Mobs Bar Negro Entry In 2 Schools

MID-STREAM CHANGE? School Contract Letting Postponed

Money and location entered into the picture Thursday when bids on 12 elementary classrooms were opened, and trustees delayed until Tuesday the awarding of contracts.

On every proposal or combination of proposals, Boyd J. McDaniel, Abilene contractor and formerly of Big Spring, had submitted the low figures.

Trustees had asked for bids on six additional classrooms for College Heights and six for East Ward. Supt. Floyd W. Parsons injected the question of whether the classrooms would serve the greatest need in these locations in light of current enrollment figures. This precipitated nearly two hours of discussion and study, and in the end trustees moved to delay a decision until the regular board meeting Tuesday evening.

McDaniel had submitted proposals of $85,556 for six additional classrooms at College Heights and $78,693 for six at East Ward, a total of $164,249 on both. This was lower by approximately $3,500 than the bid of Horn Construction Company of Abilene. Other bidders were A. P. Kasch & Sons, Big Spring, Suggs Construction Company, Big Spring, and Harry E. Miller Co. of Lubbock. Bids on the two projects ranged up to $182,014.

The McDaniel bid on the project with prefabricated cabinet work was $166,470. Even with alternates he was low. Taking out one room and millwork cabinets from each school would have lowered his proposal on the first base bid by $17,473 and on the second base bid by $18,846. Thus the first base bid with one room out of each school would have been $146,776 a second base bid with one room out would have been $147,624.

He offered decreases of $34,027 for deleting two rooms from each school under the first base proposal and $36,063 for deleting two rooms under the second base proposal. If two rooms were taken

CANE SALE TO AID BLIND SET

White cane sale of the Cheerio Club will take place here Saturday.

The Cheerio Club, whose members are blind or nearly blind, has turned out between 800 and 1,000 of these tiny canes. Rainbow Girls again will offer them for sale with an appeal to purchasers to be as generous as they can in contributions for the miniature canes.

Proceeds go to finance the welfare projects of the club. In addition to helping some of the membership in special projects, the Cheerio Club last year aided several indigent patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Mayor G. W. Dabney urged Big Spring people to support the fifth white cane sale of the club on Saturday.

Kentucky, Texas Scenes Of Incidents

Mob pressures kept nine Negroes away from high school in Sturgis, Ky., today and turned back three Negro youths seeking to register in a junior college at Texarkana, Tex., which lies astride the Texas-Arkansas line.

Dozens of tank-equipped Kentucky National Guardsmen in Sturgis, a western Kentucky coal mining town of 5,000 population, parents of the nine Negroes decided to keep them home today rather than risk violence.

Adj. Gen. J. J. B. Williams, in command of the troops, who yesterday opened a way into the school for the nine, said parents of the Negroes told him they would be back Monday.

Martial law orders were drawn for Sturgis but not yet invoked. In Texarkana, a massed picket line intimidated the three prospective Negro enrollees at Texarkana Junior College where two Negro girls already are enrolled for classes starting Monday.

The forced barring of the Negro boys came a few hours after the college president, Dr. H. W. Stillwell, in a speech to a segregation group, said if they felt integration would lower educational standards "it is not only your right but your duty to resist it."

With the Negroes remaining away from school, things were quiet in Sturgis where Williams said he held a martial law order drawn up by Gov. A. B. Chandler and could invoke it at his discretion but "it's the last thing I want to do."

At Clinton, in eastern Tennessee where soldiers first were used to allow integration, things were quiet and the boycott effort lost more ground. A total of 412 of the high school's 800 pupils were in attendance, including the 12 Negroes. Yesterday there were 394, the day before only 324.

The National Guard force at Clinton, originally 633, was reduced to about 200 as more squads were quietly withdrawn.

Heavily armed Kentucky National Guardsmen patrolled the streets of Sturgis during the night while a generally orderly crowd estimated at 1,000 chanted fiery segregation speeches in public parks.

Earlier yesterday guardsmen armed with riot guns and bayonets formed a solid wall to protect nine Negro students as they left the previously all-white Sturgis High School after their first day of classes.

Three hundred fifty students are enrolled at the school. About 175 left their classes yesterday.

An angry crowd of 500 shouted threats to "get you niggers if it takes all year," while the guardsmen pushed a path to three cars in which the students left.

Just before the Negroes came out of the school building, troopers took a shotgun from an unidentified man in the crowd. Three fist fights were reported between members of the crowd and guardsmen but apparently no one was injured.

Rival Democrat Factions Charge 'Big Steal' Plan

Rival factions of the Democratic party were agreed today on one point—both said there was danger of "a big steal" at Tuesday's state election in Fort Worth.

The conservative and liberal-loyalist factions both said the other side would try to "steal" the convention.

Gov. Shivers, longtime head of the conservatives, charged in Austin that the liberal-loyalists also might try to block the nomination of Sen. Price Daniel who won the party's nomination for governor in a close race with Ralph Yarborough.

Shivers' charge brought a quick denial from Mrs. Kathleen Voigt of San Antonio, state organizer for the liberal group.

She said she knew of no such plan and is not a part of it if there is one.

"The certification of the nominee for governor, so far as I'm concerned, has already been made and is not an issue in this convention," she said.

"I understand the defeated candidate has already conceded."

Shivers warned of a "great danger" of plans for a "big steal" he said were being made by the liberals, but said it would be a conservative convention.

"Every time the so-called Rayburn group has been in charge of a convention, May or September, the ethics are to boot out by brute strength all who oppose them," Shivers told a news conference.

Daniel said he understood a minority faction "is presently attempting to organize another effort to capture control of the party or at least to harass the orderly conduct of the convention by the majority."

The liberal Democrats distributed a pamphlet declaring the "Shivercrat-Republican State Democratic Executive Committee has demonstrated in the past its complete scorn for the legality of county conventions won by Democrats ... and the same disregard is being planned in Fort Worth."

Shivers' charge brought a quick denial from Mrs. Kathleen Voigt of San Antonio, state organizer for the liberal group.

She said she knew of no such plan and is not a part of it if there is one.

Baptists Applaud Negro Vote Plea

DENVER (AP)—Fifteen thousand delegates to the National Baptist Convention cheered a plea by convention President J. H. Jackson of Chicago last night that American Negroes be given "our ballot now."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored people, told the same gathering that "it is incredible, but true, that the President of the United States is assuming a neutral position" on school desegregation.

Jackson, Chicago Negro, said the Negroes' "most urgent request is to give our brothers in the South the full right to vote. If you give us our ballot, we will not worry the federal government in the near future about our rights as citizens."

Citing recent racial disorders in the South, Wilkins praised Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement and criticized Texas Gov. Allan Shivers for their roles in handling the disturbances.

C-C Leaders Here For WTCC School

Around 100 Chamber of Commerce leaders from all sections of West Texas began arriving here this afternoon for the annual "short course" in C-C operations. The school is sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Registration opened at 3 p.m. at the Settles Hotel and reservations indicated about 50 persons would arrive this afternoon. Possibly 100 more will be on hand Saturday morning when the program, formally open, begins.

On the agenda for this evening is a social hour, buffet, games and dancing at the Cosden Country Club.

Three general assemblies and a half dozen panel sessions for various groups are to make up the short course Saturday. There will be panels for Chamber of Commerce managers, presidents and vice presidents.

Once the highlights is expected to be the keynote talk at 9 a.m. Saturday by Marvin Hurley, executive vice president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. Another will be the luncheon at which Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, Big Spring Presbyterian minister, will speak. He will talk on "Community Leadership and Responsibility."

The school opens at 8:45 a.m. Saturday with a welcome address by Ira Thurman, president of the local Chamber. Response will be by Pat Ryan of Lamesa, president of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas.

Following Hurley's speech, he and secretaries will divide into three groups for the start of the panel studies.

Edith Gay of Big Spring and Clotelle Thompson of Pampa will conduct the panels for office secretaries. Bill Collins of Midland will be in charge of the two sessions for C-C presidents.

There will be four panels for day. The first, to be led by J. H. Greene of Big Spring and A. C. Bishop of Sweetwater, will deal with committee management and indoctrination.

Question Of Mars' Canals Is Still Up In The Air

By BOB SMITH

If you will pardon the pun, it might be said that the question of the Martian canals is still up in the air.

The red planet Mars made its closest approach to the Earth early this morning, and observers the world over turned their telescopes and astronomical cameras for the best possible close-up until the year 1971.

A Jap astronomer reported seeing the disputed canals, a phenomenon seen in the past by only a few observers. Most reliable astronomers, while not making out their colleagues to be liars, have been unable to see any trace of the canals.

The controversy was started by one Giovanni Schiaparelli, noted Italian astronomer of several centuries ago, when he reported seeing "canals" on Mars' surface.

"Canali" in Italian means "channels" but somewhere the meaning got lost in the translation, and it came out "canals." Now, channels could mean practically anything from old river beds to optical illusions, but the word "canals" could mean only one thing to the popular mind: canals are made by intelligent beings.

The American astronomer, Percival Lowell, was one of those who believed the canals were built by intelligent beings.

His theory was that the Martians, seeing their water supply was diminishing, dug the canals to obtain water from the polar ice caps, which can be seen to melt each year. Evidence was strong — observers could actually see large areas of green moving from the melting poles toward the Martian equator. And the areas of green seemed to move along definite courses, approximately along the lines laid out by Lowell to represent the canals.

It has been pretty well established that there is life of some type on Mars — the semi-annual greening up of the planet, could be explained only by the presence of a plant life, despite efforts of Lowell's opponents to prove the green coloring to be due to other causes. Further, an heretofore brownish area has only recently been seen to turn green, just after the melting of one of the polar ice caps — evidence that whatever life exists on Mars has succeeded in spreading over a previously barren area.

But Martian life cannot, at least by Earthly standards, be of a much higher order than simple mosses and lichens. There simply is not enough water or oxygen. That is not to say that life of a different sort could not develop eventually into intelligent beings. Perhaps there are animals of a sort to go along with Martian plant life, but the evidence against intelligent life, at least intelligent enough to build planet-wide canals, is overwhelming.

It has been estimated that, for the canals to be barely within the outer fringe of visibility, they would have to be at least 50 miles wide. That would be quite an engineering feat. Human civilization would hardly be up to it. For the Martians to accomplish such a feat would require a civilization of a much higher order than ours. But there is no evidence of anything artificial on Mars, other than the controversial canals. If the supposed Martians live in cities, there are no lights at night to show as the bright spots that our cities would be to a Martian observer.

Further, it has been found that, from the poles to the starting equator, it is almost wholly uphill. Water could not flow uphill, even on Mars, unless the Martians had perfected anti-gravity. We are left, then, with the alternative that, if intelligent life exists at all on Mars, it must be of a supremely higher order than ours.

Lowell was of the opinion that Martian civilization was long-gone, that their water and air had gradually been lost into space because of their inability to do so.

Lawyers Plead Innocent To Lobby Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Western lawyers pleaded innocent today on charges of conspiring to violate the federal lobbying laws and unlawfully attempting to influence the vote of Sen. Francis Case (R-SD).

The trial of the two lawyers, John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., and Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., together with the Superior Oil Co. of California for whom they worked, was set by Chief Judge Bolitha Laws for Nov. 19 in the U. S. District Court here.

Superior Oil was named as a codefendant in the conspiracy. It also pleaded innocent through counsel Roger Robb of Washington.

Neff and Patman each were released under $500 bond.

