PARALYZED FOUR YEARS

Lamesan Spends 35th Birthday In Iron Lung

By BETTY CAMPBELL
LAMESA — Today residents of Lamesa are stopping their busy schedule and sending a card, writing a note of cheer or dropping in to visit Elbert Harvick, 1304 North 12th St.

Today is his 35th birthday — his 4th in an iron lung.

It was just four short years ago that Elbert was stricken on July 22, 1952 with bulbar and spinal polio and was paralyzed from his waist down. It is here that his story begins, a story not of a little man, but one filled with courage and determination.

He had been working with his brother, H. V. Harvick, in the deep breaking, bulldozing and land clearing business in Dawson County when he first complained of a headache and two days later was in a local hospital where he was found to have polio. He was taken to Abilene in an iron lung and remained there for three months and then back home, in the lung, this time in a moving van. After three months he was taken to Houston where for five months he was in a polio clinic.

The next birthday is one he will never forget for he came home, this time to stay with his wonderful wife, Billie, whom he had married in 1940, and lovely daughter, Tonja. In order to keep the family together Billie and Tonja lived in Abilene and Houston and before returning to Lamesa Billie took a course of instruction on how to care for her husband in his iron lung.

Elbert says there are thousands of dollars in equipment in his 12-1/2 room.

"Without the aid of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis through the local chapter we could never have made it," stated Mrs. Harvick. They continue to furnish her household help six days a week in the person of Betty Oeltjen who is practically indispensable since the need for a registered nurse has vanished.

The family is especially happy that "Dad" doesn't have to spend all of his time now in the "tin can" — only 16 hours a day — and can spend as much as five hours in his rocking bed and three hours with his chest respirator when necessary. He is looking anxiously for a new respirator as he is exchanging his old one for a portable chest respirator which is really a reclining chair with a rocking motion like his bed. He explained that he used parts of an old washing machine as well as an old cultivator and had his women do the work in carrying out his ideas.

"It's just a little slower this way," he jokingly remarked. Even though his hands must be idle he is never one to let his mind be idle and just this week he supervised the air conditioning of his iron lung with the fan off a Ford heater. He explained that the iron lung was very hot and this air conditioning is a great improvement.

When his first battle with polio was over he weighed less than 70 pounds, but now he has gained back some of the weight he lost, and the amazing part is that his hair which was once "salt and pepper" has very few grey hairs in it now. He told this reporter that he guesses that he must thrive on lazy living.

Today if you walked up the ramp to the Harvick home and went in expecting to see a sickly man, feeling sorry for himself, you're in for a big surprise. That man, though having had polio, has come out with an unconquerable spirit, one that leaves you feeling:

Wasn't I lucky to get to visit for a few minutes and wish Elbert Harvick a happy birthday."

LOOK TO CRMWD?

Water Problem Plagues Midland

A mounting need for additional water for Midland came before the city council of that city Tuesday, and one source suggested that Midland should look into possibility of getting water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

No definite steps were taken in that direction, but the Midland council did employ an engineering firm to make a complete study of water sources, both underground and surface.

Midland has called for voluntary restriction on home water use, and residents were requested to follow an alternate-day water sprinkling plan. In spite of this, said the Midland Reporter-Telegram, new records of water usage were in sight. The city one day this week used 15,630,000 gallons, near the record of 15,710,000 established in June.

Some areas of the city are reporting little or no pressure, and a new pipe line project is being rushed to try to remedy that situation.

W. C. Jackson Jr., president of the First Southwest Co. of Dallas, a bond firm, told the Midland officials and a financial advisory committee that Midland should not rule out the availability of water from Lake J. B. Thomas, the CRMWD's main source of supply.

Ike-Congress Battle Looms Over 2 Issues

Senators Seeking To Curtail Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today faced a battle with senators over two congressional attempts to curtail his field of executive operations.

Democratic senators made it clear they intend to stick by their demand that the President and Secretary of State Dulles get approval of the Senate Appropriations Committee before making any commitment to help finance the Aswan Dam in Egypt. In another field, Sen. Russell (D-Ga) led a move to revive a congressional mandate requiring advance approval of the Senate and House Armed Services committees for spending some defense appropriations.

The requirement, affecting development of the Talos missile and construction of housing for servicemen, caused Eisenhower to veto Monday a two-billion-dollar military construction bill which contained it.

At Eisenhower's urging, the House passed quickly yesterday a new bill without the offending provisions. But both Russell and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said the Senate will act with less haste.

Russell, influenced on both the Senate Armed Services and Appropriations committees, said he planned no immediate action but might find a way to renew the restrictions in a final supplemental appropriation measure still being considered in committee.

If Congress approves that action, Eisenhower might have to decide between no funds for certain administration requests and acceptance on an unwanted congressional committee review.

Egypt's Ambassador Ahmed Hussein said his country has decided to turn to the West — rather than to Russia — for financing of the $1,200,000,000 proposed Aswan Dam on the Nile.

But Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he will stand by a restrictive statement the Appropriations Committee put into its report on the $4,105,000,000 foreign aid bill. The committee directed that no funds of any kind "be used on this dam without prior approval of the Committee on Appropriations."

Unlike the mandate requiring consultation on guided missile and housing developments, the Aswan Dam policy statement is carried only in the Appropriations Committee's report and not in the foreign aid bill on which the Senate will act next week.

Thus it would not be subject to a presidential veto such as that which sent the military construction bill back to Congress. Nor would it be legally binding, though it would carry great weight.

Police Officer J. E. Begue inspects bullet holes in a sleek, black sports car found abandoned in Hollywood, Calif., with a patch of blood on the front seat. Police are searching for Robertson.

MISS UNIVERSE

U.S. Entry Will Be Chosen Today

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Miss United States will be selected today from among 16 girls chosen as the outstanding American beauties at the Miss Universe contest.

The stage was set for her selection when the original list of 43 American girls was whittled down last night by a panel of judges.

Whoever emerges tonight will be pitted against 29 girls from foreign countries in the competition to pick Miss Universe. The final selection will be made Friday night.

Still in the running after parading past the judges, first in flowing formal gowns and then in bathing suits, are:

Maija Bertulson, Arizona; Nancy McCollum, Arkansas; Karen Keeler, Colorado; Carol Morris, Iowa; Charlene Holl, Maryland; Barbara Sias, Michigan; Sherry Lewis, Nebraska; Dolores Winfield, New Jersey; Shirley Bagwell, North Carolina; Eleanor Wood, Ohio; Marilyn Turner, Oregon; Betty Cherry, South Carolina; Stella Wilson, Tennessee; Jo Dodson, Texas; Cheryl Brown, Utah; and June Svedin, Washington.

Voluntary Curbs On Water Use Called For In Lamesa

LAMESA — City Manager Carroll Taylor has appealed to residents of Lamesa to cooperate with the city on voluntary restrictions for watering lawns in the city.

Beginning today, occupants of houses with even numbers may water their yards, and tomorrow residents with odd house numbers may water.

This program of alternating is entirely voluntary at the present, Taylor said, and there is no water emergency yet. "This is a precautionary measure," he emphasized.

Water production from the various wells of the city averages about 3.6 million gallon per day; on Monday production dropped to 3.4 million gallons, and may have dropped a little more today. However, a new well is being tied into the city lines today, and tentative scheduling calls for two more wells to be in production next week.

Missing Man Sought After Car Is Found

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What happened to the Texas owner of the bloody, bullet-scarred sports car? Police wanted to know today.

There were no new clues in the disappearance of Eugene Robertson, 28, whose flashy car was found abandoned early yesterday in an alley behind a Hollywood hotel.

The car's windshield and a window were shattered by four bullet holes. The upholstery was spotted with blood. The lights were on and the radio was playing.

Robertson has not been seen since he kept a dinner date Monday with Miss Juanita Walker, 29, a pretty secretary from Robertson's home town of Sudan, Robertson came here three weeks ago after selling his auto body shop in Sudan.

Robertson since coming here, had lived in an apartment with a brother, William, 28.

The brothers moved to Texas four years ago. Eugene and his mother, Mrs. Grace Chesler Robertson, settled in Sudan, but William returned a short time later to California. They originally were from Riverside and San Francisco.

The mother was killed in an auto accident near Sudan last year.

An aunt, Mrs. Ed Hart of Anton, Tex., described Eugene as a "quiet boy." She said she didn't believe Robertson received more than a few hundred dollars for his Sudan business.

"He was not the kind of boy to flash money," Mrs. Hart said. "If he had a dollar on him, you would never know it."

Robertson's father was believed to be farming near Dalhart, Tex.

Cool Front Raises Hopes For Showers

By The Associated Press
 A stationary cool front across Texas raised hopes Wednesday that the cooling thundershowers which the Panhandle and Red River Valley have received will continue in the state.

The Weather Bureau said the front early Wednesday was on a line south of El Paso and Abilene eastward to north of Waco and through Tyler and Texarkana.

El Paso, Amarillo, Lubbock and Wichita Falls received light overnight showers. Early Wednesday, skies were clear in South Texas and partly cloudy over the rest of the state.

Foundation Loses Another Appeal

Malone and Hogan Clinch-Hospital Foundation, seeking a rehearing before the Texas Supreme Court on application for writ of error, was overruled by the court at its session today in Austin.

The foundation was seeking to pursue further its opposition to a suit brought by the City of Big Spring and the Big Spring school district to force it to pay taxes.

Contention of the foundation is that it is a non-profit institution and that tax levies against it are not proper. The supreme court had overruled the original appeal brought by the foundation. Action on yesterday writ on a motion for rehearing for writ of error.

McKeon Defense Shapes Up At Marine Court - Martial

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — The defense maintained today S-Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon owed "no apology to anyone" for the night march in which six Marine recruits drowned.

Thus defense attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York City laid down the lines on which he hopes to prove the 31-year-old former drill instructor was guilty of no wrongdoing.

McKeon is appearing before a general court-martial. He is the man who led 74 recruits on a night march into a tidal creek April 8. Six did not come back.

Berman said he would attempt to prove that the methods used by McKeon on that fateful night "were part and parcel of the war and 'wood' of the methods by which this Corps had made its wonderful tradition."

