Soaking Rain Wets Area Up To .4 Inch

A slow, steady drizzle, broken at intervals by brief but brisk showers, sent the temperature in Big Spring to summer resort levels Tuesday morning and left rainfall measurements running as high as .4 inch.

The rains began falling at around 4 a.m. after a night during which heavy clouds covered the skies. It continued steadily throughout the morning and noon skies were still overcast. Enough moisture was still in evidence to require intermittent use of the windshield wipers.

The rain was so slow there was no runoff and thirsty lawns soaked up the moisture as rapidly as it fell. Check of the county indicated that the conditions prevailing in Big Spring were general. The U.S. Experiment Station at the north edge of the city limits reported that .33 inch of rain had fallen at 8 a.m. From that hour to noon, additional precipitation had con-

Governor Race Becoming Like Roman Holiday

The race for governor had taken on today the appearance of Roman holiday and a Hollywood production rolled into one with watermelon feast, a movie star, a Pulitzer Prize winner and four donkeys in supporting roles.

Ralph Yarborough and his Cass County Coon Hunter's band rolled down Congress Ave. in Austin in a wagon drawn by four donkeys, the emblem of the Democratic party as a prelude to an address and watermelon feast attended by 3,000 in downtown Woodridge Park.

Sen Price Daniel staged a 30-minute television show from Fort Worth featuring Pess Parker—the "Davey Crockett" of video and the movies—Pulitzer Prize-winner editor Kenneth Towery, Frank Jackson of San Angelo, past president of the State Teachers' Assn; and the candidates' family.

W. Lee O'Daniel, whose own road show consisting of a red fire truck and his hillbilly band has been playing over the state, made a one-night stand at Haltom City. There was a touch of drama from other candidates.

J. J. Holmes, who has offered $10,000 and $50,000 rewards for information leading to the solving of the auto bombing of Brady attorney Sam McCollum III, camped at Huntsville trying to see a convict whom the candidate said is supposed to know something about the bombing.

J. Evetts Haley got a polite heave-ho from a Waco fire manufacturer plant when he tried to campaign inside the grounds and the plant guards were alerted to see that he didn't get in or interfere with traffic outside the gate.

Reuben Senterfitt took a dim view of at least one of Monday's performances. He said Daniel was "so desperate" as a candidate that he is becoming a theatrical producer. He said the original Davey Crockett "would turn over in his grave if he knew his good name was being lent to such political chicanery."

Yarborough, reviewing his charges of corruption in state government and promising a thorough and quick cleanup if he is elected, was interrupted 25 times for applause by a crowd which was more enthusiastically partisan than an earlier O'Daniel audience of about the same size.

In his TV program, Daniel predicted he can win without a runoff because of muddysiding of other candidates and by Walter Reuther of the CIO.

He said attacks by other candidates prove that he is far ahead in the race. Daniel charged that Reuther and other out-of-state labor men with backing a candidate twice supported without success, an obvious reference to Yarborough. The senator said Reuther fought the tidelands bill, the natural gas bill and is now giving money to the NAACP to "help instigate law suits against school districts in the South which have not chosen by their own decision to integrate."

Senate Defeats Cut In Foreign Aid

Witnessed Slaying
Arthur Besley, 35, above, demonstrates how he sat in his 15th floor Chicago apartment overlooking Lake Michigan beach and witnessed through field glasses the slaying of a sunbathing woman on the rock-lined shore. Besley said he saw a man stalk the woman, drag her behind a large rock and then beat her with some object. He directed police to the scene where the dead woman was found. The victim was identified as Miss Margaret Gallagher, 30, Chicago beauty shop operator.

Vote Due Soon On Yugoslav Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted to grant the administration $4,110,920,000 in foreign aid appropriations today after rejecting an attempt to slash $126,600,000 in economic assistance money. The vote was 54-36.

The funds in the foreign aid bill, including $2,300,000,000 in military assistance, were approved by a 57-33 roll call vote. This action came after a 54-36 vote rejecting a series of amendments by Sen. Ellender (D-La.) calling for a 10 per cent cut in President Eisenhower's requests for defense support and development assistance abroad.

Final passage of the bill, however, awaited action on other amendments. The total money figure is what the Senate Appropriations Committee recommended. The vote which followed the rejection of the Ellender amendments buttoned down the committee's recommendations for economic assistance. The Senate last week approved the $2,300,000,000 in military assistance funds.

Still pending was an amendment, opposed by the administration, to prohibit President Eisenhower from shipping additional jet fighter planes to Yugoslavia and to limit future military aid to President Tito for maintenance and spare parts for equipment he already has.

The Senate defeat of Ellender's proposal for a 10 per cent cut in most of Eisenhower's itemized requests for defense supports and development assistance abroad was a major victory for the administration.

But Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas predicted later adoption of an administration-opposed ban on shipment of jet fighter planes and all new arms to Yugoslavia. The administration asks that the Senate leave the question of further shipments to Marshal Tito to the President's discretion. The ban is proposed by Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) and Sen. Bridges (N.H.), chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

They turned down an administration delegation which paid separate calls on them late yesterday to urge that they change their stand. Other supporters of the amendment said the debate will disclose the shipment of "several" jet fighters to Yugoslav Marshal Tito since the controversy started several weeks ago.

Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) and Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons and Jack Martin, aides to President Eisenhower, made the unsuccessful pleas to Knowland and Bridges. "My position is unchanged," Bridges told reporters afterwards. He said the same was true of Knowland and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), the other sponsor of the amendment.

The amendment would allow this government to continue to provide maintenance and spare parts for American equipment already has, but shut off abruptly the shipment of planes and other new arms to Yugoslavia. The administration kept up its pleas to other senators to leave to Eisenhower's discretion whether to cut off Yugoslav's help. The House and the Senate have approved such a provision in the authorization bill already enacted.

Bridges said he may drop a previously planned amendment to cut in half the 80 million dollars carried in the bill for economic aid to India in view of its defeat when offered as an amendment to the authorization bill.

State ASC Official Rejects Plea Here

A member of the state committee for Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation today turned down a request of Howard County farm leaders that soil bank payments be raised to a basis of 100 per cent of normal yield for Howard County cropland.

B. W. Harrison, member of the state ASC panel, said the state committee is under a directive from the Department of Agriculture in Washington to base payments on local crop prospects, which are admittedly poor in virtually all of Howard County.

A. H. Tate of Knott, president of the Howard County Farmers Union, challenged the position of the state committee and agriculture officials in Washington. He told Harrison the federal law authorizing the "soil bank" makes no reference to "indicated yield."

Tate also asked the state ASC official what would happen if county ASC committees seized the authority which Tate said they are granted under the law and based soil bank contracts on 100 per cent of "normal yield."

Harrison said the state committee could refuse to approve the applications, but he added that he doesn't know what action the state group would take in such cases. Conferring with Harrison were Tate, Ralph White of Coahoma, county Farm Bureau president; C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma, state Farm Bureau vice president; Donald Lay, also of the local Farm Bureau, and Gabe Hammack, Howard County manager for ASC.

After the talks with the two farm organization leaders, Harrison and Hammack went into conference.

The principal wet belt yesterday and during the early morning extended from the mid-Mississippi Valley northeastward to the Ohio Valley and the lower Great Lakes region. Scattered showers fell in Southern and Central Plains. Fair weather prevailed in the Northwest and in most of the Rockies.

Heaviest rainfall yesterday measured nearly 3 inches at Springfield, Mo.; more than 2 inches at Burlington, Vt.

Seventy-five Latin American boys and girls registered Monday afternoon for the annual Baptist encampment here.

The total, plus 13 workers, is the largest group of Latin Americans to attend. Their encampment was originated here three years ago. Forty-three boys and 32 girls are registered.

Four of the five associations in the district having Latin American work were representing in the Monday registration.

Rev. P. D. Sullivan, Snyder, is camp director, and Rev. E. B. Rios, Levelland, is camp pastor, Rev. A. C. Muller is camp missionary. He is a worker in Mexico. The encampment will continue through Friday.

Oklahoma Pushes Oil Average Up

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and condensate increased 23,700 barrels during the week ended July 21 chiefly because of a 21,400-barrel advance in Oklahoma, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

Oklahoma's output averaged 602,900 barrels. The national daily average was 7,113,350 barrels, raising the Journal's estimate of 1956 production to 1,542,948,700 barrels compared to 1,365,552,443 a year ago.

McKeon Witness Saw Bottle 'Raised'

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A crisp young Marine said today he saw S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon "raise a bottle to his lips" just before he led the disciplinary march of six recruits to their deaths.

However, Pvt. David H. McPherson of Chatham, N. J., said he was unable to say that McKeon actually had taken a drink. McKeon is facing a general court-martial for leading 74 members of Platoon 71 into a marsh last April. Six drowned.

Just prior to McPherson's appearance the defense sought to call 108 ex-Marines as witnesses—and earned a mild reprimand. In his testimony the day's first witness said he was called to McKeon's room about 8 p.m., April 8. The march began about 8:30 p.m.

gining. He told me he planned to take the platoon into the swamps and asked if I thought that would help discipline the platoon. I told him in my opinion it would."

As the discussion continued, McPherson said, McKeon walked across the room and picked up a bottle. The witness continued: "He brought the bottle over. I saw him raise the bottle to his lips. It was a clear bottle with a label marked vodka. He asked 'Would you like some?' I said it was up to him, it didn't matter. He said, well I couldn't have any anyway. He asked me if I liked vodka. I told him I did."

By the time the trial reopened today eight survivors of Platoon 71's death march had testified they were "goof offs" and McKeon was a Marine they admired.

Two of McKeon's former boots said too that even though the sergeant had struck them, it was more in exasperation than in anger because he wanted to make them "gung ho" Marines.

In all this testimony, there was no trace of bitterness against the pale, impassive former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass.

The 31-year-old McKeon, who once had a reputation as a laugh-off told him I felt the platoon had it too easy right from the begining. He told me he planned to take the platoon into the swamps and asked if I thought that would help discipline the platoon. I told him in my opinion it would."

As the discussion continued, McPherson said, McKeon walked across the room and picked up a bottle. The witness continued: "He brought the bottle over. I saw him raise the bottle to his lips. Mock Alert Problems Leveling Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many desperate problems created by last Friday's mock bombing of the United States were reported taking "manageable form" today as civil defense Operation Alert continued.

The emergency press headquarters at a secret location more than 100 miles from Washington closed down yesterday after 126 formal announcements in four days.

Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming Jr., said the great majority of the 100,000 government officials and employees evacuated from Washington would remain at their more than 30 relocation sites until the drill ends late Wednesday.

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson praised this year's exercise as the best yet, but said he wants to inject more realism into the next Operation Alert.

Peterson flew into Washington for an hour yesterday from his hideaway operation headquarters to appear on a radio show. "Instead of telling the people in the cities and states what the pattern is going to be, what bomb will be exploded, at what point and at what time, I would like to work out a method by which no one but two or three men would write the attack plan would know anything about it, and the information would be transmitted to the cities where the attack was going to occur just at the last moment."

Peterson said one thing learned in this year's exercise was that "large public shelters employing the dome principle" would have to be built approximately 2 1/2 miles away from vital target areas.

He added that "we'll be submitting a program to Congress in the near future" under which the federal government would pay 75 to 90 per cent of the cost. The individual states would provide land for the shelters.

Enrollment At HCJC Is Up 200 Pct.

Summer school enrollment at Howard County Junior College has more than tripled last year's load and the semester hour total is up more than 100 per cent.

Registration was completed yesterday for the second six weeks of the summer term. Enrollment hit 127. There were 167 students during the first six weeks, making a total of 294 for the two sessions.

Last year, when one nine-week session of summer school was conducted, enrollment was 89 students. The total semester load is up proportionately, 1,133 for this summer as compared to 451 last year.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, said the summer school this year "will just about pay for itself." Normally, summer school is a deficit operation.

The HCJC president also predicted that the heavy summer enrollment is forerunner of high enrollment for the long term this fall.

Steel Men Debate New Union Offer

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of the nation's major steel companies met behind closed doors today, apparently to work over a new offer aimed at ending the 24-day-old steel strike.

The company representatives meet later with negotiators for the United Steelworkers of America. Both sides have declined to say anything about the reported new offer. There was speculation it would call for a three-year contract in contrast to industry's original demand for a five-year one, and one or two cents more than offered previously in hourly benefits.

John A. Stephens, industry's top negotiator, met with his management group at the Biltmore Hotel during the morning while David J. McDonald, union president, met secretly with union representatives at Hampshire House.

"Please God, that this visit to New York will be more fruitful than the last," he said. Earlier contract talks here ended in a stalemate that signaled a walkout of 650,000 steelworkers. Nearly 90 per cent of the national steel capacity has been idled by the strike and about 103,000 workers in allied industries have been laid off.

The new discussions were called Sunday by the industry's top negotiator, John A. Stephens of U. S. Steel. Talks in Pittsburgh had collapsed last week.

There was speculation in Pittsburgh that the companies might be prepared either to revise their basic proposals or to modify them within the framework of the long-term pact they say is necessary for industry stability.

The companies have offered a contract lasting four years and four months with what they say is a package wage boost amounting to 17 2/3 cents in the first year. The union estimated the offer at 14 cents an hour and said it was too little. The union also favors a two-year contract with a wage reopener.

The steelworkers' prestrike wages averaged $2.46 an hour. The union has never made public its wage demands but is reportedly seeking a 15-cent-an-hour increase.

Alcatraz Escape Attempt Fizzles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Another attempt to escape from grim Alcatraz prison ended early today like the others—in failure—when murderer Floyd Wilson was found crouched behind a rock barely 150 yards from the spot where he disappeared.

Wilson, serving a life term on the famed Rock, surrendered meekly 1 1/2 hours after he slipped away while working on the prison dock.

His capture ended an intensive foot-by-foot search by FBI agents and prison guards of the small island in San Francisco Bay. Federal officials have called it escape-proof ever since the prison was set up 22 years ago.

Associate Warden J. B. Latimer said Wilson was found near the water's edge on the east end of the island.

