Circus Picketed On Closing Day

Pickets of the Teamsters Union and American Guild of Variety Artists carry placards at the main entrance of Ringling Brothers Barum and Bailey Combined Shows before the final daylight performance as a road circus at Pittsburgh, Pa. John Ringling North announced the show is returning to winter quarters.

GOING INSIDE?

Famed Big Top Comes Down Following Last Performance

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Roustabouts pulled down for the last time today the mammoth tent of Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus, ending an era in American entertainment that thrilled generations.

"The Greatest Show on Earth" closed its road tour in a blaze of glory last night at nearby Heidelberg. Every performer seemed to put a little extra into his act for the overcapacity crowd of some 10,000.

It was a night of glitter and spectacle. After the crowd melted away, weary performers and workers packed belongings and gear, and the circus headed for winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla., in its gaily colored railroad cars.

John Ringling North, board chairman and president of the circus, abruptly announced the closing of the 1956 season shortly before the afternoon show. "The tented circus as it now exists is, in my opinion, a thing of the past," North said. "We are considering plans for the future which may involve an almost completely mechanically controlled exhibition."

But he promised the 87th presentation of the circus will open as usual next year on April 3 at Madison Square Garden in New York and will play the 1957 season in other air-conditioned arenas all over the United States.

Gone will be the big top, the sideshows and the midway where wide-eyed youngsters strolled with their parents and cajoled peanuts, cotton candy and bright-hued dolls and other trinkets. Labor troubles, bad weather, rising costs and other factors such as television, which cut into attendance, put an end to the tent show.

Similar problems sounded the death knell earlier this year for two other circuses—Clyde Beatty and King Bros. However, a group of men formerly associated with Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey has purchased the Clyde Beatty Circus and plan to reopen it Aug. 10 in Albuquerque, N.M.

If the plan materializes, it would be the last big traveling road circus in America. North could not be reached for comment and nobody else in authority with the circus would say what will become of the 800 to 1,000 persons on the payroll.

250 Jaycees Due For Meeting Here

Big Spring Jaycees are completing arrangements for the Tri-Region Junior Chamber of Commerce convention here this weekend.

Around 250 West Texas Jaycees are expected for the meeting which opens with entertainment and other social activities Saturday. Business sessions will be conducted Sunday.

The three regions to be represented cover the territory extending from El Paso to Abilene and Brownwood to Lamesa. A delegation is also expected from Corpus Christi. Twenty-nine other towns are to send delegates.

Wives of Jaycees also will engage in a round of social activities Saturday afternoon, and they will be provided with transportation to the various churches in the city Sunday morning as Jaycees open their annual summer meeting.

Rev. Arthur Hoyles, English minister serving temporarily as pastor of the First Methodist Church here, will conduct a devotional program as the business session opens at 9 a. m. Sunday in the Settles Hotel.

"The Greatest Show on Earth" had its start as a tiny wagon show in 1884. It grew steadily, and combined with Barnum & Bailey in 1919 to become the largest circus in the world.

Then came the heyday of the circus. It prospered and became a byword in America. John Ringling, last of the five founding brothers, died in 1936 and the circus soon began experiencing difficulties.

Labor troubles forced the circus to close in 1938 at Scranton, Pa., and return to winter quarters for the season.

Internal troubles flared up. Several times management changed hands. Then on July 1, 1944, came one of the biggest blows. Panic broke out when a fire started in the big top in Hartford, Conn. One hundred and sixty-eight persons died.

487 were injured in the ensuing stampede. In the next 10 years the circus paid out some four million dollars in damage claims. Some officials went to jail.

North, head of the circus for most of the years since the death of his uncle John Ringling, rounded up some of the greatest performers in the world, air-conditioned the big top and made many innovations. But troubles continued to mount. Patronage declined. Unions pressed for recognition. Feuds developed and key personnel resigned. Lots big enough to accommodate the huge tent became scarce, and the circus had to set up on the outskirts of cities. Recently, bad weather and injuries plagued the circus.

It was against this background that North decided to call it quits on the "Sawdust Trail."

Segregation, campaign promises and the "mess in Austin" were the major topics as most of the six aspirants for governor worked in the Fort Worth-Dallas area Monday.

Sen. Price Daniel, in a TV address, said he would urge an amendment permitting segregated schools and that he would stand on his record as attorney general. He said he "wouldn't want to go into all of the things that have been happening in Austin because he used to be there four years ago."

Ralph Yarborough charged that Daniel was launching a $1,250,000 radio and TV campaign in an "attempted blackout of all news media."

W. Lee O'Daniel said his opponents "have got two or three barrels of stuff that isn't true" that they plan to throw at him during the final days of the campaign. He directed most of his fire at "the Austin mess" and the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation with a few side shots at Daniel and Yarborough.

J. Evetts Haley, said "interposition is the answer to the desegregation ruling." Haley also said he would order Rangers and sheriffs to arrest any federal marshal attempting to "interfere with the rights of the citizens of Texas."

Daniel said he would seek an amendment to retain segregation in schools. "In the meantime as governor, Price Daniel will fight to see that the people of our local school districts are upheld in their decisions to maintain their separate but equal schools." He said, "I think it can be done without racial hatred and prejudices. It can be done in a Christian-like way if we do not go around talking about armed rebellion or punching somebody in the nose. That's not the way to meet this problem."

The senator took note of charges that he "wouldn't want to go into all of the things that have been happening in Austin because I used to be there four years ago." "That is one strong reason why I want the record laid bare and every honest public official will want the same thing," said Daniel. "I want all of my work as attorney general laid bare before a law enforcement commission in public hearings."

Military Construction Bill Revised, Passed

House Acts After Presidential Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—With unprecedented speed, the House today passed a $2,138,886,000 military construction bill stripped of provisions which drew a presidential veto yesterday.

The bill now goes to the Senate. The House action was taken by unanimous consent with only about 100 members on the floor. It came shortly after the Armed Services Committee had approved a measure lacking two provisions objected to by the President.

These would have required the Defense Department to get approval of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees before going ahead with contracts for Talos missile sites and for construction of government-insured housing for servicemen's families.

Except for eliminating these two provisions, the new bill was identical to the one vetoed. It authorizes construction of hundreds of projects at military bases in the United States and abroad.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee told the House the committee promptly would draft a bill giving Congress "some supervision" over the program.

The President objected that the original measure was an invasion of the constitutional powers of the executive branch of government. Vinson told the committee prior to the House action that he does not agree with President Eisenhower's contention that Congress breached "the fundamental constitutional principles of separation of power" when it passed the original bill.

Eisenhower's veto said the features of the bill to which he objected "would destroy the clear lines of responsibility which the Constitution provides" and give the committees "authority to nullify congressional authorization."

The legislation involved provides authority for the Army, Navy and Air Force to build new facilities at hundreds of installations in the United States and abroad. It provides no appropriation, but the money for some of the projects is carried in a separate measure already passed by the Senate and the House and now in conference.

