Sam Rayburn's Sister Dies At Bonham Home

BONHAM, Tex., May 26 (AP)—Miss Lucinda Rayburn, well known in Washington society as the official hostess of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, died here this afternoon.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.) was at her bedside when she died. She was believed in her early 80s.

Miss Rayburn underwent an operation about six weeks ago and her condition became critical last Sunday.

Speaker Rayburn, who sponsored Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas in his successful capture of the Democratic Party machinery in Texas at the state convention last Tuesday, did not attend the convention. He remained with his sister.

Miss Rayburn also maintained Rayburn's home here.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Monday at the Wise Funeral Home in Bonham. Burial will be in Bonham.

Miss Rayburn was born in Roane County, Tenn., daughter of William Marion and Martha Waller Rayburn.

The family came to Texas in 1889 and settled in the Flag Springs Community south of Windom, about 8 miles south of Bonham.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church, the Bonham Garden Club, Current Literature Club and was an honorary member of the Horizon Club, a Camp Fire Girls' organization.

Appointments Will End M. E. Sessions

Methodists of Northwest Texas close out their 47th annual conference here today with announcement of minister appointments and ordination of deacons and elders.

Bishop William C. Martin will read the appointments and adjourn the conference at 4 p. m. The final business session starts at 2:30 p. m. and will include the ordination ceremony and report of the committee on resolutions.

Two worship services are planned this morning for the conference through an local Methodists at the First Methodist Church. At 9 a. m., Dr. H. Clyde Smith, former pastor here, will preach. Bishop Martin will deliver the sermon at the 10:30 a. m. service.

The annual meeting which opened Wednesday has attracted more than 1,000 visitors to Big Spring throughout the Northwest Texas area of the conference. These were joined Saturday by hundreds of young people who arrived for the annual Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting of the conference.

At the business session Saturday, the conference set its 1957 session for the San Jacinto Church in Amarillo. That action and approval of reports from the treasurer and statistician concluded most of the conference's business. Bishop Martin and his cabinet spent Saturday afternoon working out details of the ministerial assignments that will be announced today.

Bishop Martin, in the last of a series of devotionals on "There is A Tide," Saturday morning called on ministers to take full advantage of the "tide of reawakened interest in the church and widened participation in its activities."

"In a hundred different ways, more impacts of a religious nature are being brought to bear on the American people," he declared. He told the conference to recognize that fact and to be grateful to God for it.

"See to it that, whatever brings people to church, they'll find something there to make them want to return," he admonished.

Bishop Martin also called attention to a need for increased cooperation of Protestant denominations to take full advantage of the swelling tide of religious interest.

He predicted that the different groups will be cooperating through county councils within a few years.

He scoffed at prospects for any single, huge Protestant church, with a central episcopacy or "vatican," however.

He said different groups will cooperate in programs for spreading the Word of Christ "when all realize that all are members of the whole Body of Christ."

Bishop Bascom Watts of Nebraska, in his final conference sermon Friday evening, "What Is Salvation," told the conference that "salvation is a necessity from the standpoint of God, Christ and man."

"Sin is separation from God and only God incarnate could bring the sinner home," he said. "Salvation is impossible without the suffering of Christ and faith of man."

He said more exciting and heroic than we thought it to be, said Bishop Watts.

"The saved man orders his life according to the ideals of the Savior," he said. "Sin must be corrected, but he who does the correcting suffers in the correction."

Bishop Watts urged Methodists to "never get away from the warmth of brother" in their reference to fellow Christians.

"I'd rather be everybody's brother than anybody's bishop," he declared.

Reports Saturday showed church membership in the conference now is 102,538, a gain of 1,536 in the past year; 361 preachers, a gain of 16; and 79,661 enrolled in church school, a gain of 2,518.

The treasurer reported $5,848,605 in contributions in the past year, an increase of $129,556 over the previous year; general world service expenditures of $107,657.11, amounting to $89,314.15; special gifts to mission causes, $109,360.70; general assessments, $275,108.66.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Methodists flocking in from almost every direction to the 47th annual Northwest Texas Conference meeting, wags were working overtime producing such witty ones as these: The weather supports a lock on your chicken house for the duration; and the shineboy who complained that Methodists had come to town with the Ten Commandments in one pocket and a $10 bill in the other—and had broken neither. All of which is another way of saying the coming is very conscious of having these good people as our guests.

Weather would have been a much better topic had it been weter and more general. Some few spots in northern Howard got between one and two inches in two hard showers. Most of Big Spring received three-quarters of an inch or more. About the most the shower did was to provide a reprieve and sustain hope.

If the equipment is the controlling element, the county's road construction program ought to go into high gear. Items were received last week, including a heavy roller, so that most of the additions ordered recently by the court have been delivered.

The Webb AFB jet, engine change team last week set a new world's record at Eglin AFB, Fla., doing the job before TV cameras in six minutes, 11 seconds, about half of the record a team from here established last year. Considering that the Eglin rules were more stringent, the time was as

SLAYING IN NEVADA Suspect Taken In Death Of Heiress

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., May 26 (AP)—William E. Boswell, 35, wanted in the slaying of a pretty young Philadelphia heiress in Nevada, was captured today in this small Vermont town.

Middlebury police Chief Don Williamson said Boswell was taken into custody as he drove up to the home of his wife, Mrs. Arline Boswell, 22.

Boswell had been sought in a nationwide hunt since the body of Mrs. Anne Harris Van Ryne, 22, was found in his apartment in Carson City, Nev., Thursday night.

Mrs. Van Ryne, an expectant mother, had been garrotted. Her body was found stuffed in a closet.

Boswell was captured by two state troopers and Patrolman Lucius Shaw of the Middlebury police. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

A 24-hour guard was placed at the home where Mrs. Boswell was staying last night after a nationwide alarm was issued for Boswell's arrest.

Mrs. Boswell lives with her mother, Mrs. Eva Daudlin, who reported earlier she received a telephone call last night from Boswell. Mrs. Daudlin said Boswell told her he would arrive in Middlebury today.

Boswell was taken to Addison County jail in Middlebury and questioned by Chief Williamson.

Thousands At Air Event See Jet Plow Into Ground

EL PASO, Tex., May 26 (AP)—An estimated 10,000 persons today saw a jet fighter plane making a fireproof demonstration at nearby Ft. Bliss grind into the ground and burst into flames in the desert.

An official at Clovis (N.M.) Air Force Base, where the pilot was based as a member of the 386th Fighter-2nd Wing, identified the victim as 2nd Lt. Warren M. Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Kimball of Phoenix, Ariz.

His plane and two others, all F86H Sabrejets, came in low at a rocket target in an Army-Air Force fireproof demonstration.

Two planes pulled up but the third roared into the ground behind hills at the edge of the range.

The rest of the demonstration was cancelled.

Bill Russell, reporter for the El Paso Herald-Post, described the crash:

"The plane 'came in much lower than the other two. The pilot seemed to be in trouble. He managed to lower his tail a little as if he were getting control but continued roaring downward."

"Then, about a quarter mile from the grandstand down the range he seemed to be pulling up."

Italian Voting Watched Today

ROME, May 26 (AP)—Italians will choose new local governments tomorrow and Monday in an election of wide international significance. A turnout of about 30 million voters is expected.

It will show whether middle of the road democracy in Europe is being weakened by the new Communist themes of coexistence and anti-Stalinism.

The Italian voting ground is a sensitive one. With two million members, the Italian Communist party is the largest outside the Iron Curtain. In the last national election in 1953 for a Chamber of Deputies, 37.2 per cent of Italian voters chose the extreme Left alliance of Communists and part-time Socialists.

The Western world is waiting to see Italian voters' reaction to the change in Communist tactics. This is the first important election in a member of the Atlantic Alliance since the switch.

Favor Larger Delegation For Visit To Moscow

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The United States, it was learned today, probably will suggest to Russia next week that its invitation for a few Air Force officers to visit Moscow be broadened to include top leaders of other services.

President Eisenhower will make the final decision, probably on a recommendation from the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Soviet invitation has been accepted subject to certain conditions which in effect would change its nature substantially.

Eisenhower's own attitude toward an exchange of officials between this country and the Soviet Union was described by former officials as positive: The administration appears at the moment to be prepared for an open-ended series of official visits which could lead eventually to an invitation to the Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin to come to this country. That is not a specific purpose of American diplomacy now but some officials concede it could work out that way.

Eisenhower has given his personal attention to the Soviet invitation to the Air Force ever since Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and his associates decided early this week that it could lead to an important visit or series of visits in the interest of the United States. The Soviet invitation was informally presented to the Air Force last Monday by Col. Philip Bachinsky, air attaché at the Soviet Embassy acting at the direction of Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet armed forces chief.

The estimate was made against the background of a situation in which all the armed forces are bidding for funds, and competing with each other for what they consider their rightful place in the defense picture.

It was included in nearly 20 pages of closed-door testimony from which 111 deletions were made by Defense Department censors prior to release.

LeMay's opinion, based on jet bomber programs of this country and intelligence estimates of the Soviet, was produced in a series of questions by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), chairman of the air power inquiry.

The general said that if data supplied by the Central Intelligence Agency are correct, the

Russia Will Be Stronger In Air By 1960—LeMay

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Gen. Curtis LeMay estimates that by 1959 Russia will have enough long-range bombers and nuclear weapons to destroy the United States—if Soviet airmen should get every conceivable break in a surprise attack.

"From 1953, he is stronger in long-range airpower than we are, and it naturally follows that if he is stronger, he may feel that he should attack."

Symington broke in to say that if the Russians got all the breaks "in a sudden surprise attack, wisely handled by their air commanders, it might be possible for them to destroy the United States now (from 1958 on); is that correct?"

"Yes," LeMay replied. "If everything went in his favor and we made all the mistakes possible," LeMay told Symington that by 1958 the Russians will be stronger in long-range bombers "and that the deterrent force would then transfer to Russia from the United States."

Symington pressed LeMay again on "What year do you think they will be in a position, if they hit us, to destroy us? We will accept a guess from the man who has the most right to guess."

"I don't like to guess on those things, but if you insist, I will come up with a guess," LeMay said.

He said that intricate "war games" had indicated that by 1960 the deterrent could win "with a complete surprise attack," that by 1958 their total bomber power, both long-range, medium and other, would be equal to this country's.

"So—somewhere between those two, possibly, is the answer, say 1959."

"That is a guess," LeMay added as the exchange ended.

LeMay testified that past and present superiority of his worldwide bomber force had prevented start of an atomic war and should prevent one as long as superiority continues.

He repeated several times that if an atomic war starts, the United States and its allies must fight it with equipment they then have. He said all aircraft factories, industrial centers and other necessary aid would be bombed out.

"Whoever wins the air power battle will then go on and win the war," LeMay said.

If Russia should try a surprise attack today, LeMay said enough of his SAC bombers would survive to carry out terrible retaliation.

Parts Of State Get Rain, With Storm Threats

Thunder howlers interrupted grain harvesting in Northwest Texas as Saturday and a storm warning was posted for that part of the state.

A tornado was reported spotted about 25 miles east of Amarillo by the State Disaster and Relief office in Austin. The twister apparently did no damage.

Showers which brought rain gauges to the half-inch mark at Electra caused a halt to harvesting of a bumper wheat crop in the area. Harvesters cut about 80 per cent of the grain but uncult wheat was endangered.

The weather bureau issued a severe weather warning calling for scattered severe thunderstorms until 10 p. m. The area was bounded by a point near Lubbock on the west and Mineral Wells on the east, extending north to a line from Lubbock to Wichita Falls.

The warning came a day after Mrs. Manuela Rios, 53, was killed near Levelland, Tex., by lightning, and torrential rain, hail stones and a tornado caused property damage.

The Friday night weather eruption flooded farmlands and snapped power lines and swept a car off the highway.

Then relative calm weather settled over the state, Saturday. Gentle rains fell in several cities and the most violent weather in the state was limited to isolated thunderstorms that left 2½ inches of rain northwest of Lamesa.

12 Frenchmen Slashed Down In Rebel Raid

ALGIERS, May 26 (AP)—A band of Algerian rebels slashed the throats of 12 French civilians in a raid last night on a construction company in eastern Algeria.

The rebels cut down the head of the French construction company, his wife, five technicians and five guards while 30 Moslem workers scattered in panic.

Rescue teams found the two young children of the company chief and his wife huddled unharmed among the mutilated bodies.

The rebel band fled into the Aures Mountains 150 miles south of Constantine. French troops pursued them.

The raid took place as Algeria rocked under one of the worst waves of rebel violence and sabotage in the 18-month-old National Liberation War.

Terrorists dynamited a big dam, fired grain storage depots, and three grenades in crowded cities. French troops countered by killing at least 80 rebels in battles south-east of Algiers and far to the west near Oran.

Sudden new violence against the French flared also in the neighboring North African territories of Morocco and Tunisia.

The French announced they were building barred wire entanglements along the Morocco-Algerian frontier to counter Algerian rebel traffic across the border. About 30 miles of wire will be spotted in defiles along a rugged 300-mile stretch of the frontier.

River Searched For Missing Man

AUSTIN, May 26 (AP)—Police and firemen searched today for a Bastrop man believed drowned in the Colorado River.

James Revetta, 33, was last seen shortly before 4 a. m. Saturday, bobbing up and down in the swift river current. A member of a swimming party, John Mattox of Huston-Tillotson College for Negroes, told detectives he tried to save Revetta but had to let go in order to keep from being drowned himself.

82-Year-Old 'Mr. Mac' Is Honored As Lamesa Pioneer

LAMESA, May 26 (AP)—W. B. McWhorter was crowned "King of the Pioneers" at the Dawson County Old Timers Reunion here Saturday.

"Mr. Mac" has been a familiar figure around Lamesa for more than 65 years. His son, Murray McWhorter of Austin, placed the crown on the 82-year-old pioneer.

Others honored at the annual reunion were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Syrett of Lamesa, as the oldest man and woman at the reunion. He is 88 and she is 84. Mrs. Ann Owens, Richmond, Calif., was recognized as the person coming the greatest distance to the gathering.

More than 300 persons attended the reunion in Pioneer Park.

McWhorter first came to Dawson County in 1889 from Jones County. His first job was on the old Slaughter Ranch, where he worked for 15 years.

Old timers said only three other men have records of residence in the county comparable to McWhorter's. They are Hardy Morgan, E. G. Salser and E. R. Yates.

show opened Saturday at 1 p. m. and closed late Saturday night. In addition to the custom and modified autos, exhibits were made by dealers of 1956 models and automotive specialty shows.

In addition to Big Spring auto enthusiasts, competitors were present from Fort Worth, Abilene, and Lubbock.

Winner in the semi-custom class was Tommy Graves of Fort Worth. He entered a 1954 Ford convertible. In the unfinished custom bracket, another Fort Worth entry, Bobby Blum, was winner. Blum had a 1954 Chevrolet.

Dick Fort of Big Spring took the trophy in the foreign sport car class, showing a 1951 Jaguar. Bob Mires, with a 1956 Thunderbird, copied the American division of the sports car group.

In the antique division, winner was Arthur Madewell of Big Spring, who showed a 1926 model Dodge. Franklin Kirby of Big Spring was first in the hot rod class.

A 1932 Ford took first place for Lee Christion of Lubbock in the competition coupe bracket, and in the custom interior division, James Rascoe of Big Spring was the winner. Rascoe had a 1951 model Chrysler.

Bert Eckstein with a 1950 Oldsmobile placed first in the stock car division—1949 and up. Eckstein is stationed at Webb. In the 1948 and under stock competition, winner was Lt. P. B. O'Donnell of Webb with a 1941 Lincoln Continental.

Lee Denton of Big Spring carried away the trophy in the engine judging, with a 1936 Ford entry.

Judges were T. J. Ball, Truman Mason, Arthur Madewell, and B. Murray.

Steel Wage Increase To Be Sought

PITTSBURGH, May 26 (AP)—The United Steelworkers begin Monday presenting to the basic steel industry formal demands for a "substantial" wage increase and other broad contract improvements for 650,000 union members.

U. S. Steel Corp., the world's biggest producer and usually the leader in reaching agreement, will be the first to hear USW President David J. McDonald explain in detail what the union wants.

Most of the basic steel contracts expire at midnight June 30. The union will be free to call a nationwide strike then if a settlement is not reached.

Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U. S. Steel, said he expects the union to get a wage increase and also predicted an industry-wide hike in the basic price of steel. He did not mention figures for either.

Any labor gains almost certainly will mean steel price increases all down the line to the final consumer. Many top steel executives contend that aside from labor gains a steel price hike is needed to finance expansion of production facilities.

Negotiations will be of vital interest for 27 communities in 301

Soviet Jet Plane Is Described As 'First Class' Job

ZURICH, Switzerland, May 26 (AP)—An American Air Force officer who inspected the latest Soviet jetliner today said the plane was "a first-class airplane and a very well-done airliner."

The American air attaché in Switzerland, Col. Howard H. Burris of San Antonio, Texas, was the first American Air Force officer to be allowed to have a close, inside look into the giant, two-engine TU104 jet which went on display here for the International Air Show.

The United States, Russia, Britain, France, Sweden, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland exhibited 56 different airplanes at the two-day show here.

A flying demonstration of American, French, British and Swedish jet fighter planes will highlight tomorrow's flying demonstration.

Young Followers Of Isaak Walton

Young Thomas Lynn Bailey, 7, above, wasn't lucky enough to win any prizes in the Big Spring Hunting and Fish Club Fish Rodeo at the Cosden Club lake Saturday but he did catch a fish. Below, Allen Ray Daniels, 8, and Butch Nichols, 9, seem to be wondering if they are to emulate the achievement of Mr. Bailey. Seventy-five young fishermen took part in the Fish Rodeo.