"He had nothing to say," Latimer reported. Guards immediately hustled Wilson inside the prison for questioning. Wilson, sent to Alcatraz in 1932 for the murder of a Washington, D. C., grocery store manager, probably will be placed in isolation pending filing of escape charges, Latimer said. The prisoner was captured as Coast Guard patrol boats circled the island, located about a mile offshore, playing searchlights on both the shore and the water. Wilson disappeared from the Rock about 3:30 p.m. yesterday—about the time a water barge departed for the mainland. He failed to answer a prison check at 3:43. Latimer said the convict "apparently slipped around or through a fence adjacent to the dock."

Eleven other desperate men have attempted to escape in the 22 years since Alcatraz was established to hold the federal government's most hardened criminals.

Hagler, Wife Are Divorced

FORT WORTH (AP)—Elisabeth Hagler and the man she married when he was charged with murder in the Oklahoma torch slaying case, were divorced today.

The 48th District Court granted the German-born, shapely Elisabeth a decree from David Hagler Jr., 33.

The order ended almost two years of marriage sprinkled with intrigue, mystery and romance. The judge also changed Elisabeth's name from Hagler to Brigmann, the name she had when she married David after flying here from Germany to be by his side. Elisabeth, 27, charged her mate with mental cruelty. She said she had suffered cruel and harsh treatment.

Convict Captures Prison 'Escapee'

WARREN, Maine (AP)—State Police issued an alarm that Armand Vigue, 23, had escaped from the state prison farm.

The alarm was recalled when Vigue returned to the farm with a pig in his arms.

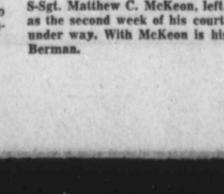

Vigue explained he had run into the woods to catch the porker, a 2-hour job. The pig, he said, had broken out of the pen at the farm.

Dormant for years, the KU Klux Klan met in Lakeland, Fla. Here spectators, kept behind a string of barbed wire set around the meeting area, watch as hooded Klansmen stand at guards. The Klan met to burn a cross and hear their speakers denounce integration and the U. S. Supreme Court.

300,000 Attended Integrated Schools

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Commission on Race Relations reported today more than 300,000 school children in 71 school districts of Texas attended integrated schools the past year. The commission said a three-month survey showed more than half of the districts had integrated their schools completely, from the 1st through the 12th grade. In some districts students were required to attend integrated schools. In other districts the attendance of integrated classes was voluntary. Ed Kloppe, executive director of the commission, said there were no integrated schools in the

City To Study CTC Proposals

City commissioners tonight will be looking over 10 recommendations for safety signs submitted by the Citizens' Traffic Commission. The regular semi-monthly conference will be held at the city hall at 5:15 p.m. The CTC has recommended 10 Stop and Yield Right of Way signs for the city and will submit the proposals to the city commission. In addition to the CTC requests, the commissioners will consider possible changes in police uniforms. One uniform company has dispatched a sample to the city and it will be shown to the commissioners tonight. City Manager H. W. Whitney said that if the commissioners feel a need to change style and color of the uniforms, other companies will be contacted for samples and prices. The uniform submitted consists of a brown waist jacket and shirt and tan trousers. It is the uniform worn by the Oklahoma Highway Patrol.

Met Signs Labor Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera Assn. has signed a contract with a labor union and the once canceled 1956-57 season is on again. The opera company approved an agreement with the American Guild of Musical Artists yesterday. Last week the association canceled the coming season in a dispute with AGMA over the dual job status of 31-year-old Robert Herman. Herman is an assistant stage director and as such is a guild member and subject to guild rules. He is also an assistant artistic administrator and as such is a member of management. The guild threatened to discipline him because he was a member of the management negotiating team. The Met objected and canceled the season. Both sides agreed that any guild action against Herman should not become effective until after the 1956-57 season. The new contract does not provide for an increase in base pay. But the chorus will receive time-and-a-half pay for rehearsal time in excess of 15 hours a week.

Stanton Man Dies At Age 90

Alexander Barnett, 90, of Stanton died Monday evening in a local hospital. A long-time resident of this area, Mr. Barnett farmed in Howard County until his retirement in 1937. Recently, he had lived alternately in Stanton and Leno. He was a member of the Church of Christ. Mr. Barnett first moved to Howard County in 1906 and ranched in the vicinity of Signal Mountain. He worked in this area as a cowboy much earlier, with his first trip to the section being in 1880. Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Frances Butcher of Stanton and Mrs. Cornelia Delaplane of Stockton, Calif.; three sons, Julian Barnett of Stanton, Algen Barnett of Fair Acres, N. M.; and Bryan Barnett of Livermore, Calif.; a brother, Julian Barnett of Barnett; a sister, Mrs. Fannie Turberville of Goldthwaite; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in City Cemetery.

Mrs. Glaze Of Tarzan Dies

STANTON (SC)—Mrs. Vera Glaze, 54, died at her home in the Tarzan community Monday. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Church of Christ at Stanton with the minister, Elmore Johnson, officiating. Interment will be at 6 p.m. Wednesday in Oakwood Cemetery, Jacksboro. Arrington Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Glaze was born April 5, 1902, in Rowden. She is survived by her husband, Herbert C. Glaze of Tarzan; one son, Dan Burn Glaze of Tarzan; five brothers, M. S. Miller of Yuma, Ariz., W. L. Miller of San Bernardino, Calif., John Miller of Abilene, Jess Miller of Rowden and Calvin Miller of Wylie; five sisters, Mrs. Mary Sanders, Mrs. Lillie Gibbs, Mrs. Ester Rose, all of Rowden, and Mrs. Elveda Sikes and Mrs. Lillian Hollingshead, both of Abilene; and four grandchildren.

Party Due For Paralysis Victim

CHICAGO (AP)—Cornelius (Bud) Koster, who has been lying face down for nearly 14 years, hasn't much to look forward to. He remarked today to Fred Hertwig, warden of the Cook County Hospital, "Life is mostly a lot of little things; and little things are big things to me." Koster, whose back was splintered in an auto crash near Baraboo, Wis., Nov. 18, 1942, will celebrate his 57th birthday in Ward 22 of the County Hospital next week—Aug. 2. A former electric sign attendant, Koster was paralyzed from the waist down in the accident. A score of operations have failed to rehabilitate him even to the extent of being able to sit up without pain. But friends, who say Koster has grown tired of his self-imposed title, "the Real Life Humpty-Dumpty," are planning a little ward party on his birthday, which may be a big thing after all.

Nixon's Nomination Appears Certain Despite Stassen Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flew in from Panama today with a warm greeting for Vice President Nixon and the briefest of handshakes for Harold Stassen, his disarmament aide who announced a move last night to push Nixon off the Republican ticket.

Even before this tableau at the airport, Nixon's renomination had appeared to be nearly cemented. Nixon was the first to greet Eisenhower as the smiling President stepped down from his private plane, Columbia III, at National Airport at 8 a.m.

Twenty feet down a receiving line which included diplomats, Republican Congress members and government officials, Stassen was waiting with a broad smile on his face.

Eisenhower shook hands with everybody and Stassen remarked as he put out his hand, "Good morning. Congratulations on a great job down there."

In the background rose a chant of "We like Ike" from a group of young Republicans.

Stassen had told a news conference yesterday that "in loyalty to President Eisenhower" he would work to replace Nixon on the GOP ticket this fall with Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Stassen said private polls had shown that an Eisenhower-Herter ticket would be 6 per cent stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon combination. The added strength, he said, might mean the difference between Republican and Democratic control of Congress.

Eisenhower appeared fully rested and alert as he alighted from his plane. The Columbine has sleeping accommodations and there was opportunity for nearly a full night's rest on the flight north.

Both Nixon and Stassen were on hand at the airport some minutes ahead of Eisenhower's landing and shook hands briefly after welcoming ceremony for the President. Both were smiling but Nixon turned quickly and walked away.

Stassen repeated to newsmen that he did not make his supplant-Nixon move as a member of the President's official family—but as a private citizen. He said he still considers himself a member of that family.

Nixon, interviewed separately, renewed his statement of last night that he stands on his announcement that he is available for a second term bid but that the matter is one for Eisenhower and the GOP convention.

Eisenhower stepped from the plane unsmiling at first, but broke into a wide grin when he caught sight of Nixon at the foot of the ramp.

"Hello, Dick," Eisenhower said stretching out his hand in greeting. Nixon said "Congratulations on a great job," and added an inaudible comment.

Eisenhower moved on down the straggling reception line, and encountered Stassen in 10th or 12th place.

Eisenhower was still smiling when he greeted Stassen. Some newsmen said they thought they heard a low-voiced statement to Stassen but not clearly.

Nixon said there was no discussion of the Stassen statement.

Nixon, too, got a cheer from the crowd with the "We like Ike" signs. None of the signs mentioned Nixon.

After his brief get-together with Nixon, Eisenhower got into a White House car and started for the executive mansion.

Stassen caught his fellow Republicans by surprise with his Herter-instead-of-Nixon proposal yesterday.

The White House quickly disavowed the idea with a statement that cast some doubt on Stassen's continuing in his Cabinet-rank post. Many Republicans regarded Stassen's attempted bombshell as a dud, and quickly predicted Nixon would be renominated despite the move against him.

Nixon replied with a statement checking his political future to Eisenhower and the August Republican convention. He praised Herter, an old friend, and said he would support the Massachusetts governor if Eisenhower and the convention wanted him.

But Stassen said he had expected the "flurry of criticism" which greeted his move, claimed support for it from a group of "Republican leaders" whom he declined to identify, and said he did not plan to resign his White House post.

He said he had informed both Eisenhower and Nixon in advance of his proposed action.

He challenged the Republican National Committee to "check the sentiment of the people" on the relative strength of Nixon and Herter, and indicated he plans to continue his effort. Eisenhower, returning today from a conference of American presidents in Panama, will have a chance to act on what appeared, despite denials, to be a political rebellion within the White House. Democrats generally were gleeful at the prospects that the Republicans might have something to fight about at their San Francisco convention.

'HUMAN WELFARE'

Closer Personal Ties Seen As Result Of Panama Meeting

PANAMA (AP)—Establishment of closer personal relationships for an approach to Western Hemisphere problems was seen today as a major result of the Panama meeting of American presidents.

President Eisenhower left last night for Washington after a busy extra day of conferences with 11 presidents or presidents-elect of American republics. He met earlier with the other chief executives the beginning of Pan-American relations 120 years ago.

Stressed by Eisenhower in his conference proposal was improvement of "human welfare" in the American republics.

One U.S. source said Eisenhower's plan envisaged a cooperative partnership arrangement to meet hemisphere problems. The United States now is working with Latin-American nations on a bilateral basis.

The source said Eisenhower's call for a commission to study economic, financial, social and technical problems of the Americas was in line with his partnership plan.

Diplomatic quarters said the other heads of state had indicated informally their support for establishment of such a commission. Eisenhower said he would appoint his brother Milton to the body. A U.S. source said the commission probably would be formed within four or five weeks.

Although the group would have power only to make suggestions, the American source interpreted it as a step toward a partnership arrangement.

Eisenhower said one goal of the commission could be the application of atomic energy to industry and to fight disease.

With all nations working together, the U.S. source said, the new plan should not require any large increase in U.S. expenditures although a slight boost is not ruled out.

The general feeling among delegates to the meetings here was that the major accomplishment was establishing close, friendly contacts between government leaders.

"If with the Panama conference we have initiated an era of personal contact among heads of state then it has been more than just a success," said President Ricardo Arias of Panama, the host.

A U.S. diplomat said the conference should result in "not merely an emotional and spiritual lift to the Organization of American States, but a very practical result from the presidents getting personally to know each other to a degree that it may be easier to reach solutions to hemispheric differences."

Young John White Is A 'Giant Killer'

AUSTIN (AP)—At 31, John White, son of a tenant farmer who once earned his living pulling cotton, is up for re-election to a fourth term as Texas commissioner of agriculture.

The young redhead from Wichita Falls, who won a reputation as a political giant killer in 1950, has two opponents: Bill Jones, Kermit nurseryman, and Jim Barber, former Agriculture Department employee.

Barber and Jones have said White is using his department as a stepping stone to higher political office and has no "sincere interest" in the office.

White came from nowhere in 1950 to upset officerholder J. E. McDonald who had been agriculture commissioner since 1931. He was re-elected in 1952 and 1954.

This summer White has not made a serious stump swing, but has carried his campaign through newspaper advertisements, radio spots and letter writing.

"He hasn't had time to make a campaign trip with all the work he has been doing trying to get an effective drought relief program for the state," an aide said.

A frequent critic of Republican farm policy and regarded as a Loyalist Democrat, White was the only statewide officeholder to refuse cross-filing of his candidacy by the GOP in 1952.

He was born on a farm near Newport, was graduated from Texas Tech and went to work at Midwestern University (then Hardin College). He was a vocational ag teacher at Midwestern when he challenged McDonald.

The husky, six-foot Irishman was considered a possibility to try for the governorship in 1954 and again this year but announced only for re-election.

Barber, 60, who resigned his job in the department May 3 to make the race, said White has been at odds with the federal authorities since shortly after the beginning of his first term.

Barber says "in his present status the department is a curse rather than a blessing to all Texans who look to the soil for their existence."

He was born and reared in Dallas County and was a former clerk of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Barber was an inspector for the department's Weights and Measures Division, a nursery inspector and has done seed certification work. He owns a Collin County farm near Wylie.

If elected, Jones said he would use the department to "further the cause of agriculture and not a place to groom myself."

The 35-year-old Jones operates a nursery in Kermit and has an interest in a nursery at Stephenville. He was educated at John Tarleton Agriculture College at Stephenville and North Texas Agriculture College at Arlington.

The Folly Of Military Cutbacks

In a piece on Stuart Symington, the Democratic dark horse for the presidential nomination, the Saturday Evening Post refreshes some history that should be of interest to Americans who wonder just how far we can go in the way of reducing our armed strength without inviting disaster.