A grand jury returned the indictments last July 24 after an investigation of lobbying on the natural gas bill which Congress passed and President Eisenhower killed with a veto.

Case had touched off the investigation when he told the Senate he had rejected a $2,500 campaign contribution he said had been offered him while the Senate was considering the disputed gas bill.

The grand jury returned a six count indictment charging that Neff, Patman and Superior Oil had conspired to violate the lobbying laws. Another count in the indictment charged that Neff and Patman had unlawfully offered the $2,500 to Case in an effort to influence the vote on the gas bill.

The Senate passed the gas bill by a 53-38 margin with Case voting "no." The bill would have exempted natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

Then on Feb. 17 President Eisenhower vetoed it, although he said he agreed with its basic objective.

To sign the bill into law under the circumstances, Eisenhower said, would risk creating doubts among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes.

The conspiracy law provides penalties up to $10,000 fine or five years in prison. Illegal effort to influence a Congress member's vote carries punishments up to a fine of three times the amount of money offered, three years in prison, or both.

Violation of the lobbying act may be punished by fines up to $5,000 and 12 years in prison.

Jap Astronomer Reports Seeing Martian 'Canals'

The Associated Press

A Japanese astronomer today reported seeing several "canals" in the northern hemisphere of the planet Mars—under close scrutiny by star gazers around the world.

The existence of such canals long has been the subject of great debate.

They were first reported many decades ago, but other observers who have spent a lifetime at telescopes failed to catch a glimpse of them.

The great question concerning the canals, assuming they do exist, is whether they are arteries such as waterways devised by intelligent beings or some kind of natural phenomena.

The latest report came from Dr. Michikazu Onishimif Kobe, Japan, who like many other astronomers in recent weeks has concentrated attention on Mars during its closest approach to Earth since 1924.

The nearest point — 35,120,000 miles—was reached at 1 a.m. EDT today.

Astronomers elsewhere told of observing a bright object near Mars, believed to be a comet, and a vast cloud of yellow or yellow-white dust spread over a portion of the planet itself. The latter, too, has been seen previously.

Seventeen observatories in 10 nations were geared to study Mars during its rare close-up visit.

It won't be as close again until 1971. Sometimes the planet is as far away as 235 million miles.

Most likely, it will be months before information obtained now can be correlated and the new findings, if any, made public.

U.S. Appeals Court Upholds Conviction Of Batchelor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Military Appeals upheld today the Army court-martial conviction of Claude Batchelor of Kermitt, Tex., on charges of helping the Communists while a prisoner of war in Korea.

The court, acting unanimously, said "the evidence supporting the findings of guilt" is overwhelming.

Batchelor was sentenced to life imprisonment but this later was reduced to 20 years.

The child's mother, Eleanor Rutolo, 33, told police the baby was snatched from her carriage in the foyer of a Sears Roebuck store Saturday, a mile from the lake.

It was shortly after three boys fishing had found the body that Ullman's office became the investigation's focal point.

Mrs. Rutolo spent several hours there with Ullman, Coroner James J. Corrigan and police investigators. She was led out at 8:30 p.m., got into a police car and was driven off.

Cattaneo said investigators were awaiting a report of an autopsy. Corrigan said only a preliminary report had been made.

"We have no motive," said Cattaneo, "until we ascertain the cause of the baby's death."

Corrigan said vital organs from the baby's body were being sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for examination. He said he expected it would take several days.

Center of the vast probe moved quickly from Hamden police headquarters to the office of State's Atty. Abraham S. Ullman in the County Courthouse here last night after the 6-week-old baby, Cynthia, was found stuffed in a

Adlai Accuses Administration Of Failure In Racial Crisis

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson accused the Eisenhower administration today of failing to meet the school crisis. He listed this as a major campaign issue and said the Democrats "are going to hit it often and hard."

Back at his home base after a fast political foray into California, the Democratic presidential nominee said his own party has a good program for meeting the school crisis, whereas the administration has done nothing in three and a half years but hold a fact-finding conference.

"We already know the facts," Stevenson said. "Our need is not for facts but action on the facts... It is not only the future of our children that is at stake, it is the future of America itself."

Stevenson spoke up in a formal statement keyed to the trek of children back to the classrooms and to the political trips and conferences that have kept him on the go for nearly two weeks.

Today Stevenson was workless — not a talk on tap until tomorrow. Then he moves down to Springfield, Ill., where he served a term as governor, over to Columbus to address the Ohio Democratic Convention, and on to New York.

Next week he and his vice-presidential teammate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, will close out a series of regional conferences in meetings in Hartford, Conn., and New York with Democratic leaders from the New England and Middle Atlantic States.

They already have held six such conferences with party spokesmen from 35 states—the last in San Francisco Wednesday.

U. S. Urges Oil Imports Slowdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—A voluntary slowdown of oil imports was urged anew by the government yesterday in warning importers that failure to comply may mean a compulsory curtailment.

Letters were sent to some 50 oil import companies by Arthur Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM), expressing his "disappointment" at their failure to reduce the flow of incoming crude.

Flemming said the July reports from the firms indicate imports will average about 347,000 barrels daily through the fourth quarter. The recommended level was 290,000.

The curtailment so far achieved about 33,000 barrels a day, Flemming said, whereas a 90,000-barrel cut would have been required to bring imports down to the 1954 ratio of imports to domestic production, the yardstick the government is using.

Flemming reminded importers domestic producers have petitioned him to recommend to President Eisenhower a mandatory curb on oil imports, to protect the domestic oil industry as a defense measure. A hearing will be held in early October.

Failure of importing companies to cut their receipts from abroad voluntarily, Flemming said, "cannot help but be an important factor in deciding now the petition should be handled."

"I hope that the reports filed in September (on planned imports for the fourth quarter) will reflect a different picture," the ODM chief added.

Eisenhower's Cabinet committee on emergency supply and resources last year established the policy that the domestic oil industry can be maintained in the condition necessary for national security if imports are limited voluntarily to the 1954 level.

Despite repeated requests from ODM, imports have run consistently above that figure, Flemming said. "The failure of a few companies to make the adjustments were responsible. He did not identify them."

Shipments from Canada and Venezuela are exempt from the voluntary curtailment plan, as are all imports into the Pacific Coast area.

The Cabinet committee will decide whether the government should revise the formula which ties current imports to the 1954 rate before the October hearing.

Mail Carrier Gets 'Degree'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Arthur A. Aamodt, who has carried mail at the University of Utah campus for seven years, had a delegation of university officials waiting for him when he approached the campus yesterday.

Led by Dr. Henry Eyring, dean of the graduate school, they presented the surprised Aamodt with an honorary "Doctor of Letters degree," in recognition of what Eyring hailed as his major study in transportation and engineering with a minor in applied psychology.

The degree was just a gag, but Eyring thought it was as good a way as any to call attention to "Dr." Aamodt's performance: at an average of 5,000 pieces of mail delivered to the school daily, Eyring noted, Aamodt has now carried a total of 10 1/2 million pieces.

Holds Back A Friend

Citizen of Sturgis, Ky., is held back by a friend as he threatens to hit a National Guardsman who stands with crossed bayoneted rifle. Guardsmen and other law enforcement officers were on hand to quell disturbances resulting from the first integration move in this west Kentucky town.

Harlem Leaders Scorn Adlai Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic leaders in Harlem, predominantly Negro area here, reportedly have said that Negro dissatisfaction with the Democratic party's platform on civil rights made it inadvisable that Adlai E. Stevenson speak in Harlem "for the time being."

Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, his running mate, arrive here tomorrow for a five-day campaign in New York State, New Jersey and Connecticut.

In an airport interview last night in Chicago, Stevenson — just returned from speechmaking in San Francisco — said he was familiar with his immediate campaign plans and that they did not include speaking in Harlem "at this time."

"I suppose I will unquestionably address Negro groups at some times," Stevenson said. "I have no objection to meeting with Negro leaders."

According to newspaper reports, the "warning" to keep Stevenson out of Harlem in the immediate future was voiced at a closed luncheon meeting yesterday attended by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Carmine G. DeSapio, New York secretary of state.

The meeting was called by Manhattan Borough President Hylan E. Jack, first Negro to be elected to that office, also at the affair were some 25 other Negro leaders from Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens.

The session was called to pledge support to the senatorial candidacy of Wagner, who is expected to run on the Democratic and Liberal party tickets. The Democratic incumbent, Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, is not running for re-election.

At the meeting, it was said, the question was raised whether Stevenson might do the party some good by speaking to a Negro audience in Harlem during his visit.

Negro leaders reportedly advised against it, citing Stevenson's "moderate" stand on civil rights and Negro resentment of recent violence in Tennessee and Kentucky against integration in the public schools.

The Negro vote in New York City has been estimated at 250,000 to 300,000, a voting strength which could prove a pivotal point in deciding a political race in New York State.

New York City Negroes generally have supported the Democratic party since New Deal days. Negro leaders are said to fear not a wholesale switch of allegiance to the Republican party but the possibility that great numbers of Negroes would remain indifferent and fail to vote.

Girl Scalped By Machine

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Janice Cory, 11, who was scalped when her long hair caught in a whirling gear of a dough mixing machine in a bakery, was in serious condition today.

Surgeons fitted the scalp, which was removed intact from the machinery, back into place in a three-hour operation last night.

The scalp was torn off from above the eyes, including the eyebrows, over the ears and down the neck.

Doctors said there was "a small but definite" chance that the grafted scalp would hold. They said there have not been enough cases locally of complete scalping to give them a basis upon which to judge this case.

Janice, in a church group visiting the bakery yesterday, was standing with her back to the machine. As she looked up at the mixing operation her hair fell into a small opening and was caught in the gears.

Helium First Seen Above Sun's Surface

By RAMON COFFMAN
Recently, during a chat with a woman who reads this column, I was asked the following question: "What are some of the common elements?"

"Several of them," I replied, "are known in the form of gas. There is oxygen, for example, also hydrogen, and nitrogen. Various metals are elements, including iron, nickel, copper and silver."

"One element was discovered on the sun before it came to be known on earth."

The lady was glad to have the names of some common elements, but it was hard for her to believe that one element was found on the sun before it was known on earth. To enlighten her, I told the facts about the discovery of helium (pronounced HE-lee-um).

The name "helium" means "of the sun." It came from "helios," the Greek word for "sun."

During an eclipse, 28 years ago, scientists first used the spectroscope. Among the colored lines which came into view was one which was bright yellow. It differed from the lines made by sodium.

French and British scientists led the way in interpreting the new and different bright yellow line which the spectroscope had brought into view. They decided, at length, that it was a new element and that this element should be called helium.

Helium is of high value for dirigibles because it is non-explosive. If the "Hindenburg" had contained helium, the explosion which destroyed it would never have taken place.

Twenty-six years after the eclipse, a British scientist was at work in his laboratory. He was Sir William Ramsay, and was studying the results of heating a mineral. After a time he obtained a strange gas from the hot mineral. This gas provided a bright yellow line when it was studied under a spectroscope! Ramsay and his friend, Sir William Crookes, later proved that the gas was the same as the helium which had been discovered on the sun!

Truman Brings Up Communism Issue

WASHINGTON—Former President Truman seems determined to revive the Communist issue of the 1952 campaign—and the Republicans are not a bit displeased.

munists in our national life were "not very important." In a reference to Mr. Stevenson's humorous quips about the Communist issue as a "kind of silly game being played in the bureau of wildlife and fisheries," General Eisenhower added:

Mr. Truman, moreover, accuses Vice President Nixon of having charged the former President with "treason." But the speech delivered by Mr. Nixon on Oct. 27, 1952, to which Mr. Truman pointed, does not use the word "treason."

