New Budget Estimate Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new federal budget estimate, boosting the anticipated surplus to a modest 700 million dollars, today left little ground for hope of tax cuts in 1957. One administration source said the black-ink margin now foreseeable for fiscal 1957 "is still too narrow to justify any reduction."

Vote Contests Seen As Daniel Clings To Lead

By WHITEY SAWYER, Associated Press Staff

Contests appeared possible Wednesday in three vote-heavy counties as Sen. Price Daniel clung to his slim lead over Ralph Yarborough in the gubernatorial runoff primary.

The canvass by County Democratic Executive Committees, while incomplete, Tuesday failed to develop any significant changes. The possible contests loomed in Dallas, Tarrant and Jefferson counties.

Some individual Yarborough supporters at the county level apparently were setting the stage for a protest of votes on the claim that some voters participated in Republican precinct or county conventions, or that some voters crossed out the Democratic party pledge.

Lyman Jones of Yarborough's Austin headquarters said he had heard considerable talk along this line and had received several telegrams on the matter but at present the Yarborough headquarters has taken no action.

Jones said some supporters might take action in a particular county, but that no general state action was planned. He did leave the door ajar for such action later. Attorneys for Yarborough obtained a restraining order which prevented the Dallas County Democratic Executive Committee from canvassing the vote.

A hearing on the order was set for 2 p. m. Wednesday. All but 100 of the 383 voting machines used in last Saturday's Democratic election had been returned to the county warehouse. The remainder were expected to be returned by 2 p. m. Wednesday.

"We are not contesting the election," said Ray Lee, Dallas County campaign manager for Yarborough. "We are not accusing anybody of any wrong doing. All we ask is that they hold up their hands and let the boxes and the canvasses be checked and compared in the presence of the judges."

Egypt Jails 3rd Briton As Relations Worsen

Nasser To Meet In Cairo With Suez Group

LONDON (AP)—President Nasser will meet in Cairo with the five-nation Suez Canal Committee headed by Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, an official Egyptian source disclosed today.

But the informant said he could not disclose the time for the meeting which Menzies has asked be held this week.

There were signs of British and French impatience over delays in getting down to the actual talks with Nasser on the Western-sponsored plan for international control of the Suez waterway.

The British were suspicious that Nasser had cooked up a spy plot at this time to head off criticism at home that he was backing down by agreeing to listen to the committee.

The plan drew the support of 18 nations at the London Suez conference last week. The 18 nations named a 5-nation committee headed by Menzies, who asked the Nasser government last Friday night if he would agree to listen to an explanation of the plan.

Nasser's acceptance did not come until yesterday. Another communication is now awaited by Menzies agreeing formally to a place and time.

The Menzies group waited for the Egyptian leader to fix a time and place to hear their arguments in favor of putting the canal under details of the meeting. Menzies rushed another message to Cairo suggesting talks later this week in the Egyptian capital.

Menzies' committee was named to present to Nasser the majority proposal of the recent London conference. The Western-sponsored plan, supported by 18 of the 22 nations at the meeting, calls for an international board including Egypt to control and operate the canal. It would be linked with the U.N.

Egypt refused to attend the talks and Nasser's first reply to Menzies made clear his agreement to hear the five-nation group did not commit Egypt to any of its proposals.

Nasser has stoutly defended Egypt's claim to sole control of the Suez waterway, which he took over suddenly July 26 from the Canal Co., owned by the British government and French investors. Company personnel are continuing to operate the canal under Egyptian direction.

PANAMANIAN FEELING RUNS HIGH ON DULLES STATEMENT

PANAMA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' latest comparison of the Panama and Suez Canals today heightened a new flareup of anti-U. S. feeling in Panama.

The secretary told a news conference in Washington yesterday the United States has all the rights in the Canal Zone which it would possess if it were the sovereign—"to the entire exclusion of the exercise by the Republic of Panama of any such sovereign rights, power or authority."

His statement landed squarely in the middle of one of the touchiest points in relations between Panama and the United States. Within hours Foreign Minister Alberto Bland got out a statement taking issue with Dulles and outlining Panama's position.

Panama has steadfastly claimed sovereignty over the Canal Zone, as distinct from jurisdictional rights granted to the United States by treaty. Panama's position is that the rights given the United States were only for the purposes of construction, operation, maintenance and defense.

Dulles got into the Panama question with a statement declaring the situation pertaining to the Suez Canal and the Panama Canal are "totally dissimilar in two vital respects." He said the Suez was internationalized by the treaty of 1888, while the United States has rights of sovereignty over the Panama Canal.

The second dissimilar aspect, he went on, involves the dependence of a large number of countries on the Suez and their fear that this lifeline may be cut.

"As far as I am aware," Dulles said, "no country anywhere in the world fears that its economy is jeopardized by our possible misuse of our rights in the Panama Canal."

Replying, Boyd pointed out the Panama Canal was built on Panamanian territory and said the provisions on neutralization and freedom of transit in the Constantinople convention of 1888, internationalizing the Suez Canal, are applicable to the Panama waterway.

more, Parsons observed. The challenge to teachers is to make sure that the public gets more for each dollar spent than it ever got before, he said.

Teachers were guests at a get-acquainted breakfast served at 7:30 a. m. in the high school cafeteria.

Returning and new teachers were welcomed by Dr. Loyal V. Norman, director of elementary education. After the invocation led by W. C. Blankenship, superintendent emeritus, and songs led by William R. Dawes, teachers were welcomed by Clyde Angel, president of the school board; Mrs. A. C. LaCroix, president of the City P-TA Council; J. H. Greene, Chamber of Commerce manager; and Joe Pickle, managing editor of the Herald. Angel told of plans for steadily expanding the system and expressed appreciation for teacher cooperation. Mrs. LaCroix said the P-TA attitude was one of constructive help. Greene said that teachers were making a singular contribution to building a better Big Spring, and Pickle expressed the hope that the press could help communicate the objectives and accomplishments of the system.

Teachers Meet For School Preparations

School teachers of the Big Spring system began chewing on general problems of the new school year Wednesday.

They will take increasingly specific bites through Friday, when they will be in their assigned buildings to get ready to greet their pupils on Tuesday morning.

The best job of public relations that can be done, Supl. Floyd W. Parsons told the more than 200 teachers and supervisors at the high school auditorium, is a well done job of teaching boys and girls.

He urged teachers to take time to explain policies or projects to people who inquire and to raise questions themselves.

Telling the story of educational objectives and mechanics today is extremely important, Parsons declared. He said that if there were "frills" in education, there were no more than in homes, industry and business. Yet most of these so-called "frills" are actually tools to help teachers do a better job of educating children, he said.

Education is costing more than ever before, and it may cost still more, Parsons observed. The challenge to teachers is to make sure that the public gets more for each dollar spent than it ever got before, he said.

Arrest May Be Link In Spy Case

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt put another British subject behind bars today, Relations between the two countries became further strained in the wake of Egyptian charges that two British Embassy secretaries were involved in a spy ring.

The British Embassy said James Zarb, a British resident of Egypt, was placed under arrest. The embassy said it did not know if his case was connected with an espionage investigation the Egyptians say is implicating a growing number of foreigners.

An embassy spokesman said Zarb might be involved only in passport difficulties. The Egyptians are already holding James Swinburn, business manager for the British-owned Arab News Agency, and Charles Pittuck, an official of the Marconi Radio-Telegraph Co., as spy suspects.

Four Egyptians have been officially named as their accomplices, and Cairo newspapers reported today that four more Egyptians—one an Egyptian naval officer—had been seized as a result of an alleged confession by Swinburn. The Egyptians have given the two embassy secretaries, J. B. Flux and J. G. Gove, 72 hours to leave the country.

The British have denied Egyptian charges that the two relayed orders to an alleged spy ring, but ordered Gove and Flux home under protest. This is in accord with diplomatic procedure, since Flux and Gove have been declared unwelcome by the Egyptians.

The British Embassy said it tried without success to talk to Swinburn and Pittuck. An embassy representative was finally told permission to see the accused pair had been "postponed."

An official Egyptian spokesman said the investigations are continuing.

In the eyes of Cairo residents the spy case appeared to be overshadowing the canal crisis which has strained British-Egyptian relations almost to the breaking point.

The Egyptians appeared to be setting the stage for a sensational international spy trial.

But the British steadfastly insisted that Egypt's espionage charges against the two diplomats were false.

The British Embassy's Oriental counselor, Trevor Evans, replied that the embassy had no knowledge of any espionage activities and that the embassy was in no way involved. Evans lodged a strong protest.

The British Foreign Office also denied the accusations, saying, "it is inconceivable that two members of the British Embassy could have been engaged on a matter of this kind."

"There was no immediate indication whether the British would retaliate by expelling two members of the Egyptian Embassy staff in London, a frequent action in such cases."

Gove told newsmen: "Someone has gone out of his head. This is pure nonsense, just the kind of lunacy one comes to expect out here."

Egyptian authorities said Swinburn confessed working with Flux and Gove.

The case broke Monday with the seizure by secret police of Swinburn, his fellow Briton Pittuck and an Egyptian. The Egyptian spokesman, Col. Abdel Kader Hatem, said confessions of the three led to the other arrests.

Small Tornado Rakes Campus

What was described as a small tornado slammed across Decatur Baptist College campus in North Texas Tuesday night.

There were no injuries, but electric power was off for 20 minutes on the campus and in the south part of Decatur.

C. J. Garrett, head of the fine arts department, said the storm was a small twister. The winds unroofed a dairy barn and slammed the roof into the side of a women's dormitory. About 20 of an inch of rain fell.

The Nueces River crested Tuesday at the Tilden crossing and was expected to continue flooding from north of Three Rivers to below George West. Streams rose from heavy weekend showers in South Texas.

Rainfall Tuesday included 21 of an inch at Beaumont, 97 at Lufkin and 92 at Galveston.

High afternoon temperatures Tuesday ranged from 105 at Seymour to 88 at Beaumont and Galveston.

A weakening cold front moved into the upper Texas Panhandle Wednesday, but wasn't expected to have much effect on the state.

Wednesday temperatures ranged from 83 at Galveston to 92 at Amarillo.

Strong winds at Frederick, Okla., 22 miles northeast of Vernon, Tex., did considerable property damage Tuesday night and injured two persons.

With preliminary approval from the city commission, the tax department can proceed with preparing the tax roll, and the city attorney can prepare a tax rate ordinance to be presented to the commissioners at a later date.

A resolution was passed authorizing the cotton compress to install a butane tank on its property on the Northside. The compress will install a 1,000-gallon tank 35 feet from the nearest building and 200 feet from the nearest property line — well within limits set out in a city ordinance. Fire Chief H. V. Crocker has also inspected the site and approved it, the commission was informed. The tank will be above ground. A snag developed in obtaining (See TAX RATE, Page 8, Col. 3)

JC Board Lets Contract, Raises President's Salary

Junior college trustees let contract for building alterations, purchased a student bus and other equipment, and raised the college president's salary in a brief session Tuesday afternoon.

Leroy Lange Construction Company of Big Spring won contract for minor alterations to the college administration building. Lange's bid of $2,693 was the lowest of three received. The firm promised to complete the work in 20 days.

Trustees accepted the offer of Ward Body Works, Austin, to provide a 54-passenger Ford bus, with all equipment, for $3,857. Next lowest price quoted was $4,475 on a GMC of the same size. The bus, ready for delivery, will be used to transport students from Colorado City to Howard County Junior College.

Salary of Dr. W. A. Hunt, JC president, was raised $200 per month. The $2,400 per year increase boosts his annual pay to $13,400.

The college board authorized $867 for purchase of 20 "reading accelerators" for use in connection with the remedial reading program. Also approved was installation of asphalt tile on floors of physics and geology rooms at the college, in lieu of tile for the floor of the chemistry department. Dr. Hunt said chemistry instructors feared the floor covering would be damaged by acids and other chemicals in the laboratory.

Authority also was granted to install venetian blinds in the geology room. A. G. Hall will do the work for $139.

Dr. Hunt was authorized to secure bids on a 70-gallon water heater to be used with a dishwasher at the college.

3 Hoodlums Held In Acid Blinding

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI today held racketeer Johnny Dio and three other hoodlums as plotters of the acid blinding of Victor Riesel, labor columnist.

Their motive was to intimidate Riesel from testifying on labor racketeering before a federal grand jury, said U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams.

Williams said a "punk" — Abram Telvi — was hired for $500 to hurl the acid and was slain after demanding $50,000 for the job.

"When Telvi first was approached and got the job to throw the acid he thought it was a man named 'Marshall' and that it was only a husband and wife job, and worth only $500," Williams told newsmen.

"When Gondolfo Miranti, one of the accused conspirators, fingered Riesel, Telvi then knew who the victim was. He then went back and asked for more money."

Telvi was just a punk and some of the co-conspirators said the job was worth $50,000 and they said Telvi had been used. Then Telvi sent word back to Dio, and Dio did give him more.

"Telvi was originally slated to get $500 but Johnny Dio sent him $1,500 in all, but some of it stuck to the hands of some of the co-conspirators who were to deliver the money."

Riesel was blinded April 5 when acid was tossed in his face outside a Broadway restaurant. Telvi was found shot by death July 28 in an East Side street. After the arrests yesterday, Williams said: "Johnny Dio, among others, was the man who directed, instigated and arranged the payoff to Telvi in the acid attack on Victor Riesel. This is in direct relation to Riesel's planned testimony about labor racketeering before the federal grand jury."

Babe's Spirits Running High

GALVESTON (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, famous woman athlete fighting a serious cancer condition, laughed and joked today, and a hospital spokesman called her "one of the world's indomitable spirits."

In an official bulletin on her condition, Dr. G. A. W. Currie, John Sealy Hospital administrator, said "Mrs. Zaharias' condition remains the same. No additional trouble and entirely comfortable. She laughs and jokes. This morning she was trying a cigarette. Her grit is amazing."

"The difficulties she has been through this past year would lead the most resolute soul to give up, while with the trials of the past month, even the bravest would quit trying."

In New Chapel

Rehearsing a new hymn after the Sunday services last Sunday in the miniature chapel of the Webb AFB Chapel Annex are Barbara Frantz and De Ann Mason, with Mrs. William Barker at the organ. The chapel, built by 2nd Lt. Robert Glenn, will serve as a place of worship for all Protestant Sunday School children.

Children Study, Worship In Miniature Chapel At Webb

Webb's children attending Protestant services each Sunday now have a miniature chapel all their own, as a result of 2nd Lt. Robert Glenn's time and effort during the past several weeks.

Lt. Glenn of the Pilot Training Group, who recently left the flying training program and is now awaiting assignment to observer training, conceived the idea of converting an empty store room in the Chapel Annex to more useful purposes.

With the help of S.Sgt. Jimmy Gordon and A.S.C. Arthur Solder, both of the base chapel staff, Lt. Glenn not only furnished and equipped the new chapel but also painted the interior.

According to Lt. Glenn, Chaplain William Barker, who is in charge of the Base Sunday School, went on leave before work started on the facility, and services last Sunday came as a surprise to him.

Services were conducted entirely by children of the Base Sunday School, except for the music. Mrs. Ronald Maves served as organist. The children will form a choir in future services.

Included in the Sunday services, which take place at 10 a.m. each Sunday are the Doxology; pledges to the American Flag, Christian flag, and the Holy Bible; offering; birthday announcements; welcoming of new members; Scripture and lesson.

Leading last Sunday's services were Richard Sargent, Mike Krass and Dee Ann Mason.

