BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 29, 1956

PRICE FIVE CENTS

SIXTEEN PAGES TODAY

Starts Functioning Sunday

The key cam pointed out by Gerald Oakes will go to work at 1:01 a.m. Sunday when Big Spring's telephone system will become the Amherst exchange. Big Springers will start dialing the two-letter, five-number way, with the letters to be AM for Amherst, followed by the regular five-digit telephone number. Oakes, chief switchman here for Southwestern Bell, explained that the cam will process the AM impulses and then the lower segments of the switch will take over to direct a telephone call to its destination. The Amherst system is a part of the arrangement for eventual inter-city toll dialing.

JEANNE CRAIN

Actress Denies Misconduct Count

LOS ANGELES — Jeanne Crain says she kissed a manufacturer neighbor "just once" on her birthday, when his wife and her husband were present — and was alone with him twice in an apartment. But she says she "certainly did not" ever engage in misconduct with the neighbor, as alleged by her husband.

The 39-year-old film star made her statements in a 66-page deposition taken last Friday in the office of her husband's attorney and filed yesterday in Superior Court. The actress' estranged husband Paul Brinkman, 37, recently filed a cross-complaint for divorce in which he accused her of infidelities on several occasions in the past two years with Homer Rhoads, Miss Crain and Rhoads, 45, president of an aircraft equipment firm, immediately issued denials.

The kiss occurred on Rhoads' birthday last September, in his home with his wife Hilda and Brinkman present, Miss Crain said in the deposition. She said also she was alone with Rhoads on two occasions in a North Hollywood apartment which she "understood" was his secretary's. But nothing improper occurred, she declared. "It was a conversation about his drinking," she testified. "He and his wife were having trouble. They are both very good friends of ours. They weren't happy and felt that we were successfully and happily married."

That's what Hollywood thought

Lutherans To Act On Race Pact

ST. PAUL, Minn. — A resolution pledging its members to work for elimination of racial discrimination is ready for action today at the concluding session of the 43rd triennial convention of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. "Since Christians are constrained to do justice and love mercy," the resolution concludes, "we acknowledge our responsibility as a church to provide guidance for our members to work in the capacity of Christian citizens for the elimination of discrimination wherever it may exist, in community, city, state, nation and world."

The resolution also calls on synodical institutions, agencies and offices to continue to make no distinction based upon race or color in their entrance requirements and employment policies. It directs all congregations to "regard all persons, regardless of race or ethnic origin, living within the limits of their respective parishes and not associated with another Christian church as individuals whom God would reach with the Gospel of His saving grace through the ministry of the local congregation."

At the special evening session last night, delegates unanimously adopted a resolution deploring prenuptial contracts with Roman Catholics and urging congregations to wage "an intensified program of education against Lutheran-Roman Catholic marriages." The prenuptial contracts referred to were described as agreements by non-Catholics who marry Catholics to "observe absolute silence on all matters of religion within the home."

Communists Suppress Polish Workers Revolt

Industrial City 'Normal' Following Furious Uprising

BERLIN (AP)—A bitter workers' uprising in the major Polish city of Poznan took 38 lives and left 270 wounded. Warsaw's Communist government announced today. The revolt has been crushed and today the industrial city was reported back to normal.

In the West, diplomats speculated that the effect would be on the Kremlin leaders' campaign to downgrade Stalin and ease the steel glove grip on the Soviet's satellite subjects.

The trouble exploded with a fury which recalled the uprising of East Germans of June 17, 1953, and the pro-Stalin student demonstrations in Tiflis this year when 100 persons were reported killed.

Western businessmen in Poznan to attend a big trade fair in the industrial city of 300,000 were amazed eyewitnesses to the violent outburst that began at 7 a.m. and evidently continued all day yesterday.

Solid lines of marchers 20 abreast waving banners demanding "bread" swarmed through the streets, captured and burned secret police headquarters, liberated prisoners, attacked Communist party headquarters, destroyed the jamming station that interferes with Western broadcasts. They raised a white flag over City Hall.

The businessmen told of tanks rolling through the streets, of bullet blasts at the milling workers, of jet fighters winging overhead and of a tight curfew clamped on the city by Polish authorities.

In some instances, it was reported, troops and police failed to take action against the demonstrators and even gave up their arms to them. Some of the marchers, armed, returned the fire of troops. They succeeded at one time in capturing some of the tanks.

There were persistent rumors of other uprisings in the cities of Szczecin (Stettin), Gdansk, Gdynia, Alenstein (Olstyn), Katowice and Lodz, but Warsaw radio mentioned only the events at Poznan.

RIOTS LOCALIZED

Willard Barber, counselor of the American Embassy in Warsaw, said as far as he knew riots had occurred only in Poznan. He reported that three or four American businessmen were known to have been in Poznan during the riots. He could not identify them, but believed they have left the city safely.

At least 30,000 persons were reported in the marching, milling crowds which started the demonstration by upsetting cars.

"Out with the Russians," one of the marchers was heard to shout in German. Poznan was a German city, Posen, before World War I. Warsaw radio indicated a wide roundup of instigators of the uprising was under way.

It said "the workers are expressing their indignation at the

U. S. RENEWS FREEDOM PLEA

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—The United States, expressing shock at the shooting of Polish workers in Poznan, today renewed President Eisenhower's plea to Soviet rulers to grant full political freedom to all the peoples of Communist Eastern Europe.

The State Department after lengthy conferences involving Secretary Dulles and other high officials, made this official statement: "The United States government is profoundly shocked to learn of the shooting at Poznan which killed and wounded so many persons. Our sympathy goes out to the families of these people who were merely expressing their profound grievances. They apparently had a long and proud record of national existence, should be given the benefit of our wartime pledge that they should have the right to choose the form of government under which they will live and their sovereign rights should be restored to them."

"We believe that all free peoples will be watching the situation closely to see whether or not the Polish people will be allowed a government which will remedy the grievances which have brought them to a breaking point."

diversionists who, making use of provocative rumors, get reactionary gangs and groups of milled people to come out against the people's government."

Soldiers, police and officials were killed "while defending the public buildings against diversionary gangs," it said.

Moscow radio has made no mention of the riots, which could not be confirmed, said the East German-Polish border had been closed to all traffic to prevent anti-Communist Poles from fleeing to West Berlin.

Communist riot squads threw tanks and guns into action to bring a bloody halt to the uprising in Poznan, a city of 170,000 about 150 miles east of Berlin. Reports pieced together here indicated scores of persons were killed before Red authorities quelled the protests against shortages of food and demands for better living conditions.

Contacted by telephone, an editor at the Polish news agency in Warsaw said that "everything is completely normal in Poznan this morning." He added that the demonstrators were returning to work "and everything is going well."

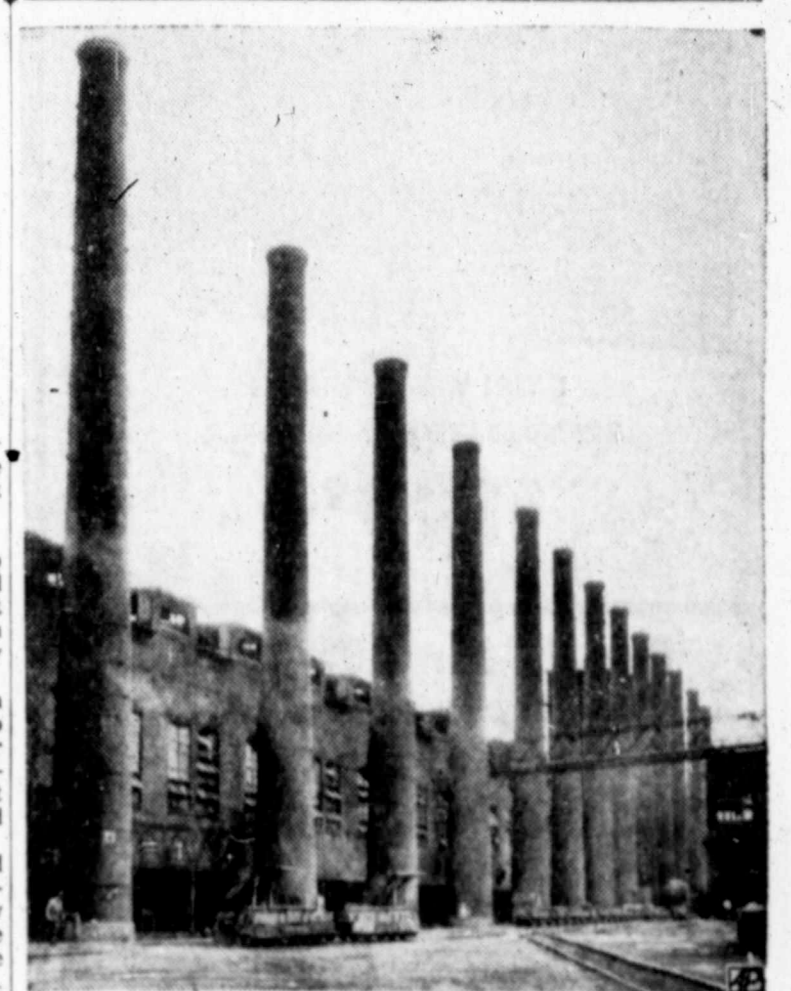

Radio Warsaw termed the outburst of violence a "well-organized revolt . . . caused by imperialist agents and reactionary underground movements." It said there were "a number" of deaths and promised severe reprisals.

WITNESSES

The rebellion took place under the eyes of dozens of Western businessmen who had come to the former German territory for a big industrial fair. More details came from these men after their return here to other Western cities or to Warsaw.

All said the Western visitors were treated courteously and were molested by neither the rioters nor the government forces. Warsaw radio claimed "the enemy" had deliberately chosen "for the scene of his provocations" because of the industrial fair "to cast a dark shadow on the good name of the People's Republic of Poland and to render more difficult the development of peaceful, international cooperation."

The broadcast reported that Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz and other top Communist party officials had flown to Poznan. A British correspondent reported from Warsaw that the Poznan area appeared to be cordoned off, that telephone calls could not get through and that flights from Warsaw to Poznan were turned back.

That Blank Look

This row of stacks at Bethlehem Steel's big Sparrows Point, Md., plant had a vacant look after the company began banking the huge blast furnaces in the face of the threatened steel strike when the contract expires at the end of the month. Normally heavy columns of smoke pour from the same stacks. About 30,000 employes in the plant will be affected, in the event of a strike.

STEEL TALKS

Negotiators Go Into Secret Huddle

NEW YORK — The steel wage negotiators reportedly went into a secret huddle today in the last-ditch efforts to head off a strike tomorrow midnight.

Fires in the nation's steel furnaces were banked as the strike deadline neared for the 650,000 men who man the steel plants throughout the country.

The negotiators had announced yesterday they would hold another session at 10 a.m. today but almost an hour later had not shown up at their usual meeting quarters.

Industry sources said that John A. Stephens, U.S. steel vice president and their chief negotiator, had left his hotel only a block away at 10 a.m. to see the union negotiators, who are headed by United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald.

The industry sources added that they understood a meeting was on but professed not to know where. As gradual cooling-off operations set in to prevent damage to the giant steel furnaces, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell announced that the government had no immediate plan of invoking the Taft-Hartley Act to prevent a shutdown.

It is estimated that the cooling-off process, which takes about three days, plus an even longer time for rekindling the fires if a sudden settlement is reached, will cost the industry 500,000 tons of steel production valued at 65 million dollars.

