Off For Akron

Ike Letter Urges Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called today on Russia's Premier, Bulganin, to "do more to realize the hopes which were born at our meeting at Geneva" a year ago.

In a personal letter to the Soviet leader, Eisenhower also urged anew that Russia agree to Eisenhower's earlier proposal to freeze production of atomic weapons. He also sounded a new appeal for the Soviets to "open their eyes" to his "open skies" aerial reconnaissance proposal.

The President, in effect, turned down Bulganin's proposal that the West match Russia's announced move reducing the size of its armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

The letter to Bulganin was in reply to one Eisenhower received June 6 proposing what Bulganin called a "new approach" to disarmament. Bulganin's plan was basically unilateral, unspecified armed forces cuts by the big powers. He coupled the proposal with one for withdrawal of all foreign forces from Germany.

Eisenhower said he welcomed Russia's move in reducing manpower but that it merely followed earlier moves by this country to "steadily reduce" the size of its armed forces.

"I doubt that such reduction of this particular kind as our governments may make in their respective national interests, will contribute effectively to eliminate the fear, and the vast cost, generated by national armaments," Eisenhower wrote.

Eisenhower's letter was delivered at noon today in Moscow by Ambassador Charles Bohlen, who personally handed it to the Soviet Premier.

The Bulganin letter to which Eisenhower replied was one of a series which the President and the Premier have exchanged.

Ever since the Bulganin letter came in American officials have been predicting a polite turn-down. In their view the Bulganin proposal was simply a new face on

2,000 Line Up For Jury Panel In Brink's Trial

BOSTON (AP)—The task of picking a jury of 12 members and two alternates gets under way today in the Superior Court trial of eight Greater Boston men charged with the $1,218,211 Brink's robbery.

The jury will be selected from an unprecedented long list of 2,000 men and women, to be summoned at the rate of 100 a day.

The selection of a jury was ordered by Judge Felix Forte after the first day of trial yesterday was taken up completely with arguments on defense motions and a charge by the defense that the government had engaged in a "shabby form of jury-fixing."

Paul T. Smith, who heads a battery of four defense attorneys, charged that the release of some news stories on the Brink's case precluded the possibility of a fair and impartial trial.

He charged that the "prejudiced" news stories were released by government officials, none of whom he named specifically.

One such story, Smith said, even went so far as to say that a prospective witness had been slain to keep him from testifying — "accusing the defendants not only of robbery but of murder."

Dist. Tty. Garrett H. Byrne, who is prosecuting the case with five assistants, answered Smith that "I remember well my oath of office" and that he is "conscious of the responsibility of a district attorney to a defendant, but also of the responsibility to the people who elected me."

Judge Forte commented there had been many cases in American history in which there was wide press notice but claimed that "the public had confidence" in the jury chosen.

He'll have support from others besides his family, for Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson and son, Charlie, who ran second to Henry in the finals, are leaving Wednesday for Akron via TAP. Wayland Yates, city editor of The Herald, and Mrs. Yates will meet them in Akron.

Lack Of Hunger Ends Pizza Contest

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A pizza eating contest was called off last night for lack of hunger. Two 14-year-old youths, one weighing 190 and the other 170 could eat only one and a half each. The proprietor of the pizza place said he was upset by the failure of the contestants to do better. He said the record at his shop is four and a half pizzas.

Time Set For Talk Here By Yarborough

Time for the address of Ralph W. Yarborough, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has been set for 11:35 a.m. Wednesday. Yarborough will speak from the east side of the courthouse lawn.

Preceding him by approximately half an hour will be the Cass County Coon Hunters, radio and stage hillbilly band. They will play and sing for the crowd before Judge Yarborough speaks.

Introducing the Austin attorney will be the Rev. Bill Boyd, who has been active in his behalf in previous campaigns. After leaving here, Yarborough will go to Lamesa for a 1:45 p.m. speaking engagement at the courthouse square, and then on to Seminole and Andrews. A rally at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Odessa will conclude the day's politicking. Thursday he will be in Midland for a breakfast with his supporters before swinging westward to Monahans and Pecos, from whence he will fly to El Paso for a Thursday evening appearance. His talk here will not be broadcast, but KTXC will tape it for a delayed broadcast.

Yarborough is a native of Henderson County, had experience in farming, teaching and oil field work before graduating with highest honors from the University of Texas as law school. He served as assistant attorney general and as district judge and was an original director of the Lower Colorado River Authority. During World War II he served with the 97th Infantry Division.

Henry Heads For Akron Derby Finals

Henry Hendricks, his eyes on the All-American Soap Box Championship, entrained Tuesday morning for Akron, Ohio and his chance at fame and fortune.

Henry will carry the colors of the Big Spring Herald when he goes down the long straightaway Derby Downs on Sunday afternoon. If his racer does as well there as it did here, he could share in prizes up to a full four year scholarship posted by Chevrolet Motor Company.

Accompanying Henry were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hendricks, 1103 Pennsylvania, and his elder brother, Wesley, who got edged out in the eliminations of the third annual Soap Box Derby held here July 4.

On hand to wish him well were Dr. Marshall Cauley, president; and Gilbert Gibbs, past president, of the Big Spring Lions Club. Dr. Cauley presented Henry with a camera set, including flash attachment, bulbs, film, etc., as a gift from the club so that he could make a pictorial record of his trip. He also extended best wishes for victory as did Lloyd Wooten, representing the other local sponsor, Tidwell Chevrolet.

Henry, who is 13 years old, had been building nearly a year on his racer which won the title here. While he realized that the first big hurdle was the Big Spring championship he nevertheless had his heart set on winning at Akron.

He'll have support from others besides his family, for Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson and son, Charlie, who ran second to Henry in the finals, are leaving Wednesday for Akron via TAP. Wayland Yates, city editor of The Herald, and Mrs. Yates will meet them in Akron.

Texas Faces Blistering Day

By The Associated Press

Texas, baked dry and brown, faced another blistering day Tuesday.

Stifling, scorching heat was blamed today for the death in Houston of Walter Holmes, 57, of Galveston and the prostration of two other men there.

Temperatures soared above 100 degrees over most of the state Monday. Seymour had 111. Electra had 109. Fort Worth, Sherman and Mineral Wells shared the official high of 107.

Range-down temperatures Tuesday ranged from 83 at Dallas to 66 at Amarillo. Skies were clear to partly cloudy.

A few thundershowers were expected to bring local relief around the state.

A thundershower hit the north edge of San Antonio Monday. Gusts of wind up to 40 miles an hour broke windows, knocked down signs and cooled things off a bit. About .48 of an inch of rain fell.

Rain ranging from 1.50 inches down to a trace fell over Llano County following the summer's high of 105 degrees. The 13 of an inch of rain in Llano was the first since June 10.

Thundershowers were in prospect for broad areas from the Rockies eastward through the Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes region today but skies were fair to partly cloudy over rain-soaked sections of the Ohio Valley.

Rain fell during the night from the lower Great Lakes area and eastern Ohio Valley eastward to the central Atlantic Coast states and into New York and southern New England. However, they diminished during the early morning and no further downpours were predicted for today.

Steel Prices Begin Predicted Increase

The Airport Issue Why it is necessary to replace A once outstanding civil airport

(This is the first in a series of explanatory articles concerning Slaton's proposed $500,000 airport bond election.—Ed.)

Big Spring and Howard County once had one of the best airports in the country. Why then all this talk about another airport?

"Why" is always a good question to raise about any proposed public improvement; it is a pertinent question here. The answer is relatively simple. This airport, expanded and developed during the days of World War II, was operated and maintained in such a way that it was relatively simple to reactivate the base when the Korean crisis brought into focus a pertinent fact. It was this: The international situation was such that for years to come the nation would have to continue to prepare against any possibility of attack; that one of the surest ways was to train men for the best Air Force in the world.

Thus, the airport was leased to the nation as a $1 a year proposition. As surely as the gesture had its patriotic side, it also had its buoyant economic side. The activation of Webb AFB brought not only millions in construction funds, but it also brought annual payrolls up to $2 million.

When the facilities were turned over to the federal government in 1951, there was some justification in waiting to assess the outlook before proceeding with plans for another airport. After five years, it is apparent that the base is going to be in business for many years and there is some hope that it might be designated officially as a permanent facility.

However, there is a definite obstacle in the campaign to secure that permanent designation. More than two years ago committees working to that end ran into a stone wall. How, asked the government, can you expect us to make permanent a base that is located on rental land? Community officials, while anxious to cooperate, could not very well surrender title to the airport until there was another improved, adequate airport to take its place.

Of course, there is no guarantee that the "permanent" status would be granted, but this doesn't alter the fact that all signs point to a continuation of training here for the foreseeable future.

Nor does it alter the fact that Big Spring and Howard County constitute one of the largest such communities in the country without an improved civil airport. This does more than injure pride; it injures economically and in overall efforts at progress. There are numerous concrete and painful evidences that business tends to go where it can be best accommodated — and in this age of aviation, accommodations include aerial transport.

Egypt May Rush Appeal On Suez

LONDON (AP)—Cairo sources said today Egypt may rush an appeal to the U. N. Security Council in the Suez Canal case ahead of the Aug. 16 conference sponsored in London by the big three Western powers.

An informant close to President Gamal Abdel Nasser said the Egyptians were considering complaining to the Security Council that British and French military movements and parliamentary statements were a threat to peace.

If an appeal is made, he said, it would be before Aug. 16.

Replies to invitations to the 24-nation conference called by Britain, France and the United States were lagging.

Sir George Young, head of the British Foreign Office news department, announced that attendance did not imply advance approval of the idea of putting the Suez Canal under international control.

Some diplomats have reported that these countries were holding off because it might appear they were approving the principle of internationalization beforehand.

Young refused to reply to a news conference question whether the British government considered itself bound beforehand to any conference decisions.

Prime Minister Eden has declared that Britain's resolved not to accept the unfettered control of the canal by Egypt. Sources close to Nasser on the other hand have reported that he was ready to fight rather than permit the canal to pass under international control.

Meanwhile, the growing tension pushed all shares down sharply on the London Stock Exchange today, after a drive in Wall Street yesterday. More than 200 million dollars was sliced off oil values in the first few minutes in London.

Egypt's nationalization of the canal was discussed at a meeting of the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris. French, British and American delegates were said to have explained their position to their NATO partners.

He said Britain, France and the United States had agreed upon the principle of international control, and that the conference would discuss the idea, but that other countries attending could put forward their own proposals.

His statement seemed aimed at such invited countries as India, Ceylon and Indonesia, which have been hesitating over their replies.

Values On Fourth Street Up Sharply

Citizens owning property on Fourth Street have found their tax rates increased as much as 300 per cent by the board of equalization recently. Indications are that many will be seeking a change when they meet with the board Aug. 15 and 16.

City Tax Assessor-Collector Perry Johnson said the three man board worked almost a week in adjusting the rates on the property. Reason for the tremendous hikes in tax rates was turning Fourth Street into a part of the highway.

He said that Jan. 1, 1955, that the street was not completely paved and was not used as a highway segment. But it was in such use Jan. 1 of this year, and as a result, the board felt that the property had increased in value in proportions to Third Street during the year.

In curving the rates upward of Fourth, changes were made slightly downward on parts of Third. All property on the south side of Third was lowered approximately 10 per cent by the board, because it felt that by removing east-bound traffic on that street that part of the thoroughfare lost business.

Accordingly, property on the north side of Fourth is lower than the other side.