It Takes $45 To Tie On To Big Spring Utilities

By DON HENRY
By the time the Big Spring newcomer taps water, gas, and electrical lines and plugs into the telephone circuit, he will now have shelled out $45 in deposits.

The total could be higher or lower — on the telephone side — but $45 is the regular figure currently. Until recently however it was $5 lower.

Texas Electric has initiated a new policy of charging $10 deposits for new residential accounts. Previously, it was $5. The raise went into effect in May.

The company is now in the process of refunding deposits to established residents having a good credit rating with the company. TESCO's policy on credit has no connection with other credit agencies; they are making their refunds on record of their fees alone.

Company officials reported this refunding program would not be completed here until October however.

The telephone company has the most variable policy of the four utilities here. It requires a deposit of from $15 to $75 for a residential connection, or they can install a phone without a deposit. Each case is taken on its own merit.

Cliff Fisher, Big Spring office manager, said that for the average customer, the amount is $15. However, if a person indicated he will have a large volume of long-distance calls or should he not have a spotless credit rating with the company, a larger deposit is usually required.

The amount of deposit is determined by the employee taking the account, Fisher added, after asking about the person's position,

Constitution Party Picks Andrews As Presidential Hope

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Constitution Party drafted former income tax chief Coleman Andrews as its presidential nominee yesterday at the close of its national convention.

Drafted as vice presidential nominee was Thomas Werdel, California congressman.

A party official said that Andrews and Werdel had both indicated they would accept a draft by the party.

Edward Burgess of Houston was chairman of the resolutions committee, which included delegates from Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Maryland and New Mexico. The committee drew up the resolution recommending to various state parties that they draft Andrews and Werdel.

and past dealings with the telephone company.

In addition, if a person has a good credit rating over a period of years with Bell Telephone, he may not be required to make a deposit.

The company does pay interest on its deposits, however. Deposits are refunded to customers constantly, but Fisher said there was no definite length of time before a refund is made, it could possibly be made after a year of perfect dealings, or as much as five years.

Empire Southern Gas Company charges a straight $10 deposit and does not make a refund until an account is closed.

Cham Rainwater, manager, said that the company would run into trouble if trying to work out a system of refunding the money. Therefore, it pays six per cent dividends on the money and keeps the deposit.

Empire Southern has had its present $10 rate for over 20 years, Rainwater added.

The city charges a straight $10 deposit for residential water taps, but it does not pay any interest. In addition, no refunds are made until the water is disconnected.

Arguments Due In Negro Co-Ed Case

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—A federal judge was to hear arguments today on a Negro woman's motion seeking readmittance to the University of Alabama.

The woman, Mrs. Autherine Lucy Foster, is the only Negro ever to attend the all-white school. She was expelled after rioting drove her from the campus last February.

University authorities expelled her for making unproved charges that school officials conspired in the rioting.

At Chicago last night, Mrs. Foster said she intends to press suit for readmittance.

Mrs. Parsons Leaves Prison

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Mary Jean Parsons of Tulsa, Okla., young socialite convicted of shooting her Army husband in a sensational murder case, left the Texas prison yesterday after serving 22 months of her 10-year sentence for murder.

Mrs. Parsons pleaded insanity in the shooting of her husband, Richard O. Parsons, formerly of Pleasantville, N. Y. The shooting occurred in the couple's apartment in El Paso where he was stationed.

In her Wichita Falls trial, the jury rejected an insanity plea and sentenced her to 10 years. She was 20 when she shot Parsons four years ago.

The Gore Farm matron said she was a model prisoner. She was released after serving the minimum time. She earned time at the rate of 52 days for each 30 days in prison, the added time because she worked.

Her actual release was at the main prison here. The pardon was granted last Saturday by unanimous action of the Texas Pardons and Paroles Board.

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

Most of the area gins are planning to operate this year. All three Knott gins will be running, we were told, though several said there wouldn't be over 600 bales ginned in the community.

There is a little late cotton southwest of Knott and a few fields between Knott and Ackerly, but nowhere will the yield be half of normal. Much of the land is bare, with cotton appearing in circular spots of 10 to 20 acres.

At Ackerly, Dan Brasher, bookkeeper at one gin, said there wasn't but two good cotton patches in the community. Ray Adams has a small irrigated field, and Jess Billingsley has a 60-acre lake field of cotton. This is probably the best big field of cotton in the north part of the county. Billingsley said he had a chance of pulling 50 bales from it.

The field is in a big wet weather lake that usually stands under water after heavy rains. This spring he got a good rain or two, and the water came pouring in from surrounding land to give it a good bottom season.

West of Ackerly farmers drew a blank this year. The gin plans to operate but there will be nothing much to gin. C. J. King who runs a store and farms, too, said he might get 10 bales off a big field southwest of Ackerly. Several other farmers say they made nothing at all.

Much of that area was blowing yesterday. While I was driving down from Sparanberg to the King store, the sand was whiffing across the road just like it does during a windy March day. Some of it came from soil bank acres plowed up, but a lot was off the bare cultivated fields that never got any rain.

The new grass being tried out on the Jack Buchanan farm at Luther may prove better than either sudan or blue panic. Buchanan says it has already reached a height of seven to eight feet and seems to be just as tasty to cattle as sudan, if not more so.

He has been cutting some of the more mature heads to thresh. More seed can be saved this way because it grows much like sudan in that seed heads are found in all stages of growth.

Buchanan will sell the seed to a man at Vernon, who brought the grass to this country from Argentina. The name of the new plant is Sorghum Almu, and is a sort of cross between Johnson grass and sudan.

For the first time in many years the W. L. Wilson Ranch in northeast Howard County failed to get summer rains. They have been dry since May, said Wilson. There is still quite a lot of grass on the pastures but it is dry enough to start a fire.

The Wilsons have been lightly stocked for several years and usually have some grass the year around. The calves are in good condition but a little below normal size.

The farm land made a complete failure this year, he said. They have no sudan to graze and the cotton is very poor. The ranch got three inches of rain the last of April and first of May. Then the faucet was turned off and the dryer turned on.

The 1954 census figures on cotton and grain sorghums have been released by the government. In cotton, Lubbock County led the nation with 239,649 acres, and also ranked first in number of bales with 203,299. Dawson County was fourth in the nation with almost as many acres as Lubbock but produced only about 80,000.

The difference was that practically all of Lubbock's cotton was irrigated.

Fifty of the 100 leading cotton counties are in Texas. The best cotton was grown in Pinal County, Arizona, which had nearly a two-bale to the acre average.

In sorghum production for 1954, Hale County led the nation. Dawson County ranked fourth.

Lawrence Adkins of Lomax says there is a lot about irrigation a fellow can read and listen to, but most of it must be learned by experience. He has done quite a bit of experimenting with his irrigated cotton, growing legumes with it, putting on fertilizer and trying different kinds of cotton.

He says fertilizer pays off, but more so if a farmer has plenty of water. On new ground he couldn't tell much difference between fertilized and unfertilized cotton. On the older fields the difference was quite noticeable.

He is growing some 1517BR, the blight resistant, long staple cotton. It seems to be giving a good turn-out, since he got 1,040 pounds of lint from 2,900 pounds of seed cotton. The one thing he doesn't like about it is that it seems to string out when picked. He doesn't figure the pickers are going to be very happy as long as they must pick it.

Atkins says his cotton is of all sizes, from two inches high up to four feet. Some of it got enough water, while the other stayed thirsty most of the year.

The valley land south of Lee's Store will have the best grass in the country, and it's also got the most buzzards. I don't know why they stay in that area and are not seen in several other places.

The other day in driving along there I counted 11 buzzards. Nine were around a water trough and the other two were eating a dead skunk on the highway. One thing you had better not do, and that is to keep going at 70 when you see a buzzard eating something on the highway. I almost met one coming through the windshield a few weeks ago. When I got close he started to fly but was so slow about it that he hit the windshield frame and glanced off.

AT CONVENTION

Shepperd Urges Lawyer Morality

DALLAS (AP)—John Ben Shepperd, president of the National Assn. of Attorneys General, yesterday called for stronger efforts to insure that all new lawyers are of high moral character.

The Texas attorney general said a Chicago University poll showed that the public ranks lawyers "at the bottom of the list" in contributions to society.

He said the polls which were conducted in Texas, Michigan, Iowa, California and other states showed in prestige that attorneys ranked fourth in professions in the public's mind.

Shepperd addressed the annual conference of bar examiners, which met in conjunction with the American Bar Assn. convention.

Shepperd said the answer was not in education alone. He added: "How far have we gone toward eliminating from our ranks the moral misfit, the conscientious non-objector, the lawyer who will sacrifice a principle to win a point, and discredit reason to get a rationalized decision?"

"This country is badly in need of idealistic lawyers. We will need them as long as there are closed doors in public office, public meetings held in secret and public files marked confidential," he said.

In an address to the judicial administration section meeting of the ABA, U.S. Atty. Gen. Brownell called on the lawyers to steer into the Department of Justice the promising young lawyers of the country.

Brownell told the group of mostly veteran lawyers that one of the main problems of the department is recruiting high-type personnel.

Sen. Price Daniel, addressing members of the mineral law section, called for a Supreme Court with more experienced judges.

"It is important to preserve a government of law, it is important to have judges who respect the law above personal or political philosophies as to what the law ought to be," Daniel said.

Bolger To Star

NEW YORK (AP)—Dancer-Comedian Ray Bolger will star in a NBC-TV musical variety series titled "Washington Square" during the coming season. The first show will be telecast in color Sunday, Oct. 21.

Potent New Blood Banks Store Atom Age Element

BOSTON (AP)—Potent new life-saving blood banks for the atomic age were announced today.

These banks stockpile a magical element in human blood that works almost instantly to stop bleeding caused by exposure to atomic rays, by leukemia, and in other diseases and conditions.

This natural blood element is platelets, one of the three types of cells in human blood. Red cells carry oxygen; white cells fight infection. The platelets help control bleeding or hemorrhage. Each platelet is only a millionth of an inch wide, and it takes 30 billions of them to weigh one ounce.

Two methods of preserving precious platelets perhaps indefinitely were reported to the sixth Congress of the International Hematology Society.

The rub has been that platelets die too fast. The platelets in a pint of blood die within a day after blood is donated to a bank.

But the platelets now can be fished out of whole blood and preserved separately.

One method is to quick-freeze and dry them into a white powder, kept in a sealed glass tube and then mixed with salt solution when a life-saving injection is needed.

This method was reported by Mrs. Edmund Klein, Sidney Farber, L. Djerassi and P. Arnold of the Children's Hospital, Boston.

Style Show Pleases Men If Not Milady

MADRID (AP)—Jose Maria Marbel, up and coming Madrid couturier, designed his new winter collection not to please milady—but the man in her life. His is the "magnetic" line.

At a sneak preview, the sleek designer unveiled a raft of young creations guaranteed to make male eyes pop all over Spain. His biggest news is the "bare look" for evening and the cover-up for daytime.

His festive dresses, many in chiffon and satin, are as revealing and clinging as nightgowns.

In contrast, his daytime clothes expose the very minimum of skin. Sleeves creep down to the wrist and collar up to the ears.

As a whole, Marbel emphasizes slenderness. Most of his dresses are adaptations of the sheath but with a tricky cut that lends ease in movement and stresses L-cinching. All his clothes, even the bulkiest tweeds, are draped, crushed and sculptured to accentuate the female form with curvy bosoms, waistslimes and hips. Looking at Marbel's collection one doesn't notice as much the dress as the woman who is wearing it.

The same theme holds true for his suits. Simplicity is the key word and he achieves a very sophisticated line with pencil-slit skirts and young-looking nipped-in jackets. Tweeds lead the parade of materials. Very often checks or plaids are combined with solid colors in the same ensemble. Tones are muted with exception of a clear tomato red which appears throughout his collection.

His coats are as bulky as his dresses are slim. They have huge bat wing sleeves that start at the waist and enormous collars of cape proportions. At least 50 per cent of the coats are trimmed with fur and are fashioned of thick fleecy wool.

Marbel's collection does not aspire to introduce crass ideas but is designed to bring out a woman's best points, kindly hide her disadvantages and most of all please the man who has to pay the bill.

Tech Candidate

Winner of a freshman letter and hopeful of a starting berth with the Texas Tech varsity this year is John (Brick) Johnson of Big Spring. The Red Raider was one of the stars of the district co-champion Big Spring Steers of 1954 and also played on the state finalist team of 1953. He will be a sophomore at Tech this fall. Football workouts open Saturday at Tech.

Tech To Compete For Three 'Titles'

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Staff

Texas' 27 senior colleges are swinging into football practice this week, getting ready for three months of roaming the country. The schedule has 175 games in 18 states and Mexico. Texas will have the same number of teams as last year. Some changes have been made in the conferences. Texas Tech has quit the Border Conference and will be a silent partner in the Southwest Conference. That means the Red Raiders are members of the league but can't compete for the championship until 1960. They play Baylor, Texas A&M, and TCU of the Southwest Conference; Texas Western, West Texas

State, Arizona and Hardin-Simmons of the Border; and Oklahoma A&M, Tulsa and Houston of the Missouri Valley Conference. How's that for competing for three unofficial titles? Howard Payne of the defunct Texas Conference is in much the same boat. Howard Payne is in the Lone Star Conference but won't be trying for a championship although playing six of the seven league teams. McMurry, the other Texas Conference member, has become an independent. Here is the setup in Texas college football this year: Southwest Conference — Texas, Texas A&M, Baylor, Rice, SMU, TCU, Texas Tech. Lone Star — Sam Houston, Southwestern, Texas A&M, East Texas, Stephen F. Austin, Lamar Tech, Sul Ross, Howard Payne. Border — Hardin-Simmons, Texas Western, West Texas State. Missouri Valley — Houston, Gulf Coast — North Texas, Trinity, Abilene Christian, Midwestern. Independents — Austin College, Texas Lutheran, Corpus Christi, McMurry. First games come Sept. 15. Corpus Christi plays West Texas State, Texas Lutheran meets Texas A&M, McMurry battles Abilene Christian, Lamar Tech tackles Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Stephen F. Austin engages Northwestern Louisiana State and Sam Houston plays East Central Oklahoma. Others hit the road the next week.

Brown Wins More Honors In Ring World

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Brown of New Orleans, who outpointed Wallace (Bud) Smith for the lightweight championship last Friday night was named "Fighter of the Month" today in the latest rankings by Ring Magazine. Rated eighth in his division a month ago, Brown was elevated to the top spot while Smith fell to third place. Smith has lost four fights this year. Duccio Lot of Italy held onto the challenger's role in the 135-pound class while Cisco Andrade retained the No. 2 position. The only other prominent changes came in the bantamweight division as the result of the retirement of former champion Robert Cohen. Each of the fighters below him, from fourth to tenth, advanced a notch and the No. 10 place was taken over by a newcomer, German Ohm of Mexico, who has lost only one fight in two years. In the heavyweight class, Willie Pastrano of New Orleans replaced Bob Baker as the No. 4 contender through his victory over Pat McMurry, a Tacoma, Wash., heavyweights who had been unbeaten up to that point. Harold Carter, who kayoed Bob Satterfield, advanced from tenth to eighth. Eddie Machen, improving Redding, Calif., heavyweight jumped from eighth to sixth on the strength of his knockout victory over Walter Hafer. There were eliminations in several classes. Marty Marshall of Detroit and Ron Barton of England fell out of the light-heavy rankings. Milo Savage of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Rocky Castellani of Cleveland did likewise in the 160-pound division.

