Revolt Halts U. S. Planning For Defense

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times today said that strategic planning of America's defense reportedly has been halted until after the November election because of a "revolt" by the chiefs of the three armed forces against Adm. Arthur W. Radford.

A proposal by Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to slash the nation's armed forces by about 800,000 men by 1960 was said to have united the service chiefs in vigorous protest against his ideas.

In a dispatch from Washington, the Times said the three chiefs objected to Radford's proposal on the grounds the reduction would shivel U. S. armed force contributions to the defense of Europe.

The political implications of his concept of policy for three years ahead, signifying in effect a withdrawal to a fortress America, were reported to have alarmed high Defense Department officials. The result was an order to put strategic planning "on ice" until after the election.

Who gave the stop order was not learned but it was assumed that it was either Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson or Reuben B. Robertson Jr., his deputy.

Both exert influence over planning the "new look" in defense for the fiscal years 1958, 1959 and 1960. The service chiefs have been engaged in the strategic planning for about two months.

The Army reportedly was bracing itself for a possible cut of 50,000 to 100,000 men in the fiscal year 1958 which starts next July 1, and it was estimated that such a reduction would mean the withdrawal of 40,000 men from overseas bases.

Adm. Radford was reported to be giving the impression to colleagues that he had President Eisenhower's support for his general objectives, the dispatch added, "although it was believed his highly controversial memorandum on the reductions had not been read by the President."

Negotiators Renew Efforts In Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel negotiators today made a new effort to end a 13-day-old strike against 90 per cent of the basic steel industry.

Federal mediators, who arranged the session last night, President David J. McDonald of the striking United Steelworkers chatted with newsmen while awaiting the arrival of the industry negotiating team, headed by John A. Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel Corp.

Neither side had any comment. Neither did the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service team headed by Director Joseph F. Finnegan.

The mediators waited in a room on another floor of the same hotel where the negotiators were meeting, ready to step in any time. Negotiations were resumed yesterday in a two-hour preliminary session.

There was no report of progress after nearly two hours of talks yesterday — first since the walk-out of 650,000 steelworkers 13 days ago. However, Joseph Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation Service, said afterwards that he felt the spirit of collective bargaining was evidenced in the session.

There was no comment after the session from David J. McDonald, union president, or John A. Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel Corp., and leading negotiator for the Big Three companies — U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel.

Before yesterday's talks got under way, McDonald stepped from a midtown hotel where the negotiations are in progress to tell reporters he believed the industry had "no intention" to work out a new wage contract "at this time."

Stephens, asked to comment on McDonald's remarks, declared: "As one who tries very hard at collective bargaining, I will not prejudge a meeting before participating in it. I can assure you that I and my associates will do our utmost to reach agreement."

There was no indication whether the industry had come up with a new offer or if the union had changed its position. The industry has offered a 52-month contract which it said would give the steelworkers an hourly package pay boost amounting to 17 2/3 cents in the first year. The union, whose members averaged $2.46 an hour, estimated the first-year package value at 14 cents an hour.

As the strike moved toward the end of its second week, about 70,000 workers in allied industries — chiefly in railroad and coal — have been furloughed.

In Washington, Secretary of Commerce Weeks said the nation's economy, as a whole, has been affected very little. But he added: "If the public welfare is affected and the strike situation goes on long enough we will have to do something under the Taft-Hartley Act or any other means available, or ask Congress to provide proper powers for action."

House Panel Continues Blacklist Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities explored further today a report on entertainment industry "blacklisting," which Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) says is "partisan and prejudiced" in favor of Communists.

The report was sponsored by the Fund for the Republic.

Called by the committee today were Francis McNamara, editor of a Veterans of Foreign Wars publication, and Godfrey Schmidt and Paul Milton, described as being connected with Aware, Inc., a New York City organization.

Speaking last night to the Pennsylvania VFW meeting in Philadelphia, Walter said the report "makes an indictment of everyone who has been active in opposing the employment of Communists and Communist sympathizers in the entertainment industry."

Walter said his committee has found that "a number of persons who have cooperated loyally in exposing the Communist conspiracy" have been denied work, and he added: "It is peculiar that the report deals at great length with the rights of Communists but never with the rights of loyal patriotic citizens."

Roy M. Brewer, former international representative of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees in the movie industry, told the committee yesterday that parts of the report are a "complete falsification."

Brewer, now an official of Allied Artists Pictures Corp., New York City, declared that blacklisting does not exist in the sense of an "illegal, improper, sinister activity" as he said the report implied.

He said the report "ignores the basic problem confronting the motion picture industry... the problem of Communist infiltration on the industry, which the Fund prefers to brush off."

Another witness, Vincent Hartnett, a private consultant on communism to the radio and television industry, testified there are probably 150 hard-core Communists in the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists, and "also Communist blocs" in Actor's Equity and the American Guild of Variety Artists.

In New York, Alfred Harding, assistant to the president of Actors Equity, replied: "Over a period of 30 years allegations of this kind have been advanced with varying degrees of responsibility. Every member of Actors Equity Assn. who has been identified in any way in this connection has denied under oath that he is a Communist and no evidence has been presented whether they are or are not."

In Chicago, where the AFRTA is holding its convention, National Secretary Donald F. Conway said: "If Mr. Hartnett knows of 150 Reds who are actually members of AFRTA, he has only to submit the list of names and AFRTA will act under its own national constitution."

Conway said his organization has taken action against all members known to have Communist affiliations.

BAD LUCK ON FRIDAY THE 13th? ... just don't count us cats in on that!

FRIDAY, BLACK CATS CATaclysmic Blow At Old Jinx Fable

By SAM BLACKBURN
Friday, when it falls on the 13th of a month, as it does today, may be a bad luck day but the prevailing superstition that black cats are bad luck is strictly malarky.

This is the final word from an authority who should know definitely whereof he speaks.

It is the personal view of Tittums Jerome Catt, who is as black as cats ever come and who is possessed of a pedigree which goes back to the day Adam named the first feline and thereby initiated the breed Felinus Allicyattus.

Interviewed on the eve of this particular jinx day, Tittums Jerome was asked: "What is your opinion — is Friday when it comes off on the 13th of the month bad luck and are — ahem! — cats of your particular shade bearers of misfortune?"

Perhaps the question was poorly phrased.

Tittums Jerome came to his feet in the position shown in the photograph.

"Friday, when it is a 13th day of a month may be bad luck," he intoned purr-possedly. "That is not my field. No telling what cat-astrophes may befall on such days.

"As to members of my family, who happen to be the choice color as myself, being responsible for ill luck — that is a false and libelous rumor. Undoubtedly started by some dog."

He yawned.

"And by the way," he said, in aside, "I'm getting pretty fed up with this posing stuff. I had to make like one of those grotesque Halloween cats for you once before. And how about that time I had to stretch out on the feather pillow and pose as a rich cat? I'm getting very tired of having you wake me up in the middle of a cat-nap and then have you snap flash bulbs in my face. This sort of thing has got to stop."

His owner muttered some sort of an apology — "sorry, T. J., but you're the only photogenic feline of my acquaintance."

"Getting back to this lie about us Black Cats being bad luck," resumed Tittums. "Don't you know that 3,000 or 4,000 years ago, my forebears were regarded as gods by the Egyptians? If we were held to be deities is it reasonable that so cultured a people as the

Would Replace Present Grouping

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin today called for the establishment of an all-European organization—in which both the Soviet Union and the United States would take part—to control peaceful use of atomic energy.

A circular distributed to the American, British, French and other embassies proposed the organization as a substitute for Euratom, the six-nation agency which the nations of the Schuman coal-steel-pool now are in the process of organizing. The six are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Soviet statement charged Euratom would be a tool of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It asserted that West German participation in Euratom would deepen the division of Germany and in effect give the Germans the chance to manufacture atomic weapons.

The Soviet circular note said: "The Soviet government considers the moment opportune to convolve a conference of European countries to examine the problem of creating a regional organization for peaceful use of atomic energy."

"This organization could be created on an intergovernmental basis with the participation of all European states which express a desire to do so. The United States could also participate in this organization."

The Communist nations have their own atomic organization—the United Institute of Nuclear Research. It includes not only European states but Communist China, Outer Mongolia and North Viet Nam. The Soviet Union has contributed nuclear research equipment to the organization, which plans to set up its center in the Soviet Union.

The Soviet circular added: "In expressing its conviction that interested governments will willingly give their attention to this appeal from the U. S. S. R., the Soviet government also expresses the conviction that such cooperation of all European countries would contribute greatly to an agreement concerning the banning of atomic and hydrogen weapons and the exclusion of these weapons from the armaments of all states, and would assure the use of all nuclear materials only for peaceful ends, for the progress of science and technique, for the good of humanity."

The Soviet government also sent its suggestion to embassies of neutral countries including Switzerland and Austria.

It said the coldest days of the cold war had passed, and therefore the moment was propitious to establish a cooperative organization for the control and development of the uses of atomic energy in peacetime.

There was no suggestion for the time or place of the proposed atomic conference of European nations. Such an organization could only be effective on the basis of absolute equality of all members and no military, political, or economic conditions should be attached to membership, the Russians said.

The Soviet plan would men that the use of atomic energy in Europe would be shared.

The circular note suggested that the conference take up "a study of the economic aspects of the peaceful use of atomic energy, a study of the possibilities of coordination of the utilization of basic material resources, technical

Arrest Fear Holds Up Baby's Return

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—A Weinberger family spokesman said today the parents of the kidnaped baby now believe the kidnaper's fear of capture and not the amount of ransom is holding up the return of the baby.

David Holman, an uncle of Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger, mother of the missing 5-week-old infant, made that comment when asked about reports that the Weinbergers had $25,000 ready to ransom the child.

Holman, a former Nassau County assistant district attorney, also revealed police no longer are watching St. Brigid's Roman Catholic Church here. It has been kept open 24 hours a day in hope the kidnaper would leave the baby there.

A dim light burns outside the church at night but Holman said the kidnaper could run into the church with the child without risking identification.

"I don't think it's a case of money now," said Holman. "I'm afraid apprehension and fear on the part of the kidnaper will keep him hiding. If any contact is made now, it will be indirect."

This is the ninth day since Peter was taken from his carriage on the rear patio of the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger.

Each time the telephone rings in their home they hope against hope that this time it will be the real kidnaper, with news of their baby and how they can get him back.

With deadly frequency, however, it is some misguided crackpot or sadistic joker who pretends he knows where the child is and cruelly raises the Weinbergers' hopes.

Nassau County Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell, who has been in charge of the case from

Ike Exchange Idea Rejected

MOSCOW (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal to swap ideas and information with Communist lands has been rejected by Pravda as a scheme to establish a chain of American "spy nests" behind the Iron Curtain.

In a sharp editorial the Communist party paper said: "The notorious free movement of ideas means a dissemination of American literature propagating capitalist practices, misanthropy, racism and war."

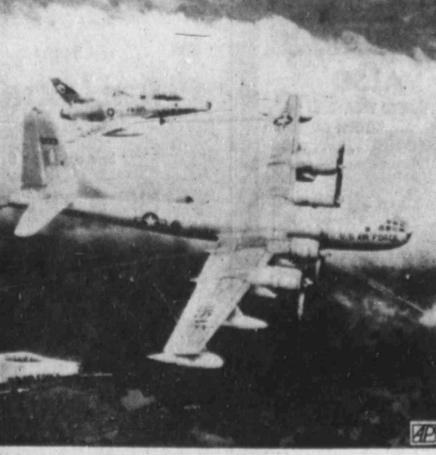

Slow-Motion Flight Around World Due

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A KC97 plane from MacDill Air Force Base here will start out next month on a flight around the globe.

Contrary to most flights these days, this one will be in slow motion. It will take about 60 days.

The plane will fly around the earth's midsection to help plot the geomagnetic equator—that is, to locate points at which the magnetic pull of the North and South Poles is equal. It is a project of the Air Research and Development Command.

The KC97, most often used as a tanker to refuel other huge crews in flight, will carry ground crew members for the project and extra air-crew members.

ASC Flooded With 'Soil Bank' Appeals

Official approval by the Agricultural and Stabilization Committee of 158 applications for soil bank benefits was reported today by Gabe Hammack, field officer for the ASC.

He said this many farmers and landowners had been approved for payments under the new program at the close of business Wednesday.

Since then, a large number of additional applications have been filed. Others, filed earlier in the week, are being processed and will be brought before the committee at later sessions.

The committee was to meet today to consider such applications as were ready for study.

Hammack said that he had been forced to borrow additional application forms from other counties for a second time since the sign-up period began. A few days ago he had to go to Stanton to get blanks. There were exhausted on Wednesday and Thursday replenishments from another county had to be provided.

A shipment which has been ordered for the local office from College Station has not been received.

Hammack said that the unbroken drought and hot weather is causing a great many landowners and farmers who had not planned at the outset to join in the soil bank program to change their minds.

"We have men in the office this week," he said, "who declared bluntly two weeks ago they wanted no part of the new program.

"The failure of rain to arrive and continued unbroken heat has played such havoc with their crops they have changed their minds.

"I do not know how many applicants we will have before the sign-up ends July 30 but it will be much greater than any of us anticipated when the program first opened."

Deadline for applying for soil bank benefits is next Wednesday.

Calendar Tells Who Will Win President Race

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Let others poll for opinions and study political trends. For Lonnie Johnson, the calendar tells who'll win the coming presidential race.

"That's not rare," said Johnson, "but when three come in the same years as a presidential election—that's significant. It has happened just six times before in history and it has produced a pattern."

Johnson's only announced political affiliation is that of a "Last Thursdayist." He believes there is no day like the last Thursday in November for Thanksgiving.

Viet Nam Rebel Dies On Guillotine

CAN THO, Viet Nam (AP)—Rebel Gen. Bacut died on the guillotine in Can Tho cemetery today for his bitter holdout fight against the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The 32-year-old former commander of 10,000 troops from the Hoa Hao religious sect's private army went bravely and silently to his death. He wore a black peasants' outfit.

When Diem's regime accepted the Geneva armistice which gave North Viet Nam to the Communists, he vowed to keep his units of the Hoa Hao army fighting the Diem government and not to cut his hair.

"Obviously, then, the next three will result in re-elections. So it's perfectly clear that President Eisenhower will win another term."

Rainy Weather For Wide Areas

It looks like rainy and humid weather for broad areas of the country today. Stormy weather struck sections of the mid-continent last night.

Funnel clouds were reported in isolated spots in North Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska. Heavy rain fell in many Midwest areas, including more than 3 inches in northern Illinois and up to 3 inches near Milwaukee.

70 Minutes Of Anguish

Her face contorted in pain and fear, Mrs. Reuben Herrboldt waits for workmen to free her finger after she caught it in her washing machine in Minneapolis, Minn. Mrs. Herrboldt stuck her finger into the machine drain to grope for a lapel pin. The pin caught in her finger, imprisoning it in the drain. It took workmen using an electric drill 70 minutes to free the woman. Amazingly, the finger was not seriously harmed.

Republicans Slash Harriman Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Republicans assailed Gov. Averell Harriman today for suggesting that President Eisenhower has helped the Communist cause by crediting the Soviets with peace aims.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said Harriman's evident intent in a speech yesterday to hang a "soft on communism" label on Eisenhower "is an invitation for Republicans to review again the miserable record of the Truman and Roosevelt administrations on this issue."