McKeon, whose home is at Worcester, Mass., pleaded innocent yesterday to the two major charges against him—inventory manslaughter and oppression of recruits.

On two minor charges—drinking in barracks and in the presence of a recruit—he said nothing. As a result, the court ordered the court-martial to proceed as if he had pleaded innocent.

This morning the defense and the government prosecutor, Maj. Charles B. Sevier, of Jacksonville, Ill., made their opening statements.

Sevier said only in a brief statement of about five minutes that "the presentation of evidence will be lengthy. It is our intention" to reconstruct the events which are the subject matter of the charges.

The square-shouldered Marine major, scarred on the left cheek, said also that he would ask the court to view the area in which the tragedy occurred.

Berman was more voluble. In his opening statement, he told the board:

"Nowhere in the charges is there one word or charge or suggestion that the accused was either drunk, intoxicated or under the influence of alcohol in the slightest."

In summing up the points the defense hopes to prove that at the time, "in terms of Marine Corps training, the platoon was not sharp, was not disciplined."

When he led the platoon into the water, Berman related, McKeon was out front, "carefully reconnoitering. And at no time was he in water above his chest—his armpits."

dropping bits of advice like, "When you get in combat at night stay out of the light. When you ford a stream, stay close to the banks if possible."

While the march was under way Berman told the court, "the men scattered into groups—and one group wandered off."

"There was a sharp cry of help from one man—and Platoon 71 panicked. Men started to grab belts and jumped on one another."

Berman said McKeon rescued one man and thrice was pulled under by a struggling recruit.

"Another 10 seconds and there would be no reason for this occasion," the attorney observed.

The plain facts are, Berman contended, that McKeon was using training methods condoned by the service.

"While he marched with the men," Berman said, "McKeon kept

FINANCIAL SCANDAL

Illinois Governor Prospect Blighted

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Orville E. Hodge, only a few weeks ago a bright prospect for governor of Illinois, today is a "beaten" man, his political career blighted by a financial scandal that might affect the outcome of the November presidential and state elections in Illinois. The man sometimes referred to as "most popular man in Springfield" said he was through Monday. He resigned as state auditor, an office to which he was elected in 1952 by a margin greater than all others, save one, on the state Republican ticket. He drew even more votes in 1952 than the man who demanded he quit as auditor—Gov. William G. Stratton. As a proven votegetter, and as an affable man admired by Republican leaders and rank-and-file alike, Hodge had been a good bet to bid for the GOP candidacy for governor in 1956. This was his fondest ambition. Then in a series of recent revelations, it was disclosed that at least 42 state warrants (checks) were unexplainedly issued by his office and cashed for $544,000. Investigators say even more funds may be missing—and some sources say the ultimate figure in mishandled state money will total more than $800,000. Now, as Stratton and other Republican leaders attempt to preserve party confidence for the November election, Hodge has been dumped from the ticket as a candidate to succeed himself. In the interim, his job as state auditor will be filled by Dr. Lloyd M. Morey, 70-year-old president emeritus of the University of Illinois. Still facing Hodge are possible charges growing out of a number of current investigations. He said in a statement yesterday, after a conference with State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon of Sangamon County, that he would reimburse the state "to the full extent of my resources" and make a full disclosure of his activities before a grand jury. He said he would "attempt to hold the state of Illinois from any loss because of my actions." One source reported Hodge had told Stratton and Atty. Gen. Latham Castle he believed he could raise a maximum of $400,000. Hodge's career prior to the scandal in his office was markedly successful—both politically and in a business sense. He was born in Indiana 51 years ago and as a small boy moved to Granite City, Ill., a town of about 30,000 near St. Louis. The family was considered well to do and Hodge, after graduation from Granite City High School, attended Washington University and the Benton School of Law in St. Louis. He married, became the father of a son, now 22, and became owner of the Hodge Agency in Granite City, a real estate and insurance firm, on the death of his father. He and his wife, the former Margaret Coudy of Granite City, own farms in Madison and Clinton counties in Illinois, have interests in a farm produce ranch in Pecos, Tex., and in a Missouri stock farm, and own the $600,000 Esquire apartment hotel in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., as well as several large commercial buildings in the Granite City area. Hodge also is director of the Paramount Fire Insurance Co. of New York and a director of the Mercantile Mortgage Co. of Granite City. He was known as perhaps the greatest joiner in Granite City. He belonged—and was active in—such organizations as the Masons, Elks, Moose, Rotary and Eagles and was an avid athletic fan, once owning shares in the old St. Louis Browns major league baseball team. He was elected to the Illinois General Assembly in 1946 and served three successive two-year terms. In 1952 he announced he would run for governor, but withdrew when offered the position as candidate for state auditor on the GOP ticket. Elected to the state office by a big margin, Hodge immediately reset his sights on the governorship. Friends said this ambition was behind a lot of the free-wheeling spending for which he quickly became noted. Tall, curly-haired, good looking and an impeccable dresser he developed his greatest reputation as a host. He acquired a palatial, multiple-level home on Lake Springfield and equipped it with piped phonograph music, air conditioning and lush furnishings. Here, and in his large home in Granite City, he entertained the greats of Illinois politics. Simultaneously, he maintained suites in the St. Nicholas Hotel in Springfield and in the Drake Hotel in Chicago—paying an estimated $25,000 over a period of 40 months for the Drake quarters. He had four automobiles, a yacht and two airplanes, keeping a pilot on his payroll although he often flew the craft himself.

Thomas Fly To Meeting In El Paso Clyde Thomas Sr. and Mrs. Thomas left today by plane for El Paso where they will attend the first day's session of annual meeting of the Texas Flying Farmers. On the following day, the Flying Farmers will go to Ruidoso, N. M., for the second session. Thomas said that it was estimated 100 members of the group would be on hand for the meeting.

with the American Guild of Musical Artists (AGMA) earlier this year. The union threatened then to prefer charges against Herman for acting on behalf of management. The Met replied that it would cancel the 1956-57 season if the union had not signed by last night both a contract and an agreement to drop charges against Herman. Last night the union, representing 220 singers and dancers among the Met's 500 employees, said it made a last-minute proposal to sign the contract and continue talks on the Herman issue later. But the company said no. The Met's statement said: "The association has taken the position that AGMA cannot insist that everyone who does an AGMA job must be an AGMA member and at the same time challenge the right of management personnel to be members of AGMA." The opening of the new season, a gala social event each year, was scheduled for Oct. 29. Performances were to run until April 20 when the company was to start its annual spring tour.

Labor Fuss Closes Metropolitan Opera

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera, famed old queen of American musical companies, canceled the 1956-57 season last night in a labor squabble. Opera lovers hoped for a change of heart on both management and union sides. They remembered a similar cancellation in the summer of 1948. The glittering opera house on Broadway faced a dark and silent winter that year because of a wrangle with a musicians union, but differences were patched up after the cancellation. The curtain was to rise for the season three weeks ago. The cancellation ordered last night is an argument over by Robert Herman, former Brookline player Babe Herman is an assistant stage director and also an assistant to the artistic director. He is a union member in the first job but not in the second. He served as secretary to the management in long negotiations

Cotton Traders Aid Export Plan

DALLAS (AP)—Traders on the Dallas and other cotton exchanges are doing a lively—and they hope profitable—business these days moving part of Uncle Sam's hoard of old cotton out of government warehouses. But exchange officials say that much of the old cotton being brought for export at about 30 per cent under U.S. domestic prices may find its way to mills in the eastern coast states. Many of the bales that will move overseas after August 1—said J. E. Surovik of Mt. Pleasant. The moisture has helped the grasses and late crops, but more rain is needed, he said. "All crops are needing rain except cotton," Surovik said. "Watermelons and cantaloupes are being marketed. Peaches are still being marketed."

Much of the cotton sold by the government at the low prices in its warehouses near the eastern cotton mills. Texans who buy it can resell to the nearby mills without much transportation cost. Most Texas cotton used to go overseas from Texas ports. That is what's likely to happen this year, Hunt says. Hunt says the traders can use their profits and freight cost savings on the old cotton sold to eastern mills and buy the new cotton for shipment from Texas ports after August 1 at comparatively little freight cost, thereby fulfilling their commitment to the government to send abroad the same number of bales that they bought from the Commodity Credit Corp. at the low price.

Jehovah's Witness Group Is Planning District Assembly

The Big Spring congregation of Jehovah's witnesses is making preliminary plans to attend a four-day district assembly in Lubbock July 26-29. The object of the program, Lester Rains, minister, said, "is to equip every one of the preaching fellowship of Jehovah's witnesses in the practical use of the Bible as a help to fortify the spiritual morale of the people in our community." Rains said that Jehovah's witnesses are enrolled in ministerial training of at least five classes weekly. For that reason, the Watch Tower Bible & Tract Society, sponsors of the four-day district assembly, have arranged the Christian training program, he explained. The entire program will be held at the Fair Park Coliseum in Lubbock. More than 2,500 delegates are expected to attend. The high point of the assembly will be the public talk, "Why Permanent Peace Will Come in Our Day!" to be given at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, July 29. All sessions are free and open to the public.

Corn Withers Under Drought

DALLAS (AP)—Cotton held on, but corn withered in the drought of North, Central and East Texas last week, district farm agents told the Dallas News today. Spotted showers were not enough to improve the gloomy farm conditions. Corn was cut for silage in most sections and grain sorghum crops were about burned. Ted Martin of Denton said pastures of North Texas are critically dry. Movement of livestock grew heavy during the week. "A tremendous feed shortage can be expected in all sections of the North Texas district this winter," Martin said. "The present need for pasture roughage is critical." He said cotton still is in fair condition.

R. G. Burwell, Central Texas district agent in Stephenville, said cotton still looks green, but has begun to show effects of drought. Pastures are brown and grazing is short, he said. Cattle are being fed. The oat crop has been harvested with light yields. "Early-planted corn matured a short crop," Burwell said. "Late planted corn is drying up. Some is being salvaged for silage and bundle feed. Harvesting of early planted grain sorghum has started with light yields due to drought. The late planted crops must have moisture to mature." In Northeast Texas, scattered showers fell over the district, in some areas as much as an inch, said J. E. Surovik of Mt. Pleasant. The moisture has helped the grasses and late crops, but more rain is needed, he said. "All crops are needing rain except cotton," Surovik said. "Watermelons and cantaloupes are being marketed. Peaches are still being marketed."