The language to which the President objected in effect referred to the Senate and House Armed Services Committee veto authority over any construction relating to the Talos missile or to family housing units for military personnel.

Austin Target In Mock Atom Attack
AUSTIN (AP)—Austin is one of five Texas targets Friday of an imaginary atomic bomb.

Bill McMillen, local Civil Defense Administration operation officer, said Austin could expect to have 12,000 dead and 15,000 seriously injured if the city is not evacuated in case of a genuine attack.

Defense Wins Round In Trial Of Marine For Recruit Deaths
PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—The Marine Corps was ordered today to let the defense in the trial of S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon see the results of an opinion poll of 27,000 Marines on how best to train fighting men.

McKeon is the 31-year-old former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass., who led six Marines to their deaths by drowning in a tidal marshland last April 8.

The defense argued yesterday that the poll should be made available on the grounds that it would serve in some measure to explain McKeon's activities on that fatal night.

Heretofore, the Marines through Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas have declined to let defense attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York see the questionnaires on the grounds that they had no bearing on the case.

Navy Capt. Irvin N. Klein, law officer of the court-martial, directed the Navy and the Marines to produce the poll. Trial counsel Maj. Charles Sevier suggested that the court contact the Marine commandant for copies of the survey be ordered after the tragedy.

The opening session of the court-martial yesterday ended on a big, unanswered question: Will Marine Commandant Gen. Randolph Pate be called to testify?

Motorcycle Mishap Kills Webb Airman

A-1C Ernest Edward Rhoads, 22, of Webb AFB was killed about 7:30 p. m. Monday in a motorcycle mishap on U. S. 80 in the east edge of Odessa.

Air Force investigators were attempting today to learn the cause and other details of the accident. It was thought that the motorcycle may have struck the rear of a truck.

The airman was reported riding near a truck at the time and his injuries indicated that the vehicles may have collided, possibly without the truck driver ever knowing of the mishap.

Airman Rhoads and A-2C Frank J. Malo of Webb were on an evening motorcycle ride at the time of the accident. Malo's machine was not involved.

A-1C Rhoads was pronounced dead on arrival at an Odessa hospital last night. The body is at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home and all funeral arrangements are pending.

Rhoads was assigned to the Airways and Air Communications Service detachment at Webb. He had been in the service about three and a half years. He is survived by his father, Leland Edward Rhoads of Route No. 1, Knox, Pa.

Steel Talks Recess

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Negotiations were recessed in the nationwide steel strike today while industry representatives went over the situation with top executives of 12 major basic steel companies.

The B29 carried 12 men and the Privateer 10. The note said the United States had been informed and was "compelled to believe" that some of the crew members from the two planes are being held by the Soviets.

"It may well be," the note went on, "that the Soviet government has in its custody members of other United States aircraft, particularly crew members of aircraft engaged on behalf of the United Nations Command side of the military action in Korea since 1950."

The note explained that the U. S. government for some time has received information from persons freed from Soviet imprisonment that they had "conversed with, seen or heard reports" concerning American airmen "in actual detention in the Soviet Union."

The note continued: "The reports have now become so persistent and detailed, and so credible that, although the United States government is not able to identify by name these American nationals now detained by the Soviet government, it requests the Soviet government to inform the United States government in detail concerning each American military person who has been detained in the Soviet Union at any time since Jan. 1, 1949, of whom the United States government has not heretofore been informed."

Speeding, Noise Fines Are Set
The crackdown on speeding and excessive noise in Big Spring during the past month was revealed in corporation court this morning.

Five pleaded guilty to excessive noise charges, and four entered the same plea to speeding or dragging. One person drew a fine of $10 for noise while three drew $5 penalties. One was not fined, although found guilty.

For speeding, the top fine was $20. One was also charged $10 for the violation. Two drew $5 fines, and one was not fined although found guilty.

Stadium Lighting Bids Up For Study
School trustees will meet at 4 p. m. Wednesday to consider bids on field lighting for the new athletic stadium under construction on the Howard County Junior College campus.

Contract probably will be let for the lights and their installation, along with necessary wiring. Towers to support the lights already have been purchased. Contract also has been let for construction of 10,000-seat steel stands and that project is due completion by late August.

The school board will meet in the high school cafeteria to consider the lighting bids.

RODEO NEARS, AND NEXT WEEK IS THE TIME TO DON WESTERN GARB

Western garb just natcherly has to go with rodeos. So, next week, July 23-28, is being proclaimed as "Western Week" in Big Spring, as various civic committees set out to drum up more interest in Big Spring's annual rodeo, set for the following week.

Mayor G. W. Dabney today responded to a request from the Chamber of Commerce rodeo committee in proclaiming the Western Week. He urged all citizens to help mark the rodeo season by appearing in items of western attire — the 10-gallon hat, the boots, the fancy shirt, the neckerchief—any or all of such apparel connected with frontier days.

The rodeo opens August 1, but a special campaign will be in force next week to line up ticket purchases and assure the same big crowds that always mark the western contests here. That's the time to don the cowboy togs.

Special announcements and appeals will be carried to all service clubs to build interest in the rodeo.

Reds Hold U.S. Airmen Captive

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States is holding American airmen from two—and possibly more—downed U.S. planes.

A note from the U.S. Embassy to the Soviet Foreign Ministry called on the Soviet government to make a thorough investigation. It asked that the United States be informed of progress as soon as possible.

Cited specifically were the crews of a U.S. Navy Privateer that went down in the Baltic Sea area April 8, 1950, and a U.S. Air Force B29 lost June 13, 1952, over the Sea of Japan or near the Kamchatka area of Soviet Siberia.

The 10 crew members aboard the Navy Plane were listed as: Lt. John Henry Fette, Connellsville, Pa.; Lt. Howard William Seeschak, Arlington, Va.; Lt. (j.g.) Robert Duward Reynolds, Danville, N.Y.; Ens. Tommy Lee Burgess, Osawatimie, Kan.; Technician 3C.M. Edward Joseph Purcell, Rt. 1 Southwestville, N.J.; Aviation Machinists Mate 1.C. Joseph Norris Rinnier Jr., Philadelphia; Aviation Electronics Mate 3.C. Joseph J. Bourassa, Linwood, Mich.; and Aviation Machinists Mate 1.C. Jack William Thomas, Stillwater, Okla.

Those aboard the B29 were listed as: Maj. Samuel Busch and Lt. James A. Sculley, Philadelphia; Lt. Samuel D. Service, Berkeley, Calif.; 2nd Lt. Robert J. McDonnell Oceanside, N. Y.; M.Sgt. William R. Jacksonville Hit By Worst Blaze
JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Rusk and Jacksonville firemen battled the worst fire in the history of this town all last night and were still standing by the smoldering ruins today.

