

Rabies Danger Signal Raised; Action Is Urged

By JESS BLAIR
 With an outbreak of rabies at McCamey and Big Lake, and with at least two or three rabid foxes roaming the country, this town is sitting on a powder keg that could erupt in an outbreak of rabid dogs at any time.

This is the opinion of Dr. Akin Simpson, Big Spring veterinarian. He is backed up by one of the city's leading child specialists.

At McCamey several people are taking treatment for rabies, while 19 dogs are under observation at the city dog pound. Other rabid animals have been reported in Tom Greene and Dawson counties within the last few months.

Simpson says only a small percent of the dogs in Big Spring have been vaccinated and that hardly any of them are kept penned. The kids and dogs play together on almost every block, yet no one knows when a friendly dog may become ill and suddenly bite someone.

The child specialist says several cases could break out at any time. He personally hears of at least two cases of dog bite every day, and says there are probably others where people do not report for medical attention.

"Our biggest problem is the number of stray dogs," he said. "They roam at will, and if one bites a child and then disappears the parents of the child never know whether or not the dog was rabid."

He says the rabies treatment for humans is not a routine sort of injection. It is not only long drawn-out, often requiring daily injection for as long as three weeks, but it is painful, expensive and extremely dangerous. There have been cases where the treatment caused a paralytic condition and even death.

He strongly urges a drive to have all dogs vaccinated and all the ownerless muzzles destroyed. In Dallas there is now a city law requiring that all dogs be kept penned 100 days. This will give time for

Bombing Ends Truce On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The end of a 11-day truce proclaimed by the Greek Cypriot underground was punctuated today by a bombing at the east coast town of Larnaca.

Authorities said the bomb damaged a house occupied by a Greek family but there were no casualties. The bombing was blamed on EOKA, the extremist underground that called the truce.

The British placed Dr. Themistocles Dervis, Greek mayor of Nicosia, under house arrest and searched his home and office. They said they were investigating the mayor "as a result of information received" but did not elaborate.

Authorities also announced six convicted EOKA members were taken from Nicosia's central prison and flown to Britain to serve out the rest of their sentences.

They said the six had terrorized both their wardens and other prisoners. One convicted EOKA member, life sentence escaped last night.

The authorities concentrated their search at Mayor Dervis' office in the Town Hall after a room-by-room inspection of his luxurious villa failed to turn up anything incriminating.

ARREST OF BRITISH 'SPIES' ADDS TO TENSION ON SUEZ

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's sudden arrest of two Britons as spies threw new fuel today on the smoldering dispute with Great Britain — already threatening to burst into flame over the Suez Canal seizure.

Security police charged that the Britons and an Egyptian associate masterminded a spy network for British intelligence. The police said the ringleaders have incriminated four other Egyptians and that "others may be implicated."

The arrests added to tension stirred up by President Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal Co. They seemed certain to increase sentiment in Britain for a tough policy toward Egypt — possibly including the use of military force.

Held at the heavily guarded Interior Ministry were James Swinburn, business manager of the British-owned Arab News Agency in Cairo; Charles Pittuck, an official of the Marconi Radio-Telegraph Co., of Egypt; and El Sayed Amin Mahmud, the Egyptian.

Dulles Discloses Reds Admit Attack On Plane

No Mention Made Of Any Survivors

WASHINGTON (AP)— Communist China has informed the United States Red Chinese planes shot down an aircraft off the China Coast last Thursday and that apparently there are no survivors.

Secretary of State Dulles reported today the Peiping regime contends, however, that the plane downed was a Chinese Nationalist plane. A U.S. Navy Mercator patrol plane, with a 16-man crew, has been missing since Thursday — Tokyo time — after reporting it was under attack. U.S. searchers have found wreckage and the body of one crewman, with bullet wounds.

More Showers Forecast For South Texas

By The Associated Press
 More scattered showers were forecast Tuesday in the wake of cloudbursts which sent creeks boiling out of their banks in South Texas Monday. The Weather Bureau said flooding on the Rio and Nueces rivers will continue.

The Frio crested Monday night at Callahan and was on the rise between Callahan and Three Rivers.

The Nueces, which rested Tuesday morning at Tilden Crossing, is expected to continue flooding from north of Three Rivers to below George West. The Weather Bureau said the Frio should be in its banks by Tuesday night in most places.

The Weather Bureau said San Miguel Creek went out of its banks about 75 miles northwest of Corpus Christi and flooded some low places. Floods also were reported on the nearby lower Frio River.

