the water tank on the truck was fastened with chains. One of the chains slipped, permitting the heavy cylinder to slide to the far right side of the truck bed. When the truck turned the corner, the excessive weight on the right side caused it to topple over.

It fell on its side, the tank crashing into a fence in front of the residence at 107 Westover Road. Some damage to the fence and gate resulted.

Delmer L. Akin, Wyoming Hotel, driver of the truck, scrambled from the cab uninjured. Fuel from the gasoline tanks leaked out and trickled down the gutters in a sizable stream.

Police were summoned and a fire truck came to the scene to wash away the gasoline and avert the possibility of fire danger.

Damage to the truck appeared to be slight.

MAN BONES UP ON ASSORTED JOBS, RUNS OFF WITH BOOKS

An oil field roughneck with a strangely assorted taste in literature is being sought by the Howard County Library.

The library wants the roughneck to return four books which he borrowed weeks ago.

The librarians have checked the card. The man listed his address as a trailer court. He gave his occupation as a-roughneck employed by an oil company.

He spent considerable time going over the stacks in the library before he selected the four books he wanted.

The titles:

"You Can Make Money in Wall Street."

"Streamline Your Dancing."

"Curbertson's Complete Card Games."

"Words to That Effect."

Whether he has made money in Wall Street and departed to that point or whether he has streamlined his dancing enough to become a member of Arthur Murray's staff the library does not know.

It does know that the four books, each of which was particularly costly to the library, are gone and that the oil company says that the borrower did work for it but quit his job weeks ago, or "words to that effect."

No stranger to the congregation of the Austin church, the Rev. Evans has served as supply pastor for the last several months as a part of his field work assignment as a senior seminary student.

The Rev. Evans attended Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., the University of Wichita (Kans.), the University of Kansas and received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Texas in 1946. He holds a Master's of Business Administration degree from the University of Houston. Before entering the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, he was assistant sales manager for the Gulf Oil Corp. of Houston.

As a seminary student, the Rev. Evans served as assistant to the pastor of Presbyterian Churches in Robinson, Houston (Memorial Oaks), Nocona and Galveston before becoming supply pastor of the Austin church last fall.

Rev. and Mrs. Evans have one daughter, Elizabeth. Mrs. Evans is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Beall of Dallas.

Among others attending the ceremonies Sunday and Monday will be his brother, John Evans, and family of Houston. A sister, Mrs. J. R. Horsnell, Wichita, Kans., will be unable to attend.

Jet Engine Contest Due On TV Sunday

Ten Webb AFB men left this morning for Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., where they will perform Sunday for the telecast of Dave Garrows' "Wide, Wide World."

Nine of the group make up Webb's champion jet engine changing team. Tenth member of the group, Maj. Risden Wall, will be narrator on the national television program.

The telecast will consist of an engine changing contest pitting the Webb team against a crew from Laughlin AFB, Del Rio.

The Webb group won the right to compete at Eglin recently by defeating the Webb team that last year set the world's record of 11 minutes and 32.2 seconds for an engine change.

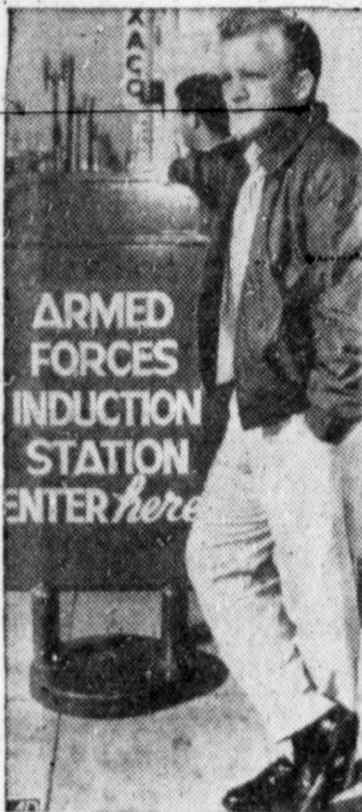

The team from the 3560th Flight Line Maintenance Squadron also beat the old Webb record, but the Air Force is keeping the new mark secret pending the completion of competition with other bases.

Webb and Laughlin teams will rehearse for their television appearance Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Wide, Wide World" can be seen in this area over the Midland station, KMD-TV. The broadcast is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, local time.

Members of the Webb team to compete in Florida Sunday are Chief Warrant Officer James M. Deason, T-Sgt. Donald Fulton, S-Sgt. Eugene F. Bleckler, S-Sgt. Robert K. Perrine, S-Sgt. Oren E. Lowery, A-1C Robert W. Burck, A-1C Donald C. Geisler, A-1C Leroy R. Powell and A-3C Melvin J. MacCuish.

Shivers Declines Jury Testimony

EDINBURG (AP) — Gov. Shivers has declined to testify before a grand jury due to probe the now-disbanded Rio Grande Democratic Club, Dist. Atty. Jim Bates said yesterday.

The governor, in a speech made April 30 in Fort Worth, asked Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd to investigate contributions made to the club which he said had been made by the State Federation of Labor, the CIO-UAW and the American GI Forum.

Shepperd said he was sending an investigator to the Valley to determine if any state or federal laws on contributions by labor unions and other organizations had been violated.

