

John L. Lewis Due To Follow Steel Pattern

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—Coal industry leaders are closely eyeing the steel labor negotiations in the belief that John L. Lewis will follow up any agreement reached with new wage demands for coal miners.

The coal labor contract is a continuing one but beginning July 1 either the United Mine Workers or the industry may serve 60-day notice of termination. Thus, coal bargaining probably will get under way soon.

Coal is making money again and Lewis, 76-year-old UMW president, has always insisted that any industry prosperity be shared with the miners.

Soft coal production is running about 10 million tons a week, or nearly 20 per cent ahead of last year.

Pro-Segregation Candidate Will Open Campaign Here

Ross Carlton, Dallas, candidate for attorney general, formally opens his campaign Friday at 8 p.m. on the courthouse square at Big Spring.

ROSS CARLTON

The candidate said he chose Big Spring for his opening because it was here, on Aug. 15, 1955, that he launched the first legal effort to prevent integration in Texas public schools. His speech will be broadcast.

Carlton, a native of Dallas, attended Dallas schools and was graduated from the University of Texas law school in 1934. Since then, he has been engaged in the general civil practice of law, except for two periods of service in the state government.

These were with the Department of Public Safety in 1935 and in the office of attorney general, where he served as assistant to Gerald C. Mann from 1939 until 1942.

Carlton resigned as president of the Texas Citizens Council, and as chairman of the executive committee of the Associated Citizens Councils of Texas, to make the campaign for attorney general.

He has campaigned from the first on a pledge to maintain segregation in Texas, and has told luncheon gatherings and other groups that he is opposed to integration "on a gradual or any other basis."

He recently expressed his gratitude "that the State Democratic Executive Committee has, in effect, made my platform a part of the official ballot for July 28." The Committee did this he said, by placing on the ballot a referendum on the questions of stronger laws against intermarriage, laws against forced integration of white and Negro school students, and the issue of interposition, which means interfering state laws to prevent Federal encroachment.

Carlton describes himself as an uncompromising battler for states' rights, and against integration. He has promised to use every legal means at his disposal, as attorney general, to prevent integration in Texas, and any further Federal encroachment on the rights of Texas.

Red Envoy Seeking New Egyptian Deal

CAIRO, Egypt, June 16 (AP)—Bushy-haired Dmitri Shepilov, the strapping new Soviet foreign minister, flew into Cairo today for the obvious purpose of driving new bargains in the Middle East.

Shepilov, who is credited with initiating the deal last year by which Egypt traded cotton for Czech arms, arrived with his beautiful brunette daughter and a party of Soviet officials as Moscow announced official diplomatic recognition of Morocco and Tunisia.

Egypt has openly taken under her wing the nationalist movements which have won almost complete independence for the two North African states from France, and Moscow has encouraged the movements as a part of its "anti-colonial campaign."

The timing of the recognition of the two states appeared to be part of the many-sided Soviet campaign to woo the nations of the Middle East, Asia and the Arab world.

Shepilov's first words, as he stepped from his plane were tuned to that theme.

He said he had come from a country of socialism "which totally repudiated the policy of colonial expansion, a country whose economic structure has no place for oil monopolies or any other kind of imperialist monopolies which suck the vitality of less-developed nations."

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, Soviet Ambassador E. D. Kisselev, diplomatic representatives of all Communist countries, the head of Communist China's trade delegation and the Indian ambassador were on hand to greet him.

Shepilov will have talks with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Hassan Ibrahim, minister of state for production affairs. The talks with Ibrahim suggested that he might have something new to offer on the Aswan Dam.

Russia several months ago offered technical and financial assistance in building the giant dam on the Nile which Nasser envisages as the key project in his plans to expand agriculture and industry.

Parr Files For Dismissal Of Mail Fraud

HOUSTON, June 16 (AP)—Attorneys for George Parr filed in Federal Court yesterday a motion asking that a mail fraud indictment against the Duval County political leader be dismissed because of its "vague, indefinite and illogical language."

Three other motions called for a bill of particulars, a change of venue and asked that the government produce all records and documents considered by the Houston grand jury which indicted him.

The indictment returned March 6 alleged diversion of $173,500 in Benavides School District funds between September, 1949, and February, 1954.

The indictment alleged that Parr and eight other defendants joined in a scheme to defraud the school district, tax-payers and the state, that they controlled the school board and schemed to obtain money and property from the district for themselves, their relatives, associates and supporters.

"Parr pleaded innocent March 16, before Judge Allen Hannay, who ordered Parr held under $5,000 bond."

NEW BRAUNFELS, June 16 (AP)—The trial of George Parr on charges of conspiracy to commit theft was postponed today until Sept. 11.

The postponement was granted at a scheduled pre-trial hearing. The actual trial was scheduled to start Monday.

The case was transferred from South Texas. It then was transferred to New Braunfels to equalize the docket of the three-county district court.

Autos Damaged In Two Wrecks

Two car accidents were reported by the sheriff's office late Friday.

No one was injured but the vehicles involved were damaged extensively.

Mrs. Mattie Mae Palmer, driving a 1951 Chevrolet, lost control of her car nine miles northeast of Big Spring at 3:30 p.m. The car plowed through a fence on the Jim Robinson ranch, and rammed into the curbing of a water well inside the pasture.

There was considerable damage to Mrs. Palmer's car and also to the curbing of the well.

Floyd Moore and Rufus Davidson, deputies, investigated the accident.

A little later in the afternoon, one half mile south on U. S. 87, a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Robert August Nicholas, Webb Air Force Base, crashed into the rear of a truck.

The truck, owned by the H. Ray Wholesale Company, was loaded with condensed milk. It was driven by Joe Sanchez, Uvalde.

Nicholas' car plowed underneath the trailer of the big truck.

Moore investigated the accident for the sheriff's office.

Injured Workman Is Transferred To Lubbock Hospital

COLORADO CITY, June 16 (AP)—J. McClure, 27, of Sberling City was taken to a Lubbock hospital Saturday for treatment of injuries suffered in a loading rack accident at Silver Thursday.

McClure had been in Root Memorial Hospital here since shortly after the mishap, but treatment by a specialist was deemed advisable by local physicians.

He suffered a skull fracture, propane burns and other injuries in the accident.

McClure was loading a tank car with propane at Silver Thursday when the hose connection blew out, causing the hose to whip about on the loading rack. He was struck on the head by the whipping hose and fell 24 feet to the ground.

He is an employee of the Texas Natural Gas Company.

Russian Outdoes Canadian Official

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 16 (AP)—Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson gave a Liberal party rally here last night a glimpse of how the other half lives in Russia.

"I have a little three-room cottage in the Gattineau Hills," he said. "When I go there I like to cook my own meals. When I was invited to Mr. Khrushchev's summer home in the Crimea last fall, it turned out to be a palace with 150 rooms."

"But then, he's a Communist party leader. I'm not even a capitalist."

8.5 Million Gals. Of Water Used For Another Record

Big Spring continues to consume more and more water this year, and another high record was set Friday, with usage topping 8.5 million gallons.

For the 24-hour period ending Saturday morning at 8, the consumption was 8,513,000 gallons. The previous record was established Thursday. It was 8,185,000 gallons.

This month, consumption has been above eight million gallons on four occasions. Those days were June 3, last Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Water consumption this month has been 198,771,000 gallons, or a daily average of 7,251,400 gallons. Only on five days this month has the total dropped below seven million gallons.

Of Friday's total, 740,000 gallons were pumped from the O'Bar wells. The remainder came from the CRMWD.

Chief Justice Warren Rated As One Of The 'Liberal Bloc'

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—Chief Justice Warren lined up frequently with Justices Black and Douglas in the Supreme Court term just ended to form what many lawyers consider a strong liberal bloc.

In his third term on the high bench, Warren joined Black and Douglas 11 times in protesting decisions by court majorities. Not one of the three cast a dissenting vote against a majority decision written by another of the trio.

Together they voted against majority opinions written variously by Justices Reed, Burton, Clark and Harlan. The trio voted most often against Reed—five times. No other group of justices stood together so consistently.

Statistics for the term thus appear to confirm the comments of various court observers that the nine jurists may now be considered as decided in these groupings:

Justices Reed, Burton, Clark, Minton and Harlan could be rated as a conservative bloc.

Chief Justice Warren, President Eisenhower's first appointee to the tribunal, and Justices Black and Douglas, appointees of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, could be listed as a "left of center" group.

Justice Frankfurter stands in a center position where he can sometimes swing decisions one way or the other by voting with the conservatives or with the liberals.

In the term ended last Monday, Warren, Black and Douglas in dissenting opinions and by casting dissenting votes insisted court majorities were in error in these decisions of major interests:

That states have the right to ban mass picketing and violence by strikers.

The attorney general may use secret information in considering whether to suspend a deportation order.

Civilians who accompany the military forces overseas are subject to military trial for crimes committed abroad.

