Thunderbirds Will Fly New Airplanes

The Thunderbirds, flying North American's F-100, a plane new to their precision type flying, will stage a supersonic aerial demonstration at 9:00 a.m. Aug. 2 at Webb Air Force Base. "Open house" will be held in support of the 1956 AFROTC Summer Training Program, now in progress at Webb.

Beginning a seven-base tour which stretches from an appearance at Williams AFB, Ariz., on July 31 to Tyndall AFB, Florida, on Aug. 17, the Thunderbirds' second performance of this tour will be at Webb AFB.

While flying in tight formation, they will demonstrate the maneuverability of a front line fighter type jet aircraft. Mission of the team includes demonstration of skill produced through the flying training program, the capabilities of front-line tactical fighter type aircraft, and demonstration by formation aerobatics and flight maneuvers of the precision necessary in actual fighter tactics.

During their three years of operations, the Thunderbirds have traveled over 300,000 air miles in putting on more than 200 performances throughout the United States and 12 Central and South American countries. Over 15,000,000 people have witnessed their exhibitions of precision jet flying.

'Americanized' Peruvian 'Having A Ball' In U.S.

Yolanda Valle, the Peruvian penpal who came to Big Spring four weeks ago to visit Jean Brown, a friend she'd never seen, is becoming a real Americanized girl and as the expression commonly puts it, she is "having herself a ball."

The bright-eyed little girl is taking to all phases of life in the states and she is now hoping that one of her friends in Peru will also be able to enjoy it. She has written to one of the girls in her home town and invited her down for a stay. She hasn't heard yet whether or not she is coming.

Although Jean, with whom she is staying, is at work most of the day in the supply division of the Veteran's Hospital, Yolanda finds much to do to occupy her time.

She is now making a dress with the help of Jean's mother and every Monday she goes to the VA Hospital to show movies to the patients. One day she spent at Howard County Junior College. She has spoken to the Spanish class there and she made a field trip with another class.

Jean and Yolanda recently toured the Carlsbad Caverns. There were five others in the group.

Yolanda was thrilled by the caverns. She said there is nothing like them in Peru. She also said that the coolness felt good to her because, "It doesn't get near as hot in Peru as it does here."

Yolanda spends a lot of the time in front of the television set because she says that there is no TV in Peru. She also likes American movies which they are able to see in Peru but with a Spanish sound track. French, Italian and Mexican movies, are also shown.

Her English has improved amazingly since she has been here. Jean says she can catch all of the little phrases in movies now.

Asked if she had improved on her high school Spanish since Yolanda arrived, Jean smiled and said, "Ha! The only thing I remember from high school is 'hasta la vista' and 'buenos dias'."

The Brown family is enjoying Yolanda's stay almost as much as Yolanda is enjoying her new way of life in the United States because they are learning many interesting things about Peru and a smiling Peruvian named Yolanda.

Lamesa Forced To Delay Community Center Outlay

LAMESA, July 21 — The Lamesa City Council last night told representatives of the Rotary Club that they could not at the present time equip and furnish the Lamar Forrest Community Center building here. They said the city is already borrowing money to operate on, and while they expect a $34,000 balance in the city budget after taxes start coming in this fall, they did not feel they should borrow the $7,000 necessary to equip the building. The agreement between the club and the city said nothing about furnishings and equipment. City officials were highly complimentary to the Rotary Club for their raising of about $25,000 with which to construct the building.

Discussion Set On 'Huck Finn'

"Huckleberry Finn," Mark Twain's famous story of a boy's astonishing adventures along the Mississippi, is the work scheduled for the Great Books discussion at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Room 203, Howard County Junior College.

Participants will have read the book in advance of the session, and will discuss it in all its aspects, as a yarn, as a piece of literature, as social and moral criticism, as a picture of Mississippi valley life about the middle of the 19th century, and for its bearing upon the problems of the present day.

Books will be chosen for the remaining summer meetings. All meetings are open to anyone interested in spirited discussion of ideas.

In other action, the council passed on first reading an amendment to the franchise under which the General Telephone Company of the Southwest operates here. After three readings, the phone company will have the legal authority to expand its service to serve the three Puka-Lambro exchanges in Dawson County under an extended area service contract.

Mrs. Velda Houston appeared before the council to discuss the street improvement project in the vicinity of North Fourth and Dallas Streets. She told the council that the project will allow her just two parking places in front of her place of business. She said that it will ruin her business. She told the council that her building, which serves as a fabric shop and her home as well, could not be moved.

The council took into the city limits on first reading a full block of the Caldwell-Oats property of the Main Street addition and issued a taxicab permit to the City Cab Co., operated by W. L. Crow.

Burglary Case Set Monday

Guilford Jones, district attorney, plans to open the district court criminal docket Monday with the case of Jim Jack Blackshear, charged with burglary.

Blackshear, according to testimony given earlier in the month by Arthur Carroll Jones, 17, who pleaded guilty in connection with the same charge for which Blackshear stands indicted, used Jones and another youth of younger years, to break into establishments.

Blackshear is charged with the burglary of the Hughes Tool Company warehouse. The district attorney said Blackshear is under indictment in numerous other communities for other breaks.

Nine cases have been tentatively scheduled for trial on the jury docket which will open before Judge Charlie Sullivan in 118th District Court on Monday morning.

Others scheduled for trial include Thomas H. Lorex, burglary; Merrill Daniel Adams, DWI, second offense; Joe Pat Menchoca, theft; Antonio Sandate, theft; Alberto Gomez, burglary; William C. Cutbirth, DWI second offense; Edwin Emmett Hall, DWI second offense and Joe A. Flippen, DWI second offense.

Nine Lamesa FFA Boys Will Attend State Convention

LAMESA, July 21 — Nine members of the Lamesa chapter of Future Farmers of America will attend the sessions of the State Convention of the FFA in Dallas July 25-27.

Johnny Grissom was the first to leave Lamesa to attend the convention. He is the district nominee for the presidency of the Texas FFA. Grissom has an outstanding record in FFA work; he has been an active member of the local chapter for the past four years, holding local offices as well as having been the vice president for Area II during the 1955-56 school year. He was also the alternate public speaker for the area last year.

A spring graduate of Lamesa High School, Grissom has served on the high school student council and also participated in the athletic program at the school. His swine took grandchampionship honors in the Dawson County Junior Livestock show this spring, and also won other ribbons and awards at other livestock shows in the area last year.

Other Lamesa chapter members who will leave with their sponsors, Andrew Essary and Lon McDonald, Tuesday afternoon are Donald Love, Hubert Dean, Bill Bartlett, Larry Davis, Jimmy Sol Cleveland, Troy Howard, Ronnie Ray and Dwayne Erwin. Love now serves as district secretary for the FFA and is star farmer from this area.

Glovis Cline, recently elected Area II vice president to succeed Grissom, will be unable to attend the state convention, Essary announced.

MODERN FIRE STATION OPENS TODAY AT ELEVENTH, BIRDWELL
Public to inspect new facility during open house this afternoon.

Public Invited To See How Money Is Used

Big Springers will have a chance to see the new fire station at Eleventh and Birdwell, as the city holds open house there from 2 p.m. until 7.

Being shown will be two new Mack fire trucks which have arrived during the past five weeks. Fire Chief H. V. Crocker and the fire department have invited the public to view its equipment and see where part of the bond money voted last August has been spent. Cost of the fire station building alone is $52,861, and the trucks cost $37,166. Furniture for the station, and fire hose for the trucks were purchased separately.

Borden Milk Company is donating the orangeade and chocolate milk, but the city had to purchase the bottled drinks being furnished for the open house.

After the program, A. L. Harrison and O. W. Laws will be taking over as lieutenants for the two shifts.

College students being hired include J. E. Salley, Colorado City; Alyn Kemp, Big Spring; James Parker, Big Spring; George Douglas-Warren, Coahoma; James O. Huff, Roswell, N. M.; Eddie Gill, Vealmoor; and William Dickson of Coahoma.

One other will be hired making four on each shift. O. L. Stewart and Lloyd Claxton will also be employed at the station.

Uneventful Ride In New Fire Truck: No Fire

By NITA HEDLESTON
Have you ever wanted to ride in a big red firetruck?

It's really a thrill, especially when the fire truck you're riding is brand new and the bright surface is shiny enough to see your face in.

After taking a ride in a fire truck, you'll find that it is really no different from a ride in any other big truck unless you're on your way to a fire and the siren is blaring and the red lights are flashing.

The new fire trucks which are part of the equipment at the new sub-station on 11th Place are as bright and shiny as any fire trucks around the country, but there's nothing really different about riding in one.

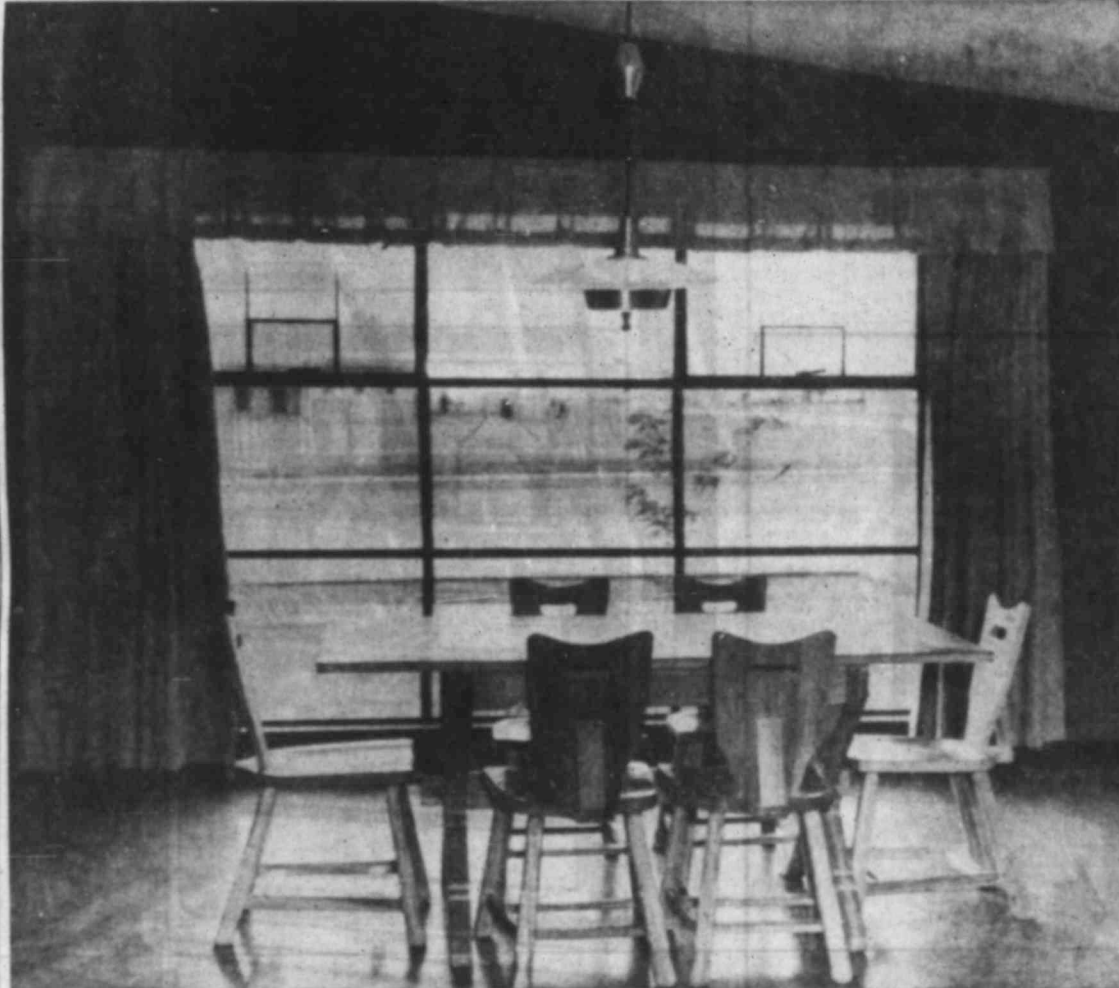

It may be a long stretch for you as you step into the big cab, especially if your legs aren't too long. Once up, though, you settle back against the red cushions of the all-red interior and when you look out the window, you're high above everything and everyone else.