The Weather Bureau advised ranchers to move cattle to higher ground.

Some 4.7 inches of rain hit southwestern Atascosa County during the weekend, causing the flooding.

Rainfall Monday included Beeville 1.79 inches, Benavides 1.12, Galveston 1.02, Luling .96, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and College Station .88, Austin and Palacios .81, Tilden .63, Washburn .50, Brownsville .47, Houston .38, Victoria .25, Cotulla .08, Texarkana .07 and Lufkin .05.

High afternoon temperatures Monday ranged from 103 degrees at Palacios to 82 at Beaumont.

Temperatures early Tuesday ranged from 82 at Galveston to 63 at Dalhart.

A cool front lay to the northwest and was expected to move into the Panhandle Wednesday.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms dampened a large section of the country last night and today.

Rain fell from the Dakotas to the Mississippi River and over most of the Southeastern States, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia took the bulk of the showers with amounts ranging from one-quarter to three-quarters of an inch over a six-hour period.

Thunderstorms hit the southern half of Florida and showers dumped varying amounts of water on northern New England. In the western half of the nation, precipitation was confined to the Northern Rockies with a few sprinkles also reported in southern New Mexico and at Astoria, Ore.

 Court officials secure James Merkuris to his chair in the special sound-proof booth from which he will watch and hear the remainder of his sanity hearing at Los Angeles. The judge ordered him bound and gagged after outbursts against the prosecutor last week, but Merkuris managed to continue his shouting after the gag slipped. The sound-proof booth was installed for the session which is a preliminary to his trial on murder charges. He will be able to hear the proceedings through a sound system.

County Demo Chiefs Begin Vote Canvass

By WHITEY SAWYER
 Associated Press Staff
 County Democratic chairmen canvassed the vote from Saturday's tight gubernatorial runoff primary today. Supporters of both Sen. Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough looked over their shoulders.

Complete, unofficial returns to the Texas Election Bureau Monday night gave Daniel 608,125 votes and Yarborough 604,578—a lead of 3,547 for Daniel. Daniel's percentage was 50.12.

Robert Johnson, head of the bureau, said no further report would be made until Saturday unless corrections should change the lead. He said that was unlikely.

"I believe the official canvass will be within a few hundred votes of our figures," Johnson said. Workers of both candidates called on supporters in key counties to watch the canvass.

Each camp also telephoned key counties to compile returns independent of the Election Bureau, an unofficial agency. The bureau also watched the proceedings.

Yarborough asserted "Our independent check... found many sizable errors. And we believe many more will be found when the vote is canvassed by the various county executive committees on Tuesday morning."

Yarborough said he was still "confident I've been elected governor."

Daniel said Monday that "from reports received from the Texas Election Bureau and from our supporters throughout the state I feel certain the unofficial returns will be confirmed at the official canvassing by the County Democratic Executive Committees tomorrow."

Johnson said only 700 new votes from 18 counties were reported since Sunday. The other changes were in corrections.

Galveston County took 226 votes from Daniel and 2 from Yarborough. Lubbock County added 109 votes for Yarborough. Tarrant County took 626 from Yarborough and added 7 for Daniel. Cass County took 10 from Daniel and 543 from Yarborough.

A rash of election contests was considered a distinct possibility.

The official state canvass will be by the Democratic Executive Committee in Fort Worth Sept. 10.

LAREDO VOTES PROBED AGAIN

LAREDO (AP)— District Judge R. D. Wright reconvened the special court of inquiry to investigate charges of July 28 voting frauds. Wright said the inquiry should also go into the runoff primary.

Today's court of inquiry will continue investigations of absentee balloting and contributions to political organizations. In the first primary some 1,600 absentee ballots were cast. The absentee ballot box held only 19 votes for Yarborough and 59 for Daniel Saturday.

A prominent campaign worker for Yarborough said Sunday "We can challenge 3,000 votes alone in Webb County."

Canvass Confirms Election Returns

Unofficial tabulations in last Saturday's runoff primary election jibed exactly with the official figures announced by J. W. Purser, county Democratic chairman, after canvass of the votes by the executive committee Tuesday morning.

The canvass was a quiet and colorless event. Charlie Butts, Big Spring attorney, who has been active in the campaign efforts of Ralph Yarborough for governor in Howard County, sat in on the check of the votes with the board. Yarborough's headquarters had announced that a representative of that candidate would be present at all canvassing sessions in the state.