Rates on that street were increased as much in some instances as 300 per cent, but the overall change when improvements were figured would cut the total percentage of increase.

Property in the downtown area and on the western extreme of Fourth had the highest hikes. The west end of Fourth was not previously paved, which the board felt was reason to raise the value of the land.

Johnson said that outside of Fourth Street, no changes were made except where improvements have been made on property. Then naturally the taxes were increased.

All property owners have the privilege of meeting with the equalization board Aug. 15 and 16 to discuss the new values if they desire. Members of the board are George O'Brien, M. R. Koger, and J. W. Purser.

The board's changes affect the school tax rates also, since the city and school board use the same evaluation base on property and improvements.

All the changes in rates were on properties and not improvements except where additional building occurred.

U. S. Economy To Feel Effects

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp., the world's largest basic steel producer, today hiked its prices an average of $8.50 per ton.

Republic Steel Corp., the third ranking producer, also announced price increases effective today which it said "in general compare with the price changes heretofore announced by its competition."

Bethlehem Steel, the No. 2 producer, and Jones & Laughlin Steel, the fourth ranking producer, said "we are still studying the price situation."

While steel prices vary widely, depending upon the many types, the composite price was about $130 a ton before the five-week strike which ended during the past weekend.

The boost may be felt by millions of persons who buy the thousands of articles made from steel. The auto industry previously indicated it expected such a move and planned higher prices for 1957 models.

U. S. Steel's price boosts in the wake of the strike by 650,000 members of the United Steelworkers were somewhat lower than expected. Other companies probably will revise their prices along the same line.

Clifford F. Hood, president of U. S. Steel, said his company's employment costs will increase some 7.6 per cent during the first year of the three-year, no-strike contract which ended the walkout. He declared the price increase amounts to "about 6.25 per cent."

This, he said, "reflects the persistently rising costs with which the company is confronted."

Under the new contract the workers got a package boost variously estimated at from 45 to 55 cents an hour over the 36-month period. Of this, some 20 cents — including 10.5 cents an hour in wages — was effective immediately. Additional direct wage hikes of 9.1 cents are effective July 1, 1957, and July 1, 1958. Under the old contract the workers averaged $2.48 an hour. The new contract, with 32 hourly pay classifications, has a basic minimum wage of $1.82 an hour and a maximum of $3.71.

It is possible that manufacturers of hundreds of items—ranging from wrenches to heavy appliances such as refrigerators—will adjust their prices upward. But competition in many industries will be a determining factor in any price adjustments. It is possible some steel fabricators will absorb part of the increased cost of steel.

Nails, essential in all carpenter work, were increased about $15 per ton. The heavy steel girders used in big buildings and bridges went up $2 per ton to $100. That undoubtedly will mean that construction costs will rise.

A spokesman for David J. McDonald, president of the USW, said he would have no comment on the price increase. McDonald has said previously that the steel industry boosted prices in recent years by amounts substantially higher than their added costs in labor agreements.

Hood said U. S. Steel, in determining its new price schedule, gave consideration not only to the initial costs of the new wage agreement but to other factors. These, he said included "new prices established for many steel mill products by competitive producers who have been operating during the period of the strike; to the prices of other materials which compete with steel in the market place, as well as to many other commercial factors."

About 10 per cent of the basic steel industry operated during the long strike. Some companies either had contracts expiring after July 1 or were represented by independent unions.

Hood said U. S. Steel was thoroughly aware of "the dangers attending inflationary spirals," adding:

"Since 1940, U. S. Steel's employment costs per employe-hour have risen an average of 8 per cent per year. Total costs per employe-hour have risen even more—an average of 8.7 per cent per year. Prices of finished steel products, however, as measured by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics index, have risen only at the rate of 5.4 per cent per year."

Moody, the court's master in chancery, checking the vote charges, was restrained from continuing his inquiry on a temporary order issued by Dist. Judge R. D. Wright of Laredo. Wright acted on a request by Dist. Atty. James Kazen.

Witnesses called before the jurors included three of the four recommended for contempt citations by the attorney general's office. They had refused to testify before Moody on the grounds that Betts could not legally appoint him to hold the probe.

"I am sending $1 for the fund they're raising for the Sun Ray fire victims."

"I am eight years old," is the way one letter from Stanton read which has been received by Fire Chief H. V. Crocker toward the fund for volunteer firemen's families this week.

The Big Spring fire department is joining the rest of the state in making contributions to families of firemen killed in the Dumas oil fire July 29. Over the state, a goal of $1 per fireman has been set.

Locally, Crocker said the department is aiming for more than $1 per man. Currently, he has collected about $35, and $10 of that has come from persons like the eight-year-old boy from Stanton, Crocker said, who are not members of the department.

Anyone who wishes to contribute to the fund is asked to contact Crocker.

Adlai's Stock Up After Estes Quits, But Harriman Vows Fight

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Adlai Stevenson's chances for a second Democratic presidential nomination on an early ballot have turned up sharply since Sen. Estes Kefauver withdrew in his favor a week ago today.

But Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, Stevenson's leading opponent in the first ballot test at Chicago next week, says he's in the race to stay to give the Democrats what he calls a "fighting leader."

Former President Harry Truman and a batch of "favorite sons" appear to hold the key to an early decision.

With 68½% of the National Convention's 1,372 votes needed for nomination, an Associated Press tabulation of pledged votes and preferences expressed in polls shows this lineup:

Stevenson ..... 460
Harriman ..... 161
Others ..... 347
Uncommitted ..... 427

Before the surprise withdrawal of Kefauver, who had 164½ votes in the AP tabulation at the time, Stevenson had 371 and Harriman 136.

Some of the gains made by Stevenson and Harriman since have come from Kefauver delegates and some from rechecks of previously uncommitted delegates. It remains to be decided how 43½ Kefauver votes are to be classified.

Kefauver, who withdrew and said he would support Stevenson in the interest of party unity and victory, predicted most of his delegates would swing to the former Illinois governor. Harriman disagreed and his backers stepped up their efforts to win new strength for the New Yorker.

James Finnegan, Stevenson's campaign manager, predicts Stevenson will have more than 600 votes on the first ballot and will win no later than the second.

Frank McKinney of Indiana, former Democratic National Chairman and a Harriman leader, believes Harriman will have "in the neighborhood" of 450 first ballot votes.

Harriman supporters obviously are hoping Truman — who has professed neutrality — will come out with a public plug for the New York governor.

Whichever way Truman does go, when the time comes, is certain to have an impact on the Democratic delegates.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas Senate Democratic leader, has 38½ votes in his column, and Stevenson forces have been eyeing these hopefully. Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, with 55, says he doesn't know whether Kefauver's withdrawal will alter his own plans as a candidate.

Mark R. Holloran, leader in the Missouri move to obtain the nomination for Sen. Stuart Symington of that state, says Missouri's 38 votes probably will go for Symington as instructed "and then switch to Stevenson at the end of the roll call if the results show what they are now expected to show."

Neither Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan nor Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington has indicated any intention to release favorite son first ballot votes. Williams has 4½ votes and Magnuson 26. Gov. A. B. Chandler, with 30 Kentucky votes in his pocket, says he has a chance of augmenting these from followers of Sen. Kefauver.

The Kefauver withdrawal stirred new interest in vice presidential nomination prospects, with many of his supporters urging a

Stevenson-Kefauver ticket. Kefauver left the door open to accepting second place, but said there had been no "deals."

Stevenson refused to express a preference for a running mate, but said Kefauver is "certainly among" many he would consider satisfactory. Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota is the only avowed candidate for vice president. Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey, Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, and Mayor Robert Warner of New York City are on a long potential list.

Tension Pushes Oil Shares Down

LONDON (AP)—Snowballing tension over the Suez crisis pushed oil shares downward on the London Stock Exchange today.

More than 100 million pounds (200 million dollars) was marked off the value of leading oil issues within minutes of the market opening. A few buyers appeared in later trading and prices firmed slightly.

The cutback followed a dive of oil shares yesterday on Wall Street, where some issues dropped as much as $14.

Daily Oil Average Declines In U.S.

TULSA (AP)—Daily average oil production declined 10,800 barrels to 7,901,190 during the week ended Aug. 4, mainly because of an 10,400-barrel slump in Oklahoma. The Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma's drop to 587,100 barrels helped to offset the week's best gain, a 11,075-barrel rise in Texas to 3,012,875.

production at 1,552,201,420 barrels compared to 1,458,467,466 a year ago.

Colorado lost 600 to 166,500 and Arkansas 500 to 75,700. New Mexico was up 1,600 to 239,025 and Louisiana 1,225 to 787,175.

Village Of Stratford Enjoys Active Life

STRATFORD-ON-AVON—Quite aside from its position as the birthplace of a famous person, this village appeals to me. It enjoys an active life of its own, and it contains a number of my old friends.

When I made my first visit here, I came to know members of the Asquith family. A few years later, I gave a talk about my travels in the village school, and afterward had personal chats with boys and girls.

Perhaps a dozen of the pupils joined me in picnics. Most of them ranged in age from 10 to 12. We had a good deal of enjoyment and one day spent an hour or so going to Ann Hathaway's Cottage.

Those children have grown to be adults, and some of them have moved elsewhere. Even if they are away now, how could I ever forget Dorothy Smith with her eager, deep brown eyes — or smiling Hilda Tooke? (Hilda, by the way, moved to the United States 10 years ago, and lived in Ohio when last she wrote to me.)

Mr. Rex Asquith, who is about my age, remains hereabouts. I have visited him at Shottery, a village about two miles from the center of Stratford. His home is only two doors from Ann Hathaway's Cottage, the one-time home of the woman who married William Shakespeare.

Mr. Asquith has kept his strong interest in the lore of Shakespeare. He showed me an essay which he wrote recently with the title, "Who

One yearly event in Stratford-on-Avon is the Folk Dance. This is performed by men wearing white suits, ornamental leggings and plumed hats. This dance has been performed for several centuries.

Progress

OUR NATION often is referred to as a land of plenty, which it is.

But it was not always a land of plenty. For many years, it was a rugged wilderness with all of its vast resources lying dormant in the good earth.

Our nation became a land of plenty because it was a land where people were free to dream and envision, free to explore and create.

The people of this country never have been willing to let well enough alone. They have believed that we should not be content with things as they are... not if creative and constructive ideas could produce improvements.

That is one of the basic reasons why we live today in a land of prosperity and plenty... in a land where more people enjoy more of the good things of life than anywhere else on earth.

A willingness to let well enough alone has enslaved the lives of millions of people in Asia and Africa, and in many other parts of the world. These people live today just as their forefathers did centuries ago... primitive and poverty-stricken... despite the rich resources of their land.

Such is the fate of people who persist in believing that you should let well enough alone.

This comfortable belief, if persisted in, stifles the progress of any business. The people of this country never have subscribed to it. They have insisted upon creating new and better ways of working and living.

They have persisted, also, in creating new methods and practices... new tools and machines.

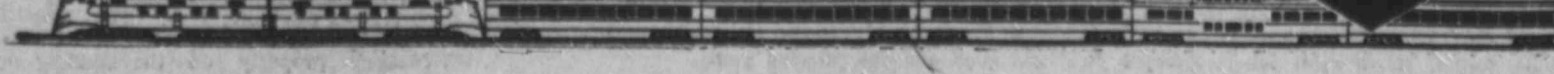

So, we live today in the richest land on earth with the highest living standard ever known, chiefly because we have not been content to let well enough alone.