The story recites that President Truman went over the 1947-48 budget with an eye to effecting economies. The then Secretary of Defense, James V. Forrestal, thought the military cuts should be spread evenly over the three services—land, sea and air. Symington, then secretary for Air, disagreed and insisted airpower was our principal hope. He went over Mr. Truman's head and appealed to Congress to expand the Truman program of 55 air groups to 70 air groups. Congress went along with Symington and voted the expansion, but Mr. Truman impounded it. The then Representative Lyndon B. Johnson led the fight in the House for the 70-group Air Force.

In 1949 Truman proposed further cuts, and told Symington he could go along or get out. Symington decided to go along.

but Louis Johnson, who had become secretary of Defense, brought in budget proposals cutting back even more than Truman had asked for. Truman backed Louis Johnson. That was when Symington went out as secretary for Air, to take the post as head of the National Security Resources Board.

He was busily drawing up plans for expanding the military services in view of worsening world conditions, when the Communists hit South Korea in June, 1950.

The story goes on to say that it took months for our Air Force to get 125 F86 Sabrejets to contend with the 500 MIG15s the Russians had thrown into that war. This newspaper believed at the time, and still believes, that our military cutbacks emboldened the Russians to launch the Korean War, on the theory that the U.S. couldn't and wouldn't do anything about it.

Are we coming full-circle again? Will the current and planned military cutbacks encourage further aggression? How many Koreans do we have to have to demonstrate the folly of stripping our military strength?

How's For Beef Cooled On The Hoof?

We don't know whether our farm writer has heard of this, but the United States Department of Agriculture has proved that you can get more beef out of a steer from a given amount of feed if you keep the steer cool and comfortable under an electric fan.

This bit of startling information came from a dispatch in the voracious Christian Science Monitor, under a Los Angeles dateline. It seems the USDA carried out an experiment in California's furnace-like Imperial Valley recently in which it was discovered that beef cattle cooled by a 42-inch electric fan for 70 days gained 2.32 pounds a day per steer—over a pound more than unfanned Herefords could manage even in a day of diligent chewing. The dispatch said "cud chewing," but let it go.

There were seven beef critters in the test, and lo and behold they not only put on more weight under the fan, but actually did it on less hay—only 924 pounds of hay for each 100 pounds of weight gained. On the other hand, the seven cattle in the control group which lacked the benefit of fanning had to consume 1,330 pounds of gain each 100 pounds of weight.

Our informant insists the experiment proved fanning is superior to any other method of cooling cattle—water sprays, air-cooled buildings and cooled drinking water not excepted.

Does this foreshadow the day when cowboys will have to be expert fan-repairers and installers? Are we entering an era of beef cooled on the hoof, instead of in chilling rooms?

And we cock an attentive ear to catch the dulcet tones of the cowboy crooner who looses upon the palpitant air the very first ballad to the electric fan. "Turn on just, boys: I gotta get me a new convertible out of them there steers."

Severe Economic Loss From Steel Strike

WASHINGTON — A form of economic anarchy is revealed in the disastrous strike now being waged in the steel industry.

Innocent bystanders in industries and businesses not at all parties to the strike negotiations are being inflicted. Tremendous losses are being inflicted on other companies and their employees. Railroads, trucking companies, construction firms and their employers have lost many millions of dollars a day because the steel companies and the labor unions prefer to battle it out with a strike instead of settling their differences either by mediation or arbitration or by mutual concessions in a negotiation.

The steel company managers cannot understand why the offer they made on what they considered very generous terms should have been rejected. Certainly the offer of a total of 45-cent-per-hour increase in compensation over the proposed contract period — representing actual increases in cost to the companies and various benefits copied from the important contracts just negotiated in other industries — indicates a desire at least to meet the growing demands of the steel union.

The steel managers sought a long-term contract with the union so as to insure stability in the industry and make possible forward planning. On the labor-union side, however, internal politics and the pressure of rival leaders evidently made it difficult for the proposals to be accepted without a strike.

The damage done by the inability of the two sides to make an agreement is not confined to the present strike. It means that again and again, as the time for negotiations approaches, steel users will pile up inventories in advance so as to protect themselves against the stoppages in production. In fact, before the present strike occurred, such an artificial stimulus was given to steel purchases and, as a consequence, the industry runs into periods of abnormal peak and then recession as inventories are subsequently liquidated.

To negotiate a contract in a major industry today involves more difficulties than ever before. Instead of negotiating a contract based on conditions in one industry, the tendency is to demand uniformity irrespective of the differences in requirements. Likewise, inside an industry, the larger enterprises with more equipment and better facilities which can pay higher wages set the pace which the smaller businesses have to meet. It is little wonder that business volume gravitates to the larger units while the smaller ones are slowly but surely forced out of the competition. Then Congress wakes up and asks what's happening to "small business."

But the worst feature of the economic anarchy is the use of economic power that is made by those who can wield it. The answer doesn't lie in government regulation or in government cartels or monopolies because none of these promotes the efficiency which the rate of American production in the past has achieved. It lies rather in a better exposition to the whole people of the facts involved in each controversy so that the public interest can be safe-guarded through the processes of public opinion.

The workers themselves do not know today all the background of the struggle and how they are being compelled to accept the penalties of an unnecessary strike. A report by twelve major steel companies just issued shows that the workers lost $622,000,000, and the companies lost 46.5 million tons of production in the three major strikes in the industry — 29 days in 1946 and 49 days in 1949 and 54 days in 1952. It looks as if the present strike will increase the losses in wages by $50,000,000 and that two million tons of production will be lost each week of the strike.

The direct loss to the economy in the 1952 strike is estimated at more than $4,000,000,000. The latest strike will approximate that sum if it continues another month, when conditions will really become acute. It must be settled by that time, but it will be asked why it was necessary to penalize so many people to get a contract.

Time was when the "public interest" could not be vitiated so readily by a major strike. But the steel dispute doesn't seem to have awakened much interest or concern. The President has discussed the matter with his Cabinet. There is talk of invoking the Taft-Hartley injunction procedure, which means an 80-day truce and a vote at the end of that period taken secretly among the workers to decide if they want to accept management's final offer. It is unfortunate that such a vote couldn't be taken sooner so that the workers could express themselves, and it is too late now that the workers in other industries cannot make their plight known to the workers who have delegated to a small group of officers the right to act for them.

Stassen Risked Political Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Harold E. Stassen gambled his own political future by opposing renomination of Vice President Nixon, he linked other Republicans with him.

Stassen, special assistant on disarmament to President Eisenhower, denied he was acting as an "front man" for anyone in trying to keep Nixon off the ticket.

But he said in an interview at his home last night a group of "Republican leaders" — whom he wouldn't identify — had collaborated with him in using professional pollsters to test public sentiment on the vice presidency. Stassen said he was not speaking for these "leaders" and that they would speak out and identify themselves in due time. But he said he had consulted with them before making his statement.

Now the question becomes, Who are they? And how influential are they? The polls, Stassen said, had been made repeatedly over the past month. Among whom? Republicans, laborites and others. What questions were asked? A number about possible running mates for Eisenhower.

He said the polls showed the reelection chances of Eisenhower would be 6 per cent better with Gov. Christian A. Herter as his vice presidential running mate than with Nixon on the ticket. There can be no doubt the statement did the Republican party no good if its convention in August picks Nixon again. Stassen, in calling for Nixon to step aside, angered many professional Republican politicians.

It may cost Stassen his job. If

'Body And Soul' Penalties Due Traffic Violators

ROME (AP) — Campaigns have been launched in Italy to punish traffic offenders body and soul. The state is talking about "decisive action" to crack down on careless drivers who roar along narrow Italian roads in ever-growing numbers and speeds. The Roman Catholic church has been urged to impose moral penalties. Italians have been dying in frightening numbers in automobile accidents — about 5,800 a year. This is about three times the U.S. rate.

Neither laws nor sermons can do much about one of the basic reasons for the bloodshed. Most Italy highways are ancient. Via Aurelia, main coastal road from Rome to the Riviera, was staked out in the third century. Via Flaminia, from Rome to the northern Adriatic, was finished in 220 B.C.

Troops marched to battle against Hannibal on the Appian Way, still the straightest "super-highway" in Italy.

A foreign tourist, caught in a maze of traffic, soon discovers that city streets were built for medieval horses, not for Fiat or Ferraris—let alone Cadillacs.

That's half the deadly mixture. The other half is the fact that Italian cars are fast, their drivers love to handle them like racers, and there has been insufficient law enforcement to stop them. There is no speed limit.

Heading the recent press campaign, the Ministry of Interior announced last week that orders have gone out to provincial authorities to enforce what laws there are "with full vigor."

An expert in the Vatican's canon law has said the church could and should hand out ecclesiastical punishments to traffic offenders.

Vatican sources say that high prelates are studying the proposals seriously.

and to our country and to our Republican party." He told Eisenhower Friday what he was going to do yesterday.

Although Stassen last night called Nixon a "burden" on the Republican ticket, he would not say precisely why he was so opposed to Nixon. He referred to his statement earlier in the day but that was full of generalities. It is possible Stassen still retains some presidential ambitions — if he manages to survive this turmoil he caused among Republican politicians.

In a July 9 broadcast — while Eisenhower was still recovering that happens, his political future looks dark indeed — although he said at his home he didn't think he'd be fired or pressured out. He said he has no intention of resigning.

What he did, Stassen said, was to "fulfill my duty and responsibility as I see it to the President from his operation and before it was announced he would run again — Stassen said that if Eisenhower didn't run he thought the Republicans could win with their Chief Justice Earl Warren or himself as head of the ticket.

Asked last night if he still felt that way — if anything now happened which caused Eisenhower to withdraw — Stassen said he would not discuss this possibility since the party was operating now on the assumption Eisenhower would run.

He was asked flatly if he would say he would not run. But he did not give a direct answer.

The Bomb Man Of Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — They call him "The Bomb Man."

Sooner or later, Maj. William C. Harrison of the British Royal Army Ordnance Corps gets his hands on all the bombs tossed on Cyprus by Greek Cypriot extremists in their violence campaign. When it's "sooner," it means the bomb is either a dud or has been discovered before it could explode.

When it's "later," Harrison is working with fragments. His job as head of a flying squad of explosive experts is to get to the scene in a hurry, find out all that can be learned about the bomb, relay the information to civil police and in case of arrests, give expert testimony in court.

If a bomb is found unexploded, his first task is to render the missile safe, then examine it for fingerprints and other data.

Since the Cypriot extremists in the EOKA underground organization launched their campaign in April 1955, Harrison and his four-man team of noncommissioned officers have dealt with 1,600 lethal devices.

These range from the early type Molotov cocktail—bottle filled with gasoline—to the more recent time bombs, fragmentation grenades and land mines.

Harrison and his team, all merchants, plus a driver, are on call around the clock. The four sergeants are expert explosive examiners.

Harrison, a wiry, weatherbeaten man of medium build, has been in the Ordnance Corps since 1934. He is 45, married and has two sons, one 15 and the other 7 years old. The Harrisons have a home near Stratford-on-Avon.

Harrison's first experience with terrorist bombs was gained in Malaya in 1948. He arrived in Cyprus in January, 1955, and on April 1 the EOKA underground opened its campaign. On that day, some 200 bombs were planted or thrown, although it did not go off.

Harrison believes EOKA techniques in bomb-making are still poor.

Just Send For A Woman . . .

Women — bless 'em! — are notorious for their universal refusal to go by the rules of engineering and mechanics and yet display amazing skill, time and again, in performing mechanical wonders.

There was the woman, for instance, that I heard about. Seems her husband came home and turned on the radio. It didn't work. He went to get his tool kit and his manual on how to make repairs. His wife asked what was wrong. He told her, "I know," she said. "It does that ever so often. All you need to do is go down in the cellar and beat on the hot water pipe with a hammer."

Her husband remonstrated. The water pipe was not connected in anyway with the radio. Beating on it could not possibly make the radio perform. It was contrary to reason. What was probably wrong was a dead tube or perhaps a transformer had gone out. Or maybe . . .

His wife merely turned on her heels. She stamped down the stairs to the basement, picked up a hammer and rapped sharply on the hot water line.

In just a second the radio blared out, performing perfectly.

Don't ask me why. It's just a typical womanish solution to a technical problem. A man, asked to make a repair on a piece of household equipment, assembles an imposing array of tools. He makes a list of parts he will need. He scans the wiring diagram or the instruction manual. He dresses in his oldest clothes because he knows this is going to be a dirty job and will take a lot of time. Then he sets about making the repairs, — tracking, if you please, every proved rule of mechanics and engineering.

After three hours, he gives up, loads the assorted pieces into the family car and takes it to the repairman downtown.

What does a woman do in the same circumstances? She shakes the offending piece of equipment. That doesn't help. So she gets a hairpin. She prods at this and that. Then she shakes the offending machine vigorously. The switch is flipped on.

What happens? You know darned well what happens!

The machine takes off like a jet, purrs like a contented kitten and the woman, if you ask what she did to fix it, tells you that she "just poked at the thingamajig and sort of loosed this dingus over here."

And the poor amazed male, who probably regards himself as a do-it-yourself expert, can only shake his head in bewilderment and mutter incoherently that such a process wouldn't work. And all the time, the efficient purr of the erstwhile out-of-order machine drowns out his sad lament.

Consider the stupidity of men in another field. In the summertime, man's number of useable pockets is reduced (due to his having abandoned his coat and vest) by fifty per cent. The quantity of riff-raff, jetson and flotsam which he, somehow, feels he must pack around, remains static. His pockets bulge and he loses things.

But what about milady? She has no pockets on her costume, or if she does have, she'd rather drop dead than stick anything in one of them and "ruin the lines" of her dress.

She carries a purse.

Here is the greatest invention since the first primitive, hairy ancestor of mankind discovered the principle of the wheel. Purse is run the gamut in size but most of 'em are pretty roomy.

Into these things, the lady dumps everything she can possibly need — including, generally, a few extra items that she does not need and never will need.

Such as stubs of theater tickets to show seen a month ago, grocery lists from last winter; half-empty cigarette packages; lighters which won't light (women refuse somehow to ever refuel a lighter) empty folders which once contained matches. A handful of tissue handkerchiefs, keys to the house she used to live in in another town and other miscellany.

When she needs something, she merely zips open the bag, rams an exploratory hand into the maze of stuff, fumbles around briefly and comes up with whatever it was she was hunting.