Watkins said Harriman's statements are "just a part of a desperate attempt of a presidential aspirant to win a nomination as the leader of the ultraradicals of the Democratic party."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn) described as "fantastic" Harriman's contention that Eisenhower, by crediting Soviet leaders with peace aims at the Geneva conference last summer, had naively paved the way for great Communist gains.

"This, of course, is without any foundation," Thye said. "If the Democrats have chosen to make this a campaign issue they will find the people do not believe such rubbish."

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) said Harriman's attack on Eisenhower was "typical of the indications of the bankruptcy of the New Deal party."

"If they have to consider a man of this type as a possible presidential candidate, they have fallen below the normal level of bankruptcy," he declared.

Aides said Harriman would make no specific reply to a call by Sen. Byrd (D-Wa) that he spell out what he would do as president to make effective the Supreme Court's order for racial integration in the public schools.

Harriman said yesterday that if he were elected he would use the power of the White House "positively and firmly" to bring about compliance. Byrd, who has advocated "massive resistance" to the court's decision, asked in a statement:

"Will he use force under any conditions whatever to compel compliance? . . . Will he send federal troops? Will he attempt to coerce the Southern states by denial of federal aid to which they are entitled? Does he favor jailing or imposing fines on state or local officials?"

At a National Press Club luncheon yesterday, Harriman said there had been a "smear campaign" against him on the false basis that he would use troops to enforce the decision. He said that was "not the American way."

Oklahoman To Be Chief Teller

Head teller for the Security State Bank, which opens formally on Saturday, will be Mrs. Aquilla Hanson.

A native of Duncan, Okla., Mrs. Hanson has had approximately three years of experience in bank work. She was reared in Pampa and was graduated from high school there.

After completing work in Hill's Business College in Oklahoma City, she went to work in the Citizens Bank & Trust Company in Pampa, serving as a bookkeeper, in proofing, and finally as teller during the 2½ years of her association there.

After her marriage Jan. 21, 1956, to T. D. Hanson, who is with the Hughes Tool Company, they made their home in Big Spring. Mrs. Hanson immediately went to work for the First National Bank and then resigned that post to accept a place with the new bank. She and Mr. Hanson make their home at 1300 Stanford.

'Tilt Up' Walls Make Basement

A unique method of construction was employed in one phase of the Security State Bank project.

Concrete walls of the basement were poured in a horizontal position. Then, after the concrete set, the wall sections were raised to a vertical stance and were fastened to the floor and each other to complete the basement.

This is called "Tilt-up" concrete construction, the bank's engineers explained. The basement walls are 10½ inches thick at the base and 5½ inches through at the top. They are reinforced with steel, of course.

Bookkeepers To Have Privacy

A unique feature of the Security State Bank is the location of its records and bookkeeping department.

This unit of the institution is situated in the basement, completely away from all public sections of the bank, affording personnel the opportunity to work without interruption or distraction.

A service elevator connects basement and main floor.

Hay For Drought Areas

Farmers from drought-stricken southern Iowa, desperate for livestock feed after the drought destroyed pastures and oats crop, load hay at Camp Dodge near Des Moines, Iowa. The hay was cut along highway rights-of-way in northern Iowa, then was brought to Camp Dodge by National Guard trucks. Farmers from the drought area pay $3 a ton for the hay and haul it themselves. Gov. Lee Hoegh has asked Secretary of Agriculture Benson to declare 36 Iowa counties a drought disaster area.

Conservation Work Goes On Over This Area

Soil conservation activities in Howard County continue unabated despite the drought and heat. Terrace construction on the W. S. Cole farm, southeast of Vincent, has just been completed and checked by the Soil Conservation personnel.

A farm pond has been built in the farm of H. F. Whitaker, west of Vincent. The pond is to supply water for cattle grazing on 128 acres of Blue Panic grass. The pasture was established earlier by Whitaker.

Sprinkler efficiency in the sprinkler systems on the Lomax community farms of T. E. Newman, W. J. Cates and J. D. Henderson were recently checked over by Soil Conservation personnel.

Two of the larger acreage of summer cowpeas are to be found growing on the E. L. and Fred Romans farms at Knott. Both men are strong believers in growing cowpeas and conservation crop rotation to add fertility to the soil. The former made twice as much cotton last year on land that was in cowpeas in 1954 as compared to land that he did not grow peas on previously. This year he has planted approximately 90 acres of Chinese Red Cowpeas. His brother, Fred, has planted approximately 120 acres of Chinese Red Cowpeas on his farm. He was convinced of the benefits of cowpeas after seeing what they did on his brother's place.

Range checks have been made recently by Ranger Conservationist Marion E. Everhart and Roland Willis on the following ranches: Claude Collins, Ed Simpson, and Mrs. Akin Simpson near Luther; Nick Reed, Guy Guffee, R. T. Shafer, and B. O. Brown near Vincent; Charlie Creighton West of Big Spring; Dr. G. T. Hall near Lomax and John Ratliff south of Big Spring.

Rangers Guard Against Any 'Gunslinging' In Parr Area

LAMESA, Tex. (AP)—Three Texas Rangers today guarded against "any gunslinging" during the current state political campaign in the South Texas bailiwick of Political Boss George Parr.

Dist. Atty. Sam H. Burris called for the Rangers after he said Parr strode into the Duval County courthouse yesterday packing a .30 caliber rifle and looking for one of his political enemies.

Ranger Walter Russell took the gun away from Parr before the "Duke of Duval County" found his opponent, County Commissioner Thomas H. Molina.

Molina filed a misdemeanor charge of "seriously threatening life" and Parr posted $1,000 bond in a justice of peace court.

Burris said the Rangers will "patrol Duval County so there won't be any gun slinging," he added, "That's what they're built-up for."

Burris said he and Allee agreed on "how emergencies would be met if they arose," worked out "a system of communications with myself and the Rangers here," and generally set up a workable program.

George Parr has control of the city of San Diego and they hired three deputy city marshals and all of them are going around beer taverns telling them that if they will vote for George Parr they will be sorry. Of course, that's all they were hired for.

"They can tell those city policemen that if they get out of line they may have to eat those guns."

"Those three Rangers can take care of it. There will be more down here on election day (July 28 primary) to help supervise the polling places."

Ranger Capt. Alfred Allee of Carrizo Springs assigned Ranger Sgt. S. H. Denson and Ranger Wiley Williamson to work with Russell after conferring with Burris for two hours. The Rangers were instructed to "maintain law and order."

Governor Candidates Scatter Over Texas In Drive For Votes

Candidates for governor scattered over Texas this weekend in their drive for votes. Four appeared on the same platform Thursday night at Bellaire near Houston.

J. J. Holmes and Reuben Senterfitt criticized big city newspapers for what they termed "lack of fair play and objective news reporting." Holmes urged legalized horse race betting and Senterfitt his campaign promises made by his foes.

Ralph Yarborough restated his promise to "clean-up" the state government and said "not one of the five other candidates lifted a voice against this corruption until he is announced for governor."

J. Evetts Haley told the Bellaire crowd of about 1,000 that the sole issue in the campaign "is the loss of liberties and the destruction of the white race itself—all wrapped up in the immoral decision of the Supreme Court."

Representing Price Daniel, a Houston attorney, Bennett Ley, said that Daniel "is the one man who can give Texas a sane government."

The sixth candidate, W. Lee O'Daniel, was campaigning in Central Texas.

Friday's schedules called for Daniel to be at Lufkin, Nacogdoches, Henderson, Jacksonville and Palestine, Yarborough at Longview, Marshall, Paris, Sherman and Denison and O'Daniel at Graham, Throckmorton, Anson and Haskell.

Yarborough said a candidate for governor must have the will to clean up current corruption and the ability to clean it up. He renewed his pledges to raise teacher salaries and teacher retirement pay.

"I confidently predict that I'll be elected," he said.

Senterfitt said few large city newspapers should be listed in the yellow pages of the telephone directories as public relations experts.

"They've apparently found the Messiah, the indispensable candidate," he said. "Newspapers have the responsibility to report objectively the news of the campaign. I look upon the George Parr issue being publicized as a smoke screen to cover up real issues of the race."

Holmes said he is the only candidate with a solution for the money problem of Texas — parimutuel horse race betting.

"Gamblers don't want it," he said. "They're getting rich as it is. I can take you to two or three places within 50 miles of Houston that will be having horse races within the next 48 hours. Other states have legalized betting. Texas might as well have it too."

Senterfitt told the crowd that he's a "conservative" candidate, proud of it and never will apologize for it.

Haley said any trespass on the rights of the individual "is immoral act, whether committed by an outlaw, an agency or by the Supreme Court."

"Usurpation of power is an impeachable act and if we had strong men in the Congress the Supreme Court would be impeached," he said. "Such a possibility is remote. Therefore the issue in the campaign is states rights... interposition is the basic right of a free people to say 'no' to an immoral act. The Supreme Court is allowing the Communist Party line in destroying America."

Shown above is the Reading, Pa. mayor, Daniel F. McDevitt, who is currently at odds with the Reading press, which observers believe is due to recent stories on pinball machine raids in Reading. Included in the raids was an establishment owned by McDevitt's brother.

Press Foe

Contributions are coming in too slowly for the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Reunion, Morgan Martin, president, warned Thursday.

So far only $76 has been received. This is far from adequate for the purchase of meat for the barbecue, for beans, pickles, onions, sauce, wood, etc.

Martin appealed for others to make their contributions to Joseph Hayden as soon as possible. Hayden is chairman of the finance committee.

The reunion, open to all who have resided 20 or more years in either of the counties, will be held July 27 at the City Park.

Among contributors are Jack Wilcox, A. R. Collins, John Shafer, Noel Lester, Kimbell Feed Mills, $10 each; Mr. and Mrs. Loy Acuff, Earl Plew, A. K. Burns, and Dr. O. E. Wolfe, $5 each; and other gifts by C. A. Walker, George Gardner, Ebb Hatch, and Dick Thompson.

Transitional Touch In Fall Shoes

A new realistic approach to hot weather and fall calendar dates are cool shoes with a hint or even a glint for early fall clothes.

Transitional fashions are always popular and even more so in apparel for the feet. From late summer into early fall many of the fashions will be seen.

A new transparency in a new material for shoes is fibreglas, which can be combined with suede, velvet, or a soft smooth leather.

For the first hint of fall, another transition fashion is a smooth calfskin in black or brown. It can be tailored, fancy, or on smoother lines.

Blackened colors, rank high; khaki brings out many new browns in shoes, and the strange case of green, especially "ioden" gives black an extra fillip in shoes.

A new leather is celtic, a brilliant textured surface calfskin. Heels grow shapelier although lower. They look twice as high, with all the comfort of a lower height.

Charles Eddie Brown Jr. has returned home after a year's stay in Memphis, Tenn., with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Lewis. His parents are the senior Browns.

Symbols of the years are the triangle, representing faith; the cross, representing prayer, and the star, which is the symbol of peace. Following the formation of the three symbols Mrs. Thompson sang, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," "Have Thine Own Way" and "Peace in the Valley."

Mrs. D. L. Adcock Sr., Mrs. J. D. Key and Mrs. Pervis Vandiver were hostesses for the reception which followed. The serving table was laid with red linen and held appointments of milk glass with a centerpiece of white shasta daisies. About 50 attended the meeting.

U.N. Rejects Proposals For Atom Test Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States firmly rejected today Soviet-supported proposals by India and Yugoslavia for a ban on experimental explosions of nuclear weapons.

Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U. N.'s 12-member Disarmament Commission such testing will continue until an international agreement can be reached establishing safeguards against the possible use of these weapons.

"In the absence of such an agreement," Wadsworth said, "the United States considers the testing of nuclear weapons essential for our own defense and for the safety of our friends."

He also said: "We shall continue to work for an agreement in which the limitation of tests would be an integral part and we will do everything we can to assure that radiation will not rise above tolerable levels."

British Minister of State Anthony Nutting took a similar position. He said testing of A-bombs and H-bombs cannot be banned until the manufacture of such weapons also is prohibited.

They spoke after Yugoslav Delegate Jozz Briele formally presented a resolution intended to put the commission on record in favor of the proposed ban.

The Western position was indicated by French Delegate Jules Moch yesterday after India's V. K. Krishna Menon had made a long plea for prohibition of the test explosions.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko recalled that his government previously had advocated an agreement ending the tests. In view of this, he said, Russia's attitude toward Menon's proposal was "positive."

Gromyko asserted that U. S. arguments against banning the test explosions were unconvincing. "If the West continues to obstruct agreement," he said, "then it is obvious that the tests will continue—including tests in the Soviet Union."

Cow Killed, Car Damaged In Collision

A fat Hereford cow, straying along U. S. Highway 67, caused what could have been a serious wreck at 10:30 p. m. Thursday.

The cow was killed and the driver of the car shaken up in the collision. The car was badly damaged.

State Highway Patrol officers said that George Frank Murray, Harlingen, alone in his motor car, was traveling north. Twelve miles north of Big Spring, the cow suddenly stepped from the side of the road into the path of his car.

Radiator and grill of the Murray car were demolished by the impact. The dead cow had to be removed from the pavement.

Yarborough Telecasts Set

The Howard County Yarborough-for-governor committee will start the presentation of a series of five-minute telecasts over KBST-TV Monday.

The programs, with Ralph Yarborough discussing a different issue of the gubernatorial campaign daily, will be aired at 5:40 p. m. The telecasts were filmed in the candidate's home at Austin.

Frank Hardesty, county campaign chairman for Yarborough, also announced the appointment of committees for support of the candidate.

Mrs. Nora Pearl Binder is financial chairman and treasurer, and on the financial committee are Ed Carpenter and Charles Butts.

Ike-Nixon Talk Washed Out, Is Postponed

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A conference between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon on U. S. policy in the Far East was washed out today.

Nixon got as far as the Washington Airport, but a heavy rain and poor flying weather here brought postponement of the trip until tomorrow.

Secretary of State Dulles did make it to Gettysburg in a light twin-engine Air Force plane. Dulles was driven to the Eisenhower farm.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the secretary "is discussing entirely State Department business" and there was nothing further Dulles or Hagerty could say about it.

The original plan was for Nixon and Dulles to meet together with Eisenhower so that Nixon could report to both of them at the same time on his 11-day, 27,000-mile trip on which he circled the globe and called at six Asiatic capitals.

Nixon and Dulles had attended a Cabinet meeting at the White House, at which Nixon presided. Hagerty told reporters that Nixon will come up instead at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

On another matter, Hagerty was asked about a published report that Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has recommended cutting U. S. military manpower by 800,000 men by 1960. Hagerty said, "I don't know anything about it."

There was word from GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall yesterday that Eisenhower had again made it "absolutely" clear he would be pleased to have Nixon for his 1956 running mate.

Hall predicted both will be re-nominated at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco next month and sweep on to an even bigger victory than they rolled up in 1952. The Republican chairman spoke after an hour's political huddle with Eisenhower.

ROK Air Chief Warns Reds In Greater Strength

SEOUL (AP)—The chief of South Korea's air force warns that if the Communists attack again in Korea, waves of Red jets will sweep Allied air power from the skies within minutes.

"We have no way to defend ourselves against the first attack," declared Lt. Gen. Kim Chung Yul, the ROK (Republic of Korea) air force chief of staff, in an interview.

"We certainly would be faced with the difficult job of winning back control of the air," he said. The two 75-plane wings of F86 Sabre Jets—one ROK and one American—in Korea would offer no more than token resistance to the more than 500 MIG jets the Communists could throw into the initial assault, Kim declared.