Small wonder that just 24 days after that speech by the presidential candidate on the Republican ticket, Mr. Nixon, the vice-presidential nominee, is reported to have said at Texarkana, Arkansas:

What the former President chooses to ignore is that General Eisenhower in a 1952 speech did use the word "treason" three times in referring to what was happening under the Truman administration.

Comparing the two utterances and assuming the correctness of the quotation attributed to Mr. Nixon, it is apparent that neither one accused the Democratic party itself of being a party of treason.

Time For Overstatement

WASHINGTON (U)—Democrats and Republicans will adorn ordinary ideas in grand clothes and otherwise overstate their case in this campaign where the issues run pretty thin. They'll make the most of what they have to work with.

brushes lightly over the achievements of the Democrats generally. But not all Republicans think like Eisenhower any more than all Democrats think like Stevenson.

But that Larson overstates his case is plain enough. Here are examples of where Larson in his book claimed too much exclusive credit for his party:

Adlai Stevenson this week got headlines with his call for an end to the draft. This may have seemed startling at quick glance. But, on examination, all he really said was: The draft should be ended when it's safe to do so.

Larson says: "It is the genius of the Eisenhower administration's achievements that it has merged and brought into balance all the positive forces in our country. It is not against any of them. . . . It has found a way to encourage them to work together for a common benefit."

Larson credits the Republicans with passage of the Norris - LaGuardia Act in 1932. Not altogether true. The Democrats controlled the House, the Republicans the Senate. Republican President Taft signed the bill into law in 1913 as one of his last official acts.

This is his book "A Republican Looks at His Party." Because of the book Larson, under-secretary of labor and a law school dean on-leave, has been mentioned as the kind of Republican likely to attract intellectuals to the party.

Time may show, therefore, when Eisenhower is out of the picture and other men run the party, that the "New Republicanism" was strictly Eisenhower's philosophy, or perhaps a reflection of his personality, and not a new kind of wisdom and lasting party philosophy at all.

Quickest Way To Wealth

1940 and a mere 16 per cent a hundred years ago. Until less than two years ago Schubert had only a layman's interest in religion. He had won recognition as coproducer of the "Topper" programs and crime series, such as "Counter Spy," "Adventures of the Falcon," and "Mr. and Mrs. North."

He is Bernard L. Schubert, producer of "Crossroads," an ABC network show that has clergymen as its heroes. The show, now in its second year, was the first commercially sponsored national interfaith religious program on television.

"They wanted to show that the clergy did more than perform marriages, baptize children, and deliver funeral orations," said Schubert. "They wanted to show the population belongs to churches now as compared to 49 per cent in their communities."

Reds Reverse Refugee Policy In S.E. Asia

HONG KONG (U)—In Eastern Europe, the Communists build ingenious barriers to keep the discontented ringed in. In Southeast Asia the Reds in some cases demand the right to allow their discontents to flee. And here the West slams the door.

Better Look First, Talk Later

The American people are a peculiar people. Like for example that smug superiority that excuses our own errors but severely censures our allies, among others, for the same faults.

ammunition didn't fit the rifles. But even with such poor weapons, the ROK army could have been trained better than it was.

Take for example Korea. The Korean War started in June, 1950, when the North Korean Reds crossed the 38th Parallel. The Republic of Korea Army fell back, was cut to pieces and was finally routed.

It might be noted that the American army took as bad a beating as the South Koreans in the first weeks of the war. But few people seemed to relate our own unpreparedness with that of the ROKs, and the heads continued to wag.

Even my better half, who should have known better, came up with: "But Bob, people should fight for their country, they should fight with everything they've got."

Or, take the British and French in the First World War. They had lost seven million men between them, had fought the Germans almost to a standstill, with the Germans having only a slight edge.

A comparison of the North and South Korean armies might be in order at this point, as it should have been in 1950 before we started shaking our heads and clucking our tongues. South Korea had 100,000 men, the Reds more than 200,000.

Yet, there was the old fogie awhile back, a veteran of World War I, who said in criticizing his erstwhile allies: "We had to go over and win their war for them." It made me wonder how many Americans would have been casualties if the U. S. had had to fight Germany back in 1914 all by itself.

Demand For Coal Shows Red Problems

The other day Nikita S. Khrushchev dropped into the Donets Basin to make a speech. That's tantamount to President Eisenhower's taking the platform in the high school auditorium in a bituminous coal town in Pennsylvania, or German Chancellor Adenauer's getting off a train to talk to coal miners in the Ruhr.

cause workers were idled in some factories for want of coal. Russia has stand-alone unemployment. Workers stay on the payrolls, but can't work — for lack of parts or coal or something else. But it isn't called unemployment. Unemployment is a capitalist monstrosity, the result of overproduction and high profits.

Khrushchev, who bears the modest title of First Secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, was simultaneously sarcastic and hortatory. Soviet coal production is lagging. For want of a ton of coal, a sixth five-year-plan goal might be lost.

In the Soviet Union of today, never is there too much. Goods have to be rationed — by high prices. A man's suit costs one and one-half months' work; a woman's rayon dress, about half a month's salary. If a man wants to buy a shirt in Russia, it takes 74 rubles and a family conference. The price is one-tenth of a month's salary. In America, the average worker just pops into a haberdasher's: Price, about $3.50, two hours' work.

As a spur to miners, Khrushchev promised better housing, with this threat: If a miner leaves the mines, he should give up his home to someone who will dig coal.

The Soviet leaders, themselves, are responsible for these prices. They emphasize producers' goods — more machinery — for the dual purpose of creating military strength and building up productive capacity for the future. They do not, as in the U. S., produce for consumption. The consumer gets what the planner decides is good for Communism.

Russia's labor shortage is often a source of boasting: "We have no unemployment in Russia." This is a sly reference to recent layoffs in the auto and agricultural equipment industries in the U. S.

Today everyone in the Soviet Union, from Khrushchev down, is an expeditor, a spur-upper. When everything's scarce, over-production's impossible.

The bill's authors were Republicans—Sen. Norris of Nebraska and Rep. LaGuardia of New York—but Norris in his autobiography says Hoover gave no help and that neither did his Department of Labor. That act, breaking up the age-old practice of court injunctions to stop strikes, was a milestone for American labor.

But what happens when the planners approach their goal? If they approach making enough freight cars, do they cut down output and employment, or do they just go on? If they produce plenty of typewriters so that all stenographers have reasonably new ones, what then?

Demos More Active At Local Level

PRINCETON, N. J.—One big advantage that the Democratic party continues to have over the Republican party, at least up to this time, is that it is better organized at the "grass roots" level.

After the 1954 Congressional elections, which the Democrats won by a nationwide vote of 53 to 47 per cent, an Institute audit of party organization effectiveness found that the Democrats had personally contacted over two and one-half million more voters than the Republicans.

MIDWEST Democratic party more active 52 Democratic party more active 48

This is shown in personal interviews which Institute reporters conducted with a representative cross-section of adults in all walks of life and living in every section of the country, as follows:

In its audit of the effectiveness of the work of the two parties in 1954, the Institute found the Democrats outpointing the Republicans, particularly in the "leg work" done by volunteer Democratic workers.

As might be expected, there is almost complete agreement among Southerners that the Democratic party is the more active there.

The Democrats had close to a million more volunteer workers than did the Republicans—3,000,000 for the Democrats to 2,100,000 for the GOP.

Outside the South, the Democrats hold a big edge in the Far West and also lead in the East, while the Republicans are ahead in the Middle West.

Only in the matter of making telephone contacts did Republican workers have a better record. Some 3,100,000 households were reached by the GOP, compared to 2,500,000 families by the Democrats.

Watches Complexion

Dry gelatin and orange juice is the secret to Mary Costa's pep and strong nails. She attributes her clear complexion to a special routine related to Lydia Lane in today's Hollywood Beauty.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Has A Routine For Good Complexion

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Mary Costa is a familiar face on CBS' "Climax" and "Shower of Stars," but her true beauty can't be completely realized until you've seen her natural blonde hair, blue eyes and fair complexion.

The other day in her dressing room at Television City I complimented Mary on her lovely skin and asked how she kept it so clear. "I am from Knoxville, Tenn.," she told me, "and soon after my arrival in California I noticed a difference in how my skin felt. I experimented a bit until I found a routine that I think is just great. It begins with a thorough cleansing with soap and water. Immediately afterwards I use a thin film of a dry-skin cream. This restores the natural oil and prevents extreme dryness from the soap and water. My doctor recommended that I do this to keep the outer layer of my skin chemically balanced."

"How do you remove your make-up?" I asked, since this is such an important step in maintaining a clear complexion.

"I used to have a lot of trouble with creams because my skin is so delicate. It would become clogged easily, but now I have no trouble at all. I use an oil to remove heavy make-up; one that I can wash off. What a difference this makes! When I used creams I had to go over my skin with an astringent to get the excess cream off, and this made it very dry. I buy this oil by the quart at any leading drugstore. I have a little plunger-top and one bottle lasts me six months."

"But what you do on the inside for your skin is even more important than what you do to the outside," Mary cautioned. "I have a theory that you have to eat right, get plenty of rest and have some exercise or your routine for grooming will be like trying to look attractive in a dirty dress."

It was the middle of the afternoon and a man with a snack cart came on the set.

"I used to be so beat-down at this time of the day," Mary remarked, "but not any more. I drink a glass of orange juice with dry gelatin in it. I get the gelatin at the grocery store and carry a small package of it in my purse. Then when I order juice in the afternoon, I put the gelatin in it, stir it up until it dissolves and drink it. You can't taste it in the orange juice and it gives me pep that they never break any more."

SKIN CARE
If you faithfully follow certain basic rules you will be rewarded with a lovely skin, regardless of your age. Opti-Mrs. Meet In Peters Home

Plans for a yearbook were made by members of the Opti-Mrs. Club Wednesday evening when they met in the home of Mrs. W. D. Peters. The club constitution and by-laws were also discussed.

Mrs. Jack Haptonstall gave a talk on the subject, "Our Neighbors." The group made plans for a buffet supper to be given on Dec. 5, with members of the Optimist Club as guests.

It was voted to change the time of meeting to 8 p.m. from now on. A surprise shower was given for Mrs. Mervil Ciek, and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Kelly Joe Gaskins celebrated the anniversary of his fourth birthday with a party at his home. The table was decorated with cowboys and horses. The centerpiece was the cake which was a Hopalong Cassidy hat. Favors were cowboy bandannas.

Mrs. Waters Speaker For OWC Luncheon

A program on china and silver was given Thursday for members of the Officers' Wives Club when they met for luncheon at the Officers' Club. Mrs. O.M. Waters was guest speaker.

Mrs. Waters gave the origin and the development in the use of china and silver for table use and discussed the various styles and period decorations. At the conclusion of her talk, she displayed table settings in the Ivy Room of the club.

Hostesses for the luncheon were from Block One, with Mrs. R. D. Whittington as chairman. On quartette tables were small cornucopia of zinnias in fall shades, with a tiny package tucked among them. These were awarded as prizes at each of the tables.

The speakers table was covered in a yellow linen cloth and centered with a large cornucopia holding fall flowers and flanked with brass candelabra. The floral arrangement was awarded to Mrs. K. S. Clement.

Guest of the month was Mrs. Richard Larson, who was presented with a gift. A short skit was shown depicting events in her life.