"A man's world," so says the old blurb. How silly can you be, fellow citizens? —SAM BLACKBURN

Hitler Was Only Nazi In Germany?

When the court returned its verdict at the end of the Nuremberg trials in October, 1946, I was astounded that once more that wily old trout, Hjalmar Horace Greeley Schacht, had managed to wiggle off the hook.

Since, on principle, I would have hung him higher than a kite, the verdict of acquittal in his case had me talking to myself for days. I felt the same way about the acquittal of Franz von Papen. And I have seen no cause to change my mind about either in the interim. Schacht was true only to money and von Papen to his own hide.

But perhaps I was over-harsh in the instance of Schacht, the government financial wizard of Germany for two generations. In his autobiography, which has just been published in this country, the man who shored up the German economy for Hitler and got him the money with which to rearm and wage war, reveals his own virtues in a white and radiant light.

Alas, he was deceived by Hitler, who never took Herr Schacht into his confidence about his Jewish extermination policy. In all that time, Schacht never even smelled, much less heard, of the human abattoirs whose stench was still strong in certain parts of Germany when the Nuremberg trials were in progress. So, to hear Schacht tell it, the revelation of this policy and of the extermination camps by the victorious Allies was a dreadful shock to his sensitive system.

And, naturally, Schacht was never a

Nazi. I should have been smart enough to realize this, as in Germany immediately after World War II it was impossible to find any German who had ever been (1) a Nazi, or (2) heard of the extermination camps.

If German civilian and military leaders around Hitler continue to write their memoirs — and there is no indication that flood tide has yet hit its crest — it probably will be revealed that Hitler was the only Nazi in all Germany and that the extermination policy was the best-guarded secret in the nation.

Just for the fun of it, I dug out my notes on the Nuremberg trial the other day, to see what I had written of Schacht at that time and here it is:

"Schacht looks like a mournful yet scornful hound dog, his mouth turned down in a perfect half moon between long, flabby jaws. It is obvious that he is not only holding himself self-righteously upright but aloof from the other defendants."

"It is clearly part of his strategy to disassociate himself in every way from the other defendants. From time to time, he twitches around to glare with distaste at them, in a manner plainly meant to say, 'What am I doing here with this cannibal?'"

In a way, this could stand as a fair review of his autobiography. At 79, Herr Schacht is still the master of enlightened self-interest, in which he has specialized for a lifetime.

Public Power Policy On Ike's Shoulders

By THOMAS L. STOKES (Writing for Marquis Childs, who is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON — The showdown on the Hell's Canyon bill in the Senate last week should open the eyes of the public, at least that part of the public which is interested in proper conservation of our natural resources.

For it fixed responsibility upon President Eisenhower, himself, for the Administration's conservation policy which has been severely criticized — and properly — because it permits exploitation of our natural resources by privileged private interests to their profit to the detriment of the public interest.

This was exposed in the personal pressure brought by the White House upon Senators, on a scale not heretofore seen in this Administration, in the ultimately successful effort to swing enough votes to defeat the Democratic-sponsored bill.

This bill would have authorized a government-constructed high dam across the Snake River gorge along the Idaho-Oregon border for the production of hydroelectric power, flood control, navigation and reclamation.

The effect of this Administration maneuver goes far beyond Hell's Canyon, in which the whole Pacific Northwest is interested, in its implications.

It should finally awaken people all over the country to the Administration's determination, as stressed here frequently, to turn over our still undeveloped water resources to the private power monopolies to develop as they please, without consideration of the public interest and at high rates to yield a handsome profit.

Once again the private power barons are back in the saddle here in government, when they were driven during the Roosevelt-Truman era. They realized the significant test inherent in what is done about development of the biggest yet undeveloped site — at Hell's Canyon.

They rallied behind the corporation known as the Idaho Power Co., though it is almost entirely Eastern-owned, which already has started to work on the Snake River under a license granted by the Federal Power Commission some months ago. It was this license that Democrats and conservationists were seeking to annul by the bill which the Senate defeated, 51 to 41.

In the most tense and dramatic scene in the Senate this session, the Senators were reminded in closing debate of the inadequacies of the Idaho Power Co.'s plan, of how the people and industries in the developing region will be deprived of the full benefit of their water resources, of how they must pay 6.29 mills per kilowatt hour for electricity generated there by the Idaho Power Co. as compared with three mills if it were developed publicly.

It also was pointed out how public development would be self-liquidating, as are all such water resource enterprises, and would return a nice profit to the U. S. Treasury.

But in vain. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader who directed the fight for public development, was felled when he was deserted by Senator J. Allen Frear Jr. (D-Del.) and seven of Johnson's own Southern Democratic colleagues — Senators Harry F. Byrd and A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, Samuel J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, James O. Eastland of Mississippi, George A. Smathers of Florida, and Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

Two Republicans deserted the Administration and joined Senator Johnson's cohorts — Senators Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin and William Langer of North Dakota. Otherwise, the vote was along strict party lines, with Democrats supporting public development, Republicans opposing it.

The Administration position revealed in the Hell's Canyon battle is well known to anyone who has followed the course of events here. But never before had White House responsibility been so graphically revealed to the public.

Hitherto, others were blamed, chiefly former Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay who was, of course, only following White House orders. Democrats had made such a target of Secretary McKay that he finally became too heavy a political liability and was yanked by President Eisenhower and sent into the race for the Senate in Oregon against Senator Wayne Morse.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Two talking people in town Monday were MRS. RALPH TOWLER of Lubbock and her hostess, Mrs. J. R. Petty. Their chief topic of conversation was their grandson, little John Ralph Ervin, year-old son of S-FC and Mrs. J. T. Ervin who live in Augsburg, Germany. Mrs. Towler was here with Mr. Towler to get a medical checkup. They made their home in Big Spring for many years.

MR. AND MRS. H. A. BUTLER spent Friday in El Paso and would have stayed for a long weekend in Ruidoso but unfortunately they had failed to make any reservations and there was no place in the inn or anyplace else so they had to come back home.

MRS. PAT HARRISON visited in Pecos during the past week with her three sisters, Mrs. Max Stool, Mrs. Clyde Bennett and Mrs. Jeff Hunter. She was the houseguest of Mrs. Stool who also was entertaining Mrs. Opal Hicks of Wichita Falls. Mrs. Hicks formerly lived in Big Spring.

MRS. A. B. WINDER of Fort Worth is expected this afternoon for a visit of several days with Mrs. C. L. Richardson and Mrs. Tip Anderson. They plan several informal affairs for her.

WILRENA RICHBOURG is having a "just do nothing" vacation. The only thing she really plans to do during the two weeks off will be a short stay with her sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. James Clayton, in O'Donnell.

MR. AND MRS. BILL STONE will spend the next two weeks in Denver, Colo.

MR. AND MRS. A. C. KLOVEN left this morning for a short automobile trip to South Texas. They plan to spend some time in Raymondville, Brownsville and San Antonio and if the notion strikes them, they may do a little fishing.

BOBBY JACK GROSS and his sister, MRS. BILL FLETCHER of Dallas spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gross.

The GROSSES, incidentally, had a fine vacation earlier in the month. They were in Los Angeles when Bobby Jack flew out to try out for the Olympic games. They saw the picture, "The King and I" premiered in Los Angeles and enjoyed the excitement of seeing all the stars along with the other tourists. Among other places they visited were Yellowstone Park and Las Vegas, Nev.

MR. AND MRS. H. R. PICKLE of Lubbock were to return to their home today after being here with his father, L. A. Pickle, who underwent surgery Monday morning after sustaining a broken hip in a fall Friday.

MRS. FERRIS SHEOFEE of Little Rock, Ark., is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. J. D. Jones. She came Monday afternoon and was accompanied by Judy Jones who has been visiting her. Judy also visited relatives in Lafayette, La. Mrs. Sheofee will be here until the latter part of the week.

Guests in the home of MR. AND MRS. SCHLEY RILEY are DR. AND MRS. WELDON COOPER of Charlottesville, Va., and MR. AND MRS. L. C. STOKER of Texarkana. Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Stoker are sisters of Mrs. Riley. The host insists that entertaining is more work than his managerial duties at Malone-Hogan Hospital, but from the fun the couples are having, no one believes him.

Eight Entries Listed In District Contest

LAMESA — Eight Dawson County girls have entered the competition for Farm Bureau Queen of the district, Gerri Barrett, Farm Bureau secretary announced this week.

The contest will be held Thursday night, at 8 p.m., in the Lamesa High School Gym; with Warren Anderson, of KDFB Radio Station in Amarillo as master of ceremonies for the occasion. Judges will be from out of town and the girls will be judged on poise, personality and appearance. The winner of the district crown will compete in a contest to select the State Farm Bureau Queen.

Fred Raney, president of the Dawson County Farm Bureau, will crown the new queen. The retiring queen, Durell Phillips, will be featured in vocal selections during the program. The theme for this year's contest is "Summertime." Included in the entries are Katherine Furlow, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Furlow, a spring graduate at O'Donnell High School, now enrolled at Texas Tech where she is majoring in business education; Lillian Vogler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vogler is 16 years old and a junior at Klondike High School where she is a twirler and member of the FHA; a blue-eyed blonde, Grade Shelton, is the 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Shelton. She was graduated from Lamesa High School, attended Texas Tech and is now employed by the Lamesa National Bank.

Of the eight girls in competition, three will be seniors this fall at Lamesa High School. They include Charlene Whitlow, who is 17 years old, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Whitlow. She is a blonde with blue eyes and is 5 ft. 7 inches tall. The approaching school semester she will be a member of the Latin Club, Booster Club, FHA and FTA.

Doty Echols, another Lamesa senior is the 5 ft. 5 in. brown-haired, brown-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Echols of Star Rt. 4.

Chinese Chef Gets Degree

By BILL W. DEAN
OMAHA — Bill Chin is a familiar figure in American history: the Chinese cook.

Bill has become the first man to get a degree in home economics from the University of Omaha. Bill is 38 and admits "raising a family interrupted my education several times." He and his wife, Kathleen, have three children, ages 3 through 7.

Chin comes straight from the tradition of the Chinese restaurant. He is a member of the family which operates Omaha's well-known King-Fong Restaurant.

But the urge to do something more with cooking came to Chin while he was an Army cook on the World War II battlefields of Tunisia.

"It occurred to me that making food look good wasn't enough," he recalls. "I wanted to get more out of the food."

His first move was to go to a chef's school in Europe, to learn the art of making sauces.

Then, after some prodding by his father-in-law, Dr. S. A. Mahuran, a Penn State professor, Bill decided to go to college.

The urge to get more out of food accounts for Bill getting not only a home economics degree but also what is known as "an associate title in foods and nutrition," indicating two years of study in that field.

To keep his family together while he was studying, Bill Chin has worked as head night chef at Omaha's big downtown American Legion Club.

For the time being he's going to stick to that job.

"Eventually though, I'd like to teach or manage a restaurant," he says. "The field is so wide open for men it's really hard to decide."

Rob Etheridge has returned to his home in Huntsville after a visit in the home of Marie Petty. The two were guests of his friends and relatives in Kermit during the weekend.

Robinsons Entertain With Outdoor Supper

Entertaining with a barbecue supper Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Robinson. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Charette, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Roman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roman, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Roman, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Roman and Mrs. Robert Chestnut and children. Also present were Lloyd, Joyce and Martha Robinson.

The former school superintendent, James T. Lowe with his family visited recently in Knott. The Lowe family were returning from a two weeks vacation in North Dakota, Yellowstone National Park and other places on the West Coast.

Recent visitors from Rotan were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Matthes. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Matthes.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Taylor and four children of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Edison Taylor of Big Spring visited Mrs. Herschel Smith and J. L. Oliver recently.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Long were their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buzz Amendt of Irving. Woody Long returned to his home with them after spending several weeks in Irving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Motley spent the weekend in the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Laster of Colorado City, Mr.

Motley was honored with a birthday dinner Sunday.

Other weekend visitors in Colorado City were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Harrell and Glyn. They visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hogue.

Edna Harrell spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Allen Christian in Big Spring.

Returning from Stamford are Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Caffey. They were guests of her brother, W. G. Smith, who has been ill.

Guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Haskell Beck Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roberts and four children of Brownfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker visited Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parker in Big Spring. Linda Sue and Cynthia Sue Parker returned home with them for a visit.

Visiting from Abilene was Wanda Jean Roman. She spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor in Westbrook Sunday night were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Airhart and Marcele.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vick hosted a family reunion in their home Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dan English and daughters, Elizabeth Kay and Dana Marie, of Colorado Springs, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Spellman, San Antonio, J. A. Taylor of Anson, Mrs. Belle McBride of Lamesa, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barton and daughters, Sandra, Rita and Suzette, and Mrs. Buddy Ball and sons, Max and Rex, all of Lubbock.

Coconut Cracker
The new flaked coconut helps make some delicious coconut graham crackers. Place 12 semi-sweet chocolate chips on each of 6 graham crackers. Heat in a slow oven (325 degrees) two to three minutes or until chips are softened. Spread chips over crackers, then sprinkle with coconut. Cool. Makes 6 cookies.

Freeze Grape Juice
Freeze undiluted grape juice in the ice-cube tray of your refrigerator. Serve two or three of the cubes in a tall glass of ginger ale. Nice at a party for young people.

New Members Join First Baptist WMU

Mrs. Floyd Parsons and Mrs. O. N. Green were introduced as new members of the First Baptist WMS Monday afternoon when the group met at the church.

During the business session, Mrs. B. T. Faulkner's appointment was announced as district chairman of the WMU Sunbeams.

Plans were made for the Sunbeam encampment, scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at the Baptist encampment ground, Mrs. C. J. Dodson and Mrs. Beulah Barnett will assist with the work.

Members were reminded of the workers' conference, which will meet at the Baptist Church in Garden City Aug. 13, at 5 p.m.

The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. C. O. Hitt.

Carol Bailey Married To Jack Sparks

Carol Bailey, daughter of Mrs. Paul Lawrence, was married to Jack Sparks in a Saturday afternoon ceremony performed at the Temple Baptist Church in Odessa. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sparks.