The Du Pont Company has not illegally monopolized the cellophane business.

Cutter Laboratories in California could fire for "just cause" a woman employee who was a Communist.

Louisiana need not grant new trials to three New Orleans Negroes sentenced to death for raping white women.

The Federal Antitrust Act bans use of force and violence by unions in making featherbedding demands on employers.

In four of their dissents the liberal bloc was joined by Clark; in another they were supported by Frankfurter.

Warren wrote eight majority opinions last term. In four of them he had unanimous support of all his associate justices. In the other four cases, dissenting votes were cast by various justices of the conservative group.

The principal case among the latter four was that knocking out enforcement of state sedition laws. Warren said such state laws had been superseded by the 1940 Smith Act and subsequent federal laws. Justices Reed, Burton and Minton dissented and their views are embraced in bills pending in both houses of Congress to nullify the effect of the decision.

In 46 cases the court voted unanimously, compared with 44 unanimous decisions in 54-55.

The Justice Department won 33 cases and lost 27 in the 55-56 term, compared with 35 wins and 15 losses in 54-55.

U.S. Farmers See Russians Wanting Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten Oklahoma cattlemen and farmers returned today from a trip to Russia. They said they didn't learn anything of value to them in their own work, but did learn that the Russian people genuinely want peace.

"The Russian people, from what we observed, saw and were told, do not want a war," said Jean Neustadt of Ardmore.

"There are peace doves on posts all over and children wear them as emblems on their clothes."

Others in the party agreed.

Clarence W. Burch of Mill Creek said the Russians "are going good in their production, both in the cattle field and on the farm, by their standards, but it is much below ours."

He said that when the Oklahomans arrived in Moscow they were taken to the Agricultural Academy.

There, he said, they were impressed by the "very fine exhibitions of farm methods and products. However, there was no evidence of any of the methods shown at the academy when we viewed the farms themselves."

Henry Hitch of Guymon said that "farming in Russia appeared to be a pretty drab existence. They are hard workers, but very inefficient and their equipment, for the most part, is very crude."

The Oklahomans spent 20 days in Russia during a five-week tour abroad. They were in a group of 27 who left New York May 8. Five return earlier and 12 are still traveling in Europe.

Jess Talkin' by Jess Blair

Willard Smith, who farms northwest of Big Spring, says a man never gets too old to learn something about farming. The thing he learned this year, he said, was never to plant crops in strips.

"I planted four rows of cotton and left four out," he said, "with the intention of planting guar later on. Then the blank rows started blowing and ruined a lot of the cotton. After this I'll plant everything solid."

Smith got a good stand of cotton at first. Some of it was covered with sand, while a lot has been dying out the last week or so. He said he would replant much of it if a rain comes in time.

Cotton Taylor has drilled two irrigation wells on his farm in the Fairview community, but thinks only one is big enough to use. It hadn't been tested, but seemed to have enough water for irrigation.

The driller struck redbed at about 80 feet, and Taylor is setting the pump at the 70-foot level.

Thrips and aphids are working on the irrigated cotton in Martin County. Floyd Smith of the Stanton Chemical Company said he was selling quite a lot of poison.

Most farmers are using malathion and dieldrin, applying one half pint of each with enough water to cover an acre.

One of the best small irrigation systems in the county is the one on the C. A. Cranfill farm a few miles northwest of Sand Springs. This is his first year to irrigate and, according to him, it was overdue. He hasn't made much crop since 1950 and had almost no prospects for dryland crops this year.

Cranfill has two wells about 60 feet deep. One pumps 90 gallons per minute and the other 145 gallons, but both are hooked together on one sprinkler system. He has 62 acres of cotton, most of it past the four-leaf stage and is having it hoed out this week.

He says where two wells are coupled onto one system, the pressure must be equalized or the stronger well may push water back into the weaker one. To offset this the pressure must be the same, and this is done by valve adjustments.

Cranfill wet the land down by changing pipe only every 24 hours. After planting he speeded it up to 12-hour settings and this week is giving it a light dose of water by changing pipe every five hours. He figures he is putting about an inch to an inch and a half on the cotton.

"I don't know how I'll come out next fall," he said. "But it looked like I had to do something. This has been about the driest part of the county the last few years, and it's sure not getting any better."

John Sherrod has a good crop of cotton on his farm a few miles northeast of Big Spring. It is holding up well, with hardly any moisture in the soil, but the feed is beginning to burn.

He is also farming a place about four miles north of Coahoma, or thereabouts, it ever rains. It hasn't yet. Sherrod says the land is in good shape for planting and he will plant cotton up until June 25 if a rain comes.

"After that date, I wouldn't risk it," he said. "I've noticed that a freeze nearly always nips the late cotton. If we get a late rain, I'll plant it all in feed."

ROAD DUST—Some caged egg producers make money, some don't. Most of those in the 150-or-so house project in Gaines County wish they could sell out. They are blaming the egg dealer who, they say, pays them just whatever price he wants to.

The ASC office in Stanton has a big sign up which reads "No Information on the Soil Bank." The manager says the farmers are keenly interested in it.

A lot of farmers are riding their own tractors these days. They're trying to hold down expense in making a crop that may not be harvested.

More workers than jobs now, even on farms. Most of the cotton is being hoed by local crews. Other jobs are hard to find.

Funny how cattle buyers signal when they make a bid. A fellow may make motions like a windmill when talking, but when he bids on an animal at the auction, he merely nods his head a twentieth of an inch or maybe twitches his nose. Must be bad manners to let anyone see him but the auctioneer or handlers.

Three men hoeing cotton, with two working and the other leaning on his hoe most of the time. A sure sign the farmer had gone to town.

The casual behavior of people in the South Texas towns. No one hurries, no one gets excited, and hardly anyone dresses up. In the little towns every restaurant serves beer—sometimes more beer than food. In one cafe five men sat drinking at a nearby table. Two seemed a little wobbly, and I figured they'd get thrown out or put in jail. But all were quite safe. When they got up to leave, a big star could be seen on one man's shirt front.

"These animals also do harm to a big tree in front of our home. They eat the bark off the limbs, and make holes in the wood. How in the world can we get rid of them?"

If the chipmunks which appear in that room are the same as those

When I am governor, we will increase the pay of workers in the hospitals for the mentally ill, we will employ an adequate number of doctors and psychiatrists for curative treatment and not mere custodial care."

Struggle Noted In Kremlin For Domination Of Policies

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

Behind Soviet smiles, a sharp struggle appears to be developing in the Communist world today. It seems headed for a crisis—one of the Kremlin's own making. The struggle arises from division of opinion among the leaders of the Communist party and the state, primarily over economic policy.

the Soviet party split. It could amount to division between Khrushchev and Premier N. S. Bulganin. Though Khrushchev is the chief de-Stalinizer, he also represented Stalinism in the super-industrialization drive. Bulganin spent much of his career in economics. They appear to have reached a temporary solution—two-man rule.

of both the party apparatus and the state machinery. Stalin had both. Georgi Malenkov had both—less than two weeks after Stalin died. Khrushchev could not achieve both in his alliance knocking down Malenkov. He appears to control the party apparatus. But Bulganin and his aides, including the economist-industrialist group, seem to run the state machinery. Somewhere in the middle is wily A. I. Mikoyan.

THE WEEK

Very little — that is nice — can be said about last week's weather with a peak of 107 or 110 degrees (take your pick). Arguing over three degrees at that temperature is like arguing between broiling and boiling. Maybe it's just as well it didn't shower — it would have scalded us sure.

Junior College May Under-Run Budget

Prospects are good for a budgetary under-run at Howard County Junior College before the fiscal year ends Aug. 31.

The May financial statement received by the board of trustees Thursday shows expenditures of $234,346 for the first nine months of the fiscal year, leaving $60,223 to go within the approved $294,569 for the year. Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, estimated faculty salary requirements (several of the faculty are paid on a 12-month basis) would be around $36,000 for the remainder of the year. Administrative, plant and miscellaneous items likely will not exceed $20,000 for the remaining period, leaving a little leeway for some instructional supplies, etc.

At the end of May the college showed a balance of $66,450 in the general fund, $325,425 in the building fund, $10,000 in the interest and sinking fund, $3,447 in the social security fund, and $5,746 from the state of Texas.

93.6 Per Cent Of School Taxes Paid For Year

Collections on the current roll have reached 93.6 per cent for the Big Spring Independent School District, and prospects are that before the fiscal year ends the factor may reach 95 per cent.

Total collections for the year have amounted to $486,491, according to a report from J. O. Hagood, tax assessor-collector for the district. Of this amount, $474,262.28 is on the current roll, with $346,504.50 going to local maintenance (operation) and $115,406.99 to interest and sinking fund (debt service). To remaining $12,360.79 is represented in discounts allowed for early payments.