It is the belief of the people of our railroad that we never should be content with things as they are... not if it is practical to do something constructive and progressive about them. Whenever and wherever new methods and practices, or new tools and equipment, can be used to produce better and more efficient services, they have been adopted.

That is the progressive policy of our railroad... a policy which reflects our unwillingness to let well enough alone.

Demo Platformers Hit Foreign Policy

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut told the Democratic Platform Committee today "the country has been lucky to avoid disaster" under Eisenhower administration foreign policies. Benton, a former assistant secretary of state, said "the gravest weaknesses of the Republican administration" lie in its handling of foreign affairs. He added in prepared testimony: "It is high time to return our foreign policy to competent and experienced hands." Benton said the Republicans "inherited a good foreign policy blueprint" from former President Truman, who is to give his views to Democratic platform writers Thursday. When the Eisenhower administration and Secretary of State Dulles stuck to Truman policies "they fared reasonably well," Benton said, but they tried to adjust to fresh developments, a three-stage cycle of "bluff, boast and backdown" resulted. "We have fewer friends today, and colder allies," Benton said. "The neutrals are skeptical of us,

Kefauver's Down, But Not Out Yet

CHICAGO (AP) — Estes Kefauver may be down but he isn't counting himself out. The hand-shaking senator from Tennessee has renounced a claim to the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination. But the No. 2 spot on the ticket remains open — Kefauver knows, at least. At the big opportunity, well, the 1960, and 1964. And maybe other election years. So, to the surprise of early arrivals for this year's convention, Kefauver headquarters is a buzzing, going concern. Nobody around the place seems to know quite what the senator is up to. But all hands are sure Kefauver hasn't resigned himself to political obscurity. It's obvious at the moment that he means to make his deep, amiable-sounding voice heard at the convention. "We thought of closing up shop entirely," says one of Kefauver's chief aides, A. Bradley Eben. "But then—well, we had the space reserved, we were coming to Chicago anyway, and there just isn't space at Estes' personal quarters for all the people who'll be dropping in." So, instead of a bleak, canceled-out Kefauver floor at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, there are 20 brightly furnished and well-equipped rooms. And the welcome mat is out. Kefauver is urging his backers to switch to Adlai E. Stevenson but some will take a bit of convincing. Averell Harriman claims a mass shift of Kefauver delegates to himself. What about Kefauver for vice president? "If sentiment should develop for the senator, then we'll have an organization ready for action on his behalf," Eben said.

New Probe Is Ordered Into Leg Smashing

ATLANTA (AP) — Gov. Marvin Griffin has ordered a new and complete investigation into the series of leg smashings by Rock Quarry Prison convicts, who charge they have been ill treated by the guards. The governor acted yesterday after a fresh outbreak of leg smashing and a statement by an admittedly "disgruntled" guard that he had witnessed beatings, kickings, cuffs and cursing. Warden Hubert Smith said there was "not a word of truth" in what the guard said. The prison for incorrigibles at Buford is about 40 miles northeast of Atlanta. The latest bone-crushing incident occurred Sunday night at the Georgia State Prison Hospital in Reidsville, where 41 convicts were taken for treatment after they tried to shatter their legs with 20-pound hammers at Rock Quarry Prison. Seven men whose legs were not shattered in two sieges of mutilation at Buford tried again. Director Jack Forrester of the State Department of Corrections said two succeeded. Forrester said that after the prison hospital lights went out Ernest O'Neal, a white man, broke his left foot by slamming a door on it. In addition, he said, Jimmy Lee Stark, a Negro, ripped out a piece of bathroom plumbing and broke his leg with it. Five other Negroes made unsuccessful attempts to break their legs. Both O'Neal and Stark told newsmen during interviews last week that they would break their legs rather than go back to Rock Quarry Prison. Prison authorities had said they intended to return them to Buford yesterday. Frank Miller, 53, of Athens, Ga., a guard at Rock Quarry Prison, cited alleged incidents of brutal treatment of prisoners in an interview with Atlanta Journal reporter John Pennington. Miller said he spoke out because he was somewhat disgruntled at treatment he had received and because he did not like to see "people kicked around." A joint legislative committee held hearings at Buford and Reidsville last week but found nothing to back up charges of inhumanity. It did report instances of abusive language, slapping and cuffing and called for an end of such practices.

even to the point of contempt. Our enemies are more confident, even to the point of arrogance. "How hollow today sound those ringing slogans of the Republican campaign of '52 and the Republican administration of '53, '54 and '55. The 'bold new program' was one slogan. "Liberate the satellites! 'Unleash Chiang Kai-shek, 'Repudiate Yalta, 'Massive retaliation, 'Where are they now? "And last fall, we heard Secretary Dulles tell the hard-working Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the Soviet Union was close to the verge of collapse. Thank God the committee and Congress didn't believe him. On the contrary, Congress increased the appropriation for the Air Force by something like a billion dollars. Benton said the Eisenhower administration has "failed to counter communism's appeal to the uncommitted and underdeveloped nations." And by strongly emphasizing military pacts, he said, the Republicans "have got us into the fantastic position of having to convince the world that we are for peace."

Last Union Army Vet Laid To Rest

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A drum and pipe corps playing songs that Albert Woolson rapped out as a Civil War drummer boy led the last of the Union Army's veterans to his final resting place yesterday. The drummers and fifers were waiting at the cemetery gates for the funeral procession, which had moved slowly along a four-mile route, led by more than 200 marching military men. As the blue-clad Sons of Union Veterans unit from Mount Vernon, Ohio, led the procession in slow cadence to the hilltop burial plot, it played "Onward Christian Soldiers," followed later by "Sweet Bye and Bye" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Services were conducted by the Sons of the Union Veterans. A small fern wreath, a lone rose and a miniature flag were placed on the metallic casket during the graveside rites. An estimated 2,000 persons attended the services. A crowd of about 1,500 at the National Guard Armory, where other services were conducted, heard Lt. Col. Augustine P. Donnelly, a Presbyterian chaplain attached to the 8th Army headquarters in Chicago, say: "To few men has it been granted to see such a vista of history. Mr. Woolson has seen the loyal sons of the North and the South join hearts and hands in several wars." Woolson died last Thursday at 109.

Tornado Hits Dakota Town

MARTIN, S.D. (AP) — A tornado struck the tiny community of Martin in southwestern South Dakota last night, destroying one large building and damaging the hospital. An undetermined number of people were reported injured. An employee of the Northern Bell Telephone Co. who visited the town of 1,000 shortly after the storm said several persons suffered minor injuries, but there were no fatalities. Telephone service was out temporarily. He said the roof on the hospital was torn off and most of the windows in the building were broken. Patients in the wards were evacuated, he said. The winds also upset several house trailers in a trailer camp near the town, but none of the occupants were reported injured. The telephone company employee said a large frame building on a fair grounds near Martin was destroyed. The building, used as a dance hall, was vacant, he said.

Relatives Resume Search For Girl

EMPIRE, Colo. (AP) — Relatives searched today for Nancy Dahlin, 14, Arlington, Tex., Girl Scout, although Sheriff James Sacra said he was "convinced she is no longer in this area." The girl disappeared Thursday from a camp near this mountain town west of Denver. Sacra said several residents told him they saw her hitchhiking toward Denver. Sacra said the father, Arthur Dahlin, "may be conducting a search with volunteers but this office isn't taking part in it." Officers said the girl walked away from the camp after an argument.

Moderation Appeals To Texans

With the turmoil of county conventions fading, the stage ought to be set for an intelligent and constructive discussion of the problems of Texas, in the runoff campaign for the governorship.

Both Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough have pledged themselves to carry on a clean campaign, and they will reflect credit on the state if they live up to their pledges.

The current race can be taken as a clear-cut contest between a candidate who is moderately conservative, and another who has been acclaimed as their champion by the so-called "liberal" faction.

In view of this, there can be a down-the-line presentation of issues, without the personal smears and the political trickery.

The heavy vote for Price Daniel last month showed clearly that most of the people of Texas are tired of extremists in campaigning, and of wild promises that have no substance. It indicates strongly that the kind of moderation that Price Daniel exemplifies is the kind that is wanted for a change.

The Herald expressed its endorsement of Price Daniel before the first primary, without taking occasion to belittle any other aspirant to the governorship. This newspaper still feels that Price Daniel will make just the kind of governor that Texas needs at this time. He is qualified by character, temperament and experience to approach statewide problems in forthright fashion, to work with the Legislature in arriving at solutions.

Maybe More Than 'Moral Force'

There is no evidence that moral force ever deterred Tojo, Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin in the slightest degree. There is no firm reason to believe it will have any more effect on Nasser of Egypt than on any of the dictators who stirred up trouble in the world ahead of him.

Yet Mr. Dulles came back from London to say — with Mr. Eisenhower nodding approval — that "moral force" will solve the Suez Canal crisis without resort to arms.

That, of course, is a highly optimistic statement — the effect of moral force on the situation, that is. Is this one of those "calculated risk" you read about?

You can't impress a stump by appealing to its sense of moral values. Dictators vary in degree, not in kind, but if any dictator ever yielded to moral force it was not because he was moved by decency and a due respect for the opinions of mankind, but because he could utilize the momentary halt in the exercise of physical force to strengthen his position and assuage the momentary anger of those who oppose him.

Less than a week before Mr. Dulles spoke with unctious about the effect of moral force Nasser was shouting to the mob his hope that the American people would choke to death on their own fury.

The tough attitude of Britain and France regarding the rape of Suez had already begun to make Nasser back and fill, to modify his original stand, to roll his eyes in search of an easy out.

The real risk in the temporary diversion created by Washington is this: To the exact degree that it softened the Franco-British attitude of firmness and determination it will strengthen Nasser's attitude of arrogance and contempt of a divided West.

It could mean the difference between sending Nasser packing or creating in him another Frankenstein's Monster of the Hitler II Duce-Tojo type.

Harriman Clings To Hope For Nomination

WASHINGTON — While the Republicans have been shaken by Operation Stassen, the Democrats have been moving toward what is for them a remarkable degree of unity.

It is unity based on the fact, long evident, that the candidate who can come nearest to preventing the party from splitting into warring factions is Adlai Stevenson.

Whether Stevenson can defeat President Eisenhower in his bid for a second term is something else. The attitude of many Democrats who will support Stevenson in the convention ranges from frank defeatism to indifference. This is one of the handicaps Stevenson faces in a repeat engagement with the hero-general.

It was Senator Estes Kefauver's recognition of the political realities that led him entirely on his own to renounce his own Presidential aspirations and offer his delegate strength to Stevenson.

The tall Tennessee thereby may or may not have put himself in the front position for the Vice Presidential nomination. Just he has squared himself with the party organization in his own state and that will count for a lot when he comes up for re-election to the Senate in 1950.

While they are busily denying it, Averell Harriman's lieutenants did offer Kefauver just about anything he wanted if he would throw his delegate strength to the Governor of New York. This included the second place on a Harriman-Kefauver ticket and money enough to pay the back bills of the Kefauver primary campaign.

Samuel I. Rosenman, White House counsel to Harry S. Truman, and George Backer, the Harriman idea man, had a long and prayerful session with Kefauver three days before the Senator made his announcement. They found they could not budge him.

Twenty minutes before Kefauver was to make his announcement his campaign manager, F. Joseph Donahue, telephoned Mr. Truman in Washington, Mo., to give him the news. Mr. Truman definitely was not pleased. He has always disliked Kefauver and, as an old pro at the game, he saw that the Kefauver renunciation two weeks in advance of the Democratic convention would undercut his own potential as kingmaker.