Nominees for the election of officers were introduced to the group. The election will be held in October. About 160 attended the affair.

Spaders Get Tips On Pot Plants, Perennials

Members of the Spaders Garden Club, meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Zack Gray, heard discussions of house plants and perennials.

Mrs. Melvin Witter, using the former topic as her subject, told members that house plants offer a means of having a garden in an apartment or in the house during the winter months. She suggested growing herbs, which not only add beauty to a room, but may be used in seasoning various dishes.

Other plants which grow well in houses are baby tears, Boston fern, cactus, English ivy, rubber tree, snake plant, African violet and wandering Jew, Mrs. Witter told the club.

She warned against rubbing leaves with castor oil or olive oil, as this closes the pores of the plant. The speaker recommended that a pan of water be placed on a heater to keep the air more humid or that the plants be sprayed daily with water.

Mrs. Jimmy Morehead described the perennials as the gardener's best friend. They have a wide choice of colors to choose from, a variety of sizes and a long blooming season. She told her listeners that they live almost indefinitely with very little care.

Perennials may be started from seed or divisions. The latter method is much faster, and divisions should be made every three or four years. Cut around the clump and dig up; separate the roots by cutting or pulling apart, Mrs. Witter advised.

Some easily grown perennials recommended are iris, peonies, delphinium, oriental poppies, shasta daisies and primroses.

Mrs. Tommy Hubbard was appointed as club representative for the Litterbug Campaign, of which Mrs. J. E. Hogan is chairman. Mrs. H. B. Perry was announced as chairman of the "Plant Texas" drive; Mrs. James Bruce Frazier is chairman of the awards committee.

Yearbooks were presented to the 19 members attending.

Handbags Give Tips To Ladies' Glamor Secrets

By VIVIAN BROWN
How many glamorous women in America? Start with a figure of 20,500,000. They're the paid work girls. Add to that those dedicated in politics, volunteers in social work, blood bank solicitors and hospital Gray Ladies, among thousands of others who work out of the home.

Women of achievement in the home and out of it have reached an age of beauty maturity. The housewife is no longer frumpy, and the working girl is not the wild-eyed harried enthusiast that harassed employers bring generation ago. Both types bring a charm to their endeavors.

How does it happen that women maintain good looks and good grooming without visibly aging in proportion to their years?

A small cross-section of women of various ages gave me the answer recently, and it was all in the bag—the handbag that is. It boiled down to this: American women begin to protect their looks in their teens, and spend more and more time on the project as they grow older, especially when they must maintain a youth appearance in a job. These queried women of these ages: 16, 24, 27, 36, 44, 51.

The 16-year-old girl's purse held the clue to her years. She carried no make-up except lipstick, comb, brush, nail file and fan. Why the fan? To keep her face cool and unshiny in a warm place.

The handbag of a 24-year-old working girl revealed the works in glamour cosmetics including eye shadow, rouge, perfume and emery board as well as powder. At 27, when the skin is beginning to lose its youthful glow, the owner of the handbag had included foundation cream, and deodorant was added for extra daytime fastidiousness at 36. Mascara and eyeliner were included but no eyeshadow. The 44-year-old working woman included a hair touch-up stick as well as a small shoe brush and an extra pair of hosiery. The 51-year-old woman had become conscious of her hands and included a hand lotion (which she also used on her neck).

Women know they can't relax their beauty efforts for a minute if they'd remain youthful and attractive.

As one working woman put it: "You can tell how much time I spend on my person by the size of my handbag. It used to be a little one, but it's grown kinsize through the years."

It's just as easy to carry a large bag as a small one, she says, if you are a working girl. Cut down the weight of it by putting fragrance in one of the small spray atomizers, and by utilizing small plastic refillable containers that may hold hand lotion, creams and other treatments. The roll-on type deodorant is popular these days because it is easy to use in emergency, and this too, may be carried compactly.

The average older working woman requires professional beauty service once a week, she believes, although she cannot always afford the time or money. She is more likely to get to a salon every other week. The over 40's either dye their hair or keep their gray hair chic with special treatments.

Between times, like her younger working companions, she sets and shampoos her own hair. She is well-heeled below the ankles, even-hemmed in dress, straight-seamed in stockings, and avoids the dipping bosom-line for business like the plague.

Local Group To Lutheran Workshop

Nine local women from the St. Paul's Lutheran Church attended a workshop on Christian Growth held at the Grace Lutheran Church in Midland Thursday. Speaking at the workshop was the Rev. Wayne Dittloff, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Bert Faerber, pastor of the Midland church, gave the opening devotion. Mrs. Walter Pachall, zone president from Big Spring, presided at the workshop.

Mrs. Walter Wilkinson, state president of the Women's Missionary League, Midland, was moderator for an afternoon panel discussion.

Those attending from Big Spring were: Mrs. Walter Pachall, Mrs. Gilbert Pachall, Mrs. John Foster, Mrs. Marie Smith, Mrs. Gus Oppgaard, Mrs. Moran Oppgaard, Mrs. Allett, Mrs. Walter Heidemann, and the Rev. and Mrs. Dittloff.

Ruth Class Meets In Brigrance Home

Mrs. J. W. Brigrance was hostess for the Ruth Class of Park Methodist Church Thursday evening when the group met for their regular monthly social.

Mrs. Gould Winn brought a devotion on the subject "Whosoever." Mrs. John Waddell played a piano solo, "Sweet Bye and Bye." The Rev. Jesse Young offered the closing prayer.

Recreation was under the direction of Mrs. Elvin Bearden. Refreshments were served to 17 members and three guests, Rev. Young, Waddell and Brigrance.

Women Of CWF Meet For Study

"Missions" was the topic studied by the Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church Thursday evening when they met at the church for a business meeting and program.

Mrs. R. E. Hoover and Mrs. H. O. Hudgins gave the devotion, which was based on foreign missions. Guest speaker was Vincel Larsen, who discussed home missions.

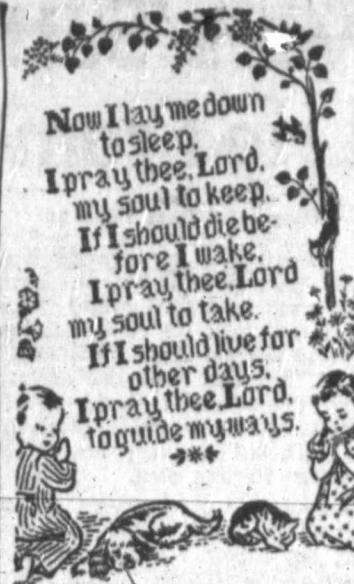

The Lydia Circle was responsible for the program, and refreshments were served by the Rosa Ann Parks Circle. Nineteen attended the meeting.

Two Are Honored By S. School Class

Mrs. C. M. Harrell and Mrs. J. C. Hampton were honored Thursday afternoon by the Bethany Sunday School Class at East Fourth Baptist Church. The occasion was the birthday of the two members.

The class met for their annual ice cream social; the Rev. Billy Rudd gave the devotion, with the opening prayer offered by Mrs. Hampton.

Gifts were presented to the honorees and refreshments were served to seven members and eight visitors. Guests were J. C. Hampton and Pat. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale, Callie Dunagan, Tom Stewart, George Holden and Rev. Rudd.

South Ward P-TA Meets Thursday

Teachers were introduced at the meeting of the P-TA at South Ward Thursday afternoon. Corsages and boutonnières were presented to them.

New officers and committee chairmen were also introduced to the 60 attending the meeting. The devotion was brought by the Rev. B. R. Phillee, minister of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church.

Mrs. W. T. McTea played "Dark Eyes" as a piano solo. The group voted to sell sandwiches, bottled drinks and cupcakes at noon on each Wednesday for five weeks.

During the next five weeks, hot dogs and bottled drinks will be sold on Wednesday.

Proceeds from the sales will go into the general fund. The budget for the year was presented and approved, as was the program for the year.

A social hour followed the meeting. The room count was won by the first grade.

Clear Thinking Is Sapphire Symbol Of Sept. Birthstone

Clear thinking is symbolized by September's birthstone, the sapphire. A gem surrounded by imaginative legends from many cultures and ages.

The Persians believed the earth rested on a giant sapphire, whose color was reflected into the sky to give it a clear blue color. A gem highly esteemed by many religions, a sapphire was once said to have been engraved with the Ten Commandments, and Solomon's Seal was said to be a star sapphire.

Most sapphires are found in Burma, Australia, Siam and Ceylon, and steelblue sapphires have been found in Montana, says the Jewelry Industry Council.

Either the plain or starred sapphire is traditionally worn by the September born. The star in a sapphire, by the way, is an optical effect, formed by bands of light reflected from within the stone when it is seen in sunlight or a bright light.

This star remains even when a large star sapphire is cut into several smaller pieces, if each piece is properly cut.

Sapphires in jewelry for women—rings, pins, earrings, bracelets and necklaces—blend or contrast beautifully with other gems of virtually any color. Especially popular for men are sapphire rings in platinum or gold settings.

Ackerly FHA Meets

The Ackerly FHA held the first meeting of the year Wednesday in the homemaking department. The meeting was called to order by the president, Beverly Russel. It was then placed in charge of Mrs. Ethel Johnson. She announced that the FHA had purchased two copper electric mixers and an ironing board for the department. The project for the year, buying an air conditioner for the department, was voted on and passed.

Santa Fe's crack passenger train, The Chief, lies sandwiched between a car of its own and a mail-express which it smashed into near Springer, N.M. At least 18 railroad employees died when The Chief whirled into Robinson siding and hit Santa Fe mail train No. 8 head-on.

ADJOURNS

Suez Committee Makes No Move

CAIRO (AP)—The Menzies mission conferred privately for nearly three hours today and adjourned without announcing whether it would meet again with President Nasser on the Suez Canal situation. A spokesman refused to comment on reports the mission had failed to get Nasser to agree to international control of the canal and that the next moves are up to Washington and London. He said the mission did not come to Cairo to find a solution to the Suez crisis, but to find a starting point for negotiations. Nasser left Cairo for Alexandria, the Mediterranean summer resort and Egypt's main port. Nasser's family has been vacationing there this summer, and he usually goes there on the weekend to visit them. Pessimism pervaded both the Egyptian and the foreign quarters of Cairo following the reports the Menzies mission had failed. It was generally agreed the mission was waiting word from London and Washington before making its next move—even to setting a time for the next meeting with Nasser. Both Egyptian sources close to the government and Western diplomats in London reported last night a deadlock in the talks between the five-nation committee and Egyptian President Nasser. Menzies was said to be waiting for some word from Washington and London that might yet salvage his mission. The informants said Nasser has refused to accept the 18-nation plan for international operation of the 103-mile waterway. A source close to the Egyptian government said the viewpoints of Nasser and the committee "run in parallel channels with no possibility of being reconciled." This source declared that only intervention by the United States can prevent use of force now by Britain and France. The U. S. State Department had no comment on that assertion. There was, however, unofficial speculation in Washington that Egyptian talk of "U. S. intervention" was aimed at driving a wedge between the United States and its allies. Along that line, the Cairo correspondent of the London Daily Mail explained: "Responsible Americans here, I understand, made it clear in Cairo that if Britain and France took military action it would lead to a rift in the Western alliance. This sort of talk appears to have given great encouragement to the Egyptians."