Youngsters Show Fishing Skills In Day-Long 'Rodeo'

Young fishermen had their day Saturday at the Cosden Club Lake. Occasion was the first annual Fish Rodeo sponsored by the Big Spring Fishing and Hunting Club. Participants were sons and daughters of the members of the club and the attractive assortment of prizes—all in the fishing tackle category—lured 75 to 80 youngsters to the shores of the lake.

A wind, which at times was too brisk to be called a breeze, a faint threat of rain which produced only a sprinkle, and a hot sun which broke through the clouds of morning drove many of the ambitious anglers home before the 5 p.m. deadline.

However, there were sturdy characters who stuck out the whole day and at deadline came trudging up the embankment with their day's catch.

Such a character was young Melvin Lee Mason, aged 5 years.

He was easy winner for the biggest string of fish, Melvin, who began his angling at 9 a.m. and came in just before 5 p.m., had 87 fish on his stringer. All were "pollywog" catfish and the biggest was perhaps three and a half inches long. Others were much smaller. Anyway, big or not, the prize, a fine reel, was his for having the longest string.

The contest was broken into two groups determined by age. The first group, from 5 to 11, competed only in their own ranks. The second group for boys and girls 11 to 14 years old, was handled in the same manner.

Six prizes were posted in each division. The young fishermen failed to snare a single crappie so technically this prize was unwon. The judges settled it by awarding it in the junior section to the third.

largest string and in the older division to winner of a penny toss in the penny toss to take second prize for the second biggest string. Three boys had tied for the place with four fish each.

In the youngster group, Joe Coats was closest to Melvin Lee with a string of 62. Cooper Lee Proctor was third with 17.

Mike Peters' 13½-inch catfish won him top prize in that competition and Tony Emerson turned in a bass measuring 8½ inches to clinch that award.

Mike Alexander was possessor of the biggest perch—a miniature whale which scaled 5½ inches.

Thomas Selkirk, 12-year-old expert, lugged home three of the six possible prizes in the older boys' division. He had 40 fish for the longest string; a 14½-inch specimen for top catfish; an 8-inch bass took first prize for Selkirk in that competition.

Johnny Harrison was "lucky" in the penny toss to take second prize for the second biggest string. Three boys had tied for the place with four fish each.

Ray Alexander's 5¼-inch perch won him the prize for this division.

Officials expressed themselves well pleased with the initial Fish Rodeo and hope to repeat it next Spring.

A sizable gallery of parents were on hand to applaud the winners and watch the antics of the young sportsmen.

Measles topped the weekly report of communicable diseases, prepared by the city-county health unit, recording 49 cases during the past seven days.

Next highest figure was 32 cases of pneumonia. Only two behind pneumonia was upper respiratory trouble. Strep throat and influenza cases numbered 14 each, and there were 12 reports of diarrhea.

Nine each cases of chickenpox and gastroenteritis were suffered, and five were bothered by pertussis. Four had mumps. Three cases of trenchmouth and one hepatitis completed the weekly survey.

Warrant Means Extra Cost On Parking Tickets

To the average person, a warrant is just another term used in murder and who-dun-it movies.

But to the person who gets one from the police department here it means an additional $2.50 on his fine.

Through Saturday, 29 persons had paid the extra $2.50 for having a warrant served this month. Three of the 29 are now in jail "laying out" their fines and warrant costs.

Another 23 have been served with warrants and if they are found guilty, they too will pay the extra costs.

Under normal procedure, a person is given 10 days to appear in corporation court from the date of an alleged violation. Should he not present himself in the allotted time, he will then be contacted by telephone or mail and given an additional four days to appear.

But if after the 14 days, he still has not presented himself, he will be served with a warrant. Then the fine is jumped $2.50 for the warrant.

Last week, one violator who had failed to pay 13 overtime parking tickets was served, and she is one of the 29 who have been assessed the extra fee.

Favor Lifting Suspension Of MIT Professor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 26 (AP)—The Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Corp. today authorized terminating the suspension of Dirk J. Struik, professor of mathematics.

Struik was suspended in 1951 after being indicted for advocating the overthrow of the governments of the United States and Massachusetts.

The indictment was quashed yesterday as a result of the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court denying state jurisdiction over such matters because the field has been pre-empted by the federal government.

Presbyterians Fix A Record Budget

PHILADELPHIA, May 26 (AP)—The 168th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. today accepted the largest financial program in its history—a basic 1957 budget of $15,040,776 with added goals that would run the figure to $22,243,661.

Of the overall program fund, the churches will be asked to provide $25,183,661. The remainder of the hoped-for $22,243,661 would be made up by special gifts, bequests and from other sources.

The total program amount compares with the 1956 figure of $25,769,640. This year, the basic budget was $14,650,000.

The 25 million dollars anticipated in revenue from the churches represents a per capita annual rate of giving of $9.50 for the church's 2,700,000 members, a jump of 50 per cent over the 1955 figure of $6.17 per member. The 1956 income rate is yet to be determined.

The basic budget calls for $5,483,039 for national missions in 1957 and $4,604,475 for foreign missions. The total program set a national mission goal of $12,545,539 and a foreign mission mark of $10,004,475.

The basic budget as adopted unanimously today lists these allocations:

For general services $1,517,229, for Christian education $2,434,262, for theological education $635,556, for the American Bible Society $73,962, for pensions $165,000, for the National Council of Churches $73,978, and for the World Council of Churches $53,205.

Sunday's program will be purely religious in nature with many of the out-of-town pastors assigned as guest preachers at Philadelphia area churches.

On Monday, the Assembly will turn back to the proposed merger with the United Presbyterian Church and the admitting of women to the ministry.

A thrilling experience you'll never forget!

EARLE READ AND SOME OF HIS LONGHORNS
Collector has 24 sets of the relics of the Old West.

Cattle Gone, But Horns Fill Lobby Of Read Hotel

What may be the greatest display of "Longhorns" in the world has been collected by a Big Spring man.

Earle A. Read has the horns from the old Texas Longhorn breed of cattle. They fill the lobby and one room of the Read Hotel, 207 E. 2nd Street.

There are 24 sets of the horns, including the head ornaments, from what must have been the grand-daddy of all Texas Longhorns. This super set of horns measures 112 inches—that's nine feet and four inches—from tip to tip, Read says.

All the other 23 sets of horns are in the vicinity of 100 inches in spread, and they take just about every shape, a set of Longhorns could sweep and curve in.

Coloring, too, runs the scale from white to ivory, to gray, to black, with some red and blue hues thrown in.

They aren't for sale at that price, but the horns are valued at from $12,000 to $15,000. Read thinks they might average out at $1,000 a set, although he hasn't shopped around for buyers.

Rather, Read says he intends to add to his collection. He hopes to someday have a display of 50 sets, even though he doesn't know where he'll put them.

Right now the hotel lobby and "horn room" walls are hung three-deep with the horns.

Read doesn't know how he got started in his hobby of collecting horns. His oldest set of the Longhorns has been in the family about 18 years, but he didn't start gathering the others until two or three years ago when he purchased a set of the horns he took a fancy to.

"I've just bought another and another and another, and now there are 24 sets," he explains.

That first set of horns was given to Earle's father, the late H. Clay Read, by a medicine show operator who used to set up shop each year on the Reads' property.

Most of the others Read has acquired through a traveling friend whose identity Read doesn't disclose. The friend travels throughout the Southwest and Western states.

"He scouts for horns everywhere he goes," Read said. "When he finds a set he knows I'll like, he trades for them."

The 112-inch horns came from western New Mexico. Read's "scout" traded for them recently and brought them to the Big Spring collector.

"They cost me a lot of money," Read said. He said he has several thousand dollars invested in the collection, but could turn them for a profit anytime he decides to sell.

The old Longhorn variety of cattle, once common in this area, is all but extinct now. Read thinks it won't be long until their horns also become a real museum piece.

That's one reason he isn't worried about the future of his investment in the trophies.

The big horns are mounted on wood bases, with the stub ends tied together with leather molding in the same position they held on some long-dead Longhorn's head. Their shapes range from almost straight to something resembling the old "handlebar" mustaches.

The collector is a life-long resident of Big Spring. He was born here Dec. 19, 1887. His father had come here in 1881 and his mother, the former Lillie Heckman, after their marriage in 1894. Mr. Read died Feb. 17, 1942. Mrs. Read, who resides at the hotel with her son, will be 91 on July 12.

"We were mostly against Wendell Wilkie because he was an interventionist," Mundt said. "I remember there were about 20 of us, all in our first year in Congress, and we went to Philadelphia together."

Mundt said he couldn't remember the idea it was. He said it grew out of meetings of what he called "The Wednesday Night Club." He said this club was composed of first-term Republican congressmen who opposed any involvement in the European war.

Call For Check On Arms Shipments

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee said today large amounts of U. S. arms shipments slated for Europe should be sent elsewhere until it is "clearer" what defense policy Europe intends to follow.

The committee rapped what it called a defense letdown by some "prosperous" Western European nations, and said the United States "cannot hope to overcome lack of zeal on the part of any nation by supplying it with equipment."

The House group set forth its views in a report to accompany the foreign aid bill, from which more than a billion dollars out of the $4,900,000,000 total requested by President Eisenhower.

No specific European country was mentioned in the report. Chairman Richards (D-SC) had previously named Britain, France and West Germany as slackening in their defense efforts.

The committee said "a substantial amount" of some 3½ billion dollars of arms— earmarked for Europe under past aid programs but still undelivered—is suitable for delivery to non-European cold war front nations such as Korea, Formosa, Thailand, Pakistan, and Turkey.

"The present situation in Europe involves sufficient elements of uncertainty to justify diverting some of the pipeline to other areas until the defense policy which Europe intends to follow is clearer," the congressmen said.

The committee report also:

1. Called on the President to "carefully consider" putting overseas arms aid within the regular U. S. defense budget next year, instead of in the foreign aid bill. It noted the administration has stressed that the military assistance program is part of America's own defense effort.

2. Disclosed the committee voted down a proposal to bar U. S. aid to any country placing American service men abroad under its own system of courts and law enforcement. This move to force revision of "status of forces" treaties the United States has with many countries was led by Rep. Bowdler (R-Ohio).

3. Included administration statements that the arms aid program "does not include any money or plans for military aid to Israel or to the Arab states bordering on Israel." Both Israel and the Arab states "are slated for economic help under the bill."

4. Said it turned down Eisenhower's plea for long-term aid authority to commit funds for specific projects because "this would have unduly infringed the authority of future congresses."

AT GOP CONVENTION

Nazi Propaganda Efforts Revealed

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Long-secret documents made public today recounted that Nazi propagandists with thousands of dollars in hand, collaborated with "a well known Republican congressman" in trying to get the 1940 Republican National Convention to adopt an "isolationist" platform.

No name was given for the congressman in captured German documents held secret for 16 years by British, French and American officials. They were made public without comment by the State Department, but a footnote cited a keep-out-of-war newspaper advertisement published at the time over the signature of Hamilton Fish Jr., then a Republican representative from New York.

Fish, asked for comment, said he remembers the ad very well and he added that, in raising the money to pay for it, "not one cent came from German sources."

Many of the documents made public were cables to Berlin from Hans Thomsen, counselor and man in charge at the German Embassy in Washington in 1940. America's last full year of peace before World War II.

It was a year of struggle between so-called isolationists and interventionists in American politics. The struggle was heightened by the fall of France, Italy's entry into the war against the Allies and the American presidential election.

Reporting on this is a "most urgent top secret" cable of June 12, 1940. Thomsen told Berlin the isolationists apparently were losing out.

Looking to the 1940 Republican convention, opening within two weeks at Philadelphia, he proposed a two-part "well-camouflaged lightning propaganda campaign."

1. "A well-known Republican congressman who works in close collaboration with the special official for press affairs will invite some 50 isolationist Republican congressmen on a 3-day visit to the party convention." Their aim would be to work on the delegates to the Republican party in favor of an isolationist foreign policy. "$3,000 are required."

2. "The Republican in question is prepared to form a small ad hoc Republican committee" to publish full-page newspaper ads during the convention with the impressive appeal "Keep America Out of War." The cost was estimated at $60,000 to $80,000.

Thomsen cabled he had accepted proposal No. 1 as a "unique opportunity." As to the ad he said the Republican congressman's "Republican friends who probably pay half the cost. He asked Berlin's approval to pay the rest. Other documents indicated approval was given.

A footnote by State Department historians said "such an advertisement appeared in the New York Times for June 25, 1940."

A check of this issue of the Times turned up a full page ad of "The National Committee to Keep America Out of Foreign Wars." Fish, who was a House member from 1921 to 1945, signed the ad as chairman of the committee.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) recalled today that, as a member of the House from South Dakota in 1940, he led a group of "Young Turk" Republicans to the Philadelphia convention.

"We were mostly against Wendell Wilkie because he was an interventionist," Mundt said. "I remember there were about 20 of us, all in our first year in Congress, and we went to Philadelphia together."

Baptists To Study Problems Of Growth

KANSAS CITY, May 26 (AP)—Southern Baptists, already stretching from coast to coast and well into the North, put their heads together this week to ease some of their growing pains.

Representatives of the denomination's 30,377 churches in 26 states will be asked to spend more money, open new institutions and revamp some of its organizations and programs to cope with expanding activities.

An estimated 15,000 messengers, as those attending are termed, are expected to register for the annual sessions of the Southern Baptist Convention and its affiliated groups which begin tomorrow and continue through Saturday.

The SBC will hold its first meeting Wednesday. Its auxiliary, the Women's Missionary Union begins a three-day meeting tomorrow. The Pastors Conference holds sessions Monday and Tuesday and 25 boards, commissions and similar groups hold annual meetings throughout the week.

An International touch will be given proceedings by the arrival

Tuesday of five Russian Baptist leaders now in this country who will be received by the SBC as fraternal messengers. Other Baptist groups operating in the United States also will send fraternal representatives.

Major proposals before the SBC are to increase its cooperative program budget to 11 million dollars from 10 million; establish a new seminary; build a two-million-dollar hospital in Miami, Fla.; take over operation of a Kentucky missions school; change the name of one of its major boards and require that future conventions be held only in metropolitan areas capable of handling an attendance of 10,000 or more.

SBC problems arise mainly from growth of the denomination. Formed by Southern Baptists in 1845 after they split with Northern Baptists over the slavery question, it is no longer a purely regional group.

Its more than 30,000 churches claim a membership of 8,474,741. Each church may send from one to 10 messengers to the convention where each speaks as an individual.

Daniel To Open Court Due To Act On Airport Issue

AUSTIN, May 26 (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel will open his first campaign tour as a candidate for governor a week from tomorrow.

His state headquarters said today Daniel will go to Houston from Washington June 3 for one week of both political and non-political speeches and visits—mostly in West Texas.

A TV appearance is tentatively scheduled for Sunday, June 3, on a Houston station. He will open his Harris County campaign at a meeting with campaign workers June 4.

Daniel will speak at the El Paso Valley Cotton Growers Assn. meeting in El Paso on June 5.

He will meet with the South Plains Grain Sorghum Producers organization at Plainview on June 7 and proceed to Amarillo that day. Cotton farmers, business men and others interested in farm laws will be invited to attend the Plainview meeting.

The senator's swing through West Texas will include visits to Lubbock June 6, Wichita Falls June 8, and Fort Worth June 9.

County Commissioners Court is expected to approve a petition asking for a bond election to provide $400,000 for the construction of a municipal airport at its meeting on Monday.

The petition was presented to the court last Monday afternoon. Sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and civic leaders of the town, the petition bore approximately 700 signatures.

Last week, R. H. Weaver, county judge, Arthur Stallings and Ralph Proctor, county commissioners, and Lee Porter, county auditor, inspected the airport at Plainview. They planned to visit the Snyder airport but did not have time to make the second stop.

Weaver said Saturday that he had no doubt the commissioners would approve the petition and would call the bond election. However, the judge pointed out, it might be the commissioners would delay actually setting a date for the election in order to provide themselves with more data on just what kind of an airport would best serve the needs of the city and the county.

"We must have additional information relative to the problem before we can properly call for a bond election," he said. "I believe that the court will officially accept the petition. It may also set a tentative date for the election and then launch an effort to acquire additional information."

He said that the amount specified in the petition—$400,000—might or might not be the final total when the proposal is placed before the citizens for their vote.

At Plainview, he said, the airport was built for approximately that sum. However, many factors will intervene. Cost of the land, for example, will be an issue. Engineering problems relative to actual construction will also have a bearing on the ultimate total.

After the proposal is adopted and the date tentatively set for the election, the commissioners and engineers must determine on a proper location. This location will be much influenced by the operations of Webb Air Force Base here since it is required that other airports in the vicinity of a military installation must not interfere with

Negroes Against Job Integration, But Lose Decision

HOUSTON, May 26 (AP)—Negro union members at the Sheffield Steel plant have rejected a proposal for integration of promotion opportunities.

Claude Baldree, president of Local 2708 of the United Steel Workers of America, said, however, the plan will be put into effect 60 days after the union and company sign the agreement.

"It will be put into effect because a majority of the union membership voting approved it," he said.

The 1,400 white union workers at the plant approved the plan unanimously. The Negroes rejected the proposal, 201 to 5, but 1,300 Negro union workers are at the plant and most did not vote.

Under the proposal, jobs which have been restricted to white members only will be open to all union members on a competitive examination basis.

"The Negroes object to the examination," Baldree said. "But management has the right to determine how it will select employees for promotion and insisted on the examination."