Death Decreed In Fatal Stabbing

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Death in the gas chamber has been decreed for John Tipton, 20, convicted of the butcher knife slaying of a young Texas soldier's wife March 22. The death penalty is mandatory since the jury yesterday made no recommendation of mercy. The victim, Mrs. Olea Johnson, 20, had lived next door to Tipton at a nearby Costa Mesa auto court. Mrs. Johnson and her husband, Pvt. Harold Johnson, 19, were formerly of Houston.

Demos Hail Social Security Victory As U.S. 'Benefit'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jubilant Democrats today hailed their Senate victory on the Social Security bill as marking an historic expansion of protection and retirement benefits for American families. The Senate last night, after a 19-hour session, passed 90-0 the bill permitting all women to start drawing retirement payments at age 62 instead of 65 and totally disabled persons to receive benefits starting at age 50. The six absent senators also were recorded as favoring passage. But the Democrats squeaked through 47-45 on the most exciting battle of the debate—the proposal by veteran Sen. George (D-Ga.) to put the disability program into the bill. Voting for it were 41 Democrats and 6 Republicans, while 38

Election Order Being Prepared For Publication

Formal proclamation calling for a county bond election on Aug. 11 is being prepared for publication. The election will be on the question whether the county shall issue $500,000 in permanent improvement bonds to finance construction of a county airport. The election was officially called by the commissioners at their meeting on Monday. Official notice of the election must be published on two successive weeks and formal notices posted at all regular voting places ahead of the election date. Harvey Hooser Jr., county attorney, said that the election will be open to all real estate owning voters of the county who are otherwise qualified to ballot. A simple majority will determine the fate of the proposal. The plans call for the expenditure of the $500,000 for land, to build needed hangars, office quarters, runways, install essential lighting, sanitary provisions and, in general, provide the county with a modern airport. Two possible locations are being considered for the airport. Both of these are east of the city. One problem of location hinges on regulations which stipulate that an airport has to be located a specified number of miles from an established air installation such as Webb AFB.

Republicans and 7 Democrats opposed it. Senators Long (D-La.) and Douglas (D-Ill.) both told a reporter they considered that the Senate's decision on the bill established a landmark in the 21-year history of the Social Security system. Long said the originators and backers of the system have been striving since the 1930s to get disability payments written into the law. They say this now completes a trilogy of protection which heretofore has included retirement and survivor benefits. The House bill, passed last year 372-31, also contained the disability benefits and lowered retirement age for women in a somewhat different form. Thus there are certain to be in the final compromise product. Democrats discounted any threat of a veto by President Eisenhower, even though the administration opposed both the key benefits in the bill as too costly. But they said the measure would provide prime campaign material this fall whether it is signed or vetoed. Long gave full credit to Sen. George for getting the disability provision into the bill. "I do not believe anyone else could have done it," he said. The 78-year-old George, one of the Senate's most powerful orators, told his colleagues in an emotion-choked voice "this is the most important question I have ever presented to the Senate" in a career now drawing to a close after 34 years. He staged a dramatic verbal duel over the amendment with his close friend, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Finance Committee. Byrd had joined with Republicans in that group to strike disability and age 62 retirement for women from the bill as the administration asked. Under the disability plan, an estimated 250,000 persons would draw the payments averaging about $75 a month in the first year. They would have to meet strict requirements of coverage under Social Security, and their disability must last six months before they are eligible for benefits. The lowered retirement age for women also is a trail-breaking provision. It marks the first time that the age 65 retirement deadline has been broken since Social Security started in 1935. An amendment by Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), adopted 86-7, put the provision back into the bill yesterday. The Finance Committee had left the 62 age for widows only. Kerr's proposal restored it also for working women and wives of retired husbands, but specified that they would get a lower rate of payment if they go on the rolls at 62 than if they wait until 65. A wife retiring at 62 would get 75 per cent of her age 65 benefit; a working woman doing the same would get 80 per cent. For each month beyond 62 that they delay retirement, they would get an increased benefit on a graduated scale. The Senate bill provides for a

Eden Faces Storm On Cyprus Problem

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden's government faces a parliamentary storm tomorrow over handling of the Cyprus problem—currently the dominant issue in British politics.

Eden's Conservatives have enough strength to avoid a parliamentary defeat over Cyprus, but tomorrow's debate may reveal the full measure of public misgiving over the policies being pursued there.

Hardly a day goes by without a clash between British military formations and Greek-speaking underground fighters on Cyprus. The island 40 miles from the Turkish coast and almost 600 miles from the Greek mainland is smaller than Connecticut. Of its permanent population of 500,000, 80 per cent speak Greek and the rest Turkish.

Enosis, the movement for union of Cyprus with Greece, claims the allegiance of a wide section of the Greek-speaking community. The Turkish-speaking minority says the island should revert to Turkish control if any change is made. The Turkish-speaking islanders have the support of the Turkish government, just as Athens backs the Greek Cypriots.

Britain's own interests form the third side of the triangle. From Cyprus, British military forces can cover the entire Middle East.

Last week Eden commissioned Lord Radcliffe, a legal expert, to draft a constitution giving Cyprus internal self-government. But the Greek Cypriots want a firm promise of self-determination — the right at some future date to con-

British WACs Win Panty Fight

LONDON (AP) — The British Army has surrendered—the girls in its ranks can wear any kind and any color panties they choose. And the same applies to bras.

Anthony Head, the secretary of war, backed down in the face of incipient mutiny. Also confronting him was one of the most determined members of parliament, Dame Irene Ward.

The girls of WRAC—Women's Royal Army Corps—have been punning for years over government-issue panties.

They are of sturdy material, khaki in color, elastic at the waist and in the region of the knees. And each of a size to accommodate about two girls.

The bras? They fit pretty well if worn over a trenchcoat.

Both bras and panties, said the girls, were apparently designed by a male quartermaster before World War I who had only the foggiest idea about the female figure.

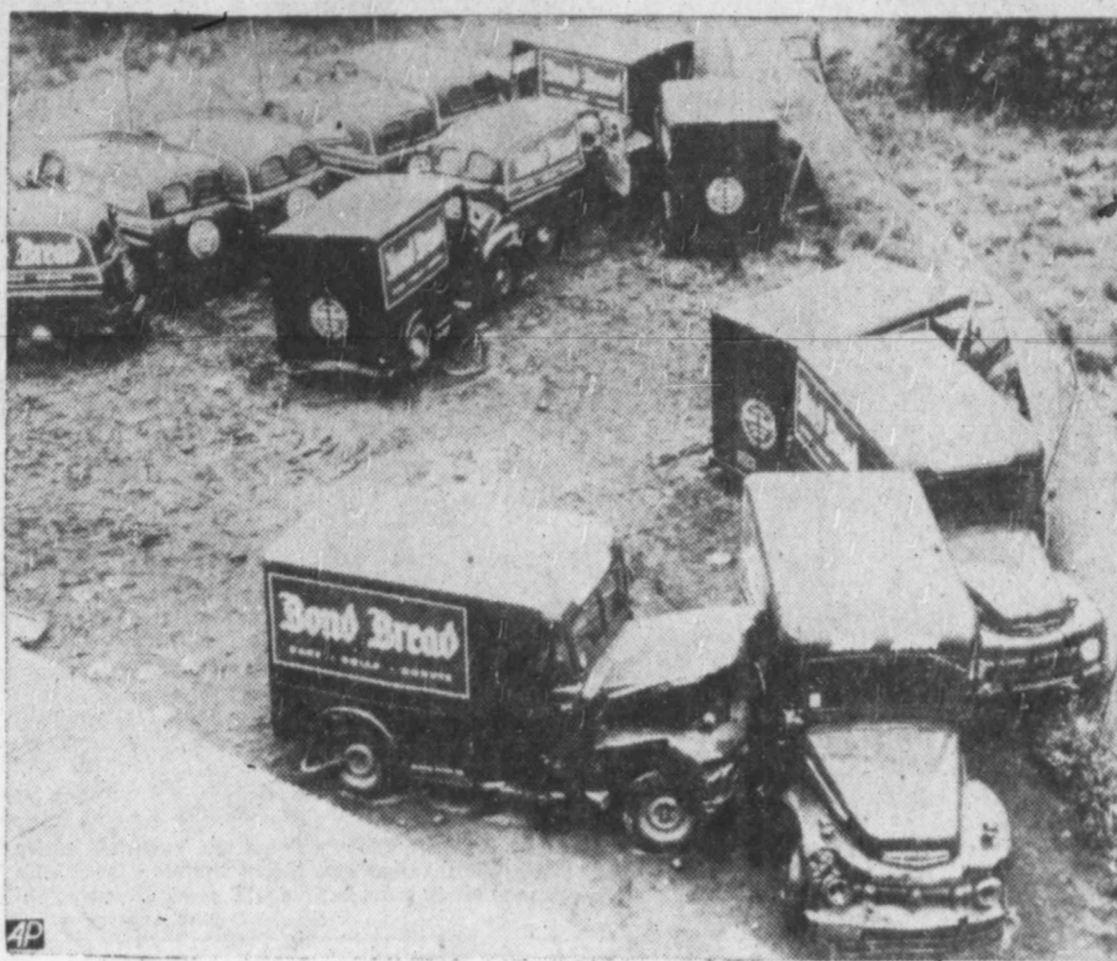

Most of the girls used the panties for laundry bags, and wore undies they bought themselves.

Today Head made this statement in the House of Commons: "We are going to change over to an initial allowance for underclothes in the women's services."

VBS Slated By Stanton Church

Jere Coon is superintendent and the departmental superintendents will be Mrs. J. W. Sale, juniors; Mrs. E. B. Coon, intermediates; Mrs. Clark Hamilton, primary; and Mrs. Robert White, beginners.