The union also pressed its strike plans, choosing picket line captains in various plants and scheduling meetings of two top policy-making groups.

The union's 32-member Executive Board meets today to consider the situation. The Wage Policy Committee, with 170 rank-and-file members, meets three hours later to hear McDonald report on the status of the bargaining. It has the power to approve or reject any agreement reached by negotiators.

McDonald's invitation to the presidents of the 12 major companies to join the talks came in reply to a television address last night by Adm. Ben Moreell, chairman of the Jones and Laughlin Corp.

Guardsmen To Be Back Home Sunday

Big Spring National Guardsmen are due back in the city about 10 a.m. Sunday. The group will close out the annual summer encampment at North Fort Hood tomorrow. The unit, part of the 36th Infantry Division, has spent the past two weeks in field training. Guardsmen will demobilize at the armory on FM 700.

State Candidate Is Due Here Saturday

A candidate for attorney general of Texas will be in Big Spring Saturday, and is to address a group at noon.

He is Will Wilson of Dallas, and is to be honor guest at the regular luncheon session of the Howard County Bar Association. The Bar group has extended invitations to a number of other citizens to join in meeting Wilson. The luncheon will be in the Crystal Room of the Howard House at noon.

Wilson has been an associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas since 1950. He recently resigned that post to make the race for attorney general. Prior to his judicial experience, he had been district attorney for Dallas County and an assistant attorney general under Gerald Mann and Grover Sellers.

Wilson is a native of Dallas, has a law degree from Southern Methodist University, has been a teacher in law schools at SMU and Baylor. He served on the U. S. Attorney General's National Conference on Organized Crime, and is a past president of the District

Atom Fall-Out Would Kill Millions, Secret Data Shows

WASHINGTON — If the Communists choose nuclear war, hundreds of millions of persons living in the Red empire—and some in bordering free nations—may be exterminated by the drifting death of radioactive poison loosed by exploding American bombs.

This was the picture showing through the hitherto secret testimony of the Army's chief of research and development, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, made public last night. A transcript of testimony given last month before the Senate subcommittee investigating air power disclosed this:

Sen. Duff (R-Pa) asked what would happen if the United States Strategic Air Force made an attack in force on Russia and winds carried contamination outward from the detonating points of nuclear bombs.

Gavin replied that "current planning estimates run on the order of several hundred million deaths."

Where the contamination fell would depend on wind direction, the general said. If it blew to the southeast, the deaths would be mostly in Russia. "The population of Russia is about 195 million."

Bids Called For On Stadium Facilities

Bids have been asked by 3 p.m. next Tuesday for lighting and other facilities to complete Big Spring's new athletic stadium on the H.C.J.C. campus.

Pat Murphy, public school business manager, said the bids will be opened in the high school cafeteria. In addition to lighting, contracts will be let for construction of dressing rooms, concession stands, restrooms, public address system facilities and miscellaneous improvements.

Contract already has been awarded for 10,000-seat steel stands which are now being fabricated.

But the radioactivity fall-out from the bomb clouds would extend "into the Japanese and down into the Philippine area," said the general. "This obviously means that it would cross part of populous China, where perhaps 600 million persons live."

The knowledge of this, Duff observed, should convince Russia that it would not be "wise to start a nuclear war with our capacity to retaliate."

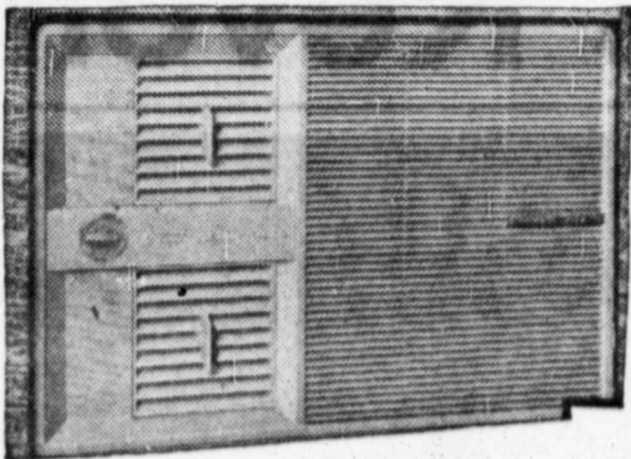

There were hurried meetings and telephone talks between Defense Department, Army and atomic energy officials.

Buses Burn In Strike

Flames consume two passenger buses in Lima, Peru, as workers protest the jailing of strike leaders by the government. In the background is the capital's Finance Ministry Building. Constitutional guarantees were suspended temporarily as the government moved to cope with a general strike in support of 500 oil company employees who struck for higher wages.

STRIKE CONTINUES

Arrests Follow Defeat Of Peru Government Candidate

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Defeat of the government's candidate in the June 17 presidential elections apparently has ended a brief unannounced amnesty for the outlawed, leftist APRA (Peoples) party.
Reliable sources said the government has arrested at least eight Aprista leaders. Unconfirmed reports said the number of those arrested might total 40, most of them recently returned from exile.
(Strict censorship applies to all news dispatches from Peru.)
The government also was reported to have closed the Aprista newspaper Impacto, which had been permitted to publish again. The paper's managing editor, Roberto Martinez Merizalde, notified the federation of newspapermen that editor Jorge Raygada Cauvi and five reporters had been arrested. Lima and the nearby port of Callao still were gripped by a general strike. A number of university students accused of complicity in strike violence were under arrest.
About 100,000 workers are striking in support of the walkout of 400 employees of the International Petroleum Co. in a wage dispute.

Some civil rights have been suspended by the government in a move to maintain order.
Last returns from the presidential balloting showed Hernando Lavalle, candidate of the Restoration party headed by retiring President Manuel Odría, running a poor third. Lavalle already has conceded defeat.
The returns gave ex-President Manuel Prado, 178,629 votes to 122,539 for Fernando Belaunde, candidate of the National Youth Movement. Lavalle had 44,060.
The APRA party, believed to have generally supported Prado, was formed in the 1920s and outlawed when Odría led an army coup which deposed President Jose Luis Bustamante. The ban has never been rescinded formally, but during the campaign the government allowed party leaders to resume operations quietly. Prado promised the party could resume activity if he won.

Parents Rapped For Student Misdemeanors

WASHINGTON (AP)—School-teachers replying to a nationwide survey let fly at parents today as mostly to blame for a list of student misdemeanors ranging from drinking to profanity, cheating and impudence.
The teachers, quizzed by the National Education Assn., said they believed student drinking had "definitely increased" in the past 10 years, along with classroom insolence and failure to carry out assignments.
Almost all of them, however, made it clear they think most American children are all right. A trifle over 5 per cent said their students this year were "often" or "almost always" difficult to handle. The rest said they were either "exceptionally" or "reasonably" well behaved.
More than 90 per cent said conditions are not so bad as portrayed by press, movies and radio.
It was when they came to reasons for such misbehavior as they found that the teachers tore into parents.
Among 17 reasons which the NEA asked them to rank in importance, the largest percentages gave first place to these three: irresponsible parents, unsatisfactory home conditions (low income, broken families, etc.) and lack of supervision because mother working.
Much smaller percentages blamed television and movies, automobiles, undesirable hangouts near school and lack of teacher authority to punish offenders.

More important than any of these, in the teachers' opinion, were lack of special classes for retarded children and overcrowding of schoolrooms in general. Replies indicated that misbehavior is likely to double when a class goes from 30 to 40.

Dutch Royalty Ask News Probe

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard asked a commission of elder statesmen today to investigate the circumstances which led to publication of stories in the foreign press concerning their "family life and relations."
The commission was expected to check into widespread reports of difficulties over the influence at court of 61-year-old faith healer Greet Hofmans.
The German weekly Der Spiegel at Hamburg, published a story earlier this month that Miss Hofmans had won influence over Juliana that extended to affairs of state and that the Queen and her husband were about to get a divorce. Government leaders and officials at the palace emphatically denied the report.

Oil Barge Burns In Frisco Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An oil barge blew up last night, hurling two crew men into the water and spreading a fierce fire along a pier.
Two fire boats and dozens of fire department pieces quickly controlled the dangerous blaze on the San Francisco waterfront at Mariposa Street.
"It blew up in three quick blasts," said John de Haan, 49, crewman on the Navy oiler Kern, anchored nearby.
He said the Tidewater Associated Oil Co. barge was unloading fuel oil.
"A man was blown off the barge by the blast, and I pulled him out of the water," he said. He was Alfred Johnson.
Stewart Ford, ambulance attendant, said Johnson was taken to San Francisco Hospital with first, second and third degree burns on the face.
Fred Witter, 50, also pulled from the water, was taken to the hospital with severe burns.
Fire Chief Frank Kelly estimated over-all damage at a million dollars.
The blast shot flames 400 feet into the air and the fire lashed through windows of the Triple A Machine Shop on the shore end of the pier.
About 75 men working on the machine shop's night shift fled safely.
"I heard it like thunder, bo-om!" said Robin Martifer, 30, sheet metal foreman. "We saw flames coming through the windows, and we ran out."
Two Navy ammunition ships moored nearby were roused while firemen fought the blaze.

France Seeks To Save Tunis Bases

PARIS (AP)—France has launched a diplomatic battle to save her military bases in newly independent Tunisia in the face of stiff opposition from the government of Tunisian Premier Habib Bourguiba.

Bourguiba is here to negotiate a treaty covering relations between France and her former North African protectorate. He told reporters, "We admit that for the moment Tunisian forces cannot alone assume defense of Tunisia, so French troops can fill this role during the transition period."

"But," he added, "we will never admit that the presence of French forces in our country—and particularly at (the big Mediterranean port of) Bizerte—can take on a permanent character under pretext of needs of Western strategy or defense of the free world."

This was an obvious reply to French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau's statement to the French Senate this week that "there is no question of envisaging the departure of the French army from Morocco and Tunisia."

Pineau and Bourguiba met at the French Foreign Ministry yesterday to try to reach some compromise. Tunisian Vice Premier Ben Ladgham, who was present at the talks, told reporters, "It is possible that French forces could remain in Tunisia, but only as part of a general defense scheme among a number of countries in which Tunisia would participate as a fully sovereign member."

"There are American troops on French soil, but they are not occupation troops. They are there as part of an agreement among equal nations in which each one has its mission."

The Tunisian leaders said they consider Tunisia part of the Western world and want to cooperate in its defense.

They also expressed hope for a cease-fire agreement in adjoining Algeria, where a nationalist revolt against French rule has been raging for nearly 20 months.

Morocco—newly independent like Tunisia—is also negotiating a treaty with France, the former protecting power.

The Algerian rebels also claim to represent the Moslem majority against the European minority. France, however, considers Algeria part of her territory and will not grant the rebel demand that independence be acknowledged before cease-fire talks start.

Places Drawn For Martin Democratic Primary Vote

STANTON (SpD) — Only two places are unopposed on the listings of the ballot for the Martin County Democratic primary on July 28.

One is the race for senator from the 21st District. County Chairman Morgan Hall announced that Preston Smith, Lubbock, had won the spot in the drawing followed by Kilmer Corbin, Lubbock, candidate for re-election, and Carroll Cobb, Lubbock. The other is Precinct No. 1 Democratic chairmanship.

Hall also said that the referendum ordered by the state Democratic Executive Committee on racial issues would be printed on the ballot.