Firemen estimated the damage at $200,000. Flames swept down Commerce St., spreading to Paton St., in the heart of the downtown area, destroying the George Williamson Jr., Farmers Co-op shed, the Cherokee Peach Growers Assn. shed, the Abner Box and Basket Factory and Warehouse, the Childs Grocery Warehouse and nine railroad cars.

Divided After Freedom Flight

The group of four anti-Communists at right are part of the group of seven which seized a Hungarian airliner in flight and forced the pilot at gunpoint to land the craft at an unfinished U. S. Air Force base at Ingolstadt, Germany. At left, with bandaged heads are two of the passengers on the plane who seek to return to Hungary. They and others were injured when the anti-Communists beat them with iron rods in seizing the plane. The seven are seeking political asylum in West Germany.

Meyner Denies Plans To Be Favorite Son

ASBURY PARK, N. J. (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey said today he does not want to be named a "favorite son" at the Democratic National Convention next month but ducked other questions about the political strategy his delegation may follow.

The state's 144 delegates and alternates met behind closed doors here last night.

The question of making the governor a favorite son at the convention was not discussed. A source who was present said, "It just didn't come up."

Meyner told reporters, "I'm very glad about that. I don't want to be a favorite son. I'm happy to be just a chairman of the delegation."

The closed meeting followed a rousing political session which featured two aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman. Both attacked President Eisenhower.

An invitation also went to Adlai Stevenson but he replied that other engagements made it impossible for him to attend. In some quarters this is interpreted as an indication that Stevenson may be confident that he already has a majority of New Jersey's 36 convention votes.

He was represented by his campaign manager, James Finnegan of Philadelphia, and sent a message which also was critical of the administration.

Ostensibly the 72 New Jersey delegates, each with half a vote will go to Chicago uncommitted, although one delegate is pledged to Kefauver and another has come out for Stevenson. It is generally believed a majority favors Stevenson.

After hearing Harriman and Kefauver, one delegate—who said he personally favors Stevenson—estimated "80 per cent of the delegation is still for Adlai."

Gov. Meyner cited public opinion polls taken and said, "I think they accurately reflected not only the electoral appeal but the delegate appeal. They put Stevenson ahead with Kefauver second and Harriman third."

The prospect of a baby being born to Princess Grace is of great interest in Monaco, which would be annexed by France if the little Mediterranean principality's throne became vacant. This would make Monaco subject to the much higher French taxes and also to military service in France.

The former Hollywood film star and the Prince, who were married April 19, arrived in Paris July 11. The princess said she was on a shopping trip. She would neither confirm nor deny rumors she was pregnant, saying, "I'm afraid we didn't start the rumors."

Vatican Newsmen Supports Rumor Of Kelly Pregnancy

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Vatican correspondent of the Catholic press CIP says Grace Kelly is expecting a baby.

The CIP dispatch attributed the news to the Rev. Francis Tucker, Roman Catholic chaplain to Grace's husband Prince Rainier of Monaco.

The CIP correspondent said Father Tucker was interviewed during a recent visit he made to the Vatican to present a collection of Monacan stamps to Pope Pius XII. Asked if an announcement would be made soon that an heir to the Monacan throne was on the way, the American priest reportedly replied:

"I see no reason to deny information which will anyway be made official soon."

Arms Commission Ends Futile Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The disarmament deadlock shifted back today to the five-power U. N. Disarmament subcommittee for another round of private talks this fall in New York or London.

The subcommittee's parent body, the 12-member Disarmament Commission, ended a stormy two-week public debate last night without any noticeable progress. Its only official action was to call on the subcommittee to resume its efforts and to take into account the various observations and proposals made during the discussion here.

The subcommittee—made up of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada—already has been negotiating three years with no agreement still in sight. It met last in London March 19-May 4.

The next public debate on the arms issue probably will take place in the U. N. General Assembly, which meets in New York Nov. 12.

The commission's meeting wound up on a sour note last night when the Western Powers and Russia tangled over a compromise resolution. Peru had promised to avoid a showdown vote on conflicting Western and Soviet proposals.

myko had agreed to the idea until he saw the text of the Peruvian resolution. He then denounced the draft as pro-Western and voted against it. The vote was 10-4, with Yugoslavia abstaining.

Gromyko objected especially to a clause which said, "The resolution introduced on July 3 by the United Kingdom, Canada, France and the United States, as amended, sets forth the principles upon which an effective program for the regulation and limitation of all arms and armed forces can be based."

He said the Peruvian draft completely ignored Russia's proposal calling for a renunciation of the use of force and particularly of the use of nuclear weapons.

The Western declaration of principles also called for disarmament by stages under a system of international control, including President Eisenhower's proposal for aerial inspection of military installations.

Both the Soviet and Western resolutions were sent to the subcommittee along with a third proposal, sponsored by Yugoslavia, urging action to halt experimental explosions of nuclear weapons.

DEMOS ON ATTACK

GOP Challenges Ike Health Charge

Republicans today challenged a Democratic claim that White House associates are misleading the nation on the state of President Eisenhower's health.

Eisenhower put in five hours desk work yesterday, the longest stint since his June 9 intestinal operation, and Democrats marked the occasion with their sharpest official blast yet of the subject of presidential health.

The Democratic digest, official party publication, said a "callosus" campaign had been carried on by "the men around the President" to make it appear that he wasn't a sick man at the time of the operation.

The magazine said a second public questioning of presidential doctors "is clearly in order." Doctors held only one news conference, a few hours after the operation.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerly declined comment on the article. He said however that no news conference with the doctors was planned and he thought none was necessary.

The publication called the alleged campaign to obscure the facts of Eisenhower's physical condition "even more politically motivated and more irresponsible" than pressure it contended was put on Eisenhower to run again after his Sept. 24 heart attack.

Three Republican senators—Bricker of Ohio, Watkins of Utah and Schoepel of Kansas—said they thought Eisenhower could be trusted to keep the American people fully informed about his health.

Bricker added, "The more Democrats do this sort of thing, the more votes they are going to make for Eisenhower in November."

The three leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination—Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York—also fired new blasts at Eisenhower last night.

Kefauver and Harriman appeared before a meeting of New Jersey's Democratic delegates, to the national convention. Stevenson sent a representative and a telegram.

All three were bidding for convention support from the delegation, which will go to the Chicago meeting technically uncommitted to any candidate.

Kefauver said of Eisenhower, "he is already helpless with his own people. They won't support him now." He predicted "chaos" if Eisenhower is "re-elected."

Harriman said Eisenhower "has surrendered to the Old Guard of the Republican party, to big business and special interest. If we have four more years of Eisenhower, we will see a vast change in our free enterprise system."

In Mississippi, Gov. J. P. Coleman appealed to the state convention not to name a national convention delegation handicapped by restrictions, adding, "If we don't get the treatment we deserve in Chicago, I'll be the first to call a (recess) convention."