Big Road Bill Strikes Snag

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) today pledged a Senate floor fight to put a prevailing-wage amendment in the big highway construction bill—a move that may prove embarrassing to Senate Democrats.

The multibillion-dollar road building measure comes up on the Senate floor Monday. The leadership is planning to push it through to final passage by Tuesday night.

Kuchel told a reporter he would press for a roll-call vote on his amendment to write into the bill a requirement that contractors on the interstate system must pay the prevailing wage rates in their area as determined by the secretary of labor.

The 40,000-mile interstate system, chiefly composed of super-highways, gets the bulk of the federal money in the bill, with 25 billion dollars allotted to it.

A Democratic senator, asking not to be quoted, said that his side might seek to take the play away from the Californian by having the same amendment introduced from the Democratic side.

The prevailing-wage proposal, known as the Davis-Bacon amendment from the 1931 law applying the same standards to federal construction, is strongly backed by labor organizations.

The House, after a floor battle, voted 192-77 to keep a Bacon-Davis amendment in its version of the highway legislation.

However, the Senate Public Works Committee, in substituting its own road plan for the House version, eliminated the provision.

Some Southern senators contended the provision would tend to drive up farm wage rates throughout their region. They said they might have to oppose the entire bill if it were included.

However, the California senator said he did not see how many Democrats outside the South could fail to support his amendment.

Boys' Ranch Haven Sought For Local Lad

An effort to have a young Big Spring boy admitted to the Boys' Ranch at San Angelo rather than send him to Gatesville training school, was under way Saturday.

The boy, who was 14 years old just last week, had confessed several days ago to a series of seven burglaries in Big Spring.

He had been turned over to the psychiatrists at the Big Spring State Hospital for a mental examination soon after the confession was made to A. E. Long, county juvenile officer.

The doctors said that the youth was mentally ill but that they had no facilities at the state hospital here for him. They also said that Gatesville lacked much of being the ideal solution but there was no alternative.

The effort to have the lad admitted to the San Angelo Boys' Ranch was then launched. He was given a medical examination Friday and formal application made to the Ranch by officials.

If the San Angelo establishment declines to accept him, he will be taken to the Gatesville, R. H. Weaver, county judge, said Saturday.

The boy has been in difficulty with the law off and on since he was 11 years old, Long said. His mother told the court that she believed her son mentally efficient and said she was incapable of controlling him.

Texas Shows Business Dip

AUSTIN, May 27 (AP)—A 6 per cent drop in the index of Texas business activity during April was interpreted by an economics expert today as indicative of a "widespread and decisive" slowdown in business.

Dr. John Stockton, director of the University of Texas Business Research Bureau, said an analysis of the factors which make up the business index showed a "general slowing down in several sectors of the economy."

While Stockton's monthly report reflected concern about the immediate downward trend, it also asserted cautious hope that industrial expansion will keep Texas booming.

The business research director said in a speech yesterday he considered the current downturn in the nation's economy only a temporary dip and predicted another wave of expansion would bring an upturn.

He said the present decline is a "minor cyclical adjustment that just has to be lived through."

Stockton placed strong reliance on the steady effect of industrial expansion.

This factor, he said, "continues to be the strongest feature of business at the present time."

'Youth Appreciation Day' Proclaimed For Big Spring

Mayor G. W. Dabney, cooperating with the Big Spring Optimist Club, has proclaimed today as "Youth Appreciation Day" in this city.

In his proclamation, the mayor said: "The young people of Big Spring need the moral and psychological reassurance which all men derive from honest praise and recognition."

"The young people of Big Spring are, in overwhelming numbers, law abiding citizens, and although only five per cent of the total youth population can be termed juvenile delinquents, none the less this small non-representative group of wayward youths attracts a great deal of attention while the meritorious, praiseworthy conduct of the great majority of boys and girls goes unnoticed."

The Mayor went on to say: "I do commend the young people of Big Spring for their notable achievements in the best interests of this community and I do proclaim that Sunday, May 27 shall be celebrated throughout the city as Youth Appreciation Day. I call upon every citizen and particularly every family to join in this celebration and to become aware of youth as earnest helpful citizens and to recognize their accomplishments and credit them with friendly confidence."

Similar proclamations are being issued in thousands of cities and towns at the suggestion of the Optimist Clubs of the nation.

Several ministers have advised Big Spring Optimist Club members they would call attention to the day and its purpose in their sermons today.

Ike's Visit To Texas Poses Puzzle On Political Angles

By DAVE CHEAVENS
WACO, May 26 (AP)—Texas politicians are debating whether President Eisenhower's visit here was designed primarily to help win the state's 24 electoral votes in November, or whether politics was merely incidental.

You could ask 20 persons if the occasion was politically significant and get about 20 different answers.

To this correspondent, the answer is that despite all the disclaimers from Republican high-ups, it gave Eisenhower at least a subtle opportunity to make a new, strong personal appeal to Texans.

The President's foreign policy speech was strictly non-partisan. It gave him a chance to remind Texans that he was born in Texas and that he liked to brag about Texas.

It gave him an audience of 30,000 along a parade route plus 11,000 more at the Baylor convocation. The warmth of his broad smiles and Texas talk touched off warm response in handclaps and cheers.

The President's appearance was an honor to Baylor University and the large numbers of Texas Baptists who own and control the institution. Somewhat offsetting that was the privately-expressed feeling of some Baylor officials who were miffed that their plans to show Eisenhower their campus were vetoed from Washington.

The parade schedule was shaved by 4 miles and 20 minutes to permit him to meet with Texas Republican leaders at James Connally Air Force Base in what GOP Committeeman Jack Porter insisted was just a "social visit."

Acting White House press secretary Murray Sogder had also said the conference would be "informal and social." He said Eisenhower has many friends in Texas, Republican and Democratic alike.

It would seem apparent that any time you get Republicans together in a state they meet a chance to carry in a presidential year, the undeniably social visit and handshaking would automatically become at least tinged with political color.

Baylor officials who were in a delicate position said they were surprised when the White House informed them several weeks ago Eisenhower would now be receptive to renewal of a former invitation to speak at the Baptist university.

They were also cognizant of the honor and they hastily revised the commencement program to set up the special convocation at which the honorary Doctor of Laws degree was awarded.

Republicans hope again to cash in on the fact that many Texans with the Democratic label are unhappy over the licking they took when Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn achieved a measure of unity among other Democrats to try to swing this state back into the Democratic column in November.

The somewhat loose coalition they engineered is at its least, a strong threat to Republican hopes to repeat in Texas for Eisenhower this year. Texas independent voters, unhappy Democrats, and traditional Republicans carried Elbert Long, living seven miles northwest of Vincent, has the 1956 cotton crop off to a good start. He has 152 acres up to a good stand. He said he didn't know what his neighbors had in the way of crop, as he is too busy farming and running a feed store in Big Spring to do much visiting.

Long recently bought the Cooper Feed Store from Earl Cooper.

One of the more prosperous young farmers of this area was talking about farming conditions.

"So far as I know," he said, "I am the only renter in the community who is still being carried by the bank. The others went their limit with the bank and then had to turn to government lending agencies. This means our situation is almost hopeless unless we can get some good years and higher farm prices. It looks like some of the boys, and maybe myself included, will never pay out of debt."

This man is now looking around for a job that he can carry on with his farming.

A farmer should consider fuel costs and the depth of water when planning an irrigation well, says Frank Harris of the Flower Grove community.

Harris says the cost is much less where a farmer is located on a natural gas line. One of Harris' wells pumps three times as much water as the other one, but uses natural gas, and pumping expense is about the same for both of them.

Bismark Schafer, ranching northeast of Garden City, says the recent rains didn't help much. There was enough rain to bring up grass, but it fell so hard that only the low places got any benefit from it. He said tobacco greened up a little in the draws.

He thinks a good rain between now and June 20 would help ranges, but after that a rancher usually has to wait till fall for any relief. He said the summer months had so much sunshine and heat that not much new grass could be expected till cool weather.

He has sold most of his cattle, and has been stocking only nine head to the section.

Joe Carter, ranching south of Lee's Store, has sold his cattle and is moving to Canada. A few years ago when the drought dried up his pastures, he took a job at the air base in Big Spring.

Now the job is being shifted to Canada, and Carter will accompany it.

The 17th Annual meeting of the American Cotton Congress will meet in Lubbock, May 31, June 1 and 2. The session will be held in the Caprock and Lubbock hotels. The main speaker will be Lamar Fleming, Jr., who is chairman of the board of Anderson, Clayton and Company. Fleming's subject will be "The World Cotton Situation."

There will be several other important speakers who will cover the cotton situation thoroughly. All farmers and ginners in West Texas are invited to attend the meetings. The first session will get under way at the Caprock Hotel at 2 p.m., May 31.

Ted Fields reports there is hardly any crop at all in the Elbow community. He got a half-inch rain at his house, but it didn't cover much area.

Fields is irrigating with two small wells, but didn't get started till rather late. The two wells pump into a surface tank, and the water is then taken out with a sprinkler system. He said he didn't plant till a short time ago because the land was still blowing.

Troy Pierce of the Tarzan community doesn't put down fertilizer until the cotton plants are several weeks old. He says it will make just as well after that, and the investment isn't so heavy if a hail-storm wipes out the crop.

Down near U. S. Highway 80 west of Stanton, W. H. Yater also doesn't depend too much upon early season fertilizer. He is one of the few farmers who fertilizes in mid-summer.

He said irrigation was making such big demands on the soil that the plant food was often exhausted by the time cotton starts its heavy fruiting. Last year the last application of fertilizer made him an extra half bale to the acre, he said.

Whether they get enough rain to back up water or not, several new terrace systems have been laid out on Howard County farms. Soil Conservation engineers have surveyed lines for terraces on the Horace Garrett farm near Fairview, which is being farmed by D. P. Bigony. Terraces have also been built on the Paul Adams farm near Ackerly, and Mrs. Rosa Stallcup's place north of Vealmoor.

Several other terrace systems were built earlier in the year and were previously reported.

Bill Orson, manager of the Tarzan Marketing Association, says business is much slower than last year. The association sells seed, fertilizer and other supplies to members, as well as securing bracero labor for them.

Orson says fertilizer sales are down from last year. This may not affect yields much, though, because he thinks a few farmers may have used more last year than was needed.

The pinch of hard times is not only upon the little dryland farmer, he says, but is getting the irrigation farmer, too. Orson says that as cotton prices and allotments get smaller to cut off profits, the cost of producing a crop is rising steadily. Not even the best farmers are riding the gravy train anymore.

A few nights ago I had a long visit with an old college teacher of mine, Professor Frank R. Phillips, former head of the agriculture department at West Texas State College, Canyon, Texas. He has now retired, but travels extensively and knows conditions in every section of the West. He says the most serious problem facing the Southwest is the water shortage.

"It's only a short time until we won't have enough water," he said. "Already Amarillo and Lubbock have reached their capacity. They are reaching out now, drilling wells in farming areas, robbing farmers of needed water, and building up a lot of ill will."

Professor Phillips says there is merit in the proposed plan to bring a huge pipeline down from the Missouri River. He said the larger West Texas cities could not hold out much longer. Unless we can pipe water from other areas or convert sea water into fresh water, the industry and agriculture of West Texas will make a rapid decline.

LAMESA—The Lamesa fire department Friday answered an alarm at the Ross Davis farm at Sparenberg where a blaze destroyed a garage, housing a tractor and farm equipment. Firemen reported that about $3,500 damage was done to the garage and its contents.

Uncle Ray: Name Prefixes Have Different Meanings

By RAMON COFFMAN

We have had five stories about family names, but the subject is far from exhausted. Today I shall take up some of the questions about these names.

Q. What does "Fitz" mean when it is used in front of a name?

A. That prefix is a changed form of the French word "fils," and meaning of "son" or "son of." Fitzgerald means "Son of Gerald," and "Fitzherbert" means "Son of Herbert." Several family names of this kind became established in England after the Norman invasion.

Q. What do "Mc" and "Mac" mean at the start of many Irish and Scottish names?

A. Here, again, we have the meaning of "son" or "son of." For example, "McClintock" means "Son of Clintock." In Scotland we find many "MacDonalds." Originally the MacDonalds were "sons of Donald."

Q. Does "O" mean the same thing as "Mc" or "Mac"?

A. No. As a prefix in an Irish family name, "O" means "descendant of" or "grandson of."

Q. Where did the family name of "Davis" come from?

A. It is a changed form of "David." The personal name, David, also gave rise to Davies or Davidson.

The name "William" brought about several family names, including Williamson and Williams. "Will," a short form of "William," was turned into Wilson, Willis and Wills.

Another first, or given, name which has formed the basis for family names is "Thomas." It has turned into Thompson, Tomkins, Tomkinson and Thomason.

The family name of Henderson grew from Henry, Harry, a special form of "Henry," gave us Harrison, also Harris.

IN BIG SPRING

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Jack Roden, boss of the Coca-Cola plant here, says the new football stadium will be outfitted with a new scoreboard, complete with a modern football clock, compliments of his organization . . . It'll be just like the one used in Fair Park stadium at Abilene, according to Jack . . . "Wasn't anything wrong with the old one," quipped Jack, "except it didn't work" . . . Midland's baseball board of strategy has reduced the price of general admission from 85 to 50 cents in a practice effort to build Southwestern League attendance there . . . Midland is suffering at the gate, no doubt, because it doesn't have the natural rivalry with Odessa and Big Spring from which to draw . . . Joe Baxter, the great running back for the Snyder Tigers last fall who moved to Bronte shortly after football season, recently returned to Snyder to get his diploma . . . Gil Guerra, the former Big Spring, had a 3-2 win-loss record in his first five decisions for Vera Cruz of the Class AA Mexican League . . . Another ex-Bronx, Juan Visteur is with the Mexico City Reds of the same league . . . Visteur, in a recent game, came close to being the goat when he slammed a long hit but had to stop at first base, then got only to third on a long double . . . The diamond was wet, which caused Juan to lose his footing twice . . . He finally got home with the run that beat the Mexico City Tigers, 4-3 . . . When it came time to check the Little League arc system recently, Commissioner Roy Bennett found no fewer than 16 of the bulbs had been shot out or knocked out by vandals, who can't seem to resist the temptation . . . It cost close to $50 to have them replaced . . . Jerry Barron, the ace of the 1955 Big Spring Steer backfield, never played harder nor looked better than he did against the '56 club in that game here recently . . . The performance should have enhanced his chances of going to school.

Hawks Will Get Better, Says Hunt

Next year, points will count in the relay races at the National Junior College track and field meet in Hutchinson, Kansas, for the first time in history . . . The fact that they didn't this year beat the H.C.J.C. Jayhawks out of six points . . . Tony Hunt, president of the local college, said he wouldn't be surprised if the Hawks carried a better team to the meet next year than they did this time . . . Victoria J.C. of Texas, winner of the meet, had 16 men suited out for the Hutchinson show . . . compared to only six for H.C.J.C. . . . Incidentally, the Hawks' John Dale Curtis ran out of the chute for the first time in the 440-yard run and spent himself on the first 320 paces, at which time he had a comfortable lead . . . In all, about 300 athletes competed at Hutchinson . . . Alan Sneed, who won 12 athletic titles (in four sports) for Snyder High School, is going to SMU, where he plans to play baseball only . . . Alan

Clinite: Martinez Can Lick Robinson

Al Valdes, one-time catching ace of the Big Spring mercenaries, may manage a team in the Teen-Age ball League here . . . There's a chance he may suit out a few times for the Big Spring Tigers, too . . . The Ruidoso Downs racing people in New Mexico poured better than $200,000 into plant improvements but expect a mutual handle of better than $5,000,000 . . . Among other features, they expect to have a $12,500 feature in early August . . . West Texas money helps keep the track solvent . . . Paul Clinite, the one-time publicity man for the Ruidoso track who is back promoting fights in Phoenix, wrote this department recently by his sat in on the Bobo Olson-Ray Robinson championship scrap in Los Angeles and was disappointed with both fighters . . . He thinks Vince Martinez could beat Robinson "with blindfolds on" . . . Clinite says his fight between Martinez and Dickie Goldstein did approximately $8,000 and was well received . . . Paul is of the opinion Martinez and Tony DeMarco, booked to fight in Boston next month, will do better at the gate than did Robinson and Olson . . . "Martinez should win easy," said he, "probably by a kayo in seven" . . . Ezzard, Charles, the washed-up heavyweight, may box the Arizona pride and joy, Zora Foley, in Phoenix soon . . . Willie Troy, a middleweight who fought Floyd Patterson and Willie Pastrano last year, is supposed to be washed up at the age of 24 . . . Polk Robinson, the Texas Tech basketball mentor, has told friends he would be receptive to any plan to bring his Texas Tech varsity Raiders in here against an opponent like Har-din-Simmons or ACC, if some service club would get behind it . . . Clifton Hartley, the tall Plainview cager who tried out for Phil George at San Angelo College recently, may enroll at Kilgore J.C. along with a teammate, Jerry Hodges.

Harridge Observes Silver Anniversary As AL Prexy

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—William Harridge, who virtually was shanghaied into baseball by the late Ban Johnson, tomorrow celebrates his 25th year as president of the American League.

The white-haired, trim-figured Harridge—who at 70 is one of sports' most esteemed executives—never had seen a professional baseball game when he was "drafted" for the American League.

Harridge's smooth, competent job of scheduling and routing teams on their road trips had caught the fancy of Johnson, American League founder and iron-fisted campaigner who pulled no punches in trying to put his loop on the same footing as the National circuit.

Harridge served Johnson until 1927, when, plagued by illness and at odds with Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, Johnson left the league. Harridge then became league secretary under the new president, Ernest Sargent Barnard.