By July, penalty on delinquent taxes will jump to eight per cent, and several who have not paid on the current roll (which became delinquent as of Feb. 1) are expected to pay before that time. Interest charge then will be three per cent and will increase by half a per cent per month until it reaches a maximum of six per cent next January.

Old Jail At Gail Gets Improvements

GAIL, June 16. — The Borden County jail is being renovated and brought up to date, according to County Judge C. C. Nunnally. The old roof has been replaced by one made of steel and sheet iron, and the four cell blocks are getting restroom facilities installed.

Heretofore the indoor plumbing was placed in the run-around, and at night the prisoners had plenty of time to plan an escape. Last spring one of them did escape. Perhaps he didn't like the loneliness or the lack of facilities, because he clawed his way through the roof and left for parts unknown.

"Very few prisoners ever get away," Nunnally said, "but there was always the possibility. Usually Sheriff Sid Reeder took the bad ones to the Snyder jail for safekeeping. This was quite a lot of trouble, so we finally decided to remodel this one where the prisoners would stay put."

Before the remodeling, there was no place to keep women prisoners. Now they have a nice cell block, separated from the other three by a stone wall; and if they ever get a woman prisoner, she can enjoy complete privacy.

The jail is a quite formidable-

Drawing for state offices already has been held and Purser has received instructions on the listing of state candidates on the primary ballot.

Most modern truck V8's ...and the pounds prove it!

Pound for pound, the most powerful truck V8's today are Chevrolets. That's one way you can tell they're the most modern V8's going!

Any engineer will tell you that high horsepower-per-pound is a good indication of efficient engine design. And Chevrolet's modern short-stroke V8 truck engines do more work for their weight than any other V8 in any truck today!

That means they carry around fewer pounds for power they develop. (They weigh up to 200 pounds less than other comparable engines!) It means, too, that less of the maximum truck G.V.W. consists of engine weight—and more is devoted to payload. So, you not only can haul bigger loads—you have more usable power to move them!

Stop by and let us show you how Chevrolet's compact, super-efficient truck V8's can save hours and dollars on your job.

Weigh the facts...
and you'll choose today's most modern trucks

Wasted weight is engineered out of Chevrolet truck V8's!
Chevrolet's short-stroke truck V8's have a rugged yet remarkably compact cylinder block. Modern design cuts down engine weight and increases engine efficiency!

More power per pound means more power for your payload!
Since less power is used in moving engine weight, a bigger proportion of the power is available for moving your payloads. Here's where you get hour-saving performance!

There's a modern V8 for every Chevrolet Task-Force truck!
There's a powerful, deep-breathing V8—either standard, or optional at extra cost—in every new Chevrolet Task-Force truck model. Horsepower ranges as high as 195!

Ex-Precacher's Services Set

Charles Philip Worley, 5, retired and former evangelist, died here Friday at 8:45 p.m. after a long illness.

Mr. Worley had been a revival preacher for approximately 20 years in East Texas and Oklahoma, retiring in 1925 to a career in farming. He came to Big Spring in 1941.

Services have been set for 2 p.m. today at the Trinity Baptist Church with the pastor, the Rev. L. J. Power, officiating. Burial will be in the Odessa cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Worley, who died Feb. 3, 1954. River Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Surviving are two sons, Cecil Worley, with the Armed Forces in Germany, and Carl Worley, Yorktown, Calif.; four daughters, Mrs. Vergie Tuttle and Mrs. Ethel Guthrie, Sacramento, Calif.; Mrs. Minnie Talley, Lubbock, and Mrs. A. L. Sipes, Big Spring.

He also leaves two sisters, four brothers, 25 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Strong Tactical Air Power Urged To Stop 'Small Wars'

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—A strong Tactical Air Command able to fight anywhere in the world was urged by investigating senators today by the best insurance against "brushfire or limited type" wars.

The Senate Air Power Investigating subcommittee released testimony given behind closed doors by Gen. Otto P. Weyland, head of the Tactical Air Command, who said that if the United States had had adequate tactical air power prior to 1950 "it is questionable whether the Korean War would have started."

Just as the Strategic Air Command has prevented outbreak of global wars, the general testified, "it is obvious to me that we must have adequate tactical air forces in being that are capable of serving as a deterrent to the brushfire type of war."

Proposals for strengthening TAC came from Sens. Symington (D-Mo.), chairman of the air power probe, and Jackson (D-Wash). They put their suggestions in the form of scores of questions in the 72 pages of testimony, which was censored for military secrets by the Defense Department.

Symington said it was just as important that TAC be ready for combat anywhere in the world as it is for SAC to be ready.

Jackson protested that missiles, fighters and other equipment now in use by TAC were not the latest and fastest available.

Weyland explained that the Tactical Air Command must assist theater commanders in any part of the world by providing air superiority, air defense and close support for ground forces.

Its first main task is to win the battle for control of the air, he said, so that ground forces can fight "without an enemy on their back."

He said TAC must isolate the battlefield area by "chopping off" enemy supplies.

All the while TAC must provide close support for ground troops by "moving of obstacles that are in the way of advancing infantry" or in the case of a rear action, holding off the enemy.

The sessions will get under way at Knott at 2 p.m. in the home-making department of the high school and at Elbow at 8:30 a.m. in the Elbow school cafeteria.

The first meeting will be to select patterns and material and to get everything organized. The younger girls will make simple cotton blouses and the girls who have had the training before will make school dresses and simple party dresses. A dress review will be held at the end of the workshop.

Helping with the workshop at Elbow will be Mrs. E. B. Low, Mrs. Curtis Sherman, Mrs. Denver Yates, Mrs. Pershing Morton, Mrs. T. Dunnagan, and Mrs. Jack Jones. At Knott will be Mrs. T. M. Robinson, Mrs. W. A. Jackson, and Mrs. Robert Brown.

This meeting is for 4-H girls, their parents, and adult leaders from the communities of Gay Hill, Vealmoor, Coahoma, Center Point, Midway, and Forsan to discuss the organization of workshops in their communities.

Purposes Of Credit Agency Explained

Ninety per cent of the people in Big Spring use credit, according to Mrs. J. B. Apple, manager of the Retail Merchants Association.

Speaking on the purposes of the association, Mrs. Apple said: "Our chief aim is to make credit buying easier for both the consumer and the merchant."

The local credit bureau provides a central clearing house for records, which saves time which might otherwise have to be spent in checking individual records.

Envelopes on file at the association contain the records of many of the individuals' credit dealings. A slip in the envelope may note any trouble run into on an account for either failure to pay or slowness. There may also be some notation of the size of the person's bank account.

It is a very simple thing for a credit manager to check on a person's record. All he has to do is call the local association and a girl at the other end of the phone will pull the envelope from the file and give the information over the phone. She reads what is on the card, no more. It's all up to the store to decide if the person will receive credit or not.

This kills a common misconception that credit records are classified "good" or "bad" and it's up to the credit bureau to warn merchants of risky customers, Mrs. Apple pointed out.

It's also easy to develop a credit record. A bank account and a steady job are the essentials. With that, a person can talk to the credit manager of a store, explaining that he has no previous record. He will usually be granted a small charge account with perhaps a maximum limit on it.

It should be easy for him to open his next account if he uses his credit wisely, she explained.

The person who knows how to use his credit wisely makes it an asset by which he can acquire a home, furniture, or car long before he could save the money to buy them, according to the RMA manager.

Unfortunately, there are some who find credit is "a wonderful way of buying since you don't pay until later," Mrs. Apple said. They keep putting off their creditors until one day they find themselves owing everything they have.

Then there is the type who thinks the use of credit is foolish. They have never owed anyone a dime and they are proud of it. Then one day they get caught in a pinch where credit is needed. They find it's difficult to get credit with no previous record.

It's up to the Retail Merchants Association to guard each of these people's record, but their chief obligation is to their customers, the guardians of business credit, said Mrs. Apple.

Thorp - Brown Nuptials Held In First Presbyterian Church

Knocking before a white wrought-iron prie-dieu, with white satin pillow, Anna Mae Thorp and Roger Dale Brown were married Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church.

As the couple knelt, Margy Beth Keaton sang "O, Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Omar Pitman, organist.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Murph Thorp, 539 Hillside; the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. J. E. Brown, 1606 Wood, and the late Judge Brown.

The Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the church, officiated for the semi-formal double ring rite, repeated before a background of fern trees.

Center of the arrangement was a combination of white gladioli and white stock, flanked by white candelabra, holding white cathedral tapers.

Aisles were marked with white aisle cloths and white triple-branched candelabra, trimmed with fern and bows of white satin ribbon.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Pitman played selections of nuptial music. She accompanied Henry Roger, violinist, playing "Ave Maria," as candles were lighted by Murph Thorp Jr., brother of the bride, and Wendell Brown, brother of the bridegroom.

Miss Keaton sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee." This was immediately followed by strains of the wedding march as the bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage.