17 Out For Knott Practice

KNOTT (SC) — First practice session at Knott this week brought out 17 football boys, according to Coach Morris Molpus. Six boys lettered last year, while most of the other 11 have had considerable experience. Molpus said the boys had gained weight during the summer and looked fully as capable as the team of last year. A few key positions may be hard to fill, though. Two of the Shaw triplets, Delano and Roosevelt, and John Shanks and Donnie Roman were lost by graduation. In the first workouts, Warren Wilburn showed to good advantage at halfback. Other backs destined to play a big part this season were Woody Long, quarterback, and Thomas Day, fullback. Molpus thinks the end positions will be capably filled by Freddie Graham and Bruce Parker. Knott faces a rugged trio of conference foes this year in Dawson, Ackerly and Flower Grove. Molpus says every one of these teams will be tough.

24 Players Battling For Starting Spots At Ackerly

ACKERLY — Football players of all sizes swarmed out to the first practice session Monday afternoon. Coach Cliff Prather had 24 boys out for light work-outs, with four more to join the squad when school opens. Seven lettermen return for another year of football. Missing from the group was quarterback Joe Cook, who recently was stung by some kind of insect. He was seriously ill for several days, but is now gaining strength. However, Prather doubts if he will be strong enough to play in the first game against Sterling City on Sept. 7. Prather thinks the team will be equally as potent as the squad of 1955. Several good boys were lost, but their shoes will be filled by some husky youngsters now scrapping one another for positions on the first string. The Ackerly squad will hold morning and afternoon workouts the rest of the week. Morning sessions last from 8 to 10 o'clock, and afternoon workouts from 5 until 7.

Calhoun Favored To Defeat Webb

CHICAGO (AP)—Unbeaten Rory Calhoun of New York and Spider Webb of Chicago clash in a 10-round middleweight bout at Chicago Stadium tonight. Calhoun, 22-year-old former dishwasher who will be seeking his 24th straight victory, was an early 9-5 favorite. Rory has scored 12 knockouts and recently defeated Charlie Cotton in 10 rounds at New York. Before meeting Cotton, Calhoun stopped Willie Vaughn in eight rounds at New York. Frank Gilmer, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, said the five point scoring system will be introduced in tonight's fight. Heretofore, the 10 point system had been used. The winner now gets five points and the loser four or less. Webb, 24-year-old former national collegiate champion from Idaho, is unimpressed over the fact Calhoun has been made the favorite. Webb recently took a 10-round decision from Holly Mims and before going into the service he scored a six-round knockout over Chicago's Bobby Boyd, now one of the leading middleweight contenders.

Last Games Set In Big State

Final games will be played in the Big State League Wednesday night. Corpus Christi, leading the league by five games, will open at home. Waco and Port Arthur are tied for second and Wichita Falls is fourth. Wichita Falls clinched a first division berth Tuesday night by beating Port Arthur 3-0 while Abilene faded by losing to Beaumont 4-1. Corpus Christi rolled over Texas City 9-4, battering 15 hits with Dud Whitley getting five of them. Gus Muniz was credited for 13 hits by Texas City but coasted to his thirteenth pitching victory. Victoria snapped a 10-game losing streak by beating Waco 3-2 in 11 innings. Chico Oquendo won his own game by working a walk with the bases full in the last of the eleventh. Don Huffman hurled 4-hit ball in ending Wichita Falls to victory over Port Arthur and snapping the latter's eight-game winning streak. All of the hits were singles, three of the scratch variety. Beaumont jammed four runs across in the eighth to whip Abilene. Tom Baker kept 11 Blue Sox hits well spaced in notching his eighth triumph.

Speedboat Cup Stays In U. S.

DETROIT (AP)—The Harmsworth International Speedboat Trophy will remain in the United States for at least another year. A Seattle Yacht Club boat, Shanty I, driven by Lt. Col. Russell Schlieh, Air Force jet plane pilot, made sure of that yesterday by soundly trouncing the Canadian challenger, Miss Superst, of London, Ont. The final 35-mile heat for the trophy was a rough one. It did not develop the record-smashing speed predicted largely because of the rough water kicked up by a mid-afternoon storm. The roughness of the water was responsible, too, for a bad shaking up received by Bill Braden, Hamilton, Ont., the challenger's driver.

C-City Player Due To Be Starter At Texas Western

EL PASO — Don Maynard, Colorado City speedster, is expected to be a starter at one of the half-back slots for Texas Western College's Miners this fall. Maynard, a high and low hurdler champion, ran the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds last spring, and with Jimmy Bevers of Lovington, N. M., is expected to provide Texas Western with one of the fastest backfields it has ever had. Bevers has run the 100 in 9.9. In fact, Coach Mike Brumbelow says prospects are good for "one of the fastest teams we have ever had." Fifty-five players are expected to be on hand for the opening of football practice Saturday. In the group will be 18 lettermen and 12 others from last year's squad, plus a crew of 25 freshmen.

The Miners will hold a two-day workout until the beginning of school Sept. 17. They face a hard grind in preparation for their first game, a clash with Texas Tech Sept. 22. Tech is expected to be shooting for revenge for the 27-27 tie in last year's game with TWC. Brumbelow has shifted Bob Forrest, first-string quarterback last year, and Bob Laraba, No. 1 center last season, to quarterback. Forrest was an all-state quarterback at Carlsbad, N.M., and Laraba has played the position. They are expected to fill the void left with the graduation of Jesse Wittenton and loss of Berman Corbell because of injuries. Charlie Ward, Odessa, is due to be the first-string fullback, rounding out the Miner backfield.

Louisiana Tennis Meet Opens Today

SHREVEPORT (AP)—Tennis players from 16 states—swinging for a title undefeated—gathered today for the annual Louisiana State Open Tournament. Firing begins today among junior players with the older players opening Thursday. Among favorites for the top title is Jose Aguiro of Brazil and Tulane University, southern tennis champion and the open titleholder in 1954. He didn't play last year when the title went to John Been of the University of Houston. Been is not defending his title. Tigger Templeton of Dallas is ranking favorite among boys 15 and under.

Russell Seeks To Solve Minor League Problems

DALLAS (AP)—Allen Russell, owner of the Austin franchise in the Texas League, will contact all independent operators in the minor leagues for a meeting to organize "in an effort to solve the problems of baseball." Russell was delegated to make the contacts in a conference of independent owners from five leagues here yesterday. The independents—representing the Class AA Texas, Class A Western, Class B Southwestern and Big State and Class C Evangeline Leagues—adopted specific recommendations they think will lead toward solving those problems.

They want a freer player market, including a free agent draft, a revision of optional salary payments, more realistic draft prices, the right of players to waive selection in the draft, equitable distribution of money from radio and television broadcasts by the majors in minor league territory, more equitable working agreements between the majors and minors, removal of excise taxes on admissions and a revolving fund from which they can borrow money to operate. The major leagues have proposed a $500,000 fund for aid of the minors but the independent operators said they did not want it as a gift but as a loan. They also want it to be a replenishing fund.

The meeting Russell is setting up will be in October at a place not yet designated. It will come after a meeting of the revision committee of the major-minor league agreement and, Russell said, may find that the committee has already recommended the things the independents seek. Regardless, he said, there will be a meeting at Jacksonville, Fla., in December to form a permanent organization.

PITCHERS DUEL

Homers Spoil Bids For Shutout Wins

Midland's Tom Pollet stopped Hobbs Tuesday night by winning a 10-hit Southwestern League duel with Jim Grimm 7-4. Clovis lost the first game of a doubleheader to Pampa 1-5 and took the nightcap 6-3. San Angelo swept a doubleheader with Plainview, taking the first 3-1 and the second 6-1. Ballinger trounced Roswell 11-4, and El Paso edged Carlsbad 5-2.

relieved in the sixth. Bill Kirk, despite the fact he gave up nine free passes, was only in trouble in the sixth when Carlsbad did all of its scoring on two hits, one an inside the park home run by Oliver Hardy.

Gene Lippold went the route for Ballinger and gave up 10 hits while whiffing four and issuing no bases on balls. Roswell used three pitchers with Vince Lupica taking the loss.

The teams stay put Wednesday night with Clovis at Pampa, San Angelo at Plainview, Ballinger at Roswell, Midland at Hobbs, and El Paso at Carlsbad.

Pollet allowed four hits in the sixth when Hobbs got three runs, but otherwise spaced the airties. Stan Patchell had his shutout bid spoiled in the first game by Manager Frank Tornay's third inning solo homer. Patchell then won his own game with a two-run homer in the fifth. In the second game Jodie Phipps also lost his shutout bid to a homer, with Bobby Brown hitting it. At Pampa, Ernie Bartolomei had his shutout spoiled in the seventh inning of the opener when he walked two and was touched for a single by pitcher Ken Harrington, who suffered the loss. In the second game, George Doering gave up two hits in the second inning when Pampa scored two of its three runs, but walked three and hit one batter before he was

MV Takes N. Texas

DENTON (AP)—North Texas State was admitted to the Missouri Valley Conference yesterday and that again leaves the Gulf Coast Conference with three members. The conference was increased to four only last year with the admission of Abilene Christian. North Texas State won't start competing in the Missouri Valley until next spring, however, and will not be in football until 1958. It will be in basketball in 1957. Other members of the Gulf Coast Conference are Trinity and Midwestern. Dr. J. C. Matthews, president of North Texas, expressed pleasure in the news that his college had been admitted to the conference. "We are most happy," he said.

Milam Is Captain Of Allen Grid Team

Dickie Milam, former Big Spring High School football ace, left this morning for Bryan where he is a student in Allen Academy and captain of the school's football team. Milam spent the summer here working in the oil fields and at Lake J. B. Thomas. His team is to start practice this weekend. Allen Academy will play an Abilene Christian College team in Abilene Oct. 11.

NEW YORK (AP)—Lou Boudreau, manager of the Kansas City Athletics, was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital at 5:45 a.m., today, reportedly suffering from chills and fever. Dr. Sidney Gaynor, New York Yankees' physician, attributed the illness to the after-effects of the extraction of a wisdom tooth on Monday. (Adv.)

'Take Charge' Golfers Lacking In National Am

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

The Associated Press
Results of the sectional qualifying rounds for the National Amateur golf championship again showed that America has no take-charge player like Bob Jones and Lawson Little were in their heyday. But it does have a lot of good amateur golfers.

Billy Joe Patton and little Joe Campbell made bids for a place at the top when they set the pace for the 36-hole sectional tests with 157 scores. But they have fallen a bit short in the past and still have to earn the top spot.

The task of reducing the record entry of 1,612 players to a manageable field of 200 for the all-match-play tournament at Lake Forest, Ill., Sept. 10-15 was completed yesterday. Sectional rounds at 27 locations filled 159 places. Earlier 32 others had qualified at three places and nine were exempt from the sectional tests.

When the firing ended, the colorful but often erratic Patton had a 70-67 score and Joe Campbell, the little Indiana tothead who battled to the quarter-finals last year had a 72-65. A stroke behind them came Bill Campbell, the Walker Cup team captain with 71-67-132 and 20-year-old Bob Shave Jr. of Cleveland, 69-70-132.

The field at Lake Forest also will include all but one of the members of Bill Campbell's 1955 Walker Cup team, last year's amateur runner-up, one semifinalist and three other quarter-finalists. Most of the bright young men who have been creating golf headlines for the past year or so also will be on hand.

Bucs Stall Braves, Mantle Gets 45th

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
Are Dale Long and the rest of Pittsburgh's short-lived heroes to become Milwaukee's pennant-block, just as the Pirates were to Brooklyn in 1954?

Brooklyn had edged to within a half game of first place in '54 and looked good and healthy with 10 games remaining against Pittsburgh in the last month and a half of the season. But the last place Pirates, who had lost 10 of their first 12 games with the Braves, won five of those last 10, standing the Dodgers on end while the New York Giants copped the flag and the world championship.

The Pirates, who lost 12 of their first 18 games with Milwaukee this season, looked like the spoilers of old last night, coming from behind as Long hit a three-run homer to beat the Braves 5-4 and trim their National League lead to 1 1/2 games over the Dodgers.

BUMS LOSE ONE
And except for the fact Brooklyn was playing a doubleheader in the only major league park without lights, the Dodgers might have been only a half game shy of the Braves today. The Brooks split the twin bill with Chicago's Cubs, winning the opener 6-4 on three ninth-inning runs, but losing the nightcap 4-3 when play was halted after 7 1/2 innings by darkness.

In the American League, Mickey Mantle belted his 45th home run in New York's 4-0 victory over Kansas City in a game held to six innings by rain. The Yankees regained an eight game first place bulge as Cleveland let at Baltimore 1-0. Chicago's White Sox split a pair with Washington, winning 5-3 after a 6-2 defeat. Detroit defeated Boston 6-3.

Long's poke triggered a four-run seventh that tied the score for the Bucs after Warren Spahn, seeking his 196th major league victory, had retired two men in the frame. Five straight hits set things up for the Pirates against the veteran southpaw. Dick Groat's infield single scored the clincher against rookie Bob Trowbridge in the eighth.

Elroy Face won in relief of Dick Hall, who was tagged for Ed Mathews' 31st and 32nd home runs.

NEWCOMBE'S 21ST
Don Newcombe, working in relief for only the second time this season, won his 21st for the Brooks in the opener as Carl Furillo popped a fly that fell for a two-run single and broke a 3-all tie in the ninth. In the nightcap, Gene Baker's 11th home run and a bases-loaded walk by reliever Ed Roebuck broke up a tie game in the seventh for the Cubs. Duke Snider, sidelined by a knee injury, pinch-hit his 36th home run.

There were 13 home runs in the NL yesterday and Frank Robinson's second of the night was the 1,000th of the season. Long's was 1,001 — 262 shy of the major league record the NL set last season. The Cincinnati rookie slammed two, his 33rd and 34th, while Ed Bailey added his 23rd to account for seven runs. Joe Nuxhall won his 10th.

Marv Blaylock, Solly Hemus and Richie Ashburn got the job done in a two-run sixth. Simmons won his 11th.

WIND HELPS

Mantle's wind-blown shot came in the third inning with two on against Art Ditmar. It put him five games up on Babe Ruth's record-60 pace in 1927 — but the Babe hit his 45th and 46th in the same game. Bob Turley won his eighth with a two-hitter.

Cleveland and Baltimore each managed just four hits, but Ray Moore gave up only singles and didn't allow a man past first while winning his 11th for the Orioles. A single, balk and Bob Nieman's double scored the only run in the first off Hank Aguirre.

Chuck Stobbs counted a 13th victory for the first time in his 10 seasons of organized ball, checking the White Sox on seven hits in the opener. Jack Harshman, riding on hotbers by Dave Philley and Minnie Minoos and Ron Northey's two-run double, won his 11th in the second game.

Al Kaline drove in three runs as the Tigers beat Mel Parnell. Kalne's 24th homer led off a three-run sixth — in which Red Wilson shuffled home from first while the Red Sox disputed a decision at the plate. Frank Lary won his 14th with a five-hitter — including homers by Gene Stephens and Ted Lepcio.

Steelers Due To Sharpen Up Their Offense

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers, losers in both National Football League exhibitions this year, are aiming to sharpen up their offense.

And the key to the problem, according to Coach Walt Kiesling, is finding a replacement for quarterback Jimmy Finks, who quit the pro league for an assistant coaching job at Notre Dame.