Barnard died March 27, 1931, 16 hours before Johnson also died. Two months later, Harridge was elected third league president by club owners on nomination by Phil Ball of the St. Louis Browns and seconded by Clark Griffith of Washington. There were no "Nays."

"My most perplexing case had to do with two quiet, inoffensive men—catcher Bill Dickey of the Yankees and outfielder Carl Reynolds of Washington," he reminisced. "On July 4, 1932 at Griffith Stadium, Dickey took a punch at Reynolds at the plate and broke his jaw. I knew both men to be gentlemen. But the facts as I had them demanded action. I fined Dickey $1,000 and suspended him 30 days."

GUETTLER SHOULD BE A DRAWING CARD; HE HITS THE LONG BALL

By The Associated Press

If it's true that baseball fans will pay to see a long ball hitter—then Ken Guettler ought to be keeping the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League rolling in money.

Guettler had 18 home runs through Wednesday, seven doubles, 45 RBI's, 39 runs and 43 hits in 126 times at bat for a .317 average. Fort Worth's Jim Gentile was second in homers with 15.

Al Pearson of Oklahoma City was the top hitter with a .413 average in 63 at bats. Bobby Prescott of Dallas, on the disabled list, clung to second with .400 in 30 at bats while Ev Joyner of Shreveport was third with .392 in 133 at bats.

Shreveport led the club batting list with .303, followed by Houston with .296 and Oklahoma City with .295.

Guettler and Dick Gray of Fort Worth were tied for the most runs with 39. Joyner led in hits with 60 and in doubles with 14. Gray and Jasper Spears of Fort Worth tied for the triples lead with five each while Mike Napoli's eight stolen bases led the league in that department.

Guettler's 45 RBI's made him the top run producer.

Only five pitchers were left 1,000 averages with Fort Worth's Dick Hanley leading the list with five victories. The Cats' Rudy Paynich and Hisei Patrick of Dallas each had six victories and one loss.

The Big Stretch

Manuel Pineda, a Little League who plays for Cosden, doesn't let a lack of height faze him in patrolling the area around first base. He gives it all he's got in reaching for a wide toss, without taking his foot off the bag.

SOME DUE BACK

Ex-Big Leaguers Still In Game

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Remember Bill Voiselle? Jerry Priddy? Lucky Jack Lohrke? Steve Binko? Sam Jethroe?

Those five are among the hundreds of former major league players still trotting the baseball beat in the minors. Some of them will get the call back to the big time. Most will not.

Voiselle, star pitcher for the New York Giants a decade ago, is a relief pitcher for Richmond of the International League. In a game against Havana last Tuesday night, the 37-year-old right-hander was brought in from the bullpen in a tight situation. He gave up a single on the first pitch and the Virginians lost the game 2-1.

TO YANKEES IN '41

A highly regarded second baseman when he was brought up to the New York Yankees along with Phil Rizzuto in 1941, Priddy did not quite make the grade with the Yankees but did later with Detroit. He recently was signed as a free agent by Sacramento and is playing the infield for that Pacific Coast League team.

Lohrke is performing at second base and shortstop for Seattle of the PCL. He may be best remembered for hitting the home run that gave the Giants a major league club record in 1947. That was the season they walloped 221.

No relation to the famed television character, Bilko is setting a torrid pace with Los Angeles in the PCL. He had 11 homers and a batting average of close to .400 at last reports. Steve was with Chicago and St. Louis in the National League.

JETHROE WITH TORONTO

Jethroe, the National League's stolen base leader in 1950 and 1951 while with the Boston Braves, is among the International League's stolen base pace setters. He's with Toronto.

Larry Jansen, formerly with the Giants, has won a couple of games for Seattle. Johnny Lipon, who played for the Boston Red Sox, is batting .300 for Columbus, Ohio, of the International League. Jim Fridley, one-time Cleveland Indians' outfielder, is among the leading leaders for Denver of the American Assn. Mike Goliat, who played for the pennant-winning Philadelphia Phils of 1950, is close to the 300 mark for Toronto. Steady Eddie Lopat, managing Richmond, Va., has won four

In the first game against the Flicks, the Cubs edged away the decision with a seven run third.

The Flicks collected only two hits and the Cubs got four in the second go.

Jerry Dunlap set Piggly Wiggly down with two hits and helped Cabot's cause along by belting three hits.

Fullner Ready For Robinson After Victory

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) May 26 — Gene Fullner is ready, willing and able to give middleweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson a good night's work for which Ray would be guaranteed $100,000.

While Sugar Ray and his "entourage" were riding a Pullman home from Los Angeles where he disposed of ex-champ Bobo Olson with ridiculous ease a week ago, Fullner last night brushed off France's Charles Humez, European middleweight champ as a leading contender for the world's title.

Fullner, 23, a sturdy mauler from West Jordan, Utah, ripped open cuts around both eyes of Humez while winning a unanimous decision in a blood-spattered 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

As Humez was No. 2, behind Olson in the latest Ring ratings, and Fullner No. 3, the undisputed victory lifted the scrappy Mormon into the driver's seat.

"We want Robinson and we won't settle for anything else," said Mary Jensen, Fullner's manager. "We're willing to guarantee Ray $100,000 at Salt Lake City or Ogden if the International Boxing Club can't make the match in New York."

Harry Markson, IBC boxing director, said, "I'll see what Robinson says when he comes in."

At the end of the bruising brawl, Humez' white ring trunks were strained with blood from the cuts around both eyes. Although no stitches were required, the blood flowed freely from a slash around the right eye, opened in the third, and a gash over the left eye, sliced in the sixth. Fullner also was cut atop the head and bled from the nose.

Referee Mark Conn scored it 7-3, Judge Artie Aidala 7-2-1 and Judge Leo Birnbaum 6-4 all for Fullner. The Associated Press card was 7-3 for Fullner who weighed 158 pounds to 159½ by Humez.

Teen-Agers To Use Pair Of Diamonds

The two leagues operating with in the Big Spring Teen-Age Baseball Association will use as many diamonds in their enlarged program this year, according to present plans.

Permission has been obtained for the organization to make use of the facilities at Steer Park. In addition, the present Teen-Age diamond, located just west of the Little League park on North 12th Street, will be fenced and concessions stands will be added.

All boys aged 13 to 17, inclusive, can report to Steer Park for tryouts and pre-season instructions between the hours of 4 and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

At 8 p.m. Thursday in the county court room, a huge Teen-Age League rally will be held, during which time all parents, players, sponsors and operating personnel of the league will convene to discuss plans for the 1956 season.

Present plans call for the leagues to begin operations no later than June 15. Several sponsors and managers still have to be lined up, however.

Persons or concerns which would like to sponsor teams in either league can contact Perry Johnson, president of the league, at the City Hall; or Tom Farquhar, 615 Ridgelea.

Initial cost of sponsoring a team will be no more than $300. It has been estimated. Since that includes the price of the uniforms, the price, of course, adjusts itself downward in future years.

The Seniors Teen-Age League will play its games at Steer Park, using the regular diamond. Each team employs a limited number of 17-year-olds but depends primarily upon the 15-16 year bracket.

The Junior Teen-Age League, which uses 13 and 14-year-olds, will make use of the North Side diamond.

Once the leagues begin to function, it is believed by association officials that concessions money

Tigers, Lions Diamond Foes

The Big Spring Tigers go to Carlsbad, N. M., today for a return baseball contest with that city's independent club, the Lions.

The Bengals, managed by Elias Gamba, have won but one game this season and that was against Carlsbad.

Gamba's lineup has been strengthened by the addition of Al Valdes, former professional catcher. He had experience at third and first base.

Isa Mendoza or Gus Fierro is set to hurl for the Big Spring club. Mike Rainey may make the trip with the club and see relief duty on the mound.

Hawks To Invade Lamesa Diamond

The Big Spring Hawks go visiting again today, meeting the Lamesa Lobos in a 3 p.m. game at Lamesa.

Johnny Subia has been assigned pitching duties for the Hawks while Salvador Sarmiento will put on the catching harness.

Wolverines Retain Big Ten Crown

MINNEAPOLIS, May 26 (AP)—Hard-pressed defending champion Michigan needed a second place in the closing mile relay to edge surprising Iowa and capture the 56th Big 10 outdoor track and field meet today.

Michigan, taking two individual firsts and sharing a third in field events only, shredded the Hawkeyes of Iowa, 41-37½, to nail down the Wolverines' 22nd title in this competition started in 1901.

Iowa, which has never won an outdoor title, had one of the day's two double winners, long-striding Ted Wheeler, and had a chance until the closing relay in which the Hawkeyes placed third behind Michigan.

Indiana, whose Greg Bell failed to improve on his brilliant qualifying broad jump of 25-11¼ yesterday, won the mile relay and finished third in the meet with 34½.

.334 LIFETIME MARK

Al Simmons, Ex-A's Slugger, Succumbs

MILWAUKEE, May 26 (AP)—Al Simmons, whose batting feats with an odd "foot-in-the-bucket" stance earned him a niche in baseball's Hall of Fame, died here early today, four days after his 54th birthday.

SIMMONS

One of the game's greatest fighters, he died in a hospital. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Behind him Simmons left a score of memorable baseball achievements.

He had a lifetime major league batting average of .334 for 21 years, most of them with the late Connie Mack's great Philadelphia Athletics teams of the '20s and '30s; won consecutive American League batting championships with marks of .381 in 1930 and .399 in 1931; and played in four World Series with a cumulative batting average of .462.

Simmons was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1953. His plaque at the Cooperstown, N. Y., shrine contains this brief rundown on his great career:

"Played with 7 major league clubs 1924-1944. Star with Philadelphia (A.L.), batted .369 to .392 from 1924 to 1934. Most hits by A. L. right-handed batter with 2,831. Led league runs batted in, runs scored, hits and total bases several seasons. Hit 3 home runs, July 15, 1932.

Simmons was born Aloysius Harry Szymanski in Milwaukee on May 22, 1902, the son of a Polish immigrant who died when Al was a boy. He broke into organized baseball with Aberdeen in the old Dakota League in 1922.

The following year, he divided his time between Shreveport in the Texas League and Milwaukee, batting .360 and .398 respectively. It was about this time that Al spotted a hillbilly advertising Simmons hardware and Aloysius Szymanski rechristened himself Al Simmons.

He was fond of recalling spring training of 1924 when he broke in with the Athletics at Fort Meyers, Fla.

Mack had bought him from the Brewers for $30,000. Simmons went up to the A's with a widely publicized ball player named Paul Strand, for whom Mack had shelled out $75,000.

"It was Strand the fans wanted to see, not Simmons," Al recalled in later years. "I was just so much excess baggage."

Strand didn't last long, but Simmons went on to become a baseball immortal.

Pastrano Opposes Spieser Wednesday

NEW ORLEANS, May 26 (AP)—There will be a lot more at stake than just a grudge when Willie Pastrano puts his heavyweight title ambitions on the line against rugged Chuck Spieser Wednesday night.

The 22-year-old Pastrano, a product of the New Orleans French market area, is the No. 6 contender for the title Rocky Marciano recently deserted for Riverside and slippers. And the National Boxing Assn. has ruled that Wednesday's nationally televised (ABC) bout will be an elimination affair with the winner moving into serious contention.

The meeting will be the third between the two with Pastrano showing an almost perfect record. He whipped the 26-year-old Spieser in Chicago last year and fought the Lansing, Mich., bruiser to a draw in Miami earlier this year.

Webb Dusters Meet Odessa Chiefs At 3 Here Today

Jim Zapp sends his Webb Air Force Base Dusters into action at Steer Park today against the Odessa Chiefs, one of the better sandlot nines in West Texas. Starting time is 3 p.m.

Zapp, who used to club home runs for the Big Spring professionals plans to dispatch Ott Mackinstry to the mound. David Richards will do the catching.

Others in the starting lineup for the Dusters include Jay Hill at second base, Floyd Ritter at short stop, Bob McDonald in center field, Papp himself in right field, Bill Paschall at first base, Ed Toffley in left field and Ed Renke at third base.

The Dusters have yet to suffer a defeat in three starts. They were booked to go against the powerful Lamesa All-Stars last Tuesday night in Lamesa but the contest was weathered out.

Odessa recently upset the All-Stars, 4-3. The Chiefs may field their strongest team of the season here.

Zapp is seeking additional games to fill out his club's schedule.

Admissions prices have been pegged at 50 cents for civilians and 25 cents for service men.

Charles McNew will also see mound action for the Dusters, Manager Zapp stated Saturday.

Gibson Triumphs In Paris Meet

PARIS, May 26 (AP)—Althea Gibson, the United States' only big winner on the European tennis circuit this spring, smashed a year-old jinx and won the women's singles title in the French international tournament today with a 6-0, 12-10 victory over Angela Mortimer of Great Britain.

Miss Gibson's victory, in a gruelling match lasting an hour and 45 minutes, overshadowed Lew Hoad's unexpected victory over Sweden's Sven Davidson in the men's final 6-4, 8-6, 6-3.

The big blonde from Australia blew Davidson off the court in an hour and 20 minutes for three sets.

Stobbs Kayoes Boston, 4-1, For Senators

BOSTON, May 26 (AP)—Washington continued to cast its spell over Boston today with a 4-1 victory fashioned on the effective pitching of veteran lefthander Chuck Stobbs and Carlos Paula's two-run double.

The Senators triumph was their fifth in six games with the Red Sox this season.

Paula lined a long two-base hit off the center-field wall in the fourth inning that spelled loser Ike Delock's third setback. He's won one.

The hit scored Roy Sievers who had singled and Clint Courtney who had doubled.

In the fifth, the Nats' Eddie Yost walked, and Furillo blasted his fourth homer against the roof of the left-field stands.

Amoros smacked his third homer of the year off starter and loser Jim Hearn in the second inning with Robinson on first. That came right after Jackie injured himself on his single.

Joe Conrad Heads Yank Delegation At Troon

TROON, Scotland, May 26 (AP)—A big delegation of American golfers—perhaps the best that ever invaded Britain when there was no U. S. Walker Cup team present—starts play Monday in the 71-year-old British Amateur championship.

At least a half dozen of the 29 Americans entered 'appear capable of capturing the title that has not been won by a Scot or an Englishman since World War II. They'll get strong opposition from the home forces, of course, since the 200-man field is virtually handicapped because of newly-imposed restrictions on entries.

The Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Britain's ruling body of golf, decided this year to limit the field to 200 players, whose handicaps couldn't be higher than two. In that way the entire first round can be run off in one day. Last year, Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., won the title at Royal Lytham and St. Anne's, there were 240 entries and in 1950 there were 324.

Americans have won six of the nine post-war amateur championships and four resulted in all American final matches. Two Irishmen and an Australian accounted for the other three titles.

This year Conrad, a wiry, red-headed little Texan, is trying to become the first amateur champion to retain his title since America's Lawson Little won in 1934 and 1935. Drawn in the comparatively easy top quarter, Conrad has a first-round bye before meeting I. A. Ewen of New Zealand.

His strongest opposition in this quarter is expected to come from 40-year-old Jimmy McHale of Wymwood, Pa., twice a semifinalist in the British Amateur, and Alan Thirlwell, the 1955 English Amateur champion.

Most of the Americans are packed into the second and third quarters of the draw. The second has Doug Sanders, a young hotshot from Miami Beach, Fla., Gene Andrews, former U. S. Public Links champion from Pacific Palisades, Calif., power-hitting Bill (Dynamite) Godloe of Valdosta, Ga., and veteran Frank, Strafaci of New York.

The third is topped by 1937 British champion Bob Sweeney of Palm Beach, New York and London, and includes Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., Ernest (Pete) Arend of Deal, N. J., and John Dawson of Napa, Calif. Sweeney, who'll be 45 in July, still is capable of playing championship golf. Especially in Britain where he is familiar with the conditions. Nine years after winning the British title, he reached the final against Jim Brun and in 1954 he was runner-up to Arnold Palmer in the American Amateur.

Willie Mays Out With An Injury

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Willie Mays, New York Giants center fielder, was struck in the right eye by a thrown ball in practice today and ordered out of the line-up for a day by the club physician.

Mays was examined by Dr. Anthony Palermo who found a swelling developing over the eye. Willie complained of a headache but insisted on playing against Brooklyn.

Dr. Palermo advised against it and ordered a 24-hour observation period. Whitey Lockman took Mays' place in center field.

Willie was hit as he walked into a warmup session between teammates Al Dark and Daryl Spencer in front of the Giants' dugout. He never saw the ball, thrown by Spencer.

Manhattan Is IC4A King

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Slim John Haines of Penn won both the 220-yard dash and the quarter-mile run—a feat that has been accomplished just twice before in the 20th century —and Manhattan edged Villanova for the team title today in the IC4A track and field championships.

Haines, the 23-year-old, four-time national indoor sprint champion, passed up defense of his 100-yard dash title to try for the same double that Charlie Reidpath and Roy Barbuti, both of Syracuse, scored in 1912 and 1929, respectively.

He zipped to a 20.5 victory in the 220 and 47.3 triumph in the quarter. No one in the crowd of 4,500 in Randall's Island Stadium expected Haines to lose the 220, but there were doubts that he could beat national champion Charlie Jenkins of Villanova in the quarter.

Starting from the outside lane, the worst spot, Haines stayed in front all the way and fought off a closing burst by Jenkins to get home ahead by about three yards.

Probably the only person in the stadium who expected Haines to take Jenkins' measure was his coach, Ken DeHerty, who has been telling him for three years that he would make a great quarter-mile. Both Reidpath and Barbuti went on to win the Olympic 400-meter championships, so Haines' feat may be significant.