Loyal Truman followers, such as former Democratic National Chairman Frank McKinney, tried for months to engineer a stop-Stevenson scheme that would finally benefit Harriman. At a secret meeting in Denver early in March many of the representatives from 11 states believed that Stevenson and Kefauver would knock each other out and the nominee would be Harriman.

While former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, now a candidate for the United States Senate and one of the participants, has denied indignantly that this was a stop-Stevenson meeting, others who were frank in voicing the belief that Kefauver could be used to eliminate the front-runner.

All of these schemes have now failed. Those who have talked with Mr. Truman recently in Independence believe that he, too, has taken a reading of the political realities. And while he would still prefer Harriman, he understands that short of a drive that might shatter the party and damage his own high prestige, he must yield to the inevitable and accept Stevenson.

There remains Harriman's obsessive drive for a prize that is apparently beyond his reach. He has convinced himself, according to those once close to him, that only Stevenson stands in the way of his becoming President of the United States.

Part of this extraordinary conviction is that he as the Democratic nominee can defeat President Eisenhower while Stevenson cannot. This has become with the New York Governor a matter of almost religious faith as he goes through the furious motions of campaigning.

Many an otherwise sane and able citizen has in the past deduced himself into the belief that destiny meant him to save, if not the world or the nation, then at least his party. But nothing quite like the Harriman evangelism has been seen in national politics for a long time.

Big Bill Goes

PHILADELPHIA (U) — The Henry H. Houston post of the American Legion in Germantown has given away Big Bill. The moths like him too much.

Big Bill is a stuffed buffalo head. When alive he traveled with the Buffalo Bill wild west show and after his death in 1905 a photograph of his head served as model for the buffalo nickel of 1913.

The Academy of Natural Science gets Big Bill. The Legionaires say he was too much trouble and too expensive to keep demothed.

He called his wife and she called the woman to come get her dog.

Stassen's Reasons For Revolt

WASHINGTON (U) — Harold Stassen—to judge by his own words—is concerned about the vice presidency for political reasons and not about the merits of Richard Nixon or Christian Herter as president if President Eisenhower should die.

Stassen, trying to keep Vice President Nixon off the ticket, has not discussed his worth as a possible president. Nor has he said Gov. Herter of Massachusetts, whom he prefers, would make a better president.

He simply says Herter would draw more votes — especially among labor, minority and independent groups — and thus be a bigger help in getting Republican members of Congress elected. He brushes aside any question about either man in the presidency.

Asked if he had considered that Eisenhower might die, he said he was operating in the belief Eisenhower would give the country leadership "for 10 years or more."

Yet, because of Eisenhower's age and his two serious illnesses in a year, there never has been an election in which more attention was given to the possibility of a vice president may become president.

Stassen, opposing the professional Republican politicians who have closed ranks for the renomination of Nixon, has also said he is dedicated to the principle of an open nominating convention free to name whom it pleases.

But Stassen said he would not have opposed Nixon if Eisenhower had said directly he wanted his vice president as running mate again.

The Coming Of The Convention

Every four years, the political folkways of certain native American groups manifest themselves in strange scenes, such as—

A bikini-clad beauty in a canoe (borne by four strong men) cruises through the throngs in a large hall while the bands blare, the pipe organ roars, the klaxons honk and the cowbells clang.

A delegate gets knocked cold when the head of the chairman's gavel flies off its handle and catches him between the eyes.

A man applauding the bespangled ladies' file and drum corps (this is back in the old days) swallows his "chawterbacker," turns purple from choking and needs the fire department resuscitator.

Frequently too there are fist fights, fires and fluttering doves, carefully planned "spontaneous" demonstrations, attempted stampedes in the galleries, and once a calico ball, 30 feet in diameter, rolling down the street.

These Alice in Wonderland antics spring from a uniquely American institution, a political organ without a real counterpart anywhere on earth, the national presidential nominating convention.

The convention season is almost at hand. The Democrats meet in Chicago Aug. 13 and the Republicans in San Francisco a week later.

Besides nominating candidates and adopting a platform, the convention also is designed to get up a head of steam for the start of the campaign. And there is a tradition that each nominating speech must be the signal for a demonstration.

So the proceedings often take on a circus atmosphere. The girl in the canoe, for example, appeared during the demonstration for Harold E. Stassen in 1948. What she was supposed to symbolize is hard to say.

Reds, Laos Reach Accord

PARIS (U) — The royal Laotian government and the Communist Pathet Lao have reached agreement to integrate armed forces and re-unify this country, the French news agency reported from Vietnam.

The agency quoted a communique issued last night by Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier of the royal government, and his half-brother, Prince Souvanna Vong, chief of the Pathet Lao forces.

Under the 1954 Geneva agreements which ended the Indochinese war, the Pathet Lao was permitted to occupy two of the northern provinces of the country. The Geneva conference ordered the royal government and the Pathet Lao to get together to settle their differences.

Scout's Never Heard Of Ants

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U) — A 17-year-old boy scout counselor, who is playing nursemaid to some 30 phrynosoma cornuta, says his parents "are a little bit shocked, I think."

Glenn Chesnut Jr. received the horned toads from Texas over the weekend and they're now resting in a screened crate on his porch. He got the grotesque creatures, he says, because "whenever a boy scout sees a horned toad his ears prick up."

Glenn and several of his buddies wrote the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce recently asking where they might locate a few horned toads. They had seen some at a Boy Scout jamboree.

Their request found its way into a San Antonio newspaper and the big-hearted Texans came through.

Glenn plans to take his toads to a scout convention at Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 27.

Right now, he's having trouble finding something for the toads to eat. He's tried raw hamburger "but I don't think they've touched it yet."

Around The Rim

Robot May Replace Reporter

Things are coming to a pretty pass, indeed, in this big hectic world.

They've gone and invented a machine which can write the lyrics for songs. You set a few dials, light up some red spot-lights, push a button. Out comes a bunch of verses. Moon rhymed with June, love with dove; kiss with miss—in traditional popular song form. So far the inventors haven't rigged their electronic brain so it will write the music. That remains even in these modern days to be done by some mere mortal who hasn't a single relay nor even one transistor in his whole circuit.

But look where this sort of thing could lead to!

The dad-burned machines can write song lyrics now. Tomorrow what?

Take my profession—as we often laughingly refer to the business of getting out a newspaper. What's likely to happen is an electronic reporter. Some sort of radio powered robot with a built-in typewriter will be produced. One man, perhaps, will punch a button on his desk.

Up clanks the robot, his incandescent eyes flashing.

The city editor—they'll probably call him a city engineer or something like that, leans forward, pushes a couple of buttons.

Out goes our robot. He rumbles down town; walks ponderously through the offices which we now haunt as ordinary reporters. His sensitive electronic gadgets will scent out every thing that's going on. Automatically these facts will record themselves. His electric typewriter will begin to click. By the time he gets back to the office, not only are his stories written in perfect form and with complete accuracy, but they may even be set up in type and ready for insertion in the columns of the paper.

Already they have robots which answer phones, make notations of calls and jot down pertinent data. They have others which can solve difficult mathematical problems in a twinkling of the eye. The darn things can't make a mistake, they say.

Now they have one which can roll out reams of mushy lyrics probably suitable for songs destined to land on the Hit Parade.

No one ever accused a reporter of writing anything resembling literature. If he engages in purple writing, the odds are 8 to 10 that he is some dyspeptic editor who'll turn red behind the ears and, wielding a big black pencil, rip the very soul out of the scribe's deathless prose.

All we are expected to do in 100 out of 101 instances is transcribed the bare bones of a story. The basic element facts summed up in the classic formula of every city room the world over—who, when, where, why and what.

What's complicated about that?

All writing ever is, anyhow, is just jutting down one word and then adding another. Long long ago, some philosopher argued that if you placed six monkeys in a cage, provided them with sufficient paper, typewriters and time that ultimately those six simians would peck out every literary masterpiece the world has ever known.

It wouldn't take the monks too long to master the fine art of journalism. What about electronic brains?

So I'm expecting Editor and Publisher, which is the "bible" of newspaper offices everywhere, to soon have full-page advertisements of a new electronic brain reporter.

All you'll need is a dependable electric supply.

A battery of robots won't be out of the office lolling at cafe tables drinking coffee when you need 'em.

They won't be nagging you forever for "by lines." They won't talk back to the town's sacred cows and get the paper in ditch.

They won't ask for bigger pay-checks. All they'll need is an occasional shot of oil and a new transformer every 10 years or so.

Wonder what's open in the public relations racket these days?

—SAM BLACKBURN

Why has our poetry eschewed The rapture and response of food? What hymns are sung, what praises said

For home-made miracles of bread? —Louis Untermeyer, "Food and Drink"

What hymns are sung, for that matter, for the prodigality of August when the fruits of the earth and the fullness thereof spill across the land from coast to coast?

No, if ever, come perfect days for the gastronome who eats to live and prizes his taste buds above rubles. A pox on diet charts, "sustenance" pills and bathroom scales in a month that brings the incomparable roasting ear to perfection, that produces the first peach pie, that confers the delicacy of green apple sauce and the blessings of tomatoe warm, scarlet and heavy on the vine!

All across the nation, the kitchen and the orchard garden is producing its annual August miracles. "Summertime and the livin' is easy," especially if one has the strength of character to toss the girdle on the bonfire and let the belt out a notch or two. Time enough to roll and starve off the bulge when the melancholy days have come and the Golden Bantam is no longer an emerald heap at the roadside stand or in the supermarket.

Americans will eat better than ever this year, say reports out of Washington. One of the chief reasons for this happy state of affairs is an expected four per cent increase in garden produce.

All over the land, the old Kentucky

Wonder, the king of snapbeans, is racing the corn to grow as high as an elephant's eye. And does the home gardener today still plant a couple of Kentucky Wonders in every hill of corn, as Papa used to do, so that the "pole" and the beans grow together?

And what dish, on an August day, is more fit for the gods than a union of the two—Kentucky Wonders and Golden Bantam—into a summer succotash, bound to each other with a dollop of butter and a splash of savory, sweet cream?

What pleasure so soothing as to sit in the August sun in the middle of the tomato patch, pellucid in hand, and eat one's fill of the warm fruit, so red ripe that the skins curl back at a touch?

These are the days when the summer squash are like great topazes and need only a thinly-sliced onion or a soupcon of garlic concealed in the pan to create a masterpiece for the table. Now one must watch the cucumbers or they will try to rival watermelons in size.

And speaking of the watermelon! Man is born into trouble as the sparks fly upward, but what consolation on his journey is more satisfying and rewarding than the icy heart of an August watermelon? Sweet, cold and red-ripe, it is balm in Gilead, a boon above and beyond airconditioning or a dip in the ocean.

August! A month for digging the grave with the chompers. But what a way to die!

'Conspiracy Of Preference' In Autos

You and I, and federal, state, and local governments are guilty of a vast conspiracy.

We've been doing our best, albeit unconsciously, to put Studebaker-Packard Corp. and American Motors out of the automobile business. We've already succeeded, in recent years, in getting rid of Kaiser. We'd be prosecuted by the Department of Justice — except that there are so many of us.

For proof of this conspiracy, look at the cars in your garage and in your neighbors'. How many Ramblers, Hudsons, or Nashes do you find there? How many Studebakers or Packards?