Russ Cut Challenge To U. S. Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's announced decision to cut its military manpower by about 25 percent has challenged U. S. leadership of the free world at several critical points:

1. It has increased the difficulties of maintaining Western military strength. Although such a cutback is not likely to affect Russia's capacity for atomic war, the move will almost certainly be regarded in many countries as evidence of peaceful Soviet intentions lessening Western defense needs.
2. It generates new pressure on the Eisenhower administration to regain the initiative from the Russians through some bold new move. Not all these pressures come from Democratic critics; there apparently is some such concern inside the administration.
3. The problem of keeping cold war neutrals alert to the dangers of expanding Soviet influence through political and economic infiltration is intensified.
4. The ground seems to have been cut from under one of this country's strategies for pressuring Russia to agree to the reunification of Germany, and the solution of that outstanding East-West problem therefore becomes more difficult.

Concern over these problems apparently motivated the skeptical line taken by administration officials yesterday in discussing Moscow's announcement Monday that military personnel would be reduced by 1,200,000 men. The Soviets never have published figures on their mobilized strength. Western estimates put the figure at about 4 1/2 million.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference the proposed cut could not be verified. He summed up his attitude this way: "I'm merely warning that I believe what has happened can be explained by economic factors and the desire of the Soviet rulers to strengthen their economy in terms of agriculture and industry—perhaps to have more people in the factories which produce modern weapons rather than to have them standing around doing guard duty or training duty in the army."

Secretary of Defense Wilson said at a later session with newsmen the move seemed to be a "step in the right direction" but that it did not alter materially Russia's real military power.

Wilson said he would not say that the Moscow announcement "means nothing," but that it does not appear to "justify any appreciable change in our present military strength" or in worldwide U. S. military alliances.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Carter L. Burgess told a Senate subcommittee yesterday the United States plans to maintain armed forces of about 2,850,000 "for the indefinite future."

U. S. officials have commented that the Moscow announcement made no mention of large armed forces "cutbacks" by Western nations since World War II.

Like Wilson, Dulles said the promised Russian reduction would not warrant at this stage any cutback in Western strength.

Officials conceded the Soviets were making extremely clever use of what was, by most American estimates, an internal necessity.

In a sense the Russians were regarded as converting a weakness into strength by emphasizing the peaceful aspects of a reduction of men under arms when the long-range effect may be to increase their over-all military capacity.

It now appears that the Russians have decided, in preference to joining in a general disarmament system complete with inspections, on a kind of one-sided reduction of military forces. In this way they can keep their atomic weapons under their own control, free of any international strings and promises.

The United States and its chief Western allies intend to go on pressing the Russians for disarmament but one of the chief means of pressure has now been removed. It is at this point that the link with the German problem comes in.

A year or more ago Dulles concluded that the Bulganin-Khrushchev regime had overexpanded, as he put it yesterday. It was unable to produce at the same time the volume of food it needed, some increase in consumer goods and a rapid boost in heavy industry output.

It became apparent that Moscow would like to get many men out of the barracks and back to the farms and factories.

Dulles believed the pressure to do this was so great that the men in Moscow would be willing to pay a price for it.

He thus reasoned that if disarmament and German reunification were linked up, the Soviets would be willing to make some kind of disarmament agreement which would reduce force levels and at the same time join in Western proposals for free elections to unify Communist East Germany with West Germany.

To whatever extent there was such pressure on Moscow to agree to German unification, that pressure has now been greatly reduced.