His 220 clocking equalled the meet record, but it was disallowed because the wind was faster than the allowed 4.6 miles per hour. Herb Carper of Pitt also saw his record 9.4 100-yard dash tumbled out because of the wind. Haines, ironically, holds the 100-yard mark, 9.5.

Hoelt Wins Fourth Behind Detroiters

DETROIT, May 26 (AP)—Four straight hits by shortstop-Harvey Kuenn helped Detroit Tiger southpaw Billy Hoelt survive a late Kansas City uprising and Hoelt won his fourth game of the season, 12-6, today.

Kuenn drove across three runs with two doubles and a pair of singles.

The two clubs belted a dozen extra-base hits, with Earl Torgerson and Ray Boone hitting home runs for the Tigers and Hector Lopez and Gus Zernial clouting round-trippers for the losers.

Navy Official Talks For Carrier Units

AKRON, May 26 (AP)—A high naval official said today that the Navy considers its mobile carrier task forces to be "the essential counter to thermonuclear war."

An assistant secretary of the Navy James H. Smith added that an enemy "cannot afford to launch surprise attack on our homeland while a naval striking force of such retaliatory power is roaming the high seas unopposed. He must first attack the naval force."

Smith made his claims for naval power in a speech prepared for Navy and Marine air reserve units here. He avoided reference to accepted United States doctrine that the Air Force's long-range strategic bombers constitute the main deterrent to a surprise nuclear assault.

But he argued that the Navy's "mobile nuclear reprisal force" would be "relatively invulnerable," hard to find, and independent of the use of foreign bases.

Smith said such a force of carriers, missile ships and submarines would "present a major problem to an enemy commander which must be solved before he dare initiate an attack."

Smith said that the huge aircraft carriers of the Forrestal class were designed and equipped to "punish an aggressor without provoking or permitting greater aggression." But this "tailored deterrence," he said, "in addition to their function in our total deterrent to total war."

He claimed for the Navy's striking forces the flexibility to employ all types of weapons, including hydrogen bombs, "which are tailored either for total destruction or limited and precise attack."

In another indirect reference to Air Force emphasis on long-range bombers and missiles that will be released from aircraft, the Navy official declared his opposition to "any long-range tendency to consider the air-delivery system of nuclear weapons the ultimate and only one."

Houston Sets Fast Pace In U.S. Growth

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The metropolitan areas of Houston, St. Louis and Washington outstripped the nation in rate of population growth during the last six years.

Report this today, the Census Bureau said the national population gained by 10.3 per cent in the 1950-56 period. Comparatively, the Houston area showed an estimated gain of 23.5 per cent. Washington increased by 27.7 per cent, St. Louis 12.5 and Milwaukee 11.9.

The report showed Washington and St. Louis approaching the two million mark, Houston passing one million, and Milwaukee approaching one million.

The metropolitan area of the nation's capital was estimated at 1,844,000 Jan. 1—a gain of about 420,000 over 1950. This includes the District of Columbia and surrounding areas of Maryland and Virginia.

The Houston area population, including all of Harris County, was estimated at 1,077,000, up 270,000 from 1950.

Houston city was estimated at 711,000, an increase of 115,000 or 19.3 per cent over 1950. The rest of Harris County jumped from 210,538 to 366,000, a gain of 73.8 per cent.

Water Laws Under Study

AUSTIN, May 26 (AP)—Some 10 attorneys studied ground water rights and control in Texas in a water law conference at the University of Texas today.

Jack Barnes of Austin, ground water engineer, urged greater emphasis on the overall efficiency of water use.

"The basic objective in controlling ground (subsurface) water development is to protect property rights of water users and to provide for an equitable distribution of water," Barnes said.

"Each individual water user is certain to be diligent in protecting his interests whenever they are threatened, leaving the public interest in overall water operations entirely overlooked."

Hart Johnson of Fort Stockton said the Legislature should act to resolve the conflict between spring and well owners. He noted that the present law favors well owners.

"If the present rate of water withdrawals by wells is allowed to continue unchecked, it may take a million years to recharge reservoirs that may be dried up with several decades," Johnson warned.

"To continue the present discrimination in favor of well owners can lead only to economic chaos."

Garland Casieberg of Midland stressed a need for a centrally administered system of ground water proration. He proposed that the state set a maximum limit on withdrawals of ground water and adopt some method of dividing the permitted withdrawals among those having claim.

Army Standing On Integration

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The Army said today its policy of racial integration remains in force and is "changed in no way."

In answer to a question about a charge by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) that the Army is returning to racial segregation, an Army spokesman said: "The Army policy on integration was changed in no way."

The spokesman did not elaborate.

Powell, a Negro, told a civil rights rally in New York Thursday night that "the leaders of our armed forces are guilty of treason" because, he said, they have disobeyed President Eisenhower's orders against segregation of military personnel.

selections through last Friday. They are based on delegates bound by primary results and expressions of preference by others queried by the Associated Press.

Also through last Friday, Republicans had chosen nearly two-thirds of their convention strength—871 out of 1,323 delegates, with 662 needed for a nomination. President Eisenhower had lined up for renomination 738 delegates, well over a majority, not counting 56 more promised him from Ohio by Sen. John Bricker, to whom they are nominally pledged.

Next week the Democrats will select delegates with 154 votes, including 28 in the Stevenson-Kefauver clash in Florida. Others will come from Missouri, Alabama, Illinois, Iowa, and Michigan. Republicans will name 54 more in North Dakota, Illinois, Florida and Alaska. Both parties pick at-large delegates in Illinois.

The Democratic delegate lineup as of now do not begin to tell the whole story. Some who have expressed unbinding preferences to date may change their minds between now and the start of the convention Aug. 13 in Chicago. Also, the big uncommitted column—about 41 per cent of the delegate votes so far chosen—has potential added strength for several candidates, avoided and otherwise.

For example, Oklahoma's 28-vote delegation is uncommitted, but Gov. Raymond Gary, who says he prefers Gov. Averell Harriman, estimates a majority will go along with his choice of the first ballot. The delegation will operate under the unit rule under which a majority casts the delegation's entire vote. However, Gary says he has not committed the delegation. Sen. Monroe (D-Okla.), a delegation member, is actively supporting Stevenson. The delegation has not yet been polled.

Another example of potential hidden strength among uncommitted delegates at this point is in Illinois. There, 36 of 50 delegate votes are scored without preference, with 12 favoring Stevenson and 2 for Kefauver. Sixteen of the 36 were reported last Wednesday as expressing "very strong sentiment" for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) though remaining uncommitted. Stevenson is reported to have additional strength among the uncommitted delegates in the Chicago area.

Rail Strikers Cause Wreck

CALCUTTA, India, May 16 (AP)—A violent mob of railway strikers today dragged the engine crew from a train which crashed and injured 58 passengers today at Khargpur, 75 miles from Calcutta.

The engine and first car of the train, in which nonstrikers were going to work, left the rails and mounted the station platform. The injured included four on the platform. Five of the victims are in serious condition.

The railway said the strikers surrounded the train when it halted, assaulted and dragged off the engine driver and crew of two, then set the train in motion.

No Celebration By Dionnes For 22nd Birthday

MONTREAL, May 26 (AP)—The four living Dionne quintuplets aren't planning any party for their 22nd birthday Monday.

Marie, proprietor of a newly open flower shop, says "the party we had after opening the shop last Saturday was our birthday party, too."

The shop is named "Salon Emilie" after the sister who died in 1954.

Annette is studying music in Montreal. Cecile and Yvonne are nurses in a suburban St. Laurent hospital. Marie had been in a convent studying to be a nun, but she left last year because of poor health.

Marie says she will work as usual on Monday. But she and her sisters have planned surprise gifts for each other.

On their 21st birthday the quintuplets came into a fortune of approximately a million dollars.

Martin Posse To Ride In Parade

STANTON, May 26 (AP)—The Martin County Sheriff's Posse will make its first public appearance of the year Tuesday at Midland.

The posse will ride in the Midland rodeo parade and grand entry, Hoot Leonard, president, announced. Leonard also reported that there will be no admission charge for the calf roping shows staged by the posse each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday night at the local rodeo grounds.

Other officers of the organization are Ohmer Kelly, vice president; Douglas Church, secretary-treasurer; and Dan Saunders, Jack Saunders, Lee Roy Wood, Billie Houston and Hoot Tom, directors.

Former Graduate Speaker For Forsan Commencement

FORSAN, May 26—Major Tommy McDonald, now stationed at Fort Walton—a former graduate of Forsan High School—was guest speaker at the commencement exercises Friday night for the 1956 graduates of the school.

Major McDonald graduated from the school in 1940.

There were nine seniors in the class this year.

Another speaker on the commencement program was Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College.

Commencement was attended by a record audience.

Mary Lovell Fletcher and Tony Starr received service club awards and scholarships as a reward for their accomplishments in high school. The presentation was made by L. W. Monroey, president of the Forsan Service Club. Their rewards were in tribute for their citizenship.

Others receiving scholarships were: Patsy Shoultz, valedictorian, Mary Lou McElreath, salutatorian and James Buchanan, runner-up.

C. V. Wash, president of the Forsan school board, presented the class with their diplomas. The Rev. R. O. Sullivan, pastor of Forsan Baptist Church delivered the baccalaureate sermon for the class. He also pronounced the benediction at the Friday night exercises. O. W. Fletcher gave the invocation.

No Agreement On Border Mapping

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 26 (AP)—Diplomatic sources said today Ecuador has accepted and Peru has rejected a proposal that the U. S. Geodetic Survey map with aerial photographs the disputed border between the two nations. The proposal was made by the four countries which have guaranteed the present border status—Argentina, Brazil, Chile and the United States. The guarantee was set up after fighting on the frontier 15 years ago.

Will Dedicate Lake Lodge

DURANT, Okla., May 26 (AP)—Governors from eight states gathered at Lake Texoma near here tomorrow to dedicate Oklahoma's latest tourist attraction, the 2-million dollar Lake Texoma State Lodge.

State heads, who have said they will be on hand, are Allen Shivers of Texas, Fred Hall of Kansas, John Simms of New Mexico, Edwin Johnson of Colorado, Orval Fabus of Arkansas, Phil Donnelly of Missouri, Earl Long of Louisiana and Raymond Gary of Oklahoma.

The dedication program will start at the swank club swimming pool shortly after noon. Trick spinning reel casting, Indian dancing and a hillbilly band will furnish entertainment before the dedication ceremony.

Western Hills, Inc., of Fort Worth, will operate the 106-room lodge. The plush lodge is near the Roosevelt Bridge, which will glow with new whiteway lights for the first time tonight.

Rates at the lodge will range from $4 to $21.50 a day.

154 To Get High School Diplomas Here Tuesday

Eighty girls and 74 boys—members of the 1956 senior class of the Big Spring high school—close their high school careers Tuesday night.

The class, numbering 154 in all, will march past John Dibrell and Tom Guin, members of the board of education, and receive their diplomas as the closing episode of their scholastic endeavors in this city.

The commencement exercises, at the high school gymnasium, will open at 8:15 p.m. Roy D. Worley, principal, will preside.

Mariene Mann will play the professional and the invocation will be by T. L. Kennedy.

Rexie Jean Nance, vocalist, will sing "Graduation Day." Rodney Sheppard, president of the class, will deliver his address. Tom Henry Guin, a member of the class, will be the first of two featured speakers on the program. The young orator will discuss "Life is a Matter of Choice."

Eunice Freeman will be featured in a vocal solo "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Principal speech of the evening will be by W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the city schools. Blankenship was the choice of the senior class as their commencement speaker although it is the general custom to have someone from outside the school serve in this capacity.

The class chose "Supe" as their commencement orator as a mark of tribute to the educator for the 28 years he has headed the city school system. He said Saturday that he had not titled his address. Worley will officially certify the students in the class as eligible for graduation. Mrs. Jean Harrington, secretary at the high school, will introduce the graduates. Dibrell and Guin will present the diplomas.

Wilder A. Roe, director of guidance, will present the special awards to outstanding students, including the valedictorian and salutatorian.

The class will sing "Dear Old Big Spring High" with China Carroll at the piano.

Richard Engle is to pronounce the benediction. Sally Cowper will provide music for the recessional. The audience is asked to remain seated until the recessional is completed.

High School Baccalaureate Services Set For Tonight

Big Spring Seniors who are to receive their diplomas on Tuesday night will hear the Rev. Allen Adams, assistant pastor of First Methodist church, deliver the baccalaureate sermon at 8:15 p.m. today.

The annual senior sermon will be delivered at the high school gymnasium.

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the city schools, will preside.

Program Held For Forsan's 8th Graders

FORSAN, May 26—Chesney McDonald, former teacher in Sterling City schools but now engaged in ranching, was speaker for the Forsan school eighth grade graduates on Thursday night.

There were 21 students who graduated to high school. Linda Kay Camp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Camp, and Benny Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnett, received special awards from the Forsan Service Club. L. W. Monroey, president of the club, made the presentation.

Perfect attendance certificates were presented to Larry Wilson, Kal Appegard, Charlotte Buchanan, Bobby Huestis, Eddie Everett, Mike Huchton, Rodney Allison, Elizabeth Storey, Linda Kay Camp and James Jones.

Graduates were: John Whetsel, Linda Kay Camp, Jerry Bardwell, Elizabeth Storey, Benny Barnett, Winona Hill, Tommy Gilmore, Sara Sorey Sullivan, Kent Gibson, Billy Welch, Bill Wilson, Elizabeth Forbis, Dee Raliff, Johnny Gaskins, Tommy Willis, Randle Fowler, Freddie Park, Donald McElreath, Larry Blankenship, David McElreath and Jerry Pike.

The reason is obvious. Blankenship has retired as superintendent of the schools effective with the end of the current school year.

The seniors elected that he was the ideal person to speak to them. "It's an unusual experience," said the veteran school man. "As many times as I have spoken to senior classes in other schools, this will be my first appearance as speaker to the graduates of my own school."

He paused and pondered. "The other commencement addresses," he said, "have been relatively simple assignments. The more I think about this one, the tougher and more awesome it looms."

Ike Shoots 27 Holes

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower played 27 holes of golf today—his longest round since the day before his heart attack last September.

Eisenhower took the links at the Gettysburg Country Club at 9:30 a.m. the morning after his flying visit to Waco, Texas, where he made a speech and received an honorary degree from Baylor University.

He completed the 27 holes a few minutes after 1 p.m. and then motored back to his farm, where he is spending the weekend. He has no appointments scheduled in Washington until Monday afternoon.

Eisenhower went three times around the nine-hole course with his friend and neighbor George E. Allen.

'Supe' To Fill Unique Roll

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the Big Spring city schools, has been the speaker at countless commencement exercises in schools all over west Texas in the 28 years he has served as head of the Big Spring schools.

But on Tuesday night, "Supe" will enjoy an experience well nigh unique in the history of graduation ceremonies.

He is to be the featured speaker for the commencement of his own school's 1956 senior class.

It is traditional in school circles that the commencement orator be someone not directly connected with the school itself. This time the rule has been set aside.

The reason is obvious. Blankenship has retired as superintendent of the schools effective with the end of the current school year.

The seniors elected that he was the ideal person to speak to them. "It's an unusual experience," said the veteran school man. "As many times as I have spoken to senior classes in other schools, this will be my first appearance as speaker to the graduates of my own school."

He paused and pondered. "The other commencement addresses," he said, "have been relatively simple assignments. The more I think about this one, the tougher and more awesome it looms."

Lucky Moderns!

That's the opinion of Mrs. Alvin Huskey, Ellis Homes, as she demonstrates the method used by Indian women in grinding corn to be used in their cooking. Must have been a tedious process, rubbing the corn between the two stones — the "platter" and the grinder. Her husband, who has collected the other grinding stones shown as well as the additional Indian relics, and their son, Skipper, show no inclination to help. This was true of the Indian men, too.

Indian Collection Is Pride Of Newcomers

Shades of Sitting Bull! Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Huskey, Ellis Homes, have some arrowheads and Indian relics that would make any collector drool.

The couple has recently moved to Big Spring from Crane, where most of the treasures were found. Huskey began his collecting almost by accident.

One day he accompanied his brother — just for the ride — on an arrowhead hunting trip. When he came upon one, it made a collector of him immediately!

"That was all he needed to start him off," said Mrs. Huskey, "and we've been hunting arrowheads and other Indian relics ever since!"

One arrow point, of which the couple is especially proud, is made of black flint. This is unusual because there is no flint of that color in the territory where that particular head was found.

In the collection are other points of varying shades and different sizes, from the tiniest imaginable to ones which might have been used for hunting buffalo and other game.

Fashioned of a very pretty shade of pink flint is a round rock, once used as a scraper for animal hides; another one, of a lighter color and a larger size was probably used on heavier skins.

A large grinding stone is also included in the collection with several smaller stones, which were used in combination with the "platter." Mrs. Huskey remarked about how lucky she felt when she thought of how the Indian women had to work at using those utensils.

Another reminder of the past is that of a spur, rather small and delicate, which the Huskeys think is of Spanish make. Making one wonder as to what happened to the wearer is the fact that it was found in an old campsite of an Indian tribe.

Huskey explained that the camps are recognizable by the burned and blackened stones and by the remains of furnaces at various locations.

The collector and his wife both grew up in Moran, but they moved to Crane before coming to Big Spring. With them came three-year-old Skipper, whose name is George Edward, but, according to his parents, "That's too big a name for such a little boy."

Other members of the family are two parakeets, Pete and Tweety, who have made a nest and are now knitting tiny feathers.

Bob Creech Takes Bride In Courtney

STANTON — Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. (Bobby) Creech are at home in Courtney following a candlelight wedding ceremony Wednesday, May 25, at Courtney Baptist Church.