The Steelers resumed practice today and Kiesling shook up his offensive team in an effort to decide who will be his No. 1 quarterback.

The Steelers don't play again until Sept. 8 when they meet the Chicago Bears at Pittsburgh. By that time, Kiesling hopes to have made his choice among Ted Marchibroda, Jack Scarbath and Maurice Duncan.

Marchibroda was with the Steelers last season but sat it out while Finks held the spotlight. Scarbath, former star at Maryland University, was with Ottawa in the Canadian League last season. Prior to that he played with the Washington Redskins.

Kiesling told sporters writers in Pittsburgh yesterday he's trying to sharpen up his offense. It has been woefully weak as the Steelers lost 37-16 to the Baltimore Colts and 20-15 to the Detroit Lions.

Aragon, Andrade To Resume Feud

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A long standing hometown feud comes to the exploding point tonight when Art Aragon and Cisco Andrade meet in a 10-round outdoor fight at Wrigley Field.

Some 15,000 highly partisan patrons are expected to pay $10,000 or more to see the action, pitting Aragon, a ranking welterweight, against the nation's No. 1 lightweight title contender, the Cisco Kid.

Aragon is the betting favorite and under terms of the contract, can enter the ring with something like a 7-pound advantage in weight.

Andrade, at 26 at the near peak of his boxing career, is quiet but confident, letting his fists do most of his talking.

Wayne Field held the Big Spring Hawks to three hits, as the Cardinals ran wild, winning, 13-2.

Others Qualify For Invitational

Sixteen additional golfers have posted qualifying scores for the Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament which opens Saturday at the Country Club.

Still incomplete is the Big Spring Hall-Bennett Trophy team, which will clash with a squad of out-of-town aces in the annual Hall-Bennett matches Friday. Marvin Miller is captain of the local team which will include Bill Craig of Colorado City and James Lee Underwood of Big Spring.

Latest qualifying scores are Joe Williamson 86, Matt Harrington 85, R. H. Landers 89, Sam Thurman 79, J. E. tallies in the third and fourth innings, while the winners were scoring in the third, fourth, fifth, and seventh frames.

The contest was the third between three teams, with the Cardinals taking the first, 4-1, and the Hawks coming back to win the second, 7-4.

Chicki Paderes started for the Hawks but was shelved in the fifth, being replaced by N. Paderes. Porras relieved in the sixth and finished the contest.

Fields, in registering the win, struck out five batters and walked three.

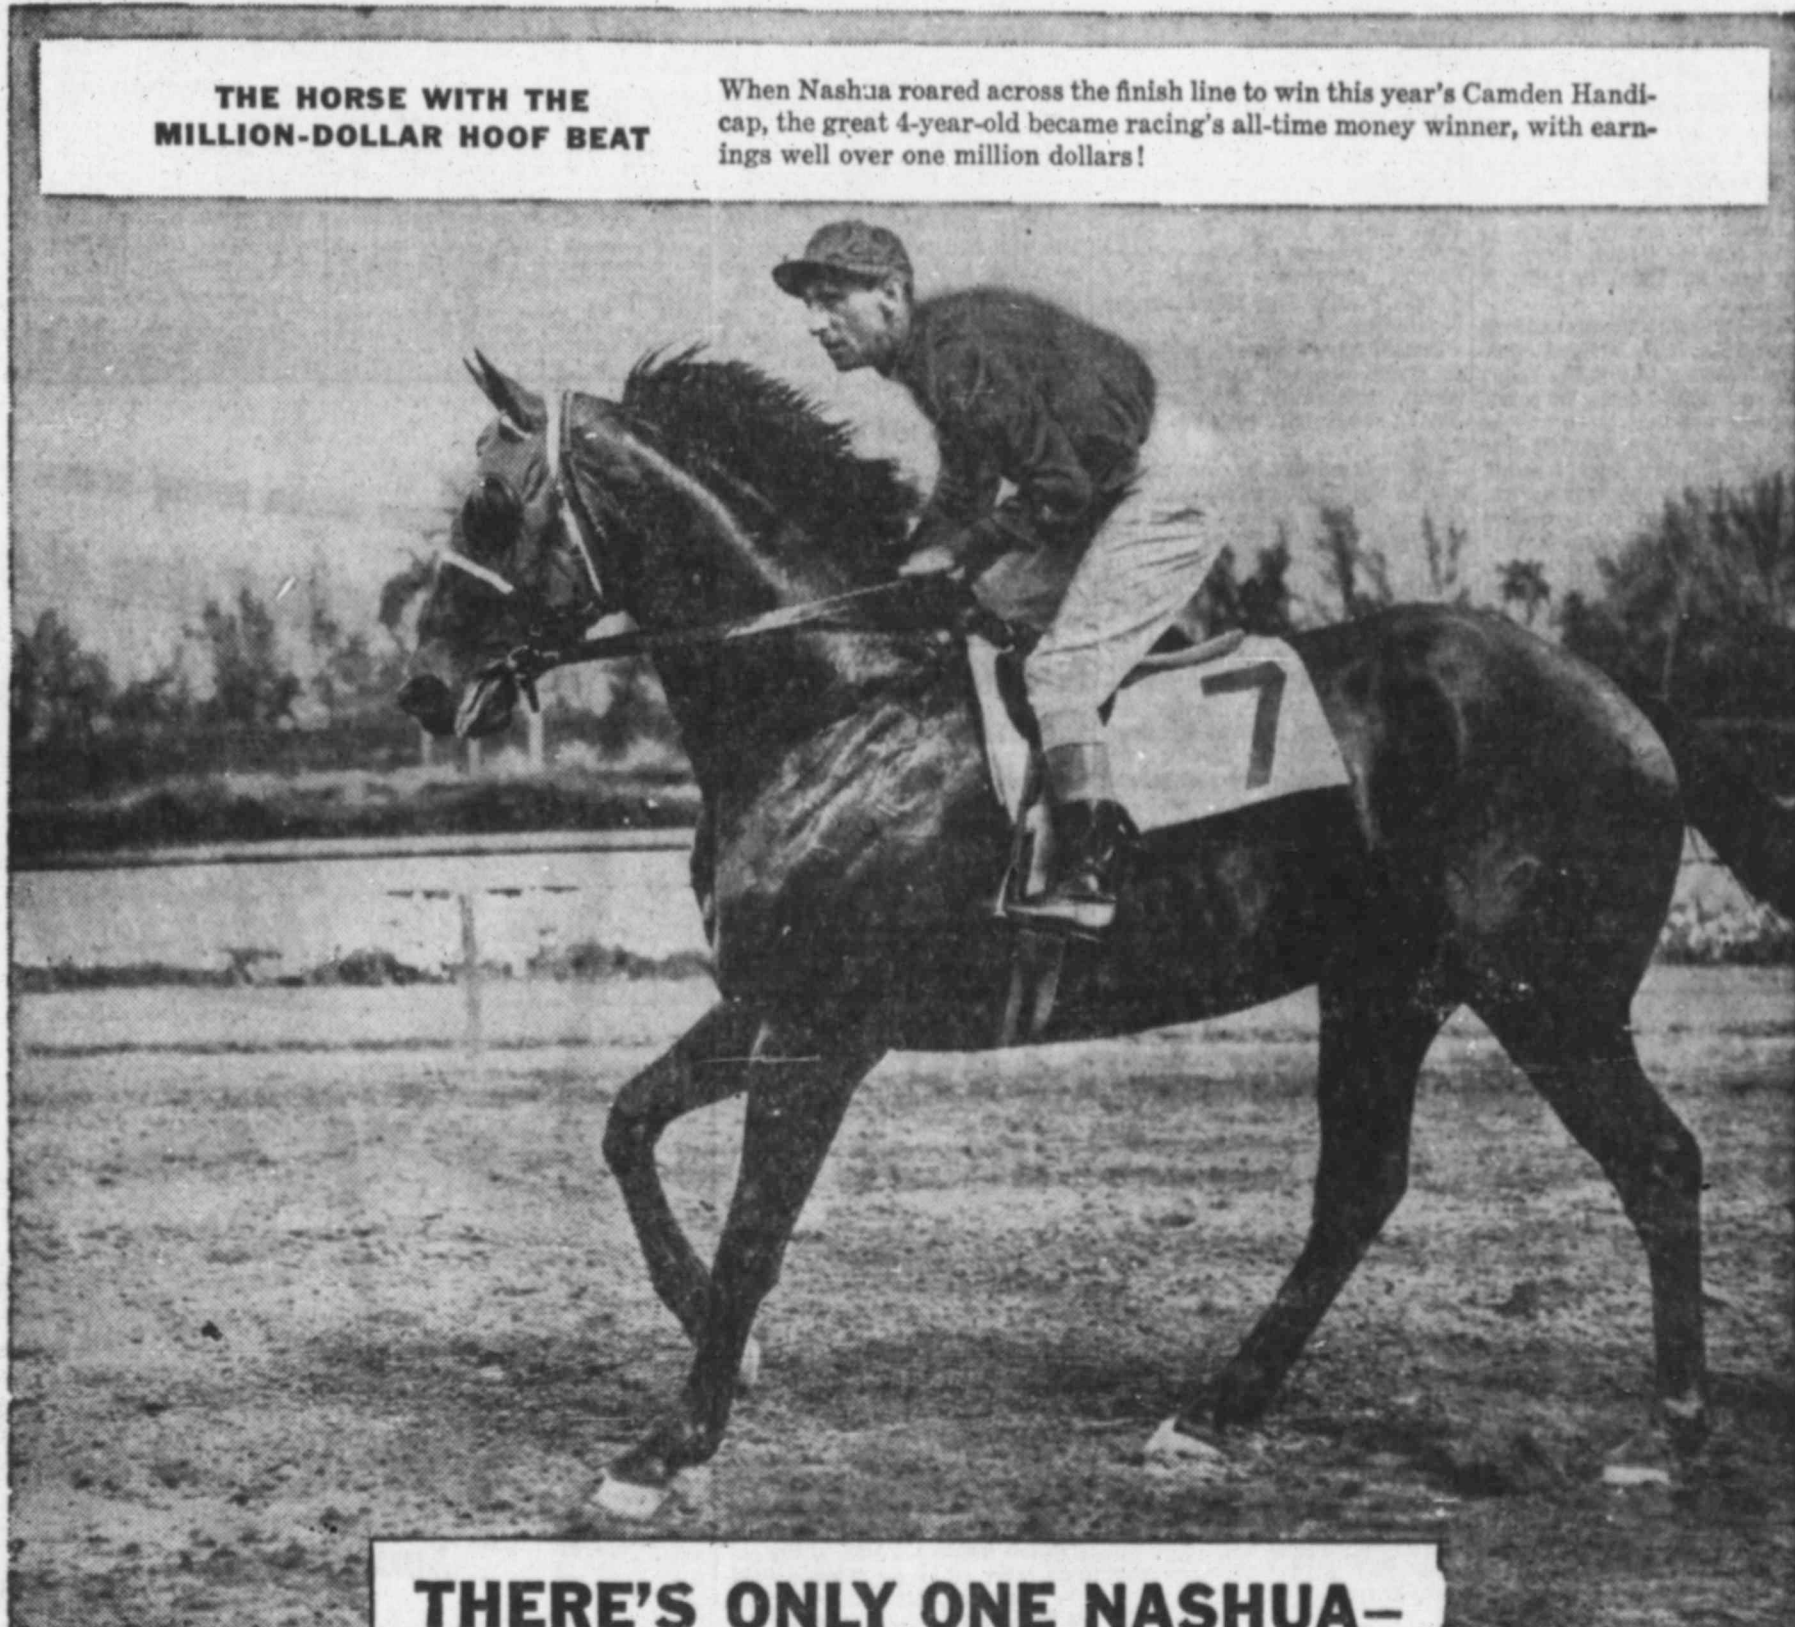

The Hawks' next action will be Sunday when they face the San Angelo Grayhounds here on the northside diamond at 2:30 p.m. Johnny Subia will probably be the starting hurler. The Hawks' record now stands at 16 wins and eight losses.

R. Murphy, Cardinal first baseman, collected two hits for the winners including a first inning triple. He also scored three runs. The left fielder, Bell, got three hits.

The three hits given up by Fields were singles to N. Paderes, Rodriguez, and Marin.

Junior Rodeo To Open Thursday

Paced by what promises to be a colorful parade, the 11th annual Junior World's Championship rodeo will bounce and buck to a rollicking start here Thursday.

Parade time is set for 4:30 p.m. with 20 units in the procession. Line of march is from Goliad to Third, west to Rannels, north to First, west to Scurry, south to Second, east to Main, south to Third, west on Third to point of termination.

Thirty-five salty broncs and 23 evil-appearing bulls arrived Monday and Tuesday to test the riding skill of performers under 20 years.

Prospects are that there will be plenty of performers, too, for Jimmy Taylor, Howard County agent, said that already 86 entries had been received from young ropers and riders of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. By show time at 8 p.m. Thursday, there will be some 100 to 125 entries on the line, he predicted. Among those signed for the show are the top performers of the current young season.

Calves furnished by the Howard County Roping Club are in good condition, and Lester Foster brought 35 pesky Spanish goats from his ranch in Sterling County. A number of the boys will be trying their hand at getting a sack around the squirming goats or trying to milk them in a roping and speed event.

Parents of the sponsoring 4-H Clubs will operate the concessions at the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Bowl. Bill Merrick will announce and Kenneth Williams will be the clown.

Among those to be presented following the grand entry parade are Rodney Brooks, Coahoma, president of the Howard County 4-H Club; Mac Robinson, Coahoma, chairman of 4-H rodeo directors; Muri Bailey, Forsan, vice chairman of directors; Loretta Overton, Forsan, secretary; Johnny King, Wanda Boatler and Melvin Fryar, Big Spring, directors.

Donald Lay, Coahoma, will serve as arena director, and Jack Buchanan, Big Spring, and Lawrence Davis, Coahoma, will be riding judges.

Line of march for the parade will be the flag bearers, the Webb AFB band, the 4-H president and directors, a small mounted group, Thixton Motorcycle float, Aces Auto Club float, Tarbox Motor Co., Coahoma 4-H float, Grantham Bros. Tractor, Truman Jones Sports Center, Cosden Petroleum Corporation, McEwen Motor, Taylor Implement Tractor, Forsan 4-H float, Tidwell Chevrolet, Lomax 4-H float and scores of horseback riders.

There will be shows Friday and Saturday evening. All net proceeds will go to finance the livestock and crop demonstration projects of 4-H club members, to send teams to judging shows, etc. Tickets are $1 and 50 cents.

air-conditioning equipment for the police station, and as a result, the city will get bigger units for little added expense. Western Service Company, mechanical contractor on the project, has been unable to obtain two three-ton air conditioners called for in the bid. As a result, the firm agreed to install five-ton units for the same price.

Phillips Electric of Midland, electrical contractor, agreed to do the extra wiring for $87.40. The commission readily approved the price.

An anti-noise ordinance was discussed but rejected.

The matter developed from citizens on Gregg complaining of loud juke boxes and speakers at drive-in stands on the highway. In the past, Whitney said that when a complaint had come, a policeman was dispatched to the establishment to ask the owner to cut down the volume.

The commissioners brought up the matter of trucks passing through the city, also out-door revivals, and athletic contests, which would be involved in the ordinance.

Therefore, the commission authorized Whitney to contact the owners of the firms involved, asking them to cut down on the volume and mentioning to them they could be brought into corporation court for disturbance of the peace.