In Indiana, Gov. George W. Craig, badly beaten in the June 29 Republican state convention, held on to control of the state organization.

ments to the needy aged, blind and disabled.

Long told his colleagues it could well be political suicide to oppose his plan since members of Congress voted to boost their own pay by $7,500 a year in 1955.

The amendment won votes of 41 Democrats and 21 Republicans, with 3 Democrats and 18 Republicans against it.

The amendment would mean at least $5 more a month, and in some cases $7.50, for 2 1/2 million aged persons, 250,000 totally disabled, and 105,000 blind persons. It would take effect Oct. 1 this year.

Its total additional cost to the federal government is estimated at 208 millions annually.

The amendment would change the matching formula which governs the three aid programs so that the federal government would pay 25 of the first $30 in the monthly grants, and half of the next $35 up to a total of $65. Under present law, federal funds pay 50 of the first $25 and half of the next $30 up to a total of $55. States pay the rest.

Average monthly payments over the nation in May this year were $54.37 to the needy aged, $60.45 to the blind, and $56.88 to the disabled.

However, Senate Democratic leaders have made a mighty effort to round up votes to restore these benefits. They have made it clear they expect the bill to give them an important talking point in this fall's election campaign.

Election-year pressures apparently played a part in the vote last night for the amendment of Sen. Long (D-La) to increase the pay-

Last Full Day Of Sight For Cancer Victim

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—This is the last full day of sight for 4-year-old Mike Sibole.
Tomorrow he must have an operation for removal of his left eye. His right one was taken out two years ago and the cancerous disease that caused its removal spread to the left one.
X-ray treatments in New York prolonged the days Mike has been able to see flowers, birds, woods, seashore, his mother and dad, his baby brother, his puppy.
But doctors say now the operation must come; Mike must lose his sight or his life.
"There is no choice," says his father, the Rev. James M. Sibole, pastor of the Forrest Park Baptist Church.
Mike has seen a lot in his last days of seeing. He had a trip to Miami and many trips around the rolling citrus and lake lands of central Florida.
Today it will be a picnic, his father said.
Yesterday it was a trip to the shore of the Atlantic Ocean near New Smyrna Beach, where Mike played and laughed in the surf.
The boy doesn't know yet that his eye must come out in less than 24 hours.
"I will tell him either when he gets to bed (tonight) or when he gets up Wednesday morning—probably just before he goes to the hospital," his father said.

Last Act Of Famed Circus Is Seen Through Eyes Of Child

Editor's Note — Associated Press reporter John Moody, who has been covering the steel strike, had planned to take his son Jack to the circus last night for the first time. As it happened, it was the last show under the tent for "The Greatest Show on Earth." Here is Moody's story of what his son saw:
By JOHN MOODY
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jack Moody had the time of his 2½-year-old life last night. He fed peanuts to circus elephants and sat on the lap of a clown.
He was so busy laughing he didn't notice the clown wipe a tear from his eye. It was the first circus Jack ever saw. It clown was the last time the clown will ever play under the "canvas big top."
Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus, billed as the "Greatest Show on Earth," pulled down its tents for the last time early today—the victim of financial woes.
Jack didn't quite understand what the clown meant when he said:
"Little boy, you had better put away a lot of memories tonight. You probably will never see another really big circus."
Jack tried hard to store up memories.
He ate popcorn and sugar candy. He laughed at the monkeys and—because every body else did—he clapped happily when the girls swung on the trapeze at the top of the tent.
"Mommy, could I ride a horse like the horse over there?"
Jack was fast asleep when the orchestra horns in traditional circus beat sounded the finale of finales. But the clown, who so gladdened his heart with a handshake, had one more job to do—remove the grease paint laugh that would leave a sad man, who like the little boy, played a part in the closing of an era of American entertainment.

Uncle Ray: Moors Made Park Prisoner In Africa

By RAMON COFFMAN
Later in his African journey, Mungo Park reached a country called Ludamar. This place was just south of the Sahara Desert, and its people were Moors. The king was named Ali.
Soldiers of Ali soon appeared and made the three travelers prisoners. Park was placed in a hut, and was forced to wait to see what would be his fate. He knew that Major Houghton had met death in this very district.
A wild hog was placed in the hut, and Park was told to kill it for food. Since the Moors followed the Mohammedan faith, they never ate pork. Park feared that they were setting a trap for him, and that he might be punished if he killed the hog and ate its flesh. So he let the animal alone, and for several days it was, in a sense, a fellow prisoner.
Food was supplied to Mungo Park, but only in small amounts. Possibly he would have starved if it had not been for gifts of milk and other food which were brought to him by servants of Fatima, the chief wife of Ali.
Ali took an interest in the compass which the prisoner showed him. This Moslem chief could not understand why the compass needle always pointed the same way.
For months Mungo Park was kept a prisoner of the Moors. Then came a war, and he asked the king for his freedom. Ali would not grant the request, but Fatima, his wife, took steps to provide more comfort for the prisoner. He was given back most of his clothing, and his horse as well.
As the war excitement grew, Park found himself one day a member of a throng which was "flying in fear of the enemy." During this flight, he was able to escape from the Moors, and headed eastward. His servant, Johnson, also escaped, but the Negro boy, Delnba, had been taken into Ali's household as a personal slave.

MR. AND MRS. W. K. CRAWLEY
... in an earlier day

Three Denominations Figure In Anniversary Of Lamesans

By BETTYE CAMPBELL
LAMESA—When Carrie Howley, a staunch Methodist, first saw W. K. Crawley, who's a Baptist as they come, in the choir at a Presbyterian church more than 44 years ago, something happened. According to that girl, who has been Mrs. Crawley since July 17, 1912, it was love at first sight, although she was engaged to another young man at that time. The anniversary date might have been later in the year, Mrs. Crawley revealed, if Will hadn't set the time up a little.

The reason for the change of date was a logical one. At the time of their marriage, Mr. Crawley was manager for a lumber company at Leuders. He was expecting a carload of lumber just about the same time that the couple was scheduled to be honeymooning. The simple thing to do was marry earlier and be back at Leuders to help unload the lumber without cutting the wedding trip short, so that's just what they did.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawley were married in Throckmorton for the big wedding the town had seen in many a day. Her wedding gown was fashioned around styles given in the June issue of the McCall's Magazine in 1912 with her chosen colors of blue and white being featured.

Her four bridesmaids wore blue satin, while her dress was of cream satin designed with a high neck reinforced with whale boning. "To hold my head up," Mrs. Crawley declared. Her headpiece was very fashionable in that day, being a crown of white and blue flowers with a veil of illusion.

Everything went well the day of the wedding; however, the trouble came 25 years later, when Mrs. Crawley had to go on a diet to lose 25 pounds in order to get into her beautiful wedding gown for the silver anniversary celebration. Mr. Crawley didn't have that kind of trouble. He had sold his black wool broadcloth suit.