The Rev. Curtis Thorpe read the single ring ceremony. Attending the couple was Stan Laney, cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a silver-grey cotton-satin sheath dress, and pink accessories completed her ensemble.

Sparks is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Texas Tech. He is employed by the American National Insurance Company. Mrs. Sparks will return to Big Spring High School in the fall to complete her studies.

Coahoma Auxiliary Discusses Project

The Coahoma American Legion Auxiliary met in the dining room of the Li-Way Cafe recently for their regular monthly dinner and business meeting.

A money making project in which each member will be responsible for making five dollars during the year was voted on.

Mrs. Dixie Cramer, president, reported on the Hospital Workers Course held in Odessa. Mrs. Jean Roberts and Mrs. Ethel Thiemes attended.

Three new members were received into the auxiliary. They were: Mrs. Burr Brown, Mrs. P. N. Shive and Mrs. H. H. Tanner.

Eight senior members, two junior members and a guest, Mrs. Elsie Wasson of Sapulpa, Okla., attended.

Miss Farquhar Feted At Personal Shower

Nanette Farquhar, bride-elect of Tommy McAdams, was honored with a personal shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Roy Tidwell.

Miss Farquhar wore an aqua printed dress with a high neckline, Peter Pan collar and a bouffant skirt. Her accessories were white.

Assisting the bride-elect in the receiving line were her mother, Mrs. Harold Farquhar and Mrs. Tom McAdams, the bridegroom's mother.

The couple will be married Aug. 20 in the First Baptist Church.

Home Of Phillips 66 Products

The McGibbon Oil Company, 601 E. 1st, Big Spring, is headquarters in Howard County for Phillips 66 fuels and lubricants. Part of the fleet of vehicles maintained by the company to make deliveries throughout the area is pictured in front of the warehouse and storage tanks. McGibbon personnel deliver gasoline, oils and other lubricants to a score of service stations and to farm and ranch headquarters throughout the area. One of the most popular products is Phillips, the Phillips Petroleum Company butane-propane for home use. It is also widely used as a fuel for tractors and trucks.

Insects Die On Touching No-Roach

The season for roaches and other household insects is in full swing, and the Gaston Johnston Corporation, Long Island City, N. Y., says its newest insecticide, Super No-Roach, provides the complete answer to the problem.

No-Roach is available in Big Spring at Safeway, Piggy Wiggly, Hull & Phillips, Newsom's, Bud Green's, Cunningham & Phillips and Big Spring Drug. Here's the Gaston Johnston evaluation of the product, as it applies to roaches.

The roach is a past master at the art of hiding. Lurking in drain pipes, cracks, he waits for the dark to shroud him as he scampers over fine fresh foods and shiny sinks.

But now housewives are discovering a wonderful new liquid that roaches don't want to hide from... they love it! Called Super No-Roach, this easy-to-use brush-on formula destroys even new resistant roach strains!

Wooten Is Ready To Move Anytime

Sometimes circumstances are such that it becomes imperative a family move its residence to a new residence or to a new community. Often, these decisions, which are always important and worrisome, have to be reached suddenly.

Even at night. Sometimes speed is the essence, too. Arrangements have to be made immediately. There is no opportunity to shop around; the elemental demand is that action be initiated.

Wooten Transfer and Storage, long in the business of helping folk to move, is well aware of this feature of the work they do. They know that persons under pressure who have to go to new towns and to new residences do not always have time to wait until ordinary business hours to make their arrangements.

You can call Wooten when you choose—day or night. The day phone number of the establishment is AM-4-7741. At night you can get the same service and find out the same facts you must have by telephoning AM 4-6292.

Wooten, located at 805 E. 2nd, is equipped to take care of your moving problems, local and long distance. The firm is agency for Wheaton and Lyons, widely known cross-country movers.

Wooten handles jobs of all sorts. None is too small and none is too big for Wooten to cope with. When that need for a moving company or for storage confronts you, regardless of the time of day the situation may arise, merely go to the phone.

If it's night, telephone AM 4-6292; if it is in the daytime the number to call is AM 4-7741. If you want to personally talk things over face to face with the representatives, you are invited to call at 805 E. 2nd.

Tiny Cable In U.S. Royal Tires Ends Road Failures

Fine, flexible wire filaments, 350-pound test strength cable .006 inch in diameter, go into the construction of the U.S. Royal Safety Steel Shield truck tire, sold locally by the Phillips Tire Company at Fourth and Johnson Streets.

Specially processed, the cable unites with the surrounding rubber in a bond stronger than that possible with any fiber.

The revolutionary new casing ends failure from road hazards, prevents impact and bruise damage and stops growth and tread cracking.

The Safety Steel Shield tire has been tested under the most hazardous of road conditions. It has been driven over the sharp edges of axes, spikes, glass, sharp rocks and steel debris, without damage to the tire.

The "relaxed" tread of the new casing wears slower because the rubber is relieved of tension. Mileage-robbing heat, which builds up in the ordinary tire, is controlled. This tire runs 30 to 40 degrees cooler under ordinary highway conditions. This is as beneficial to tire life as reducing speeds by ten miles an hour.

Phillips Tire Company can outfit any truck or passenger vehicle with the steel-ribbed tire, which offers maximum protection at high rates of speed under all kinds of conditions.

Howard House Is Modernized

A year ago last Friday, the Douglas Hotel became the Howard House, but visitors returning next week for the rodeo will hardly recognize it.

And there will be many visitors flocking to the Howard House this year during the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo—the Howard House is rodeo headquarters. It was designated this honor by the Rodeo Association committee.

Among the renovations made during its first year, the Howard House, 302 Rannels, has refurbished the lobby, the adjoining restaurant, and 60 per cent of the guest rooms, plus adding eight air-conditioned apartments.

Rodeo headquarters will mean that many of the out-of-town contestants and visitors will make the Howard House their residence while here.

Also a reception desk will be furnished for Everett Colborn, rodeo director, and the rodeo secretary at the headquarters.

Modernization of the lobby was one of the first big projects when management of the Howard House started its remodeling about a year ago. The manager, Q. M. Taylor, installed a central desk equally accessible to the House's two doors fronting on Third and on Rannels.

The lobby has since been air-conditioned and a large television set installed. Present plans are to carpet the seating area of the lobby.

The eight air-conditioned apartments were added, and complete remodeling of the guest rooms was begun. Presently 60 per cent of the rooms have been refurbished, and the remaining part is to be completed. The Howard House has 80 units.

The Douglas Coffee Shop—after being completely remodeled and re-equipped—was opened as the Crystal Dining Room with tables and counter service. Shortly afterwards, the Colonial Room, a smaller dining room, was added, principally for small groups and use when the Crystal Room is filled.

The Howard County 4-H Club members will be starting in this week on their lamb feeding for the coming shows. About 29 Southdown lambs are being distributed to the boys and girls.

Along in August they will get their fine wool crossbreds to feed out. These are usually bought later in the season because they are bigger at time of purchase and grow faster than the fine wool lambs.

There will be three classes in this year's county show — fine wool, fine wool crosses, and Southdowns.

The club members will also have about 100 coupons to feed out. The birds cost an average of $2 each and now weigh from four to five pounds. They were raised by Tommy Newman and Jimmy Fambro of Lomax, and Rodney Brooks of Coahoma.

The pink bollworm is not as active this season as in former years. Bert Badger, who makes inspections for the State Department of Agriculture, has been in several fields recently and says he found fewer worms than usual.

There are slight infestations in parts of Midland County, and at Stanton and in a few fields down in Reagan County.

Badger thinks the cold weather last winter may have reduced the carryover of hibernating worms. He says that in most parts of South Texas the bollworm count is down.

This area is due to catch a migration from South Texas along about the middle of August, which might change the picture somewhat.

He said farmers in parts of Martin County were having trouble with cabbage loopers, especially the bigger ones. After a looper gets half-grown there doesn't seem to be anything that will stop him except laying him on a brick and giving him a swat with a hammer. But don't use a tack hammer. That will only make him mad.

Some farmers are controlling the small worms by using two per cent endrin, which is somewhat stronger and more expensive than BHC.

Insect infestation in Howard County is very light, though a few bollworms are working on the low spots of cotton where the stalks are still green and tender.

Jimmy Taylor has made several visits to Lomax and says irrigation farmers have been poisoning regularly against boll worms. Some fields are now getting their fourth dose of poison, though the first one or two times around was to get rid of thrips and fleahoppers.

We rarely have a year so dry but that terraces won't give the crop a boost. It may be winter rains that put down sub-soil moisture, or a hard-dashing shower in the summer, like the one that fell in several communities on July 4th. If there is any runoff water at all, a terrace will trap it and let it soak into the ground.

Johnnie Walker saw this demonstrated this summer on his farm northeast of Big Spring. He chiseled a field on which terraces had been built, then got some heavy showers.

Most of the early rains soaked in to give him a fair crop. It had begun to burn a little, but a good shower last week came along to give the crop another boost. The field might be bare if the land hadn't been conditioned to take up those early rains.

Some of the brush-killing chemicals introduced a few years ago have not lived up to expectations. Most of them gave a "good top kill on mesquite, but the large taproot stayed alive and started sending up a dozen new mesquite trunks where only one existed before. Many pastures in Borden County treated with chemicals are definitely in worse shape than before they were sprayed.

It has been the same way with prickly pear and other pasture nuisances. Luther Hallmark a contractor at Sterling City, says most ranchers in that area are having their pear grubbed out by hand. The pears are piled up and burned and the rancher is rid of them for a long while.

He planned to move into the Foran area this week and do grubbing on one or two ranches around there.

Drought and heat go together. This is something that most people already know, but figures kept at the Big Spring Field Station prove it beyond a doubt.

I took their rainfall and temperature records for the month of June for the last 10 years and this is what was found: The hottest June was in 1933 when the average of the highest readings every day reached a torrid 101 degrees. The rainfall during the month was only .29 inches.

The coolest June in recent years was during 1950 when the highest daily averages amounted to only 91 degrees. The rainfall during the month was 1.62 inches. Other average June temperatures were 1932 — 99 degrees; 1934 — 92; 1935 — 94, and for 1956 — 98.

Another factor that determines the temperature is the amount of moisture already in the soil. The 91 average registered in June, 1950, came just after a wet May when eight inches of rain fell.

Farmers who say the rains don't do as much good as they did back several years ago are probably right. During droughts the temperature is not only higher but evaporation is also speeded up. A few degrees more heat plus the drying effects of hot, dry winds takes the moisture out at a much faster clip.

Panel Scores Use Of Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators today criticized as too uncontrolled and possibly dangerous the present government practice of hiring outside consultants and experts.

A Government Operations subcommittee hit particularly at the temporary federal hiring of newsmen, suggesting this creates "governmental influence" over journalism.

It also alleged there is "lobbying" within the government by experts and consultants, and said there is evidence specialists have been employed for political reasons.

The subcommittee findings were approved by the parent Government Operations Committee. Rep. William L. Dawson (D-Ill) is chairman of both groups.

The subcommittee inquiry, under way for more than a year, deals with Eisenhower administration employment of outside advisers for limited periods. It differs from a study conducted by Rep. Celler (D-NY) on the narrower issue of advisers known as "WOCs" because they serve "without compensation."

The Democratic-controlled subcommittee acknowledged that federal hiring of experts and consultants both with and without pay took place under past administrations, and it called "highly praiseworthy" the basic objective of getting help from non-government specialists.

But it said 12,965 experts and consultants have been hired since Jan. 1, 1953, and that there are now 1,394 government advisory committees composed of persons from outside the government.

Appendectomy Tally: 7 Of 8

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. (AP) — The appendectomy box score in the Loveless family stands at seven out of eight today.

Papa James Loveless, 34, a policeman who lives, fortunately, only three blocks from Northridge Hospital, became the seventh to undergo the operation last night. Five of his six daughters preceded him in the last 22 days.

Here's the score: Daughters Kenna Sue, 10, July 2; Carol Jean, 8, July 11; Judy, 12, and Esther, 9, last Friday; Carol Mignon, 6, last Saturday night. Papa Loveless returned to the hospital Sunday, as a patient, this time.

Mama Sue Loveless had her appendix removed three years ago. The only one left with an appendix is daughter Francine. She's only 3.

Oh yes, the Loveless baby-sitter Roberta Norman, 15, had an appendectomy Sunday.

Red Release Seen

HONG KONG (AP) — A Roman Catholic Church publication said today reports of "greatly improved treatment" of six American Catholic missionaries still held in Chinese Communist jails "would seem to point to an early release."

Ship Rocks And Rolls With Fights

BOSTON (AP) — A rock 'n' roll party aboard a Boston harbor excursion vessel turned into a near riot last night when numerous fights erupted among the 2,600 persons aboard.

Eyewitnesses reported fighting began among the passengers almost as soon as the vessel Boston Belle left its dock and continued during the more than two hours of the cruise while an orchestra played rock 'n' roll rhythms.

Eyewitnesses said further that as soon as one fight subsided another began almost immediately among others in the organization which had chartered the diesel-engined ship.

Most of those on board were Negroes, but police said racial issues were not involved in the fighting.

NL 'Ugly Ducklings' Refuse To Fold Up

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Redlegs, the National League's "ugly ducklings," stubbornly continue to hover within sight of the pot of gold despite snubs by Milwaukee and Brooklyn.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

BOB ADDIE, Washington sports writer: "To substantiate the charge of the livelier ball in this area, a mathematically-minded reader points out that when Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs in 1927 they comprised 14 per cent of all homers hit in the American League while Willie Mays' 31 homers of last year came to only 4 per cent of the National League's total."

COOKIE LAVAGETTO, Washington coach, telling about one game Beans Reardon umpired in Philadelphia:

"Richie Ashburn slid into third base and the ball was relayed to Billy Cox, Brooklyn third baseman. Reardon yelled safe, but raised his hand in the traditional 'out' signal. There naturally was confusion. 'You heard me call you safe, didn't you,' Reardon asked Ashburn, who agreed. Cox also agreed. 'But I also gave the 'out' sign,' said Beans, 'and as far as 20,000 people here are concerned, you're out. So... you're out.'"