A request to eliminate truck traffic on Seventeenth was tabled. Whitney said he had received the request from one resident. Commissioner Ward Hall said that if the street were restricted to trucks they would travel another 1 1/2 miles shifting the problem.

He added that if such a restriction is made, every truck would have to be stopped and checked to see if it was actually on the street for business or en route to some other place.

Seal Coating Is Almost Finished

Only retouching remains for the city to complete its annual seal-coating work for the year.

Crews finished actual coating and graveling Tuesday, and Herbert Whitney, city manager, said that men would be brushing and leveling the gravel and hunting uneven spots in the streets today.

The work was started last Wednesday, and at that time, the city estimated it would not be completed until Friday. Fourteen areas needed sealing more than other streets, City Engineer Jack Belamy reported.

City crews did all the work except spreading the asphalt, and that phase was accomplished by W. D. Caldwell, dirt contractor.

Thieves Strip Parked Auto

Vandals must have needed new tires and accessories for their car. They took them from a car parked downtown last weekend.

The car was parked near Truman Jones Motor Company and had been there about two weeks. Service personnel there reported that a man had called asking them if he could leave his car there for repairs.

He called the service man after two weeks and said he would not be able to bring the car during the day and asked that it be repaired and held until he came for it.

After two weeks he had not come for it, and last weekend, it was stripped. Policeman J. D. Campbell said that the tires had been taken and replaced with an old set and accessories also stolen.

City To Negotiate On Sale Of Water To Oil Companies

Authority was given the city manager by the commission Tuesday night to negotiate for sale of raw water from city lakes to oil companies.

In other matters dealing with water, the city commission discussed the proposed water and sewer lines to serve the Air Force's housing unit.

Two separate firms previously contacted Herbert Whitney, city manager, about water from Powell and Moss Creek lakes. Whitney now will work with each separately on the matters.

One firm is wanting water from Powell for use in the Iatan-East Howard pool for repressuring. It told Whitney it would use between 168 and 246 thousand gallons per day. The firm would build a line from the field to the lake, install a pump, and treat the water.

Should Powell go dry, the city would provide water through its tap from Lake J. B. Thomas. Whitney said that CRMWD was unofficially favorable.

The commission authorized Whitney to proceed with negotiations on a price to the company of 16 cents per 1,000 gallons.

The other firm, located between Big Spring and Moss Creek Lake would want water to fill and maintain an underground petroleum storage area. The officials told Whitney they would need 42 million gallons initially to create the cavity and periodically need water to float out the petroleum products.

Whitney said it would require pumping facilities. Whitney felt that the firm should be charged 17 1/2 cents per 1,000 gallons — same price paid by Cosden and Cabot.

At present, Whitney said that there are 296 million gallons of water in Moss Creek and 285 million in Powell.

To keep Moss Creek as a recreational site, the city would set a minimum water level and when usage brought the lake to that level, water would then come from Lake Thomas.

All negotiations, however, will have to be cleared with CRMWD because the district has control of all water used or sold by the city.

Turning to the proposed water and sewer lines from the Air Force housing area to the water reservoir and disposal plant, Whitney told the group that engineers from Fort Worth, Carter and Burgess, have already staked part of the area.

When they finish their work, they will recommend the size of lines needed, and if the city desires to construct larger lines, the city will pay the additional expense.

Commissioners agreed that the city should go to the necessary expense in order to gain use of the lines.

The water line would tie into city mains at Westover Road and FR 700, extend westward to the proposed housing unit via the county road, and then on to the reservoir on Scenic Mountain.

Tour Of Dawson Farms Is Slated

LAMESA — County Agent Lee Roy Colgan has announced that a tour of farms growing hybrid grain sorghum and feeding cattle ensilage will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m.

The tour will begin at the Midway Gin and the first stop will be at the R. B. Hoffman farm, where there will be a variety of hybrid sorghum along with Plainsman, Martins and 7078. The group also will see an ensilage cattle feeding program at the Arthur Little farm.

City Engineer Jack Bellamy said the AF was thinking of a 16-inch water line, and that if the city wanted a 20-inch line, the additional cost would be about $1 per foot.

Engineering surveys showed the sewer line would drop south from the housing unit through the city park and generally follow the north bank of the creek running south of Big Spring. A 10-inch line is considered by the engineers.

Whitney felt that the city should increase the size of the line progressively as it nears the sewage disposal plant. He also felt that possible developers of the area should be contacted and asked to pay part of the expense of the line, since they would be benefited by having the line enlarged.

Roy Bruce, sitting as chairman of the commission in the absence of Mayor G. W. Dabney, said that developers should be given the opportunity to help share the expense, but if they did not want to, they should be charged a proportionate amount should they later decide to tap the line.

Bellamy said that the city was thinking in terms of $100,000 when it considered the price above the AF costs.

Curtis Driver said he felt that if it came to the point of losing the opportunity or voting bonds, he was in favor of calling a bond election.

The commissioners felt that the area would develop and ultimately be in the city, and it would therefore need sewage service. Added sewage service would cause future enlarging of the disposal plant — in five years of continued growth, said Ward Hall.

The commission then instructed Whitney to speak to developers in the area on the possibility of paying part of the cost of the city found out the cost of the AF part of the project.

90-Day Jail Terms Levied Against Pair

Claude Bohannon, described by County Attorney Harvey Hooser Jr. as an "old offender," pleaded guilty before R. H. Weaver, county judge, to writing a worthless check Wednesday morning.

Hooser recommended that the defendant be sentenced to six months in the county jail but Weaver assessed punishment at half of that time — 90 days.

Jessie Edgar Nickels, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, pleaded guilty to the charge. It was stated that his car and a truck were involved in a collision and that the driver of the truck suffered concussion.

The truck was damaged, the court was told, to the extent of $1,700. Judge Weaver ordered Nickels to serve 90 days in county jail and pay a fine of $100.

Jerrell Bolton, charged with driving while intoxicated, also entered a plea of guilty. He told the court that he was involved in a minor accident — his car striking the rear of another at a red light. He was fined $100 and ordered to serve three days in jail.

Jessie Cortez, charged with aggravated assault, pleaded not guilty. The court set his bond at $500. He was informed that he would be tried the first week of the scheduled county jury criminal docket which opens Sept. 24.

Wayne Rudd, an airman charged with carrying a pistol, had been instructed to be in court Wednesday morning due to a clerical error. It was revealed that Rudd had already been before the court and bond set. He was told to return Sept. 24 for trial.

Street lights at Tenth and Johnson and in front of the high school will probably be turned on Monday night, City Manager Herbert Whitney said today.

The schools start classes Tuesday.

BACK TO SCHOOL MEANS BACK TO HOMEWORK

Start 'em off right with better light!

You'll be giving them a good start toward good grades when you check your youngsters' home study lighting. Good lighting aids concentration... reduces eye fatigue and drowsiness... makes homework seem easier.

Good study lighting is easy and inexpensive to provide. In most cases, a good table lamp equipped with a 150-watt bulb will provide adequate light. The lamp should be well shaded to prevent glare and tall enough to spread light evenly over the entire work area.

A Business of your own will give you the chance to live well — to work under favorable conditions — to earn substantial weekly income — and most important of all, help give you the peace of mind and security you feel for yourself and family.

THE SALES record of KODAK and ANSCO film, leaders in the field, assure you the success of this method of distributing film. There is also provided a PHOTO DEVELOPING SERVICE. This business should provide a steady average weekly income from the start. We desire men who are anxious to expand and aspire to earnings in excess of $15,000 annually.

NO EXPERIENCE or knowledge of photography is necessary. No burdensome overhead — you need not stay away from home. We supply specialized SUPER-MARKETS, HOTELS, RESTAURANTS, BUS STATIONS, TOURIST ATTRACTIONS, ETC. We also train, help and guide you step by step to assure maximum earnings in all that is required to enter into this multi-million dollar industry. Write about yourself in detail, state territory desired, references and telephone. A company representative will arrange an appointment for an interview.

Wreck Damages Of $228,500 Are Alleged

A traffic accident on last June 9 is the basis for two separate lawsuits filed in 118th District Court in which combined damages totalling $228,500 are asked.

Scurlock Oil Company and Jesse Raymond Chapman are the defendants in each of the cases. Juan Garcia is the plaintiff in one petition and Maria Olivias is plaintiff in the second.

The actions stem from the crash of a truck and a car near the Shirley Fryar farm on last June 9. The two vehicles collided on a lonely country road.

Garcia, who was rated as seriously injured at the time, spent a lengthy interval in the hospital. For some days, it was feared he would not survive.

The suit brought by Garcia seeks a total $137,000 and the companion suit filed by Maria Olivias asks damages of $91,500.

Both plaintiffs allege permanent and serious injuries resulting from the accident.

Nixon Takes Writing Rest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon flies today to New Jersey to rest and write some of the speeches he will make during "an extensive and vigorous" campaign tour next month.

L. Richard Guylay, public relations director for the Republican National Committee, said tentative plans call for a "back-breaking schedule" of aerial visits, with speeches averaging more than one a day.

Although details were not announced immediately, Guylay said the first campaign swing will last 10 days or two weeks, starting about mid-September.

Nixon and his family meantime arranged to spend a long Labor Day weekend at the Mantoloking, N.J., home of Amos Peasley, top assistant to Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser. It was Stassen who tried for a month to block Nixon's renomination but ended by seconding the nomination at the GOP National Convention in San Francisco last month.

Demo Candidate May Be Ousted Grand Jury Indicts 15 Persons, Lauds Judge And Investigators

CHICAGO (AP) — There were increasing signs today that some Democratic party chieftains have concluded they must force Herbert C. Paschen off the state ticket or possibly endanger Adlai E. Stevenson's chances in the Illinois presidential election. Paschen is Democratic nominee for governor. Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, nominal head of the powerful Cook County Democratic organization, conceded that Paschen's name on the ballot could hurt "the entire ticket."

Paschen, the Cook County treasurer, has been under varying degrees of pressure to get off the party ticket since publication of stories dealing with a controversial fund in his office to which bankers contributed. He has defended the fund as proper, and said it was designed to help office employees.

Howard County Grand Jury returned 13 indictments against 15 persons in its final report to Judge Charlie Sullivan in 118th District Court Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

The grand jury likewise had some kind words for the court, for the district attorney and the county attorney and their staffs in a brief verbal report made to the judge.

M. R. Koger, foreman, speaking for his fellow jurors, told Judge Sullivan:

"We, as the grand jury, want to tell you that we have had occasion to watch your court in action and to have come in contact with the officials who work with you and the court. We have been most favorably impressed with the efficiency and cooperation we have found. The jury wants you to know that we are well pleased with what we have seen."

Judge Sullivan thanked the foreman and the jurors and discharged them.

The jurors completed their investigation with a visit to the county jail. When they had returned from their inspection trip through the fourth floor of the courthouse, they filed into court to submit their report to the court.

Judge Sullivan accepted the indictments and scheduled bonds for each of the 15 defendants.

True bills were returned against: Charlie Wilson, possession of narcotics, bond $3,000; Arthur Skorpeka, forgery and passing, $3,000; Doyle Brown and James McKelvey, forgery and passing, $3,000 each; Wilton Stewart, worthless check, $2,000; Herb H. Taylor, worthless check, $2,000; Earl T. Johnson, forgery and passing, $2,000; Billy Wayne Decker, DWI second offense, $2,000; Hiram Glover, theft, $2,000; Kenneth Wayne Holley and Norval Roy Perkins, theft, $3,000 each; Eloy Hernandez, burglary, $2,000; Lee Barber, DWI second offense, $2,000; Merrell Daniel Adams, DWI second offense, $2,000; Ernest W. Wilkerson, DWI second offense, $2,000.

Knott English Teacher Quits

KNOTT (SC) — At a called meeting this week, the Knott School Board accepted the resignation of Cecil Shockley who has been teaching English in the high school. He resigned to accept a job as principal of the Dawson High School at Welch.

The school has two vacancies now, one for agriculture and the vacancy created by Shockley's resignation. The agriculture position will likely be filled this week, however, according to Supt. Bill Bolin. He said several applications had been received and one would be chosen within the next few days.

The English position also will include a bus driving job, if the new teacher is a man. Bolin said the bus driving would pay $810 per year, and the teacher would be required to teach five classes out of a seven-period day.

Also at the meeting, Morris Barnes was appointed to fill the unexpired term of board member M. A. Cockrell. Ben Daugherty was appointed to a similar position to take the place of Ronald Lloyd. Cockrell had been secretary of the board, so this position will now go to Claude King, another board member.

Rope Trick Nearly Fatal To Youths

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A game with a rope ended in near-tragedy for one of two six-year-old boys. They tied the ends of a rope around their waists and stood on opposite sides of a road. When a bus came along, they pulled the rope taut. They were snapped to the ground, both suffering injury.

Bids Asked On Vincent Road

Bids have been asked for 10 miles of farm-to-market road in northeastern Howard County.

Sealed proposals will be accepted by the State Highway Department for constructing grade, structures, base and surface for 10.148 miles of road approximately from Luther to Vincent.

The road will begin at a point 6.0 miles east of FM 669 and will go to FM 2032 at Vincent. Date for opening of the bids is Sept. 11 at Austin. Plans and specification are available at the office of Homer Ray, resident engineer in Snyder.

Scenes At Auction Barns Are Sure Sign Drought's Still On

DALLAS (AP) — Even when you don't notice the burned-yellow grass, the mud-bottomed ponds and the dusty river beds, you still can tell when drought has hit the Southwest.

Just last around the community sales barn on auction day and watch the cattle come in.

When a drought begins to hurt, more cattle move in for sale. A few weeks later, the cattle that arrive are shrunken and bony. They're hungry.

Then a little later, surprisingly, the sales cattle are fatter.

You know, when the sales cattle are fat again, that creeping disaster has hit the rancher.

For these fatter cattle are the breeding herds. The rancher turns loose of them only when he's desperate. He must surrender these cattle or watch them die of hunger.

An Associated Press man who travels across Texas constantly was telling about an auction he saw last week.

"There was this man sitting there crying. He was selling some breeding cattle. He'd sold his own herd weeks before. He had a boy in the Army and that day he was selling off his son's breeding herd."

A surge of such cattle are going on the market these days.

The drought has hurt the farmer equally. And city officials say that if heavy rains don't come soon, city folk will be hurting, too.

The drought appears worse in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Montana and Colorado, with scores of counties declared disaster areas, eligible for federal aid to farmers and ranchers. Other states, such as Wyoming, Kansas and Missouri are suffering, but not to such a degree.

Some people, such as Oklahoma's Gov. Raymond Gary, are calling it the worst drought in history. Texas expects the shortest corn crop since 1873, and the smallest commercial peanut crop since 1934. The Agriculture Department calls Texas range conditions the worst ever recorded.

Already, it's too late for rains to revive crops in the southern part of the region, and even in areas farther north a full crop couldn't be made even if rains came immediately.

Ironbound Oak

SOUTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — About 65 years ago a farmer's ox cart broke down on Ministerial Rd. One of its wheels came off and was left there. An acorn under the wheel grew in the last 65 years to a 50-foot oak. The tree still wears the rim of the ox cart wheel around its trunk.

Future Planes Will Land You Before You Took Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In the not too distant future, you can take off in New York and land in San Francisco before you took off.

This is the opinion of the man who won the first Bendix Trophy Race in 1931 and went on to set a transcontinental record of 12 hours.