Mrs. Creech is the former Helen Beth Schauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schauer, Chicago. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Creech, Courtney.

The Rev. J. R. Fields, pastor, performed the double ring rites before a background of greenery and pink gladioli. Alice Stewart was pianist. Jan Nichols sang wedding selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white with blue accessories. She carried a white Bible showered with orchids, tulle and blue satin leaves.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Earl Creech, Courtney. Flower girls were Karen Schauer, Chicago, and Katherine Stewart, Courtney. Fay Nell Lander and Donna Holder, Stanton, were taper lighters. John Caldwell Woody, Midland, was best man.

The blue- and white wedding theme was used in the decorated three-tiered cake served at the following reception. Serving were Verna Mae Turner and Miss Holder.

The couple attended high school here. Mrs. Creech is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Cross, Courtney.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Ferrell of Midland and Mrs. J. H. Taylor of Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Niblett of Ackerly are in Abilene today to attend the baccalaureate service for Abilene Christian College students. Their daughter, Cecil, will receive her degree Monday at the commencement exercises.

I thought I would never complain again about the water filling what we lovingly refer to as "Whitney's Bayou" on the 13th street side of our house. And I'm not really complaining because I am so grateful for the rain — but if I had any wishes to be fulfilled by the city I would wish somebody would fill in the bayou and make it just a street.

MRS. THEO ANDREWS is in Pecos where she attended the marriage ceremony of her grand daughter, Joan Daniel, and Dick Hodges of Austin. The service was read Saturday night. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. B. Daniel.

It's Done With Exercise

Jane Powell is already the mother of her third child. But you'd never know it by looking at her cute figure. "It's all done by simple exercises," says Jane, who will soon star in RKO's "The Girl Most Likely."

Eager Beaver Club Makes Bandages

nounced as the next hostess. The group will disclose secret pals and draw new names and officers for the coming year will be elected at the next meeting. Refreshments were served to nine, including the following guests: Mrs. Hollis Yates, Mrs. C. R. Bruton and Mrs. Bill Thompson of Arlington, Va.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Rigid Exercises Meant Regaining Good Figure

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When I saw Jane Powell had regained her girlish figure in less than a month after her daughter Lindsey was born, I made a date to discover her secret of getting back into condition so quickly.

"I started deep breathing exercises the day the baby was born," Jane confided as we chatted on the sunny patio of her Brentwood home.

"The sooner you start toning your abdominal muscles the easier it is for them to return to normal." "How many times did you do these exercises?" I asked.

"A hundred. But you have to breathe from your abdomen and not your chest," Jane warned. "Then two days afterwards I was still flat on my back, but I tried to touch my chest with my chin. You have no idea how difficult this is when your stomach muscles are not strong."

"I also contracted my abdominal muscles as tightly as I could, held them in for a count of 10 and then relaxed. I did this a number of times during the day.

"Being conscious of your posture and not allowing yourself to slump is a must for regaining your figure. "Fourteen hours after the baby was born I was allowed to be up at short intervals and already dreaming of belted waistlines and tight-fitting skirts."

"I am a great believer in setting-up exercises," Jane confessed. "I do them religiously for 15 minutes every day. I don't allow phone calls, early appointments or anything to interfere with this. I think it is the greatest way to keep your body in condition and to keep from becoming flabby or bulky. Even on our honeymoon I managed to do them when Pat was asleep or out of the room."

"When Lindsey was a week old I started my morning workout again," Jane explained. "My routine was more moderate but I exercised every day." I wanted to know in detail what she did because her figure in Capri pants is exquisite. You'll see for yourself when RKO's "The Girl Most Likely" hits the screen.

"I begin with a stretch," she explained. "I stand up, clasp my hands in front of me, reverse them for a greater pull and bring my arms above my head with straight elbows. I bend from one side to the other as far as I can. I do this 30 times.

"I follow this with a torso twist. With my hands on my hips and my feet firmly planted I swing sharply to the right without moving my hips and then to the left. I do this also 30 times. This pair of exercises will really whittle down your waist.

"Then I move to the floor. I lie flat and lift my legs, keeping them together and ALMOST lower them, but the trick is NOT to touch the floor. This exercise builds firm abdominal muscles. This exercise should be worked in gradually from 10 times to about 60 times. Do not overdo it to begin with. Train your muscles until they become strong.

"For my thighs I lie on my side and bend my bottom leg under for balance. I raise and lower my top leg with my foot at a right angle for better pull. I do this 25 times from each side.

"Still on my side, this time with both legs straight, I swing my top leg back as far as I can, keeping straight knee and swing my top arm as far forward as possible. If you keep your toes pointed and your chin up you get a better pull. I do this scissor swing 20 times on each side.

"For my hips and thighs I lie flat on my back, bring my knees up and roll from one side to the other. I do this 50 times varying the position of my knees higher or lower to change the pressure point.

"I finish with a relaxing roll-over to keep my spine supple touching my toes in the back of my head, knees straight.

"I close my arms and come up without touching, bend over to kiss my knees. I do this 10 times."

"I complimented her on this routine and asked, "How much did you gain during pregnancy?" "Thirteen pounds," she confessed. "I counted calories all the time. I limited myself to around 1,000 a day. By now I know the calorie count of everything. I found it easiest for me to keep my breakfast and lunch down to 350 calories. I could do this by eating cottage cheese, boiled eggs, tea and apples. Then I could have a good dinner."

"I'd look at a menu like a girl going shopping and seeing expensive clothes she couldn't afford. Chicken cacciatore I adore but I ordered broiled chicken instead because it is less than 150 calories.

"There was a girl at the first dinner party we attended after Lindsey was born who had really let herself go during pregnancy. Her baby was six months old but she was still enormous. Imagine my husband coming home to that. Suddenly all the hard work and discipline I had undergone seemed worthwhile," Jane concluded.

Mrs. Stallings Is Lomax HD Secretary

Mrs. Jimmy Stallings was elected secretary of the Lomax Home Demonstration Club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Wiley Williams Thursday. She will replace Mrs. Doris Bissard, who is to move to the St. Lawrence community.

Mrs. Ralph Newman gave a report on the HD Council. Elizabeth Pace, HD agent, showed the women the method of preparing and freezing meats, vegetables and fruits. Seven were present for the meeting. The next hostess will be Mrs. Ray Russell on June 7.

New Plastic Takes Pain From Papering

A new idea involves self-adhesive plastic motifs in designs and colorings to permit decorative uses in the home. These "decores" are made of velon with a paper backing that is easily removed. There is a wide selection of florals for living room and bath, fruits, vegetables and novelties for kitchen and dinette, animated pets and circus figures for the nursery. They will adhere to any dry clean surface that is smooth - wood, plastic, glass, metal, tile or wallpaper, requiring no paste or moistening.

in the auditorium Wednesday during activity period. Dr. Hunt spoke for the group, Dean Ben Johnson "recognized" the honored individuals. Those included the lettermen on the athletic teams, the class officers, and club officers, and the favorites. Also recognized were the members of Who's Who at the college.

Of course, we are all proud of our track team which recently took sixth place in the national JUCO meet in Kansas. Jim Blasingame won the 800-yard run in 2:00.6. Tommy Black took second place in the pole vault with the height of 12'5 1/2". HCJC placed second in the mile relay and third with Freddie Stuart in the 220-yard hurdles. Another second place was taken by HCJC in the 400-yard relay and a sixth place in the 440-yard dash by Harold Hicks.

Final exams were begun Friday morning and will end Tuesday afternoon. The sophomore banquet will be held Tuesday night in the high school cafeteria. A dance was held Friday night in the Student Union Building.

In 1900 about 135 infants out of every 1,000 died before they were one year old. Now we are losing less than 25 out of every 1,000. It is bad to lose any or our precious ones, but good that improved medical techniques and new drugs are helping to save lives. Childhood diseases can now either be prevented or more easily treated. Among the weapons used in this battle are vaccines, antibiotics, and powerful, but safe antiseptics. All of them are in our pharmacy awaiting the opportunity to help.

Plea Made To Improve Publicity For Brides

By ANNE LEFEVER
Almost every girl wants a well-written newspaper account of the event of her life — her wedding. Now that the months of brides is approaching, just a little time and forethought will help insure just that. At the Herald, our requirements are very simple and easily met. Beginning with the announcement of Sister's engagement, Mom can be our best press agent. For the announcement, if there is to be a picture, we'd like it at least two days before it is ap-the plans can be made before the story is set. We like to print the news while it is news, and if you let the time go by, we're just not too anxious to use the space and our time to tell the folks what they already know. As for the details of the wedding ceremony, we have a painless method for you to give us those. Our questionnaire lists the things we'll want to incorporate in a description of the affair. It will be provided for you if you'll come by the office. Here, again, we ask for two days time in which to prepare the story and picture for publication. We want the questionnaire and the picture at least two days before the wedding is to take place; if we get it even ahead of that time, we'll be glad. See what simple rules? And if you'll follow them, we'll have time to write a better story. Then you'll be pleased, we'll be pleased, and both of us will be happier.

Beef-Potato Pie

Cut 1/2 pound salt pork and 3 1/2 pounds Round Steak into 1/2 cubes. Fry salt pork until crisp. Add beef and cook until well-browned. Add 3 tablespoons Vitamin dissolved in 3 cups hot water. Combine 6 tablespoons flour with cold water to make a thin paste, stir into meat mixture and continue to cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Season to taste. Cut 4 medium potatoes and 2 medium onions into thin slices. Arrange layers of onion and potatoes in oiled 7 1/2 x 12-inch baking dish alternately with layers of meat. Cover with loaf pastry cut to allow for escape of steam. Seal edges. Bake at 350° F. for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Makes 8 servings.

High Wide Neckline Tops Insert Of Bias Pleats

Mr. Mort plays tricks with his neckline, cutting it high and wide in front with a gentle scoop in back. This is a trick that is especially right for juniors with their firm smooth skin, a quality necessary for this kind of stylized bareness.

For further interest, he inserts a bias pleated bosom which starts just under the bust and which has a separation straight-cut buttoned placket.

This is a detail that is simple to manage, thanks to the hand cut pattern with its precise open perforations that make sewing so easy. The skirt is fully gathered and gored, another look adored by juniors.

'1-2-3-Uh' Sets Pace In New Music

"Holiday in the Dominican Republic", Dances of Santo Domingo, a new record album, is just appearing throughout the United States.

Recorded in the Dominican Republic, the album contains merengues, carabines and mangulinas contributed by Jose Morel and his Orchestra, which plays at the magnificent Angellita Theatre of Water and Light in the Dominican Republic World's Fair, and the Voz Dominicana "San Jose" of the equivalent of New York's Radio City.

The record captures the flavor of Dominican dances, which are becoming increasingly popular in the United States, from the swank salons of Palm Beach to New York's Roseland Dance Hall and Chateau Madrid.

Girl Scout Troop Holds Open House

Open house was held Friday evening by Girl Scouts of Troop 5 to show the East Ward Girl Scout House, which they have recently re-decorated.

Parents were received by Marie Neece, Vickie Parkhill and Carla Sue Smauley. The new leader, Maxine Hurst, was introduced. She will replace Mrs. Herman Spera, who will leave soon for her home in New York.

Serving was done by Marianne Bell and Sandra Lane from a table covered with a red linen cloth. An arrangement of pale pink gladioli was flanked by matching candles in crystal holders.

Dancing and visiting were the evening's diversions.

Fisherman Can Get By On 30-Cent Tackle . . .

By DON HENRY
The days when an outdoorsman can grab 50 cents worth of tackle, head for the lake, and come back loaded with bass and catfish are practically gone.
True, equipment—just the essentials—is available for less than 50 cents, but only a small percentage of today's fishermen claim they use only these bare essentials.
A sporting goods merchant here quoted prices that will be about average. For the man who is just out to enjoy an afternoon and does not expect to come home with five pounders, the equipment—a combination line, sinker, cork, and hook—will cost him 30 cents.
All else needed is a pole, which can be cut from any tree that may be handy.
But for the fisherman who sees the business as an art and who cares not for the cost, just so he can catch big ones to mount in the den, equipment is also available. But at slightly more cost.

For the professional, a reel is available for as cheap as $3; they go as high as $35. The reel is no good, however, without a rod.
Glass and metal rods are the principal models, with the latest and most expensive being glass. These range from the minimum priced $4 varieties to $20.
Casting rods and a reel will be of no avail without line. And nylon has practically outclassed silk. Of course, test poundage determines price, but it averages about $1.25 per spool, each spool being about 50 feet in length.
On the receiving end of the line is—not a hook—an artificial lure. And the consistent fisherman would not be caught without at least 10 lures. Most outdoorsmen need another lure each time they go fishing, too.

These are priced between 50 cents and $1.35 each. These include wigglers, spoons, and plain pieces of wood with a fancy name which are said to hook fishermen actually better than fish.
No sportsman is going to carry around 10 lures, extra line, and hooks, leaders, weights, etc., in his hand; he is going to invest in a tackle box. These cost from $2.50 upward.
Should the fisherman use live bait, he will need a minnow bucket, costing upward from $3.25. Also used by the professional sportsman are canned baits—shiners, salmon eggs, etc. These range up to $1 per can or bottle.
If and when fish are caught, a stringer comes in use. Cord stringers are available as cheap as 20 cents each, but better metal types are 95 cents.

Whether to hook the big ones or to just catch fish, a trot line serves the purpose. For 100-hook lines, costs are between $3.95. Longer ones can be made at higher prices.
No fisherman is a true fisherman without rubber boots or waders. Plastic waders which come up to the arm pits are priced $7.95. Dip nets for dragging in the beauties cost $1.80.
Night fishing calls for more gear, and chief among the items is a lantern—good models are about $14.95.
Since everyone cannot fish from the bank, boats are necessary. Average cost for a 14-foot metal boat is $298, and for a wooden boat of that size, the price tag will read about $150.
Motors come in a wide range of prices because of the wide assortment of motor sizes. A six-horsepower motor will be about $220, while a 20-horsepower unit costs approximately $400.
The professional sportsman may get more of a thrill from landing a seven-pound bass than the man who spent 30 cents for a line and pulled in three small bream.
But he will get more of a shock out of the bill; minimum cost of the items listed is just slightly more than 30 cents—$417.55 in fact.

Farm Home Loans Again Available

Fred T. Ross, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, has been notified that eligible farmers in this area may now obtain farm housing loans from the Big Spring agency.
Walter T. McKay, state director for the FHA, has announced funds for the loans have been made available by supplemental appropriation.
Application for the loans can be made at the Big Spring office of the FHA or at any of the 135 county offices of the FHA in Texas. Ross has been notified. Regulations have been distributed by McKay to all field offices.
Farm housing loans may be made for the construction and repair of farm houses and other farm buildings, including farmstead water supplies. Interest on the loans will be 4 per cent per year on the unpaid principal. Repayments may be scheduled over periods up to 33 years. The loans will be secured by a mortgage on the borrower's farm.
Building plans and specifications for the improvements to be financed with the farm housing loan will be obtained by the applicant. Farmers Home Administration will review the plans and inspect construction as it progresses to assist the borrower in obtaining construction that meets generally accepted standards of soundness.
The local county FHA committee determines the eligibility of applicants for farm housing loans. To be eligible, Ross explained, an applicant must be the owner of a farm, be unable to obtain suitable credit for dwellings and other buildings from other lenders, and have enough farm income from the farm and other sources to meet family living and farm operating expenses and repay his debts.
The Farmers Home Administration office for Howard and Glasscock counties is located in the basement of the Post Office Building in Big Spring.

Social Science Books Given To Junior College

Mr and Mrs. H. A. Hays have made a cash gift to Howard County Junior College to be used in purchase of books in the field of social science for the library.
Ina Mae McCollom, HCJC social science department chairman, is to select the titles to be purchased.
Expressing appreciation for the gift, Miss McCollom pointed out that use of materials in this field has increased at a pronounced rate during the past three years.
In the academic year 1953-54 a total of 665 items in the field was circulated, accounting for 10 per cent of the annual circulation of the library; in 1954-55 the percentage was 14 per cent of the total or 1,591 items; 1955-56 the percentage has been 16 per cent, or 1,950 items.
Since circulation is the measure of a library's use, Miss McCollom felt that the record reflected increased emphasis being placed on reading to supplement classroom lectures. The gift of Mr. and Mrs. Hays will help broaden the reading opportunities for social science students, she said.

Area Schools Set Expansion

Preliminary plans are ready on two school projects in this area, and the bid date on a large stadium project has been set.
Andrews school officials announced their proposals would be received until 2 p.m. June 5 for construction of a new stadium. Lump sum bids will be required, including general construction, electrical and mechanical work. The stadium is due to be one of the largest school athletic outlays in West Texas.
Preliminary plans have been approved and working drawings will be started soon for a new school plant at Westbrook. The district recently approved a bond issue in the amount of $240,000.
Preliminary plans are complete for a new high school for the Stanton Independent School District. Included will be a new gymnasium, cafeteria, library, study hall, 14 class rooms, plus an addition to the vocational agriculture and home-making departments. This work will be financed by a recently approved $340,000 bond issue.

CPA's Planning State Meeting

Big Spring members of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants are making preparations to attend the state organization's 41st annual convention in Houston June 3-4-5.
Among those who have already registered for the three-day technical-social event are Mr. and Mrs. Neil G. Hilliard.
Principal speaker at the event will be U. S. Representative Dewey Short, (R-Mo.), ranking Republican on the important House Armed Services Committee. His topic will be "America Forges Its Sword of Freedom."
Speakers for the technical sessions will include certified public accountants from throughout the nation, who are experts in their fields. Among them are Herman W. Bevis of New York; Joseph S. Glickauf Jr. of Chicago; Robert L. Kane Jr. of New York; Glenn A. Welsch of Austin; Frank L. Wilcox of Waco; and Robert Witschey of Charleston, W. Va.
Election of officers and directors will be another highlight of the three-day event. Fladger F. Tannery of Dallas is retiring president.
Social functions will include a president's luncheon for members of the state society at noon Monday and a "champagne" style show for members' wives at the same time in the Empire Room of the Rice Hotel.