You're all set to take off. The driver starts the engine and out of the fire station you go, onto the highway. Pulling up beside of cars at stop signals, you see little kids in the cars below excitedly pointing and staring at the "big red fire engine."

You'll just have to get used to the noise, and yell at the driver if you have any questions to ask. Since you're only out for a leisurely drive you won't be traveling very fast. This is different from the 75 miles per hour that one of the big trucks made while traveling to a fire. The speed will usually depend on the distance and the amount of traffic encountered.

The new fire truck which had been freshly polished was spattered by rain drops during a ride Friday afternoon. This resulted in a brand new job of polishing by city firemen so that it would be shiny for the open house of the sub-station Sunday.

Yes, a ride in a fire truck is almost like riding in any other truck, but the other trucks are not red and shiny all over and they aren't lives.

BEST IN STATE?

City's Third Fire Station To Start Operations Today

Termed by many as "elaborate enough to be a country club," Big Spring's third fire station at Eleventh and Birdwell will begin operation today following an open house from 2 p.m. until 7.

Also on exhibition at the sub-station will be two new fire trucks purchased by the city.

The building, at a cost of $52,861, is possibly the best substitution in the state. After attending a firemen's school at College Station earlier this month, Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said he found no city claiming to have a more elaborate sub station.

Included in the air-conditioned structure are a kitchen, day room, dining room, dormitory, lieutenants' room, bathroom, and equipment garage. The sandy-colored brick station faces south.

The building was erected by Pioneer Builders of Big Spring and was designed and engineered by Puckett and French, architects.

All fixtures were purchased from local dealers.

The station has an equipment room for two large trucks, with electric sliding doors. The room has a drainage pit for washing trucks without taking them from the building.

Ten men can be handled in the dormitory, with each having a private locker. These lockers have racks for shoes, hats, ties, toilet articles, in addition to large clothing space and a mirror. Over each bed is a private lamp.

Beds and mattresses were purchased from Elrod's Furniture. Linens came from Anthony's. The bedsprings which will be on the beds today are on loan from the store; identical spreads have been ordered but have not arrived. The room has a plastered interior, painted a light brown.

In the day room, the color scheme is light blue, with the dining room being painted a matching shade of green.

Ranch Oak Furniture used in the day and dining rooms was purchased from Thompson's Furniture.

Picture windows face east and south, from the dining room, and southward in the day room.

All cabinets in the kitchen are metal and were a part of the contract. Cooking utensils and dishes were purchased from Stanley Hardware, and the cooking range and refrigerator came from Hilburn's Appliances.

A separate room was included for the lieutenants. The room also has private closets. A desk in their room and a matching desk in the day room were purchased from Hester's Office Supply. Mounted on the day room desk is a monitor radio on the department's frequency.

In addition to the receiver radio, the station has a direct telephone from the main fire station. This line will be used also in alerting the station of a fire in their area, or a big fire requiring its equipment.

A private telephone line is listed for the station, but it is purely for administrative and private use. The fire department is asking the public not to report fires on the private line.

City park crews have planted grass and shrubs around the building but they have not completed the work. Rose bushes will be added in the area between the walk to the front door and the driveway.

Congress Near Quitting Date

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Congress appeared to be rounding the turn into its home stretch drive for adjournment today as Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson noted that quitting time "is very imminent."

Johnson refused to be pinned down to a date but the consensus was that the finish will come late next week or early the following week.

Only two major legislative problems remain on next week's calendar. The Senate is due to act Tuesday on President Eisenhower's big foreign aid bill and send it to conference with the House.

The House has scheduled a vote Monday on the civil rights bill. This measure, bitterly fought by Southern members all last week, is expected to pass the House handily and then disappear in the Senate wastebasket.

Any attempt to pass the civil rights bill in the Senate could lead to a filibuster lasting the rest of the summer.

Agreement to put off final action on the $4,119,500,000 foreign aid bill until Tuesday was reached at a Senate session today. One of the major battles yet to be fought is an effort by two top Republican leaders, Senators Knowland of California and Bridges of New Hampshire, to cut off any new military aid for Communist Yugoslavia.

Knowland and Bridges are going against administration wishes on this proposal. Other Republicans contend Eisenhower should be left free to exercise his own judgment as to whether President Tito is entitled to continue receiving arms.

MILLER HARRIS

Asks Your Support For SHERIFF

Many of you have thought that it is time for a change in the administration of the sheriff's office.

In making that change, let's get a fresh start.

Miller Harris is the only man in the race who is making his first bid for public office. He has no ties or obligations except to do his best to give honest, courteous and capable service.

Although new in politics, Miller Harris is experienced in law enforcement.

He is no newcomer to Big Spring, having come here nearly three decades ago. He has been both an employe and a businessman. He was married to Janice Pickle in 1928 and they have one son; he is a veteran of World War II, member of various service and fraternal organizations and is active in his church.

Miller Harris is mature and steadfast in judgment; he will do his best to justify your support through good service in office; to employ a full-time jailer; to develop the best staff possible.

Here is the man who can give us a fresh start in the sheriff's office.

Williams Paces Boston To Win

BOSTON, July 21 (AP)—Ted Williams checked his temper and drove in four runs with a homer, a double and a single today as the Boston Red Sox battered the Detroit Tigers 9-3.

Williams, who earlier threatened to continue his spitting gestures to the Boston press, boosted his batting average to a gaudy .373 with his three hits.

After looking at a called third strike in the first inning, he singled home two runs with two in the third to give the Sox a 2-1 lead.

He was left stranded after doubling with two out in the fifth, but poled his eighth homer of the year and the 402nd of his major league career with one man on base in the seventh. The big slugger then retired with Boston holding a comfortable 7-3 edge.

Williams spit in the direction of the press box and then spit again toward the first base stands after

Fare Well At Odessa

Big Springer Grabs Honors In Odessa Meet

ODESSA, July 21 (SC)—Betty Ellison, Big Spring, shared in both doubles and singles honors in the "15 and under" division of the Regional Junior Development Tennis Tournament, which was concluded here Saturday.

Betty teamed with Layla Glaser to defeat Joan Bratcher and Shirley Killough in an all-Big Spring final, 6-3, 6-3. As a result, all four Big Spring girls qualified for the State Meet, which will be held at Rosenberg (33 miles out of Houston) July 26-27-28.

Ellison also won the singles crown in her division, nudging Mary Rowell, Odessa, 6-4, 6-3, in the finals.

In doubles play, Bratcher and Killough trounced Ann Malaise and Peggy Stice, Odessa, 6-1, 6-0, and received a forfeit from Mary Rowell and Wanda Griffiths, Odessa, to attain the finals.

Ellison and Glaser bombed Gary Garrison and Sherry Vaughn, Odessa, 6-0, 6-0; and Paul Jackson and Frances Lopez, Poyte, 4-6, 6-3, in that order to make the title round.

In singles play, Ellison defeated Wanda DeHart, Odessa, 6-0, 6-0; and Paula Jackson, Poyte, 6-4, 6-3, to reach the finals.

Killough sidelined Sherry Vaughn, Odessa, 6-3, 7-9, 7-5, before losing to Frances Lopez, Poyte, 5-7, 6-2, 6-0.

Glaser lost to Mary Rowell, Odessa, 6-4, 6-2, in the first round while Bratcher yielded to Rowell, 6-2, 6-4.

In the "18 and under" division, Nita Farquhar, Big Spring, lost to Marilyn Goodwin, Odessa, 6-4, 6-0; while Virginia Johnson, Big Spring, was ousted by Janet Mason, Odessa, 6-1, 6-1.

In "18 and under" doubles play, Janice Downing and Wilson, Big Spring, lost to Linda Erwin and Lete Ratliff, Odessa, 6-1, 6-0.

Burkemo Erases Ford, Leads PGA

CANTON, Mass., July 21 (AP)—Walter Burkemo, a cherub-faced, match-play scrapper, erased defending champion Doug Ford with near flawless golf today, 5 and 3, to lead a parade of "name" stars into the fourth round of the Professional Golfers Assn. championship.

Joining the blond 1953 titleholder in the round of 16 were favorite Sam Snead, who had a 20-hole squeak in the morning; former National Open champion Gene Sarazen, Lew Worsham, and Ed Furgol and Masters champion Jack Burke Jr.

Two more 18-hole rounds tomorrow at the rain-dampened Blue Hill Country Club will reduce the field to four, with the semifinals scheduled Monday and the finals Tuesday.

Most amazing performance of the day was that of Gene Sarazen, a throwback to the Golden Twenties, who swept through two rounds of gruelling match play to qualify for a fourth-round shot at Snead.

The cocky Sarazen and the ebullient Snead, with six PGA championships between them—three each—clash in the feature Sunday morning match at 10:18 a.m., EDT.

Four down with seven holes to play, the 54-year-old Sarazen rallied to beat Dick Lindahl on the 19th hole in the morning second round, then he knocked over Mike Krak, the long belter from Steubenville, Ohio, in the afternoon, 4 and 2.

"I'm playing as well as I ever did in my heyday," said the enthusiastic Sarazen, not a strand of gray in his dark black hair, his piano legs showing no sign of strain.

It was a day of sporadic rain, exciting overtime matches and rules controversies at the swank club 15 miles south of Boston.

Ford was saved from elimination in the morning round by a referee's decision and a spectacular wedge shot, which nailed a birdie on the 23rd, or fifth extra hole, of his match with Mike Dietz of Lake Orion, Mich.

Snead sank a 20-foot birdie putt on the 20th to turn back John O'Donnell of Baltimore and then he brought his big game into all its awesome power to trounce wee Bob Toski of Holyoke, Mass.

Burkemo, a finalist in 1953 and 1954 as well as 1953 champion, won over Robert Zander of Fayetteville, Ark., 2 and 1, in the morning before taking the number of the hard-fighting defending champion, against Ford, the Franklin,

DOUG FORD

Mich., match-play whiz never missed hitting a green in regulation figures and, down only once at the fourth hole, won the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th in succession.

Ford's game seemed to collapse on the back nine where Burkemo applied pressure by hitting his irons dead to the pins.

The champion missed a four-footer on the 12th, trapped his shot on the 13th and three-putted the 14th. Burkemo closed the door by lacing an iron approach 4 feet from the pin for a birdie 3 on the 15th.

Burke, the boyish Masters titleholder from Houston, crushed Bill Collins of Grossinger, N.Y., 5 and 3 in the second round and then won an overtime duel from lanky Fred Haas of New Orleans in the afternoon by sinking a 20-foot putt on the 20th.

Haas, who had made numerous spectacular recoveries, had sent an approach flying to within four feet of the cup on the second extra hole and appeared to have the match in a bag. When Burke sank the 20-footer, Haas obviously unnerved, missed his four-footer by a good two inches.

The lame-armed Ed Furgol, miracle winner of the National Open at Baltusrol in 1954, played steady but daring golf to eliminate Jack Isaacs of Langley Air Force Base, Va., 5 and 4, and then best Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, 2 and 1.