Wife Divorces Eccentric Genius

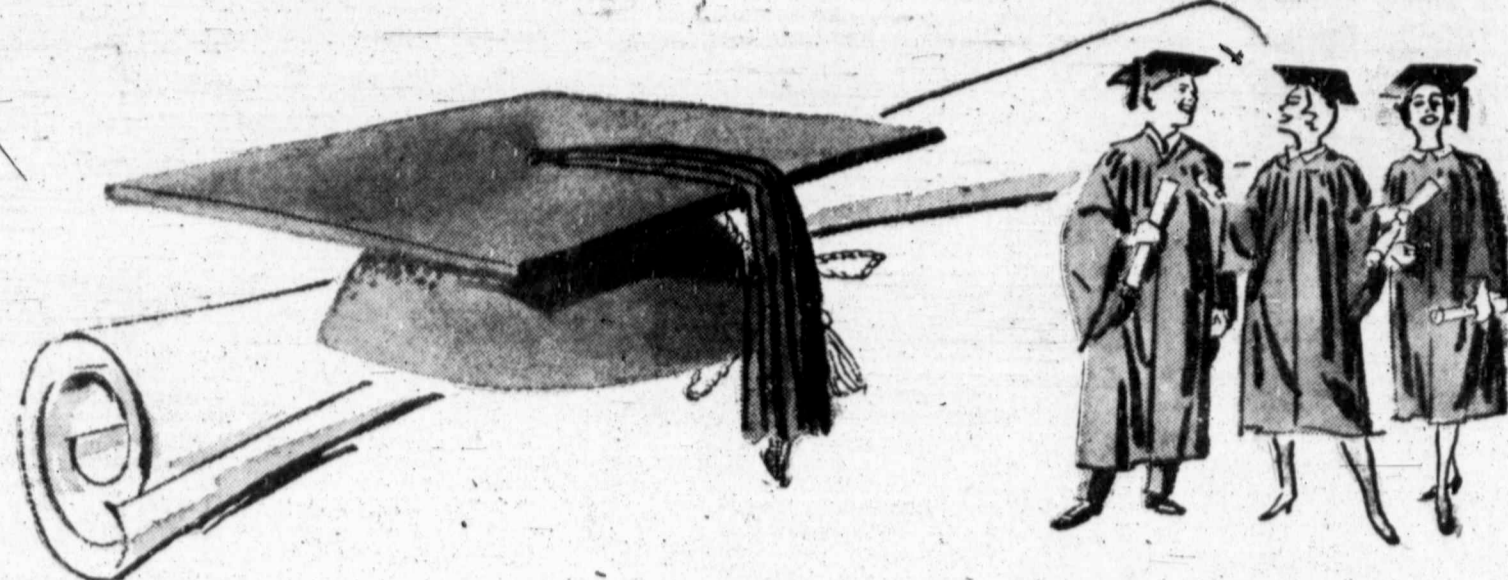

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Phyllis C. Brumfield testified in a divorce hearing that her husband had a genius IQ, but he "was always performing juvenile antics," such as crawling all over his convertible while it was in motion.

This, the 21-year-old wife told Superior Judge A. A. Scott yesterday, constituted cruelty, and her counsel agreed.

"When we'd go out in the car I'd be driving," said the pretty wife, "and he'd be climbing and crawling all over the convertible out on the hood, over the windshield, behind the seat, making remarks at passers-by. It made me nervous."

She added that John R. Brumfield, also 21, wouldn't work, wouldn't establish a home, had no interest in their 20-month-old son Jonathan.

Mrs. Brumfield got the divorce decree and custody of Jonathan. Brumfield is supervisor of a nut and bolt factory.

Uncle Ray: Chichen Itza Folk Had Number System

By RAMON COFFMAN The residents of Chichen Itza (che-CHEN-ett-SAH) knew nothing about the calendar which was used in Europe during the time of Columbus. Nevertheless they counted time after inventing their own calendar.

These people also had a system of arithmetic. As numbers they employed bars and dots. One bar was equal to our number "5." A bar with three dots made "8." Three bars, one above the other, were equal to "15."

There was a "zero" in the number system used by the Itza Indians and other members of the Maya race. The Maya zero was an outline of a shell.

In that respect, the Mayas were ahead of the ancient Romans. The Romans were without a sign for zero. If you had asked one of them to tell the reason, he might have replied:

"What's the use of having a figure for nothing?"

To express their numbers, the Romans used letters of the alphabet, as "I" for "1" for "100," "X" for "10," and "C" for "100."

If a Roman had been asked to write "1956," he might have written "MCCCCLVI." Another way to write the same number was "MCMLVI," and in this case the "C" for "100" was subtracted from the second "M" for "1,000." The Roman system worked, but it was awkward. In modern days, when we express sums of money in millions and billions of dollars, we should have a very hard time if we used Roman numerals!

Maya picture of a chief being carried in a litter.

A "figure for nothing" is highly important. It made the decimal system possible.

The decimal system was invented in India. A system of a similar nature, the "vigesimal" (vy-JES-mal) system was employed by the people of Chichen Itza and other cities of the Mayas.

TB Council Lays Plans For 'Total War' Against Malady

AUSTIN (AP)—Plans for a new total war on tuberculosis have been made by physicians, health experts, and laymen.

High praise rang out for Texas efforts to stamp out TB—the nation's worst infectious killer. A campaign to completely wipe out the scourge was launched.

A report, "Searchlight on TB," included 20 recommendations to help kill the killer. The report was compiled in two years by 4,000 persons.

Gov. Shivers told the group of 300 that met under auspices of the Texas Tuberculosis Assn. "Some states have virtually eliminated tuberculosis among their citizens. Texas can and must do the same thing."

The governor was given a scroll by the association for his "sympathetic concern" and "able leadership" in the tuberculosis control program.

It was presented by Dr. Elliott Mendenhall of Dallas, former president of the Texas TB Assn. Shivers and Edward Fagan, president of the National Tuberculosis Assn., reminded the group that "creation of wonder drugs has built up a false impression in the minds of a great majority of people in this country."

The "searchlight" report recommended that sufficient beds be provided to hospitalize the known TB cases.

"However, it is recommended that no new state hospital construction be undertaken until legislative appropriations are sufficient to provide an adequate program of patient care for the existing 3,413 beds," the report said.

Another recommendation was "that every effort be made to initiate more programs for routine chest X-rays of patients admitted to general hospitals" and that "all physicians be urged to tuberculin-test their patients routinely."

Dr. Milford Rouse of Dallas, president of the Texas Medical Assn., told the group "There must be public sentiment developed to support the premise that all cases of open tuberculosis should be encouraged to avail themselves of medical care and should be persuaded to observe proper restriction against transmitting their diseases to others."

that "creation of wonder drugs has built up a false impression in the minds of a great majority of people in this country."

Strong Position Of Veto

The Eastern press has made a discovery that this newspaper pointed out numerous times during the recent Johnson-Shivers contest for leadership of the Texas delegation to the Democratic convention in Chicago; namely, that at leader of the Texas delegation and favorite son candidate, the Democratic majority leader in the Senate will be in position to influence very strongly the platform and the naming of a presidential nominee.

known that he is not "foreclosing" himself as a potential nominee until he can be moderately certain that it will go to a moderate. This may be significant for the reason: neither Kefauver nor Harriman is considered a moderate, but Stevenson is.