"O, Perfect Love" was background music during the ceremony and the recessional was the traditional wedding march by Mendelssohn.

BRIDAL GOWN
Hand-clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white slipper satin fashioned the bridal gown, with a floor-length skirt which swept into a chapel train.

An inset of lace in the skirt extended to the knees and matched lace of the basque. Fastened in the back with tiny satin-covered buttons extending from the low neckline to the fingertips, the bodice featured cap sleeves complemented with gauntlets of lace in 16-button length.

The wide neckline, sleeves and inset were encrusted with tiny seed pearls and iridescent sequins in the pattern of the flowers in the lace. White calf sandals completed the bridal attire with a strand of pearls and earbobs of pearl in sunburst design. The latter were a gift from the bridegroom.

Attached to a cap of the lace was a circular veil, fingertip length. The bridal bouquet was of tiny French carnations and sweetheart roses with English ivy.

In the wedding tradition, the bride's pearl necklace, a gift from her mother upon graduation from junior high school, was something old. Something new was the pearl earbobs, and something blue was a garter.

Kay Bonfield was maid of honor; bridesmaids were Libby Jones and Mrs. Savoy Kay.

All attendants were attired in identical frocks of Chantilly lace over taffeta, ballerina length. The long torso bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and was attached to a skirt made in tiers of ruffles.

Their jewelry was of pearls and their white sandals bore a design of pearls on the toes. They wore short white gloves and picture hats of white pique with white lace trim.

The attendants carried pink satin baskets filled with pink majestic daisies.

Louis Stipp served as best man; Murph Thorp Jr. and Wendell Brown were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Sam Hall, Robert Angel, John Lawrence, and a cousin of the bridegroom, Ray Echols of Coahoma.

Scattering rose petals in the path of the bride were the bridegroom's nieces, Candy and Stephanie Battenfield of Farwell. They wore organdy dresses with full gathered skirts tied with velvet bows, and trimmed with lace. They carried baskets of lace and pink satin ribbon.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

What inactivity is more pronounced than that of a college town during the summer? Hardly a fragment of student activity. Not that I'm placing Big Spring in the category of a college center (give us a few years more!), but the students who attend HCJC during the fall and winter desert for home and other points just the same do students of any college or university. Gone for a few months are the club meetings and projects, the student socials and parties, and all forms of college-sponsored doings.

For this reason, we are devoting the space of this column during these summer months, not only to HCJC but also to other local college students who have returned home for a summer breather. In order that they might feel as though they "belonged" to Big Spring again, this column will serve as theirs for this summer, though it will be primarily devoted to HCJC news.

Frank Hunt, a last year's graduate of HCJC who has returned for the summer sessions, bade classroom and Big Spring goodbye last Thursday, as he headed for Abilene to serve as best man in the wedding of an old school chum. After spending three days there, he returned home Saturday.

Marvin Wise has decided that the pattern of his life will be altered and affected by Uncle Sam for a few years. He left Wednesday morning for Fort Chaffee, Ark., where he will complete an 8 weeks basic training course in the army. For those of you who are acquainted with Marvin, and know the loneliness and homesickness of a soldier, his address will appear in this column when it becomes established.

The latest but not the first! This applies to an interesting project being conducted by Bruce Frazier in line with the biology course he is conducting this summer at the college. With the argument that no such course should be out of the scope of a very young person, Mr. Frazier is doing now, and has done in the past, experiments along that line. This year the "guinea pig" happens to be an eighth grade student, Robert Smith. Along with the balance of the class, Robert does the parallel assigned work — and quite nicely, at that!

After a short visit here, Glenn Rogers, a University of Texas student, returned to that campus for the first summer session. After the first six weeks, Glenn plans to attend HCJC the second summer term.

Betty Hester, who was a Jayhawker last year, is presently here visiting Barbara Elmore. After the weekend, Betty will return to her home in Meadow.

The Y-sponsored Friday night dances are attracting numerous college as well as high school students. From the turnout to these Y dances both this week and last, seems chances for Friday night dances all summer long are excellent. With the youth and teen-agers in mind, the Y has established this weekly social for YOU. Why not take advantage of it?

After her car accident resulting in an extended hospitalization, Myrt Jones has been dismissed, "good as new."

Marie Hall, who will be a sophomore at Vassar, come next fall, bade the East good-by in favor of Big Spring, as she arrived here yesterday.

A bridal shower was given Friday night for Sue Neal in the home of Myra Sproul. Attending were friends who gave their blessings and well-wishing to Sue, who will be married to Ray Russell on Sunday. Serving as hostesses were Myra, Willela Hanks, Mary Forehand and Yvonne Peterson.

Visiting in the J. A. Coffey home is Baylor student Tom Bailey. A special friend of Glenn's, Tom arrived Wednesday from his home in Dallas, and remained with the Coffeys until today.

Could it be that water skiing has turned into a fad for many college students. Guess it could be more accurately termed, "summer sport," but its popularity has spread above many of the more common sports until there are quite a few of the "water-mad skiers."

Walter Wheat, a local Baylor student, is in the process of having major surgery done. From local reports, the Wheat family accompanied Walter to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he was given a check-up. Now he is in a Dallas hospital to undergo surgery.

Peggy Hogan, a sophomore at Baylor next Fall, has been chosen for an especially dedicated task. Having visited the Baptist retreat, Glorietta, two times as a guest, Peg was chosen to be one of the 140 working staff members to serve

Washington Is Now A Cultural Center

The striking development of Washington as a world cultural center over the past 25 years was noted by British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins. He is impressed with the welcome extended to writers and artists from abroad and the great interest in the number of traveling exhibitions brought to the capital.

Makins made these observations at the opening of the first American exhibition of sculpture and drawing by the English artist, Barbara Hepworth, sponsored by the Institute of Contemporary Arts.

MRS. GILBERT GOSS SAWTELLE

Gilbert Sawtelle Takes Bride In El Paso Wedding Ceremony

A formal, double ring ceremony, in the ancient Spanish tradition, was used for the marriage of Martha Aurelia Monedero and Gilbert Goss Sawtelle Saturday morning in El Paso.

Vows were taken in Saint Patrick's Cathedral before the Rev. Thomas Rowland. The altar was banked with white gladioli and carnations and lighted by white tapers in tall candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gonzalo Monedero, 2004 Arizona St., El Paso. Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, 210 W. 22nd, is the mother of the bridegroom.

As wedding guests assembled, Mrs. Alberto L. Delgado, organist, played selections of wedding music. The processional was "Marche Nuptiale, Opus 10, No. 1" by Allan Caron.

During the nuptial mass, Leonardo Martinez, baritone, sang "Ecce Panis" by Cesar Frank. Rita Salazar, soprano, sang "Ave Maria" by Franz Abt, and then joined Mrs. Ignacio Gardara, contralto, to sing "Panis Angelicus" by Cesar Frank.

After the mass, as the bride offered her wedding bouquet to the Virgin Mary, Miss Salazar sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," by Lamblotte. The recessional was "Marche Nuptiale, Opus 10, No. 5," by Allan Caron.

Wearing a gown of imported sculptured Chantilly lace over taffeta, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The basque ending in a deep point in the back, was fastened with tiny self-covered buttons.

Long light sleeves were trimmed at the wrist with pearls and sequins to match the scalloped neckline, embroidered in the same fashion. The skirt, which swept into a broad cathedral train of Chantilly lace, was formed of cascades of tulle at front and sides; it was frosted with appliques of cut-out lace.

A fingertip veil of French illusion was held by a half-hat of lace and illusion, studded with miniature orange blossoms; iridescent paillettes and seed pearls. The bride wore a strand of pearls and matching earbobs, a gift of the bridegroom.

BRIDE'S BOUQUET
The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white mystery gardenias and stephanotis. With this, she carried a filigree rosary, a gift from Lolita Cotera.

Sponsors of the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Monedero, Mrs. Sawtelle and Fred G. Sawtelle of Houston, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Monedero was attired in a gown of mauve Chantilly lace over taffeta with French illusion side drapes. Her hat and accessories were pink, and her corsage was of pink gardenias.

Wearing a gown of mist blue imported silk lace and organza, Mrs. Sawtelle chose an iridescent beaded hat and bag. She also wore pink gardenias in a corsage.

Yolanda Davis and Conchita Navar were maids of honor and carried the traditional orange blossom nuptial rope, a gift from Mrs. Roberto Gonzalez of Mexico City.

Their frocks were identical, and designed of aqua chiffon over aqua taffeta. Their pointed basques featured shirred v necklines, and they wore picture hats with velvet streamers.

Bridesmaids were Conchita Amador, Trias and Blanche Flores. Junior bridesmaid was Leticia Rivas. Their costumes were yellow, fashioned like those of the maids of honor. They carried cascade bouquets of majestic daisies and marguerites.