U. S. Air Force officers said privately that the tremendous Red plane buildup, in violation of the Korean armistice, is partly responsible for the recent shift of U. S. air strength out of Korea.

U. S. planes now based in Japan and Okinawa would be of little help as interceptors, Gen. Kim said, pointing out that Japanese jets can fight for only a few minutes over Korea before heading home to refuel.

Korean officers estimate Communist air strength in North Korea and Manchuria at about 775 planes, including more than 500 jets. Of the total, 430 aircraft—mostly MIG jets—are operating from North Korean bases, Gen. Kim said.

In Washington, State Department officials recalled that the United States had protested repeatedly against what it considers to be Communist violations of the Korean truce agreement.

The State Department declined comment on military aspects of the situation or the relationships between the Communist and South Korean U. S. forces, saying this was a matter for the Defense Department.

But on the political aspects, officials said deployment of jets in North Korea was barred by an armistice provision prohibiting the introduction by either side of new weapons after the end of the fighting. The Communists had no jets operating from fields in North Korea was barred by the war. They operated from fields in Red China.

LIVE LIKE CAVEMEN

Frenchmen Find Reducing Method

TOULOUSE, France, July 13 (AP)—Eight Frenchmen who have lived a couple of weeks on snails, wild berries and hand-caught fish as voluntary cave-men can tell you it's one way to lose weight.

Most have dropped from five to seven pounds. Their subsistence under prehistoric conditions on a limestone plateau in southern France is a tough life. They're without matches, tools or weapons, eating only what they can catch with their bare hands or root from the earth.

And they still have a week to go in this French air experiment to see how long soldiers could hold out under similar conditions.

There used to be nine in the party. Andre Thibault, 29, dropped out Tuesday on advice of Dr. Jean Poujade, who visits the party daily for a medical check.

The remaining team includes two soldiers, a veterinarian, a biologist and a local radio reporter. They sleep in the open or, when weather is bad, in a cave which served prehistoric men as a refuge. The cave-men's drawings still decorate the walls.

The two soldiers have become specialists in catching fish with their hands. A third man acts as cook. The veterinarian fetches water from a spring a mile away. Others seek berries and edible grasses to supplement the fish diet from the Dordogne River. The radio reporter writes up a daily log.

The party has given up using flints to strike sparks for their campfire, saying a better method is to rub dry wood with rope made from a tropical-style plant which grows in this part of France.

Dr. Poujade so far has not been called on for aid, except to bind a few cuts. He reports the blood pressures of all have fallen, probably due to their restricted diet.

Foreign Aid Foe Sees More Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—An outspoken opponent of foreign aid spending predicted today the Senate Appropriations Committee will recommend nearly four billion dollars of new money for overseas assistance.

The prediction came from Sen. Ellender (D-La.) as Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) called the committee to meet for final action on the bill. Present plans call for a report to the Senate tonight, to put the measure in position for House consideration beginning Monday.

The maximum appropriation, fixed in an authorization bill already approved by both houses, is $4,014,900,000. The House, in passing a money bill earlier this week, voted to provide only $3,775,920,000. That includes $3,425,120,000 in new funds plus $240,000,000 in reappropriation of previously voted money.

"Judging from what I've heard," Ellender said in an interview, "I imagine the Appropriations Committee will probably vote to recommend up to the amount of the authorization."

But Ellender, a member of the committee, said he would fight in the Senate to hold the appropriation to the lower amount voted by the House.

"I don't know what luck I'll have on the floor, but I'm going to offer an amendment to cut back to the House amount," he said.

The Eisenhower administration, which first asked for $4,900,000,000 for the fiscal year started July 1, now is pushing for the full four billion dollars of the authorization bill.

House leaders avoided a fight to increase the money bill in that body, hoping the Senate would provide a much higher figure. The final amount then would be worked out by a House-Senate compromise.

Other senators agreed with Ellender that the Senate committee will boost the House-approved figure.

ROTC Cadets Get Commissions

America's greatest need today is men who can match our machines, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring, told an audience during the ROTC graduation ceremonies held at the Webb Chapel last night.

Some 200 cadets, of whom 16 were commissioned as second lieutenants, were present for the ceremony. The graduation marked the completion of four weeks of intensive summer training for men representing 23 different universities.

Dr. O'Brien reminded the new officers, cadets and guests that such new discoveries as the aircraft, television, radio, and many others have no moral qualities and whether these machines are used for good or bad.

In 1928, Floyd Bennett, a great American aviator, used the aircraft to deliver drugs to an isolated and diphtheria stricken village, while a few years later the Germans utilized a similar machine to kill defenseless women and children, said the minister.

Dr. O'Brien said that no man can succeed in life, if he doesn't work at it. Success will not come to anyone, without hard work, and "work is the greatest blessing the Almighty bestowed upon us," he declared.

Following Dr. O'Brien's address the 16 men to be commissioned were sworn in by Lt. Darrel L. Hirsch. The diplomas were presented by Col. John L. Weber, commander of the ROTC Unit at Webb.

The men who entered the chapel as cadets and left as second lieutenants are Gary L. Firestone, Stephen C. Cline, William B. Hoening Jr., Charles C. Rubey, Raymond F. Clapp, Richard F. Kirchner, Peter J. Macchi, Michael M. Mokris, George W. Giglioli, James D. Elmer, Thomas C. O'Sheridan, William J. Slauson, Charles A. Schaefer, Russell F. Scarato, Bennett I. Shapiro and Arthur D. Dunlap.

Explorers End Two-Week Trek

Members of Explorer Post No. 9, led by their advisor, Marshall Day, have returned from the Philmont Ranch and two weeks of camping on the trail.

Upon their arrival at the wilderness camp in the mountains of northern New Mexico, the boys and their leader spent one day at base headquarters, selecting their trail and learning about procedures. Then for three days they were at the one-time home of Kit Carson, cooking and rigorous hiking over mountain trails.

Six days followed on the trail, covering 70 miles through isolated trails. At stated intervals, they made rendezvous on the trail for additional supplies. However, most of what they had they carried on their backs. They saw much game, including a bear. They also visited the abandoned Cypress gold mine and put up at picturesque Clear Creek Camp. Their longest single hike was 18 miles in one day. Their guide was a map and a compass.

Dulles, Aide Disagree On Diplomatic Travel Value

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and one of his top advisers disagreed sharply yesterday on the value of extensive travel to pursue diplomacy.

"The vital requisites for the effective discharge of the duties of the secretary of state are perspective and wisdom," said Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president emeritus of Brown University. "Those qualities find their most effective employment when there is at least a modicum of leisure for quiet reflection."

Dulles said: "We all have to travel. . . . Nowadays when you can fly overnight and have a personal talk with a foreign minister it is old-fashioned to sit at home. You can accomplish so much more through a personal talk."

Wriston, an adviser who has helped Dulles put into effect an extensive revision of the U. S. foreign service, set forth his views in Foreign Affairs, a magazine published by the Council on Foreign Affairs in New York.

He told reporter he had not aimed particularly at Dulles but at a growing addiction by top diplomats to extensive travel. He said Dulles had been away from his desk less than Democratic former Secretaries of State James F. Byrnes and George C. Marshall, although more than Dean Acheson.

Negro Educator Hits Integration

MOUND BAYOU, Miss. (AP)—A Mississippi Negro educator has called for what he describes as continued racial harmony through the maintenance of segregation.

Dr. J. H. White, president of Mississippi Vocational College for Negroes at Ita Bena, told thousands of Negroes attending the 69th anniversary of the founding of this all-Negro town yesterday.

"Negroes of the South should have the intelligence to size up the situation and not throw away (schools) by attempting to disrupt peaceful conditions which have existed for so many years just to eat, sit and ride beside a white person."

White criticized Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) for an integration amendment he proposed to a federal aid bill for school construction. He said the amendment caused defeat of the bill.

"Can you imagine a Negro congressman blocking such a needed measure just to make the headlines?" White asked. "Yet, you will find some Negroes in Mississippi supporting him."

Dixon - Yates Move Draws Demo Taunts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration's move to have the courts declare "unlawful" its repudiated Dixon - Yates contract drew taunts today from Democratic senators who said it will be a campaign issue.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), a bitter critic of the contract, said President Eisenhower had ordered negotiations with the Dixon-Yates private power interests, said caustically "it will be interesting" to hear how the President explains this in the coming election campaign.

"He'll have ample opportunity," Gore said, "because he'll be reminded of it frequently." He said Eisenhower was "personally and officially responsible" for the contract, and "repeatedly advocated it and defended it."

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said in a separate interview he doesn't see how it can be "anything like a campaign issue if it's honestly discussed, and I assume it will be."

"The contract itself was a good contract," Hickenlooper said.

But Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the contract "was and is a scandalous thing." He said he hopes the case is settled "prior to this fall's elections."

The comments came after the Justice Department yesterday asked the U.S. Court of Claims to throw out a Dixon-Yates suit against the government. The suit seeks $3,543,778.45 of payments by the government for costs incurred before the contract was canceled last November on the heels of a political fight.

The department asked the court to declare the contract "contrary to public policy, unlawful, and null and void" because of an alleged dual role played in the negotiations by Adolph H. Wenzel. It also advanced other reasons in demanding dismissal of the suit.

The department said Wenzel was a consultant to the Dodge-Bureau on expansion of electric facilities in the TVA area, and at the same time a salaried vice president of the First Boston Corp. First Boston, a New York investment firm, later became financial agent for the Dixon-Yates interests in the deal. The government said this created a conflict of interests on Wenzel's part.

Gore and some other Democratic senators had made similar accusations regarding Wenzel's role in the negotiations even while the government was going ahead with the contract.

Wenzel has denied any wrongdoing in the case. He said he had no direct connection with and exerted no influence for the Dixon-

Yates power contract. He said he resigned as an unpaid consultant with the Budget Bureau before the contract was signed.

President Eisenhower said at a news conference a year ago that he considered Wenzel's role a proper one.

The suit had been brought by the Dixon-Yates interest: in the name of the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. They had formed this company to build and run a 107-million-dollar private power plant at West Memphis, Ark., to pipe electric current into the public power lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Eisenhower had ordered the contract negotiated to replace current consumed by plants of the Atomic Energy Commission from TVA lines.

When the administration canceled the contract, it did so on grounds that need for the additional power would be met by a municipal plant the city of Memphis, Tenn., a TVA customer, had decided to build.

Seeking dismissal of the Dixon-Yates suit, the Justice Department argued that the canceled agreement never was "a final, binding and complete contract"; that it was technically faulty; and that it contained some provisions which violated the public utility holding company law.

Southern Bloc Forming Slow

ATLANTA (AP)—Some Southern Democrats want to present a solid Southern front at the national nominating convention—but so far they haven't been able to line up solid support for a meeting to outline plans for Southern solidarity.

Neville Bennett, Democratic chairman of South Carolina, asked party leaders of 10 other Southern states to meet in Atlanta this weekend.

Democratic spokesmen in North Carolina, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas said yesterday their states won't be represented. Georgia, Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Florida and Alabama planned to send representatives and Mississippi hoped to have a man on hand.

Bennett said no agenda has been prepared but that a major topic would be means of bulking a strong antisegregation plank in the 1956 Democratic platform.

Both Bennett and Georgia Chairman John Sammons Bell said the meeting is in no way a move toward a third party.

Civil Rights Backers Claim Overwhelming Victory Is Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—House backers of civil rights legislation maintained today they will win an overwhelming House victory next week despite a new Southern appeal for Northern votes against it.

The virtually solid opposition bloc from the Southern states issued a "warning of grave danger" yesterday, declaring the question is a constitutional, not a racial, one. Nearly all Southern House members signed the document, as virtually all had signed an earlier "manifesto" urging reversal of the Supreme Court decision barring racial segregation in public schools.

Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.), a backer of a pending House bill closely following President Eisenhower's recommendations, said he does not think more than 20 or 30 Republicans will vote against it. That many, he acknowledged, may agree with the Southern position on states' rights and constitutional interpretation.

And Rep. Bolling (D-Mo) said he and other backers of the bill are ready for the debate opening Monday and need no further strategy sessions.

The Southerners, numbering fewer than 100 in the 435-man House, would have to make deep inroads into Northern Democratic - Republican ranks to prevent passage of the legislation.

In the Senate, however, Southerners are in a position to kill the measure with unlimited talk.

Sen. Lehman (D-N.Y.) urged the Judiciary Committee, under the chairmanship of Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), to bring a civil rights bill out for a vote. Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) was reported planning to try to force a showdown in the Judiciary Committee Monday.

The Southern House members' "warning" said, "The people in the United States who entertain notions that the so-called racial issue is paramount in the sum total coverage of these proposals are due for a rude awakening."

It said the bill would create "extraordinary power" by vague language that "approaches recklessness."

The criticism was aimed largely at the provisions in the bill that would allow the U.S. attorney general to bring suits in behalf of persons who contend their voting or other civil rights are abridged or threatened.

The Southerners said: "The broad language of the bill would open practically the entire field of elections, including state primaries, to federal intervention... If additional powers... are deemed to be necessary... then Congress should attack the problem squarely by proposing an amendment to the Constitution."

The Southern statement said a study commission provided for in the bill could start sweeping investigations without having a clear definition of civil rights.

GOP 'Blockbuster' Of Color Readied

NEW YORK (AP)—A supercharged blockbuster of color, sounds and spectacle was being readied today to stir up fervor for President Eisenhower along the main streets of America.

"We're going to use every physical, emotional and visual means of getting the message across," said C. Langhorne Washburn, director of special activities for the National Citizens for Eisenhower organization.

There'll be huge floating balloons, parades, blaring loudspeakers, moving pictures, teams of press releases, television "quizzes," music, rallies, pretty girls in "like dresses" and campaign buttons galore.

All this is part of a high-powered task force getting set to invade cities and towns across the country, beating campaign drums for the re-election of Eisenhower.

It's called the "Eisenhower Bandwagon" operation, and it's got everything from floodlights, costumes and streamer-bedecked vehicles to specially schooled crews and helium gas.

The mission, as Washburn put it: "Selling and telling."

Altogether, there'll be six "Bandwagon" outfits, each including 30-ton trailer-trucks loaded with equipment, a jeep, two station wagons, two 40-foot, dirigible-shaped balloons and four bicycles.

The rolling stock is all pointed in brilliant white, with red-and-blue slogans on it. Among other things the cargo includes outdoor movie units, amplifiers, power generators and campaign leaflets.