Worsham, winner of the National Open in 1947 who has been out of tournament competition while attending his golf club chores at Oakmont, Pa., defeated Leonard Kennett of Oceanside, Calif., 3 and 2, and then scored a surprisingly one-sided 5 and 4 victory over Shelley Mayfield of Jericho, N.Y. Mayfield played 14 holes in two under par.

ITALY NETTERS TAKE ZONE FLAG

BAASTAD, Sweden, July 21 (AP)—Italy's Davis Cup team won the European Zone championship for the second straight year by capturing the doubles match from Sweden today, taking an insurmountable 3-0 lead.

Italians Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola teamed to defeat the Swedish tandem of Sven Davidson and Torsten Johansson 6-4, 5-7, 6-3. Yesterday Pietrangeli and Giuseppe Merlo defeated Davidson and Ulf Schmidt in singles play.

The Italian squad will meet the North American Zone champion in the first round of the interzone eliminations. The winner faces India for the right to challenge the title-holding Australians.

In the North American round, Mexico has entered the final by whipping Brazil 4-1. The United States meets Canada for the other final position. Should the U.S. team win the North American title, the interzone final likely will be played at Forest Hills, N. Y., in September.

R. Thompson Wins State Junior Tourney With 141

BROWNWOOD, July 21 (SC)—Rocky Thompson, Wichita Falls, won the 1956 Texas Junior golf tournament crown here Friday by firing a two-under-par 69 on his final 18 holes of play.

For the 36 holes, played over two days, Thompson posted an aggregate score of 141, one-under-par. Phil Lobstein, Brownwood, the first day leader registered a 74 Friday for a 143 total.

Billy Martindale, Jacksonville, also wound up with 143, with rounds of 71 and 72 but lost to Lobstein in a nine-hole playoff for second place.

Lobstein toured the nine in even par 35 while Martindale had a 40.

Fourth was Vance Moxam, Borger, with a 144 aggregate.

The fourth earned trips to the National Junior Tournament at Fargo, N. D., starting Aug. 20.

The Jacksonville team took honors in team play. The four players from the city finished two strokes ahead of Borger.

Charles (Lefty) Morris led the Big Spring delegation with a score of 84-83-167. Bunky Grimes, Big Spring, registered 86-85-170 while team-mate Steven Baird posted 87-92-179.

Ann Quast Wins Women's Western Amateur Crown

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 21 (AP)—Ann Quast stubbed her toe last night, but she didn't let it stop her today. She took the Western Women's Amateur championship away from her sister Washington Stater, Pat Lessor, 4 and 3.

Officials believe that Miss Quast was the youngest to win the Western Amateur, although they weren't sure pending a check of records available at the tournament. They hesitated to give the honor to Miss Quast until they checked on the 1943 victory by the former Dorothy Germain, now Mrs. Mary Porter, who was eliminated in the second round this week.

The girl from Everett kicked a cinder block last night and had sent the 35-hole finals with a slit in her right saddle shoe and tape on her little toe.

It bothered her during the first nine holes and she went one down to the defending champ from Seattle. After two doctors advised against injecting a pain killer and instead put on new tape, the University of Washington's sophomore came out like a refreshed fighter.

She strung out six pars, to even the match twice along the way, and went ahead with a birdie on the 17th by putting her second shot within a foot of the 410-yard hole.

Gets 2,000th Hit

Knott Delegation At Cage School

KNOTT, July 21 (SC)—Bill Bolin, superintendent of schools at Knott, has returned from Waco, where he attended a two-day girls' basketball coaching school.

Two of the school's 1955-56 players, Jean Sample and Alice Day, also attended the clinic. In all, the registration amounted to about 200.

In addition to his other duties, Bolin will serve as coach of the Knott girls' cage team next season.

COURT-APPOINTED ATTORNEYS

Defendant In Any Criminal Trial Entitled To Counsel

By SAM BLACKBURN
No matter who the defendant may be or how destitute his circumstances, no matter the nature of the crime charged against him, he is entitled to every "break" the law and the Constitution of the state and nation allows when he stands before the courts. Some states provide legal assistance to impoverished defendants through the services of a special officer elected and assigned to that responsibility. Such officials are generally called public defenders. They are paid by the county to perform the exact opposite work to that expected of the district attorney. In Texas, there is no provision for the office of public defender but the right of each person to legal counsel when he is before the courts is insured just as securely by another system. A person charged with a crime in Texas will be provided with an attorney even though he cannot afford to pay a lawyer. The state will pay the fee of his counsel. He is entitled to summon witnesses he needs to refute the charge against him. It is the state's responsibility to find these witnesses for him and have them available in court. There are no court costs assessed against him.

If the litigation before the court involving him happens to be a civil matter—which is to say a problem not involving a crime—he isn't assured of all of these things. The court is not obligated to appoint an attorney to represent him. He must make his own deal with some lawyer if he needs one. He can, however, make a pauper's oath, swearing that he cannot pay—and the court costs will be set aside but any legal advisor he has must be arranged outside. Judge Charlie Sullivan, in 118th District Court, sees dozens of defendants stand before the bench each year who tell him they cannot afford to employ counsel. The judge always asks if they have an attorney, when they are brought before him. When they report they do not and cannot get a lawyer, the court calls upon some member of the Howard County bar to serve. This duty is "passed around" as a rule but it is a general practice in many courts to assign some younger member of the bar to such cases. There are two reasons for this practice. One is that most of the older and more active members of the legal profession are generally busy and often do not have time to handle the case in question. The other reason is that younger lawyers need the experience that such cases provide and, at the same time, often can make good use of the fee which the state pays such assigned attorneys for their duties. Texas law allows a lawyer, appointed by the court to represent an indigent charged with a criminal offense, $10 per day for his services. This is paid out of court funds.

Many times, defendants are brought before the court who express a desire to plead guilty. The law holds they should have legal advice. So the court appoints some attorney from the bar as their counsel. Such hearings usually last only half an hour. Occasionally, when there is a rush of such cases, half a dozen defendants may be before the court in a single morning to enter guilty pleas. Sometimes, the same attorney assigned to represent all of these. In such instances, the lawyer is paid $10 for each defendant. On the other hand, there are instances where a defendant pleads not guilty and elects to go to trial. The trial may take a day or it could require several days. For his services, the appointed lawyer receives $10 per day.

In county court, most of the clients brought before the judge make their decisions without benefit of legal counsel. The court advises them of their rights. He explains that they do not have to plead guilty to the charge against them and that they can ask for a trial by jury. If they choose to ask for a trial, the court sets their bonds. On the other hand, many—in fact, a majority of such defendants—elect to plead guilty. They do so without representation by counsel for the most part. Occasionally, a defendant will be represented by an attorney, but in such cases, the employment of the lawyer was

Youths Draw Sentences At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, July 21—One youngster was sent to the state reformatory, another received a 30-day jail sentence and five others were reprimanded and released to the custody of their parents following a weekend tour that raised kidnapping fears in one Westbrook family. Saturday night, a 13-year-old Westbrook girl left her parents' car at a Colorado City drive in and failed to return. The sheriff's department was alerted, and on Monday afternoon, picked up four boys in a car in downtown Colorado City to clear up the mystery. W. L. Moore, 17, Melvin Lunceford 16, both of Colorado City, and a 13-year-old Colorado City boy, and 16-year-old Andrews youth told officers that the missing girl was at Lake Colorado City, along with two other girls one 14 and one 15, both of Odessa.

The seven youngsters had meanwhile been on a tour of West Texas and parts of New Mexico, and had given checks for cash and had siphoned gasoline from automobiles for fuel. They had slept in the car at night, the girls said. In hearings Wednesday and Thursday, Moore was given a 30-day jail sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Lunceford was sent to Huntsville, and the others were reprimanded and paroled to the custody of their parents, according to Frank Gintel, county attorney.

Old Settlers Ready Plans For Reunion

"Old settlers" of Howard and Glasscock counties will start closing out arrangements Monday for their annual reunion, to be held Friday in the City Park of Big Spring. Plans are being made to feed up to 1,000 persons at the traditional reunion barbecue, and committees have been at work completing arrangements for a brief program, some old-time fiddle music, lots of visiting and the reunion dance. Several additional contributions have been received to help pay the food and other bills, said Morgan Martin, reunion president. It is hoped that enough funds can be raised early this week to meet the needs of the gathering. Latest gifts include $10 each from Mrs. Edna Wade, Ben Schafer and Mrs. Ed Carpenter, $5 each from Lindsey Marchbanks, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Choate, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hays, Mrs. J. P. Blalock, and E. E. Brindley; $2 each from Mr. and Mrs. Martin Binder and R. L. Nall; and $1 each from A. J. Prager, Raymond Kelly and Bill Earley.

a matter arranged by the defendant. In justice court, where matters are before what is called the "small claims" division, the law specifies that a person may bring his own suit and act as his own counsel. The provision resulted from an act of the Legislature in relatively recent years. In district courts, a defendant in a criminal case found guilty of the crime, retains his right to appeal the decision. By virtue of a pauper's oath, he can obligate the state to provide him with transcript of his hearing, with all records and documents related to his trial.

Dawson Mail Carriers Have Long Safe-Driving Record

LAMESA, July 21—Lamesa's four rural mail carriers have driven an aggregate of 1,681,056 miles without an accident in the past 32 years, compiling one of the most enviable safe-driving records on file anywhere. Ross A. Gibson, veteran of all the rural carriers, began carrying the mail back in 1922, but record is available only since 1924 when he began his daily trips through the sandy roads of Dawson County. With an 80-mile drive every day, Gibson has chalked up 798,720 miles without even a bumped fender, and though he is now eligible for retirement, he wants to keep going until he's 70. By that time he'll have more than a million miles to his credit. D. O. Blackmon has a route that covers 73 miles of country road, and he has carried the mail over it day in and day out for the past 28 years. When you figure up his record, there's 637,728 miles of safe-driving on his route. Glenn Esmond, who's been making a 66-mile route daily for 10 years, adds 205,920 miles to the record. The newest rural mail carrier, Tom Wilkes, has been with the post office over two years on a route that adds up to 62 miles a day, and 38,688 miles safely driven.

"No preacher ever got a pounding like Ross Gibson got from his patrons when he observed his 30th year as their safe driving mailman," Postmaster Owen Taylor said. Not only are the rural carriers safety conscious, but other postal employees are too. One of them, Bob Millikan, renders an outstanding service to his community as chairman of the Lamesa Citizens Traffic Commission.

Coahoma Paving Job Completed

COAHOMA—The county has just completed nine blocks of paving in the area south and west of the high school. This is part of the bus route and financed entirely by Howard County. The pavement includes three blocks on South Avenue, three on Fifth Avenue and three on High School Drive, to complete a loop from the highway leading north of town. The town is also in the process of converting the old tabernacle block into a public park.

Uncle Ray: Rainbow Seen After Rising Of Full Moon

By RAMON COFFMAN
A letter about an unusual rainbow has come from Mr. G. A. Sloan. He writes: "I want to tell you about a rainbow which I saw when I was a boy. I had been told that I would never see a rainbow in the west in the afternoon or evening, but one night I stepped out while there was a shower to the west of my home. The full moon was just coming up over the treetops of the eastern horizon. I saw a pale rainbow in the west. It was less colorful than the usual rainbow, but was beautiful. I never have seen a rainbow of that kind since then." Mr. Sloan was fortunate to see that sight. Many persons go through life without viewing anything of the kind. The sight mentioned was a lunar rainbow. It appeared in the west because the full moon was on the eastern horizon. Moonlight has only a fraction of the strength of sunshine, but a full moon occasionally produces a delicate rainbow. Although much less bright than an ordinary rainbow, the lunar rainbow may display a few distinct colors. People often have a mistaken idea about the number of colors in a rainbow. The poet Shelley, for instance, spoke of "the million-colored bow." Even allowing for so-called "poetic license," that poet went too far! Q. How many colors actually appear in a rainbow? A. A rainbow is supposed to have seven colors — violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red. The colors tend to mix with one another, however, and even a sharp-eyed observer may be able to see only four or five definite colors. Q. Are there fog rainbows? A. Yes, they are seen fairly often. Sometimes they are called "fog bows," and they also go under the name of "white rainbows." So far as they have coloring, it is faint.