Totals for the governor's race in Howard County as officially transmitted to the state capital by Purser were:

Ralph Yarborough 4,058.
 Price Daniel 2,572.

Other official totals announced by Purser at the completion of the canvass are: Ben Ramsey, unopposed for lieutenant governor, 5,191; Attorney General Tom Moore,

Merchants Set Yule Project

Big Spring retailers will start solicitation of funds for 1956 Christmas decorations next week.

Gilbert Gibbs, chairman of the Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, set a meeting of the group for 10 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 5, at the close of a planning session this morning.

About 15 merchants this morning expressed approval of the year's yule decoration plan and agreed to carry out a similar program this year. The group voted to expand the decorative scheme if funds are available, however.

Decorations last year were concentrated on the courthouse square. Some of the group this morning thought they should be extended to other sections.

Gibbs asked each person present today to bring three others to the next meeting. Solicitation for funds will be started at that time, and final decision on extent of decorations will be determined by the amount of money raised.

The group this morning also agreed on Friday, Sept. 14, as "Felt Hat Day" in Big Spring.

Nurse Admits Baby Deaths By Shaking

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Police say a 230-pound pediatric nurse admitted shaking to death three infants because they got on her nerves or refused to take their formula.

"It was all uncontrollable," Virginia B. Jaspers, 32-year-old daughter of a county official, told the coroner. "I didn't know why I did it. Children sometimes get on my nerves."

Miss Jaspers, who is six feet tall, also admitted breaking the leg of another infant and inflicting a head injury on a fifth, said Coroner James J. Corrigan.

A private pediatric nurse for 12 years, she often lived in with the parents of the children and was not connected with a hospital.

Police said the deaths dated back to 1948. Miss Jaspers was taken into custody as the result of the death Thursday of the 11-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kapsinow of New Haven.

Police Chief Francis V. McManus quoted her as saying she shook the infant violently because it refused its formula.

The Kapsinows thought their child had died of natural causes. McManus said the case developed after Dr. Sterling Taylor, acting medical examiner, reported the Kapsinow child had suffered head and body injuries, apparently caused when she was "picked up and shaken violently."

After several hours of questioning, police said Miss Jaspers ad-

Egypt Agrees To Meeting On Suez Canal Proposal

LONDON (AP)—Egypt agreed today to meet with a committee charged with presenting a proposal for international control of the Suez Canal but made no commitment to accept the plan.

President Nasser made known his willingness to see the five-member committee. In a terse letter to its chairman, Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia, he mentioned neither time nor place for the meeting.

Samy Aboul Toudoh, Egyptian ambassador to London, called on Menzies to deliver Nasser's letter. The text, as made public in Cairo, read:

"I wish to acknowledge receipt of Your Excellency's letter dated Aug. 24 in which you informed me of the request of the committee under Your Excellency's chairmanship to meet with me to place before me and to explain to me the views of the governments mentioned in your message concerning the Suez Canal. I agree to the proposed meeting as requested by the committee."

The letter did not bear out an earlier report from Egyptian officials that Nasser had specified Cairo as the site for the meeting. On the strength of this report, a spokesman for the committee had indicated the members were ready to fly to Cairo almost immediately.

On getting Nasser's reply, Menzies went to 10 Downing St., residence of Prime Minister Eden where the Cabinet was in session. The Cabinet was informed of Nasser's reply and the meeting broke up soon after.

The Menzies committee was named by 18 of the 22 nations attending the London conference. It was assigned the task of presenting the majority proposals to Nasser for an international board to run the canal. The plan would make Egypt a member of the board and link the agency to the United Nations.

The conference was called after Nasser announced July 26 that Egypt had nationalized the internationally owned Suez Canal Co. Egypt refused to attend the parley and challenged its right to take up the Suez question.

The five-power committee sent its request for a meeting to Nasser five days ago. Members in addition to Australia are the United States, Sweden, Ethiopia and Iran. Veteran career diplomat Loy Henderson is the U.S. representative.