Just how immoderate some of the ADA crowd can be was illustrated over the weekend by Walter Reuther, president of the Auto Workers, who called on the Democratic party to "expel" some of its Democratic members of Congress if they do not support party policy on civil rights and other issues.

He suggests some Southern Democrats be shorn of their party standing when Congress convenes next year if they don't "get right" on the party's civil rights platform plank. A cocky Reuther seems to take it for granted that the civil-rights plank will be just what the ADA crowd orders, but he seems to ignore the powerful conservative or moderate bloc which will be led by Lyndon Johnson at the convention. That bloc will have quite a lot to say about platform and nominee.

Tech Finally Makes The Grade

It's at first you don't succeed, try, try again. Such persistence finally paid off for Texas Technological College of Lubbock when, after 29 years of steady campaigning for a berth in the Southwest Conference, the application was approved last Saturday and the Red Raiders were welcomed into what is probably the toughest football conference in the nation.

team set-up will necessitate a general overhaul of schedules. All member teams have been notified not to make any commitments beyond 1961. However, the Red Raiders are no strangers to SWC grid-irons; they have played various member teams many times in the past, sometimes victoriously.

Tech has meant a lot to the growth and development of Lubbock.

In any event we congratulate a very fine school upon the success that has crowned its long struggle to break into the Southwest Conference. Tech should live up to that lofty outfit some more, and old grads of other Southwest Conference schools may watch their alma mater play without having to make a 300-400 mile trip, and when not rooting for their school, they can back Tech as the West Texas representative.

The Gallup Poll

Farmers Like Kefauver, Still Prefer Ike

By JOHN M. FENTON
PRINCETON, N. J.—If an election were being held today, President Eisenhower would likely carry the farm vote in the Midwest, but who his Democratic opponent is would determine the size of his margin of victory.

Running against Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower today would make about the same showing against the former Illinois governor as he did in 1952. Four years ago, 72 per cent of Midwestern farmers voted for Ike; as of today, 71 per cent of the farmers say they prefer the President to Stevenson, excluding those who are undecided.

If the Democratic candidate were Estes Kefauver, however, the picture would be less favorable for the Republican. With the Tennessee Senator in the race, Ike would have a much smaller margin, getting 56 per cent of the vote to Kefauver's 44 per cent, again excluding the undecided.

In other words, if the election were being held today, Mr. Kefauver—although he would still lose the vote of Midwestern farmers—would lose 13 points better in that area than Mr. Stevenson did against the President in 1952.

It should be remembered, however, that the farm vote constitutes only a part of the Midwestern electorate. Farmers and their families make up 16.7 per cent of the population in the 12 Midwestern states, ranging from 8.8 per cent in Illinois to 41.1 per cent in North Dakota.

The questions we asked and their results: "Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If Eisenhower were the Republican candidate and Stevenson were the Democratic candidate which would you like to see win?"

MIDWEST FARMERS

	Per cent
Eisenhower	71
Stevenson	29

(The above figures exclude 10 per cent who were undecided.)

Back From The Dead?

No Crisis Yet Over Desegregation

WASHINGTON — Two years ago tomorrow the Supreme Court outlawed public school segregation by race. What has happened since then? Much and nothing. There has been compliance and defiance. There has been no crisis yet. One may come.

The court's ruling affected 17 states and the District of Columbia where white and Negro students were compelled by law to attend separate schools. A number of them have desegregated, more or less.

The hard core of resistance is in the Deep South, particularly in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia, whose legislatures have passed resolutions, either flatly or obliquely defying the Supreme Court. The court has not set a time limit on desegregation. It has ordered the lower federal courts to see that the states comply with "deliberate speed."

The crisis, if it comes, may come if the Deep South still refuses to budge when the lower courts say it is time to quit slithering. It is questionable many Southern leaders will wish to put the nation in crisis by persistence in their refusal.

What will the federal government do to back up the court's ruling if, through unyielding Southern defiance, a crisis does come? No one has an answer to that one. "No one can say precisely what 'deliberate speed' means. But it's certain the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will not wait indefinitely for action without going into the lower courts."

Southern defiance has taken various forms: open criticism of the Supreme Court, action by state legislatures, action by private groups, economic pressure on Negroes.

In turn Negroes, feeling for the first time in this century the Supreme Court was behind them, have become active in collective efforts to force an end to segregation, including economic pressure. Since Dec. 5, 1955, Negroes in Montgomery, Ala., have boycotted the city's segregated buses.

Many Southern whites have decried the sit-in protests. The sponsors of National Tavern Month think this is an ex-favorite bartender?

riders the nine Supreme Court justices, whose antisegregation ruling was unanimous, as politicians who were invading rights and usurping the rights of Congress.

On March 12 over 100 Southern senators and representatives signed a "manifesto" calling the court's ruling illegal and pledging their states would use "every lawful means" of seeking its reversal.

These Southerners accused the court of trying to legislate. But they would be no civil rights legislators, and no end to school segregation, if it depended on the Southerners.

They have prevented Congress from passing civil rights legislation by filibustering or threatening to filibuster. They justify this on the ground that a minority has a right to protect itself against what it considers the injustice of a majority.