JayCees, JayCee-Ettes Gather Here For Tri-Regional Convention

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of three regions are meeting here this weekend, along with the JayCee auxiliary, the Jaycee-Ettes.

About 250 were expected to register Saturday and to get into the fun that evening with a dinner and dance at the Settles Hotel. Members of the local Jaycee-Ettes assisted with the registration under the supervision of Mrs. Jimmie Taylor. She is secretary of the Big Spring group.

Banquet tables Saturday evening were decorated with arrangements of candles trimmed with blossoms in various shades of brown, red, orange and yellow. Glitter added a sparkle to the clusters, which were used to light the dancing scene after the dinner. Music was furnished by Steve Birdwell's orchestra.

Mrs. R. L. Heith and Mrs. Douglas Boren were in charge of the decorations.

This morning from 9:30 to 10:30 all Jaycee-Ettes were to attend a brunch at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Neil Norred and Mrs. Harvey Wooten, vice president, made the plans for this affair. Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, president of the Jaycee-Ettes, assisted them.

Featured in the table arrangement for the brunch was a watermelon, scooped out and scalloped. This was filled with a variety of colorful fresh fruits.

Transportation to the many churches was planned for all visitors at the convention. A luncheon for JayCees and their wives is scheduled at noon today at the high school cafeteria, and the auxiliary members have been invited to the afternoon session.

FIRST TO REGISTER for the Tri-Regional meeting of JayCees and their wives are Mr. and Mrs. John Rudeseal, above. Opening here Saturday afternoon, the convention began with registration of visitors at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Jimmie Taylor, pinning a badge on Rudeseal, is secretary of the local Jaycee-Ettes and was in charge of registrations.

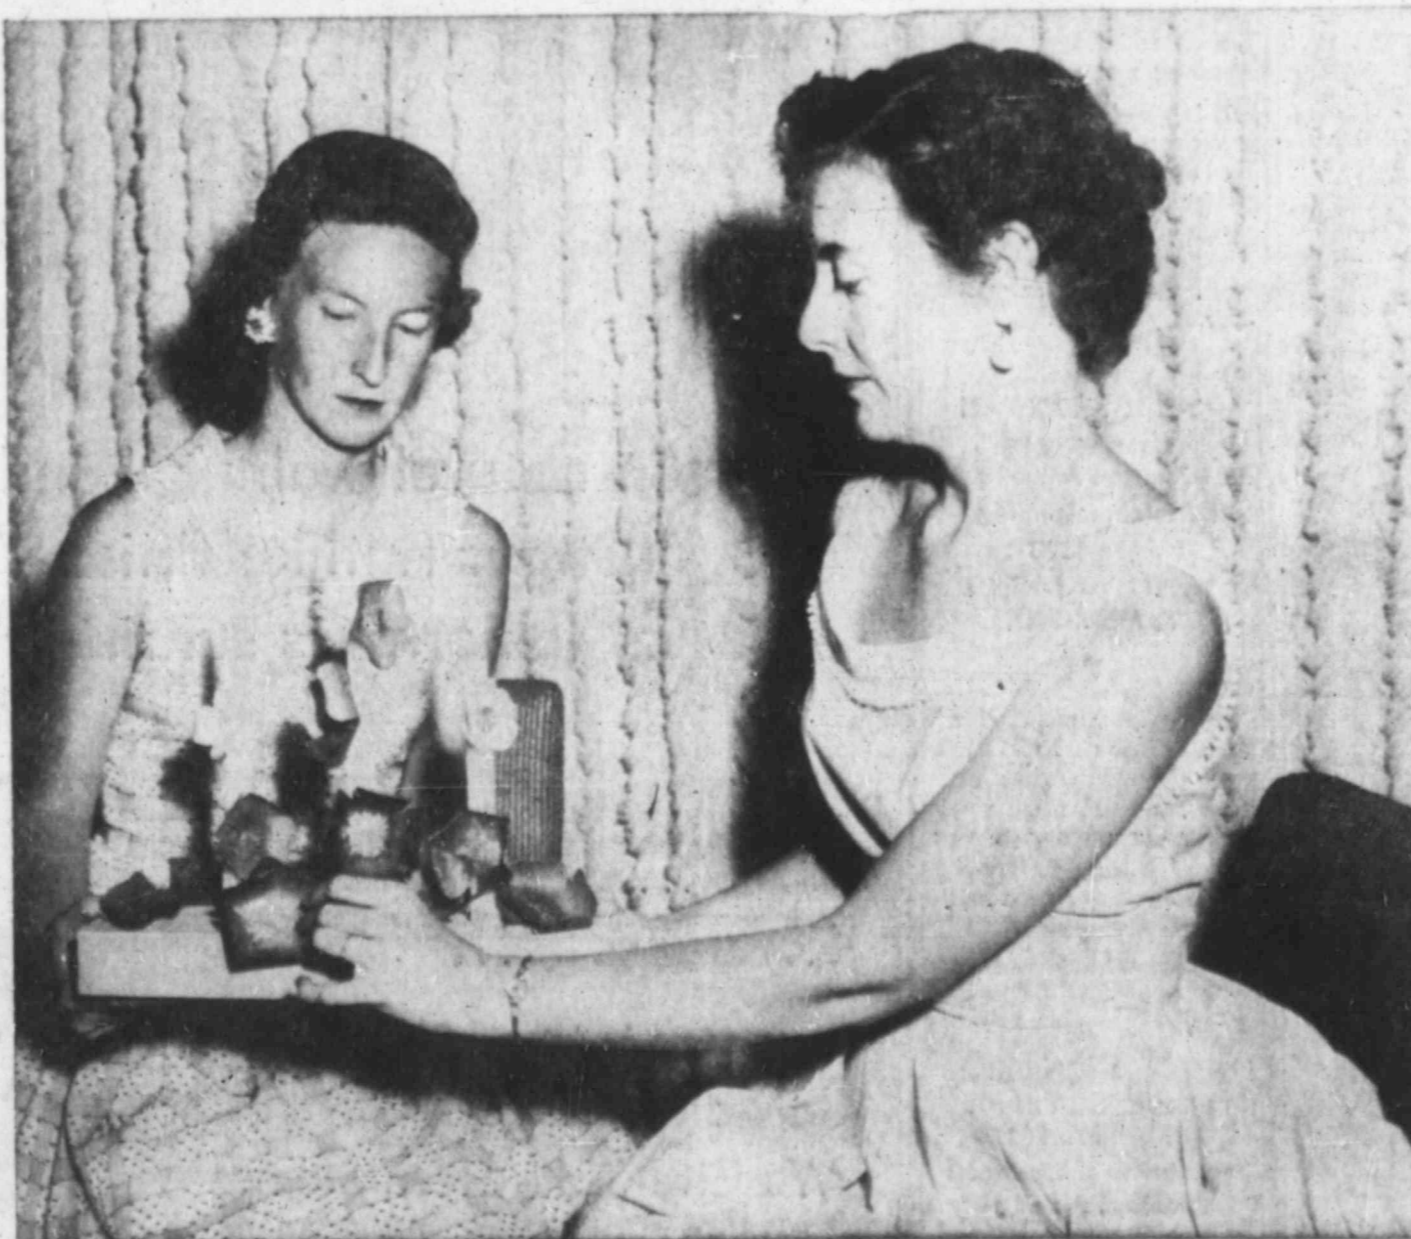

IT'S MORE FUN for two to attend a convention, agree Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hightower of San Angelo (above). He is state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and was expected to be present at the Tri-Regional meeting being held here this weekend. The three regions represented cover the territory from El Paso to Abilene and from Brownwood to Lamesa. Delegates were expected from about 29 towns, with a group to be here from Corpus Christi.

Tuneful Duet

Combining two talents, the Rev. and Mrs. David Whitaker make a delightful couple to hear. Mrs. Whitaker plays the piano while her husband sings. Rev. Whitaker is the new associate pastor of the Temple Baptist Church. Before coming to Big Spring, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Rock Springs. The Whitakers are both natives of West Texas, and attended school at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene. Rev. Whitaker's home is Baird, while Mrs. Whitaker is from Stamford. The Whitakers' talents are heard at the various church activities they participate in.

Baptist Rev., Wife Make Tuneful Duet

If you've noticed a new face in the pulpit of the Temple Baptist Church, you have already met this week's newcomers to Big Spring. They are the Rev. and Mrs. David Whitaker. Rev. Whitaker is the new associate pastor of the church.

They join their talents for the various church programs and any other occasion. "It takes a lot of practice to keep up a musical talent," Rev. Whitaker commented. He studied music at HSU and also at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth. At the latter, he sang with a group called the Southwestern Singers. This group made tours throughout the east and mid-west. Mrs. Whitaker also studied music at HSU and plays the trumpet as well as the piano.

Mrs. Berry Will Visit Daughter In Nebraska

Anna Mae Berry is leaving for Nebraska Monday to visit her daughter, Betty. She will be accompanied by Betty when she returns to Big Spring.

When they can find time from all their church activities, the Whitakers spend their time practicing music. Mrs. Whitaker plays the piano and Rev. Whitaker sings.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Allen are the parents of an eight-pound, 13-ounce boy, Mark Bradley, born July 14.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Women's styles intrigue me! Not only do they intrigue, but they completely baffle me. The one that is most baffling is the hairstyle shown in a recent national magazine—the one that looks as if the lady has a bushel basket under her hair. It seems the stylists go from one extreme to another. I can't imagine a man taking a lady to dinner with a hairstyle like that. On the other hand those that appear to have been chewed off don't do much for a lady's beauty either. Why can't they just let the hair continue to be a woman's crowning glory and just keep it clean and well groomed—that seems a sensible solution to me. However, we do have very high winds in West Texas.

Mrs. Allred Feted At Tea In Stanton

STANTON — Mrs. Bill Allred, the former Bonnie Green, was honored with a bridal shower Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Delmar Hamm.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Bob Thrall, Mrs. F. G. Yates, Mrs. J. T. Mims, Mrs. B. G. Mims, Mrs. C. E. Airhart, Mrs. W. B. Walker, Mrs. Sterling Tunnell, Mrs. Jim Webb, Mrs. Jim Franklin, Mrs. Jim Miller, Mrs. Maude Echols, Mrs. Charlie Hale, Mrs. C. W. Gilmore, Mrs. Leo Payne, Mrs. G. Tunnell, Mrs. Delmar Hamm.

The serving table was laid with an ecru lace cloth over blue linen, with arrangement of blue verbenas. The white cake, embossed with white baskets and blue flowers was placed at one end of the table, and the crystal punch service was placed at the opposite end.

The honoree wore a pink polished cotton dress with white accessories.

Greeting the guests at the door was Mrs. Jim Miller. Faye Neil Lunders served at the register with approximately 50 attending.

Marsha Bristow and Glen Reid are attending the Girl Scout Camp at Bothe Oaks camp at Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Thomas are in Johnson City visiting relatives and will attend the homecoming while there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sale were hosts to the "Win One Class" of the First Baptist Church at their home recently. Members had their families as guests for a fried chicken and covered dish dinner.