Chevrolet hangs up a new round-the-clock performance record...

2438 MILES IN 24 HOURS!

The hot one averages 101.58 miles per hour for 24 hours . . . tops Indianapolis 24-hour stock car record by 280 miles at famed Darlington Raceway, Darlington, S. C.

Here was a test worthy of Chevrolet—the car that's been writing a whole new chapter in the record book of automobile performance. Twenty-four hours at a sizzling, tire-searing pace that few other cars could even attempt! Twenty-four whirling dervish hours at near-peak performance!

This was no mere test of speed—that's measured best on a straightaway run. This was a test of all the Chevrolet qualities that go to make your driving more pleasant and safer on the road. Stamina. Sureness of control. Wedded-to-the-road stability. It was a test of every inch and every ounce of the new Chevrolet, timed and certified by NASCAR.

It was no specially modified Chevrolet that hung up this new closed-course record. You can stop in any time and drive a Chevy with the same power (horsepower ranges up to 225!), the same built-in balance, the same sweet-feeling sureness of control. Come in and drive the champ!

5:59 P.M. Chevrolet flashes away from the starting flag in late afternoon sunlight. It faces 24 car-killing hours of operation at near-peak performance.

11:00 P.M. Through the night Chevy continues its blistering pace. Expert drivers take turns at the wheel to keep Chevrolet rolling toward a new closed-course record.

9:30 A.M. Whirling through a tight turn, Chevy shows its wedded-to-the-road stability. Curves come up fast on this mile-and-three-eighths oval track.

5:59 P.M. Twenty-four hours from starting time—down comes the checkered flag. NASCAR timers report a sizzling new performance record—2,438 miles in 24 hours!

And, behold, the glory of the God of Israel come from the way of the east; and his voice was like a noise of many waters: and the earth shined with his glory. (Ezekiel 43:2)

Graduation Is A Time Of Testing

Before this week is out, Big Spring and other Howard County districts will have graduated well over 200 young people from high schools. To this list will be a sizable number completing the prescribed course at Howard County Junior College.

We may be prone to note mentally that this happens about this time every year, and that after all, turning out graduates is the objective of our educational system.

If turning out graduates is the sole aim of our schools, then we have invested too heavily in maintaining and enlarging the system. On the other hand, if we have succeeded in educating the mind to an appreciation of each individual's responsibilities to his community and nation, if we have disciplined the mind to master the continuing processes of learning, if we have developed a capacity in young people for enjoyment of the nobler things of life, then we have invested wisely.

Graduation must not be the termination of education for students, else the end of school days is like snuffing out the light of a candle. Rather, graduation is a step-up-up into new areas of understanding.

One of these may well be the continuation of studies at higher levels, whether in our own junior college or in some senior college. Wherever it is possible and wherever young people can feel purposefully inclined, the experience of college edu-tion offers so many advantages that there is no point of attempting to parade them here. More and more the complexity of our generation demands keen, perceptive minds, equipped with knowledge to reach decisions which will continually bear less tolerance for error. Say what you will, we have created a marvelous civilization in our time; we must now develop greater minds to sustain and advance it.

Another step open to some graduates is that of entering actively upon the role of making a living. In this realm they can reflect readily not only whether they have mastered skills, but also whether they have learned how to get along with their fellow man at the workbench, on the street, in associations. They can quickly demonstrate whether they gained more out of their education than a mere awareness of pay day.

For some the step will be to the establishments of homes and of an immediate opportunity for participating in and contributing to our society. Here is the critical test that ascertains whether our system has geared us with the attitudes and desires that make for happy, helpful living.

Yes, graduation is a time of testing for our techniques and concepts in education as well as for the young people who are moving a notch nearer maturity. We can devoutly pray that both of us have measured up.

Norman Vincent Peale The More You Give, The More You Have

How you use your money has a great deal to do with what you get out of life. But the secret is not in getting and keeping money, but in giving it. We all want and need enough material blessings to live effectively and to do constructive work in this world, and it is no sin to have money. It's not money, but the love of money, that is the root of evil. When we learn the art of giving money, and ourselves with it, we are really getting somewhere in this world.

There is an amazing law of supply, and through it the best things in life will flow to you. This law is taught and practiced under the name of "tithing," and its amazing result is described in this passage from the Bible: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse. . . and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." Tithing has usually been taken to mean the giving of ten per cent of your income to God's work, although that is a minimum. I have personally seen this law result in the spiritual and material remaking of many persons.

For example, years ago I knew a young man whose marriage was failing. He was falling in his employment and in himself, too. When he came for consultation, he was filled with depressing negativities. He talked negatively and dully about his problems. Then it occurred to me that the law of supply could solve everything for him, so I asked him, "How much do you make a week?"

"Forty dollars," he said, "and I can't support my wife and child on that."

"I think we can correct that situation," I told him.

"How?" he asked incredulously.

"I told him about the law of supply and of receiving through giving, and explained that the practice of tithing means giving ten per cent of one's income."

"Ten per cent?" he exclaimed. "That means I would give four dollars a week!"

"It will be far and away the best investment you will ever make, and as you give it unselfishly, it will stimulate the law of supply by releasing your creative capacity. So, every week give four dollars to the church, and something else besides; not only give God ten per cent, but actually give Him one hundred per cent."

"What?" he almost shouted.

"By that I mean give yourself, your love and service one hundred per cent to God."

Finally, I got his promise to practice tithing and live in harmony with the law of supply. Today, his tithes are ten times greater because his income has increased ten times. He is one of the most effective and inspirational personalities in his community. His home life is wonderful and he is in the highest sense a successful person. He gave his money and he gave himself—and he had a rich return.

This is equally true of service. Albert Schweitzer is generally considered the greatest living man of our time. And who is Schweitzer? He made a reputation as one of the greatest organists of Europe. He became a famous authority on the music of Bach and he was considered one of the world's foremost physicians. But out of a heart of love and selflessness, he gave this all up to go to an obscure and primitive section of Africa to live among poor savages so that he might help them. Today, he is considered far greater than he ever was in Europe—a man who is close to sainthood. You see, he gave himself, and in giving his life, he found it in multiplied form.

People who hold tightly to their money and to themselves can lose both. Indeed, I am sure that explains the unhappiness of many complicated and frustrated people today. But give your money and your life, and the law of supply will pour amazing blessings upon you and, more importantly, through you. Lose your life and you find it. That's the eternal law of living.

Walter Lippmann Meeting The Revolution Of The East

Dr. Sukarno, the President of the Indonesian Republic, who was in Washington last week, came at a time when the administration, and even some members of Congress, are reappraising American policy in Asia. We know that we have been working up a blind alley. In fact, the invitation to Dr. Sukarno was meant to mark a new approach to the neutralism of the newly independent nation.

Yet it must be said that to listen carefully to what Dr. Sukarno said to Congress, and to what was implied in what he said, was a sobering experience. For though he had come as head of the Indonesian Republic, he spoke with a great zeal and fervor as an apostle of the revolution which is rising against Western power and influence all the way across Asia and Africa. We are, it was quite evident as he spoke, only in the first phase of the reappraisal which the tides of history are compelling us to make.

In the Marshall Plan, which was launched before the Korean War, economic aid was given ahead of military aid. The NATO military alliance had not yet been conceived when the Marshall Plan went into effect. It was the Korean War that compelled us to rearm ourselves in Western Europe and led to the militarization of our foreign policy in Asia.

We are now engaged in trying to persuade Congress to agree to some demilitarization of our policy.

Dr. Sukarno made it quite plain how necessary is the demilitarization of our relations with newly independent countries like Indonesia. But there was a lot more to his address than that, and all of it dispelled any notion that with a few changes of emphasis in our foreign aid policy, all will be well. In the welcoming addresses and in his responses much was said about George Washington and Thomas Jefferson. But the analogy cannot be carried very far. For the revolution of which Dr. Sukarno is so brilliant a leader and spokesman has a depth and scope and energy which are without precedent.

The revolution is not only anti-colonial in the sense that it is a rebellion against foreign rulers. Dr. Sukarno went beyond that to raise the question—most explicitly but by implication—whether the revolutionary movement means to stop short of the expulsion of all Western power and influence from Africa, South Asia and the South Pacific. What gives this revolution its fierce and enormous energy is the determination at long last to undo the human consequences of three centuries of the white man's domination, and at the same time overcome the economic and technological backwardness of the former colonial lands. Dr. Sukarno made it plain that if this four dimensional revolution can be carried out by democratic means he would prefer it, but that the revolution will have to be carried out, if necessary by totalitarian means.

The revolution which Dr. Sukarno was proclaiming is running from Morocco to Tunisia through the Middle East, to Aden, to Ceylon, to Singapore, to Indonesia, probably to Formosa and Japan. The Western nations, among whom we belong, are on the defensive throughout this vast area, and all the key positions remaining to them are under attack. One has the feeling that the Western nations are fighting rear guard actions, the French in North Africa, the British in the Middle East, and in Formosa and beyond.

We must begin to ask ourselves questions to which we cannot expect to find quick and certain answers. A new relationship between the emancipated East and the democratic West will have to be found. Where shall we look for the end of the thread by which we can find our way through the labyrinth?

Marquis Childs Candidates Have Difficulty Capturing An Audience

(What's the fuss all about? That's what many Florida voters seem to be asking as Senator Estes Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson stump the state in their windup bids for that state's Democratic convention delegates in next Tuesday's primary. Here, Marquis Childs, veteran political analyst, takes a close look at the effect of these crossroads campaigns.)

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—Get free hot dogs and hear Senator Estes Kefauver. This sign, stretched over the entrance to the local community center, had drawn about 200 people, young and old, when the Senator arrived toward the end of a long day of campaigning for Florida's 28 delegates. They ate their free hot dogs and baked beans while he spoke, primarily to the elderly—the "senior citizens"—on the need to raise social security payments to the aged and the needy.

In the face of a vast yawning indifference, some bait is necessary to get anyone out to listen. Both Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson are pursuing the voters, running them down to every crossroads and shopping center, every town hall and barber shop. And often their audience seems reluctant to stand still, a little puzzled at what the fuss is about.

Kefauver walked through a Sears Roebuck store in Coral Gables, shaking hands down one aisle and up another. Two ladies at the brassiere counter were startled to look up and encounter Kefauver's familiar Jack 'O'Lantern smile and his outstretched hand. On the edge of the little group that gathers, people want to know who it is that is so friendly and smiling.

Less than three months from the Democratic convention and five months from the election in November, this is an astonishing phenomenon. There are many reasons for the indifference that seems a part of the warm, sunlit air of this cluttered playground. Yet the fact that the two leading contenders for the nomination of one of the major parties should virtually have to the people down while they talk to them is a curious commentary on the times.

One reason is the fact that there is no run-off primary for the governorship to stir voter interest. For the first time in Florida's history, Governor LeRoy Collins, won a clear majority for re-election over four opponents in the recent gubernatorial contest. His opponents used the crudest kind of racist appeals while Collins championed moderation and respect for law.

But far more important is the bland assurance expressed in a variety of ways that President Eisenhower is going to win another term in November, no matter what anyone says or does. This being so, there is not much use in bothering about what any Democrat says. Stevenson and Kefauver are like two runners warm-up for a track meet, the outcome of which already has been determined.

"I'm going to vote for Stevenson (or Kefauver)," the filling station attendant said, "but I think I'll vote for Ike again in the fall."

The blind faith in Mr. Eisenhower is not unlike that which Franklin D. Roosevelt enjoyed in the '30s. This seemingly has little to do with what he does or says about public issues. It is the man as a symbol, as Great White Father, that inspires the belief that his very presence in the White House somehow insures the national well-being.

It is scarcely a secret, either, that voters are swayed by the kind of photograph of the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and their grandchildren that was printed recently throughout the country. They're such a wonderful family, the little lady at the notions counter says.

It should not be forgotten, of course, that a great many of us went around the country in 1948 declaring that the Republican candidate, Thomas E. Dewey, would inevitably defeat President Truman. But today's phenomenon is, in the view of this observer, quite different. For one thing, Mr. Eisenhower is in the White House and that, in itself, is an enormous advantage.

The experts who have been following the Florida Presidential primary at close range believe Stevenson has an edge in part because he has much more organization support. They qualify this by saying that many Northerners who have migrated here, are, at heart, Republicans, although they have registered as Democrats to participate in the Democratic primaries. They might deliberately vote against Stevenson to kill him off as the principal contender.

The guess is that the total vote will be only about 450,000, which is roughly half the number who voted in the election for governor. The total Democratic registration is 1,275,000; Republican, 162,000.

In the presidential election four years ago, Mr. Eisenhower got roughly 55 per cent of the vote and Stevenson 45 per cent. Those who know Florida politics from a relatively objective viewpoint believe the state will go for Mr. Eisenhower again against any Democratic candidate now visible and by about the same ratio.

Perhaps one reason Stevenson and Kefauver find it so hard to make themselves heard is because they have so little to say that seems relevant, either to the swifly-changing scene typified here at home by Florida's fantastic growth or to the vast and overpowering forces unleashed in nuclear fission and fusion. As in their debate, so widely billed and on the whole so disappointing, they both expressed right and good thoughts that have a liberal sound.

But these thoughts about colonialism and anti-colonialism, about monopoly and small business, do not seem to get beneath the surface of the lives of people, busy and distracted by the thousand and one distractions of the modern world.

This could change—and quickly—if the current prosperity were to be shaved off a little more, as it seems to be with the automobile layoffs in the North. But as of today these two earnest men, candidates for the highest office in the land, are going into the remotest highways and byways looking for someone to listen for even just a few minutes.

Bible Words for Today

PSALMS 119:11—"I have laid up thy word in my heart, that I might not sin against thee." (RSV)

When a Sunday School teacher wrote this verse in a Bible in white ink and gave it to me, a small boy, it had little meaning for me. Today the words have more significance.

The word of God is an unchanging word that can be laid away in our hearts. It is a dynamic word which acts as a purifier of thought and mind. The word of God laid up on a shelf at home is of symbolic value. The word of God laid up in the heart is of intrinsic value. Because of its very nature, it will keep man from sin. The word of God is a word out of this world. It has a touch of divinity that challenges every fiber of a man's being.

The Sunday School teacher may only have copied this verse because it is widely quoted, but it has a real meaning. The word of God does keep us from sin. It will give a man a clean mind and a pure heart.

Around The Rim A Lot Has Happened In 75 Years

Well, kids, here's a birthday, if you want to take note of such things. And a diamond anniversary, too.

Going on the assumption that the actual start of Big Spring was the day the first Texas & Pacific train got here, our little hometown is 75 years old Monday.

The late John R. Hutto, who did probably more than anyone else in compiling historical data on Big Spring and Howard County, records that the T&P line was opened for regular operation in Big Spring on May 28, 1881. A construction train had reached here the previous March 16, but it is to be assumed that May 28 would be the day of jubilation for iron-horse transportation to reach this remote point in the arid vastness of western Texas.

There seems to be nobody around who can describe the occasion when first train chuffed into the new terminus, but it must have been a sight for history. The little locomotive pouring out smoke and its boiler surging with steam, the wooden coaches off their clanking wheels. Primitive by today's standards, but a mighty achievement of the day.

The "big spring" had a volume of water then, and this point was destined to become an integral operational unit for the Texas & Pacific Railway from that day on. Much of the history of our town would be inextricably woven with the destinies of the T&P and the railroad men who have been here, in number, from 1881 on.

Matter of fact, the spring water was waiting on the train when it got here 75 years ago. Many people will remember L. F. McKay, who had entered construction work on the railroad in 1880, and by the end of that year had joined the railroad company itself in the water department. He was sent here in January, 1881, to assemble a pumping outfit.

Mr. Hutto, in an interview with Mr. McKay many years ago, wrote that two large cypress tanks were installed on an elevation above the spring and three and four inch pipe was laid to conduct the water down to the railroad. The historian wrote: "The water was excellent, both for engine purposes and for domestic use, but the water level could be lowered under constant pumping."

So the water must have brought about the shops and the division point, as the T&P solidified its operations.

The T&P, along with the towns it serves, has come a long way in the 75 years. First rails laid across Texas were 56 pound (to the linear yard). Today, the diesels and the steel coaches roll over 132 and 137 pound iron. Mr. Hutto wrote that, three-quarters of a century ago, sandstorms would sometimes blow out the roadbed and traffic would have to be suspended until a trackwalker could find, assess, and arrange to repair the damage. Rock ballast has stopped that.

First coaches were completely of wood construction and heated by wood or coal stoves. If there was to be ventilation in summer, it came from opening the windows (with a conductor's help) and taking a chance on the cinders.

During the early days, a combination baggage and express car and two coaches made up a passenger train. Fourteen loaded cars were the capacity of a freight train, and these averaged around 15 miles per hour.

A lot of pioneering had made possible the arrival of this first train in Big Spring. Surveyors fought off the Indians, promoters struggled to find the cash. There were a lot of false starts, many setbacks, until substantial aid finally came to the railroad in the form of federally-encumbered bonds, and in land grants from the state of Texas (5,167,500 acres) for the T&P. Jay Gould, regardless of what else has been recorded about him, had the vision and the energy to push this railroad across the expanse of the southwestern desert. A frontier was opened, towns sprang up, most of them to flourish.