Bakery Trucks Wrecked

Twenty-three trucks of the General Baking Company were badly damaged in the storage yard of the plant over the weekend. The damage, which may run as high as $15,000, was believed the work of vandals. Keys to the trucks were left in the ignition and police said the vandals apparently drove the trucks around the lot in Philadelphia, Pa., banging into each other and plowing through fences.

Gen. Van Fleet Undergoes Surgery For Apendicitis

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet was reported today in satisfactory condition after emergency surgery for a gangrenous appendix.

The U. S. 8th Army commander in the Korean War was operated on at Alachua General Hospital yesterday after complaining of stomach distress.

The surgeon, Dr. F. H. Andrews, said in a bulletin at 11 p.m. last night that the 64-year-old general's "condition is satisfactory. Blood pressure and pulse are within normal range but there is a slight variation which you would expect with this sort of thing. I would consider it satisfactory."

The general, who has a home at Hobe Sound in south Florida, stopped off here yesterday after dedicating a shipload of 4-H Club cattle and hogs at Mobile, Ala., for Korean relief.

Taken to a room at the hospital, he demanded—and got—an air conditioner "set up in 10 minutes." A phone also was installed for the exclusive use of Mrs. Van Fleet.

Van Fleet retired in 1953 after a 38-year military career that included front-line duty in two world wars. Before taking command in

Operation Alert Slated Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the explanation that it "fits in better" with President Eisenhower's schedule that way, the government cut 19 hours from its Operation Alert.

That is the Civil Defense evacuation which will send scores of government officials scurrying to secret hideaways from which they will operate beginning Friday at 11 a.m. EDT. The new plan is to end the test Wednesday next at 5 p.m., instead of at noon the following day.

Director Arthur S. Flemming, announcing the change, said the revision will allow enough time "to accomplish all we need to do."

During most of the test, Eisenhower will be in Panama for a meeting of presidents of the American republics. But he will return in time to join in the last two days.

Stanton Masons Erecting Building

STANTON — The Stanton Masonic Lodge hall is nearing completion on the Lamesa highway just inside the city limits.

Frank Roquemore, newly installed worshipful master, said the building will be ready for occupation sometime in late July or early August. The building will be 41.4 feet by 30 feet and will contain a reception room, lodge hall, dining hall, kitchen and lobby. It will have a value of approximately $30,000, but all of the labor and a large part of the material has been donated and Roquemore has been supervising the building construction.

Plans for the building were perfected by Rev. Hugh H. Hunt, former local pastor of the Methodist Church. C. A. Gray, T. R. Londer, George Davis and R. K. Rogers have contributed liberally of their time on the plumbing and wiring work.

Meeting Seen As Neutralist Benefit

NEW DELHI (AP) — One school among Indian observers believes tomorrow's meeting of the world's three leading neutralists in Brioni will materially strengthen the creed of nonalignment in this part of the world.

Another group insists the greatest result of the meeting of Prime Minister Nehru, President Nasser and President Tito on the Yugoslav island will be the improving of the positions of the three national leaders in their home countries.

Nehru likely will welcome the meeting as a means of hearing Tito after his Moscow visit confirm Nehru's own view that the new Soviet policy is friendly and directed toward peace.

Officials here insist that Nehru has no intention of joining Yugoslavia and Egypt in any sort of "neutrality bloc" or third force sponsoring nonalignment. Nehru has frequently rejected the idea of such a move, holding that establishment of any formal obligation for nonalignment would defeat the very purpose of neutralism.

Nevertheless, Indian observers expect the three leaders to spend plenty of time talking nonalignment. They believe that from these discussions will come a new strength for the three participants at home, if not outside.

City's Audit Cost $2,731

The city paid over $2,700 to find out its accounting and tax records were correct last year.

Neil Hilliard, certified public accountant, audited the city's records for the fiscal year ending March 31. He reported to the city commission July 10 on the audit.

Cost of the audit was $2,731.35. Hilliard claimed $2,600 for the audit and the remaining $131.35 was for printing and preparing the report. Twelve copies of the audit were printed.

Included in the cost of printing was charge for printing a reconciliation of accounts — a separate document from the audit.

Charge for the work in 1955 — also conducted by Hilliard — was $2,245.55.

Copies of the audit are on file at the city hall in the office of the city secretary for any person who wishes to examine it.

'Breakfast Club' Planned By C-C

Plans to organize a "breakfast club" for Chamber of Commerce members were discussed Monday at a meeting of directors of the organization.

First of the monthly meetings will be held in August. Date for the event has not been set, but the session will start at 7:15 and be concluded by 8 a.m.

Directors also heard several reports. Ralph White told of the bracer pay discussions held last week at Snyder by Chamber of Commerce and farm organization representatives. Jack Cook discussed the airport bond election called for Aug. 11 by county commissioners. E. P. Driver reported on plans for the annual rodeo and urged directors to help with the advance sale of tickets. Vic Alexander announced that he will award a watch to the best all-around cowboy of the rodeo.

Rodeo Tickets Now On Sale

Tickets for Big Spring's annual rodeo (Aug. 1-4) have gone on sale at the Chamber of Commerce.

Several box seats still are available in the big rodeo bowl, also. Reservations may be made at the Chamber offices in the Permian Building.

Only two entries have been received for the rodeo parade, to be held the afternoon of Aug. 1, but several others are expected in the next 10 days.

Prizes of $50, $30 and $20 have been posted for the three best floats in the parade, and a trophy will be given the outstanding Sheriff's Posse or other mounted group in the procession.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

With the terrible tragedies of kidnaped babies happening over the United States I have been more mindful of the number of mothers in Big Spring that leave their children unattended in automobiles. Of course I know that shopping with a small child is no picnic but I also know that small children frequently get out of the car and quite often get into traffic. There are other ways of losing your child than to kidnapers. So far as I can recall I know of no such incident in our town; I do know of one 18-months-old child that was taken out of Highway 80 traffic twice in one day by a good Samaritan, and it was down town. The mother, as I remember, was window shopping!

MR. AND MRS. PAT DUNCAN have as their guests, their daughter, Mrs. L. M. Oerline, and her three children, Leon, Georgie and Judy of Amarillo. They will be here for several weeks until they get their port call to join Capt. Oerline in Tripoli, Libya. Capt. Oerline has recently been stationed in French Morocco.

The Duncans have also had their little granddaughter, Jan Reeves of Shreveport, La., as a visitor. She also visited her other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Reeves, before she returned home at the end of the week.

MR. AND MRS. JOHNNY HILL had as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Malone and son, Scott, of Midland.

Leaving Tuesday for a week in Ruidoso were MR. AND MRS. ROY WORLEY, MR. AND MRS. JACK IRONS, MR. AND MRS. TOM GUIN and former residents, MR. AND MRS. GRADY STEVENS of Abilene. MR. AND MRS. SAM MALONE of Pampa will join the party at the resort.

While their parents are in Ruidoso, Mike Worley will continue his visit with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Deakins, at their ranch near Pecos. Billy and Bob are in Ballinger with their grandmother, Mrs. Ira Deakins.

MRS. R. M. THOMPSON of Vega is visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thompson.

A Bible Thought For Today

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any praise, think on these things. (Philippians 4:8)

Airport Means Much To Our Economy

The date has been fixed for a county-wide referendum on the issuance of $500,000 in bonds to finance construction of a public airport. This will be on August 11.

This ought to be regarded as a very vital proposition tied very tightly with the continued economic development of Big Spring and Howard County.

The country is at the age when no community can afford to be without suitable facilities to accommodate private, industrial and commercial air transportation. And the providing of such facilities is just as important to the area round about as it is to the city.

It is true that there was a splendid city-operated airport here at one time, but it is just as true that that facility meant the establishment here of military bases (first the World War II bombardier school and now Webb AFB) that have been of untold value to this county. Few cities anywhere ever were able to bring in military installations—with their payrolls and their local expenditures—at such low cost as did Big Spring and Howard County. In one way, it might be regarded that $500,000 spent for a commercial airport would be a cheap price, indeed, to pay for the economic benefits that have come about from Webb.

The record will show that the area is being by-passed by important industrial and business plane flights every day, simply because there is no landing field to accommodate them. Business men and industrialists are going via air in increasing number, and these same men are missing Big Spring.

At one time, we were a major West Texas center for private flying—and increasingly important business. Now, towns around us have gained much of the play. There is now reason, however, that this kind of enterprise—and expenditure of money—will now be back, with suitable airport facilities.

The airport election issue was not undertaken on the spur of the moment. Few public propositions here have undergone longer study, more thorough analysis as to the best approach and the best solution. A lot of level-headed business men, together with careful-thinking county officials, have recommended this course. Their judgment calls for endorsement at the polls.

Howard County can well afford an airport; other counties are operating them to complete satisfaction. Indeed, Howard County can ill afford to pass up this opportunity. There are many things in favor of the airport, which we hope to list later. Not the least of these is a stabilizing effect on important payrolls which mean so much to us now.

Southern Bolt Now Appears Remote

Half-hearted attempts by the governor of South Carolina and others to stir up a third party revolt in the South this year received what might well be the final blow last Saturday in Atlanta. State Democratic chairmen from seven Southern states met in Atlanta and frowned on the idea of any "bolts, walkouts or third parties" this year. The state chairman of South Carolina had called the meeting for the primary purpose of halting a strong anti-segregation plank at the Chicago convention.

A 500-word statement, unanimously agreed to, spoke rather softly on that point, but the chairmen said they were "disturbed over the invasion of the sovereign rights of the states," and that "we believe the South should work together to protect itself and to preserve the rights of the states and the people as guaranteed by the Constitution."

It was the conviction that a walkout would be futile and tantamount to abandoning the field of battle to the enemy that gave strength to the anti-third party movement, which could only strip the Democratic Party of whatever chance it had and leave the Republicans in possession of the field. Besides, various Supreme Court decisions and particularly the desegregation order in which a Republican attorney general played a leading role went far toward convincing the South that there was no relief to be had by consorting with the ancient enemies of state's rights.