City Commission Meets Tonight In Routine Session

A routine agenda faces the city commission when it meets tonight in regular session. The meeting is set for the city hall at 5:15 p.m. At their last session Aug. 14, the group passed an ordinance allowing butane storage tanks in the city limits — by request. Tonight the Western Compress is scheduled to make such a request. The firm asked for permission to construct butane tanks earlier this year, but at that time the city had an ordinance prohibiting them. After consulting other cities and the State Fire Insurance Commission, the city passed the ordinance allowing such tanks. They are allowed only after individual requests are approved, though. Two oil firms have asked the city for water from Powell and Moss Creek lakes, and commissioners will take action on that matter. Should the city elect to sell the firms water, approval must then be secured from CRMWD. Blast Could Be Warhead For Guided Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—An atomic physicist said today the nuclear explosion set off by Russia last Friday could have been a missile warhead or a "laboratory-type" test bomb.

Dr. Ralph Lapp, former government scientist and now a private consultant, said that because of limited details released by the Atomic Energy Commission, any description of the explosion "would be pure speculation."

Announcement of the Soviet blast was made yesterday by President Eisenhower in Peble Beach, Calif. The AEC also issued a statement which said the Russians tested "a nuclear device with a yield of less than a megaton."

The AEC declined today to amplify its statement. A megaton is the equivalent of one million tons of TNT. Apparently the blast was a hydrogen explosion.

Lapp said a blast of this size "is not, as we know it, a large explosion. It is in the range one would expect for an Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile.

"It is not the kind for an intercontinental missile because of the aiming error." A missile fired over a greater distance would have to carry a larger explosive charge, he said, to compensate for the normal error in aiming.

The IRBM class includes missiles with ranges of up to 1,500 miles. Intercontinental missiles are in the 5,000-mile range.

He added that the aiming error at 4,000 miles would be 20 miles.

With an explosion of less than a megaton, "a 20 mile miss would be a complete miss."

The AEC announcement also said the explosion occurred "at the usual Soviet proving ground, where most of the Soviet tests have occurred. It is located in southwest Siberia, north of India, Afghanistan and Pakistan, and west of China."

Lapp said this is the first public announcement giving the location of the Soviet testing range.

"If they say southwest Siberia, that is in the Lake Baikal area," he said. "It is well known they have a missile test center in that area."

AEC said yesterday its announcement was the 13th by the United States concerning nuclear weapons tests by the U.S.S.R.

Last April in London, Communist party chief Khrushchev said: "Great stress is being laid now on guided missiles... I am quite sure that we will have the guided missile with an H-bomb warhead which can land anywhere in the world."

Two months ago, American Aviation Magazine reported that Russia had developed an Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile with a thermonuclear warhead.

'Big Eye' Solving Mysteries Of Skies

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter

PALOMAR OBSERVATORY, Calif., Aug. 28 (AP)—A mile high atop this granite mountain sits man's great window upon the universe—the 200-inch telescope, cool, gray, massive, fascinating.

It is a giant given the tender care accorded to a baby. It is probing staggering distances across the oceans of space to answer some mysteries... and creating more.

It is bearing witness to the birth and death of stars. It has seen thousands of new galaxies or entire families of stars most as mammoth as our own Milky Way composed of a billion or many billion stars. Our sun is but one star in the Milky Way. And this big eye tells us there are 100 million or more other milky ways.

This telescope sees star families estimated to be up to two billion light years distant. One light year is six trillion miles, the distance light travels in a year at a speed of 186,000 miles per second.

Even so it has not seen the edge of the universe. From what the big eye sees, there is some evidence the universe is three billion years old, and some evidence it may be as much as five or six billions.

It tells astronomers the universe is apparently still expanding, with the galaxies or milky ways all rushing away outward. The most distant ones seem to be speeding away at 40,000 miles per second. But astronomers find some evidence that perhaps the rate of expansion is slowing down. If that be so, perhaps the universe will collapse, with ours and other galaxies all rushing back together to form one great atom billions of years from now, perhaps to explode again into a far-flung universe.

That is but one speculation among many possible from the magnificences and the puzzles which the big eye sees.

But you cannot look through this telescope.

And it cannot tell us much more about the moon or Mars or other nearby planets than much smaller telescopes can.

Every year about 100,000 visitors drive up the 12-mile winding road to the top of Palomar Mountain, 140 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

Many come hoping to peek through the world's biggest telescope. They are disappointed.

For no one, not even the astronomers, really looks through it as you do through ordinary telescopes that magnify with lenses. And the big eye must be an owl working at night.

It explores by taking photographs on specially sensitive plates, usually with long exposures to gather far more light and to create clear images which the human eye could not see, or remember. And by taking spectrograms, in which distant starlight is broken into its colors or wavelengths to tell scientists what stars are made of, how they are moving how old they are, whether they are young or old or dying.