A niece of the bride, Rose Monedero, was flower girl. She wore white tulle and lace over taffeta with a ruffled neckline and skirt. She carried the traditional 12 gold coins and a white basket filled with rose petals.

Rings were borne on a pillow carried by Gonzalo Monedero III, the nephew of the bride. He was dressed in a blue Eton suit.

RECEPTION
A reception was held at the Catholic Daughters of America Building, with the parents of the couple, the bride and bridegroom, the maids of honor and the bridesmaids greeting guests.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white satin and tulle. An oblong mirror formed the base for a five-tiered cake, decorated with white gardenias, daisies and maidenhair fern. Silver candelabra completed the arrangement.

Following a buffet luncheon with champagne, the cake was served by Mrs. Angel Rivas and Mrs. Ignacio Barrios. Guests were registered by Mrs. William C. Gwin and Alicia Trevino.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Antonio Alvarez, aunt of the bride; Mrs. J. R. Diaz and Mrs. Marie L. Wilkins.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Juan Zamora of Albuquerque, N. M., godmother of the bride; Mrs. Roberto Gonzalez of Mexico City and Mrs. Jose Portillo-Solis of Chihuahua, Mexico.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Mexico City and Acapulco, the bride chose a yellow and white sheath with yellow linen duster and hat. She used white accessories and wore a white gardenia corsage.

Upon their return, they will make a home at 3331 Harrison Avenue, El Paso.

The bride, who is an accomplished musician, has been a teacher in the El Paso schools. The bridegroom, a graduate of A&M, is with a firm of architects in that city.

Use Portable Kit For Chocolate Soda

Make yourself a soda kit, and you'll have picnics that will be envied for miles around in Picnic Month.

Chocolate sodas made with quick cocoa powder are so easy, they're a mere matter of moments to put together whether at home or under the greenwood tree.

Complete the picnic lunch with an assortment of sandwiches. Vary the breads as well as the fillings to win success.

For your portable soda kit, you'll need an insulated thermobag that keeps cold things cold. You may wish to fortify its cooling capacity with frozen liquid ice.

Into the bag goes milk, a carbonated beverage, and ice cream. If there's room, tuck in the box of quick soda cups, and the straws, so you'll have everything all together.

Quick cocoa powder disperses so quickly in milk for delightful, chocolate flavor that your soda is on its way in an instant. Mix it right in the individual paper-cup-like-a professional soda dispenser.

The quick cocoa powder for this soda is the same familiar ingredient used to make delicious chocolate flavored milk at home.

Use Chives Often
Do you have a pot of chives on your kitchen shelf? Use the minced chives as a savory seasoning for mashed potatoes. Add them to cream cheese softened with mayonnaise for a cracker or sandwich spread. Sprinkle them over bowls of tomato soup. Add them to hot cooked buttered rice and serve with meat or fish.

Serve Tasty Tidbit
Stuffed celery stalks, cut into short lengths, make delicious tidbits to serve with a before-dinner beverage. For the stuffing you can use cream or cottage cheese mixed with anchovy paste or chopped green olives; or fill the celery ribs with lobster paste; or choose mashed sardines-and-mayonnaise for the celery and sprinkle heavily with minced parsley for attractive color.

Housefinding Hardest Job Of New Residents

"When I started trying to get a house here, I thought everybody in the world must be moving to Big Spring," said T. J. Barrow, who has finally got his family moved to Big Spring from Seminole. Their home is at 2208 S. Monticello.

They would have been residents a month sooner if he could have found a house — that is, a house for which the rent wouldn't tilt the budget.

"We've met more people in two weeks in Big Spring than we met in all the time we've lived in other places. The people and the merchants are very friendly and we like the town fine," say the Barrows. They are a little inclined to the belief that the rental charges are a little on the "boom day" side, however.

Activities of the Barrow household revolve around the interest of men — young men from the age of two through nine and ten years and including the daddy of the family.

The two older boys are avid baseball fans and are playing in Fisherman's Paradise in the Little League. They moved here a little late to get in on the ground floor but they are working hard. They were on McCamey's first

Candlelight Featured As Vows Said By Miss Petty, W. Wilbur

Symbolical of the union of their lives was the single candle lighted during the wedding ceremony of Wanda Lou Petty and Warren Lee Wilbur of Miami, Okla.

The couple exchanged their vows Friday evening in the First Baptist Church before Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Petty, 1502 Nolan; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilbur of Miami, Okla.

White calla lilies and commodore fern formed a background for the formal double ring ceremony. Six cathedral candleabra held white tapers, while two tall candles signified the lives of the bridal pair before the rites were read.

Aisles were marked with white ribbon and fern.

A pre-nuptial prelude, played by Mrs. Glenn Cosby of Miami, organist, included "Romance," "Reverie," "Serenade," and "Calm As The Night."

Candles were lighted by Marie Petty, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Jim Bacon of Denton as Mrs. Cosby played "Barcarolle." A closing selection was "O. Perfect Love."

Mrs. Cosby also accompanied Mrs. David Barlow of New York

City, who sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were played.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown, of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over net and taffeta in blush pink, was an original model.

The tiny stand-up lace collar on the high neckline was embroidered with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The tiny sleeves of the fitted bodice were complemented by lace gauntlets. Joined to a hip-yoke of lace was a skirt of tulle, shirred for fullness and sweeping into a chapel train. A center panel of the skirt was of lace.

From a tiny pink cap, trimmed in sequins and seed pearls, a veil cascaded in three tiers of bluish pink tulle. The bridal flowers were formed into a bouquet of white roses centered with pink sweetheart roses.

A gold wedding band, made by the great-grandfather of the bridegroom served as something old; her bridal gown was a white lace handkerchief had been borrowed from her grandmother, Mrs. I. B. Cauble, and she wore a blue garter. This garter is one that has been worn by a group of girls who were friends in high school.

ATTENDANTS

Attending as matron of honor was Mrs. Bill Miller of Abernathy; DeMaris Lou Wilbur, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor; bridesmaids were Dephane Tabor of Midland and Mrs. Waymon Clark of Big Spring, a cousin of the bride.

All feminine attendants were dressed in identical fashion. They wore white dotted swiss frocks which featured tiny tucks extending across the front. This joined a panel of eyelet embroidery and pink satin ribbon which extended from the waist over the shoulders, meeting in the back. Here, they were joined by a pink satin bow.

Their full gathered skirts were street length. They wore mitts made of dotted swiss with eyelet trim and their bonnets were of pink net and satin. All carried pink net fans trimmed with tiny roses.

Marion Ogden of Miami, Okla., was best man. Groomsman were Bennett Petty of Port Arthur, brother of the bride; Jimmy Ponder of Fort Worth and Dan Hensley of Miami.

Guests were seated by John Wor-

For First Time In 40 Years No Theft

Thieves left Capitol Hill untouched during May. The U. S. Capitol Police reported its first theftless month in nearly 40 years. Not even a petty larceny was reported.

Prior to the record-setting month, police reported an average of four to eight thefts each week. The police attribute their lack of business to a newly-instituted net touch policy of all-out investigation and all-out prosecution.

They also credit publication of criminal news in Capitol Hill's energetic little newspaper, Roll Call, which they believe has created an "awareness of the determination of police to wipe out thefts."

WINE OF YOUTH by Robert Wilder, Bantam reprint

"Wine of Youth," which had an extremely successful run of popularity in its initial appearance a couple of years or so ago, has been reprinted by Bantam in an economical paper bound edition.

Wilder has dreamed up an exciting story which covers four or five decades of Texas growth and history. His principal scene is a town called Vega and the story is what happened there when an Irish contractor, eager to get in on big deals, joined up with a colorful but unscrupulous Spanish-American leader. The upshot of this union was the shift of voting power from the Anglos in the community, always in a minority, to the Mexicans. The Mexicans were numerically superior but when the shift in voting strength was made, they took over control of the town, the county and became a powerful political machine with influence all over the state.

but which sounds like it will be real fun.

This is a slender volume, beautifully printed and illustrated, of a new novel by a Texas writer who is rapidly gaining renown in the field of literature.

It is the Harper & Bros. edition of "Old Yeller" by Fred Gipson. The story, we understand, is appearing in an abbreviated form in Collier's magazine.

The book is to be officially released on July 11. It will sell for $2.75.

Bailes To Live Here After Luther Rites

A-2C and Mrs. Harold Lee Bailes have returned here after their wedding Tuesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jensen, at Luther. She is the former Charlotte Jensen.

Rev. Thomas, pastor of the Church of The Nazarene in Snyder performed the ceremony.

The bridegroom is in the 3560th Air Police Squadron at Webb AFB. They will make their home at 503 1/2 Goliad.

A-3C and Mrs. Robert Wall were their attendants.

The story is not unbelievable in face of disclosures in recent years from parts of the state. The picture that Wilder paints of the phenomenal growth of the state in wealth, power and enthusiasm is excellent.