Look into the U. S. Army garages. Look at the cars used by taxi companies. Look at the patrol cars used by police in cities, by state troopers on roads.

Look at the cars driven by fire department inspectors, board of health agents, etc.

What are they? Invariably Big Three cars — General Motors, Ford, Chrysler; Chevrolets, Fords, Buicks, Plymouths, Cadillacs.

It's a conspiracy of preference. When people go car-shopping, the Big Three models have much to offer: Size, style, and price. They command good trade-in values. A fellow has to think in buying a 1956 car what it'll cost him when he turns it in for a 1958 or '59 model.

It's a conspiracy helped by advertising. The Big Three din their models into all of us on TV, on the radio, and in the newspapers and magazines. The Little Two, not nearly so well heeled money-wise, can't compete for space or talent.

It's a conspiracy of ominous remarks in casual conversation, like this: "What kind of a car are you going to buy?" "I am thinking of a Chevy."

"Have you looked at the Rambler or the Stude?"

"No. Too risky. I want to stay with the big fellows. Dealers everywhere, and you're always sure of spare parts."

So, it gets harder and harder for the Little Two dealers to find customers. In turn, it's harder for the Little Two to find new dealers — to expand sales outlets. The tendency's to lose dealers.

This conspiracy of inattention to Little Two cars laid a minor emergency on the White House doorstep in April. Studebaker-Packard had just come through the first quarter with a $14,000,000 deficit. It had bank loans outstanding. It had to plan financing of its 1957 models.

If anything happened to the $200,000,000 Studebaker-Packard Corp. at a critical time — when automobile sales were skidding, when people were wondering about the business outlook for 1956 — confidence might be tipped the wrong way. Wall Street might have a slump. Business men might curtail plans for expansion. Consumers might be scared into closing their purses. The Republican "Peace and Prosperity" banner would droop.

Secretary of Defense Wilson promised Studebaker-Packard defense orders. An agreement to bring in much-needed cash through a deal with Curtiss-Wright was set in motion — with government orders held out as a promise. So here was a deliberate government effort to shore up Studebaker.

Now, what next we must know is whether it is maturely thoughtout policy. Does the government feel that the country is better off with five passenger car companies than with only three? Is it the considered plan of the Eisenhower administration to preserve multi-company competition?

If so, then the government ought to change its car-buying specifications to make Little Two cars acceptable on all bids. The government might even go farther and spread automobile purchases over the entire industry — to be sure that some American Motors and Studebaker-Packard cars carry government insignia.

Defense orders may help Studebaker-Packard and American Motors key sales as corporate enterprises. But only going of cars can make them thrifty, successful automobile companies.

Lamesa News Gatherer Has No Dull Moments

"If I told you all they get into, you wouldn't believe it," Mrs. Gene Campbell said in speaking of her three children, Mike, who is six, Anne, 4, and two-year-old Bill. Lamesa correspondent for the Herald, Mrs. Campbell also works as woman's director for radio station KPET. Her program, "Sincerely Yours," takes her away from home in the mornings. Her afternoons, she said, are spent gathering news.

"I'm seldom without a pencil and pad, wherever I am. My kitchen table is my desk, and usually there is a child on my lap as I write. Everything happens when I am talking over the phone." Then followed the story of Bill's attempt at cooking, when he spread three pounds of shortening over the floor and added a five-pound bag of sugar to it.

As for her work with Station KPET, Mrs. Campbell said "During the time that I have worked, I have interviewed many interesting people, usually taking a tape recorder with me or having them come to the studio. "At one time, I was invited to a home to interview a woman from Brazil, and she fixed me a cup of native coffee—brewed with 4 teaspoons of coffee per cup. One drink left me numb! I hardly remember what we talked about, but the tape sounded all right for the next day's program. Now I wait until after an interview for coffee."

Her husband is with the radio station in the advertising department; he also gives the local news at noon. They met during World War II and were married in Sentinel, Okla. His hobby is singing and giving an impersonation of Al Jolson. "My hobby is reading and giving book reviews. I like to sew for the family and myself, especially making my dresses to match my shoes. We are both members of the First Baptist Church. Gene is the assistant Sunday School superintendent, and I teach a class of girls, age 18-25," Mrs. Campbell continued.

The Campbells have lived in Lamesa about five years, moving there from Tulsa.

Mrs. Sparks Complimented With Bridal Shower

Mrs. Jack Sparks, the former Carol Bailey, was the honoree for the bridal shower Monday night in the home of Mrs. Charles McLaurin.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Mrs. Alva Porch, Mrs. O. O. Brown, Mrs. J. W. Parnley, Mrs. Roger Sessions and Mrs. Gordon Marchant.

Assisting the bride in the receiving line were Mrs. Jean Lawrence, mother of the bride, Mrs. Jack Sparks Sr., the bridegroom's mother, and Mrs. Roy O'Brien, the bride's grandmother.

Mrs. Sparks chose a dress of grey cotton styled with an empire waistline. She wore pink accessories and was presented a pink carnation corsage by the hostesses. The serving table was laid with a pink and white lace cloth and held appointments of crystal and silver. The white cake was decorated with pink roses and inscribed "Carol and Jack." The centerpiece was of a miniature bride and groom in an arch surrounded by sweetpeas and greenery.

Presiding at the register was Lucy Thompson.

About 35 guests called between the hours of 8 and 10 p.m.

Mrs. Carroll Reed Is Party Honoree

Mrs. Carroll Reed, the former Vista Jean Estes of Wichita Falls, was honored with a bridal shower Monday evening in the home of Mrs. O. C. James.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over red. Red roses and greenery made up the arrangement for the centerpiece. Serving was done by Mrs. Walker Reed.

Forty guests were registered by Mrs. R. V. Fryar.

Other hostesses included Mrs. John Hale, Mrs. Fryar, Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Holbert Fuller.

Mrs. Wiley To Speak

Mrs. Cliff Wiley, member of the Big Spring Garden Club, will speak at the meeting of the Four O'clock Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Aubrey Armstrong, 2916 Cherokee. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. C. H. Oliver. The occasion will be guest day for the club.

All-Church Shower Announced By WMU

All women of the WMU of the First Baptist Church met Monday in the church parlor for a study hour and tea.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien brought the lesson on the Stewardship of Tithing. His message was followed by a prayer by Mrs. P. D. O'Brien. In the business session members made plans for the all-church shower which will be held on Wednesday night, Aug. 15, after the prayer session. The shower will be in honor of a young missionary student at Mary Hardin Baylor College. Members of the church will pay the girls' tuition for her senior year.

A program at the shower will be presented by the WMU Sunbeam band sponsored by Mrs. T. C. Faulkner and Mrs. E. E. Bryant. Mrs. W. F. Taylor announced that next week is WMU Focus Week. Mrs. J. C. Pickle invited all members interested to attend the initiation service of the GA girls which will be held Thursday night.

Following the business meeting a tea was given honoring Mrs. C. J. Dodson, who is moving to Lubbock. Mrs. O'Brien presented the honor with a white Bible.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth over pale pink. Centerpiece was of purple asters and pink rhododendrons. Crystal appointments were used for serving.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

How do tumbleweeds affect you? Do you sneeze when you pass them, or gripe when they blow into your yard during a sandstorm or just think they are an abomination?

Helen Gray and Nancy Cunningham found a lot of people were very interested in them when they displayed their collection at the National Girl Scout Roundup in Michigan this summer. Many of the scouts took pieces of the weed home with them. Monday Helen had a letter from one of the California girls, whom she met at the meeting, and she was still proud of her piece of tumbleweed.

The local girls were chosen along with eight or ten other groups to display their project, which was a cowhide and a branding iron. These demonstrating their wares were shown on a television program and a photographer from National Geographic took their picture. I never seem to be watching television when some one from Big Spring gets in the camera view.

MR. AND MRS. Y. C. GRAY, Helen and Paul, have returned from Tampa, Fla., where they visited their daughter, Mrs. James Gatts, and Lt. Gatts.

All of the Ernest Buckleys were here from Fort Worth for the weekend. Mrs. Buckley is the former Betty Bob Dilz and was wed to Buckley when he was stationed here during the days of the Big Spring Bombardier School. With them were their four children, Betty Lynn, 9; the six-year-old twins, Pat and Mike; and the latest addition, Norman, who is 8½ months old. Their address is 3212 Phoenix Drive, Fort Worth, 16.

MR. AND MRS. ELTON GILLILAND and daughter are back from a vacation trip to Mexico. I don't know exactly what he means but he said he traced the route outlined in the life article by Sam Chamberlain and he doesn't think Mr. Chamberlain stuck too close to the truth. I don't know if he meant the route wasn't the same or that Mr. Chamberlain couldn't have been the man he wrote he was.

DR. AND MRS. CLYDE THOMAS and their four children are in Red River, N. M., for a two week vacation.

One of the happiest family gatherings this week was that of the S. V. Jordan family. Their four children and the 15 grandchildren were all here for the weekend. From Shreveport, La., were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Martin and their six children. Mrs. Martin, incidentally, is so attractive she might easily be mistaken for one of the younger set. Also here were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mitchell and three children of Miami, Fla., and Mr.

Reunion Held By Hambys

Coming from the East Coast to the West Coast, members of the J. F. Hamby family gathered for a family reunion Sunday. The group met at the Hamby residence at 1614 Young.

Their children attending were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hamby of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hill and Jay of Deming, N.M.; Milos Hamby of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Hamby, Myrna and Darrell of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Nile Bailey and Euell of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hamby, Deanie and Joanie of Westmoreland, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hamby, Max, Joel and Paul of Westmoreland, Calif.

Other grandchildren and great-grandchildren attending were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bailey, Bob and Stewart of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. White, Estelle and Melvon of Big Lake; A. Shank, Jackie and Stevie of Odessa; Mrs. Edith Moore, Terry and Sandy of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bailey and Nancy and Sue of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. John Pitman and Londa of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Blackwell of Big Spring and Billie Ruth Hamby of Stanton.

Nieces and nephews present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stark of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Hamby of Big Spring.

Desk, Derrick Club Meets For Dinner

Members of the Desk and Derrick Club met Monday evening in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Kountz for a dinner meeting.

Plans were discussed for attending the national convention of Desk and Derrick Clubs scheduled for Sept. 7-8 in New Orleans. After the business session, games of bingo were the diversion.

The attendance prize was won by Mrs. G. C. Broughton Jr. Three new members, Mrs. Janet Kelch, Mrs. Eugene Deaver and Mrs. John R. Asbury, were introduced. Forty-three attended the meeting, including three guests, Mrs. Mentora Carter, Mrs. Bill Todd of Grand Lake, Colo., and Audrey Bayless, Girl Guide of England, who is in this country on exchange with the Girl Scouts.

Born In August? Birthstone Means Married Happiness

The birthstone for August is either the peridot or the sardonyx... both symbolizing the hope and promise of married happiness.

According to legend, the peridot was supposed to have been guarded on the Red Sea island of its origin, now called St. John's, by zealous watchers whose duty it was to put to death any unauthorized persons who appeared. Legend also relates, says the Jewelry Industry Council, that a peridot repels the terrors of the night and, when set in gold, exerts great power over evil spirits.