Wedding Suit Sold
If you have thought about taking up banking as a profession and didn't know where or how to start, there's a way. Mrs. Crawley believes her husband's banking career just might have begun when he sold his wedding suit for $12.50 to another prospective bridegroom. "Will always think of money" she said, as she recalled the 44 years of their married life.

Through the years, the bride has cherished her entire wedding wardrobe and kept it in perfect condition—all except her waxed orange blossom headband for the veil. "It melted," she confessed.

Following their wedding, the Crawleys left on a wedding trip to Lamesa. En route to the train at Albany their model T Ford got stuck, and it took the bridegroom and his groomsmen to push the bride and Ford to the station.

"The trains were very accommodating, stopping as anyone wanted to get on," stated Mrs. Crawley, "and by the time we arrived in Leuders, half of the town was on the train showering us with rice." They arrived in Lamesa for the first National Bank at Throckmorton. This was the life she liked best. Mrs. Crawley's silver gowns and spurs, along with the side saddle made especially for her with three saddlegaps, are on display at Tech Museum in Lubbock.

In 1917, Mr. Crawley became executive vice president of the First National Bank at Throckmorton. Their only move since that time was to Lamesa in 1926, when he joined the First National Bank as executive vice president. "Lamesa was just a sleepy little town then," Mrs. Crawley said; however, there were more people than when she came out on her wedding trip.

Church Work
A very vivacious woman, she was the "joiner" of the family. Being active in the First Methodist Church, she has worked in every department in the Sunday School except the Primary, but she is looking forward to working with the little ones in the future.

Of her duties as past district president of the WSCS she commented that it was mainly devoted to "washing dishes for banquets we served to raise money." While membership chairman of the P-TA, she had 100 per cent membership in the organization; a record which still stands today in the Lamesa schools.

An active deacon in the First Baptist Church, Mr. Crawley helped organize the Mt. Olive Baptist Church and was its first clerk. He still has the minutes of the first meeting. He is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce and was a member of the school board for 11 years.

In spite of the fact that Mrs. Crawley was deeply concerned as a young bride over his lack of knowledge in Texas history, Mr. Crawley is a past president of the "Old Timers" Association.

Mrs. Crawley's hobby is making rhymes, while Mr. Crawley in past years found joy in singing tenor with quartet composed of J. D. Dyer Sr., now deceased, V. Z. Rogers, and Robert Kirk. He can still play any instrument you might find in his hands.

The only tragedy to mar a wonderful 44 years was the death of their oldest son, Walton, who was killed in 1934 in a car wreck in Lamesa. Richard has followed his father in the bank while the youngest son, Bob, is manager of an implement company and is mayor of Lamesa.

Today, when you visit in the Crawleys' home you will find two people very much aware of what is going on around them and active in all phases of the town activities. What's the ambition of this couple? Right now, they want to be the best grandparents and baby sitters in Lamesa for the six grandchildren. Very fortunate indeed are these youngsters to live right in the same town with their grandparents and hear of the days long past in the lives of the W. K. Crawleys.

Mrs. Murphy Is Honored At Shower

Mrs. Bobby Murphy was honored Monday morning with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Atkinson. Mrs. Murphy is the former Earlene Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Atkinson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Murphy. The couple was married July 7.

A wedding cloth with matching napkins was used on the refreshment table, from which serving was done by Rita Atkinson of El Paso and Ann Conway. The napkins were marked with "Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Murphy." A miniature bride and groom, topped a wedding cake.

For the party, the bride chose an aqua linen suit with white accessories and pearls as her costume jewelry, about 30 guests attended, including Mrs. Bob Collins of Baird, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Birthday Party Fetes Morty Cooper

Mrs. John Cooper honored her son, Morty Joe, Monday afternoon with a party at their home. It was for his third birthday anniversary. Games were played; favors were party hats and horns, and refreshments were served. The birthday cake was decorated in a Davy Crockett theme.

Ten guests attended the party, with Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Terry and Donny of Midland included.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Rowe and son Jimmy of Sundown have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Petty.

Open House Held In McNew Home

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McNew, 510 Douglas, held open house Sunday afternoon in their new home.

Their daughters, Mrs. Gerald Bennett, Mrs. Byron McCracken, Mrs. D. B. McCann, and Mrs. Bonnie Bennett assisted them in receiving guests and serving refreshments. Also helping was a friend, Mrs. Ralph Monaco of San Antonio.

Serving was done from a table laid with a white cloth of Irish linen and centered with an arrangement of daisies. A crystal service was used.

Misplaced Modifiers Brighten Office Life

By ANNE LEFEVER
Do you have the type mind that visualizes what you hear—especially if there is a misplaced word or clause used as a modifier?

It's fun to "see" the ludicrous pictures made by such sentences, but, at times, it can be rather disconcerting! For instance, what if this example had been run in "The Herald" as it came in, instead of being edited: "The bride entered on the arm of her father, attired in an original model of Chantilly lace and tulle." (Bet he looked fetchin', didn't you?)

Another person which must give an odd appearance is one from a story that spoke of a "pink and blue grandmother show er." (Makes no difference to my silly brain that the grandmother served as a proxy for her absent daughter in receiving gifts at a shower— I can still see her in technicolor.)

A story in which children's furniture is described in glowing terms tells of a sleek child's table, and in another account, I read of "white satin brides." Of course, the word, "book" followed, but a lack of punctuation changed the meaning considerably.

Another modifier used in the wrong place told me about an "air-conditioned woman's building."

Proofreading Is Fun!
Assisting with proof-reading is worth the task when a gem like this is encountered! One of the members of the staff, writing a description of a new store being opened, said "the mezzanine floor contains the manager's office, which commands a view of the store and the restrooms."

The following cannibalistic idea was attributed to a contributor of a recipe for our local food feature. As the sentence was written, the woman had said, "We like to nibble these (cheese dips) with crackers before supper or with guests afterward as we watch TV."

From one of our copyrighted columns came this lead in a story, "Even in Leap Year, you can't ask or even imply marriage. Young men are doing their own choosing (of wives) these days, and a good way to scare them away, they admit, is to look expectant."

Another copyrighted story told of the home of a famous man, who, in his youth, rode over the Fourteenth Street Bridge to his work in the War Department. Six of their children were born there and grew up in that house," the writer announced.