Southerners want it both ways, one way in Congress, another back home.

Back home, white legislatures pass segregation laws. They justify this on the ground that it is the will of the majority. Negroes are not in a position to filibuster in Southern legislatures.

What sometimes gets lost sight of is that the Supreme Court has not yet ruled on whether all forms of segregation are unlawful. It has outlawed segregation in schools and in recreation areas and on interstate buses.

But what of segregation in other areas of Southern life, like theaters or restaurants? "In the two years since the school decision the court hasn't said clearly whether segregation is wrong in any place or activity where public funds are not used."

What can the average man do to honor National Tavern Month? Mr. Day and Be-Kind-to-Animals Week have already taken place during this period. This stirs a thought.

If you have sent flowers to your neighbor and tossed a box of kennel krunch to man's best friend, why not sit down and figure out some way to show your appreciation to the guy who has given you some of the best beers of his life—your favorite bartender?

Many a wife thinks the neighborhood tavern is just a husband trap where the head of the house stops off on the way to the grocery store, stays five hours and comes home without the groceries.

The sponsors of National Tavern Month think this is an ex-favorite bartender?

Poland's press almost daily announces arrests of alleged "Western espionage agents" and capture and sentencing of "terrorist gangs." Many of these have been identified by Western authorities as anti-Communist underground units which enjoy widespread respect support among the population.

The Polish Communist party organ Trybuna Ludu announced May 4 that a six-member band had been sentenced to terms ranging from seven years to life. In Czechoslovakia newspapers for two days reported five trials of persons accused of listening to American broadcasts, resisting collectivization or various other "antistate activities."

Around The Rim

Society Not Doomed, But . . .

A decade ago Time magazine did a concise piece about Arnold Joseph Toynbee, perhaps the most eminent historian of our generation. His thesis was that history is reckoned in terms of civilizations, not nations; that our civilization, while not doomed inexorably, is in a precarious period. Some highlights of that piece are worth recalling.

Toynbee advanced a dryly lucid proposition: civilizations are not things-in-themselves, but simply the relations that exist between men living in a given society at a given moment in history. (And that) the goal of history, however dimly sensed in human terms, is the Kingdom of God.

"Of 26 civilizations in the past, there are only six survivors, and three of these are all but extinct. "Toynbee's theory of history is a dialectic. That is, it reports the challenge of something by an exterior force. If the response to the initial challenge is successful, the success in different ways. It is not environment but the response that men make to challenges that determines what societies will be. Indeed, there are human challenges.

"Young civilizations, emerge vigorous from the old. But like men, their very energy bears within itself the seeds of its decay.

"At first the civilization is led by a creative minority. . . Successful response to one challenge does not presuppose success in response to the next. On the contrary, the responder comes to believe that that successful response to Challenge I is inevitably the successful response to Challenge II. . . The creative minority ceases to be creative."

"At this point the internal proletariat no longer follows the lead of the no longer creative minority. . . which becomes a dominant minority, ruling by force. A time of troubles ensues. . . which more and more takes the form of world wars.

"This period is terminated when one nation delivers a knockout blow and becomes a 'universal state.' Universal states, which look strong, are one of history's great illusions. . . the downfall of the universal state is characterized by a schism in the body social which in turn reflects a schism in the soul of a mortally sick society.

"In this disintegrative process, the manners of the external proletariat become freer, those of the dominant minority more vulgar. The division between proletariat and dominant minority tends to disappear as both are lapped up and welded into one indiscriminate vulgarity.

"Then the saviors appear. . . The common characteristic of (the saviors) will be their ultimate failure to save. "Our civilization," says Toynbee, "is in its time of troubles. . . dating from the wars of the Reformation. . . But the psychic rather than material factors are the decisive forces of history. Since (man's) capacity for response (to challenges) is infinitely varied, no civilization, including our own, is inexorably doomed. Under God, man, being the equal of his fate, is the measure of his own aspiration."

WASHINGTON — Two views on world peace that might seem at first glance to be diametrically opposite came out of Britain a few days ago.

One was the suggestion from Sir Winston Churchill that maybe in time, if the Russians behave, the Soviet government should be admitted to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The other — expressed by The Manchester Guardian, a liberal newspaper in England — was that this same organization is "falling apart militarily" and that it is important now for the Western Powers to reaffirm the policy of "massive retaliation."

What Sir Winston said was couched in the vaguest of phrases but it may well be that he had his tongue in his cheek when he declared that "we have a new Russia" to deal with, and I do not myself see why, if this is so, the new Russia should not join in the spirit of this solemn agreement" — the Atlantic alliance against aggression.

The former Prime Minister warns, of course, that "it would be fatal for NATO now to relax and let apathy overtake what has been achieved."

But, it will be asked, if the Russians become virtuous and saintly, then what purpose does NATO serve? To resist what potential aggressor would its military organization be maintained? Also, the moment the Soviet Union abandons its aggressor policies and stops abusing the veto power, why isn't the United Nations available to keep the peace of the world and even enforce it, as its charter provides? Doesn't NATO become superfluous in the hour when Soviet Russia becomes a real democracy and overthrows its dictatorship?