The only thing about the book is the uneasy feeling that it leaves in the mind of the reader—a sort of "Could this really happen?" This thought is immediately coupled with a second even more disturbing thought, "Is this sort of thing happening?"

Nancy Joe Pendleton Is Party Honoree

Nancy Jo Pendleton celebrated her third birthday anniversary Friday morning when her mother, Mrs. Joe Pendleton honored her with a party.

Guests were given toy watches, balloons and suckers as favors. The birthday cake was decorated to represent balloons.

Present were Linda and Paula McClendon, Alan Hill, David Johnson, Lanise Martin, Debbie King, Pam and Lance Youngquist.

Ambassador's Wife Enjoys Popularity

Mrs. Henri Bonnet, wife of the former French ambassador to the United States, had barely a moment in which to catch her breath on her recent visit to the capital where she and her husband enjoyed such great popularity.

Everyone wanted to give a party for the chic Greek-born Helle Bonnet, who was in this country briefly on business as a representative of Paris couturier Christian Dior.

"Nobody knows what friendship means until he has had an American friend," said Mrs. Bonnet at a dinner given in her honor by hostesses Perio Mesta and her sister, Mrs. George Tyson.

Gustafsons On Trip Following Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gustafson are on a wedding trip that will take them to northern Minnesota following their marriage Saturday night at the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Gustafson is the former June Anne Day, granddaughter of Mrs. J. V. Hellums of Rotan. Mr. Gustafson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gustafson of Alexandria, Minn.

Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the First Christian Church, read the informal double ring ceremony. The vows were repeated before an altar decorated with jade fern interspersed with pink baby's breath and lighted by the pink candles that burned in the candelabra.

Betty Earley was the organist and her pre-nuptial selections were "Serenade" and "You, Just You." The latter number was written by the bride's late grandmother, Ella Hudson Day, whose home was in Rotan.

For her wedding the bride chose a street length dress of white chiffon with figures of periwinkle blue. A deep V neckline was bound with matching blue velvet ribbons. An added decorative touch was the velvet bow with long streamers that was attached at the back neckline.

She carried a colonial nosegay fashioned of pink sweetheart roses and yellow stephanotis on a background of old-fashioned lace. Her headpiece was made of blue stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Pat Bouchette who wore a Grecian cotton frock of yellow with matching headpiece of yellow stephanotis.

Sid Spilth of Lincoln, Neb., served his cousin as best man and ushers were David Hellums, J. V. Hellums, Gene Day, Bill Day and James Almy.

Glenn Gustafson, brother of the bridegroom was the candle lighter.

WEDDING TRIP

When the couple left for their wedding trip the bride wore a sheath dress of blue polished cotton with matching faille jacket. Her accessories were pale yellow.

When they return from their honeymoon they will make their home in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Mrs. Gustafson is a graduate of Texas Christian University and has taught in the Big Spring Spring schools since 1949. She has been co-sponsor of the seventh grade Tri Hi Y.

Mr. Gustafson was graduated from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn. and has been stationed at Stewart Air Force Base in Smyrna, Tenn.

Following the services a reception was held in the church parlor where the wedding guests were received by Rev. and Mrs. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gustafson, Pat Bouchette, the bridal couple and Mrs. J. V. Hellums.

The bride's table was laid with a white floor length organza bride's cloth and her colors of pink and yellow were used in the tall floral arrangement. The centerpiece was of pink gladioli and yellow carnations intermingled with pink baby's breath. In the foreground was a wide blue satin ribbon scattered with baby's breath blossoms and a miniature bride and groom walking together. "June and John" was printed on it in gold letters. The decorated wedding cake was served with punch by Mrs. Charles Race; Mrs. Bob Hempel, Joyce Gound, Mrs. Margaret Cooper, the bride's aunt, and John Hellums.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Wayne Gound, Mrs. Bill Day, Betty Joyce Gray, and Mrs. W. F. Taylor.

FOR JUNIOR FIGURES

Spectator Model Fills Need For Casual Dress

All that is necessary to wear this spectator princess model by Anne Klein Jr. Sophisticates is a junior figure, age notwithstanding.

Perfect for girls and women who simply are not the sweater and skirt type, it fills the need for the casual dress that goes to market, tennis matches and Sunday lunch in the country.

The high pockets placed above the bosom do a wonderful slenderness for the midriff, a slenderness further emphasized by the button front opening and full length gores.

Stitching detail adds a finely tailored finish, and because the pattern is cut by hand, accurately sized according to retail measurements and perforated to assure precise matching, you will easily achieve professional looking results.

Choose linen, pique, chambray, summer dressweight flannel, tweed or other wool for the sleeved version in the fall.

Supermarket To Be Set Up In Italy

Handsome bachelor Jack Logan, a frequent escort of hostess Perle Mesta and much in demand at social functions about Washington, is leaving soon to set up Italy's first supermarket.

This project which Logan, president of a chain of grocery stores, is introducing, ought to set Rome's women shoppers agog. Stocking the family pantry up to now has been a complicated business in Italy, requiring hours of running around from one specialized market to another.

Poultry (meats, fish, dairy products, pastry including the daily bread), vegetables all usually had to be bought in separate shops and stalls.

Mille Balch Is Wed To Johnny C. Allison

Vows repeated in a mid-morning ceremony Saturday united in marriage Mille Balch and Johnny C. Allison. The wedding was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Madewell, 1516 E. 17th St.

Mrs. Milton Cox, pianist, played the background music and selected "Because of You," "One Alone," "O, Promise Me," "Maiden's Prayer" and the traditional wedding marches.

An altar was improvised before double windows that were outlined with plumosa fern. At the window base a fourteen candle candelabrum held the burning candles that shined through the fern. Baskets holding red roses were placed on either side. The wedding party stood in an enclosure roped off by white silk rope attached to altar standards. Aisle markers made the entrance and they were tied with white satin ribbons and red roses.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, read the double ring service.

The bride had made her wedding dress which was a blue and white lace over matching tulle. Godiva's was set between the four panels of the full skirt and the wide front and back neckline had a v shape. Her hat was a Schiaparelli original of white satin with pearl and crystal flower trim. The short veil was of white tulle and her gloves were white, elbow length. She wore white satin pumps.

Her white Bible was topped with red roses.

WEDDING TRADITIONS

Following tradition the bride wore her mother's wedding band for something old; her dress was new; the Bible was borrowed from Mrs. Roy Hester; a garter was blue, and for good luck she had a penny, given her by her niece and nephew, Glenn and Tommy Wilkenson.

Mrs. Madewell attended her sister as matron of honor. Her dress was of champagne cotton satin with which she wore matching pumps. She carried red roses.

Dressed in a yellow cotton satin dress with matching accessories, Mrs. Hester lighted the candles. Her corsage was of red roses.

Art Madewell was the best man, and guests were ushered by J. N. Young, Jr.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will return here to make their home. Mrs. Allison chose a red silk polka dot shantung dress with white accessories for her travel attire.

The daughter of Mrs. C. C. Balch, Mrs. Allison is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and is employed by Cosden Petroleum Corporation in the Permian Building.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Allison and is a graduate of H.C.J.C. and is now a student at Texas Tech.

At the reception guests were served by Mrs. J. T. Wilkenson, sister of the bride, Mrs. J. N. Young, Jr., and Mrs. Paul Kennedy.

A white hand crocheted cloth over red linen covered the table. A double ring wedding cake on a reflector surrounded by fern and rose buds was served with coffee from the brass service.

New Electric Math Board Knows All Answers; Tells 'Em

HAMILTON, Ohio — Robert Kinch, mathematics teacher at Roosevelt Junior High School, has devised an electric board to aid his pupils to learn the multiplication tables. The board also works on geography, vocabulary and English questions.

The principle of the board allows one pupil to pick out the problem by touching a metal screw with the end of a pointer, while the second child selects the answer and touches the metal for that answer. If the solution is correct, a buzzer sounds. If the second pupil selects the wrong answer, the buzzer is silent.

The board covers all multiplication tables for numbers one through nine. Each problem has a metal screw sticking through the board, and on the back is attached a piece of lamp cord wire. That wire extends across the metal screw placed at the correct answer to the problem.

The end of each pointer held by the children is metallic, to which is attached a wire running between each stick and to the buzzer, and on to a dry cell battery. When the two pointers touch the proper screws, the buzzer sounds.

Kinch says use of the board has aroused greater interest in the children in their lessons.

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

The social activity of the Big Spring teen-age set has not been hampered by the summer heat in the smallest degree. Things are as busy as ever. Even with summer jobs, the kids are finding time for vacations, parties, dancing, swimming, boating, and for some, even a little relaxation.

The second Teen-Age Party Night took place at the Y Friday. The festivities, which lasted from 8 till 11, included Talent Time at 9 o'clock. The group attending also enjoyed refreshments and dancing.