The peridot, which still comes chiefly from St. John's Island, makes a fine ring stone for men as well as women. The most preferred shade is a soft delicate green with pale yellow undertones. The sardonyx, alternate birthstone for August, was reputed to give courage to orators and shy lovers. Scarabs cut from sardonyx have been found in Egyptian ruins, and history tells us that the ancient Romans were the first to choose it for August's birthstone. A stone which combines the beauty of opaque red and brown tones, and sardonyx is found mainly in Brazil and Uruguay today. For men it is especially popular as an emblematic or initial ring stone.

Presbyterian Group Has Final Meeting

Women of the First Presbyterian Church met Monday morning for the last meeting of the summer. These meetings, held once a month, have included a three in one session.

Mrs. Tommy Jordan presided at the business meeting. Reports were given by the chairmen of the various circles and also by the officers. Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr. reported on the United Council of Church Women.

Visitor Is Honored At Gala Party

Mrs. Jack Haptonstall was hostess Monday afternoon for a party honoring Linda Ward of Grand Saline, who is a guest of her cousin, Diane Crabtree.

Favors were tiny salt shakers and a piece of rock salt from one of the mines in the home town of the honoree. The refreshment table was centered with pink gladioli formed into the shape of a record player. A small record on the player had "Linda" written on it. Cookies in the form of miniature records bore the same name.

Eight girls were present, including two out-of-town guests, Betty Fincher of Ruston, La., and Carol Jean Caultle of Big Lake.

Show Business Day In Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was show business day in court.

Singer Peggy King filed suit for divorce yesterday. Awarded divorce were actresses Jeanne Crain and Joanne Gilbert and the wives of actor Edward G. Robinson and Art Baker, radio and television announcer and commentator.

Another Robinson, Edward G. Jr., 24, appeared in another court room adjoining his mother's and pleaded innocent to a felony drunk driving charge.

Miss King, 25, charging cruelty, asked to end her shaky marriage to trumpet player Knobby Lee, 28, whose true name is Norbert Lidnbauch. They had separated several times since their marriage here Feb. 2, 1953.

Miss Crain, 30, distraught and fighting to retain composure, said her husband, manufacturer Paul Brinkman, 37, displayed hostility toward her mother, Mrs. E. She said Brinkman also dragged her by the hair from a Beverly Hills restaurant last January.

Brinkman did not attend the hearing and his attorney withdrew a cross complaint.

Attorneys said the Brinkman financial settlement will provide for equal division of $500,000 in community property. She waived alimony but will receive $300 a month support for their four children, Paul Jr., 9; Michael, 7; Timothy, 6; and Jeanine, 4.

Mrs. Robinson, 59, testified that her husband of 29 years told her he "wanted to lead his own life."

She said Robinson, 62, stayed away from home almost every night and on weekends.

The court-awarded property settlement awarded her half of a four-million-dollar fortune. It includes $3,500 a month alimony for

Legion Gives Equal Vote To Negroes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Texas American Legion passed at the annual convention Sunday a resolution giving Negro members equal voting rights with white members.

11 months and 25 per cent of Robinson's income for life, or until her remarriage.

She also is to get half of the cash received for the Robinson art collection, valued at $2,500,000. Miss Gilbert, 24, divorced screen writer Benny Arnold, 31, saying her husband once said "his career as a writer was more important to him than a wife."

Mrs. Alice Baker, 48, testified her husband, 58, "mostly just wants to be free."

Mrs. Baker will receive 15 per cent of her husband's income if it exceeds $50,000 a year, but only 14 per cent if it drops below that figure.

Young Robinson's trial was set for Oct. 15. He was charged with felony drunk driving after his sports car crashed into another car and his passenger was seriously injured last June 21.

Colonel Convicted On Conduct Charge

FT. DEVENS, Mass. (AP)—Col. Walter C. Heinel, 54, former commanding officer of the Boston Army base, awaited sentencing today after a court-martial board found him guilty on eight counts of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Heinel, a native of Chicago, was found guilty last night after the eight-member court-martial board deliberated for nearly nine hours.

Under the Uniform Code of Military Justice the colonel would receive imprisonment up to 30 months and a dishonorable discharge from the service. He was relieved of his command last April.

The board found Heinel guilty of these charges:

(1) Accepting free meals amounting to $350; (2) failure to pay laundry and dry cleaning bills amounting to $60; (3) accepting haircuts amounting to $18; (4) attempting to induce a married woman to abandon her husband by

Wreckage Of 2 Planes Found

PORT MANSFIELD, Tex. (AP)—The wreckage of two light planes—one missing since it left Fort Worth Friday and the other lost after leaving Houston Feb. 7—were found near the lower Gulf coast Sunday.

A honeymooning couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keller, and their pilot, Henry West, perished in the Fort Worth plane. It crashed on a salt flat, 35 miles north of Port Mansfield and 3 miles inland from Laguna Madre.

The other wreckage was 62 miles away in Laguna Atascosa, also known as Parker Lake, northwest of Port Isabel. Only its tail section was sticking out of the water.

Joseph Shiver, 40, who owned the Houston Shamrock Electric Co. piloted the plane. He was accompanied by George Simon, 28; Eugene Mills, 37, and Christian Eberle, 33.

presenting gifts, courting and entertaining her publicly as well as privately, and talking of marriage to her.

(3) Garaging his car in a government motor pool; (4) having his automobile repaired in a government motor pool and (7 and 8) two counts of fraternization with enlisted personnel.

The married woman referred to in the charges was Mrs. Alice M. Wilson of Weston, Mass., a 30-year-old honey-blonde. She was a witness at the trial.

In seeking dismissal of the charge alleging Heinel took Mrs. Wilson from her husband, a former Army captain, the defense asserted, "If it wasn't Col. Heinel it would have been someone else who came along at the right time when she was dissatisfied with her marital life."

The Wilsons have reunited. They have two children.

Adlai Polishes For Autumn Campaign

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson is prepared to toss political tradition aside in filling second place on the ticket if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 nominee, is supremely confident he will get the top nomination on the first or second ballot at next week's convention here.

This view, of course, is disputed by supporters of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and several "favorite son" candidates working for a deadlocked convention in which the lightning might strike one of them.

If he is worried by the threat of such a deadlock, Stevenson does not show it. He already is reviewing and refurbishing his position on major issues in anticipation of a vigorous fall campaign against President Eisenhower.

He has convinced himself in primary campaigning in all sections of the country that Eisenhower's popularity is overrated. He believes the President can be beaten.

With this in mind, he is looking ahead still further to January. He has told friends he is more interested in getting a running mate who will make a top-notch vice president than in satisfying the usual requirements of geography and voter appeal.

His view, like that of some Republicans, is that a vice presidential candidate seldom adds much strength to the ticket.

What he wants, he has told friends, is a vice president who will be the President's personal representative in Congress — a force for the White House legislative program.

Beyond that, he apparently wants a man who could do the same sort of security council, globe-trotting and ceremonial job for him that Vice President Nixon has done for President Eisenhower.

To get the kind of man he wants, Stevenson is willing to waive geographic praise for Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York as an executive he thinks has accomplished a great deal without bombast. He likes the cut of the jib of Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Stevenson's strategists, who pay more attention to the political implications than their candidate does, do not discount the possibility that Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee might wind up in second place on the November ticket.

As a former presidential candidate who withdrew, Kefauver has a delegate following for the vice presidential place greater than any of the other possibilities can muster.

The Stevenson strategists obviously would be happy to lure Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas onto a Stevenson ticket. But Johnson is unlikely to give up his job as the Senate's Democratic leader for the No. 2 spot.

Stevenson's forces are doing what they can to prevent a blowup over the civil rights plank. They expect Harriman's supporters to raise the issue on the floor if the Platform Committee, now holding hearings, comes out with a compromise plank.

Sen. Joseph P. Mahoney of Wyoming and former Rep. Jennings Randolph of West Virginia both predicted the committee will compose North-South differences without bringing a minority report before the convention.

However, Rep. Ray Madden of Indiana said he is going to insist "so far as my power is concerned" on a plank endorsing the Supreme Court's decision for racial integration in the schools.

Stevenson's view is that it is inevitable the platform will carry an endorsement of the desegregation decision and that this will not split the Southerners away from the party.

The Platform Committee called through some stormy seas yesterday with testimony on a farm plank. Robert E. Short of Minneapolis and several other committee members gave Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, some rough going.

TED HULL "FRIENDLIEST SERVICE IN TOWN" ELMO PHILLIPS

'Big Spring's Finest Restaurant'

The Wagon Wheel, 303 E. 3rd, known for years as the city's "finest restaurant," strives constantly to maintain that reputation. Prompt and courteous service, the best of foods expertly prepared, and an atmosphere of quiet efficiency combine in achieving that goal.

Duncan Hines and the American Automobile Association both recommend the restaurant to travelers. Hundreds of Big Springers recommend the Wagon Wheel to their friends and neighbors.

Jones Keeps Cars In Tip-Top Shape

Everyone cannot keep a new car all the time, but everyone can keep his old vehicle in tip-top operation all the time by having it serviced at Jones Motor Company, Big Spring's Dodge-Plymouth dealer.

Jones Motor Company is located at the corner of First and Gregg streets — at the south end of the Lamesa viaduct. The building fronts on Gregg, but the service entrance is on First.

In their spacious service building, they are prepared to handle any type of automotive trouble and service, ranging from tightening screws to complete overhauls. And all under one roof.

Their mechanics are trained by Chrysler Corporation technical courses to repair any car in the shortest amount of time — yet missing no detail. It will also be done for the minimum cost; nothing will be added that is not needed at Jones Motor Company. After a hard summer of driving — which probably included a long vacation trip — any car could use a checkup. Those small items and squeaks will, if not attended, develop into big troubles that will later cost heavily.

By taking your car to Jones you can expect it to be clean and completely oiled and greased when it is delivered to you.

This lubrication will include draining and refilling the crankcase, repacking the front wheel bearings, and check and possible change of transmission, differential, and steering gear lubricant.

If the oil filter is approaching 5,000 miles of service, it will need to be changed.

Restaurant Has Large Following

Striving constantly and successfully to maintain its reputation as "Big Spring's finest restaurant" is the Wagon Wheel, 303 E. 3rd Street.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt and managed by E. L. Terry, the establishment has a nationwide following. Scores of U. S. 80 and U.S. 87 travelers from all sections of the nation dine at the Wagon Wheel every time they are in this area.

Thousands of other tourists stop at the Wagon Wheel for the first time each year because of the recommendations of Duncan Hines, world-famous gourmet who found the Wagon Wheel food and service to his liking.

The American Automobile Association, a national affiliation of motorists, also recommends the Wagon Wheel in Big Spring to its members.

Of course, hundreds of Big Springers are ready to suggest, "Let's go to the Wagon Wheel," when their families and friends decide to dine out.

The Wagon Wheel is conveniently situated at the corner of Third and Owens. It can be reached from the east by way of Third Street and from the west by way of Fourth or Second and one block of Owens. Prominent signs point the way.

A large, paved parking apron has been provided on the west and south sides of the restaurant for the convenience of patrons who object to downtown congestion and the unpaved areas surrounding other establishments.

Inside, Wagon Wheel customers are greeted by a courteous waitress who shows them to tables and promptly accepts and fills their orders. Organ music is played for periods in the early afternoon and evening.

The Wagon Wheel also has a large private dining room for use of clubs or other groups with programs to present.

Arrangements for use of the banquet room should be made in advance of the date it is needed, due to the large demand for the facility. Terry will provide reservations, if contacted sufficiently in advance.

Thomas Typewriter Fills School Needs

What with September just ahead, families will shortly be faced with the problem of providing school supplies for youngsters.