As it is, the embattled Southern Democrats will meet their intraparty foes at Chicago on even terms. As members of the wedding, so to speak, they will have the strength and courage to stand up and slug it out toe to toe with the Northern so-called liberals. They will have the power to modify some of the radical platform declarations contemplated by Northern Democrats, and to save the party from domination by the Humphreys, the Kefauvers, the Harrimans and the Soapy Williamises.

Keeping Lid On Campaign Contributions

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(Writing for Marquis Childs who is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON — Hypocrisy is perhaps as common in politics as anywhere else, maybe more so.

Currently there is a glaring example in the virtual suppression of the special investigation the Senate piously authorized nearly five months ago into the oil and gas lobby behind the ill-fated natural gas bill as well as into political campaign contributions made by oil companies, which included the campaigns of many Senators.

Stalled likewise is a related and long-needed reform. This is a revision of campaign expenditure laws to assure complete and full publicity of all campaign contributions so that the voter may know their source. It also would raise present limits on contributions to make them more realistic in the light of greatly increased costs of political campaigns today.

It was on February 22—George Washington's birthday—that the Senate adopted the resolution setting up a special Senate committee of eight members, of which Senator John L. McClellan (D., Ark.), is chairman, to explore the oil and gas lobby and contributions to political campaigns by oil and gas interests.

It is over a year since the original bill to revise our campaign expenditure laws, a measure sponsored by Senator Tom Hennings (D., Mo.), was placed on the Senate calendar. The public indignation aroused by revelations of activities of the oil and gas lobby on behalf of the natural gas bill focused attention on this long-neglected bill.

That prompted Senate Democratic and Republican leaders to take another look at it. They toned it down, and this watered-down version subsequently has been endorsed by 85 members of the Senate, an overwhelming majority.

But it still has not been brought before the Senate for action.

Nothing has been heard from the committee about political contributions of big oil companies, including those to Senators, and only the other day the staff was instructed to begin to take a look into about 10 oil companies.

It was this phase of the investigation that became the particular concern of the public—as it should have been of the Senate—because of the sensational revelation on the Senate floor by Senator Francis Case (R., S. D.) that the lobbyist of a big California oil company had offered a $2,500 cash contribution to his campaign, which he had rejected.

It was that episode which subsequently led to veto of the gas bill by President Eisenhower as he spoke of the "arrogance" of the oil and gas lobby. The Case sensation also reluctantly forced the Senate to vote the investigation of the lobby and of campaign contributions by oil and gas, amid predictions that little would come of such an inquiry because of the way it was set up.

Those predictions have been borne out thus far.

If you know the Senate, it is not hard to see why. One reason is that a careful scrutiny would show contributions by big oil companies to the campaigns of quite a number of Senators. The cozy club which is the Senate is taking every precaution against embarrassment of its members in its traditional jealous fashion.

Another reason for holding back on the investigation is that Senators do not want to scare off big contributors just before the Presidential and Senatorial campaigns by exposing previous contributors. That might be the effect, too, of the more intense publicity that would result from revising the election laws.

The "slow-down" of the investigation was skillfully contrived by the combined Democratic-Republican leadership, which has kept the special committee staff under such restraints as never before seen by this reporter in more than 30 years of covering Congressional investigations.

This Congressional leadership has given assurances that the lid will be kept on through this session of Congress and presumably for some time thereafter, maybe until after the election.

There was a time when, in such investigations, the committee would simply call in persons involved—in this case, oil company officials—put them under oath and ask them questions—in this case, how much they had contributed, when, and to whom.

But you can't do that, oh no, where Senators are the principals involved. They, our supposed public servants, are privileged characters, though they never give citizens called before them any such break as they now give themselves.

Stepped On!

An Unnecessary Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, still slowly recovering from his operation, flies Friday night to Panama for a postponed meeting which seems unnecessary. It may produce only speeches.

It's to be a good will get-together with most of the heads of the 20 Latin-American countries, at least six of which are dictatorships. One president can't attend because of a broken leg. Trouble at home may keep others away.

Little Panama will have its hands full protecting the visitors, since many of the Latin-American presidents have enemies in exile. And some of the presidents have a long backlog of ill will toward one another.

It would be different if Eisenhower were going to offer some bold program for cooperation with Latin America, provide some new, unifying leadership, or offer a new sense of direction for the 170 million Latin Americans.

He is expected to do none of these things. What he is expected to do is speak in generalities, shake hands, and have a lot of conversation.

They look to this country for help and leadership. This country has given help. But whether it's been enough, or the right kind, depends on which side of the border you're standing.

And not everyone agrees, even in this country, that the United States has been providing much leadership.

Three years ago Eisenhower sent his brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower on a good will tour of 10 Latin-American countries. On his return Milton Eisenhower made nine major, and a number of minor, recommendations for economic cooperation.

Since then some action has been taken on most of those recommendations but not very extensively.

Between World War II and now this country has given Latin America about 2 per cent of the grants (money gifts) and 2 per cent of the loans it provided for the rest of the world.

The Latin Americans reportedly are more interested in loans than gifts. The State Department says they can get more loans than they've asked for, that the money is ready and waiting but that the applications haven't been made.

Alaskan Town Makes A Living From Christmas

NORTH POLE, Alaska (AP)—It's summer up here too (86 degrees last week), but the folks just can't keep their minds off Christmas.

Especially Con Miller, the mayor, postmaster and storekeeper. Christmas, you see, is the little village's year-around industry. It got its name because of the value it would have at Christmas time.

Mayor Miller, although a little young for the job at 42, is the official Santa Claus of North Pole. When he isn't caught in the Christmas rush, he's planning for it.

Postmaster Miller placed his special North Pole stamp on 200,000 Christmas letters last year. The postmark was solicited from as far away as Australia.

Santa Miller also answers thousands of Christmas letters from children, with a Christmas stocking enclosure.

During the Christmas season, Miller dons a St. Nick garb to bring cheer to the kiddies in hospitals and orphanages of Alaska's interior.

"You know, it's kind of funny," he observed with a grin, "but after doing this so long I get to feel as if I am Santa Claus. My wife is threatening to take me to a psychiatrist."

North Pole is an incorporated town of some 350 persons about 14 miles from Fairbanks. It has a school, a cafe, trailer court, two service stations, two taverns and a trading post.

Miller's store, with Christmas paintings outside and candy-striped rafters inside, is the village landmark. It is Santa Claus House, 511 Santa Claus Lane.

Timber Marking

CAMDEN, S. C. (AP)—Forester Roy Cummings apparently inadvertently included something other than trees when he marked a timber tract for cutting with a blue paint-spraying spray gun.

When workmen went into the tract to cut the marked timber they discovered and killed a large rattlesnake with the tell-tale blue spray.

Help Yourself

MUSTANG, Okla. (AP)—Chicken raiser C. S. Young of Mustang—small central Oklahoma community—shaken by a vicious tornado—had a pleasant greeting for sightseers at his shattered chicken houses.

Pointing to stacks of fat fowls killed in the storm, Young invited "Help yourself."

A Vacation, At Home

This season, the place to spend that up and coming vacation is at home, according to a late magazine article. Now, this is sensible with all the promotion for family recreation and outdoor living.

Everyone knows that all vacations should be planned down to minute detail. If the vacation were to be a long trip, arrangements would be made for sleeping quarters, meal stops, enjoyment of scenery on the journey, etc.

For the home vacation, plans must be made just as definitely. What is the family going to do for 16 hours a day for a week? Doing nothing is a lot harder than it may seem, so it is best to plan something.

Now Papa may want to go fishing for two or three days, and Mama is more inclined to want Papa to stay at home with the kids while she goes window shopping all by herself. The children won't really care whether Papa stays at home with them while Mama is gone because they want to be somewhere else. Playing baseball, maybe, or swimming.

Of course, window shopping won't fill a whole week, the kids will be back home when they get hungry, and every fisherman has to give up sometime, so what are you going to do the rest of the time?

A tentative plan might run something like this, and each individual can add his two cents worth.

Food: ready to eat cereal and sandwiches, backyard barbecue which Papa presides over.

Clothing: Just as little as will do.

Activities: Driving around to see local scenery (2 trips). Papa drives once around then Mama does driving and insists Papa watch scenery.

Reading all the books that you never had time for. This depends on getting the books and a place to read them undisturbed. If you happen to be one of those rare characters who can stick his nose in a book and close his eyes and ears to everything else, you have got it made.

Calling on friends in nearby towns and telling them how much you are enjoying your vacation staying at home.

Rework your budget and discover some way to save enough to take a trip next year.

Figure the days, hours, minutes and seconds until you get back to the job, so you will have something to do.

Renting A Dog Beats Lonely Hearts Club

It has long been my contention that the easiest way to make time and influence prospective friends in New York is to walk a dog. It beats joining a Lonely Hearts Club 10 ways from the jack, or even writing the Agony Column.

Two pooches sniffing at each other on Park Ave. or Riverside Drive or Washington Square constitute, in this community, a formal introduction for the parties attached to either leash. In short, a dog is open sesame or open house.

A proper young lady, minus a dog, might feel it incumbent upon her dignity to slap the face of a perfect gent, also dogless, who tries to initiate a conversation with her.

But if both are walking dogs, it is absolutely compe it faut for them to strike up a tete-a-tete (dear me, why is it that French always makes these things sound so much more delicate?) about flea peddlers, veterinarians or house training.

Until recently, all these delicate nuances involved, naturally, the ownership of a dog. And this, in the city, can be a burden, since the poor animal must be apartment-bound most of the time and can never go out unaccompanied.

But, in this best of all possible worlds, these problems are bound to be solved. I have just learned that in this great, fascinating, multifarious city, it is now possible for a young lady (or gentleman) hopeful of widening the circle of her acquaintance to rent a dog for walking purposes.

This eliminates all the bother of having to house and feed the brute (I am, naturally, speaking of the dog), buy him toys, take him to the dog psychiatrist and bathe him. It puts dog possession on the same efficient basis as auto rental by the city. Man who feels it is cheaper and less bothersome to hire a car than own one in New York.

