Tuffy Cooper, Monument, N. M., throws his arms wide to signal to judges that he's through roping and tying his calf. Cooper's time of 14.5 seconds last night was the best turned in during the first two performances of the rodeo.

Muddy Arena Hurts Rodeo Performance

A heavy shower that lasted from 7:15 till nearly 8 o'clock last night drove early arrivals away from the rodeo and delayed the opening of the show for 30 minutes. Two or three hundred returned after the performance got underway, but the total crowd was only about 1,000. Because of a soggy arena, with plenty of mud in the low spots, the time in roping and wild cow milking was slower than the previous night. The heavy going, however,

Senator Aikin Quits Race For Lt. Governor

PARIS (AP)—Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris withdrew from the lieutenant governor's race today because of his health. He acted on orders of his doctor. His announcement came from his hospital room where he is resting from a campaign he made against four opponents. Aikin's withdrawal leaves the door wide open to incumbent Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, who led Aikin by more than 250,000 votes in Saturday's primary. Aikin, a tall, thin man of 50, made an arduous campaign. He visited every section, speaking several times daily and shaking hands with thousands. He returned to Paris fatigued. He entered a Paris hospital yesterday. Aikin, 23 years in the Legislature, was co-author of the Gilmer-Aikin school laws. In a brief statement, Aikin said: "Upon direct orders of my physician, I am today withdrawing my name from the runoff for lieutenant governor of Texas. I am deeply grateful for the many courtesies from my friends in all parts of the state." He said he would send his official withdrawal to the State Democratic Executive Committee. Aikin was expected to continue as state senator.

Ex-Supporters Ask Yarborough To Withdraw

AUSTIN (AP)—Twenty-four persons from throughout Texas identifying themselves as "loyal Democrats and your former supporters" asked Ralph Yarborough today to withdraw from the runoff for Texas governor. The statement by former state Sen. George Nokes of Corsicana said: "Price Daniel's 160,000 vote lead is the largest with which any candidate for governor ever entered a runoff. We do not feel that anything can be gained by continuation of the race, especially in the light of attempts to stir old bitterness and to further divide the Democrats of Texas at a time when we should be seeking a course that would assure unity, harmony, clean government and clean politics in our state." There was no immediate reply from Yarborough who was reported in Dallas at the American Legion convention. Another name prominent among the signers of today's statement was that of Vann Kennedy of Corpus Christi, who was named by Sen. Lyndon Johnson as a member of the platform committee at the national Democratic convention. Other signers were: John McKelvey, Electra; Maurice Brooks, Abilene; Malt Dawson, Corsicana; Dick Walker, Fort Worth; Charles Koerne Jr., Waco; Ray Shirley, Crowley; Bob Gladney, Corsicana; Bill Allen, Waxahatchie; Carl Hill Jr., Amarillo; Dr. Silas Grant, Whitney; Jerry Johnson, Amarillo; Mangus Smith, McAllen; Dick Hatfield, Dallas; Frank Beck, Beaumont; Charles Gibson, Amarillo; Jack Welch, Brownsville; Esco Walter, Abilene; Ted Connell, Killean; George Hinson, Mineola; Charles McGregor, Waco; and Ray Chapman, Denton. "As loyal Democrats and as your former supporters in previous campaigns for governor, we hereby appeal to you to withdraw from the runoff campaign against Sen. Price Daniel," the statement began. "We are now supporting Sen. Price Daniel because he has clearly demonstrated that he will give Texas the type of sound, progressive government that will best serve the welfare of all our people. The Democrats of Texas, by giving him more than 620,000 votes in the first primary, have shown they have confidence in his integrity and ability."

Report Resignation

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Unofficial but usually reliable sources said today President Shukri Kuwailid resigned last night in an internal dispute.

CRMWD Board Authorizes Study Of Water For Midland

With the first phase of its original project virtually completed, the Colorado River Municipal Water District is looking to the future. Directors, meeting here Thursday, authorized studies for development of supplies which might be utilized at some time in the future if feasible and if needed. At the same time, the board decided to proceed with a study of the question of supplying water to Midland. Representatives from that city had asked earlier in the week that the CRMWD consider the possibility of such a study. R. T. Piner, board president, said that in the study stage no commitments would be involved. Also authorized was a study on whether it would be feasible to recharge Odessa city wells in slack periods—such as winter—and withdrawing the water subsequently during peaking periods. The position of lake superintendent was created, and E. V. Spence, general manager, announced that he would name R. A. Schooling, presently a member of the board, to that post, effective Aug. 15. The position embraces the direction of recreation, sanitation and rescue work at Lake J. B. Thomas and would carry with it an allowance of $400 per month, house and pickup truck. Schooling said that he planned to submit his resignation as a member of the board. This action came after H. W.

McKeon's Fate Now In Hands Of Military Board

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—The fate of Marine S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was submitted to a court-martial of six Marines and a Navy doctor at 12:37 p.m. today. McKeon's fate will be decided in the closely guarded classroom of the white frame grammar school at this training center. In its course, the trial made Marine history when seven stars worth of general came to the defense of the four-stripe sergeant. One general was the commandant, Randolph McCall Pate. The other was a crusty Marine hero, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller, who was called out of retirement. McKeon is charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty and in the presence of a recruit. If convicted on all counts, he could receive a maximum sentence of six years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge. The charges stemmed from a night disciplinary march, led by McKeon, of 74 recruits into the tide-swept Ribbon Creek marsh here April 8, where six drowned. The trial judge, Navy Capt. Irving N. Klein of New York City, instructed the panel on points of law this morning. The final summations were brief, requiring only 41 minutes. Maj. Charles B. Sevier of Jacksonville, Ill., prosecutor, held that McKeon was "just mad" when he led the recruits into the water. Defense attorney Emile Zola Bernan of New York City argued that the tragedy was the "result of panic and not lawlessness." In making his plea for acquittal, Bernan also contended McKeon would never have been brought to trial had it not been for "politics in high places—yes, even the halls of Congress—and mistakes in handling this matter." The thin, balding, hawk-nosed lawyer referred to the outcry in Congress immediately after the April 8 tragedy for an investigation of Marine training methods and the statement by Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, Marine commandant, that the Marine Corps itself was at trial. Bernan contended that McKeon was "technically guilty" of one of the highest traditions of the military service "when he ordered the recruits out for the night march. Further, he held that McKeon, at the head of the column, was not negligent because he was showing the way, step by step. Bernan admitted McKeon was "technically guilty" of one of the drinking charges—possessing alcohol in barracks. The New York attorney held, too, that McKeon was acting as had other drill instructors in the past in conducting a "hard, slugging march ... to take these boys and make them men." "The loss of these lives," said Bernan, "was due to panic. Panic can never be predicted or foreseen ... nor can its results be explained as in this case."

County Listed For More Highway Work

More than $3,000,000 worth of U. S. 80 freeway improvements in Howard County are listed in the State Highway Commission's selection of projects under the Federal Aid Highway Act. Mitchell County projects also are included. The commission proposes to allocate $2,211,000 for 11 grade separations and additional frontage roads along the freeway from two miles east of Big Spring to the Mitchell County line, and $1,079,000 for three grade separations and reconstruction of two lanes from Webb AFB to the Martin County line. In Mitchell County, the program calls for seven miles of freeway between Westbrook and Colorado City, frontage roads and six grade separations. An outlay of $2,043,000 is proposed for these projects. In addition, $4,401,000 is proposed for six grade separations and reconstruction of five miles of present two lanes; $904,000 for two grade separations and new front-

Marshall, Kilgore Girls Take Titles

LUFKIN (AP)—Two girls held preliminary titles today in the Miss Texas beauty contest. Miss Dorothy Hess, 19, of Marshall won the "Miss Swimsuit" title. Miss Priscilla Abshier, 19, of Kilgore, took home as "Miss Talent" in the evening judging. Fourteen girls competed.

Britain Preparing For Suez Trouble

ROCKET PLANE ACHIEVES NEW SPEED RECORD OF 1,900 M.P.H.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Air Force has set a new unofficial world speed record for airplanes of 1,900 miles an hour, but the Defense Department won't for the present allow the fact to be confirmed officially. Lt. Col. Frank K. Everest Jr., a 34-year-old West Virginian, flew the Bell X2 rocket plane four times as fast as a bullet travels—and close to three times the speed of sound—just last week, July 25, over the southern California desert near Edwards Air Force Base. This was 250 miles an hour faster than the 1,650 m.p.h. attained by Maj. Charles Yeager in a sister ship, the Bell X1A, Dec. 17, 1953. Everest was here attending the Air Force Assn. convention when the news of his achievement leaked out yesterday. The X2 is a multimillion-dollar flying laboratory, fitted with a quarter-ton of instruments to measure temperatures, fuel consumption, stresses and strains at extreme high speeds.

State Of Emergency Declared By Queen

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II tonight declared a state of "great emergency" in Britain in a proclamation calling some army reservists to the colors for possible use in the Suez Canal crisis. The royal proclamation published as a supplement to the London Gazette—official weekly chronical of the government—said: "The present state of public affairs and extent of demands of our military forces for the protection of the interests of the Commonwealth and Empire do in our opinion constitute a case of great emergency."

Dulles To Go On Radio, TV For Report To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will go on nationwide television and radio tonight to report on his London talks with the British and French on the Suez Canal crisis. Announcing this today, the White House said Dulles will be introduced for his 15-minute talk starting at 7 p.m., EDT, by President Eisenhower. The Dulles address will be carried live by the CBS and ABC television networks. NBC will film and record the talk for TV use at 7:30 p.m., EDT. Dulles, just back from London, said today he hopes the proposed 24-nation conference will produce a solution for the Suez crisis and avert "the danger of violence." Dulles said he would report promptly and fully to President Eisenhower on his emergency talks in London with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. Shortly before Dulles returned, Eisenhower had a 45-minute talk with Australian Prime Minister Menzies, who is here on an unofficial visit. Dulles flew to London Tuesday for the primary purpose of persuading British and French leaders to try diplomacy instead of force as a first step toward solving the problems created by Egypt's seizure of the canal a week ago. Officials here felt that the agreement he obtained for the 24-nation conference to be called in London Aug. 16 had reduced but by no means eliminated the danger of a Middle East war over the control of the canal.

Curtis-Wright Takes Over Studebaker-Packard Corp.

DETROIT (AP)—For all practical purposes Curtis-Wright Corp. now is in control of Studebaker-Packard Corp. Formal announcement of the final phases of a half-billion-dollar defense contract awarded to Curtis-Wright. Several top-level Studebaker-Packard executives already have left the corporation; a number of Curtis-Wright representatives are already busy in the S-P executive offices here. It is understood, but not admitted at the S-P offices, that the resignations of Paul G. Hoffman and James J. Nance as board chairman and president, respectively, of Studebaker-Packard have been tendered. It is also understood that Harold Churchill, vice president of Studebaker-Packard and general manager of Studebaker Division, is scheduled to become the president of S-P, with Ray Hurley, head of Curtis-Wright, as board chairman. The arrangement that would keep Studebaker-Packard in the auto business needs approval of S-P stockholders. It is estimated six weeks will be required to set up the machinery to get this approval. There is little question this approval will be given. The S-P shareholders have no alternative other than liquidation of their company. The defense contract involved in the arrangement between the Pioneer Aircraft Company and the auto company is for production of J57 airplane engines. Terms of the agreement are understood to closely follow previously published outlines. Curtis-Wright would operate S-P under a two-year management contract; it would get a 12-year lease on Studebaker-Packard facilities for $25 million dollars; and it would pay 10 million for S-P inventories, including steel and other materials.