The Rev. C. B. Smith of Dallas, brother-in-law of the bride, read the double ring ceremony in St. John's Methodist Church in Stamford. The altar was banked with woodwardia and white gladioli, flanked by candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony Caroline Cole, Stamford, read the poem, "Why Do I Love Thee," with background music furnished by Hollis Poe Haynes. Miss Haynes also presented the traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Peggy Campbell, Lamesa, as she sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Bill Childress, Lubbock, wore an original model fashioned of Chantilly lace designed along princess lines. Her veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

Mrs. C. B. Smith, Dallas, was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Kennedy, Stamford, sister of the bride, and Bertha Patterson, Merkel. Melaine Beth Smith, Dallas, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Mike Smith, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer. By DAVE DILES
DETROIT (AP)—A pair of baseball "unknowns" who parlayed a record price and promise had control today of the Detroit Tigers.
An 11-man syndicate headed by Michigan radio men Fred Knorr and John Fetzer swung the biggest money deal in baseball history yesterday in the $12-million-dollar purchase of the American League's sixth-place club.
Although the bid was a quarter of a million dollars higher than any of the other seven submitted, the fact that the new owners promised to continue the "sincere and dignified" policies that have characterized Tiger management for more than 20 years was regarded as an influencing factor.
Those were the type of policies employed by Walter O. Briggs Sr., who died in 1952 and left the club and Briggs Stadium to his son Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr. and four daughters.
Spike Briggs, president since 1952, will stay on — as was his wish — with the new organization as executive vice president in charge of operations. Knorr and Fetzer say this means Briggs will "run the club."
Insiders say that although the Knorr-Fetzer syndicate — which includes crooner Bing Crosby — will not officially take over until

Bartzen Winner Over Al Tobias

CHICAGO (AP)—The No. 1 seeds in both the men's and women's divisions will take to the courts today in the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.
Art Larsen, hot-tempered veteran from San Leandro, Calif., drew a bye in yesterday's rain-curtailed play but will be ready today to back up the high-ranking tournament officials gave him.
Bernard Bartzen, the No. 2 seed from Dallas defeated Allen Tobias of New York City with ease yesterday, 6-0, 6-1.
Women players, led by Shirley Fry, the Wimbledon champion from St. Petersburg, Fla., will take to the courts for the first time today. Miss Fry, seeded No. 1, will meet Susan Sterrett of Peoria, Ill., in the first round.
Althea Gibson of New York City is seeded behind Miss Fry.
In all, 63 men and 43 women are competing in the tournament which will end Sunday.

Oct. 1, the first action may take place next week. They say Manager Bucky Harris, who has been openly criticized by Briggs, and General Manager Muddy Ruel, will be dismissed shortly.
Four trustees who control the estate of the late Briggs are certain to approve of the new owners and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick announced immediately after the decision by the Tigers' Board of Directors that all members of the syndicate "are perfectly acceptable."
Other members are Kenyon Brown of New York and Hollywood; R. F. Woolworth, New York; George L. Coleman, Miami, Okla.; Joseph A. Thomas, New York; Harvey R. Hansen and William H. McCoy, Detroit; Paul A. O'Bryan, Washington; and Carl Lee, Kalamazoo, Mich.
Knorr is president of the Knorr Broadcasting Co. and Fetzer heads the broadcasting company that bears his name.
Their group beat down a spirited bid by Bill Veck, who had owned the St. Louis Browns and the Cleveland Indians and wanted the Tigers "more than anything else in the world."
Veck's combine offered $14 million dollars. Although the directors, who voted 4-0 in favor of the Knorr-Fetzer group, said they did not discuss the other bids, it is known they frowned on Veck's unconventional methods of promoting the sport.
The new owners will pay out a million dollars by Aug. 1 and another $3,600,000 by Oct. 1. The remaining $900,000 will be paid over a five-year period.

Wayne Bethea Is Winner In Bout With Jim Slade

NEW YORK (AP)—"My arms were tired," complained Jimmy Slade.
"Let me tell you something," said his trainer, "but Norfolk leaning closer to the 29-year-old New Yorker who had just lost a unanimous decision to Wayne Bethea at St. Nicholas Arena.
"If you had used your arms to do some punching, they wouldn't be tired."
That was about the size of last night's 10-rounder which was televised to some sections of the country. Bethea tried to make a fight out of it, but Slade, whose main claim to fame is that he licked Hurricane Jackson twice, spent most of the time back-pedaling.
The result was that all three

'The Kitten' Comes Of Age For Phillies

By ED WILKS
By The Associated Press

It was the St. Louis Cardinals who tagged Harvey Haddix "The Kitten," but since the stubby southpaw was traded to Philadelphia, he hasn't done much pussy-footing around against his old mates. He's whipped them in three of four tries.

Haddix, who picked up the nickname because his mound motions resembled those of former Redbird lefty Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, made it three straight over the Cards last night 2-0 as the Phillies continued to make things rough for the National League's first-division clubs.

They took the series from the fourth-place Cardinals 2-1 after a three-game sweep that knocked Cincinnati from first place and a four-game split that side-tracked a drive by third-place Brooklyn.

The defeat again put St. Louis at 500 and left them nine games short of the first-place Milwaukee Braves, who won their seventh in a row with a 2-1 decision over Pittsburgh on Hank Aaron's home run.

Cincinnati remained two games behind with a three-homer, 10-4 decision over last-place New York. Brooklyn, five games back, got only three hits, but beat Chicago's Cubs 4-1 as Roger Craig pitched a two-hitter in a rain-shortened, six-inning game.

Cleveland "tightened" the American League race by defeating Boston 7-3 while rain idled the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox.

Haddix, who was 1-0 when traded to the Phils in a five-pitcher deal May 11, won his eighth and fourth straight against three defiants, walking only one and fanning eight to take the league strikeout lead with 97. He also got the Phils going with one of his two singles. Richie Ashburn followed with a double and Marv Blaylock then doubled them home in the winning third inning against Willard Schmidt.

The victory put the Phils only half a game behind fifth-place Pittsburgh.

Stan Musial upped his NL-leading average to .329 with two hits, but Haddix had the stuff in the clutch. He got Musial on a double-play ball with two on and one out in the third inning; took care of Wally Moon, Bobby Del Greco

New Season Ducat Orders Are Taken

LUBBOCK, July 17 (AP)—New season ticket orders are being taken to Texas Tech's home football games.

Jimmie Wilson, business manager of athletics, reports that fewer than 20 cancellations by last season's ticket holders occurred. Although season ticket orders are getting priority, the large demand for tickets to the Texas Christian game here Nov. 10 is continuing.

Next most popular game is the Texas A&M contest at Dallas Oct. 6.

Court Fight Seen Over Racial Law

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl Long predicts a court fight against Louisiana's new law banning interracial athletic contests after Oct. 15. Long signed the bill into law yesterday, throwing a question-mark over the future of the Sugar Bowl, the Texas League and other sports events. The new law will prohibit "dancing, social functions, entertainments, athletic training, games, sports or contests and other activities involving personal and social contacts in which the participants are members of the white and Negro races." It also requires segregated seating and "separate sanitary, drinking water and other facilities for members of the white and Negro races."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
BOB ADDIE, Washington sports writer, discussing the plight of the baseball club there:
 "In Washington, we've gone beyond the boozing stage and are now too shell-shocked by repeated duos to resort to righteous anger. After all, you don't get vicious with a boy trying to do a man's job."