Other listings for district and local offices include:

Representative of the 101st Legislative District, J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow, Big Spring, re-election; state board of education, E. H. Butler, Lubbock, re-election; district attorney of the 118th Judicial District, Gil Jones, Big Spring, re-election.

Sheriff, Dan Saunders, re-election; county attorney, Ralph Caton, re-election; justice of peace Precinct No. 1, Martin L. Gibson, re-election; county commissioner, Precinct No. 1, H. O. Phillips, re-election; county commissioner Precinct No. 3, Sam W. Cox, re-election; constable Precinct No. 1, Marshall A. Yates.

Hall is unopposed as a candidate for chairman of the county Democratic committee. Precinct candidates include Ray P. Simpson and Bob Davenport, seeking re-election; No. 2, John Davis; No. 3, Jack Hale; and No. 4, W. N. (Bill) Owen.

The ballots are now being prepared, said Hall.

Negro Solon Will Oppose Race Rider

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Dawson (D-Ill.), one of three Negro Democrats in the House, said today he will fight inclusion of an anti-segregation amendment in the embattled $1,600,000,000 school construction bill.

As the House plunged into another day of debate over the big federal aid measure, House leaders said a final vote is unlikely before next Thursday. It will be Monday before preliminary voting starts.

Dawson said in an interview he will oppose a racial integration rider to be offered by Rep. Powell (D-NY), his Negro colleague, because "federal aid to education is needed now."

Inclusion of the Powell amendment will kill the bill, Dawson said, and added:

"I hate to see an issue (segregation) as vital as this used as a cat's-paw to kill the bill."

Democratic leaders were reported to be cracking the party whip in a determined effort to keep Powell's amendment out of the bill. With it they contend, the bill has no chance of escaping a death-dealing Southern filibuster in the Senate.

Powell was sticking with his plans to offer the amendment anyway.

He said the Senate "has the right to pass its own bill," and the House should not make dependence on the Senate its "rule of thumb" for legislating.

Backers of the Powell amendment were counting on strong Republican support. GOP leaders expected that half, or possibly more, of the House Republicans will vote with Powell.

Rep. Barden (D-NC), chairman of the House Education Committee, had ready an amendment to strike out existing provisions that the U.S. commissioner of education must approve state school plans in advance of federal payments.

Barden told the House that the bill in its present form would allow the government to withhold funds from states which continue to deny integration. His amendment, he contended, would blunt any move to penalize Southern states.

House Rotates For Full View

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The American dream of a house with a view has reached some kind of a climax with the construction near here of a house with a rotating, second-story picture-window living room.

The 18-by-18 foot room driven by an electric motor gives its occupants a potential 360-degree view of the countryside.

Clark Ranney, 68, the builder, has dubbed it the "Sceneramic House." He says he has applied for patents and that other builders, particularly in Florida, have asked for rights to put up similar homes.

The house has a brick first floor containing three bedrooms, two baths and a kitchen.

The rotating upstairs frame living room is reached by a spiral staircase in the center of the house. It revolves on 24 wheels which ride a circular track and can make one revolution per minute at top speed.

The living room can be automatically timed to follow the sun across the sky or track the moon at night.

Ranney estimated the rotating living room would add about $1,500 to $2,000 to the over-all cost of constructing a house.

Laredo Man Lost Pounds With Barcentrate

"I have used 9 bottles of Barcentrate in 3 months and lost 64 pounds in weight and 13 inches in my waist line, but I still take Barcentrate for regularity and pep," Signed Raymond S. Thompson, 2125 Ash Street, Laredo, Texas, —and Mrs. M. C. Parker, Route 2, Mesquite, Texas, says she lost 16 pounds taking Barcentrate.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back. Get Barcentrate from any Texas druggist.

Ike Starts Last Day in Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower starts today his last scheduled full day in the hospital.

He plans to leave tomorrow for his country home near Gettysburg, Pa., to continue convalescing there. The usual morning meeting with his staff was on the program for today.

Bits From The News Budget

When the widow of the late Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal reached out at the Ascot racetrack near London the other day to touch the arm of Queen Elizabeth, whom she had met socially before she became a queen, the Duke of Gloucester took the American by the arm and led her away. There was quite a to-do over the incident. Less than a week later a British war veteran crashed a party given by the Queen to 300 wearers of the Victoria Cross and attracted the sympathy of the Queen, who made a fuss over him. He was no VC, but merely a prankster who thought it would be a good idea to give the public something to prattle about.

Also in London former President Truman has been giving the management of the Savoy Hotel a little trouble. The manager noticed Mr. Truman had been coming downstairs for breakfast every morning, and explained that occupants of the royal suite were entitled to eat breakfast in their rooms, and be waited on by several special attendants. "No, sir," said

Harry. "I'm not going to get fenced in like that. I'd never meet anybody if I stayed upstairs in that place all the time."

We haven't checked to see how it turned out, but delegates to the Jaycee convention in Kansas City Wednesday from Nevada planned to throw away 10,000 silver dollars to the throngs along the parade route. Florida delegates planned to toss away grapefruit—which looks like a good idea for most of the Florida grapefruit we have made the acquaintance of. We bet our boys from Texas "saw" the Nevada and Florida propositions and went them one better. They probably just threw the bull.

The Army has decreed that GIs on posts throughout the world may wear shorts starting July 1. Officers must put on long pants when going to their club of evenings, and nobody can wear shorts off-post. For some inexplicable reason the privilege of wearing shorts on post or elsewhere has not been extended to Wacs. Seems like rank discrimination—against the spectators.

A Bigger Push From Industry

It is big news when Congress votes $33 billion for a highway program to run for 16 years. It is the biggest one-shot civic program in history, in fact.

Less exciting, but equally important to every man, woman and child now living in America is another piece of news having to do with money.

This news comes from the National Association of Manufacturers, and it says that American business enterprises are planning to spend more money for new plants and equipments in 1956 than in any year in history.

The figure is $35 billion, a couple of billion more than the entire long-term highway building program involves. And in a single year.

That exceeds the 1955 record by $6 billion. All major industry groups plan to increase their capital outlays by at least 10 per cent over last year, an NAM bulletin says. The largest increases are planned by the durable goods industries and the railroad, 41 and 42 per cent respectively.

One of the factors in this big plant construction program is geographical dispersal of plants to obtain lower transportation charges to consumer market areas. The logic behind this is simply that assured future growth in population requires additional productive facilities.

"Competition among business organizations for a greater share of old and new markets has an important bearing," says the bulletin. "The high level of defense spending is also a contributing factor."

Since 1945 business has spent $270 billion for more and better plants and equipment.

Will 1956 be the climax year in plant construction and equipment? Well, some people thought the trend might be slowing down this year, but actually the expected $35 billion total for the year is one-fifth greater than 1955.

It is certain the great new highway program will accelerate the trend, not lessen it; it's going to take a lot of machinery, a lot of materials and work to carry out that program. Moreover, as the interstate system of roads comes into being, "plant dispersal" should be speeded up still more.

The Book That Could Kick Back

WASHINGTON — "O that mine enemy might take a book!"

This oft-quoted line by candidates for public office has long reflected the great hazards involved in writing an intimate revelation of one's official life in the midst of a campaign.

Some day the inexperienced — at times, amateurish — staff which surrounds President Eisenhower will learn that the "cold wars" of politics permit of no such ineptitude as inspired the White House to let a newspaperman have access to cabinet meeting records for the purpose of writing a friendly biography of Mr. Eisenhower.

There's nothing wrong in leaking inside information or even documents — if the White House wants to do it. "Scoops" are desirable in the journalistic profession. The Democratic regime gave to one newspaperman a stenographic record of the famous-MacArthur-Truman conference at Wake Island during the Korean War. Mr. Truman in the 1952 campaign let a senator have a copy of a confidential document containing military advice rendered by the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff so that he could use it on the stump. There are other precedents. It's really not the giving of the information to a favorite source which constitutes the cardinal sin. It's the failure to appraise the political consequences of the information so disclosed.

For the book written by Robert J. Donovan, Washington newsman, with the cooperation of the White House staff, is a legitimate enterprise from the standpoint of the author and the book publishers — Harper & Brothers. If, however, it was intended as a help to the Republican presidential campaign, somebody blundered. It contains much ammunition useful to the Democrats. It might well become the Democratic party's campaign textbook for the coming battle.

For, though the author never intended it that way, it presents the Eisenhower administration as a sort of clumsy anti-Republican protagonist. The deliberate plotting to fight McCarthy, especially on the issue of East-West trade, isn't going to make a lot of already indifferent Republicans go to the polls, especially when they read that McCarthy's position on trade with Communist countries now has become the attitude of Senator McClellan of Arkansas and other Democrats on the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations.

The book gives the impression at times of a partly informed, vacillating President who listens to the gossip that his cronies send him and, by giving weight to letters from his left-wing friends in the Republican party, gets only one side of the story. Len Hall, Republican national chairman, works day and night to achieve harmony in the Republican party but the new book will make his task harder. For it confirms the impressions of many Republicans that at heart the President leans toward the "left wing" side. They have accused him of this before, but they will find in the book ample confirmation of their preconceived prejudice.

In the treatment of the security-risk problem, the administration is represented not only as floundering but as having taken it too seriously — an attitude, which the so-called "liberals" have propagandized for the last several years, though the regular Republican position has been that it wasn't desirable to get "soft on Communism."

The book fails to tell the people why President Eisenhower in a praiseworthy contradiction initiated the inquiry into the Oppenheimer case. It doesn't tell the most important fact in the whole controversy, as the official record shows — that Oppenheimer lied to U. S. Army intelligence officers and refused to help them for a period of at least six months after a Russian had approached a friend of the noted scientist on the subject of atomic secrets.

It's too bad that the recent history of governmental proceedings was disclosed without a full and comprehensive picture of all sides. It's tragic that, from a political viewpoint, the writing of this kind of book was ever inspired by the White House staff in the mistaken idea that any books have to be written to enhance Ike's popularity. If anything, this will in some quarters in the Republican party diminish his popularity. And, besides, the Democrats on the congressional investigating committees now have struck gold — they can insist on papers and documents of executive department affairs repeatedly denied them.

Sometimes White House staffs seem to like to learn the hard way.

'Stained' Reds May Have To Abdicate

WASHINGTON — The present Red leaders in Russia, in the satellites, and in non-Communist countries like the United States may have to step aside in favor of men less stained than themselves.

That's a possibility. It may not become a reality. But the present Communist leaders, inside and outside Russia, are launched on a new line of making communism attractive, forming united fronts, and acting peacefully and legally. Yet all of them were exposed as the devil's disciples — once Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev exposed Stalin as a devil — for all of them had been Stalin's completely obedient servants and his ardent supporters.

This linked all of them, directly or indirectly, with Stalin's monstrosities. And this makes all of them look a little less than persuasive when they express shock at Stalin's crimes or say they wouldn't tolerate a repetition.

Nor are the present Red leaders outside Russia credible when they say, as they do now, that each Communist party must have autonomy and operate as a national party.

It is public knowledge they didn't even think that one up for themselves. Khrushchev had to tell them that was the line to follow now. He said it last February in his speech denouncing Stalinism and the "cult of the individual."

Nor are these Red leaders outside Russia plausible when — taking their cue from Khrushchev — they too denounce the "cult of the individual." They had developed the same cult around themselves, ruling rigidly from the top, and among Red leaders, in Russia and the satellites and the non-Communist countries, remain in power they will be identified in the public mind everywhere with Stalin.