But in the meantime what? There is danger that preoccupation with dreams which have not yet come true can bring about the very relaxation that Sir Winston cautions against. The most realistic appraisal of this phase of the international situation has come in the editorial in The Manchester Guardian, of May 2, which says in part:

NATO—Or 'Massive Retaliation'?

WASHINGTON — Two views on world peace that might seem at first glance to be diametrically opposite came out of Britain a few days ago.

One was the suggestion from Sir Winston Churchill that maybe in time, if the Russians behave, the Soviet government should be admitted to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The other — expressed by The Manchester Guardian, a liberal newspaper in England — was that this same organization is "falling apart militarily" and that it is important now for the Western Powers to reaffirm the policy of "massive retaliation."

What Sir Winston said was couched in the vaguest of phrases but it may well be that he had his tongue in his cheek when he declared that "we have a new Russia" to deal with, and I do not myself see why, if this is so, the new Russia should not join in the spirit of this solemn agreement" — the Atlantic alliance against aggression.

The former Prime Minister warns, of course, that "it would be fatal for NATO now to relax and let apathy overtake what has been achieved."

But, it will be asked, if the Russians become virtuous and saintly, then what purpose does NATO serve? To resist what potential aggressor would its military organization be maintained? Also, the moment the Soviet Union abandons its aggressor policies and stops abusing the veto power, why isn't the United Nations available to keep the peace of the world and even enforce it, as its charter provides? Doesn't NATO become superfluous in the hour when Soviet Russia becomes a real democracy and overthrows its dictatorship?

But in the meantime what? There is danger that preoccupation with dreams which have not yet come true can bring about the very relaxation that Sir Winston cautions against. The most realistic appraisal of this phase of the international situation has come in the editorial in The Manchester Guardian, of May 2, which says in part:

"Much has been said of the nonmilitary questions which the North Atlantic Council will discuss this week, but little has been said of its military business. Mr. Dulles, M. Mollet and Mr. Pearson have talked of broadening NATO into political and economic fields. Nobody, however, has said anything in public about the disagreeable military facts which the Council ought to face.

"When Mr. Dulles says that 'the unanimity of our thinking about the great basic issues makes it apparent that the time has come to advance NATO from its initial phase into the totality of its meaning,' he means that; militarily, NATO is falling apart."

The editorial goes on to say that the French have stripped their NATO contingents in Europe to deal with the rebellion in Algeria, that the West Germans have failed to pay their share of common defense costs, that the Belgians and the Dutch are deaf to General Gruenther's renewed appeals for a two-year period of conscription and that General Gruenther's successor isn't going to get the troops which were promised for the common defense. It is further emphasized that, militarily, the 12 existing divisions of NATO are ineffective and that the time has come to devise a new strategy. It is then pointedly asked if it is really necessary "for the British and Americans to continue to spend a large amount of money on their forces in Germany?"

"Perhaps not," answers The Guardian. "For defense of the central front in Europe, we might rely chiefly on the threat of massive retaliation — which in fact is what we are now doing anyway. The threat might be more effective, as a defense, if it were explicitly acknowledged. . ."

What it all adds up to is a realization that the millennium is still far away. For Sir Winston's vision of a "new Russia" is in itself a paradox in these days of distrust and misgiving about the real intent of the unregarded rulers in the Kremlin.

Let 'Er Rain—And Collect Insurance

The saddest words of tongue or pen are not, in truth, "It might have been." The saddest scree in all creation is, "It rained through my vacation."

Think of all the Sad Sacks you have known who have returned water-logged from a vacation and spent the ensuing 50 weeks decaying fate and wet weather!

Here, obviously, is a fifth freedom—freedom from rain on vacation—that man has failed to master on his upward climb. But there is good news today in this best-of-all-possible-though-waterly worlds.

Man has not yet learned to control the weather, even in the good, old summer time. And what's good about it when it rains on a beach barbecue? Give him another ten years and doubtless he will have this problem licked, too. But in the interim there is hope and help for the vacationer who is neither Esther Williams nor Donald Duck.

A group of American insurance firms has just announced that it is now offering a vacation rain insurance policy. It—the policy—will cover you and me like a silver-lined umbrella in any of more than 100 of the most popular vacation spots in the U.S.A.

If there is precipitation in Miami or Martha's Vineyard, in Los Angeles or Lake Tahoe, it won't be raining rain or even violets. On a vacation, who needs violets? To the man, woman or child with such insurance, it will be pouring, greenbacks, and never mind the cats and dogs. Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned unless it is a vacationer inundated. It is one woman's opinion, based on her observations as a resort editor of a New York newspaper in the sweet long ago, that nothing is so apt to unhinge old Homo sapiens as continuous rain on his own time and money.

The most sober citizen, shooting his wad on a vacation in such deluxe resorts as Miami or Palm Beach, is transformed into a manic depressive after 10 days of continuous rain. If this mental state merely led to simple solutions like suicide or murder, it could be condoned.

But it is my observation that it is more apt to lead to hanky-pank, especially in the fancier resorts. Any vacationer who feels that fate is unfairly casting him in a revival of "Rain" is apt to start acting like Miss Sadie Thompson or the Rev. Davidson.

I remember one soggy season in Palm Beach that wound up in 23 divorce suits, nine for separate maintenance and two for alienation of affections.

This new vacation rain insurance is bound to lead to increased domestic tranquility and public probity. The vacationer who feels he is merely wasting the boss' time and not his own money will regard the rain as an inconvenience rather than a personal affront.