MAXWELL STILES, Los Angeles writer:
 "With Avery Brundage in sole control of the Olympic Games as president of the International Olympic Committee, and he is doing all that he can to rule out anybody who even thinks he might at some future date want to play pro baseball or pro football, or become a coach, the 1956 Olympic Games could go down in history more for its rubeisms than for its records. I actually fear that Avery Brundage will kick up so much ruckus over his pet campaign to have everybody declared a professional that attention will be diverted from the Olympic Games to Avery Brundage."

TOMMY HENRICH, former Yankee outfielder:
 "Today the managers in the big leagues are managing . . . In my day, they just put nine men on the field."

GEORGE KELL, Baltimore infielder:
 "I've been in the majors for ten years and I still get a little nervous sometimes. So I have to laugh when writers claim that some first-year player is as cool as a cucumber."

BUGS BAER, writing about Ping Bodie's failure to steal:
 "His head was full of larceny, but his feet were honest."

RED SMITH, New York sports scribe:
 "Ray Robinson said he deliberately invited a punch from Bobo Olson in order that he might put across a counter. There's some suspicion here that this plan was made up after the fight. Chances are Robinson realized after scoring well with one punch, Bobo would throw it again, and Ray watched for it and was ready. The more dramatic tale of deliberately setting a trap seems a mite fanciful."

DAVE CONDON, Chicago writer:
 "Casey Stengel was observed carrying a bat the other day and explained: 'This is Mickey Mantle's bat, very valuable. Contains lots of homers. Besides, the writers say I'm worth $5,000,000, so I figure if I'm that valuable, I need something for protection.'"

BOBBY DODD, Georgia Tech football coach:
 "College teams don't pass anymore. They threw out passing when they threw out platoon."

FRANKIE ALBERT, new head football coach of the San Francisco 49ers:
 "If we don't finish six and six—and that's a minimum—then I'll know that either the National League is too fast for me or I haven't got it as a head coach. If we don't win at least six games, I don't want the job as head coach."

MAJ. BOB NEYLAND, former head football coach at Tennessee:
 "The advantage of the single wing formation can be summed up in one sentence . . . From this formation, and not from any other, you can put two men on one at decisive points . . . I think of our off tackle drives. When we came off tackle, they all stood back—everybody, strong side or weak side—and it would be, 'There those so-and-so's come.'"

FRANKLIN LEWIS, Cleveland writer:
 "A fellow with his eyes on the Jackson-Patterson fight must have drawn the following impressions: (1) Patterson can't punch hard enough to be a killer among heavyweights; (2) Jackson is a freak and best forgotten; (3) Marciano would be ashamed to take the money if he were to meet Patterson or Jackson tomorrow. Maybe if he met them together, all right; (4) Moore is the next heavyweight champion . . . Oh, Rocky, how could you!"

Rex Ellsworth, owner of the great race horse, Swaps, states he could have sold his champion for more money than Nashua brought ($1,125,200).

Dave Sime Wants Another Chance At Bobby Morrow

FAIR LAWN, N. J. (AP) — Dave Sime, his Olympic running hopes dashed by a groin injury, refused today to take a back seat to Bobby Morrow's hard luck sitting down, he promised he'd come back. "Obviously I'm not going to get a chance in the Olympics," the 33-year-old sprinter from Duke University said as he relaxed at home here with his parents and 6-year-old brother, Ricky. "But I'm not giving up track—not until I have a chance to prove myself." The rangy, red-headed sprinter electrified the track world this spring by bettering three and equalling three world records.

Bengals Rally To Win, 5-2

Making the most of two base hits, a hit batsman, three walks and an enemy error, the KP Tigers rallied for five runs in the sixth inning and went on to defeat the Reporters, 5-2, in a Junior Teen-Age baseball league game here Monday night. Jimmy Rogers started the Reporter miseries when he reared first on a bobble in the sixth. LeRoy Bible was hit by a pitched ball. Rogers was out on a fielder's choice but Jimmy Bartley singled and Benny Bond, Jimmy Patterson and Rufus Rowland walked in succession. Bobby Potts followed with a hit to pad the Tiger lead. Wilson Bell and Ronnie Carlson learned up to pitch the win and gave up only one hit between them, a fourth inning double by Dickie Morris that scored both the Newsies' runs.

NBC Tourney Time Nears

The lights at Steer Park go on again this week for the first time since the Big Spring Cosden Cops played their final Longhorn League baseball game last September. The first annual KHEM sandlot baseball tournament, featuring four of the better non-professional teams in West Texas, gets underway Thursday night and continues through Saturday evening. The Big Spring Indians, a team composed of college and high school players, meet the Bell Construction Company Club of Odessa in the tournament's opening game. That one starts at 8 p.m. Thursday.

On Friday night, the tournament favorite, Webb Air Force Base, squares off against the Childress Orioles, a team of unknown strength. Saturday, the games for third place and the championship are on tap. The title contest goes on at 8:30 p.m. Each night, a fireworks display for the kids will precede the games. Eddie Hammond, director of the tournament on behalf of the local radio station, predicted good crowds for each night of the tournament. He said, after gauging public interest here, that Big Spring appeared hungry for some good baseball again.

Adults can gain admission to the park by purchase of a 50 cent ticket. Children under 12 will be admitted free, if accompanied by their parents. The champion of the meet becomes eligible to take part in the state NBC meet at Sinton.

Shreveport apparently was eliminated from the league yesterday when Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana signed a bill banning interracial athletic contests in Louisiana after Oct. 15. Shreveport has no Negro players but other Texas League clubs do and if they can't play them in Louisiana they won't play. Bonneau Peters, long-time president of the Shreveport club, said this probably meant the end of his connection with baseball. He declared that he wouldn't move the Shreveport club to any other city.

Four Athletes Are Bound For Tech

LUBBOCK, July 17 (SC) — Coach DeWitt Weaver of Texas Tech announced the acceptance of athletic scholarships by four more schoolboy footballers. In the quartet are tackle Billy Sisk, 6-1, 210, of Lewisville; center Joe Smithwick, 6-0, 195, of Lampasas; end Ken Funderburk, 6-1, 190, of Sulphur Springs; and full-back-or-end Charles Burkins, 6-3, 185, of Arlington.

Walt Alston Gives His Side Of Feud Story

CHICAGO (AP)—Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston says his "little meeting" with his players at Milwaukee last week was "greatly exaggerated" and he'd like to have his side of the feud story told. Before departing for Cincinnati yesterday, Alston, a quiet, easy-mannered man, said, "It's something that has happened before, will happen again and probably happens with every major league team."