June seems to be the favorite month for church socials, and swimming parties seem to be the favorite kind. The 16 year old girls from the Senior Department of the First Baptist Church met at the city swimming pool Monday afternoon. The ones enjoying the late afternoon swim were Prissy Pond, Nita Beth Farquhar, Brenda Gordon, Kathy McRee, and Annette Boykin. Mrs. Harold Davis, sponsor of the group, was also present.

Another group from the same church, the Young People's Training Union Department, chose the same type of recreation, but a different time and place. After swimming late Saturday afternoon, this group, with their sponsors, Major and Mrs. Taylor Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Clark, met at the Bradford home to eat ice cream and cake.

A large number of kids went to Chub's Tuesday night to eat watermelon and dance. Chub's, located in the park, serves soft drinks, watermelon, charcoal burgers, and other snacks and features a dance floor and juke box. Though it only opened this past week, Chub's will be a popular spot with the teenage crowd this summer.

Terral Turner was certainly surprised Thursday as Amelia Duke and Olivia Williams honored her with a birthday party. Entering into the fun were Mildred Heard, Jack and Joe Davis, Karen Williams, Jacquetta Conwell, Tommy Williams, Laura Harmon, Janice West, Kay Loveland, Wayne Williams, LeRoy LeFevre, Terral, Amelia, and Olivia.

A group of sleepy-headed girls went home Wednesday morning after attending a slumber party at the home of Mary Ivy. Some of the girls eating and gabbing — but not sleeping — that night were Barbara Davidson, Dixie Todd, Leta Sampson, Amelia Duke, Mary Beene, Aline Hester, Karen Ivy, Patsy Hayworth, Rexie Nance, and Mary.

Have you noticed a familiar face that you can't quite place around Big Spring? If so, it's probably Judy Bright from Alva, Okla. Judy was here last summer for several weeks and liked Big Spring so well that she came back again this year!

Visiting Gerry Lynn Girdner is Cynthia DuPuy. Cynthia will be a senior in Midland High School this fall.

Another Midland senior visited in Big Spring last week. Zola Morgan spent a few days with Virginia Johnson before the girls went to the Provincial Youth Conference in Chickasha, Okla., last night.

Virginia and Zola are the North Texas delegates to the Episcopalian conference. They will be in Chickasha a week.

Jennie McEvers was elected district secretary for the coming year at the First Christian Youth Camp held at Lake Brownwood, June 8-10. The group from Big Spring, including Carol Letcher, Lynn Porter, Gerry Girdner, Betty Earley, and Jennie, enjoyed many varied activities at the camp.

More entries are needed for the "Miss Big Spring" and "Miss Howard County" contests, especially the latter. If you are between 16 and 23 and would like to enter the July 4 activity, contact Wilrena Richbourg before June 20.

Have you tried to tune in Hi School Headlines at the usual time and place, which is Saturday morning at 10:30 over KBBT, and found a completely new program? Well, this new program is Teen Time, a summer replacement for Hi School Headlines. Some of the best records are played by the dj's, Clara Freeman and Toni Barron. Incidentally, the music is by request, so get your pencils and paper and let Clara and Toni know what your favorite records are!

Dixie Faulkner, after a relapse, is back at the M. D. Anderson Cancer Research Hospital in Houston. Dixie, who attended BSHS for the past two years, was thought to be doing better after the operation she underwent before the end of school. If you would write her, address your letters or cards to Miss Dixie Faulkner, 404 Yorkshire St., Pasadena, Texas. Dixie would surely appreciate hearing from you.

Loretta Bennett spent a week in Mexico with her parents. Vacation spots included Chihuahua and Camargo.

It's better late than never! That's true about enrolling in the tennis, archery, or trampoline classes being sponsored by the YMCA. The tennis classes meet from 3 to 5, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons, at the high school tennis courts. Monday through Thursday, the archery classes meet. These lessons last one hour starting at 2 p.m.

The girl's trampoline classes meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 2:00 to 3:30 p.m. The boy's trampoline classes meet on the same days, 3:30 to 5 p.m. If you are interested in any of these classes, go by the Y and register.

Two BSHS juniors are really "living it up." Jean Peters and Carlene Coleman are vacationing in New Mexico and Colorado with Jean's parents. The girls plan to be gone two weeks.

A group of Rainbow Girls had the time of their lives this week at Galveston. They were there for the Rainbow Girls' Grand Assembly. The 59 girls and sponsors found time for shopping, swimming, and even made a trip to San Jacinto between meetings.

Try-outs for next year's majorettes have been held. The girls chosen to do the fancy stepping in front of the band are Laura Rhott, Robbie Flowers, Sandra Cross, and Andre Lou Sledge.

The newly chosen majorettes are already beginning to work up new routines so the success of the half-time activities of the 1956 Steer football game is insured. Julius Glickman and Billy Evans are to be drum majors next year.

A two-week visit in Lamesa is in store for Arlinda Grifford. She is planning to visit with her aunt. That's about all for this week. See ya next Sunday.

Stir Caused By Velvet Summer Hat

It seems some milliners aren't speaking to other milliners, and store buyers are divided into warring factions, all over the question of whether American women should be allowed to buy velvet hats in summer.

With the world in its present state and a presidential election coming up, this may seem a frivolous subject for strong feelings, but in the fashion world things can get tense over the drapes of a skirt or the slant of a buttonhole.

For many years, you see, millinery buyers had the seasons neatly catalogued: straws for spring and summer, velvets for early fall, felts for winter and satins for holiday wear. This made life easy.

Then a long came some millinery designers who suggested that pastel velvet hats looked wonderful in early spring, and deeper-toned velvets were dramatic in big-brimmed summer styles.

The trend has been going on for a couple of years now, with velvet hats emerging as popular for year-round wear.

Things arrived at their present boiling point after a recent showing of velvet hats for spring and summer by designer Walter Florell, who showed a series of 20 hats in all shades of red, from palest pink to deepest ruby.

Some buyers protested that they couldn't sell straws if velvets were to be promoted for summer wear. An influential trade paper ran an editorial advising buyers to stick to their seasons and give straws a chance.

But milliners continued to sell velvet hats.

So if you want to wear a velvet hat this summer, go ahead. You'll have a lot of company. And besides, a little controversy makes life interesting.

Mrs. Parker then gave her address. This was followed by Mrs. Harvey Parker who sang a song she had composed paying tribute to Mrs. R. O. Parker.

Moody gave his address, and tribute was paid him by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Eldon Moody. The presentation of jewels was made by Mrs. Arpie White and A. V. Stanfield. In closing, the officers formed a triangle in front of the altar and each officer presented Mrs. Parker with a triangle representing the loyalty each would give from her station.

Following the installation, a reception was held in the lounge where the serving table was laid with white linen and centered with red tapers entwined with greenery on a styrofoam base. The appointments were of crystal. Refreshments were served to over 100.

Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. A. H. Essary; Mrs. H. W. Jobe, Mrs. Pervis Vandiver, Mrs. Ann Waldrop, Mrs. T. F. Vaughn and Mrs. Ernest Moody.

Story Of Texas

"The First Texan" is a story of the formative days of the Lone Star State which plays Sunday and Monday at the Sahara Drive-In. Joel McCrea, pictured right, is starred, and encounters such personages as Sam Houston in this drama with a historical background.

War Drama Of High Standing Billed At Ritz

Getting critical raves as one of the outstanding dramas with a wartime background is "The Bold and the Brave," which opens an extended run at the Ritz theatre on Thursday.

This production stars Wendell Corey, Mickey Rooney, Don Taylor and Nicole Murray, and gets ranking with "The Big Parade" and "A Farewell To Arms," as an outstanding battlemarked story that has rare romantic appeal.

Filmed in SuperScope, "The Bold and the Brave" depicts the actions of an infantry patrol against San Pietro in the Italian campaign of World War II. The battle action is said to be magnificent and exciting. The fight of Corey against a German tank is a heart-pounding finale.

The film's great appeal is in its portrayal of three men—the idealistic Corey who married for money, the bubbling Rooney who never grew up to face the mature problems of responsibilities of life, and the repressed Taylor who is so afraid of committing evil that he sees evil everywhere. Miss Maurey is the Italian prostitute who falls in love with Taylor.

All three men are rated with top portrayals, and some reviewers have said Rooney is in the best role of his long career.

Great Era Of History Brought To Screen With 'Alexander'

All the spectacle of a great era of history is thrown on the screen in Robert Rossen's "Alexander The Great," which opens a four-day run at the Ritz theatre today.

Scene From 'Alexander'

Claire Bloom mourns over Richard Burton in this scene from "Alexander The Great." A sweeping spectacle about a great era in history, the story of Alexander's conquests is presented at the Ritz Theatre for four days beginning today. The film is in CinemaScope and Technicolor.

The film story of the life and times of the Macedonian conqueror was written, produced and directed by Rossen, a man credited with several outstanding hits.