FRED HANEY, Milwaukee manager: "Basically, I didn't manage Pittsburgh last year. Branch Rickey did. Rickey was only interested in developing players. Winning games was incidental. I had to fight to keep Rickey from sending pitcher Bob Friend to the minors. I was glad to get out of there. It was bad enough to suffer through one defeat after another, but when the old man told me what players I should use, that was too much."

PAUL JONES, West Texas golf pro: "I never could understand why so many of the big-time golfers are such prima donnas when they're putting—can't even stand the click of a camera shutter. That doesn't take any more concentration than Otis Graham calling off an important play in a championship football game before a hundred thousand people."

JACKIE ROBINSON, Brooklyn player: "There was a decrease in interest among ball players in this year's All-Star game. Maybe because we're getting old."

JIM ZAPP, manager of Webb Air Force Base Dusters: "Floyd Martin is my kind of ball player. No static and all hustle."

DR. ROGER BANNISTER, who ran the first four-minute mile: "Too many said it couldn't be done. Runners get the complex that the goal was impossible. When they had the chance to do it, their own mental equipment kicked them. I merely made up my mind that one day I was going to do it. I trained my body and mind to do it. When I reached the three-quarters mark in just over three minutes, I gave the last quarter all I had. I made it. Look what happened after that. Once the mental barrier was hurdled, four-minute miles have become commonplace."

BEN TINCUP, Philadelphia baseball scout: "The Yankees probably have the most young pitchers in their chain. They have over 100 of 'em, but the Phillies are coming along fast. We have a great young crop coming up."

BOB CONSIDINE, INS sports writer: "Clark Griffith made baseball the national pastime by coming the president of the United States into serving as a sponsor of his opening games. Baseball prospered as a result. But a town that started big league largely because of him, a town from which a tramp like Tootie was sent a billion dollars, can't build the wonderful old guy a two-by-four memorial."

Roosevelt Shaw Of Knott In All-Star Cage Game

KERRVILLE (Sp) — Roosevelt Shaw, for two years an all-district basketball guard at Knott High School, will appear here August 2 in the East-West all-star game as part of the eleventh annual Six-Man Football Coaching School at Schreiner Institute.

ROOSEVELT SHAW

Shaw's coach, now the superintendent at Knott, W. T. (Bill) Bowlin, will attend the three-day school. Morris Molpus, Knott coach, will also represent Knott.

About 30 youngsters, the most outstanding athletes of the state's small schools, will check in July 29. They will be fed and housed at Schreiner Institute. Workouts will start the next day.

The football coaching staff for the August 3 all-star struggle includes Claude Morrison of Enochs for the West and Robert Hardy Jr. of New Waverly for the East. Coaching the basketball stars will be Wilford Arthur of Jayton for the West and Benford Gardner of Greenwood for the East. The all-star hoop game is set August 2 in Schreiner's gymnasium.

The coaching school will have Schreiner Athletic Director John Hamburger and Coach Verdell Turner as speakers. About 150 coaches, their wives and guests are expected for the instruction and demonstration sessions.

Seixas Triumphs In Penn Tourney

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, pressing his bid for another Davis Cup berth, moved into the second round today of the 57th annual Pennsylvania State Men's Lawn Tennis Tournament.

Seixas, who has won this crown six times and last year was runner-up to Tony Trabert, whipped James Schmidt, a stout-hearted Texan yesterday, 6-1, 6-4, to earn a clash today with Jon Douglas, Stanford University football player. Douglas, of San Francisco, eliminated Henry van Rensselaer, New York City, 6-3, 6-3.

Fans Find It Hard To Get The Range

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Hollywood baseball club offered $100,000 to anyone who could throw a baseball from home plate through a 3-inch aperture in a 72-foot board stationed at second base.

Fifteen fans have taken 15 throws at the object. Nobody has hit the board, let alone the hole.

Del Ennis One Of Finest Clutch Hitters In Majors

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Ennis is nowhere near the leading batters in the National League. But the veteran Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder along with Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski and Jim Piersall of Boston is among the major leaguers' best clutch hitters this year.

Ozark Rugged In The Clutch

By The Associated Press
If anybody has won more ball games with clutch hitting than Danny Ozark it isn't known hereabouts. Even when the playing manager of the Wichita Falls Spudders doesn't want him scares the shirts off the backs of the opposition.

Ozark hit his twenty-second home run Monday night to furnish the power that carried Wichita Falls to a 10-7 victory over Victoria. Ozark is the fellow who hit four consecutive home runs in one game to set a Big State League record. He is batting .375 and has driven in 66 runs. Pretty good for a fellow who has played only in two-thirds of his team's games.

Corpus Christi, leading the league by two games over second place Waco, won one the easy way Monday night. The Clippers took advantage of 14 bases on balls to lick Abilene 7-5. They got only six hits off three Abilene pitchers.

Second place Waco held the pace with a 3-2 victory over Fort Arthur. The Pirates got all their runs in the fourth inning without a hit. Three walks, two hit batsmen and a pair of infield outs allowed the tallies to come in.

Beaumont topped Texas City 6-5 when George Smith singled in Ted Tate in the tenth inning.

Flanagan, Teter Santone Leaders

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A field of 64, headed by Christi Flanagan of Port Arthur and Gene Teter of Dallas set out today in the first round of medal play in the Texas junior golf tournament.

Flanagan and Teter tied for medalist honors yesterday by shooting 1-under-par 70's.

A total of 284 boys under 21 years of age shot qualifying scores over Brackencridge Park Course. Jack Little of Corpus Christi, Herbert Grumbles of Austin and James Toland of Jacksonville tied at 7 in the qualifying while David Goldman Jr. of Dallas, Wersdon Herman of Baytown, David Boies of Brownwood and Joe Cardenas of Harlingen were next at 72. Goldman is state amateur champion.

Hal Kuntz of San Antonio, the defending champion, had a 74. The low 64 qualifiers will play 72 holes running through Friday.

Trinity Ace Inks Chicago Contract

CHICAGO (AP)—Myron (Moe) Drabowsky, ranked as one of the nation's outstanding college pitchers and sought by all 16 major league clubs, has signed with the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs yesterday announced that the 21-year-old senior at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., had signed a 2-year contract. Terms of the contract were not disclosed. The Sun-Times, however, said the contract reportedly called for a $80,000 bonus.

Vejar, Fuentes Vie

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Newly wed Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., and rugged Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles, met in a 10-round bout at the Olympic Auditorium tonight, with Fuentes a slight favorite to beat the star of many a television performance in the ring.

American Leaguers Slam Colorado City In Meet

Colorado City proved no match for the Big Spring American Leaguers in the District Little League playoffs here Monday night.

The local contingent, scoring in every inning but the fifth, rolled to a 27-2 triumph behind the six-hit hurling of Buddy Newell.

Newell struck out 11 batters and issued only three walks in the rout while his mates combed the offerings of four Colorado City hurlers for 18 assortment of the American Leaguers slammed a mighty ed blow.

Heid hitless until his last time at bat, Jerry Dunhome run with two mates aboard.

Kenneth Billings stroked four hits in as many attempts to pace the Big Spring attack. All were singles. Newell helped his own cause along with three hits, including a double. He also scored four times.

Jerry Arick, Ronnie Cunningham and Jimmy Hinds each clubbed two blows for the local team.

For Colorado City, Bobby Stewart and Curtis Scott each drove out a pair of hits. Each connected with a two-bagger.

The season's biggest crowd was on hand to watch the proceedings and a total of $46.40 was taken in collections for the visiting teams.

Tonight, the Big Spring National Leaguers tangle with the Sweetwater American Leaguers at 8:30 p.m. while Sweetwater Nationals oppose the Big Spring Texas Leaguers in the second go.

The Big Spring Americans return to action Wednesday night, at which time they play the Snyder National Leaguers in the second game. The opener Wednesday will pit the Snyder Americans against Rotan.

Giovannelli Wins New York Bout
NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Giovannelli has himself a winning streak of one today and a solid reputation as a comeback guy among the middleweights.

The 24-year-old New Yorker came back from a near knockout midway through the eighth round and nailed Gene Foiries for a TKO before the round was over last night in their scheduled 10-rounder at St. Nick's Arena.

Both weighed 151 1/2 for the televised bout which drew 1,004 fans with a gross gate of $2,352.

Greenberg And Cronin Lauded At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—"It must be a wonderful country when a boy from the Bronx and a boy from San Francisco can win such honors with a baseball bat."

Both men are general managers now, Greenberg at Cleveland and Cronin at Boston, but the big crowd that stretched across main street to the post office steps came to hear them talk of their playing days. Both men obliged.

"I didn't think I would be nervous standing up here," said the 45-year-old Greenberg, who was born in New York's Bronx. "But I have the same butterflies as when I used to anticipate hitting against Lefty Grove, or Red Kuffing with the bases loaded."

"When I played in the first game at Cooperstown when the Hall of Fame was dedicated in 1939 with men like Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth being honored, I little dreamed I would be on the same platform."

When Cronin, 45, spoke, he also said this was the greatest thrill of his baseball career.

"There were a lot of heartaches along the way," said Cronin. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick dedicated the plaques to Greenberg and Cronin.

Local Lassies Win Crown

ODESSA (SC) — Big Spring entries won one championship in the Junior Olympic tennis tournament, which took place here Monday.

The Big Spring combination of Glenda Wilson and Janice Downing defeated their teammates, Shirley Kilgough and Joan Bratcher, 6-1, 6-3, in the finals of the 14-15 year doubles bracket.

Layla Glaser, Big Spring, lost out in the finals of the 12-13 year singles division to Paula Jackson, Pyote, 6-1, 6-1.

In the 16-17 year singles, Flo Marvin, Odessa, won the title at the expense of Nita Farquhar, Big Spring, 6-2, 6-2.

Pyote won the team trophy, with five firsts and two seconds. Odessa was runnerup, with three first and five seconds.

Lubbock and Big Spring each won one championship.

Stanford Formula In Game With Ohio State Lauded

By BOB HOOBING
The Associated Press
The offensive team in football faces its sternest test in trying to break through a determined goal-line stand.

Stanford's formula as an underdog against defending national champion Ohio State last year provided one of the biggest upsets of the collegiate season.

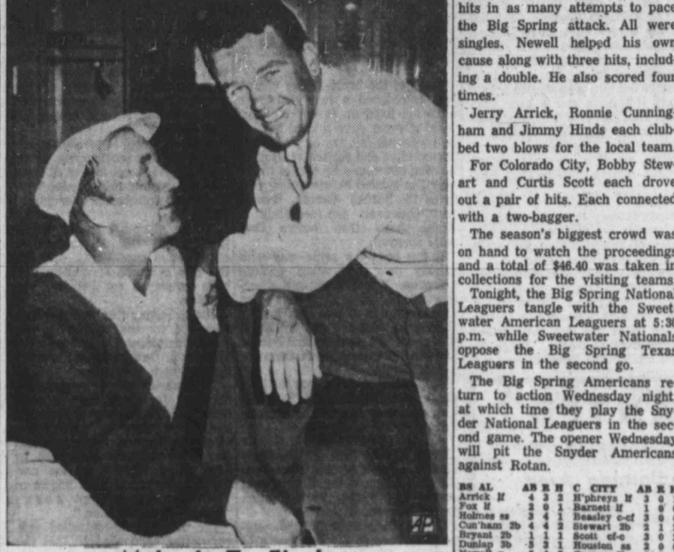

The week preceding the game Coach Chuck Taylor openly had claimed he thought Ohio State "could be had." The Buckeyes, who had won the national title in 1954, had whipped Nebraska 28-20 in their opener. Stanford had beaten College of the Pacific but lost to Oregon State.

Stanford returning the opening kickoff from its 23 to the 43 but a holding penalty pushed the Indians back to their 29.

From there, quarterback Jerry Gustafson found he could move his team against Ohio State with well-planned plays. On the drive, Gustafson used fullback Billy Tarr three times, halfback Ernie Dorn twice and halfback Paul Camera once at the guards and tackles, hit on the 29-yard pass and kept one on for 13 yards.

With first down on the Ohio State 2, Camera cracked for 1 at the visitors' left tackle. The Buckeyes drew their defense tight.

Gustafson executed a perfect

Make It To Finals
Ted Kroll, left, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Jack Burke of Houston and Klamasha Lake, N.Y., meet today in the 36-hole finals of the 28th annual National PGA Championships at Blue Hill Country Club in Canton, Mass.

PGA Meet Always A Gruelling Test

CANTON, Mass. (AP)—According to golfers who play in it — and some who won't — the Professional Golfers Assn. Championship is the toughest of all major tournaments because of its length and the unceasing pressure.

Two players well fitted physically and temperamentally to withstand this grind — Jackie Burke and Ted Kroll — meet today to battle it out over 36 holes of a woody, country-type golf course for the title and the $5,000 top prize.

Burke, 33, apparently is just reaching the peak of his competitive game after a too-long apprenticeship in which he was regarded as a perennial great prospect. Kroll, 37, is a wiry, weather-beaten tournament campaigner who plays every week on the pro tour and never seems to turn a hair whether the going is good or bad.

Since play began in the PGA last Friday, Burke already has played 121 holes of golf, almost without a breathing spell. Kroll didn't have a letup either until yesterday's semifinals, when the upset king of the earlier rounds turned out to be just a "pigeon" for a real tough competitor.

Kroll, shooting relentlessly steady golf, won by a near-record 10 and 3 margin from Bill Johnston, the 31-year-old club pro from Provo, Utah, who had beaten such players as Jay Hebert, ex-champion Walter Burkemo and Henry Ransom in the 18-hole duels.

Johnston was outclassed and soon realized it.

Putting was a big factor in Burke's 37-hole victory over Jed Furgol in about as exciting a match as this 28-year-old tournament has seen.

The lame-armed Furgol, who lashes out at the ball in a jerky, vicious-looking way and achieves surprising results, moaned: "I should have beaten the man 9 and 8 or 7 and 6 if I had putted. I found the greens here hard to putt. They're not uniform."

The Blue Hill Country Club — a sort of Boston version of Tam o' Shanter — has a rolling course 6,634-yards long, with rocks and trees a little way off in the rough and some greens that were badly damaged by weather last fall and winter.