All one has to do in the dog rental service is to pick up the pooch, hoping—in turn—that he will pick up something for you. Of course, the rental service makes no guarantee of positive results as a good hit depends upon the renter after contact has been made. But since it is axiomatic that every man should have a dog and every girl should have a husband, these things usually work out.

One or two of my young friends who belong to the brisk, blunt modern generation believe that it would be less bother just to rent a man and pick up a dog later. And eventually, such a service may develop.

But in the meantime, the dog rental service is the best invention since Cupid.

We are offered in new and charming form further evidence that the dog is, indeed, man's best friend, to say nothing of a girl's. It is always possible that a genteel knight who on first sight takes a noble interest in man's best friend, may extend this interest to the maiden ailing her part-time pooch.

It is just possible that the dog rental business may eventually work a miracle and turn every year into Leap Year.

Soviet Claims All Social Improvements

(Ninth of a series.)

Put yourself, if you can, in the place of Marshal Tito, ruler of Yugoslavia, or his striking black-haired wife, Jovanka. You're told that the Moscow ballet is to give a special performance of "Laurentia" at the Bolshoi Theater in your honor. Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev don't want you to leave Moscow without seeing it.

Naturally, you feel upset. Especially when you learn that an Armenian dance company had the Bolshoi booked for that evening; that tickets had been sold; but that the show had been canceled for your special benefit. When you see "Laurentia" you quickly understand the program change. This is a Soviet "morality" play. It conveys a message.

Laurentia is the belle in a small village ruled over by a harsh princeling. He takes a fancy to Laurentia. She rebuffs his advances, of course. He sends out his troops and takes her to his palace. He tires of her. Out she goes. But Laurentia has spirit. She harangues the women of the town. Will they countenance such an outrage? They rally the men. The townspeople—men and women—rise up and overthrow the princeling, burning his palace in a grand finale of flames and social justice.

Any resemblance of "Laurentia" to the recent uprising in Poznan, Poland, would never enter a staunch Communist's mind. The princeling represents capitalism, cruel, harsh and hateful. Laurentia represents all the oppressed who must unite in a common effort to overthrow the capitalist oppressors. And Tito, on seeing "Laurentia," is expected to identify himself with Khrushchev and Bulganin—all common leaders in the battle against privilege and the Western world.

The message is for export as well as domestic consumption. The oppressors are the so-called colonial powers—Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, and by association, America. The oppressed are the people in underdeveloped countries. The message appeals to people who want change, to persons with dark skins, who feel resentment against the white race—a resentment from which the Russian Communists have managed to detach themselves.

The message gets across to the Russians, too, particularly the younger Russians. The day before I left the Soviet Union, I had an interview with Ivan Ivanovich Kozlov, chairman of the Department of Social Security of the All-Union Central Soviet of Trade Unions. He was explaining that pensions depend on a worker's salary. I said:

"That's similar to our system."

"The interpreter, a girl about 26, couldn't contain herself. She forgot her role—that of passive translator. She blurted out:

"Do you mean you have pensions in the United States?"

To many Russians, Communism has a patent on all social improvements. This is the new life, something that didn't happen under the czars, that can't happen under Capitalism: Free medical care; pay during illnesses; maternity benefits to women workers; prizes to mothers who have three or more children; extremely low rents, 3 per cent to 5 per cent of wages; tax deductions for children; low-cost vacations at summer resorts; camps for youngsters in the summer, again, at extremely low rates; plans for extending compulsory school attendance from seven to ten years; monthly stipends to university students, with bonuses for those who show unusual talent.

To young Communists, capitalists are the owners of business, whose sole function is to grind work out of workers and then toss them aside to die in a poorhouse in their discarded old age.

U. S. social benefits—old-age pensions, unemployment compensation, company plans for retirement—are known to a relatively few Russians. When you mention that American workers can buy hospitalization insurance and that some companies provide it in labor contracts, the response is: "But our government provides it free." The Soviet Union is one place in which people still believe you get something for nothing.

British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd has said this: "The Russian steamroller of today is not likely to be a military one. It consists of a great mass of technicians, technologists, teachers, business, and other experts, all intended to export Communism at the same time as they export their goods and services. This is a conflict, call it competitive coexistence, infinitely to be preferred to nuclear war, although it is a conflict which might have most dangerous consequences for our free institutions and those of other free countries of the world."

It's a conflict in which the United States and the Western world have a head start and other great advantages. It would be foolish to underestimate the strength, determination, and ability of the rulers of Russia. But it's also well not to overrate them and thereby underrate ourselves.

Big Leagues Open Their Own Three-Ring Circus

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Ringing Brothers may have folded, but major league baseball opened a three-ring circus of its own last night.

Braves that ballooned into a free-for-all at Milwaukee. The tail-end Giants, who had lost seven in a row, won 8-6 in 11 innings, halting Milwaukee's winning streak at seven.

The defeat trimmed the Braves' National League lead to one game over Cincinnati after the Redlegs had knocked off third-place Brooklyn 4-3. Unbeaten Brooks Lawrence won his 13th, Frank Robinson tied the Redlegs' rookie record with his 20th home run and Duke Snider was hauled into a Cincinnati police station.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

One of the things that impresses me about big league baseball is the ability of the pitchers to get the "3-F" delivery across the plate.

Dixie Faulkner, the former Big Spring High School girl netter who is convalescing after a mouth operation several months ago, has moved with her family to Shreveport.

Prospects for a girls' winning tennis team here should be good for years to come, if the school can keep its able and hard-working coach, Billie Clyburn.

Nita Beth Farquhar, part of the team that went to the finals in one division of the Abilene Tournament last week, is a junior-to-be. Her partner, Joyce Downing, has three seasons of eligibility remaining.

Betty Ellison, another splendid young netter, was an Eighth Grader last semester.

Work is well along on Plainview's new football stadium. The concrete portion of the stands has been completed and the job of putting the steel together is now well under way, according to reports.

Jim Staley, former quarterback for Kansas State, has been named to succeed Spider Dillon as an assistant football coach at Snyder High School.

Staley will not only become B team football mentor but head track coach, as well.

There is some talk the next head football coach at Big Spring High School will be an Oklahoman, and a disciple of Bud Wilkinson football, at that.

The Pacific Coast Conference isn't the only football league threatening to come apart at the seams.

Rumors are making the rounds in the South that such schools as Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Tennessee and Florida will withdraw from the Southeastern Conference because of the racial problems posed by legislation in Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi.

Such a split would have a healthy effect, as far as Texans are concerned. In what the University of Houston stands to be included in a new alignment of colleges.

Houston has asked for admittance into the SEC but has never received the required number of votes.

Earl Ruby, Louisville sports writer, says the new conference would include Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Florida, Houston and the University of Miami.

In order to secure the Little Rock Southern Association franchise, Montgomery, Ala., had to assure the club of free park rental, water, lights, office space and ground crew, plus a guarantee of $15,000.

Rocky Marciano's life story will be published in the Saturday Evening Post.

Players on the New York Yankee baseball club have a total of 48 children, the latest of whom was born to the Hank Bauers last week. Bob Cerv and wife have five kids.

Linksters May Decide City Championship Next Week

The championship of the City Golf Tournament probably won't be determined before next week.

Bobby Wright, who has reached the finals, is entered in the Odessa Pro-Am Tournament this week and can't play here before Sunday, at the earliest.

He meets the winner of the Randal Carpenter-Jerry Scott semi-final match. Carpenter and Scott must finish their match by Sunday.

Kucks Earning Keep As Yank

NEW YORK (AP)—It was money well spent, that $13,000 the New York Yankees paid Johnny Kucks as a bonus for signing in 1952.

At the time, Kucks was wondering where to try his luck in baseball. He was a fine prospect, but not so outstanding that big league teams were willing to pay highly for his services.

Today, the towering right-hander is the No. 1 pitcher in the majors. He has won 14 games, including his 4-0 shutout of the Detroit Tigers last night, boasts an earned run average of 3.24, and has pulled Yankee Manager Casey Stengel out of what could have been an embarrassing hole.

"I'd sure like to win 20 games, but I'm afraid even to think of it," said Kucks. "After all, this is only my second year with the Yankees and I wasn't even one of the regular starters at the beginning of the season."

How true. At the end of spring training, Stengel had no fewer than five other pitchers tabbed as starters ahead of Kucks. He conceded that if any of the regulars faltered, Kucks might be his man. They've all been having their troubles except Kucks.

"That kid's done wonders for us," croaked Stengel. "Where do you think we'd be without him? He's solved the problem of my starting rotation. He should be even better when he gets more experience."

Bennett Attends Snyder Parley

Roy Bennett, commissioner of Little League baseball in Big Spring, will go to Snyder this evening to meet with directors in other area cities.

At the time, final plans for the district tournament, to be held here starting Monday night, will be ironed out.

Bennett will serve as tournament director.

Nine teams are entered in the district meet, three of them local clubs. The tournament is due to continue through Friday night.

In Vol Game, Cats Kept Up Attack In Cold And Mud

By BOB HOODING
The Associated Press
Should adverse weather conditions dictate conservative tactics in football?

Kentucky's answer to the question in its traditional meeting with Tennessee last year played a vital part in the outcome of the game held in light snow and cold.

The contest took on added significance because Tennessee ranked among the Southeastern Conference leaders with only one league loss. The Wildcats already had dropped three SEC decisions.

Coach Blanton Collier's Kentuckians grabbed an early field goal and led 3-0 in the second period.

Baird Replaces Johnson On Local Junior Team

Steven Baird has replaced Charles Johnson on the Big Spring golf team which will compete in the State Jay-Cee Tournament at Brownwood, starting today.

Johnson, the last person to win a place on the team, is working and has decided against taking the time off for the meet. Johnson replaced Baird on the squad by playing his second 18 holes a couple of days after the tournament was to have ended.

Other members of the local team are Charles (Lefty) Morris, Donald Lovelady and Bunky Grimes.

Upwards to 150 players from throughout the state are due to compete in the Brownwood meet. Expenses of the local boys are being picked up by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

400TH HOMER 'A LONG TIME IN COMING,' SAYS WILLIAMS

BOSTON (AP)—"It was a long time in coming." Thus did Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams characterize the 430-foot blast last night which made him the fifth player in major league history to hit 400 home runs.