A local concern which stocks all kind of school needs—from notebook paper to compasses, from crayolas to fountain pens — is the Thomas Typewriter and Office Supply, located at 107 Main Street.

As the name of the establishment implies, Thomas Typewriter and Office Supply not only sells and services typewriters but can completely outfit the modern business office as well.

Such items as electric and manually operated adding machines, cash registers, strong boxes, steel desks, posture chairs and filing cabinets can be purchased at the Thomas concern, owned and operated by Gene Thomas.

Scotch tape, loose leaf binders, ruled paper, globes, atlases, ball-

OKAY, SAWYERS, PILE IN YOUR LUGGAGE AND LET'S GET GOING.

THESE PEOPLE ARE BANK ROBBERS, BUZ! WE'VE GOT TO TURN THEM IN TO THE POLICE!

BUT SUPPOSE THEY'RE NOT BANK ROBBERS, THEY'D SUE US FOR FALSE ARREST.

WELL, I SIMPLY REFUSE TO RIDE ANOTHER MILE WITH THEM.

NOW, LOOK, TWINKLE-EYES, WE'VE GOT TO GO ON TO LOS ANGELES WITH THEM SO I CAN MAKE CHUCK REPLACE OUR CAR HE FORGED OVER THE CLIFF.

AND AS I SAID BEFORE, CHUM, WHAT CHARMING BANK ROBBERS THEY ARE.

BUZ SAWYER, I THINK YOU'RE UTTERLY MAD!

SO WHY DO YOU CALL ME AN IDIOT?

I'LL BE GLAD TO EXPLAIN THAT TO YOU, AND YOUR FELLOW IDIOTS, YOU IDIOT!

HOW MUCH TIME DO YOU SPEND WORKING?

8 HOURS.

AND THE OTHER 8 HOURS, I RELAXES!

EXACTLY!—THE TYPICAL DAY OF A TYPICAL IDIOT!

AND NOW FOR THE BULLMOOSE RAN.

BLONDIE

BLONDIE YOU'LL NEVER GET THAT TABLE THRU THE DOOR THAT WAY—TURN IT AROUND!

THAT'S RIGHT—GET ONE SIDE THRU FIRST.

OKAY—NOW TURN IT AND GET THE OTHER TWO LEGS THRU!

EGYPT

dia topped the list of nations that still have not said whether they will attend the talks the Western Big Three propose to open in London Aug. 16. There were rumors that India's Prime Minister Nehru might be shaping a counter plan to give Egypt a face-saving avenue of retreat.

After a two-hour session last night, the Egyptian Cabinet gave no indication if it would accept the conference bid but an official source asserted:

"Egypt has plenty of time to answer. The deadline to deliver a reply is midnight Aug. 15."

Washington sources said all American planning was going ahead on the assumption that the conference will start on schedule, but the possibility of a postponement was not ruled out.

O. B. Redwine Dies Tuesday

Oscar B. Redwine, 59, died in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Houston on Tuesday, after a long illness.

Mr. Redwine, a resident of Big Spring for the past 28 years, had been a photographer when health would permit. He was a member of the West Side Baptist Church. Surviving him are three sons, Billy Redwine, El Paso, Dr. Oscar Leo Redwine, Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., and Fletcher Horton Redwine, Worling, Wyo.; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Lou Crook, Eunice, N. M. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Redwine preceded him in death on Dec. 16, 1955.

Arrangements are in charge of River Funeral Home. Information had not been received at noon Tuesday as to when the remains would arrive here from Houston.

Commissioners Set Meet Schedule

It was mistakenly reported Monday the county commissioners court would meet hereafter only one time each month.

The facts are the commissioners court will convene on the first and fourth Mondays of each month. The next regular meeting will be on Aug. 13, and the second meeting of this month on Aug. 27.

The commissioners, who have been meeting each Monday, voted a week ago to reduce the number of regular meetings from four to two. It was also provided that special meetings could be called at anytime special business arose which required attention.

Furniture Left In Front Yard

Unknown persons left instead of taking items Monday. And the items were pieces of a bedroom suite.

Mrs. Jimmie Eastham, 1406 Birdwell, reported to the police department Monday afternoon that a bedroom suite had been left in her front yard. No reason for the furniture was known by Mrs. Eastham.

She has since had the furniture carried into the house.

Three New Locations Added To Howard-Glasscock Field

Three new locations have been added to the Howard-Glasscock field, with Continental Oil of Midland staking two.

The two under the Continental flag are the Nos. 6 and 7 W. R. Settles are are about four miles west of Forsan. Both will be drilled to 2,800 feet.

Standard Oil of Texas is locating the No. 1-7 Dora Roberts two miles east of Forsan. It will be drilled to 2,700 feet.

The Anderson-Prichard No. 1 Pearce wildcat reported Monday is a re-entry of an old venture. It was originally drilled by Bay Petroleum Company at the No. 1-A-X Pearce and was plugged and abandoned Mar. 1, 1950 at 8,411 feet.

It is one mile west of Gall and is being carried this time to 7,000 feet.

Borden

Brennan No. 1 Roper wildcat is drilling at 5,900 feet in shale and sand. Site is C NE SW, 9-31-4n, T&P Survey.

Wrather No. 1 Good has deepened to 9,085 feet in lime and shale. It is C NE SW, 16-32-3n, T&P Survey.

Anderson-Prichard No. 2 Clark is drilling at 6,266 feet in the Spraberry after two corings. Operator cored from 6,105-65 feet and recovered 60 feet of light fine-grained gray sand with scattered stainings and thin limestone streamers.

It then cored 6,105-90 feet, recovering two feet of brown dense limy sand, five feet of tan very silty sand, two feet of brown dense silty sand, five feet of tan to gray silty sand, and 11 feet of brown silty shale. Site is C SE SW, 31-4n, T&P Survey.

Continental No. 1-28 Good, in the Arthur field, has projected to 6,100 feet in lime. Site is C NE SE, 28-33-4n, T&P Survey, seven and a half mile north of Vealmoor.

Continental No. 2-33 Good is drilled to 8,972 feet, with bottom-out depth being 8,039 feet. Operator swabbed 417 barrels of oil and 122 barrels of water in 24 hours.

Standard No. 1-7 Roberts is a

50 Boys Expected At Baptist Camp

About 50 boys are expected to register this afternoon for the Baptist Underprivileged Camp at the Baptist grounds south of Big Spring.

Registration was to have started at 1 p.m. today. The camp will continue through Thursday. Although it is being sponsored by Howard County Baptist churches, the sheriff and police departments are helping.

Monday afternoon, 39 boys had signed with Juvenile Officer A. E. Long.

Rev. W. A. James, Airport Bar-

Stadium Bids To Be Opened

Bids will be opened at 4 p.m. today in the high school library for construction of auxiliary facilities at the new stadium.

These were included as alternates under the original bids, but when proposals ran beyond the money, the board elected to call for separate proposals. Included in today's bidding will be the restrooms, ticket booths, press box, concessions stands, etc.

Immediately after the opening (and possibly the letting), the board will hold its regular sessions, having moved it forward one week to coincide with the date of the bid openings. Having settled the major problem of teacher and supervisory scales for the year 24 hours, the board will be in a position to tackle other phases of the proposed budget for the 1956-57 year.

It is one mile west of Gall and is being carried this time to 7,000 feet.

Dawson

Superior No. 1 Barnes-McBrayer is plugged back to 12,600 feet after drilling to 12,631 feet and is preparing to run surveys. Site is C SE SE, Labor 24, League 271, Loving CSL Survey.

Baxter No. 1 Mission is still testing the Spraberry. It is in the Felten field, C SE SE, 6-33, HE&WT Survey, 14 miles northeast of Lamesa.

Drilling & Exploration No. 2 Wells pumped 327.93 barrels of oil, plus 109.31 barrels of water, on a 24-hour potential test. Perforations in the Devonian are between 12,054-60 and 12,066-72 feet. Site is 330 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of the northwest quarter, Labor 9, League 4, Taylor CSL Survey.

Humble No. 1 Koger, a wildcat four miles southwest of Sparaberry, has deepened to 10,420 feet in lime and shale. It is C SE SE, 32-35-4n, T&P Survey.

Seaboard No. 11 Patterson will be drilled in the Spraberry, West Deep, field 15 miles southeast of Lamesa. Site is 2,113 feet from north and 3,000 feet from west lines, 40-34-5n, T&P Survey. Contract depth is 7,700 feet.

Howard

Grappe-Cosden No. 1 Cranfill is drilling at 7,934 feet in lime and shale. Site of the wildcat is three miles south of the Big Spring field, C NE SW, 21-31-1n, T&P Survey.

Webb Graduate Dies In Fall

Lt. Larry Lee McCelvey, 23, who was killed Monday when his parachute failed to open after he bailed out in the White Tank Mountains of Arizona, was a graduate of Webb AFB.

Lt. McCelvey, whose home was in Crockett, was wed here June 25 in the St. Thomas Catholic Church to Teresa Anne Hengel, who survives him. Mrs. McCelvey has been a nurse at the Veterans Administration Hospital for a year, and prior to that had been on the nurses staff at the Big Spring Hospital. Her home is in Gallup, N.M.

After completing his work in Crockett High School, Lt. McCelvey was graduated from Texas A&M College in January of 1955 with a major in math and physics. On Jan. 20, 1955, he also received his commission from the ROTC and entered flight training at Marana AB, Ariz.

He was a member of Class 56-Q, receiving his jet wings at Webb on June 23.

At the time of his death, Lt. McCelvey was on a flight from Luke AFB, Ariz., in a Thunderbolt. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. McCelvey, Crockett.

Bedcheck Due For Conference

Wendell Bedcheck, with the Texas Research League, will arrive in Big Spring Wednesday morning for the first of three conferences scheduled in this county on that date and Thursday.

He will meet at 9 a.m. with the county commissioners court at the court house for the opening meeting. His discussion with the commissioners will deal largely with highway needs and problems.

He also has a meeting with the city commissioners and a conference with a committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce scheduled for his two day visit here.

Judge R. H. Weaver, speaking for the commissioners, said that the court will meet at 9 a.m. for the initial meeting with the research league representative.

It was said that Bedcheck will be accompanied by others from his office.

Sheriff Thanks Others For Aid

Jess Slaughter, sheriff, Tuesday voiced his appreciation to the city police, the Texas Highway Patrol and other law enforcement officers for their assistance in handling the crowds and traffic during the recent Big Spring rodeo.

The sheriff said the cooperation from all law enforcement agencies during the rodeo was "wonderful" and that thanks to this cooperation, the rodeo season passed without serious disturbance or accident to mar the record.

He expressed his appreciation in particular for the help these officers lent in handling the flow of traffic to and from the rodeo grounds.

He also thanked the city police, the Texas Highway Patrol and other law enforcement officers for their assistance in handling the crowds and traffic during the recent Big Spring rodeo.

Armed Might

The British aircraft carrier Theseus sails from Portsmouth, England, loaded with "Red Devils" parachute brigade who carried full battle equipment and were prepared for any eventuality arising from Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. The troops line all sides of the warship while lorries are grouped on the afterdeck.

Candidates Make Campaign Reports

Candidates in the July 28 primary election were required to file their supplemental sworn statement on election expenditures with the county clerk by 5 p.m. Aug. 6. Most of the contenders for office have filed their reports but it was said a number of the office seekers seemingly have overlooked the matter.