Cairo Stalemate Widens Split In British Opinion

LONDON (AP)—The reported stalemate in the Cairo Suez talks widened a deep split in Britain over whether this country should appeal to the U. N. of resort to force. Advocates of an approach to the U. N. appeared to be in the majority. But influential backers of a policy of "force if necessary" insisted that the canal must be kept open to British shipping at any cost with or without U. N. approval. The division became sharper when Western diplomats said here last night that President Nasser had given an apparently final rejection to an 18-nation plan to international operation. London diplomats said Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies' five-nation committee which was set up at the recent London conference to negotiate with Egypt, probably would see Nasser again tomorrow and leave Cairo Monday—unless he suddenly reversed his stand. There were rumors here—unconfirmed by any official source —that Prime Minister Eden would stake the life of his Conservative government on an appeal to the House of Commons to support the way he planned to handle the crisis. Mrs. Valdez, 76, Dies Thursday Mrs. Hermenejida Valdez, 76, brought here six months ago from her native Mexico to spend her remaining days with her son, died in a local hospital at 5:30 p. m. Thursday. A funeral will be held at 8:30 a. m. Saturday at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. Fr. Adolph Metzger, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Catholic section of the City Cemetery with Valdez-Diaz, and daughter-in-law, Natavia Diaz; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, all of Big Spring. Mrs. Valdez was born in Mexico April 12, 1880.

Three Well Locations Set In Howard, Borden Test Hits Oil

Howard County picked up three new locations — two in the Varel field and one in the Moore. Meanwhile, a Dawson County wildcat, Seaboard No. 1-A Weaver, was pulling core from 7,698 feet. The wildcat is two miles southwest of the Mungerville field. A Borden prospector, Brennan No. 1 Roper, was bringing new oil after perforating. Borden Anderson-Prichard No. 1 Keen ran tubing and the venture, testing, flowed 282.58 barrels of fluid in 24 hours. Water averaged 27 per cent principally from tank drainage. Operator is still testing. Location is C SW SE, 46-31-50, T&P Survey, and three and a half miles west of Gall. Tests are in the lower Spraberry. Brennan No. 1 Roper, C NE SW, 9-31-40, T&P Survey, perforated 8,124-42 feet and treated with 800 gallons of mud acid. It swabbed and flowed six barrels of oil per hour with no water. Oil amounts were gradually increasing however. After acidizing with 2,000 gallons, it flowed 140 barrels of new oil in 24 hours. It is a wildcat five miles southwest of Gall. Standard No. 1-A Griffin, six miles northwest of Vincent, pro-pared to install pumping unit. The location — a re-entry — is C NW NW, 35-25, H&TC Survey. Perforations are between 5,139-44, 5,177-85, and 6,169-228 feet. Dawson Seaboard No. 1-A Weaver, bottomed at 7,698 feet, was pulling 30 feet of core from that depth. The wildcat is two miles southeast of the Mungerville field, C NE NE, 27-3, Taylor CSL Survey. Humble No. 1 Koger, four miles northwest of Sparenburg, prepared to drill stem test between 12,003-103 feet. Drillsite is a wildcat C SE SE, 32-35-40, T&P Survey. Total depth of 12,103 feet was reached in dolomite and chert. Texas No. 1 Beckham, a wildcat a mile and a half south of Lamesa, drilled to 1,751 feet in red beds and shale. It is C NW SW, 17-35-50, T&P Survey, and six miles northwest of the Sparenburg field. Contract depth is 10,000 feet. Howard Brennan No. 1-R Guitler Trust, in the Varel field, will be 350 feet from north and 994.8 feet from west lines of the northeast quarter, 9-A, B&C Survey, on a 160.88-acre lease. Location is about six miles southwest of Big Spring. Contract

P. H. Hooper Services Set

Rites for Pures H. Hooper, 65, retired carpenter, will be held Sunday at Cass, it was announced Friday. Mr. Hooper was found dead in bed at 11:30 a. m. Thursday by a nephew, Emmett M. Hooper Jr. He apparently had died in his sleep. Mr. Hooper, born May 26, 1891, in Cass County, had come here a short time ago from Odessa, where he had lived since 1941. The remains were to be taken in a Nalley-Pickle coach Friday evening to Atlanta (Texas) to the Hanner Funeral Home. Services will be in the Cass Baptist Church at 3 p. m. Sunday and burial will be in the Atlanta Cemetery. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lois Hooper, Odessa; two sons, L. G. Hooper, Long Beach, Calif., and Warren Hooper, Andrews; a daughter, Mrs. Emily Sue Crain, Odessa; three brothers, O. L. Hooper, Cass, Emmett M. Hooper, Big Spring, and Sam Hooper, Merkel; and three grandchildren. Mr. Hooper had suffered from a heart condition.

U.S. Justice To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Sherman Minton of the Supreme Court said today he will retire Oct. 15. Minton said he is leaving because of impaired health. He will be 66 on Oct. 20. In a letter sent to the White House this morning, Minton notified President Eisenhower of his plan. The justice has a circulatory condition in his legs. He told the President he does not feel he could carry out "the exacting duties of my office" in his present condition. Appointed by President Harry Truman, Minton went on to the Supreme Court bench Oct. 12, 1949. Previously he served more than eight years on the U. S. Circuit Court in Chicago. This gives him sufficient years in federal courts for him to retire at full pay of $35,000 a year.

Mars 'Settled' By Life From Earth?

(Continued from Page 1) of the planet's low gravitational pull. If intelligent life on Mars has been dead for several thousand centuries, we could not expect to see the lights of Martian cities. But that does not explain why water should move uphill, for the Martian machines probably wouldn't last for very long after the last Martian died. Actually, most observers are of the opinion that it is not liquid water, but rather water vapor that moves across the red planet. There is hardly enough water on Mars to fill Lake Erie. About the only time water could run as a liquid would be immediately after the melting of the polar ice caps, when the polar regions are turned into mud flats. This temporary condition has been observed many times as a mud-colored area at the fringe of the melting ice caps. If water flows through the "canals," the muddy area could be expected to provide a greening process. But it does not. The plant life on Mars must be of a type that can extract moisture from the air. There are some plants in the deserts of America's Southwest. Lowell overlooked a very important point in assuming that the Martians, if any, built their canals because their planet was low on cosmic particles, and it is also a fact that the Earth loses billions of atoms of air every day. It is not a fantastic notion that many spores over millions of years, have drifted off into space. If this is true, it is merely an extension of logic to suppose that some of the spores, drifting through space or being driven by the Sun's radiation, got as far as Mars.

Most of the spores which may have landed on the surface of Mars could not be expected to survive. But one viable spore out of billions is all that would be needed to bring life to our sister planet. It has been found that X-rays and cosmic particles, so abundant in space, can change the genes, the factors of heredity, and cause mutations. These space-faring spores could be expected to harbor many a mutant, perhaps one with the prerequisites for survival in the harsh environment of Mars. Maybe we'll be able to answer most of the mysteries of Mars by the year 1971, the year of the next close passing. Rocket engineers figure it will be just about that time that men will be ready for a trip to Mars.

Joe Smith Has Counterparts In U.S. History

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Smith has had his counterparts in American political history. And unlike the Joe who caused a tizzy at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco last month they weren't all mythical. He was a solid, foot-pounding politician at the Democratic National Convention in New York's Madison Square Garden in 1824. The mythical Joe was put up as a candidate for the vice presidential nomination this year by Terry Carpenter of Nebraska as a symbol of an open convention. But Patroinman Peter Joseph Monahan was put up for the presidency itself in 1824 as a symbol of the honesty that belongs in government. Patrick J. Qualey of the Wyoming delegation was the Carpenter of the day. He gave a typical "man who" speech, extolling his man's honesty and integrity at great oratorical length, but traditionally left the name to the very end. The half-dozing delegates, expecting him to name some well-known statesman, sprang to attention when Qualey finally declared: "Gentlemen, I give you Patroinman Peter Joseph Monahan." The entire Wyoming delegation cheered. Neuman scurried from the stage before he learned more about this "dark horse." Qualey explained. His wife had lost a brooch. Monahan, on duty at the Garden, found it, succeeded in locating the owner, and returned it to her. Qualey was impressed. Mayor John F. Hyland was overwhelmed at the tribute paid to one of his "finest."

Joe Smith Gets Democrat Bid

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Mythical Joe Smith, Vice President Nixon's only opposition for renomination, has been invited to the Democrats' campaign kick-off in Pennsylvania next Thursday. The invitation came from Matthew H. McCloskey, national chairman of the Democratic Finance Committee. He said: "You, Joe Smith, have become the symbolic figure of lost Republican hopes. You are Custer's Last Stand, the pride of Mudville at the end of the ninth inning and the family black sheep, all rolled into one defenseless fall guy. We need you." Adlai Stevenson is scheduled to deliver his first major television address of the campaign at the fund-raising dinner. Smith's name was placed in nomination at the Republican convention by Terry A. Carpenter, a delegate from Nebraska. He said he did so to show that the convention was open.

Scot Loses Kilt Before Queen

BRAEMAR, Scotland (AP)—Wrestler John Bland qualified as the most embarrassed man in Britain yesterday when he lost his kilt in front of Queen Elizabeth II and four other members of the royal family. The incident occurred just as 25-year-old Bland, a middleweight, tossed his opponent in the annual open air Highland Games. The Queen burst out laughing. Princess Margaret smiled. Prince Charles giggled. The Duke of Edinburgh grinned broadly. Bland crept quickly across the greensward, retrieving his green kiltlike garment, and whipped it back on. In a Scottish military regiment, men wear nothing under their kilts. Bland, being civilian, wore trousers — close-fitting plaid under-

99 Years Assessed On Rape Charge

HOUSTON (AP)—A jury assessed a 99-year prison term yesterday to Arthur McChain Jr., 19, for raping a mother, 17. He testified McChain attacked her Nov. 22 after threatening to kill her 5-month-old baby if she resisted. She said she found McChain standing over her bed with a knife at 4:30 a. m. McChain said he admitted the attack only because officers threatened to stamp him. He said that at the time of the attack he was peeling potatoes at a restaurant. He is also under indictment for attacking a woman, 24, last Oct. 27.

Climber Gives People Hard Time

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It took 30 policemen and firemen more than an hour and a half yesterday to haul down a man who climbed a piling in the Schuylkill River "to get a breath of air." "I like to give people a hard time," he jeered as he squatted on a crosspiece connecting two upright timbers about seven feet above the end of a long pier. The police and their helpers tried just about everything—coaxing, sharp words, promises of cigarettes, a free meal, a good rest in a safe, law-abiding place. In the end the police and firemen stopped talking and went into action with a tug, a city fireboat, long poles, ladders and ropes. They got him, but not until there'd been quite a tussle. They carried him, bound to a stretcher, to an emergency car, thence to a hospital for a checkup. One of the policemen was hospitalized, too. He'd been kicked in the abdomen by the stubborn sitter, who gave his name as George William Reed, 57.

Babe Loses Weight, But Is Eating Well

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The noted woman golfer, Babe Didrikson Zaharias, has lost weight and has been unable to gain strength in the last 10 days, a hospital bulletin said yesterday. But John Sealy Hospital, where she is undergoing treatment for what was no illness in good spirits and attempting to take more nourishment even though she has "no appetite." It added "she is comfortable and there are no added complications."