"We now have fighter planes in the 1,000 mile-per-hour class," Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle said in an interview. "It is only a matter of time until commercial aircraft will be flying across the continent in less than three hours."

time differential from coast-to-coast, this would mean arriving before you left, by the clock.

This week marks the 25th anniversary of the Bendix Trophy Race — aviation's equivalent of the Kentucky Derby or the Indianapolis Speedway Classic.

Doolittle won that first race in 1931 from Los Angeles to Cleveland, refueled, took off for New York and became the first man to cross the continent in 12 hours. The present record for the Bendix Race was set in 1954 by Edward Kenny in an F76 Thunderstreak which averaged over 616 m.p.h.

RACIAL ISSUE

Virginian School Meeting Recessed

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Both houses of the Virginia General Assembly met briefly today and recessed until Tuesday—apparently in line with the administration's timing to garner support for the governor's school program.

Many of the lawmakers opposed to Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's proposal to withhold state funds from integrated schools saw the long recess as a move "to gain more time."

Generally, they admit the governor's program seems headed for passage in the House of Delegates but see its chances as "about an even run in the Senate."

Administration leaders in the upper house say they "are encouraged" over the outlook, though, and add the recess extending over the Labor Day weekend simply is to allow for the printing of the various school bills.

This, they contend, will give the people opportunity to digest all the proposals in time to give their views at public hearings set for Tuesday.

Delegate Fred G. Pollard of Richmond introduced a bill to allow parents or guardians to indicate whether they wished their children to attend segregated schools or schools designed as integrated schools.

"Presumably all the white children would choose the segregated schools, but no one choosing the integrated school could complain because it would be open to both races," Pollard said of his proposal.

His bill brought to 34 the number of school measures offered since the Assembly convened at noon Monday. Thirteen bills to carry out the governor's program were introduced in each house yesterday.

Death Ends Colorful Congress Career

CRAMERTON, N.C. (AP)—George Holden Tinkham, a colorful Boston blueblood who mixed travels to faraway places with 28 years in the U.S. House of Representatives, is dead at 86.

Tinkham, whose chest-length beard, his jaunts to places not listed in the tourist guides and his violent opposition to prohibition made him a figure in Congress, died yesterday in his sleep at the home of a sister here. He had not been ill.

A Mayflower descendant, Tinkham, a Republican, served the 10th Massachusetts Congressional District from 1915 to 1943 when he retired at 72.

He started his political career in 1897, three years after his graduation from Harvard, when he was elected to the old Boston Common Council. A term on the board of aldermen, successor to the council, was followed in 1910 by his election to a two-year term in the Massachusetts Senate. In 1915 he began the first of 14 consecutive terms in the U.S. House.

One of his trips abroad found him in Europe in 1917 when the United States declared war on Germany and Austria. He fired the first American salvo at the Austrians in northern Italy.

Many of Tinkham's 30 trips to all parts of the world took him to Africa where he went off the beaten paths to study tribal life, one of his many hobbies.

Tinkham fought as hard for strict enforcement of the constitutional amendment granting Negro suffrage and rights as he did against prohibition, which he considered a restriction on personal liberty.

In 1929 the House adopted, then defeated, his amendment to a reapportionment census bill which would have denied congressional representation to southern states to the extent the state denied Negro voting.

Tinkham's body was to be shipped to Boston for funeral services Friday at Emmanuel Episcopal Church there. Burial will be at Forest Hills Cemetery in Boston.

French Kill 13 In Algerian Ambushes

Nurse Charged In Baby Deaths Pictured As A Lonely Woman

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — She laughed a lot. She talked a great deal. She ate "constantly" and displayed a child's passion for ice cream and soda pop.

But beneath the pretense of chatty cheerfulness, there were telltale signs of a woman acutely embarrassed by her inordinate size, a lonely woman who seemed to have no life of her own and tried to enjoy vicariously the lives of her temporary employers.

This was the picture slowly emerging today of Virginia Jaspers, the six-foot, 220-pound baby nurse, who told police she shook three infants to death and injured two others in fits of "uncontrollable" temper.

While the big, blonde woman herself still baby-faced at 33, remained in county jail in lieu of $50,000 bond, authorities continued to investigate the strange case. There was much to investigate.

Coroner James J. Corrigan said he would study the death certificates of every child under one year who died in the New Haven area since 1953. Miss Jasper has been known to care for newly born babies in private homes at least since 1948—possibly farther back than that.

But parents whose children were once cared for by Miss Jaspers, said they had no reason to suspect her ability or motives at the time. One was Mrs. Allen Hubbard, whose 13-day-old daughter died in 1948 while under Miss Jaspers' care.

Until Monday, Mrs. Hubbard knew only what her doctor had told her then—that the child died of a cerebral hemorrhage apparently caused by a congenital weakness. Monday, she learned of Miss Jaspers' statement to police—that the Hubbard child was one of three she shook with fatal results.

"Now I don't know what to think," Mrs. Hubbard said. "I have to admit that at the time she handled the baby well. We even had her for our second child. True, she was heavy-handed. When she burped the baby, she seemed a little strong. I remember we kidded her about it a few times but thought nothing serious about it."

"Apart from her handling of the baby, she seemed immature. She had this childish delight in eating, especially ice cream and soda. She was always, it seemed, taking pictures of the baby. Poor thing, she seemed to think she would never have a child of her own and lavished all her attention on ours."

Mrs. Hubbard, like other mothers who once employed the nurse, said that long after she left their homes: Miss Jaspers frequently sent birthday gifts or cards to her child.

Mrs. John Flanagan, wife of a New Haven attorney, said they were so pleased with Miss Jaspers' care of their child last year they recommended her to friends. Mrs. Flanagan and Mrs. Hubbard agreed in their version of the nurse's continual chatter and cheerfulness.

Both mothers said that the nurse spent virtually all her off-duty hours either eating or conversing with their guests.

Cyprus Bombings Emphasize New Vow Of Violence

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The first bombings in this British colony in 12 days today emphasized a new vow of violence from EOKA extremists.

Two bombs exploded harmlessly last night and early this morning outside the homes of a British army sergeant and a British major in Larnaca and Nicosia.

The explosions shattered the island's uneasy calm which had prevailed during a "suspension of operations" proclaimed by EOKA, the underground fighting arm of the Greek Cypriot movement demanding union with Greece.

The bombings followed an EOKA announcement, in leaflets strewn across Cyprus, that the truce was ended because the British government had failed to bring the Greek Cypriot leader, Archbishop Makarios, from exile to resume negotiations for the island's freedom from British rule.

Cupid, Law Both Win In Traffic Case

ATLANTA (AP) — Cupid and the law both won out in the case.

Policeman T. R. Reid wanted John Henry Freeman, 34-year-old Atlanta Negro, for failure to appear in court on traffic charges. Freeman wanted to get married.

They met at the wedding license office.

The officer escorted the couple to a nearby justice of the peace office and when the vows were taken put Freeman in a paddy wagon and sent him off to jail.

Then the bride got busy and Freeman was released in $200 pending a hearing.

Truck Leaks Acid Onto Bicycle Rider

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James Badger, 13, sprayed by sulphuric acid which had leaked from a truck, was burned critically as he rode a bicycle in suburban Lemay. A passing car splashed the acid on him. He lost control of the bicycle and fell to the street. His shirt and trousers fell away. A quick thinking witness sprayed him with a hose he was using to water his lawn. Badger was burned on his chest, arms, face and legs.

The truck driver said a valve apparently jarred open as he crossed some railroad tracks. About 4,000 gallons of acid escaped.

Safety Belts Would Save Lives

In its annual meeting at Chicago this year the American Medical Association estimated that about one in every four highway traffic deaths would have been prevented by adequate safety belts. It urged that belts be made standard equipment as soon as practicable. At present only 5 per cent of all cars on the road have them.

Today the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators is meeting in Winnipeg, Canada. It will discuss this very problem, with special emphasis on recommendations of its Engineering Committee that all states adopt standards of auto safety belts in both texture and installation. This is basic to any hope of persuading more and more manufacturers to put in belts, and more and more motorists to use them.

Not all "safety belts" deserve that name, some because of the poor quality and strength of materials used in them, and others because of design and the way they are attached to the car. One authority has said that any belt is safer than none. However, the public is entitled to know it is buying something that can be depended on to give adequate service.

Statistics from various sources show that belts not only reduce fatalities, but make what would have been serious injuries minor.

Getting drivers and their passengers to use them at all times is something else again. For maximum safety they must be used at all times — even when going to the grocery store, or perhaps we should say especially then.

Using them is merely a matter of forming a habit. This writer has been using a safety belt for many months now. It is no trouble at all; you soon learn to hook it up without thinking. And it does make one feel safer without generating overconfidence or loss of confidence in one's driving.

'R' Is For (R)oyster

We look forward to the advent of the first "r" month since April with a great deal of gustatory anticipation. The oyster, one of our favorite mouthfuls, will soon reappear on the menu, and not far behind will be the chill with or without beams.

The bivalve mollusks, the fossil remains of which are found in the Triassic period, have been around a lot longer than chill, but in our climate they are both more or less seasonal. Oysters may not be at their best in the non-"r" months, but chill is good the year round; but somehow or other chill manages to make itself scarce in the summer months.

Oysters are good fried, souped, baked or raw, but like chili they can be spoiled in preparation for the table. No branch of cookery taxes the genius of the cook like oysters, chili and coffee. At their best each is superb; at their worst they're not fit for dogs.

We have noticed a distressing tendency among eating places to put the old whammy on chili, perhaps because that wholesome dish is considered somewhat plebeian. Little do they know! Properly made, chili is an aristocrat, fit for people in all brackets of the income tax schedule. It is good for Democrats and Republicans, for people who drive hot rods and Cadillacs and for pedestrians and scooter-riders.

What has happened to coffee in the last few years shouldn't have happened to ditch-water. A cup of good coffee is as hard to come by as ten-dollar bills in horse-tracks. You can't judge coffee by the price you pay for it at the drinkatorium, which may be anywhere from a nickel to twenty cents a cup. You can only judge it by its taste and smell, which are often quite insupportable.

As for oysters — hell to September, October, November, December, January, February, March and April!

Tremendous Task Before Eisenhower

SAN FRANCISCO — With his nomination for a second term, President Eisenhower enters a new phase of his extraordinary career. Occupying a position of hero-statesman that few of his countrymen have enjoyed, at the peak of his popularity and prestige, he now has put his reputation in the balance of a second election and, beyond that, if he is the winner, on the hazards of another four years in the most difficult office of the world.

He has for long been fortune's favored child. Eisenhower luck has seen him through misadventure and misadventures that would have blighted less fortunate men. It seems — this luck — to be a part of his temperament; an element in the buoyant, confident, persuasive nature of the Army officer who has moved in a few crowded years from obscurity to become one of the half-dozen leaders of a world in crisis.

The President has set himself the mission, as he put it in his acceptance speech, of bridging the great chasm separating the Communist and non-Communist spheres. This will be his appeal in the campaign to come and a powerful appeal it is. It is also why in the farthest corner of the earth the Eisenhower name invokes the hope that the catastrophe of nuclear war can be avoided and the new forces unleashed by science can be used to create unparalleled well-being everywhere.

But building the bridge — only a preliminary survey of the plans was achieved in the first Eisenhower term — calls for statesmanship, courage, initiative, maturity of view of an unprecedented order. It means breaking through the easy slogans, the rhetoric, going against the popular American illusion that we can have everything our own way while Soviet communism conveniently crumbles into impotence from its own inner weaknesses.

Little Change For T-H Law

WASHINGTON — When politicians — like former President Truman — promise repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act it is strictly pie-in-the-sky stuff. Labor leaders know better. Although top AFL-CIO leaders yesterday recommended that the big labor organization endorse the Democratic presidential ticket, one thing can be predicted with certainty: No matter which party wins this election — Democrats or Republicans — T-H will not be repealed.

T-H was passed by a Republican-run Congress, but with Democratic help, in 1947. Ever since then — in their party platforms of 1948, 1952 and this year — the Democrats have promised repeal if elected.

And ever since then — in their party platforms of 1948, 1952 and this year — the Republicans have promised changes in T-H. In spite of all the promises by both sides only one change, fairly small, has been made.

The reason is simple enough; not enough members of Congress were willing to vote for repeal on either side. And labor leaders don't expect this election to produce enough congressional changes to bring about repeal, either.

As an example: Recently the AFL-CIO made a survey in the House of Representatives to find out the sentiment on repeal. They found only 183 members — combing Democrats and Republicans — who could be counted on to support repeal.

That was so far short of the majority needed in the 435-member House that no attempt was even made to find out the situation in the Senate.

That the labor leaders have no illusions in the way of big favors if the Democrats win, was expressed by George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

He said the Democrats' labor plank is better than the Republicans' and he agrees the Democratic plank gives the AFL-CIO even "more than we asked for."

The Democratic labor plank holds out more promises "than we'll probably get."

Housewife Writes 'Hot' Novel

NEW YORK — A young schoolteacher's wife who never took a writing lesson in her life may become the literary sensation of the year when her first novel appears next month.

"I feel pretty sure of one thing — it'll probably cost my husband his job," said Mrs. Grace Metalious cheerfully.

In Gilman, N.H., it was learned that her husband has already lost his job as a grade school principal. School officials denied his dismissal was connected with Mrs. Metalious's book, but said it stemmed from a "personal" matter between the official and her husband. Metalious said he has obtained a high school teaching position in Stow, Mass., at a higher salary.

The novel, "Feyn Place," already causing an advance stir in publishing circles, brings "Tobacco Road" up North and gives it a Yankee accent.

Mrs. Metalious, called by her publishers a "Pandora in blue jeans" (she likes to do her housework clad in jeans and a hunting shirt), set out to lift the lid off a small New England town — and wound up by pulling it off its hinges.

With a Freudian frankness she unveils the high-level brutality and low-level squalor, the hidden vices and illicit romances, the petty meanness and quiet heroism which she says underlie the surface of any placid New England town. She includes a few love scenes that might raise Ernest Hemingway's eyebrows or cause Kathleen Winsor to blush.

It's an odd book to come from the typewriter of a plump, 32-year-old mother of three children. But Mrs. Metalious is no ordinary housewife.

After a staid Philadelphia publisher — and an equally staid one in Boston — returned the novel at long length, it was quickly accepted by a Manhattan firm, Columbia Pictures is considering making it into a film, and has already taken an option, sight unseen, on Mrs. Metalious' next novel.

She has already received $5,100 in royalties, and the first thing she did was to buy a 1951 used Cadillac and four bathing suits for her neighbors' daughters.

Summoned to New York, she didn't have anything suitable to wear, so she sent her 12-year-old daughter to the store with $14 to buy her a new dress. She arrived here, her brown hair in a pony tail held together by a blue rubber band, a bit defiant about the impact of her novel back home.

"Three people already have cut me dead on the street, and the book isn't even out yet," she said. "And I'm afraid the school board won't want to keep as principal a man married to a woman who wrote about the things I did."

There were, of course, other evidences of unity that were unmistakable in the comments about the platform adopted. The Republicans, to be sure, cannot be described any longer as a "divided party." The Democrats have become the truly "divided party" now.

When a party is out of power a long time it usually splits into factions, and doesn't become an effective instrument of political action until its candidate wins the White House. The solidarity evident now in the Republican ranks resembles the unity achieved by the Democrats in 1936 after FDR's first term. Usually it is the influence and record of the President which brings this about. It has been due this time to the solid demonstration by President Eisenhower of what he himself calls a "dynamic conservatism" which happens to be closer to the American mood of today than any other brand of political philosophy.