Kidnap Fears Are Allayed

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Fears that Mrs. Edwina G. Simpson and her three children had been kidnaped by a car-stealing hitchhiker ended today when police reported Mrs. Simpson simply had driven to Lowell with her children to visit her mother after a domestic disagreement.

Wendell Simpson, electrical engineer, returned home last night after assisting in a search for a "scar-faced youth" who, according to Richard Basile, 17, hitched a ride from him, forced him from his car, and wrecked it.

Because disappearance of Mrs. Simpson coincided with neighborhood quest for the reported hitchhiker, police concluded he might have burst into the Simpson home and forced her and the children to leave with him in the station wagon. But the police said today they had located Mrs. Simpson at her mother's home in Lowell.

Zionists Hit U.S. Arab 'Appeasement'

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Zionist leaders say Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal Co., was the "inevitable outcome" of what they call U.S. State Department appeasement of the Arab States.

The Zionists passed a resolution urging President Eisenhower to authorize defense arms shipments to Israel and start talks with that nation toward a mutual security pact.

Travelers Discover High Prices In Paris

By RAMON COFFMAN
PARIS — According to a late estimate, this city, the capital of France, has a population of almost three million people.

Since my arrival, I have been impressed by the quiet atmosphere which now exists. There has been a big change in the past few years! Motorists are forbidden to sound their horns. The wild honking which I remember has become a thing of the past.

Crossing the street remains a problem, especially when the street is wide. Traffic officers pay little attention to those on foot. A sudden change from STOP to GO is likely to catch a person between two streams of traffic; if he wants to live, he takes things calmly and hopes that all the cars will miss him.

Q. What about prices in France?

A. They are high for most things which travelers wish to buy. One woman tells me that she has searched in vain for a suitable dress at a price under $100.

In various shop windows I have seen displays of men's shirts. They seem to be about the same as one would pay $4 or $5 for back home. Here they are priced at enough thousands of francs to make the cost from $10 to $15 apiece.

Q. Do visitors still go to the top

of Eiffel Tower

A. Yes, that trip is still popular. Instead of using a single elevator, a person rises by stages in four elevators. The cost amounts to about a dollar to reach the top, but what a task it would be to walk up steps to such a height! You would feel exhausted after a climb like that, and hardly could enjoy the view of the city.

Eiffel Tower is the tallest structure in Europe, but it falls short of a few buildings in the United States. The tallest of all—268 feet taller than the Eiffel Tower—is the Empire State Building.

The cattle market has been getting stronger the last two weeks, says A. L. Cooper, owner of the Big Spring Livestock Commission. Several out-of-state buyers have been buying fleshy yearlings to put in feed lots. Choice calves have sold from 18 to 20 cents.

Cooper says the increasing prices may have been caused by the high prices of prime beef carcasses. As these top cattle were slaughtered, it created a demand for replacement animals.

He said ranchers were still trimming their herds. Some of them are down to only a fraction as many cattle as they once owned, but even these are being gradually sold off.

Other West Texas areas are just as dry and barren as this part of the country, he said. A lot of cattle and sheep have been sold in the Trans Pecos country. He has a load of cattle now that came from Kent, which is in the edge of the Davis Mountains. There is hardly any grass out there, but Cooper says these animals are in good condition.

He has been selling many of his own cattle. He recently carried 450 yearlings to Durwood Lewter at Lubbock. These had been pastured on Cooper's ranch near O'Donnell.

There is a reason why the Big Spring Field Station has nothing growing this year but the trees and shrubbery. The last effective rain fell on the farmland in August, 1955, when one rain measured 1.56 inches. Since then a dozen or so showers have come but none of them measured more than half an inch.

The station has planted a little late sorghum in hopes of getting some silage for the winter, but Fred E. Keating, station superintendent, holds out little hope of it making.

Bollworms and loopers are still busy in Martin County, with a new crop just hatching out. Floyd Smith at the Stanton Chemical Company was busy selling 2-10-40 and Endrin last Friday.

He said last worms had been trying to get started, but so much poison has been poured on the cotton that the leavers hadn't done much damage.

Recently a local business man wanted to know what the Howard County 4-H Club did with the money made at the annual rodeo. Several people have asked that question.

The 4-H Club is not financed by the county or state. Even though the county does help out on a few items, most expenses must be paid by the members themselves. And the rodeo is the only way they have of raising money.