Williams did not outwardly appear happy about reaching his personal goal. Maybe it was relief more than anything. Ted, the 27-year-old veteran who lost some of his most productive years due to two service hitchs, smashed Tom Gorman's first pitch in the sixth inning-15 rows into the right field bleachers over the visitors' bullpen in Boston's 1-0 decision over Kansas City. The Sox had captured the opener 10-0 on Tom Brewer's four hitter. "I hit a fast ball," was Ted's terse comment in the dressing room afterward.

Williams still remained well behind his four predecessors in the historic achievement. Babe Ruth had clubbed 714 homers in his major league career, Jimmy Foxx 534, Mel Ott 511 and Lou Gehrig 493.

Williams' homer was his sixth of the season and first since July 8. He had gone 59 games, until June 22, before hitting his first in '56.

AGAINST FLICKS

Cabot Pitchers Toss No-Hitter

Ronnie Cunningham and Jerry Dunlap combined to throw a no-hit game as Cabot nudged the Flicks, 2-0, in American Little League play here Tuesday night.

The Cabot team banked both its runs in the first inning. Cunningham climbed aboard on a fielder's choice and came home on Dunlap's hit. Kenny Eubanks then scored Dunlap with a hit.

Between them, Cunningham and Dunlap struck out 11 batters in the six inning contest.

In the evening's other game, the Cubs remained in front in the race by defeating Piggy-Wiggly, 7-3.

Jimmy Hinds drove out a fifth inning home run for the Bruins with a mate aboard. Buddy Dunlap had a triple and a double for the winners.

IN MILWAUKEE

Adcock, Gomez Spark A Rhubarb

By CHUCK CAPALDO
MILWAUKEE (AP)—A howling crowd of 33,239 saw one of baseball's wildest scenes last night as the Giants' Ruben Gomez hit Joe Adcock twice with a ball — once as Adcock charged the mound and then belted for his dugout, the angry Braves' slugger in hot pursuit.

The Braves' dugout emptied in a swirl of players, racing behind Adcock toward the Giants' dugout. There a stream of Giants piled off the bench and met the onrushing Braves at the top step.

Five Giants surrounded Adcock and held him as he tried vainly to wrench free and chase the 29-year-old Puerto Rican right-hander up the ramp and into the visitors' clubhouse.

Del Rico, Braves' catcher, and outfielder Jackie Brandt met head on at the top of the dugout steps and both tumbled down onto the concrete floor. Giant players ran in from the field and joined the milling mob which for a time appeared to need only one more spark to explode into a full-scale player riot.

After it was over the players said they hadn't heard the national anthem being played by the County Stadium organist. There was too much noise and excitement, they said. The four umpires and six or eight uniformed policemen restored order in about three minutes.

Later, Umpire Lee Ballanfant indicated that he would not recommend suspension for either Gomez or Adcock in a report the umpire must file with National League President Warren Giles.

"They blew up, that's all," Ballanfant said. "We don't think for a minute that Gomez's pitch was meant to be a beanball."

"The teams try again in the same locations Wednesday night. Thursday, league play is suspended for the annual East-West All Star game in Hobbs.

Midland's John Stadnick set the Sports down on four hits to upset the league leaders. All of his runs and three of Hobbs' four hits were allowed in the fourth. Midland bunched all its hits in two innings, gaining six in the fifth inning for four runs to pin the first defeat of the year on Hobbs' Oscar Chinique.

The second-place El Paso club was able to score its lone tally in the first inning only with the help of a pair of errors and a free pass to first. They threatened Jonas Gaines' five-hit performance only in the ninth, with two of the El Paso hits and a scoring threat.

San Angelo's Bill Bagwell chalked up his 18th win of the season as he hurled five-hit ball while his mates were battering Pony Jack Carley for 14 blows. The lone Plainview run in the eighth was unearned.

Eddie McKay's four-hitter stopped Roswell for Ballinger's second straight win. Roswell's lone tally came in the sixth when Mike Lucas walked with the bases loaded.

Kentucky broke fast from the huddle and Hardy fed the ball on a quick drive to fullback Bob Dougherty who burst inside tackle for 9 yards and a first down at the Tennessee 26. The Wildcats maintained the march and moved to a 23-0 triumph Nov. 19, 1955.

Bucky Harris' Job Is Safe For Present

NEW YORK (AP)—Buck Harris' job as manager of the Detroit Tigers is safe, at least for the rest of the 1956 season.

Last night Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, the Tigers' outgoing president, sent Harris the following telegram here:

"To scotch any and all unfounded rumors, I am happy to say for you that the Detroit Baseball Club has no intention of making any change in management for 1956. This is with the full approval of the new ownership."

The Tigers Monday were sold to a Detroit syndicate.

"I don't mind admitting that this takes a big load off my mind," sighed Harris. "I didn't feel so good when I read in the papers this morning that I was on my way out."

As soon as the sale was completed, rumors immediately began spreading that Harris would not last out the season.

Clippers Halt Slide With Win

By The Associated Press
The leading Corpus Christi Clippers halted a dangerous slide Tuesday night when they beat Abilene 5-1 and pushed back to a 3-game bulge over the Big State League field.

They were aided by losses by the second and third place clubs. Carl Greene did the job for the Clippers, limiting the Blue Sox to six hits in notching his 15th pitching victory of the season. A triple by Whitey Schmidt in the seventh robbed him of a shutout.

Second place Waco lost to Victoria 8-1 on Chris Niccolosi's 3-hit chunking. The Eagles pounded 12 hits, including a homer by rookie outfielder Joe Youngblood.

Third place Port Arthur took a 1-3 trimming from fourth place Wichita Falls. The Spudders jammed four runs across in the tenth inning to take the wild decision. Both teams hammered 23 hits.

Texas City noled Beaumont 3-2, scoring two runs in the first inning and staying ahead all the way. Bob Kosis homered for Beaumont with a mate on base in the eighth to give the Exporters their two runs.

AT HARLAND'S Car Needs Service At End Of Trip

If you and the family are just starting out on that vacation or just returning from one, it would be a good idea to have that family car completely serviced. The vehicles are washed and then rubbed down until they glisten like new, then vacuumed and swept out inside. If you're in doubt as to the weight and grade of motor oil your automobile should use, consult an employee of Harland's. The concern maintains charts revealing just such information.

Employees are trained to do a thorough job. There's no way to take the miles off your car, once they are on the speedometer. Personnel of Harland's can make it look like new, however, with an "inside and out" cleaning job. The vehicles are washed and then rubbed down until they glisten like new, then vacuumed and swept out inside. If you're in doubt as to the weight and grade of motor oil your automobile should use, consult an employee of Harland's. The concern maintains charts revealing just such information.

Albert Pettus Services All Elec. Motors, Generators

Electric motor, generator and magneto service — from the bushings to automatic switches — is provided throughout the Big Spring area and in Mitchell County by the Pettus Electric Company. Owner and operator of the firm is Albert Pettus, who has two decades of experience in the field. Pettus' business has grown steadily since its establishment Feb. 15, 1954, and he now is announcing expansion to provide a service for two-way radio and telephone users. Pettus Electric now is authorized sales and service representative in this area for Leece-Neville alternators for automobiles, trucks and stationary equipment such as is used around drilling rigs.

Any size of alternator is available, from 6 to 37½ volts. Pettus can install the new equipment and provides a complete service for equipment already in operation. Pettus also is authorized representative for Baldor Electric Company and Fairbanks-Morse & Company electric motors, for Cutler-Hammer and Allen-Bradley automatic switches and other controls, and Fairbanks-Morse, Wico, American Bosch and Bendix Scintilla magnetos. Complete motor rewinding and all other repairs are performed in the Pettus shop at 202 Benton, or in the field if circumstances require. No job is too large and Pettus electricians are always willing to tackle the little repair tasks along with the big ones.

R&H Tools Make A Good Job Easy

Good tools can spell the difference between a poor job and a good one. In these days when everyone is addicted to the custom of "do-it-yourself" there is a growing need for tools. R&H Hardware, 504 Johnson, prides itself on its complete stock of the finest in all sorts of tools and gadgets. The homeowner who decides to add a room, repair a cabinet or fix a fence generally finds himself short on some specific tool. This usually means that he either tries to do the job with a makeshift piece of equipment — which generally results in a botched piece of work — or he buys whatever it is that he requires. If he follows the latter suggestion, the place he should head for is the R&H Hardware. Indeed, a great many addicts of "do-it-yourself" these days are going into the hobby widely and broadly. They are buying complete kits of tools from simple screwdrivers to complicated power tools to expedite the work. A lot of others, unwilling to go "whole hog" are making inventories of their tool kits, discovering those pieces they are short on and replenishing the supply before they begin work on those jobs they have in mind. Either route you choose, R&H is ready to serve you. The tools are in stock, the price range is wide. There are endless additional tools and pieces of equipment you will need. A visit to the R&H will set you up in grand style for any reconstruction or new building activities you may have in mind. Besides it's a lot of fun to shop through the extensive selection of tools and — if you can't afford to buy what you see now — to plan purchases for the future. R&H invites you to call on them and let them show you the tools and equipment they have to offer.

Stolen Pickup Is Found In Dallas

Dallas authorities notified the police this morning they have located a pickup stolen here last Thursday. A local used-car dealer called that one of his vehicles had been stolen during the night. The vehicle located in Dallas was a 1954 Chevrolet pickup and had been there since last Saturday. The report was transferred to the sheriff's department which had been handling the case. This morning, Tom Buckner, 705 E. 4th, called that a gray 1954 Chevrolet had been taken from his car lot. Buckner told the police that the car had been locked and that the keys were not in it at the time. It was stolen sometime Tuesday night.

Businessmen Told Politics Not 'Dirty'

NEW YORK CITY (AP)—Texas Gov. Allan Shivers declared today that the theory that "business and politics don't mix" can be disproved by American businessmen who talk, listen, read, vote and—if need be—run for public office. "We've all heard businessmen say that politics is 'too dirty to get mixed up in,'" Shivers said in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the Independent Grocers Alliance (IGA). "Yet politics is the operating force of our government, and our form of government is the foundation of American business. Is it logical, then, to leave this all-important basic function in the hands of people who are ashamed to associate with it?"