Shows Dot Howard County

More evening thundershowers dampened scattered areas Thursday, accounting for sharply reduced rodeo attendance. In the vicinity of the rodeo grounds the rainfall amounted to 4 of an inch, a figure which held good on out as far west as the Wilkerson Ranch, according to a report from Bill McIlvain. There were light showers in the southwest part of the county, ranging from .4 of an inch at Elbow store to .3 of an inch in most other parts of the Elbow community and to the east side of Lomax community. Most of Lomax, however, got only .1 of an inch. The U. S. Experiment Farm measured only .23 of an inch on the north side of Big Spring, although one point on NW 11th Street reported .4 of an inch. Texas Electric Service switching station on the northeast edge had .06 but the plant on NE 2nd Street had 2 of an inch. Howard Payne reported 2 of an inch at his Fairview store, but Howard Newton, between Big Spring and Fairview, got only a trace. Texas Electric Service reported .06 of an inch at its Wildhorse Creek gauge and .03 on the O'Daniel ranch.

Butadiene Plant Will Be Expanded

PORT NECHES (AP)—The Neches Butane Products Co. plant, world's largest butadiene installation, will have a multimillion dollar expansion program which will increase its output by 50 per cent to 300,000 tons a year. Neches Butane is owned jointly by two chemical companies, each of which operates an adjacent synthetic rubber plant, drawing their raw materials from Neches butane. Neches recently de-annexed 100 acres of land adjoining the butane plant to be used as a site for the new unit. Cost of the expansion was reported then at 20 million dollars.

Navy Planes In Mid-Air Crash

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Two Navy training planes collided in the air about 10 miles west of Corpus Christi at 10:30 a.m. today. One flier was known dead, two were missing and one was critically injured. Debris from the planes fell over a wide area at the west edge of the city. There were no known civilian casualties, although a wing from one plane fell on a parked, unoccupied car. A Navy spokesman said the planes were AT28 training planes from Cabanis Field here.

Contract Signing Expected To Terminate Steel Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Steelworkers of America union announced today it would sign a contract with the U. S. Steel Corp. tonight. There was no new report on progress of Republic negotiations. Shortly before the Crucible signing was announced, a union spokesman said it seemed to him the companies were "shooting for" the first recall of workers by Monday. Earlier the same spokesman said the companies wanted to stage a signing ceremony either today or tomorrow. Basic settlement on the economic issues of the steel stoppage was reached last Friday. But individual contracts—38 in addition to Crucible—still must be initiated before some 650,000 steelworkers can get back to their jobs. Affected by the Crucible signing were 13,000 workers in four main plants: Midland and Pittsburg, Pa.; Harrison, N.J.; and Syracuse, N. Y. Bethlehem Steel, reporting much progress in negotiations, set a new session for 11 a.m. today. There was no new report on progress of Republic negotiations. Actress Considers Race For Governor

HOLLYWOOD — Actress Cleo Moore, 27, says she is thinking of running for governor of her native Louisiana in 1960 and becoming "a political Florence Nightingale."

"Any great politician has to be a great actor," she said.

If she's elected, she said she will seek more rights for women. "But all my right-hand men will be men," she added.

Weeks Is Now Forecasting 'Healthy Prosperity' In '57

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Weeks has changed his mind about a possible business slump in this quarter and now forecasts "healthy prosperity" into 1957.

Weeks said yesterday "the outlook is bright for a fresh bounce in business" and high employment during the rest of this year, adding:

"The prospect is a top-notch summer and fall. The recent steel strike did not upset the apple cart."

School Board Meet Advanced To Next Week

The Big Spring school board meeting, which would have occurred on Aug. 14, has been advanced to next Tuesday to coincide with opening of bids on general construction at the new football stadium.

Floyd Parsons, superintendent, announced the new meeting date Thursday.

Bids on the stadium work will be opened at 4 p.m. Tuesday. The board will go into its regular session immediately following study of the proposals.

The bids will be received until 4 p.m. on work including general construction, plumbing and electrical wiring for six ticket booths, two concession stands, two toilet buildings, a communications box and a pressbox. The proposals also will cover fencing, metal decking at the front of stands, pipe rails at gates and miscellaneous electrical work.

Trustees in regular session also are expected to devote additional study to the budget for the year starting Sept. 1, teacher contracts, the school expansion program and other subjects.

To 'Outfly' Insects

NEW YORK — The Transit Authority has come up with a fast solution to commuter complaints that mosquitoes are annoying them on Rockaway branch subway trains. The authority announced that Rockaway trains will increase their speed over a five-mile stretch of Jamaica, Queens, marshland and thus "outfly" the insects.

Jess Talkin

The prospect of getting cotton allotments raised for West Texas in 1957 doesn't look too bright, says Ralph White, president of the Howard County Farm Bureau.

The U. S. government has gone on record as favoring the two per cent reserve clause, but the Old Cotton Belt Association has been fighting for an eight or 10 per cent reserve. White says Congressman Bob Poage, who is a power on agricultural legislation, had expressed himself in favor of the two per cent, but has now changed his views. Or at least he isn't doing anything to help West Texas farmers.

The state ASC committee has power to shift the reserve cotton anywhere in the state. And with most of them living farther east, there is little doubt about which direction the cotton acreage goes. It won't be in the direction of the setting sun.

White says if the downstate interests get what they want, the farmers out this way might have their acreage reduced another five per cent next year. He said most farmers in West Texas would be willing to make a quick settlement on what they get this year, because when it comes to a contest between West and East Texas, the heavy votes are back east. Still more important, four of the state committee live in East Texas. The fifth one lives in the Panhandle where cotton isn't raised, so he doesn't say much either way.

West Texas dairymen are due to get an increase of 26 cents per hundredweight for raw milk. This was announced by R. P. Mayfield, Dawson County dairy owner who is also a director in a West Texas dairy association.

D. C. Buchanan of Big Spring said the raise seemed assured, but Mayfield didn't know just when it would start. Dairymen got a slight raise several months ago, but say operating expenses are gradually increasing and they still can't make any real profit.

Feed prices are jumping a little every few weeks. Maize has been going up every since last fall and alfalfa hay is getting higher. Another hardship that local dairymen face is that no one has much pasture. They didn't get enough rain or sudan, and the outlook for putting up silage this fall is not too promising.

Farmland in the old Cuable community missed out on the rains this year. Most fields are bare, with little hope of getting a rain in time to establish a cover.

Jack Wilcox says there is nothing on his fields but Johnson grass and he is having a hard time keeping it alive.

"If it rains, I'll try to get some thing else growing," he said. "I'll plant whatever kind of seed is cheapest."

Some of the best wells in West Texas are on the Curry farms east of Garden City. Jerry Curry has two wells that are pumping 500 and 900 gallons. James Curry has one well that puts out 1,850 gallons a minute and another on a sprinkler system that flows 1,000 gallons.

C. C. Baggett of Big Spring visited the farms recently and says James Curry's cotton already has two bales to the acre made and will likely produce three bales.

About two years ago the Curry's irrigated some hegit that threshold several tons to the acre. The wells are located on the benchland near a creek.

Some drought feed is being sold in Glasscock County, but sales have dropped quite a bit, said Sam Woods, who works for a feed store. Most ranchers have sold off so many sheep that not many are left to feed. A few are still buying grain cubes.

Woods says he has been around Garden City for several years and people have been talking a drought all that time. Most of them think ranges are in worse condition than ever before, according to Woods.

There is no secret to barbecuing beef, says Nate Allen, who has probably cooked more steers than most ranchers own. In fact, he doesn't even have a recipe for it. He just starts out using a dab of this and a sprinkle of that and never does it twice the same way. Usually he makes a sauce using mustard and mustard for a base and adds other ingredients as he goes along.

"Sometimes it depends on the meat," he said, "whether the beef is fat or lean or how old the animals are. Some people claim they have a secret process for barbecue, but anyone can buy these sauces and mix them."

Allen may just throw things together like a woman cooking for 10 kids, but no one ever complains about it. Whenever a public barbecue is held, you can nearly always find him hovering around the barbecue pit keeping an eye on things.

One thing he doesn't like about barbecuing is the manners of the crowd. Some people act as if this is the last meal they will get for two weeks. A woman comes through the line holding out two plates and stands till the man at the table piles on enough meat for three people.

Usually she says one plate is for her husband or children, or maybe an old uncle who is too sick to leave the car. Quite often uncle is just three paces behind her, not only strong enough to elbow into the line but hungry enough to eat the rear half of a Brhama steer. And he is also holding a plate in either hand.

Women are no worse than the men, and with such an example set before them, the kids will also try to live it up at one meal. Most people are nice enough, but there are always a few who carry off enough meat to last till Sunday.

"I like to see people eat hearty," said Allen. "Most of them do know how to act. But there's always a few who could make things nicer by improving their manners."

Hot Drive Looms In Governor Race

AUSTIN (AP)—A blistering runoff campaign for governor is in prospect if candidates Ralph Yarborough and Price Daniel keep up the hot, fast pace set in speeches to their organization workers yesterday.

Several hundred political leaders from both camps met in sessions separated by less than 200 feet of hotel corridor to hear the rivals accuse each other of not sticking to the truth in the first primary.

They both claimed their first races were cleanly conducted, and both warned their workers that they should be on the alert for new outpourings of abuse and personalities before the second primary Aug. 25.

Originally billed as closed strategy meetings, the sessions were thrown open to the press for part of the time.

Daniel said that Yarborough's charge that he had held a secret midnight meeting with Gov. Shivers at the governor's mansion was a "big lie." This came a few minutes after Yarborough had repeated the charge that the two had met to make a political deal.

Yarborough challenged Daniel to meet him in a debate on campaign issues on an Aug. 14 date offered by the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce. Daniel turned it down, saying he would debate anyone who would "stick to the truth" but that he would not debate Yarborough.

Daniel sought to make it clear that Gov. Shivers had no connection with his effort to win the governorship.

He did not mention Shivers by name, saying: "I wish everybody would let me run my own race. This is Price Daniel running this campaign. I have not sought anybody's help. I'm not being run by anybody's political machine."

Yarborough told his campaign workers that he expected to face "a smear and fear" campaign in the runoff. He said it was the same type of campaign that was used against him by Gov. Shivers in their 1954 contest.

He charged that Daniel was making "false charges" that farmers and ranchers would be unionized if he (Yarborough) was elected. Daniel said that attorneys of the CIO, whom he did not name, had made "direct threats" to his office in Washington saying the labor organization would redouble its efforts against him.

Daniel has said that he was campaigning against such "outside interests" as the CIO and the NAACP seeking to take over the Democratic Party and government in Texas.

Yarborough outlined his campaign platform, especially his demand for a $30 a month increase in old age pensions, and a soil and water-saving plan that would call for construction of 100 new dams.

Airliner Pulls 'Stork Duty'

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A pretty doctor's wife was on a non-stop airline flight to Boston from Houston yesterday to have her twin babies, but nature decided the birth certificates should be issued here.

For a while, at least, it looked as if the certificates might read "aboard an Eastern Air Lines plane at 14,000 feet."

The big airliner, a Golden Falcon, pulled "stork" duty when it put down at Lovell Field to enable Mrs. Jean McGill, 33, to give birth to a boy weighing 6 pounds 1 ounce and a girl, 5 pounds 11 ounces. All were reported doing fine at a hospital.