The conservatives, for the most part, feel nowadays that on the things that really matter to them—the maintenance of a sound economy with a sound money system and a restraint on extravagant spending and borrowing — the President has manifested a sincere dedication to historic Republican principles. As for the things that are called "liberal" in the social welfare line, there are some differences naturally as to the wisdom of all the proposals offered. But the signifi-

Viewpoint Makes The Difference

The point of view is a wonderful thing — it makes all the difference in the world.

For instance, a couple of weeks back when the Democrats were holding forth in Chicago, people were glued to their TV and radio sets. Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee gave the tip-off on how people would regard the conventions, and I suppose, the forthcoming campaign, with a flourish of oratory, thrusts at the Republicans, a near call to repentance for the nation, and an indictment against the opposition, he had the delegates cheering wildly.

Next day the reaction was varied. Democrats were solid in saying it was a great keynote. Republicans and right wing Democrats ridiculed it. One person told me that it would make one proud that he was a Democrat; another termed it disgusting.

The Republican keynote a week later brought approbation from the other side of the aisle. "Dignified and logical," volunteered one partisan and came the rejoinder "a well-delivered bunch of dullness."

When Sam Rayburn had trouble with the boys wagging banners and later when he took the Democrats' civil rights plank by the hand and led it safely through the valley of shadow by the expedient of a voice vote, Democratic friends were agreed that "Mr. Democrat" had exemplified the firmness necessary at times to avoid letting a big convention from degenerating into a mob. Republicans, however, were sure that Mr. Sam was getting crochety and dictatorial.

Then when Joe Martin had his troubles with the banner boys and with "Joe Smith," too, he had to repeat Mr. Sam's routine. He handled the situation adroitly, said the Republicans. He blew his stack and slapped on the gag, said the Democrats.

And so it went right on down to the acceptances by Adlai Stevenson and Dwight Eisenhower, but in these, all but the most partisan, thought each had made very high grade addresses.

The Democrats said they had a vigorous, wide open convention; the Republicans contended it was a confusion and crudity compounded. On the other hand, Republicans looked upon their own show as well organized, efficient and dignified; the Democrats said it was about as meaningful and well organized as an Ed Sullivan vaudeville parade, and that delegates carrying bathing beauties on their shoulders certainly personified dignity. So there you are.

Perhaps the brightest spot was a few wisecracks which a few of the gentlemen of the Fourth Estate (pesky critics, that's what) created. For instance, Saul Pett of the AP said the Republican convention had "all the suspense of a calendar" and Melman Morin looked on it as the "quiet New York's eve at the country club." One gentleman observed "Ike came to town and brought the convention with him," and Pett, with a pique sense of humor, summed up the total lack of any sort of a battle in the GOP gathering by solemnly reporting that one delegation was "badly split over where to have dinner."

Finally, with all this hullabaloo which was thought to have had the nation mesmerized for two weeks running, some scoundrel took a survey. Well sir, it turned out that not half as many people who normally watched a good quiz show bothered to turn in the donkey or elephant.

Can Vaudeville Bring Back Politics?

SAN FRANCISCO — One of the most serious questions raised by the Republican Convention as it goes into its final stanza is this:

Will vaudeville bring back politics?

After the GOP convene, there can be no doubt that politics has brought back vaudeville. But what is the chance of reciprocity, particularly for Republicans? Every session of the Republican convention was so thickly sprinkled with stars of stage, screen and radio, plus the antics of amateur chowder and marching clubs, cheering sections, etc., etc., that the massive enmesh of this cut-and-dried political show was all but obscured — but not quite.

Miss Ethel Merman belting out "Alexander's Ragtime Band" in the Cow Palace (and for a time she seemed, volunterwise, the GOP answer to the Democrats' Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee) is no real substitute for the stirring excitement of a good floor fight.

Even Irving Berlin, boy soprano, singing a song of his own composition, will never — in my book — replace for sheer entertainment deep-dyed political huggemugger.

The Republicans relied much more heavily than their rivals on outside talent either (1) to relieve the tedium of their pre-packaged convention or (2) because Democrats tend more to produce comedians, depending on the political point of view.

For a time, it seemed that the convention might be saved by a home-grown soap opera, "Harold Stassen's Other Candidate" or "Was He Pushed or Did He Fall?" But when the steamroller went by, Harold caught it by the tail-gate, and the show closed before it opened. (Backer trouble, I hear.)

With such stars as Miss Merman, Mr. Berlin, Wendell Corey, Nat "King" Cole, John Charles Thomas, Irene Dunne, Jane Powell, Dennis Morgan, Gene Archer, Patrice Munsel, Lucille Norman and a good many others constantly on tap, the GOP convention has tended to resemble "Toast of the Town" with the Hon. Joe Martin as master of ceremonies.

"This is the first time I have ever heard and seen Ethel Merman from an orchestra seat for less than $7.50," a satisfied New York delegate said. "She is better looking than Leonard Hall and stacks up better than anything I have seen in the opposition."

Another delegate, with an eye on Lucille Norman, prophesied that the streamlined convention is here to stay.

It is obvious to an impartial observer like myself that if this trend toward professional vaudeville increases, the obvious spot for the 1960 conventions is the Palace in New York. Gotham ought to stir its stumps and make an early bid for the conventions four years hence.

If there is a Republican sweep again in November, it will be the biggest shot in the arm vaudeville has had since Harry Lauder. But if the Dem Doms should sneak home, it will be a hyp for rassing, catch-as-catch-can.

Republican Unity Is Significant

WASHINGTON — There was a big story at the Republican National Convention that seems to have been missed by many observers. It wasn't visible to the naked eye like parades and artificially stimulated demonstrations. But it was plainly revealed if one took the time to talk with representative leaders and delegates from various states who only four years ago were scowling at each other in the Taft-Eisenhower battle. For today there is effective unity such as a major party rarely enjoys.

"Tom Dewey," said a former Taft leader of national prominence, "made the finest political speech of the convention — and he looked like a new Dewey. If he had made such fighting speeches in 1948, we never would have had Truman a second time."

Conservative leaders and delegates from states that had supported Taft all made similar remarks and so did those from Dewey's side, hitherto regarded as the "liberal" wing of the party.

There were, of course, other evidences of unity that were unmistakable in the comments about the platform adopted. The Republicans, to be sure, cannot be described any longer as a "divided party." The Democrats have become the truly "divided party" now.

When a party is out of power a long time it usually splits into factions, and doesn't become an effective instrument of political action until its candidate wins the White House. The solidarity evident now in the Republican ranks resembles the unity achieved by the Democrats in 1936 after FDR's first term. Usually it is the influence and record of the President which brings this about. It has been due this time to the solid demonstration by President Eisenhower of what he himself calls a "dynamic conservatism" which happens to be closer to the American mood of today than any other brand of political philosophy.

The conservatives, for the most part, feel nowadays that on the things that really matter to them—the maintenance of a sound economy with a sound money system and a restraint on extravagant spending and borrowing — the President has manifested a sincere dedication to historic Republican principles. As for the things that are called "liberal" in the social welfare line, there are some differences naturally as to the wisdom of all the proposals offered. But the significant thing is that among conservatives now there is a wise tolerance — a tendency to adopt a wait-and-see attitude and let the experiments be tested without making the sort of protest that could split the party wide open. Perhaps the best reassurance which could have been given the conservatives on this point was conveyed to them by the President in his acceptance speech when he said: "Change with principle is progress but constant change without principle becomes chaos."

In that short sentence is expressed the essential difference between stumbling radicalism and steady conservatism. The radical is inclined to embrace any so-called "liberal" proposal as he would a new fad without thinking the plan through to determine whether, despite its lure as a vote-getting device, it stands the test of soundness and practicality or whether it threatens to upset, if not destroy, the economic structure itself.

The unanimous support given Vice President Nixon was not surprising to those who have followed party politics in America. A party in power doesn't choose its candidates at the last minute. Months in advance of the convention the party leaders arrive at a consensus. Stassen's mistake was that for some reason of his own he thought such a unanimity could be upset at the convention itself. He now regrets his miscalculation.

In a broad sense the renomination of Nixon was in itself striking proof of the harmony inside the Republican party. The conservatives had rallied to his support early this year when the first signs of a "dump Nixon" movement were noted. Because of the nature of the attack — the distortions of Nixon's 1954 speeches by the Democrats — Republicans of both the Taft and Dewey groups were more insistent that he be chosen than was apparent on the surface in recent months.

The two conventions were not much different from those of other years. The convention system is still a cumbersome, unrepresentative conclave which is wholly without sanction of federal law. The Democrats made more noise this time and supplied the basis for more colorful stories in the newspapers but the Republican convention was a splendid example of dignity, forbearance and conspicuous avoidance of partisan attacks by the two candidates.

U.S. Snack Habit Gets Concession From U.N. Cafe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The American snack habit has wrested a concession from the multimillion-dollar U.N. headquarters.

The building, occupying 18 acres of nearly priceless land on mid-Manhattan's East Side, was forced to make more accommodations for the army of nibblers that tours its plush corridors the year around.

Five million people visited the building last year. Eight of every 10 were U.S. citizens.

During sessions, the only restaurant available to the public was the delegates' dining room. It was jammed with diplomats, visitors and tourists.

The first two weeks of operation, 1,000 persons a day used the snack bar. It operated at almost full capacity.

County To Draw Up 1957 Road Construction Plans

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said the commissioners court will take up consideration of plans for permanent road construction for 1957 when it meets Sept. 10. All of the commissioners agreed with the judge that it would be advisable to draw up an agenda of operations for next year at this time. Each commissioner will make a list of the particular roads he feels should be built in 1957 and these will be considered by the court. From the suggestions, it is planned to draft a program of construction for the next 12 months. A minimum of 20 miles of new construction for next year is contemplated at this time.

The county scheduled that volume of roads in 1956. Walter Parks, county engineer, said that 10 miles of road have been completed and that by the arrival of cold weather an additional five miles will have been finished.

Next year, the commissioners hope to accomplish the full 20 miles scheduled. It was pointed out that the 1956 program was late in getting under way due to the fact that the engineer was not employed until some time after the year began.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Stories about a bottle don't usually help a person in a traffic case but Cecil D. White made one pay off yesterday in quarterly court.

The father of five children admitted he was speeding and trial commissioner Nelson Hoskins levied a fine of $10 and costs.

Then White said: "Judge, this is the first time I've been charged. I was speeding all right but the baby was lying in the seat crying for its bottle. I was just trying to get home so it could be fed."

"I know what you mean," Hoskins replied. "I'll amend that charge and fine you $1 and costs." The charge was amended to breach of peace.

Uncle Ray:

France Was Kingdom For Many Centuries

By RAMON COFFMAN

PARIS — Recently a friend asked me why there are so many changes in the premiers of France. I replied that one reason is the excitable and changeable nature of the French people. The popular view may be strongly in favor of a measure one day, but just as strongly against it a week or a month later.

France has been a republic during all of the present century, and it had the republican form of government during parts of the past century.

Looking back in history, however, we find that kings have ruled France most of the time since Charlemagne, Charlemagne, or Charles the Great, was of Germanic stock. He ruled land on the northeastern side of the Rhine River, as well as what is now French soil.

The empire of that ruler fell to pieces, and was divided between three grandsons. Later came other kings named Charles, and a larger number with the name of Louis.

Often there were quarrels between French nobles and the king. King Louis XI, for example, carried on a contest against Charles the Bold, the duke of Burgundy. The king was cunning, and increased his power by fair means or foul. Once he was seized by Charles the Bold, and was held in a castle until he signed a treaty.

Two years ago I reported the widespread feeling among foreign visitors that the Parisians cared little about being polite to travelers. Now I am pleased by signs of change in attitude, and I hope that the improvement will continue.

Again, I have visited the Louvre, known as the world's greatest art museum. The statue of the Winged Victory and several other sights caught my attention, but the chief object of interest for me in the Louvre remains Mona Lisa, the famous painting by Leonardo da Vinci.

U. S. Daily Oil Production Up

TULSA (AP) — Daily average oil production rose 7,900 barrels to 7,131,275 during the week ended Aug. 25, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Arkansas and Oklahoma accounted for slightly more than the net gain, the former increasing its output 3,450 barrels to 79,700 and the latter advancing 2,400 to 591,000.

The Journal's estimate of 1956 production climbed to 1,701,593,850 barrels compared to 1,598,444,116 a year ago.

Colorado was up 2,600 barrels to 161,400. Louisiana was down 2,650 to 788,550 and New Mexico was down 500 to 232,800.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 3,028,300 barrels.

Nasser Maneuvered West Into A Terrible Dilemma

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

A 38-year-old soldier named Nasser has maneuvered the West into a terrible dilemma. Egypt's dictator President has in effect told the West to choose: Bow to his soaring prestige, with all the dangerous implications that would involve for the future—or produce a worldwide shock by setting the Middle East afire.

The crisis brought sobering second thoughts on both sides over what the use of force might mean. There were signs the crisis was a prelude to a struggle for mastery of the Middle East.

One way or the other—barring a miracle of negotiation—the West stood to lose. If it used force, an eruption in the Middle East might deal a tremendous economic blow to Europe. If Nasser successfully stood his ground, his already great prestige among the Arabs and uncommitted parts of the world would soar even higher. The West would be defied and defeated.

Nasser's powerful Saut al Arab (Voice of Arabs) has implied that the Middle East's oil—key to any struggle for mastery—would feed a flame searing the Arab world and promising economic havoc for Europe. Perhaps even the seeds of World War III lie beneath the harsh desert soil of a vast area of 100 million Arabs—speaking people. They inhabit a dozen nations stretching from the Atlantic to the Persian Gulf, but Nasser's Voice of Arabs constantly refers to them as a single nation, led and inspired by Egypt.

"O, Arabs," said the Egyptian radio, in a torrent of emotional propaganda in an emotional and unstable Arab nationalism has come into being. . . . The Arab nation sees in nationalization of the Suez Canal Co. an end to a period of subservience, enslavement and colonization. . . .

THREAT OF UPRISING
The voice warned that if the West attempted to use force, "the workers of Kuwait, Iraq, Bahrain and Aden stand side by side with the Arabs against the imperialists" and "Arab oil workers everywhere are prepared to inflict harm on whoever attacks Egypt."

The threat was a potent one. A shot fired by a Briton or a Frenchman could start a jihad—a holy war—in which Arabs with suicidal emotion might sweep over foreigners in charge of the oil production of the Middle East. No longer checked by their own quarrels and intrigue, no longer reined by wary Arab rulers, Moslems might burst into a hostile sea of 40 million people—and crush it by sheer force of numbers.

Would the West then face a prospect of active military intervention? A British-French-American declaration of 1950 guarantees both Arab states and Israel against aggression. Beyond that, the oil stakes are so high that Britain and France might feel impelled to armed action on the very doorstep of the Soviet Union. They might consider it the only way to save Europe from economic chaos and communism.

These seemed to be the considerations behind the second thoughts in London and Paris—considerations which could produce a paralysis of Western action. Britain, while sending warships to the Middle East, vowed to seek a peaceful solution. Egypt's Nasser, though he had much to gain, had much to lose, and he marked time.

Nasser held trump cards. The sympathies of other peoples who had known and hated colonialism went out to him as a symbol of the dying day of Western imperialism and the dawn of a new age. Other Arab rulers might mistrust him, but the forces of his anti-Western campaign was applying public pressure against them.