Reports on expenses involved in the primary campaign on file with the county clerk show: Grover C. Coates, constable, Precinct 1, $88.96; C. H. Forgas, constable, Precinct 1, $156.65. Walter

Rites Pending For J. B. Wood

Jess B. Wood, 78, retired farmer, died in a hospital here early Tuesday after an illness of 30 days duration.

Mr. Wood had made his home here for the past 36 years.

He was a member of the Church of Christ at 14th and Main Streets and of the Woodmen of the World.

Arrangements are pending at the River Funeral Home.

Surviving him are his wife: five sons, Rayburn Wood, J. B. Wood Jr., and Curtis Wood of Big Spring, Worley Wood, Longview, and Joe Wood, San Angelo; a daughter, Mrs. Daucey Kinard, Big Spring; a sister, Mrs. J. T. Wallace, Dallas. He also leaves 12 grandchildren.

Absentee Votes Still Lacking

Absentee ballots for the Aug. 25 run-off primary election are still lacking at the office of the county clerk, Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that she has received no further information when the ballots will be delivered to her office.

Absentee voting period for the August 25 primary opened officially on Monday and a considerable number of voters applied to the office of the clerk for their ballots.

Deadline for voting absentee for the Aug. 25 election expires on Aug. 21.

Until the ballots arrive, she pointed out, start of absentee voting will have to be delayed. This is not the first election in which absentee ballots have been slow in reaching the office and there have been other occasions when the voting period had to be shortened as a result, she said.

Rileys Return From Camp Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Riley have returned from the Lions' Camp for Texas Crippled Children near Kerrville. Riley attended a meeting of the board of directors there.

Two of the activities of the camp were a carnival staged by the children on Saturday and a water carnival, with the children participating on Sunday.

Guests in the Riley home have been Mr. and Mrs. Pat Jackson of Naogoches, who were en route from the meeting to Carlisle, N. M., before they returned home.

$25 In Billfold Lost Downtown

A resident lost a billfold in the downtown area Monday during the Dollar Day rush. It contained more than $25.

Elna Burleson, 206 Galveston, reported that the red billfold contained $27 in cash plus a group of pictures. She said that it was possibly lost in J. C. Penny's store.

No Accidents

For the third time in eight days Monday, the city went through the day without a traffic accident. Big Spring was also accidentless last Wednesday, the first day of August. On July 29, the city also went without a mishap.

IKE

the old Russian plan for cutting off forces without inspection to see that the reductions are real.

Eisenhower's reply was delayed by the illness which sent him to the hospital for major intestinal surgery just after the Bulgarian letter came in.

In recalling the Big Four summit conference in Geneva, Eisenhower said "I must confess that I am greatly disturbed by the developments which have occurred since" he met with Bulganin at that time.

Russia agreed with the West at Geneva, he said, that Germany should be reunited by means of free elections. But, the President added:

"Not only has this not happened, but I hear statements from your side which seem to imply that your government is determined to maintain indefinitely the division of Germany."

"I must confess that I am perplexed as to how we can work together constructively if agreements that are negotiated at the highest level after the most thorough exploration do not seem dependable."

Eisenhower at this point expressed his "honest hope" that eventually the major powers will make progress on a plan aimed at "meaningful control of armaments." However, in the meantime, Eisenhower put this question to Bulganin to consider:

"May we not, Mr. Chairman, of the Soviet Council of Ministers—do more to realize the hopes which were born of our meeting at Geneva? We then made promises, notably about Germany, which desperately need to be fulfilled."

Scout Leaders Get Unit Assignments

Organization of the commissioners' staff for the Lone Star District was completed Monday evening at a meeting in the First Baptist Church basement.

Cliff Epps, district commissioner, said that Jerry Mancill, Allen Orr, Chester Cathey, Rev. Richard Deak and Bill Vaughn, assistant commissioners, assigned specific units to their neighborhood commissions. In all 17 attended the meeting. Epps said that the commissioners would be added as part of the regular monthly scouter meetings with Leslie Snow in charge of the Explorer's commissions and Otis Bradford a d Chester Abernathy in charge of the Scout group.

Wyatt Descendants To Meet Annually

COLORADO CITY — In a family reunion at Abilene's Cobb Park Sunday, the descendants of the late John Wyatt voted to meet annually. The next meeting will be held Aug. 4, 1957.

Among those attending were Mrs. C. I. Jeffries, Mrs. Bobbie Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Henderson and Robert Truman of Colorado City and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moody and Mrs. A. C. Moody of Westbrook.

5 Men Fined On Drunk Charges

Five of the six defendants in corporation court this morning were tried for drunkenness, and one of them paid a $60 fine.

The others were charged $15 each on drunk charges, and one was fined $3 for vagrancy.

Vandals Getting News For Free

Vandals have been getting their news for free the past two weeks. During that time, carriers have reported Big Spring and San Angelo newspapers stolen from the news rack in the Permian building.

Infant Stillborn

Rites are pending for the daughter stillborn to Mrs. Katie Jones in a local hospital today. Besides the mother survivors include three brothers, Robert, Henry and Harold; three sisters, Alice, Lynda and Sandra Jones, all of the family homes are in northwest Big Spring. The body is at River Funeral Home.

Revival Ends

KNOTT — Revival services were concluded Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church here. The evangelist was the Rev. O. D. Henley, Brownwood. Several visitors from Big Spring, Brownfield, Fieldton, Lubbock and even from as far away as Ohio were present.

Arrangements Not Complete For Baby

Services are pending for David Carl Parks, the infant son stillborn to Mr. and Mrs. Don Parks at a hospital here last night.

Arrangements are in charge of River Funeral Home. Besides the parents, survivors include three sisters, Laura Jane Parks, Donna Joann, Jan Marie; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Parks, Graham; the maternal grandparents, Mrs. J. E. Wier, El Paso, and the great-grandmother, Mrs. Anna Polack, Fort Worth.

Zhukov Disagrees On Concept Of Short, Fast Aerial War

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov says the new combination of air power and nuclear arms "by themselves cannot decide the outcome of an armed struggle."

The Russian marshal says a future war will require large armies and tremendous quantities of ordinary arms, despite development of airpower and nuclear weapons.

Zhukov expressed the opinion in response to questions submitted to him in writing by Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, during a visit to Moscow last month.

The Times story today said Zhukov's answer on the airpower-nuclear question "suggested an evaluation of warfare factors that came closer to that of the leaders of the United States ground forces than to those of the nuclear airpower school of thought."

Zhukov gave this explanation in part of the Soviet government's announced intention to reduce its armed forces by 1,840,000 men:

"We were motivated first of all by considerations of strengthening peace in the entire world and reducing tension in the relations between states, as well as by considerations of developing the peaceful economy of the Soviet Union and raising the well-being of the peoples of the U.S.S.R."

Asked whether the United States had exaggerated Soviet airpower, Zhukov replied that he had no precise data on official U.S. estimates of Soviet air strength. He added: "It is possible that some circles in the United States, especially those interested in armament orders, are inclined to exaggerate the amount of Soviet military air strength in order to derive benefit for increasing appropriations for military purposes and creating an atmosphere of distrust toward the Soviet Union."

Yarborough Plods After O'Daniel Votes

By WHITNEY SAWYER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Ralph Yarborough plodded grimly through the August heat Tuesday in pursuit of enough of W. Lee O'Daniel's 300-thousand votes to give him a runoff victory over his gubernatorial opponent, Sen. Price Daniel.

At Stephenville, Yarborough promised to increase old age pensions, establish a water conservation program and a drought relief program on the state level. He said he would clean up the veterans land scandals if elected.

Yarborough said at Georgetown that O'Daniel, who ran third in the first primary, had "mercilessly exposed corruption in the government of Texas as it now exists and called for a real cleanup."

Yarborough promised to handle the cleanup.

Art Davis of the O'Daniel hillbilly band punctuated the speechmaking with fiddling.

Yarborough said he had received additional support from former O'Daniel backers by letter and telegram. O'Daniel, however, has not said whom he will support.

Yarborough spoke at Round Rock, Georgetown, Copperas Cove, Killeen, Gatesville, Hamilton, Hico and Stephenville.

Daniel visited Kountze, Silsbee, Kirbyville, Newton, Jasper, Woodville and Lufkin.

Daniel, who had a strong lead in the first Democratic primary, announced a five-point program for drought relief. He discussed it with farmers and ranchers.

He said he would ask the Legislature for this program:

A state soil and water conservation plan to help in water projects of local units of government by loaning funds or backing up loans from private sources. A state constitutional amendment setting up a rotating fund, financed by bonds, from which loans could be made to farmers and ranchers who face foreclosures or drought disaster. Stepped-up research to develop drought-resistant crops. Research into conversion of salt water to fresh water usage. Research into artificial rainmaking.

Daniel said at Lufkin that "one last bulwark of democracy should be local control of our schools."

"Outside agitators like Walter Reuther who contributed money to the NAACP should stay way and let us run our schools locally," Daniel said.

"If Texas government and politics is to be run by Texas, vote for me," Daniel said. "Price Daniel belongs to no political machine in Austin or Washington."

He said he would be in Carthage, Center, and St. Augustine Tuesday and in Longview Tuesday night.

Will Wilson, who faces Tom Moore of Waco in the Aug. 25 runoff for attorney general, said he would not take advantage of a technicality to win. Wilson received more than 49 per cent of the vote in the first primary. One candidate, Curtis Hill, withdrew but still drew more than 79,000 votes.

"If those votes were not counted, of course, we would have a clear majority," Wilson said. "However, I could not want to take advantage of a technicality to win this race."

Girl Lashes Greek Killers
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—"You have brought misery to our homes and every day your cruel murders poison our lives."

This is a pretty, 22-year-old Greek Cypriot girl speaking in an island-wide broadcast to George Grivas, fugitive leader of EOKA, the underground fighting arm of the movement for union of Cyprus with Greece. Her fiancé was slain, presumably by EOKA, July 25.

"Get out of our island," said Dorsoula Demetriadou bitterly. "We do not want you. I am telling you this because I am not afraid of you any more."

An appeal to EOKA by three condemned countrymen during the weekend apparently brought about the release of a 78-year-old British hostage who had been threatened with death.

Freed after three days and three nights in an EOKA hideout, John A. Cremer was reported in "good condition" in a hospital but suffering shock and abrasions. He was bound, gagged and blindfolded while a hostage for the release of the three Cypriots under death sentence.

Cremer, a retired government official, was seized Wednesday night near this resort where he lives alone. EOKA, the underground organization of Cypriots seeking union with Greece, announced in leaflets he would be executed unless the three Cypriots convicted of extremist shootings were spared.

But Saturday the condemned men urged Cremer's release. The EOKA set him free at a crossroads Saturday night.

2 Persons Killed In Chemical Blast
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Two persons were killed Monday in a huge explosion at an Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp. plant.

At least 20 others were reported injured in the blast, which rocked this city shortly after noon.

Pair Slain At Traffic Light
HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP)—Charles W. Testa, 39, died Monday of bullet wounds in the chest some five hours after his girl friend was killed outright by pistol fire as they sat in their car halted by a red traffic light.

Mrs. Janet Koehler, 25, died on the spot with seven bullet wounds in her chest.

Testa had four wounds in the chest and another in his left hand. Shortly after the shooting at the busy junction of Lawrence Street and Kenzo Avenue, police issued a "wanted for murder" bulletin for Arthur Koehler, 31, divorced husband of Mrs. Koehler.