Mrs. McGill, wife of Capt. Douglas McGill Sr., a Boston physician now on Army duty at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., was en route to her home at Boston with her son Doug Jr., 16 months, to await birth of the twins.

After Mrs. McGill told stewardesses of the imminent event, Capt. H. E. James, the pilot, radioed here asking for an ambulance and to "have some boiling water ready."

The expectant mother walked to the ambulance and delivered her twins 20 minutes after the airliner hit the runway.

Words, Words—Hollow Words

In Hungary the country's chief prosecutor told Parliament this week that thousands of people had been imprisoned or executed unjustly in that country under Communist rule. He added that "socialist legality will never again be violated in the future."

In the next breath he warned that nobody would be allowed to incite against the Communist system.

In East Germany some government functionaries have been restored to party respectability after being kicked out. In Poland the party's Central Committee broadcast a promise of democratization and higher living standards — soon after Soviet Premier Bulganin visited the country. By an odd coincidence, Hungary's announcement of milder rule followed a visit by First Deputy Premier Mikoyan of the Soviet Union.

These promises of more freedom and better living conditions are part of the "new look" in the Kremlin, a follow-up to the denunciation of Stalin, and confessions of past sins in dealing with the people. Until the "new look" began no official in any Communist country had so much as tolerated the mere suggestion that Communist "justice" had ever committed any atrocities, though the free world knew of them and so must have millions of people in Communist lands.

The Communist masters could not very well promise an easing up on injustices and atrocities without confessing their existence. In spite of the confessions of "error" — not in Communist doctrine, but in Communist practice — the half has not been told, and the half never will be known.

The confessions and the promises are aimed at their own people and at the free world, both. The people who suffer under communism know how hollow the promises are, but a great many thoughtless people in the free world may be taken in by the smiles and the soft words.

The promises, the smiles and the soft words are just as much weapons of Communist conquest as the tanks, the warplanes and the guided missiles.

Stevenson Stock On The Boom

Big news on the national Democratic front is Estes Kefauver's decision to abandon his contest for the presidential nomination and come out flatly for Adlai Stevenson.

This gave rise to two widely-held conclusions. The first was that Kefauver's withdrawal, if not his pronouncement in favor of the front-runner, made Adlai's nomination on the first ballot at Chicago a near cinch. The second was that there had been a deal to nominate the Tennesseean for the vice presidency.

Whether there was a deal or not a great number of people will think so, regardless of anything the principals may say. Only what takes place at the convention can settle this point conclusively.

From a crass political standpoint a Stevenson-Kefauver ticket could make sense to party bigwigs. While Southern conservatives, as well as party leaders generally, do not like Kefauver, he does have a wide appeal among liberals in other parts of the country — and to win, the ticket must satisfy the Northern liberal elements.

Stevenson has shown surprising strength in the South, thanks to his "moderation" in contrast to Kefauver and Harriman's free-wheeling liberalism, especially on civil rights issues. Conservative Democrats, and particularly Southerners, would prefer Stuart Symington to Kefauver but a Stevenson-Symington ticket would have less appeal to the liberals, and without the liberal vote the ticket could not win.

Kefauver said he had made no deals with anyone and he was not a candidate for the vice presidency. Stevenson also said there had been no deal.

The Keef's statement was calm, pacific, and devoid of "sour grapes" implications. It was marked with seeming humility.

Stevenson quickly declared he was pleased with Kefauver's "gracious and spontaneous expression of his support." The Tennesseean's 164.5 convention votes won't all fall into Adlai's lap, but the bulk of them probably will. Stevenson has 371 first-ballot votes, and it takes 686.5 to nominate. Barring the unexpected, it looks now like a Stevenson victory before the end of the first roll call is reached.

Ships Must Go Through The Suez

WASHINGTON — "The ships must go through!" That's the word Secretary of State Dulles, at the behest of President Eisenhower, has carried to the London conference on the seizure of the Suez Canal.

But Nasser has already retreated. He has decided to accept checks instead of cash for tolls. That means the argument over who ultimately gets the proceeds of the checks and when is something that an international tribunal or a court somewhere will have to decide in due time.

If, however, there is a seizure of a British or French or American ship and a forced interference with passage through the canal, the naval units of Britain and America will take whatever action may be required to obtain their release or to assure their continuous passage through the canal.

The United States is as anxious as Britain and France to avoid anything that could involve a war and certainly will issue plenty of words of caution to the conferees in London about taking any precipitate action. The immediate task of Mr. Dulles is to make sure the ships keep going through the canal because, if oil from the Arab countries is shut off, it might mean that gas rationing would have to be under official consideration here in the United States two or three weeks hence.

The gravity of the whole situation, therefore, can hardly be defined because there are so many turns for the worse that the friction with Egypt could take. For one thing, the temperamental Nasser may commit acts of desperation to steady his own internal position, which could be weakened if international tension increased.

There are also some psychological factors to be considered. The United States has tried to steer a middle position as between those who have "colonial" roots and those who have had none in the middle East.

Just as happened at the time of the crisis in Iran, the United States does not want to be placed in the position of opposing the principle of nationalization. At the same time the canal property, it is recognized, has various foreign owners and a vital seaway is involved. If someone else besides Nasser were at the helm at Cairo, the attitude of the major nations would be different. The danger of a blockade of a strategic waterway has often been discussed by military men, but it was not believed that Nasser would threaten such a closure and take the bold course he has just adopted.

The argument in London is that a show of force and firmness is essential lest the whole Middle East situation crumble. America is faced with an entirely different problem. Here everything has been on the peaceful side. For one thing, Congress has just gone home. There is not treaty obligation at stake which has to be met by the executive branch of the government under specific provisions already approved by Congress, as is so often the case in similar situations.

Mr. Eisenhower does not wish to act alone. If the crisis gets to the point where he must take military steps, he will ask Congress for the necessary power. The expectation, however, is that the whole matter will drift along for months in an effort to find some legal process of adjudicating the claims to the funds and that the ships will go through the canal in the meantime.

Only some untoward act by the Egyptian government, therefore, now can bring on a military climax of any kind. The western allies will not take the initiative.

Information available here indicates that the Egyptians are well aware of the legal tangles and the fact that they will not get money to build the Aswan Dam unless there is an equitable settlement of the whole problem of ownership of the Suez Canal. This controversy could drag on for a long time, as did the Iranian affair which Mossadeq stirred up.

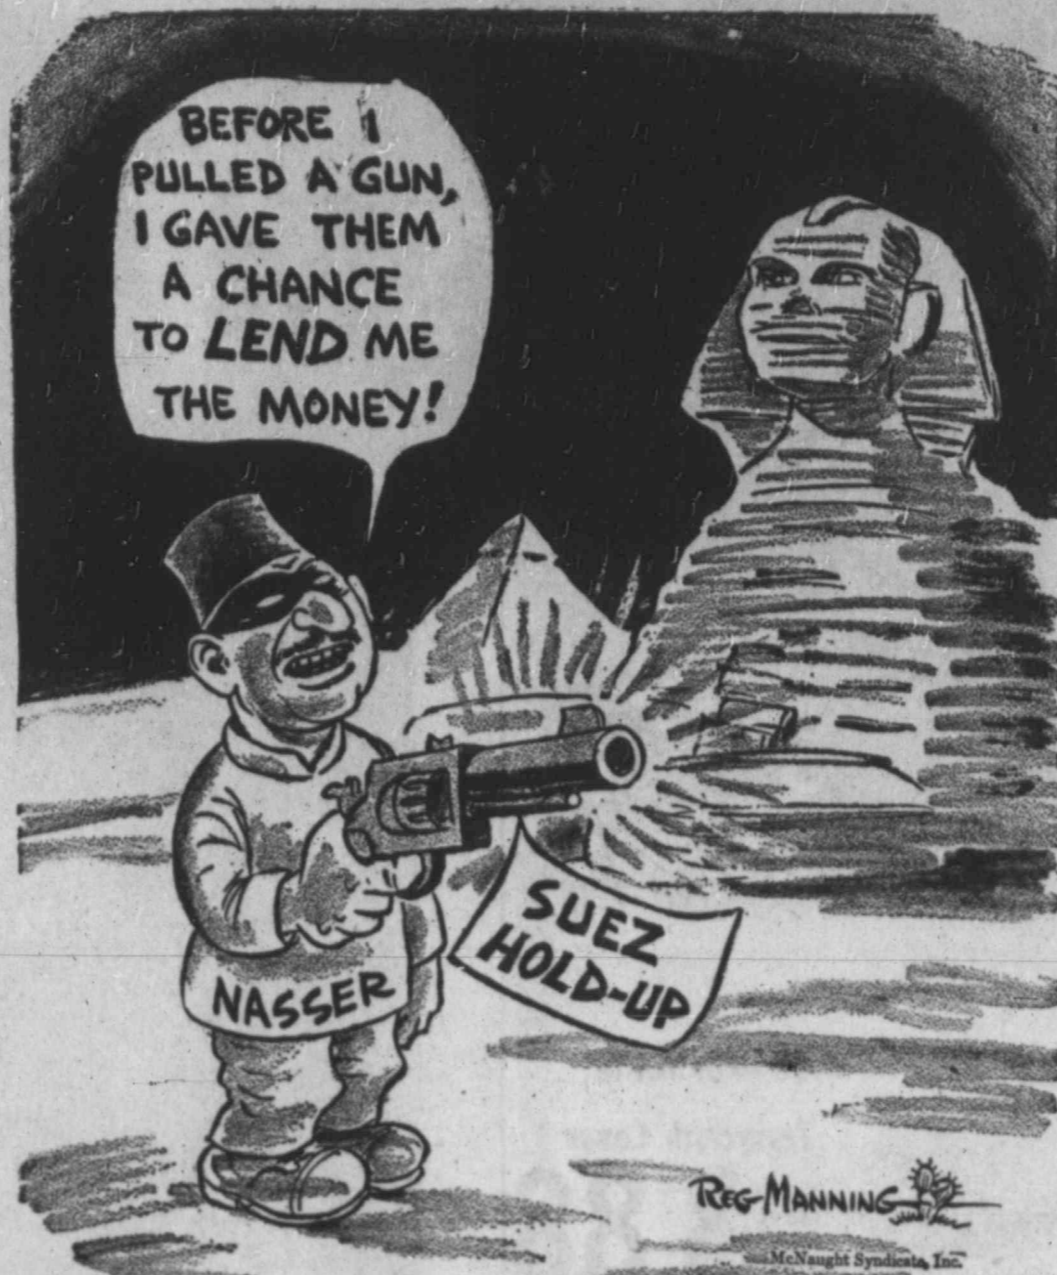

Nervousness over the outcome is manifest not merely in Washington and London but in Moscow. The Communists could, of course, needle Nasser into further complications with the West. It is noted here that a grave situation on the border of Burma has been precipitated by the Communist Chinese at this particular moment. The State Department is deeply concerned over the sudden change in Red China's attitude. There is puzzlement as to how India's Nehru and the other South-east Asia countries now are going to react to the renewed use of force by the Chinese Communists after all the recent professions of peaceful purpose. It is a dangerous time in the "cold war."

U.S.-Egypt Story Is Tangled

WASHINGTON (AP)—This country's dealings with Egypt are a tangled story in which the United States looks slow and stumbling and Egypt's new strong man President Gamal Abdel Nasser looks like a bullyboy on horseback.