They have a past to live down. That's a burdensome handicap for communism when it claims to have broken with the past.

There can be no absolute answer to the question: Will any man, or group of men, who acquired power relinquish it peacefully or willingly? It is not unthinkable where a man is willing to sacrifice himself for a cause he's dedicated to.

Already two of Stalin's closest aides and part of the leadership which succeeded him — former Premier Georgi Malenkov and former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov — were relieved of their jobs but not of their lives or reputations.

In this country it is particularly embarrassing for the Communist party's "new look" to retain in leadership men who were not only complete Stalinists but were jailed for conspiracy to teach forceful overthrow.

The big missing link in this whole story about the change in the Communist line and the disclosures about Stalin is why his heirs felt they had to go so far as they did.

Stalin, with the collaboration of the present Russian rulers, had built himself into such a position of towering infallibility that in Russia and among Reds everywhere that devotion was to him, not to the Communist party.

His heirs, insignificant nobodies compared with him, had to cut his memory down to human size in order to restore devotion to the party. But why they felt it necessary to destroy his memory altogether is not known.

They must have known they were opening gates which they might never be able to close, setting in motion events they perhaps could never again control. If what they did was done deliberately, perhaps they were prepared, if the reaction reflected on them, to step aside for the sake of communism.

It is also possible they just guessed wrong. If that was it, it may turn out to be one of the worst guesses in history.

Community Sale Sparks

Kansas Town

LENEXA, Kan. — Every Friday this quiet little Kansas town 20 miles southwest of Kansas City awakes to the clatter of a community sale.

The townspeople are accustomed to the commotion. It has been going on for six years.

First, the trucks arrive and are unloaded. Then come the curious seekers, the bargain hunters and those in search of amusement.

Occasionally, a buyer happens upon a collector's item. It's possible. Everything from a long piece of rope to a set of once-expensive glassware is auctioned off.

Shortly before the auctioneer begins calling for bids, the crowds of men, women and children move about, examining the heavy boxes filled with dishes, furniture, garden equipment, phonograph records, books, and sometimes a washing machine or a refrigerator.

Others poke more carefully among the whatnots, obviously in search of an antique.

The children are soon attracted to the toys, battered and forlorn. A little girl can be seen clutching a tattered rag doll her mother has bought with an unchanged bid of 15 cents.

Almost everyone leaves with at least one article by closing time, 1 p.m.

The weekly sale was started in 1950 by a Danish family, Soren Schmidt and his two sons, Elif and Gudmund, and typifies other community auctions at Paola, Lawrence, Ottawa and Leavenworth, Kan.

Around The Rim

All From Same 'Melting Pot'

"Your grandfather may have been a monkey but mine wasn't!"

That ancient battle cry of the ignorant may have had an element of truth in it after all, although it's no comfort to the anti-evolutionists. Scientists once guessed that man may have descended from the apes, but later settled for a "common ancestor" who gave rise to apes and men alike. But the common ancestor was still something of an ape.

Now, it seems, man's ancestors never lived in the trees at all.

Fossils of a new pre-man, Oreopithecus, found in the 1870's near Rome, were recently adjudged as definitely those of a pre-man, and not ape. The bones are about 10 million years old, whereas the previous record was held by the Java man and the Peking man at 300,000 years, and the Rhodesian man at about a million years.

The find may help to determine the argument of just which way man branched in his evolution. One theory holds that the common ancestor gave rise both to apes and men, but was descended from an earlier "first primate." The other theory holds that man descended directly from the first primate, and is no more a cousin to the apes than the lemur.

Oreopithecus may turn out to be man's ancestor, or he may be one of the several early species of man that did not survive. And that brings up the thought for today: If Oreopithecus is an ancestor of man, one who actually left descendants, then in the 10 million years since his death, his bloodline has permeated the entire race. If this be true, every human being on earth today is descended from that 10-million-year-old bag of yellowed bones dug up in an Italian mine.

Mammals developed during the age of dinosaurs. When the big reptiles died out, the tiny mammals found the continents wide open. Each species quickly spread over the earth, large groups became isolated from their fellows and evolutionary changes set in rapidly. Most early man, man species gave rise to many other related species.

Among these was the early or "first" primate, which soon split into two species distinguished by size and the shape of a tail. The small primates took to the trees and kept their tails. The large primates lost their tails, but some took to the trees and others remained on the ground. At the same time, both large and small primates were dividing into dozens of species.

The small primates gave rise to the monkeys and lemurs of today, and the tree dwelling large primates gave rise to the modern apes.

The ground primates also divided into sub-species, the first "men." We must suppose they could interbreed, just as most dogs today can interbreed, although dogs were divided into their present sub-species many millions of years ago.

The early men were isolated, and had already within them the warlike suspicion of all outside their own clan that is still a part of human nature. Wherever they came in contact, early men fought for supremacy. One by one, the many species of man were wiped out, although in many cases absorption of a few survivors of the conquered races must have taken place.

This brings us to the theory that most of the early races of man are still represented amongst us. Cro-Magnon man finally inherited the earth, after wiping out the last of the Neanderthals, but there is evidence that some of the Neanderthals were absorbed into Cro-Magnon tribes.

There is also some evidence that Peking man and Java man slightly resembled the people who live in China and Southeast Asia today.

It was some 50,000 years ago that the modern races of man were supposed to have been formed from the common human ancestor. It seems reasonable to suppose that, instead, the races were formed by amalgamation rather than differentiation. Fifty-thousand years is hardly time enough for the modern racial features to evolve from one species.

Why Change The Female Form Divine?

Ever so often a revolutionary idea, so far-reaching in its consequences and so fraught with social challenge that it requires long and careful study before comment, is tossed into the market place.

For some weeks now I have been wrestling in my ivory tower with the suggestion of Senator Salvador Dali, the Spanish surrealist painter, that what womankind needs to keep pace with the 20th Century is a bustline or Mae West both coming and going.

The senator, the master of melting watches, is advocating a back balcony as well as a frontpiece, probably on the theory that in this wicked world, uplift is where you find it. Nor is it beyond the realm of possibility that he was frightened by Jayne Mansfield, whose admirers are now campaigning to persuade her to will herself to the American Museum of Natural History as the answer to the Cardiff Giant.

(A similar move to get Miss Mansfield to will herself to Harvard was railed out as impractical and tending to incite a riot, which is severely frowned on in Boston.)

(A third movement, to persuade Miss Mansfield to will herself to Christian Dior, also has fallen by the wayside. It is felt there are other ways of chastening him for his "A" line or concave cap.)

No one can deny that Dali's idea is interesting. Any program to improve on nature and double natural resources deserves careful attention. An interesting idea,

yes. But is it practical?

After careful consideration, I am forced to answer that question in the negative. I do not want to be written off as a fuddy-duddy or a die-hard conservative.

Some take the high road and some take the low road, but I'll take the middle (if I can get the Messrs. Stevenson, Eisenhower, etc. to yield for a moment), "not the first by whom the new are tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

My objection is not so much aesthetic as economic. The modern brasserie industry consumes more steel today than both the U. S. building industry and the Department of Defense combined. The brasserie, circa 1956, strongly resembles a couple of fencers' masks joined with a little lace and a soupcon of satin ribbon.

Gone are the days when the family dressmaker could adjust this foundation garment. If it warps or gets out of kilter today, it is a job for a boilermaker or a welder. Or, for the do-it-yourself girl, a good soldering set, a blow torch and a riveting machine are now acceptable Christmas gifts.

It is one woman's opinion that this era of great international tension is no time to change the female form divine or bring out a new model. In a time of crisis, it would certainly prove a great strain to the steel industry, to say nothing of the credulity.

Senator Dali's idea is interesting, yes, but enough is enough — whether true or false. (Copyright, 1956, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Disunity In The Western Alliance

Three official visitors have come to Washington since the President was taken to the hospital. — From Germany Dr. Adenauer, from France Mr. Pineau, and from Canada Mr. Pearson. All came hoping to find common ground where, with the United States leading, the Western allies could unite. Now that the visitors have come and gone, it is only to evident that there was no serious effort to find a common ground and to negotiate a common policy.

That was the kind of thing that the President, had he not been ill, might well have attempted. Mr. Dulles did not attempt it. He underwrote Dr. Adenauer without qualification or reservation, an act which ruled out the chance to negotiate with Mr. Pineau, as well as much hope of a successful outcome of the labors of Mr. Pearson and the other two "Wise Men" of NATO.

The net result of this month's diplomatic coming and going has been to put on public display the disunity of the Western Alliance on the crucial question of how to deal with the Soviet Union and Germany. There has been put on public display the unwillingness of Mr. Dulles, when he is on his own without President Eisenhower's guidance, to meet the responsibility of the leader of a great coalition — which is to look for the common ground on which the coalition can stand together. For NATO the question of how the two Germanies are to be reunited can well be made-or-break. Instead of looking for the ground on which France, Germany, Britain and the United States can work together on the German question, Mr. Dulles let Dr. Adenauer commit him to terms which are so extreme that they foreclose serious negotiation.

Almost certainly this is a piece of bad judgment which we shall come to regret and shall have to try to repair. The Adenauer terms are not only certain to be rejected by the Soviet Union; they will not command the support of the other allies, or for very long of the West Germans themselves. How could they? Under these terms none of the allies would be permitted to come to agreement with the Soviet Union until Moscow has surrendered on the German question — until Moscow has abandoned East Germany and has agreed to a united Germany rearmament within the NATO military alliance. On such a line as this Mr. Dulles has a poor chance of holding together, much less of re-inspiring and re-invigorating, the Western Alliance.

It will be impossible to commit the Alliance to the view that the paramount interest of the Western world is to reunify Germany on the terms laid down by Dr. Adenauer. It would probably be impossible to do this if Dr. Adenauer had the overwhelming and ardent support of his own people. But in fact he can no longer count on an effective support in West Germany.

There is supposed to be at issue a deep disagreement as to whether in post-Stalin Russia there is a decisive change or a mere shift in tactics, propaganda, and public relations. I have heard this question discussed by a considerable number of men here and abroad who are qualified as any one is to form an opinion. They do not include the naive who are of two sorts — first, those who would like to think that the changes, which are undeniably taking place, are making the Soviet Union into a liberal democracy; and second, those who think that the Soviet system is immutable, that it must stand or fall but that it cannot change from within.

These naive apart, more and more I have come to think that the real differences in judgment about how to deal with post-Stalinist Russia do not arise from objective evidence, and they do this, I believe, because they have differing temperaments and because, subjectively, they have a different approach to human experience.

This difference is exemplified strikingly by the President and Mr. Dulles. Both men would take an oath that they are in full agreement. Yet there is no denying that the whole world is so conscious of a contrast between them that they are credited with having opposing policies. (Copyright 1956, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

MRS. DAVID DIXON

Betty Harris Is Bride Of David L. Dixon

In a late afternoon ceremony at the East Fourth Street Baptist Church Thursday, Betty Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harris, became the bride of A. C. David Dixon of Brownwood. Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Dixon of Brownwood are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Maple Avery, pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, was the officiant for the informal double ring ceremony. The wedding was performed before an altar archway of white, which was outlined with bouquets of white gladioli tied with large wedding bells. The wedding party walked down the palm marked aisle that terminated at the kneeling bench before which the couple pledged their troth.