Rev. E. B. Coon gave the invocation. After dinner, which was served outside, "at" was played.

Approximately 50 members and guests and one out-of-town visitor, Barbara Meeks of Slaton attended.

Rev. Whitaker said he wasn't too interested in fishing until recently when he caught a five pound catfish in a local stream.

Although both attended HSU they did not meet there, Mrs. Whitaker said. "David was leading the singing at my church in Stamford the first time I met him," she added. "But we didn't start going together until about three years later," Rev. Whitaker said.

By that time they were both students at HSU. Rev. Whitaker received his degree from there in 1952.

He has studied in the summer months for his degree from Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth. He is working toward his Bachelor of Divinity degree and a Masters in Religious Education.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Orme will be in Santa Fe and Chama on a fishing trip for two weeks.

Called A 'Charmer'

Merle Oberon attributes much of her success in motion pictures to her individual looks and style. She may soon be seen in Universal-International's "Price of Fear."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Keep Your Distinctive Traits, Says Merle

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — At a recent premiere which attracted many of Hollywood's screen beauties, the exotic Merle Oberon was a stand-out.

"There is one of the great faces of our time," a director in our party exclaimed. "What a charmer she is!"

Later in Merle's lovely Bel Air home I repeated this compliment to her.

"People have been very kind to me," she said. "But do you know when I started my career my looks made me miserable? All the stars, all the girls on candy boxes and in advertisements of all sorts were blonde and blue-eyed. I would have given anything to have looked like them."

"When one is very young it is sometimes painful to be different, but it helps to remember the story of the ugly duckling. Then you appreciate your individuality. When I had my first contract with the studios a woman in charge of new players wanted to do me over. She wanted a crooked tooth pulled and replaced with a straight one. She said, 'You must get rid of that high forehead. Cover it in some way.' Fortunately I had enough sense to stand up to her. 'I got my contract looking like this,' I told her. I wouldn't let her change me."

"It gives some people a feeling of security to dress like the current formula, to look like everyone else, with hair cut like a boy, or big gobby earrings. But you are giving up something of great value when you sacrifice your individuality. I definitely feel that you should guard your distinctiveness. Mine has been a great help to me. 'I love clothes and read all the magazines, but I follow fashion only when it suits me. I can't wait to get to Paris and visit Dior again. His new clothes are Empire and flatter the figure instead of disfiguring it.' Merle told me about a 'Mother's Day' layout in a certain magazine. 'It is absolutely fantastic how young the mothers with grown daughters look today. I think it is more so in this country than elsewhere in the world.' Merle is a much-traveled person and is at home in many countries.

"To what do you attribute this youthfulness in American women?" I wanted to know. "Let me think," she said closing her eyes a moment. "I think it begins with having no age consciousness, no feeling that they can't do things because they have grown children or have passed a certain birthday. They have pride in meeting the challenge to stay young. And unquestionably there is more effort made to stay thin. And eating less is healthier."

"It is wonderful for a woman to stay young, but again this can be overdone," she continued. "Often I ask myself when buying clothes, 'Is this too young for me?'"

Merle's hair was soft and shiny in the sunlight, and I asked her if she brushed it frequently to acquire such a sheen. "Oh, yes!" she exclaimed. "I have a woman come in three times a week to do it. Her list of clients would fill an autograph book. She uses a brush with stiff bristles that really brings up my circulation and makes my scalp tingle. 'I wash it every four days, alternating with an oily and non-oily shampoo. I think it's healthy to alternate because your hair builds up a tolerance. There are many brands from which to choose today.'"

I asked Merle about the second half of her compliment — how to be a great charmer. "Charm," Merle explained, "boils down to liking people and giving of yourself. There is no real charm without warmth. I think the great block to charm is egotism."

"Everything you think and everything you do writes its effect in your face. So if you take care of your character you take care of your beauty and your charm."

Dance Steps Of Modern Day Bring Back Memories

By DEIDRA HINTON Everything else comes and goes in fads and times, and dancing is no exception.

The recent revival of the Charleston brought back many memories for the flappers of the 20's era. The Charleston was being danced throughout the country by college students, who might have added their present day modern touch, minus the spicurls and ragoon coats.

However, spicurls were sometimes in evidence when this dance was being revived, because at the same time the fashion world was trying to bring back the slouch look of the 20's. The middy blouse, cloche hats, and lower waistslines added their sparkle to this creation for the modern-day flappers.

The newest dancing steps may seem new to you in the younger set, but that's an old story because it has always belonged to the young in heart and body. Dancing is the quickest and most direct way of expressing joy, with the closest thing at hand — your body.

And if people think you are wild in your dancing, they should remember Grandma and Grandpa doing the Bunny Hug. Of course she wasn't Grandma then. She was young and pretty and rarin' to go. She wore a floor-length skirt, a long tunic overblouse, a hairdo resembling a bird's nest, and sometimes a turban on her head.

Grandma also "dugged" the Maxie and the Grizzly Bear that were full of swoops and bends almost to the floor that really kept Grandpa on the ball.

If you think Rock 'N Roll is getting a lot of publicity, you should have seen how the papers talked about the Turkey Trot, Bunny Hug, and the Maxie. They were surely demoralizing the country, editorial writers screamed! Young people were going to the dogs — and the reason — rag-time!

By the way the Turkey Trot came from Central America, not Turkey. So even in Grandma's day there was something irresistible about that Latin-derived music, just as the Mambo, Rumba, and Merengue are today.

Many dances of the World War I era came and went, but one that stayed was the Fox Trot, still one of the old-time populars of today.

The age of the stock market drop and the bread lines changed the national mood, and the bo-bee-be-do age vanished.

In 1933 something new was added — the New Deal and swing. Jitterbug was born. Teen-agers went to town with the Shag, the Lindy Hop, the Lambeth Walk, and the Big Apple.

The latest rage in dancing is the Rock 'N Roll, of course, with Elvis Presley sending the teen-agers into wild confusion. It could be called jitterbug with a jump added.

So the dances you do today, new as they may seem, are not so new after all. This has been going on a long time.

Big Spring Garden Hears Mrs. Dillard

Mrs. J. D. Dillard of Midland was guest speaker at a morning party of the Big Spring Garden Club Friday in the home of Mrs. J. E. Hogan. She is state chairman of Visiting Gardens.

Under this system, gardens in various towns are listed as being open for visits from affiliated garden club members. Cards, sent to members, will admit them to any of the gardens, upon payment of fees which might be charged. Mrs. Dillard told the club.

Garden club members desiring cards may write to Mrs. J. D. Dillard, 2007 Harvard Drive, Midland.

Local gardens listed in the group are those of Mrs. Norman Read, 503 Washington; Dr. and Mrs. Hogan, 509 Westover Road; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strom, 501 Westover Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bristow, 554 Hillside.

Other towns listed where gardens may be visited are Amarillo, Austin, Belton, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Ennis, Fort Worth, Galveston, Henderson, Houston, Jourdanton, Kingsville, Lubbock, Mexia, Midland, Mission, San Antonio, Temple, Waco, Weatherford and Wichita Falls.

Members voted to enter a float in the rodeo parade. Co-chairmen of the arrangements for the float are Mrs. Hogan and Mrs. A. C. Bass. Gardens at the Hogan and Strom homes were inspected.

Announcement was made of the fall meeting of the state board of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., scheduled for Midland Oct. 2, 3 and 4. The president of each club and a delegate will be eligible to attend the meeting. Reservations must be made with Mrs. D. E. Smith Jr., 1710 Princeton, Midland. The fee will be $14 until Sept. 15; after that date, the fee will be $16.

The Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs will host the fall meeting of the board of the southern zone of district one garden clubs. This session will take place Oct. 16.

Refreshments were served on the terrace, where the table was covered with a yellow linen cloth. A birdbath shaped fountain held hybrid galliardias floating in scented water. Mrs. P. D. O'Brien, president of the club, presided at the table. Fifteen attended.

After the party in the Hogan home, a group of gardeners met in the Colonial Room at the Howard House for luncheon. Mrs. Dillard, with Mrs. Smith and Mrs. E. W. Cowden, who accompanied her from Midland, were guests at the luncheon.

Talented Singer Back In 'Old Home Town'

By ANNE LEFEVER
A "local girl who has made good" is here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Walker, 911 NW 4th. She is Mrs. E. T. Caviness of East St. Louis, Mo. Local residents will know her better as Jimmie Lee Pitts, the girl with a talent for singing which has carried her a long way in her chosen work.
She was a student in Bishop College in Marshall when she met the Rev. E. T. Caviness, who was also a student there. Before their marriage, Jimmie Lee was presented in concerts several times in her home town, under the sponsorship of Coeden Petroleum Corporation.
The young singer appeared in school programs many times, she said, before her formal training in voice began, when she was 18 years old.
In 1949, she went to Westminster College, Princeton, N. J. She and Caviness were married in June, 1952.
Rev. Caviness is now pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church in East St. Louis. The church has recently presented the singer in a concert, which included selections by Brahms, Handel, David Guion, Rossi, and Charles Wesley, among others.

FORSAN — W. M. Romans, girls coach of the Forsan schools, attended the Bluebonnet relays held in San Angelo recently. Going with him were Nedeline Pitcock and Oleta McDaniels.
Bobby Scott is home on a 45-day leave from his navy base in the Philippines. He is visiting with relatives and friends.
Home from a three-week vacation to Corsicana, Lufkin, Port Arthur, Lubbock and Kermit, are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fullen.
Leaving Monday to spend their vacation in Estes Park will be Mrs. Caviness has given other concerts during the year, also, and she is continuing her studies in Washington University. Her instructor is Leslie Chabay, Metropolitan Opera singer.
She now finds practicing more difficult, she remarked, since the birth of their son, who is 14 months old. "He does more singing than I do when I start," she said, as the youngster smiled happily and waved "bye-bye."
This didn't end the interview, however, and I learned that Mrs. Caviness has been teaching public school music in Lincoln Public School in Venice, Ill.
Besides her music, sewing takes quite a bit of her time, as the busy homemaker-singer-teacher makes little suits for Theophilus James Caviness. (He's not quite as big as his name, yet!)
Jimmie Lee makes most of her own clothes and sews for her sister, Mrs. Rudy Williams. She has been teaching in the Lamesa schools, while her husband was in the service. Another sister is Luverlyn Pitts.
Since all three of the sisters are singers, family reunions must be a combination of impromptu concerts and gossip sessions!

REMOVES LINT SAND and SOAP SCUM While It Washes

NEW 1956 GENERAL ELECTRIC FILTER-FLO AUTOMATIC WASHER
Cleans and Recleans Wash Water to Give You Cleaner Clothes.

Here's how the Filter-Flo Washing System works... Wash water circulates and filters at the rate of six gallons a minute to give you clean, bright clothes. As the washbasket continuously overflows, soap scum floats away. Sand settles out at the bottom of the washbasket. Lint is trapped in the filter which lets only cleansed, sudsy water flow back into the washbasket.
BIG CAPACITY, TOO. Over 50% more clothes capacity than many other automatics.
ACTIVATOR® WASHING Action dips, flexes and cleanses clothes, piece by piece, gently and thoroughly washing them as though by hand.

Helen Bentley Takes Vows With Hobbs Man

Members of the family and a few close friends witnessed the wedding rites which united in marriage Mrs. Helen Newton Bentley of Midland and William Thomas Wheeler Jr. of Hobbs, N. M., Saturday in the Trinity Episcopal Church of Midland.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Horace E. Newton of DeLeon. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William T. Wheeler, 2300 North Edgewood Terrace, Fort Worth.