The story revolves around two things which got jumbled together: Nasser's request to this country for arms and for money to build a high dam at Aswan to give Egypt irrigation and power.

This country had a natural, and not unselfish, reason for wanting the best possible links with Egypt after Nasser, an army colonel, and a group of fellow officers threw out King Farouk in 1952.

It wanted to keep Communist influence out of Egypt and the Middle East. It has given Egypt 117 million dollars in economic aid.

Nasser could have kept himself fully busy trying to lift Egypt out of illiteracy and poverty. Instead, he seemed to fancy himself as a man of destiny, leader not only of Egypt but of the entire Arab world. He talked anti-Western. To some extent this could be understood. Egypt only recently got out from under British domination.

He needed money for the dam to make good on his promises that he would improve and modernize Egypt. It was the big point in his reform program. If he didn't get the money somewhere, his days as Egypt's No. 1 man might be numbered.

He wanted the arms, he said, for defense against Israel. The last thing the United States wanted was an arms race or a war in the Middle East. Year after year it stalled on giving Egypt arms.

It was only after the United States saw that Nasser wasn't bluffing when he said he'd buy arms from the Communists that it said it would help out with money for the dam. Nasser had threatened to get money for the dam from Russia if this country didn't come across.

Early this year United States and Britain said they'd give Egypt

70 million dollars toward building the dam and might lend her an additional 130 million. The World Bank, which had been talking with Egypt for years about the dam, chimed in by saying it would lend 200 million dollars.

Early in July the Senate Appropriations Committee told the Eisenhower administration not to use any of the foreign aid money voted this year to help Egypt build its dam.

Finally, fed up with Nasser and under pressure at home and abroad, the administration withdrew its loan offer to Nasser. The overheated Nasser seized the Suez Canal.

Elvis Presley A National Blessing?

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

There is a saying that times of great ordeal create great heroes. If this is true, Elvis Presley may be the unrecognized hero of America's greatest present need — someone to restore sex to its proper perspective.

Presley, the Caruso of the teenage crowd, is a young former truck driver, known by both his admirers and detractors as "Elvis the Pelvis." Many music critics say Presley's lusty caterwauling is away below par.

Elvis is perhaps even more renowned for his hip wiggles, than his vocal cords, and these have brought him denunciations from ministers and parents, who say his wiggles are too "suggestive."

But Presley's charms, whatever they are, have brought him four Cadillac cars and an annual income greater than that of the president of the United States, who, of course, can't even play a guitar.

Personally, I can't see this honest but rich young Tennessee minstrel as a national calamity. He may, indeed, turn out to be a national blessing.

And for a very simple reason. Elvis undoubtedly will give rise to a crop of imitators. And anybody who imitates his inspired writhings is bound to make sex look ridiculous.

This is badly needed, not only in America but in much of the rest of the world.

Civilization has gone off its rocker in the matter of a misplaced emphasis on sex.

We don't live in the atomic era. We live in the "sexbomb" age. A "sexbomb," in the entertainment world, is a performer who gets by on animal allure rather than on artistic merit.

Such performers are enjoying a wide vogue at present among the noncritical public.

This is the public that thinks beauty is a quality that can be measured by a tape.

This is the public to whom sex has become a travesty. It is the public that believes a man can win the girl of his choice if only he uses the right kind of hair tonic, and gets ahead in his job if he uses the right kind of underarm deodorant. It is the public that believes the way to a man's heart can be won by any girl if she uses the right kind of lipstick, the right dentifice or goes to the right charm school.

Until now women have dominated the "sexbomb" field. Elvis Presley is the first to show it can also be a male industry.

This should bring the season of the "sexbomb" to a finale. After Elvis, nobody could make anything of sex but a comedy.

You Don't Always Have To Call The Boss

It's just a thought . . . But, why do customers always ask for the boss when they want something?

It would not be so absurd if the boss could do it all, but five times out of 10, he will turn the problem over to someone else immediately.

It must be human nature — or lack of confidence in anyone else. It's a compliment for the manager, but it definitely is a slam on the subordinates.

Whether it be an auto to be repaired, a pair of shoes to be purchased, a bill to be paid, or a complaint to be lodged, it has to be the boss that is bothered. More than not, the head man is busy on something much more important and has to interrupt his business to hear a trouble that may not personally be under his control.

In fact, he probably turned that problem over to a member of his staff months previously.

Big Spring's city manager, H. W. Whitney — for just one example — is in such a spot. Citizens call for the city manager when they want their water cut off (goes to the water department); they call him when they want the dog catcher (why not call the dog catcher); they call him when garbage has not been picked up (try the garbage crew).

This is in addition to the compliments coming to him when a water bill is too high. It's just human nature to think the boss is the one to see. I guess they think the city manager will pick up their garbage himself or run out and catch that loose dog in their neighborhood.

People do not stop to think of the time they would save by calling the department they need or ask to speak to anyone who could help them. (This also applies to the newspaper business.)

They don't consider the minutes they waste waiting to talk to the big wheel (he is always on the other telephone) or the time it takes to repeat the same information to the person who will give you service.

When finally our "model" citizen is turned over to the right person, he will inform the subordinate to check with the manager if he needs any help.

The boss always knows our "friend's" car, or their trouble, where they live, how they like their steaks, or what kind of story they want. And personally, "the boss is the only one who can effectively help me."

But when you reverse the picture — They will complain, gripe, and worry for hours when a customer walks into their establishment and asks for the boss, when they are the ones handling that category.

—DON HENRY

Sanctions The Answer On The Suez Issue

The timetable indicates that President Nasser has for some time had in his mind that he might seize the Suez Canal, and that a plan for doing it had almost certainly been prepared before the recent crisis over the Aswan Dam. Only about a week elapsed between Mr. Dulles' interview with the Egyptian Ambassador, withdrawing the offer to help finance the Dam, and the seizure of the Canal. It is hard to believe that the seizure, which required a series of coordinated action, was improvised suddenly in a few days.

So many Egyptian officials had to do so many different things so quickly that there must have existed a carefully prepared plan.

Indeed, it now seems very probable that when President Nasser sent his Ambassador in Washington to the State Department to accept the previous offer to help finance the Dam, he already knew that London and Washington had decided to withdraw the offer.

From the autumn of last year to the late spring of this year, his prestige at home and in the Arab world were very great, in the main because he seemed to have both sides in the cold war bidding for his favor. The symbol of that favor was the underwriting of the Dam at Aswan, and once Nasser realized that there might be no bidders, his position at home and in the Arab world was in desperate danger. It was then, it would seem, that he made ready to cover the failure of the Aswan Dam project by precipitating an international crisis over the Suez Canal.

This view is supported, it seems to me, by the sheer demagoguery of his claim that by nationalizing the Suez Canal, the Egyptian government is now able to build the Dam without foreign aid. The profits of the Suez Canal Company, even if all of them were available to the Egyptian government, fall far short of what would be needed each year for the Dam. They could not all be available if the Egyptian government were to make good its promise to buy out the shareholders in the Suez Company. Furthermore, all this does not take into account the effect upon the Egyptian financial economy of sanctions which may be taken by the Western powers. The Western nations, in taking their decisions, will have to assume that the Suez Canal is not to only trump which Nasser had up his sleeve. In all probability the plan for the seizure of the Canal is only one in a series of plans prepared by Nasser and the revolutionary leaders of the Arab world. All of them, we must suppose, are aimed at the liquidation of Western power and influence in North Africa and the Middle East.

There would seem to be three lines of policy open to the West. One is to accept the seizure of the Canal, and to hope that Nasser will be quiet for a while. A second is to resist him with judicial and economic sanctions designed to bring about his downfall. A third is to resist him with sanctions designed to bring about a negotiated settlement in which the international character of the Canal would be recognized.

The first course, acceptance of the seizure, is really impossible in that it would invite, indeed provoke, widespread imitation of Nasser's triumph in humiliating the West. We would have to expect to see the nationalization of pipe lines, oil fields, and installations all over the Middle East. Nasser would not only get the prestige and the profits of his coup but he would have good reason for believing that it is now safe to carry out the other strokes to eliminate the West.

Both the other courses call for the use of sanctions — whether the aim be to overthrow Nasser or to compel him to negotiate. The sovereign rule about sanctions — which the experience of a generation has taught us — is that they must not be used at all unless they are used deliberately and resolutely. There is no use toying with sanctions, no use dabbling with them. Sanctions are not war, but sanctions have the same objective as war, and they should be taken as seriously.

This would lead one to think, it seems to me, that since it is necessary to resist Nasser, the object of the sanctions should not be the recovery of the Western position in the Suez Canal but an international regime for the Canal, preferably under the aegis of the United Nations.

A Citizen Stands On Her Rights

MR. W. H. Kuntze, District Operations Manager, Post Office Department, Regional Operations, District Office, Newark, N. J.

My Dear Mr. Kuntze:

Well, sir, this must certainly be the slack season in the postal dodge. Lots more leisurely days until Christmas, eh, when you really have to knuckle down and tote that barge, lift that mail?

Time must hang heavy, indeed, when you and the Post Office Department refuse to bring pressure on a citizen to change the color of her mailbox from yellow to "the white or aluminum color" preferred by you and the P.O.

Your letter of July 27, addressed to me at Wild Cat Farm, hard by Flemington, N. J., is at hand, making a plea to my better nature to whitewash the box.

Mr. Kuntze, flattery will get you no place since (1) I am fresh out of better nature and (2) the velvet glove of your rhetoric does not quite conceal your iron hand. Or should I say "mangled fist"?

Leave us, in the words of the late, great Al Smith, review the record. The mailbox, whose color so offends you and the U. S. Post Office Department, was bought and paid for by me, and stands firm and foursquare on property bought by me eight years ago with the blood, sweat, tears and toil of the newspaper profession.

The box is in excellent condition, is bedded firmly on a sturdy post, and is obviously at the right height for the convenience of the mailman. And my name, as required, is neatly lettered on the box in darkest green.

You also accuse me of the dastardly crime of having "a green signal flag" on the box, instead of the red flag demanded by postal regulations. This flag is as red — to satisfy your regulations — as any that flies over the Kremlin. Go stand in a corner, Mr. Kuntze.

If I get no comfort from this instance of petty, bureaucratic tyranny, there is at least comfort in one obvious deduction, Mr. Kuntze. And that is the inescapable conclusion that the world crisis cannot be nearly as serious as it appears.

Because if we were in an ever-deepening world crisis, surely the great power and majesty of the United States government could find a more worthy outlet for its energies than the harassment of a law-abiding, taxpaying citizen over the color of her mailbox.

In this country, I always thought we were against the regimentation of the citizen in matters both great and small, and I am going to continue to believe this until the Post Office Department refuses to put mail in that yellow box, as was threatened in the previous communication from the department.

Surely, Mr. Kuntze, there must be important work to do in the Post Office Department, even in summer — such as persuading the employes not to jump up and down in hobnail boots on all parcel post packages, eh?

Or go fly a kite until Christmas!

Planning Pays

For Poultrymen

CORVALLIS, Ore. — Earnings of poultrymen range from a low of 21 cents an hour to a high of $2.35, and the difference says an Oregon State College publication, is the efficiency of planning.

The average labor return is put at $1.17. M. H. Becker, agricultural economist at the college, wrote the booklet entitled "Egg Production Costs and Returns in Western Oregon." It discusses wise use of labor, amount of feed needed, egg production per layer, value of different breeds and use of pullets vs. old hens.