Here are some of the expenses: The club must pay part of the insurance, utilities and maintenance cost of keeping up the Howard County Fair buildings. They must buy supplies, such as shears, sheep drench, pay registration fees and buy lambs for practice judging. Often their fees for entering livestock shows and their lunches come from the club fund, if there is any money left over. If not, then the boys pay their own expenses. There is also some expense in attending the recreational camps and taking short courses at Texas Tech and A&M.

There are many smaller expenses that come up every week. Not one cent from the rodeo proceeds goes into anyone's pocket. Usually the club fund has dwindled to zero by the time of the next rodeo.

Cotton has been dethroned as king in his area, says A. H. Tate of Knott. He started gathering it this week, and thinks maybe he will get a bale to every eight acres.

Tate recently made a trip to Waco and said the only good cotton between here and there was around Gatesville.

The cabbage looper invasion in Dawson County cotton fields has been slowed down but not entirely stopped, said Assistant County Agent Don Fields. Bollworms, leaf worms and a few other insects are also working, but the infestation is being held in check.

Fields was doing a slightly different and more pleasant type of work in Big Spring last Thursday night. He was one of the three judges at the Howard County Farm Bureau beauty contest.

This last weekend we were up in Gaines County, about 35 miles northwest of Lamesa. Dryland crops between here and there are poor, having gone down the last few weeks. Irrigated cotton is probably better than last year, but farmers complain of having put more money into it with prospects of a mighty slim profit.

One friend has 70 acres of cotton which looks to make from 80 to 90 bales. He said he'd have to get 100 bales to come out ahead. He also mentioned several neighbors who will come out in the red on a bale to the acre crop.

This friend is also one of the 130 caged operators in Gaines County and is plenty sick of the deal. He said about seven or eight men had closed up their poultry houses. Hardly any of the others are able to buy replacement pullets so the feed company is planning to refinance the operators.

No one seems to know exactly what went wrong on this gigantic caged-hen deal, which was one of the biggest in the nation. However this friend says they never got the prices they expected. Sunday I bought six dozen eggs from him at 40 cents per dozen, which are just exactly like the ones I pay 70 cents for in Big Spring. From 40 cents for the largest eggs, they get as low as 30 for small ones.

Drought Aid

Gov. Allan Shivers affixes his signature to a contract with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which will help drought stricken farmers and ranchers to buy hay and other roughage for livestock.

Both Greene and Edith Gay, local office secretary, will have leading roles in the training sessions. Several other Big Springers also will be on the program.

They include Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor, who will pronounce the invocation; Ira Thurman, Chamber of Commerce president, who will welcome visitors; and Dr. E. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor, who will speak at the Sept. 8 luncheon.

Entertainment at the luncheon will be provided by Orland Johnson, Mrs. Don Newsom and Priscilla Pond, all of Big Spring.

The meeting opens with registration at 3 p.m. Sept. 7. A fun and fellowship program, to be followed by a buffet, will start at 6:45 p.m. at the Cosden Country Club.

First general session starts at 8 a.m. Sept. 8, with Hurley to speak at 9 a.m.

Bill Collins of Midland will lead the presidents' panel from 10-11:45 a.m., while secretaries are meeting in a session directed by Miss Gay and Clotelle Thompson of Pampa.

Program has been completed for the fifth annual Chamber of Commerce executives' short course to be staged here Sept. 7-8, said J. H. Greene, local Chamber manager.

Separate sessions for Chamber presidents, managers and office secretaries will be held during the day.

Bomber Hits Homes, 4 Die

SANFORD, Fla. (AP)—Four persons including a 3-year-old child died when a two-engine Navy attack bomber plowed into two houses three blocks from a landing field yesterday.

Sue Lowe, the child, was burned to death on the porch of the wrecked home where she lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lowe. The Lowses and their son, David, 4, were hospitalized with severe burns.

The three-man crew of the bomber also died in the crash and fire that followed.

The Navy identified them as the pilot, Lt. Cmdr. Ozni Donald Hall, 34, of Sanford; Lt. (jg) Gerald Michael O'Hara, 28, of Somerville, Mass.; and William Valentine Swigonski, 33, aviation electronics technician, first class, of Sanford.

The plane first demolished the home of W. B. Brown, a former Navy chief petty officer, then came into the Lowe home.

Brown said he went to the back door of his home when he heard the plane apparently in trouble. When it struck he was blown into the carport. He was uninjured.

Legion Gathers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—American Legionnaires are arriving for their 38th National Convention, expected to swell the city's population temporarily by 100,000.