In the CinemaScope, Technicolor epic are Richard Burton in the title role, Frederic March, Danielle Darrieux and Claire Bloom. The distinguished Frederic March is cast as his father, Philip of Macedonia.

and the man who developed the army which Alexander led to conquer his world. Danielle Darrieux appears as Olympias, Alexander's wild and beautiful mother, while Claire Bloom plays Barsine, the one true love of Alexander's life. Important supporting roles are filled by British stars Stanley Baker, Harry Andrews and Peter Wyngaerde.

Spectacle of production is one of the chief appeals of "Alexander the Great." A regular army of technicians worked in Spain, where the picture was shot.

Several hundred sets were used in the film, and their decoration in various styles—Macedonian, Persian, Greek—made for the use of the largest numbers of props ever gathered together for a single film. These ranged from palaces to tents—hundreds of tents, from the skin-covered shelters of Philip's "barbarian" army to the rich canopied tents of Darius and his Persian generals.

Some 28 different nationalities comprised the cast and crew of "Alexander the Great."

Popular Story Is Told Again On Film

That great success of love and intrigue in far-off India is back again, under the title of "Rains of Ranchipur." Movie-goers will recognize the picture as a new version of Somerset Maugham's notable story. Lana Turner and Richard Burton are starred in the film, playing today and Monday at the Terrace Drive-in.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

An oldie that could be revived by the recent recording by Patti Page is "Allegheny Moon," on a Mercury record. Backed by "The Strangest Romance," this disc could pack as much kick as "Sweet Violets," a revival accomplished by the female vocalist about four years ago.

With backing by Archie Blevier's orchestra, the Barry Sisters have an unusual release on the Cadence label. From the movie, "Foreign Intrigue," starring Robert Mitchum, comes the ballad "Intrigue." Carol Richards, a new recording artist, also has her version of the tune on the market.

Bill Haley, a familiar name since the popular reception of his "Rock Around The Clock," has a new release done in his famous individual style. "Hot Dog, Buddy Buddy" backed with "Rockin' Through the Roof" are song titles of this latest Bill Haley Decca release. This makes a total of two currently popular Haley releases. The other being "R-O-C-K" with the flip side of "The Saint's Rock and Roll."

From the Broadway Musical "Most Happy Fella" comes "So You're From Big D" done in Jo Stafford's own special peppy style. Though this isn't the only recording on the market of this particular tune, it is by far the best accepted.

With a relaxed old-fashioned banjo background, Art Mooney brings to public view "Daydreams." Backed by the unusual "Somebody Stole My Muchacha," this record rates a lot of easy listening.

The Richard Hayman Orchestra, on a Mercury recording brings back memories of his famous "Ruby" which was popular several years back. The new record, "Street of Tears," features the same outstanding harmonica work, which is done by Hayman.

From the forthcoming movie, "The Proud Ones," comes the theme music on record by both the LeRoy Holmes Orchestra and the Buddy Morrow Orchestra. A third recording is one which features a vocal by Johnny Desmond.

With special effects by Don Cornell, a record entitled "Rock Island Line" passes by for public inspection. Verdict: the record is unquestionably different and carries a special "message," but requires concentration to get the full meaning. Perhaps Don will get better reception with his "There Are Some Times," and "Could You."

Jazz Festival Opens July 5

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The third annual American Jazz Festival—what may be its swan song here—swings into tempo next month with some of the greatest names in jazz on the bandstand. In addition to more than 100 American jazz artists, the festival will feature three foreign pianists whose stylings are the talk of the trade.

along with "I've Grown Accustomed To Your Face," are examples of her rich vocal style.

The Fontaine Sisters, who seem to register a hit with their every release, chalk up some smooth harmony with one of their latest records, "You Always Hurt The One You Love," a touching ballad done as only they are capable of doing.

By U. A. Wrighter

EASTWARD against Greece, Persia and India, which was all of Eurasia as it was known 2000 years ago, marched the conquering armies of Alexander The Great. A massive force of barbarians, first trained by Philip of Macedonia, then welded into an even stronger military machine by his son Alexander, they plundered Eurasia and celebrated their victories with mass carnal orgies. They burned cities, ravaged captive women, indulged in victory feasts at which slave girls performed sensuous dances to wild music. Contests of strength were held between Macedonian soldiers fully armored and captives armed with only a club. The most lavish of all these grandiose celebrations was the one in which Alexander staged a mass wedding ceremony of 11,000 Macedonian soldiers and Oriental brides.

Alexander's Great Love
The ravaging trail started with Alexander's total victory over the Greek General Memnon at the Battle of Granicus. This was his first great conquest independent of his father but the importance of this battle lay elsewhere. For among the women hostages was Alexander's own prize, the Persian beauty Barsine, wife of the slain Memnon. Barsine, was to become the one great love of Alexander's life. Alexander's 40,000-man army then clashed with the million-strong force

DEADLY COMBAT between armored Macedonian and club-armed captives amused soldiers.

PHILIP'S LIFE WAS SAVED by his son Alexander during the battle of Cheronnea. Alexander then turned the tide of victory by which the whole of Greece was forced to surrender to Macedonian domination. It was battles such as these that helped prepare Alexander for world conquest.

CELEBRATING GREAT VICTORIES, the soldiers ravaged the women and burned their cities as Alexander stood aloof to make new worlds to conquer.

CUTTING THE GORDIAN KNOT. The legend had it that whoever was able to cut the Gordian Knot would become the ruler of Asia. Alexander, with one blow of his sword, accomplished the seemingly impossible. He subsequently became not only ruler of Asia, but of the world at that time.

SENSUOUS DANCING GIRLS entertained the battle weary officer-soldiers of Alexander. They were slave maidens taken from the captive states. It was among captive Oriental women that Alexander later staged his mass wedding ceremony of 11,000 couples.

SLAVE GIRLS helped to lighten the rigors of war for Alexander's men.

Mutiny in Army
Not all men burn with the singular intensity of purpose born of genius, and Alexander was to learn this in a tragic way. For his army became mutinous with longing to return home, and some of his closest friends became rebellious. Undaunted, Alexander quelled this mutiny with ruthlessness and impassioned oratory. The leaders of the mutineers were his oldest friends and companions, Cleitus and Philotas, who were sentenced to a slow, torturous death. The rebellion successfully put down, Alexander continued to sub-

Wife Spends;
Man Buys
Groceries

DETROIT — Here's a woman with a job like a dream come true — four million dollars a year to spend and her husband doesn't say a word about it.
That's because the money dispensed by attractive Eileen Lane O'Reilly belongs to the Ford Motor Co. Mrs. O'Reilly is the only firm's construction purchasing department.
She buys construction materials and labor, often seeing a new building through from the architect's blueprint to the final foot of fencing around the completed plant.
Mrs. O'Reilly believes women make good purchasing agents "because, by nature, they're rather cold blooded about money. There's nothing as relentless as a woman on the trail of a bargain."
It's still not an easy field for a woman to crack. Mrs. O'Reilly learned her job in years of typing purchasing orders, contracts and other correspondence as a stenographer in Ford's plant engineering department.
Her 25 years experience qualified her to be named assistant to the head of the purchasing engineering department. She worked up to a buyer's post — one of five in the division — with the aid of night school college courses.
Mrs. O'Reilly wouldn't trade her job for anything.
"Sure, if you slip up when you're spending someone else's money, it can cost them thousands and you your job," she says. "But that's what keeps you on your toes."
Although she keeps the accounts at home, her husband of less than a year, Leo F. (Mike) O'Reilly, a power engineer at Ford, does the grocery shopping.

"I don't mind going myself," says Mrs. O'Reilly, "but Mike is fascinated with supermarkets so I just turn him loose."

Ancestors Would Marvel
At Our Modern Fabrics

By DOROTHY ROE
Martha Washington would never believe it if she could view the variety of fabrics available in a modern department store. She wouldn't even know what the fabrics are. And if somebody told her they came out of test tubes she no doubt would swoon from shock.

Martha was an old-fashioned girl. Her dresses were made from cotton, silk, wool or linen. She saw the wool clipped from the sheep, washed, carded, spun into yarn and finally woven into fabric. She saw the cotton picked and knew all about the flax and the silkworm. Fabrics were no mystery in Martha's day. But they were considerably more limited.
Today the miracle fabrics are doing new tricks every day. The latest are to be seen in the new transitional styles which are due to hit the shops about August, for late summer and early fall wear. These fabrics may look like tweed or taffeta, slub silk or worsted—but they probably will turn out to be new treatments of color-sealed acetate and rayon.
The ones that look like tweed turn out to be amazingly airy and light. Textured surfaces fabrics have a soft, luxurious feel. And the fabrics are used in dark town dresses designed to see a woman smartly through the dog days between summer and fall.
Today chemistry and fashion make a winning team, putting high style garments within the reach of the girl on a budget.