Mrs. Casey Perry of Mercury was organist and played "O Promise Me," "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Marion Smith of Brownwood sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Prelude to Love."

Mr. Harris escorted his daughter to the altar. She wore a wedding gown of white, styled with sleeveless lace bodice. Tulle tiers edged in wide lace formed the waist-length skirt which was worn over satin. The bolero jacket was of lace; the sleeves tapered at the wrist and the collar was of Peter Pan type.

Her tiara headress was of pearls and held the waist-length veil of illusion edged with wide lace. She carried an orchid centered on a white bib with streamers of orange blossoms falling from the center.

Mrs. Billy Goldsberry of Royally was matron of honor. She wore a rose waist-length dress of nylon marquisette with full skirt and bolero top. Her head bandeau was of white flowers and her gloves were of white nylon. She carried a bouquet of blue net sprayed with small white flowers and tied with white ribbon.

Marion Smith of Brownwood served as best man.

Ushers were Billy Goldsberry of Royalty and Casey Perry of Mercury.

Nancy Baker of Woneoc, Wis., served as the flower girl and was dressed in pink net. She carried a pink basket filled with rose petals.

Raymond Maxwell, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

WEDDING TRIP

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Austin, Mrs. Dixon wore a dress of white cotton, princess styled, with a heart-shaped neckline accented with black. Her accessories were black and she wore a bandeau of white flowers in her hair.

When they return here, they will make their home at 1304 Scurry.

The bride is a senior in Big Spring High School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Early High School in Brownwood and attended Howard County Junior College. He is now stationed at Webb AFB.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party and guests were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 706 Goliad.

Guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Harris, the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Dixon.

The refreshment table was covered with blue and white and centered with an arrangement of blue candles. The crystal punch bowl decorated one end; on the other was the bride's cake.

Serving was done by Charlene Smith of Brownwood, and Jackie Nell Whitlock of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Baker, sister of the bride, of Woneoc, Wis., registered the guests.

Among the out-of-town guests was Mrs. E. L. Dixon, grandmother of the bridegroom, of Brownwood.

Mrs. Ruby Billings was installed as president of the Altrusa Club Thursday evening in the garden of the J. B. Apple home. Mrs. Ada Phillips of Midland, first vice governor of District Nine, was installing officer.

Mrs. Apple was installed as vice president; Mrs. Bob Middleton, recording secretary; Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Loyd Wooten, treasurer.

A past president's pin and a gift of silver were presented to Mrs. Willard Sullivan, out-going president by Mrs. Billings, and Mrs. Phillips pinned white carnation corsages on each officer.

Two new members, Mrs. Obie Bristow and Mrs. R. L. Penny, were initiated by Mrs. Lucille Johnson, president of the Midland Altrusa Club. Both were given corsages, and a gift was presented to each of the two visitors.

Following the installation and initiation, serving was done from a table laid with an aqua linen cloth bordered in wide white fringe. An arrangement of Esther Reed daisies was held by a milk-glass bowl and milkglass was used for the service.

In charge of the party were Mrs. Houston Cowden, Mrs. Apple, Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall, Mrs. Travis Reed and Mrs. Edwards.

Attending from Midland, besides Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Johnson, were Mrs. Loleta Guffy, Mrs. Nettye, Romer and Mrs. Agnes Park. Local guests were Mrs. Hart Phillips, Mrs. Ira Thurman, Mrs. Jewel Kuykendall, Marie McDonald, Pyrie Bradshaw, Katherine Haman and Mrs. Betty Coltharp of Lubbock.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Italian Star Says Be Individual In Make-Up

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — When Rossana Rory was chosen from a group of 250 girls tested for a part, she proved that her Italian beauty could meet competition. Having learned English at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London, she was ready for this unusual opportunity.

"As we lunched together in the Green Room at Warner Bros., I asked Rossana her reaction to Hollywood.

"It is sympatica," she replied. "One has to adjust to the fast tempo, especially in restaurants. How quickly these Americans dash through a meal. In Rome we linger for hours over a dinner."

We chatted about her new Warner Bros. picture, "The River Changes," and about American customs and clothes. I admired the stunning suit she was wearing.

"Did you buy it in Rome?" I asked.

"Yes. All my clothes are from Rome. There they combine the French fashions with the functional quality of American clothes. The difference is that Italian women pride themselves on looking different."

"And do you think we seem to

Bride

Mrs. Johnny W. Parker is the former Elaine Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Taylor, 1304 E. 15th. She and A-3C Parker were married June 22 in the home of the bride's parents, with the Rev. ## Miller Children Are Honorees At Party

LAMESA — Mrs. Leland Miller entertained with a birthday party Thursday morning at City Park for her son, Don, and her daughter, Kay. Don will be seven years old June 30 and Kay celebrated her 6th birthday June 23.

The youngsters played various games at the park playground before they were served refreshments.

Don's cake was chocolate and gaily decorated in orange confetti, while Kay had a white birthday cake trimmed in red.

Mrs. C. J. Lampl assisted Mrs. Miller with supervisory duties and serving.

Charm Bracelet Has Many Possibilities

WASHINGTON — "Miss Lucy," wife of Sen. Walter George of Georgia, has a start on a charm bracelet to which she can add when she accompanies her husband abroad on his new job as special United States ambassador to NATO.

The popular Miss Lucy was given the gold charm bracelet and a single disc by the Senior Congress Club, which she helped found nine years ago. The club is made up of wives of members of the Senate and House of Representatives, from the 68th and earlier congresses.

Mamie Eisenhower was on hand at the club's party for Miss Lucy, as were Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. John Foster Dulles, the wives of associate justices Tom Clark and Sherman Minton and the Baroness Silvercrucy, wife of Belgian Ambassador Robert Silvercrucy, whose first husband, the late Brian McMahon, was a Democratic senator from Connecticut.

The charm disc is engraved on one side with Miss Lucy's initials, "L.H.G.," and on the other side with "Senior Congress Club 1956."

Delegates Named; Date Set For HS Homecoming

Delegates were named; a time set for homecoming and evaluation reports were given at a meeting of the Big Spring High School Student Council Thursday evening at the home of Janet Hogan.

Elected to serve as delegates to the Student Council Workshop to be held in Alpine Aug. 5-10 were Miss Hogan, Ronnie King and Sue Boykin.

Homecoming for this year has been set for Oct. 5, which is the date of the game here with Sweetwater. Sue Boykin gave an evaluation report turned in by exes who expressed a desire to have homecoming each year.

Ronnie King, president, gave the financial report of $400.98 on hand. This will be used to send the delegates to the workshop and also to finance Howdy Week which will be held in September.

Sue Barnes is general homecoming chairman.

Chairmen of the standing committees are: voting, Brenda Gordon; social, Jean Robinson; ways and means, Kathleen Thomas; building and grounds, George Peacock; calendar, Lou Ann White; historian, Stephen Baird; lost and found, Annette Boykin.

Sue Boykin will be in charge of the football plaque which is made by Louis Maneely to be presented to visiting football teams.

Miss Barnes gave an evaluation report compiled from reports of various schools throughout the state concerning social affairs held in the schools. While many schools have privately and club sponsored dances, the local school is one of the few that have dances sponsored only by the student council.

The group also voted to have permanent name plaques made for each teacher to be placed by the door of their classrooms.

George Peacock gave the opening prayer; 22 members and the sponsor, Betty Ratliff, were present.

Good Sports Host Indoor Sport Party

Hurricane lamps were used in decorations for the barbecue given Thursday evening in the garden of Adele Cole. Members of the Indoor Sports Club were guests.

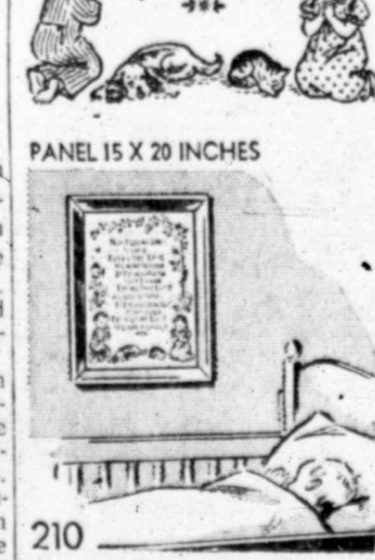

Hosts, members of the Good Sports Club, were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hill, Bessie Love, Mrs. Leatha Massey, Mrs. Myrtle Tims, Mrs. Armour Long and Miss Cole.

Serving was done buffet style, and guests were seated at four-some tables. Twenty-four attended the supper.

Mrs. Bigby Is High In Bridge Game

GARDEN CITY — Mrs. J. A. Bigby was high scorer and Mrs. Currie was low when members of the Garden City Afternoon Bridge Club met in the home of Mrs. Clyde Reynolds.

Mrs. Buster Cox scored high for the guests, and Mrs. Steve Calverly made low, while bingo prizes went to Mrs. Artis Ratliff and Mrs. Targe Lindsay, a guest.

Miss Burns Honored With Bridal Shower

Jan Burns, bride-elect of Wayne Medlin, was the honoree for a miscellaneous bridal shower Thursday evening. The affair was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cooper.

Hostesses with Mrs. Cooper were Laverne Cooper, Lucy Jacobs and Mary Ellen Hayes.

Gifts were opened after the guests arrived and afterwards Miss Jacobs and Miss Hayes served refreshments.

The table was laid with a pink satin cloth which was covered with one of lace. In the center was a large arrangement of pink asters and Marconi daisies with greenery. On either side were pink candles held in crystal holders. The decorated cake was served with pink punch and the serving pieces were crystal.

In the receiving rooms floral arrangements of zinnias and bells of Ireland were placed at vantage points along with vases of roses.

Miss Burns wore a dress of grey silk shantung. The neckline was low and featured a narrow collar. The bodice was made close fitting by means of tiny tucks, and the skirt was gathered to great fullness. Her slippers were pink kid with rhinestone trim.

A corsage made of a chore girl and holding a can opener measuring spoons and clothes pins was given to the honoree by the hostesses.

Approximately 50 were registered by Miss Cooper.

The wedding will take place the middle of July.

MYF Has Reception To Honor Director

LAMESA — Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, who arrived in Lamesa Wednesday to make their home for the remainder of the summer months, were complimented with a reception in Fellowship Hall at First Methodist Church recently.

The Davises were married last Friday in Spur; she was Virginia Walker before her marriage. Davis is serving his second year as summer youth director of the church.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and held a centerpiece of shasta daisies. Kay Wiggins presided at the punch bowl.

The affair was sponsored by the college group of the Methodist Youth Fellowship group, all members of the church were extended an invitation to attend the reception.

AT GRADUATION

New Pilots Informed Of Need To Defend Nation's Principles

Newest class of graduating jet pilots from Webb Air Force Base Thursday night heard a rousing oration on the principles of the U. S. Declaration of Independence and the need to uphold these principles.

DORSEY HARDEAN ... Webb speaker.

It was class 56-Q, made up of 73 student officers completing basic training in jet aircraft, and the speaker was Dorsey Hardean of San Angelo, State Senator for the 25th District of Texas.

Hardean called attention to the June 14th anniversary of the country's flag and the July Fourth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, said that both dates should bring about a new resolve on the part of all the people to make any sacrifice necessary to defend both the nation's banner and its principles of freedom.

The Declaration of Independence, he said, "has withstood assaults from all the isms. It must always be defended from all the isms except Americanism."