The Rev. John Haverland of St. Christopher's Church, Hobbs, performed the double ring ceremony.

The altar of the church was decorated with two gold vases containing white gladioli and Marconi daisies. Two matching baskets of the same flowers graced the sanctuary.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an Ed Abbott original design of pale green silk organza which featured a shirred bodice with a deep yoke of organza over a border of lace. The bouffant skirt was waist length. Her small white hat was of lace beaded with pearls.

The bridal bouquet was carried on a white prayer book. Flowers were white carnations and stephanotis centered with a white Cattleya orchid and completed with a white satin ribbon shower. Pearls and nylon tufts accented the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Dewey E. Fields, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her dress was a pink silk corded organza with a scooped neckline and fitted bodice. The flared skirt and bodice had bands of lace. Her brimmed hat was of matching pink lace beaded with pearls.

The matron of honor's flowers were a styled cascade hand bouquet of Virginia pink carnations. Ushers were William C. Milstead of Austin and William M. Boggs of Hobbs.

A reception was held after the wedding in the parish hall of the church. The bridal couple was assisted in receiving by their parents and the matron of honor. The bride's table held a centerpiece of white stock and Marconi daisies.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Glen Newton, DeLeon; Mrs. William C. Milstead, Austin; Dorothy Sloan, Ft. Worth; Sue Puckhaber, Dallas, and Mrs. John Campbell and Phoebe Willhite, Midland. They wore shoulder corsages of white carnations.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride

Dennis - Arnett Vows Exchanged In Gorman

LAMESA — In a double ring ceremony read Saturday evening at eight o'clock by the bride's father, Mary Ruth Dennis became the bride of Otis Harold Arnett of Andrews.

The couple's parents are the Rev. and Mrs. M. F. Dennis of Gorman and Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Arnett of Lamesa.

The wedding was read in the Congregational Methodist Church at Gorman. The setting for the ceremony was an archway at the altar of the church entwined with greenery and white gladioli and flanked by baskets of the same flowers with candelabra on each side.

Gloria Forrester, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Billy Joe Dennis, who sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" and Mrs. Alice Lorang who sang "Always."

Given in marriage by her brother, Roy Dennis, the bride wore a dress of Chantilly type lace with a bouffant waist length skirt, high neckline with Peter Pan collar and long torso waistline. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was secured to a tiara of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias atop a white Bible.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. James Kinser of Gorman. She wore a dress of sea green net over taffeta styled with a full skirt and a fitted bodice. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

J. C. Arnett of Lamesa, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Candlelighters were Sarah Arnett of Lubbock, niece of the bridegroom, and Jerry Arnett of Lamesa, nephew of the bridegroom. Carolyn Arnett of Lubbock, niece of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The wedding reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kinser following the exchange of vows. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth and held the traditional three-tiered wedding cake.

Receiving the guests were the bride and bridegroom, parents of the bride couple; Mrs. Roy Dennis, Mrs. Clifton Arnett and Mrs. J. C. Arnett.

For travel, the bride chose a polished cotton dress of beige and blue, with matching blue duster and white accessories. She is a graduate of Gorman High School and McMurry College, where she received her BS degree in 1954 and her master's degree in education this summer. Arnett was graduated from Lamesa High School and attended North Texas State College, Denton.

They will make their home in Andrews, where he is associated with Forrest Lumber Company. She will be a teacher of primary physical education in the Andrews Schools.

Matthews Family Meets For Reunion

LAMESA — Members of the A. W. Matthews family are having their annual family reunion this week in Lamesa. Saturday night supper was served at Forrest Park and today members of the family attended church together. They had dinner in the Corral Room.

Home for the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Matthews, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Matthews, and Mr. and Mrs. Estel Matthews, all of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Matthews, Patricia; Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Matthews, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Faulk, Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Matthews, Alvin; Mr. and Mrs. Loy Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Truman O'Neil and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Matthews, all of Lamesa;

Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Walker, Midland; and the parents of the eleven children Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Matthews.

FOR YOUNG TASTES
Combination Of Halter, Jacket Pleases Juniors

Mr. Mort has an instinctive knowledge of the tastes and desires of juniors. In this halter top, skirt and caraco jacket, he has combined all their favorite tricks and fancies.

To begin with, the halter neck gives a flattering line to the bust, the tucked cummerbund diminishes waistline dimensions, and the full gathered skirt is breezy and bouncy.

For summer make it in cottons, choosing a solid color for the bolero, and a check, plaid or floral print for the halter, skirt, cummerbund, jacket facing and collar.

For back to school and fall parties, solid color wool contrasted with a print in taffeta, shantung, or novelty weave will give it new importance. A custom cut pattern with clear, open perforations, even beginners will love sewing this model for the instruction chart, so easy to follow, allows for no guess-work.

Size 9 bust 33½, waist 23½, hips 34½, length from nape of neck to waist 16 inches; size 11 bust 34½, waist 24½, hips 35½, length from nape of neck to waist 16¼ inches; size 13 bust 36, waist 26, hips 37, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches; size 15 bust 37½, waist 27½, hips 38½, length

Miss Taylor Bride Of Rafor L. Dunagan

Before an arch-decked altar, Jenna Pearl Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Taylor, exchanged wedding vows with Rafor L. Dunagan Friday evening. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dunagan.

The Rev. Maple Avery read the double ring ceremony in the East Fourth Baptist Church. On each side of the arch were baskets of white daisies, greenery and candles.

Traditional wedding music was played by Laverne Cooper. She accompanied Mrs. Bob Craig who sang "Always," "To Each His Own," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white crystal-lette gown fashioned with a low neckline in front and back. The fitted bodice extended to the mid-line and then flared into a three-tiered waltz-length skirt. The tulle crown shaped was adorned with sequins, seed pearls, and rhinestones. The attached veil of illusion was tipped with lace. The bride carried a white Bible topped with gardenias with satin streamers.

Mrs. Johnny Parker, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a green dotted swiss over taffeta gown. The neckline extended to a deep V in back where a large bow was attached. She wore matching green shoes and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Cauble and Shirley Thomas. They wore yellow dotted swiss styled like the matron of honor's gown. They carried bouquets of daisies.

Lanna Day and Gayle Taylor, San Angelo, cousins of the bride, wore pink and green dotted swiss dresses.

Bo Anderson served as best man. James Cauble and Larry Shortes were groomsmen. Ushers were Jimmy Hill and Bobby Leonard.

For the wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the bride wore a nubby cotton fabric suit of pale green. Her accessories were white.

The reception was held in the Taylor home. The wedding table was decorated with the attendants' bouquets. The table was covered with a yellow crocheted cloth. The wedding cake was three-tiered.

Serving were Mrs. E. L. Taylor, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. John H. Day, sister of the bride.

At the register was Mrs. R. C. Hendry, Harlingen, sister of the bride.

After the wedding trip, the couple will live at 1807 State. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by Peoples Finance Company. Dunagan is a graduate of Forsan High School and works for Cosden.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Robert Carl Hendry, Harlingen, and E. L. Taylor, San Angelo.

Junior Girls Attend Local Encampment

FORSAN—Junior girl auxiliary members from the Forsan Baptist Church attended the activities of the Baptist encampment the past week. Representatives from District eight were Lanell Overton, Sharon and Sandra Klahr, Ruth E. Sullivan and Cheryl Ann Moore. Sponsors were Mrs. Jesse Overton and Mrs. R. O. Sullivan.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hayhurst are parents of a son, Van Allan, born July 19 in Big Spring. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hayhurst and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Anderson.

Attending the state camp meeting of the Church of God in Eastland this week were Verna Draper, Mrs. C. L. Draper and Arah Phillips.

Spending the weekend in DeLeon will be J. W. Griffith, Gay and Sandra.

Fishing in the state of Minnesota are C. B. Long, Dr. P. W. Malone and Leroy Hollingshead.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Huff have had as their guest this week his sister, Mrs. J. J. Wall of Desdemona.

Returning from a vacation spent in Houston and Louisiana are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Whetsel, John, Jackie and Lee Doyle.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

Quite a few interesting personalities joined us at the beginning of the second summer term at HCJC. From White Plains, N. Y., comes Mary Dooley, who is a second lieutenant at Webb in the WAF division. Mary, who has been in the air force for a short time, is working on her nursing degree. From Beeville comes Lou Anne Parsons. Lou Ann was graduated from high school this past spring, and is getting off a few hours in the town of her newly acquired residence before attending Baylor. Another interesting person, though he didn't visit HCJC for the purpose of enrolling, is Dr. J. B. Ivey. Dr. Ivey, a Pittsburg, Pa., dentist, stopped at the college Tuesday with his family while passing through Big Spring. Purpose of the stop was to visit Bruce Frazier and his biology class and to exchange bits of old Indian pottery and tales. The group, at the conclusion of the chat, retired to the big spring, where we proudly "showed off" the origin of our town's name to the Pennsylvania visitors. Just a few of the newcomers to the summer session are David Ewing, Glenn Rogers, Jim Allen, Jimmy Parks, Melvin Brown, and Mary Jones. We are glad to see the latter looking so well after her car accident. Rather early, but twice as much fun because of the fact, the Faith Class from the First Baptist Church staged a 6 a.m. breakfast at the City Park Tuesday. Baked biscuits, prepared by teacher, Mrs. Pat Patterson, in everything was served to Clara Freeman, president; Bettie Anderson, vice president; Laura Rhoten, secretary; Mary Sue Hale, chairman of programs; and Marlene Mann, chairman of music. Sue Wheat returned Thursday to Baylor to attend summer school during the second summer half.

Many of you will be interested in knowing that Ted McKeenolds, who played a key role in the Youth Revival held several weeks ago at the First Baptist Church, is soon to move to Fort Arthur. Ted is a Baylor student. Do you remember a number of weeks back, in this column there was mention of Walter Wheat, who was then enroute from the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., to Dallas to undergo surgery? Presently Walter is recovering from that operation in St. Paul Hospital in Dallas. His dismissal is expected in about a month.

Peggy Hogan left Wednesday for Glorieta where she will serve as a member of the working staff at the Baptist retreat. From Houston comes Frances Head, who is currently a weekend guest at the home of Robert Morehead. Like Robert, Frances is a student at Baylor University. Other students, in addition to the data appearing in Campus Chatter last week, who are working this summer include Maxine Rossen, employed in the business office of Southwest Investment Company; Sandra Webb, a ward secretary at the VA Hospital. Jim Allen is working as a salesman for Lead's Shoe Store, while Lynn Thames is working for the T&P Railroad. Robert Morehead is working for his dad G. G. Morehead, in the moving business. Frances Reagan and Carolyn Miller are expected back sometime this weekend from California, where they have spent the major portion of this month. Visiting a former resident of Big Spring, Sheila Sutphen, now living at West Covina, Calif., the girls traveled by train both going and on the return trip. Other points in California, including Catalina Island, were visited by Frances and Carolyn.

Forsan Folks Leave For Vacation Spots

FORSAN—Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Prescott and children have been on vacation to Marble Falls. They were joined there by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Prescott of Midkiff. Visitors to Fort Worth and Stephenville for a few days were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conger, William and Betsy. A family reunion will be held today in Stephenville. Vicky Craig, Mrs. Conger's nephew, who has been visiting in their home, returned with them to Fort Worth. Leaving for a weeks vacation in Athens were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Oglesby and Gordon. Mrs. Johnny Morris has been visiting relatives in Abilene. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barton and Van Allan are in Georgetown for the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Barton. Mrs. Leo Parker will be dismissed from a Big Spring hospital this weekend. She has been hospitalized following an emergency appendectomy. At the VA Hospital in Big Spring, S. B. Walker underwent surgery on his back. The injury occurred while he was in the Army in 1944.