Anne Quast Wins Medalist Honor

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Anne Quast, college sophomore from Everett, Wash., held the steady putter yesterday which is going to be needed to win the Women's Western Amateur golf championship which swings into match play today. The almost 19-year-old student at the University of Washington missed only three putts from close range and as a result shot a 70, two better than par for the 6,220-yard Guyan Country Club course. It was the lowest medalist score since the tournament started in 1901. Pat Lesser, defending champion from Seattle, set the previous low of 72 in 1964 at the Broadmoor Country Club in Indianapolis.

the way his world champions have been fumbling around and told them so after losing a game to the league-leading Braves. Some of the players later were anonymously quoted as being dissatisfied with Alston. "I don't deny having told them off," said Alston, "but it's all greatly exaggerated and out of proportion. As far as the team is concerned nothing has been said."

"We were going bad and I just wanted to try something else, so I held a little meeting," he continued. "On too many occasions our pitchers have had an 0-2 count on a batter and on the next pitch the ball goes sailing out of the park."

"That's not good baseball, but I don't go around raising a lot of hell. They can make mistakes just like I can make mistakes. And when an 0-2 pitch goes over the fence, a major league pitcher should know he's made a mistake. I don't have to tell him."

YMCA Olympic Day Slated

A YMCA Olympic Day, for children of elementary grade levels, will be staged at Steer Stadium Tuesday, July 31, starting at 9 a.m., under the direction of Jimmy Ray Smith. Children from seven through 13 years of age are eligible. Trophies will be awarded to outstanding members in each of the Fun Clubs and ribbons will go to winners in each event. There'll be such events as horse shoe pitching, washer pitching, archery contests, chariot racing, piggy-back racing and potato sack racing. Smith said plans were in the making to stage the Olympics annually.

Kucks And Pierce Are Best '20' Bets

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty victories, the season's mark most coveted by baseball's pitchers, probably will be reached by more major leaguers this season than in any year since 1951. Johnny Kucks of the New York Yankees and Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox head the parade of the likely 20-game winners while 11 others also stand a good chance of making the grade. This showing is in direct contrast with the 1955 campaign when only Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies and Don Newcombe of Brooklyn reached the prized goal.

Daily Average Oil Production Down

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and condensate fell 5,300 barrels during the week ended July 14 to 7,063,650 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

The week's output brought the Journal's estimate of 1956 production to 1,403,056,270 barrels compared to 1,319,004,760 barrels a year ago.

California had the largest decline, dropping 4,000 barrels to 963,400 barrels. Colorado recorded the best gain, up 2,400 barrels to 164,700. Nebraska rose 2,200 barrels to 40,700.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 3,001,800 barrels.

Ex-Revenue Chief Scores Income Tax

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Former Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews says the federal income tax is "vicious and evil."

"The income tax is such an evil thing," he said, "that I doubt whether anyone can patch it up in such a way that we can live with it."

One of his chief objections, he told the Beverly Hills Rotary Club, is that the income tax deprives Americans of rights guaranteed by Article IV of the Bill of Rights, which states that citizens shall be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Illinois State Auditor Quits Amid Probe Of 'Irregularities'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Orville E. Hodge, 52-year-old reputed millionaire, quit under fire yesterday as Illinois state auditor amidst an investigation of alleged financial irregularities involving more than half a million dollars.

The resignation climaxed a scandal in the auditor's office which jolted the GOP administration of Gov. William G. Stratton and which could have an effect on the November presidential and state elections in Illinois.

Hodge, leading vote getter on the state GOP ticket four years ago, also withdrew as the party's nominee for re-election and as delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention.

The resignation, announced at a news conference by Stratton, came several hours after a Sangamon County grand jury began its investigation of Hodge's tangled financial affairs.

State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon, also a Republican, said the jury is looking into reports that at least 42 state warrants (checks) issued by Hodge's office were cashed under "questionable circumstances."

Coutrakon placed their total value at $544,000.

Hodge's resignation came some two months after a newspaper reader appeared at the Chicago Daily News offices and told an editor he thought there was something worth investigating about Hodge.

That tip set the newspaper on the trail of alleged irregularities in the state auditor's office. Other newspapers soon joined in the search for information.

Stratton, who previously had served an ultimatum on Hodge to get out of office and off the GOP state ticket, accepted the resignations, effective immediately.

The governor technically has no direct control over the state auditor, an elected official.

Hodge, who amassed his fortune through real estate and insurance business operations, was visibly shaken as he left the executive mansion conference.

"I'm beat, fellows," he told newsmen. Then he added: "But I didn't kill anybody, did I?"

It apparently marked the end of Hodge's aspirations for the governor's chair in the 1960 elections. He made a try for the nomination in 1952 but stepped aside for Stratton and ran for auditor. Stratton is seeking re-election this year.

The resignation halted all money disbursing functions of state government, pending appointment of a successor. This included pay checks to state employees and to recipients of various forms of relief.

Hodge has been subpoenaed to testify next Monday before the Sangamon County grand jury, holding its deliberations in Springfield, the state capital.

Arsenic Cause Of Legate's Illness

NEW YORK (AP)—Deadly arsenic dust sifting down from the paint on her bedroom ceiling in Rome reportedly caused the long series of illnesses that have plagued Clare Booth Luce, U.S. ambassador to Italy.

The reason for the strange sickness was kept secret for more than a year.

Last night Time magazine disclosed the whole bizarre tale after friends told Mrs. Luce they had heard snatches of the story. The envoy's husband, Henry R. Luce, is editor in chief of the magazine.

Mrs. Luce, former playwright and Republican congresswoman from Connecticut, was named ambassador to Rome in 1953. On her arrival she moved into the 17th century Villa Taverna, official residence of U.S. ambassadors.

Then for 20 months tiny specks of the poisonous arsenic fell unsuspected from the paint on the ornate bedroom ceiling. The arsenic powdered her breakfast coffee. In summer the paint gave off arsenous fumes, which she inhaled.

The magazine's story continued: After a year's residence Mrs. Luce began feeling tired and ill. Nervousness and nausea followed. She found one night she could hardly manage to waltz at an art festival because her right foot turned numb.

In the summer of 1954 she came home for a thorough medical checkup in a New York hospital. Doctors said she was suffering from serious anemia and nervous fatigue.

After two months she felt better and returned to Rome.

The symptoms soon returned, however, and became ever more distressing. She began to lose hair by the brushful. Her fingernails became brittle. Her teeth loosened.

She was confined to her bed more and more.

Late in 1954 she went to a U.S. Navy hospital in Naples. The diagnosis: arsenic poisoning.

Mrs. Luce realized at once she was in a ticklish situation. Delicate diplomatic relations might be jeopardized if the news were made public.

Within a week the poison was traced to the arsenate of lead in the bedroom ceiling. The room was quickly repainted with non leaded paint, eliminating the danger.

Town Replaces Too-Young Worker

JAMESTOWN, R. I. (AP)—Last week the town fired Douglas F. Cunha as a parking fee collector at the town beach. The Beach Committee found that he was only 13, too young to obtain working papers.

Now the town has hired two men — Steven Morgan, 18, and Douglas' father Manuel—to replace the youngster.