Mediators On Hand For Strike Parley

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Federal mediators were on hand again today as negotiators for the basic steel industry and the striking United Steelworkers headed back to the bargaining table to resume contract talks.

Underworld Revolt

LONDON (AP)—Gangster Billy Hill appearing as a witness in a knifing case, boasted in court: "I'm the boss of the underworld in London." A few hours later some un-boshy underworlding stole Hill's flashy blue sedan.

activity on part of their employees because of its 'bad for business.' "That kind of business, my friends, is bad for Democracy." Shivers said he was "firmly convinced that the American businessmen, in overwhelming numbers, recognize that the strength of our government and the greatness of our nation lie not in the men who occupy high places but in the Constitution and laws which authorize, define and limit their actions."

Girl Dies As Gang Rivalry Flares

NEW YORK (AP)—A 12-year-old girl stabbed a 14-year-old girl to death in a Brooklyn subway station last night in the climax of a series of brawls involving a score of girls from 12 to 17. Evelyn Orr died after a number of knife wounds—one in the heart. Seventeen girls were arrested. Most of them, including the slayer, were charged only with juvenile delinquency. Names of the children, all Negroes, were not made public. Some of the battling children are members of the Diplomats Girl Gang, and some are members of the rival Champions Gang, while others are not known to have any gang affiliation. Police said petty childish bickering—rather than gang rivalry—apparently led to the violence. Once things got hot, however, the rival gang members stuck with their affiliates.

W. C. Ragsdale, above, of Big Spring has been named district deputy grand exalted ruler of Elks by Fred L. Bohn, national ruler. He will be responsible for the programs, inspections, expansion, and official visits to 13 lodges in West Texas. Ragsdale has been exalted ruler of the local lodge, and is now president of the past exalted ruler association of the Big Spring lodge. He was vice president of the Texas Elks Association and is now serving his second year as chairman of publicity for Texas Elks. He won the certificate of merit for his work with the committee last year.

Dulles Sees Trend Toward W-Wide Manpower Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there seems to be a trend throughout the world toward cuts in the manpower of armed forces, due primarily to growing reliance on atomic and other modern weapons. Dulles told a news conference he thinks the United States must maintain a certain measure of superiority over Russia in the atomic field. He said this would not permit any cut in American nuclear power.

Prowler Calls Swamp Police

The division ends its two week annual summer camp Sunday. The stricken men included Capt. William Justice of Athens, La. Col. James Sandlin of Greenville; and Sgt. Jack Thompson, Pvt. John Riecke, Sgt. Robert Cunningham, Pvt. Marvin Kilbodeaux, Pfc. Thomas Miller and Sgt. David Journeay, all of Orange; Floyd Proffitt of Longview; and James Aaron and Sgt. ### Water Record Hits New High

City officials will not be alarmed any day now if water consumption reaches the nine million gallon mark; a new record was racked up Tuesday when usage topped 9.7 million. The old record of 8,513,000 gallons was set June 15, but the mark now is 8,731,000 gallons. That figure is for the 24-hour period ending this morning at 8 a.m. The total for Monday was 8,233,000 gallons, and during the month, usage has gone above eight million on two other occasions, on July 10 and 12. ## City's Fire Loss Record Shows Decline Last Month

The city recorded its second lowest monthly fire loss total in June and the best June mark since 1950.

Losses in Big Spring from 22 fires last month were $1,163.22 and raised the year's figure to $15,926.81 or about a fourth of the sum for the same period of 1955. In 1955, the six-month total was $57,922.55. Total loss in June, 1955 was $3,657.23.

The lowest month of this year was February, when losses were $445.45. June's figure dropped the monthly average from $2,952.72 to $2,654.47.

During June, $737.75 was reported in damage to buildings affected by fire, and the total contents-loss amounted to $415.47.

Electrical trouble was the biggest cause of fires, starting eight. Seven were from faulty wiring and one was from a bad fuse. Five fires resulted from unknown causes, and four were rubbish fires.

Three false alarms were included in the total, and one each came from smoking and a burning rat trap.

Since June of 1950, the month totals have been above the past month's losses. In June, 1950, there were no losses at all.

Comparative totals include:

1956	1955
Jan. $3,290.00	$7,194.47
Feb. 445.45	217.50
Mar. 2,320.27	7,425.87
Apr. 4,757.87	1,011.51
May 3,950.00	33,575.71
June 1,163.22	8,697.39
TOTAL $15,926.81	$37,922.95

Webb Barracks Get New Siding

Webb AFB barracks are beginning to take on that new look, as a result of an $84,900 "siding of the barracks" project, which started late in June and is scheduled for completion in January, 1957.

Under the project, the outside of 52 barracks will be completely remodelled with cement shingles. The main purpose for the renovation is to prevent deterioration of the exterior of the buildings.

Workers of the Branch Roofing Co., Midland, are presently working in the student officer area.

T. E. Shelburn and Sons Inc. of Snyder already has started work on a $64,680 project, which includes the tiling of the floors of all dining halls and building T-48. Also included in the project is the interior painting of T-48.

Petroleum Group Opposes Price Cut

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—The West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association has laid plans to send committees to all other purchasers to urge them not to follow Cities Service Oil Co. in cutting price of crude oil in this area.

Jess Talkin' by Jess Blair

A quick trip through west Howard County and much of Martin County failed to reveal any dry-land crops anywhere except in isolated localities. At Knott, J. B. Shockley said he had a fair cotton crop that might make an average yield with another good rain or two.

Most of that area is thinly covered, with maybe 20 acres of cotton on a 100-acre field. These patches are usually found in low places which caught runoff water.

From Knott to Ackerly crops thin out. Just west of Ackerly there is nothing growing, and over at the C. J. King store west of Flower Grove conditions are worse. King said they never received a half inch of rain there at one time since last winter. He has a fairly good crop seven miles to the southeast, but needs rain now.

In some areas a little maize is standing but has already stopped growing. Yesterday in the heat the leaves had curled so tightly that the fields looked like onion patches.

Just north of Three Leagues in northwest Martin County, the crops slip over from Dawson County and cover a few farms. Even here they need rain though.

On south by the Hulsey Store, through Grady and to Stanton there is not one acre in every five covered with cotton or feed. Most farmers say they would still plant feed if a rain comes, just to cover the land and keep down blowing.

One of the best new irrigation wells in Howard County was drilled on the C. W. Hewett farm last week. It pumps 600 gallons per minute at first, and is still putting out a steady 500. Hewett has about 100 acres of irrigated cotton. The stand was too thick, so he thinned it out by cross plowing the field.

This was only one of several wells he drilled trying to find underground water. The others were failures, though he intends to try again when the cotton is gathered.

This summer's hot weather has kept the maintenance crews of the Cap Rock Electric Co-op jumping from one REA line to another. Heat and electricity are both forms of energy, according to manager O. B. Bryan, and in hot weather the electric lines are more easily overloaded. When the line can't carry the load, the transformer switches are thrown and the maintenance crew must hunt out the trouble.

Another reason for the overloading has been the increase in irrigation wells. Bryan said they had connected onto 140 new wells since the 1955 pumping season ended.

There may be some July cotton harvest next fall if the owners can get a couple of rains. J. I. White, who farms eight miles southeast of Ackerly got a rain in early July and planted 100 acres of cotton, which is up to a stand.

He said the young cotton had held up well and had a little moisture left. Outside of these late fields, though, the area doesn't have much prospects for a crop.

Mrs. Bill Orson of the Tarzan Marketing Association says farmers are having more trouble with insects than in previous years. The worms seem to have built up a resistance to certain poisons and even an appetite for them.

About two weeks ago I visited the entomology department at Colorado A&M College and talked to Dr. L. B. Daniels about insects. I asked him why we were having so much trouble with worms and bugs. He said nature had been thrown out of balance, that the birds and small animals had declined and that farmers were growing juicier, tastier crops for insects to eat.

"Man's fight against insects is never-ending," he said. "When a bug builds an immunity against one poison, we have to concoct another one more powerful."

It may be possible, he said, that we are developing a super breed of insects that will one day conquer man and start running the country.

I got to wondering just how this insect type of government would work. We might have a grasshopper for governor. The boll weevils might take over Congress while all the cops would be red ants. And if the insects invaded the pulpit, the most logical choice for preaching would be the praying mantis.

This sort of thing is not likely to take place for quite awhile, according to Dr. Daniels, so it's probably safe for the present candidates to go ahead with their plans.

Storm Saved Park From Desert Death

A building in village near Niger River.

By RAMON COFFMAN

While Mungo Park was making his way into the interior of Africa, he was disappointed by the attitude of Johnson, his Negro servant. Johnson refused to go farther into the Dark Continent and returned to the coast.

Park rode onward, entering a desert region. Soon he ran out of water and became thirsty. A few bushes were growing here and there, and he chewed leaves which he picked from them. This gave him only a little relief from his thirst.

Taking the bridle from his steed, so it could graze on what might be found, Park lay on the ground, feeling that his end was near. He fell into a deep sleep.

When he awoke, it was evening. He found the air cool, and lightning was flashing in the sky. Soon there came a heavy downpour of rain. In addition to the suit he wore, Park had a few articles of clean clothing. These he laid on the sand, and when they were soaked he wrung them out, letting the water drip into his mouth. Thus he was able to quench his thirst.

The rain stopped in about an hour, but lightning kept flashing

Canadian Sect In Nude Protest

CASTLEGAR, B. C. (AP)—A dozen members of the radical Doukhobor sect, Sons of Freedom, staged a nude demonstration yesterday beside railway tracks near here as a train bearing 195 touring Texans went by.

The disturbing, between Glade and Shoreacres 15 miles from Castlegar in southeastern British Columbia, took place shortly after a Doukhobor choir had greeted the traveling farm study group from Texas at the Castlegar railway station.

The nude Freedomites had their backs to the train as it passed. The Sons of Freedom periodically demonstrate in the nude as a form of protest against man-made laws.