He can then settle down to ping-pong or canasta while the rain and the money roll in. Apres insurance, le deluge. But who cares, if it's money in the bank? Copyright, 1956, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Gov. Lausche 'Walks Alone' As 'Favorite Son' Candidate

By JACK BELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 15 (AP)—In Ohio politics, they call Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche the man who walks alone.

In his 60th year he is walking a familiar, politically lonely path as Ohio's "favorite son" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and as his party's unopposed nominee for the United States Senate.

Lausche, a six-foot gentle bear of a man with rumpled shock of graying hair, has developed a technique of campaigning for and holding office that has given him five terms as governor. This is two more than any Ohioan ever served before.

The technique seems to consist of ignoring most of the established rules while projecting the Lausche personality to the voters.

The keynote of that personality, as Lausche displays it to the public, is sincerity of an emotional sort. Tears come mistily to his eyes as he talks of the traditions of America with the reverence born of a son of a Slovenian immigrant.

Lausche's critics, of whom there are more than a few in Ohio, call all this part of a phony sales campaign. They say he caters to the business interests of Ohio and enlists Republican support in that matter. They describe him as a hard man with his enemies.

The governor has accumulated many of these enemies by ignoring the Democratic party organization, denying it patronage and sometimes publicly supporting Republicans for office. In the minds of some Democrats, he is more Republican than Democratic.

As he himself has put it, his political creed is: "I will not allow my party interest to overcome my interest in my country."

In 1950 Lausche turned a cold shoulder on the Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate and spoke glowingly of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, a Republican. Only this year he admitted on a television program he voted for Taft.

He has praised President Eisenhower to such an extent as to cause his November opponent, Republican Sen. George Bender, to accuse him of "trying to grab Ike's coat tails."

All of this has not endeared him to party colleagues. He has made an enemy out of Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. Kirwan will give Lausche no help in the Youngstown district where Kirwan is strong.

Lausche often has turned his back on the legislative demands of Ohio's organized labor leaders.

The CIO endorsed his opponent in the Democratic gubernatorial primary in 1948. Yet John Rooney, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO Council, declares, "We never spent any money against Lausche."

That seems, in a way, to sum up Lausche's political success thus far. He pleases no one segment of the electorate fully. Neither does he fully alienate any large segment.

Lausche has a habit of confounding the political liberals with his proposals while assuaging the conservatives with his performance.

His proposals to the Republican Legislature often are New Dealism in nature. His critics say he knows in advance the Legislature won't accept them. What comes out of this maneuvering usually amounts to a moderately progressive program.

But it is as a conservative that Lausche has been boomed by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), Governors Allan Shivers of Texas and Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana as a potential presidential candidate acceptable to the South.

Lausche, who has proposed that Ohio set up a State Fair Employment Practices Commission and who opposes segregation in Ohio schools, has said the question of racial integration in the schools should be handled by the states.

The Ohio governor disclaims any present presidential ambitions. He says he wants to be the state's "favorite son" candidate only to keep Ohio's 58 presidential nominating votes out of the hands of the "bosses."

But, of course, he wouldn't say "no" if the presidential nomination appeared headed his way. And he probably wouldn't reject second place on the ticket.

He described himself as "equally friendly" to Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Adlai E. Stevenson. Meanwhile, he has at hand the task of campaigning to oust Bender from the Senate.

That may be a tough task. Bender has grabbed off some of the financial support usually lined up for governor. There is some doubt that as many Republicans will support him for the Senate as have for state office.

Dr. George C. Baker Jr., professor of evangelism in the Perkins School of Theology at SMU, will conduct the Protestant "mission" at Webb Air Force Base, starting Sunday. Dr. Baker conducted a similar program at the base in 1954 and was a popular figure while here.

Mrs. Lucile Shewbert filed the suit in Circuit Court yesterday. She asked the damages for injuries to herself and children in a collision last November between an automobile and a circus elephant.

MADRID (AP)—New York theatrical producer Richard Aldrich, whose second wife was the late Gertrude Lawrence, has been named chief of the U.S. economic mission to Spain.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, Inc., is being sued for $105,000 damages because no warning lights were hung on or near an elephant.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Socialite Winthrop Gardiner was granted a divorce yesterday from Sonja Henie, the ice skating star, on grounds of desertion and mental cruelty.

Gardiner charged in his suit filed April 6 that he and the famed skater had only two weeks together in more than six years of marriage. Sonja's mother was with them the rest of the time, he said.

Child Is Burned To Death After Jet Accident

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—One child burned to death and another suffered critical burns over most of his body Monday when a wing tank fell from a jet fighter plane and exploded.

The tank hit the ground near an apartment house and flaming fuel splashed over Billy Ifft and Kathy Price, each 4, who were playing nearby.

The girl died several hours later in St. Joseph's Hospital. Attendents said the 11ft boy was in "very critical condition."

Nearby buildings were scorched. A spokesman for the Air Force at nearby Ladd Air Force Base, the plane's home station, said the accident was caused "by a material failure on the wing and was not the pilot's error."

Boy Meets Death Under School Bus

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y. (AP)—Home was only two blocks away when 6-year-old Arthur Mestrovich Jr. scampered off a school bus yesterday.