The principles of the Declaration, continued Hardean, are sacred and based on the law of God. "And it is adherence to these principles that has made this nation great."

He reminded the aviators that this is an age of peril. "Yes, liberty must still be fought for," he said. "You men have the obligation to defend it under all kinds of conditions and in all parts of the world."

The first loyalty of military men and citizens alike, he said, "is to the United States and its flag—not to any world organization that could usurp the very principles for which our forefathers died."

Col. C. M. Young, Webb commander, introduced Hardean and

Crippled Children's Unit Picks Officers

George Zachariah was re-elected president of the Society for Crippled Children Thursday afternoon in a directors' meeting at the Health Unit.

Serving as vice president will be W. C. Blankenship and Jewel Barton will again be secretary-treasurer.

Directors chosen are Mrs. Edith Murdock, Mrs. F. L. Bass, Elizabeth Pace, Mrs. R. R. McNew, Otto Peters, Mary Cantrell, John A. Coffey, Raymond River, Ralph White, Mrs. Joe Roberts, Shine Phillips, J. H. Greene, Fred Stitzell, C. A. Tonn, M-r-s. Marguerite Smith, Eugene Thomas and Mrs. B. L. LeFevre.

Two directors, River and Coffey, were selected by the group to serve on the executive committee. Copies of the constitution were distributed and examined. An amendment was added dealing with the changing of the constitution, and it was adopted. Miss Barton gave a final report on the seal sale.

The date for the 1957 seal sale was announced as March 15. Announcement was made that the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, meeting recently in Galveston, had decided to support the society as one of its state-wide projects.

It was reported that the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation plans to apply for membership in the United Fund. A discussion was held, but the society could find no reason for such a request.

A vote of appreciation was given to officers of the past year. Eleven attended the meeting.

Dawson Hospital Utilities Assured

LAMESA — The Lamesa City Council, in a called session Thursday afternoon, voted to allow the upcoming Dawson County Hospital 15-unit base for figuring the cost of utility lines to any site that may be chosen for the structure.

The council did not deviate from a policy established in 1948 of the 100-foot per unit figure basis for building water and sewer lines to property.

Dawson County Judge Aubrey Boswell, meeting with the Hospital Advisory Board and the City Council, told the group that $400,000 in Hill-Burton Federal funds have been approved and are now on hand, and that the federal funds could not be used for a site nor for constructing utility lines off hospital property.

"Any money we have to spend for utility lines off the property," said Boswell, "will mean just that much less for the actual construction."

Authority for a 25 cents per meter loan to be repaid when the CRMA bonds voted last winter are sold. City Manager Carroll Taylor told the council that it appeared enough water will be contracted within the next 60 days for the project to go ahead.

Considerable discussion went to building water and sewer lines to property. Taylor told the council that the State Highway Department had contacted him in regard to curbs and gutters at the intersection of North Fourth and Dallas Streets, and a block each way on those streets.

The council gave the green light to the project. Construction is expected to begin in the near future, as Cope Construction Company will complete the curbing and gutters of the North Main Street project Friday. The council, acting on Taylor's suggestion, established July 10 as the final day for the acceptance of paving requests from residents for this summer.

Yarborough, Daniel Slated At Temple Fete

Sen. Price Daniel, who traded sharp words with the State Federation of Labor Thursday, and Ralph Yarborough will speak at Temple's 75th birthday celebration Friday. They won't be on the platform at the same time.

Yarborough speaks at 2 p. m. Daniel is on at 4:30 p. m. Both candidates for governor said that their addresses will be non-political.

Daniel criticized the union labor organization, charging that its state convention was a money-raising campaign for labor candidates.

"It is shocking that the paid organizers of both the AFL and the CIO would openly assert that they are going to try to dominate the politics of Texas on July 28," Daniel said.

He added he was surprised to hear "that paid labor organizers by their actions in Austin Tuesday opened an attack against me and endorsed another candidate for governor."

His statement was read at federation's convention in Austin.

Parents Night Set At YMCA

Monday night is Parents Night at the YMCA. The program will start at 8 p. m. will feature exhibitions of tumbling, gymnastics, work on the trampoline and arts and crafts.

This program will terminate the first segment of the girls' class program. A new program will begin next Thursday.

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for girls ages 7, 8 and 9, tumbling, archery, arts and crafts and organized gymnastics and playground games will be offered from 1 to 5 p. m. in the Junior High gym. This program will begin Friday, July 6.

The same program will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 5 in the Junior High gym for girls 10 and 11. Thursday will be the first meeting of these classes.

Beginning July 7, a Saturday morning program at the Y building will feature instruction in gym games, square dancing, badminton and gymnastics for an age group of 12 and above.

Children may sign up at the Y now for the new classes or if they are in a class this session, they may register with their present instructor.

Sanitarians Checking Swimming Pools

Wilson Testifies To Liberal Ike Policy On Defense Funds

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Wilson testified today that President Eisenhower has never dictated specific ceilings or cuts in military spending.

"The President never told me 'You've got to cut your military budget so much,' never in 3 1/2 years," Wilson said.

The defense secretary was before a special Senate subcommittee inquiring into relative U. S. Russian air power. Demands in Congress for increased funds for the Air Force have received stimulus from the hearings by this group under the chairmanship of Sen. Symington (D-Mo), onetime secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration.

Wilson's assertion that Eisenhower never fixed a ceiling on the military budget capped a series of questions from Fowler Hamilton, committee counsel, about memoranda and letters from the Budget Bureau, a White House agency, to the Defense Department.

Wilson went before the senators with a prepared statement in which he cautioned against insisting upon "excessive" U. S. Military strength.

"Our objective is to deter war by every honorable means. It is not our objective to overarm or to give any country cause for alarm," he said.

"Of this country's military strength now and for the future, Wilson said it is "a dynamic military power of true substance."

"We do not need or wish to flaunt it before the world," he added, "but it would be a serious disservice to our country and the morale of the free world to let it be little."

Wilson prepared his testimony for a public hearing by the Senate Armed Services subcommittee which has been looking into the relative strength of U. S. and Russian air power.

The white-haired cabinet officer made no direct reference to the extra billion dollars which the Senate voted this week to provide more funds for the Air Force than the Eisenhower administration had requested.

"Nor did he take any note of the storm that arose after he used the word 'phony' in talking of the increase. But he said in his 3,400-word prepared testimony.

"We deplore efforts to belittle the capacity and resolve of this government to be prepared to meet any recognized threat."

Wilson came to the meeting under instructions from the President to "lay it on the line" in discussing the military budget.

For half an hour, Eisenhower and Wilson talked yesterday in the President's room at Walter Reed Hospital. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower approved the outline.

Hagerty also had these other significant comments: 1. He was certain there was no discussion "at all" of the possibility of the cabinet member's resignation.

2. The talk of the two "would indicate to me that the President of the United States has complete confidence in the secretary of defense."

3. There was no discussion of Wilson's word "phony."

Wilson had a half-hour talk with Eisenhower yesterday in the President's room at Walter Reed Hospital. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower approved the outline.

Hagerty also had these other significant comments: 1. He was certain there was no discussion "at all" of the possibility of the cabinet member's resignation.

with Eisenhower yesterday at Walter Reed Hospital. He declined to talk about the meeting, but press secretary James C. Hagerty said Wilson had outlined his proposed testimony to the senators, and that the President had told Wilson to "lay it on the line."

In his prepared statement, Wilson noted the recurring disputes among the armed services over money and missions, and said in effect that these were only natural.

On the subject directly before the subcommittee, Wilson said his department has placed "growing emphasis" on airpower over the last several years.

He said this "is perhaps not as well understood by the public as it should be."

Zachariah Re-Elected As Legion Post Commander

American Legionnaires made only three changes in their present officer slate in naming their officers for the coming year.

George Zachariah was re-elected to the office of post commander, and the only changes made in the entire slate of officers was the historian and two members of the executive committee.

Returning as first vice commander will be J. R. Broughton, second vice commander will be R. L. Andrews, and Henry Stewart is third vice.

Sergeant-at-arms will be W. A. McElreath, and finance officer is C. A. Walker. Joe Benfield is new historian, and Cui Grigsby is service officer.

Serving on the executive committee will be Foy Dunlap, Roger Miller, Jack Pearson, H. J. (Sunbeam) Morrison, and Hack Wright. Dunlap and Morrison are the new members on the committee.

Floor Show Set For Teen Party At YMCA Tonight

Gard tables arranged in a circle and topped with candles will lend a "different" air to the teen-age party at the YMCA tonight.

A special floor show is being planned by Mary Lane Edwards with plenty of local talent to be on display.

The party will get under way at 8 p. m. and will continue until 11. Dancing and games will be offered to teen-agers attending.

A snack bar will be open to provide refreshments and parents of Y members will act as chaperones.

Wesley Grigsby and Sue Boykin are in charge of the tables and decorations.

The talent show at the party will consist of three acts. Carolyn Duckett will sing, accompanied by Julie Rainwater. A pantomime will be given by Gary Tidwell and Bill French and the Three Sportsmen consisting of Johnny Janak, Walter Dickinson, and Ronnie King will sing.

Hardeman Assails High Court For Breach Of State Rights

Dorsey B. Hardeman, state senator from the 25th District, San Angelo, bitterly arraigned the U.S. Supreme Court for decisions made by it in recent years in a prepared address delivered before the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

Mae West Appears At Assault Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of Mae West's battling muscle men continue their legal histrionics in Municipal Court today with the judge vowing to hear out the case "if it takes a week."

Miss West took center stage yesterday by appearing as the first witness for the defense.

Charles (Chuck) Krauser, 33, professionally billed as Mr. California of 1948, is accused of simple assault for knocking down Miklos (Mickey) Hargitay in Miss West's dressing room June 6.

Hargitay formerly played the role of Mr. Universe in Miss West's night club show. She dropped him from the role because, she said, he was creating bad publicity for the show.

Her attorney told the court she objected to Hargitay's running around with a woman who wasn't his wife. She announced his demotion from the Mr. Universe role highest tribunal in the land was based on what he charged was a constant and repeated effort by that body to deprive states of their fundamental rights and foster the ideology of increased centralized power in Washington.

He listed in chronological order decisions of the high court which have made the front pages of the newspapers in recent years—pointing out in each where he said that decision infringed on basic rights of states and of the citizens of states.

He touched but briefly on the desegregation decision. Instead he devoted his attack to other opinions and decisions dealing with less publicized issues involving constitutional rights. Destruction of the anti-secession laws of most of the states was one of the cases he emphasized.

In all he cited perhaps a dozen matters on which the Supreme Court has landed down its decision in the last two years in which he saw definite diminution of constitutional government.

Chief Justice Warren and Justice Douglas came in for personal mention in the discussion of the subject by the San Angelo salon.

Douglas, he said, was "more famous for his writing and world traveling than for his interpretation of the law."

He declared that "it is much later than you think" and that it is urgent that some action by Congress and by the people at large bring a halt to the course of action being pursued by the high tribunal in the attitude it has towards states rights and constitutional privileges.

Hardeman was disturbed in particular by the ruling of the high court, which he said deprived the supreme courts of the several states of the "inherent and historic right" to be final interpreters of their respective state constitutions.

Milk Thief

Jo Anne Phillips, 15-months-old, started out with two milk bottles to feed twin fawns born two weeks ago on the wildlife preserve of her father, Joe Phillips, at Stonewall, Georgia. But now, Jo Anne has surrendered to her own appetite and is swigging milk from one bottle, leaving the deer to get along as best they can with the other.