A lot has taken place in this part of the world in 75 years. Yes sir, it's a real birthday. —BOB WHIPKEY

David Lawrence Court Opinion New Blow At States

WASHINGTON—The most unspectacular and yet the most sensational news happening of our times is the manner in which the 48 state governments are being deprived of their rights by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The latest decision, rendered this week, takes away from the states their power to regulate employment relations. It takes away from the worker his freedom of association and freedom of expression as an individual—his civil rights—and puts them at the mercy of an intolerant majority in Congress. He must join a union or be deprived of a job with the railroads. Minority rights, which from the foundation of the republic have been safeguarded by the Constitution, now are to be vested in a political majority in Congress.

Justice Frankfurter, who wrote an opinion concurring in the decision, makes no bones about it—he virtually acknowledges that the Supreme Court is a political body which changes its views with the whims of popular opinion and he lauds this as a virtue.

In discussing the 60-year history of the fight for and against compulsory unionism, Mr. Frankfurter reviews the criticisms against early court decisions and traces the various opinions handed down. Then he says:

"The change in the Court's understanding of industrial problems, certainly as they affect railroads, in their bearing upon the country's commerce and all that there hangs to, no small degree reflected the changed attitude of the railroads toward the role of labor unions in the discharge of the functions of the railroads. As striking evidence as any of this important shift in opinion is the fact that the Railway Labor Act of 1926 came on the statute books through agreement between the railroads and the railroad unions on the need for such legislation."

Here is a confession that the Supreme Court nowadays doesn't consider what the Constitution says but what private interests, powerful in politics, may agree upon as between themselves. The famous "code authority" provision of the National Recovery Act, which permitted agreements to be made between management and labor, was struck down by a unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court in 1935 precisely because the nine justices believed the public interest was greater under the Constitution than any agreements made between private interests such as labor and management even though Congress sanctioned those agreements.

Mr. Frankfurter, however, feels that if employers in an industry get together with labor unions to form a job monopoly and decide to deprive anyone of a job unless he belongs to a union, this is a worthy objective. He hints that he would uphold the constitutionality of a law on that particular provision if it came before him.

In writing the main opinion, Justice Douglas, in behalf of the other justices, says: "Congress, acting within its constitutional powers has the final say on policy issues. If it acts unwisely, the electorate can make a change."

But when the Supreme Court endows Congress with greater power than the Constitution bestows and euphemistically calls it just a "policy," the court whose judges now concede that they are influenced by the pressures of popular opinion, takes heed of public criticism, certain constitutional rights will be lost for the period that an unwise or irresponsible court holds office.

"One would have to be blind to history," says Justice Douglas, "to assert that trade unionism did not enhance and strengthen the right to work."

This is a frank avowal of the concept of expediency—the Machiavellian doctrine that the end justified the means. Other justices—the men who made the Supreme Court the respected institution it has been for decades—did not fall victim to this expediency. They expounded the Constitution in accordance with legal and not political considerations and never allowed Congress to grant permissive power to private economic groups to take away minority rights. It was in May 1935 when an unanimous court headed by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes knocked out the expediency argument by declaring: "Extraordinary conditions do not create or enlarge constitutional power."

And the same Court could properly have added that change in political or sociological conditions or in the tides of public opinion does not change the Constitution of the United States unless Congress by a two-thirds vote of both houses and so forth of the states of the union say so in approving an amendment to the Constitution itself.

Driving Preacher

HUGO, Okla. (AP)—A 34-year-old drivers' license examiner with the Oklahoma Department of Public Safety has been busy since February combining his present job with newer duties as a minister.

R. J. Brown is looking forward to an even busier schedule as he prepared to further his education in the ministry. One of his problems was solved when a friend offered to pay his tuition for a session at Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee.

Active in church work since the age of 16, Brown was ordained as a minister last February and since has served as full-time pastor of Oak Grove Baptist Church.

Job For Pastor

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The concrete steps to the portico of the Horace Bushnell Congregational Church needed replacing, and that posed a twin problem for the trustees.

Where could they find a workman skillful enough not to mar the antique beauty of the Colonial style structure, and where would they get the money to pay for the job?

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Joseph Zezzo, solved both problems. A stone mason before he entered the ministry, he did the job for nothing.

PLATTER PALAVER By Mary Sue Hale

With the summer months approaching, seems the younger set would turn to "cool" music instead of the currently popular rhythm and blues.

"On the Street Where You Live" a Columbia record by vocalist Vic Damone, seems to be selling nicely.

I believe it was last summer when Sammy Davis Jr.'s recording of "That Old Black Magic" was so popular.

As you may have noticed the caption on this department is a little misleading. From time to time, the conductor looks up from books and sort of eyes other things here and about.

My memory tells me that one of the major problems of a group such as the Big Spring Civic Theater will always be in need for more people taking part.

By this, I do not mean more "stars" who want only to play leads in the plays produced by the group.

'Searchers' Is John Wayne Western Film

"The Searchers," playing Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre, promises to be an unusual Western. John Wayne heads the cast, and John Ford directs.

Wayne portrays a Civil War veteran who returns home to Texas to find his family mostly annihilated and two nieces carried into captivity by the Comanches.

Wayne is supported by a cast of bright young newcomers, including Jeffrey Hunter, Harry Carey Jr., Vera Miles and Natalie Wood.

'Last Hunt' Jet Feature

Western films, most fans would agree, run to the mediocre. But once in a while, a really good Western story comes to the screen with all the trimmings.

Complications are added when Taylor raids an Indian encampment, killing all but Miss Paget and her child. He decides to keep the Indian girl.

Naha, Okinawa (U.S. Producer) Jack Cummings had to give up trying to make the movie "Teahouse of the August Moon" in Japan.

My memory tells me that one of the major problems of a group such as the Big Spring Civic Theater will always be in need for more people taking part.

'Guys And Dolls' Top Musical Fare

"Guys And Dolls" is a successful Broadway musical brought to the screen with a rather improbable cast of characters.

Opening Thursday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre, "Guys And Dolls" is peopled with the well-known characters of Damon Runyon.

Wayne is supported by a cast of bright young newcomers, including Jeffrey Hunter, Harry Carey Jr., Vera Miles and Natalie Wood.

KBST-TV Sends Birthday Cake For Ed Sullivan Show

When Ed Sullivan rolls back the familiar curtain on "Toast of the Town" June 24, Channel Four viewers will be watching for Big Spring's contribution to Sullivan's wighth anniversary celebration.

Saturday, the local station shipped (by air express) an enormous, white frosted cake to New York for the coming program which will mark Sullivan's eighth year with the oldest continuing show on television. Along with confections from other CBS affiliates, the local pastry will receive recognition during the hour-long program. Shaped as the state of Texas, the double layer cake is ornamented with a miniature tower and is identified with the call letters of Big Spring's station.

"A BELL FOR ADANO"

Anna Maria Alberghetti, who reached stardom in this country as the foremost teen-age songstress of motion pictures and TV, will co-star with Barry Sullivan in the musical production of "A Bell For Adano" over KBST TV Saturday, June 2. It's Ford Star Jubilee's hour-and-one-half presentation of the month, based on the famous novel by John Hersey.

In the meantime, Channel Four devotees can look to fine entertainment and informative presentations this afternoon when they'll see "Face the Nation," "Telephone Time," "Private Secretary," "GE Theater" and others.

On "Telephone Time," John Nesbitt will tell the story of a derelict who laid claim to the title of emperor of San Francisco, and went calling on royalty. It's another of Nesbitt's true stories which Channel Four carries live from the CBS network at 4 p.m.

Susie MacNamara, played by Ann Sothern, gets herself in trouble tonight on "Private Secretary" when she tries to help an old cleaning woman. This interferes with the plan of action dreamed up by the hard-as-nails building manager, who is trying to negotiate a new lease with Susie's boss.

Joe E. Brown stars tonight on "General Electric Theater" as a small-town inebriate who wins redemption and a new respect from his fellow citizens in a warm-hearted play called "The Golden Key."

Adding a fresh, feminine note to the local program log next Saturday will be a brand new show by Eunice Freeman, vocalist. The fifteen minute presentation will be devoted to songs by Miss Freeman, who will be accompanied by Julie Rainwater at the piano.

'Island In Sky' Is Aviation Film

A story of men fighting for their lives in a northern wasteland is the theme of "Island In The Sky," playing Thursday and Friday at the Terrace Drive-In Theatre. The cast features John Wayne and Lloyd Nolan. The story is based on Air Force survival techniques.

Showing on a double bill with "Island in the Sky" is a Western-type musical, "Calamity Jane," with Doris Day and Howard Keel.

Michael Rennie Is Bullfight Fan

HOLLYWOOD — Michael Rennie, the British actor, is a Latin from Piccadilly.

If it weren't for his crisp British accent one would think him another Gilbert Roland.

He is a dedicated aficionado (bullfight fan). No only does Rennie read about la fiesta brava, he thinks about it, dreams about it and is even taking lessons in bullfighting.

Rennie attends a weekly class in bull fighting in Beverly Hills.

From Yak To Bird

"Sounds like the mating call of a yak." That was Marlon Brando's reaction to a recording he made for casting in "Guys and Dolls," his first singing role. Several weeks of intensive practice saw considerable improvement.

Lillian Roth's Story Told In Hayward Film

"I'll Cry Tomorrow," the movie based on Lillian Roth's autobiography, plays through Wednesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre. It is a story of hard realism and emotional impact.

Susan Hayward, who was nominated for the Academy Award for her performance, stars as Lillian Roth. It is the story of a woman's uphill fight against alcoholism. Miss Roth was deprived of a normal childhood by an overly ambitious mother. She achieved stardom on Broadway and in Hollywood before she was twenty, and then endured 16 years of degradation before she was able to overcome the malady and start a new life.

She took her first drink to help overcome the sense of loss when her "first love" died a few days before they were to be married. It was a downhill slide from then on. She bounced into one marriage after another, finally trying to commit suicide.

The attempt was unsuccessful, but as a result she met and married a man who, himself a former alcoholic, helped her back to normal.

Co-starring with Miss Hayward are Richard Conte, Jo Van Fleet and Eddie Albert.

On a double bill with "I'll Cry Tomorrow" is "Uranium Boom," a tale of the search for atom bomb materials starring Dennis Morgan and Patricia Medina.

Breakable Props Set New Record

The largest collection of breakable furniture and glassware yet used in a movie was collected for a night club riot scene in "Guys and Dolls." The list included 100 chairs, 40 tables, 500 liquor bottles and 1,000 cocktail and highball glasses, to be broken over the heads of 50 extras.

Family Lines Kept

Family lines are kept intact in the cast of "The Searchers," a John Wayne Western thriller. Harry Carey Jr. and his mother play a mother-and-son part in the film, and Natalie Wood and her sister, Lana, play the role of the same girl at different ages.

'Tall Men' Is Good Western

"The Tall Men," playing Sunday and Monday at the Terrace Drive-In Theatre, is a rough and rugged yarn about the first cattle drive over the Bozeman Trail from Texas to Montana in 1867. The film stars Clark Gable, Jane Russell, Robert Ryan and Cameron Mitchell.

Producers chose northern Mexico as location for the filming, not only because of the scenery but because the local cattle more closely resembled the now nearly-extinct Longhorns that made Texas famous. Also, it would have been difficult and costly in the U. S. to assemble 4,000 cattle, the largest herd ever shown on the screen. The plot finds Gable, an ex-Quintrell raider, in a strange partnership with his brother, Mitchell, and Ryan. Miss Russell sneaks into the caravan to provide love interest and additional conflict. Most of the brute action takes place during the drive north, and the plot thickens between the characters on the way back.

The snow scenes were filmed at Sun Valley, Idaho.

Jane Russell Top Star In 'Revolt Of Mamie Stover'

The book was about as raw as a book can get. Naturally, the movie would have to be toned down a little. But "The Revolt Of Mamie Stover" retains its essential theme, the indictment of a social order that produces girls like Mamie.

Opening Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, the film version of the novel by William Bradford Huie stars Jane Russell as Mamie and Richard Egan as the novelist whose love she tries to win.

The screenplay has Mamie, a dance hall hostess in Honolulu during World War II, maneuvering to get money and a respectable reputation. It is the story of a beauty contest winner who got tossed out of Hollywood and ended up in a low dive in Hawaii, and the love theme has Miss Russell trying for the money and good reputation as a means of winning Egan's love. Producer Buddy Adler, who also translated "From Here To Eternity" for the screen, has duplicated his feat with "The Revolt Of Mamie Stover." The times and settings of both movies, incidentally, were the same — Hawaii at the time of the Pearl Harbor raid.

Musical Program Is Runyan Style

The musical program for "Guys and Dolls" is in keeping with the Damon Runyan characters in the screen version of the noted Broadway musical.

There's a "Fugue For Tin Horns," a "Crap Game Dance," a vocal called "Sue Me" and a dancing girl aggregation known as The Hot Box Girls.

Starring are Marlon Brando, Jean Simmons, Frank Sinatra and Vivian Blaine.

'Professionals' Used In Making Of Film

Professional crap shooters were imported for filming of a dance scene in "Guys and Dolls." Seems the dancers couldn't simulate the tossing of dice and dance at the same time.

No Memorial Day Program, But It'll Be A Holiday For Many

By SAM BLACKBURN
DEAR BOSS:—
"Fix up a story," you sez, "on how Memorial Day will be observed in Big Spring."
Sounded like a cinch. All I had to do was contact the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Jot down what was to be done and that would be it. But it wasn't that way. You see, there won't be a Memorial Day celebration in Big Spring. The day, to all intents and purposes, will be just May 30 for most folk. Wednesday, May 30, if you want to properly list it. No observance is contemplated by any of the veterans organizations or their affiliated organizations, insofar as I can find out. The date is marked "red" on the calendars here in the office. That means it's a holiday. It will be a holiday, for the two banks. Both will be closed all day. I called the post office. "Will you observe Memorial Day as a holiday?" I asked. "Of course not," said the man at the other end of the line. Then he paused. "Wait a minute, please," he said. There was an interval and he came back on the phone. "I'm wrong," he said, "we will be closed. All day. The office will shut down and there will be no mail deliveries in town."

I called the internal revenue office. It will observe the holiday. The rule seems general as applied to all federal offices and agencies. It's a holiday for the folk on the federal payrolls in civilian capacities.
Then I checked on state offices. The state employment service wasn't quite sure. The last word was that the office would remain open but only a skeleton crew would be on duty. A letter is now flying to Austin to find out if the establishment can't just shut down entirely.

The State Highway Department was next. That's where I met the unluckiest man. He is Otis Wise. There are 17 men on state maintenance job activities in the county working out of the office. There are two office men, including Mr. Wise. Eighteen will have a holiday on May 30. One won't. Guess who? Otis Wise. I called the courthouse. "We haven't decided yet," said a member of the commission. "We'll probably announce our ruling on Monday." At the city hall, the day will be observed as a general holiday. All offices will be closed. Farmers Told To Check On Social Security Self-employed farmers past age 65 who had net profit of at least $400 or gross income of at least $800 from their farming activities in 1955 should discuss their cases with a Social Security representative as soon as they have grossed $800 in farm income in 1956, according to Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa district office. Calvert explained that optional methods of determining the amount of farm earnings to be credited to their Social Security accounts are available to farmers in the above income brackets under some conditions. He added that it is important for an accurate Schedule F to be filed with Internal Revenue Service as part of the income tax return in order for proper Social Security credit to be given.

Farmers whose options enabled them to pay the self-employment tax for 1955, and who have done so, may become insured under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program as soon as they have earned a sufficient number of credits to meet the requirements of the law. For persons already 65 or older this requirement ranges from six to 10 quarters of coverage depending on the individual's exact date of birth. However, credits at any time in the past through work covered by the Social Security Act also count toward meeting the requirement. To assure accurate advice with respect to their specific cases, these older farmers are urged to take with them a copy of their complete 1955 tax returns, including Schedule F, and a statement of their gross farm receipts and expenses so far in 1956 and meet their Social Security representative as soon as their gross receipts in 1956 reach the $800 level.

YMCA Directors To Meet Tuesday

Directors of the YMCA will meet Tuesday at 5:14 p.m. in the Y building for an important session, according to Clyde McMahon, president. The finance committee is to make its recommendations relative to allocation of funds. There will be reports on the summer recreation program plans, from the youth activities committee and on camping projects offered by the YMCA.

Summer Session At Tech Expected To Enroll 2,500

LUBBOCK, May 26 — Texas Tech expects to enroll as many as 2,500 for the first term of the Summer Session, beginning June 4, the Registrar's Office reports. Enrollment may reach 3,000 for the entire session — close to the all-time high of 3,189, set in 1949, officials estimate. Tech's summer studies enrollment has been climbing steadily each year since 1952, when 2,389 students signed up. This year the first term will be June 4 through July 14, and the second term July 16 through August 25.

Rodeo Association Purchases Parking Area Near Arena

Parking area off the old U. S. 80 Highway has been made available by purchase of two acres of land by the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Association. Tom Good, president of the association, announced that the tract west of the north end of the big rodeo bowl, had been acquired.

This will permit an entrance to the rodeo grounds from the U. S. 80 Highway, thus diverting considerable traffic from the Ellis Homes area. Entrance into the bowl proper, however, will continue to be at the present location.

Bloodletting

For centuries the practice of bloodletting was an accepted method for treating many diseases. It was thought that the offending agent within the body could be drawn off and allowed to escape in this manner.

Today your physician's advice and treatment are based on scientific facts instead of superstition. Have confidence in your physician. When he writes your prescription, bring it to us for compounding.