Burke played it amazingly well up to yesterday. Then he had all kinds of trouble on the early holes.

He came from 5 down at the 14th to 2 down at the 18th and then 2 up at the 23th after he had won five straight holes. The grim, crooked-armed Furgol caught him at the 33th and pulled off a couple of fine shots on the 36th to stay alive. A 12-footer on the 37th hole saved Burke.

A third of the season remains. The pennant race apparently has fallen into a groove. Dallas, Houston and Rudy Paynich of Fort Worth are occupying the top four spots most of the season.

The San Antonio Missions beat the Fort Worth Cats 7-2 Monday night for their fourth straight over Fort Worth. And Dallas struggled 11 innings to lick Austin 6-3.

Seven Girls In Farm Bureau's Queen Contest

Seven girls have entered the beauty contest to be staged by the Howard County Farm Bureau on Aug. 23. The program will be held in the large auditorium at the Howard County Junior College.

The girls listed as contestants are Beverly Meador, Vincent; Natha McMinn, Vincent; Pat Iden, Vealmoor Route; Mary Ella Bigony, Fairview community; Helen Smith, Fairview; Joyce Hill, Coahoma and Joyce Rallsback, Route 1, Big Spring.

Several other girls have said they might enter within the next few days. Any girl between the ages of 16 and 22 and who is a daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member is eligible to compete in the beauty contest.

This year the contestants will not be required to make a speech of any kind. They will instead be asked questions on the stage by the master of ceremonies.

There will be a get-together of contestants before the night of the program, and a decision will be made on what type of dress to wear.

U. S. Atomic Tests Complete

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has completed its 1954 series of atomic and hydrogen tests in the Pacific, but certain unspecified test activities will continue a while longer.

"The final test shot... has been fired," said a joint announcement yesterday by Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission and Secretary of Defense Wilson.

The announcement said the tests were "successful," included "further development of methods of defense against attack," and advanced the "development of weapons with reduced fall-out and weapons for tactical purposes."

No information was given on the number of test shots in the series that began last May.

The announcement said that surface and air restrictions in the Bikini-Eniwetok proving ground area will be continued until the completion of further nonblast test activities.

This year's test series included an announced atomic test early in May. Then on May 21 an Air Force B2 jet bomber dropped a hydrogen bomb from an airburst witnessed by newsmen. Tests since then have not been announced.

The first claim that the United States was making "real progress" in achieving an H-bomb with "maximum effect in the immediate area of a target with minimum widespread fall-out hazard" was made last Thursday by AEC Chairman Strauss.

The announcement said no members of the joint task force that conducted this year's tests suffered any radiological injuries and that the tests were conducted "without radiological hazard" outside the announced danger area.

Fun Clubs Tour Jails

A group of Latin American youngsters toured the city and county jails this morning. They were from the YMCA Kate Morrison Fun Club.

Accompanied by sponsors Johnny Johnson and Joan Young, the group also saw a demonstration of weapons used by law enforcement officers at the police station and also the department's filing system.

Monday, a Negro group from the Lakeview Fun Club made the same trip. Twelve took part in the tour Monday.

Earlier this year, the clubs have made trips to the fire station, Webb AFB, the "big spring," and Moss Creek Lake.

Miss Young has charge of the girls, and Johnson works with the boys.

The pair conduct play periods for the Lakeview youth on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings, and on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at Kate Morrison.

In addition a movie is shown at the old Lakeview school every Thursday night.

Both the Kate Morrison and Lakeview groups are parts of the YMCA summer recreation system.

NOT BIG SPRING

Many Cities Favor 'Secret' Sessions Of Ruling Bodies

By DON HENRY

Most cities in the state do not agree with Big Spring that a city can operate efficiently without holding "off-the-record" sessions by the municipal government which excludes newsmen.

In fact, only one city of 23 agree with City Manager H. W. Whitney of Big Spring who maintains that city government can be operated with the citizens knowing completely what is being done — at all meetings.

A survey was conducted by Abilene city officials recently with a list of five questions sent to 23 city managers of Texas cities between 14,211 and 22,482 population.

The five questions were:

1. Does your city commission hold "off-record sessions" (where no official business is transacted)?
2. Is the local newspaper reporter invited to these meetings?
3. If your newspaper reporter is invited, does he respect the commission's confidence?
4. Does your newspaper oppose these "off-record" sessions?
5. Do you think it possible to efficiently operate a fast-growing city without some "off-record" sessions?

Cities polled included Pasadena, Marshall, Midland, Paris, Denton, Orange, Brownwood, Sherman, Corsicana, McAllen, Bryan, Borger, Denison, Big Spring, Kingsville, Texas City, Pampa, Alice, Victoria, Lufkin, Greenville, Grand Prairie, and Del Rio.

After the survey was completed a tabulation was sent to the cities showing that only Big Spring and Del Rio felt that a fast-growing city could operate without efficient off-record or closed-door sessions.

In answer to the first question, 17 cities reported they held such sessions, and only six did not. In addition to Big Spring, Paris, Bryan, Kingsville, Alice, and Del Rio saw no need to meet in such a manner.

Kingsville, however, reported that while it didn't hold such meetings, it thought it should and that in larger cities it was almost imperative.

On the yes side, Brownwood claimed it held them "merely to discuss problems." Pampa holds them only to "hear special engineering reports... too lengthy for regular sessions."

As to whether reporters were invited to these conferences, six voted yes, six claimed a yes-and-no, four returned a flat no, and seven cities did not answer.

Big Spring was one of the cities not answering since it did not hold

17 States Return Some Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service announced today that 17 states have turned back part of previously allocated supplies of Salk polio vaccine.

In addition, 7 of the 17 waived their right to share in a new release today of 3,137,922 doses. The service said this enabled "states where demand is still high to receive larger amounts."

Secretary of Welfare Folsom and Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele of the health service have been urging maximum use of the vaccine as it becomes available.

However, a total of 2,431,035 doses previously allocated to them were turned back unused by the following states:

Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

The seven states which also waived their rights to a total of 728,244 doses from the new release were:

Kentucky, Maryland, West Virginia, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama and South Carolina.

State and territories other than the seven waiving their allocations were allotted 5,564,097 doses of the new and reallocated vaccine. The remaining 4,660 doses were licensed for export.

Today's release of 3,137,922 doses was the first this month. However, a record of 17,172,966 doses were released during June. Eli Lilly and Co., Indianapolis, made 3,116,934 doses of the new release. The remainder came from previously released lots which were underestimated by manufacturers at the time of announcement.

Altogether, the states and territories have been allocated 67,800,367 doses of the 42,196,382 released since the vaccine was licensed April 12, 1955.

A check of health service records showed that at least 32 states and other areas have now extended the vaccine priority age group to cover persons through 19 years of age.

The service said available information indicates that the tightest supply situation currently is in New England, New York and New Jersey.

Strike Grips Italy

ROME (AP) — A 24-hour nationwide railway wage strike gripped Italy today.

In answer to the question concerning opposition by the local paper to such sessions, seven voted the papers did oppose them, 12 voted no, and four did not vote.

Big Spring was one of the six cities claiming its newspaper did oppose such meetings, and others included McAllen, Corsicana, Bryan, Denison, Alice, and Victoria.

On the final question concerning the necessity of closed-door meetings, Del Rio joined Big Spring in the opinion that they were not necessary for a fast-growing city. Sherman did not answer the question.

Nasser Criticizes Aid Withdrawal

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser sharply criticized the United States today for the withdrawal of the American offer to help finance the Aswan Dam.

Nasser said Egypt will "never submit to dollars or force."

His criticism came during a speech at the inauguration of the Cairo-Suez oil pipeline.

Nasser did not mention Britain in his 20-minute speech. Britain joined the United States last week in announcing the withdrawal of its offer to help finance the project on the Nile.

"You can make false announcements from Washington," Nasser said. "We announce if these statements are based on the belief that Egypt's economy is not sound — this is a tragedy."

ABSENTEE VOTING

Solon Leaves For S. Texas Probe

McALLEN (AP)—Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen left today for Laredo to begin an investigation of alleged absentee voting abuses in five counties in that area. He will be joined at Laredo for the other four members of his House General Investigation Committee. They are Reps. Scott McDonald of Fort Worth, Jess Osborn of Muleshoe, Jack Welch of Marlin and Reagan Huffman of Marshall. Spilman had more to say about his controversy with Atty. Gen. John Ben Sheppard on who should look into the alleged charges. Spilman maintains it is the attorney general's job. He pointed out that the attorney general has a well-trained staff and was able to prosecute, something Spilman's committee could not do. About the time Spilman said yesterday his committee would look into the matter, word came from San Diego that two representatives of the attorney general's department was there to investigate reported absentee voting practices in Duval County. Spilman said today this investigation was "unknown to me." "I don't know what type of investigation they are conducting," Spilman said. "If I understood his (Sheppard's) telegram, he said he didn't have any authority to conduct an investigation. I would be interested in knowing what type of investigation it is in view of their former statement. Spilman said he was going to Laredo to see what has been done. Spilman said he had "strongly urged the attorney general to exercise his authority under the Texas Election Code" and investigate the charges. He said the committee felt the law made it "mandatory" for Sheppard to do so. The attorney general said no court has ever interpreted the election code the same way the committee did. Spilman called this reply "a half answer." Spilman said he was advised by a member of the attorney general's staff that no action had ever been filed under Article 902 and no court had ever interpreted the law in any way. "I don't understand why the office has not made some effort to do something under the statute," Spilman said. "In view of the fact that he (Sheppard) has been so eager for us to make an investigation." First Asst. Atty. Gen. Davis Grant said the attorney general's office had not refused to act in the case. "We have had investigations there for some time and have them there now," Grant said. Spilman urged last week that the attorney general open a court of inquiry after three candidates for office from Webb County had asked Spilman's committee to look into alleged absentee voting violations in Webb, Zapata, Jim Hogg, Duval and Starr counties. "Fine Assessed In Bad Check Case" T. E. Scholer, charged with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon in county court. He was fined $25 by R. H. Weaver county judge. William Theobald, charged with driving while intoxicated, pleaded not guilty to the charge. Judge Weaver set his bond at $500.

Phillips Turns Attention To Fusselman In Big Spring Field

Phillips crews at the No. 2-B Johnnie (Walker) in the Big Spring field of Howard County are preparing to perforate and test the Fusselman. They have been testing in the Upper Strawn. The location is about five miles northeast of Big Spring. A Dawson County wildcat, Superior No. 1 Barnes-McBrayer, found shows of oil on a drillstem test in the Devonian. The test from 12,201-51 feet produced 1,500 feet of water blanked and 60 feet of oil and gas cut mud. No water was reported, however. Site is seven miles southwest of Patricia. He was a retired rig builder. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Clara E. Stevens of Odessa; a son, M. E. Stevens of Odessa; a daughter, Mrs. L. W. Hughes of El Paso; his mother, Mrs. G. B. Stevens, Keller; three brothers, two sisters and two grandchildren.

Absentee Voting Is Steady Today

Cool weather and the approach of deadline for absentee voting stepped up interest in this form of balloting Tuesday morning. While no grand rush manifested itself, a steady line of applicants for absentee ballots made its way into the county clerk's office. Deadline for absentee ballot application expires at closing time today. No count was made of the number of ballots handled so far but it was estimated the total was well past the 200 mark. Absentee voting on a second election — the county airport bond project, slated August 3 — is in progress simultaneously in the office. Some of the applicants today were combining their visit to vote at both elections. Two ballot boxes to receive the respective votes are being maintained.

5 Persons Die In Collision Of Truck, Auto

DALLAS (AP)—Five persons were killed here today when a big truck loaded with concrete tile collided with an automobile carrying eight persons. Three other passengers of the car were injured. The accident occurred in the Fruitdale area at Wadsworth and Lebbett Dr. The dead were listed as: Cecil Hillburn, 16, of El Paso, son of George Hillburn of that city. John McClendon, about 30, of El Paso. David McClendon, 7, of El Paso, son of John McClendon. Peggy Brewer, 18, of Arlington. Gary Brewer, 10, of Arlington. The injured included Jean Brewer, 7, of Arlington whose condition was listed as "fair." Harvey McDougal, 15, of route 2, Kemp, Texas. McDougal was a pedestrian. Mrs. Dorothy McClendon, about 30, of El Paso, who suffered chest injuries but was listed as "fair" condition. Helen Brewer, of Arlington, about 35, who suffered injury and shock. Larry Brewer, 10, of Arlington who suffered injury and shock. Gary Brewer, who was dead on arrival at Methodist Hospital, was his twin brother. The accident occurred about 10 a.m. at an intersection. The truck was going east and the auto south. Mrs. Brewer and her children and the McClendons had just left the home of a mutual relative, Mrs. J. H. Lehev of Dallas. Police said the truck crashed into the right side of the car. Witnesses said the truck knocked the car 100 feet. Wreckage of the two vehicles hit McDougal, the pedestrian. Louis McNeal of Seagoville, driver of the truck, was not injured.

Victim Helps Capture Driver

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ralph Sachs, despite several broken ribs, assisted in apprehending a motorist who had knocked him down at a midtown intersection and then failed to stop his car. Police gave this account: The 32-year-old Sachs got up and ran after the vehicle, securing a hold of the door. The car still didn't stop and Sachs finally lost his grip and fell to the pavement. Just then a police patrol car arrived. Sachs climbed in and within a few minutes the fleeing motorist, George Hunt, Jr., 35, was hauled. He was charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Sachs was hospitalized for treatment of his rib fractures.