Lamesa Votes Saturday On School Bonds

LAMESA — Voters of the Lamesa School District, in a three-way election, will decide Saturday whether Lamesa will:

1. Adopt Senate Bill 166 as a means of school financing.
2. Approve the SB 116 method of dividing the tax rate between local maintenance and debt service, and
3. Issue $200,000 in tax bonds to construct additional classrooms.

All residents of the district who have paid their poll taxes will be entitled to vote on the first proposition. Those holding poll taxes and with property on the Dawson County tax roll may vote on each of the first two proposals. Otherwise qualified voters with property on the school tax roll are entitled to vote on all three.

C. W. Tarter, school superintendent, has outlined the school needs and provisions of the new school financing statute in talks before five civic clubs during the past week.

Tarter said that persons favoring the bond issue should vote yes on all three questions, and that those who oppose should vote no on all three. The school superintendent said that unless the issue passes some of the schools will probably be on a half-day basis at least part of the year.

He quoted the school census to show that, in addition to the new classrooms needed at Blackhear Elementary, at least one additional room is needed at both North and Central Elementary Schools, and a new vocational agriculture shop is a "must" at Lamesa High School.

The school business office will be the only polling place.

Nonfat Foods Make Diets Less Dreary
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — So you're on a diet? Well, cheer up, folks; it was a lot worse 20 years ago. These days, you can have your cake — and eat it too.

This, in substance, is the message being spread by some 500 producers and purveyors of specialized foods, assembled here for the 18th convention of the National Dietary Foods Assn.

A sizeable industry has grown from the fact that dieting once was but needn't be, a very dreary chore. Nonfattening foods used to be plain foods. Canned diet foods, packed in water, formerly had all the flavor of an old paper napkin.

The result: monotony sent the dieter's morale plummeting along with his weight.

Dieting still isn't exactly fun, as this fat reporter can attest. But modern processing methods and a wide array of sugar substitutes now offer a new interest in life for many a calorie counter.

Almost all the things once denied a dieter were on display at the convention yesterday — in very special form. Chocolate nougats, for instance. Protein value high, caloric value (19 apiece) low.

There is a very passable butter substitute made from soy oil. Like Jelly? Any flavor you can think of, one calorie per spoonful. Dietetic mayonnaise, once pretty pasty, tastes much better now, at 10 calories per spoonful.

You don't even have to give up pie. Low calorie fruit fillings come in cans, with dietetic mixes to make the crust.

Sugar-free chewing gum and lollipops are big sellers, delegates say.

Most cakes and cookies are for skinny people, but there are a few for us chubby fellows too, at 19 calories each.

One is made from "orange flour," the true name of which is protopsectin, an appetite appeaser found in the skins and pulp of citrus fruits. The citrus industry now produces protopsectin as a by-product.

Adlai Ponders

Adlai Stevenson appears to be in serious thought as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt listens and fingers her ring as they talk at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York at a fund-raising dinner by prominent New York Democratic supporters of Stevenson. Stevensen quipped, that if elected, "I hope to return to the general welfare of the country and not to General Motors." (AP Wirephoto).

Cambodia Capital, Center Of Sin, Spies, Is Booming

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodia's dusty capital is rapidly becoming one of Asia's centers for Communist spies and a rival to any city in the world for sin. Both fields are wide open, and Phnom Penh is making the most of them.

You can get a pipe of opium in the city's swankiest opium den for 25 cents. It's much cheaper in the joints where the working men hang out.

Spies lurk everywhere. All a foreigner need do is sit in the bar of any hotel. In a short time a Communist agent or contact man is at his elbow.

All this is comparatively new to Cambodia. It results from South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh diem's crackdown on vice in the neighboring state. Saigon's vice lords moved west with their taxi dancers. The madams moved their bawdy houses here.

The spy ring has grown considerably since King Norodom Sihanouk abdicated in March 1955 in favor of his father and became the country's leading exponent of neutralism.

One spy, openly employed by a neutral country, is seen frequently in the company of any new Red Chinese or Communist Vietnam who shows up. He usually shepherds them or Communist correspondents, including Russian, to the vice haunts of Phnom Penh.

Since Prince Norodom went to Peiping and returned with movies of his trip, Cambodian leanings toward Red China have become more pronounced. Red Chinese aid, supplementing the help given Cambodia by the United States, is expected to total 23 million dollars this year.

A marked coolness — including border closures in some instances — has been shown to neighboring Thailand and South Viet Nam, both of which have American support.

Harriman Hits 'Moderation' Of Stevenson, Eisenhower

The Associated Press
Gov. Averell Harriman loosed a new blast last night at the kind of "moderation" embraced by Adlai Stevenson, declaring that it will lead to defeat for the Democrats in November.

The New York governor assailed President Eisenhower too, saying he had broken his 1952 promises and followed a middle-of-the-road path which Harriman termed "a roadblock to progress."

Among the Republicans, Harold E. Stassen said he will persevere in his campaign to have the GOP National Convention nominate Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts as Eisenhower's running mate. Herter's statement that he will not mate.

Outwardly undaunted by consent to having his name placed before the convention, Stassen said his consistent position has been that Herter "must be drafted" as a replacement for Vice President Nixon.

Herter will not consent to having his name put before the San Francisco convention in competition with "my friend Dick Nixon," since he has agreed to put Nixon's name in nomination.

He conceded he could not bar any of the delegates from putting up his name, however, saying they "are free, white and 21."

Harriman did not name Stevenson in addressing a $50-a-plate dinner at Albany, but he obviously had in mind the 1952 nominee's call for moderation in approaching major issues of the 1956 campaign when he said:

"There are some who advise us to take it easy—who talk about moderation as the spirit of the times. For my part, as governor of New York — and as a Democrat — I reject these counsels. They are the counsels of defeat."

Stevenson has challenged what he calls Harriman's logical heir to the principles of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

And last night Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Stevenson backer, told the New York Times that the former Illinois governor "supports the basic principles underlying the general attitude of the Democratic party, and they are the general approach of my husband and Mr. Truman."

Stevenson later was Mrs. Roosevelt's dinner guest at Hyde Park, N.Y.

Harriman disputed how that state's 64-vote delegation will split at the Democratic convention opening at Chicago a week from Monday.

The Harriman camp claimed it will have from 10 to 15 first-ballot votes from Illinois, but a campaign aide said Stevenson will not lose more than 6 or 8, if any, of the state's votes.

Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky said at Columbia, S.C., that he "picked up some very important support" after withdrawal from the race this week of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Kefauver asked his backers to support Stevenson.

In Tennessee's Democratic primary — the equivalent of election — Representatives Ross Bass and Percy Priest won renomination handily yesterday. Two Republican and five other Democratic House members were renominated without opposition.

More Liberal Credit To Stockmen Is Promised

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas livestockmen were assured by Agriculture Department officials there will be a liberal extension of regulations to permit more substantial federal credit, Jim Lindsay of Del Rio said yesterday.

Lindsay, representing the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn., was one of several who conferred yesterday about the drought situation.

Lindsay said the federal aid extension would allow more credit to those who have already borrowed under the program.

"We were assured," he said, "that any livestock man who remains on his land and does the best he can won't have to worry about being foreclosed on a mortgage when the time for settlement of his loan has arrived."

Lindsay said he and Rep. Fisher (D-Tex) were told the department is considering whether livestock growers might get some protein feed under a price discount program now in effect only on grains held as surplus stock by the Commodity Credit Corp.

Ex-Slave Celebrates Town's Birthday

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Hannah Davidson, who claims to be 113, is back home to watch this city celebrate its 100th birthday.

The trip here from Toledo, Ohio, brought back vivid memories to the tiny, white-haired woman, born a slave in Ballard County, Ky.

"Miss Hannah," a widow since 1918, still cooks and sews without the aid of glasses. One of her hobbies is making quilts for the three of her seven children still living.

Her long life, she says, "has nothing to do with what you eat or drink. I've tried to serve God and be good to everybody. I guess I still have the Lord's work to do."

Problem With Hair

Laurie Carroll is a new singing star getting her start on various CBS-TV shows from Hollywood. Her naturally curly hair is her greatest beauty problem.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Singer's Curly Hair Represents Problem

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Though Laurie Carroll studies opera with a coach several times a week she is very happy to be singing popular songs on various television shows. When I visited backstage at CBS Television City, I overheard someone complimenting Laurie on her trim figure.

"I had such a time," she told me later, "trying to reduce my hips. I swam, went horseback riding and tried dieting. My hips didn't change much but I lost weight in my face and upper chest — the very places I didn't want to lose. So now I go to a reducing salon. I just lie on a table and the vibrations from the reducing machine do the work. I have gone for just 17 weeks and have already lost more than four inches from my thighs."

"I never realized how much my hips needed reducing until I saw myself on TV. I was ready to give up my career. I kept musing to myself, 'Is that ME?'"

"And I didn't realize how unbecoming my hair looked. It was cut in the Italian style and I knew this had to go. I started letting it grow. After it got long, I wore it in a pony tail, sometimes straight back or let it hang loose in a long bob. When I was signed for this show the producer suggested that I have it cut, and I am happy with it this way."

"My hair," Laurie confessed, "is a great problem because it is naturally curly. I am not to be envied. It's much better to put up your hair to give it curl than to try to get curly hair in a smooth sleek hairdo. Sometimes mine gets so dry and wild that I can do nothing about it. I envy girls who have straight hair and can wear any style."

"They say the grass is always greener . . ." I remarked. "At least you won't have to worry how to keep your husband from seeing you in pincurls."

"That is true," Laurie agreed. "I have been told I am too critical of myself. I am working now to make myself more relaxed, not to have so much anxiety that I won't please."

"Acquiring self-confidence and poise is difficult at times. It hasn't been easy for me. Gradually I am learning to be at ease with people," said Laurie with finality.

Laurie has just celebrated her 21st birthday.

"Be patient," I said in parting. "Poise and self-confidence come with growing up."

Carmen Wellf Becomes Bride Of Mr. Caraway

In a twilight ceremony Thursday evening at the First Baptist Church, Carmen Wellf exchanged wedding vows with Charles Caraway.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chase of Temple. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Caraway of Tulla. The altar was decked with an arch of wrought iron dressed with combed fern, white satin bows and a large wedding bell in the center of the arch. On each side of the arch, baskets of white gladioli completed the altar decorations.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Maple Avery, pastor of the East Fourth Baptist Church.

Mrs. J. K. Waits played traditional wedding music on the piano. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white embroidered net over tulle gown featuring long torso lines with a sweetheart neckline and a yoke of tulle net topped by a Peter Pan collar. The bride's hat was a white starched lace with a small face veil. She wore white kid shoes.

The bridal bouquet was a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses with attached pink satin streamers.

Mrs. Relerice Jones served as matron of honor. Her dress was of cotton styled like the bride's. She wore white kid shoes and a white starched lace hat with a small face veil. Mrs. Jones carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses with matching satin streamers.

H. G. Wells of Tulla served as best man.

For a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M., the new Mrs. Caraway wore a black linen sheath dress with white accessories.

The couple will make their home at 802 Main.

Mrs. Caraway is a graduate of Temple High School and Scott and White Memorial School of Nursing in Temple. She is employed by the Howard County Hospital Foundation.

Caraway was graduated from Tulla High School and McMurry College of Abilene. He is a coach and teacher at Big Spring Junior High School.