Loot Was Real Gone

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two hepcat bandits held up Richard E. Engler, 30-year-old postal clerk, but he assured police the only things "real gone" were his 10 bucks and $60 wristwatch.

Engler said yesterday the "cool" conversation went like this: "Daddy, you've had it, man. Give us your bread, then you're as free as a bird."

"This wasn't much of a score, man," said the other robber, looking at the money and watch. "We didn't know you were from Brokeville."

Salvage Company Makes Big Error

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Tsuguo Yue's recently organized marine salvage company had a high rate of initial success but made one mistake.

In two months time it removed $55,000 worth of U.S. Navy cable from the bottom of Tokyo Bay — without getting Navy consent.

Yue, 49, and his six associates in the now defunct Fuji Salvage Co., were jailed today on charges of grand larceny.

McMahon Has Everything In Concrete Building Materials

A one-stop supply center for the contractor or the do-it-yourself builder is the Clyde McMahon Concrete Company, 605 Big Spring area. To augment his N. Benton (the Snyder Highway). For those reasons, McMahon's services and construction supplies are in high demand throughout the Big Spring area. To augment his service to builders, the supplier has constantly improved his facilities for turning out and delivering his products. A recent addition to equipment has been a portable "batch plant" which is moved directly to the sites of the larger jobs to turn out fresh, high-quality concrete right on the spot and at the moment it is needed. A fleet of about 30 vehicles has been built up to make deliveries from McMahon's big concrete plant at 605 N. Benton. These are in constant contact with the distributor in the plant office by means of two-way radio, assuring customers of the fastest service available anywhere. McMahon operates a big sand and gravel plant, also, on the Moss Creek Lake road to assure his mixing plant of nothing but the best ingredients for ready-mix concrete. In addition to his concrete business, McMahon maintains a large stock of other building materials, including the widely popular Holiday Hill building stone, haydite blocks, Richmond wall ties, and Sacrete (the ready-mix concrete to which the user needs to add only water). Tools available range from hand trowels to powered finishing machines. McMahon even has in stock the gasoline-powered "Motor Bug" of one-half yard capacity, ideal for moving concrete about on the job site. Remington stud drivers and cartridges, edgers, floats and other tools are stocked. Accessory items include coloring material, expansion joint materials. Another product is paving aggregate, suitable for driveways, parking areas or any other paving project.

Blue Lustre Is Answer To Carpet Cleaning Problems

Today's housewife has found the answer to her walk-to-wall carpet cleaning problem by using Blue Lustre.

Blue Lustre is a gentle and odorless liquid concentrate designed for home cleaning of carpets and upholstery which produces professional results at great savings.

This concentrate is mixed with water and agitated or stirred which creates a billowy foam. This foam is applied to the carpet with a long handled brush — a back and forth brushing of the foam into the carpet brings out forgotten colors like sunshine through the clouds.

Again the rug or carpet has that sparkling new look as Blue Lustre foam penetrates instantly to the carpet soil.

The unique action of this cleaner holds the dirt particles in suspension for easy removal by vacuuming. Since all of the cleaning agent and carpet soil is removed there is no residue left in the carpet to cause rapid re-soiling, and consequently rugs and carpets stay cleaner longer.

As only foam is used, there is no soaking or matting of the fabric and it is soon dry and ready for use again with the nap left open and lofty.

A wonderful advantage to the busy housewife who keeps Blue Lustre on hand is the convenience of quickly eliminating those soiled pathways on the carpet or cleaning any other small area without going over the entire carpet. This keeps the floor covering new and fresh looking by removing spots dulled by soil as they appear.

Blue Lustre is so handy to keep around the home, odorless and non-flammable, and it's economical too. Half a gallon will clean three 9 x 12 rugs, and it is also available in quarts and gallons.

Many housewives have found an extra use for Blue Lustre. They just dampen a sponge with the concentrate and windows are quickly cleaned crystal clear; apply the foam to the glass and wipe off with paper towel.

Blue Lustre is wonderful for upholstery too, and because of its outstanding merits has earned the Good Housekeeping Seal. It is available at Big Spring Hardware Co.