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

Many of us are now realizing the truth of the song "Home, Sweet Home" as we return from our vacations. Never before has Cosden Refinery or the Veterans Hospital or the high school looked so good and never before have friends seemed so close as when we are returning to Big Spring after several weeks spent out of town. No, there's no place like home, especially when seen through homesick eyes. Some of BSHS students are only really beginning their vacations this week. After covering a year's work in seven weeks, summer school classes are over. The kids will have all of August for just relaxing and having fun before we all have to start devoting a portion of our time to books next September. A group of young people combined learning with fun Monday night at the MYF district meeting. The kids met in the park for a picnic and then went to the amphitheater for a program.

This is a reminder to all teenagers. The Youth Activities Week is to be held at the First Methodist Church this week. The programs and recreation will be interesting and enjoyable. The young people of the Trinity Baptist Church journeyed to Monahan Friday night for a youth meeting. Under the direction of their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Davidson, the group presented a program for the other churches attending the meeting. Better make a note of this! The last of the senior girls' pictures will be taken this month. If for some reason you have not had yours made, call Barr Photo-center Monday and make an appointment. These pictures must be made this month. Pudge Gray had hardly returned from Girl Scout camp in Michigan when she left with her family for a Florida vacation. Pudge planned to spend several weeks with her sister and brother-in-law. She had other plans too — for swimming, water skiing and sunbathing. Trying her hand at outdoor life this summer is Sandy Sloan. Sandy is attending Camp Wa-Na-Ta near Colorado Springs, Colo. The camp, which last four weeks, offers many recreational activities to the participants. Also planning to attend a camp in Colorado is a group of young people from the Trinity Baptist Church. This camp, Silver State Youth Camp, will be held for one week the last of the summer. The Rev. Jack Power and Mr. L. J. Davidson will accompany the group to the camp. Dressing up in their worst for a tacky party at the home of Kay Dimpill last week were Tony Hampton, Charles Nance, Benson Kennedy, Corky Deel, Mary Ivy, Dixie Todd, Patsy Hayworth, Dwayne Haynes, Lloyd Hampton, Boyce Sneed, Carol Henson, Rexie Nance, and T. L. Kennedy. The group enjoyed games, refreshments, and laughing about each other's costumes. Kay Jamison is realizing the dream of many BSHS girls as she is attending John Robert Powers Modeling School in Dallas. Kay left the 15th. She and her mother plan to remain in Dallas six weeks. Tommy Matthews, a former BSHS student, is visiting Tony and Lloyd Hampton for a time this summer. Tommy is now living in Odessa. Returning to her old "stomping grounds" last week was Kathy McRee. The McRees spent several days in Beaumont where they lived before they moved to Big Spring several years ago. Plans are being formed for a lot of fun and worthwhile times at the Y camp to be held Aug. 14-19 near San Antonio. Last week the kids planning to attend received pamphlets telling them about the camp and what to bring. Gerry Girdner spent several days last week in Midland. She was visiting Cynthia DuPuy. I'd like to say "thank you" to Londa Coker for writing Hi-Talk while I was out of town last week. That's all for this time. Don't forget church today.

Bandages Made By Firemen's Auxiliary

Cancer bandages for their welfare work were made by the members of the Firemen Ladies Friday afternoon. They met in the home of Mrs. O. W. Laws. Co-hostess was Mrs. Alvin Harrison. A special prize went to Mrs. J. R. Gould, and refreshments were served to eight. The next meeting was announced for Aug. 17 in the home of Mrs. Herman Morris, 108 E. 17th. Nita Laws and Eddie Waddell were guests. Mrs. Sidney Woods has as her house guest, her sister Mrs. W.E. Staten of Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Staten will be in Big Spring about ten days.

Will Be August Bride

Mrs. Edwin Chase of Temple is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Garmen Welt of this city, to Charles Caraway of Tulla. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Caraway of Tulla. Miss Welt is a nurse at the Big Spring Clinic. Aug. 2 is the date set for the wedding, which will take place in the local First Baptist Church.

Girl Designs A Pup Tent

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO—Carolyn Mann, a shelter design student at the Illinois Institute of Technology, applied a woman's ingenuity to create a better pup tent.

Young men of YMCA camps will test her version of an insect-proof, rain-proof, snake-proof tent during overnight camping trips. The tent consists of two skins and a floor of tightly woven fabric held in tension by aluminum poles acting as braces.

Four poles, two criss-crossed at each side, support the tent from the outside. The ends of the criss-crossed poles fit into grommets at each corner of the skin, two at the peak, two at the base. Ties attached to the tent hold the poles securely in place at the point where the poles cross.

ment inside—sleeping bags, knapsacks and supplies—the tent will hold to the ground despite strong winds," she says.

Triangular doors at each end have inner panels of orlon net screening. The inner screening snaps tightly to the tent sides so that insect pests do not disturb sleeping campers. In bad weather, outer doors can be zipped shut, tightly closing the shelter.

Miss Mann says the tent can be folded and packed into a package about a yard long with a diameter of seven inches, weighing less than five pounds.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD 'Marks' Of Criminals Stay In Officers' Files

SEC. III BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 22, 1956 SEC. III

By DON HENRY
Criminals and suspects come and go. But their marks remain in Big Spring — in the police and sheriff's department fingerprint files.

Police Detective Jack Shaffer said that every person who is apprehended by the police department for a suspected felony crime or who the department suspects might be wanted elsewhere is fingerprinted either by them or the sheriff's department.

Between the two departments, probably 10,000 persons are represented in Big Spring by their fingerprints. A mug shot, head and shoulders from a front and side view, accompany many of the prints.

Where a person will be transferred to the county officials for custody, Shaffer said the police usually do not fingerprint them. But if a person is picked up for a misdemeanor in the city, and the police think he might be wanted elsewhere, they print him and send the prints to the Department of Public Safety in Austin and the FBI in Washington.

Returns from the two bureaus naturally depend on the amount of calls arriving in the criminal centers at that specific time, but Shaffer said that they had received word from Austin within 36 hours. Austin will radio their reply, while the FBI telegraphs its information.

Both bureaus will keep the fingerprints whether they have the person's record or not, thus adding to their files. (The FBI has approximately 135 million sets of fingerprints on file.)

The state, federal, and local groups each have a different type of fingerprint card, but each asks for about the same information, in addition to having spaces for the finger marks. This includes alleged offense, prior record, scars or other identifying marks, and general data.

In the police files, 8,594 persons have a folio for some misdemeanor or felony crime. All of the folders do not contain fingerprints, however. These files contain names of every person jailed in Big Spring's bastille since 1949 — and some two years earlier.

If a check is made of the FBI or DPS, that information is added to the folder. One random folder checked showed the person had been arrested in 11 cities over a seven-state area for various offenses.

Most of the police files are for misdemeanors; the sheriff's office handles most of the felons.

There, every person docketed in the county jail is fingerprinted and "mugged" — photographed. Handling the identification work for the county is Deputy Fred Taylor.

The department does all work for themselves and the Border Patrol, Taylor said.

The files were estimated to contain between 5,000 and 7,000 sets of prints. The sheriff's files contain also about the same data as the police department.

OLD CASES NEED ASSISTANCE

Only 1 New Call For Aid To Polio Victim This Year

By NITA HEDLESTON
Only one new request for aid has come into the Big Spring Polio Chapter since the start of the new year.

This was for a patient at the Polio Rehabilitation Center in Houston. Aid from the chapter amounted to $1,000.

There are many old requests, though, which have been coming from patients stricken earlier by polio. Some calls for aid amount to a few dollars for the repair of a brace. Others require hundreds of dollars for treatments, braces and special shoes. These are calls which come in less frequently.

The chapter, which receives most of its money from the March of Dimes, pays the bills for those who might not otherwise be able to afford the work.

The polio center for this area is Midland. There they have a therapy section which features water therapy.

Within the past year there have been few polio cases reported which have resulted in the few requests for aid.

The new Salk polio vaccine which has eased the minds of many hasn't cut down any on the sale of polio insurance though. Insurance salesmen say that this never was one of the more popular policies even when the big polio scare was on. They say that the same number of policies as usual have been purchased.

The polio benefit is in a combination policy of the six dread diseases in one insurance firm and in combination with cancer benefits in another firm.

Meat Sales Strong, Good Cuts Favored

By JESS BLAIR
Livestock prices have been down the last few years, but people are still buying meat, and in most cases, more than ever. A check with local butchers reveals that no matter how hard times get, the average family still considers meat the main part of its diet.

There has been some change in the kind of meat being consumed. Some products such as pork have dropped in sales, while a few new kinds have become popular.

George Smith, a local butcher, says that fish products and particularly the frozen kind have become popular since the advent of frozen foods. These products have not affected the sale of fresh beef but have cut into the usage of canned meat.

The two biggest sellers in the store where he works are T-bone and sirloin steak, while round steak has steadily declined.

"People just won't buy tough meat anymore," he said. "Even though the fatter and tenderer cuts are more expensive, this is the kind that sells."

Roasts have become more popular than ever. But instead of buying the four or five pound roasts that once sold, most housewives now buy the smaller ones and serve them more often. Smith says the increasing number of barbecue grills has helped the sale of roasts.

There has been a steady trend toward meats that are more easily prepared, he said. Women don't like to slave over a hot stove like grandma did, so they buy meat already sliced or frozen ready for cooking.

At one time more pork was consumed than beef, but now it's just the other way around. Pork is not very popular anymore except in cold weather. However, ham is widely used and is even cutting in on the sale of turkeys.

Smith says housewives often buy ham for the holiday meals instead of turkey. It is easier to cook, since there is no dressing to prepare.

5 Men Escape Shock Danger

CHICAGO (AP) — Five men sat through 15 minutes of terror late yesterday before deciding on a course of action.

At high voltage wire, snapped during a heavy thunderstorm, fell across their convertible in suburban Chiller Park.

The canvas top of the electrified vehicle caught fire. William Carnahan, 23, of Wauconda, Ill., the driver, pressed a button that caused it to roll down.

The tires started burning and the car paint started blistering as the men sat there.

Finally, they stood on the seats and hopped to the ground without touching the car's metal sides.

where he worked round steak was popular; in others they wanted nothing but T-bone and sirloin. Both men say that the cheaper cuts of beef go begging, and often must be used in hamburger or chili meat.

One mystery is why people in Texas never eat mutton. The state leads the nation in number of sheep raised, but even a sheep herder won't eat one of the animals.

In Denver, Colorado, where Hudson once owned a market, he butchered 20 lambs and three steers a week. Mutton was a popular seller and was eaten as often as beef.

"But they just won't eat it in Texas," he said. "and I don't know why. It's just one of those things that no one can explain."

Red Chinese Sentence Japs

HONG KONG (AP)—Red Chinese courts today sentenced 28 Japanese to prison terms for 12 to 20 years for alleged crimes while they were high officials of the old Japanese puppet state of Manchukuo (Manchuria).

Peiping radio, which announced the sentences, disclosed that Henry Pu-yi, onetime "baby emperor" of all China, was a witness against the Japanese. Pu-yi, now 50, was last known to be a captive of the Soviet Union.

Pu-yi ascended the Chinese throne in 1908 at the age of 2 and abdicated four years later when the 268-year-old Manchu dynasty crumbled.