Jenner, Craig Futures At Stake In GOP Convention

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) Future political prospects for Sen. William E. Jenner and Gov. George N. Craig were at stake today as Indiana's faction-torn Republicans assembled for their biennial state convention.

Craig is barred by the state constitution from succeeding himself as governor, and Jenner's term in the Senate has two more years to run. But both have a vital interest in the convention's selection of delegates to the national convention and candidates for statewide office and the U.S. Senate.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart, who has tried to sidestep the Craig-Jenner feud, has only taken opposition in his bid for renomination to a third term. His sole opponent is George B. Huff, an Indianapolis public relations man who advocates abolition of foreign aid and farm subsidies.

The culminating episode in a bitter four-year struggle for power between Craig and Jenner will be the five-man race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Despite his control over the state organization, Craig has his back to the wall. Lt. Gov. Harold W. Handley, Jenner's choice for the spot, appeared to have the most delegates.

Attorney Finds JC Paving Illegal

Proposal that the Howard County Commissioners court build a road through the grounds of the Howard County Junior College, using county funds and county workers, cannot be adopted because it is forbidden by law.

Harvey Hooser Jr., county attorney, said that he had made a lengthy search of the statutes and that one definite provision precludes the commissioners from engaging in a construction program of the type suggested.

He said that he had been asked by the commissioners court to rule on the legality of the project but that as yet he has not made the report to the court. He indicated he would do so soon and that he would advise the commissioners they were not empowered to build the road.

A group of officials from the Howard County Junior College appeared before the court some weeks ago with a proposal that the county build approximately half a mile of highway to serve the college.

The commissioners expressed interest in the proposal but deferred action on it until an opinion on the legality of such a project could be supplied them by the county attorney.

At the same time, they instructed Walter Parks, county engineer, to consult with the college authorities and determine exactly the nature and the road desired.

Since that time, no action on the matter has been taken by the court.

Hooser said one provision of the law specifically asserts that a county cannot construct a road through the grounds of any elementary or educational institution except with the consent and approval of the officials and of the governor of the state. Such a road, too, he said, if the county constructed it would have to be established as a "public" road open and useable by all persons.

at a news conference that preceded his scrap with Krauser. Hargitay, she testified, hadn't been invited to the news conference. When he appeared, she said, she was surprised.

She said another reason she dropped Hargitay was because he had missed a rehearsal and, she testified, she told him she subsequently learned that his wife was divorcing him on grounds of cruelty.

Miss West testified she didn't think it a good idea to have Mr. Universe known as a man who was cruel to his wife.

Krauser, at the news conference asked Hargitay how long he had been with the show. The purpose of the question, apparently, was to show that divorce proceedings were started against Hargitay before he joined the troupe.

Miss West testified that at that point the two men exchanged cross words and then, she said, Hargitay lifted up his hands. She demonstrated for the court and jury by making a fist of her own by her ear.

"Then," she said, "Mr. Krauser hit him and in a second he was on the floor."

Hargitay testified that since the fight, in which he received a black eye and a split lip (now healed), he has been having nightmares and his career as a muscle man has been "irreparably ruined."

He has brought suit for $100,000 damages against Miss West and Krauser.

Harvey Clay, president of Kiwanis Club, introduced the speaker to the club.

Buy Now Before The New Tax

The U. S. Senate has approved a new excise tax to be levied on all passenger and highway type truck tires. The new tax, which will become effective July 1st, is to help defray the cost of our new national road building program.

Total tax on tires will now range from about $5.00 to $35.00 a set, depending on tire size. Mr. Martin, manager of the Big Spring Firestone Stores, invites his customers to buy their truck and vacation tires this week and save this tax.

1st Methodists To Hear Exchange Pastor Sunday

Big Spring's first exchange pastor will be in the pulpit of the First Methodist Church Sunday morning. He is the Rev. J. Arthur Hoyle of St. John's Methodist Church, Wolstanton, England. He is exchanging churches with Dr. Jordan Grooms for one month. The Baptist Temple will have Rev. Paul West of Lenora as the evangelist for a revival with emphasis on youth. The revival will continue through next Sunday and David Whitaker, director of music and education, will be in charge of the music. East Fourth Street Baptist will celebrate the fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Maple Avery. The congregation will go to the Baptist Encampment following morning services for lunch and fellowship.

Baptist
Services will begin at 11 a. m. Sunday at the Baptist Temple when the youth revival begins with Paul West of Lenora in the pulpit. Two services will be held Sunday and during the week the hour has been set for 8 p. m. All youth in the church will take part during the week. David Whitaker will be in charge of the music.

The Lord's Supper will be observed at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning following the sermon by the pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien. His topic will be "The True Way," John 14:6. In the evening he will speak on "Who Can Be Saved?" Mark 10:26. Baptismal services will follow. Rev. Maple Avery has completed his fifth year as pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church. After the message on "What is Life's Purpose?" Sunday morning the congregation will go to the Baptist Encampment grounds and have lunch and fellowship. "I'll Be Coming," 1 Corinthians 11:26, will be the morning topic of Rev. H. W. Bartlett at the College Baptist Chapel and The Lord's Supper will be observed. In the evening the topic will be "Jonah the Unwilling Missionary," Jonah 1:2.

Catholic
Mass will be said by Father John Carlson at 7 a. m. and 10 a. m. at St. Thomas Catholic Church. Confessions will be heard from 3:30 p. m. and 7 to 8:30 p. m. on Saturday. Benediction will follow the last Mass. Father John Ward has changed the hour of Mass at Sacred Heart (Spanish speaking) church to 7:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. On Saturday confessions will be heard from 3:30 p. m. and 7 to 8:30 p. m. Benediction will be at 8 p. m. on Sunday. Mass will be said Sunday at 10 a. m. in Coahoma at St. Joseph's mission by Father Ward.

Christian
Vincel Larsen will be in the pulpit for both morning and evening services at the First Christian Church Sunday. In the morning he is to speak on "Longing for Jesus," John 14:8. Martha Winans, vocalist, will sing Stainer's "God So Loved the World." "The Common Man's Gospel," Matt. 4:19, is the topic for the 8 p. m. service.

Church Of Christ

NINE EPISTLES EXHORT US TO BELIEVE IN CHRIST, AND STRIVE FOR HIS PERFECTION

Scripture—Luke 9:28-36; Hebrews 13:9; 1 Peter 1:1-2; 2:19-25; 11 Peter 1:1-2; 15-18; Jude 3, 17-25.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THIS LESSON may be rather difficult for the younger classes and for the teachers, too, as, from following Paul's travels, his activities, arrest, trials, etc., scenes of action—we turn to the spiritual side of life—the subject of faith in times of trouble, of Christ's example in this matter, and in His everyday conduct when He was on earth. The transfiguration of Christ, which is our first reference, will greatly interest children, as, if the incident is told vividly, it will be stimulating to the imagination of both young and older pupils. Taking Peter, John and James, Jesus went up on Mount Hermon to pray. As He knelt in prayer, suddenly His face became white and His clothing became white and glistening. Two men were in the holy mount. In his first epistle Peter says that if a good man suffers for something of which he is not guilty, but bears the injustice courageously, he is acceptable to God. Peter then writes of Jesus, the Sinless One, who endured agony for our sakes on the cross; whose life was an example for us to follow: "Who when He was reviled, reviled not again; when He suffered, He threatened not." The subject of juvenile delinquency, so widely publicized today, might be a topic of discussion with children of all ages. In his request to the Hebrew brethren to pray for him, Paul says: "We trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly." There are many temptations for young folk today—more than in former years, according to a with Him, Moses and Elijah, telling Him of His coming death. The apostles were "heavy with sleep," but awoke and saw Christ's glory and the men who stood with Him. As the two left, Peter began to talk to the Master, but a cloud overshadowed them, making them afraid. Out of the cloud which engulfed them, came a voice saying: "This is My Beloved Son; hear Him." The three apostles were overcome with awe—however, they told no one of this experience, but Peter remembered it all his life. In his second epistle he says: "For He received from God the Father, honor and glory, when there came such a voice to Him from the excellent glory. This is My Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with Him on the excellent glory." woman who has studied the problem. Families moving to new and unfamiliar neighborhoods; cars in which to travel and which are a temptation to many young people; parents who both work or are separated, all add to chances for youngsters to get into situations which lead to delinquent behavior. Even small children know what conscience is, or they should if they are correctly trained. They should be taught to resist any temptation that their "secret voice" tells them is wrong, remembering Jesus Christ, who loved little children and would have them be good. Assure them that Christ will help them to do right if they ask Him for His aid. ## THE LAND OF THE FREE

One of the first landmarks the European traveler sees as he approaches this country is Bartholdi's famous Statue of Liberty.

The artist here has deftly drawn a broken chain across the background of freedom's holy light, signifying that oppression and human slavery cannot exist in a land of free people.

But freedom involves much more than an unshackled body and the possession of civil and political rights. One may possess all these and still be a slave to his own weaknesses.

True freedom encompasses the mind and soul of man as well as his body and his political relations. Men are enslaved by vicious habits, by their ignorance, prejudice, selfishness and hate.

Religion is the mother of freedom, and the Church has been its chief and most constant exponent. Jesus said, "The truth shall make you free," and the truth is embodied in the Holy Scriptures.

No chains can fetter the soul of the man who dwells in the light of God's freedom.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses

Field Of 64 Is Due For 'July 4' Meet

C. A. DeWees, golf pro at the Country Club, said this morning he was expecting a field of 64 players for the club's annual Men's Golf Tournament, which formally gets under way today and will not be concluded until July 4.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Take it from his brother, W. O. (Junior), golfing success hasn't come easy for Billy Maxwell, currently among the leading money winners on the pro circuit.

G. Valverde Dies Thursday

Guillermo (Willie) Valverde, 48, local school custodian, died Thursday evening in a local hospital. He had been in ill health for six months.

Born April 29, 1903, at Alpine, he had been a resident of Big Spring since 1923.

Funeral services will be conducted at 7 a. m. Saturday at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church with John J. Ward, OMI, officiating. Interment will be in the Catholic section of the City Cemetery under direction of River Funeral Home.

Mr. Valverde is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sabana Valverde of Big Spring; three sons, Joe Valverde of Lubbock and Louis and Guillermo Valverde Jr. of Big Spring; one daughter, Irene Valverde of Big Spring; a niece, Lupe Molina of Big Spring; and two grandchildren.

Woman Suffers Fracture In Fall

A Fort Worth resident suffered a fractured hip in a fall here this morning.

Mrs. T. P. Walker of Fort Worth fell off the steps of the Assembly of God Church at Fourth and Lancaster this morning, sustaining the fracture.

She was taken to the Big Spring Hospital in a Nalley-Pick's ambulance. Her condition was reported as good at noon.

Lubbockite Stars In Lamesa Rodeo

LAMESA, (SC) — Jack Kirkpatrick of Lubbock led the calf ropers and also won the double mugging event at the first performance of the Lamesa Rodeo Thursday night.

A capacity crowd of 4,300 watched the performance. There are 185 contestants in the three-day event.

Kirkpatrick caught and tied his calf in 13.4 seconds. His time in the mugging event was 18.8 seconds.