Bride-Elect Honored At Lamesa Tea

LAMESA — Miss Lois Van Hooser was complimented with a gift tea Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. D. L. Adcock. Hostesses with Mrs. Adcock were Mrs. R. O. Parker, Mrs. Cole Shafer, Mrs. Bo Adcock, Mrs. C. W. Tarter and Mrs. Pervis Vandivier.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Adcock, and in the receiving line, were the bride elect; her mother, Mrs. Arthur Van Hooser; a nd Mrs. Olin Buckalew, mother of the prospective bridegroom, Charles Buckalew.

The serving table was laid with an imported white Italian cutwork cloth and centered with a white styrofoam wedding ring. This was outlined with a double ruffle of blue net tied with a blue satin bow and white wedding bells, backed by tall silver candelabra with yellow tapers on a reflector. The arrangement was surrounded by a double ruffle of blue net.

The appointments were of milk glass and silver. Mrs. R. O. Parker and Mrs. C. W. Shafer alternated at the serving table. The tiny yellow wedding bells as favors revealed the date of the wedding, Aug. 12 and the names, "Charles and Lois," written in blue.

Invitations were extended to 85. The wedding will be an event of Aug. 12.

Legion Auxiliary Elects New Officers For Year

New officers were elected at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary group. The members met at noon at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Mrs. Culin Grigsby presided at the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Johnny Griffin. A nominating committee report was read by Mrs. T. A. Thiapin and the election of officers followed.

New officers include the president, Mrs. R. L. Andrews; first vice president, Mrs. Foy Dunlap; second vice president, Mrs. Jack Pearson; treasurer, Mrs. Ruby Froman; secretary, Mrs. L. R. Nichols; historian, Mrs. G. C. Broughton Jr.; chaplain, Mrs. George Hall; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Donald Anderson; parliamentarian, Mrs. Bill Griese and reporter, Mrs. Frank Sabbath.

Mrs. Andrews was elected as the delegate to the state convention to be held in Dallas this weekend.

The group also voted to have a joint meeting with the men's group on the third Thursday of each month. At this time they will have their social.

Installation of new officers was announced for Aug. 16. Installing officer will be the district commander of the Legion group.

Regular meetings of the Auxiliary will be the first Thursday of each month at the Legion Hut at 7:30 p.m.

Missionary Society Hears Mrs. Hickson

Members of the LMS of the First Church of God met Thursday at 8 p.m. Mrs. R. E. Hickson gave the devotion titled, "The Spiritual Growth of Our Missionary Society."

Each member answered a roll call with her favorite scripture. Mrs. Hal Hooker brought the program in the form of a skit on membership. Others on the program were Mrs. Gene Cooper, Mrs. R. W. Reagan and Mrs. Al Hutchins.

Mrs. Ethel Hickson reported on the state camp meet which was held in Eastland.

The Big Spring society will meet the ladies of the Odesa Society the second week in September.

Eighteen attended the meeting and Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Hutchins served refreshments.

Credit Club Hears Report On Airport

Mrs. J. B. Apple gave a committee report on the proposal of an air terminal for Big Spring at the Thursday luncheon of the Credit Club.

Members of the club meet at the Howard House at 12 noon for the meeting. The special prize, brought by Mrs. Pancho Nall, was won by Mrs. Noel Hull.

Mrs. Cholye Sanderson gave a program titled "Partners in Credit Granting." Sixteen members attended and one guest, Jean Palmer.

Next meeting will be Aug. 16 at the Howard House at 12 noon.

Young People Have Barbecue Thursday

The Young Peoples Class of the First Christian Church had a barbecue supper Thursday night in the home of Capt. and Mrs. James Gilliland, 1905 Johnson.

Supper was served buffet style to 18. After dinner several games including charades and a hat game were played led by different members of the group.

Unusual Gift

LAMESA — Sissy Koger celebrated her birthday recently with a party at the Koger home. Fifteen girls attended the party. The highlight of the party came when Sissy opened her gift from her brother, Tom . . . it was a baby skunk. They have named him Rosebud and already he has won his place in Sissy's heart. Incidentally, he has been de-scented.

Treasury To Get Loan Of Three Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury today announced plans to borrow three billion dollars this month to tide it over the period of lean tax collections from now until next spring.

State Highway Construction Jobs Approved

AUSTIN (AP)—The Highway Commission has approved the first construction program covering about one-sixth of the 2,900 mile interstate highway system in Texas.

The 472.6 miles of roads will cost $137,294,000. Work will be in areas in which right of way is assured.

Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said yesterday some projects included probably will be bid in August. He estimated that all of the program of work would go to contract within 12 months.

The $137,294,000 construction will include, by districts: 1. U.S. 67, 27.4 miles costing $8,000,000; 2. Loop 217, 7 miles, $4,490,000; 3. U.S. 77, 4.2 miles, $650,000; U.S. 80, 86.1 miles, $14,313,000; 9. U.S. 81, 71.8 miles, $12,030,000; 12. U.S. 75, 30.4 miles, $18,500,000; 14. U.S. 81, 10 miles, $3,750,000; 15. Loop 13, U.S. 81, 87 and 90, 41.2 miles, $22,270,000; District 17. U.S. 75, 7 miles, estimated cost of $3,000,000; 18. U.S. 75, 77, 67 and 80, 85.6 miles, $27,222,000; 20. State 73, U.S. 90, 41.0 miles, $14,160,000; 21. U.S. 81, 35.4 miles, $3,309,000; and Houston urban, State 73, 1.1 miles, $1,500,000.

Disney Denies Douglas Claims

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A complete denial has been issued by Walt Disney to accusations made by actor Kirk Douglas in his $415,000 invasion of privacy suit against Disney.

Douglas' suit claimed that pictures taken of him and his family riding on Disney's miniature train later were shown on the Disney land television program. He claimed the films were made during a social visit to Disney's home.

But Disney's statement said the occasion was not a private gathering and that Douglas was there "voluntarily and without any invitation."

"The entire appearance of Mr. Douglas on television was for 26 seconds," said Disney's statement "and it is inconceivable that a man who has appeared so extensively in motion pictures, magazines and on television screen in that amount of time."

participation certificates of indebtedness will bear interest at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent.

The books will be opened for subscription only one day—next Monday, Aug. 6.

The tax certificates will be dated Aug. 15 and will mature next March 22.

They will be retired next March at par plus accrued interest, in payment of income and profits taxes due next March 15.

Corporations often purchase such tax anticipation certificates with funds they are setting aside to pay taxes due in future months.

This is the first such cash borrowing by the Treasury since last October when 2 1/2 billion dollars of tax anticipation certificates were issued. That issue was retired last June 15th, being received in payment of taxes.

The interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent on the current issue compares with 2 1/2 per cent on the issue last fall. A Treasury official noted that interest rates have risen in the last few months and that a 2 1/2 per cent rate was paid on an issue of more than 12 billion dollars in notes put out last month.

Humphrey also said that in connection with the new financing the Treasury on Sept. 15 will pay off $82 million dollars of 2 1/2 per cent Treasury bonds which have been called for redemption. These bonds were issued in 1936 and would have gone to maturity in 1959. However, the Treasury gave the necessary four-month notice last May that it would call the bonds.

The government at this time of year has tax receipts smaller than its expenses, necessitating cash borrowing to keep going. The next tax collections of any size will be on Sept. 15 when corporations pay 10 per cent of the amount of taxes due in the current calendar year.

Under a plan put into effect several years ago corporations are progressively paying more of their taxes on a current basis instead of paying the following year as in the past.

In New York, Wall Street called terms of the new financing "liberal" and predicted it would be oversubscribed. The feeling was that the government undoubtedly would have to dole out the new certificates on an allotment basis because of an anticipated huge demand.

Station Burglarized 6th Time At Patricia

LAMESA—For the sixth time in the past four years, the S. P. Bruce Service Station at Patricia has been burglarized.

Wednesday night the culprits took a clock-radio, two pair of sunglasses, a carton of cigarettes, a case of motor oil and, apparently, a tank full of gasoline. The Dawson County Sheriff's office is investigating.

Drops From Bridge To Death

An unidentified man about 60 years old clings to the Manhattan Bridge over the East River in New York, moments before his grip loosened and he plunged to the water, 134 feet below. A passing fishing boat pulled him from the water, but he was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital. In his pockets were two cents and a key. This picture was made by amateur photographer William McDonald, a postal worker who was strolling on the bridge. (AP Wirephoto).

Military Services Eyeing Each Other

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining says that differences between the Army, Navy and Air Force have become "a little sharper" in the 3 1/2 years of the Eisenhower administration.

"As it is now, the Navy and the Army are watching me like a hawk," the Air Force chief of staff told a Senate Armed Services subcommittee investigating airpower.

"Every time I make a move, they are making sure what I am doing, and vice versa," he continued. "I am watching the Navy and Army too, so you do have a system of controls. But that can also lead to lack of development too, and that is dangerous for the country."

In his secret testimony given June 19 and made public last night, Twining also said the way to reduce the nation's huge defense budget is to put more reliance on atomic weapons.

"We cannot afford to keep in our armed forces conventional forces for the old type of warfare plus those for atomic warfare," Twining said. "We have got to make up our minds which way we are going to go."

"The nuclear weapon is here to stay and they are going to be used in war. We know that. So let's build our forces around these new weapons. In this way we could reduce our forces considerably."

The boys apparently decided to visit Charles Macon on a farm near Greenville. Police Capt. Guy Black said a northbound train had left Greenville only a short time before it roared upon the boys.

Sheriff's deputies said both boys were lying on the track apparently to sleep.

Demo Group Sets August 13 For Texas Election Count

AUSTIN (AP)—The official count in last week's primary will be made at a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee in Fort Worth Aug. 13.

Three other important political dates loom.

One is tomorrow's county Democratic conventions at which delegates will be named for the Sept. 11 state session at Fort Worth.

Another is the Aug. 28 runoff. Another is the Aug. 6 deadline for filing supplemental expense and contribution statements by candidates in the first primary.

Liberals and conservatives have claimed victory in last Saturday's precinct conventions, which named delegates to tomorrow's county meetings.

The county conventions may furnish conclusive evidence on whether liberals or conservatives control, but it is possible that the current party leaning will not finally be established until the Sept. 11 session.

That is the so-called "governor's convention" held to give the winner in the Democratic primary a campaign platform and to set up a new party organization—usually in line with the wishes of the winner. In some recent instances, such as 1944, the convention and the governor—then Coke Stevenson—were at odds. The liberals controlled the party for two years.

Many county delegations may go unrepresented to the state session, leaving them in a position to get on the winner's bandwagon. The governor's race will be decided in the Aug. 25 voting.

The May convention, at which delegates to the Aug. 13 national convention were named, was controlled by a coalition organized by Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn on what Johnson called a course of "moderation" seeking to reunite Texas Democrats. Both liberals and conservatives took part but liberals won several vital points.

The meeting of the executive committee was announced yesterday by George Sandlin, chairman. It will canvass votes for candidates and for the three referendum propositions submitted to the voters last week.

Private Plane Crash Kills Wealthy Texan, 3 Others

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The crash of a private plane south of Bander yesterday killed Col. John Lapham, 71, a director of the Texas Co., and three companions.