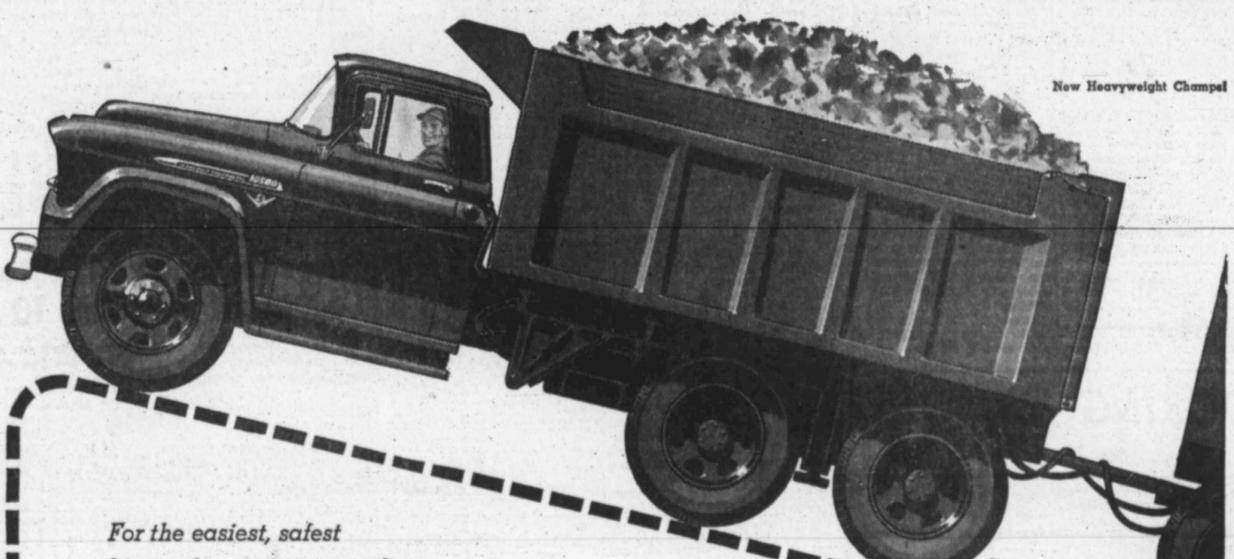

The teams will hit the road Labor Day, shortly after the GOP convention Aug. 20, and keep going nine weeks, with plans to uncork their fanfare in about 150 communities by election day.

As part of the crowd-luring devices each unit will have eight pink and fancy "like dresses," sizes 10 and 12, to be worn by locally recruited girls (the requirement: "young and pretty") in parades and rallies.

There'll be numerous other volunteers recruited in advance in each city to help stage the proceedings.

"We provide the equipment," Washburn said. "They furnish the bodies."

He said the objective, as he saw it, was to "spread the philosophy of the President and the accomplishments of the administration

At the present time, the Stanton club has around 37 members. Harry Haislip, together with his son, Bobby, run the pro shop. The shop is not always open, since the Haislips work in town, but the course can be played at any time. Green fees are a modest 50 cents. Houston Woody serves as club president. James Biggs is vice president and June Graham as secretary-treasurer.

Water arrangements will be in charge of a committee headed by Bob Harzard and Neal Estes will head the committee on publicity and printing.

The Stanton Country Club is located two miles east of Stanton on the north side of Highway '80.

Buhl And Adcock Prove Bogie - Men For Brooks

If the Milwaukee Braves should win the National League pennant, it will be because of the spectacular success enjoyed by pitcher Bob Buhl and first baseman Joe Adcock against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rarely, if ever, have two players from one team overpowered a club the way Buhl and Adcock have done against Brooklyn this season. For Buhl, this complete domination of the Dodgers is new but it is old hat to Adcock, who has hit 25 of his 100 big league home runs against Dodger pitching.

The pair combined their talents last night to lift Milwaukee to within three percentage points of first place as the Braves shut out the Dodgers 2-0 and the league-leading Cincinnati Redlegs were beaten 7-4 by the Philadelphia Phillies. Both postponed the second game of the scheduled two-night double-header and it will be played as part of a two-nighter in Milwaukee tonight.

Buhl turned in a six-hitter for his fifth successive triumph over his Brooklyn "cousins" and Adcock banged a home run, his fifth against Dodger pitching this year, to give the right-hander all the runs he needed for his 10th success against four defeats.

Pittsburgh climbed into fourth place with a sweep of its double-header from Chicago 2-1 and 5-4 as the St. Louis Cardinals dropped into fifth place by half a game despite their 5-3 victory over the last-place New York Giants.

The pace-setting New York Yankees widened their American League lead over Chicago and Cleveland to 7 1/2 games, their biggest bulge of the season, by conquering the Indians 9-5 in connection with Boston's victory over the White Sox 3-1.

In other American League games, Detroit defeated Washington 4-2 and Baltimore blanked Kansas City 4-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Bill Wight.

Buhl's brilliant record against Brooklyn is all the more remarkable in view of Milwaukee's record of six victories and five defeats against the Dodgers in half a season. The rest of the Braves' pitching staff has turned in only one triumph over the Reds.

The Phils scored five runs in the top of the ninth to overcome a 3-2 deficit. Marv Blaylock's bases-loaded double and Eimer Valo's two-run single against reliever Bud Freeman gave Harvey Haddix his seventh victory. Art Fowler lost it.

Stan Musial hammered home three runs with his 16th home run and a single to lead the Cards to victory. A pair of ex-Giants — Alvin Dark and Don Liddle — also contributed to the victory against their former teammates. Dark had a double, single and sacrifice fly. Liddle pitched runless ball for 3 2/3 innings to receive credit for the win.

Dale Long hit his first home run since June 9 and also added a triple to drive in four runs in Pittsburgh's second-game victory over Chicago. Bill Virdon's four-bagger helped Ronnie Kline chalk up his eighth victory in the opener.

A grand slam home run by Hank Bauer, his first in eight years with the Yankees, proved to be the big blow in New York's triumph over Cleveland.

Johnny Kucks, despite rough going, was credited with his 12th success and Bob Lemon was charged with his seventh defeat despite a three-run homer by Al Smith that ran the outfielder's hitting streak through 22 consecutive games.

Jimmy Piersall was practically a one-man gang as the Red Sox came from behind to nip the White Sox. His two-run homer in the ninth off Jack Harshman was the deciding blow after Boston tied the score 1-1 in its half of the eighth.

Bob Nieman's three-run homer in the first inning was more than enough for southpaw Wight, who fanned five and walked one for his fourth victory and first shut-out as Baltimore beat Kansas City. Billy Hoft registered his 11th triumph with a four-hitter for Detroit as Washington lost its fifth straight.

Lawrence Goes For 13th Hill Win Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) — Brooks Lawrence doesn't have the lummy ache any more and that is one of the reasons why the Cincinnati Redlegs today are in the thick of the fight for the National League pennant.

Tonight Lawrence is due to go after his 13th victory. He hasn't yet been charged with a defeat. Against the Philadelphia Phils he'll be trying to protect Cincinnati's league lead, which was reduced to half a game last night when the Phils scored five times in the ninth for a 7-4 victory.

It would be hard to imagine the husky 31-year-old Negro right-hander of today as the weakened, sorrowing athlete who went to his home in Springfield, Ohio, with a bleeding head at the end of 1954, perhaps washed up.

The St. Louis Cardinals apparently had no faith in his chances. For they traded him to Cincinnati this year after he had a relatively poor 1955 season. In 1954, he had won 15 games and lost 6 for St. Louis. Last year, after dropping 8 games while winning 3, he was sent to Oakland by the Cards, where he won 5 games and lost 1.

"There never has been anything wrong with my pitching arm, he reported," Lawrence said. "It was my stomach. After eight blood transfusions and a strict diet I began to get better, but it took all of last year for me to get well."

"I have been off any diet for a long time, and eat anything. I couldn't play well last year because I was weak. It took a long time to get my strength back, but I'm all right now."

Braves Close Out With 33-10 Win

The Newsom Braves closed out their regular National Minor League season by defeating the DAV nine, 33-10, here Thursday afternoon.

The Braves enjoyed two big innings, scoring ten times in the second and closed out with a 16-tally fifth.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

More than one in every eight players in the big leagues wear glasses, a recent survey revealed.

All of the coaches in the local school system have managed to stay busy this summer.

Carl Coleman, the head man, is helping run the Smith and Coleman Oil Company, part of which he owns.

A team aide, Emmett Broderson, is in construction work at the refinery here.

Roy Baird has been employed by the Clyde McMahon Concrete Company. Harold Bentley is a night desk clerk at a local hotel.

Charles Caraway has been working for the schools but more recently has been attending National Guard camp. Dan Lewis has been operating the municipal swimming pool.

Johnny Johnson has been holding down two jobs. He works in the YMCA recreational program and for the school.

Earl Penner, a popular grade school coach here for the past several years, has accepted a teaching position in the Wichita Falls school system.

Penner made West Ward a perennial toughie in the City Football League race every year.

In efforts to stimulate attendance at Madison Square Garden TV fights, officials have reduced the price of duicals from an $8-$2 range to $5, $3 and $1.50.

Equichall Runs This Weekend

RUIDOSO, N.M. (SC)—The better grade of allowance horses take the spotlight on Ruidoso's sixteenth day of racing. The tenth race titled, The Ruidoso Jockey Club Allowance, is a quarter-mile dash at 400 yards and brings out Ridge Butler, Little Nippy, Red Pepper Dee, Top Gain and others.

Miss Myrna Bar is on the also eligible list and will get into the race only if there is a withdrawal from the first eight. If she does not get in, the probable favorite might be Ridge Butler who has been chasing Go Man Go in his last two starts and should find this field not so exacting.

Little Nippy was an easy winner her last start and was claimed from that race by P. H. Herndon of Clovis, N. M. Some of her good efforts would give her a chance to upset the top ones.

The eleventh race is for thoroughbreds at a distance of 5 1/2 furlongs. Creech Bar may be the dark horse of this band and should give one of his better efforts, he could be the winner.

Floemer, a recent arrival from Omaha, Neb., can improve her last try here and must be given a chance.

Papagayo, owned by the Double L. Farms of El Paso, is attempting a comeback here after a long rest and could surprise.

Madero, Dream and Angel Hair are overdue to win a race and this may be the spot for them.

Good Motive, Tom's Victory and Equichall complete to the field and have some sort of a chance.

Equichall is owned by J. T. Dillard of Big Spring.

Old Man Par Hard To Find In Boischael Golf Play

BOISCHAEL, Que. (AP)—Old Man Par, snubbed like a poor relation at a society wedding, was nowhere to be found among the leaders today as Canada's richest golfing plum, the $26,000 Open, swung into the second round.

Every one of the top 20 scorers, led by Frank Stranahan's record-busting 67, was under par in yesterday's opening round.

The former Toledo, Ohio, amateur who played the Royal Quebec course as though he knew its 6,500 yards like the back of his hand, finishing with a 33-34 that bettered par by five strokes and swept aside the record 68 shot by Edmonton's Harry Martell three years ago.

The second shooting place of Stranahan no more than one-stroke to the good, however, Bill Casper of San Diego, Calif., Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., each came home with 68.

Most of the leaders were bunched at 70 and 71, just managing to shave the 33-37-72 par requirements. Included in the pack was defending Champion Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., and amateur Doug Sanders at Miami Beach, Fla., who won last week's Canadian Open. Both had 71s.

THE LEADERS: Frank Stranahan, 67; Ted Kroll, 68; Bill Casper, 68; Tommy Bolt, 69; Jimmy Demaret, 69; Fred Amos, 69; Bob Toakt, 69; Don Whit, 69; Gerry Kesinger, 69; Arnold Palmer, 69; Jack Fleck, 69; George Bigham, 69; Dick Turner, 69; Jules Hut, 69; Art Downing, 69; Doug Sanders, 69; Gene Littler, 69; Amateur, 69.

Bums Enjoy Big 4th Round To Defeat Newsies, 10-2

The Bums crowded nine runs across the plate in the fourth inning and went on to defeat the Newsies, 10-2, in a Junior Teen-Age baseball league game here Thursday night.

The Bums disposed of pitcher B. Evans in that round and continued to pummel-his reliever, Preston Myrick.

Erratic play afield cost the Newsies dearly in the fatal fourth. The Bums managed only six hits throughout the game. Andrews and Martinez had two each for the winners.

Mike Zubiate hurled two hit ball for the winners. He fanned 15 in the seven-inning contest.

The only hits he gave up were singles to L. Knight in the second and D. Morris in the third.

Crappie and bass have been uncooperative but catfish have been taking everything.

Jack Barr had the best catch of yellow cat. He hauled in 127 pounds in six days.

Dewitt Shive of Coahoma was tops on channel cat, taking from 10 to 12 per day, with each weighing up to four pounds.

The brim fishermen were having the times of their lives, too. The little gamesters were really biting.

The weather is improving and lake patrolman H. C. Reid said he expected to locate the crappie beds soon. He reasoned the hot weather has put them in deep water but they can't fast away.

Mrs. Moore Sawtelle, executive secretary of the Red Cross, said that a new class in water safety will be started at Big Spring municipal pool if sufficient interest is displayed and enough students enroll to make it worth the effort.

Altar Boys Hold Outing At Forsan

An outing for the altar boys of St. Thomas Catholic Church of Big Spring was held at Forsan. Father Jack Clarkson, acting pastor, accompanied the boys. The outing included swimming at the Forsan pool and supervised target shooting under the direction of Bernard Huchton. Russian Jews Losing Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian Jews, despite heroic efforts to preserve their faith, are "waging a losing battle against communism's fundamental hostility to religion," three American rabbis said on their return from the Soviet Union. A joint statement they issued on their arrival home yesterday said their experiences in the U.S.S.R. led them to "the melancholy conclusion that Judaism in Russia is seriously threatened with extinction." The statement added: "While the Soviet regime speaks of religious freedom and has, in fact, somewhat relaxed some of its repressive measures, its policies continue to restrict and strangle Jewish life. We were shocked to find that the major institutions of the Jewish religion and the vehicles of expression of Jewish culture had all but vanished, leaving a Judaism that is anemic and moribund." The three, Rabbi Emanuel Rackman, New York, president of the New York Board of Rabbis; Rabbi David I. Golovsky, New Rochelle, N.Y.; and Rabbi Dr. Morris N. Kertzer, Rockville Centre, N.Y., spent two weeks in Russia.

Birthdays Prove Bad Luck To Dad

DENVER (AP)—Two of the girls at the Kaiser home are having birthdays this Friday the 13th, but dad's the only one whose luck is bad. He's going to have to foot the bill when he takes his family out to dinner. Sharing the birthday will be Betty Lou Kaiser, who'll be 10, and Jeanne, who'll be 8. They're the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kaiser. A third Kaiser girl, Karen, 2, also was born on a Friday the 13th. Her month, however, is November.

STOP, YIELD SIGNS

CTC Approves 10 Recommendations
Ten recommendations of its engineering committee were adopted by the Citizens Traffic Commission last night, and the proposals will be submitted to the City Commission. CTC Chairman Larson Lloyd reported on traffic accidents in the month of June, listing a total of 58 including two that resulted in injuries and five hit-and-run collisions. He said twelve of the wrecks occurred on Fourth Street and eight on Gregg. A cash balance of $90.79 in the CTC treasury was reported. The organization accepted "with regret" the resignation of George Oldham, executive secretary. It was reported that three persons have applied for the position and that interviews for these will be scheduled in the next few days. Oldham's resignation, submitted last Saturday, is effective Aug. 1. Engineering committee recommendations approved for submission to the City Commission include: 1. Stop signs at Eighth and Scurry. 2. Stop signs at Seventh and Scurry. 3. Yield right-of-way sign on Eighteenth for Doney. 4. Yield sign on Fifth for Runnels. (The committee said a traffic signal may be needed there soon.) 5. Yield signs on Fourteenth for Virginia. 6. Yield signs on Fifth for Benton. 7. Yield signs on Eighteenth for Lancaster. 8. Yield sign on Dallas for Lancaster. 9. Yield sign on Dallas for Scurry. 10. Stop sign on Eleventh for Scurry.

Damages Suit May End Today

Rebuttal testimony by the plaintiff was being heard in 118th District Court Friday morning in the $266,918 damage action brought by Geneva Parrott against E. B. Cumble doing business as the B&C Tankers. Mrs. Parrott is asking damages from the defendant in connection with the traffic accident death of her husband, Harold Parrott, 46. Parrott was killed when his car crashed into the rear of a heavy truck on U. S. 80 on the night of May 24, 1955. It was possible the case might be concluded late Friday. The trial opened Thursday morning before Judge Charlie Sullivan and a jury.