Publisher Calls Shooting 'Accident'

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Robert Harrison 50, publisher of Confidential magazine, says the shooting that put him in a hospital here was an accident. The New Yorker told reporters yesterday he did not plan to file charges against Richard Weldon, 35, jungle trapper and tour director. He said, "Weldon is a nice person." He thus backed up Weldon's story that he dropped his shotgun accidentally and it went off. The charge wounded Harrison slightly in the right shoulder. The shooting took place Tuesday in a mountain jungle near Jarabacoa about 70 miles northwest of

Football Ticket Sales Hit 700

Football fans must be waking up to the fact that the 1956 season is just around the corner. All seats being offered for sale are in choice locations, on the west side of the new stadium. Last year, about 1,100 season tickets were sold here. Price of the tickets are $7.50 each, whereas last year they cost $6 each. The increase is in line with District 2-AAAA rules, which which Big Spring is now affiliated. The Steers opened their home season Sept. 28 against Snyder. In other contests here they meet Sweetwater Oct. 5, Lamesa Oct. 12, Abilene Oct. 26 and Midland Nov. 9.

Marvin L. Baker Gets Ph.D Degree

Marvin Louis Baker, 1316 Stadium, director of the adult education program and of the night sessions of Howard County Junior College, has been awarded his doctorate of philosophy degree by the University of Texas. He is one of 36 earning doctoral degrees at the end of the summer session, according to Graduate School Dean A. T. Bragan. Others in the area qualifying for Ph. D. degrees were Edsel F. Bittick, Midland, and Richard Kenneth Overland, San Angelo.

2 Bodies Wash Ashore At Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Two bodies were washed up on the beach today where 11 U. S. Marines drowned in an unexpected undercurrent yesterday. Interruption of communications with remote "North Camp," where the drownings occurred, prevented any report on whether the bodies were identified. The U. S. 3rd Marine Division said, however, that helicopters and men of the 2nd Battalion, 9th regiment were continuing patrols in the hope of finding more bodies.

White Woman, Negro Mate Leave Texas For California

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A white woman and her Negro husband, who were no-billed yesterday, by a grand jury investigating the mixed marriage, have departed for California. This was disclosed today by a member of the family of Ollie Brown Jr., 21, Negro bootblack, who married Mary Zichterman, 22, green-eyed blonde from Michigan, at Nuevo Laredo Aug. 6. Dist. Atty. Hubert Green Jr. said they had held the state. Earlier, the young woman, a former WAF, had reported that they were saving money for a move to California.

Grandma Moses, Noted Painter, Turns 96 Today

EAGLE BRIDGE, N.Y. (AP)—The little lady known as Grandma Moses is 96 today. Nothing elaborate is planned. Grandma likes it that way — the way her painting is. Its simple charm has gained her world recognition. Mrs. Anna Mary Robertson Moses began painting in her late 70s. Today her work hangs in many of the great galleries of the world. Her daughter, Mrs. Winona Fisher, says Grandma's eyesight is still "wonderful," and that her health is even slightly better than it was last year. Mrs. Fisher lives with Grandma in a cottage tucked in this hamlet that rests on rolling countryside only a short distance from the Vermont line. "Mrs. Fisher says Grandma 'paints a little every day.' Grandma has no schedule. She may write or knit, or look out over the surrounding fields that abound with melons, pumpkins and potatoes.

MOBS

(Continued from Page 1) advice from Gov. A. B. Chandler as to whether they should post a patrol around the Negro residential area. At Clinton, where the National Guard restored order last weekend, citizens took a step toward preparing for the time when guardsmen will be withdrawn. An auxiliary police force was re-organized. Leo Grant, an Oak Ridge attorney who headed the group when it broke up a mob Saturday night, was again placed in command. Henry said his original National Guard force of 633 has been cut by 200 men. He indicated the National Guard may do a gradual fade out instead of moving out en masse. This reminded town people of the question: What happens when the guard pulls out? Several persons have expressed fear of reprisals for sending their children to the integrated school. Some told of threats that their homes would be dynamited. Millard Grubbs, chairman of the Board of the Kentucky Citizens Council, was one of the segregationists flown to Sturgis from Louisville to address a rally in a public park. He condemned the U. S. Supreme Court and suggested that "the white people take over." Supporting Grubbs was W. W. Waller Jr. of Morganfield, who told the crowd that "I don't like it when they put a bayonet in my ribs when I'm home with my family."

ALVIN R. HOLMAN

Air Base Has New Inspector

Lt. Col. Alvin R. Holman, a recent graduate of the Air Force Advanced Management Program at George Washington University, has arrived at Webb AFB to assume the duties of wing inspector.

Maj. Max Wilmon, wing inspector since July, 1955, has been assigned the duties of quality control officer with the 350th M & S Group. He will be in charge of aircraft inspection and test flights.

Prior to entering George Washington University, Holman was deputy chief of staff for operations, assistant for programming, at the Pentagon, Washington D. C., for three and a half years.

A graduate of nine Air Force sponsored schools, he entered the service in September of 1941 and was commissioned second lieutenant in April, 1942. His overseas duty includes Germany from July, 1946, to January, 1947, and Newfoundland from January, 1949, to January, 1952.

Now a senior pilot, Col. Holman received his wings at Gardner Field, Calif., in 1942.

A native West Texan, he graduated from Hardin-Simmons University with a BS degree in education, history and mathematics.

Married to the former Kathryn Ann Mansfield of Defiance, Ohio, Holman is the father of two children, Alan R., 12, and Edward V., 1. Their residence in Big Spring is at 411 Edwards Boulevard.

Skies Clear Over Texas

The Associated Press Skies cleared over Texas Friday following heavy rains that a southbound cool front triggered over West and South Texas.

Temperatures at dawn ranged from the upper 70s along the Gulf Coast down to Amarillo's 50 degrees.

General rains ranging up to 5 inches fell in the Rio Grande Valley Thursday.

Farm and ranchlands in the San Angelo area were soaked by slow rains measuring up to 1.08 inches.

No Contempt In Ranger Move, Shivers Avers

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers told reporters yesterday that he did not feel he was "in contempt of any court" for sending Texas Rangers to the Mansfield school race riots.

"As long as I am governor I am going to do my best to uphold our legally constituted laws," he told a press conference.

"I am not going to take action in defiance of the Supreme Court, the federal government or anyone else."

"In my own opinion I have not been in contempt of any court. The governor has a great responsibility to preserve order and protect the citizens of a state."

"I believe my orders proved to be a wise action by the quietest at Mansfield now, particularly as compared to the Tennessee situation, which is still in an uproar."

Shivers said he believed that "paid agitators are causing these situations, not school officials or the school kids."

Other comments by the governor at the press conference, the first in about two months, included: "As I have said before, I do not feel that I could support Adlai Stevenson for a number of reasons."

thing to say after returning from the Southern Governors Conference.

"I predict the Fort Worth State Democratic Convention will be a conservative one," he said.

He added that he had received indications that "some of the moderate political bedfellows in May are not exactly happy with their new found brothers."

Shivers' conservative faction was outnumbered in the May state convention by a coalition led by U.S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

He warned that liberal Democrats would "steal" the convention if possible.

"Every time the so-called Rayburn group has been in charge of a convention, May or September, it is their ethics to boot out by brute strength all opposing delegations."

Shivers said again he would not be a candidate for the U.S. Senate.

He said he and Mrs. Shivers had looked at houses in both Austin and Houston but had made no definite plans where they would live after he leaves office.

The governor and Mrs. Shivers were to leave this morning for the Southern Governors Conference.

He said it was this "previous commitment" that would prevent him from attending the "very interesting convention" at Fort Worth.

Shivers also announced that the new drought relief roughage plan was "apparently well received" by Texas farmers and ranchers.

Under the program livestock raisers in drought designated counties can get $7.50 a ton credit from the federal government in buying hay or other roughage.

Shivers said William Wood of Midland had been appointed to the State Board of Pharmacy, replacing Shine Phillips of Big Spring who resigned because of illness.

Weather Bureau To Make Atom Fall-Out Forecasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said today it will make special public forecasts next week of the atomic fall-out that could be expected in event of an enemy attack on the United States.

The forecasts are made twice daily throughout the year. They will be made public at weather stations across the country as a part of the Sept. 9-15 Civil Defense Week observance.

The bureau and the Federal Civil Defense Administration today urged newspapers, radio and television stations to use the forecasts to impress upon the public that radioactive fall-out is one of the prime dangers of a nuclear attack on this country.

The data are obtained from balloon-borne transmitters sent up from 60 observation stations in the United States and southern Canada. The transmitters are tracked by radio and provide information on direction and speed of winds.

Meteorologists use this data to forecast and map areas which would be affected.

Explosion of a nuclear weapon at or near the earth's surface catapults thousands of tons of atomized particles into the air, sometimes as high as 50,000 feet. Some particles fall back to earth in the area of the explosion. Others are carried by the upper winds and drift to earth hundreds of miles from the target.

Eastern U. S. Gets Moisture

Rain fell through the Eastern part of the nation early today on the leading edge of a cool air mass which pushed further eastward from Canada.

Rainfall amounts varied, with Boston reporting the largest amount, 1.28 inches, for six hours. Rain and cloudy skies prevailed along the eastern coastal area from Maine to Texas. A few showers were reported also in the Rocky Mountains.

Legion Starts New Anti-Red Crusade

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The American Legion set out today on a new crusade against communism after hearing a warning by Vice President Richard M. Nixon of communism's "serious threat to freedom" and a pledge by newly elected national Commander Wilbur C. Daniel to fight its "despotic evils."

The Legion wound up its national convention last night by electing Daniel, a 42-year-old Navy veteran, to the highest office of the 2,800,000-member organization.

Earlier, the convention heard Nixon call "the struggle against world communism the greatest challenge that free men ever faced."

Daniel, a textile manufacturing company personnel director who climbed steadily through the Legion's elective ranks since 1944, won his race for the national command without the expected hot fight with Charles M. Blackburn of Versailles, Ky.

Registration of the Negroes Wednesday was followed by the burning of two crosses, the hanging of a Negro effigy and the shotgun blasting of a service station owned by two Negroes.

Dr. Stillwell said that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People wanted to integrate grades of the youngest children and called this "getting babies who can't help themselves."

Dr. Stillwell said the current integration problems came about because "the white people have not been sufficiently awakened" and that if they had been organized, integration would have been stopped before now.

He asked "sensible Negroes" to help the whites "save America from that downward road."

The second cross was burned last night in front of the Texarkana Senior High School. The first one was burned in front of Junior College after the two Negro girls were admitted as students.

Three Negro boys who sought to enroll yesterday were told they would be given aptitude tests later.

Shotgun pellets shattered a plate glass window in the filling station in the downtown Negro district. One of the station owners, J. L. Montgomery, has been an outspoken advocate of integration at Junior College.

Dr. Stillwell spoke in Municipal Auditorium on the Arkansas side of this border city. The rally was sponsored by White American Inc. and the White Citizens Council, both pro-segregation groups.

3 Teachers Join Stanton Faculty STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Ida Smith, Terminal; Bill Settler, Lubbock; and Mrs. Annie Lee Locke, Big Spring, have joined the Stanton school faculty.

Mrs. Smith will be a grade school teacher. Settler will serve as junior high coach, and Mrs. Locke will be home economics instructor.

Claims Integration Lowers Standards

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—The president of Texarkana Junior College told a pro-segregation group last night that if integration lowers educational standards "it is not only your right but your duty to resist it."

Dr. H. W. Stillwell, referring to the enrollment of two Negro girls in the all-white college, said "if integration comes I had much rather it came at the junior college level."

"Junior college students are young men and women mature enough to study the effects of this movement," he told the meeting.