The crash occurred at the Flying L guest ranch, operated by Lapham. He was piloting the plane. Others killed were his granddaughter, Miss Joyce Lapham, 19, daughter of John Lapham Jr., of San Antonio; her fiancée, Rudy Blanche of Charlotte, N.C.; and Tracy Rudd of San Antonio.

The Flying L ranch manager said the plane crashed 20 minutes after it cleared San Antonio. Ranch employees saw the plane make a left-hand pattern as if coming in for a landing. Then it disappeared.

The wrecked plane was found nose down in a live oak and cedar thicket about 200 yards from the end of the runway. The cause of the accident was unknown. Chism said that the plane hit in a nose dive at a speed of more than 120 miles an hour. The plane was a four-seater Tripac.

Rudd, about 70, was a boyhood friend of Lapham's. Lapham was named in May as one of the heirs of the 5 million dollar estate of his mother, Mrs. Antoinette Lapham, who died May 16.

Future Bright For Oil Industry

TULSA (AP)—Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, forecasts a rosy future for the oil industry.

"What industry wouldn't have a rosy outlook if it had a steady and constant gain in consumption of its products, such as the petroleum industry enjoys?" he asked.

Brown was here yesterday to address the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce. Also attending was American Petroleum Institute President Frank Porter.

Porter said one of the current problems of the industry is over production of refineries, oil fields and an excess of imports.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Luke Thompson and Bobby Wright, the local entries in the Partnership golf tournament at Amarillo last weekend, recovered after a shaky start to win championship consolation honors.

Luke blazed the trail in the finals. He was five-under-par on his final nine holes. He sunk an ace on one 170-yard hole and fashioned an eagle two on the other.

By the time this year's Tam O'Shanter tournament is over in Chicago, Promoter George May will have distributed $1,281,700 in prize money since he started the attractions in 1941.

The United States Golf Association used 12 miles of rope and 250 metal stakes to rope off the fairways during the recent U.S. Open Tournament.

Chicago, Detroit and Toledo are bidding for the 1858 United States Public Golf Tournament. Next year's meet will be conducted at Hershey, Pa.

When Comedian Joe E. Lewis bought Henry Ransom in the Calcutta pool in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas earlier this year, he said he thought he was buying King's Ransom.

Radio Station KBST Big Spring will broadcast not only the All-Star football game but the All-Star basketball game from Lubbock next week. There's also a possibility the station will air the finals of the 1956 Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament.

From all indications, the visiting teams in the recent Little League area tournament here thought well of their hosts.

Roy Bennett, league commissioner, received the following letter from E. N. Patton, coach of the Rotan tournament entry:

"The members of the Rotan Little League wish to express their appreciation for the courtesies extended us during the area play in Big Spring. We enjoyed our visit with you very much, and should like to compliment you on the fine umpiring and your excellent playing field.

"We trust that sometime in the near future you will have the opportunity to visit us and play in a tournament in our Little League park."

Bennett expressed his sentiments in the following note: "I would like to express my appreciation to everyone who helped to make our Little League Tournament so successful.

"I especially want to thank the boys who did the umpiring: Bob Cates, D. R. Gartman, Nummy McDaniel and Jack Griffin. I think they did an excellent job.

"Also the visiting team managers had nothing but praise for them. They said it was the best officiating they had seen in a tournament.

"Howard Burleson was our official scorer and did an excellent job.

"Our out-of-town officers were very nice, especially the officers of the teams represented.

"Since Snyder American won our tournament and will represent this district at Lubbock, we want to wish them the best of luck."

SAND GREENS MEET

Stanton's Match Play Set Sunday

STANTON (SC) — Only those who qualify on Saturday are eligible for the medal prize in the West Texas Sand Greens Championship golf tournament.

However, linksters have been eligible to qualify all weeks and can even play their home courses to become eligible for the meet, in event they can't make it to Stanton before Sunday. All they need do is forward their qualifying card to the Stanton Country Club.

Tournament officials still held out hope that upwards to 80 golfers, many of them from Big Spring, Midland and other surrounding communities, will enter the meet.

Match play will be limited to one day only — Sunday. There will be 16-player flights, with entries going out in foursomes and playing all other members of the four-some.

The Stanton Country Club now has 27 members and most are due to enter into competition.

The course has only nine holes but 18 fairways. In other words, entries shoot at each hole from two different directions. The distance on the first nine is 2,835 yards and has a par 36. The second nine is 2,742 yards in length and has a par 35.

Club officials have predicted it will take a par 71 to rate the championship flight.

Entry fee is $6.50. The tournament is being sponsored by the Alpha Sigma Phi sorority. Club officers hope to make the tournament an annual event.

The course is situated two miles east of Stanton to the north of Highway 80.

Fishing At Peak At Lake Thomas, Patrolman Says

Fishing has been at a peak at Lake J. B. Thomas, according to Hiram Reid, patrolman. Last weekend some of the best strings of catfish caught to date were exhibited.

Two game wardens, Bill Pratt of Lamesa and his partner, caught 13 good bass on plugs fishing in the brush.

Catfish have been biting from the dam to the river channel on the west end, said Reid. David Hodnett came up with a 16½ pound catfish.

Morrow Unsure He Will Sign

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Morrow, Abilene Christian College's great sprinter, is working out for the coming Olympic Games but isn't sure what his status will be if he does not sign the amateur pledge imposed by the International Olympic Committee.

This pledge, which Morrow hasn't yet received, binds the athlete to remain an amateur. It reads: "I, the undersigned, declare on my honor that I am and intend to remain an amateur and fulfill the conditions stipulated by the Olympic rules."

Morrow said at his home here that he couldn't sign the pledge because it would forbid his becoming a coach. A coach is a professional capitalizing on his athletic ability, Morrow pointed out.

The winner of the 100 and 200 meter runs in the Olympic trials added that he might not become a coach and that he didn't plan to turn professional in any sport but that he wouldn't want the pledge hanging over him.

Right now he's farming although he has started workouts for the Olympics, scheduled at Melbourne, Australia, in November.

"I'm just joggling and running some 220s," he explained. "I won't begin hard practice until about Sept. 1 when I go back to Abilene. I'll be September because I have to be here for a wedding the last of August."

A cousin is getting married. Morrow said he would be willing to sign the pledge to avoid what he still is in college out not beyond that.

In Water Ballet Tonight

One of the feature acts at tonight's YMCA Aqua Carnival, to be staged at the municipal swimming pool starting at 8 o'clock, will be the water ballet, performed by 12 above girls. They are, left to right, top row, Julie Rainwater, Barbara Coffey, Sandra Havens, Sue Barnes and Cecilia McDonald. Front row, Diane Dawson, Sammie Sue McComb and Brenda Barr.

Aqua Carnival AT 8 TONIGHT

The public can watch tonight's YMCA Aqua Carnival at the municipal swimming pool without charge. The program gets underway at 8 o'clock.

In addition to races and diving events, the show will offer a clown act by B. B. Lees and a water ballet number, performed by local mermaids.

The program:

1. Junior backstroke.
2. Senior backstroke.
3. Girls' backstroke.
4. Clown act.
5. Junior breaststroke.
6. Senior breaststroke.
7. Water Ballet.
8. Girls' freestyle.
9. Junior freestyle.
10. Senior freestyle.
11. Walking race, for non-swimmers.
12. Junior diving.
13. Senior diving.
14. Awarding of trophies.

More:

In each event, medals will be given for the first three places.

At the conclusion of the program, trophies will be presented to the outstanding girl and the top boys in both the senior and junior divisions.

Lees, now an assistant football coach at Eastern New Mexico University, is well known here and has performed his imitable act in other aqua carnivals here in the past. Helping him will be Gary Tidwell.

The program brings to a close the Y's summer recreational program in Big Spring.

Olen Puckett will serve as starter in all the races.

The water ballet number, featuring 12 girls, was composed and directed by Sue Barnes.

The Aqua Carnival itself is directed by Truett Mobley, who shortly will leave the YMCA staff to begin his career as a coach.

Webb To Play Holleman Twice

Webb Air Force Base's Dusters, who had to pass up the NBC Section baseball tournament at Alpine this week, will host Holleman AFB of Alamogordo, N. M., in two games here this weekend.

The first contest is down for 2 p.m. Saturday. The second one is set for the same hour Sunday. Both engagements take place in Steer Park.

Webb, champion of the recent NBC district tournament staged here, now boasts a 14-1 won-lost record. Their only loss has been at the hands of the Odessa Eagles, which they had beaten four times previously.

Charles McNew will probably hurl for the Dusters Saturday afternoon. On Sunday, either Art MacKinstry or Chuck Spray will probably go to the mound for Jim Zepp's team.

Stone Free Will Run At Ruidoso

Stone Free, the horse owned by Jess Willbanks of Big Spring, will race again Sunday at Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico.

Stone Free will compete in the fourth race, a four-furlong event, for a $250 purse plus five per cent of the mutuel handle.

The Willbanks pride recently set a track record at Ruidoso.

Others in the field include Flashy Vic, C. R. Sues, Miss Hi-Note, Perique, Look Me Over and Grand Fille. Perique is the favorite.

Stone Free will carry 117 pounds.

Heat Is Really On In National Race

By Ed WILKS
The Associated Press

If you think the heat's on in the National League pennant race, just sit back and wait. This month of August figures to be a scorcher.

Take a look: First-place Milwaukee and second-place Cincinnati, just a game apart, have 14 games to play against each other, eight of them into an 11-day stretch beginning next Friday.

And Brooklyn's third-place world champions, just two games behind the Braves, have nine games remaining with the two top clubs—including five in as many days, three at Cincy beginning Aug. 23 and two at Milwaukee beginning Aug. 25.

Brooklyn completed a hustling comeback yesterday with a 3-0 decision over the Braves, sweeping the last three games in their four-game set. The Braves gave Milwaukee the old-pro treatment. Don Newcomb became the NL's winningest pitcher on a four-hitter and 10 strikeouts. It was his 16th victory.

The Redlegs salvaged only a split from an expected four-game sweep, refining their power to blast New York's last-place Giants 10-2.

Thomson, Cerda Set Hot Pace

By JERRY LASKA
CHICAGO (AP)—Two foreign players, three-time British Open champion Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia, and Argentine Antonio Cerda, today led Uncle Sam's best pros in the $25,000 All-American golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

Thomson unprecedented winner of the last three British Open titles, and Cerda both posted 5-under-par 67s in the opening round.

One stroke behind as a 156-player pro field headed into the second round of the multiple 72-hole medal play meet was a lesser known domestic pro, Mike Dietz of Lake Orion, Mich.

Dietz, who had a 68, will be remembered as the man PGA defending champion Doug Ford complained about in the recent PGA Championships. Ford complained Dietz asked the gallery for information on a hole. The hole was awarded to Ford and he whipped Mike on the 20th hole.

Ford, defending champion in this All-American scramble which has a $3,430 first-place prize, finished the opening round in a seven way tie for 10th place at 70.

With three rounds still to go, there was a formidable group of eight 69 shooters. Former U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol led this contingent, which also included Dick Mayer, Walter Burkemo, Bob Rosburg, Tony Holguin, Bud Holscher, Bill Casper Jr. and Gene Bone of Detroit.

Ford's companions in the 70 bracket included Johnny O'Donnell, Earl Stewart Jr., Jimmy Demaret, Ted Kroll, Bob Harris and Mike Souchak.

In all, 41 players either bettered or matched par 72. Among 14 players notched at even par were Sammy Snead and Julius Boros, winner of Tam's 1955 1955 "World" meet.