No Legion Delegates For Howard Chosen

George Zachariah, commander of the American Legion Post of Big Spring, said that no decision on delegates to the Departmental Convention in Dallas Aug. 3 was reached at the meeting of the post Thursday night. It is likely that an official list of the legion members who will represent the post at Dallas will not be available until just a few days before the convention, the commander said.

Brunettes In Majority At Beauty Pageant

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Brunettes outnumber blondes by more than 2-1 among the contestants gathering for the Miss Universe beauty contest. Sharp-eyed observers, and this Navy base town is full of them, counted 40 brunettes, 17 blondes and 8 redheads among the entrants already on hand. A total of 74 girls will take part. Blondes can take comfort, however, in the fact that last year the two top titles, Miss Universe and Miss United States, went to fair-tressed beauties, and the year before blonde Miriam Stevenson of South Carolina won both titles. In fact, the only brunette to become Miss Universe in the four years the contest has been held was the French Martel of France in 1953. The final batch of beauties is due to arrive today but the first big event on the program won't be until Sunday when the Miss Universe parade will give the public its first chance to see all the contestants.

False Alarm

DENVER (AP)—"A man is trapped behind the elevator!" cried the unidentified telephone caller. Police patrol cars, a city ambulance, fire department rescue squads and building inspectors raced to a two-story downtown structure. But there was no one trapped behind, in or under the elevator. In fact, there was no elevator.

Jno. Lee Smith Here Tonight

John Lee Smith, candidate for lieutenant governor of Texas, is scheduled to be in Big Spring Friday night to attend a meeting of friends and supporters. He comes to Big Spring from Midland where he spoke at the Junior Chamber of Commerce at noon and from Odessa where he conferred with supporters.

Smith, whose home formerly was in Abilene is a former state senator from that district. He also served as lieutenant governor in 1942. He now resides in Lubbock.

Beekeeper Stung, Goes To Hospital

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP)—A China Grove beekeeper was hospitalized here after he was stung by a bee. Hospital attaches said James R. Nichols, 50, of Rt. 3, China Grove, received "a terrible reaction and a great deal of pain" when one bee stung him on the leg.

Nichols was removing honey from a hive when he was stung.

Transit Official Denies Charges

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—The president of the Valley Transit Co. testified yesterday that statements that employees worked 65 to 80 hours a week without overtime were untrue.

Vance Raymond said he never refused to talk to bus drivers about working conditions.

Some 39 drivers who filed the suit say they were fired for striking. They seek to be rehired.

Raymond said General Manager R. E. Foyles told him none of the drivers belonged to the union or had applied for membership during July 1955.

On Oct. 12, Raymond testified, he heard a strike vote was being taken. He never heard the outcome of the vote, he said.

He said he and Foyles heard in McAllen that a union meeting of employees was to be held about 1 a.m. Oct. 20.

He said they told three supervisors to protect the bus runs. The next morning he received a letter from the union saying the drivers would strike in sympathy for the discharge of two union members. The letter asked recognition of the union.

Coin-Flipping Conspiracy Denied

DENVER (AP)—The president of the Denver Union Stockyards denied today that a practice of flipping a coin during bidding on livestock "was in any way a conspiracy to control prices."

L. M. Pexton said the system had been abandoned and a new program of bidding established.

His comments followed a report from Washington that the Agriculture Department may take formal action soon in a case in which 22 livestock dealer firms are accused of controlling bids on cattle at Denver by a flip of a coin.

The department said the dealers—by determining the order in which they were to look at bid and have the opportunity to buy cattle—curtailed competitive bidding.

The charges were filed June 19 under the Packers and Stockyards Act. Those violating the act may be denied trading privileges for specified periods.

Kiwanians Will Sponsor Harmony Show Sept. 15th

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will again sponsor the "Roundup of Harmony" show, presented by the members of the Barber Shop Quartet association of Big Spring.

Date for the third annual presentation of the show is Sept. 15 and the place will be the city auditorium.

Jack Wise, president of the local barbershop organization, told the club Thursday of the past history of the show and how its success has developed each year since the initial production.

This year's show, he said, will be the biggest and most colorful of all. Famous quartets—all members of the SPEBSQSA, a national organization—are being brought to Big Spring for appearance on the program.

LeRoy Olsak is Kiwanis chairman for the part that club is to play in the presentation. Much of Thursday's meeting was devoted to a discussion of the work to be done in preparation for the show and in assignment of specific duties to various Kiwanians.

First portion of Thursday's program was an address by Bruce Frazier, professor of agriculture

Delay Urged In Rice Destruction

BEAUMONT (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson was urged by Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont yesterday to authorize a delay in destroying rice acreage overplanted by farmers.

Brooks said farmers who have overplanted their rice acreage are receiving notice to plow it up.

The congressman said the rice could be destroyed just before harvest so that the matured rice grains on the ground could be used by wild ducks, geese, doves and quail as feed.

While his request is specifically for Jefferson, Orange and Hardin counties, Brooks said rice farmers in other states may be interested in appealing for a delay for the same reasons.

Uncle Ray: For Numerous Stars Numbers Are Used

By RAMON COPFMAN Here is another question about astronomy:

"Why do stars have special names?"

A vast number are identified by star catalogs only by numbers, but some bright stars have names like Altair or Sirius. Many groups of stars were named by the ancient Greeks and Romans. English translations of such names are employed widely today.

One star group, for example, is called "Ursa Major." That is a Latin name, but it goes back to a Greek myth! The stars in Ursa Major also go under the name of Big Bear.

The main planets in our solar system have the names of seven ancient gods and two goddesses. The goddess Earth and the Goddess Venus gave their names to two planets which are almost the same size. All the other main planets were named in honor of gods, ranging from Mercury to Pluto.

One of the small objects known as asteroids is called Ceres, in honor of the Roman goddess of growing plants. A few others also have names, but the majority are without them. If anyone tried to name all the asteroids after Roman or Greek deities, he would run out of names long before he could cover one fourth of these objects.

The bright star Sirius was named by the ancient Greeks. The original meaning of the name seems to have been "scorching." We may figure that the name was applied because Sirius rose in the evening sky, each year, during hot sum-

The Arabs played a part in naming some of the stars. Altair, for example, carried an Arabic name which means "The Bird."

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 13, 1956

SECURITY STATE BANK EDITION

Third Bank Opens In City Saturday

A banking plant, the newest in this area and designed primarily with comfort and convenience of the customer in mind, will open formally here Saturday at 10 a.m. It is the Security State, the third bank for Big Spring.

State officials and a host of bankers from over a wide area of West Texas are expected to join with hundreds of people in the Big Spring territory in inspecting the facilities until 8 p.m. Saturday.

While the bank is not exactly giving dollar bills as souvenirs, it is making several gifts of comparable quality throughout the day. Every hour, two $25 United States Savings Bonds will be given away to visitors at the bank. Of course, the person receiving the gift does not have to be present at the time of the award.

Delayed in the early stages of construction, the bank building has been rushed to completion during the past week. Still short some materials a week ago, officials and builders somehow managed to obtain the absolute essentials. Work proceeded at a terrific pace all week in order to meet the opening date schedule.

The plant is located at 15th and Gregg and is designed for both drive-in and conventional business. The block between Gregg and Scurry on 15th is being paved. Those using drive-in facilities will enter from the 15th Street side, will drive next to the north side of the building to the window indicated by signs which will show which window is not busy. Then they will emerge back into Gregg Street traffic.

Inside there is a lobby in the center of the building with counters, into which will roll portable tellers' cages, on the north portion of the business area. The offices are on the south side of the building, including one for the officers and other which will serve as the conference room.

Bookkeeping and other fiscal and mechanical operations will be in the full basement area. The big vault with its massive door is in that part of the building along with the lounges, the restrooms, air conditioning, etc.

Application for a charter for the Security State Bank was announced on July 16, 1955. Listed as incorporators were R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder oil man and capitalist; G. W. Dabney, mayor of Big Spring; Ted O. Groebel and K. H. McGibbon, oil distributors; V. A. Whittington, assistant secretary-treasurer of Cosden; and Larson Lloyd, then a vice president at the First National.

Capital stock of $100,000 was announced as fully subscribed. The incorporators also announced plans for $100,000 surplus and for $50,000 undivided profits, to provide for a $250,000 capitalization. Later the bank's application for DIC (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation) membership was approved and the bank moved to become a member of the Federal Reserve System.

C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder, is chairman of the board, and officers are G. W. Dabney, president; Larson Lloyd, executive vice president; Ted O. Groebel, K. H. McGibbon, and V. A. Whittington, other members of the board.

New Bank Functional And Modern, To Be On City Scene A Long Time

Big Spring's newest bank building is designed for functionalism. At the same time, it's one of the most modern-appearing structures in the city. And its architect and engineer claim that construction is such that it will be around for a long time.

The facility at Fifteenth and Gregg is made entirely of steel, concrete and masonry, if you don't count the big areas of glass surrounding the main floor. It's expected to require little maintenance to keep it looking nice and in good condition for half a century or longer.

Architect and engineer for the firm was Benson, Thompson & Nash of Big Spring. The contractor was a companion firm, Big Spring Building and Lumber Company. The two worked closely, in raising the building from the basement floor up in just five months. Construction was well along before the architect had finished his work.

The basement, which occupies all of the space beneath the building, is floored and walled concrete reinforced with steel. The main floor, which serves as the ceiling of the basement, also is of concrete.

Above that rises a steel frame, supporting steel roof trusses and gravel roof. The exterior walls are of red brick on three sides, with plaster on the fourth segment.

The architect used glass liberally in designing the structure. Long, high windows extend the breadth of the south side of the building, pouring light into the offices and conference room which occupy that side of the building.

Entrances, almost identical on the east and west sides, feature glass doors beside and above which are other broad expanses of glass.

The steel roof trusses extend well beyond the edges of the building on the north and south sides, supporting internally braced and guyed roof extensions as wide as you'll find almost anywhere.

The cantilevered roof sections reach eight feet beyond the north and south outside walls, protecting the big windows on the south and providing shelter above the drive-in teller windows on the north. Functionalism the architect had in mind is evident inside the bank, as well as on the outside. You'll hardly find a square inch of wasted space.

Flanking the central lobby are officers quarters and a conference area on the south side of the building, and the teller desk, with four windows, along the north. Back of the inside tellers are the two booths from which the drive-in tellers work.

The six cages surround the necessary file of records which will be kept on the main floor during banking hours. And in the midst of the array is the entrance to the service elevator which will transport teller stands, records, etc., downstairs to the big vault at the close of each day's business.

Central heating and air conditioning equipment are installed in utility rooms, one above the other, in the basement and main floor sections of the building.

Parking spaces will surround the bank, except on the north side where the bank's private driveway provides access to the drive-in windows. Approximately 10,000 square feet of the bank's property is devoted to parking facilities for its customers.

Larson Lloyd, executive vice president, pointed out that the new bank is unique in that its entire bookkeeping department is housed in the basement. Such an arrangement enabled the architect to make maximum use of all available floor space on both the basement and business levels.

The Security State Bank has 2,300 square feet of usable floor space on the street level and 1,900 square feet in the basement.

Aluminum was used for window and door frames, setting off the larger glass areas and forming another feature of the building that will require practically no maintenance.

Floors are covered with a rubber-plastic tile, which will be easily maintained.

Lighting in the banking institution is of the recessed type. Both fluorescent and incandescent lamps are used above the main floor.

Entrance alcoves, with double sets of doors, will assure an even temperature within the bank, summer or winter.

The night depository is situated next to Gregg Street in the west wall of the building. The bank's mailbox is adjacent to the depository.

Assistant VP Has Wide Experience

Bertil E. Anderson, assistant vice president of the Security State Bank, brings to his new position experience in the banking field and as a bank examiner. In fact, he resigned his position with the U. S. Comptroller of Currency on June 15 to take his new assignment here with Security State.

This section is not new to Anderson, for he was born in Austin and reared in Brady and at Melvin, where he completed high school in 1939. He then went to Durham Business College in Austin and studied before joining Swift & Company as an accountant for one and a half years at Austin and at Muskogee, Okla. At this point Uncle Sam took an option on his services for the next three and a half years in the signal corps of the Army Air Force. Two years of that time were spent in the European theatre.

After separation from service in January of 1946 he was self-employed for a time before entering the banking field with the Brady National Bank in 1950. Anderson gained experience in all departments of the bank's operation before he accepted an appointment by the comptroller of currency in November of 1953. His duties as assistant national bank examiner led to stations in Dallas and Abilene.

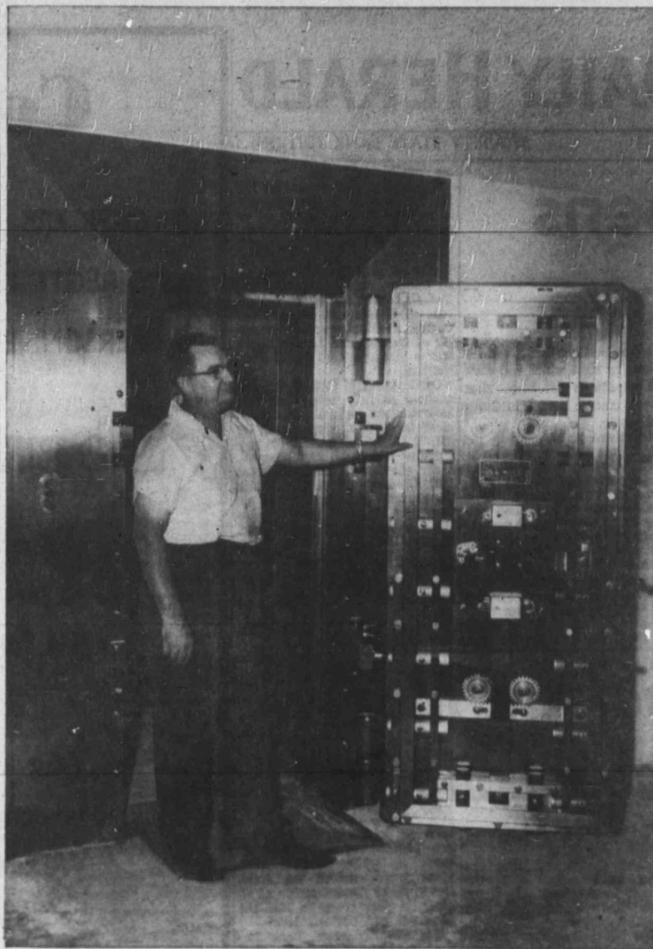

He was married in 1948 to Ozela Cross in Dallas and they have one son, Clinton, 5. The family home is at 1506 Sunset. Anderson is a Mason, a former Jaycee member and is a Methodist. His mother, Mrs. Gerda V. Anderson, resides at Brady.

WORKERS TRAPPED IN VAULT

Workers at the Security State Bank can be grateful for one thing — they were testing the grill and not the vault door.

Having installed the vault door, they then put on the grill work which closes behind the door. This done, they snapped it shut while workers on the outside inserted keys to release the grill.

Then something went wrong. For some reason, the keys wouldn't work. The humor of the situation faded as they had to dismantle the grill in order to get out of the vault. At any rate they are among those who think that it is easier to get into a bank vault than out of it.