A drawing with a shiny gold star for achievement was clutched in his hand. He'd earned the star in his kindergarten class.

Perhaps Arthur was in too big a hurry to show his mother what he'd done. He darted in front of the bus.

Mothers at the bus stop screamed. Arthur's mother, Margaret, 35, found her only child crushed to death under the wheels of the bus.

Some Postmen Dislike Dog Spray

DALLAS (AP)—Postmaster W. B. Hudson said yesterday that a plan for chemical-repellent uniforms for letter carriers to ward off attacking dogs has met with objection.

Some carriers say they are dog lovers and don't want to repel the pooches they meet on their routes. Hudson said the uniforms were being considered because 20 to 25 complaints about vicious dogs are filed each month by carriers.

Benson Orders Continuance Of Controls On Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson ordered today the continuance of rigid federal production and marketing controls on the 1957 wheat crop, subject to a referendum of growers July 22.

The controls, in effect three years, must be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting. Farmers have never rejected wheat quotas.

The 1957 program again would limit marketings to the amount produced on 55 million acres. This is the amount which was allotted growers for planting.

Excess wheat would be subject to a stiff penalty tax and its producers would be denied price support aid.

Benson said wheat continues to pose "one of the most serious problems in the whole economy" because of the accumulation of record reserve and surplus supplies.

He said taking these extra supplies into account, enough wheat could be produced on 12,400,000 acres next year to meet anticipated needs.

Farm law does not permit him to set the allotment below 55 million acres.

"The plain fact is that, in spite of valiant attempts to channel more wheat into exports, we will have enough of the grain for the marketing year beginning July 1 to take care of all our domestic and export needs for more than two full years," Benson said.

"Surpluses accumulated under high price support programs, at a tremendous cost to the government, still adversely affect farm prices."

Germans Get Arms From U.S.

BREMERHAVEN, Germany (AP)—The first large scale shipment of heavy arms equipment from the United States for West Germany's armed forces arrived today aboard the U.S. transport Kingsport Victory.

In a dockside address, U. S. minister to Germany Walter J. Dowling said these arms and other shipments to come would be a dominant factor in raising NATO's shield of defense against any aggression.

Lt. Gen. Adolf Eusinger of the West German army called the first shipment a "historic act." He said the republic would do its best to meet military obligations based on defense treaties with the West.

Today's shipment included 23 light M41 Walker Bulldog tanks, self-propelled artillery, and 20 tank recovery vehicles.

Lost 30 Pounds With Barcetrate

"I strongly recommend Barcetrate to take off weight quickly and pleasantly," writes Wayne F. Haight, 4512 Caswell Ave., Austin, Texas. "Have lost a total of 30 pounds. I now take Barcetrate occasionally as it keeps me in good health."

Get Barcetrate from any Texas drugist. Take according to directions. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat, without starvation diet return the empty bottle for your money back.

Nearly six and a half million bottles sold in Texas in 13 years.

Film Producer Sues Italian Star

ROME (AP) — A Greek film producer called jewelers, furriers and dressmakers into court yesterday to testify in his suit for $49,000 from movie beauty Silvana Pampanini.

The producer, Ergas Morris, says that what he paid out on Miss Pampanini's behalf during 1953 and 1954 in what he called a sentimental relationship which he had thought might lead to marriage.

The Italian pinup favorite replied she doesn't intend to pay him a cent, and that there's "not a word of truth" to the story about a sentimental relationship.

She contended the only gifts she received were those which she said a star normally is given by a producing company.

$2 Billion Asked By Farm Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department asked Congress today for another two billion dollars to support farm prices and served notice it may have to come back again for still more money by next spring.

The additional amount, which Congress is obligated to supply under the farm price support program, will raise from 12 to 14 billion dollars the total agricultural borrowing authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

This hike is the latest in a series since World War II. Only last July Congress raised CCC's financing authority to 12 billion dollars from 10.

Testifying before the House Banking Committee Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said booming crop production had made the increase necessary.

He said there was "record or near-record production of major crops in 1955," and added that the outlook was "for a continued heavy volume of price support operations of 1956 crops."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Union League Club in New York, Secretary of Agriculture Benson noted that the government has about nine billion dollars tied up in farm commodities in connection with price support programs. He called this "a catastrophe to our farmers."

Morgan Davis Humble Oil Chief

HOUSTON (AP) — Morgan Davis has been elected executive vice president of Humble Oil. He will assist President Hines Baker in the general administration of the company's affairs.

Ed Hammer was elected a director to succeed Davis as director in charge of exploration. All other officers were reelected.

Humble followed a recent Standard Oil Co. (NJ) announcement today of placing a new, extra-high performance gasoline on the market. The new gasoline, Golden 55, Extra, was developed by Humble.

highway speeds—because it retains that good natural "feel" of the road. (That's something, you really should compare.)

On the other hand, it gives you more power assist when you need it most—at crawl speeds and at full stop. For parking and other tight maneuvering, Buick's Power Steering makes wheel turning nearly twice as easy as other types of systems. (And that's by engineering computation.)

Add another plus: this Buick feature works through the new Buick front end—where a unique new geometry and steering linkage bring a sweet new response and a wonderfully easy handling and a surer "sense of direction" even to new Buicks not equipped with the power system.

So there you are—and here we are, waiting to prove it all to you.

Waiting, also, to let you try the new thrills to