ERUPTED AT RALLY
With all its worldwide implications, all its widespread ramifications, all its potentialities, the Suez crisis is the most difficult and dangerous since Korea. It erupted suddenly July 26 at a rally in Alexandria marking the fourth anniversary of King Farouk's expulsion of the revolution. Nasser was ending a long speech.

"Today, O citizens," he cried, "the Suez Canal has been nationalized!"

The words were a prearranged signal. At that precise moment, four squads of Egyptian officials moved in four cities, taking over the canal administration in Ismailia, Port Said, Suez and Cairo. The stroke electrified the Arab world, and the West rubbed its eyes in shocked surprise.

A few days before, Nasser had been humiliated when Britain and the United States withdrew offers to finance the Aswan high dam. The dam is a dream of the Egyptian revolution to bring water and electric power in abundance to the cramped Nile Valley, to pull Egypt from the mire of poverty and disease and make her a modern nation. These were once the dreams of the Egyptian people, the outside world welcomed the revolution of 1952 against Egypt's centuries of feudalism and corruption.

Then Soviet politics skyrocketed Nasser to a position in which he could taste the heady wine of power. He began to bid for leadership of the whole Arab world. The Russians gave him the armaments the West had withheld for fear of a new Arab war with Israel.

Nasser mortgaged his cotton crop, Egypt's chief export, for the arms. The British and Americans held this made an Aswan dam investment less attractive, and withdrew their offers. The Soviet Union apparently was not going to finance the dam. Nasser looked elsewhere for money, and fixed on the Suez Canal fees.

NASSER BECAME A HERO
To the Arab in the street in Iraq, Syria and Algeria, Nasser became a hero who defied the powers, who one day might make the dream of pan-Arabism come true. To Britons, he was a robber baron seizing international property by force. To the French he was a menace to French economy and the French position in North Africa.

Britain began a limited mobilization. The United States urgently sought to the canal's coming under the control of a single—and largely unfriendly—nation. Her industry relied heavily on Middle East oil. There was peril even to the oil pumped through pipelines to the Mediterranean. There was danger of political overthrow in friendly countries like Iraq.

There was danger that the idea of nationalization, spurred by the pressure of Nasser's rising star, would spread through oil-producing countries long carefully pampered by Western producers. There was a threat to Israel which could involve Britain militarily. The West faced loss of prestige in sensitive areas upon which NATO depended for air bases as a deterrent to the U.S.S.R.

The West weighed its answers, all of them involving some danger.

First, Britain and France could invoke economic penalties against Egypt. At least 60 per cent of Egypt's imports were from Western Europe and the United States. Egypt's principal export, cotton, might be hard hit, particularly if the United States threw its huge surpluses into the battle. Egypt's funds could be blocked abroad. But all this was sure to push the whole Middle East closer to the waiting Russians.

RISK OF USING FORCE
Second, Britain and France might take military action, running the risk of setting the Arab world aflame. Then the oil flow might stop altogether.

Third, the West might step up arms shipments to Israel. Here again, there was danger of setting off a Middle East war.

Fourth, Britain, which supports Jordan financially, might force that Arab nation to permit reopening of the Iraq Petroleum Co. pipeline to Haifa, closed since the Palestine War, to insure uninterrupted flow of the oil which now crosses Syria and Lebanon. Britain might construct a new pipeline from Aqaba to Haifa on the Mediterranean for Persian Gulf oil.

British think this 250-mile line could be completed in months—but even months were too long in Europe's insatiable thirst for oil. Importing nations might build more supertankers for larger oil cargoes around the Cape of Good Hope, but the canal still was a time and money saver.

Egypt had a few aces up her sleeve. She could raise tolls on the canal passage. She could use the threat of closing the canal as a club to shield action, for example, against Israel. Finally, Egypt could go before the United Nations and say the threat of force against her by Britain and France menaced world peace. She would be supported by Asia and the Soviet bloc.

The key issue of the canal tolls remained up in the air. Britain had warned shippers not to pay fees to the Egyptian canal authority. This was a matter Nasser would have to settle or his seizure of the canal would be meaningless. At best it might be settled by negotiation or go to the World Court. At worst, it could lead to a violent showdown.

CANAL'S BACKGROUND
Take a brief look at the canal's background. It brought stockholders almost $1 million dollars in dividends in 1955. But that is a drop in the bucket to the money it saved shippers: a tanker traveling from the Persian Gulf to Britain takes 37 days via Suez or 65 days around Africa.

The canal was dug under a concession won by Ferdinand de Lesseps, a French engineer, from the viceroy of Egypt in 1854. It was opened in 1869 on a 99-year lease. In 1956 the waterway was to revert to Egyptian ownership. Originally French, Egyptians and the Ottoman Empire, then nominally controlled by Egypt, owned the shares. In 1955 Prime Minister Disraeli, in a bold stroke of imperialism, acquired 176,000 shares for the British government. At the time of nationalization, Britain held 353,204 of the 800,000 shares.

Because of company bylaws, the French retained management of the company. It had 32 directors—16 French, 9 British, 5 Egyptian, 1 American and 1 Dutch.

A total of 14,866 vessels, carrying 118,473,000 tons of cargo, used the canal in 1955. Loaded ships paid the equivalent of 97.5 cents a ton; a 6,500-ton tanker pays about $6,200. That is less than a third of a cent a gallon.

More than 60 per cent of the canal cargo is Middle East oil, almost half the total production. Annual West European consumption of oil is about 120 million tons, of which 75 per cent is from the Middle East, half of it through the canal. About 75 per cent of Britain's oil needs came through the canal in 1955. The demand for oil is rising constantly in Europe.

For years, under agreement with Egypt, Britain kept soldiers at bases in the canal zone. These gradually were pulled out under Egyptian demands, and for several months Egypt has been in control of all the area surrounding the canal.

EVERYONE HAS A STAKE
Virtually everyone who drives a motor car or who depends upon the machines of industry has a stake of sorts in the canal controversy. The world's demand for oil has gone up rapidly and is still rising steadily. Production has doubled in 50 years, and probably will triple again in the next 50 years. For a quarter century at least, atomic power will be unable to share much of the burden. The United States might make up a loss of Middle East oil in Europe, but not without strain on American reserves. World demand is so high that U.S. production could not long be safe in keeping up with the demand.

The Middle East has two-thirds big, unexplored potentialities. Thus he who controls the Middle East has a large measure of influence over European industry. American investments in the Middle East are great. There is not a single major oil operation there which is not at least partly American. For Britain, Middle East oil is life's blood.

Safety Council Predicts 480 To Die Over Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—Automobiles may kill 480 persons over the Labor Day weekend, the National Safety Council estimated today.

The Council urged that drivers team with enforcement officers in an effort to hold the national toll down to no more than 350. The Council said this would be a normal traffic death toll for a non-holiday Saturday, Sunday and Monday at this time of year.

The 480 estimate is for the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday and covers immediate traffic deaths only. It does not account for victims dying later from injuries suffered in crashes over the long holiday.

Labor Day usually is second only to Christmas as the deadliest holiday period of the year. Remember that highways will be crowded and travel slower. Don't take a trip that will require you to hurry.

Keep your speed about the same as other cars on the road. Don't try to pass a line of cars all at once.

Avoid sudden stops and lane changing. Don't follow too closely.

No New Signs Of Citrus Pest

WESLACO (AP)—No new infestations of the Black Fly were found yesterday in this area by state and federal agriculture department crews who continued spraying and inspecting for the insects.

Inspection and eradication crews moved into the city Monday after inspectors found nine infestations of the Black Fly here in the past two weeks.

This was the heaviest infestation of the fly found in the Valley, reported Nick Doffing, superintendent of the State Agriculture Department office in Pharr, Tex. The Black Fly, a citrus and vegetable pest, is especially damaging to citrus.

Alabama Voters Approve Bill On Segregation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama voters have approved a constitutional amendment to keep Negroes and whites in separate schools even at the cost of abolishing the public educational system.

The measure allows the State Legislature to end public educational facilities and give public funds to private schools.

It, and a similar amendment covering public park facilities which also apparently passed, are designed to provide a bypass of the Supreme Court's decisions outlawing segregation in schools and recreational facilities.

Counties with heavy Negro populations went overwhelmingly for the two racial measures. Those with few Negroes generally opposed them.

Returns from 1,875 of the state's 2,700 boxes gave the school amendment a margin of 97,720 to 63,302.

The same returns, on the parks proposal, gave 86,629 for and 63,439 against.

Another amendment of state-wide application, proposing to increase the income tax ceiling on corporations from 3 to 5 per cent was defeated. The count of 1,560 boxes showed 101,999 for and 50,414 against.

Adlai, Estes Get Bid To Visit Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—U.S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson revealed plans yesterday to make Texas an important stopping point for nominees of the National Democratic Party.

"I believe Texas is ready to go back Democratic," Johnson told a press conference. "I believe Texas have demonstrated they are tired of the Republican administration."

Johnson said he would take an active part in the national campaign. "I'm not going on any barnstorming tour but I am accepting speech making dates."

The Senate majority leader was in Temple today for a "periodic checkup" at a clinic. He said he would return to his ranch near Johnson City in the afternoon for more rest and "jackrabbit hunting."

He also announced he would personally take part in the State Democratic Convention at Fort Worth Sept. 11. He forecast some "differences of opinion, vigorously expressed," but said he had confidence "that rates of fairness and honor will prevail and I will do everything in my power to see that they do."

"I invited both Gov. Stevenson and Sen. Kefauver to visit Texas and I am confident that both will be here in the coming weeks," Johnson said. "Some of my friends have suggested dinners in their honor at Austin and San Antonio among other places, but no dates have been set."

Waco fair Sept. 29 to Oct. 5. "I'd like for him to spend at least several days in Texas. Come down through the rich farm belt, visit the Capitol, and go on down to San Antonio," Johnson said.

"A change of 67,000 votes is all that is needed to carry the state for the Democrats and I told them (Stevenson and Kefauver) that it was my opinion the Democratic ticket would be supported by the majority of men and women in Texas."

Johnson said he had received "13 or 14 requests to reconvene the May state convention" and had consulted with legal authorities and Texas leaders including Speaker Sam Rayburn.

"The advice which I have received indicates there is a very serious question as to the legality of the action contemplated. Furthermore some of our most respected people have told me that they have grave doubts as to the wisdom of such a course."

Red China, Burma To Discuss Border

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burmese officials say Chou En-lai Communist Chinese premier-foreign minister, is coming to Rangoon in December to discuss the dispute over the poorly defined Burma-China border. The officials said Chou's acceptance of the Burmese government's invitation for negotiations had increased prospects of a peaceful settlement.

No Protection If Still Is Visible

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—A moonshiner has no protection against search and seizure if his still is visible through windows, San Mateo County Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton has ruled.

State officers nabbed Larkie Tone, 52, last June 14 in San Francisco for selling moonshine. They later broke into his home in San Mateo County to seize a contraption which was steaming in his basement. They said it was a still. The defense argued this was illegal search and seizure. When Deputy District Attorney Howard Hartley told Judge Cotton the raiders could see the still plainly through the windows, he ruled otherwise and denied a defense motion to dismiss the charges against Tone.

Korean Vets Should Apply Now For VA School Aid

Korean veterans planning to start school this fall should file applications immediately, Howard County Junior College and Veterans Administration officials reminded today.

Applications can be accepted at the time school opens, but the time necessary for processing may cause a delay in the start of veterans' subsistence payments, they pointed out. The application forms are available at both HCCJ and the VA contact office in the VA Hospital here. Veterans should first confer with Ray Boren, local contact officer, so that their educational objective can be planned, however. HCCJ Registrar B. M. Keese has assisted several Korean veterans in filing applications for the VA educational assistance.

The completed application, along with a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper, should be sent to the Lubbock VA regional office. Papers should not be sent to VA in Washington, D. C. To help school-going veterans, the VA issued a check-list of steps to be taken before enrollment. Since the law allows only one change of program, veterans should be sure they have chosen the course that will lead to their educational goal. If not certain, they should ask VA for vocational counseling. Next, veterans should be sure the course they plan to

Federal Pay Raise Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic senator sought a new pay raise for federal employees today even as the administration moved to trim the number of workers on its rolls.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) chairman of a Senate committee which handles such legislation, predicted the next Congress will vote the pay increase. His address, made public last night, was prepared for a convention session of the American Federation of Government Employees today. Its release coincided with a directive from Budget Director Percival F. Brundage, designed to cut government costs by reducing the number of workers. He urged agency heads to check carefully the need of replacing employees who retire, and to let the jobs go unfulfilled if possible. Rep. Davis (D-Ga), chairman of a House subcommittee on manpower utilization, made a similar suggestion Aug. 18.

Plane Safe After Losing 2 Motors

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—An Air Force plane with 19 men aboard lost the use of two of its four engines while 450 miles at sea last night, but the damage was repaired in flight. The engines of the giant Constellation radar plane apparently cut because of a short circuit, a falling Air Force man said, which was repaired from within the plane. A Coast Guard plane had been dispatched from Quonset Point Naval Air Station to escort the disabled craft to this base, but it was learned en route that the stalled engines had been restarted. The Air Force plane, which was on a routine patrol, landed safely.

Vanderbilt Heir Weds 3rd Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Millionaire Gloria Vanderbilt, onetime "poor little rich girl" of Park Avenue, was wed yesterday to a television director who grew up on the lower East Side. Miss Vanderbilt, and Sidney Lumet, both 32, were married in a surprise ceremony. It was her third marriage, his second. She was previously married to Hollywood agent Pat DiCicco and white-haired orchestra conductor Leopold Stokowski. Lumet's first wife was movie actress Rita Gam. The newlyweds postponed their honeymoon. Miss Vanderbilt, now an actress, is appearing nightly in a play at a Millburn, N.J., summer theater. The bride, a great-great-granddaughter of railroad magnate Cornelius Vanderbilt, hit the headlines in 1934 as a "poor little rich girl" entangled in a bitter custody fight between her aunt and mother. The aunt won. Miss Vanderbilt inherited five million dollars on her 21st birthday. She married DiCicco in 1941 when she was 17. She divorced him four years later. In 1945 she married Stokowski, who was 37 years her senior. That marriage ended in divorce last October. She won custody of their two children.

Director Blames 'Fast Buck' Boys For Dean Cult

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The director who made Jimmy Dean's last picture accuses "fast buck promoters" of sparking a weird, morbid cult for the dead actor. Newsstands lately have been flooded with articles, even entire magazines, devoted to such morbid topics as "Jimmy Dean Speaks from Beyond"; "Why Jimmy Dean knew he was going to die"; or "Why Jimmy Dean wanted to die." George Stevens, who directed Dean in the upcoming "Giant," calls all the stories ridiculous. "Jimmy Dean lived every day for the future. He had no more premonition of death than you or I. These fast buck promoters, out to sell their magazines and souvenirs, won't let the poor fellow die in peace." Many of the articles are accompanied by photos which Stevens said originally were intended as gag shots. One shows Dean beside an open coffin in a Fairmount, Ind., mortuary. Another is an autographed picture from Vampira, who did a ghoulish television act in introducing horror movies. She was a friend of Dean's and the picture shows her standing beside an open grave beckoning. "The picture beside the coffin was made when Dean visited a high school chum in his home town. It was a gag picture that any young man might pose for 'on an impulse,'" says Stevens. "Look at Sarah Bernhardt. When she was 25 years old, she posed lying down with her eyes closed in a coffin. Yet she lived to be 90."