The Source of Human Conflict

SHOWING THE IMPORTANCE OF CONTROLLING THE TONGUE

Scripture—Luke 22:31-34; 54-68; James 3-4.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE FIRST PART of our lesson tells of Peter's great sin in denying his Master when Jesus was taken in custody and brought before the high priest in the priest's house.

Shortly before this Jesus had told Peter that he knew he was tempted by Satan but He was praying for him. Peter protested that he never would be unfaithful; that he would follow Christ to prison or to death if necessary. Jesus then told Peter that before the cock crowed thrice that night he would deny Him the same number of times.

Jesus was seized and taken before the high priest. Peter following Him but at a distance. At the house of the priest, Peter joined a group before a fire. A maid looked at him intently, then said, "This man was also with Him." Peter denied it, saying "Woman, I know Him not."

Later a man said to him, "Thou art also of them," and Peter answered, "Man, I am not."

A third man also said: Peter was companion of Jesus, and was a Galilean. Peter denied it hotly, and then he heard the cock crow and remembered the Lord's words. As he hurriedly left the house Jesus looked at him, and Peter went out, and wept bitterly for his great sin.

After Jesus' death Peter redeemed himself, becoming the foremost Apostle to preach the gospel in spite of being forbidden to do so and being thrown into prison and in danger of death. He, too, died a martyr's death.

WHAT'S COOKING?

It's fun to mix a lot of things and wonder how they'll "turn out." It's fun until you try to eat your own "exter-special" muffins. Then you wish you had used Mommy's old-fashioned recipe.

Thousands of parents are sharing today the disillusionment that is in store for our little cook—but on a more bitter scale. As juvenile offenders are herded into our police stations, courts and reformatories, heart-broken parents watch and wonder. What did they do wrong? Why didn't Johnny turn out to be a boy they could be proud of?

When you try to answer those questions you can't help but recall the old-fashioned recipe for raising children. It calls for generous portions of prayer, family worship, Church attendance. But more than eight million children are growing up today without ANY religious training.

When the church bells ring on Sunday morning, remember; the future of our nation, the character of our children, is at stake.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NEAR RECORD CROWD EXPECTED AT QBC'S BARBECUE TONIGHT

A near record crowd is in prospect for the Big Spring Quarterback Club's annual barbecue honoring the 1956 high school football team, which will be held at the amphitheatre in the city park starting at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

The Associated Press Lincoln's Chiefs, who dropped the opening game of the Western League championship series, 4-2, Wednesday, snapped back with a vengeance Thursday night to gain an 8-2 win over the Amarillo Gold Sox.

CAN BUMS DO IT? Also-Rans Figure In National Race

By ED WILKS The Associated Press This may be the screwiest National League pennant race yet. With four weeks to go, it's a three-way scrap among Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Brooklyn — but the teams to beat are St. Louis, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

The Braves, who play all but three of their remaining games away from home, open a 14-game trip and four-game series at Chicago today with Brooklyn the next stop. Cincy, after taking three of four in Milwaukee, starts on the last 13 games of a road trip with the opener of a three-game series at St. Louis tonight.

Mickey Mantle (above) of the New York Yankees goes for his 48th home run of the season in tonight's game in New York with Washington. He's two behind Babe Ruth's all-time record, set in 1927. September has been the jinx month for big league slingers. Ruth hit 17 round trippers during the last month of his big season.

SWC 'LETTER' BAD: LOEFFLER

COLLEGE STATION (S)—Texas A&M basketball coach Ken Loeffler thinks the letter of intent should either be made universal or eliminated.

Loeffler, who had just lost a top prospect—a boy who had agreed to go to three colleges before finally entering North Carolina State—said the athletes were sometimes using this means to "shop around."

He also said the Southwest Conference's letter of intent only made it easier for schools outside the conference that do not recognize it because then they had only one school—the Southwest Conference school that had the letter of intent—to compete with.

Brooklyn Far Off '55 Pace

BROOKLYN (N)—A year ago, the Brooklyn Dodgers were just a day away from the earliest pennant clinching ever accomplished in the National League. Today, they have to win two just to stay healthy.

And it doesn't figure to be easy. This hasn't been 1955, when the Brooks won their first 19 games, ran off with the flag and then wrapped up the world championship. This time it's tough.

Going into the twilight twinbill with the New York Giants — set up by last night's rain-out in the scheduled opener of a four-game series — the Dodgers have swept only five doubleheaders all season, losing six and splitting six.

This also is their fourth doubleheader in seven days, which may account for Brooklyn's slump at the plate. With the hitters sagging, it's been the pitching staff that has enabled the third place L-rocks to stay within two games of first place Milwaukee and a half game behind second place Cincinnati.

"Those Redlegs helped us," said Manager Walt Alton. "They beat the brains out of the Braves and they're the team that can do it."

Milwaukee Marked Club In Scramble

CHICAGO (N)—The pennant-pushing Milwaukee Braves are a marked club as they open a make-or-break 14-game road trip today against the National League's basement boys, the Chicago Cubs.

The Braves' skipper Fred Haney is the first to admit there are no soft touches from here on in, including the four games with the Cubs.

The Bruins are anxious to spring an ambush. They have nothing to lose, and by taking the long end of the series, they may salvage something of a season that is ending amid reports that there will be a shakeup from the front office brass to the field.

Milwaukee, holding a 1½-game lead in the pennant struggle over Cincinnati and a 2-game edge over Brooklyn, is anxious to prove that three straight defeats to the Redlegs cannot be construed as the start of a tailspin.

"If anyone says I look for a soft touch in these four games with the Cubs, they're crazy," Haney said today. "The Cubs are loose and easy and carefree and they can hurt us. We certainly can't afford to be hurt at this time. But I still think we are a better road team than we are a home team."

ST. LOUIS (N)—Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the surging Cincinnati Redlegs, today tabbed Alex Grammas as one of the reasons his club has moved into the National League pennant fight.

"He's made a big difference in our ball club the last three weeks since we've been using him," Tebbetts said.

The 23-year-old golden Greek had a big part in the Redlegs victory over the leading Milwaukee Braves Wednesday, getting three hits, scoring two runs and driving in four.

"They've got to admit now it's a three-team race," Tebbetts said, "and we have a chance. Up to now nobody even mentioned us. Well, the ugly ducklings have invited themselves into a party."

Birdie isn't concerned because of his club's remaining games are on the road. "The schedule means nothing when you have only 20 games," he said. "Now it's a case of our staying hot. I've maintained all along the team which can put together a sizable winning streak from now on will win it. I still say it. I hope it's us."

Ford Trucks Cost Less!

"I earn as much as $30 a day more because my Ford T-800 tandem job can carry more payload than comparable trucks," says timber-hauler Clarence Landwing.

"Low cost, dependability, toughness—that's what I get in Ford trucks," says John Karik. "Ford's power takes me through tough going that would stop many another truck."

Only a Ford pickup gives you the economy of modern Short Stroke design in V-6 and V-8!

Ford's low initial prices mean real savings, to be sure. But the on-the-job savings you get in Ford trucks count even more! Take running costs; they're downright low. Because Ford—and only Ford—gives you the gas and oil economy of modern Short Stroke power in every truck. Only Ford has a Short Stroke Six and seven Short Stroke V-8's—backed by over 5 billion miles of on-the-job experience.

Upkeep costs are low because Ford trucks are built extra strong. They outlast all other leading makes—a fact certified by independent insurance experts. That same stand-up ruggedness means greater dependability, too.

And when it comes time to trade—you'll gain from Ford's traditionally high resale value, too. You'll find that, from start to finish, Ford trucks cost less.

Work Pushed On County's Tax Roll

"Operation Tax Roll" is well under way in the office of Mrs. Viola Robinson, tax collector. Pushing to meet the Oct. 1 deadline for completion of the rolls, Mrs. Robinson and her deputies, augmented by special help from Webb Air Force Base, have been working from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily for the past week. The agenda has resulted in work on holidays—Labor day—and on Sundays. Installation of new mechanical equipment for posting and figuring the tax rolls has resulted in the entire system being redone to fit the machines. The machines were late arriving and since their receipt, the staff has been pushing overtime to be ready by October 1, the date when the rolls should be completed. Mrs. Robinson points out that the preparation of the new records to fit the methods of operation for the machines has greatly augmented the work this year. Next year, however, with the bulk of all of the mechanical preparation out of the way, task of preparing the rolls will be vastly simplified. Another handicap to the work has been belated delivery of the tax receipt forms needed for the new mechanized records. These are now on hand. Deputies are now working on the last stack of property records—making the addressograph plates for use in the machines. Mrs. Robinson believed that she will be able to make the deadline.

The course was one of a series of summer training programs in water safety conducted in the county under auspices of the Howard-Clascock County Red Cross Chapter.

UF, Chest Talks Set

Dan Eddy of Dallas, a United Fund and Community Chest organizer and campaign director, was to meet with representatives of several area towns here today for discussions on UF and Chest projects. Several communities in the area are working on plans for formation of community fund raising agencies. Eddy planned to provide information he hoped would be beneficial to the groups. The meeting was set here because a number of towns had representatives on hand for the annual Chamber of Commerce leaders short course.

Shotgun Stolen From Auto Here

A shotgun and fender skirts were stolen here Thursday. Henry Samsel of Lubbock told police this morning that a 12-gauge shotgun was taken from his car sometime between 4 p.m. and midnight Thursday. Samsel said the shotgun was fairly old. L. R. Green, Gail Rt., was relieved of a set of fender skirts Thursday night. His car, a 1950 Ford, was parked at the 66 cafe at the time.

A California resident is being treated in Big Spring Hospital for injuries sustained while riding a freight early today. The man, William Brown of Los Angeles, told police he was hurt while aboard a freight train. The officers carried him to Big Spring Hospital. This morning there was no report on his condition or extent of his injuries.

Three Blondes, Brunette In Contest Lead

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Three blondes and a brunette are the frontrunners in the third round of preliminary judging tonight in the Miss America pageant. The brunette is Miss Hawaii, 20-year-old Jere Wright who won the swimsuit division last night. She was the favorite of judges and audiences alike as she paraded. Miss Wright measures 35-24-35. She stands 5-foot-7, weighs 120 and has blue eyes. She shared laurels with Miss Arkansas, 19-year-old Barbara Banks of Conway, who was judged best in the talent competition with her modern ballet number. Miss Banks went through a difficult routine to the strains of "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue," attired in a coral velvet leopard with a filmy net skirt. Her interpretation ranged from the classical style to modern blues. A graceful blonde, the Arkansas girl was the only contestant to dance during the talent judging. Most sang or gave dramatic readings and four played musical instruments. Miss Chicago, Sandra Stuart, showed a film of herself in a water ballet. Two other blondes placed first in their division Wednesday night. They were Miss California, Joan Becket, in the battle of swim suits, and Miss Alabama, Ann Atrial, in the talent section. The girl who wins the title of Miss America 1957 in the finals tomorrow night won't necessarily be one of these four, however. Contestants have been split into three sections and judged successively for three nights.

Rehearsal For Big Night

Choice Herefords Of Area Shown On Tour Of Breeders

By DON HENRY Ranchers and members of the Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association got an advance look at some of the bulls to be entered in sales throughout the area Thursday, as the organization made its annual tour. The tour was the 13th for the Association, and the group numbering 65 stopped at eight ranches to inspect cattle and added a look at a new grain at the Sam Buchanan place. At a noon feed in Snyder, the group heard talks by Jimmy Taylor, Howard County agent, and d Humberto Reyes, field man for the Texas Hereford Association.