Private Versus Public Power In Forefront Of Atom Debate

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP)—The public vs. private power came to the fore quickly today as the House started debate on a bill to order immediate government construction of atomic power plants. Opponents of the plan criticized it as an entering wedge to put the government permanently in the business. Backers contended the development job is too costly for private interests. The lawmakers got a pledge from Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission that the AEC will carry out the task with government money if private industry and public power bodies are not willing to proceed after a "reasonable time." The AEC chairman contended every power reactor idea that is far enough advanced for active work is already in one stage of development or another. Rep. Cole (R-NV), former chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told the House the bill could be "a Trojan horse" to put the government in the power business. The legislation was discussing would direct the Atomic Energy Commission to spend 400 million dollars to build atomic power plants at government installations to demonstrate production of commercial power. There are fears, Cole said, that once the government starts generating electricity from atomic power, it will stay in that field. Rep. Saylor (R-Ill) called it "an opening" for proponents of public power. Rep. Durham (D-NC), one of the bill's backers and a member of the Atomic Committee, denied that the issue of public power was involved. Durham said the government must proceed with big demonstration plants because it alone has the resources to handle the job through the experimental stages. The partisan fight outcome was anybody's guess, but it was indicated the vote would be close. Republicans were pushing for what they called "protective" amendments. The Senate on July 12 passed

Traffic Signal At 17th, Gregg

A traffic light at Seventeenth and Gregg has been installed and city electrician Roy Rogan was to get it regulated today. The light has been here for over a month, but cable to connect it with the control box did not arrive until last week. Monday night, the light was timed with the lights at Edwards and at Eighteenth — all three red or all three green. Rogan today was to have reversed the light at Eighteenth, leaving the lights alternating red-green or green-red-green.

Harriman Hits Ike 'Raw Deal'

ABERDEEN, S. D. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York said last night that the New Deal and Fair Deal for farmers under former Presidents Roosevelt and Truman have "given way to the raw deal of President Eisenhower." Quoting a campaign address he said Eisenhower made at Brookings, S. D., in 1952 promising 90 per cent parity supports, Harriman declared: "Eisenhower broke that pledge." The New York governor addressed a barbeque audience of South Dakota Democrats shortly after Kentucky's Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler had launched a similar attack against the Eisenhower administration before the same group. The two governors, both bidding for South Dakota's eight votes at the Democratic National Convention, now pledged to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), did not meet. Chandler was driving out of Aberdeen as Harriman landed at the local airport. Chandler said the Republicans had "betrayed the farmers of America" in repudiating the 90 per cent support formula. Harriman said that the net income of farmers was down a third, that farm equities are down by 1 million dollars while farm mortgages are up four billions and interest charges up 100 million a year. "Farmers always have been ready to do battle with the elements—drought, hail, wind and flood—but they can't cope with all these and Eisenhower too," Harriman concluded.

Howard Students To Get Tech Degrees

Charles Lawrence Knight, Vincent, and Don Edward Stevens, Big Spring, are among the 123 candidates for bachelor's degrees at Texas Tech this summer. Knight is completing work on his degree in petroleum geology and Stevens is working towards a degree in education. Graduation exercises are set for 7:15 p.m. Aug. 24 in the Lubbock auditorium. Also due to receive his degree, in journalism, is Herman LaDoyce Lambert of Abernathy, who worked as a reporter for the Daily Herald last summer.

(Continued from Page 1) ing, happy man, led 74 members of the team to a victory over the sixth grade of training, into a marsh near the rifle range of this sprawling training center on the night of April 8 "to teach them discipline." At first, so the testimony ran, the recruits treated the march as a lark. Then there was a cry for "help," followed by panic and death. Six drowned. McKeeon is charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty. The prosecution witnesses all said they thought discipline in the platoon had been poor. It was this that made McKeeon want to weld them into a "gung ho" outfit. "Gung ho" is a strictly Marine expression. It means to Marines "all for one and one for all." It once was the motto of the Chinese 8th Route Army and crept into the Corps through the late Lt. Col. Evans F. Carlson of Carlson's Raiders. He picked it up as an observer with the Chinese. With obvious reluctance and only under prodding did Pfc. Charles Langone Jr., 20, of New Hyde Park, N.Y., a recruit platoon section leader, tell of the "little argument" he had with McKeeon. While the platoon was on the rifle range, Langone said, it had been ordered to forego second servings at meals. On the fatal day, Langone said McKeeon caught him trying to get seconds and asked "Hungry?" Langone said he snapped, "What do you have to do around here to be hungry?" Langone said he was summoned to McKeeon's room just before the march. He said that when McKeeon opened the door "he told me to come in swinging. I went in, shut the door and backed up against it with my hands behind my back. Sgt. McKeeon told me to start swinging. I told him, 'No, sir.'" Then, he related, "Sgt. McKeeon pushed my face one time and gave me a very light slap on the face. Sgt. McKeeon told me to sit down and we sat down and had a cigarette." Subsequently, Langone explained, he and McKeeon sat down and discussed the discipline in the platoon. Defense attorney Emile Zola Berman asked, "Didn't he tell you that... a Marine who got into combat, who wasn't disciplined, who didn't respond to orders, could be shipped home in a plane box?" Langone answered, "Yes, sir." Under cross-examination, Berman asked, "As you look back weren't you one of the goof-offs?" "Yes, sir," said Langone. "I think I got Sgt. McKeeon down a couple of times." He added, "I think he was the best drill instructor on the island." Earlier, Pfc. John M. Malof, 19, of Forest Hills, N. Y., had testified McKeeon had chewed him out too for entering his room and failing to stand at attention. "He came toward me," Malof said, "raised his hand and his open hand glaced off the left side of my face... Sgt. McKeeon was at the end of his rope actually. He tried very hard and got no results" from the training.

Actress, Mate Agree On Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Jeanne Crain and her husband, Paul Brinkman, have reached a property settlement and an agreement for a quiet divorce which she will seek without contest from him. Miss Crain's publicity agent announced the agreement and said the actress, charging extreme cruelty, probably will have a divorce hearing within three weeks. Miss Crain filed for divorce last March 29 and in an amended complaint accused Brinkman of caveman tactics in displaying affection. Brinkman's cross-complaint charged her with adultery which she denied.

Grand Jury Report Due In Hodge Case

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—State's Atty. George Couterack said the Sangamon County grand jury will report late today on indictments sought in the million-dollar fund scandal involving former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge. The prosecutor has said he will ask the jury to return 46 indictments, each carrying six counts and covering the alleged cashing of nearly $650,000 in bogus state bank deposits. Jenner also said that on July 5 and 6, when the reports of alleged irregularities in Hodge's office first were printed in the Chicago Daily News, Hodge made a $238,880.28 deposit in the Southmor Bank and Trust Co., Chicago. Jenner speculated Hodge may have tried to "replenish" an account at the bank. A number of state warrants, listing payees who said they never received payment, were cashed at the Southmor Bank. Edward A. Hintz, resigned president of the bank, was arrested yesterday on a state charge of conspiracy. He was booked at the Sangamon County Jail and released on $25,000 bond. Hodge and his administrative assistant Edward A. Epping also are free on bond. Hodge, who posted $40,000 bond Saturday, was charged on a state embezzlement warrant. Epping, charged with aiding and assisting in fraud by taking the warrants to the Southmor Bank for cashing, is free on $25,000 bond.

Edmondson Off To Penitentiary

Levy Lee Edmondson, who pleaded guilty a few weeks ago to holding up a storekeeper at Knott with a toy pistol, was removed from county jail to the state penitentiary today. Edmondson was sent to Huntsville in custody of Rufus Davidson, deputy sheriff, to begin serving a two-year prison sentence. Edmondson, who had been indicted by the last grand jury on a burglary charge, appeared in 118th District court and pleaded guilty to the burglary. He was sentenced to two years and granted probation. Three days later, he was arrested for the Knott holdup. Brought before the court again, his probation was revoked and he was ordered to the state prison for two years. He was not taken to the prison early last week when 10 others were removed to Huntsville because all of the papers in his case had not been completed.

Youths Held In Break-In

Two 13-year-old boys, one of whom already is well and unfavorably known to police and county juvenile authorities, are being held in the juvenile ward today. They were arrested by city police last night in an alley at the rear of Milburn Appliance Store. Police, patrolling the area, came upon the pair just as they were breaking a rear window of the establishment. One of the boys was arrested on the scene and the second, who ran when the officers approached, was picked up a short time later. Shorty Long, county juvenile officer, said that one of the two has already been before the juvenile court. This boy was admitted to the Boy's Ranch at San Angelo, Long said, but ran away from that establishment. He said the two would be brought before Judge R. H. Weaver in juvenile court, sometime this week.

To Lecture At Houston Univ.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, junior college president, left this morning for Houston where he will lecture before University of Houston graduate students on junior college functions. The students are majoring in the field of junior college education. Dr. Hunt's lectures will deal with the origin and history of the junior college movement, types of junior colleges, and the community and terminal education functions of the schools. He also will discuss junior college financing. The lectures will be presented Wednesday through Saturday and Dr. Hunt will return to Big Spring Sunday.

Big Trucks In Collision

Two big trucks got together in a big way at an intersection of two Farm-to-Market roads in Howard County Monday. Both trucks were damaged but the drivers were not hurt. Rufus Davidson and Floyd Moore, deputy sheriffs, investigated the crash. Their report said that a van owned by the OK Storage and Transfer Company, Odessa, loaded with furniture, and driven by Billy Ray Biddy, was one of the two vehicles involved. The second truck was owned by Wesley Collins, Snyder, and driven by William H. Blythe, Snyder. The two trucks crashed at the intersection of FM 1594 and FM 1785.

DWI Charge Goes To Trial

Merrell Daniel Adams, charged with driving while intoxicated, second offense, went on trial before a jury in 118th District Court Tuesday morning. Adams was indicted by the grand jury in 118th District Court. A jury was being selected at noon to try Adams. Delay in getting the case under way developed when it was found additional jurors would be required to fill the panel. Actual questioning of jury began at 10 a.m.

IPAA Chief Urges Parley On Imports

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Robert L. Wood, Midland, Tex., president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, has called for a discussion on the "serious failures by importers to take action requested by the government in the interest of national defense." Wood wired Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming seeking a meeting with domestic petroleum industry representatives in Washington Friday. He charged that oil importing companies are not meeting government requests for import reductions.

Uncle Ray: Reader Tells Plan For Better Calendar

By RAMON COFFMAN
A Honolulu reader, Mr. Willard E. Edwards, has sent me a letter about an important subject. He is the inventor of "the Perpetual Calendar." With his letter Mr. Edwards included a printed outline, and I shall give parts of it in short form.

"I divided 365 by 4, and got 91 and one fourth, and decided that each quarter of the year should be marked on the calendar as having 91 days. There are exactly 13 weeks in 91 days.

"In my plan each quarter would have the first two months with 30 days apiece, and the third month with 31 days. The 12-month year would be kept.

"There would be an extra day in every ordinary year—New Year's Day. Once every four years, there would be an additional "day apart," known as Leap Year Day. It would start the second half of the year, and would be worked into the calendar without disturbing the length of any of the 12 months.

"A proposed calendar has 13 months, each containing a Friday the Thirteenth. Because of the popular superstition about that date, the public will be pleased that the Perpetual Calendar is without a single Friday the Thirteenth."

Mr. Edwards advocates that each week shall start with Monday instead of Sunday. It is possible, however, to start the week with Sunday and keep most of the good points of the Perpetual Calendar.

The Perpetual Calendar has been endorsed by widely known men. Dr. Karl T. Compton, scientist, declared that it would be "a decided advantage," and another scientist,

The Perpetual Calendar.
Dr. Harlow Shapley, described it as "practical and good."
The Chamber of Commerce of the Philippine Islands spoke of the Perpetual Calendar as "more practical for business" and endorsed its adoption "by the whole world."

Magazine Merger Is Ruled Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission ruled today that acquisition by Farm Journal, Inc., of its principal rival, Country Gentleman-Better Farming, violated the antimerger law.

But the commission said there is little it can do about the matter now. It quoted the hearing examiner whose report it adopted as saying that "from a practical standpoint" the only action it could take "will accomplish nothing."

The Farm Journal acquired Country Gentleman-Better Farming, a Curtis publication, in June 1955. The combined Farm Journal-Country Gentleman is published in Philadelphia.

Knott Girl Wins HD Dress Revue

Neva Jean Jackson of Knott was named county winner in the Home Demonstration dress revue held in the music room of Howard County Junior College Monday afternoon.

Neva Jean won first in the school dress division. As winner she will represent Howard County at the district meeting in Lubbock on Sept. 7 and 8. The winner of that revue will go to Dallas to compete in the state contest during the early fall.

Second place in the school dress division went to Joyce Robinson.

Knott and third place went to Jean Yates, Elbow.

In the best dress division, Beverly Shackley, Knott, won first. Jamie Jeffcoat, Knott, won second and Neva Jackson was third.

Sue Dunagan, Elbow, won first place honors in the blouse division. Martha Robinson, Knott, won second and Jeanette Ray, Knott, won third.

Jeanette Ray won first in the skirt division and Betty Sue Williams, Knott, won first in the apron division.

Tracing wheels were presented to each of the first place winners by the adult 4-H committee. A thread box was presented to the county winner and each girl received a sewing gauge.

Nineteen girls participated in the revue. Refreshments were served afterwards.

Polish Leader Admits Mistakes
VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Premier of Communist-ruled Poland has conceded to his people and visiting Red leaders that "many mistakes were made in the reconstruction of Poland" after World War II.

But Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz also claimed in a Polish National Day address that the country's production has increased five-fold over prewar records, Radio Warsaw said.

Soviet Premier Bulganin and dignitaries of other Communist nations reviewed a National Day parade yesterday of Poland's military and air units in Warsaw.

60 Polio Cases Reported in Texas
AUSTIN (AP)—The State Health Department said today that its latest reports showed 60 cases of polio in Texas. Nine cases for the week ending July 14 were in Bexar County (San Antonio). McLennan County (Waco) had 8 cases, Harris (Houston) 6 and Dallas 5.

Reds Draw Rein On Air Attacks

MOSCOW (AP)—The chief staff of the Soviet air force says Russian pilots have orders not to shoot at foreign planes that cross the Soviet Union's borders casually.

"They (the Soviet pilots) did not see any markings, but our fliers know U.S. planes, we know the types."

An American reporter suggested the planes could have been sold by the United States to another country. Rudenko replied: "That's your responsibility. The United States knows whom it sells its planes and where they are."

To avoid incidents, he said, Soviet pilots have orders not to shoot until they receive instructions from their headquarters.