A Good Place To Prop

The vault door in the new Security State Bank is big enough to hold nearly any load. Protecting the bank's cash and other valuables, the door weighs more than three tons. Chester Cathey, cashier, poses beside the huge vault front.

Dabney Back In Old Field, Is Now President Of Bank

A man who has served Big Spring as its mayor for the past decade is now entering upon an additional experience which is not wholly new. He is to be president of the new Security State Bank. Forty-four years ago he worked in a bank.

This individual, of course, is George W. Dabney.

He has taken the same close pride in the progress of the new structure to house the new institution that he has taken in attending to his duties as a member of the city commission since 1945 and as mayor since 1946.

Duties as president of the bank won't interfere with his regular work as ticket agent here for the Texas & Pacific Railway Company. Actual direction of the bank is vested in Larson Lloyd, who resigned from the First National staff after 30 years of experience to accept the executive vice presidency.

Mr. Dabney was born in Trenton, Tenn., on Nov. 20, 1887, and after odd jobs he made a connection as a mill hand and subsequently as a telegrapher with the L. & M. at Mt. Pleasant, Tenn. This brought him to Denison, then to the Indian Territory and finally to the T&P at Monahans.

Two years later, in 1909, he was married to Miss Willie Chesney and they have seven children.

When Toyah, where they lived, incorporated in 1910 he was named alderman and secretary, serving until 1916. He joined a bank in Toyah in 1912 and worked there until 1914 when it consolidated. In 1920 he rejoined the T&P. He held the distinction of being mayor of Toyah and also president of the school board back in 1927-30.

An early riser, he gets out of bed around 3:45 a.m. and is at work by 4:30 a.m. At 12:30 p.m. his day's work is over — with the railroad, that is. But it is just starting for the city, and now he'll have to make some room on his busy schedule for the bank.

Vault Door Carries Weight In New Bank

There may be some personalities around the Security State Bank which carry some weight, but none so much as the vault door.

This massive, tempered steel affair, weighs in excess of 6,000 pounds, although it swings easily and freely now that it is hinged in place. Getting past it, with all its thickness, toughness and time mechanisms, would require an act of Congress and some super-human effort. Even if an intruder were able to accomplish this, he wouldn't necessarily find the gates of happiness opened. For there would still remain the heavy grill, and then the money safe. This is a spherical affair weighing about 4,000 pounds and made out of case hardened steel.

... The President

Entrances Look Alike

It's hard to tell which is the front of the new bank at Fifteenth and Gregg.

The institution has almost identical entrances on the east and west sides. The west, or Gregg Street entrance, opens on the sidewalk in front of an off-street parking strip. The east doors face the bank's big parking lot.

Both entrances channel the customers into the heart of the bank, giving them easy access to either the teller counter or the officers' desks.

The entrance ways are through small alcoves with double sets of doors, protecting the interior of the bank from the hot or cold outside atmosphere.

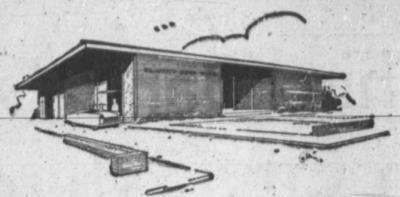

Voice, Air Tubes Built Into Vault At Security State

There's no danger of anyone suffocating in the vault of the new Security State Bank, which opens Saturday.

The vault is equipped with a valve and air outlet at the side of its great steel door. A turn of the valve and a stream of fresh air pours into the interior.

Another handy piece of equipment is the speaking tube, also attached beside the door. The tube will enable anyone inside the vault to converse with persons on the outside — even without raising his voice.

HE ACCEPTED

Position In New Bank Gave Lloyd Opportunity For Service

Larson Lloyd didn't hesitate a minute to accept the executive vice presidency of the new Security State Bank.

Not only did offer of the position present an opportunity for advancement, it afforded what Lloyd considered a chance to be of further service in the development of Big Spring and the entire area.

Several months ago Raymond L. Tollett and C. T. McLaughlin walked up to Lloyd's desk in the First National Bank.

The Big Spring and Snyder oil men outlined their plans for organizing a state bank in Big Spring.

"We want you to be executive vice president," Tollett said. "I accept," Lloyd promptly replied.

Tollett, McLaughlin and other organizers chose a man well seasoned in the banking business to become the chief operating officer of the new institution.

Lloyd has more than 28 years of experience in the field. All of his service was with the First National Bank in Big Spring. He was a vice president with the "First" when he resigned June 15 to start getting ready for the opening of the new bank.

During his 28 years with his former employer, Lloyd was "everything but president and janitor," as he put it.

Lloyd was born on July 2, 1907, at Baird. He came to Big Spring when he was five years of age with his parents, the late R. E. Lloyd, a T&P locomotive engineer, and Mrs. Lloyd, who now resides at 1406 Rummels.

Larson graduated from Big Spring High School in 1925 and went to work with the Gulf Refining Company, holding that job until he joined the bank staff in 1928. He was married in September, 1927, to Imogene Price. They have one daughter, Mrs. Ray Adams of Big Spring, and a granddaughter, Pamela Anne, eight months.

LARSON LLOYD
... Chief Executive

He has been increasingly active in Big Spring civic affairs and is immediate past president of the Downtown Lions Club, president of the West Texas Area Girl Scout Council, director of the Chamber of Commerce, treasurer for the United Fund and a member of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation.

He is chairman of the Howard County Citizens Traffic Commission, a Master Mason, Shriner, and is active in the First Baptist Church and other organizations. In connection with his banking work, Lloyd has engaged in cost analysis and appraisal work for the Veterans Administration.

Lloyd's association with the First National Bank began on Feb. 1, 1928, when as a youth — not quite 21 — he joined the staff as a bookkeeper.

With the exception of 35 months spent with the Signal Corps during World War II, Lloyd has been with the bank since he started in 1928. He worked up from bookkeeper to teller, became loan officer and, in 1952, was elevated to a vice presidency. At the new bank, his executive post will make him the institution's chief operating officer.

Lloyd's hobby — electronics — got him into the Signal Corps during the war. He had dabbled in radio since 1923, and when the war started he was promptly enlisted as a civilian technician. He served at Kelly Field, San Antonio, and then became chief of the Big Spring Bombardier School.

He has had little time to dabble in his hobby in recent years, especially since he plunged into the task of getting the Security State Bank ready for its formal opening.

Lloyd has recruited a staff and supervised the completion of other arrangements for the opening. Directing the new institution with the chief executive will be a board of successful businessmen.

McLaughlin will serve as chairman of the board and G. W. Dabney will be president. Other directors are K. H. McGibbon, Ted O. Groehl and V. A. Whittington. Chester Cathey, a former Big Spring who has worked in Midland, has returned to become cashier. Bertel Anderson, formerly a bank examiner, will be assistant vice president.

The new bank is unique, Lloyd said, in that its vault and bookkeeping department will be housed in the basement. It will have two drive-in windows, accessible from Fifteenth Street, and four inside teller cages.

Chester Cathey No Stranger To Big Spring Or To Banking

No stranger to banking or Big Spring is Chester C. Cathey, cashier of the Security State Bank, which opens formally here Saturday.

He has been in banking for 20 years and most of it in Big Spring, although he comes to his present post from Midland.

Cathey was born in Shreveport, La., but was reared in San Angelo where he completed his high school work. He had experience in various businesses and worked for a time in a state bank before coming to Big Spring in 1936 to go to work for the State National Bank as a bookkeeper. Subsequently he became a teller and ultimately an assistant cashier.

His tenure with the State National lasted until 1952, except for 4½ years in the medical of the U.S.

Army. Three and a half years of that time were spent overseas in the Pacific Theatre. In 1945 he returned to Big Spring and his duties at the bank.

He accepted a position with the First National Bank in Midland in October of 1952 as assistant cashier and held that position until he was appointed cashier of the new bank.

Before leaving Big Spring, Cathey was a member and director of the Big Spring Lions Club and at Midland he was a member of the Downtown Lions Club. He also was a chairman of the Finance committee of the Symphony and Chorus Association.

Before going to Midland he had started a tenure as secretary-treasurer of the Community Chest. He was a member of the First Christian Church here and at Midland.

Cathey is a 32nd degree Scottish Rite-Mason and is in the Dallas consistory. He also is a member of the Midland Shrine Club and of the Sbez Shrine Temple, of the American Legion and the American Institute of Bankers.

In 1949 he was wed in Big Spring to the former Miss Elizabeth Edwards.

All-Steel Furniture Used In Bookkeeping Department

All steel furniture will dominate the bookkeeping department of the new Security State Bank on Gregg. Desks, tables, chairs, filing cabinets, stands for the basic machines needed for the operation of a modern bank are sturdily constructed of steel.

New equipment in general is provided for the bank. Included are Burroughs posting machines, typewriters, adding machines, change counters and Addressograph equipment.

Filing cabinets to serve in handling transactions of the bank are located at the most convenient places in the bookkeeping department to facilitate efficiency in the department.

A small elevator connecting the bookkeeping department with the business office on the main floor will convey the files which are needed during the business hours of the day to the tellers. At night, they can be readily removed to the vault in the basement.

Progress is part of the Plan

The new Security State Bank is a shining example of modern man's progress in erecting things of stone and steel.

Classically simple in architecture and design, the building reflects the best contemporary planning.

But it is more than stone and steel.

The new Security State Bank is another milestone in Big Spring's progress. It is the outward expression of faith in the future.

And in its deepest meaning, this new bank is a public servant ready at all times to join in the give and take of present-day enterprise.

Cosden takes special note of such progress believing that in cities as well as business undertakings . . .

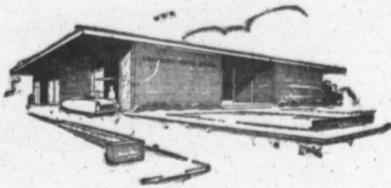

Progress is Part of the Plan.

Bank Furnishings Are 'Tailor Made'

Furnishings for the Security State Bank have been "tailor made" for the institution's needs. Each piece of furniture has been designed to harmonize with the basic plan of the bank's interior. Fittings which separate the employees and their work from the customers are designed to offer both an attractive appearance and at the same time serve efficiently as a piece of office equipment. All furnishings on the main floor are finished in the same walnut coloring which is used in the paneling.

In addition to their attractive design each piece of furniture is carefully fitted to the particular use it is to serve.

Desks for the officers of the bank are in the same wood as the paneling and also blend into the general scheme followed in the entire building.

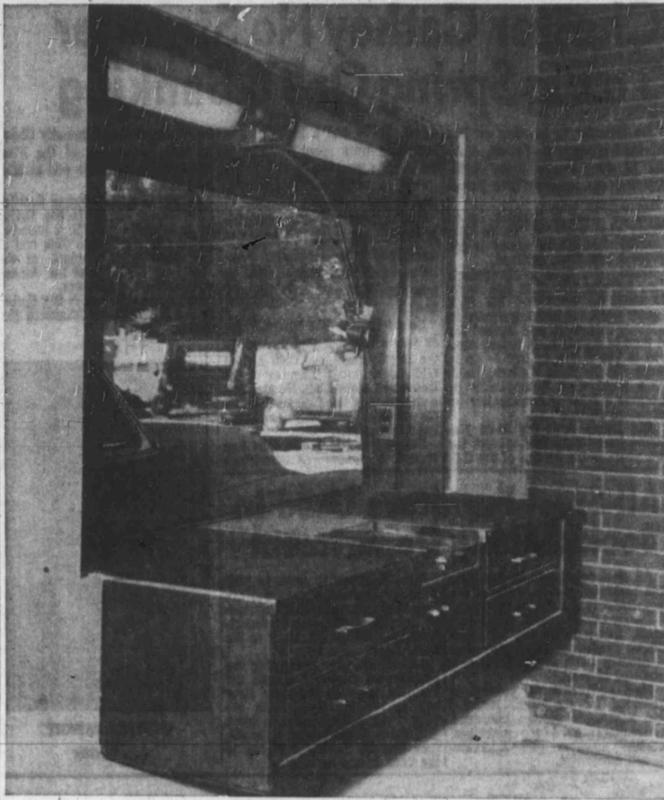

Tiling employed on the floors harmonizes with the furniture. The overall effect is one of modernity combined with beauty. Care has been exercised to keep the furniture free of becoming solely utilitarian in appearance although each piece is designed for maximum usefulness.

210 Safe Deposit Boxes Available

There won't be any premium on safety deposit boxes at Big Spring's newest bank.

The Security State has 210 safety deposit boxes available for its customers. They come in several sizes.

Contents of the boxes not only are protected by individual locks. All are stationed within the massive vault in the basement of the bank.

Drive-In Teller's Desk

Two teller windows like the one above will serve drive-in customers of the new Security State Bank. The windows are on the north side of the building, facing a driveway that enters the bank property from Fifteenth Street. Glass in the windows is a half-inch thick. It is shatterproof. Intercommunications equipment connects the inside with the outside, and transactions are made through a tray the teller can slide out to the customer's car.

McLaughlin Has Many Interests

C. T. McLaughlin, who is chairman of the board for the new Security State Bank, is a man of widespread interests and activities.

Born in Pennsylvania, McLaughlin has out-Texaned the Texans. He and Mrs. McLaughlin live on their Diamond M Ranch in Scurry County, where they settled in 1935, and he carries on his far-flung business and other activities largely from there.

Finishing high school at Shippenville, Pa., he entered service in an air squadron in World War I and became a sergeant-major. After the war he came to Texas and entered the oil business.

He is a director in the Citizens National Bank in Lubbock, of the Continental National Bank in Fort Worth; of the Commercial Standard Life Insurance Company of Fort Worth; the Harvest Queen Milling Company in Plainview; a director and member of the executive committee of the Isthmus Development Company of Amarillo, and is connected in official capacities with a number of other business ventures.

C. T. McLAUGHLIN
... Board Chairman

He has been a director of Texas Tech, of the Midcontinent Oil & Gas Association; is director and vice president of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association and of the Texas Independent Petroleum and Royalty Owners Association; and is chairman of the Texas Tech College Foundation.

He has been a member of the Texas Democratic executive committee since 1951; has been a Mason and Shriner since 1920; holds memberships in the Fort Worth, Dallas, and Austin Clubs and in petroleum clubs at Midland and Abilene.

In July of 1951 he resigned as a director in the First National Bank in Big Spring, being succeeded by an only son, Mark. For many years, however, McLaughlin has been interested in the affairs of Big Spring and surrounding area and took a leading role in organization of the new bank.

Institution, Luxurious, Yet Retains Air Of Efficiency

Somehow you expect the interior of a bank to look both expensively luxurious and yet retain an air of business-like efficiency. Security State Bank, Big Spring's newest banking establishment which opens its doors this weekend in its new building on Gregg, accomplishes this effect admirably.

The building lends itself to the goal sought. Modern in design, it is readily adaptable to the decoration scheme carried out inside.

Most of the interior walls are covered with walnut paneling. The dark finish of the wood offers a subdued and restful atmosphere. All furnishings are in harmony with the basic wall coverings. The walnut finish dominates all desks, counters and fittings throughout the bank.

Matching the furniture is the tiling which covers the floor.

Part of the inside walls is left with the brick exposed. The dull red of this material, the subdued tints of the woodwork, and furniture and the cool, clean colors of the tiling produce a general sense of harmony.

THE VAULT IS SOLID, MAN

If anyone ever cracks the vault of the new Security State Bank, he has some digging and cutting to do.