Morality Theme Proves Good Television Tool

NEW YORK (AP)—There have recently been some excellent television dramas with basic themes of individual or social morality. There seldom are any doubts as to the outcome in such dramas. Right almost invariably triumphs. The problem of the dramatist is how to make it triumph convincingly. The more courageously he and the producers tackle the problem, the more convincing is the triumph.

An outstanding drama came to the home screen recently when the Kaiser Aluminum Hour presented "The Army Game" by Maya Simon and Loring Mandel. If future Worthington C. Miner productions in this series are as good as this first directed by Franklin Schaffner, one would be well advised to tune to NBC-TV every other Tuesday evening (at 9:30 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time).

"The Army Game" concerned a handsome college athlete, strongly dominated by his mother, who connived with her to fake his way out of the Army with a Section 8 discharge.

His deterioration of character was delineated realistically, dramatically and ruthlessly. The Army, so often slandered or pettified, was presented just about as it actually is: Tough, but in general fair.

The creator of Danny, the young man who wanted out on any terms, did not dismiss him as simply a coward. They revealed him to be genuinely sick, thereby arousing pity for him. He got his psycho discharge — but when he did, he did not want it. The drama raised many profound questions as to the nature of cowardice and courage, of mental illness and health. In doing so, it did not try to answer all of them. And in that fact lay its strength.

On the same day, by coincidence, the NBC "Matinee Theatre" presented a first rate dramatization of Dorothy Canfield Fisher's "Seasoned Timber" adapted by Eilhu Winer.

It was a superbly acted account of the dilemma facing a Vermont town when a wealthy bigot left its "Academy" a million dollars with the provision that only white, Protestant, American-born students could attend it.

"Right" and "wrong" were drawn in white and black. In the end "right" triumphed, but Winer managed to sustain suspense. The moral issues raised were well worth attention and raised the stature of the drama well above the routine level.

Boy Finds Parents

Young Tim Hovey has Jeff Chandler and Laraine Day as adoring parents, in this scene from "Toy Tiger," playing at the Ritz today through Tuesday. Parents aren't always so easy to find, as the story is a sentimental piece about a youngster's desperate search to find a father he had to "invent."

'Toy Tiger' Is Tale Of Lad Seeking Fictitious Father

"Toy Tiger" is a sentimental-type comedy patterned in the fashion of "The Private War of Major Benson." Young Tim Hovey starred in both films.

"Toy Tiger," which also features Jeff Chandler and Laraine Day, shows Sunday through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Tim is cast as a youngster at boarding school who has invented a father in place of the one he doesn't have — a big game hunter, no less. But a few of his fellows threaten to expose the hoax, and Tim must quickly find a father. He picks on Chandler, who by chance is connected with the same firm of which Tim's mother is the executive vice-president. This is the situation in which the comedy is built.

Presley Is Signed For Sullivan Show

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Ed Sullivan announced today he had signed rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley on the "Ed Sullivan Show."

The singing idol of the teen-age set will receive $50,000 for three appearances, CBS said. His first appearance will be Sept. 9 and the other two will be at approximately eight-week intervals.

TV Station Sold

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sale of 90 per cent interest in Channel 11 station KGUL-TV at Galveston to the Lone Star Television Corp., for $3,695,450, was approved yesterday by the Federal Communications Commission.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

Especially fitting for this weather we have been having is Nick Noble's "Keeping Cool With Lemonade." The kind of tune that just naturally makes you feel better, this record, though it isn't the only version on the market, is one of the best.

From the recent movie, "The Man Who Knew Too Much" comes Doris Day's recording of "Whatever Will Be, Will Be." I don't know whether it is the movie that gives this record a special appeal, but it's one of Doris's best in a long while. This Columbia recording is backed by "I've Got To Sing Away These Blues," a tune that can make good time on its own merits.

Going right on up to the tip top is Nelson Riddle's "The Proud Ones." "The Love of Genevieve" is featured on the flip side of the Capitol disk. Another good version of "The Proud Ones" is on the market in the style of Buddy Morrow. "Paradise Lost" backs this Wing record.

Another good record, the best side of which resembles "The Proud Ones," is "Tango of the Drums" by Les Baxter. As the title suggests, drums are given the lead in the number. Backing this one is "Sinner man," a Capitol recording.

"My Prayer," a Mercury record by the Platters, seems to appeal to record fans almost unanimously. "Heaven On Earth" is the flip side of this one.

On an MGM label comes Joni James' rendition of "Give Us This Day" with a special appeal. A relaxing song, this one shows a great deal of promise, and seems to be making headway.

"Paradise Lost" has released a new one, the original theme on the Westinghouse Summer Theatre, Studio One. It bears the title of "Song For A Summer Night." We take a longshot and label this one a "sure thing."

Release on a coral lable, the McGuire Sisters have a new record, "Weary Blues," which is backed by "In the Alps." Another new one is a Columbia recording by Hugo Winterhalter. This one is "Canadian Sunset" and is sold by the accompanying side "This Is Real."

From the exuberant Broadway musical "The Most Happy Fella" comes both the single LP and the album of three 12" LP records. The single release features only highlight excerpts from the show while the album contains the complete Broadway performance as presented on stage. You will recognize current popular hits in the following list that saw the light of day as a feature of this show: "Somebody Somewhere," "Joey, Joey, Joey," "Standing on the Corner," "Big D" and "Song for a Summer Night."

Other albums and LP's proving popular are the Ames Brothers with "Exactly Like You," by RCA; an extended play by Pat Boone on the Dot label, "Pat On Mike." Another new one features the new singing sensation, "Introducing Roberta Sherwood," by Decca.

Backed by Archie Blyer, Andy Williams sings "Walk Hand In Hand," a current popular tune. A new one by the Hilltoppers is features Jimmy Sanka, a member of the vocal group, in the lead.

Eddie Fisher Making A Movie

HOLLYWOOD, July 21 (AP)—Now it's Eddie Fisher, star of records, radio, TV—and movies.

Sweet-voiced Edwin from Philadelphia is now making his first movie. It's called "Bundle of Joy," and he's appearing opposite Debbie Reynolds, of all people. Despite such pleasant and familiar surroundings, he's worried about the outcome.

"Liberace does a picture, and it doesn't turn out so good," he mused. "George Gobel does a picture, and business isn't so hot. What are they going to do to me?"

I volunteered that his was a different case. Neither the Liberace nor the Gobel picture was exactly an artistic triumph. Gobel wasn't funny as his fans expected. As for Liberace's fans, they're not the kind who go to movies anyway.

That's where Eddie holds a trump card. His following includes the youngsters, who have been the backbone of the movie audience for decades.

As with the two other TV stars he mentioned, Eddie is doing a musicalized remake. Liberace's "Sincerely Yours" was based on George Arliss' "The Man Who Played God"; Gobel's "The Birds and the Bees" on Henry Fonda's "The Lady Eve"; "Bundle of Joy" is derived from the RKO oldie, "Bachelor Mother." Mr. and Mrs. Fisher play the roles once done by David Niven and Ginger Rogers.

Eddie is making his film debut under the best of financial conditions. He'll take a sizable share of the profits under his deal with RKO.

Candidates Are Fearing Small Voter Turnout

Next Saturday is primary election day but even the most seasoned of election observers in Howard County are reluctant to make a prediction on how the turnout of voters will be.

Candidates who have been out in the field soliciting support are equally uncertain.

"There's no interest," they say. "Folk just don't seem to be excited at all."

"You hear a little talk in some parts of the county about the sheriff's race. Or you may hear a little discussion of the governor's race. As to the other offices to be filled—well, there just isn't any comment."

Check of the records shows that the number of poll tax receipts issued in the county this year was comparatively high. Not as large in number as a few years ago, some observers say, but still, measured against the total population estimate of the county, a fair cross-section average total.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, tax collector, said her office sold 8,794 poll tax this spring. An additional 1,548 exemption certificates were issued at her office. An additional three hundred or so voters are outside the city limits and eligible to vote by exemption privilege. This brings the possible total number of eligible voters to perhaps 10,500. Population estimates on the county vary sharply but this number, most folk agree, represents a better than average number of qualified voters for a county of this size.

The question is not how many voters are eligible to ballot next Saturday. The issue is how many will bother to go to the polls on election day.

Candidates seeking office are perturbed over the prospects of a light vote. They blame the disinterest on the small number of county offices involved in this election in which there is competition. They also attribute the prolonged dry weather as partly to blame—that the drought has created a general apathy in the county at large.

"If it's a hot day Saturday," mused one candidate, "and if something doesn't arise the last week of the primary campaign to stir up interest, we may have an extremely light vote."

He shook his head gloomily. "If we do have a real light vote, there's no telling how things will turn out."

Other candidates seem to feel that the public is more interested than is demonstrated on the surface. They think that it is possible that the voters are "playing possum"—not talking much but still more concerned over the outcome of the election than would otherwise appear to be the case.

These hopeful characters think that if this is the real situation, there may be a good vote on Saturday.

Meantime, election officials are prepared for any eventuality. An ample supply of ballots for any contingency will be ready; the voting precinct organizations will be on duty.

About all that can be done, philosophized one observer, is just wait and see what happens.

MYF To Open Activities Week

Beginning Sunday night, members of the MYF of the First Methodist Church will begin the observance of their Youth Activities Week. The theme for the week will be "Christ Above All."

Youth activities will begin every night, Monday through Friday, at 8 p.m. A buffet supper will be served each night at the church. The supper will be followed by special courses and Bible studies.

Julius Scott, from Wylie College in Marshall will be present Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights. He will lead the recreation and workshop services. Scott has also been active in various national and international youth activities.

He served as vice president of the National Conference of Methodist Youths; was a delegate to the second World Conference of Christian Youths in Oslo, Norway, in 1947, and attended the World Council of Churches in Evanston, Ill., in 1954.

County Attains 74 Pct. Of Quota On Savings Bonds

Howard County's purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds (E and H series) amounted to $133,928 in June, it was reported Saturday by County Bond Chairman Ira L. Thurman. Sales for the first six months of 1956 were $579,602, which is 74.3 per cent of Howard's quota of $780,000.

Sales in Texas for the same period were $98,307,958, which is 43.2 per cent of the 1956 quota of $227.5 million.

Other counties in this district include Borden, with no sales credited to that county; Mitchell, six months total of $242,032, or 80.7 per cent of quota; and Scurry, $259,879, or 42.6 per cent of quota.

Thurman said the good showing of Howard County to date gave confidence that the county will be well over its quota for the year.

Red Blames Bureaucrats, Taxes For Polish Uprising

LONDON (AP) — Edward Ochab, Poland's Communist party boss, said today bureaucratic indifference and inequitable taxes helped trigger the recent Poznan workers' riots.

He told a party conference the party now "will ruthlessly combat bureaucratic habits and bureaucratic indifference toward working people."

In his speech, broadcast by the Warsaw radio, Ochab said "the party has called to order those 'big shots' in the administrative and economic apparatus who have cotton wool in their ears and forget their duties."

Warsaw has officially announced that 53 persons were killed and 300 wounded in the riots three weeks ago. Estimates from returning travelers have put the tolls much higher.

Poland's Communist government has admitted making some mistakes in its handling of the workers but claims the mistakes were exploited by foreign agents to stir up trouble.

In his appraisal of the uprising, Ochab, first secretary of the Polish Communist party, said it would be "erroneous to concentrate attention above all on the machinations of provocateurs and imperialist agents."

"It is necessary to look first of all for the social roots of these incidents which have become for the whole of our party a signal of warning," Ochab said.

He said the income tax for workers was estimated at too high a level and added: "This error was corrected in November, 1955, but the reimbursement of the sums due was delayed and it was only on the eve of the incidents that the matter was settled and the workers informed about it."