A parade Thursday afternoon opened the rodeo and another procession was slated this afternoon. Several Sheriff's Poses, including groups from Martin, Borden, Gaines and Lynn Counties, are on hand for the parade.

Thursday night results included: Baraback Bronc Riding—Jim Sealy of Snyder, first; Eddy Stewart of Andrews, second; Clifton Wade of Abilene and Dave Hopper of Lubbock tied for third and fourth.

Douglas Mugging—Jack Kirkpatrick of Lubbock, 18.8; Bob Miller of Lamesa, 30; and Dan Vogel of Midland, 33.7.

Calf Roping—Kirkpatrick, 13.4; Jess Everett of Snyder, 17; Bobby Northcutt of Colorado City, 18 seconds.

Membership Roping — Vernon Miller of Gall, 15.6; A. D. Reed of Ackerly, 16.9; Monte Griffin of Lamesa, 20.6.

Kids' Hat Race—Ronnie Huddle of Lamesa, winner.

Girl Sponsors' Event — Sherry Price of Addington, Okla., 18.2 seconds.

Ackerly Couple In Summer School

CANYON—Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bond, Rt. 1, Ackerly, are attending the first summer term at West Texas State College, which closes July 14.

About half of the 1,100 students enrolled at WT are graduates working toward the masters degree. Mrs. Bond is a speech major and her husband is studying in the field of biology. Both are juniors.

Local Lawyers To Go To 74th State Bar Convention

Three Big Spring attorneys are planning on attending the State Bar of Texas' 74th annual meeting in Houston July 4-7.

Attending will be Walton Morrison, Grover Cunningham Jr., and Charles Butts.

Morrison will be in Houston for the city attorneys' convention next Wednesday also. He is president of the organization.

Some 3,500 Texas lawyers, their wives and guests are expected to attend the meeting, and convention officials predict it will be the largest state bar convention ever staged in Texas or the nation.

One of the speakers will be Jack Streeter, a practicing Reno, Nev., attorney and one of the nation's most decorated soldiers in World War II. He will be addressing a meeting of the County and District Attorney's Association.

Swimming Pool Open At Lamesa

LAMESA — The Lamesa Evening Lions' swimming pool was to open Friday afternoon, but the Lions invited the noon club to be their guest at a swimming party Thursday evening.

B. J. Corbin, chairman of the pool operating committee, said Thursday the life guard positions have all been filled. Leroy Minnix was employed as a third junior life guard. Previously, Kathleen Henderson and Woody Hart had been employed as junior life guards and Mrs. Carter Harrison as senior life guard and manager. Corbin reported also that all swimming equipment except suits will be available at the pool.

Seven tables have been constructed and placed at the pool by Lamesa business firms. The tables were donated by Dyer Hardware and Roberts Flower Shop; J&I Electric Company and Jack Perryman, contractor; N&S Tire Company and the Dairy Lou Drive Inn; Suburban Gas and Luby's; Mitchell Van and Storage and Purcell Lumber Company; McPhaul Motor Company and the First National Bank; and the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

The chairman of the concessions committee, Jimmie Edwards, who arranged for the tables, reported also that Lamesa Tractor and Motor Company and Allen Implement Company have donated umbrellas to be mounted on one of the tables.

A juke box has been placed at the pool so that swimmers may have music while they swim, and a full line of candy, gum and soft drinks will be stocked at all times for the benefit of patrons.

Flags At Half Staff

Flags at the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring and around the nation are being flown at half-staff until 4 p. m. today. The ritual is in tribute to the memory of Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King of the U.S. Navy who died Monday in Portsmouth, N. H.

Egypt's Biggest Problem Is In Overpopulation

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's biggest problem is Egyptians. They are born at the rate of more than 1,000 per day, making an annual increase of 400,000 in a population of 23 million.

Despite a high death rate, Egypt's population has doubled in half a century. At the present rate, it will double again in only a quarter of a century.

While the birth rate in the last decade has been constant at 42 per 1,000, the death rate has decreased from 27 to 16 per 1,000. Even the multimillion-dollar Aswan Dam project could not solve Egypt's population problem. It is believed the benefits of the dam, if completed in 15 years, would just about cope with the demands of the increased population.

An increase in agricultural production has failed to keep pace with the rise in population.

Hussein el Shafei, minister of social affairs, says:

"Not only do I approve of birth control, but I also believe it has become a social necessity — if we continue to reproduce with maximum biological impetus, we shall have more weaklings, vagrants and beggars."

Religious opposition to birth control is strong, however. Numerous verses in the holy books of both Moslems and Christians are quoted.

Children in Egypt have a great value socially. They raise the status of mothers and protect them from divorce — mainly on account of the alimony the father has to pay for each child of a divorced wife. In a country where divorce is easy to obtain and polygamy is legal this becomes important.

Apart from the religious and social factors involved, most peasants are too ignorant to practice birth control even if they wanted to.

The government is adopting a two-fold program in spreading birth control.

A number of ulamas, or Moslem religious scholars, have written on birth control from the Islamic point of view. These conclude that Islam not only permits birth control but advocates its necessity for the welfare of society.

Uncle Ray: Moths Arrive When Yucca Plants Bloom

By RAMON COFFMAN

Yesterday I gave a short answer to a question about the moths which provide pollen for Joshua trees. There is a good deal more to be said about this subject.

The white insects mentioned are known as "yucca moths." They spread pollen for many kinds of yuccas in addition to the Joshua trees.

Like most other plants, yuccas produce flowers. Sometimes these are open for only a single night, but the white moths are at hand. They arrive a night or two before, or else on the very night that the flowers open!

After gathering pollen, a female moth goes to another flower and lays a small batch of eggs. The pollen is placed over the eggs. When the eggs hatch, wormlike larvae start to eat the seeds which they find near them.

Q. If the larvae eat the seeds, what good does it do for the pollen to be spread?

A. The wormlike young fail to eat all the seeds. Here is a common case:

A moth laid eggs in a flower, and five of the eggs hatched into larvae. About 200 seeds formed and the larvae ate an average of 20 apiece. The result was that half the seeds were left.

Q. Would the seeds be fertile

6-29 Moth about to land on open flower.

without the help of the moths? A. Plant experts say that these shrubs and trees would die out except for the work of the white moths!

Q. What is a Spanish bayonet? A. It is a plant of this group which often is mistaken for a cactus.

Spanish bayonet plants are marked by long, strong, pointed leaves, and these leaves explain the name to a large extent. The plants were found by early Spaniards in lands which they explored.

Not All North Africans Side Against French

ALGIERS (AP) — The stevedores were unloading armored cars and ammunition for the French army. Each sweating workman wore a red fez. All were Moslems.

The bustling scene on the docks here spotlights one aspect of the Algerian rebellion. The Moslem population is by no means united against France. Thousands, for one reason or another, are content to work with the French if not actively for them. The rebels, if they are to succeed in their proclaimed intention of setting up an independent Algerian state, must somehow wean most of the Moslems away from France.

Every day, over the breadth of Algeria, there is a score of seemingly isolated attacks on individuals. The local papers carry them in almost box-score fashion.

Even the aggregate makes little impression. Stories which start out, "Forty-three persons, most of them Moslems, were slain in a series of attacks in various parts of Algeria today . . ." lose their impact through repetition.

But a study of these apparently isolated assaults shows that in virtually every case the victim is either a long-time French settler with many Moslem friends, or a Moslem with a record of cooperation with the French. Moslem veterans with distinguished war records are special targets.

The rebel strategy at this point seems to be to cut all bridges between the two elements of Algeria's population, the Europeans and the Moslems.

A secondary rebel aim in attacking Moslems friendly to France is to deprive the French army and police of possible informers among the Arab population.

The rebels have made a special target of SAS (Service Administrative Specialists) officers in the Moslem villages to incite confidence among the rural Moslems and to gain their friendship. These men, all experts in the Arabic language and customs, take up a post with a small staff as a symbol of French authority and French cooperation.

Another rebel tactic has been to harass the French settlers. The object of this apparently is to render life so unbearable for the settler, usually a long-time resident, or a second-or third-generation European in Algeria, that he will pack and quit the country. Many French settlers have applied for visas to Canada.

A French tradesman, with a wide clientele among European farmers, puts it this way:

"In the past the French farmer used to stroll, quite unarmed, among his farm workers to see how they were getting along or to give them directions. Now, there are always two supervisors. One carries a gun and watches the Arabs. The other watches the work."

With the arrival of strong contingents of troops from France, this picture is changing. Officials say the Moslems in some areas have regained confidence that the French will protect them if they continue to work French-owned farms.

RADIATION Scientists Study Safety Problems

By FRANK CAREY
Washington Press-Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—English cows have eaten grass sprinkled with radioactive elements released in atom bomb tests in faraway Nevada.

While stressing that such a radioactive menu—not restricted to cows in Britain alone—is far from being at any danger point at this time, the National Academy of Sciences mentions it to emphasize this point:

The sea, the air and plants and animals hold the answers to some of the still-unsolved radiation safety problems.

"We had better be ready with the answers," the academy adds. So far, says the group of eminent scientists, only relatively small amounts of radiation have been released. And, on the whole, it says, things have gone well from the safety standpoint — both in controlling release and applying protection measures.

But the academy says time is running out for obtaining new knowledge to assure maximum protection against increased hazards expected in the next two decades as atomic power plants pring up.

It also mentioned the "continuation" of H-bomb tests, but offered no estimates of how long they would go on.

The job of coming up with answers calls for the combined efforts of weathermen, oceanographers, agricultural scientists and experts in the disposal of radioactive wastes, the academy says.

The academy, in its recent report on hazards inherent in radiation from atomic bomb tests, nuclear power plants, medical X-rays, and from naturally radioactive materials in the ground and atmosphere.

Elsewhere in its report, the academy said there is a need for greater technical improvements to assure against serious—and conceivably even catastrophic — accidental releases of radioactivity from atomic reactors. Present reactor safeguards have had a very fine record, but protective measures could stand improvement, the report said.

Concerning radiation once released — whether from reactors, reactor waste or "garbage" or from bomb tests — the academy said this:

Between the potential sources of man-made radiation and the people of the world there's a vast complex "connecting network" of air, water, and the plant and animal life which form the links in the chain of our food supply.

The scientists said:

"English grass has been sprinkled with (radioactive) strontium from Nevada. And English cows have eaten it. Plankton in the North Sea has very likely taken up some of the radioactivity being dumped there from a British atomic reactor. Where did the ocean currents then carry this plankton? What fish fed on it? Who ate the fish?"

In stressing the need for more research on the workings of the radiation-bearing "network," the academy said:

"We must know more about how the winds or the ocean currents move, how plants and animals may concentrate radioactivity and transport it from one place to another."

"There is still time to find out but not very much."

"The amount of man-made radiation that has been put into our surroundings so far is, from almost every point of view, probably negligible."

"But the testing of megaton (million-ton) weapons continues. In the next couple of decades the atomic power industry will mature and the question of what to do with almost unthinkable quantities of radioactive products will be upon us."

"We had better be ready with the answers."

More Crews Head For Fire Areas

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — More Indian fire-fighting specialists were on their way today to join hundreds of crewmen battling flaming forests in Arizona and New Mexico.

Officials said rain had eased the fire fighters' work in some areas. About 2,500 men have been battling hundreds of scattered blazes, most of them of less than an acre in extent, in New Mexico and Arizona for the last several days.

Weather Bureau reports indicated still more thunderstorms activity for today.