Thursday afternoon the group looked over the registered stock at the Winston Brothers ranch and R. H. Odom Jr. spread in Scurry County, the Y. A. Youngblood cattle in Dawson County, and ended at the Bar M Ranch, owned by O. H. McAlister, in Midland County. The Winston Brothers, Harry and Wade, have a herd of registered Herefords started in 1919. They keep about 200 registered animals at all times. Herd sires include Modest Lamplighter 28th and Dual Lamplighter. Odom, who has showed the winning bull at the Big Spring annual sale, runs about 60 registered Herefords and had probably the fattest animals seen on the tour. Odom started his herd in 1946. Herd sires are TR Prince Larry 8th and MR Zato Heir 4th. Youngblood has Zato Heir 11th and TR Zato Heir 347th as herd sires. The herd which now numbers about 50 head was established in 1937. At the Bar M ranch, McAlister has about 150 registered Herefords and has as a herd sire M. Zato Heir. The tour returned to Big Spring after the McAlister stop. Morning stops Thursday included Charlie Creighton, Sam Buchanan, Leland Wallace, and C. A. Walker ranches, plus the added stop at the Jack Buchanan ranch to survey a 20-acre plot sowed in sorghum and alfalfa, a natural cross between Sudan and Johnson grass. The crop was brought to the U. S. in 1954 from Australia. Reyes, the field man for the Texas Hereford Association, told the group at the dinner meeting that Mexican ranchers are ready to buy Texas Herefords when they can get the loans. He said that Mexico is going into the Hereford business on a large scale and they are looking to Texas for their markets. If the state can furnish the nation — mainly the northern Mexican states — with topnotch cattle, they will look no further. In this line, the Texas Hereford Association wanted to help them, but the organization could not do it alone. It would take the help of smaller Hereford groups and each breeder individually. Reyes suggested that ranchers make a trip to Mexico and meet the Mexican ranchers personally. This he said would be beneficial for both parties. Reyes spoke principally of the smaller ranchers. The larger cattlemen he said had the money to handle their transactions, but the smaller operators were having to borrow from the government to finance their expansion. Taylor, speaking on Hereford breeding and preparing for shows, told the men that money was lost at each sale by not having the animals properly groomed. The average breeder does not put that extra effort into the grooming that would pay off in larger sales. This preparation begins about a month before a show and continues past the sale. An average grooming will probably bring a sale, but by taking a little more time and effort, the sale will bring more money, he said. Codden Petroleum furnished the sound truck which led the caravan. Jack Buchanan handled the loud speaker on the tour, with Loy Acuff taking charge of the program.

More Braceros Due In Martin

STANTON (SC) — Two Martin County farm labor organizations expect another 950 Mexican nationals this weekend to help out with the cotton harvest. Oscar Fanning of the Basin Growers said his organization will bring in 574 additional workers by bus. Mrs. Bill Orson of the Tarzan Marketing Association said that 375 braceros will be brought in by the TMA Saturday. Basin Growers already have about 400 workers in the area and the TMA has imported 378.

Water Unit Studies Possible Legislation

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Water Resources Committee today studied bills it may introduce to the Legislature in January while watching clouds with an eye on "rain-making." Possibilities of artificial rain-making in Texas were taken under consideration by the committee yesterday. It said it will study suggestions with the idea in mind to ask legislation to provide funds for research and cloud seeding. Top weather experts from President Eisenhower's advisory committee on weather control and modification together with well-known meteorologists from Texas A&M and the University of Texas presented their ideas to the resources committee. Both state-supported schools indirectly asked for funds which would enable them to study weather modification which could perhaps ease the drought. The weather experts pointed out: 1. Chemicals could be used to induce precipitation but they said no one knows now how much can be produced and what benefits could be derived over a longtime period. 2. "Cautious optimism" was necessary in undertaking a research and experimental pilot program, perhaps over a 5-year period. 3. Rain-making will not end the drought but will help and may become necessary even after "normal rainfall" returns to Texas. 4. A strong guided research program is necessary with unbiased evaluation of experimental work while working with other groups for the benefit of the state. 5. Statistics should be set aside temporarily with physical evaluation taking first priority. Alex Koscielski, University of Texas student of meteorology, suggested a program to seed at least half the state using 100 generators which would shoot silver iodide into rain-bearing clouds. He estimated the cost would be $150,000 to $200,000 annually.

Stanton School Contracts Let

STANTON (SC) — Contracts totaling $283,579.95 have been signed for construction of a new school plant here. Work is expected to start in the next few days. General contractor is Kelly Construction Company of San Angelo, on a low bid of $229,136.80. C&D Electric Company of Big Spring will do electrical work, on a bid of $14,148. Plumbing will be done by C. A. Gray of Midland, who bid $40,575.15. First bids were opened Aug. 30, but the school board put off awarding of contracts until Wednesday when a new group of proposals was submitted.

Weather Gets Set For Football Play

A preview showing of fall temperatures was being staged in the Big Spring area on Thursday and Friday. Ushered in by a brief shower, the cooler weather got in its bite of the autumn season early Thursday morning. It continued in control through Friday. Highest temperature Thursday was 78 degrees — the coolest day the citizens have enjoyed since spring. The football weather continued through Thursday night and on into Friday.

3 More Traffic Accidents Listed

Two of the three accidents reported since noon Thursday occurred on Gregg and within a three-block area. At Fourth and Gregg, Jay Demont, 1205 E. 3rd, and Nora C. Herington, 1200 Stanford, were drivers of cars colliding. Salo Zubiate, 608 NW 8th, and James Tillman Brewer, 705 W. 5th, were involved in an accident at Second and Gregg early today. Thursday, Joe Conrad, 1515 Stadium, hit a 1955 Chevrolet pickup parked at 1901 Runnels. The pickup belonged to Charles Girdner.

Dancing Troupe Looks For Sponsor

Carmen Amaya and her troupe of Spanish dancers have been booked tentatively for an appearance at the Municipal Auditorium and her manager is looking for a local sponsor. A. E. Mandell of San Antonio, representing the Arts Guild, told the Chamber of Commerce he needs a sponsor to handle advance ticket sales for the show which is proposed for Nov. 30. J. H. Greene, Chamber manager, said he will secure additional information if anyone is interested.

Burglars Again Hit Kimbell Feed Mills

Burglars entered Kimbell Feed Mills again Thursday night. The establishment has been burglarized at least four times within the past six weeks. Taken Thursday night was $2.50 in change from a soft drink vending machine. The burglars entered through a rear window, police said this morning.

SHELL BETTER DRIVING QUIZ NO. 4

PUT YOUR FOOT ON THE GAS PEDAL HERE:

See how fast you can move to the brake!

INSTRUCTIONS: Sit in a straight-backed chair with this page on the floor in front of you. Put your foot on the gas pedal. Now hold a coin out in front of you four feet above the paper (that's about forehead-high). Drop the coin and, at the same time, go for the brake. Read below to see how your reaction time rates.

HOW DO YOU RATE: Did you beat the coin to the brake? With normal reaction speed, you should beat the coin every time. The coin takes 1/4 second to reach the floor. In this 1/4 second you would travel 37 feet if you were going 50 m.p.h. On a dry pavement with brakes in normal operating condition you'd travel another 188 feet before stopping completely. So watch your speed. Always stay at least one car-length behind the car ahead for every ten miles per hour you're traveling.

Authority: Dr. Herbert J. Stark, Director, and Dr. Leon Brady, Research Director, Center for Safety Education, New York University

Like every good neighbor in the community, we are interested in your driving safety. That's why we're glad to see new roads. We're grateful for the extra safety in today's new cars. But the spot where there's greatest room for improvement is in the driver's seat. Better driver attitudes will make our highways safer for you ... for everybody. If this test helps you think a little more about safe-and-sane driving, it will have done what we set out to do. Try this test on your teen-agers, too. When everybody drives safely all of the time, that will be the sign of a better future for you ... for all of us — your sign of a better future on the road — suggests that you and all motorists drive safely now ... and in the future.

Draft MacArthur Move Continues

NEW YORK (AP)—The committee to draft Gen. Douglas MacArthur as a candidate for the U. S. Senate says it has obtained 50,000 signatures urging the Republican party to nominate him.

The organization said yesterday it hoped to have 100,000 signatures by Monday, when the GOP State Committee meets in Albany to name its senatorial candidate.

MacArthur has never publicly supported any move for his candidacy.

Briton Keeps 'Sherlock' Legend Alive

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—John Greaves is a sentimental British businessman dedicated to keeping alive the legend of Sherlock Holmes.

"I'm a man who hates to trample on an illusion," he says, tapping a bulging file of letters addressed to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's detective story hero.

"People write to Holmes from many lands," said Greaves, "and we get them simply because our office—the Abbey National Building Society—happens to occupy the spot where Sherlock's flat was supposed to be."

The Post Office and Greaves maintain a good-natured conspiracy over the letters that reach London addressed:

"Mr. Sherlock Holmes, 221 B Baker St."

There never has been a 221 B Baker St., but the dead letter office, instead of tossing away the envelopes or returning them to their senders, posts them to Greaves. His office in Baker Street is on the spot where the Holmes flat would be if the address existed.

As conscientiously as if he were Holmes' faithful accomplice Dr. Watson, Greaves reads all the letters and carefully answers them.

Some of the letters are from unashamed pranksters, but the vast majority are from children, adults or such enthusiastic Holmesians as the Speckled Band of Boston, the Scandalous Bohemians of Akron and the Danish Baker Street Irregulars.

Eight-year-old Betsy Rusasco, of Indianapolis, a Holmes addict, but obviously not a professional one, wrote:

"You're quite clever at solving cases. My sister and I play Sherlock Holmes but I have to be Watson. I know a man who has a pipe like yours."

"We have two long-haired dachshunds and when we play Sherlock Holmes we pretend they are bloodhounds. A magazine said you went to Indianapolis, did you?" Greaves replied:

"Mr. Holmes had to vacate his flat and unfortunately I do not know his present address, so he may have gone to Indiana. I am sure he would have been most interested to hear about your games."

Greaves shook his head.

"You've got to be careful about children," he said. "One must never hurt their feelings."

Action Due In Acid Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—The government has been given until Monday to take action against five men held in connection with the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

U.S. Commissioner Earle Bishopp said yesterday the U.S. attorney's office should be ready by Monday to proceed either with a hearing or by indictment.

Otherwise, Bishopp said, the charges against the men might be dismissed or he would consider motions for a "substantial reduction" in bail.

Held in $100,000 bond each are Johnny Dio, 42; Charles Tuso, 44; Domenico Bando, 47; and Charles Salvatore Carlingo, 42. Thomas Dioguardi, John's brother, is being held in $75,000 bail.

The FBI arrested the five last week. They are accused of conspiring in the attack on Riesel April 5 as he emerged from a Broadway restaurant.

Surprise

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Mrs. Charles E. Van Vleet of Morrison, Colo., got a surprise when she noticed the temperature gauge on her car at the boiling point and lifted the hood to add water. The radiator was gone.

Shots Fired Into Negro's Home

PRICHARD, Ala. (AP)—Four pistol shots were fired into the residence of a Negro candidate for City Council late last night. Police said no one was hurt.

Four 38-caliber bullets were found in the home of the Rev. Joshua Barney, who said the shots were fired after he had been called to his front door by a white man who said "come outside, we want to talk to you."