Actually, the All-American is mainly a tuneup for the rich "World," which starts at Tam next week and requires that all entries must have competed in the All-American.

Jackie Jensen Was Close To Record

By DAVE DILES
DETROIT (AP)—No one needed to ask if Jackie Jensen realized he was within 340 feet of the all-time record for runs batted in.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, who drops in nine runs in an 18-3 victory over Detroit yesterday, nearly swung himself out of Briggs Stadium trying for the new mark.

The blond belter, the American League's co-champion in RBI's last season, had a perfect setup to break Sunny Jim Bottomley's single-game record of 12 runs batted in.

Jensen already had driven in nine runs with a home run, a triple, a single and a sacrifice fly when he stepped to the plate in the eighth inning. The Red Sox had loaded the bases and there were two men out.

He needed a grand-slam homer to do it. Facing Jensen was slender Jim Bunning, the sixth Detroit pitcher. From his first delivery it was plain that Jensen was pulling for the fence, 340 feet down the left field line.

The 29-year-old muscle man swung so hard while missing Bunning's first offering that his cap flew off and he went to his knees. Once again he swung from the heels, but got only a small piece of the ball and tapped it weakly to the mound for the third out.

"I never saw a guy so anxious to hit one out of the park in all my life," the Tiger pitcher said later.

Jensen batted across three runs in the first inning off southpaw Bob Miller with his 13th home run. He brought home another in the fifth with a sacrifice fly. In the sixth, he boomed a bases-loaded triple off Al Aber and an inning later drilled a single off Bunning to score two runners.

Club Officials In Sales Pitch In Pro-Am Tourney

Today's Pro-Am tournament at the Big Spring Country Club will serve as a final tuneup for several of the entries for the upcoming Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament, scheduled for Aug. 31 through Sept. 3.

Club officials, hopeful that this year's Invitational will be one of the biggest of them all, will make a tournament sales pitch to all out-of-town entries coming in for the Pro-Am.

This is the second Pro-Am of the year to be staged at the local course. No more than 75 or 80 players are expected, since the Pro-Am is being held at the same time the Lubbock Invitational is taking place.

In the previous Pro-Am held at the Country Club this year, an event that took place in May, a total of 109 players took part.

A foursome headed by Al Forrester of Hobbs, N. M., won the event.

Firing was to get under way about 10 a.m. and continue throughout most of the day.

The low-scoring pro gets a cash award while members of the winning foursome receive merchandise prizes.

Entries play over 18 holes in foursomes. Wherever possible, a Midland is selected to lead each foursome. Winners are determined on a point basis. A point is given for each bogie, two points for a par, three for a birdie and five for an eagle.

San Angelo Colts Beaten By Cats

By The Associated Press
San Angelo and Plainview dropped back a game in their respective fourth and fifth positions in the Southwestern League Thursday night.

Ballinger moved up a notch into seventh position with an 8-2 victory over San Angelo.

Hobbs beat Roswell, 11-1, and El Paso whipped Clovis, 13-6.

Pampa won over Midland, 16-10, and Carlsbad dominated Plainview, 5-2.

The teams remained stationary Friday night with Midland at Pampa, El Paso at Clovis, Carlsbad at Plainview, San Angelo at Ballinger and Hobbs at Roswell.

Banquet To End Loop Activity

LAMESA — Second round play in the Lamesa Softball Association playoffs will commence Friday night with McPhaul Motor Company meeting Linton's Service in the final round of the Industrial League playoffs and First Baptist opposing First Methodist in the final round of the Civic Loop playoffs.

Winners of the two out of three league finals will meet next week in the Association finals.

The Methodists and Linton's, first place winners in regular season play, drew first round byes in the playoffs, and will probably be only slight favorites in the second round set for Forrest Park.

At the conclusion of the season, the Softball Association will stage a banquet at the National Guard Armory, at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 13.

Tickets will be sold to players, their wives and children of high school age or older, for $1.00.

League presy Glenn "Bottles" White, has urged all players to get their tickets soon so that final plans can be made.

A Call to Christian Living (Temperance)

HOW WE MAY GROW AS FRIENDS OF JESUS

Scripture—Luke 2:10, 21, 52; 1 Peter 2:1-3; 4:1-11; Peter 2

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE ARE told very little about Jesus' childhood and youth in the Bible. St. Luke, however, gives us two lovely pictures of Him as a child, which show Him as a fine, lovable character, popular with people and approved by God. He sought knowledge, in improving His mind by His talks with and questions to the priests in the temple. Later we see Him in His home, obedient to His parents and no doubt helpful to them.

At first reading we may think Jesus was inconsiderate in staying behind when His parents and all the others who had come from His home town in Nazareth to Jerusalem were returning. His mother chided Him—mildly—saying they had searched for Him and were grieved.

He, even at an early age, realized that he had a mission on earth, and it was because of the urge to learn more that He went

There are many temptations for young people in today's social life. They are invited to cocktail parties; they are bombarded from the airwaves by advertisements of alcoholic beverages, and their school and college associates may ridicule them as "sissies" if they do not follow the customs of their companions.

For them this lesson puts emphasis on temperance. St. Peter, in his first epistle, chapter 4:1, urges: "Inasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind; for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin." That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.

Then Peter writes of the sins of the past that Christians have renounced, suggesting that former companions in reveling, etc., may think it strange that they no longer are friends, and may say evil things about those who have reformed. To guard against temptation, Peter advises Christians to "be sober and watch unto prayer."

"Above all things have fervent charity (love) among yourselves; for charity shall cover the multitude of sins.

"Use hospitality one to another; without grudging.

"As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God."

I should like to suggest that the young people of the class memorize the following quotations from 2 Peter; 5:

"And besides this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance, and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness and to brotherly kindness charity.

"As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God."

Military Honors For Union Veteran

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Albert Woolson, last of the Civil War Boys in Blue, will be accorded full military honors, replete with an honor guard and visiting dignitaries, at his funeral Monday afternoon.

A highlight of the rites for the old soldier will be a guard of 100 soldiers — representing each year of Woolson's life — that will accompany the former Union Army drummer boy on his last journey.

Hugh M. Milton, assistant secretary of the Army, Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota and several of the state's congressmen will head the official party of mourners.

In a message of condolence to the family, President Eisenhower said Woolson's passing "brings sorrow to the hearts of all of us who cherish the memory of the brave men on both sides of the War Between the States."

Woolson's passing left only three survivors of Civil War action, all of them veterans of the Confederate Army.

"That just goes to prove what I said before—the South is going to outlive the North," said one of them, 113-year-old Walter W. Williams of Franklin, Tex.

The "youngster" of the trio, William Allen (Uncle) Lundy, 108, of Laurel Hill, Fla., said he regretted to hear of Woolson's death.

John Salling, 110, said at Slant, Va., that "Albert has gone to rest and I hope someday to meet him across the great river."

Woolson, in a coma since last Saturday, died yesterday morning at a Duluth hospital, where he had been confined for a recurring lung congestion.

The 5th Army band, color guard and military pallbearers will accompany the funeral procession from services at the Duluth National Guard armory to the family plot in Park Hill Cemetery.

Graveside ceremonies will be conducted by the Akron, Ohio, drum and pipe corps of the Sons of the Union Veterans of the Civil War.

Tennessee's Incumbents Win Easily

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee voters renominated all nine of their congressmen in quiet primary elections yesterday, and the only two who had opposition swept it aside handily.

Rep. Ross Bass defeated former Rep. Pat Sutton by an overwhelming majority in the rural 8th District of Nashville. With 323 of 382 precincts reporting, Bass had 34,392, Sutton 11,641 and Bill Carigan 3,064.

Rep. J. Percy Priest defeated youthful Richard Fulton in the metropolitan 5th Dist. at Nashville. Complete returns gave Priest 20,567 and Fulton 9,621.

Representatives B. Carroll Reece and Howard Baker were unopposed in the Republican primaries, which are virtually the final word in their east Tennessee districts.

Similarly, Representatives James B. Frazier, Joe L. Ewins, Tom Murray, Jere Cooper and Clifford Davis were renominated without opposition in traditionally Democratic areas.

Lamesa Reports Brisk Building During July

LAMESA — The month of July was the third highest month of 1956 in building permits issued by the Lamesa city secretary, Jack Goodloe. It was also the highest July since 1951. The city secretary issued permits for five new homes and the alteration of another for a total of $69,500. June was the highest of the first seven months of 1956. Nineteen permits were issued by Goodloe in June for a total of $120,600. The total for the current year is $532,450.

The possibility remains that before 1956 is over it will be the biggest year in the history of the city in building permits issued. The continuation of home building, some planned church building, a new hospital and several business improvements are expected to run the total for the year to over $2,000,000.

Judge Won't Stop Bloodless Bullfight

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A judge has refused to stop a weaponless bullfight, saying the definition of what would worry a bull was "84,000 question."

Superior Judge William A. Glen had been asked by the Humane Society to stop the event scheduled for Aug. 18 in municipal Balboa Stadium on the ground that just worrying a bull for exhibition was against state law.

Freeman of Minnesota and several of the state's congressmen will head the official party of mourners.

Uncle Ray: London Paper Retains Front Page Want Ads

By RAMON COFFMAN
LONDON — Yesterday I spoke of certain news stories on the front page of a London daily. The very fact that such stories appear on front pages in this city may be taken as an item of news.

Things were different during the first quarter of the present century. Then all the papers had front pages which were decorated with want ads!

Today I have found only one London paper which still follows the old custom. It is the old, and somewhat famous, London Times. The front page of this paper is a solid mass of want ads. These are grouped under several headings, including BUSINESS OF FERS, AIR SERVICES, CLUB ANNOUNCEMENT and PERSONAL.

The second page of the Times also is a solid mass of want ads. On the second page I find three columns of ads for help wanted, listed under APPOINTMENTS AND SITUATIONS VACANT. One ad, inserted for Eton College, asks for "a dame" for "a matron housekeeper."

Under PERSONAL a "lady doctor" says she wishes a change, and will consider literary or welfare work. In this connection, let me note that England has thousands of women doctors, and that they are regarded highly.

In another PERSONAL ad, a 28-year-old woman describes herself as "a weary ex-secretary" who seeks a job which deals with people more than with machines.

In the same column, a 49-year-old "bachelor" says that he is "tired of endless restaurant meals" and that he would like to be "a paying guest" at a family dinner from time to time.

Those ads, and others, have hu-

Start Probe Of Convict Mutilations

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A legislative investigating committee today began interviewing 41 convicts who broke or damaged their legs with sledge hammers in protest against working conditions and alleged brutality at Georgia's Rock Quarry Prison for incorrigibles.

The injured were brought to the state's Central Prison here for treatment. Seven suffered deep gashes or bruises; the other 34 had broken bones.

A convict who witnessed the bone breaking told the committee at a hearing yesterday in the Rock Quarry Prison near Buford that three white convicts "went down the line" smashing legs of other white prisoners.

Earlier, it had been reported that each convict broke his own leg by smashing the sharp edge of the heavy hammers down on them.

A Negro convict who testified he saw the mass mutilation identified the three white inmates as Willie McSwain, Junior Powell and Odell Evans. He said the three broke each other's legs after they had smashed those of the others.

He said Jesse Lee Stark swung the hammer on the legs of his fellow Negro convicts and then broke his own leg.

The witness said the men "just hollered out a little bit and sort of turned to one side" as their legs were smashed. They were out of sight of guards.