Let's assume that someone will attempt to gain access to interior of the vault by cutting through its steel and concrete sides. They're more vulnerable than the vault's massive steel door.

Here's what the vault breaker would have to penetrate: Eighteen inches of solid concrete.

Several steel bars, each three-quarters of an inch in diameter.

The 18 inches of concrete are poured around a double layer of the reinforcing steel. The bars run both horizontally, near both the inside and outside surfaces of the vault walls. They're just 12 inches apart.

Mrs. McDaniel Is Chief Bookkeeper At New City Bank

Mrs. Onita McDaniel, who is to be the head bookkeeper at the Security State Bank, has six years of experience in her particular type of work.

Born and reared here as Onita Chapman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Chapman, she was graduated from Big Spring High School in 1939. She worked for the late Dr. George Wilke and in other establishments until she joined the staff of the First National Bank six years ago.

She was married Jan. 19, 1952 to Willie T. McDaniel, and they have a daughter, Temple, who is six months old. Their home is at 1507 Chickasaw and they are members of the Methodist Church.

Latest In Modern Bank Equipment

Mrs. Jane Eubanks, who is a secretary on the Security State Bank staff, is shown pushing one of the especially designed individual teller's safe-filing cabinets to be used in the new banking establishment. Each of the bank's four tellers has a safe like this and the equipment fits into an area underneath the bank counter. At the close of business each day, the safe is locked and lowered by elevator to the main vault in the bank in the basement. Each morning it is returned to its place on the main floor.

ROLL-AWAY STANDS Tellers To Have Modern Equipment

One of the most modern pieces of banking equipment is being featured in the new Security State Bank. This piece of equipment is a portable teller's safe which fits neatly underneath the desk of each teller. Built of steel, the safe is rigged with rubber-tired wheels. It contains, in addition to a safe on which is set a combination lock, drawers for records and notes. At the close of each day's business the teller is enabled to deposit all records and other material of importance in the compact container. It is then rolled to a small elevator and lowered to the basement. From there it is placed in the main vault of the bank. At each day's beginning, the safes are removed from the vault, lifted to the main floor by elevator and installed in their places under each teller's station. Security State will have four tellers. Hence there are four of these new safe combinations.

Engineering, Construction Are Closely Coordinated

Probably on no other job was design, engineering and actual construction more coordinated than on the work involved in erection of the Security State Bank.

BARBARA TELFORD
... A Busy Day

Saturday To Be Red Letter Day

Barbara Telford is secretary to Larson Lloyd, executive vice president, at the Security State Bank. Born in Big Spring, she was reared in Fort Worth, having graduated from Poly High School in June of 1956. Actually, she completed her work at mid-term but did not receive her diploma until the end of the school year. Meantime she came to Big Spring to go to work for the First National Bank as a bookkeeper. She is a member of the West Side Baptist Church. Saturday is due to be a red letter day for Barbara, not alone because it is the opening date for the Security State Bank, but because it is due to be her wedding day. Her wedding day, provided her fiancé, H. C. Barnard, is discharged from the hospital where he has been under treatment. They are supposed to be married Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Telford at 3509 Childress, Fort Worth.

Frank Robinson Is Custodian

Taking care of the property of the Security State Bank will be Frank Robinson, who has been working in various establishments here for nearly a quarter of a century. More recently he has been a custodian at the First National Bank. Frank was born in 1900 on June 19 near Garland in Dallas County. He enlisted in the Navy and later returned to Dallas. After working a number of years for a drug firm, he came to Big Spring in 1932. The following January he went to work for Dr. G. T. Hall and was with him for 15 and a half years. He was employed in other establishments, among them the Malone & Hogan Hospital Clinic until he went to work for the bank.

Williams Installs Air Conditioners

Refrigerative air conditioning equipment of 15 tons capacity keeps summer temperatures comfortable in the Security State Bank. The equipment was installed by Williams Sheet Metal Works of Big Spring. A 10-ton unit cools the upstairs and there's a five-ton piece of equipment in the basement.

Bank Designed To Look Good Many Years

The Security State Bank is designed to last for years and years without looking run-down or ragged. It is expected to require little in the way of maintenance. Brick exterior walls, plus large areas of glass will require no attention. Aluminum frames around the windows and doors also will last indefinitely. The roof is a built-up type with gravel covering, installed on a steel deck above steel beams. It'll be years before it requires any attention, barring some kind of catastrophe. Concrete floors and wall sections, and a steel frame also add to durability of the structure.

Three Types Of Lighting Used

Both fluorescent and incandescent lighting are used to illuminate the interior of Big Spring's first state bank. Natural lighting also is taken advantage of on the main floor.

Security State To Handle FHA Loans

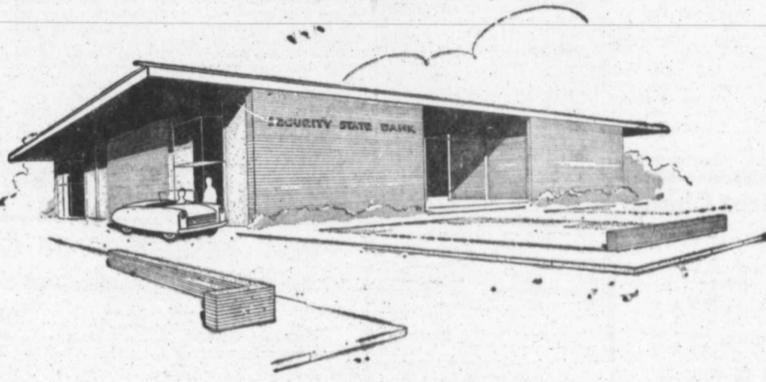

The Security State Bank of Big Spring has been approved to make FHA property improvement loans to homeowners, according to Larson Lloyd, executive vice president. The approval was contained in a letter received by Lloyd from Cyrus B. Sweet, assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration. The authorization granted under the National Housing Act permits the bank to offer its customers an attractive low-cost, long-term home improvement plan. Loans are available to all homeowners for remodeling, alterations and repairs under this widely-used FHA low cost budget plan and are repayable in monthly installments. The money loaned for home improvement under this program is from funds of the local institution. Any individual, contractor or material supply dealer who wishes to participate in the program is invited to make application to qualify at the office of the institution. "I am pleased to announce to all residents of Howard County that we are ready and anxious to serve them," Lloyd declared. "The benefits of this program have been proven over the years. More than 19,000,000 families have obtained FHA loans to improve their properties. "Home owners can borrow up to $2,500 for periods ranging up to three years. All types of home improvements, such as remodeling, painting and decorating, insulating, plumbing and heating, wiring, cement work, etc., which add life and value to the property, are eligible for FHA loans. "We urge our customers to deal only with reputable, established contractors or building supply dealers," Lloyd continued. "A telephone call to the Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau can quickly establish the reliability of the contractor." Acoustic Qualities A system for combining plaster work with the installation of acoustic qualities was employed in construction of the Security State Bank.

Thick Glass Closes Front Of Teller Cage

A half-inch plate of shatter-proof glass separates the inside teller and the outside customer at the drive-in windows of the new Security State Bank. Communications between the inside and outside is by means of a speaker system. The customer will never touch the hands of the teller in making his deposit or withdrawal, either. A clever, sliding-tray system

Mrs. Willard Is Proof Dept. Chief

Mrs. Aleyne Lewis Willard is to be head of the proof department for the Security State Bank. She is a native of Natchez, Miss., and following her graduation there, she attended business college in Jackson, Miss. In June of 1955 she was married to A. C. W. H. Willard and they moved here to make their home at 109 E. 18th. They are members of the Methodist Church.

CLYDE NICHOLS
 Minister

Jesus Is the Saviour of Men

SUPERIOR TO MOSES, JOSHUA AND AARON, HE IS OUR GREAT HIGH PRIEST

Scripture—John 4:39-42; Hebrews 2:9-5:14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
 THE SAMARITANS of Jesus' time were what we would call now a "minority group." They were a mixture of races of the Near East with Jews, and were hated by the Hebrews. No Jew would go through Samaria unless he was obliged to.

From previous lessons Jesus' talk with the woman of Samaria at the well where He had asked for a drink of water will be remembered. The woman had not been virtuous, but her talk with Jesus changed her, and she became a zealous missionary for Him among her people.

Telling the Samaritans about her meeting with Jesus and quoting His words to her, she so interested her people that they begged Christ to stay with them but resisted temptation and was without sin, but through the experience He can understand our temptations and His example should give us strength to overcome them.

There were many strong, fine men in the saga of the Jewish people. There was Moses who led his people out of Egypt to the land God promised them, after much opposition from the rulers of Egypt. He, too, obeyed God and tried to keep his people true to His worship. Yet Jesus was far greater than Moses.

There was Joshua, the great warrior, and the conqueror of Israel's enemies in Palestine. He brought Israel across the Jordan and led them in the settlement of the land. There was Aaron, the great high priest, but Jesus was superior to him, also.

"Seeing, then, that we have a great high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need."

When Christ was on earth He "offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears unto Him that was able to save Him from death. . . . Though He were a Son, yet learned He obedience by the things which He suffered."

If Christ could pray for help and strength when He was on earth, surely we can turn to Him and His father for help in our struggles to be like Him and to bear our temptations and sufferings.

The happiest homes on earth are those that are blessed with children. Children impart a warmth and an atmosphere of living to a home that lends enchantment to even the humblest dwelling.

The happiest people on earth are those parents who lavish their affections upon their children and endeavor to rear them in such manner that they will become happy and useful members of society.

Parenthood carries with it serious responsibilities which no parent can afford to shirk or ignore. Child delinquency springs mainly from parental neglect and the lack of proper home training.

The first duty of a parent is to instill in his child's mind the principles of right living and the spiritual background of human life. He must teach the child how to apply these principles in his daily life.

The Church stands ready to counsel and guide parents in meeting the grave responsibilities of child training.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship, strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Bible Thought For Today

And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive. (St. Matthew 21:22)

Editorial

How Mean Can You Get?

To have an infant kidnaped from his cradle and held for ransom is just about the worst tragedy that can happen to any parent. It is a crime so vile that most states make it a capital offense, and in some circumstances it becomes a capital offense under federal law.

Vile as that crime is, what is one to say about the revolting spectacle of assorted publicity-grabbers and would-be profiteers on the original crime who harass the parents with anonymous telephone calls pretending to have information they do not have, and even claiming to have the baby in their possession ready to surrender for blood money.

The parents of the kidnaped Weinberger infant at Westbury, N. Y., received 17 anonymous telephone calls in the space of a few hours this week from cranks and pranksters pretending to have "inside information" or to be holding the baby for ransom.

It is not surprising that in a world holding some 200 million more than two billion people there should be a few cattle like these alive among them, but it is impossible for any person with a normal mind and humanitarian instincts to imagine what moves them to interfere in a case of this kind. Perhaps they get pleasure out of making the parents suffer more. Perhaps they are crazy for publicity even if it has to be anonymous. Perhaps they are just plain crazy.

The Saturday Evening Post this week publishes a number of letters from its readers commenting on a recent article in which the mother of a kidnaped child told how it feels to be so victimized. Her child had been removed from its baby carriage in front of a super-market, and many of the letters were from women who assert the custom of leaving infants unprotected while shopping is more widespread than most people imagine.

A lot of things besides kidnaping can happen to infants left unprotected in cars and baby carriages, even for two or three minutes.

Nothing much can be done about capturing and punishing the evil persons who but into the sanctity of the home with anonymous telephone calls designated to intensify the agony already present there, unfortunately.

No Surprise In The Expected

The only thing surprising about President Eisenhower's announcement that he was still in the ring and running was the manner in which the "news" broke. It came not from Mr. Eisenhower himself, as might have been expected, but from the leader of the Republican Senate minority, Sen. Bill Knowland of California. Any notion that the senator didn't know what he was talking about was removed by the smiling presence of Jim Magerty, the White House press chief, by his side.

As for the President's health, Knowland went on, reporting on a conference of GOP leaders with the President just concluded, Mr. Eisenhower said he was in better shape than he was when he announced for a second term last February.

"He and we are looking forward to a vigorous and active campaign under his leadership," Knowland declared.

It has been apparent to almost everyone that there would be no change in the Republican 1956 line-up of Eisenhower and Nixon. Opinion polls reflected a widespread public belief that the President would continue the race, and indeed it would be hard to imagine a Republican party, with hardly more than a month to go to the San Francisco convention, doing anything else than counting on their leader to see them through. They had no one else to turn to, nowhere else to go, no other hope.

However much he may differ with some leaders of his party over specifics and goals, Mr. Eisenhower has demonstrated his loyalty to the Republican Party all the way through, and has dominated its policies to such an extent that no single rival worthy of his mettle remains in sight.

To all intents and purposes, Ike is Mr. GOP in 1956, and the leadership at least is happy to have it that way.

Some of the leaders may be so happy that they may forget the election isn't quite in the bag as yet. They speak of a "hard, vigorous" campaign, but a few more looks at those polls showing Ike ahead by 62 or 64 per cent may make them forget the great debacle of 1948. It's like a football team being rated six or seven touchdowns better than its weekend rival.

Coming Up Fast - Or Is It?

(Fifth in a series - Ed.)

So proud are Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev and Premier Nicolai A. Bulganin of the Soviet Union Agricultural and Industrial Exposition on the road to Yaroslavl outside Moscow, that they whisked Marshal Tito to a private viewing the day after he arrived in Moscow.

It's on a World's Fair scale. Individual buildings, reflecting native spirit and architecture, house the products of each of the 16 republics which make up the U. S. S. R. There are spacious lawns, a man-made lake, and a high-sounding fountain. A building is devoted to industrial machinery. Slogan: "Technical development depends on the development of the lathe."

Barns are kept fastidiously clean by big-breasted farm women. There's a show ring for judging prize bulls, horses, cows, sheep, and the biggest, fattest, and probably the most uneconomic swine you've ever seen. The Russian lust for size produces a porker of diminishing returns - too much feed for too little food value. But that's being corrected since Deputy Premier V. V. Matskevich's agricultural tour of the United States.

You could spend weeks at the exposition and not take it all in. In the Georgian building, I sipped Georgian wine and ate Georgian cheese, apples, and a kind of paste candy made of figs and nuts, a little like the apple candy of Virginia. In the Turkmen building, I saw tea leaves, cotton, and beautifully woven rugs. You get a sense of the economic sweep and breadth of the Soviet Union - iron ore, coal, wheat, flax, rice, fancy embroidery, fruits, manganese, machinery.

In the central building, the Building of the Soviet Union, you come upon a summation of all this vastness and the reason for the Khrushchev-Bulganin pride. Statuary celebrates the advantages of people under Communism: Farmers and workers striding forward together under the banner of Marxism-Leninism, symbolizing the unity of agriculture and industry; a man and a woman at work side by side indicating equal rights for women (and when you see women on construction jobs lugging brick, righting timbers, or spreading asphalt, you understand the phrase "equal rights"); education for all, depicted by a young man and a young woman walking into the future, books in hand. Finally, you see a statue of men debating. Meaning: Self-government - people participating in making laws!

Here all the glories of Communism, the achievements of people under Socialism are sung. As for capitalism, bah! Backward and outmoded! An eye-catching chart, centrally displayed, depicts how much faster production has grown under socialism than under capitalism. The figures are printed in bold letters right on the chart. Here's their story:

Industrial Production	Socialist Countries	Capitalist Countries
1937	100	100
1950	191	147
1951	228	163
1952	260	167
1953	301	179
1954	342	176

Thus, in 17 years, Socialist countries have scored a 242 per cent increase in production versus only 76 per cent for capitalism. From 1950 through 1954 the gain is 179 per cent versus 20 per cent.