Negro Rapes Dallas Woman

DALLAS (AP)—A woman was raped yesterday by a Negro who threatened the victim and her mother-in-law with death. The woman, 29, told officers she thought the front door was locked, but that the man apparently had entered through it. The husband is a truck driver and is in New York. The couple's two children were with relatives in Arkansas. Both women were asleep when the Negro entered their bedroom, armed with a knife. The man grabbed the mother-in-law, the women said, and held the knife close to her, saying, "Mama, keep quiet and you won't get hurt." The elder woman was forced to place a pillow over her head — apparently a precaution against any outcry while her daughter-in-law was attacked. The home is in a borderline neighborhood of Negro and white families in east Dallas.

Burchell Tries New Crop

Edward Burchell, above, who farms two miles north of Knot, is trying a crop relatively new to this area — and with good results. The crop is Sesbania, and should be get a rain soon, the plants will make a crop of beans. Burchell planted 22 acres to the crop on May 26, and no rain has fallen on it since. Sesbania is a summer legume which manifestly is drought resistant. The plant has a taproot that keeps on going and has shown an ability to break through the hardpan. Beans of the soil building crop are found near the top of the plants so that a good stubble is left after harvest to protect the land. Sesbania is a rugged bit of vegetation, below, and will mature in 120 days after coming up. Seed value is high, for the cost is $10 cwt. for planting seed. Besides this crop, Burchell has planted 40 acres to Guar, another legume, in hopes of improving the soil and increasing yields of cash crops next year.

Foxes Fooled By Atom By Eating Radioactive Victims

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—Foxes are being fooled by atomic energy, a report to the American Institute of Biological Sciences showed today. Some of these creatures—ordinarily the smart alecks of the forest—are unwittingly eating a persistent and potentially harmful radioactive by-product of atomic bomb tests, the report by two University of California researchers brought out. This radioactive addition to the fox's diet comes principally from eating birds and rodents within a few hundred miles of Uncle Sam's continental test site in Nevada. These plant-eating birds and rodents first pick up radioactivity themselves by eating plants contaminated with "fallout"; then, it's passed on to the foxes when they eat the other creatures. The scientists stressed that in no fox or other creature studied so far was the radioactive material—radioactive strontium—found to be present in quantities considered to be hazardous. Strontium is considered by many scientists to be potentially the most hazardous of all "fallout" materials because if an animal or human accumulated enough of it, bone cancer might result. Dr. W. G. Lindbert and a researcher Kermit H. Larson told about the fox and other animal studies in reporting on a nine-year study of what happens to radioactive debris in relation to plants and animals in fallout areas of continental A-bomb test sites. They reported to the AIBS's annual convention, convened on the campus of the University of Connecticut. Their report was one of a number of papers prepared for presentation to a special symposium on "Radiation Ecology"—the study of the effects of radiation on man's environment, that is, the natural waters, the soil and the air. Environmental contamination—by radioactive materials from any source—may well prove to be "the limiting factor in the worldwide development of atomic energy," declared a statement by two of AIBS's constituent societies in announcing the special symposium. And it said that the anticipated exchange of data and ideas by atomic energy commission and other scientists "is expected to aid the planning of basic research which must be undertaken if mankind is to be fully protected from the invisible serpent which may lurk in the future atomic Garden of Eden."

Radiation Boosts Leukemia Chances

BOSTON (AP)—Radiation treatment "tailored" more carefully than a new suit of clothes can boost human chances against chronic leukemia, a medical team reported today. The radiation is either X-rays or injections of radioactive phosphorus but the doses are tailored to each individual patient, and given regularly even when the person appears doing well. Leukemia is a form of cancer of the blood, marked by an excess of white blood cells. The chronic form does not progress as fast as acute leukemia. The measured doses of radiation promise to double the survival time in chronic leukemia, compared with using a generalized average dose of radiation, said Dr. E. E. Osgood, A. J. Seaman and R. D. Koler of Portland, Ore. Dr. Osgood spoke at the opening of the Congress of the International Society of Hematology, attended by hundreds of blood specialists from 40 nations. Among 100 patients started on this treatment, half have survived more than five years after the disease began. Many have continued regular jobs and recre-tion, including such strenuous activities as logging and elk-hunting, Dr. Osgood said. The radiation dose and timing are set by observing each individual's reaction. Then patients take the treatments once every 4 to 12 weeks. The goal is to get them in ideal condition and keep them there, like maintaining a diabetic on insulin, Dr. Osgood said. Numerous drugs have been developed recently to combat chronic and acute leukemia. Some may prove more effective than radiation, but they have not been in use long enough to report long-term results. Scientists this week will report on new research into causes and treatment of leukemia, anemia, bleeding disease, and other disorders of the blood and blood-forming organs.