This has tremendous propaganda value at home and abroad. It tells the Russian people that they're getting somewhere under Communism; that their privations are not in vain.

Further, it plants political and economic ideas with foreigners. Here is a government-planned, government-financed system of production. Look how it's growing. What an appeal that must have to the leaders of underdeveloped countries - to Nehru in India, Nasser in Egypt.

In America, we pay homage to the virtues of private enterprise and ownership, to the size, efficiency and industrial daring of General Motors, A. T. & T., or General Electric. Corporations of such size, with three or four exceptions, exist only in the U. S. Few nations have private companies large enough to build an all-new, modern industrial plant from scratch, a plant such as the half-billion dollar Fairless Works of United States Steel at Morrisville Pa. Hence, government-owned and government-financed industry becomes essential in other lands. This is a factual weapon in Soviet Russia's arsenal in the battle for men's minds, hearts, and self-interest. The chart says: Socialism succeeds, see!

A. Nove, long a specialist in the Soviet economy and just recently assigned to the British Embassy at Moscow, has written an article in Lloyds Bank Review, in which he suggests that Soviet industrial prowess, "although still well behind the United States, may reach America's present industrial output by 1963."

The further implication, though Nove doesn't go so far, is that by 1975 or 1980, the Soviet Union, by maintaining its present expansionary pace, will surpass America. "The West," says Nove, "faces a really serious challenge on the economic front." It's a special and limited challenge, but a serious life-and-death challenge, in which the Soviet Union has chosen the weapons.

America is the land of capitalism. We produce for consumption. The Soviet Union, the land of supposed socialism, produces for productive and military strength. It concentrates its power. We disperse, spread out, ours. An ever-nagging question for us: Can we do both - keep our guard up, yet raise living standards?

Answer: We've no choice. We must do both.

A Communist Government

James Marlow

Ike's Neck Was Out On Dixon-Yates

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Eisenhower - getting his information from aides - said too much too fast about the Dixon-Yates contract. He stuck his neck out, and now he's had it chopped off.

He had praised the contract repeatedly. Now his Justice Department says it was no good. He defended the role of banker Adolph Wenzell in this contract. Now the Justice Department says Wenzell's role makes the contract "null and void."

Right in its early days the Eisenhower administration faced a problem - and a choice - in the government's Tennessee Valley Authority, which supplies a wide Southern area with power.

The Atomic Energy Commission needed a lot of that power. But what of the needs of TVA's regular users, particularly the city of Memphis, Tenn.? The administration could have expanded TVA with new plants.

Instead, on the advice of the AEC and the Budget Bureau, it decided a private power firm should do the job by building a plant near the TVA area. Democrats protested, predicting this meant eventual wreckage of TVA.

In November 1954 Eisenhower ordered a contract signed with a private utility group called Dixon-Yates. Then the Democrats began to dig into the role of Wenzell. He was vice president of the First Boston Corp. of New York City, which became the Dixon-Yates financial agent, and had also been adviser to the Budget Bureau on TVA problems.

The Democrats raised a question: Was Wenzell serving conflicting interests - the government's and a private company's? The Democrats talked of "deceit and concealment" by the administration.

Eisenhower, still listening to his advisers, defended Wenzell at a news conference June 29, 1955. But the next day he ordered the whole problem restudied.

The reason given was that the city of Memphis, refusing to accept Dixon-Yates power, said it was going to build its own plant. At his July 6 news conference Eisenhower again backed Wenzell, calling his role in the contract "indeed" proper.

Then these things happened: July 7 - A Senate Judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), foreseeing the end of the contract, said it was invalid anyway and advised the government to hold up any cancellation fees which Dixon-Yates might claim in return for money spent preparing to build its plant.

July 8 - Wenzell told Kefauver's subcommittee that while he was advising the Budget Bureau on TVA matters he met with AEC officials as a representative of his bank - which became the Dixon-Yates financial agent - while the contract was under consideration.

Eisenhower canceled the contract July 11 on the grounds that, since Memphis was building its own plant, the Dixon-Yates plant wasn't needed.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said he looked for a "negotiated settlement" of any claims Dixon-Yates might make. And on July 12 Eisenhower called the canceled contract "good and fair."

Then on Nov. 23, 1955, the AEC said it would pay Dixon-Yates nothing for the money he had spent. The AEC said Wenzell had been mixed up in a conflict of interests in this contract.

Last Dec. 13 Dixon-Yates sued the government for $3,534,778 for its expenses. Yesterday Brownell's Justice Department, defending the government against this suit in the Court of Claims, said the contract was one-sided in favor of Dixon-Yates and had other faults. But it asked the judge to dismiss the suit mainly because of Wenzell.

It said he had played a triple role: he was advising and representing the government, his own bank and the Dixon-Yates group. That left Eisenhower high and dry on a rock.

Well, sir, since I got too old to read Grimm's Fairy Tales, I have certainly enjoyed browsing through the financial pages of the daily press.

I have just been reading a little piece that says "money is easier" and the only conclusion to which I can jump is that there must be two kinds of money in this country, one type for financiers and one for the commonality, such as myself.

It's mighty nice to know that the financiers have their mitts on easy money because I never in all my born days saw such uneasy money as comes my way. The type money of which I have temporary custody is jumpy, nervous and irritable, especially in the supermarket.

Nothing could be more appropriate than a little sign over our front entry reading, "Through this door passes the most restless money in the world." There is nothing I would like more than to give it a good, stable home, amid pleasant surroundings, a place where it can grow old along with me, "the best is yet to be, the last of life for which the first was made."

But my money has never read Browning. It is rootless stuff, fired with longings for the open road and the Roman trail. Money may rest easily in the House of Morgan, but in the House of Robb it is eternally tossing and turning, restless as a tomcat and always clawing at the door to be let out.

Ever since I started reading about these new tranquilizer drugs that are even guaranteed to take the kink 'n roll out of Elvis Presley, it has been my intention to write the United States Treasury Department and suggest that, in the mint stage, it slip a good dose of these new simmer-down pills into U. S. currency.

First things first, and it occurs to me that if the government could take the fidgets out of money, it would be well on the road to curing St. Vitus's dance in the public. If there were only a little relaxed money in circulation, the strait jacket business would be kaput.

People would be willing to settle for the current 53-cent dollar if only a little glue were added to the mixture and it would stick to the fingers long enough to afford identification of the feller whose picture is rumored to be on it.

Easy money? Who is kidding whom? I have done my best to get it to settle down and abide with me. But the stuff is a born hitchhiker, a bird of passage. I can remember a far off day when a cautious lady always had a little of it pinned to her corset cover, but it won't stand still long enough today to get a pin without jabbing distance.

Once upon a time, U. S. money bore the motto "E pluribus uno." But I haven't been able to keep my hands on any long enough to check the rumor that in the past decade this has been replaced by "Ave atque vale."

Money Isn't Easy, It's Restless

WASHINGTON - Because there is such widespread assumption, even among Democrats, that President Eisenhower will be elected for a second term, there has begun lately some discussion as to whether or not the Constitution should be amended to permit him to run for a third term.

This is not as far away as it might seem. The present trend of discussion on Capitol Hill points to some kind of world crisis for 1960. Presumably by then the Soviet government will have caught up with America in air power and in nuclear weapons, and it could conceivably happen that there would be a demand from the American people that Ike should continue on in the White House.

The 22nd Amendment, which was declared effective on Feb. 28, 1951, prevents Mr. Eisenhower from becoming a candidate for a third term, but it does not disqualify Harry S. Truman because the language specifically exempted the incumbent President.

As long as Mr. Truman is eligible, there are those who feel that Mr. Eisenhower should also be. The concession to exempt Mr. Truman was made largely to win Democratic support in Congress, inasmuch as a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress was required. But such a personal exception violates the principle of the anti-third term amendment itself and the only way to equalize this is to permit one Republican as well as one Democrat to be eligible for a third term. For at the time the amendment was submitted, the Republican party was "out of power."

If the Constitution were to be amended, moreover, the process would have to start in 1957. It took from March 1947 to February 1951 to get the 22nd Amendment ratified by three-fourths of the states. If an amendment were proposed in the 1957 session of Congress, it would probably be 1959 before final action would be taken by the states.

Naturally there would be opposition from some Democrats who fear Ike's vote-getting powers, but it would hardly be justified because the purpose of the amendment would merely be to equalize an unequal situation between the major parties. Mr. Truman himself probably would be the first to endorse the idea for, it will be recalled, it was General Eisenhower's magnanimity and friendliness to the then President which caused him to refrain from running against Mr. Truman in the 1948 contest. He might have won. The story is told that Mr. Truman at Potsdam in 1945 told the victorious American commander-in-chief of Allied Forces in Europe that there was no honor which he would not help the General to attain. It was then that Ike expressed his unwillingness to run for the presidency in 1948.

At the time of the nominating conventions in 1960, Ike would be only 69 and, if elected, he would be 70 at his third inauguration.

But Mr. Truman today is 81 and is eligible. Chancellor Adenauer is 70 and going strong. Winston Churchill was 79 when he withdrew from the Prime Minister's portfolio. In this era of vitamins and advances in medical care, 70 is not considered a mark of ineligibility of active service in many lines of business. Each case is individual. The prognosis of Ike's doctors is that, with the excellent care given him in the White House, he may live on considerably beyond his second term.

The American people are never much concerned about the age of their presidents - nor have they in the past been impressed with the argument that a chief executive has to have the physique or the health of an athlete or that he has to spend every minute of his waking hours on the job. There have been some "full time" presidents - and Harry Truman was one of them - who didn't require more than a few minutes in which to make some of the gravest errors that have been committed in the presidency. The true story of the influence of the Truman staff on the then president has never been told. It isn't the time that a president takes to study a situation or to decide on it which counts but the amount of acumen and judgment he brings to the job in the first place.

If Ike in his second term keeps the nation at peace and is able to maintain a deterrent force sufficiently large to prevent any other nation from starting a war, the chances are that in 1960 there will be a considerable demand to have him continue in office. It may be, therefore, that the nation's principal concern in another year or so will be whether Ike will be eligible to run for a third term. Because of his devotion to public service, it can be assumed that he himself will not initiate retirement as long as he feels able to serve the American people.

Fashions In Heroes Change

NEW YORK (AP) - Fashions in heroes change, just as women's styles do.

In bad financial times the big hero is the politician who makes the most golden promises.

In war times the military leader is top dog as long as he wins.

But in boom times the hero is the industrial tycoon. He becomes an oracle consulted on all topics and it is assumed that, since he is smart enough to make a lot of money, he also must know how to cure warts and predict the weather.

At the moment the business executive is riding on a tidal wave of popularity that puts him higher in public esteem than either Lassie or Gene Autry. If an executive could be found who could also sing like Elvis Presley, nothing could keep him from the White House.

In dozens of recent plays, books and TV dramas the businessman has been built up as a rugged, resourceful, tough - fighting hero with a two-fisted mind.

He is portrayed as a kind of Roy Rogers or Hopalong Cassidy with a brief case. He is brisk, brusque and competitive. He never rides to head off the rustlers at Eagle Pass, but he is willing at any moment to sacrifice everything else in life for "the good of his company."

Well, fairly close. That is, if you take the executives' own word for it - and assume they haven't seen so many TV business dramas themselves that they have unconsciously patterned themselves after the video heroes of office and factory.

The ordinary working man has perhaps an ineradicable belief that the average executive has an easy life - that he gets most of his chores done on the golf links or during three-hour, four-martini lunches.

But the executives themselves claim they put more hours at their desks than their hired hands do.

The average work week is about 40 hours. But a survey by the American Management Ass'n. showed that corporation presidents work 51 hours, vice presidents 52 hours and department heads about 48 hours.

MILWAUKEE (AP) - The situation is a downtown department store kitchen got so fowled up recently that it took three fire engines, two trucks, a rescue squad and two battalion chiefs to pullet out.

Delicatessen manager John Ushan was singeing chickens over gas burner when a sprinkler above his head warmed up enough to let go.

That turned on the store fire alarm, the merchants police alarm and brought out the high powered crew, which didn't have much to crow about after all.

Heavy Load

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) - A man who admitted stealing a large tow truck from a motor company here offered this excuse to Police Chief Verne Starmer:

"I was carrying a heavy load, so I guess I got something big to haul it."

It worked - Dan Myers, owner of the truck, declined to prosecute.

Around The Rim

Some Things To Look For

This is a look into a fantastic future. Like in the better science-fiction, this peek is based on a logical projection of present trends. In this particular projection, we have judged trends in surgery, biochemistry, low temperature preservation of living matter, electronics, psychology and cybernetics. The object is to project present trends in each of these fields a certain number of years into the future, then combine the results into a logical complex.

This logical complex may be stated in a few words - by the year 2,000 A. D. (or the year 45 A. A. - Age of the Atom) men will have achieved a rudimentary kind of immortality, along with eternal youth and the ability to repair completely from maiming accidents.

But first the projections:

SURGERY - Every year, surgeons find new and better methods of cutting human beings into little pieces and sewing them up whole again. Medical science also has advanced great strides in first aid methods, in keeping accident victims alive until the ambulance can reach the hospital, and in patching the victims up again. This trend will lead to the possibility of saving any part of the human body in which deterioration has not begun. Naturally, it would be beside the point to save scattered remains of accident victims were the brain (and therefore the mind) destroyed. But no other organ need be in operating condition for survival.

BIOCHEMISTRY - Scientists have found ways of taking viruses apart and putting them back together in any shape or form. They also have mixed various organic chemical substances and have come up with viruses. Viruses are considered to be the mid-point between living and non-living substances, which puts science on the threshold of the secret of life. Researchers are going deeper into the structure and operation of the cell. Salamanders and certain other animals have the ability to grow new limbs to replace lost arms, legs, tails, etc., and if you slice an earthworm or a starfish, you end up with one or more carbon copy earthworms or starfish. So, eventually, it may be possible to stimulate growth of new limbs in human beings. Theoretically, it is possible to take a single cell from the human body and, from it, grow an entire new person, an exact replica of the person from whom the cell was taken.

LOW - TEMPERATURE PRESERVATION - Ways have been found to deep-freeze living things, and then revive them. This already has been accomplished with small laboratory animals. Eventually, this may lead to the perfect preservation of the entire human body or any part thereof, followed by complete revival.

ELECTRONICS AND CYBERNETICS - Electronic brains are getting more complex every year, with no limit to their development. Also, progress is being made with encephalographs (brain wave machines) in studying the operation of the brain. By the year 2,000 A. D. it should be possible to connect an encephalograph to an electronic brain (memory bank) and thus record the entire mind of any person.

PSYCHOLOGY - Science is just now beginning to understand the nature of the mind, along with the structure and operation of the brain. The human brain consists of billions of tiny nerve fibers interconnected with each other and with the "lower" brain, seat of the emotions. Consciousness (or the conscious mind) is that part of the brain's nerve cells in a state of activation, and the so-called subconscious mind consists of all the memories stored in the brain and as modified by the "lower" brain. The mind grows from the nothingness of a new-born baby to the complexity of the adult through the storage and inter-relating of information and other types of memory.

(Space does not permit a final resume of this "look into the future." Next Friday, Mr. Smith will present conclusions from the present trends in science which he has extrapolated above. - Ed.)
